A daughter of the late Cephrenis O'Shaughnessy and Catherine Garlough, she was wed on September 12th, 1900 to Charlie Owen Harriman, who passed away in 1952. To this union was born a son Roy, R. R. 2 Williamsburg; daughters Mrs. Wilbert (Winnie) Shannette, of Williamsburg, and Mrs. Ray (Stella) Seeley, Iroquois. She was predeceased by four brothers and three sisters. Also surviving are two grandchildren, Charles Seeley, Iroquois, and Mrs. Dale (Hilda) Barkley, Morrisburg, as well as five great-grand children, several nieces and nephews.

The body rested at Fairbairn Funeral Home Ltd., Morrisburg, until March 6th at 2 p.m. when service was conducted by Rev. D. L. Gordon, Elma United Church, with which deceased was long associated. 38-1-c

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Banford announce the engagement of their only daughter Joanne Beth, to Mr. Allan Levere, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Levere Cardinal. The marriage is to take place Saturday April 20th, 1974 at St. John's Anglican Church Iroquois, Ontario.

from the Good Companions, Lions Club, Royal Canadian Legion, Red Cross Homemakers, Knox Kirk Session, Seaway Community Services and indirectly, the Catholic Women's League, Presbyterian Women, United Church Women and Anglican Women of the village churches. Unable to be present, and who sent regrets, were representatives of the St. Lawrence Medical Clinic and a local Councillor.

A resume of the "Meals on Wheels" and "Home Enablement" program, inaugurated in February through the assistance of a federal government L.I.P. grant, was given, informing the care units membership of the development of this program in community care. Recipients of meals increased over the month of Feb. from 9 to 20, with senior citizens, disabled, and post-operative persons being enabled in their homes with a nutritional noon-hour meal, at minimal cost, five days a week. Presently, 15 villagers and 5 living in the concessions are being assisted in this way. There were 2 requests for home-enablement (transportation needs), but to date no need to assist in entrance clearance (snow shovelling). Additional services provided by the "home enablement" program include grocery list pickup, mail pickup, emergency transportation to clinic or hospital, and general needs of those who are unable to manage these things themselves. Inquiry for this "free of charge" service is through telephone number 652-4457 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m., Monday through Friday.

It was also noted that volunteer visitors have assisted in the delivery of the "meals on wheels" during the past month, taking one or two days a week to go with the drivers and help to serve the meals to the recipients. Appreciation was expressed to the women's groups of the churches for these volunteers, and a schedule will be shortly prepared to continue this needed assistance in the program. A truly "community project", it was also noted that the "meals on wheels" unit is now self-contained, and could be set up anywhere concerning location (i.e. hot-lock boxes, dishes, utensils, equipment, etc.)

Looking Back

On March 26, 1907 several Iroquois merchants suffered a disastrous fire. The fire started in a small store owned by a Mr. Asselin. Volunteer firemen thought at one point that they had the fire out but soon raged out of control. An eye witness, Stewart A. Thompson, who at the time was a young lad of twelve, reports that the fire bell was ringing as he and fellow students were coming out of the High School about 10 p.m. after commencement exercises. He identifies the buildings as the Powell

House, a hotel and immediately beside it the Bowens Hotel; then Asselin's store, the Mills store which had recently been sold and which the new owners had not yet insured.

The fire was stopped from spreading into the Tindal store because they had iron shutters on the windows.

Each of the hotels had large stables behind, with hay supplies, that were totally destroyed in the blaze, as well as the fire bell tower which was near the Town Hall.

The minutes of the Town Council for April 1907 show motions being made for a new fire bell and for hose and reel to be purchased to serve the east end of the village.

In relation to the old Iroquois, as many of us would remember it, the Powell House stood where the Bank of Montreal was, on the corner of King and Victoria Streets.

The Beamish Store was the Tindale store and going West - Chucks Pool Room and Stone and Fishers would complete the block.

and future projections were discussed by the care-units representatives, particularly in the area of having a "continuing program" for "Meals on Wheels" when the government-grant assistance will taper-off. In this regard an application will be submitted for a "New Horizons" grant from the provincial govern-

THE OLD BANDITS WERE COLORFUL

by Bill Smiley

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

Bill Davis is not predicting any great tax reductions or savings in the next two years, but maybe he is saying that the Ontario Government is going to try to get more for their money in the next two years.

With a promise to help the elderly and to stimulate house building so that those who aren't able to meet the present high building costs of today, might be able to tomorrow, he has opened a new thought for the coming years.

The housing situation has become desperate and the cost far beyond what the average man can afford to pay. There is little hope of owning a home at present costs and these are seemingly bound to increase. By eliminating the tax associated with building material and by persuading the federal government to do a similar service to the average man in Canada, the cost of materials would presumably come down about 18%. That is if the savings were passed on to the consumer.

