Eye in the sky

OPP aircraft help prevent highway accidents

NATHAN JAHN
CHIEFTAIN

They're up there, soaring somewhere around 2,000 feet. They're the eye in the sky, keeping it closely trained on your speed and driving behaviour. Even if you notice them, nothing will seem amiss as the small red-and-white striped plane circles lazily aloft.

For the first time since the program was introduced, the Ontario Provincial Police's aerial traffic enforcement (AEP) unit took to the skies over Lanark County on the Labour Day weekend.

Flying out of the Russ Beach airport near Smiths Falls, OPP Sgt. Hans Schirmer, the pilot, and Const. Rick Rowe, the spotter, flew over a three-kilometer stretch on the last long weekend of the summer.

Aided by a remarkably sophisticated guidance system, Schirmer keeps the small OPP-owned and operated Cessna 206 Turbo under tight rein to let Rowe spot the vehicles and clock the speeders.

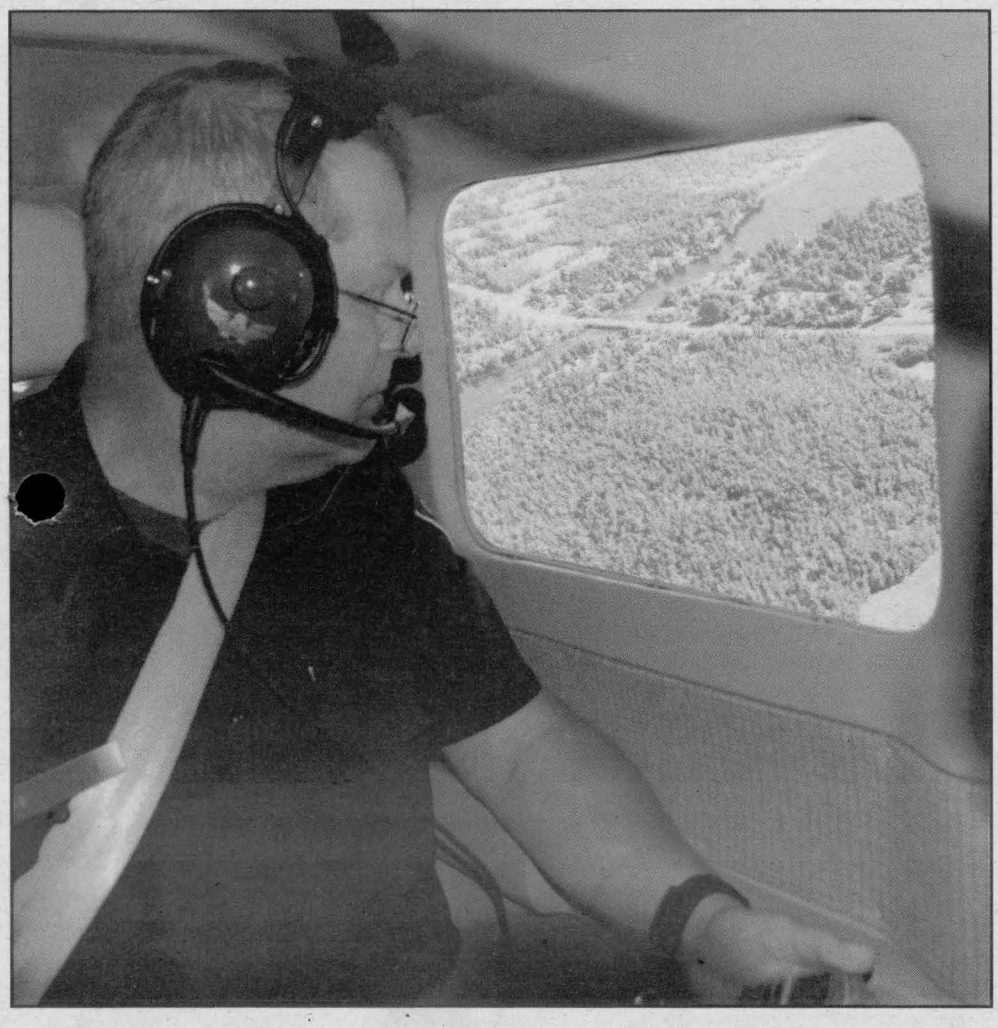

The Cessna was bought by the OPP specifically for the AEP and made its first flight out of the Toronto-Buttonville airport on May 5.

Left: OPP Prov. Const. Rick Rowe, keeps an eye on the events unfolding 2,000 feet below him on Hwy. 7 as pursuit officers pulled over two motorcyclists. The marked and unmarked cruisers waited on a side road while Rowe gave them details about the motorcycles as the approached the parked officers. The bikers were ticketed under the Highway Traffic Act for driving side-by-side on a highway.

Denis Sabourin named Liberal candidate for SD&SG

"I'm ready to go out and do the job," stated Denis Sabourin on being nominated the Liberal candidate for the upcoming federal election.

"Tomorrow we will finish setting up our campaign office at 141 Montreal Road and our team can go out there a do what we need to do."

Mr. Sabourin of Monkland was the candidate chosen by the Liberal Riding Association of Stormont, Dundas and South Glengarry to run against sitting MP Guy Lauzon.

At a nominating committee meeting held at the Cornwall Civic Complex on Sunday, September 7, Sabourin defeated two rivals to take up the Liberal mantle for the riding.

