Gulf war inspires fundraisers

Printer chooses bumpers...

The war in the Persian Gulf brings many images to people; Canadian navy ships cruising in hostile waters, Canadian fighter jets taking off for missions, loved ones at home wearing yellow ribbons as a sign of their support for Canadian troops.

And then there are bumper stickers. Yes, that's right. Bumper stickers.

Fassifern printer Herb Simon has developed the war bumper stickers for those stuck on the idea of peace, but looking for a less-conventional way of showing their feelings.

Simon has created two bumper stickers, one with the words Give Peace a Chance, another with the words Stop the Madness, and Bring the People Home, which he plans to sell in Glengarry County.

And not only will people buying the stickers be contributing to the peace cause, they will also be contributing to the Red Cross Gulf Appeal, which will receive 50 cents from every bumper sticker sold.

His decision to create the stickers was borne out of his own interest in the gulf conflict, his appetite for news on the conflict fed by direct news feeds from his satellite dish at home.

And although he was just an infant at the time, he still has a slight remembrance of World War Two, which was just winding to an end not long after he was born in 1943.

"That you would never forget. It's sort of hitting close to home," he said.

He plans to print about 1,600 stickers which will sell for $2 each. If the response is good, he will print even more and even expand his sales area outside of Glengarry County.

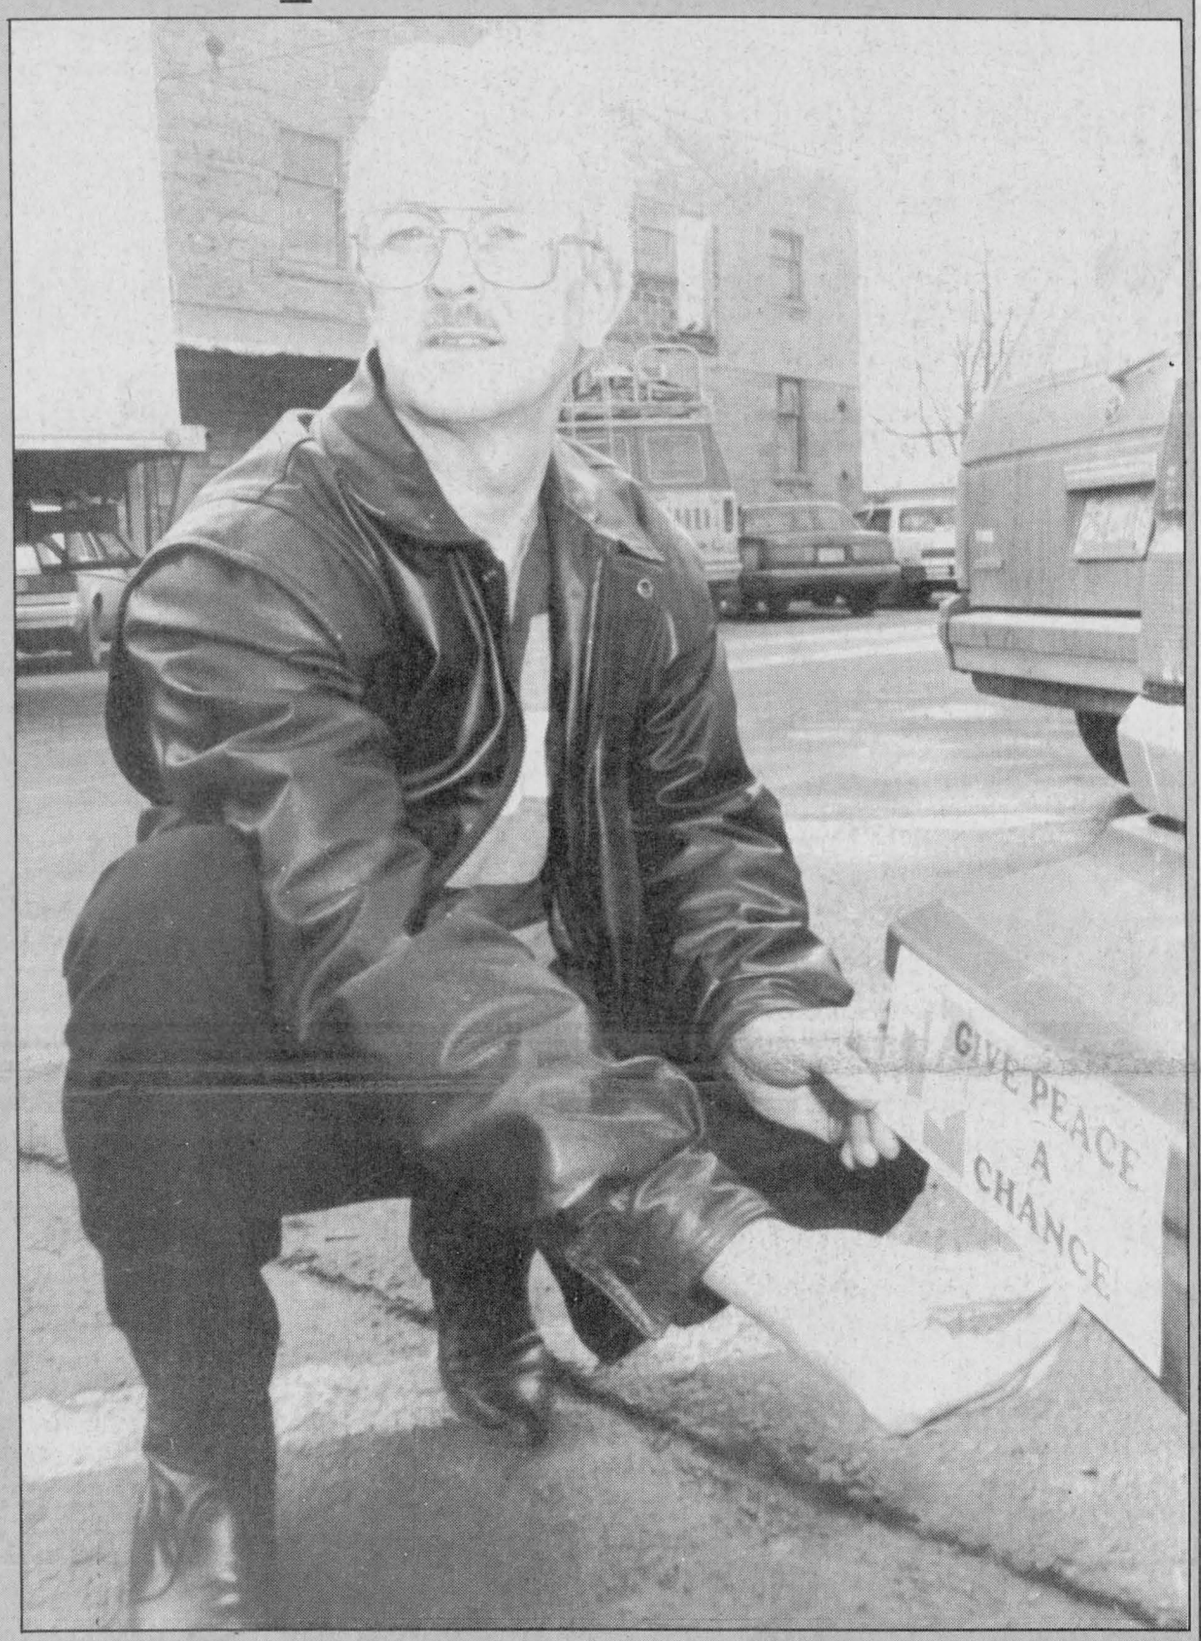
It is not very often that the Fassifern printer gets to showcase his work on the bumper of a car. The majority of his business comprises printing of business forms, he said.

It is not the first time he has ventured into the world of political bumper stickers. He did do bumper stickers opposing the federal Goods and Services Tax for a friend when that was the hot political issue in the country only a few months ago.

But it is the first time he has created bumper stickers addressing war.

"This is the first time I've ever done anything like this. And I feel good about it."

Simon said he had originally planned to develop stickers with more controversial phrases, but decided against it for fear of fanning the flames of pro- and anti-war sentiment even more and creating unnecessary tension between people on the two sides of the issue.



Herb Simon of Fassifern, displays one of the gulf war bumper stickers he has created for sale in Glengarry County. Simon plans to donate 50 cents from the sale of each sticker to the Red Cross gulf appeal fund.

...Karen chooses yellow ribbons

By Faith Bloomfield
News* reporter

Wearing a yellow ribbon just wasn't enough for Karen Austin. So she added a Canadian flag lapel pin to enhance her message: Peace.

That's when the Glengarry Yellow Ribbon Fund was created.

"It was started as a fundraising project to properly welcome the troops home from the Persian Gulf," she explained.

Austin began the project with $75 out of her own pocket Feb. 1 and has sold about 40 at $3 each.

"I opened a special bank account with the money so when they come home we can honor their safe return with a banquet."

And now Alexandria's Royal Canadian Legion, branch 423, is helping her out.

"The legion is in total support. They've given me 25 more lapel pins and a cheque for $200 to purchase supplies," Austin said Friday.

She also contacted Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria and he sent 200 more pins from Ottawa.

More ribbon was purchased, at cost, from Alexandria Florist, and Austin went to work making another batch of the original symbols of peace.

And the part-time registered nurses assistant at the Maxville Manor wants Glengarry to get the credit for putting the flags in the bow.

"I don't want this to be solely my project. Anyone interested in selling them is welcome," she said, adding that the pins practically sell themselves.

Darlene Campeau, first vice-president of the legion said she thinks it's really great.

"We're standing behind her and pins are being sold at the legion, too," she said.

Pins are also available at Glengarry Memorial Hospital. Anyone wanting to purchase or sell the pins should contact Austin, the legion or the hospital.

Liberal Task Force learns town lost 351 jobs in three years

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The Canada-United States free trade agreement, high interest rates and deregulation of the transport industry has taken its toll on Alexandria.

A total of 351 jobs have been lost in the town through plant closures and layoffs over the past three years, a member of Alexandria council told the Liberal Task Force on the Economy Thursday, in Ottawa.

And Alexandria Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly suggested in his presentation that if the trend is to be reversed, the government must tear up the free trade agreement, reinstate tarriffs on shoes and regulate the transport industry.

The government must also address the economy, high interest rates, and "the unrest as a Canadian Nation", all of which are contributing factors to the job losses and layoffs, he said.

"In the past three years, the Town of Alexandria has experienced a large number of job losses. In this period, no fewer than three plants (Tradition Windows, Railcar and Petro Sun) have closed their doors," said Joly in the presentation.

"In addition to these closures, there have been major layoffs at a number of other plants in town, all of which have been operating in this area for at least 10 years, and in a few cases, 40 years and more."

Also hampering the town's economy is restrictions on residential development caused by lack of water and sewage capacity. A recent study on the sewage system targetted the cost of its upgrading at $4.7 million.

Improvements to the water filtration plant, which are already underway, will also be costly. The work is to cost $1.6 million with the province subsidizing two-thirds of the cost. The balance is to be paid by the town's ratepayers.

Joly said in the presentation that the Ontario Ministry of Environment is prepared to approve $800,000 of work to the town's sewage system. The ministry would fund two-thirds of the cost, amounting to $528,000.

Joly also touched on the environment, the tax burden shouldered by small municipalities, the federal Goods and Services Tax, and economic development.

Speaking on the environment, Joly focused on the disposal of household waste, which is "a major concern" for the municipality with its landfill site rapidly running out of space.

"At some point, we will be obligated to close the site, and this at a great expense, without any assurance of funding from either the federal or provincial governments."

To prolong the life of the landfill site, the town is attempting to institute a recycling program. For the program to be successful, expensive equipment must be purchased and the town is still awaiting approval for provincial funding.

"Approval of applications for funding to purchase the necessary equipment has been seriously delayed. It has been four months since our application to the province has been submitted and we have not received an answer as yet," he said.

If municipalities are to implement programs aimed at helping the environment, the federal government may have to become involved in funding for municipal programs, something which has traditionally been a provincial role.

"Since the quality of the environment has become a major concern to all Canadians, it might be time for the federal government to assist municipalities in instituting programs aimed at safeguarding the environment," he said.

He added programs like the one being used by the town's recycling plan, where people receiving Unemployment Insurance Corporation benefits are made available to municipalities to work, are a step in the right direction. The town received $50,000 for work at the recycling plant under the federal program.

To lessen the tax burden in small municipalities, Joly suggested the federal government provide money from its gasoline tax to repair provincial and municipal roads. And to lessen the tax burden in general, the GST should be scrapped, he said.

Meetings are being held across the country until Feb. 15 to receive first-hand accounts of the effects of the recession the country is currently in.

The public input will be the focus of a special three-day National Liberal Caucus policy development meeting Feb. 15 to 17.

Hospital administrator jailed for drinking charges

Almost two years after the offence, James (Gerry) F. Adams was sentenced to 30 days in jail by a provincial court judge, Feb.7.

Adams, administrator at Glengarry Memorial Hospital, was found guilty Jan. 17 of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol, as well as driving while having a blood-alcohol level over the 80 mg./100 ml. of blood limit.

As the courts cannot sentence on both counts, the crown elected to proceed with the second charge.

Sentencing was delayed when Adams' lawyer Thomas Swabey requested a pre-sentence report be prepared.

The report made reference to Adams' community service in the area over the past years in a variety of areas, including with the Cub Scouts and the Red Cross, and was accompanied by several letters of recommendation.

It also noted that Adams has abstained from alcohol since Thanksgiving, 1990, has no previous record and "lived 51 years without problems."

Swabey summarized the report by saying it is "very favorable" and would be "appropriately dealt with by way of fine and of course the automatic suspension of his driving licence."

Crown Attorney Guy Simard agreed with the defense lawyer's summation, but also considered several aggravating factors.

