Mrs. J. A. McDougall Is Laid To Rest

PASSED AWAY ON MONDAY IN 56TH YEAR — LEAVES MANY FRIENDS

There passed away on Monday, May 8th, at four p.m., one of the most prominent and highly esteemed citizens of Winchester in the person of Lilla Florence Elliott, beloved wife of Mr. J. A. McDougall in her fifty-sixth year. For some time, the late Mrs. McDougall had suffered from angina pectoris, but it was not until a week ago that it became serious and quite unexpectedly she passed to her eternal rest.

The late Mrs. McDougall was born in Winchester in 1878, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott and has resided here all her life. In 1907 she was married to Mr. John A. McDougall, prominent local business man.

Throughout her life the deceased was a faithful member of the Methodist and later the United Church and was actively interested in all its organizations. She was a life member of the Women's Missionary Society, and was on its Presbyterial Executive for many years rendering valuable service. In community affairs the same unselfish and progressive spirit was seen, in her activities as a member of the advisory board of the Public Library and other ladies' organizations. While the late Mrs. McDougall had not enjoyed good health for some years past, she was nevertheless able to actively take part in any enterprise which was for the betterment of the community. Her passing will create a vacancy in the religious and social life of Winchester and the loss will be keenly regretted by a large circle of warm friends.

Funeral Held Yesterday.

A very impressive service was held in the United Church, conducted by Rev. John McKay, pastor, and assisted by Rev. W. D. Turner of the Presbyterian Church. The service was opened by a solo very touchingly rendered by Mr. Harry McKercher, of Toronto, entitled, "And He Walks With Me." The remarks of the pastor were based on the story of Elijah and his ascension to Heaven, and several references were made to the useful life and work in the church. During the service several solos were rendered by Mr. H. McKercher, Miss Helen Smith presiding at the organ. Interment took place at Maple Ridge cemetery.

Floral Tributes.

Gate Ajar, husband; basket, sister; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Elliott and family; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shaver; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fulton and Miss Agnes Durant, W.M.S. of the United Church, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Beach, Mr. J. J. Gray and Mr. J. D. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. J. Singleton Mr and Mrs A. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs J. W. Ault, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Flora and Miss Margaret King, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. John Moffatt, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Graham, Mr. and Mrs. George Reveller and girls, Miss B. M. Weyland, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dunn and family and Mrs. F. A. Campbell and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Lewis; cut flowers, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Suffell and Mabel, Mr. Russell Kinkaid, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johnston.

100 Club Debate Was Well Attended

Winchester 100 Club presented to an audience of over 500 residents of this district a program of unusual merit in Lannin's Hall on Friday evening last. The presentation was made in connection with the club's drive for funds to be devoted to treatments for crippled children in Winchester township.

President Albert Johnston acted as chairman. A debate, "Resolved that Canada is justified in refusing to trade with Russia," had Dr. Arnold Sherwood and Hy Bessin as affirmative speakers, while the negative was taken by Rev. John McKay and Dr. C. H. Meredith. The judges were Messrs. T. P. McIntosh, Winchester Springs, and John McCormick and W. J. Stewart, Winchester.

The decision went to the negative, Dr. Sherwood moved a vote of thanks to the judges which was seconded by Mr. Bessin.

Assisting in the program with solos, monologues, and instrumental selections were Harry Goldman, Ottawa; Leopold Corbiel, Montreal; Rev. and Mrs. Cochran and J. D. Stewart. "Daddy Dear," a musical comedy, completed the entertainment.

The presentation was directed by W. A. Rowatt. Mrs. Howard Fetterly accompanied. Miss Norma Robertson, Mrs. S. Lindsay, Chester Timmins and Erle Helmer of the main cast were supported by a chorus of the following: the Misses Helen McVey, Vivian Lee, Beatrice Jackson, Jean Forsyth, Jean Vail, Margaret Hitsman, Agnes Parker, Marion Turner, Norma Hitsman and Ruth Dixon. Miss Norma Robertson, was the recipient of a bouquet of roses, presented from friends, by little Miss Dorothy Weir. Following the program the club entertained the members of the cast and assisting artists at luncheon.

W. H. S. Cadets Inspected Monday

BOYS ARE COMPLIMENTED ON THE FINE SHOWING OF THE CORPS

The annual inspection of the High School Cadet Corps took place on Monday afternoon, May 8th. The inspecting officer was Lieutenant De Brisey, of Kingston. At 1.30 p.m. the cadets, under the command of Cadet Captain Lawrence Vail and Cadet Lieutenants Barkley and Robinson, paraded through the town, thence to the school campus where the inspection took place.

The cadet officers conducted the "march passed," the salute being taken by the inspecting officer, after which company drill, platoon drill and extended order work were engaged in by the corps. Mr. T. J. Hawkins then took charge of Company B and put them through physical training exercises.

The inspecting officer in his remarks, complimented the cadets on their splendid showing and the precision with which the various functions were carried out. The work of the cadets reflected credit on their instructor Major A. H. S. Adams as well as on the Corps itself. Following Lieut De Brisey's remarks, the shield for the best turned out cadet was presented to Cadet Nathaniel Holmes. Medals were also presented to the members of the corps, won in competition during the recent Dominion Rifle Association meet. The inspection was very satisfactory and was witnessed by a large number of citizens.

Is There Room For Honest Men At Head

ONTARIO PREMIER IS NOT THE KIND THAT CAN BE LED— IS A LEADER

For the past year there has been a determined effort on the part of a certain ring of political leaders in Ontario to get rid of Premier Henry. He is not pliable, he has pronounced principles, he is against the light wine and beer traffic, he wants to cut down expenses and keep the Province in a good financial condition. He is very human, very courageous, very kind, very considerate, but he is not the tool of any political click or ring, even in his own party. What he believes is right for the people he stands for. For that reason he has been the target of many a stab-in-back, a shot from behind, but he keeps courageously on. The latest apparent attempt to compel Premier Henry to step aside and allow the political manipulators to have their way does not come as a surprise. The paper this morning printed the following under big headlines:

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 10.—James Lyons, M.L.A., for Sault Ste. Marie, has definitely broken with Premier George S. Henry as leader of the Conservative party in Ontario and has announced he will not be a candidate again if Premier Henry continues to head the government.

In a letter to W. H. C. Brien, president of the Liberal-Conservative Association here, Mr. Lyons calls for Premier Henry's retirement; the holding of a party convention and submits a platform he would like to see discussed.

Mr. Lyons, in giving his reasons for his action, joins with the "people of the province in holding the highest respect for the prime minister's honesty and integrity."

Toronto, May 10.—Premier George S. Henry tonight declined to comment on reports from Sault Ste. Marie that James Lyons, former Ontario minister of lands and forests, had broken definitely with the Conservative government of the province.

The Premier speaking on the telephone from his suburban home said he did not wish to hear contents of the letter in which Mr. Lyons renounced his leadership.

"I would not wish to comment anyway," he explained.

Killed Two - Burned Bodies

North Battleford, Sask., May 10.—Disappearance of two men, farmers of the isolated Whitkow district, is believed solved by Royal Canadian Mounted Police with the arrest of William Bahrey, 53-year-old Whitkow farmer.

Bahrey is charged with slaying his brother, Alex., and Nestor Terecsuk, alleged to have been the bigamous husband of Annie Bahrey, sister of the alleged slayer.

Alex. Bahrey was killed early in April and Terecszuk met his death last fall. Bahrey was shot to death and the first victim killed during a quarrel by blows from the hub of a buggy wheel. The bodies were thrown into strawstacks which were set on fire. According to a police statement, Bahrey has confessed to both crimes. It is alleged he hitched a horse to Terecszuk's body and dragged it two miles to a strawstack where the charred remains were discovered by police yesterday.

Police claim back of the trouble is a love triangle involving Dora Bahrey, wife of Alex, and the two brothers. She, the police allege, knew of the first slaying, but fear of Bahrey made her keep silent.

HON. GEO. H. CHALLIES ENTERTAINS COUNTY OFFICIALS AT MORRISBURG

Annual Event Was Greatly Enjoyed

There was a full representation of the County of Dundas at St. Lawrence Hall, Morrisburg, last Friday night, the occasion being the annual get-together and dinner that is the happy thought and gracious act of the member for this County in the Local Legislature, Hon. George H. Challies, the Provincial Secretary and Minister of Game and Fisheries. The dining hall was filled and at the head table with Hon. Mr. Challies were the Reeves of the different municipalities and his brother, Mr. John Challies, of Montreal. The "turkey" dinner and service was all that could be desired. It was about 8.30 when Mr. Challies called the assembly to order, and explained that he wished to review with them, in an impartial way, and entirely from politics, the work of the past year so far as it concerned himself, his departments and his constituency. In a well considered and comprehensive address Mr. Challies touched on many points that concern the province and the work being done by the legislature. He quoted figures to back his statements. To give even a brief review of his address is impossible for Mr. Challies spoke for over and hour and a half, and held the unabated interest of his audience from start to finish.