Sabourin, along with his contenders, PJ Robertson of Morrisburg and Gerald Samson of Cornwall had eight minutes to address a full and attentive house in Salon B of the Civic Complex.

After being introduced by those who nominated them, the three candidates tried to convince the audience that they would be the best choice, not only to be the Liberal nominee, but to win the seat for the Liberals.

PJ Robertson was the first candidate to take to the podium. After thanking the audience for spending their Sunday afternoon at the meeting, he asked if Liberals were ready to take back their riding.

He also posed this challenge: "Do you want to nominate a candidate or choose someone who will win? Today – right now- you have an obligation to judge which of your candidates can win the election."

Robertson pointed out to the audience that he was the first up to the plate in the riding having declared his candidacy fourteen months ago.

He also drew attention to the number of his letters challenging the Harper government that have been published in the past year.

"This is a Liberal riding by virtue of the warmth, generosity and get up and go of the residents. I get it. We Liberals get it."

Robertson's impassioned speech ended with a rousing commitment to take back the riding.

Gerald Samson was the next speaker up to the podium. Samson pointed to his 21 years on the Catholic School Board and his 15 years' work with Big Brothers and Big Sisters as proof of his commitment to the community and of his experience.

"I will work tirelessly. I love the red and white," exclaimed Samson passionately.

He closed his speech by promising that he would see a new bridge built over the St. Lawrence if it was the last thing he did.

Denis Sabourin was the final candidate to address the audience.

He pointed out that for Stephen Harper the election is about him and achieving a majority government.

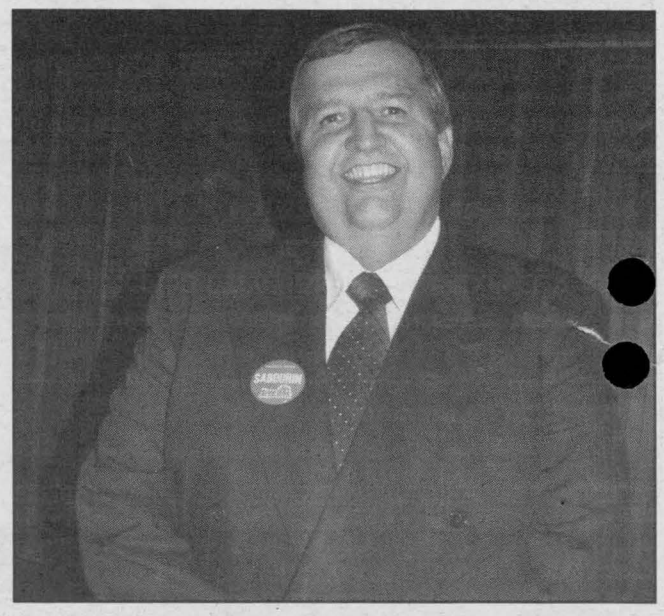

For the Liberals, on the other hand, the election is about getting a government that people can trust and that acts in the best interests of its citizens.

"Mr. Dion is resolute and trustworthy. He is the one with a vision and the only one for the job."

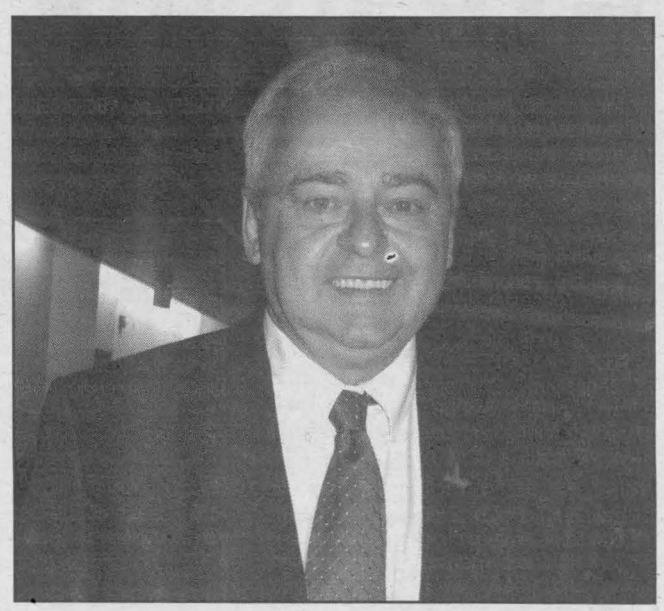

Sabourin mentioned the creation of electricity in the area through the use of micro-generators in the river and biodigesters on farms as examples of the Liberal "Green Shift".

After the speeches, registered Liberals were given the opportunity to select their candidate of choice through a preferential ballot.

Two former mayors of South Dundas were amongst those who helped choose the new Liberal Candidate for SD&SG.

