Santa Comes Early To Fire Victims

A few weeks ago when fire destroyed the home of Mrs. Dora Wylie, of Brinston (formerly of Strader's Hill), a benefit committee was set up throughout the area.

This committee collected just about everything imaginable, including fuel, and as a result Mrs. Wylie was greatly assisted in setting up her home again.

Last Wednesday evening a dance was held in Toyes Hill, with proceeds going to Mrs. Wylie. Music was supplied by Lorne Barkley's Orchestra.

At eleven o'clock Mrs. Wylie, her son Ray and his wife were called to the hall, where all members of the benefit committee were introduced. An address was read by Mrs. Alton Riddell, and a large purse of money was presented to Mrs. Wylie on behalf of Strader's Hill. At the same time, Toyes Hill neighbours presented her with a full line of bedding. This presentation was made by Mahlon McIntosh. Dundela, Dixon's Corners and Brinston joined together and presented her with an eight-piece walnut dining room set and two mattresses.

Mrs. Wylie expressed her thanks to all who had helped her in so many ways.

Presbyterial U C W Fall Rally Held At Williamsburg United

Williamsburg United Church Women were hostesses for the Fall Rally of the eastern half of Dundas-Grenville Presbyterial last Thursday. The rally marked the second one in as many days. The previous day the western section of the Presbyterial met at Jasper.

At the afternoon session in Williamsburg 120 delegates registered with an additional 35 attending the evening program. Mrs. A. S. Allen of Cardinal, president, presided at both sessions, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. Bower Potter, of Winchester.

Guest speaker was Miss Ada Sandell, missionary nurse, who has retired after 35 years of service in Korea. She gave some of her problems and disappointments as well as the happy experiences which had been hers in her many years as a missionary nurse.

Delegates attending the rally also witnessed a thought-provoking film strip entitled "Facts That Confront Us."

The afternoon session opened with a worship service by Morrisburg U. C. W. Mrs. W. A. Adam, Williamsburg president, returned by air from a visit with her mother in the Isle of Man, just in time to welcome the delegates.

Mrs. A. Campbell, of Cardinal, sang a solo, with Mrs. Maefred Merkley of Williamsburg accompanying her.

The evening worship was conducted by South Mountain U. C. W The offering was taken and dedicated in the afternoon by the Vancamp U. C. W., and in the evening by Iroquois U. C. W. Mrs. Bugden, of Chesterville, reported for the Courtesy committee, thanking all who contributed to the success of the rally.

Reports from the presidents of the various groups represented showed high interest in the first year of work of the new organization—United Church Women—and all allocations were expected to be met.

In addition to the places already named, delegates were present from Winchester Springs, Elma, Colquhoun, Mountain, Inkerman, Brinston, Harmony, Prescott, Dundela, Hulbert, Spencerville and Hainsville.

Elect Jack Fraser Cancer Society President Here

Miss F. A. Milne reported that over 300 dozen dressings and 500 swabs had been made by the Winchester members in the past six months. She also emphasized that more help was needed in making the dressings each Wednesday afternoon at the hospital.

Reports on the Service section were given by Mrs. Bower Potter and Mrs. Harold Clarke, in presenting the financial report, said that total receipts during the year were $1661.20

Guest speaker at the meeting was Mrs. Frank Ryan of Ottawa who outlined the work of the Canadian Cancer Society. Reports on the Women's Service Section and the annual campaign for funds were made by Mrs. Marion Gilbert and Frank Cox, of Chesterville.

Winchester's very active branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, Dundas county division, has elected Jack Fraser as its new president. He succeeds Mrs. Charles Beedie.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting held rcently in the Town Hall were: Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. Clarke; Education chairman, Mrs. R. MacPherson; convenor of Women's Services, Mrs. B. Potter; Publicity chairman, Ronald Workman; Transportation Committee, Mrs. E. Merkley and Mrs. J. Bruce; Campaign chairman, Mrs. C. Beedie.

For their outstanding assistance to the society Lorne Armstrong of South Mountain and Frank Cox of Chesterville were each presented with a caduceus.

BILL LLOYD EXPLAINS

Case of the Strange Balloon

Picture of the unusual balloon and lighting apparatus found in a district field by Charles Holmes which appeared in the last issue of The Winchester Press has already drawn much comment, and an explanation.

The explanation comes from an expert, Bill Lloyd, of Winchester, who is a meterological instructor with the Department of Transport at Uplands air terminal.

According to Mr. Lloyd "the balloon and lighting unit found near Winchester and pictured in last week's Press is, in fact, a weather balloon as suggested in your article." Mr. Lloyd continues: "It is officially known as a 'pilot balloon' and used in Canadian and United States meterological weather observation programs. Pilot balloon observations are taken every six hours each day by selected stations across the continent. These observations are taken to ascertain the speed and direction of the winds at intervals of 1000 feet above ground.

"At each observation a balloon is inflated with helium in the United States or hydrogen in Canada to rise at a fixed rate of ascent. This rate of ascent is 590 feet per minute. The balloon is followed or tracked by means of a manually operated theodolite and every 60 seconds readings of the azimuth and elevation angles of the balloon from point of release are recorded. To realize night observations a special water activated lighting unit is attached to the balloon by means of a piece of cord.

Mr. Lloyd explained that the readings obtained during the flight are plotted on plotting boards and then on a graph plate from which is obtained the desired information of wind currents in the atmosphere. He said that the balloon in question was probably one released from a United States weather station which had been carried by wind currents until it landed near Winchester. The balloons increase in size as they ascend into less pressure and finally burst. Occasionally they pick up a heavy coating of ice in cloud formations and spring a slow leak which allows them to descend to earth. According to Mr. Lloyd, the latter case probably applies to the balloon which was found near here last week.