Hon. Mr. Challies addressed the gathering, giving them an insight into the workings of the provincial government during the past year and the late session of the House. His talk was most interesting to the officers present.

He complimented the counties council in many ways during his address, for their manipulation of affairs during this, the worst crisis in the history of the world. "Ontario and Canada," stated Hon. Mr. Challies, "will return to prosperity soon." Declaring that Canada is the fifth nation in the world in trade and is strong because of its gold coverage, Mr. Challies said that before long there must be a material scaling down of tariffs and a realization that the home market is the best market. Canada's banking has never been so strong, he said, adding that we must stand behind our national financing in these dangerously trying times.

Socialistic legislation, said Mr. Challies, means more taxes. Education is a great problem for financing in Ontario, as are highways and public health. Last year, he told the gathering, was the best in the history of the Hydro Commission. He touched on the unemployment question, emphasizing the superiority of the direct relief system over any other system tried by the province, and giving figures to prove it so.

The old age pension question and the mothers' allowance were touched upon by the provincial secretary. He explained their uses and the manner in which they are handled in Ontario, quoting statistics in both the province and county. Large sums are spent on orphanages and industrial schools, the banquet was told. The biological branch was also mentioned with its benefits of recent years.

He gave interesting facts to the county officials regarding schools in the United Counties. The motor vehicles also received much attention in Mr. Challies' address. He said that good roads are the best investment Ontario has. Crime, he said, is decreasing rapidly year after year in Ontario, as is the cost of the upkeep of prisons, convictions under the Traffic and L.C.A. Acts showing a remarkable decrease in the last few years. Mr. Challies went over the acts introduced in the last sessions, resolutions passed by the counties council, the question of taxes, the game and fisheries activities in the province, and lastly the St. Lawrence waterway, which he hoped would be an actuality inside of a year.

There were of course many other matters mentioned, but our space will not permit us to now review. When Mr. Challies sat down he was given a very hearty and prolonged applause. He then presented each of the Reeves present, for their municipality, a neatly bound volume of the Ontario Municipal Act, with all recent amendments up-to-date noted, a volume of inestimable worth to municipal clerks and councils. He then called upon the several Reeves present to express their views in the following order, Reeves J. H. Ross, Winchester; Howard Nesbitt, Winchester Township, and Warden of the Counties; Mr. Barkley, Iroquois; Mr. Casselman, Chesterville; Mr. Flynn, Morrisburg; Mr. Van Allen, Williamsburg; Mr. Johnston, of Matilda and Mr. Crowder, of Mountain. Many questions were touched on, but the ones most talked of were the "Old Age Pension Fund" and Provincial Road building. As to the former there seemed to be a unanimous opinion that while the object and purpose of the Legislature was good the administration was not satisfactory. There were too many who seemed to have the "say so" and none in complete command. It was the belief that many were receiving the old age pension fund who were not legally entitled to it, and considerable fault was found that the newly appointed Government inspectors, whose duties required them to make thorough inquiries, have, so far as Dundas was concerned, completely ignored the municipal authorities as well as the Counties Board. With reference to the Provincial roads, there was considerable discussion about Highway 31 from Morrisburg to Winchester, and Reeve Flynn, of Morrisburg, made out a good case of why the Counties should support and aid the Provincial authorities in the building of that connecting link between Highway No. 2 and Ottawa.

Mr. Challies pointed out that the Provincial Government aided the Counties to the extent of 50 per cent of the cost of County roads, and the township to the extent of 40 per cent. of the township roads, but the Provincial authorities were not consulted where or how those roads should be built. All they were expected to do was to pay their share. And yet when the Provincial Highway proposed to build a piece of road, of which the Counties contributed only 20 per cent, the Counties Council steps in and wants to dictate to the Provincial authorities, when, where and how they shall proceed. The discussion lasted well on past the midnight hour, and as an evidence of the keen interest in the meeting almost every representative remained in his seat until the close, when Mr. Challies was most heartily thanked for his interest and his kindness.

Municipal Council In Regular Meeting

COURT OF REVISION TO BE HELD ON JUNE 2ND

A meeting of the Municipal Council was held on Monday evening. Owing to the illness of Mr. Empey the Clerk, Councillor W. Moffatt acted as clerk. A number of accounts were examined and ordered paid. The Court of Revision of the Municipal Assessment Roll was fixed for Friday evening, June 2nd, at 8 o'clock, when any appeals against assessment will be heard. The Property Committee reported having examined the interior of the town hall, and decided that a coat of paint would brighten it up, and make it more in keeping with the new stage curtain that was to be presented by the Sink-Funny Orchestra ladies. It was also decided that the walks of the town be carefully gone over and where necessary, repairs made, and some road improvements was also decided on. The matters relative to Hydro, and the installing of the Hot Water Heaters was left over as it was thought better to consult with the local Supt., Mr. Van Bridger, who was more familiar with the work. Relief matters were discussed. The Provincial Inspector of the Relief Board at Toronto had recently been here and made full inquiry into what was being done, and found everything satisfactory and in order, and complimented the Council on the way they were handling their relief funds.

How Do You Figure It?

We Mean Your Paint Cost!

Here's an Ad. advertising paint at 49c. a quart.....Here's another featuring paint at 69c. a quart.....Here's still another at $1.00 a quart.....Still they come at $1.25 a quart--and higher!

Which should you buy?

You get what you pay for and no more! The lower down you go in the price scale the less the performance—the worse the appearance—the harder the application and the greater the uncertainty of good results.

We sell Lowe Brothers High Standard Famous

LINE OF PAINTS AND VARNISHES

The comparative price of Lowe Brothers' Paint is $1.25 a quart—a price at which both quality and economy are assured. One Quart of Lowe Brothers Paint will go as far as two quarts of Cheap and Inferior Paint. It will hide better—look better—wear longer; brush on easier—and requires much less for a given job.

Square foot coverage and hiding is the measure of economy in paint—not the "price per gallon". If you think you need a quart of Cheap Paint buy just one pint of Lowe Brothers' Paint and prove for yourself our claim that Lowe Brothers Paint is at once the cheapest and best paint you can buy.

W. H. & F. M. Society Hold Annual Sessions

The women of the W. H. and F. M. Society of the Canada Conference held their annual session at the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Sunnyside, Ottawa, Ont., daily from April 26th to 30th inclusive.

The president, Mrs. L. A. Summers, presiding. First session was spent in prayer and appointing of committees to get the work in order from the first so all concerned would be able to improve every moment of so short a time to work. Rev. T. P. Baker our home missionary secretary, gave us some very helpful information about our home mission work, especially at this time, the Hephzibah orphanage at Macon, Ga., also on co-operation. The president gave the plan of work and asked that it be read at least once each quarter or every meeting if desired.

The president and delegates of the local societies brought greetings and helpful suggestions to the newly organized society in Ottawa. Rev. F. W. Higginson, returned missionary from Africa, brought greetings and spoke on the benefits of organization. The various reports were encouraging with one newly organized society and Cornwall ladies desiring an organization (local society) there, which will be carried out in the near future.

The work in general is most encouraging from both home and foreign reports. The sessions were well attended, special numbers in song were rendered which gave us renewed inspiration. How we thank the Lord in the Canada Conference for the young folks God is equipping for the work as the older ones retire feeling the strain of office, which will be ably filled by our consecrated young women and men who are the hope of our church and the cause of Holiness. This year the officers will be:

President—Mrs. L. A. Summers.
Vice-President—Mrs. W. E. Hamilton.
Secretary—Rev. E. Stephens.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. Thomas.
Supt of Y.M.W.B.—Miss Enda Watts

This is one of the Conferences we have attended. The blessing of the Lord was evident all through and we are returning to our own local work with greater vision of the need and glad to be privileged part in the work of our Lord in helping to extend His Kingdom to the children of men and emphasise as never before the need of intercessory prayer.

MRS. POIRIER, Reporter.

THE UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Hector Beach called his morning message "A Meditation," and it was indeed a thoughtful one. He said we have been seriously robbed of great spiritual power by not taking time to meditate. Consecration is more important than organization for true success. The teachings of Jesus are for every day. In referring to I Cor. 13, which he read, Mr. Beach asked: "Do you believe that love never faileth?" When man will love man and God as he ought then things will be made right in this world.

The evening subject was: "With Jesus in Temptation." After the reading of the story of the temptation of Jesus in the wilderness, Mr. Beach said: "Did we ever ponder how Jesus met the devil?" We all need to know how to meet him. Reliance on the love of God is a sure guide to overcome temptation. Jesus withstood the test of faith. We should face temptation temptations of need, of ambition, and with Jesus in the wilderness. We are wrestling every day with the powers of sin and unless we are strong we will be defeated. Next Sunday morning the church and Sunday School will observe the Mothers' Day service at 10.30 a.m.