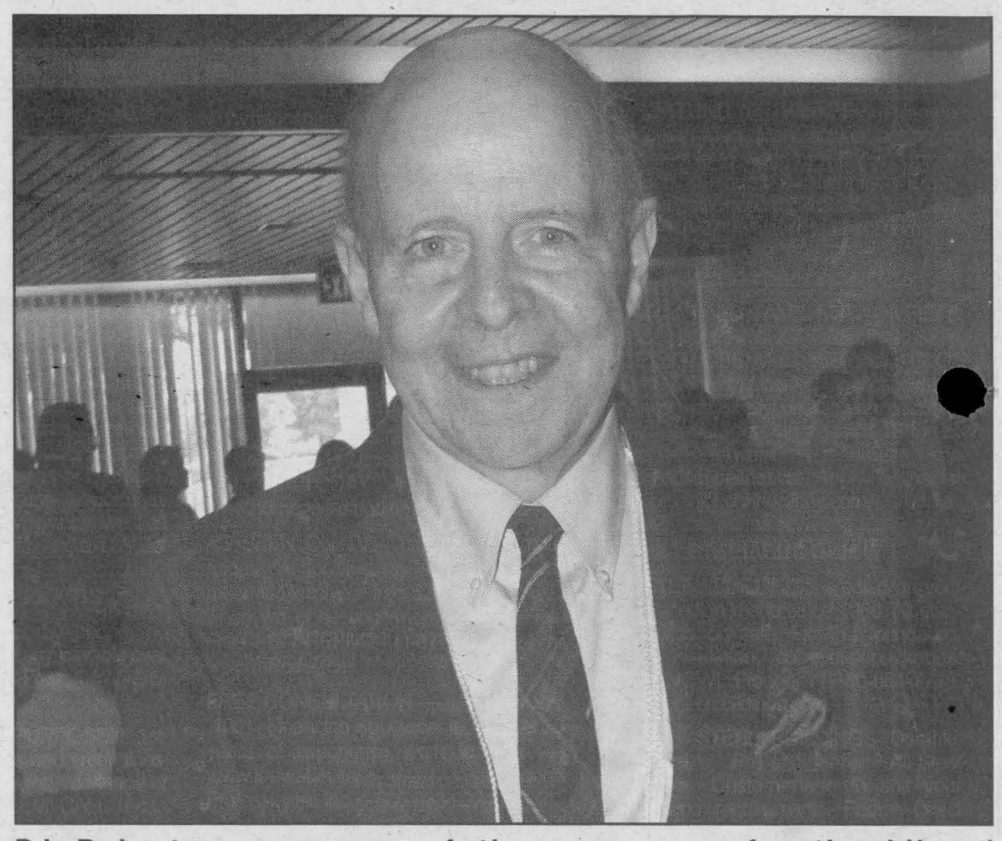

Denis Sabourin is the new Liberal candidate for Stormont, Dundas and South Glengarry.

Gerald Samson promised that he would see a new bridge built over the St. Lawrence.

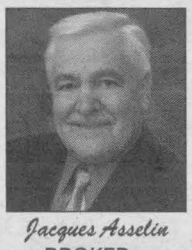

Johnny Whitteker was impressed with all the speeches, though he liked PJ Robertson's the best.

"I think any of the candidates will do a good job," stated Lyle Van Allen. He did admit it was going to be a tough go to defeat Guy Lauzon.

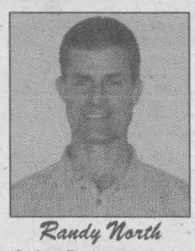

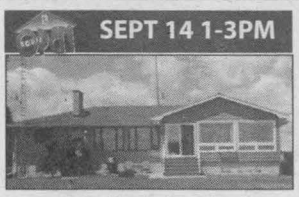

PJ Robertson was one of the runners-up for the Liberal nomination.

Iroquois Library wraps up reading program

The Iroquois Branch of the SD&G County Library wrapped up its summer reading program with an ice cream sundae and games party.

Thanks to Bronwyn Fowler the participants enjoyed a 'happy face' piñata at the party.

The brownies supplied by Chelsea and Brianna Heuvel were also a big hit.

36 children between the ages of 6 – 11 registered for the programme and an average of 28 children met every Wednesday for an hour of reading, fun, and games.

This summer the theme for the reading programme was "Laugh Out Loud", and that is just what the participants did.

Presented by Iroquois branch staff member Eleanor Pietersma, the children engaged in such activities as dress-up day, backward/upside down day, a Mad Hatter's Tea Party and much, much more.

The winner of the book draw prize was Camden Banfill and the Jelly Bean Guessing Contest was won by Hannah Albers.

Iroquois Legion Branch 370 Newsletter

BY DARLENE RIDDELL

We are now in September, school is open for our children and all activities in sports are back in gear at our branch.

Our Cribbage League had their first day of cribbage on Saturday past and a total of twelve players were in attendance playing 'doubles'.

Finishing in first was Bev Kropp with a total of 1078 while Ken Palmer claimed the second spot with his total of 1063. Noella Kirkwood finished in third with her count of 1051. Roger Coulter started the season off taking the Bridesmaid honours with a distant count of 1028. Only four skunks made an appearance and not one person got sprayed twice.

The Pot of Gold winner was Tony Easter who WAS signed in.

The Friday meal is to be meatloaf, mashed potatoes with gravy and veggies and dessert is peach shortcake.

At Euchre there were a total of eight tables. Claiming the first prize was Tony Toonders. Coming in for second prize was Hubert Lapierre and Rita Gannon nabbed the third prize. Only two skunks were loitering around and getting one each were Elsie Bron and Jean Whitford.

Last Friday was the first night of registration for the Mixed Dart League. This coming Friday night is the second night of registration and regular play will start on Friday, September 19. The cost of registration is $5 and $2 weekly for play. Remember – age of majority is a must. The Sunday night Mixed Doubles will be starting play on September 14.

