To the Electors of Morrisburg:
Ladies and Gentlemen:

May I express my very sincere thanks for the support given me in the recent election.

I have made no promises and bear no grudge against any person and will give of my best to the town.

CARD OF THANKS

Ladies and Gentlemen, Electors of Morrisburg:

I wish to thank all the Voters who exercised their franchise last Monday and particularly those who worked and voted for me, giving me such a splendid record vote on my first entry in politics in the civic arena of Morrisburg.

In concluding, I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the generous assistance from the "Leader", Mr. Arnold Jarvis and the young athletes, whose effort was only 40 votes short of winning the election against the opposition, which was headed by the 1938 Council and Reeve and the former Provincial Secretary.

Yours faithfully,

MORRISBURG CURLERS "AT HOME" IN NEW RINK

On Wednesday afternoon and evening, December 7th, the members of the Morrisburg Curling Club formally opened their new and luxurious quarters, when they were "At Home" to the public of Morrisburg and vicinity. Over two hundred friends viewed the building. Following a social hour, the members of the Ladies' Club served tea to the guests in the assembly hall, upstairs. The tea table was beautifully laid, and centered with a bouquet of red cornations. Downstairs, the lounge was decorated with bronze and gold chrysanthemums. The guests were received by Mrs. A.K. McGill, president of the Ladies' Club, and Mr. J. E. Christensen, president of the Men's Club. The other members of the Ladies' Club acted as hostesses and assisted in serving. Representatives of Metcalfe, Prescott, and other outside clubs were present.

The new and modern home of the Morrisburg Club was erected this year, through the efforts of the club members. It contains a large lounge room, with fire place, on the ground floor, and upstairs an assembly hall and up-to-date kitchen. The ice surface will accomodate four teams.

The membership this year totals over 150, the ladies being responsible for eighty-five members.

The official opening of the new rink will be held in the near future. Plans are being made for a bonspiel, with a banquet for gentlemen members in the evening, at which the ladies will act as caterers. Among the speakers will be Dr. H.H. Kirby of Hawkesbury, president of the Canadian Branch of the Royal Calidonian Curling Club.

ESCAPE FROM CAR AFTER DIVE INTO IROQUOIS CANAL

Keith J. Strader and W. Monpetit both of Iroquois, had a narrow escape from drowning a mile west of Iroquois Wednesday night, when the car in which they were proceeding west on No. 2 highway plunged into two posts of the north side guard rail and five posts on the south side.

Strader was driving when the accident, believed to be caused by a blowout of a rear tire, occurred, sending the auto careening across the rainswept highway into the north guard rail and then against the rail on the other side of the highway and into the canal.

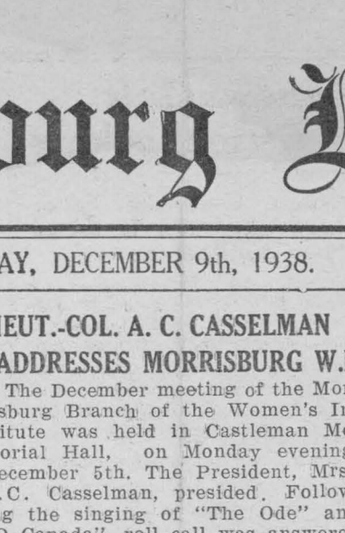

The two men managed to struggle out of the car, of which only the top was showing, and up the bank onto the highway. Monpetit was uninjured but Strader suffered minor cuts to his head.

Constable Frank Rose of Morrisburg investigated.

LIEUT.-COL. A. C. CASSELMAN ADDRESSES MORRISBURG W.I.

The December meeting of the Morrisburg Branch of the Women's Institute was held in Castleman Memorial Hall, on Monday evening, December 5th. The President, Mrs. J.C. Casselman, presided. Following the singing of "The Ode" and "O Canada", roll call was answered by "My Favorite Christmas Carol." "Silent Night" proved most popular. A letter was read acknowledging $10 sent the Red Cross for fire sufferers in Western Ontario.

Mrs. Farlinger moved a resolution that the Institute members pack boxes during Christmas week, and donate $5.00 toward the fund for the community christmas tree. Miss Gillespie seconded this motion, which was passed unanimously. "Silent

Mr. A. C. Casselman, K.C, M.P.

Night" was sung by the entire body. Mrs. Frank Hummell then gave a brief talk on "Current Events." She spoke of Queen Maude's death, the Royal Visit, and Relief. Mrs. Epplett delighted the gathering with a solo.

The speaker of the evening, Lieut.-Col. A.C. Casselman, K.C.,M.P., was introduced by the President of the Institute. Mr. Casselman, who spoke on "Peace Education and International Relations," was greeted by a very large and appreciative audience.

"When we think of peace," said Mr. Casselman, "We do not think of great movements, of deep moral or religious issues, of grouping of great powers, but of something much more intimate—the lives of our children, friends, companions, of our losses in the last war in man-power and in money.

"The greatest peace effort of our time followed the World War.—the League of Nations the father of which was Woodrow Wilson. If our aspirations are to be effective, they must be embodied in great institutions, in a church, in an order, or in a Government.

"International Relations have not received the publicity their importance requires," continued Col. Casselman. "There have been few discussions in Parliament, possibly every two years."

"A woman in public life recently objected to the agreement of Munich thinking a better agreement should have been made. If the decision were yours, and you were two hours from a world war brought about because of the fact that, in a desire to have world peace, you had honourably disarmed, while others, having made the same agreement, dishonourably armed, would you not have agreed to something which saved the world war?

"My effort," said Mr. Casselman, "has been to make clear to you that your representatives have, in their dealings with foreign countries, always had before them the thought that the ideal of the League(world peace) should be maintained.

In conclusion, Mr. Casselman stated that world peace, the ideal of the League of Nations, is still within our reach.

Mr. I Hilliard, K.C., voiced his appreciation of the splendid address, and Mrs. Merrill moved a vote of thanks to Lieut.-Col. Casselman, thanking him not only for being present, but for the preparation and time he had given his topic.

Mr. Casselman answered several queries on the subject, which were put to him by the members and vistors. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

THREE MEN DROWN IN SOULANGES CANAL

Three young men died in the icy waters of the Soulanges Canal near Coteau Du Lac, Que., last night when the automobile in which they were riding missed the highway and plunged into the canal from a side road. Three other youths escaped.

ARTHUR FLYNN Morrisburg, Ont

"Sportsman Flies High"

by Lawrence Keating

Synopsis:

Detective Dan Colwell of the Graber-Vael private detective agency is assigned the job of shadowing McDonald whose wife fears gangster enemies are plotting to murder him. McDonald is killed in spite of Colwell's watchfulness. Now, with McDonald dead, the smuggling ring which he led has become disorganized. Colwell risks his life to gather evidence by playing one against another.

CHAPTER X

Lefty walked out of the bedroom pulling the door shut, but it swung partly open again. His gun was lowered. "That's all right. You tried to slip it over on me and I showed you I won't stand for it. What I want to know is, why the gag about Mrs. McDonald? You put Helen here up to posin' as Mac's wife when he never had one. An excuse to set one of your gumshoe artists trailin' Mac."

"Aw, Lefty, we figured you might do somethin' to land the bunch of us in the mud. Yeah—and you damn near did! Helen suggested—" He stopped, flung the girl a look of inquiry whether he had revealed something best kept secret. "I mean she tried to talk you into keepin' cool. But nothing'd do, you had to get all heated up. Hell, that game didn't work out much anyhow. Forget it."

The killer sneered. "Yeah, forget it! I s'pose you come here for the package, eh?"

"You bet I did. And I mean to split in it, you hear? You can't put nothing over on me, Lefty Quillen! Not with two murder raps ready to grab you and me knowing plenty—. But why should I ever spill it?" Otto interrupted himself, "Say, we gotta work together like we always did! Made money, ain't we? But you might trot out that package," he hinted eagerly."

"He's Gone With It"

There was a brief silence. "I haven't got it. I don't know who has. Thought Soup pulled a slick one on me and snitched it, but now. . . ." Quillen shrugged and scowled. "Hell, I don't know where it is Otto."

The detective agency head hung on the words, speechless. He made rumbling sounds in his throat. "You lie!" he burst out in new fury. "You're a dirty liar, Quillen—you sold the stuff already! That's what you did, and now you're tryin' to whine off. But you can't get away with it, see? Gimme my share—quick!" he roared, and again whipped up his gun.

They were like wildcats, ready to spring. With a gasp Helen Fane darted between the two guns and struck them up. "Stop it! What's accomplished by killing each other? You—you saps!" the girl flung at them so hard it stung. "Listen, Otto; Lefty tried to give you and me and Mac the run around. He thought we were trying to give him the run around. See?