Many Commit Suicide

Because 55 girls and young men have committed suicide at Mount Mihara, on Oshima Island, 50 miles southwest of Tokyo, Japan, since Feb. 11, the Oshima police have asked the home office for reinforcements.

The normal staff of 12 policemen has prevented scores of persons who were seeking to kill themselves, but effective patrol of the huge volcano is impossible. The crater's sheer sides are more than 1,000 feet deep and the bottom is always hidden in flames and vapor. The bodies of suicides never are seen again.

The sensational suicide of a school girl Feb. 11 brought Mihara into the limelight and it became the favorite suicide spot of the lovelorn and the life weary.

Six youths jumped to death in the crater last Sunday.

South Mountain Loses An Esteemed Citizen

One of the outstanding personalities and most esteemed citizens of the Township of Mountain, and of the police village of South Mountain, passed away on Sunday, May 6th in the person of John Alexander Gilroy, who had he lived until June 1st would have reached his 85th year. For nearly fifty years he had carried on the business of a blacksmith in South Mountain. He had decided opinions on both politics and religion, and was always loyal to what he believed to be the right. He was one of the oldest Orangemen in this section. In religion he was a faithful member of the old Methodist Church, now the United Church of Canada, and was for many years a member of the Official Board. As a citizen and neighbour he was most highly esteemed and could always be depended on to take his part in any local undertaking or responsibility. His wife predeceased him three years ago, and the surviving are Mrs. Mortan Adams, Mainsville, Ont.; W. G. Gilroy, Venn, Sask.; Mrs. Wm. Thompson, South Mountain; Mrs Wm. Marcellus, Dundela, and Frank E. at home. One daughter died at the age of 4 years. The brothers are Albert, of Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Edwin, of South Mountain and Edmund, of Monkland, Sask. His spacious and comfortable home at South Mountain always held a welcome for neighbor or visitor, and the late Mr. Gilroy will long be remembered for his sterling qualities of character and Christian uprightness. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, the service being held in the United Church and conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Johnston.

THE LATE GEORGE B. ALLISON

George Barber Allison, well-known in automobile and real estate circles, died at his home Westmount, Que., May 8th, after a few months illness. He was 53 years of age.

Born in Chesterville, Ont., Mr. Allison became affiliated as a young man with the New York Life Assurance Company and as a representative of that organization lived for some time in London, Ont., Winnipeg and Ottawa. He came to this city about 26 years ago. At the time of his death, he was president of Packard Montreal Motor Company, Limited, Just Motors, Limited, Canadian Metropolis Securities, Limited, and H. C. Johnston and Company, Limited, building contractors.

In addition to his business activities Mr. Allison engaged in considerable church and charitable work. He was a director of United Theological College and a director of Quebec League against Alcoholism. He was also a member of the Montreal Board of Trade and the Montreal Real Estate Board as well as of several sporting clubs.

Mr. Allison is survived by his widow, two sons and two daughters, all of Montreal.

DROWNING ACCIDENT

On Friday afternoon in the Galops Canal, just east of the swing bridge at Cardinal, there occurred a sad drowning accident which took the life of Mr. Alan Biggs, a bridge-tender of that town.

Mr. Biggs had taken three small children out for a row in a small boat. Upon returning to the landing place, Mr. Biggs was in the act of lifting one child to the shore when the boat shot backwards. Both child and man tumbled into the water. Mr. Biggs had struck his chin on the stone copeland. The child, Nellie Gladstone, swam sufficiently to save herself, while Mr. Biggs drowned. He knew nothing of swimming. The other two children were safely in the boat, and rescued later.

Mr. Biggs was 37 years old. He leaves a widow and 5 children. They have lived in Cardinal since coming from Peterboro three years ago.

The funeral of the late Mr. Biggs was held on Sunday afternoon from the Presbyterian Church. Services were conducted in the form of a military funeral.

WHOLE HERD CONDEMNED

It is learned that when a herd of 28 head of cattle belonging to a farmer in the neighborhood of Prescott, who has been delivering raw milk in that town, was given the initial tuberculin test a few days ago, the entire herd reacted and was ordered destroyed. Raw milk from this herd has been delivered in Prescott for some time past.

W. C. T. U. Hold Mothers' Meeting

The local Union entertained on Friday afternoon last the little White Ribboners and their mothers, Mrs. Wm. Johnston the president had charge of the meeting, the opening devotions being taken by Mrs. Charles Annable, who gave an impressive talk on prayer and keeping close to Jesus by trusting Him fully, basing her remarks on Eph. 6. She also addressed the children on God's love to them.

A nominating committee was appointed to select next year's officers. Mrs. J. J. McKendry extended an invitation for the next meeting.

Mrs. P. Durant's solo: "Faith of our Mothers" was very fitting for this occasion. Mrs. N. W. Beach spoke to the mothers on the home life and the great influence of a mother. Home, she said, is the training ground for character building. Miss Empey had her Band of Little White Ribboners present and she presided for a most enjoyable program given by them as follows: solos by Betty Stewart, Audrey Fraser, Velma Johnston and Melvin Johnston; recitations by Vivian McKenery, Betty Turner, Jean Nesbitt, Mary Barclay, Velma Johnston, Betty Montgomery, Muriel Armstrong and Norma Armstrong.

This meeting was held in the Presbyterian Sunday School hall. Mrs. (Rev.) Turner expressed her pleasure at having this meeting in their hall, saying she had enjoyed the program very much. Mrs. (Rev.) McKay and Mrs. Rowat commended the splendid training given the children in this way. A social hour followed when cake and ice cream were served by the committee in charge.

A vote of thanks was tendered the church officials and all those taking part.

FIRE AT CARDINAL

Fire of an unknown origin beaking out in the rear of the bakery of W. W. Hunt, of Cardinal, at noon on Tuesday, spread rapidly to the main frame building, causing considerable damage to the bakery as well as to the home of Mr. Hunt upstairs. The firemen finally extinguished the blaze but not before $2000 damage had been done to the building owned by Mr. A. Richmore and $1000 damage to the contents.

AND WHAT NEXT

We have heard of very many ways of raising money. Here is a new one, at least new to us. "Some time ago ladies of All Saints' Anglican Church, Cannington, procured a shirt and passed it around among the ladies of the congregation. As each lady received the shirt she was expected to sew on it a patch and underneath the patch was to be hidden whatever gift of money she felt she could give to the cause. The shirt having completed its rounds, the ladies met for the purpose of picking off the patches and counting up their money. The result far exceeded expectations and the ladies feeling very proud of their shirt." It says nothing about how the old man's back was scratched to make that stunt.

SOUTH MOUNTAIN C.W.L. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the South Mountain subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held on Sunday, May 7, with the president, Mrs. H. E. Barry, presiding.

Rev. A. L. O'Donnell complimented the officers and members on the splendid work accomplished since the league was organized, and expressed the hope that the spirit of co-operation would continue. The financial report was read by the treasurer, Miss M. Barry, showing the importance and amount of work done during the past year, with a creditable balance in the treasury.

Mrs. Jas. A. Troy tendered a vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. Barry, who in turn voiced her appreciation and thanks to the members and parishioners in general for their general support and co-operation during her term of office, and wished the league every success for the coming year. Mrs. T. B. Lunny was then nominated chairman and the following officers elected: Hon. chaplain, Rev. A. L. O'Donnell; president, Miss M. Barry; vice-president, Mrs. J. A. Troy; recording secretary, Mrs. H. E. Barry; treasurer, Mrs. T. B. Lunny; councillors, Mrs. Jas. McKee, Sr., Mrs. J. B. Mullen, Mrs. Gertie Loftus and Miss Margaret Jordan.

INTEREST IN SMALLER CHEESES REGISTERED IN GREAT BRITAIN

British cheesemakers are recognizing the need for small cheese to meet popular demand, according to the Ontario Marketing Board.

At the recent annual meeting of the Cheshire Dairy Farmers' Association it was suggested that makers should consider the production of cheeses weighing two, three, four or five lbs. This item is of interest because it gives direct evidence of a trade not being solicited by Ontario cheese patrons, despite the fact that Canada is one of the world's largest cheese exporting countries.

DIES AT VENERABLE AGE

Reaching the venerable age of 89 years, Miss Hannah Martin died at her home at Riverside on Monday, May 1st. Born at Riverside, Miss Martin had spent her long and useful life there and her death removes one of the section's landmarks.