Assistance to developers to open our idle lands to housing, but with controls on the cost, and some better form of assistance on interest rates would be a big step in the right direction. We might even see the day come again when Mr. Average could look forward to owning a little piece of ground with a home on it.

The H.O.M.E. program in all right in some places in the country but at about $5000 for a building lot, it is a little rough trying to come up with the balance for a new home.

Multiple units are coming into their own in other parts of Canada and other parts of the world and we Canadians are going to have to take a closer look at them in the future.

Two or three families under one roof is the essence of the multiple unit idea, with each family owning their own portion of the building. They are apparently more economically built, cheaper to service with municipal facilities and probably easier to heat. They are in essence, small cooperatives.

Our ideas of each family owning a separate home may have to be revised drastically if we are to have adequate housing for our growing needs and this is one way in which families can meet the crisis head on.

Municipalities will probably have to get into the act more strenuously in the future, not only in subsidized housing but in subsidized services to meet the growing demand. A small community such as ours presently finds it difficult to entice a developer to come in to build houses on speculation. We don't have an adequate population base to make the large investment worthwhile.

Perhaps Mr. Davis' new hopes for Ontario also include new hope for the smaller communities such as our own, who are unable to go ahead on their own because they don't have that kind of money to sink into future development.

And with government help may be the only solution to our survival. Certainly we cannot continue on in rural Ontario, seeing farms vacated, seeing our young people head off to the greener pastures of larger centres, and still hope that we will survive. A hope is all that it is!

NATIONAL PETROLEUM CO.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald detailed in the House of Commons the federal government's plans for the national petroleum corporation.

The Minister said that initially the corporation will focus heavily on exploration and it should also contribute to the development of the Athabasca oil sands.

He said that as the corporation develops, it will require hundreds of millions of dollars over the early years of its operation.

Besides its own exploration activities, the corporation will participate in joint ventures with smaller Canadian-controlled firms.

ALBERTA LIBERALS

Nick Taylor, a 46-year-old Calgary oil executive, was elected leader of the Alberta Liberal Party, succeeding Robert Russell.

EXPORTS OF RESOURCES

Industry, Trade and Commerce Minister Alastair Gillespie introduced a bill in the House of Commons to permit the government to require more processing of ores, concentrates and other natural resources in Canada.

The bill, amending the Export and Import Permits Act, would restrict the export of natural resources.

CONSUMER ASSISTANCE

The federal government has issued regulations to control consumer package sizes and to upgrade information on package labels.

Packagers will have 18-24 months to comply with the regulations. Manufacturers, not complying with the new rules, could be fined up to $10,000 for each offence.

NEW IMMIGRATION RULES

Under changes to Canada's immigration regulations, prospective immigrants will be required to have either a firm job offer or a skill known to be in demand in the locality where they wish to settle.

The basic point system of evaluating immigrants will be maintained but increased emphasis will be placed on occupational demand.

WIRETAP CONTROL LAW

Justice Minister Otto Lang announced that the Protection of Privacy Act, passed at the last session of Parliament, will come into effect June 30, 1974. After that date, it will be illegal to use, buy or sell wiretapping equipment.

Under the Act, only the police will be permitted to bug, and then only in stipulated situations. Penalties for illegal use of wiretapping equipment include imprisonment for a maximum of five years.

Have you noticed the big change in the world of big capitalism in the past couple of decades?

The personnel in the inner sanctum of high finance is just as piratical as that of the robber baron days, but the things they wheel and deal in are vastly different.

The bad old boys, the Fords and the Rockefellers, the J.P. Morgans and the Andrew Carnegies, were giants of finance, and a pretty unscrupulous lot, from all accounts.

They dealt with solid, tangible assets: steel and coal, oil, minerals, railways and banks.

Their techniques were roughly similar. Get hold of something as cheaply as possible, and dispose of it for as much as possible. And never pay a working man more than the absolute minimum. A simple formula, but it piled up millions, then billions.

Today, their names are connected with great philanthropies, but when they were alive, their names produced more curses than blessings. They fought the unions bitterly. They bribed and bullied and stole.

They'd have laughed at the idea that their depredations were destroying the ecology. They'd have had apoplexy if someone had suggested something as ridiculous as fringe benefits.

It's probably just as well they have gone, though they were a colorful lot of bandits.

Today's entrepreneurs seem to be just as arrogant, greedy, and ruthless, but the things they deal in have changed almost completely.

Banks and railways and airlines are still highly profitable, but they are no longer the financial playthings of a few men. They have become exceedingly dull, huge bureaucracies with little life or colour in them.

The new breed of banditti steers clear of them. Oh, your modern wheeler might take a flurry in oil, but it's more likely to be floating a stock issue than getting the stuff out of the ground.

Today's financial magnate is far more interested in the half-world of sports and entertainment, than he is in just old things, like mines and such.