The origin of the balloon has not yet been determined and, according to the Press informant, may be hard to trace.

Election Talk Quiet Before Nomination

Rumours of Resignations Could Alter the Picture

Tomorrow, Friday evening is an important night for Winchester residents when nominations for the offices of Reeve, four councillors and six Public School trustees will be accepted at the Tonw Hall between the hours of seven and eight o'clock.

Following the annual nominations persons nominated for office will have the opportunity of speaking and they must declare their intentions to run or not to run for office by nine o'clock on Saturday evening, November 24th.

With Winchester now electing municipal officials for a two-year term of office the meeting to-morrow night is the first since 1960 when all offices were filled by acclamation.

Council, which reports on the affairs of Winchester, is hopeful of a good turnout. In addition to a year end report of activity there will also be a report on the town's financial status as well as reports from the school boards and other organizations under municipal jurisdiction.

If an election is necessary it will be held this year on Monday, December 3rd, between the hours of nine o'clock in the morning and seven o'clock in the evening. The Returning Officer is Clerk C. R. Robinson, who will preside at tomorrow night's annual Nomination meeting.

ELECTION TALK

So far all is quiet on the election front in Winchester, but there are rumours about town that "some" members of Council will not seek another term of office. If this is the case the new council and probably the public school board could see several new faces, and an election may materialize.

The Press has talked to all members of the present council and in practically all instances members would not come right out and state their intentions for another two-years of office. However, most did say that they would have an answer ready by nomination night.

In the way of new aspirants for the offices already mentioned there has been very little to shout about. However, come Nomination Night and the complexion of local politics could change.

In the meantime, all Winchester citizens are urged to make an all out effort to attend the meeting, starting at seven o'clock.

Nominations are also held this year in adjacent tonwships of Mountain, Williamsburg and Osgoode, and in Chesterville village. According to outside reports, the situation is much the same in these municipalities as it is in Winchester — quiet! — although nobody is discounting a possible election in any of the municipalities where nominations will be held this year.

210 Attend Holstein Club Annual Banquet

A splendid crowd of 210 persons attended the Annual Dundas Holstein Club Banquet last Thursday evening. The event was held in the Civic Centre, Morrisburg, where the ladies of St. Mary's Church served a delicious turkey banquet.

Bernard Brunt, president of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club, was chairman of the programme. Delmar Adams, Dixon's Corners, introduced the Head Table. A toast to the ladies was capably made and replied to by Hugh Blaine, Mountian and Mrs. Arthur Milne, Mountain.

The presentation of awards gained during the year is always a highlight of the annual banquet. Foremost among these was the presentation of the Premier Breeder and Premier Exhibitor awards. The winner of both was Hugh Blaine, Mountain. Mr. Blaine has built his herd to its present level of quality in a period of eight years. He is a past President of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club and was the first Provincial winner of the Ontario Pasture competition.

Past president of the club, Basil Dawley, was presented with a model of a Holstein Cow by President Bernard Brunt.

The H. E. Biccum Trophy, emblematic of the Premier Breeder Award, was presented to Mr. Blaine by Basil Dawley, past president of the Club. R. Grant Smith, Holstein-Friesian Fieldman, presented the Premier Breeder Exhibitor Banner also to Mr. Blaine.

No less than 32 production certificates were presented by Mr. Smith to County Holstein breeders. These were all long-time production certificates. Chief among these was the Gold Seal Certificate awarded to Orville Smail, Brinston. The Smail cow has a lifetime production in excess of 175,000 lbs. of milk.

A presentation of different nature was made to Ed. Pearson, secretary of the Club. In appreciation of his services to the Holstein Club President Brunt called Ed forward to accept a very handsome piece of luggage.

During the course of the evening entertainment was provided by Frank Morgan of Winchester.

Appreciation to the ladies of the church was given by J. Dwight Dawley, second vice president of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club.

New Chimes For Hulbert Church

There will be music in the air in the Hulbert area south of South Mountain from now on. New chimes have been installed in the church spire as the result of a generous donation by the Young People's Union of that church. The new chimes were presented to the church and dedicated on Sunday evening on the occasion of the 79th anniversary of Hulbert United Church. The chimes were installed by Gordon Cumming of South Mountain.

Official announcement of the gift was made by YPU president Elaine Ellis and was accepted in behalf of the church by Rev. Mr. Adey.

Financing of the chimes was made by YPU activities and solicitation of financial assistance from interested persons.

Search Continues For Locally Made Souvenirs

The search for locally-made souvenirs, sponsored by the Seaway Valley Travel Council, is revealing a surprising number of artists and craftsmen who are already working on interesting items to offer tourists next summer.

Among the articles already listed are Indian crafts, brass, leather, wood, glass, shells, felt and cloth, ceramics and oil paintings. Invitations have been sent out to hundreds of organizations, institutions and private persons, inviting them to enter this free public-showing of Ontario-made souvenirs. It will be held in Prescott, Ontario on November 28th, in conjunction with the second Hospitality Conference in co-operation with the Department of Travel and Publicity. St. Paul's United Church Hall has been obtained for this event.

Anyone is invited to display samples of his or her handiwork at this showing. Previous registration is not necessary. Doors will be open at 9 a.m. for arranging displays. Each display should be clearly marked for future reference. Exhibitors are requested to bring a display stand or table if possible.

Proprietors of souvenir shops, stores, motels, etc. will be able to see at a glance the wonderful variety of locally-produced souvenirs available.

100 CLUB LADIES' NIGHT

Impressive Address by Max Varon

Speaking to more than 125 100 Club members and their guests at the annual Ladies' Night dinner in the Masonic Banquet Hall last Thursday night Max M. Varon. Counsellor of the Israel Embassy in Ottawa said that the hope of the Jewish people in his country to-day is to become "economically self-sufficient and an inspiration to other struggling countries."