Left to mourn her loss are three nephews, John and Edward Martin, Riverside; William Martin, Iroquois; five nieces, Mrs. Wesley Bouck, of Bouck's Hill; Mrs. Miles Cramer, of Riverside; Mrs. D. C. Bush, Toronto; Mrs. Frank Plantz, of Winnipeg.

WILLIAMSBURG STILL BOOMING

Mr. Iden Whitteker, of Elma, has purchased a piece of land from M. D. R. Casselman, Williamsburg, and is building a fine new home thereon. This will make quite an addition to the town. Buildings are now going up over-night, north, south, east and west, in fact, all over the town and soon it will have the appearance of a city.

A fine new bungalow has been erected on Plantation street, just north of the "Locke Clinic," by Mr. Stebbins. Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins and family have taken up residence in their new home recently. Their son is a patient of Dr. Locke.

DAIRYMEN WILL MEET AT AVONMORE

Dairymen of the district who are not satisfied with the present status of the cheese industry in Eastern Ontario will gather at Avonmore this Thursday night to discuss the possibility of forming an organization to handle matters. George H. Barr, director of dairying for Ontario, will speak, and A. J. McDonald and H. Marjerrison of the Glengarry Cheese Factory Patrons' Association will also be present. J. A. Simpson, Morrisburg representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and James Bancroft and F. C. McRae will direct the meeting.

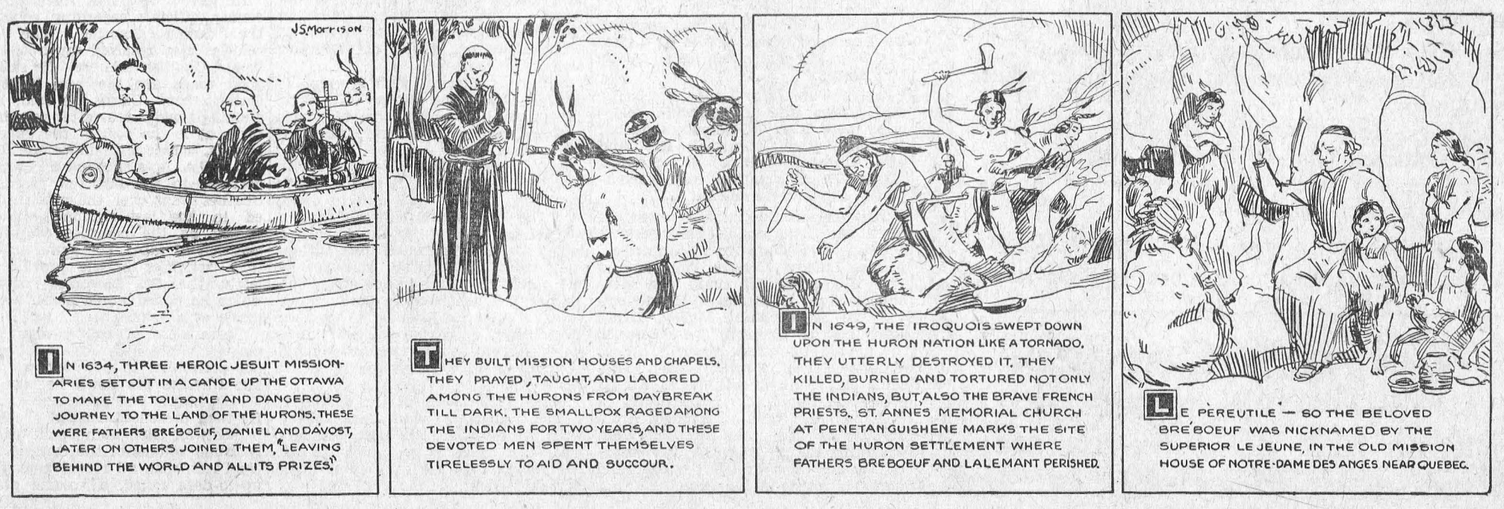
HISTORICAL SKETCHES



Fifty Year's History Of Grantley Church

On Sunday Grantley Methodist—now United Church—celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the opening of the church for divine services with Rev. H. W. Burnett, B.D., pastor in 1888, as the visiting minister. The church has had a very interesting history and who can estimate the power for uplift and character building that has eminated from the church during that time

In the year 1881 services were opened in the school house and Grantley formed part of the circuit known as Williamsburg, Hosaic and Grantley. Deep and increasing interest was taken and at a Quarterly Official Board meeting held in the church at Hosaic on November 26th of that year it was decided to erect a church at Grantley The stewards representing that appointment were Messrs. Edward Henderson, George Cunningham, Zachariah Robinson, with Rev. A. G. Robinson as minister. At that meeting the following were appointed as a building committee: Zachariah Robinson, Edward Henderson, Jas. Cunningham, George Cunningham, Alexander Drummond Sr., William Kennedy, Jas. A. Cunningham Jr. and Hugh Robinson.

The contract was awarded to J. A Cunningham who was assisted by George Cuningham and Wesley Barkley. The church was completed by February 1883 and was officially opened February 7th. The dedication ceremony was performed and the sermon preached by Rev. W. T. Williams, chairman of the district, with the pastor and neighbouring ministers assisting.

In 1884, a change in boundaries took place and Grantley was joined with Berwick. The following year a Sabbath School was organized with Mr. Hugh Robinson as superintendent. The following have since held that honoured position and given their best in the leadership of the young, Mrs. Jordon Shaver, James Cunningham, Harvey Fader and the present superintendent, Wallace Myers.

In 1886, the Grantley appointment was placed with North Valley, Osnabruck Centre and Hosaic. At this time Mr. Harvey Fader was appointed Class Leader and Mr. Jacob Myers local preacher. In 1881 during the pastorate of Rev. J. W. Humphreys, the interior of the church was redecorated by Mr. Burselm. The following year Rev. W. A. Hamilton, now of Valois, Que., was sent to the circuit. That year a large window was placed in the entry and the interior of the church decorated with steel, the work being carried out by Thos. G. Cunningham, Jas. A. Cunningham and Walter Carr. The painting was done by Mr. Armstrong. At the re-opening services the pastor was assisted by the chairman of the district, Rev. Wm. Mavetey.

In 1909, Grantley was joined with Finch and Berwick as it is to-day. In 1915 a new steel roof was added to the church and three years later a severe windstorm nearly destroyed the edifice by tearing away the porch and spire. This was immediately rebuilt by Mr. Froats of Aultsville. In 1922, during the pastorate of Rev. J. O. Barron, now of Upper Bedford, Que., the church was re-decorated by S. Shaver. The Woman's Association organized that year with Mrs. John Shaver as president, and the following ladies have since occupied that once, Mrs. Walter Carr, Mrs. George Cunningham, Mrs. Arthur Beckstead, Mrs. James Wallace, Mrs. M. O. Robinson, Miss Sarah Fader, Mrs. Chas. McMillan and Mrs. John Kittle.

In 1925 during the pastorate of Rev. A. W. Stewart, the church passed into Union. He was succeeded in 1930 by the present pastor, Rev. G. N. Maxwell, B.A., B.D.

Two members of the Grantley congregation, consecrated their lives to the service of the church in the persons of Rev. T. P. Shaver, Fitzroy Harbour, and Rev. James Shaver, B.A, of All People's Mission, Winnipeg. The following are the officials of the church: Session—Alexander Shaver, Wallace Myers, Simeon Casselman, Frank Darling; Stewards—Geo. Cunningham, Walter Carr, Donald Carr, John Shaver, Howard Beckstead and James McMillan.

The following ministers have served the congregation:

Revs. A. G. Robertson, A. Vesser, W. McMullin, Joseph Frollick, H. W. Burnett, B.D.; A. E. Relyea, James Smith, J. W. Humphrey, Samuel Quinn, George Wood, B.D.; W. J. Connoly, Robert C. McConnell, B.A.; R. C. Eagleson, B.A.; R. W. Dagleish, B.A.; W. A. Hamilton, M.A.; J. I. Hughes, M.A.; T. Roy, George Crabbe, A. J. Belton, B.D.; T. A. Cassedy, F. W. Myer, John Puttenham, James Leach, J. O. Barron, A. W. Stewart, G. N. Maxwell, B.A., B.D.

OBITUARY

LATE MRS. JOHN WYLIE

There passed away at her late residence at Glenburn, Ontario, on Friday, May 5th, an old and much respected resident of that community in the person of Mrs. John Wylie, in her 83rd year. Deceased had been in fairly good health up until about a week before her death, when she contracted a severe cold, later which developed into a case of pneumonia from which she failed to rally. Her death came as a great shock to the community as she had always been an active woman.

Mrs. Wylie was a devout member of the United Church. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. J. Brannon, of Winnipeg, and Nettie, at home; five sons, Lawrence, at home, Arthur, of Montreal; Frank, of Ottawa; Alex., of Mountain, and Thomas of Winchester; also a number of grand children.