"Well, Mac's gone and he was the boss. That package is gone too, and Quillen has no more idea than you have where it is. That's straight. He only wishes he did have! We've lost it, that's all. My guess is that Soup Catterby pulled a fast one, had the stuff taken from the newsstand man in the Lowyers and Doctors Building. Then Quillen kills him. Now the guy that was messenger for Soup is sitting pretty. Trying to find him would be like hunting a needle in a haystack. We're out of luck!

"But the shipment's still coming. We know the smuggling scheme is okay. However—" She paused. "How did that trial package come in, Otto?"

He parted his lips to speak, pressed them together suddenly, and gave a taunting smile. "Never mind. Got in, didn't it? Mac had the license of the truck on him—that I don't know. You got it, offa Mac?"

"Well, listen, I did, but—"

"What!" A new outburst came from Graber which lasted several minutes and necessitated another daring move on the part of the girl lest the pair murder each other.

"Keep still!" she cried. "Put your guns up! We've got to get together on this or we're all sunk! Otto, you know how the stuff's coming in: spring it!"

Coming By Truck

He had refused before, but now, cagily, he growled: "Truck, of course. What did you think? But hell, if we haven't the license numbers—. Them roads are lousy with trucks. And the stuff's in a packin' case, so how we gonna tell which is which if we don't know the right truck? I'm through with you!" he yelled. "Both you boneheads!"

He slumped disgustedly into a chair. "But Otto, you've got to agree to come in with us," the girl persisted. "If we fight each other we'll never get anywhere. Mac's gone, but does that mean the whole thing goes up in smoke? A quarter million in snow that we can double, triple our money on? Lefty made a mistake to kill Mac—"

"Mistake!" The big stomached Graber hurled Quillen a look of unspeakable contempt. "That big baboon maybe queered the whole works!"

"Yeah, I made a mistake. But we ain't lost the numbers for good. I'm willin' to bury the hatchet if you are, Otto." The gleam in Quillen's eyes questioned this statement, as if he made it with certain reservations. Graber, a shrewd judge of character, may have noted this light. But he concluded to go along with a pretense of trusting his confederates.

"Damn you, Quillen, you let me handle this from now on! If I ever hear you did gyp me on that thirty grand worth. . ." He sucked breath. "I'll put you under, see?"

He added: "What about those numbers?"

"Lefty and the girl exchanged looks. "Uh, we got to get it out of a fella. Soup and I had to step on it fast after we give Mac the works there on the boulevard. We dropped the paper."

Canadian Girls Better Looking

Canadian Newspaper Editor Looks 'Em Over In United States And At Home

A few days ago we stood on the streets of a New York state town slightly larger than Midland and watched the boys and girls going to high school. Quite naturally we did pay a little more attention to the girls, says the Midland Free Press.

We were very much disappointed.

We did not see more than one young lady in the whole two or three hundred that might be reasonably styled good looking, let alone beautiful. There was scarcely one of them but had nondescript features. Flat, pasty-colored faces, large mouths, pug noses, thick lips, fat chins, eyes set in at all sorts of angles characterized most of them. They were as much alike in their lack of distinctive features as if they had been Chinese. There was not a face to remember in the entire lot. And their figures were very much the same. We need not go into details. They just slouched along the street. Very few walked smartly erect.

Have Light of Intelligence

Quite recently as we walked to work we scanned the faces of our home town girls who were climbing the hill to the high school. They were good to look at. We had always known that before but we discovered it anew as we remembered what we had seen in the American town. Making all allowances for national prejudices we are still of the opinion that our Canadian girls will hold their own anywhere. There are a surprising number of them who have really lovely faces, and most of those who make no claim to being beauties have a regularity of features, a wealth of natural colour, and symmetry of form which is a delight to the eye. Add to this the fact that intelligence shines in their bright and merry eyes, that they carry themselves erect with the snap and vigour that goes with the healthy young bodies, and one realizes why there are no girls anywhere just like our own.

One at a time, girls. One at a time. Please.

Ten Rules For Stocking Care

If Followed, They Will Save You Money, Keep Looking Smart

Read through these ten rules for stockings. You win top marke if you keep them all: you deserve a warning if you don't.

1. Always buy at least two pairs in the same shade.
2. Do not fasten your suspenders to the unprotected silk of your stockings.
3. Always wear rubber gloves when washing your stockings — otherwise you deserve the runs and ladders that you get.
4. Never put stockings in hot water. The water, which should be frothy with good quality suds, and, if you like, a dash of ammonia, must be only lukewarm.
5. Never wear a new pair of stockings before washing.
6. Do not pull your stockings on. Always roll them carefully.
7. Never iron stockings.
8. Always mend ladders with a fine crochet hook, bringing the dropped stitch up through the rungs of the ladder until you reach the top.
9. Either carry a patent ladder stopper, or piece of soap, so that you can dab on to each end of a new ladder to stop it spreading.
10. Wash your stockings after each wearing. Dry them in a warm room, away from direct heat.

Of Interest to Women Readers

CANADIAN FISH SOUFFLE PUFFS UP WITH PRIDE

And So Does the Clever Hostess Who Serves It

Many women are afraid to make a souffle because they have "heard" it is difficult. When you come right down to it there's nothing mysterious or difficult about it, but because it seems difficult to so many women, the woman who tries it and finds how easy it is soon achieves a reputation, and her friends' opinion of her goes up several notches.

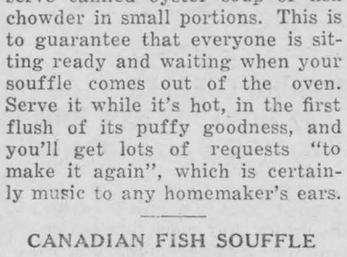

Here's a recipe you will find practically foolproof and easy to make, and oh! how delicious it is to eat! Besides, from a budget point of view, a souffle is a grand addition to any menu, because it is inexpensive to make, and may be served as a one-dish meal, or the main dish for supper or luncheon. Begin with a clear soup, or serve canned oyster soup or fish chowder in small portions. This is to guarantee that everyone is sitting ready and waiting when your souffle comes out of the oven. Serve it while it's hot, in the first flush of its puffy goodness, and you'll get lots of requests "to make it again", which is certainly music to any homemaker's ears.

CANADIAN FISH SOUFFLE

3 tablespoons butter
1½ cups cooked or canned fish (sardine, salmon, cod, halibut)
Salt and pepper
4 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
3 eggs
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Melt butter, add flour, mix well, cook a few minutes, stirring constantly. Add hot milk, a little at a time, season and stir until thick. Cool. Add beaten egg yolks and fish. (You may now set it aside until 30 minutes before serving time.) Fold in the beaten egg white and pour in a greased casserole. Cook 30 to 40 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) While not necessary, setting the baking dish in a pan of water makes the souffle even more delicate, but allow a little more time. Grated cheese may be sprinkled over the top, if desired.

Garnish with parsley, serve with string beans or peas, and parsley potatoes, and follow with a fruit gelatine dessert.

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks

BANISH THOSE WRINKLES!

Wrinkles are easy to acquire, but overcoming them is not nearly so simple, as many of us know to our dismay! Prevention is infinitely a lot better than cure, and early attention to the face and neck will be an insurance against wrinkles later on.

Wrinkles are more often to be found on dry skins than on oily skins, and therefore the first requisite is to lubricate the skin, and the underlying tissues, using a cream with a rich base.

This cream must be applied to the surface of the skin with light friction, using the fingers only. The massage is important; keep the tips of the fingers flat on the skin, and, using both hands, smooth the skin in the direction opposite to which the wrinkles go. You must NOT stretch the skin.

Here are hints for specific wrinkles: on forehead, start in the middle and work out towards the temples. For the eyes, commence the movement at the side nearest the nose, and work your fingers outwards and right around the top of your eyes. Don't just massage to the outer edge of the eyes, and stop there, for that is where lines are so apt to appear.

You can obtain any of the following helpful leaflets by sending a 3c stamp for each one required: Face Care; Eye Beauty; Superfluous Hair; Reducing in Spots; Your Hair; Bust Development; How to Slim; Hand Beauty; Underweight. Your personal beauty problems will also be answered confidentially.

College Girls Too Pampered

Visitors to Canada From Australia Express Their Opinions on Campus Life Here

Most puzzling feature of campus life in Western Canada is the pedestal on which Canadian university men seem to have placed their coeds, think H. R. W. Robson, and F. F. Thonemann, Australian debating team now making a tour of Canadian Universities.

"In Australia we just drag them around," they grinned. To send a corsage to a girl before a dance was unheard of and to make a date for anything but a formal function just wasn't done.

Jitterbugs In Antipodes

There are lots of jitterbugs floating around the University of Melbourne, where Thonemann is studying law.