The 16 Annual Mixed Golf Tournament "Scramble" will be taking place on September 13 at the Iroquois Golf Course. The cost is $45 per person with a shotgun start at noon. A roast turkey dinner will take place at the Legion followed by the handing out of prizes.

The 2009 membership renewal campaign is off and running. The early bird is a cost of $35 from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. Again this year we plan on having two 'early bird' draws. If you renew your membership ASAP you have a good chance at winning your 'dues' back. Please keep this in mind. Also the quicker you pay your 'dues' the quicker you will have your renewal card for 2008 – 2009.

There will be a Legion executive meeting Wednesday, Sept. 10.

Until next week – take care.

You see the wonderful fall colours, I only see red

JASON MARSHALL

Every neighbourhood has one – the house where the cantankerous old codger lives. The old guy who keeps soccer balls and Frisbees that fly into his yard and who stands on the front stoop, throwing around suspicious looks and shaking his fist at anyone under the age of 78.

I fear I am becoming that old grump.

Though I've yet to venture into the realm of black socks and sandals, I fear I'm growing old before my time. Though I'm closer to 35 than to 40, I have the surliness of a much older Frisbee collector. In fact, the surliness meter is at a dangerous level this week thanks to one word – autumn. See how old I feel? I refer to it as "autumn" instead of "fall" like all the young hipsters.

Fall used to be so many things to me – it was about making the jump from shorts to pants and coming home with the knees of your jeans grass-stained from playing football until well after dark. It was about having your mom yell at you to put on a sweater. It was about acting tough in front of your friends and just wearing a T-shirt. It was about your mom making you chicken soup when you got home, because you were almost frozen.

Fall was about the clocks going back and cooler weather. It was about the beauty of the leaves changing colours. It was about Halloween. And playing in the piles of leaves on your lawn. Remember grabbing one of your friends and stuffing his shirt so full of leaves that he looked like the Michelin Man, and then laughing until your sides were sore?

Well, that was yesterday, bub. Time to get off Memory Lane – those same leaves you used to stuff down shirts are all over the road. And the lawn. And in the gutters.

Sigh. I told you I've hit a new level of bitterness.

Now those breathtakingly colourful leaves no longer mean hours behind the camera taking photos, or playing in leaf piles on the lawn. No, it's about hours on the end of a rake and making those piles the dog runs through, only adding to your frustration.

I so want to enjoy the fall, but it's become tougher than a two-dollar steak to do that. Gone is the laughter of youth, replaced by the maniacal cackling of a man raking, mulching and bagging. Bawahahaha.

Gone is the beauty of fall. In its place is a honey-do list to begin winterizing the house. And when Sunday afternoons become a time to caulk around the windows and mouse-proof the cupboards rather than lounging around on the couch spilling chip dip on my shirt while watching football – well, let's just say it breaks my heart. And my spirit.

Then comes a weekend when you have to put the mower away for the summer. And then the barbecue. I feel like openly weeping just thinking about that day.

The days will be getting shorter. The annuals are dying. The perennials are begging to be moved around the garden. And the coil hose. Don't get me started on the coil hose – an investment that was going to make my life so much easier. Let's just say, I am currently doing an Internet search for the whereabouts of the inventor so he can help me to take the volleyball-sized knot out of this so-called miracle of the garden.

Then, after I go through the list – and avoid the items that require too much effort – there is the fact that Ol' Man Winter is knocking on the door. And that means a visit from Oil Man of Winter. And his receipt book.

Then you have to get the snow tires put on your car. Usually this is after the first snowfall and that white-knuckled trip down the Queensway.

The comes Christmas. Once a time for visions of sugarplums – now it's about stressing out over finding a parking space at the mall, worrying about whether or not your credit card will be declined at the cash, and whether or not the turkey will be dry. And what about the gravy? Will it be lumpy?

Then comes January and the credit card bills. And the bitter cold. And the car not starting when you leave the office. Of course, you are also the last person out the door. And your booster cables are at home in the garage.

Then the snow shovelling. And the aching back from shovelling a second time after the snow plow driver filled up the end of the driveway. And [illegible]ing the dog out for a pee in –30 C temperatures. Then slipping on the icy sidewalk only to realize the neighbour you can't stand witnessed your less than graceful nose dive.

Oh, the humanity.

Then comes spring time. And that means fall is only six months away. Oh, my ulcer.

But for now, you'll have to excuse me.

Hey, you kids. Get off my lawn! Don't make me call your parents.

Master Gardener: Compost "happens" (part 1)

Composting is a natural process, the well known phrase "Excrement Occurs" really should be "Compost Happens". It takes place all by itself in nature, leaves fall to the ground, perennial wildflowers and grasses bloom and then their top growth dies.

All of this naturally decays and compost or humus is the result. How does it happen?

Natural soil organisms such as bacteria, protozoans, centipedes, millipedes and earthworms use the carbon and nitrogen from dead plant cells and microbes for food and turn it into compost in the process.

What's the recipe for compost? Food + Air + Water = Compost.

Let's take a look at the components. Food - any plant based material that has not had fat or animal products added, has not been contaminated by synthetic chemicals or treated with herbicides or pesticides, may be used as food.

Diseased plant material should not be used. You should use about half "green" material and half "brown" material.