Israel to-day is undergoing a revolution of expansion in agriculture, industry and general living standards. Mr. Varon told his attentive audience that 80 per cent. of present day food in Israel is supplied through the country's own agricultural development plan. "To-day the population is two and a half million but we hope to increase this to four and a half million and be in a position to give these people a decent standard of living," Mr. Varon said.

In explaining the growth of Israel as a nation, the speaker said that his country had been a state since 1948 and he briefly mentioned the perils of the 1930's and 1940's including the vulnerable position of the Jewish people in the second world war. The hope of the Jewish people to-day, he said, is that "some day their homelessness will be ended. Faith and the need of refugees have driven them into the Holy land—any Jew is welcome in Israel."

An internal domestic problem of great import in Israel today is the need for fresh water. He said water was at a premium explaining that water underground was unfit for human consumption and irrigation purposes. Mr. Varon said that one day ocean water through a process of freezing and refining could be the answer. The process to-day is still too expensive—but there is hope that the costs may be cut in half and even more in the future.

Mr. Varon was introduced by Earl Freeland, chairman of the program committee, and thanked by Leonard Steck. The program also included numbers by the popular and talented Bel Canto Chorus under the direction of Dr. H. G. Barton. The accompanist was Mrs. Percy Gilroy of Chesterville.

Toast to the ladies was proposed by Les MacDonald and replied to by Mrs. Keith Carkner. The boost draw, conducted by Archie Rice, was sponsored in traditional fashion by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dukelow of the Jo-Anne Shoppe and won by Mrs. A. C. Ross and Mrs. Edgar Craig.

President Howard Willard presided at the dinner meeting and he introduced the head table guests as well as extending a warm welcome to the large turn-out. The Creed was recited by Ed. Boyd and Grace was said by Earl Freeland.

According to reports the meeting was one of the best Ladies' Night programs ever sponsored by the Club.

Nominations . . . Your Business

It really doesn't matter if you are an employee or an employer. At the end of each year all of us take stock of the immediate past 12 months. Mostly, our thoughts are concerned with how much or how little we made, financially that it. If we are working for someone else on a salary basis we decide where we have spent too much or too little, how we can improve, if it is possible to increase our earning power and what we can do better in the year ahead.

For the business owner it is much the same thing. He must review the year and he must show a substantial profit to stay in business. In short, most of us hold a year-end review, whether it's with our wives, our employers, our friends, or the directors and shareholders of the company.

In much the same way the Nomination meeting in Winchester and other municipalities is similar to a meeting of the shareholders. For all of us are shareholders in this town. All of us have, or should have, a keen interest in how our municipal affairs are being managed. As ratepayers we are "paying the shot." Our money is being raised through taxation which is still the only source of income this government, or any government, has for administration purposes.

In the past two years you may have had a beef or two. Maybe you aired it to some friends. Possibly it was good logic. On the other hand, it may have been unjustified. Perhaps you have an idea or three that could help the town and yourself as a shareholder in this big business of operating a municipality.

Even if we are entirely satisfied, though, the least we can do is to take an interest in this company called Winchester which all of us own. We can show that interest by attending Nominations. And if we are not entirely satisfied we can get on our feet and ask questions, even accept a nomination for one of the several offices which must be filled.

Nominations in Winchester will be held to-morrow (Friday) evening between the hours of seven and eight o'clock. Council will report to the town following this hour.

If you are truly interested in Winchester and your own welfare, if you are in the habit of putting important things first, then you simply cannot afford to pass up this meeting.

Flooding The Market

Catalogues from the so-called wholesale houses are currently flooding the market in anticipation of the big Christmas spending spree. Although they do not say so in so many words the catalogues, colourful and luring in every detail, are designed to rob the small town merchant of a good deal of money from persons looking for a good buy.

We are in no way saying that all of the catalogues presently making the rounds are illegitimate. They aren't! Some of them apparently have some better than average buys. The trouble is this. If we keep on having wholesale catalogues, and stores that discount the discounters, where is it going to end and who is going to make what? For instance, if an article advertised in one of these catalogues sells for $15.00 and a local merchant is offering the same thing at a price with a reasonable mark-up there is something terribly wrong with the manufacturer's price. In short, there is too much spread, for even the wholesalers must realize a dollar of profit to stay in business.

In some instances the items advertised in these colourful catalogues are not such a good buy. More important, the dollars spent here supporting local merchants go a long way in spelling the difference in the profit and loss column at the end of the year.

Another thing, when you buy at home you know from whom you are making the purchase and you know, too, that if something goes wrong the good name of the seller will stand behind his product. In most instances the service is better too and regardless of which way you look at it, the dollars spent here are going to be circulated here; they are going to help the general economy of the town.

This town is noted for its fine spirit of Christmas, its decorations and the colourful and large Santa Claus parade. All of this would be impossible if we bought elsewhere and if we persisted in buying from the wholesale catalogues.

As the Renfrew Advance states: "The frst rule of careful buying is to know the reputation of the store or merchant from whom you buy. That's a next to impossible condition with fly by night discounters. If you like to gamble and take a chance on being euchered out of good money for questionable merchandise, by all means order stuff from the warehouser's catalogue."

On the other hand, if value and reliability and town economy mean anything to you, you will certainly do most of your purchasing in your home town.

"Woodsman, spare that tree!"

Ottawa Report

BY JEAN CASSELMAN, M.P.

By coincidence, immediately following the 82nd meeting of the Dominion Council of Health, legislation came before the House of Commons to set up a similar body to deal with welfare.