He still goes where the big buck is, but the action has changed. Nowadays, he's more likely to own a prize-fighter or a string of horses than a chunk of a copper mine. Today's big money is in publishing, radio and television, and sports.

And the really big money is in land speculation. Your old-time financier would have been stunned, and envious, could he see the doubling and tripling of money in the buying and selling of plain old land.

So, it's in the areas mentioned that you'll find the modern sharks, in large schools, gobbling up the little suckers and regurgitating them for all the slightly larger suckers.

Another big change is in the publicity involved. The magnates of yesteryear were very close-mouthed. They kept their private lives as secluded as possible, re-treated to vast homes and tried to keep the press at arms length.

Today's maggots (oops, a Freudian slip—glory in the limelight. They are never happier than when they have the media speculating about their next deal. They manipulate the press. After all, every story, every picture, drives up the price of whatever they're selling, and is also great for the ego. They'll call a press conference to discuss a pending operation for an in-grown toenail.

Even P.T. Barnum, the greatest con man of them all, would be green with jealousy if he could see the way some of the modern con artists use every trick he ever knew, and some they've invented, to sucker people into watching a third-rate sports team, or a third-rate prize fight.

There's one other aspect of the great scramble for the buck that has changed drastically. That's the relationship with the people working for the big dealers.

In the bad old days, when laissez-faire reigned supreme, it was the accepted custom to grind the worker down, and sweat the very life-blood out of him, to wring the last cent of profit.

Today the worm has turned, particularly in sports. All you need, if you're a pretty good athlete, is a good lawyer, and you can put the boss through the wringer.

Can you imagine the look on the face of J.P. Morgan if someone could tell him that athletes, mere bodies, were pulling in salaries in six figures?

This last aspect would seem to be a matter for sheer joy for most of us — watching the bosses being squeezed by the workers.

But alas. It won't do us any good, fellow sucker. The boss will merely raise the price of admission and won't lose a nickel of his own money.

Sounds like the government, doesn't it. When everything costs them more, they raise our taxes to pay for the increases. When everything costs us more, they raise the taxes as a curb against inflation.

Get in line, sucker, for the next increase in the price of tickets.

Somehow, with all their faults, I like the old bandits better.

Two short films will be shown: "Pruning practices at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden" and "Community action for beauty", both in color.

During this evening Mr. Gordon Thom will present to the library the new book "The story of Ontario Horticultural Societies", which describes the history of these organizations.

The library will be open to all who are interested in the horticulture program from 7 p.m. and coffee will be served.

Scouts and Cubs Hold Klondikes

The weekend of Mar. 2nd and 3rd saw two big annual events for Brockville and St. Lawrence District Scouts and Wolf Cubs. Sat. found 119 Scouts, 29 leaders from 19 groups in the 2 districts, assembled at the public school grounds at Maitland for their annual "Klondike" Derby.

Checkpoints along the course included such features as first aid, fire building, shelter construction out of available materials, compass reading, bridging, life saving, obstacle course, snow-shoe relay, speed race, cooking and sled-packing. ## Seaway Community Services

A general meeting of Seaway Community Services was held Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. at the Brinston United Church. The host, Rev. Joyce, opened the meeting with a prayer and Mrs. Nadine Corbett chaired the meeting. Minutes were read and adopted.

Reports were received from delegates who attended the 3rd Annual Conference of the Ontario Anti-Poverty Organization which was held in Toronto on Feb. 15-17.

Delegates attending from the local areas were Mr. James Sipes, sponsored by the Ministerial Assoc.; Mr. Walter Hutchinson, sponsored by Senior Citizens of Brinston; and Mrs. Bessie Cornut, Provincial Council Member and sponsored by Seaway Community Services. Highlights of Mrs. Cornut's report showed an attendance of 600 people with approximately 350 of these delegates from low income groups in areas of Ontario. Remaining number consisted of a coalition of Labour Unions, Churches, Municipal representatives of concerned citizens and professional people. The Conference was opened by the Anglican Archbishop of Toronto. A meeting of Provincial Council Members preceded the Conference, at which time it was decided that 125 provincial council members would represent O.A.P.O. across Ontario. Mrs. Bessie Cornut was re-elected as Council member. The O.A.P.O. coalition is now affiliated with the National O.A.P.O. which consists of each province of Canada.

Rev. Earle Eaton reported on the Camp Committee meeting which was held on Feb. 21. A recommended budget for the summer Day Camps and areas of concentration where camps may be set up, possibly in the Froatsburn and Hallville, although other areas are still being considered, such as Nudell Bush, Dundela, Dixons Corners, Glen Becker and Irena. The Camp Committee will meet again on April 2 at the home of Mrs. Corbett to further discuss and finalize plans for the camps.