Green material (high in nitrogen) is made up of things like grass clippings, weeds (without mature seed heads), tea leaves, fruit and vegetable peelings or the fruit or vegetables themselves, hair, feathers, egg shells, coffee grounds, dead annuals or the tops of perennials.

Brown material (high in carbon) is made up of fallen tree needles and dead leaves, dead grass, straw, sawdust, shredded newspapers, cut up twigs, etc.

Air - provides oxygen and allows the bacteria to carry out "aerobic" decomposition.

"Anaerobic" (without air) decomposition will also take place but there will be a rotten egg smell.

Air penetrates only the first few inches of the pile so the pile needs to be stirred up to allow the pile to breathe.

The more the pile is stirred the faster the process will be.

It can be as simple as turning the pile with a garden fork or moving the pile from one bin to another adjacent one. Some bins come with a "tumbling" feature to make this easier.

Water - the moisture in a compost pile should be about like a wrung out sponge, damp to the touch but you should not be able to squeeze water out.

If your compost pile is too dry, you can water while you are stirring it.

If it's too wet you can redistribute the pile, putting the moister portion on the outside and the dryer on the inside.

Written by Lindley McPhail, United Counties Master Gardener. If you have gardening questions, please send an e-mail to mg.questions@ripnet.com.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear editor,

Never mind the excuses, never mind the pretence of consulting with leaders of the opposition parties, in calling an election now before October 2009, Prime Minister Stephen Harper has broken his word on fixed election dates. And why should we be surprised? The party he leads was formed on a broken promise--when Peter MacKay, breaking his pledge to David Orchard, joined the Progressive Conservatives with Stephen Harper's Reform Alliance to form the Conservative Reform Alliance Party, the CRAP.

From that tainted union how can we expect anything but broken promises? The plain fact is that Mr. Harper and his reformist Conservatives have shown once again they cannot be trusted. And without trust Mr. Harper is no leader. Period. End of story.

African Children's Choir to perform in Dixon's Corners

Area residents are in for a big treat when the African Children's Choir performs at the Community Christian Reformed Church in Dixon's Corners on Friday, September 12 at 7 p.m.

Though a first for this area, choirs from Africa have been touring North America for the past 23 years, charming crowds and raising much need funds for African children.

According to Linda Cooper, "You think you are going to a concert to enjoy an evening of music and see a group of cute smiling faces perform. You don't realize just how much these children will touch your heart and change your life. At a concert eleven years ago, I was touched by these children and my life was changed forever. Just recently we saw the African Children's Choir again and my spirit was renewed and my convictions were strengthened, to share with others, the spirit and the need for these children in our world."

Nancy Blokland, Community CRC Coordinator, is very excited about the upcoming concert.

"We hope to pack the Church", stated Blokland, "We want them to bless us and we want to bless them in return by helping Africa's most vulnerable."

According to Blokland there are 26 children in the concert and members of the parish will be billeting the children.

Most of the children are AIDS orphans or have lost at least one parent.

The African Children's Choir is the creation of a Canadian Human Rights worker.

In 1978 Ray Barnett arrived in Uganda to research a book about the brutal years of dictatorship and terror that had devastated this beautiful country.

What he found would change his life. Uganda was a country in ruins. Villages had been razed to the ground and adults herded into torture chambers or murdered on the spot.

Orphaned children spent their days hunting for food and water in the bush, or begging and scavenging for it on the city streets.

Ray knew he had to do something to help. For the next six years he raised money and set up small relief projects run by local people.

Then in 1984 he heard a BBC news report that told of 150,000 children starving to death in northern Uganda.

Once again he boarded a plane to see for himself what was happening.

And so began the journey that would start the formation of the African Children's Choir.

Admission to the concert is free, but goodwill donations will be accepted with all proceeds going to help children in Africa.

Square & Round Dancers celebrate special week

It's official! Square and Round Dance Clubs in Eastern Ontario are preparing to celebrate the joys of dancing during the week of September 6 through 14. The goal of this special week is to introduce the activity of round and square dancing to new members who in turn will benefit from the physical, social and psychological benefits of the dances. According to Shirley Hull of the Harbour Lites Square Dance Club, "Modern square and round dancing have been a popular recreational activity in the Seaway Valley for many years. Both promote physical fitness and mental acuity." In order to give the public an opportunity to witness first hand the fun involved in this type of dancing, the Harbour Lites and O'Reilly's Independent Food Store in Prescott have teamed up and will be holding a dance demonstration. The demonstration will take place in the activity room at the store on Friday, September 12 between 5:30 pm and 8 pm.

According to Hull, square dancing nourishes the mind – body connection. "With all its moving, twisting and turning, square dancing provides more than the daily dose of heart and bone healthy physical activity." In fact, an excerpt from a Mayo Clinic health letter in January 1994 states that "remembering all the calls from do-si-do to allemande keeps the mind sharp, potentially staving off age-related memory loss." Furthermore, the side-to-side movements of many dances strengthens weight bearing bones and can help prevent or slow loss of bone mass. Socially, the companionship that regular square dancing offers is an antidote to depression and loneliness.