Although polite and cooperative with the probation officer, Adams remained adamant that he was innocent "a clear fact of no remorse," there was a minor accident, and the alcohol/blood readings were high — 238 mg. and 230 mg. — almost three times the legal limit, he said.

"I feel an appropriate range of sentencing would be one of 21 to 30 days in jail," said Simard.

Judge Reginald Levesque concurred with the crown and noted other aggravating factors as well.

"The accused attempted to intimidate the investigating officer and the pre-sentence report displays a lack of remorse and although he has abstained from alcohol, Mr. Adams rejects allegations of a drinking problem," the judge said, adding that Adams' only concern at the time of the accident seemed to be over missing his curling rendezvous.

Judge Levesque said the jail term could be served intermittently, meaning Adams will be in custody from Friday evening to early Monday to a total of 30 days, to not interfere with his employment.

A period of probation, to be served when the accused is not incarcerated, automatically accompanies an intermittent jail sentence and Adams is prohibited from driving a motor vehicle anywhere in Canada for 18 months.

Authority appointments overturned

'Closed' meeting angers councillors who weren't invited by mayor

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria council has overturned a decision to appoint three members of the body to the town's housing authority, convinced it acted improperly in making the appointments.

The appointments were made at the Jan. 22 council meeting after Mayor Jean Paul Touchette announced he would resign from the body. Replacing Touchette were Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly and Councillor Claude Poirier, and Councillor Bruno Lalonde, who already sits on the board, was appointed for another term.

The appointments were overturned when council unanimously approved a motion by Councillor Fern Seguin to rescind the Jan. 22 motion authorizing the appointments.

Councillor Fern Seguin said last Tuesday that council had no authority to make the appointments. And he said a gathering of four council members with Touchette before the Jan. 22 meeting to discuss the appointments was illegal.

As a result of the informal meeting, the resolution appointing three council members to the authority is "null and void", and it raises questions about the validity of a housing authority meeting held the morning after the appointments were made, he said.

He said he cannot understand why two councillors were needed to replace one member — Touchette — on the authority, except that it would have been a way for Touchette to retain control over the body.

He said the act reminded him of the "dark days" of Alexandria council, days which he had thought members had put behind them. He was referring to the mid '80s, when council was split over the Sports Palace controversy — between those who supported the mayor and those who didn't.

"There's no logical reason, no justification for this move," he said at last Tuesday's meeting.

According to the 1988 bylaw governing the housing authority, council has no power to appoint members, he said. According to the bylaw, eight members of the authority must be elected at a general meeting of the housing body and approved — not appointed — by council.

The bylaw was designed with help from the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs with the specific in-

Alexandria chamber reaffirms support for BIA

By Greg Kielec
News editor

The Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce has reaffirmed its commitment to form a Business Improvement Association (BIA) for the town.

At a meeting Monday night, the newly-elected chamber executive decided to go ahead with a plan to form a BIA, and to have the association cover all business in the town, not just ones on Main Street.

There has been some opposition to the plan to form a BIA, and that was evident again at an information meeting Thursday night held by the chamber for town businesses.

But according to guest speaker Peter Mercer, of Downtown Rideau in Ottawa, forming a BIA is a good idea for a small town trying to get the biggest bang for its business promotion bucks.

To attract customers, "you've got to have a plan", and it is important to have a BIA to put the plan together, Mercer said.

"I think in the long term, it'll do tremendous good for the business in this town," he said.

With a BIA, a town can pull its businesses together to attract people to the town through the creation of imaginative programs. And it can be done at a relatively small expense, he said.

Some of the more common initiatives BIA's take involve the look of the business section. To attract customers, a shopping area must have amenities, Mercer said, and must be aesthetically pleasing.

Improvements that can be made by a BIA can range from doing sidewalks in decorative brick, to installing decorative street lamps, to simply having flowers outside of businesses.

More ambitious plans can include setting up festivities to capitalize on tourists attending the Highland Games in Maxville, and making the town a tourist destination by highlighting certain aspects of the town, he said.

The most important thing about the BIA is that businesses know that the money they contribute will go back into helping businesses in the town, he said.

"The bottom line is the fact that you people control it."

As for a budget, that is something that the BIA itself, and its members, will have to decide on, he said. But he cautioned chamber members not to set their aspirations too high.

"Budgets range from the sublime to the ridiculous. It really depends on the size of the community and where you want to go," he said.

The chamber will meet a week from Thursday (Feb. 21) to begin work on a draft bylaw for the formation of a BIA. It also hopes to address one concern of businesses — whether an alternative method of dissolving the BIA can be devised.

Joe Banks, newly-elected chamber president, said the body will be seeking legal opinion to determine if an escape clause can be included in the formation bylaw for the BIA.

There is a provision in the Ontario Municipal Act which allows the BIA to be dissolved by a vote in council, but some members of the chamber want more control over the fate of the BIA should it become unwanted by businesses.

The chamber executive will be concentrating on getting as much information as possible about BIAs to town businesses before its proposal goes to council for approval, Banks said.

A proposed bylaw for the formation of BIA will likely be sent to the council table sometime this spring.

Anyone who wants more information about the planned BIA can call Joe Banks, Gilles Paradis or Sheila Olson.

Layoffs again hit town fabrics plant

Declining sale orders has forced Consoltex Inc. in Alexandria to temporarily lay off 26 workers.

Rejean Theoret, union local president, confirmed that the layoff of 30 workers on the weekend shift had taken place after Saturday's shift.

Plant manager Donald Racine said later Tuesday the size of the layoff had been reduced to 26 workers.

Declining orders for products at the textile making plant is cited as the reason for the layoffs.

"It (the amount of orders) was starting to go down for a couple of weeks. We knew it would come sooner or later," he said Tuesday.

Workers had been recalled in the fall last year when the plant reinstalled its weekend shift to increase production to seven days a week. They were recalled after a layoff Sept. 11, but now, find themselves laid off again.

Theoret said he is uncertain how long the layoff will last. "We're hoping it's not any more than a couple of months," he said.

He also is uncertain if there will be more layoffs. Whether there will be more layoffs will depend on the amount of orders the company continues to receive.

Racine was also uncertain how long the layoff will last. "Your guess is as good as mine," he said in a telephone interview Tuesday afternoon.

He added, Consoltex is not the only Alexandria company that is hurting during this recession. "Business is tough all over. It's not just Consoltex," he said.

"We're all in the same boat. We also have to face the picture."

When orders for products drop, layoffs are inevitable. "You've got to go by your orders. That's the only thing we can do."

Former Liberal candidate voted to separate board

At 11 a.m., Feb. 8, Denis Sabourin officially began serving as trustee on the SD&G Catholic School Board — English language section.

At its Feb. 5 meeting in Finch, the board unanimously voted him into the position vacated by the sudden death of long-time member Terrence Wheeler. Sabourin was the only applicant.

Presently employed with CJSS/CFLG Radio in Cornwall, Sabourin decided to get involved at the school board level after being asked by a number of colleagues.

"I felt if you're going to criticize, you should be involved. If you're going to make positive suggestions, you should at least be in a position where they can be acted upon," he said Friday.

Besides, he added that he supports the separate school system and despite a "hefty commitment", looks forward to representing Alexandria, Lochiel, Maxville, and the Townships of Cornwall and Roxborough.

There is less than one year left of the three-year term, with elections coming up in November.

He said that is good, because he'll get a taste of the position and "then decide if I want to go for the full term."

Sabourin said he's watched school boards in operation before and is ready for the challenge.

"Trustees are no different than other people in the decision-making process. They must make the best decision as they see for the children in their school system," he said.

Besides the regular weekly meetings, Sabourin will serve on the communications committee and will meet with parent groups from the areas he represents.

Court report

The following are among the cases dealt with by Judge Reginald Levesque at Alexandria provincial court — criminal division.

Prior record, accident increase penalty

A 55-year-old Montreal man was sentenced to an intermittent jail sentence of 30 days after pleading guilty to a June 5, 1990 charge of driving with more than 80 mg. of alcohol in 100 ml of blood.

After discovering an abandoned car in a ditch on Hwy. 401, Const. Sabourin of OPP's Lancaster detachment met up with Jerry Fleisher who stopped him to say his car was stuck.

Sabourin detected an odor of alcohol coming from the man, and administered a roadside breath alert test.

Fleisher, who owns an egg-distributing company, failed the test and was taken to the detachment. A second test was conducted, resulting in readings of 118 mg. in 100 ml of blood.

Judge Levesque considered two aggravating factors in sentencing: a prior record for the same offence and the single-car accident.

Besides the jail term, which will be served every weekend until totalling 30 days, a period of probation is automatically placed on the accused during the time he is not incarcerated.

Fleisher was also sentenced to an additional nine months probation commencing at the end of the 30 days and is prohibited from driving for 18 months.

The conditions of the extended probationary period include meeting with a probation officer for counselling and evaluation, resulting in alcohol treatment.

The victim surcharge was not applied due to Fleisher's added expense of hiring a driver for his company.

Public mischief costs $500

After a trial that was heard on three separate occasions, Judge Levesque found Lincoln Cumberbatch of Glen Robertson guilty of public mischief.

The judge found the 33-year-old mechanic had mislead OPP Const. Dan Bissonnette into starting an investigation by falsely reporting the theft of his tow truck.

In Judge Levesque's decision, he stated Cumberbatch deliberately misidentified tires belonging to the truck, didn't tell the truth regarding a second set of keys and had too much difficulty fixing a value and registration for the vehicle.

The judge found that these circumstances "all clearly establish motive and consciousness of guilt on the part of the accused."

"He lied to attempt to divert suspicion from himself. On this basis alone, the court finds the accused guilty as charged."

Cumberbatch's lawyer, Ronald G. McClelland, made his submission before sentencing that his client has no criminal record, is a grade three mechanic and has held a steady job for the last three years.

He suggested a fine, but also noted that regardless of the conviction, his client lost his truck and will suffer financially because of the legal fees.

Crown attorney Guy Simard agreed that a fine would be appropriate, but added that a period of community hours also be served.

The judge disagreed with Simard about the serving of community hours. But he had "no difficulty concluding that a fine of $500 is appropriate considering the number of days missed from work and legal fees."

He added that the victim surcharge would be inappropriate and gave Cumberbatch until April 30 to pay.

Late Terry Wheeler nominated for high honor

Former Catholic School Board trustee, the late Terrence Wheeler, has been nominated for the Ontario Separate School Trustees' Association's highest award.

Wheeler, a trustee for the Alexandria area for 20 years and guidance counsellor at Glengarry District High School, was nominated for the award, given to one trustee in the province annually, at a Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Catholic School Board meeting last Tuesday.

In nominating the trustee, who died suddenly in December at the age of 58, the board said Wheeler was instrumental in promoting many programs in the SD&G Catholic School Board English language section.

The board said in a letter of nomination, that Wheeler was an "excellent" representative of the Catholic system and was a well-respected minor hockey coach and volunteer firefighter.

"Terrence Wheeler's caring attitude, his active participation in community affairs, gained him respect as a leader and important contributor to the community."

He was an "exemplary" trustee during the 20 years he served on the board and "has left for his fellow trustees a legacy of concern for children, fairness, and commitment to Catholic education."

Gilles Metivier, director of education with the board, said Wheeler "exemplified all of the philosophical tenets dictated by the requirements of fair play, honesty, respect of others around the board table and total dedication to the cause of Catholic education in a 20-year period."

"Terry should not be recognized for the number of years served. On the contrary, it is his consistent role as champion of the underdog, guardian of the public purse and commitment to spending in the best interests of children that marked his long years of dedication to special needs of all children.

"He has left a definite positive mark on his fellow trustees, past and present, as well as on professional staff of the system who recognized him as an advocate of family life, a strong parishioner and principled professional."

Wheeler was recommended for the award by trustees Gerald E. Samson and Philip Belmore.

Samson said, in a letter of recommendation for the award, that Wheeler was "a sincere, educated person who was totally committed to his family, his church, his school board and his community, and was the most dedicated trustee I have ever known."

Belmore said, "Terry's caring attitude, his action and participation in school and community affairs earned him respect as a leader and important contributor in the community."

Council overturns appointments

tent of keeping politicians out of the authority, he said.

Seguin told members they can have the MMA rule on the validity of the appointments, "to the embarrassment of council", or they can avoid the process by simply rescinding the resolution.

He received no argument from council members, all who had just three weeks ago voted in favor of the resolution appointing three members to the authority.

One council member, who was not involved in the pre-meeting gathering, said he did not even know such a meeting had taken place.

"I was not aware of all that," said Councillor John Larocque. "I just learned right now."

Seguin and Councillor Michel Boisvenue, were the two other council members left out of the informal meeting.

Reeve John Cormier said he had protested prior to the Jan. 22 meeting the way the replacement of Touchette was being handled. All council members should have been informed about the appointment opportunity during the meeting so everyone had an equal chance to sit on the authority, he said.

He told members before the meeting that he did not think it was "a fair ball game.

"I think it should have been brought up right here in front of council as a whole.'

He said in a phone interview Monday, that he was part of the informal meeting, but walked out on the gathering after his protests about the pre-orchestration of appointments for the authority went unheeded.

"He (Touchette) took it upon himself and this is where I got a little hot under the collar. I said, 'as far as I'm concerned, this is not a meeting', so I walked out."

"I said, 'either you involve the whole council or make it democratic'. It was kind of a dictator type of thing.

"I think the mayor should be red-faced to do a thing like that. That type of thing is just not done democratically."

Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly said he was unaware of the housing authority bylaw governing the replacement of members, and that at the time the appointments were made, he did not think council was acting improperly.

But he added, if council wished to appoint three different members, he would not be opposed to it.

Councillor Bruno Lalonde said it was only after doing some "homework" and getting legal advice that the authority realized council (acted) overstepped its bounds by appointing three new members.

He added, there is no requirement that council members sit on the authority. The body had council members sitting on it in the beginning because of a lack of town residents to serve on the board, but that does not mean there must be councillors on the authority, he said.