Mrs. Corbett introduced a proposed budget for Seaway C.S., receipts and expenses for the year 1974-75. She also noted that this year we should do our own annual report, which was done by the Federal Government last year.

Mrs. Zandbergen reported on the Sat. morning program which began in early Feb., where children are invited to take part in leather crafts, sports, judo, story time, etc. Attendance at present is 15 children, but it is hoped that the attendance will grow.

Other reports were given concerning Meals on Wheels, with Mrs. Peppers and Mrs. MacKinnon representing S.C.S.

Dundas County Co-operative project was explained fully by Mrs. Corbett for the benefit of our guests Mrs. Lorne Strader and Mrs. McQuaig. Mrs. Marie Barkley, co-ordinator, reported on the progress of D.C.C.

Regarding land and wells, information was given to the effect that the work of digging three wells is already begun.

A motion was made by Rev. Eaton to have a sum of $25.00 be put aside to buy gas for helpers. This was seconded by Mr. Hutchinson.

The next meeting of the Board of Directors will be held on April 8, and the annual meeting will be held on April 29. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Your Support is Gratifying

Don Irvine, M.P.P.

This is the first opportunity I have had to thank all of you for those warm letters of congratulations I have received during the past week. I will answer all of your correspondence individually, but in the meantime I would like you to know that your support and confidence has meant a great deal to me.

I am looking forward to the new challenges that lie ahead as Minister without Portfolio. Previously as parliamentary assistant to Treasurer John White, I was afforded the opportunity to become involved with regional government East of Metropolitan Toronto and acquire an insight into the problems facing municipalities. I will still retain these ties with Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs as I have been assigned a special responsibility for municipal affairs. This is an area which encompasses more than laying down guidelines or rules for municipal planning but it also embraces social, economic and cultural objectives as well. I will try my best to live up to your expectations. And once again thank you for your vote of confidence. Aside from my personal endeavours there have been exciting things happening in the field of housing. One of the primary goals which the new Ministry of Housing has set for itself is the creation of one million new homes in the next ten years for Ontario's low and middle income families.

A short-term housing action program has been developed in consultation with local and regional municipalities. This crash program is designed to increase the number of housing units available during the 1974-75 over and above those that would normally be coming on the market in those years. Last month a new planning policy was announced for North Pickering. Although the Pickering project is of special interest only to its area resident, I believe it is of general interest to all Ontarians. The highlight of the new policy include:

- guarantees for substantial open-space buffer zones within the planning area;
- increased emphasis on agricultural production;
- exclusion of the communities of Locust Hill, Whitevale, Cherrywood and Martin's subdivision from expropriation; reduction, by almost 1/3 of the total land to be acquired by government. As a result of so much public interest, the government is applying temporary development controls over the entire North Pickering planning area in order to evolve long-term planning priorities. While we do need a significant amount of new housing, there are areas within some municipalities which are just as much in need of government aid in the renewal of older homes.

Last December the Ontario Government entered into an agreement with the federal government to take part in the new Neighbourhood Improvement Program (NIP) designed for rejuvenating deteriorating urban areas, and the Residential Rehabilitation Assistance Program (RRAP) which will increase the aid available within NIP designated areas.

These programs will provide low interest and partly forgivable loans to homeowners landlords and non-profits housing corporations under certain conditions but only within specific areas. Recently the Ontario Government has decided to take this concept one step further and provide municipalities, which meet our criteria, with provincial funds which can be used for home improvement in districts either inside or outside designated NIP areas including rural and non-organized municipalities.

Legislation will be introduced this session that will make approximately $10 million available to municipalities during the 1974-75 period of this program. As far as the qualifications for homeowner applicants are concerned, the maximum income in the case of a homeowner with NIP areas cannot exceed $11,000, while the maximum annual income of homeowners outside of NIP areas will be either $12,000 or the current income limits defined by the Ontario Housing Corporation for purchasing a house under the Home Ownership Made Easy Plan, whichever is greater.

Hopefully the program will be underway by April 1st. The Ministry of Housing will be developing brochures explaining the Ontario Home Renewal Program. But as the program is to be administered locally, the prime responsibility to inform residents will rest the municipalities. More new programs will be coming up this session. Some of these also will be geared in the renewal field and others in the production of new homes. But all of them will be developed through continued consultation with the municipalities.

Tykes Defeat Cardinal

Iroquois Tykes edged Cardinal 4-3 in a game played last week. Darren Smith scored two and Tony Picotte and Mike Veltcamp one apiece.

The Atom "B" squad squeaked by Morrisburg with a narrow 1-0 victory. Alan Renwick was the games only marksman.

After a dispute was settled over a players eligibility the Iroquois - Morrisburg O. D. H. A. series was replayed on the weekend and Morrisburg emerged as winners with a total point spread of 4-1. The first contest, played Saturday, ended in a 2-0 victory for Morrisburg. The next game ended up 2-1 in Morrisburg's favour. Scoring for Iroquois was Barry VanAllan with the assist going to Wagner.