The Harbour Lites meet on Wednesday evenings from 7 pm to 9:30 pm at their club that is located on the corner of Center and Dibble Streets in Prescott. Any one interested is encouraged to come out and give square dancing a try. "Even if you have two left feet you can square dance," assures Hull. In Morrisburg, the Seaway Squares held an Open House Dance at the Morrisburg Public School on Monday, September 8. There was no cost to prospective dancers and guests. For more information about the Seaway Squares contact Harold & Marion Moore at (613)-543-2341. To learn more about the Harbour Lites, contact Shirley Hull at (613) 925-4398.

The Harbour Lites Square Dance Club will be demonstrating square dancing at O'Reilly's Independent Food Store on Friday, Sept. 12 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Some of the club members are pictured here as they participated in Cardinal's annual Labour Day Parade on Aug. 31.

Aircraft gives police the whole driving picture

OPP,

Since then, the plane, along with a rental plane that assists officers on [redacted] weekends, has helped [redacted]k up more than 2,100 charges.

[redacted]chirmer told the [redacted]embled media before the historic flight that the plane is generally up in the air for "seven or eight hours" a day and they expect to net 70-80 charges, or approximately 10 an hour.

"It works extremely well," he said. "We're able to watch hundreds of vehicles at the same time."

While the primary function appears to nab speeders, Rowe believes the program does far more than just hand out tickets; with the excellent view from the sky, officers can track speeds over greater distances and watch driving behaviour as it unfolds.

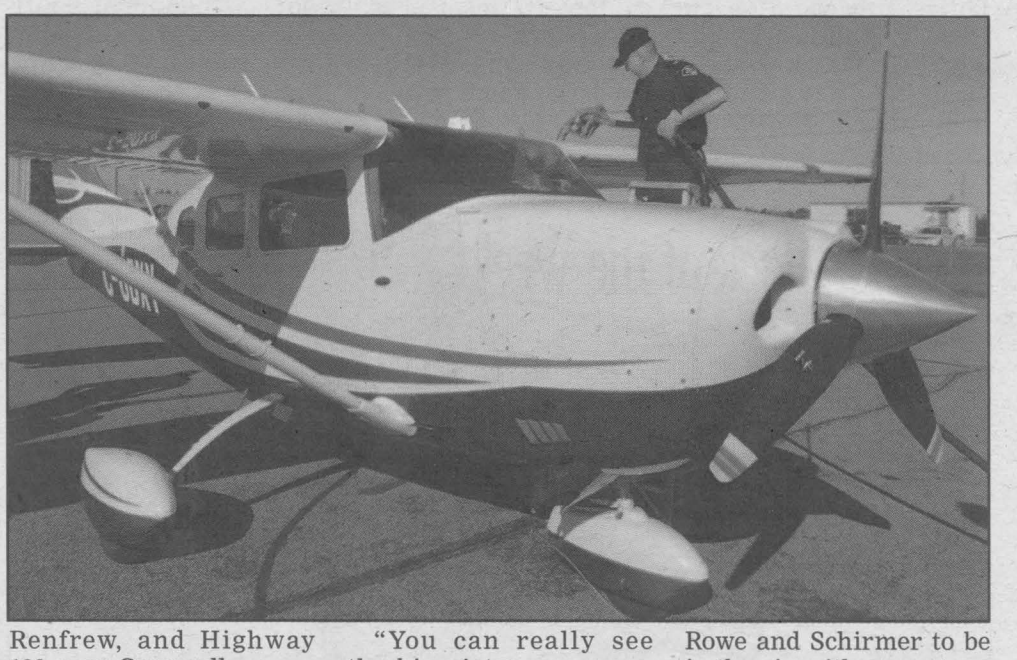

Spotters use a stopwatch to determine vehicle speeds.

As the target vehicle crosses the painted "hash mark" on the side of the highway, the watch is activated.

When the vehicle crosses the next roadway marking 500 metres away, the stopwatch is deactivated, automatically calculating and displaying its speed.

"The use of this technology ensures accuracy and efficiency in speed enforcement from the air ... aircraft observers will also target violations by commercial motor vehicles and motorcycles," said the OPP's website.

For Sunday's flight, there were four cruisers, two at each end of the targeted stretch of highway; three "black and whites" and one unmarked cruiser. Over the weekend, the plane patrolled Highway 17, between Arnprior and Renfrew, and Highway 138, near Cornwall.

"Our primary job is to prevent accidents," says Rowe, his voice sounding tinny through the headset. "It could be your loved ones or mine and we're doing our part to keep (accidents) down."

And they do that by keeping track of a driver over several kilometres, rather than just a brief glance as cars go past their cruisers.

"You can really see the big picture, you can see driving history," said Rowe.

Rowe proved his words by spotting two motorcycles travelling side-by-side on Highway 7, which is illegal under the Highway Traffic Act.

Schirmer keeps the plane in a tight circle for Rowe to keep an eye on the bikers as he directs the pursuit cruisers below.

The day was perfect for Rowe and Schirmer to be in the air, with warm temperatures and high pressure systems.

But the early time didn't garner many traffic tickets.

"It is 11 a.m. on Sunday morning, I'd like to think everyone's in church," said Schirmer.

If so, it may be the only, albeit temporary, sanctuary on this long weekend from this all-seeing OPP great eye in the sky.

Police seize $38,000 worth of tobacco

An Ontario Provincial Police Tobacco Stop on Highway 401 eastbound in South Glengarry, Ontario on Sept. 5 has resulted in the RCMP seizure of 425.36 kilograms of fine cut tobacco worth an estimated $38,284.