The funeral was held from her late home to Glenburn Church, where service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Mercer. Interment was made in the family plot there.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED RESIDENT PASSES

The community of Hulbert was shocked on Thursday, May 4th to learn that one of their oldest and best loved neighbors in the person of W. N. Marshall had answered the call to the Great Beyond. Not many knew that Mr. Marshall was not about as usual for his sickness was only of a few days duration and he was able to converse with his family till the very last. Though he had been in failing health for some years that prevented him from taking an active part in strenuous work, he still took a keen interest in the work of the home, of the community and of the church. Anything that made life easier and better for those around him had his support. In his home he was an ideal father and a true husband and none knew better than his own family his strength of character and his simple faith in Divine guidance.

He was born near Inkerman on Jan. 4th, 1854, and has lived all his life in Mountain Township. In 1874 he married Mary Gilroy and to this marriage was born four daughters and one son, Mrs. W. M. Thorpe, of Hubert, deceased; Mrs. R. J. Ellis, Iroquois, deceased; Mrs. Minor Henderson, Shanly; Mrs. R. S. Peterson, Toye's Hill, and Christopher, who died in infancy. Mrs. Marshall predeceased him in 1886. In 1888 he married Margaret Jane Thorpe and to this marriage was born two sons, C. F. Marshall, of Chesterville, and W. E. at home.

Though a life-long member of the Methodist Church and now United Church, he was broad-minded in his religious views and every denomination that was true to the principles of Christ's teaching had his sympathy and support. But in Hulbert Church where his seat was seldom vacant, and where his voice was heard in song, in prayer and in advice to the young and encouragement to the older ones, those who take up the task and carry it on will treasure the memory of the life of a true friend and helper. In politics he had the same broad-minded spirit. It was one of his boasts that no writer of his obituary could ever say he was a life-long member of any political party. He held his franchise as a trust to be used for the common good. The large number of friends who called to pay their last tribute of respect and the large funeral procession bore silent testimony of the far reaching influence of the life that was gone.

The service was conducted in Hulbert Church on Saturday by his pastor, Rev. A. W. G. Wilson, assisted by Rev. R. E. Newman, Chesterville, chairman of Presbytery; Rev. W. R. Johnston, South Mountain; Rev. T. Knowles, Iroquois; Rev. T. F. Townsend, Inkerman; Rev. H. G. Tuttle. Heckston; Rev. A. H. Sproule of the Presbyterian Church, Chesterville. The pastor took as his text the words of St. Paul in 2nd Timothy 4:7. He paid loving tribute to the deceased and in closing gave out a challenge to members of the church in which he had labored to carry on.

By request of the deceased there were no floral tributes. Interment was made in South Mountain cemetery. The pall-bearers were his immediate neighbors, three on each side of his home, Morley Sullivan, Will Montgomery, Will Keyes, Harve Frantz, Elmer Sullivan, Calvin Ellis.

A peculiar accident occurred at Utica, N.Y., on Tuesday, May 9th, when Andrew Geer, 20, fell 20 feet from a ladder landing on his feet. Three hours later the man died of a fractured skull. The force of his fall had driven the upper end of his spine into the skull.

The Inventor Of Daylight Saving

Daylight Saving Time has generally been credited to William Willett, a builder of Chelsea, England. But long before Mr. Willett thought of it there was another reformer who, quietly and without publicity, caused his clocks to be put on half an hour. He was King Edward VII. He wanted as much daylight as possible for shooting, and he hit upon a scheme of keeping the clocks at Sandringham House thirty minutes in advance of Standard Time all the year. The custom is still kept up. Sandringham is the only place in England where Summer Time means only half an hour's advance. Willett, some thirty years ago, was riding through Petts' Wood, Chislehurst. It was early morning. "Why should all this sunlight be lavished on milkmen?" he asked himself. He worked out a plan by which he would gain 80 minutes by four 20-minute changes of the clock, and made it known publicly in 1906. Abuse was heaped on him. Conservative gentlemen wrote that he should be "boiled in oil." Parsons held him up as a Sabbath-breaker. But some saw the idea was good, and as early as 1908 a bill to legalize Summer Time was introduced in the British House of Commins. Nothing was done, however, until 1916. The need for economy in fuel in war time and the example of Germany, which had already adopted a similar scheme, prompted action. Summer Time came in on May 21, 1916. It has been in ever since in Great Britain, the Act of 1925 having defined exact periods for it. The father of Summer Time in Great Britain died in 1915, the year before it came into force. His main memorial is Pett's Wood, bought by a grateful public for 12,000 English pounds and opened in 1927. It contains a sundial dedicated to Mr. Willet's memory, inscribed with a Latin text which means "I count only the Summers hours."

THE EASY JOB

It is queer how complacent some people seem to feel when they have criticized a teacher, a classmate, or perhaps the office boss. Apparently they feel that their criticism sets them apart as distinctly superior. The fact of the matter is that criticism is the easiest job going. Take a collection of down-and-outs, listen to their talk for half an hour, and you will find them criticizing the Premier, the House of Commons, the farm board, and the financiers of St. James Street. Men who have never made good in anything since they were born will sit by the hour, criticising those who have made good in everything they have ever undertaken.

Do not pat yourself on the back because you are a thoroughgoing critic. That is easy to be. When you try to do something worth while is the time you encounter difficulties.

WILL ASK AGNES TO ADDRESS THEM

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid Siciety of the Chesterville United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon last week in the Sunday School Hall with the President, Mrs. D. McElheran, in the chair. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. George Cass, Considerable business was transacted and following the reports of committee a short program was presented consisting of readings by Mrs. P. S. Boyd. Mrs. Fred. Smith and Miss Helen Mood and a vocal solo by Mrs. D. McElheran, accompanied by Mrs. Boyd. The roll call was responded to by "Short Stories." It was announced that arrangements were being made to have Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., address the meeting in the near future.

INTELLECT

I am quite sure, that it is a most solemn duty to cultivate our understandings to the uttermost, for I have seen the evil moral consequences of fanaticism, to a greater degree than I ever expected to see them realized; and I am satisfied that a neglected intellect is far oftener the cause of mischief than man, than a perverted or overvalued one. Men retain their natural quickness or cleverness, while their reason and judgment are allowed to go to ruin, and thus do they work their minds and gain influence, and are pleased at gaining it; but it is the indisciplined mind which they are exercising, instead of one wisely disciplined.—Dr. Arnold.

HORSE-SHOES AND GOOD LUCK

The origin of the popular belief that a horse-shoe brings good luck is so ancient that it is literally lost in the mists of time, but probably no superstition is more universal. Ever since horse-shoes were first used they have been associated with good luck by every known race, nation, and people throughout the world. Often the basic reasons have been very fundamentally different, but they always have one thing in common—the crescent shape of the shoe is typical of some sacred and protective emblem. The Chinese, for instance, nail them up over their doors as a charm against evil spirits because the curved shape so closely resembles the arched body of the sacred snake, Nagandra, which is one of their chief deities. Among the Jews, its arched shape symbolizes the outline which was traced that Passover night when the blood was sprinkled upon the lintel and the two doorposts. The illiterate and highly superstitious Russians give rather a different reason, referring to the substance of the horse-shoe rather than to its shape, namely, that its virtue lies in the metal of which it is composed, iron always being regarded as a charm against the evil designs of spirits and goblins, with which the dark forests and dismal marshes of Russia are believed to be peopled.

MOTHERS' DAY

"Mother's Day" is to be observed in all cities and towns on this continent on Sunday, May 14th, with special features forming an expression of love and devotion to Mothers everywhere.

This special day of the year is comparatively a modern institution, but it was established as a result of a feeling that distant and wayfaring sons were not showing just the thoughtfulness toward their Mothers that they should The idea sprang up to have one day of the 365 at least on which those far from home send a remembrance to Mother back on the farm, in the village or in a far off section of the country. The suggestion quickly became popular, so that Mothers are now blessed with many years, thoughts, messages and gifts on the date selected in the spring season as her very own remembrance day.

In many churches of all denominations there will be special references to the duty and desirability of filial care toward the maternal parent. There will be special prayers in some churches, and "Mother" will be honored in various ways.

"Give a Thought to Mother" is the general theme of Mother's Day. It is a day when Mother and child of every age are closer in thought and happiness than usual. One very substantial form of remembrance for the occasion is the sending of some special gift home to Mother. This gift can be something that will lighten her household labors, or it can be something beautiful, or some delight that carries with it the special meaning of Mother's Day. The general custom for the day is to send flowers in honor of Mother. A nice bouquet of Mother's favorite flowers can be sent to her, whether she lives near or far, thanks to the splendid telegraphic arrangements which is now in use among florists everywhere.