Seguin said that after hearing his arguments, council members had no doubt that what they had done was improper. "I don't think anybody at the second meeting had much of an argument as to the legality," he said Friday.

Rooming house owner assaulted

Alexandria police have charged a man with assault following an incident in a boarding house last Wednesday (Feb. 6) at approximately 6:30 p.m.

Police say Rita Williams, the landlady at a rooming house at 100 Victoria Street, complained of being hit over the head with a cane by an elderly man.

Williams received several stitches in the head when treated at Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Charged with assault in connection with the incident is Cyrille St. Pierre, 77, a border at the rooming house.

Mailboxes damaged

An investigation of damaged mailboxes has resulted in an arrest by Lancaster detachment OPP.

Lancaster OPP say that at approximately 8:45 p.m. Saturday, the occupant of a Dodge pickup was seen damaging mailboxes in the Curry Hill area.

After an investigation, OPP arrested Jason Fraser, 20, of RR1 Lancaster. Fraser has been charged with two counts of mischief and is scheduled to appear in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday (Feb. 14).

Alexandria bond won't come close to paying for road construction: Seguin

A bond of $73,000 given to Alexandria by a developer to cover construction of a road to Le Foyer seniors home in Alexandria won't even come close to covering those costs if the town is forced to do the work, says one councillor.

Fern Seguin told council last Tuesday night, that it could cost close to $300,000 to construct and pave the street leading to Le Foyer. With grants, it could cost the town about $211,000 to do the street, not including the cost of other items such as storm sewers and water mains, he said.

"As far as I'm concerned, I think the bonding we have required...is certainly not sufficient."

Reeve John Cormier told Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette Jan. 22 that the road is in a "real mess" and that there have been numerous complaints about it.

Mayor J.P. Touchette said then there was no need for concern because the town has a $73,000 bond from the developer, Denacca Investments Ltd. to cover construction of the road if it is not completed.

But Seguin said at last Tuesday's council meeting that the town was deluding itself to think $73,000 would cover the cost of the road construction.

"We're certainly not adequately covered if the town was put in the position to do that street. I would certainly like somebody to look into this."

The situation is complicated by the fact that the housing authority last March released $60,000 it owed the developer, money it had retained by the authority to ensure the street is completed.

Seguin said the money was released through a cheque signed by Touchette, who was chairman of the authority, and Norman Laperle, secretary of the board, he said.

The authority owns the land the road is to be constructed on and it will be in dire straits without the $60,000 if it needs to contribute to the road work, he said.

Clean up listening posts

Anyone who has watched or tried to follow the hearings by the Select Committee on Ontario in Confederation is probably still scratching his/her head. The confusion between the committee and the Spicer commission has been widespread, abetted by a lack of notification of the meeting times, similar missions and bad timing.

Part of the problem lies in the fact that both committees have overlapping mandates and have been collecting similar answers and comments. And the format of both is stifling, restricting respondents to speak as if they were being interviewed by Barbara Frum.

As well, there has been perplexing changes in the way Canadians and Ontarians are directed to respond to the mandates of the committees. First, the Spicer commission introduced a series of questions through meeting ''kits'' to stimulate responses. But the questions, unfortunately, were loaded to encourage mostly positive and often simple replies to an open-ended issue, namely, what's wrong with Canada and how do we fix it?

But, as the Spicer commission quickly learned, no series of questions can slot Canadian's feelings into a series of pigeonholes. They are too diverse, too intangible and many citizens who have opinions are too self-conscious to properly present them either verbally or in writing. Even the 1-800 hotlines offer a level of intimidation that the people who designed these committees and commissions do not seem to understand.

The tasks are made no easier by the level of advertising and notification of exactly where and when the groups are gathering.

Ontario's committee, for instance, has advertised in this paper that it will be gathering in Ottawa, Cornwall, Kingston, Peterborough and Toronto from February 25 to 28 — five cities in three days. A call to the 1-800 number Tuesday informed us that the committee will hear submissions on Wednesday, Feb. 27 at 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., 4 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. in Cornwall.

There's just one problem — a location hasn't been found for the hearings yet.

It's this kind of haphazard organization, the last-minute scheduling, the practically frantic pace of the hearings, that puts a dark pall over their credibility.

Campaigning with heart

February is Heart Month, just in case some Glengarrians forgot amidst the war, the recession and constitutional crises. Unfortunately, the need remains as great as ever, with heart disease way ahead as Canada's number one killer.

It's true that medicine has made huge strides in recent years towards treating heart disease, largely thanks to donations in years past. These are tangible signs of how generosity has paid off.

But until the causes of heart disease are fully understood, until aggressive education campaigns aimed at changing the behavior and habits of people who may be quietly killing themselves peak, the fundraising must continue.

Canvassers will be circulating throughout Glengarry for the remainder of the month. When they come, think about the people you know who have suffered from heart disease. Chances are, you'll know at least one, maybe more. And think about what would've happened had they not received that bypass operation or had their diet altered or any one of a hundred other treatments.

After that moment of contemplation, we're confident you'll as usual give generously.

Gathering disappoints

Well, the annual Rural Ontario Municipal Association (ROMA) conference is over for another year, the time when township, town and village councillors and clerks get to head to the big city to participate in ''enlightening'' educational and informative events — all at the ratepayer's expense.

It's one of the little perks municipal government people afford themselves, as a way of keeping in touch with the latest goings-on in the wonderful world of local politics and projects. It costs about $800 a head to send each representative to the conference.

This year, the investment for some ratepayers may be questionable. Often local politicians go to meet with Ontario cabinet ministers to state their cases for grants and the like. Normally, the province sends about a dozen to meet with ROMA delegates. This year, the NDP sent a disappointing four, leaving little time and room for lobbying. Could it have anything to do with that $9 billion deficit Premier Bob is wrestling?

And closer to home, we've received word of an amusing report of two members of a local village council playing hookey at the conference. They were spotted in the audience of a television game show while the conference was under way.

Effective use of the taxpayer's dollars? We're waiting for the re-runs before we decide.

Selflessness can be therapy

After Thoughts

Joe Banks

The war in the Persian Gulf hasn't only spawned a renewed protest movement. It has awakened a sense of selflessness that seems to lie dormant between crises. Glengarry's home fires are no exception.

First, it began quietly, with bows of yellow ribbons appearing on the homes, hedges and trees along the concession roads and back streets. Then, the candlelight vigils, small clutches of people huddled together against the winter chill, faces glowing from the flickering wicks, chanting, singing, praying. Others have quietly held their signs aloft, like Gerard Daechsel, and Max Schneider, who to this day vividly recalls the sights and sounds of terrifying battles of WW 2.

Glengarry's concern has slowly advanced to individual causes aimed at funnelling money and morale-builders to the forces stationed in the Gulf. Karen Austin is selling yellow ribbons for jackets with small Canadian flags attached, with the money gathering in a fund for a welcome home party for the forces. Herb Simons, a printer, has printed up bumper stickers. He's donating 50 cents from every sale to the Canadian Red Cross Society. And for the last couple of weeks, we've been putting together a signed valentine to send overseas which you'll find reproduced on pages 13 and 14 of this week's paper. The heroes, however, are the people who signed their name; they each donated $5 to the same Red Cross Gulf Appeal. Some businesses paid $30 for a corporate donation. That Red Cross fund incidentally, is seeking $1 million nation-wide. Some $150,000 has been gathered since Jan. 16.

And then there is Monique Mongillo, the mother of Caroline, Leading Seaman on the HMCS Protecteur who has been in the Gulf for two months now. She has started a support group for men and women with families in the county who are serving in the gulf. Obviously cognizant of her own daughter's needs for a touch of home, she has been busily shipping out baked goods since late January to crew members of the three ships longing for some home cooking and for contact with people in Canada.

It's her way of helping the morale of the personnel over there, the families back here, and herself. Those shipments, she said in a story on last week's front page, has made her feel ''really happy . . . and I don't feel so alone any more.''

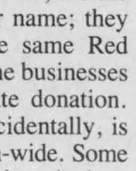
That's one of the most direct reminders I've heard that when we choose to put energy into a project to help others, we're at the same time helping ourselves. It could be called therapy, a way of coping with the thought of war and all of the misery it brings. Certainly people become enveloped in selfless causes to help their fellow human beings, the environment, or any one of a thousand other missions of relief, because they simply want to lend a hand. But more than once, I've heard volunteers exclaim, ''I get more out of this than I give,'' especially when they're directly involved with the disabled, disadvantaged or dispossessed.

Anyone who doesn't understand how that could be, is missing a monumental point. They're failing to see the side of behavior which restores our faith in the human spirit. And they are missing a golden opportunity themselves to feel the same way.

Government logic may often be scarce

News to me

Greg Kielec



When it comes to government logic sometimes is a scarce commodity. And usually the larger a government, the more scare of a commodity logic is.

Case in point: Alexandria is ready to get a recycling program rolling, and in fact already has a recycling plant going, thanks to some innovation and a federal government grant to cover workers' wages. But it still has not received word on provincial funding to start a curbside pickup recycling program.

When Mayor Jean Paul Touchette was in Toronto last month to tell provincial officials of the town's plans to purchase a new garbage compressor and discuss when the town will receive word on funding, he received a taste of just how lacking in logic big government can be.

He was told not to buy a new presser for the recycling plant because the unilateral act could jeopardize the chances of the town receiving funding. The presser at the recycling plant only compacts about five bundles of paper a day. The presser the town hoped to buy compacts five bundles an hour.

Unfortunately, it does not matter how many bundles per hour a new presser will compress because the government, pressured for an answer on the funding question, has already panned the proposal — just a little too progressive for the ministry's liking.

But the fact that Touchette received such a response from the ministry should not shock council members. Remember, this is the same Ministry of Environment which endorsed a whole gaggle of expensive consultant studies to determine how municipal governments can solve their waste woes (and also get rid of excess cash) and then turned around and changed the rules halfway through the process.

This is the same provincial ministry which charges municipalities for dumping waste wrongfully in their own landfill sites, yet did nothing, except maybe embarrass the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, when it was discovered it had used and had allowed use of a St. Lawrence River island for the dumping of refuse.

This is the same ministry that... well, you get the message.

So while ministry officials sit in Toronto and try to devise more ways to keep a host of consultants and engineers in business, Alexandria awaits word of funding to implement its plan of action on the environment, something that it devised on its own, without any consultants or engineers.

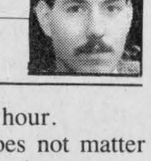
Maybe its still not too late for the town to commission a study or two on the feasibility of recycling in the town. Then the provincial dollars will start rolling in.

The studies will only reaffirm what they already know, and what is obvious by just looking in the recycling plant in town. But it will give the government some consolation knowing that the town has played by its rules and jumped through all the necessary hoops, all in the name of bureaucracy.

The zoning clock is ticking down

That's Life

Lesley Cadham



For those of you who only think of R2 as the first portion of the name of a funny little robot in the Star Wars series, MX as a missile, and commercial as something you avoid by getting up to refill your soft drink glass, read on.

Those terms are also an integral part of some zoning bylaws, which in layman's terms are legal documents which say what you can and can't do with your land.

And it's almost midnight, Lochiel Township. Do you know how your land is zoned?

If you don't, you're probably not alone. But with the clock ticking toward finalization of the new zoning bylaw, it's probably not a bad idea to find out.

It's as surprising to me when people know their land zoning designation as it is when they know exactly how much water they use to take a shower, how much electricity their hot water tanks consume and the precise times that VIA trains stop in Alexandria.

Those aren't the sorts of things you concern yourself with until the well runs dry, the electrical meter begins to spin like a top, or you want to use the train as your main mode of travel. Many landowners don't spend a lot of time dwelling on their zoning designations — excuse the pun.

But zoning matters. A lot.

A tiny little zoning designation, seemingly innocent and unimportant, can make all the difference in the world when you suddenly get the urge to raise a few calves in the residentially-zoned green field behind your home, or when you decide it would be nice if you could sell a few acres of your farm to a housing developer, or when you decide to expand the small feed sales business you've been operating out of your barn or your dairy farm for the last few years.

That's when the municipality says 'no' and the cold, hard reality of the bylaw begins to filter through.

In all likelihood, that's probably also when you'll pick up the phone and call the resident expert — the zoning administrator — for help. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't.

Zoning is a complicated matter, and admittedly not one that can be fully addressed in the limited space of this column.

Lochiel's bylaw itself is almost an inch thick, and to add to the confusion, it is governed by a higher authority, the Official Plan.

If the zoning change you'd like to make doesn't conform to the Official Plan — for example if you'd like to start raising beef cattle in a ''hamlet'' or if you'd like to build an apartment house on agricultural land — you'll probably have to move heaven and earth to get what you want. The mat-

Family ties of the late Sir Archibald

In the Glens

Angus McDonell

Recently while leaving the lobby of the local post office I was approached by a lady with a friendly greeting, distinctive in appearance and gracious in conversation that made an introduction unnecessary.

This lady was interested in learning what was the Alexandria or Glengarry family heritage ties of the late Sir Archibald Macdonell. My reply was that I knew this noted soldier was a personal friend and one time military colleague of Col. A. G. F. Macdonald, the founding editor-publisher of The Glengarry News. However, beyond that point I would have to research some historical records seeking the desired information. The result is the theme of this week's column; we trust it will be of interest to News reader history buffs.

The ancestors of Sir Archibald C. (Cameron) Macdonell emigrated in 1773 from a port on the west coast of Scotland on a sailing ship named ''Pearl.'' They were destined for the British Province of New York where they hoped to establish homes for themselves.

Eventually Sir Archibald C. Macdonell's family, Col. John Macdonell (Aberchalder) built their home of stone at Stone House Point, Old Highway #2, a short distance east of Cornwall in Charlottenburgh Township, 1791.

About a score of years later, fire destroyed this palatial residence while Col. John Macdonell (Aberchalder) was speaker of the First Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada.