"Why, we introduced the Big Apple to Melbourne in our University review last spring," eh said.

Latest fad among the students was playing marbles. "They were all at it all around the campus when we sailed."

Mounties Will Guard Royalty

Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who will guard the King and Queen on their visit here in May, are making preparations now for the royal visit.

The mounties are preparing lists of mentally unbalanced people not confined to institutions, as experience of British police showed frequent attempts to harm royalty have been made by those of unsound mind nursing fancied grievances.

Border patrols also will be strengthened but no effort to restrict visitors from the United States will be made.

A National Theatre Urged For Canada

A proposal is being advanced for the establishment of a Canadian national theatre in Ottawa.

A meeting was held at Montreal last week to discuss the matter and organize a committee to interview Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Joseph Thibeault of Ottawa, identified with theatrical work in Canada and the United States for many years, is sponsoring the plan, which would include construction of a national theatre building in Ottawa.

Do This If You're NERVOUS

Don't take chances on harmful opiates and products which you know nothing about. Use common sense. Get more fresh air, more sleep and take a reliable, time-proven medicine like famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots—let it help Nature tone up your system and thus calm jangly nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.

For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's Compound—let it help YOU.

MUSCULAR RHEUMATIC PAINS—ACHES

It takes more than "just a salve" to bring relief. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old Musterole—soothing, warming, penetrating and helpful in quickly overcoming the local congestion and pain when rubbed on the aching spots.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly.

Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster, Musterole has been used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. Made in Canada, in three strengths: Regular, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. All druggists, 40¢ each.

RAW THROAT

If Your Sore, Scratchy Throat Comes from a Cold—You Can Usually Get Fast Relief by this Simple Method

1. To ease pain and discomfort and reduce fever take 2 "Aspirin" Tablets—drink a glass of water. Repeat in 2 hours.

2. If throat is raw from cold, crush and dissolve 3 "Aspirin" Tablets in ⅓ glass of water . . . gargle.

Often Eases Pain and Discomfort in a Few Minutes When "Aspirin" is Used

The simple way pictured above often brings amazingly fast relief from discomfort and sore throat accompanying colds.

Try it. Then—see your doctor. He probably will tell you to continue with "Aspirin" because it acts so fast to relieve discomforts of a cold. And to reduce fever.

This simple way, backed by scientific authority, has largely supplanted the use of strong medicines in easing cold symptoms. Perhaps the easiest, most effective way yet discovered.

Western Co-Eds High In Health

Average Freshette Taller and Delaware Township Hog Pro-United States

LONDON, Ont., — She is five feet five in her stocking feet and tips the scale at 121 pounds. Her posture is definitely good. She may suffer from colds but not from any other weakness and the doctor raves about her health as A, and her hemoglobin count as 85. Her waist measures 23 inches and her hips are 35 inches.

She is the average, or typical freshette registered this year at the University of Western Ontario as shown by statistics gathered by the department of physical education this term.

Comparison with a report issued by girls' colleges in the United States tell that the Canadian girl in her first year of college is an inch taller than her cousin across the border and not as heavy. At Barnard College, for instance, the typical freshette stands five feet four inches and weighs 124 pounds.

Miss Barker emphasized that the Western co-eds are slim, but they don't rate the adjective "scrawny."

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time. — The Ten Commandments were delivered 1498 B.C.; the incident in the life of Gehazi took place 894 B.C.; the book of Proverbs was written somewhere about 995 B.C.; the passage from the Gospel of Matthew was uttered in April, A.D. 29; the conversation recorded in the ieghth chapter of John occurred in October of the same year; the epistle to the Ephesians was written A.D. 64; the book of Revelation, about A.D. 90.

Place. — The Ten Commandments were given on Mount Sinai. We do not know where Elisha was staying at this time, nor where Gehazi overtook Naaman, nor do we know where the book of Proverbs was written. The words taken from Matthew were spoken at Capernaum; the conversation in the book of John took place in Jerusalem; the epistle to the Ephesians was written from Rome to the great Greek city on the eastern shore of the Aegean Sea; the visions recorded in the book of Revelation were given to John while he was on the island of Patmos, located in the southern part of the Aegean Sea, between Greece and the Province of Asia.

16. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor. See also Deut. 5: 20, and, for the panalty of bearing false witness, Deut. 19: 16-21. The worst or most serious form of a lie is perjury—false witness-bearing, that is, to a neighbor's hurt in civil or criminal prosecutions. We transgress this commandment whenever we conceive a strong suspicion and repeat it as a thing we know.

There is perhaps no commandment in the Decalogue—certainly none in the second table — so frequently broken by us as that with which we are dealing.

The pages of the Old Testament are dark with the records of men and women who lied about other men and women. Our Lord himself was the greatest sufferer of all in the matter of false testimony.

Matt. 15: 19, 20. 19. For out of the heart come forth evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornifications, thefts, false witness, railings: 20. these are the things which defile the man; but to eat with unwashed hands defileth not the man. The sins here enumerated are those which violate the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth commandments. The particular point which our Lord is here emphasizing is that the Pharisees were sinning in their severe insistence that food eaten with unwashed hands defiles a man, whereas the truth is that real defilement is not derived from the things we eat, or the manner in which we eat them, but in the things which proceed from our heart, many of which find their expression with the tongue and the lips.

Father Of All Lies

John 8: 42-47. 42. Jesus said unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I came forth and am come from God; for neither have I come of myself, but he sent me. 43. Why do ye not understand my speech? Even because ye cannot hear my word. Jesus now says that the reason why they refused to accept what he was saying was because they could not hear his word, i.e., they were in such a condition of spiritual death that the words Jesus was uttering fell, as it were, on deaf ears.

44. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father it is your will to do. This is true of all men until grace regenerates them. He was a murderer from the beginning. And standeth not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father thereof. This distinguishes Satan from all other evil persons. The lie has become his nature; it is his own; he has made it so by identifying his will with it.

45. But because I say the truth, ye believe me not. 46. Which of you convicteth me of sin? If I say truth, why do ye not believe me? 47. He that is of God heareth the words of God: for this cause ye hear them not, because ye are not of God. Refusing to believe Christ is not a matter of superior intellect, but arises from absolute godlessness. To have God and not to believe Christ is an impossible situation.

25. Wherefore. This word refers back to the preceding paragraph (vs. 17-24). Putting away falsehood. Speak ye truth each one with his neighbor. A neighbor, the Scripture teaches us, is a fellow man of any creed or nation; and to all such we are bound to speak the truth. We are to watch ourselves scrupulously that we do not lie to others in business, in home life, in social life, at the lodge, in writing letters, in speaking from the platform, in reporting conversations, in making promises in telling others about our own achievements. For we are members one of another. Christians are bound by reciprocal ties and obligations, and falsehood wars against such a union.

Are You Listening?

HERE IS JIMMY FIDLER

Jimmy Fidler, the air reporter with the famous catch-phrase "And I DO mean YOU," began a series of "Hollywood Gossip" programs over the Columbia network recently (WABC-CBS, 7:15 to 7:30 p.m., EST. Rebroadcast at 10:30 p.m., EST). Fidler, who has been a part of the movie capital in various capacities since he left the city of Memphis, Tennessee, home at the age of nineteen, will be heard describing the behind-the-scenes activities at the film studios, reporting human interest items about the stars at home and in analytical criticisms of motion pictures he has previewed.

IMPROMPTU

Studio visitors to the Kate Smith Hour sometimes get more than the show tuned in by arm chair listeners. After each broadcast, Abbott and Costello, featured comedy duo on the show, occasionally stage an impromptu gag session with fellow cast members.

"MAYOR" ON NANCY JAMES PROGRAM

Joseph Curtin, pictured here, fills important roles in two of CBS' major dramatic shows. He is "Richard Wharton," reform mayor of Metropolis City, in the series, "Her Honor, Nancy James" which is heard over the WABC - Columbia network Mondays through Fridays, 12:15 to 12:30 p.m., EST., and he also plays opposite Helen Menken in "Second Hsband, " broadcast over the WABC - Columbia network on Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m., EST. Recently, to get more realism into his portrayal of Metropolis' "mayor", Curtin interviewed Fiorello H. LaGuardia, mayor of New York City. "Little Flower" gave the "Nancy James" star some valuable tips on how the big city should be run.