But whether money is spent or not for the special observance of Mother's Day, the chief thing is to extend an expression of loyalty to one's Mother. There will be thousands of young fellows and young women who will sit down and write a nice long letter to the folks back home. Maybe that letter has been neglected for weeks—possibly for months. Won't Mother be happy when she finds that she is one of many Mothers who have been remembered on her special day:

The celebration of the second Sunday in May as "Mother's Day" originated through the efforts of Miss Anna Jarvis, of Philadelphia. Her mother died in 1905, and she resolved that she would each year observe the anniversary of her death. Then it occurred to her that others might feel the same if the suggestion was made, and she wrote to editors, clergymen and others prominent in all parts of the country, many of whom agreed to assist. The second Sunday in May was set for the observance, and it was urged that on that day all persons should show their love and respect for their Mothers by some tribute.

WASTING TIME AND THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

According to an account made by the Toronto Globe press reporter at the House of Commons, Ottawa, one day last week, when the "budget" was under discussion and during a member's oration, which was being carefully, accurately and word for word reported by the Hansard reporters, there were present in the Commons Chamber, 13 Conservatives, 14 Liberals, 3 Progressives and one Independent. The other members were outside, some in the lounging rooms, some in the corridors, some in conference with Ministers, trying to get some privilege or the promise of some improvement in his own constituency. Others were no doubt out having a good time. And according to the Globe, it costs the country a good many thousands of dollars per day to keep up this farce, and make pretence, outside the indemnity paid members. According to the Ottawa papers of yesterday, more business was being done in one day now than was done in two weeks a month ago. Members are getting tired, and want to get home. They are not, like our County Councillors, paid by the day, or they might be there all summer. They have received their last installment in the way of sessional indemnity, and it is time for them to get back to their town and look after business.

When times are prosperous, plenty of money in circulation, and the "pinch" of depression not so universally felt, it is easy to get away with that sort of thing without attracting too much public attention. But when farmers are scraping to pay their taxes, business men cutting down expenses, and using every economy to pay the taxes being levied on them by the Government, it is somewhat, to say the least, irritating, to know that valuable time is being wasted, and the peoples money being practically squandered in the useless extravagances that we know obtains at Ottawa. A man may be a good party man when times are prosperous, but he becomes a thinking, feeling citizen when the pinch of depression comes, when the tax collectors take from him the money he feels his family needs, to keep up so much pretence and wastefulenss at Ottawa. If the majority of our parliamentarians would acquaint themselves with real conditions, and not depend on the "say so" of the favorites they are accustomed to consult, there would be some drastic reforms, not only in the House of Commons, but in every Government Department. It may not be a good time for a change at Ottawa, but it certainly is a good time for some drastic reforms.

THAT HAPPY FEELING

According to reports coming from the United States, President Roosevelt seems to have at least stimulated that "Happy Spring Feeling" in the hearts of at least the editors of the newspapers, and trade seems to be reviving, employment provided for those out of work, money put in circulation, and every one seems to be singing "Happy Days Are Here Again." No doubt more than one-third of the "depression" is the mental attitude of the people, and once you begin to make a person believe that the depression has disappeared around the corner, you have done much to restore public confidence and stimulate trade. We in Canada are neither so pessimistic or as optimistic as are the people of the United States, and we are, no doubt, the better for it. We accept hard times as we do the toothache, endure it as long as we can, and then when it becomes unendurable, yank it out. Everyone you meet asks "Well do you think we are out of the depression" and the answer invariably is, "You bet, we're on the up-grade."

A DOG'S CASE

Magistrate Strike, of Ottawa, holds that it is but natural for a boy to tease a dog, especially when that dog is tied up. The case before him was one where a man had a dog tied in his yard to protect his property. The dog got loose and bit a boy. The owner claimed the boy was teasing the dog, and had he left it alone it would not have got loose. The Magistrate took the view that the welfare of the child was more important than the goods of the owner of the dog, or of the dog, and he imposed a fine of $3 and costs. We wonder just how a similar case in this locality would be considered, and what public opinion would have to say on the subject. There are some local complaints about cross dogs, but the dogs complained of are not tied up.

STILL ANOTHER

According to reports from Montreal, Brockville is to be the centre of a new religious order to be known as the Christian Standard Church of America, which, according to the promoters, is an offshoot of the former Methodist Church. It does not say which former "Methodist Church," but no doubt it meant the original Methodist Church, which, according to many, seems to have gone out of existence. This Christian Standard was founded, somewhere, about fifteen years ago, and Brockville is to be made the headquarters for this continent.

ABOUT HYDRO POWER

The chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission confirms the report that when the Commission's contract with the Cedar Rapids Mfg. Co., a subidiary of Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated, terminates this year, it will not be renewed. Because of the surplus of power needs of the eastern municipalities now receiving a supply from Cedar Rapids will be met from the Gatineau river development, the transmission taking place by way of Smiths Falls and Brockville.

YOUR FAULT

Do not blame people for not finding out your good points. That is your fault. Few people have the sort of second-sight which makes it possible to discover kindness of heart hidden under a gruff manner, and good intention concealed by thoughtlessness and blundering. If you have anything in you which other people ought to like and respect, it is your business to put it in evidence. You have no right to hide your admirable qualities and so mislead others as to your real nature.

Some of you young people act as thought life were a game of hide-and seek and it were a part of the game to hide your real self and face others to hunt for your good qualities. Life is not so much a game, however, as a business proposition. If you want to "sell" yourself, you must display the qualities that attract.

THE TOWNSHIP ROADS

Speaking of employment, the councils of the various townships in this district might spend money to advantage and give a number of men work by setting about a systematic cleaning up of the sides of the township roads. One finds on the sides of practically all township roads, clumps of slash, heaps of brush, debris of all kinds lying about harbouring weeds and giving the thoroughfare a very delapidated appearance. This is the time to do this work, for there has been very little growth as yet and with the removal of such obstructions, the work of cutting weeds and hay on the roadsides during the summer months will facilitated.

We realize that retrenchment is the watchword of council meetings at the present time but the saving of a dollar through ill-timed economy often leads to a two dollar expenditure later.

AARON SWEET'S RECORD

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Aaron Sweet's record of 63 years continuously in retail business must constitute a record, not only for the county of Dundas, but for the entire eastern section of the province

The Winchester merchant is entitled to congratulations upon the attainment of this record, which is of greater interest because it was begun in the employ of that other well known Dundas man of other years, the late Hon. Andrew Broder, who was an uncle of Mr. Sweet.

These are days of great uncertainty for village retailers, many of whom have been forced to the wall because of the competition from larger centres and the development of improved highways making shopping in those centres much easier and more convenient than during earlier periods.

That Mr. Sweet, who has legislative experience to his credit, has been able to overcome all of these obstacles and remain in possession of a large village trade is tribute alike to his own capacity as a business man and to the confidence reposed in him by the community of Winchester and its surroundings.

Girl Badly Burned

What might have been a fatal accident occurred on Monday morning last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Billings, when their daughter, Annie, was badly burned about the body, through her clothes becoming ignited by a spark from the kitchen stove. The girl was working in the kitchen and in some manner, got too near the open fire. Her clothes immediately took fire. She endeavoured to quench the flames by going to a rain-water barrel that was at the rear of the house, but failed. The fire was finally put out by the girl jumping in the ditch which contained a foot of water near the houes, but not before she had received painful burns about the back. Dr. P. McLaughlin was at once called and he dressed the wounds, which are of a superficial nature but the child will be some time before they are completely healed.

THE SUNDAY DRIVER

The Sunday driver's back again,
His Winter's nap is through,
He passes on each hill and curve
Another car or two.

He beats the signal by a draw,
And passes with its click,
And travels fifty-five or more
Wherever traffic's thick.

He can't be bored by signs to stop,
They give him such a pain,
The railroad crossings lure him on
To race a flying train.

—J. R. Wiggins in the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

MODERN LULLABY

Rock-a-bye baby, upon the bough,
You get your milk from a certified cow
Before your eugenic young parents were wed,
They had decided how you should be fed,
Hush-a-bye, baby, on the tree-top,
If grandmother trots you, you tell her to stop,
Shun the trot-horse that your grandmother rides,
It will work harm to your little insides.
Mamma's scientific—she knows all the laws,
She kisses her darling through carbolized gauze,
Rock-a-bye, baby; don't wriggle and squirm;
Nothing is near you that looks like a germ.

I AM . . .?

An enemy of Truth, a blurrer of ideals.

A flatterer, who aims only to make a good impression.

I am the difference between going just right and a little off the track.

I am used to create laughter; as a poor substitute for wit and humor.

Like a noisome weed, I grow from little beginnings to enormous proportions.

I lower the reputation, smirch character, make a man or woman unreliable.

I am a sensationalist. People use me as a painter uses vivid coloring. They want to be vivid, striking, to arrest attention.