Iroquois Novices entered the Kemptville tournament on Saturday. In their first game Carleton Place defeated our boys by a 6-1 count. Alan Burgess scored the lone Iroquois goal. Frank Lee scored three times as the Novices lost a tight 4-3 contest to Prescott in the consolation round.

In the third game of play-offs the Pee Wee "B" squad tied Chesterville 1-1. Kent Smith from Brent Mattice accounted for the Iroquois goal. Iroquois needs only a tie in their next game to win this round.

Our Atom "A" team eliminated Kemptville to gain a berth in league finals. The first game was a 3-0 win with Palmer, Kirker and Patterson scoring one each. Brennan collected two assists and Nesbitt one. 7-1 was the margin of victory in Sunday's game at Kemptville. Brennan scored three times, and Patterson twice while singles went to Waddell and Kirker.

The Atoms defeated Morrisburg 4-1 in the first game of the Morrisburg tournament on Saturday and played to a 2-2 draw with Athens in their second game. However the game was awarded to Athens as they had scored the first goal.

In league play our Pee Wee "A" club defeated Brockville 5-1 to win the series at three points apiece. Adair with three goals and Armstrong with two were the big guns. Adams picked up three assists while Hamilton, Adair, and Armstrong had one each.

In O. D. H. A. play the Pee Wees ousted Winchester with an 8-3 win. Armstrong tallied three times while Adams and Adair collected two each. McMartin added our other marker.

On Sunday in O. D. H. A. play against Edwardsburg when regulation time ended it was a 2-2 draw. The over time period saw each team score once. Bruce Armstrong scored twice and Robin Adair once. Kim Adams got an assist on one of the Armstrong goals.

Walter Baker, M.P. Reports

The average Canadian worker has lost $5.00 a week in the past 12 months in purchasing power due to inflation. His wage has declined since September and has remained virtually static since April.

Food which cost $15.00 last year at this time, now costs $17.50. A house which cost $29,600 last year at this time, now costs $31,680. Clothing which cost $134.70 last year at this time, now costs $144.80.

A Canada Savings Bond purchased for $1000 in 1972 now has a purchasing power, including accrued interest, of only $959.00 - a $41.00 loss. The interest on these bonds is taxable. Sales of Canada Savings Bonds have dropped sharply over the past year.

In 1972, Canada's annual cost of living rate was 5.1 per cent. Canada's cost of living is now increasing at an annual rate of 9.1 per cent.

A comparison of international and domestic inflation rates shows that 60 per cent of this 9.1 per cent annual increase in Canada's cost of living is created in Canada and that international inflation only accounts for a little more than one-third of our total cost of living problem.

Prime Minister Trudeau says that over the next 12 months he cannot "see a lowering of the cost of living" in this country. He also says "if a government can't cope with self-induced inflation, it deserves to be thrown out of office."

In 1970, Mr. Trudeau said that inflation had been "licked" by his government. In 1974, he tells us that inflation is largely the result of "international economic problems" and that in the face of these international economic problems, he and his government are virtually powerless.

On February 28, 1974, in a speech to the House of Commons Mr. Trudeau admitted that "of all the problems facing Canada at the present time, the most pervasive... is the rising cost of living."

Yet on that same day, the government tabled forecast expenditures for 1974 so massive that they cannot help but exert additional inflationary pressures on the economy - contributing to a cost of living that is already too high and failing to provide the leadership necessary to dampen the inflationary psychology in the country.

With a 19.6 per cent increase in forecast expenditures representing $36 billion over last year; by maintaining an expansionary credit policy and by apparently continuing an expansive tax stance, the Trudeau government has demonstrated a lack of concern and lack of understanding of Canada's cost of living that borders on negligence.

Projected increases in government spending for 1974-75 are phenomenal. The Food Prices Review Board - $1.9 million (up 90 per cent). The CBC - $298.8 million (up 25 per cent). The Post Office - $689.7 million (up 17 per cent). The Commissioner of Official Languages - $1.9 million (up 36 per cent). Treasury Board - $319.7 million (up 201 per cent).

Only a year ago, in his February 19, 1973 budget, Finance Minister John Turner said the government would hold the line on its own spending as a measure to demonstrate its concern about inflation. On many occasions since then, he has urged government restraint in spending.

When asked whether the massive projected increases in government spending for this year represented a change in that policy, Mr. Turner tried to justify the increases by saying that they "were destined and meant to protect those in our society on fixed incomes and with families, by larger transfer payments to protect Canadians from erosion of their purchasing power" - a gross misrepresentation of the facts.

The unemployment insurance program alone, which has nothing to do with what Mr. Turner is talking about, ran a deficit of $510 million last year. In its first two years of operation it has cost an amount equivalent to an annual levy of $100 per head on every man, woman and child in the country.