THE CARE OF THE EYES

(By one whose sight was lost through the carelessness of others)

The principle rule in the care of the eyes is "consciousness of their value". If you are aware at all times that your eyes are the most delicate organs in your body and must be protected because they cannot be replaced, you have then taken the major step in eye protection. You will have your eyes examined at least once a year and if glasses are prescribed, they should always be checked with the original prescription and changed whenever stipulated by your doctor. If one is experiencing severe headaches possibly the eyes are the cause of the discomfort. When reading always be sure that the light rays—either natural or artificial—are not reflected directly into your face. If as a pupil in school you are having difficulty in seeing the blackboard, do not hesitate to mention this to your teacher who will be only too pleased to change your seat and thus avoid eye strain. Too often people develop the bad habit of rubbing their eyes with their dirty fingers, public towels and soiled handkerchiefs. Lack of sanitary care is apt to cause infection which will rob you of part or all of your vision.

Accidental Injury

Another important step in the preservation of one's sight is the protection of yourself from those with whom you come in contact. The files of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind are filled with cases of eye injuries leading to either partial or total impairment of vision through accidents caused by others. Boys and girls in schools and men and women in offices have lost their sight because of the harmless projecting of a paper clip, a piece of orange peel or tinfoil on an elastic band. Many have lost the sight of one of their eyes in ordinary school showers and locker-rooms because of the snapping of towels. In all these instances there was no intent to damage or harm—a mere accident. These accidents have not only injured the eyes but have often warped the lives of the individuals injured.

No one would intentionally lose his sight and yet statistics gathered by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for the past twenty years show that approximately 50 per cent. of the blind people in Canada need never have been blind had the proper care and protective measures been used. This means that 4,500 Canadians are needlessly living in a world of darkness. Why lose your sight? Exercise extreme caution, protect your sight and your eyes will protect you!

Babies may be "parked" for a penny an hour in nursery shelters in London.

Each Child Owes Debt Of $676.00

Every child in the Province of Ontario born this year receives a legacy of debt of $676.12, Evan Gray, president, declared to the Ontario Associated Board of Trade and Commerce at Toronto last week. He said he "looked back with regret to 1904, when Ontario had no public debt." The debt of present-day children is 'a considerable economic handicap for the new arrival, who still has to pay for everything he is to get."

How Coffee Came Into Daily Use

It Once Had to Be Bootlegged Because It Was Thought Evil And Intoxicating

The world does move, as proved by the historical fact that once it was necessary to bootleg coffee, notably in Mahommedan countries because it was classified as an intoxicant and banned by religious regulation.

Coffee was not even known to be edible or potable before the ninth centry of the Christian era, and it was not until the middle of the sixteenth centry that the ban against it was permanently removed everywhere in the world. Orginially called "cawaah," in its Oriental spelling, coffee came by way of Europe into the Baltic Sea area, thence into Holland and England, and thence to North America. The Western World dominates the coffee trade and ranks high in coffee use.

Cost $20 Per Pound

When we step in to buy our favorite blend, ground to suit our own method of brewing, for just a few cents a pound, it seems hard to realize that when the coffee house of England first had it, coffee cost $20 a pound.

Curious Bear Scares Doctor

Physician on Hunting Trip Wakes to Find Mother Near Him, Cub Poking for Candy

A certain Toronto doctor, who prefers to remain unidentified, will think twice in future before falling asleep on a deer runway. The doctor came to the Haliburton County district of Donald, Ontario, to shoot deer. Now he is recovering from fright caused by an inquisitive mother bear and two cubs with a taste for chocolate bars.

The hunter fell asleep in a clump of bushes while waiting for deer. He awoke to find a huge black bear staring at him curiously. A cub was licking contentedly at a piece of chocolate sticking from his hunting coat pocket. A second cub was trying to get in a few licks, too.

Jumping to his feet with a yell, the doctor ran.

HOW CAN I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent tearing a dress pattern?

A.—Cut the dress patterns out of old cloth instead of paper. This kind of pattern will not tear, and it will cling to the goods without pinning.

—o—

Q.—How can I remove spots of paint readily from the knobs, locks and hinges of a door or window when I am painting?

A.—Before painting, coat all the hardware with paraffin or petroleum ointment. The spots of paint can then be very readily removed.

—o—

Q.—How can I avoid having to squeeze the juice of lemons every time a recipe calls for it?

A.—Why not extract the juice of a dozen lemons at a time and keep in a tightly covered glass jar in the refrigerator? It will prove a great convenience.

—o—

Q.—How can I facilitate the work of ironing napkins?

A.—A good method for ironing napkins is to dip every third napkin in warm water, placing it between two dry napkins, then fold and roll. Allow them to stand for about an hour before ironing.

—o—

Q.—How can I remove brown marks from dishes, caused by baking in the oven?

A.—These marks can be removed by rubbing the spots well with damp salt, then washing off, and repeating the treatment if necessary.

—o—

Q.—How can I treat scars that have resulted from pimples?

A.—These scars usually will disappear very soon if they are bathed with a solution of boracic acid, followed by an application of zinc ointment.

Western Drought Decreases Ducks

Dan McCowan, Naturalist, Advocates Closed Season for Them One Year in Every Four

Canada's wild life has suffered so severely because of the drought in the West that it would be advisable to have a closed season of at least one year in four in order to allow ducks to breed up again to fair numbers, according to Dan McGowan, naturalist of Banff, Alta.

"As far as ducks are concerned," he said, "I can only suggest protection from the guns of hunters for them as the best means of increasing their numbers. I would say that leap-years — they are easily remembered — should have no duck hunting season."

Sloughs Have Dried Up

Ducks, he explained, have suffered gravely because sloughs in which they formerly nested in Canada and also in the United States were in the drought years converted into bowls of hard dried mud.

"They simply had found no place to nest," he explained. "And in addition, there was a scarcity of their natural food."

Artificial eyelashes, each of which carries a tiny precious stone, are being sold in Paris to be fitted over the natural lashes.

SAYS "CONFESSION" WAS ONLY SCHEME TO FREE PAL

When he appeared before Magistrate John McCormick in police court held at Winchester Monday afternoon Roy Nicholson, 19, of Winchester township, was charged with vagrancy and remanded to the counties' jail at Cornwall for one week.

Nicholson was apprehended on Monday morning by Constables J.F. Rose and Herbert Helmer after Magistrate McCormick had been forwarded a copy of a letter which Nicholson had mailed to T.K. Allan at Kemptville, defence counsel in the recent trial of Lloyd Bilow, a Winchester boy who was sentenced to a term in Guelph reformatory for smashing windows at the school buildings.

Nicholson admitted writing the letter in which he relieved Bilow of any blame in connection with the window smashing affair. He "confessed" that it was he who broke the windows and also stole a quantity of butter from H.L. Flora's storehouse. In the letter, he also stated that he had stolen several bottles of beer, and, after drinking it, had felt so good that he went out to the schools and broke several windows.

Copies of the letter were sent to the barrister in Kemptville and also to the judge who had tried Bilow at Cornwall.

When questioned by the magistrate as to where and when he wrote the letter, Nichilson swore that it was composed at the home of Bilow's parents last week and that they had told him what to write. He said that the father, Frank Bilow, had suggested that he write such a letter on several occasions since Lloyd Bilow's trial, but that no threats were made if he didn't.

"What did you intend to do after you mailed the letter," asked the magistate. "I had decided to hitchhike out to Vancouver, replied Nicholson.

Questioned further as to his whereabouts on October 29, when the windows were smashed. Nichilson stated that he was at Williamsburg and had spent the night at the home of Walter Craig, returning to Winchester the next morning with H. Rutherford. Both these people would vouch for him, he said.

When asked why he wrote the letter, he said, "it was just a scheme to get Lloyd Bilow out of the reformatory."

Police are going to investigate the matter further, and in the meantime, Nicholson will be held on a charge of vagrancy.

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Seasons of Canadian Apples

Every variety of Canadian apple for eating or cooking has a definite season when it is at its finest—a period when its flavor is perfect. Gravensteine and Wealthy in September, October and November; McIntosh, Fameuse (Snow), Wolf River, and Ribston, in October, November, December, and January; Baldwin, Wagner, Delicious, Greening R. L., and Stark, November, December, January and February. (Stark is still fine in March); Northern Spy, Rome Beauty and Golden Russet, December, January, February and March; Ben Davis, Gano, and Winesap, Dcember, January, February, March, April and May. Under proper storage conditions some varieties can be kept in good condition longer than the months specified.

Corn for Husking

Corn for husking developed well this season and the yield per acre is placed at 42.7 bushels as against 32.7 bushels in 1937. Total production amounted to 7,696,000 bushels and is 2,287,000 bushels greater than last year. Most of this crop is grown in Essex and Kent Counties, and correspondents report that husking has proceeded much more rapidly than usual this Fall, due to favorable weather conditions. Corn is well matured and reasonably dry for this time of year.