In the degree that a man or woman makes use of me does he or she depart from that which should be dearer than life itself.

In a very short time I stifle the "still, small voice" that approves the right and disapproves the wrong.

I am the fruit of an uncurbed imagination, which does not pause to discriminate, to determine whether I am ethical or unethical.

I am an unconscious deceiver, an imposer upon credulity, thinking not, caring not, what harm I may do myself or others.

I bear the same relation to truth that a composition full of discordant notes, played on an instrument out of tune, bears to music.

I am an indicator of slipshod mental processes, of talking without thinking, where the tongue takes control and runs away with the mind.

I am . . . exaggeration. O.S.M.

Ministerial Association Hold First Meeting

The first regular meeting of the Dundas-Grenville Ministerial Association was held in United Church, South Mountain, on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Devotions were conducted by Rev. D. R. Morrison, Hallville, who outlined the need of this organization and the values that ought to be derived from the coming together regularly to discuss important problems existing in the churches of different localities and denominations.

A thought-provoking paper on the subject "The Failure of Present Day Preaching" was given by Rev. W. J. Hurlow of the Kemptville Presbyterian Church. Stinging criticisms of clerical inefficiency from a recent book by Karl Barth were set forth and evaluated, and a tribute was paid to the contribution which the Oxford Group Movement is making to the work of the church Rev. H. L. Morrison of the Kemptville United Church led a discussion of the paper.

Permanent officers were appointed as follows:

President—Rev. D. R. Morrison Hallville.

Vice-President—Rev. W. D. Turner, Winchester.

Treasurer—Rev. A. W. R. Mackenzie, Spencerville.

Secretary—Rev. H. G. Tuttle, Heckston.

The Osgoode Golf Club has been reorganized for the coming season and preparations are being made for a good golfing year. A green-keeper is being hired to keep the fairways and greens in first class shape. The course is only twenty miles from Winchester and should attract numbers of local people who are interested in the "royal and ancient game." Mr. Harry L. Flora was appointed a member of the membership committee at a recent meeting. The initial fee is set at five dollars.

A most interesting event took place recently at Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, when 427 French-Canadians were received into the communion of the Church of England by the laying on of lands. They were presented by the Rev. Victor Robard, rector of L'Eglise du Redempteur. Their own church being too small, the Cathedral was placed at their disposal. The sacred rite was administered by Most Rev. I. Stringer, D.D., Archbishop of Rupert's Land, Bishop J. R. Lucas of Toronto, and Bishop Farthing of the Cathedral.

The engagement is announced of Miss Helen Hare, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Hare, Iroquois, to Ross L. Davidson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Davidson, of Peterboro, Ontario. The marriage to take place the early part of June.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Summers, of Summerdales, Iroquois, Ont., just returned home from Toronto and vicinity, after spending several days visiting the largest and most modern poultry farms in Central Ontario. And reports that there is a boom on in the baby chick orders at the present time.

Mrs. Keziah Doran Gardner, aged 95 years, died in the Mercy Hospital at Watertown, N.Y., a few days ago, and six hours later Leon D. Gardner, aged 53, died in the same city after some days' illness of pneumonia. Mrs. Gardner, widow of Henry Gardner, succumbed to a fracture of the skull received in a fall at her home. She was born in Iroquois on August 5, 1837, a daughter of Simeon Doran, and moved to Northern New York when 16 years of age.

Murray H. King, a salesman for magazines is in Brockville jail awaiting trial on a charge of raising a cheque given to him in payment for a subscription to a magazine by a customer residing in Athens, Ont.

On Sunday evening last, the United Church, Iroquois, was the scene of a most enjoyable musical programme presented by forty-two young men from the Seth Parker Bible Class of Stewarton United Church, Ottawa. After the service the visiting choir was served refreshments at the home of Mrs. Fred. Beach.

One of the most enjoyable parties of the season was held in the community hall on Friday evening last under the auspices of the North Mountain Athletic Society, the teaching staff of the Consolidated School being in charge of arrangements About four hundred guests were present and enjoyed a pleasant evening dancing. The patronesses were: Mrs. S. Fetterly, Mrs. W. J. Allen, Mrs. D. Beggs, Mrs. D. Kerr, Mrs. B. B. Black, Mrs. E. Bush, Mrs. J. Hyndman.

OBITUARY

THE LATE MRS. JOHN BENTON

There passed away this week, Mrs. John Miller Benton, of Apple Hill, at the age of 84 years. Deceased was born in Hawkesbury. She resided with her son at Apple Hill since the death of her husband at Berwick nine years ago. She leaves to mourn four sons, Charles, of Apple Hill; James, of Iroquois; John, of Williamsburg; Alonzo, of Finch, and one daughter, Mrs. Jas Dingwall, of Finch, also thirty-nine grandchildren.

CHILD PASSES AWAY

A promising young life was taken on Saturday, May 6th at 9 a.m. in the passing of Raymond Hosea Deeks, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Deeks, age four years, eleven months. Following an attack of influenza last November, the child had developed lung trouble which gradually became worse. He passed to the Great Beyond on Saturday. Throughout his entire illness, the little boy exhibited the greatest patience and cheerfulness and notwithstanding his pain retained his happy disposition, the memory of which is a great comfort to his parents in their sorrow.

The funeral was held on Sunday, May 7th in the Wesleyan Church, the service being conducted by Rev. D. W. Summers, assisted by Revs. Leroy and McCorriston, of Ottawa. During the service Mrs. Kenneth Tutte rendered a beautiful solo, "Beyond the Blue." The interment took place at Maple Ridge cemetery, the pall-bearers being four young men, Teddy Van Bridger, Charles Walker, Lyle Summers and Lloyd Holmes.

Left to mourn the child's passing are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Deeks and one brother and a sister. The many floral tributes are an indication of the manner in which the little boy had found his way into the hearts of those who knew him. They include: Pillow, Mrs. Frank Elliott and Mrs. T. O. Van Bridger; sprays, Melvin families, Mrs. Mary Deeks and Fred, the Wesleyan Sunday School, Mrs. Ray Empey; cut flowers, Mrs. Willie Barclay and Miss Vivian Brown.

SUFFERS DISLOCATED SHOULDER

While playing with his brother Donald, on Saturday last at their home, Master Dick McIntosh, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Strader McIntosh, Williamsburg, had the misfortune to slip while jumping over a small log and fall, dislocating his arm at the elbow. He was taken to Dr. W. M. Locke's office and the proper treatment administered. He is still suffering a good deal from the injury but a complete recovery is looked forward to.

VERNON FARMER LOSES SECOND HOME BY FIRE

VERNON, Ont., May 10.—Mr. Howard McRostie, a farmer residing about four miles north of here had the sad misfortune to lose his house through fire, last Friday evening about five o'clock. The cause of the fire is not known. It apparently started in a shed adjacent to the summer kitchen and though all efforts were made to save the main house, it fell a prey to the flames. A particularly sad feature is that Mr. and Mrs. McRostie had just recently purchased this farm, their house on the previous farm having been destroyed by fire early last October.

SALARIES CUT AT MORRISBURG

Teachers in both the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute and the Morrisburg Public Schools received a five per cent cut this week in salaries as a result of a decision made Monday night at the regular meeting of the board of education.

Six people are dead in Rapid City, South Dakota, through an attempt on the part of the father, Mr. John Wilcox, to light a fire in a stove using gasoline. The entire family, including the four children were in the kitchen at the time. An explosion immediately occurred when the match was struck and before any could escape, the room was a seething furnace.

Mr. Mark Summers, of Summerdales, Iroquois, Ont., makes large purchase of seven hundred O.A.C. Barred Rock pulets from Central Ontario. They are from stock that are now producing over two hundred eggs per years, blood tested and Government approved.

Mr. Summers is a son of the late D. E. Summers, Winchester, known then as Summerdale Holstein Farms. Mr. Summers is very optimistic about the future for the poultry business and believes prices will be on the upgrade very soon again, and that no one should neglect the poultry for other farm stock at the present time, but should continue to improve same from higher producing stock.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Magistrate McCormick has been kept busy during the past few days. The principal offenders to come before him being those who have transgressed the Motor Traffic law, and as a result many had to reluctantly part with anything from $15 to $50. There were a couple of cases from Chesterville, one from Crysler, one from Kemptville, and other places.

There were also two convictions against the Liquor Control Act from the Township of Mountain and each conviction meant $100 and costs.

A young man named Hodd, from Huntingdon, Que., who was riding a bicycle from Ottawa southward, when he got to Vernon he found his wheel too wobbly, and seeing some bicycles near the Vernon School he discarded his own and deliberately took one near the school. It happened to belong to a son of Spurgeon Boyd, and the young man was soon traced to Winchester, Mr. Boyd followed him here, and found he was on his way south, so speeding up in pursuit the thief was caught at Williamsburg and brought to Winchester. The offence having been committed outside this territory, the young man was taken to Ottawa, where he will be tried.