At 6:18 a.m., an officer from the O.P.P. stopped a 2000 Ford F 150 pick-up truck on Highway 401 eastbound in South Glengarry. When the officer approached the driver, the driver sped away and collided with a Transport truck that was also heading eastbound.

The driver fled away on foot and the officer secured the scene to continue the investigation.

The officer located garbage bags of fine cut tobacco inside the truck and contacted the Cornwall RCMP Detachment to assist.

RCMP officer attended and seized 21 garbage bags that contained 425.36 kilograms of fine cut tobacco which is believed to have been produced in the United States and smuggled into Canada.

The RCMP did not seize the pick-up truck as it was heavily damaged in the collision.

The RCMP and OPP are continuing the investigation and the driver has not been located.

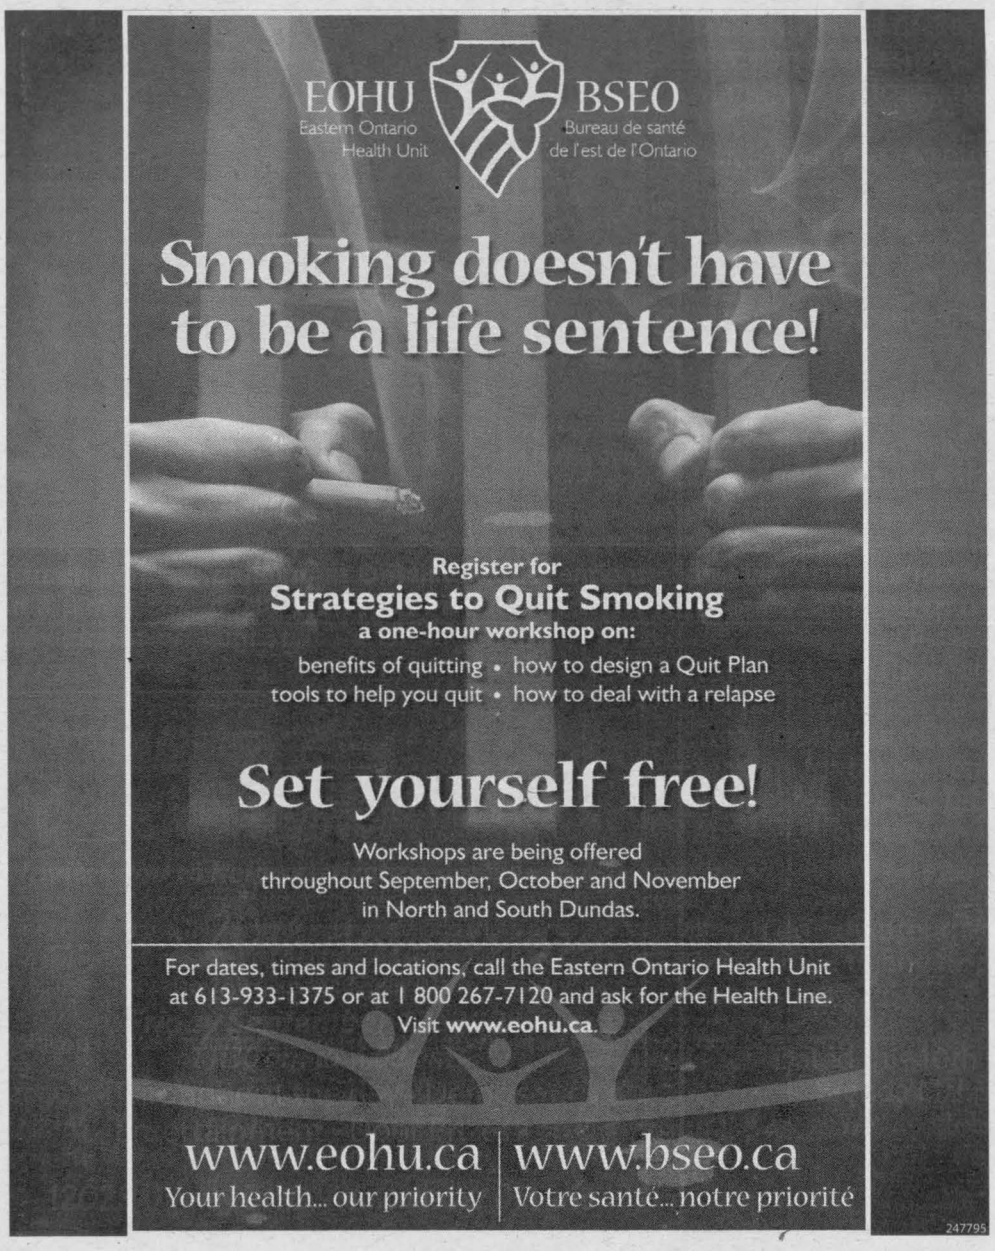

"We continue to see a rise in dangerous driving by the people who are transporting the illicit tobacco on our roadways and the public is placed at risk," said Sgt. Michael Harvey of the RCMP. "Public safety is our priority and we encourage the motoring public to be cautious on the roadways due the risky behaviour of organized crime groups involved in the illicit tobacco trade."

Hydrant Flushing and Valve Operation

Residents of Cardinal and New Wexford are notified that the municipality will be flushing hydrants and operating isolation valves in those areas from September 15th to October 31st, 2008. Water customers may notice fluctuations in pressure and some discoloration. This is a normal result of the flushing process. It is recommended that customers check their water for discoloration prior to use each day as this could cause damage to laundry, etc.