Unemployment insurance benefits last year increased by $16 million over 1972, despite lower unemployment rates and an Unemployment Insurance Commission benefit control program that disqualified an estimated 50,000 claimants. The cost of the entire program will increase sharply in 1974-75.

This kind of spending, without proper justification, is an abuse of the taxpayers' money. It is an abuse the Progressive Conservative Party has objected to, strongly, since the Trudeau government assumed power in 1968. It is one we will continue to object to as long as this government is in power and it is just one of the reasons why the government should be thrown out of office at the earliest opportunity.

We are now pressing for a major public inquiry into the unemployment insurance program. The inquiry we are calling for is more than justified, in our opinion. It would be used, not as a witch hunt, but to get to the roots of the program and provide solutions to some fundamental questions. For example, we must resolve the question of whether disincentives to work are built into the unemployment insurance program and, if so, try to determine what these disincentives are and what can be done about it.

We must decide whether the unemployment insurance program is an insurance plan, in reality, or a welfare plan in which the contributions are simply a new kind of tax.

The progressive Conservative Party has decided what to do about Canada's rising cost of living. The government has not - and its so-called anti-inflation policy as articulated by the Throne Speech, deals mainly with the area of supply - again reflecting its misunderstanding of the problem.

The experience of the past six months suggests that an increase in the domestic supply of goods at best only retards the rate of price increases and that suppliers are likely to appeal to other causes, such as labour costs, than to tight domestic supply as a rationale for continuing price increases. In any case, these policies will not have any effect for several years.

In the meantime, the government says it will implement new schemes of indexing sources of income to cost of living increases to protect consumers.

While indexing schemes are useful, they cannot adequately compensate for loss of real income through inadequate stock and bond yields; through excessive mortgage and loan rates and softness in the investment market due to uncertainty over future prices. They are not a substitute for a concerted attack on the root causes of inflation and they should not be considered as such.

This has been pointed out by Robert Stanfield who views such schemes as only a part of a concerted attack on inflation - including an economic stabilization plan incorporating a short freeze to be followed by a temporary period of more flexible, comprehensive price and income controls; the removal of the federal sales tax on all clothing, including children's clothing and the removal of the federal sales tax on building materials.

Mr. Stanfield has also proposed that Canada Savings Bonds be indexed to cost of living increases to restore some order and justice for modest personal savings.

The anti-inflation program we are talking about would involve strict temporary controls in the order of 18 months to two years. It would not require a massive new bureaucracy, as most of the talents and resources that would be needed are already present in the federal public service.

TWO STORES TO SERVE YOU

Torch Tree Only In Eastern Ontario

If some future energy crisis knocks out Canada's lights, only Eastern Ontario will be naturally equipped with torches to meet the crisis.

The supply? Pitch pine tree knots - the pioneer's flashlight. The pitch pine is found in Canada only along the north shore of the St. Lawrence and in the Thousand Islands area.

The resinous nature of the wood is responsible for its common name and for other local names such as torch pine, rich pine and fat pine. The resinous wood, particularly in old knots, served as torches to light the way of the pioneers. During the colonial period of the U. S. and later during the Civil War, pitch pine was stocked as a source of light in naval stores.

Pitch pine grown over a range extending from the south-eastern part of Ontario through the eastern United States to the Appalachian mountains. It grows mainly on the poorer soils and its distribution is spotty, but under favourable conditions the tree will reach a height of sixty feet and a diameter of two feet. It is common on the sandy soils of Cape Cod. In Ontario, where it is confined to dry gravelly slopes and rocky ridges and cliffs, it is generally scrubby and suitable only for fuelwood. It is only native conifer which can reproduce by coppice or shoots arising from the stump. The needles are clustered in three's and are often found growing in tufts along the trunk.

It is the only three-needled pine in Canada east of the Rocky Mountains and the only eastern Canadian pine whose cone scales are thickened at the tip ending in a short stiff bristle.

The tree is unique among eastern conifers in its ability to survive injury. All the foliage may be killed in a fire, and the tree will "green-up". If the entire trunk is killed, sprouts frequently start from the base. The key to this remarkable ability to recover are dormant buds capable of growth, with proper stimulation, even after sixty years.

Deer browse on the fresh sprouts and seedlings, and according to one report from Pennsylvania, browse this tree in preference to other conifers. The seeds are eaten by many species of birds, rodents and small mammals.

The Ontario distribution of pitch pine lies entirely within the Eastern Region of the Ministry of Natural Resources. During a 1965 survey of the Cataraqui Region watersheds by the Conservation Authorities Branch, the known occurrences at Jones Falls, Charleston Lake and on the shoreline of the St. Lawrence River were investigated. The best trees appeared to be a group of six at Jones Falls. Elsewhere the trees tended to be open grown, heavily branched and often disfigured by vandalism and livestock. The survey also identified an extensive stand on a large ridge in on the right-of-way of Highway 401, then under construction. Look for them at mileage 410 between Brockville and Gananoque, west of Mallorytown and Larue Creek.