Sugar Beet Crop

The total production of sugar beets in Ontario this year is now estimated at 276,400 tons from 28,200 acres, as compared with 240,000 tons harvested from 30,300 acres in 1937. The commercial sugar beet crop gdown in the extreme southwestern counties accounted for 25,600 acres this season with the yield placed at 9.90 tons per acre for a total production of 253,400 tons. Both the Chatham and Wallaceburg factories commenced to receive beets on September 23rd, and slicing operations began on October 5th. The yields are greatest in Kent county with at least 10½ tons per acre, but the outlying districts, particularly essex county, have an average yield of nearly 2 tons per acre less.

The sugar content of beets is considerably above that of most seasons and indications are that it will average between 16½ per cent and 17 per cent. The highest sugar content is in areas more remote from the factories where the tonnage per acre is lighter. Sugar beets from Essex, Lambton and Middlesex counties averaged about 18 per cent sugar, while those in most of Kent county have approximately 16 per cent.

The gross return on a 10-ton crop of beets will amount to $62.50 per acre for tonnage and $7.50 per acre for sugar content bonus, or a total of $70.00 per acre for factory delivery.

Red Clover Seed

Threshing of red clover seed is progressing satisfactorily in southwestern Ontario. The commercial production of double cut red clover is estimated at 4,250,000 pounds against 450,000 pounds in 1937. The demand is fair and since little export is expected, buying is rather selective and cautious. Prices being offered or paid growers, basis No. 1 grade, are ranging between 7 and 12 cents per pound. In Eastern Ontario the total commercial production of double cut red clover is estimated at 1,081,000 pounds as compared with 202,000 pounds last year.

Alsike Clover Seed

The total commercial production of alsike clover seed in south-western Ontario is estimated at 6,000,000 pounds as compared with 200,000 pounds last year. The demand is fair only due to low prices offered by dealers, farmers are loathe to sell On the other hand, seed merchants having to face a keen competition on the English market, are very cautious and selective in their buying. About 2,000,000 pounds have already been absorbed by the trade. Prices being offered are ranging from 5 to 15 cents a pound. Threshing is progressing satisfactorily in Eastern, Northern and Central Ontario and the commercial production is estimated at 625,000 pounds as compared with 45,000 pounds last year.

Placing Boys on Farms

There are a number of young men in Ontario eager to learn farming with a good farmer. There are a number of good farmers in this province who would welcome a good intelligent and enthusiastic youth to their broad acres. The Ontario Department of Labor knows this to be true and has tppointed A. Maclaren as Director of Farm Placement. Boys who would really like to go farming and farmers who would like to employ young men with a yen for farming should write Mr. Maclaren, Department of Labor, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The boys are placed for one trial month and are paid by the farmer. If mutually satisfied, the boy signs up for one year with wages at the prevailing rate.

Mr. Maclaren who has already placed over 30 boys under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Plan states that he selects only young men who are really interested in farming. He visits each applicant in his home and talks to his parents as well.

Boys, if you are interested in stock raising, fruit, poultry or any branch of farming, write to A. Maclaren, Department of Labor, Parliament Buildings Toronto.

MR. DAVID ALLISON OF CHESTERVILLE PASSES

David Allison, organizer of the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society, and identified throughout his life with the political and social affairs of the community, died at his home Chesterville, Monday evening following a lengthy illness. He was in his 70th year.

While Mr. Allison had been in failing health for some time, his death will occasion the keenest regret among his many friends and coworkers. In addition to being an active member of the village council for several years, Mr. Allison devoted much of his time to furthering the interests of Oddfellows Lodge No. 288, of which organization, he was formerly past district deputy grand master. He was also an outstanding Mason and belonged to Chesterville Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 320.

In recognition of his work in founding and organizing the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society, Mr. Allison a short time ago was presented with a service diploma by the society. He was president of that organization for three years, being forced to resign owing to poor health.

Mr. Allison was born at Maple Ridge, the son of the late J.W. Allison and his wife, Gidianne Helmer. In 1899 he married Katherine Kearns, who survives. As a young man he came to Chesterville, entering the employ of Saunders, Soule & Casselman, drygoods merchants. Successively down through the years the name of the firm changed from Getterly, Fulton and Allison to Coyne and Allison and finally to Allison and Millard, as the business is known today. In addition to operating the dry goods store, he was also an auto salesman.

Mr. Allison was also interested in sports and was a backer of the Chesterville Junior hockey team and the High school team.

He is survived, in addition to his wife, by one brother, Alex Allison, Russell Ont.; and three sisters, Mrs. Enos Merkley of Nation Valley; Mrs. Samuel Fulton of Chesterville; and Mrs. Alex. P. McLean of Finch Ont.

The funeral service was held at his late residence in Chesterville on Wednsday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment was in Maple Ridge cemetery.

WINCHESTER POOL ROOM BYLAW NOT BEING ALTERED

So far as members of the Winchester municipal council are concerned, a bylaw governing the operation of a pool room in Winchester will not be changed. This bylaw, which was passed by a council in 1891 is almost prohibitive, and has been successful in keeping Winchester free from pool rooms for 47 years. It states, that anyone desiring to operate a pool room within the municipality must pay a license fee of $100 for the first table and $40 per table thereafter.

Strong Protest

Council having received an application from George Conlin, a restaurant owner, asking that the bylaw be amended so that he could be permitted to operate a pool room at a reasonable license fee, brought a strong protest from several of the church organizations.

When it was learned that the board would consider the application at a special council meeting, held in the town hall on Monday night, a representative delegation was organized to wait on the board and register a protest against any amednment to the present bylaw being made, which would encourage the operation of a pool room in Winchester.

The delegation was headed by N. W. Beach, ex-reeve; with J.L. Mill and Rev. W.S. Atchison representing the United church; Bertram Smith, J.T. Elnaugh and Miss Rebecca Stenhouse, representing the Baptist church; Robert Pennick and Clarence Deeks, the Wesleyan Methodist church and Mrs. J.D. Stewart, M.A., B.Sc., and Mrs. N.W. Beach, representing the W.C.T.U. Rev. W.D. Turner, who was unable to be present, instructed Councillor Dr. W.A. Sherwood to present his views on behalf of the Presbyterian church. He strongly protested a pool room being opened across the street from the church, and was opposed to one being opened in any other part of the town.

In addition to several members of the delegation expressing their personal views on the subject, all supported a resolution which was adopted by the W.C.T.U., which was read by Mrs. J.D. Stewart, and signed by the president Mrs. N.W. Beach; chairman of citizenship, Mrs. J.D. Stewart; secretary, Mrs. E.J. Spinks; county president, Mrs. J.J. McKendry, and the corresponding secretary, Miss Mary Empey.

The resolution protested against the establishment of a pool room on the grounds that (1) a pool room had a demoralizing influence on the youth of the town 2, that a pool room has a tendency to make idlers and possibly gamblers, (3) that a pool room provides an opportunity to waste money and offers no constructive value for the money spent.

Reeve Keyes assured the delegation that the council would not act too hastily in the matter and that the resolution presented would be given every consideration.

In dealing with the matter later on during the meeting, the council was unanimous in the opinion that the bylaw could not be altered, in view of the strong protests presented by such a representative number of citizens and organizations, and it was decided that if Mr. Conlin desired to open a pool room, he would have to pay the license fee and operate it according to the several rules outlined in the present bylaw.

Ancient Oyster Adage Reliable

Strangely enough, the old adage that oysters are not good eating in the months that have no "R" in them is pretty reliable, according to R. E. S. Homans of the Prince Edward Island Fisheries Bureau.

The reason is that during the summer months in oyster beds of the United States, where the saying originated, the water temperatures usually reach 70 degrees. At this temperature the shell-fish spawn and their meat is then thin and rubbery.

In the Maritime Provinces, however, where the water does not reach 70 degrees until mid-summer oysters are still their succulent selves in the months of May and June.

VOICE OF THE PRESS

WHEN CRISES COME SINGLY

Now if the quints had only had their tonsils out during the war crisis! — Hamilton Spectator.

A PAN TO BE PANNED

We don't like Hitler's map of Europe. Neither do we care for the map of Hitler himself. — Brandon Sun.

WE NEED REALISTS

The world needs idealists, but what Canada needs most at the moment is some honest, courageous realists at the head of affairs. — Farmer's Advocate.

THERE WERE OTHER THINGS TOO

A Russian farmer claims to be 145 years old, and says he can remember Napoleon's retreat from Moscow in 1812. Then he can also remember probably when men gave up their seats in street cars to ladies, when people went to a dance to dance, and when fishermen went to fishing grounds to fish. — Chatham News.

LUCKY CRUSOE!

Wonder if Robinson Crusoe really appreciated how lucky he was, castaway out there on his island with no taxes to pay, no unemployment problem, apparently a pleasant climate and always a meal to be had for the catching; which is a hanged sight surer and easier than the way some of us have to get our daily bread, here in what passes for civilization. — Calgary Albertan.