Cornwall Speedway presents Fireball Enduro

MARTIN BÉLANGER

Cornwall Motor Speedway hosted their annual Fireball Enduro on Sept. 7. The WWE of racing! Over 250 cars registered for this afternoon's show as the 4, 6 and 8 cylinders were in actions. A 100-lap race for the 8 cylinders, fifty laps for 4&6 cylinders and 50 laps for the ladies.

The ladies were first on the track for their feature event, a nice field of 34 cars took the initial green and 3 rollovers brought some red flags and when it was all done, Rachel Laframboise of Cornwall took the checker flag, a very entertaining race with some clean racing and several cars being able to finish the race.

The men's 6 cylinders were next on the track with a 50-lap race, 80 cars took the start of that race. Many reds flew during the race for security reasons. Only 15 cars were able to finish the race. The #2 car Jeff Philips of Finch, Ontario ran a great race and was the winner of this race. The cars were everywhere on the track when the race finished.

A total of 105 cars were sent on the track for the 50-lap men's 4-cylinders race. A lot of action in this race with a lot of accidents and just like the 6 cylinders not many cars finished the race. David Gravelle from Ottawa, Ontario was the winner of the race.

The afternoon finished with the 50-lap feature race for the 8-cylinders, 40 cars were on the starting grid.

Many changes in the lead in the feature race with the accidents being a factor in the finish and when it was all done, Jim Peters was declared the winner.

Next week will be the last program of the season with a special 40-lap feature event for Sportsmans plus the last race of the street stock challenge for Semi-Pro; they will have a 25-lap feature. The rookies will also have a 25-lap finale. Along with all that action, a big demolition derby called the terminator will complete the schedule.

Admission price will only be 10$ for general admission.

DEATHS

Carol Pidgeon

Mom was taken from us on Wednesday, August 6th 2008, to become an angel to watch over all of us. My Mom, ..what a wonderful person! She was a wife to Paul, mother to myself, Liz and husband Jeff & my brother Paulie, a daughter to Nan (Shirley Walter) and Myer Gordon, sister to Marilyne, Alan, Fan, an aunt, a cousin and most of all a grandmother who can never be replaced, to my children, Michael & McKenzie Allan, We celebrated Mom's life under the pavilion at the Cardinal Legion, scattered her ashes along the river, released pink balloons, let pink roses and carnations go, said goodbye with a sip of scotch [illegible] then gathered together inside the Legion, remembering the good ol' times and snacking on a few of Mum's favourite foods,

The family would like to thank everyone for the food that was brought to our homes, the flowers and cards that were sent donations that were made in memory of Mom, the hugs from everyone we would meet and most of all Dr Terrence Woods & his staff at the Brockville General Hospital for doing all they could, along with the two lady ambulance attendants, who treated mom also. It must be equally sad for all you to lose someone as it is for us to lose someone. Special thanks to Danny & Jane McLaughlin from Marsden & McLaughlin Funeral Home and David Lapier for everything they did,

Mom, we will all miss you, you Will be in our thoughts forever and ever. You'll never grow old as we grow old. You'll always be with us. Love you!!! XOXO

Eastern Ontario Health Unit holds rabies clinics

On September 13, 2008, the Eastern Ontario Health Unit will be hosting rabies vaccination clinics across eastern Ontario.

The vaccination clinics will be held at 26 different locations, and they will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. Locations of the clinics will include the Chesterville Fire Department, the St. Lawrence Valley Animal Hospital on Pitt Street in Cornwall, the Morrisburg Fire Hall, the Fire Hall in Winchester, and the Winchester Veterinary Clinic.

According to the law, dogs and cats in Ontario must be regurlarly vaccinated against rabies, starting when they are three months of age. Vaccinations are mandatory for pets every three years, at minimum.

Rabies is a highly contagious virus that infects the central nervous system, causing inflammation of the brain, also known as encephalitis. Any mammal can be infected by the disease, including humans. The rabies virus is almost certainly fatal, unless the victim receives a rabies vaccination before they start to show neurological symptoms.

These symptoms include abnormal behaviours such as agitation, anxiety, insomnia, paranoia, confusion, hallucinations, and eventually, delirium. Once these symptoms become evident, the victim almost invariably has between 2 and 10 days left before death.

The disease can be caught from a cut or scratch inflicted by an animal infected by rabies, as well as from the virus coming in contact with the eyes, mouth or nose.

According to the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources, there is an elevated risk of coming in contact with rabies-infected animals – especially raccoons, the most common animal in Ontario to be found carrying the disease - in the Brockville area, west to Kingston, and north to Smith Falls. Since 2005, there have been 132 reported cases of raccoon-related rabies in the Brockville and Kingston area. However, as recently as 2004, this designated high-risk area had been extended as far east as Cornwall.

The most important step in avoiding the rabies virus is having all pets vaccinated. Also, wild animals should never be fed, trapped in an unprofessional way, transported, or kept as pets. If a sick or dead animal is found, it should not be touched with bare hands. If the disposal of a dead animal is necessary, gloves should always be worn.

More information about rabies in eastern Ontario can be attained by calling the Eastern Ontario Health Unit's Health Line at 1-800-267-7120.