Bill No. C-4 was moved by the Hon. J. W. Monteith, Minister of National Health and Welfare. In making his opening statement he paid tribute to the National Council of Health—"The Council has not only furnished continuing advice and guidance to federal health ministers but has also served as the spearhead of federal-provincial co-operation without which our present pattern of nationwide health services would have been virtually impossible of achievement. It has been of substantial help in developing our general health policy and in dealing with the many difficult technical problems which arise from time to time in the field of welfare. The national council of welfare now being proposed will be in the nature of an advisory body to the Minister of National Health and Welfare, with duties and functions paralleling those of of the health council. I might say that the provinces have also expressed the view that joint welfare programs should be reassessed. At the Dominion-Provincial Conference in the Fall of 1960, the Prime Minister (Mr. Diefenbaker) indicated the need for further study in order that these measures might be simplified and, if possible, consolidated to some extent. The new national council of welfare will, I believe, provide a vehicle through which these matters may be considered. The composition of the Council is somewhat similar to that which has been provided for its counterpart in the health field. For example, the deputy ministers of the federal and provincial governments are to be members of the Council and will bring to its meetings many years of experience in technical problems relating to the administration of social welfare measures in Canada. In addition, provision is made for ten representatives from outside of government."

Due to the successful operation and to the important contribution made by the Council of Health, it is generally agreed that the purpose of this new Council is a worthy one. The Hon. Paul Martin, who followed Mr. Monteith, said: "Mr. Speaker, in rising to express my support for this bill I should like to say that, generally speaking, I think the statement the minister has made is one that would commend itself to the house."

Mr. Martin mentioned that such a body as this had already been recommended by the Canadian National Welfare Council who acts as a co-ordinating group in the public and voluntary fields. Mr. Martin went on to state that his experience as a former Minister of Health and Welfare had been that he could attest to the usefulness of the Dominion Council of Health, and it was encouraging that his commendation of the proposed Council of Welfare should be based on this experience.

The Speaker for the Social Credit Party stated that he welcomed the Bill, mentioning the fact that they were reassured by the Minister's mention of provincial representation, since they wished to see provincial rights in the welfare field maintained.

Mr. Stanley Knowles, speaking for the N.D.P., stated his Party is pleased to give its support to this Bill. "It is a good thing we are having this Council. I think it can do a good job and it should have the support of all of us."

Regrettably, even legislation which is acceptable and even popular with all parties, cannot apparently be promoted without some hours of words. However, this is an important worthwhile step. The Bill will pass and much good will result in improved handling of all welfare problems.

Of Many Things

BY AMBROSE HILLS

GOOD FARMERS

Farmers on this continent amaze the world. They produce staggering amounts of food each year.

It is not because they have large quantities of land. The Soviet Socialist Republic has 40 per cent. more crop land than the USA, yet they cannot feed themselves as well.

Does this mean our farmers are smarter?

I believe the answer is yes. They know much more. They should, because hundreds of private broadcasting stations supply daily bulletins of farm information, and the networks do a magnificent job of farm broadcasting. Most of our top dailies have well informed farm editors, and the weekly papers in rural areas give generous space to important farm news. Excellent farm magazines give detailed farm facts.

Perhaps even more important is the vast amount of research being done for the benefit of agriculture. The universities are doing a magnificent job. Private companies engaged in canning and processing spend fortunes on research that will result in better quality crops. Federal and local governments do their share.

But in the main, the credit must go to the farmers and their families. They put the information to good use. They buy the machinery and keep it operating. They know they will prosper only if they keep up to date, suffer if they fall behind. Take away the well-motivated, independent farmer and replace him with a mere servant of the state and most of this wonderful research and know-how would be wasted.

Today the news wires are telling of the dwindling farm population. Farms are getting bigger. Fewer farmers are producing more food. We may regret the loss of farm population, but we must admire the productivity of those who remain on the land. They offer an example that city folks ought to try to emulate.

Sugar and Spice

By Bill Smiley

Life can be a mighty punishing process. And I don't mean the ordinary everyday struggle for existence. Nobody has ever described that more accurately than Thoreau, who observed that every man leads a life of quiet desperation.

* * * *

No, I don't mean the day-to-day fracas with our families, our jobs, our society and our complaining bodies. We become inured to this grim warfare, and I swear that, when we stagger, groaning, out of bed on a bleak November day, we almost welcome the coming fray, because it is reassurance that, at least, we are still in there fighting.

* * * *

But it isn't the daily horror that leaves those great, purple welts on our sensitive souls. It's the nasty backhander that comes out of nowhere, just when we think everything is running reasonably well.

* * * *

The pagans knew enough to propitiate the gods with sacrifices. The Irish know enough to try to keep the fairies from clobbering them. The rest of us have to rely on such feeble tricks as keeping our fingers crossed, and knocking on wood. All we get in response is arthritis in the fingers, and no answer, respectively.

* * * *

There's one thing, however, about these nasty little floggings from fate. They always come in three. Once you've had your three kicks in the teeth you can rest easy for a while, until the next series is due.

* * * *

I've just had my latest treatment, and though I feel groggy and sorely bruised, there is also a pleasant sense of relief, as I realize that I am home free for a while.

The first assault was on my peace of mind. You've heard of people with bats in the belfry? Well, that's nothing. I have little black things chasing each other around in my top storey.

* * * *

It seems that the six hundred black squirrels who are so "cute" around our place all summer are not contented with the bushels of acorns on my lawn. They want to get at the nuts inside the place. They have chewed a hole in my roof, moved in with all their relations, and are throwing a 24-hour-a-day party, with square dancing, broad jumping and running races as featured entertainment.