WHEN YOU LEND YOUR CAR

The hit-and-run driver menace is continuing, bringing a Hamilton magistrate to call for punishment for owners of loaned cars involved in such incidents. It seems strange that a person who suffers injury is without recourse against the car owner who lends his car to another, who promptly evades any financial responsibility. But then law and justice are not always the same. — Brantford Expositor.

WAR SCARES AND PRICES

Your grocer has to take an interest in international affairs whether he wishes to or not. News from Spain is that General Franco and a 1937 frost have combined to advance prices of Seville bitter oranges for marmalade. Manchurian walnuts on the way are to be cheaper than present stocks. The trade journal, Canadian Grocer, reports that beans are cheaper "since the war scare disisolved."

The BOOK SHELF

"THE LONG VALLEY"
By John Steinbeck

Known as one of the most richly promising of younger American writers, John Steinbeck has humor, deep understanding of human nature, a true grasp of life. Here in his first volume of short stories, "The Long Valley," you have tales which demonstrate intimate, delicious communion with the Salinas Valley land of California that nourishes Steinbeck's art, as well as stories theatrically set in mystic gardens and castles which seem to have no rooted strength. Here are exquisite studies of childhood, poetic and fresh, as well as brutal accounts of mortal struggles with Nature and mercilessly true descriptions of violence. Here are portraits of workers and peasants and farm wives with genuine vitality and truth about them. You get the smell and feel and sound of the stables, the farmyard, the pigsty, the corral, the kitchen, the mountains, the California skies and dews and nights. It is a bewildering variety of material.

Handsomely bound this volume makes an ideal gift book for the discriminating.

"The Long Valley," by John Steinbeck; 303 pp; Toronto: Geo. J. McLeod Publishers. $2.50.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

1. What expenses should the bridegroom assume?
2. When dining in a friend's home should a guest take a helping of each dish offered?
3. What is America's favorite diversion, indoor and out?
4. Should a woman, when writing a social note to a man, use the salutation, "Dear Sir"?
5. At what hours are informal calls made between intimate friends?
6. Must one always leave a portion of food on the plate after finishing a meal?

Answers:

1. The bride's wedding ring, marriage license, gloves, ties, and boutonnieres for his attendants, the minister's fee, transportation for his family and his attendants to the church, the honeymoon trip; and from that time on — everything. But don't be discouraged. The right kind of wife is worth it. 2. Yes; it is the courteous thing to do, even if one is not fond of some certain dish. And for a guest to refuse two or three dishes is really rude and unpardonable. 3. Dancing. 4. No. "Dear Sir" is for business purposes only. The informal salutation is "Dear Mr. Gibson," the more formal salutation, "My dear Mr. Gibson." 5. At any hour during the afternoon or evening. A considerate friend will not "drop in" when she knows her neighbor devotes the morning to her housework. 6. No, it is not necessary.

NAMES in the NEWS

Nels Linden, 69, of Wetaskiwin, Alta., was named wheat king of the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, in November, his sample of Reward variety winning over more than 130 exhibits.

The new Canadian wheat king, who succeeds James Sebastian, of Wembley, Alta., 1937 winner, farms 1,000 acres near Wetaskiwin, producing prize grain for many years. Sebastian also won with Reward, the hard red spring variety adjudged best at many shows.

Linden was crowned barley king of the Chicago International Grain Show in 1933. Two years before he won the Alberta oats championship and in the same year was awarded the Robertson prize by the Canadian Seed Association for the best efforts in pure seed production.

Toothpick Custom Said Beneficial

Bring back the good old days of the toothpick, pleaded Dr. Isador Hirschfield of Columbia University before a convention of dentists. He urges that men revive the old fashion of going about with gold toothpicks dangling from their vests—a "great aid in the prevention of pyorrhea."

Judge Character From Typwriting

A New Kind of Graphology Is Based on Different Styles of "Pounding the Keys" — You Read the Rules and Rate Up Yourself

Like handwriting, say the French —different styles of typing denote in their way different characteristics. Whether it is a wide margin or a narrow one, pounding on the keys or hitting some letters in typing marks some particular trait which can be interpreted if the different signs are understood.

A person who uses an overly wide margin and especially a wide margin for the beginning of a paragraph is highly sensitive.

Not All Struck Alike

A very small margin or no margin at all at the beginning of a paragraph means the person is lacking in good taste, is inclined to be miserly and overly frugal concerning small things.

A letter which has been typed at a continuous speed and the letters are all struck with virtually the same force indicates that the writer is generally good in several fields, but not necessarily specialized in any.

The "pounder" who makes deep imprints in the paper is easily distracted and is generally not a good concentrated.

Those who type words where the letters are not all struck with an equal force are sensitive and are usually possessed of a great deal of personality.

Fattening Poultry Value Is Shown

Quality of Cockerels Improves Through Crate Feeding It Is Believed

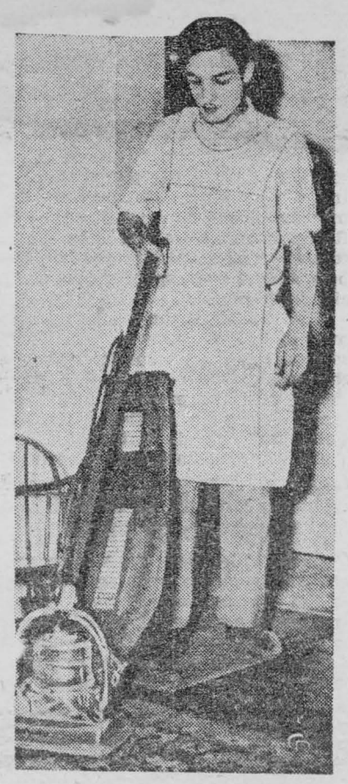

A demonstration of improvement in quality through crate fattening of cockerels is being carried out by officers of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Brockville Co-operative Egg and Poultry Pool and with the Secretary of the Canadian Produce Association. In view of the fact that a great deal of poor quality dressed poultry is still coming on to the market, it was felt that an actual demonstration carried out upon the farms of representative producers would bring home the fact of improved grades through fattening in a way which would appeal to the producer of market birds.

The actual plan upon which the demonstration is based consists in selecting forty-eight healthy cockerels from the flock of each of several poultrymen, banding them and leaving one-half on range and placing the other half in fattening crates. After approximately three weeks of fattening both fattened and unfattened groups will be killed, dressed and carefully graded so as to indicate the improvement brought about through crate feeding.

Shorn wool production in Canada for 1938 is estimated at 13,384,000 pounds compared with an estimate of 13,772,000 pounds in 1937.

CHRISTMAS TREE TRADE: A growing industry in Canada during recent years is the export of Christmas trees to brighten homes across the U. S. border. Did you know that approximately 700,000 Ontario spruce, pine and balsam trees will be exported to the United States this Yuletide season? That half a million more are marked for Canadian homes? That more than a thousand acres of land in Ontario will be denuded as a result?

Even then we are not taking into account the unauthorized cutting of Christmas trees done by individuals everywhere. In one Ontario small town, two years ago, we remember, somebody chopped down the little trees in the local cemetery and sold them at a handsome price.

WHY TORTURE THE JEWS: "Time", in its incisive foreign comment section last week advanced the suggestion that the pogroms against Jews in Germany are part of a gangster-blackmail scheme cooked up by Nazis a while back.

How it is supposed to work: By holding the Jewish community of Germany in a state of general inability to earn a living wage, Nazis hope to force the international Jewish community to remit to Germany huge enough sums in "good money" to keep their Jewish relatives in the Reich from going too hungry or cold. The dollars, pounds, francs to be secured by thus "shaking down the whole Jewish race" are wanted to pay for such vital imports as Germany cannot get by barter deals.

Then, too, if Germany can induce Great Britain and the United States to pay money to get persecuted Jews out of the country, that's all to the good so far as the Reich is concerned.

ITALIAN ACCORD: Britain's approval of the Anglo-Italian accord (engineered by Prime Minister Chamberlain himself) is a diplomatic victory for both Mussolini and Franco. Franco will get belligerent rights, enabling him to blockade Spanish loyalist territory and cut off the supply of materials from outside.

For Mussolini it means recognition of his Ethiopian conquest (although Italian troops are still fighting the natives). The King of Italy is now acknowledged "Emperor of Ethiopia" by all the world's major powers, with the exception of the United States and Soviet Russia.

Il Duce is considered to have done his part by withdrawing 10,000 "volunteers" from the Spanish conflict. The number of men and planes he has remaining in Spain is politely ignored.

DRAWING CLOSER: Through the signing of the tri-lateral trade agreement by Canada, Great Britain and the United States, the three English-speaking countries are drawn closer together than ever before in their history. It is more than a commercial agreement—the pact lays the ground for new understandings, future co-operation for defense purposes, by the three signatory nations.