Sir Archibald C. Macdonell received his elementary education at Trinity College, Port Hope, following primary attendance at his Windsor, Ontario home public school. His father Samuel Smith Macdonell was the first mayor of Windsor and his mother was Ellen Gillis Boradhead.

Due to the army tradition of his forebears, it was history repeating itself when young Archibald Cameron Macdonell enrolled at Royal Military College, Kingston. After graduation he served briefly in the Canadian permanent militia, then joined the North West Mounted Police where he rose through the ranks to superintendent.

Archibald C. Macdonell served in the South African War with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, attaining the rank of lieut.-colonel and returning home, was appointed to command Lord Strathcona's Horse Brigade shortly before the outbreak of World War One. During those war years he continued to earn promotions upwards in the ranks and he was decorated by the French Government.

Returning home in 1919, and now Sir Archibald Cameron Macdonell, he was appointed commandant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

Sir Archibald's heritage ties with Glengarry were never more evident than the Alexandria monster celebration, July 1, 1919, in a fundraising drive to erect the present War Memorial, when he arranged the RMC mounted cadets and band to participate in the program. He was the guest that day of Col. A. G. F. Macdonald.

It was noted by a historian-writer that Sir Archibald was a Scot who evidently did not maintain the ''grudge'' against the Campbells following the legendary massacre of Glencoe as Sir Archibald married Mary Campbell, daughter of Lt.-Col. J. T. Campbell. They had one son, killed in 1916.

Sir Archibald Cameron Macdonell died Dec. 23, 1941. The funeral service was held in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, and the coffin was carried on a gun carriage with all military funeral traditions.

Among the scores and scores of militia and private citizens attending there were from Glengarry, Lt.-Col. W. J. Franklin (Laggan) officer commanding the Second Battalion, SD&G Highlanders; Ian Macdonell (Toronto); John Macdonell Donovan, Montreal, (next-of-kin of the late A. D. D. ''Buster'' MacDonald, Lancaster).

Letters

More assistance and less criticism needed

To the editor:

In reference to the letter by Vera Smith, published in our paper dated January 30, 1991, I would like to say that I, too, was a member of the Charlottenburgh Property Standards Committee and out of the seven meetings that were held Vera Smith attended only five. She left one of those five meetings early and arrived at another 2¼ hours late. So, if she felt there was ''negativity'' at the meetings, she must have made a very hasty decision.

I am upset at the way both Mrs. Smith and the reeve, Carol-Ann Ross, have described our committee. In order to do a job well, one must know what the job entails and the only way to understand one's work is to ask questions — lots of questions. Yet we have been continually reprimanded for any sort of research we tried to do or for any approach we made towards the public. When Mr. Ward echoed the questions and concerns of his fellow citizens, he was subjected to verbal abuse that, in my opinion, has been unjust, unfounded, and totally unfair. I commend him for his stamina in shouldering all the insults and blame throughout this entire period.

Carol-Ann Ross attended only two meetings — the first, where we were introduced to each other and the job; and the third, where we addressed our questions to Mr. Richard Seguin, property standards officer for Vankleek Hill. From those two meetings Mrs. Ross felt qualified to make a negative statement to the press regarding the progress we had made to date. How true the adage: ''A little knowledge is a dangerous thing!''

The two most important meetings, the fourth and fifth, where we really got into analyzing the bylaw and producing our amendments, were attended solely by the four volunteer citizens. Neither Vera Smith nor Mary Joyce-Smith, planning advisory board members, were there to help. Nor was anyone else.

Timothy J. Simpson, planner, who was supposed to be ''available at meetings for guidance and assistance'' was present for the first three meetings only, leaving us entirely on our own when we needed him the most.

In fact, at the second meeting, where we toiled laboriously over the bylaw definitions, he sat through the entire meeting, as our advisor, and only told us after the next meeting that we were not allowed to change any of the definitions. What an absolute waste of time!

Larry Gordon, the chief building officer/bylaw enforcement officer, attended only the second-last meeting. He was supposed to ''be available as a resource person.'' When asked to attend the next scheduled meeting, which turned out to be our last, he replied that he had been told to make himself available to us but that he would still have to clear it with his boss. He did not attend.

Our mandate stated ''(3) months from October 30, 1990'' yet we were expected to complete the job in 11 weeks, regardless of the fact that Christmas and New Year's fell during those 11 weeks drastically reducing our actual available working time.

Well, four of us worked very hard for our fellow Charlottenburgh citizens, and produced what we hope will be acceptable to them. I only wish that we could have had as much guidance and assistance from council and its employees as we have had negative criticism.

Sincerely,
Sandra Cooper

Pride in Canada's action must overrule shame

To the editor:

Are 28 nations including the Arab nations Egypt-Syria and Saudi Arabia all wrong?

Mr. Beissel's letter relating to Canada's involvement in the war with Iraq made interesting reading.

Instead of being ashamed of being a Canadian, he should be proud of the part Canada and Canadians have played in their short history in defence of democracy against such dictators such as Hitler and now Hussein.

If sanctions were being, and would have been successful, why is Hussein now able to support a full scale war with the United Nations (note United Nations not just U.S.A.) forces. He has been preparing for years, his objective, eliminating Israel. Did Mr. Beissel demonstrate or write letters to the media when Hussein deliberately killed thousands of his own Kurdish men, women and children with poison gas, or when he committed atrocities when invading Kuwait. I think not. It's only Canadians and the United States that are wrong. If Mr. Beissel is so incensed, why not go and join Hussein in the fight against his own Canadian forces who consider they are fighting for a just cause.

He had no intention of giving up Kuwait and was using time to build up his defences including nuclear, biological and poison gas, inhuman forms of warfare. One has to really put one's head in the sand to not believe he intended to become the big Islamic hero.

He has proven over the years that to him the Iraqi people are purely cannon fodder and are dispensible. They are taught that to die for one's country guarantees that they will go to heaven, while he sits in a nice deep bunker, cheering them on.

Before Mr. Beissel decides he is ashamed to be a Canadian he should ask himself, ''Why'' is he able to publicly print his views, and he should realize that Canadians were able to play a very big part in the end result of both the First and Second World Wars against the Kaizer's and Hitler's armies.

The Canadian victory at Vimy Ridge in the 1914-18 war led to the breakthrough of the allies after other allied forces had failed for years.

In the Second World War, when England was alone after Dunkirk, Canada built a lot of aircrafts, trained the allied pilots and crews required, and faced German submarines in the Atlantic to take essential food and supplies to England making it possible for the few to defeat the vast German airforce in the vital Battle of Britain, which led to Hitler turning his army to attack Russia instead of England, leading to his final defeat.

If that victory had not been achieved, it is highly probable the swastika flag could have been flying over the Ottawa House of Commons and our democratic rights diminished. Also, before Mr. Beissel condemns the U.S.A., he should remember how the U.S.A. became involved in the disastrous Vietnamese war.

The U.S.A. went in with disastrous end results to defend democracy from the communists. They were not the aggressors.

Perhaps Mr. Beissel would like to change the national flag to a yellow background with a feather in each corner.

Yours truly,
Bill Haines,
Vankleek Hill

Main Street window capitalizes on Persian Gulf war

To the editor:

Main Street, Alexandria has fallen prey to the latest attempt to capitalize on the Gulf War. The window of Stedman's displays T-shirts bearing a map of the middle-east, a fighter jet and the caption: ''Operation Desert Storm.'' Camouflage caps imitating those worn by the soldiers are mounted over each shirt as though to complete the latest in fashion-wear. The efforts of those Canadians who have put their lives on the line, and who face horrors that we cannot begin to imagine, have been trivialized and reduced to the level of pop culture.

Moreover, we must question the type of message these T-shirts convey to the potential young people who are the target consumers of these goods. The middle-east war is depersonalized and devalued by being reduced to a ''decal'' that can be worn just as ''Ninja Turtles,'' ''Superman'' or ''Gumby.'' Violence and death can be disposed of simply by throwing the dirty T-shirt in the laundry.

But the saddest reality of the econopolitics of war came home to me when I called the manager of Stedmans to protest against his window display. His response to my question regarding the ethical implications of his display was classic. He argued that Stedmans stores all across Canada were marketing this item, so he was just going along with the rest of the group. Moreover, he added, that it was his business to make money. Once again, war has showed its true colors — it's the dollar sign that really counts.

Yours truly,
Karen Davison-Wood

Lochiel's zoning clock is ticking down

ter — if it gets past council — has to be considered by many government agencies, including the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Lochiel Township's zoning bylaw is expected to be approved by council at the March 12 regular meeting. I am told that it's not yet too late to look into what Lochiel Township has planned and to make suggestions if you disagree. Once the document is approved by council it becomes law, and requests for changes will not come easily or cheaply.

Incidentally, a 30-day period during which landowners can appeal the bylaw will follow council's acceptance of it.

The revised bylaw contains many important changes, one of those being the redesignation of agricultural zones to residential ones in hamlets, to give the hamlets land on which to expand.

This may be meaningful to some hamlet dwellers, like those who have a lot land and keep, for example, horses. You're not allowed to keep horses in residential zones. This gets interesting.

People who had the horses before the rezoning will not have to give up their stock, as their land will fall into the category of ''legal non-conforming use,'' a wonderful loophole and one of the few rights many people don't even know they have, says Lochiel Township Zoning Administrator Dorothy Irvine. But though people who already have them, can keep them, animal lovers who have been thinking about bringing some home to a hamlet, are probably out of luck.

Information about the proposed bylaw is available at the township office and the zoning administrator is there Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays. It won't cost you anything to ask questions now. By April, changes to the bylaw may cost you in excess of $400.

Council briefs

Lancaster Township

The following items were among those discussed at the regular council meeting of Lancaster Township Feb. 6. All members of council were present.

Ministry questions performance

Council discussed a carbon copy of a letter sent to Charlottenburgh Township by the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) regarding the "poor performance" of Ainley Graham and Associates Ltd.

Ainley Graham was hired by the Green Valley Liaison Committee to implement a program for disposing of hauled sewage in May 1988.

According to Mike Samson, clerk/treasurer for Lancaster Township, there have been no results from the consultants.

The MOE's letter states "if the report promised by the end of the month does not have some content which indicates a professional approach to the problem, the Ministry may recommend, not only the discontinuance of the study by this consultant, but that certain invoices not be accepted."

But Samson said there hasn't really been any direction for the consultant from the ministry.

"This is a new problem and it takes time to get things moving. I wouldn't be surprised if another firm had the same difficulties," he said, adding that the MOE is funding the project 85 per cent.

A consultant with the firm, Joseph Zagorski said the firm has not yet received a copy of the letter and would prefer to see it before commenting.

Zoning changes approved

Council received a letter from M.S. Thompson & Associates Ltd., engineers for a planned subdivision in Bainsville, approving the official plan.

The correspondence expresses the intention of the owner — Walter Williams — "to develop this plan... in three phases" the first commencing spring of 1991.

Samson said two zoning changes had to be completed before the project could begin: changing about 110 metres of land from agricultural to residential, and the whole of Phase 1 — lots 1 to 14 — from residential holding to residential.

After being questioned by members of council about the difference between residential and residential holding, Samson explained that the latter gave council one last say over when and how developping can be done.

Counc. Steve Preston noted that "the subdivision is a fait accompli once we (council) pass the zoning by law."

Samson agreed, but added that "as long as we keep it at residential holding, it has to come back to this table. It gives the municipality a little bit more control."

Police want info on theft

If a yellow, enclosed tracked vehicle with a boom on one end, travelling at the pace of 15 miles per hour between Maxville to Glen Robertson lumbered by your home this past weekend, Maxville OPP would like to hear from you.

Maxville OPP are looking for information from the public after a Bombardier tracked utility vehicle, worth about $120,000 and owned by Ontario Hydro, was stolen and taken for a joyride over the weekend.

The vehicle was found by hydro workers Monday morning, who followed the tracks of the tank-like vehicle to where it was abandoned two kilometres into a cedar bush near Glen Robertson.

Police are hoping that because of the unusual appearance of the lumbering vehicle, and its snail-like pace, that it was seen by residents during its approximately 35-kilometre trek. And they are looking for any kind of information that can lead them to the driver of the vehicle.

The vehicle was stolen when two padlocks were cut off its doors and it was somehow started by the person who had gained entry to the machine's cabin.

The machine was driven from a field to McCormick Road, past the Alexandria golf course, east to County Road 23 and then south to Glen Robertson, said Const. Don Dell of the Maxville OPP detachment.

Dell said it is unlikely that whoever took it actually wanted to steal the machine. It is more than likely it was just taken for a joyride.

Anyone who saw the vehicle over the weekend can call Maxville OPP at 527-2124.

Past president invited to sit on public relation committee

Highlights of the Jan. 30 afternoon meeting of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary included news of new honors, new project plans and purchases and interesting new ideas from a guest speaker.

Our dedicated Past President Vivian DaPrato has been invited to sit as member of the provincial public relations committee of HAAO. Her duties will relate to the provincial magazine "Volunteer." To have achieved this recognition is, in President Lawson's words, "an honor for Vivian and for our auxiliary."

The meeting decided that the new television and antenna which has been purchased for the "Quiet Room" will be this year's auxiliary project for the hospital. The members also agreed to purchase a black and white camera for the use of the auxiliary.

André Bisson, Ontario Hydro, Vankleek Hill made a lively audio-visual presentation on the residential programs, grants and conservation aids available through Ontario Hydro. The information package received by each member present should provide a valuable resource for the future.

The next meeting of GMH Auxiliary is April 3.

Choir wants members

The Gaia Consort is looking for new members to join its ranks as work begins on a third spring concert. People from Alexandria and area are most welcome to join the choir.

The Gaia Consort, under the direction of Ian Hepburn, is composed of people from the Vankleek Hill area. Some choir members read music and have had vocal training, but most are learning as they go. All enjoy singing and look forward to sharing that joy with others.