* * * *

It makes your blood run cold to hear them thundering around up there. It's driving our cat straight out of her mind. It's putting my wife in that frame of mind when "Why don't you do something about it" becomes a chip on my shoulder.

* * * *

I had no sooner decided the squirrel situation was hopeless, when the second sortie was made, this time on my pocketbook. My wife took the car to the city the other day. It was pouring rain. Some gawk slammed into her from behind when she was parked at a stoplight. She jumped out, didn't see any serious damage, didn't want to ruin her hair-do, jumped in again and drove away. That one cost me $130. The impact had broken the reverse gear in my automatic transmission. No name, no licence number, no insurance.

* * * *

After these two, I was cowering a bit, knowing from experience that the gods had another slam in the slats for me. It didn't take long. It came in the form of a brutal attack on my professional pride. I learned from an article in Maclean's magazine that I was going steadily downhill in my social status.

* * * *

There it was, in black and white. A survey based on an education-income formula, spelled out the class system in "classless" Canada.

* * * *

Glancing casually at Class I, I was not surprised to learn that I was not included among the judges, doctors, lawyers, engineers and architects. After all, those boys, except the judges, almost need another hand to jam the stuff into their trousers' pockets.

* * * *

But I did expect to be at the top of Class II, surely. Little did I know that I am well behind stock brokers, veterinarians, chiropractors, finance managers and female librarians, and just a couple of jumps ahead of clergymen. That chart must be crazy.

* * * *

But what really hurt was that all the things I had been previously — officer, armed forces; air pilot; editor — are higher in the class structure than what I am now — school teacher, male. It's pretty disheartening to find out that you have the same rating as a social worker, female.

* * * *

The only thing that made the insult bearable was the fact that I beat hell out of the Old Lady, who is down at 50 per cent. as music teacher, female, and isn't even mentioned as "housewife."

The Seventh Column

An urgent call goes out this week from the writer of this column to the women readers (we're told we have three or four daring females who go off the deep end each week and scan this bit). Actually, our plea is to all women in the Winchester area who are interested in lending a helping hand to a gallant group of women who make up the local branch of the Canadian Cancer Society. In addition to a lot of other things these hard working women meet at the hospital every Wednesday afternoon to make needed bandages for patients suffering from cancer and allied disease. The fact that these bandages are used in great numbers is verified by actual examples right here in the area. For instance, since November 2nd ONE patient alone has needed 1906 dressings previously prepared by volunteer women. Let's face it, this work is important, more important than a lot of other things we are doing to-day. So, if you can spare a moment (and you probably can if you give yourself a chance) the Winchester Cancer Society would appreciate your valued help. Just check in at the hospital any Wednesday afternoon, or contact Mrs. Stella Potter at 320R, Winchester. Thanks, in advance, for your help from the Society and the unfortunates who need these dressings regularly.

At the risk of getting run out of town for bringing up this subject so much we must mention Nomination Night once more before it actually takes place to-morrow evening in the Town Hall. Seems a lot of us become awfully complacent when it comes to the management of one of our most important possessions—the town in which we live. For good government and a good town why not take an hour or so off to-morrow night and attend the Nomination meeting. And this goes for residents of all other municipalities in the area served by The Press.

By the way, members of the Santa Claus parade committee are calling for as many floats and/or entries this year as possible. Why not give this matter a little thought and if you have an idea or two put it into a float and enter it in the parade here on December 8th. An all-out effort is being made by the Chamber of Commerce this year to make this one the biggest and best Santa Claus parade and visit ever—and there have been a lot of good ones in Winchester in years gone by. Persons, businesses and organizations interested in having a float in the parade should get in touch with Sam Ault, Ron or Reg. Workman.

Ah, that feels better! We've just had our afternoon "change of pace" drink. Come to think of it, there's nothing better than a cup of tea—at four in the afternoon, that is. We don't particularly like tea for breakfast and we can think of a couple other soothing liquids we would prefer after the evening meal is finished. But for downright flavour with a pick-me-up punch that cup of tea really hits the spot. English, you know!

Well, most of the hunters are back with most of the same old stories. Something like this: "Yah, we saw a couple about three hundred feet up the trail, but we couldn't get a bead on 'em." Or, "Don't know what's wrong with those damn deer, never saw a blasted one this year." Or, "Fired one shot the third day out, but it turned out to be a rabbit." Or, "Fired another shot the fourth day—turned out to be my next door neighbour." Actually, all of the stories aren't that bad and quite a few deer did find the eye of the marksman. But the only good story we believed (hunters are like fishermen) was the stalwart who returned home last week-end empty-handed and explained, "the only fast buck I saw was in a poker game the first night of camp."

Maybe it's snowing by the time this issue hits the street, but right now (Monday afternoon) when this column is being written the weather is par excellence. Matter of fact, the last seven or eight days have been that late Indian Summer we referred to a couple of weeks ago and, so far as we are concerned, another few days would simply sweeten the proverbial weather pot.

Mighty Nation!

Viewers of the Nation River, especially last week, were probably just a little flabbergasted at the unusually high waters. Generally at this time of year (most of the year except the Spring for that matter) the historic and docile Nation is not much more than a trickle, particularly in this area. Last week, and still this week, it is more than a trickle, thanks to an abundance of rain which increased the level of the water sharply.

Above picture was taken by The Press last week and the high waters, almost overflowing the banks in some places, look more like the start of Spring floods. According to old timers, level of water in the Nation for this time of year is almost a record high.

OSGOODE RESIDENT

Arthur Anderson Dies Suddenly

A well known resident of the Osgoode area, Arthur Edward Anderson, died suddenly on Sunday, November 11th, at his home, R. R. 1, Osgoode, following a heart seizure.