A significant point to note is that Canada is becoming more and more involved in the American orbit, both in foreign policy and in domestic matters, as the two continents of North and South America prepare to defend themselves against the aggressions of Germany, Italy, Japan. President Roosevelt's declared determination to have the United States defend this entire hemisphere has linked us still more closely to Washington, may mark a turning-point in our policy. Henceforth the Dominion is likely to stress co-operation with the United States and the twenty Latin-American republics in a long-range mutual defense plan.

THE WEEK'S QUESTION: Will the man-in-the-street here be noticeably affected by the new Canada - United States trade agreement? Answer: The Canadian duty on American cigarettes will be cut from $4.10 to $3 a pound. There will be reductions in the duties on canned foods, electric washers and refrigerators, furniture, leather, boots and shoes. Canadian women will appreciate the lowered tariff on cosmetics, perfumes, jewelry.

He Knew Nothing About the Crisis

Man Went So Far Into the Wilds of B.C., He Did Not Hear About the International War Scare Till It Was All Over

Colonel Leonard Ropner, Conservative British M. P. went so far into the British Columbia wilds this autumn that he knew nothing of the international crisis until it was all over, he told the press in London, England, last week, on returning from Canada.

Colonel Ropner made an extensive tour of the Dominion, where he inspected forestry operations on Vancouver and Queen Charlotte Islands. He is a forestry commissioner of the United Kingdom.

He started on horseback August 14 and left civilization so far behind that neither he nor his party knew anything of the war danger until returning October 6 to a small Indian settlement where one of the inhabitants had a radio.

WONDERLAND OF OZ

By L. Frank Baum

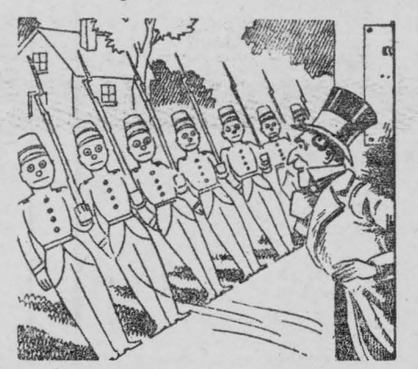

The farm houses became fewer as they went on, and the path was at times so faint that the Saw-Horse had hard work to keep in the road. The wagon began to jounce, too, so they were obliged to go slowly. After a wearisome journey they came in sight of a high wall, painted blue with pink ornaments. This wall was circular, and seemed to enclose a large space. It was so high that only the tree tops could be seen up above it.

The path led up to a small door in the wall, which was closed and also latched. Upon the door was a sign in gold letters: "That's strange," said Omby Amdy, reading it aloud. "Who are the Cuttenclips anyhow?" "Why they're paper dolls," answered the Wizard. "Didnt you know that?" "Paper dolls! Then let's go somewhere else," said Uncle Henry. "We are all too old to play with dolls." Dorothy. "But these are different," declared the Wizard. "They're alive."

"Alive!" gasped Aunt Em, in amazement. "Yes, let's go in," said Dorothy. So they got out, as the door was not big enough for them to drive the Saw-Horse and wagon through it. "You stay here, Toto," commanded Dorothy. "You might make a breeze if I let you inside." Toto wagged his tail as if disappointed at being left behind, but he made no effort to follow them. The Wizard unlatched the door, which opened outward, and they all looked eagerly inside.

Just before the entrance was a line of tiny soldiers with uniforms brightly painted and paper guns on their shoulders. They were exactly alike, from one end of the line to the other, all cut out of paper and joined together in the centers of their bodies. As the visitors entered, the Wizard let the door swing back into space, and at once the line of soldiers tumbled over, fell flat on their backs, and lay fluttering on the ground.

NEW CANCER TREATMENT

Tiny particles of atoms have been found in certain instances to be more effective than X-rays in treating of cancer. The U. S. TELEVISION BY SPRING

An official of a television laboratory, at Rochester, N.Y., last week predicted early coverage of spot news events by sight and sound for broadcasts to the American public in an address to the Institute of Radio Engineers and Radio Manufacturers Association.

The statement came as the association received a report saying the television receiving sets would be available to the general public next spring.

OYSTER ATTACKS ANAEMIA

A means to aid the prevention of nturitional anaemia has been found in the Apalachicola oyster, available in Miami area the year round able in Miami area the year round, scientists announce.

The Florida oyster contains a higher content of iodine, has the four vitamins A, B, D and G. It contains iron and copper for the blood, phosphorus and calcium for the bones and teeth and iodine for the healthy thyroids.

VITAMIN DETECTIVES

Vitamins heretofore merely policemen of health, may turn detective—to discover indication of disease even before it actually sets in.

Dr. Casimir Funk, of Paris, originator of the modern vitamin concept and coiner of the word "vitamin," told a group of American scientists last leek that latest researches point to possibility that the normal body shows a distinct balance between certain hormones (gland products) and vitamins secreted in bodily waste fluids.

By establishing what the normal balance is, Funk said, medical men may be able to determine when the balance is upset, thereby discovering the possibility of diseases like diabetes and cancer in such early stages that they may be prevented.

A. Your description of conditions among your cows indicates distinctly mineral deficiency in pasture, or feeds that the cows are receiving. You should obtain a couple of bags of mineral supplements such as bone meal or supplements with bone meal base, and feed approximately one cupful to an animal at each feeding. With this treatment the cows should stop chewing on bones, and their hides should become smooth as the cows thrive more healthily.

Plowing Champion Settles Tractor Controversy

Carl Schoger, six-time national plowing champion of the United States, proved by actual test that a tractor runs better on rubber than on steel. With Firestone Ground Grip Tires he has saved hundreds of dollars in fuel costs alone.

Rubber Is Better On Tractor Wheels

Tests Prove Saving of Hundreds of Dollars If Machines Run On Firestone Ground-Grip Tires Instead of On Steel

Steel or rubber? For nearly seven years—ever since the first rubber shod tractor rolled across the fields of the late Harvey S. Firestone's farm, the relative merits of steel and rubber as tractor tire equipment have been subpects of divided opinion. Which is more practical? Which is faster? Which will do more work on a gallon fuel, a tractor on steel or a tractor on rubber?

Under the observation of an engineer from a leading university and of forty keen-eyed farmers who gathered in a field of barley stubble a few weeks ago, Carl Schoger, six-time national plowing champion of the United States, answered the above questions, but with facts of actual performance.

Tries It Out

From the fields of his neighbours, plowman Schoger borrowed six tractors, provided each with a set of steel wheels, a set of Firestone Ground Grip wheels, and an auxiliary fuel container of certified capacity—accurate to the fraction of a dram. Thus prepared, and with the carburetor drained, Schoger opened the line from the certified fuel tank and started across the field on the steel wheels, pulling a gang plow set at a depth of 6" to 7½". Upon the attainment of full travel speed, a marker was dropped along the furrow and a split-second stop watch started measuring time to the hundredth part of a second. At the end of thirty-six seconds, a second marker was dropped. At the end of a hundred seconds, a third marker was dropped and the tractor continued around the field until the last drop of fuel was consumed and the tractor sputtered and stopped dead in its tracks. With this data recorded, the tractor was returned to the starting point. The steel wheels were replaced with Firestone Ground Grip Tire equipment and the procedure was repeated.

The figures tabulated from these tests furnished accurate comparative information; 1st, on the number of yards covered in 36 seconds by each tractor; 2nd, the number of seconds required to cover the distance between the first and third markers; 3rd, the number of minutes and seconds required to empty the fuel tank at top plowing speeds. All of these figures were used as a basis for measuring the relative performances of rubber and steel in terms of time and fuel requirements.

The results were startling. Increased fuel cost on steel ran as high as 42 per cent. Increased time requirements on steel were even greater. To plow a given area of ground with one particular tractor required 43 per cent. more time than was necessary to do the same job on Firestone Ground Grip Tires.

Big Saving on Fuel

On the basis of 20,000 miles of service, the projected figures in the fuel saving alone amounted to $552 on tractor A; $248 on tractor B; $472 on tractor C; $226 on tractor D; $248 on tractor E; $470 on tractor F. Added to these amazing fuel savings shown by Firestone Ground Grip Tires are the equally important savings in man power. In a hundred days of operation, five tractors equipped with Ground Grip Tires would do more work than six tractors plowing on steel wheels, thus providing one extra man and tractor for another job.

DRESSMAKER HAD TO QUIT SEWING

Hands Swollen with Rheumatism

Pity this poor dressmaker! Nine tenths of her work consists of sewing — and she was not able to sew. Rheumatism in the hands was her trouble, and she tried any number of remedies. But nothing helped much — until she came to Kruschen.