The consort presented its first performance, Missa Gaia, in the spring of 1989 and has, since then, performed two Christmas concerts and a "Concert for the Earth" last May.

The concert this spring will feature an electric blend of English and French-Canadian folk songs, as well as well-known music by Paul Simon, Michel Legrand, David Gates, Paul Halley and Georges Moustaki.

Everyone interested in joining the Gaia Consort may phone Ian Hepburn at 678-2286 for further information

New director elected

Laurent Souligny, an egg producer from St. Isidore, has been elected to his fifth term by the 45 egg producers in the Counties of Russell, Prescott, Glengarry and Stormont as their director on the Ontario Egg Producers' Marketing Board.

With his wife Héléne and two children, Mr. Souligny runs a dairy operation and pullet facilities, in addition to producing eggs. He has been an egg producer since the early 1980's.

Policies and operations of the Ontario Egg Producers' Marketing Board is the responsibility of 15 producer-elected directors. Thirteen of these are elected by egg producers in 13 zones, or areas of the province; two are elected by pullet producers, or farmers who raise chicks to egg-laying age.

In each zone, producers elect a set number of committeemen who then elect a director for that zone. Pullet producers elect committeemen to vote for a pullet producer director for each half of the province. Directors are elected for a one year term.

Shoulder pads can be used for strange things

Williamstown
Sue Harrington
347-2279

Ahah! So you thought I'd forgotten! Never fear, I give you today the results of the fiercely contested shoulder pad recycling competition. Glengarry, you amaze me! So many ideas, wacky and wonderful came my way that at one point I thought perhaps I'd have to resort to the old ''fling them down the stairs'' method of judging. But nature has its own way of picking winners, and an event on the weekend pointed out that one entrant's idea made very good sense indeed.

The event occurred at the Lancaster Curling Club when one of its members had a nasty fall. The victim shall remain nameless, having suffered enough. But had he known that shoulder pads inserted in his hat could have softened the blow, no doubt he'd be off to the Briar instead of recuperating in Williamstown!

This winning idea was submitted by Joan Gibson who began stuffing her hat with shoulder pads after she suffered a similar spill while curling. ''No more curling without some head protection,'' said the doctor, prompting Joan to seek the perfect solution.

Joan, who admits she ''always'' removes the shoulder pads from her clothing, said that the idea can be extended to padding the hats of the young to protect against toboggan tumbles, or of the elderly when faced with unsure winter walking conditions.

In fact, such padding might have helped a Char-Lan teacher at a hockey practice last week!

By far the largest number of callers suggested the pads be used as potholders and there were a variety of ways offered in which they could be adapted to such use. Pulling out the pads' innards and using them to stuff cushions, toys, etc. was also a popular idea. One gentleman suggested a pin-cushion, though he added that he supposed such an idea was passé.

Among the novel suggestions was that with a little elastic sewn to it, a pad made a good eye-patch, whether for practical or burlesque use. Another suggestion would see colorful shoulder pads covering the outside of a plastic planter, while by far the most ambitious reader thought that, with a little trimming and a lot of figuring, all the pads could be sewn together to make a comforter!

A coat for an indoor dog to wear outside in winter, and inserts for shoes, bought at bargain prices but remaining always one size too large, were among the more whimsical offerings.

In the quick and easy category were using the pads as bath mitts (slice open and fill with soap slivers), as knee pads to prevent housewife or gardener's knee, as polishers for furniture, and as shoulder pads on wire hangers!

And if all else fails, you can either give them to a less endowed friend, or, if made from natural fibres, compost them!

Congratulations, Joan, your prize is on the way, and it is NOT my pile of pads — they are going to the comforter lady!

The Williamstown Green Thumb Society's annual ''Bring and Share'' supper was held January 31 at St. Mary's Centre. Dorothy Sturrock reports that if the members' gardening efforts equal the quantity and quality of the food served at the supper, ''the neighborhood will be seeing some magnificent results in the coming season.''

It was annual membership time at the supper and the lengthy line up to register reflected the evening's good attendance.

Programs for the year's events were distributed, and once again tribute was paid to Gordon Light for his cover design. A visit to ''Evergreen Farm,'' home of Anstace and Larry Esmonde-White of PBS and CBC's ''From a Country Garden'' fame, promises to be a highlight of the season.

Green Thumbers were asked to plan on participating in larger numbers in the society's annual Flower Show and were told ''one's own miserable produce may seem magnificent to one's neighbor!'' What are often considered weeds may be in reality wild flowers, and as such are valid for exhibition.

The evening concluded with a video taped ''visit'' to the Keukenhoff Gardens in Holland, prepared and narrated by Henry Hore.

Despite what I said recently about most Williamstowners having January birthdays, a few non-conformists have held off for February. Martintown Women's Institute News

The January meeting of Martintown WI, held in the Presbyterian church hall, was conducted by Margaret Kennedy and opened in the usual manner.

In the absence of Secretary Joan MacKenzie, Eileen Johnston recorded the minutes. Roll call was ''Should women be in politics and why?''

Roll calls always inject a bit of humor into our meetings right from the start and this one was no exception with one member stating that 'Yes, women should be in politics as generally they were nicer looking and had more hair than men.'

On the serious side though, it was agreed that women were just as smart and in many fields women were closer to the problems and could deal with them better.

A donation has been forwarded to the Erland Lee Home in memory of Fyola Lambert, a loved member who passed away just before Christmas. Thanks was expressed to Ginny Blair who contributed material for the Christmas baskets.

An executive meeting is to be held by the District WI on Feb. 9, 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Courses chosen by members for the coming year were ''Wardrobe Wizzardry and Decor Accents'' — no doubt more news on these courses will be forthcoming.

Alison Murray, convenor for the afternoon, spoke on child abuse and protecting your child; Alison had a most interesting book on a child which would contain recent pictures, dental records, a piece of your child's hair and a fingerprint — information that would be of great help if your child was ever missing.

Pamphlets are available from the National Clearinghouse on Family Violence, Health and Welfare Canada, Ottawa K1A 1B5 dealing with items such as Things to do as a Family, and Things to tell your child, also What to do if your child tells you he/she has been approached or assaulted.

The February meeting is to be held on Feb. 21, 1:30 p.m., at the Presbyterian church hall.

Optimist Club to hold family breakfast

Green Valley
Helene Quesnel
525-3303

Tomorrow is St. Valentine's day and since it's impossible to send all my readers a Valentine card I've chosen to share with your part of a poem by E. L. Mariner who describes how one feels on Valentine's Day.

Laughing at stern realities,
A world will stop to play;
Old hearts grow young; young hearts age
On this St. Valentine's Day.

Happy Valentine's Day to everyone!

* * *

A special wish for a happy 30th wedding anniversary is sent out to Philippe and Betty Bourck of RR2 Green Valley on Feb. 11.

* * *

Today (Wed.) is Ash Wednesday. Father Dumoulin will conduct services at the school during the day. In the evening there will be a celebration at Ste. Marie's church at 7:30 p.m.

* * *

Little Kayla Spooner was baptized last Saturday (Feb. 9) at Ste. Marie's church.

Kayla is the daughter of Karl and Monique (Sauvé). Congratulations to godparents Yvon and Sonia Sauvé.

We welcome Kayla to our parish.

* * *

Sympathy is extended to Philippe Bourck and his family upon the passing of his father Laurent Dupuis, a long-time resident of Green Valley.

Funeral services were held at St. Raphael's.

Students see new faces on staff

GDHS News
Jean Burgess

Semester one is a thing of the past and most of us are looking forward to semester two. Our report cards have been processed in the office and have been handed out. Read 'em and weep fellas.

* * *

On a brighter note, tomorrow is Valentine's Day. I'll pause for a moment so you can find someone to hug . . . Wasn't that great? Enough hugging, back to business.

* * *

Students can expect to see a few new faces on the staff. David MacPherson will be rejoining the GDHS roster from CCVS and will be working in the library. Lynda Garneau is teaching the drama program; she has come from General Vanier. Dwayne Lowe is back again, too; he will be teaching shop courses, particularly the new Agricultural Equipment Servicing course. Jacqueline Fraser joins us to fill in a French department position. In the guidance office there is a familiar face. Bernice Barlow, our resident retiree, will be juggling timetables for students until June when someone new will be hired.

GDHS also says goodbye to a pair of familiar faces. Roger Derosiers is leaving to work in the library at CCVS. Mr. Derosiers made a large impact on every student who spent much time in the library. John Williams is leaving Glengarry to work at Tagwi. There, he will be teaching the metal shops. We wish them both luck at their new schools.

* * *

Valentine's Day is to be GDHS' Grade 8 night. During the evening any Grade 8 student who wishes to see our school and programs is welcome to come with their parents. This is when we get to show newcomers what makes our school special.

* * *

Perhaps you've realized from all the posters that GDHS is to have its Valentine's Dance this Friday. The disc-jockey is to be Richard Robinson from Station to Station. So get out your dancing shoes and be there.

* * *

Be tough, March break is only 25 days away and spring is just around the corner. And don't forget, we get a well-deserved break from school Monday, Feb. 18.

Cafe Chantant touring

ESRG in the News
C. Nadeau

It's the beginning of a new semester and most of the students are adapting to the change. Only one week has gone by but I can already see discouraged faces as I see students walking out of difficult classes saying: "It's just begun and already I'm lost!" Somehow we usually manage to survive the course and things become clear.

Grade 8 students visited the school on Jan. 30. Two hundred and fifty people, 111 of which were students, participated in the information conference. Most seemed satisfied with the information obtained. Hopefully the students gained confidence and will be eager to become part of the school in September.

The "Cafe Chantant" will be touring different schools with their first show at l'Orignal on the 23rd of March at 8 p.m. We wish them great success. Franco-Soleil is thinking of raising money for TVOntario. La "Radio Etudiante" is doing well. They will be working on a publicity campaign for the community radio of Alexandria-Cornwall.

It will soon be St. Valentine's day! The day when many people fall in love. For the occasion flowers will be available at the school and will be distributed on Valentine's Day. A dance will also be held on Friday the 15th. It's your chance to meet that special person. To add to the spirit, a poetry contest was held. All that was needed to enter was a bit of romance and imagination.

The boys basketball teams nad a game on the 7th against North Dundas. Unfortunately the junior boys lost 56-35, but the senior boys had a successful game winning 70-55. Volleyball has started and the junior girls will be playing La Citadelle on the 8th. The midgets have a game on the 11th.

Report cards were given out on Friday. I hope that everyone did well and had a good weekend.

Married

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Larocque of North Lancaster are very pleased to announce the marriage of their son Luc to Joanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nadeau of Cornwall. The wedding took place on September 8, 1990 at Nativity Co-Cathedral. After a honeymoon in Lake Buena Vista, Florida, the couple is now residing in Ottawa.

News from Ecole St. Joseph in Lancaster. "Talents on Parade" were awarded for the month of January to the following students for their special skills or talents. Christie McDonell was recognized for her optimism; Tommy Ouellet for his skill in reading; Jordan Reasbeck for his talent in composition; Graham Charbonneau for his creativity; Christopher Reasbeck for his talent in communicating his ideas and Robert Pilon for his positive attitude and good humor. Sheri-Lee Lefebvre was named for her organizational skills and Eric Lacombe was recognized for his tenacity and constant effort in whatever he undertakes. Last, but not least, Richard Cholette was rewarded for his skills in communication especially in hosting radio station "Radio St. Joseph" twice a week. During the monthly assembly, Grades one and two sang and animated a song 'En Patin' (While Skating) and Grades three and four recited poems about the carnival. Speaking of the carnival, it was a great success. Students participated in a treasure hunt. There were over 70 little cards hidden in the snow, each worth a gift. Some of these cards were white which presented quite a challenge, however, Jean-Marc Poirier of Grade two found seven of them while Jason Bacon and Steve Prieur found the 'pizza' cards. Students were divided up into teams of 13 students from Pre-K to Grade 8 who then raced and played skill testing games. The school is grateful to Mrs. Christina Alepins for the delicious spaghetti sauce which parents served to students and staff. The school also wishes to thank the 1990 graduates who lent a hand organizing the games. The remainder of the afternoon was spent at Williamstown arena which kindly gave its gift of free ice time.

January is usually a month of the year when many people experience a major letdown following the hectic pace of Christmas. This, however, has not been the case at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. Church functions and activities are alive and well thanks to the enthusiasm and faithful support of congregational members. The musical ministry continues to be a vital aspect of worship on Sunday mornings thanks to the interest and dedication of organist Malcolm Cumming. During the month of January, St. Andrew's was pleased to welcome many talented and gifted individuals. On Jan. 13, Carolyn Meyer offered two beautiful solos while Sonya Mulder on violin, accompanied Malcolm Cumming during the singing of the hymns. On Jan. 20, St. Andrew's welcomed George Harland who inspired everyone by singing a number of solos with guitar and piano accompaniment. On Jan. 27, St. Andrew's was delighted to have Paul and Shannon Blanchard lead in several moving duets. Following two of these services several ladies from the church catered to a fellowship hour in the church hall which was enjoyed by everyone.

During the morning service on Jan. 27, the congregation welcomed through the Sacrament of Baptism, Christopher Charles, infant son of Alexander and Ginette Ferguson.

St. Andrew's Youth Group recently enjoyed a ski trip to Morin Heights, Quebec. Organized by John Ferguson, 28 young people and parents enjoyed a fabulous day of skiing. Although the day was very cold everyone had a wonderful time. The next youth group meeting will be held in early March. St. Andrew's will be hosting a church parade for the Brownies, Beavers, Cubs, and Scouts on Sunday, Feb. 17 during the 11 a.m. service. St. Andrew's sponsors all of these groups and is privileged to welcome these young people, leaders, and their families. Following the service a coffee fellowship hour will be held in the hall and everyone is most welcome to attend.

If you weren't at the legion for their pancake, sausage and bacon breakfast, you missed a great feast. Beverly Fournier, the public relations officer for br. 423 in Alexandria attended and would like to send her compliments to the chef — Betsy Robinson — and her marvelous cooks.