In his 54th year, the late Mr. Anderson was born at Vernon, a son of Edward Anderson and May Adamthwaite. He attended Vernon Public School and Winchester High School, and during World War II served with the Canadian Army overseas.

On April 26, 1943, he married Ethel Grant who survives, as well as four sons, Terry, Barrie, Brian and Robert, all at home. Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. A. Ristimaki (Vera), Fort William; Mrs. Gilbert Raistrick Jr. (Anne), Winchester; Mrs. Dougal Harrison (Hazel), Ottawa; Mrs. Stanley Raistrick (Ruth), of Ottawa, and two brothers, Andy, of Ottawa, and Lee, of Toronto.

Funeral service was conducted at the Veitch-Draper Funeral Chapel, Ottawa, with Rev. J. W. Logan-Vencta of St. Giles Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was made at Osgoode.

OFA Annual Passes Carleton Resolutions

All Carleton County resolutions were passed at the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, reported the directors who attended. Enthusiastic reports were given by the delegates, Donald Munro, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Delmer Cavanagh and Mrs. E. L. Macartney.

The resolutions dealt with the identification of cattle tested for brucellosis, reports of post mortem examination, structure of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, possibility of complete control of drug prescription by vets, control of Dutch Elm disease and the removal of the sales tax on steel fence posts used by farmers.

The president, Donald Munro, reported on the quick action taken by the OFA on a recent county federation request on the new bank policy of "no overdrafts." Mr. Feegan, of the Canadian Bankers' Association, spoke to the delegates at the OFA annual on the topic and suggested a solution, that is to leave a signed note to cover the amount of the overdraft. He said that banks had had to become more efficient as time went and this was one way of being more efficient—to allow no overdrafts.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. Munro on being elected to the Board of Governors of the OFA as member at large. It has been some time since a member of Carleton County Federation of Agriculture has been elected to a similar office. Several county men have been on the OFA executive but have not come directly from the county federation.

Final plans were made for the annual meeting November 21 in Carp.

Sandra M. Carr Weds Wm. C. Casselman

Sandra Marlene Carr and William Charles Casselman were united in marriage in Williamsburg United Church Manse on Saturday afternoon by Rev. W. Adam, in a double-ring ceremony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Carr of Williamsburg, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Casselman, Winchester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white street-length gown of peau-de-soie with round neckline, lilypoint sleeves featuring a bouffant skirt accented by appliques of lace, re-embroidered with sequins and pearls. A coronet of sequins and seed pearls held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried gold and green croton leaves centred with a large pom-pom Bronze Mum. She wore a tiny white gold cross necklace, a gift from the groom.

The bridesmaid wore a street-length gold brocaded dress, similar to that of the bride's, with matching headdress and shoes. She carried a bouquet of miniature deep mauve carnations edged with lavender.

Forty-five guests attended the wedding reception following the ceremony. To receive the guests the bride's mother wore a beige brocaded dress with green accessories and a corsage of bronze mums. The groom's mother chose a beige and brown dress with winter white accessories and a corsage of white mums.

For a honeymoon in Western Ontario and Northern New York, the bride donned a brown and gold ensemble with gold and brown accessories, brown borg jacket and a corsage of bronze mums.

Honoured At Miscellaneous Shower

Contests were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mildred McNeely, Mrs. Harvey Eckford and Mrs. Gary Murphy.

S. Mountain IOOF Honours Grand Master

The Banquet, held in the I.O.O.F. Hall, South Mountain, was a decided success and was largely attended. It was sponsored by the members of I.O.O.F. Lodge No. 428, South Mountain

The program opened with the call to order by District Deputy Grand Master Dwight Gilmer, of Kemptville District No 53. Rev. S. D. Robertson said Grace. A toast to "The Queen" and "Odd Fellowship" was given by Dwight Gilmer, who then introduced the head table guests who were as follows: Carl Dresser, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and Mrs. Dresser, of Riverside; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Chambers, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bowman, Cornwall. Mr. Bowman is District Deputy Grand Messenger; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Notell, Chesterville (Mr. Notell is Past DDGM of No. 52); Rev. S. D. Robertson; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Steele, Newington, and DDGM Dwight Gilmer and Mrs Gilmer.

Mr. Gilmer then introduced the District Deputy Grand officers of the installing team: Marshal Edward VanBridger, Warden Lloyd Graham, Recording Secretary Milton Harper, Financial Secretary Delbert Fawcett; Treasurer Lyle Sullivan, Chaplain Gordon Mulholland, Guardian Albert Hoeksema and Musician Morley Anderson.

Mr. Notell gave an address on "Friendship, Love and Truth," and Paul Bowman gave an outline of the meaning of Odd Fellowship.

When the Grand Master gave his address he took the three links of friendship that bind the Odd Fellowship together, "Friendship, Love and Truth," and gave the full meaning of each word. Mr. Dresser's address was very interesting, and at the close of the program he showed a film, "Prelude To Peace," "Youth and the United Nations," which was both interesting and educational.

PDGM Grant Chambers presented Mr. Notell with a Past Grand Master's Jewel, and Mr. Notell expressed his sincere thanks.

Gordon Mulholland moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Dresser for calling on them on his official visit and for his excellent address. Mr. Mulholland also thanked the ladies who catered at the banquet. Mrs. Mulholland replied expressing the pleasure of the ladies in being able to help in any way toward the new project.

Edward VanBridger, Noble Grand of the Lodge, moved a vote of thanks to all the guest speakers and honoured guests, and also to the ladies and school girls who assisted in serving.

Lucky No. "7" IGA Shoppers

Number "7" was lucky for two Winchester-Vernon IGA shoppers over the week-end. The "7" comes from the popular brand cigarette and if the customer is lucky enough to have a package in his or her possession when the Number Seven representative calls in the various IGA stores his grocery bill will be paid for at that time.