"Three-and-a-half years ago," she writes, "I had a violent attack of rheumatic pains. My feet and hands were swollen. The pain was terrible. I was really quite crippled and helpless.

"I tried many remedies without success. Then I started on Kruschen Salts, and after one month, I could stand up again. Then, I walked with a cane. In three months, I was quite well again. As I am a dressmaker, you can imagine what it meant to me not to be able to work my sewing machine. What a treat to be able to walk, to work, and to be free from pain." — (Mrs.) E.S.

The stabbing pains of rheumatism are often caused by needle-pointed crystals of uric acid lodging in the joints. Kruschen brings relief because it helps to dissolve those troubling crystals and to expel them from the system.

BOYS TOWN

SYNOPSIS: Boys' Town is a refuge for boys founded by Father Flanagan (Spencer Tracy). He is summoned by Joe Marsh, notorious gangster, who asks him to take his younger brother Whitey (Mickey Rooney) to Boys' Town. Whitey goes belligerently and quarrels with everyone but little six-year-old Pee-wee (Bobs Watson). Then Whitey gets an idea. He'll campaign for the mayoralty of Boys Town, a "fat job" as he calls it.

IV – "Play Fair and Square"

"Boy, that massage was swell."

Swollen with his own importance, Whitey swaggers about the place. His campaign includes lurid posters that tell the boys they're "suckers" if they don't vote for him. He goes to the barber shop one day and orders Mo to give him a trim and a massage. Mo has just been waiting for this golden opportunity. Instead of using soap, he completely smears Whitey's face with shoe-blacking.

"Hi-yah fellows. Do I get the chair?"

But when Whitey answers roll-call he suddenly glimpses his face in a mirror. Racing back he catches Mo off guard and wallops him in the eye. This is a serious offense at Boys Town. Whitey is immediately called up before the Council at which Father Flanagan sits in. Then, quite gravely, the boys pronounce sentence. Whitey is to go to the barns and milk one cow a day for the coming month.

"You're sure you earned it today?"

Father Flanagan is really worried about Whitey. He had hoped that by this time the young toughie would have softened up a bit. He decides to talk the matter over with Pee-wee. After asking for "a tiny bits a candy," Pee-wee gives his opinion. There just aren't any bad boys. The other fellas don't understand Whitey. Tenderly, Father Flanagan sends the little fellow out to play.

"Fair and square in the gym, Whitey."

The days pass and Whitey's campaign gets louder and brassier all the time. Father Flanagan notices his run-ins with the other boys. He decides that Whitey is spoiling for a fight. Taking him aside one day he points out Freddie Fuller (Frankie Thomas) present Mayor of Boys Town, and Whitey's pet hate. If Whitey likes he can challenge him. Be sure to read the next thrilling episode.

Far from his native French-Canada, where he had become almost a legendary figure in sport circles, Joseph ("Silent Joe") Cattarinich died Wednesday. The famed sports promoter, born 57 years ago on a ship in Quebec harbor, was stricken by a heart seizure as he underwent an eye operation in New Orleans, La. Doctors had planned to remove a cataract that had impaired his sight during the last few months, but he was stricken while under an anaesthetic. His death brought to an end a career that was colored by the romance attending his climb from a venturing sports promoter to one of the biggest race track operators on the continent. It ended, too the life of one of the greatest defence men lacrosse produced in Canada and one of the pioneer goalers in organized hockey.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Stevenson, Prescott, Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary

Last Sunday, December 4th, marked an historic milestone for Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Stephenson, of James street, east, Prescott, when they observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary with the added blessing of an unbroken family circle.

The celebration proper was observed on the previous day, Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson sat down to a sumptuous anniversary dinner, surrounded by their four daughters, two sons-in-law and three grandchildren, and during the afternoon and through Sunday a constant stream of visitors, messages, in the form of telegrams, telephone calls and cards, and flowers poured in on the revered couple who hold such high esteem in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson were married Dec. 4, 1888, by the Rev. James Awde, M.A., and have resided there ever since. Mrs. Stephenson (nee Ada Nunn) was born in Liverpool England, and came to the New World with her parents when a little girl, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Nunn. Mr. Stephenson was born in Algonquin, Augusta Township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Stephenson, who was for many years a magistate of the distict. To this union four daughters were born, all of whom were reared and educated in Prescott.

They are: The Misses Phyllis and Lois of Ottawa; Mrs. Frank Wardrop (Madeline) of Prescott, and Mrs G.M. Gorrell, (Muriel) of Morrisburg. All returned to the family home for the anniversary dinner and the week-end and the circle around the festive board included: Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Gorrell and son George William, of Morrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wardrop and daughters Maryada and Allison Barbara, of Prescott, and Misses Phyllis and Lois Stephenson, of Ottawa.

The table was set with the silver and china wedding presents of 50 years ago, all of them intact, a tribute to this fine couple's method of treasuring older associations and keepsakes. The centrepiece was made of golden chrysanthemums, flanked by white tapers, while the candle stick holders were once owned by Barbara Heck and have been handed down through successive generations, and now belong to Mrs. (Dr.) Gorrell. At the conclusion of the happy dinner, Dr. Gorrell proposed the toast to the bride and groom of 1888, which was responded to by both Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson.

The wedding cake for the anniversary dinner was topped by the horseshoe and decoration of the bride's original wedding cake of 50 years ago, and was adorned by orange sprays grown and waxed by Mrs. Stephenson before her marriage.

Mr. Stephenson, who was 85 on August 15th last, is the oldest living descendant of Barbara Heck and also the oldest living ex-mayor of Prescott. He is a great grandchild on his mother's side of the famous Barbara Heck, co-founder of Methodism on this continent. Barbara Heck, whose maiden name was Ruckle, was born in Ireland in 1734, and at the age of 18 was soundly converted under the preaching of John Wesley. Eight years later with her husband, Paul Heck, and the families of Embury, Lawrence, Ruckle and other famous Irish names departed on the Mayflower for new shores, arriving in New York and at the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, these loyal families left for the wildernesses of Canada. In 1782 they left Montreal for Upper Canada and settled in Augusta Township, part of that first settlement now being the farm of Mr. William Beddie. In 1790 a famous service was held by Rev. Wm. Losee at the home of Barbara and Paul Heck.

Mr. Stephenson was elected Mayor of Prescott in October of 1902 and continued in this office for successive years until 1908. He has continued ever since to take a real interest in the municipal welfare of his town, and has been one of its main guiding influences for sound economic administration. He has assisted in nominating more mayors for Prescott than any other living individual. Mr. Stephenson has also taken a keen interest in the work of the Liberal party in the riding and was for many years president of the association. In addition he has been for many years treasurer of the Prescott Library Board and continues in that capacity despite his advanced years.

The Leader joins with all their friends in extending congratulations on the passing of the golden milestone by this splendid couple.

A Letter of Explanation to the Citizen-Voters of Morrisburg.

Another Municipal battle is over and still there is some ammunition left to tell the tales. In the past campaign, I met a number of voters who asked me why I did not run for councillor for 1939. I explained to them that the village assessor thought he was pulling something smart by leaving me off the assessment roll.

By so doing, Mr. Weston has not gained any ground, nor have those parties, who, I believe put him up to this frame-up. In the first place I have been a member of the Morrisburg Municipal council for three years, namely 1933, 1935, 1936, and more than that, I have the honour of being the youngest councillor ever to be elected to this office in Morrisburg. During these three election campaigns, I defeated two of the citizens of Morrisburg. I fulfilled the duties of my office honourably and honestly and tried to hold down unnecessary expenditures, of which there were many in 1933. In 1935, if Mr. Weston will recall, while I was a member of the council, he made application for the position of assessor for that year. There were two other applications filed. Mr. Weston asked me to support his application. He told me he had two members at that time in favor of his application. I told him that I would consider his application before our regular meeting. At our regular meeting the vote was taken, and I supported Mr. Weston for assessor. Now this is what I get for doing a good turn. What I have to say is open and above board; that if Mr. Weston wanted to be elected or wished to find out how many friends he had, why didn't he run for councillor or school trustee? In the first place Mr. Weston only fooled himself; as for me, I did not have any intentions of standing for councillor. I pay taxes and have a business, and besides, I was born in Morrisburg and lived here before Mr. Weston did. The municipal act states that assessment on any property where the owner or tenant resides, must be made on that property. This was not done on our property. But the assessment slip was handed in at the door, and still further, there were names on last year's voter's list listed as owners or tenants. Some that were assessed a owners, if it were looked into, do not own anything, and besides are not registered as property owners.

In closing I wish to thank the Editor of the Leader for this valued space in his paper.

A.M. JARVIS.