World Day of Prayer in preparation

Glen Sandfield
Lorna Chapman
874-2408

After the last column, in which it mentioned the robin as a harbinger of spring, I received a most interesting phone call.

Marge Brewer, who lives in Green Valley, told us about a robin that they have been feeding all winter. She called the wildlife folks in Ottawa to find out how to feed him. They suggested a diet of hamburger, and she reports that he seems to be thriving. Having destroyed my spring omen, we must look for something else I suppose.

The day I hear about an evergreen crocus I'll just give up! No need for signs really, for when spring gets here, we will all know it, won't we?

* * *

We would like to extend sincere sympathy to Gail Kronwald and family for the recent passing of her mother Gertrude Boucher, and to Jim Boucher her husband on the demise of his wife. May you find consolation at this sad time.

* * *

Area ladies attended the World Day of Prayer planning committee meeting recently held at the home of Mrs. Dougal MacLeod. Representatives of all seven participating churches were present. The program has been put together by the women of Kenya, Africa. The service will be held this year at St. Columban's Presbyterian Church, Kirk Hill, beginning at 1:30 p.m. and both men and women will receive a warm welcome that day.

Happy birthday wishes go out this week to Della MacDonald. May you enjoy many more.

The members of the Glen Sandfield UCW met on Wednesday, Feb. 6 at the home of Nan Campbell for the regular monthly meeting. President Lorna Chapman opened with prayer and Margo MacRae took over for the devotional portion. The theme was Love Thy Neighbor, and she presented some very thought-provoking readings. From the Pastoral Booklet she read a Credo for Living followed by a poem taken from a Dear Abby letter about gossip, called Nobody's Friend, and closed with a poem What God Has Promised. All were well-chosen items on the theme! The group sang O Love That Wilt Let Me Go as their hymn. It is a beautiful piece and one of everyone's favorites. The scripture was taken from Luke 10 verses 25 to 37, the story of the good Samaritan. The brief business part opened with the Members' Purpose followed by the minutes of the December meeting read by secretary Nan Campbell. Business arising from the minutes was discussed, the topic being the congregational pot luck meal after a family and memorial day service. The date could possibly be June 2, as was suggested. More information on that will be forthcoming. Meetings were planned for the upcoming year and an interesting speaker from Montreal-Ottawa Presbytery, Sheila Snelling, might be prevailed to return this spring to tell about the new Mission Study resources for the UCW meetings. That will be something to look forward to. Several other fund-raising events were suggested. One was some type of an evening event with dessert and coffee afterwards (an auction maybe!) Other ideas came up, and will be considered over the coming year. The feeling is that with such a small group, it might be more reasonable to have several small events rather than a salad tea. The group adjourned to the dining room for light refreshments.

Please remember young Peter MacDonald who is in hospital in Ottawa, in your prayers. He is the son of our minister Rev. Pat and Rev. Colin MacDonald. He may well be home by the time this comes out, but we ask you to please remember him and his parents at prayer time.

Lila and Alex Mogelon welcome their grandchild, Sylvie Jeanine, who was born in Korea. Her new parents, Barry and Marcia Straus of Ithaca, N.Y., think she is the only baby ever born! Believe me, that is Lila's words, and both she and Alex mean it. They are so proud, and if you saw her picture you would know why. She is just a doll!

It's nice to know that Gordon MacLeod is home from hospital. We wish him well and hope he will continue to grow stronger.

Now that my mother, Mrs. Minna Hampel, has passed away, I will not be such a frequent visitor at the Manor. Mother passed her 101st birthday shortly before her death. I must say that the loving care she received at the Manor could not have been surpassed anywhere.

Glens win St. Lawrence pennant

For the second straight year, Alexandria Glens are the St. Lawrence Division regular season champions.

Alexandria beat Winchester 6-5 in a crucial game last Wednesday (Feb. 6) and sewed up the pennant Saturday night with a 20-2 rout of Char-Lan.

''A lot of things came together for his team,'' Glens coach Pete DeRooy said. ''Our goaltending was a problem but Mark Juneau and Brad Dillabaugh came along and kind of revitalized us.

''Glen Campbell returned to the lineup...Mike Sauve came back a couple of weeks after Christmas and fit in well...Marc Sauve had another excellent year...Serge Bellefeuille improved...our affiliated players — guys like Martin Hughes and Geoff Seguin — all did the job.''

''Our defensive play improved whenever Kirk (defence coach Anderson) came along — he's done a helluva job. Really, everything started coming together. At the start of the season some people were wondering if we were going to make the playoffs. We lost the first two, won one then lost a couple more.

''This is my fourth year with Alexandria and we haven't before had that big a struggle for first place...it was a battle right to the finish. I can remember at one point during the season we were eight points behind Winchester. But we just kept pecking away.''

A four-win, one-loss, one-tie record against Hawks in head-to-head meetings was the difference. ''We had eight games left in the stretch run after Christmas and lost just one of them,'' DeRooy said. ''I think the boys deserved to get first place. We did it ourselves — we didn't sit back and depend on anyone else to get the job done for us.''

Glens continued their mastery over Hawks right in Winchester Wednesday night. Glens came in to the game leading Hawks by one point, and were able to stretch it to three.

The game was tied 5-5 when with 8:42 remaining in the third, Mike Sauve, on a setup involving Marc Sauve and Serge Bellefeuille, connected for the winning marker.

Glens had taken a 4-2 lead after one period on goals by Marc Sauve, Glen Campbell, Serge Bellefeuille and Luc Decoeur. Marc Sauve notched his second goal midway through the second period pushing the Alexandria lead to 5-2, but homestanding Hawks rallied with goals two minutes apart late in the second stanza. Hawks tied it 5-5 with 16:49 left in the third.

Glens were beaten 8-5 in Kemptville Friday night. Alexandria, ahead 4-3 after two stanzas, took a 5-3 lead one minute into the third when Mike Sauve scored. But three minutes later Andy Meth scored a shorthanded goal for 73's and a Kemptville comeback was under way.

Midway through the stanza Kemptville scored three times in 37 seconds to take control of the contest, pulling ahead 7-5. Glens led 3-2 after the first period. Mike Sauve and Glen Campbell each scored twice. Marc Sauve notched one marker.

Glens offence erupted in the pennant-clinching win Saturday over Rebels. Glen Campbell paced the attack with eight goals. Marc Sauve notched five markers. Stephane Lacelle and Dan Levert each contributed a pair. Serge Bellefeuille, Andrew Sauve and Walter Vandergoten singled. Scores at period intervals were 4-1 and 12-1. Glens had 11 powerplay markers.

The team will practice tonight (Wed.) and Friday. A St. Lawrence Division semifinal series could start in Alexandria next Friday night (Feb. 22).

Tourney weekend: Locals lose finals

Sultan Drugs Bantam Glens edge rivals in OT, beaten by Richmond

Getting to the final of their own tournament should have been easier for Alexandria Sultan Drugs Glens.

Playing against Char-Lan Rebels in an ''A'' semifinal game at the ADMHA Bantam Tournament Sunday, Glens had two leads go by the wayside, but were finally able to dispose of their county rivals — 5-4 — in sudden death overtime.

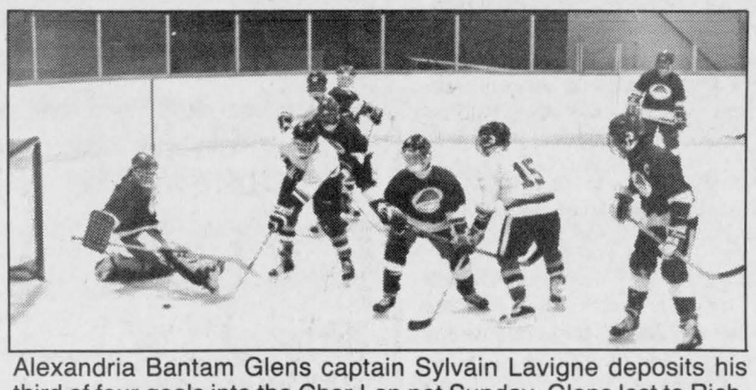
Sylvain Lavigne intercepted an errant Char-Lan breakout pass two minutes into the extra session and went in alone to win it for Glens. The shorthanded marker was Lavigne's fourth goal of the contest.

Lavigne had scored the first three goals of the game putting Alexandria in front 3-0 early in the second period. But Char-Lan rallied to tie the score on goals by Ian MacDonell, Terry O'Farrell and Scott Giroux.

Glens went ahead 4-3 when Norman Jeaurond connected with 5:49 to go in regulation time, but O'Farrell tied it again on a powerplay with 1:02 remaining.

In the tournament championship game, Glens were beaten 5-1 by a powerful Richmond squad. Richmond had a 5-0 lead before Mathieu Poulin broke the shutout late in the third period.

Glens topped St. Isidore 4-3 in their early morning game. Lavigne's second goal with 1:07 remaining snapped a 3-3 tie. Alain Borris and Norm Jeaurond also scored for Bill Gebbie's club.



Alexandria Bantam Glens captain Sylvain Lavigne deposits his third of four goals into the Char-Lan net Sunday. Glens lost to Richmond in the final.

Char-Lan beat Massena 5-0 in its first round game. John Fisher scored twice; singles were notched by Dan Blacker, Terry O'Farrell and Kyle MacDonell.

Richmond advanced to the final with a first round 4-3 win over Hull, and semifinal 3-0 blanking of Arnprior.

Peewee Rebels rally but come up short in championship game

A third period comeback attempt was successful, but sudden death overtime proved to be the downfall for Char-Lan Rebels at the ADMHA Peewee Tournament championship game Saturday.

Playing against Casselman in the eight-team tournament final, Rebels trailed most of the contest and appeared to be going down to certain defeat. But behind 2-0, Rebels scored twice in a little over a minute late in the game to force overtime.

Casselman won the championship trophy when Patrick Roy scored with 5:27 left in the extra session.

Rebs had rallied on goals by Darrell McDonell, with 2:37 left in regulation time, and by Tim Corput, who tied it up with 1:21 remaining. After a scoreless first period, Casselman scored twice in the second.

Rebels advanced to the final scoring a 5-3 win in their semifinal matchup with Papineau. John Fisher scored four goals for Rebs, which led 3-1 and 5-2 at period intervals. Joey Dupuis had the other goal. Graig Hopkins had two assists.

Char-Lan opened the tournament with a 4-3 win over Clarence. Joey Dupuis' goal with 4:25 left in the third snapped a 3-3 tie and lifted Rebs to the win. Fisher had a pair for the winners; Kelsey Lemire tallied once.

Coming into their own tournament, Daniel Brunet's Alexandria Glens were in a goal-scoring slump. They broke out of it in their first game, a 7-4 decision over Richmond, but failed to score often enough in an ''A'' division 4-2 loss to Casselman.

Lalonde General Store Peewee Glens started out on the right skate, taking 1-0 and 2-1 first period leads on goals by Eric Hagen (assisted by Sean Villeneuve and Andrew Taillefer) and Alain Decoste (assisted by Eric McCarthy and Bruce MacLeod). Casselman tied it 2-2 in the second period setting the stage for a decisive third frame. Caselman got goals with 1:41 and 21 seconds remaining to eliminate the home side.

Alexandria marksmen in the win over Richmond were Alain Decoste (three goals), Eric Hagen (two goals), Jean Theoret and Eric McCarthy. Sean Villeneuve had three helpers.

North Glen-Stor Braves win consolation crown

North Glen-Stor Braves rallied from a first-round loss with successive wins to capture the consolation crown. Braves doubled Richmond 6-3 in the final, getting three goals from Ryan Benton and a pair by Danny Boszormeny. Matthew Poapst scored once. Braves advanced to the final recording a 2-1 win over Clarence. Braves got second period goals 40 seconds apart from Bill Buchanan and Benton to take the lead. Clarence finally beat goalie Blair Munro with 1:30 left in the third period.

Braves were dealt to the ''B'' pool by Papineau, 3-1.

Fontaine vs Maxville in SD&G broom final

It will be defending champs Fontaine Concrete against Maxville Farm Machinery in the SD&G No-Contact Broomball League playoff finals, starting this Sunday.

The best-of-five championships get underway at 9 a.m., at the Maxville and District Sports Complex.

Both teams made short order of the opposition in their best-of-three first round playoff series. Maxville eliminated BMR Menard Lumber, winning Game Two this past Sunday 4-0. Rob Waldorf got things going for Maxville opening the scoring with 8:58 left in the first period. Theo Oetelaar drew an assist. Waldorf scored again before the end of the period, converting a John Reddick setup.

Reddick and Pat Quesnel connected with third period insurance markers. Donald Dashney was in nets for the shutout.

Maxville took the series lead a week ago, winning 2-1 in overtime.

Fontaine 5, Alexandria Legion 2

Alexandria Legion was eliminated, sufferring a 5-2 setback against Fontaine Concrete. Alexandria, 4-2 losers a week ago, bolted to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Jean Pierre Ranger and Stephane Ranger. Gilbert Pilon set up both markers. But it was all downhill from there. Barry Benton sparked the Fontaine comeback with two second period goals. Ray Fontaine and Rick Filion had assists.

Filion took charge in the third period scoring with 7:15 and 4:23 to go as Fontaine pulled ahead. Ray Filion's goal with just under two minutes left closed out the scoring. Fontaine, Benton and Rick Filion drew third period assists.

Monkland ousts Ingleside

Monkland Kings gained a berth into the ''B'' finals walloping Ingleside 7-3. It followed up a 3-1 Monkland win a week ago. Monkland was ahead just 4-3 midway through the third period when Raymond Robinson connected with 4:04 to go giving Monkland a two-goal bulge. Steve Harps, with his fourth goal of the contest, and Steve Norman, added Monkland markers in the final minute. Don Massia also scored for the winners.