Time did not permit an examination of the numerous rock ridges between Jones Falls and the St. Lawrence River. The following spring the Cataraqui Region Conservation Authority, conducted an aerial survey which identified additional stands. The largest was on a ridge near Morton on Highway 15. The light green colour of pitch pine and its open crown permitted identification from low altitudes in the early spring before the leafing out of the broad-leaved trees.

There is a small stand of the trees on the Scenic Highway immediately west of the Browns Bay picnic area and the Ministry of Natural Resources has acquired property in the Charleston Lake area to preserve typical stands of this unique tree.

The estimated number of pitch pine in the 600 square miles where it occurs in Ontario is only 30,000, hardly enough to ease the energy crisis. But if you're fortunate enough to have some old pitch pine knots, they could be a light to lighten your darkness if the power fails.

WALTER BAKER, M.P.

Cost of Living

Controls would be comprehensive - not selective. Selective controls, in our opinion, are unfair and their unfairness breeds further problems. For example, it is not practical to impose selective controls on food prices when in the most recent past quarter for which figures are available, farm production costs rose over 7 per cent. You cannot act to stabilize food prices, without containing such cost increases. And since almost half our economy is related to the food industry in one way or another, the only realistic way those costs can be stabilized is by the kind of comprehensive program we are suggesting.

The short-term freeze on prices and all forms of income that we have been talking about is needed as a period of consultation, for setting the range and limits for the controls period and for putting the necessary monitoring and enforcement agencies into place. It should be as short as possible perhaps as short as 30 days - but we have used 90 days as an outside figure.

The implementation of such a program would require the cooperation of every citizen of this country. We believe that Canadians would cooperate not only because leadership in an anti-inflation fight has been so sadly lacking over the past few years, but also because controls programs have worked in other countries and can work to Canada's advantage.

Skating Club Presents "Seasons on Parade"

On Friday March 1, Mrs. James Ward, acting as Master of Ceremonies for the Third Annual Figure Skating Show welcomed everyone.

The program started with the winter season and the scenery at the south end of the arena showed trees without lights and parkbenches with snow. The first skaters were little snowmen who skated to Frosty the Snowman. They were Melissa Mason, Rochelle Tyo, Catherine Shaw, Billy Jo Stewart, Sherie Stewart, Kerry Ann Marchand and Tracy McDonald. The second group were skiers Shelly Adams, Kelly Ward, Sherry Deschamps, Leslie Cameron, Kelly Owers, Sara Armstrong, Stephanie St. Louis, Carol Ann Murphy, Pam Lapier, Debbie Hyde, Sonia McKenny and Julie Robichaud.

The senior skaters then skated to the "Dutch Waltz". They were Lesia Wood, Barbie Wells, Kelly Paterson, Carol DeGroot, Coleen Holder and Peggy Gladstone. This completed the winter season.

The scenery was then changed for spring with tulips and trees with leaves. A solo skater, Stephanie St. Louis of Cardinal as a Spring Maiden skated her routine.

The Animals and Flowers who skated to "Talk to the Animals" were: Reggie Knudson, Michael Gaylord, Billy Tom Ward, Derrick Canning, Tammy Baker, Timmy Wood, Sheri Lee Canning, Jennifer Wood, Christine Peterson, Janet Hoy, Pamela Potvin, Kerrie Steria, Michelle Skakum, and Kim Stewart.

During this part, a lion came on the ice and skated around pleasing the crowd. The men in the lion were Doug Casselman and Ron Patterson.

This was followed by the April Showers who were Kelly Wyatt, Rhonda Windsor, Janet Casselman, Debbie Perry, Debbie McMartin, Nancy Kavanaugh, Janet Ishaw, Nancy Riddell, Laurie Stewart, Patsy Hewko. The skippers followed and skated to "Follow the Leader", they were Rhonda Johnstone, Sandra Markus, Mary Claire Gladstone, Kim Grisdale, Shannon Douglas, Robin Bell, Paula Turner, Vickie Turner, Karen Casselman and Michele St. Louis.

To complete Springtime the Glow Worms skated to "Glow Little Glow Worm". They were Sonia McKenny, Carol Ann Murphy, Julie Robichaud, Pam Lapier, Janet Casselman and Pam Morris.

During intermission the scenery was changed to summer with roses on the archway and a rose planter.

Just before the summer program Julie Robichaud and Janet Dishaw presented flowers to the instructors Janice MacDonald and JoAnn Sherwood. Janet Casselman presented Mrs. Dolores Wells, president of the Figure Skating Club, with flowers and thanked Mr. Wells for the scenery.