Accompanied by a CFRA representative (where extensive advertising of the product is carried) the Number Seven man turned up at Winchester IGA and Porteous IGA on Saturday. In Winchester Mrs. Lawrence Loucks was the winner having about $20.00 in groceries paid for her. At Porteous IGA in Vernon Mrs. Ernest Leroux of R. R. 3 Metcalfe had the same luck. Her grocery bill paid, courtesy of Number Seven cigarettes, amounted to $27.46.

A Snack Bar on Wheels

It's different! It's unique! It's convenient! These are just some of the comments about town concerning Ron Alexander's new self-styled "Mobile Canteen" which went into operation recently.

The snack-bar on wheels is made up of a brightly coloured panel truck and a combination driver-order man who makes the rounds twice a day to Winchester businesses and others interested in a coffee break a couple of times a day. The Mobile Canteen is not particularly a new idea, but it is the first time in recent years that it has been tried, and apparently successfully tried, in Winchester and district.

According to Ron Alexander, owner and mentor of the canteen, "business is good and should get better." The canteen is stocked with such items as hot coffee, drinks, cigarettes, chocolate bars, etc. It's direct serve-yourself idea that seems to be saving a lot of people a lot of time—and possibly making a dollar for owner. Harry Carruthers, one of the driver-salesmen, is shown in the above picture with the Mobile Canteen. Business, by the way, will not be entirely restricted to Winchester as the canteen is already making profitable out-of-town calls.

BELL LINES

by E. G. Thompson your telephone manager

How's your Christmas List coming along? Marie Webster has this suggestion — a coloured extension phone for that special someone — wife or husband, son or daughter, mother or close relative. An extension is a wonderful way to say "Merry Christmas," and a year round reminder of your thoughtfulness. If you will call us at ZEnith 60,000 we'll do yours up in a bright Christmas wrapping for you to put under the tree. After Christmas, our installer will call to connect it whenever you wish. Don't delay — call to-day!

You will have noticed lately that our operator, in placing a call for you, will often say "The Area Code for that is 514" or some similar number. All North America has been divided into Numbering Plan Areas for long distance purposes, and if you can give the N.P.A. number to the operator, it speeds her handling of your call. Winchester is in N.P.A. 613, as is most of Eastern Ontario. When giving your telephone number to someone beyond this Area, you should give them the 613 Code also.

This is the time of the year when we talk about hunting. We like to remind our readers about a few safety rules that may have slipped the mind since last fall. Here are a few examples: remember to keep the shooting controlled by a hill or other back stop; identify your game before you shoot; allow only empty guns in cars, boats, camps, and homes; never leave a loaded gun unattended and carry your gun so you control the muzzle at all times, etc. These are just a few of the many important safety rules any hunter should be familiar with. We also like to remind customers not to fire in the direction of wire and cable, insulators or microwave towers. You will be helping to protect services that are vital to you and your friends. We also like to wish everyone happy, SAFE hunting.

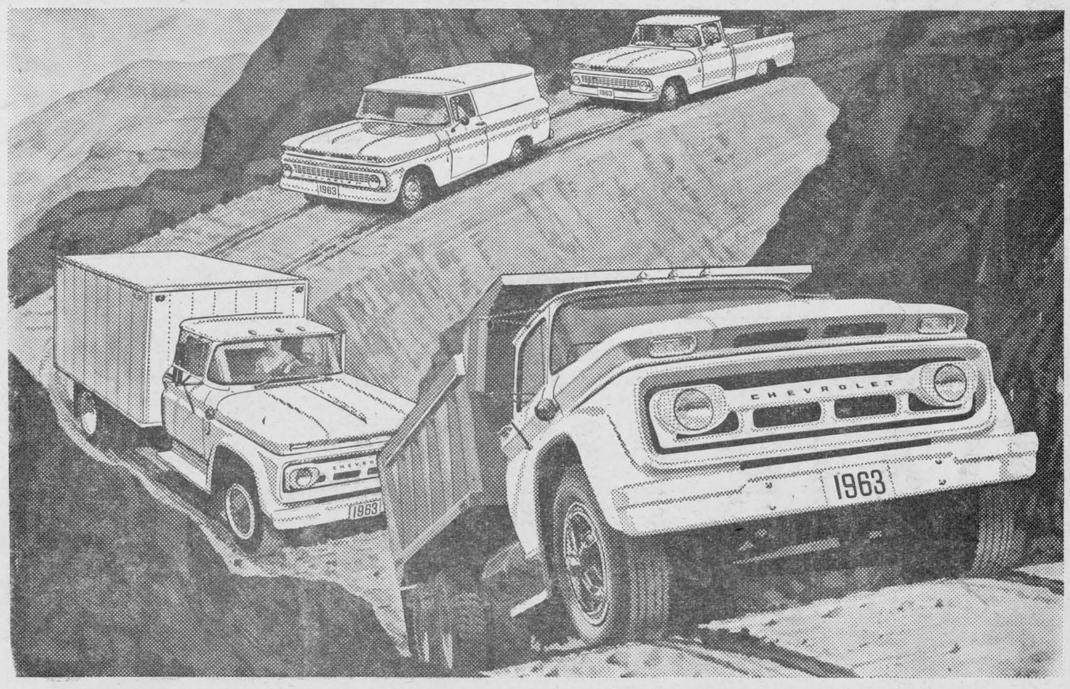
THE NEW RELIABLES



ONLY CHEVROLET OFFERS THIS PROVEN PAY-OFF IN POWER, PERFORMANCE AND DEPENDABILITY

1963 Chevrolet trucks proved their mettle before they went on sale. To do this, six Chevrolets were taken across the continent for a 2,000 mile shakedown run through some of the wildest terrain in North America—the Baja California peninsula in Mexico.