Sandy McLeod, Duncan MacPherson, Denis Lauzon, Keith Presley and Raymond Robinson had Monkland assists.

Monkland held a 2-1 advantage after the first period.

Glengarry Insulation advances

Their opponents in the final will be Glengarry Insulation, which eliminated Denis Besner Construction 4-2. Four second period goals proved to be the difference. Glengarry trailed 1-0 entering the frame, but led 4-1 when it ended. John Prieur tied the game with an unnassisted goal two minutes into the stanza.

With 4:08 to go in the period, Richard Delorme scored putting Glengarry in front to stay. Richard Hamelin assisted. Exactly one minute later, Denis Decoeur scored increasing the lead to 3-1. Marc Hurtubise drew an assist. Sylvain Elie closed out the Glengarry Insulation with 2:23 to go in the frame, converting a Rene Leduc setup.

Sasha Grant, with his second marker, got one of the goals back for Denis Besner Construction with 4:37 to go in the game.

Glengarry Insulation took Game One 2-1 a week ago.

Game time for Game One of the ''B'' final is Sunday at 8 a.m.

Heritage ahead 2-0

King's Whitewashing keeps coming so close to getting its first win, but it will only get one more chance. King's trails Heritage Homes two games to none in the best-of-five ''C'' series, after a 1-0 setback Sunday.

Donald King scored the lone goal of the game with 7:04 to go in regulation. Martinas Van Den Oetelaar assisted.

Game One went to Heritage Homes 3-0.

The third game is Sunday at 10 a.m.

Disastrous weekend leaves Rebels close to elimination

The Char-Lan Rebels chances of getting into the playoffs — which looked pretty good just a little while ago — have been downgraded to very unlikely after a pair of weekend EOJBHL losses.

''Mathematically, we're still alive,'' said Rebels coach Randy Larocque, who watched his team fall three points behind fourth-place Morrisburg Lions Sunday afternoon.

''A pretty bleak weekend,'' is how Char-Lan president and general manager John Chafee described the events of February 9 and 10.

Where to begin? Well, first of all, Rebels lost 20-2 on home ice Saturday to Alexandria Glens. But by far the more depressing loss was a 12-4 setback administered by Lions the next day in Morrisburg.

This was the one that many observers felt would determine which club would get the fourth and final playoff position in the St. Lawrence Division. Each club came into the contest with three to go and Lions, on the strength of a rousing come-from-way-behind win over slumping Winchester Hawks Friday, led Rebels by a point.

Char-Lan scored first in the game but fell behind 5-2 after one period. Grasping to keep their season alive they cut it to 6-4 after two stanzas, but Lions scored three goals in four minutes early in the third and it was all over.

''The team put in a good effort,'' Chafee said. ''Morrisburg seemed just a little sharper around the net and they capitalized on more of their chances.

''If we beat Winchester (Rebels next game, tonight on the road) there's still a chance for a miracle.''

But even if Char-Lan can somehow knock off such heavyweights as Winchester and Kemptville, in their last game Saturday (Williamstown, 3:15 p.m.), it still may not be enough to get in. Morrisburg has to lose its two remaining games, to Kemptville and Rideau Division patsies Athens Aeros.

Trevor Bowles, with a pair, John Edgerton and Greg Wylie scored for Rebs against Lions.

''We played quite well the first 10 minutes and scored the first goal,'' Larocque said. ''I felt we deserved a little bit better than the result we got Sunday.''

On Saturday night, penalties were Rebels downfall, according to Larocque. ''We had a game plan to try to shut down Alexandria's big scorers,'' Larocque said. ''But several early, really-stupid penalties took us out of the game plan.

''Alexandria did the job on the powerplay...they came out gunning and ready to play.''

But as humiliating as the result may have been to a cross-county rival, that wasn't the game Rebels had to win. ''It may not have been the critical game of the weekend,'' Larocque said, ''but it was important to at least play well Saturday.

''Losing the way we did gave us absolutely no momentum going into Sunday's game.''

Rebels notes... Char-Lan starting goaltender Matthew McKenzie, who played brilliantly a week ago in the win over Kemptville, was working in Burlington on the weekend and absent from the lineup.

Rebels were a shorthanded team in more ways than one, Saturday night. As well as taking 17 penalties to Glens four, five Rebs regulars, including McKenzie, were out of the lineup. Jamie Latreille and Derek Duchesne were both sidlelined with knee injuries. Also not suiting up was Brent Lafave and Marc Beaudet.

''With the lineup we had the previous Saturday night (vs Kemptville),'' Chafee said, ''we may have given them a good run. But without those fellas we just didn't have the manpower.''

Because of the injuries, three younger players were able to play. Affiliated players Hamish McDonell (Char-Lan midgets) and Martintown residents Robert Curran and Dan Desjardins (both play for Cornwall ''AA'' midgets) suited up for some junior ''B'' experience.

Rebels will be hosting the St. Lawrence Division banquet Saturday. It will be held at St. Mary's Centre, with cocktails being served at 6 p.m. The dinner is at 7:30 p.m., with awards presentations and a dance to follow. Tickets can be purchased from Rebels team managers by Wednesday.

Titley, SunLife, still tied for third place in sponge puck league

Tapis Richard and Art Benton are battling for top spot in the Alexandria Ladies Sponge Puck League.

M&D Sports and Maxville are at the bottom of the pack, out of the playoff picture, but playing to see which team can avoid winding up in the standings basement.

Possibly the biggest struggle, though, is the one between Titley and SunLife in the race for third place.

The two clubs have been neck-and-neck all season and on Wednesday (Feb. 6), they played to a 1-1 draw to remain tied for third. SunLife seemed poise to snap the tie taking a 1-0 lead when Sue Lalonde scored with 8:19 remaining in the first period. Laurie Wheeler drew an assist on the play.

SunLife held the lead for most of the contest, but with just 21 seconds to go in the third stanza, Annie St. Denis scored to pull her team even. Lori Oma set up the equalizer.

Titley (seven wins, six losses, four ties) and SunLife (8-7-2) each have 18 points. There are three weeks remaining in the regular season.

First-place Tapis Richard remains the league's only unbeaten squad, improving its record to 14-0-3 with a 5-0 blanking of sixth-place M&D Sports (1-16-0). Sue Stewart's unnassisted goal with 5:40 left in the first period held up as the game winner.

Tapis added to its advantage with a pair of second period markers. Helen MacDonald connected with just two minutes gone to push the lead to 2-0. Jackie Bray assisted. Fifty seconds later, Cheryl Rigby converted a Brenda Golden set up.

Tapis posted a pair of third period insurance markers. Cathy Depratto made it a 4-0 game scoring with 8:12 remaining (assist to Stewart) and Rigby netted her second marker with 3:57 remaining. MacDonald assisted.

Ann-Marie Vansleewyn got the shutout.

In the other game played, second-place Art Benton kept pace with the leaders (14-2-1, 29 points) coasting past fifth-place Maxville (2-15-0) 8-0. Donna MacGregor and Debbie Nadon paced the Art Benton offensive attack, each scoring three times and adding an assist. Karen MacDonald scored once and set up three markers. Joan Filion also scored for the winners.

Nathalie Theoret recorded the shutout.

Champions closes in on Border playoff berth

Time is running out for Williamstown.

The last-place Border League team is now in grave danger of not getting into the playoffs, after sufferring a 6-2 loss to Champions Roadhouse Thursday night.

That's the team Williamstown has to catch to qualify for post season action. But catching up is now an unlikely scenario; the win for fourth-place Champions moved them from three points to five points ahead of Williamstown, with just two weeks left to go on the schedule.

Williamstown had a chance to win this game. It trailed just 3-2 going into the third period. But off the period-opening faceoff, Dean Slaney broke in alone (except for the presence of linemate Guy Poirier), and on the two on none Slaney easily beat goalie Shawn McClements. Just seven seconds had elapsed but it seemed like Williamstown's playoff chances had just expired.

Poirier scored his third goal 10 minutes later giving Champions a 5-2 lead. Joey McRae made some shifty moves at the blue line and went in to score with two minutes left. It was his second marker. Slaney had three assists.

Eric MacSweyn scored both Williamstown goals.

Champions had taken a first-period 2-0 lead on goals by Poirier and Slaney. Williamstown's Eric MacSweyn cut the deficit in half notching his first of two goals early in the second period.

In the other game played Thursday, Kinsmen outslugged Dalhousie 9-7. Dalhousie, trailing 8-6 after two periods, cut the margin to one goal when Findlay MacLeod connected with five minutes left. Carter MacDonald scored for Kinsmen in the final minute to put it away.

Leo Seguin and Marc Titley each scored three goals for Kinsmen. Kenny McDonell and Kevin Welcher notched singles. David McDonell had four assists; Seguin collected three. Gerry Blanchette notched four of the Dalhousie goals. David McKay added a pair, along with four assists.

Lancaster curling team off to branch playdowns

The Lancaster and District Curling Club will be represented at the Junior Branch Championship Playdowns in Howick, Que. February 22 and 23.

The junior men's rink, skipped by Bruce McCuaig, earned the right to advance to the tournament after finishing second at the District 2 (Eastern Ontario) finals in Renfrew February 2. The local team won two games and lost one at the 16-team competition.

"It's the farthest we've had a team advance in the five years I've been here," said team coach and junior curling coordinator Paul Haack. "They've been very dedicated and have shown a lot of interest in the program."

The team is comprised of McCuaig, of Lancaster, Dave Robertson (lead) and Colin Osborne (third) of Bainsville, and Scott Graham (second), from Dunvegan.

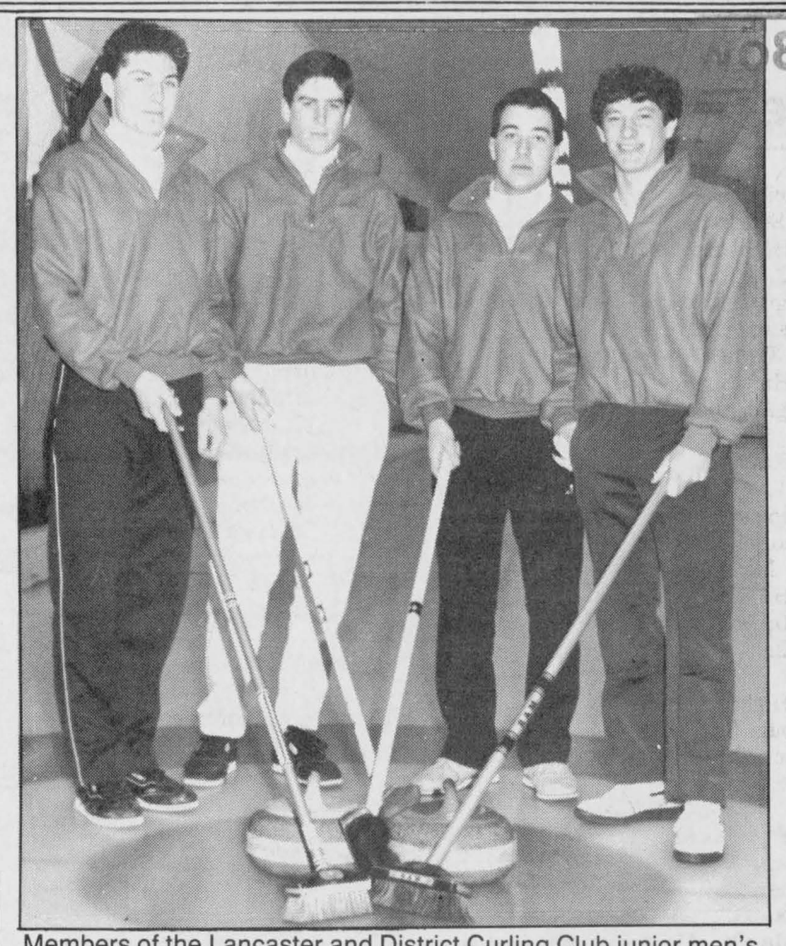
Inside page profile

"Bruce and Colin have been curling together four years — they've been the mainstay of our program," Haack said. Robertson joined one year later and Graham came aboard in the fall. All four are 18-year-old seniors at Glengarry District High School.

"They all have one more year of junior eligibility, but with school commitments it could be their last kick at the cat," Haack said.

Junior curling in Lancaster is one of several successful programs in the area. Approximately 20 curlers between the ages of 12 and 19 take to the ice every Sunday afternoon.

This year the Lancaster club started a "Little Rocks" program, for curlers between the ages of six and 12.



Members of the Lancaster and District Curling Club junior men's team are, from the left, Bruce McCuaig (skip), Dave Robertson (lead), Colin Osborne (third), and Scott Graham (second).

Stars win

Where was the D?

Defence was a dirty word Monday night in Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League action. In the four games played, a total of 34 goals were scored, eclipsing the old one-night goals record established Jan. 7 (31 goals).

Glengarry Stars is the first club to qualify for "A" division playoffs after a 6-1 rout of Char-Lan United. Julien Boisvenue and Donny Pidgeon each scored twice for Stars, which bolted to a 5-0 halftime advantage. Andy Meth and Brian Cameron added singles. Gareth Pye scored for United.

Cornwall F.I.S.T. pounded Glengarry Wildcats 11-1. Guy Carriere took over first place in the scoring standings with a four-goal performance. Jamie Myers also scored four. Jamie Major had the lone Wildcats tally.

R.C.A.F.A. Wings whipped Cornwall Strikers, getting four markers from Allan Brown and a hat-trick effort from Paul Dawson.

In the other game played, Seaway Spartans still have the best defensive record after a 2-0 blanking of Char-Lan U2's.