The bathing beauties started the summer season off skating to "Sunny Side". They were Charlene Byers, Cindy Perry, Jackie Kavanaugh, Patti Lockhart, Patricia Gill, and Pam Morris. The baseball players followed: Greg Gaylord, Andy Marchand, Andre O'Brien, Wayne Burwell, Bruce Burwell, Torrey Otis, Sheldon Seeley, Mark Hewko, David Gill, Micheal Hoy, Robert Owers, Danny Grisdale, Ray Grant, Darin Hall, Peter Hoy, and David Marchand.

The summer season would not be complete if it were not for the tennisplayers who were Sara Armstrong, Kelly Owers, Leslie Cameron and Sherry Deschamps.

The scenery was then changed to fall with the trees with colored leaves and leaves falling and fall flowers.

The football team came on strong with Bruce Armstrong, Timmy Markus, Todd Morris, Kevin Casselman, Ricky Grisdale, Ken Lapier, Dale McMartin, Graham McMartin, Robbie Shaw, Jamie Tompson, Danny O'Neill, and Chris McDonnell.

The Senior Girls took on the job of Cheerleaders they were Peggy Gladstone, Carol DeGroot, Lesia Wood, Barbie Wells, Kelly Patterson, Kelly Ward, Debbie Hyde, Shelly Adams.

Coleen Holder of Iroquois, the Head Cheerleader then presented her solo routine.

The guest skaters were Misses Lynne and Pam Perrin and Mr. Gordon Forbes.

They each gave an exciting performance of skating in their solos.

All the skaters then skated on the ice for the grande finale led by Stephanie St. Louis and Coleen Holder. It was the end of a lovely evening of skating.

Crysler Park Maple Sugar Camp Opens

It's that time of year again. The sap buckets are being washed, the evaporator cleaned, and the tapping equipment prepared for the start of the annual sap run. The camp will begin to operate on the weekend of March 15 and, weather permitting, last through the Easter weekend.

Crysler Park Maple Sugar Camp is located 6 miles east of Morrisburg on Upper Canada Road. Here you may capture the nostalgia and memories of yesteryear.

Since the Sugar Camp opened in 1964, more than 140,000 visitors have experienced the processes involved, tasted maple sugar, taffy and purchased maple syrup for home consumption. The children particularly enjoy the "sugaring off" taffy laddled on fresh white snow.

Again this year, 2,000 trees will be tapped and with favourable weather, about 350 gallons of maple syrup produced.

There is no charge for visiting the Sugar Bush.

On weekends, a horse drawn vehicle will be available to carry visitors to and from the Sugar Bush. Films on the making of maple syrup and maple products will be shown during the week days, for school groups, at the Upper Canada Restaurant. Teachers ment, to enable the immediate need for continuation of the program on a year-round basis, Mrs. Edythe Norton to present this request to the Good Companions for their consideration. It was agreed that the worthwhileness of this program has been confirmed in the thankful response from the recipients, the medical authorities, and in the support being given to it by the Winchester District Hospital dietary staff, management, and local members of parliament and the provincial assembly. It was further agreed by the care-units representatives to seek the endorsement of the program by their respective groups in terms of a soon-to-be-published brochure, outlining the benefits of "Meals on Wheels" to any community. And the care-units will also be approached concerning an ongoing schedule for volunteer-visitors in the homes.

A good evening of sharing concerns concluded with a light luncheon being served.

Froats - In loving memory of our dear son and brother Donald, who passed away March 17th, 1973. One sad and lonely year has passed Since our great sorrow fell. The shock that we received that day, No one but we can tell. Its lonely here without you Donald; We miss you more each day. For life is not the same for us Since you were called away. You bade no one your last farewell Nor even said goodbye; You were gone before we knew it. And only God knows why. Mother, Dad, brothers Lorne, Dale, Edwin and families

DOJARS & $ENSE

Increasing pressure to improve ingredient labeling has been felt by many industries, and one of the latest to begin fuller disclosures is the cosmetics industry.

The pressure alone has been effective in achieving voluntary labeling improvements (new U.S. regulations call for mandatory disclosures by March 31, 1975), and many cosmetics firms now have changed their labels. This is particularly important to consumers with allergies or other sensitivities to certain cosmetics ingredients when in the past there has been no way to determine whether or not a particular product contained an ingredient that might cause such a problem.

The ingredients are being listed in decreasing order of prevalence and by standardized names, except for fragrances and flavors. To make matters easier, the Cosmetics, Toiletry and Fragrance Association has compiled a dictionary of label terms translating more than 5,000 trade and chemical names to their common names.

Ingredient labeling is still voluntary, though, so the next time you shop for cosmetics take a good look at the label and see if the manufacturer is making a disclosure of the product's ingredients. It could be well worth your trouble.