Chevrolet's power, performance and dependability paid off—the entire run was completed without a breakdown, failure or delay; and with only normal maintenance! That's how '63 Chevrolet trucks got the name "The New Reliables".

This proven reliability is built into every '63 Chevrolet truck. Whether you run 'em cross-country or cross-town, '63 Chevies will deliver what they promise!

Get the facts today, from your local Chevrolet truck dealer, then you'll know—Chevrolet pays off!

NEW POWER for '63, Chevrolet has two new engines—a 230 cu. in. Six (140 hp) and a 292 cu. in. Six (165 hp). Both are equipped with 7-bearing crankshafts, positive crankcase ventilation, full-flow oil filter and Delcotron generators. They're the newest additions to Chevrolet's complete line of proven performance-tested engines.

TWO NEW SUSPENSIONS. Light Duty Chevies feature independent coil spring front suspensions for top comfort and increased durability. Standard equipment for Mediums and Heavies is Chevrolet's new Variable-Rate leaf spring front suspension. Based on Chevrolet's work-proved Vari-Rate rear suspension, it provides better tracking and handling with reduced maintenance.

NEW FRAMES. Stronger, more durable ladder-type frames are '63 Chevrolet's backbone. Each frame, in each series, has been specifically engineered and built to meet the demands of load and road conditions. It's Chevrolet's way of making sure that every payload pays off in profits for you!

Ken Watson's CURLING

How To Judge Curling Ability

By KEN WATSON

When you are looking for a prospective teammate with curling ability, be careful you point the gimlet eye in the right direction. If you are a Group D skip, keep your anxious orbs off the guys in the Group A. They will be too rich for your blood unless you spot a likely looking lead who might have ambitions to move up in the ranks but down in competition to vice for you.

Ken. Watson

Even this selection is fraught with danger. Better you should take a gander at the rinks in your own group or lower for a fellow who has natural co-ordination. His curling ability should ripen with experience and guidance. Forget about the members of the tribe who have reached the peak. Look for the hungry boys!

How do you assess curling ability?

'Tis better to judge this by your own standards for your ability often decides whom you can ask to play for you. First look at the mechanics of delivery of the person you have in mind. Does the body flow with the swing? Is there a natural reach forward as the stone leaves the fingers—in other words, a follow-through motion?

SWEEPING ACTION

Another criterion of a good curler is his sweeping action. If he has rhythmic footwork, it usually indicates good co-ordination and stamps him as a man to watch in the hack.

But perfection in the mechanics of delivery and ability to pound the ice do not provide enough evidence for a verdict. The ability and willingness to concentrate are integral characteristics of a curler with promise. Those friendly extroverts, who are continually visiting on the next sheet or passing pleasantries with bystanders as an opposing stone sails blissfully by, are learning nothing about the hidden idiosyncrasies of the ice on which they are playing. Along come the pressure ends. Their lack of attention finds them with no knowledge of the weight required. "So it's only a game!"—is their excuse for letting the team down.

A natural delivery motion is a good omen but only if accompanied by a willingness to study causes and effects. The choice is obvious. Take the man who is "in the game."

TALL TALES IN CURLING

Submitted by "Dud" Little, MLA, who admits being smallest member of Terrace Bay, B.C. Curling Club. Height 6'3". Weight 270 lbs.

"One night in a club game our opponents had six rocks in the rings guarded by a mess of stones —most of which were our short draws. There was no possible way for our skip to get in with his last rock. After sizing up the situation he went into the clubrooms, grabbed a stone sitting under a hot stove and threw it mightily from the hack. The heat in the rock melted the ice until it went down and under the guards. By this time it had started to cool off. Eventually it rose to the surface again and came to rest right on the button!"

M. D. H. S. Wins EOSSA Soccer Championship

A small but gallant crew from Mountain District High School won the E.O.S.S.A. Soccer Championship last week. Ending the season with a third place standing in the league, the Mountain eleven completely overpowered their opposition as they won the semi-final sudden-death game from Winchester High and went on to meet Osnabruck. The undefeated Osnabruck High team had won their semi-final series with Chesterville High.

The first game of a two-game total goal series was played at South Mountain, and MDHS emerged with a 1-0 victory after a hard fought 60 minutes, on Thursday. The following day Mountain, with two bus loads of supporters, travelled to Ingleside for the final game of the season. With a one-goal edge favouring them, the high spirited Mountain boys played heads-up soccer and after scoring two fast goals on a penalty shot by Donnie VanBridger and a sharp goal-mouth play by Albert Hoeksema, held the Osnabruck team to one last minute goal and walked away with the series with a 3 to 1 score.

The soccer supremacy for the first year of league play goes to the Mountain District High School soccer team which was coached by Gary Pickard, a member of the teaching staff.

Riding "The Jiger"

Ontario Economics and Development Minister Robert Macaulay, centre, and friends try out "The Jiger" during an exhibit of Canadian-made manufactured products last week in New York. At right is Werden Leavens of Bolton, secretary manager of the Ontario Weekly Newspaper Association, and at left is Bert Smith of Port Credit, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association. The two newspapermen were invited by Mr. Macaulay to attend a New York luncheon officially launching Ontario's trade crusade in the United States.

The hardy 200-pound vehicle, made by Jiger Manufacturing Corporation, Rexdale, Ontario, works equally as well over rough terrain, snow, mud or water.

In his luncheon address Mr. Macaulay urged U. S. companies to open branch plants in Ontario and effect licensing agreements with Canadian firms for mutual profit. He warned that Canada cannot continue to maintain a balance of paymenst deficit with the U. S. and that a more equitable flow of trade must be established between the two countries.