Campeau nets three in ADIHL victory

INGRAM, Loretta — We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our many friends, relatives and neighbors for acts of kindness, beautiful floral offerings, cancer donations, cards and spiritual offerings received during our recent bereavement in the loss of a beloved wife and mother. Thanks for the food brought to our house by neighbors and friends. Special thanks to the Munro Funeral Home, Father Dan Howard, Dr. Shah, the Hotel Dieu Hospital for the loving care they gave her and to Carolee McIntosh for her lovely singing during the service. Thanks to Doreen Amelotte, Inez Wheeler, Gwelda St. Denis and Linda St. Denis.
—The Ingram family. 7-1p

CHARLEBOIS — The family of the late Miss Mary Anné and Peter would like to thank all who conveyed their expressions of sympathy during their récent bereavement. Please consider this a personal thank you. 7-1p

VAN PUTTEN — My very sincere thanks to all the staff at Hotel Dieu Hospital while I was a patient there. I want to thank Dr. Rao, Dr. Shah, and all doctors who attended me, nursing staff of the x-ray and O.R. dept. and nursing staff on the 4th floor north. Special thanks also to Father Hallé and all who visited me. The Lord said there would always be wars and earthquakes. But He also said "Love your neighbor as yourself." They certainly do that there. It's hard to believe how kind and loving those people are unless you go there. The City of Cornwall should be proud of all those people. There maybe heros playing hockey, but there sure are heros in our doctors and nurses that aren't talked about. I want to thank you all once again. Keep up the good work and God bless you all.
—Adrian Van Putten,
Apple Hill. 7-1p

BERRY — Sincere thanks to my relatives, friends and good neighbors for their phone calls, cards, food, gifts and visits during my convalescence in the hospital. Thanks to my wife, sons, François Ranger and Denis Legault. Thanks also to Dr. Puranik, Dr. England, Dr. Nadeau, nurses and staff at Hotel Dieu Hospital, General Hospital in Cornwall and Glengarry Memorial in Alexandria for their excellent care. It is much appreciated.
—Peter Berry. 7-1p

MacGILLIVRAY — Many thanks to all the kind neighbors, friends and relatives who remembered me so kindly when I was a hospital patient.
—William J. MacGillivray. 7-1p

LAPENSEE — The family of the late Flora Lapensee wish to express sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives and friends for flowers and messages of sympathy during our recent bereavement.
—The Lapensee family. 7-1p

LEVAC — Many thanks to my family and friends for cards and visits while I was a patient at Hotel Dieu Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Nadeau, Dr. McLean, the nurses and staff of 4th floor south. Your kindness will be long remembered.
—Roland Levac. 7-1p

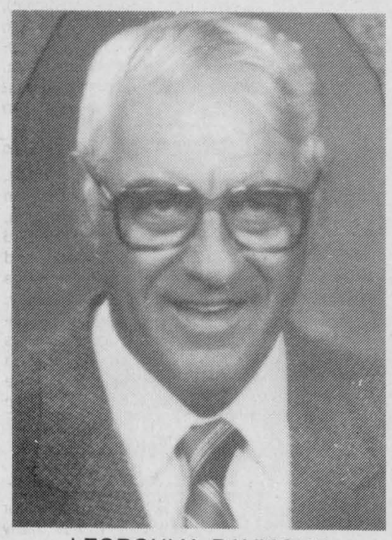
In Memoriam

HUGHES — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, who passed away February 19, 1989.
Remembering you is easy,
We do it every day.
Missing you is a heartache,
That never goes away.
You had a smile for everyone,
You had a heart of gold,
You left the sweetest memories
This world could ever hold.
To us you were someone special,
What more is there to say,
Except to wish with all our hearts,
That you were here today.
Lovingly remembered by wife Annabelle and family. 7-1p

LEGROULX — In memory of a dear father, Raymond, who passed away Feb. 13, 1990.
It's lonely here without you,
We miss you more each day
For life is not the same anymore,
Since you were called away.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But we know you're not alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
You left some happy memories,
And a sorrow too great to be told,
But for us who loved and lost you,
Your memory will never grow old.
—Daughter Carolyn and husband Imre Szelid. 7-1p



LEGROULX, RAYMOND
In loving memory of a dear husband, Raymond, who passed away a year ago, Feb. 13th, 1990.
My heart still aches with sadness,
To lose you darling, no one will ever know
When the days are sad and lonely
And everything goes wrong
I seem to hear you whisper dear,
Cheer up and carry on.
Each time I look at your picture
You seem to smile and say
Don't cry for me
I'm only sleeping.
We'll meet again some day.
Always remembered and loved by wife Glourisa, children and grandchildren. 7-1p

Where did your family originate? How did the community where you live get started? Have you tried a craft used by the early settlers? What would it be like to cook a recipe once made by the Voyageurs? If you have wondered about any of these and are between 10 and 21 years of age, the new 4-H project "Our Heritage" will interest you. In six meetings, you, along with other members of your 4-H club, will investigate your family and community "roots," learn about your heritage from the Native people and discover what life was like in early Ontario. You will have fun organizing a "celebration" event and enjoy a visit to a "Heritage Site" in your area.

"Our Heritage" is a 4-H project with a difference! It is flexible in design so leaders and members together can plan meetings of interest for their specific club. Both craft and cooking options have been included in a members' supplement. For more information on this project contact:

Bainsville, Sue Robertson, leader, 347-2935, Allison Main, 347-3998; Dunvegan, Lynda Heinsma, leader, 524-2299; Kenyon, Hope McKinnon, leader, 527-2521; Lochiel, Bev VanderByl, Joanne Marriott, leaders, 525-2951 and 874-2502; Martintown, Shirley Beaudin, 528-4791, Angela Bold, 528-4327; Maxville, Diane Jaggassar, Sharyn Thompson, 527-3321, Marianne MacRae, 527-5774; Picnic Grove, Anne Donkers, 347-7723, Jennifer Lang, 347-7505; OMAF office, Elizabeth O'Gorman-Smit, 525-1046 or 1-800-267-1722.

The importance of successful meetings

As the president of an organization, have you noticed a decline in attendance at your meetings? Have new members joined, attended one or two meetings and not returned? The problem could be with your meetings! Meetings which lack a purpose or an agenda, that start late and are poorly managed are not attractive to members or potential members.

During the month of February the rural organization specialists in the Counties of Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and Stormont will be conducting four successful meetings workshops. Participants in the workshop will learn the importance of starting a meeting on time, having an agenda and how to operate meetings smoothly.

There is no charge for the workshop, but participants are asked to bring their own lunches. Anyone interested in attending one of the successful meetings workshops should contact the rural organizations specialist in their county. In Glengarry County, call Elizabeth O'Gorman-Smit at 525-1046 or 1-800-267-1722.

All workshops run from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Registration is from 10 to 10:30 a.m. Enrolment is not limited to rural organizations.

Successful meetings workshops — dates and locations:

Tuesday, Feb. 12, Berwick Community Centre, Berwick Ont.; Thursday, Feb. 21, St. Andrew's United Church Hall, Williamstown, Ont.; Thursday, Feb. 14, St. John's Anglican Church Hall, Vankleek Hill, Ont.; Thursday, Feb. 28, La salle de la Caisse Populaire, 151 rue St. Jean, Casselman, Ont.

Ontario 4-H Council elects president

The president of the 1991 Ontario 4-H Council is Glengarry County 4-H Leader Diane Jaggassar. The elections took place at the Ontario 4-H Council directors' meeting prior to the council's annual meeting Jan. 19.

The Ontario 4-H Council was formed in 1988 as a result of a review of the Ontario 4-H program. The province was divided into 18 regions, each one represented by an elected director. This took the place of the Ontario 4-H Leaders' Committee.

The Ontario 4-H Council is involved in developing and implementing policies and programs on a provincial basis to further the goals of 4-H in Ontario; making recommendations on the allocation of program resources made available to the 4-H program; and promoting and marketing 4-H as an organization for rural youth in Ontario.

Diane Jaggassar has been leading 4-H in Glengarry County for 15 years. She was originally appointed to the Ontario 4-H Leaders' Committee in 1988.

Optimists carnival fun in spite of thaw

Dalkeith
Jean MacLennan
874-2385

Mother Nature gave us lovely weather over the weekend but not the type of weather needed for a winter carnival with ice activities. However the events were all in the Optimist Hall, with activities for the young people on Saturday afternoon. The Queen, Guylaine Meloche was crowned and the duchesses were Sandra Berry and Tracy Lanthier. The pool tournament started on Friday night and finished on Sunday. Winners were: first, Gerard Poirier and second, Paul Goulet. In Junior Pool the first place winner was Jeff Lavigne, second was Sandra Lacasse and the third was Chantal Lacasse.

In the sandbags competition, Anita Roy was first lady with 4,930. Biggest square — Anita Roy with 1,380 and for the men, Albert Quesnel with 1,490.

Winners of the card tournament were: first, Leo Ouimet; second, Anita Roy and third, Hélène Piché.

A large jar had been filled with 3,861 Smarties. Junior Beaudry won the contest with a guess of 3,860! He received all those Smarties plus a cash prize.

The closing supper was a great success with a large turnout of people. The Optimist Club paid the meal for each child who attended.

In conjunction with the Carnival, Mike Gibbs had invited seven violinists to provide music at St. Paul's Sunday mass.

So the Optimist Club must be quite happy with the success of the Carnival '91 — and surely will plan for '92.

Catherine Kippen elected ag society president

Maxville
Gordon Winter
527-2888

The annual meeting of the Kenyon Agricultural Society was held on Jan. 26, 1991 at the Maxville Curling Club. There were 33 members present for the meeting. President Catherine Kippen thanked everyone for the hard work and support throughout the year. The members of the new executive for the year 1991 are as follows: Past President: David Munro, President: Catherine Kippen, First Vice-President: Murray Howes, Second Vice-President: Glenn McKay, Secretary-Treasurer: Janice Blaney.

A delicious meal was served by the curling club ladies to a total of 67 people. After the meal, Phyllis MacMaster, ag. rep. for Dundas County and originally from Glengarry, was the guest speaker. She spoke on cooperation of volunteers in any organization.

Phyllis was presented with a gift on behalf of KAS by President Catherine Kippen. Following the guest speaker, several presentations were made to individuals who have given freely of their time throughout the years.

Jean Campbell was presented with a gift, acknowledging her 25 years involvement with the KAS during which she served in many capacities. Jean was the first female president of KAS.

William MacLeod, Dunvegan (Little Willie) was presented with a plaque commemorating his 47 years involvement in exhibiting at the fair. Mr. MacLeod's many first place ribbons in the seed exhibits are known by one and all.

Walter Blaney introduced the third recipient by reciting a poem written especially for this gentleman. The poem commented on his many hours of hard work and effort put into the fair through the many years.

Bill Metcalfe was presented with a gold watch and a plaque on behalf of everyone present for his time given to the fair.

The evening concluded with music supplied by Jim Graham and Clara MacLeod.

Allan MacEwen is to be complimented on his financial assistance to the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario through the sale of gasoline at 47 MacEwen service stations on Feb. 14. We can all do our small bit by filling up on that day.

As an aside, it is good to see the price of gasoline down. My father bought gas from Allan's grandfather years ago at four gallons for one dollar.

Many enjoyed the mild weather last week and considered the reduced costs for oil or electrical heating. Those feeding the birds also saved on bird feed, perhaps to their disappointment. We had a regular downy woodpecker all week but few others until Thursday when a very large flock of goldfinches arrived. Then, on Friday, a flock of grosbeaks had a feed along with others. There was no sign of the doves.

People have been remarking about the crows in the country. They are quiet but numerous and an on-going sign of spring. Years ago, we didn't see the crows in mid winter.

I saw a small flock of Hungarian partridges one day in the country. These are interesting, one-pound birds but vary their feeding areas and do not come to feeders as far as I know.

Trapper Angus MacRae is not trapping this year. The price of pelts is ridiculously low and the marketing scheme has been discontinued. Mr. MacRae is concerned about the growing population especially that of the beavers.

Donald McKillican is still in Saudi Arabia, working out his contract. While family members are concerned for his safety to a certain extent, Mr. McKillican, as yet, does not feel compelled to return home and feels needed over there.

The annual vestry meeting of St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church was held at the home of Evelyn McColl on Jan. 27, following a pot luck lunch.

Father Dan Howard opened the meeting with prayer and acted as chairman. Velma Franklin read the minutes for the 1990 annual meeting and was appointed vestry clerk for 1991.

Encouraging reports were received from the rector, the wardens, A.C.W., church treasurer, Sunday School and Altar Guild. The vestry approved the adoption of these reports.

The officers for 1991 are: church wardens — Blair Williams and Olive Shields; Treasurer — Rick Chislett; Pres. A.C.W. — Velma Franklin; Sunday School superintendents — Lyla Tyrell and Pat Trepanier; delegates to Synod — Erwin Shields and Rick Chislett with Velma Franklin as alternate. The auditors are Gary Howes and Bob Moffatt.

A letter of thanks will be sent to the horticultural society for the beautiful poinsettia given to the church at Christmas.

The wardens of the parish expressed their thanks to Father Dan whose easy manner, sense of humor and accommodating personality have contributed greatly to making 1990 a successful year.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

Sixty years ago, Catherine, the sister of Harold MacInnes became a student nurse at the Cornwall General Hospital. At the same time, Harold McEwen, a cousin of my mother's was home for a visit. He was the son of William, who had built the Corner Store on the south east corner of the family farm and who had operated it until the turn of the century. Harold's mother was Mary Lang from Avonmore and a sister of Allan who operated the paint store across the street.

Fifty years ago, Fred Currier Jr. fractured his collarbone while playing hockey for the high school team. Fred now lives in Hawkesbury and along with his sister, Edna Rolland, are the two survivors of the Fred Currier family.

Elizabeth McKillican was the aunt of Gordon and Lyman and lived in the house on Spring St. now home of Mrs. Lyman McKillican and daughter, Janet.

Ninety years ago last week, A. D. MacRae, the first village reeve became SD&G Warden. The MacRae farm was later bought by the Hunters and is now owned by Bill Kippen. Mr. MacRae's home was built on the south end of the farm and is now owned by Sandy and Allan Blaney.