Offenders against the Motor Traffic law find it hard to explain their neglect or offense, but in these hard times some of them find it harder to put up the fine imposed, but, according to the law, of "what necessity demands must be provided," the fines have to be paid even though others than the offenders suffer for it.

OSGOODE STATION

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Daley on Sunday, April 30, a son.

The W.M.S. of St. James United Church held their May meeting on Tuesday evening of last week at the home of the president, Mrs. A. F. Shorten. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Scobie, Mrs. C. A. Morphy and Mrs. A. R. Wilson. Mrs. Wm. McCallum had the study topic. Plans were made to attend the Conference branch meeting in Ottawa on May 9, 10 and 11.

The "Royal Scot" England's fastest train created a lot of interest as it passed through Osgoode on Tuesday night of last week, to judge by the large crowd which thronged the station and streets to catch a glimpse of the fleeting flyer as she whistled through on her way West.

Last week was "Clean Up" week and all lawns and streets got a thorough raking up which has added a great deal to the beauty of the homes in this pretty little town, which deserves the term of "A village of well kept lawns and clean streets."

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. W. Scrivens, of Ottawa, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wilson on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lindsay and family of Kars, have moved to Osgoode and are occupying the house lately vacated by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Lindsay. We welcome them to our village.

The Sunday School pupils of St. James United Church are preparing to observe Mothers' Day in the Sunday School next Sunday morning and will use the very fine program outlined by the O.R.E.C. of Toronto. A large attendance is hoped for.

Mrs. L. Mundle, of Ottawa, spent a few days of last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. T. Willis.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pettipiece, of Ottawa, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Swerdfeger.

The members of the I.O.O.F. will attend divine service in St. James United Church on Sunday evening next.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cranston, of Ottawa, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Robinson.

Miss Mildred Saunders, of Toronto, is spending a couple of weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips spent a day last week the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Campbell, Manotick.

Miss Reta Campbell, Ottawa, is spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt and family moved to Avonmore on Monday where Mr. Hunt will sell Rawleigh's goods We wish them success in their new home.

Mrs. A. P. Wilson entertained the members of the "Onward" young ladies Bible class to tea on Monday evening. After tea the regular class meeting was held when plans were made to attend summer school at Iroquois in July and also other class activities were discussed.

The death occurred on Saturday of a very fine and highly respected citizen of Osgoode in the person of Mrs. John Smith. The late Mrs. Smith was in her 68th year and was only ill one week. Of a quiet disposition she had made many friends since coming to Osgoode by whom she will be greatly missed. She leaves to mourn her loss her bereaved husband and one son, Percy, also one sister, Mrs. E. Gerard, of Ottawa, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended. The funeral was held on Monday from her late residence to St. Paul's Anglican Church and from thence to Beechwood cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were Messrs. George Francis, John Saunders, Thos. H. Saunders, Samuel Patterson, Fred. York and Johnston Allen. Rev. W. Westell, pastor of St. Paul's Church had charge of the service and spoke very highly of the deceased. The many floral offerings marked the esteem in which Mrs. Smith was held in the hearts of her many friends.

THE CATERPILLAR

Look carefully at your apple and other fruit trees. The caterpillars are resting early and seem to be more in evidence than usual this spring. Don't let them get the start on you, for they multiply very rapidly.

WINCHESTER SPRINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ball and son made a business trip to Ottawa last week.

Mrs. A. McIntosh and children from Inkerman, spent the week-end with her parents, here.

Mr. George Bush left for Hallville, where he will spend some time with his daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hutt are spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. G. Bolten.

The neighbors in this community extend their sympathy to Mrs. (Rev.) Leroy in the death of her brother in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Merkley sold their house and lot at Williamsburg and bought the house and lot south of Fraser Bolten's store.

Mr. H. Marlett from Prescott, the Watkins man, spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Casselman.

Mrs. Lida Woods from Montreal, is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. C. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Robinson.

Mrs. Orren Casselman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Casselman and family spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Strader at Winchester Station.

We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Merkley to our community.

Dr. Herbert Bruce Speaks On Insanity

URGES STERILIZATION OF MENTALLY DEFICIENT BEFORE MARRIAGE

A few nights ago Hon. Dr. Herbert Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, delivered an address before the Canadian Club at Hamilton that should give all Canadians cause for serious thought. He spoke on the subject of race degeneration, the menace of which to Canada's national life he could not overstate, he said. The best minds of the day were seeking a solution to the economic problems which recurred and did threaten the State, but there was another problem which was just as menacing, he said, and that was the mentaly deficient and the propagation of their kind. His Honor strongly urged that the sterilization of all such persons be made compulsory if the blood-stream of Canada's national life was not to be gravely polluted by this form of racial impurity.

Insanity's Increase.

He declared that insanity was increasing at an alarming rate in the United States, and also in Canada. If the present increase continued in the United States for the next seventy-five years, half the population of that large country would be in asylums and the remaining half would be oppressed to support them. To a lesser degree, the same alarming situation prevailed in Canada.

All the medical science in the world, Dr. Bruce said, stood bankrupt and powerless before one idiot with societys permission to propagate his kind. Fifty per cent. of the inmates of the asylums of the United States were the offspring of mentally deficient parents, he said.

"The remedy, the recourse which can save us from the horrors incidental to a continued spread of deficiency, is sterilzation for individuals contemplating marriage when there exists the taint of insanity, mental deficiency or epilepsy in the family history. Such individuals should be subjected to thorough psychiatric examinations, and sterlization advised if the dangers of their progency seem great.

HENRY'S SHORTHAND SCHOOL, OTTAWA.

No school in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa Schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising that business men, in advertising for stenographers should specially say: "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

Sixth Installment

SYNOPSIS: Pauline, sentimental, trustful, sincere and loving lover, becomes engaged and marries Dennis O'Hara in the belief that their blissful happiness will continue unchanged thru all the years. On her wedding morning she awakens with a strange premonition that maybe love does change, a thought buried in her mind by a letter from her closest friend, Barbara the night before. Pauline adored Barbara who had been married, was the mother of a child which died, but now divorced and living a life which some of her friends could not understand. Between Dennis and Barbara is a seeming wall of personal dislike by both. Six months after Pauline's wedding, Barbara comes for a short stay. During this visit Barbara confesses to Pauline that there is a man she really loves, but she refuses to tell his name. Barbara decides suddenly to go home and Pauline insists Dennis drive her to the station. Irritated, Dennis drives recklessly, and they are in a crash. Barbara escapes injury but Dennis' leg is broken. As he returns to consciousness he learns who the man is that Barbara loves. It's himself. Dennis spends several weeks in the hospital. Barbara returns to stay with Pauline, but on one pretext or another fails to visit Dennis with Pauline at the hospital. Pauline plans highly for Dennis' return home . . .Barbara stays only one day after Dennis' return from the hospital. Much against his will Dennis finds a new attraction in Barbara, who plays the same cool and detached role as formerly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That's very unkind. What mischief am I in? I've never done you any harm, have I?"

"I should never give you the chance," he answered grimly.

Barbara laughted, a cool laugh of amusement. Then she moved away from the fire and sat down on the couch. "Well, to-morrow I shall be gone," she said with a little yawn.

Dennis fidgeted. "Where are you going?" he asked rather jerkily.

"Home—you must come and see me some day. Get Pauline to bring you," Barbara said with a faint mockery, "if you don't care to come alone."

He turned round, looking at her squarely. "Do you imagine that I am afraid of you?" he asked angrily. Barbara opened her eyes wide; they looked very dark, like deep pools of still water. "My dear man, what a question! Of course not."

"That's fortunate," he said "because I've never been afraid of a woman yet, and I'm not likely to begin now."

Brave-sounding words! when in his heart he knew that he was more afraid of Barbara Stark than he had ever been of anyone in his life.

* * * *

"There is no need for anyone to get up and see me off," she told Pauline. "If the maid will bring me some toast and a cup of tea—that's all I want. I'm catching the nine something."

"It used to be Dennis's train," Pauline said reminiscently. "I know it's wicked of me, but I'm so glad he can't go back to business yet. It will be heavenly to have him all to myself for a little while."

"A second honeymoon," Barbara said lightly. "Well, make the most of it, but not too much of him."

Pauline's eyes clouded.

"I wish you wouldn't always say things like that; it just spoils everything. Of course, I know you think love doesn't last, but——"

"It depends whose love," Barbara interrupted. "But why argue? We can only speak of life as we find it. Run along to bed, but don't tell Dennis I am leaving early." Pauline repeated Barbara's words to Dennis and was surprised at the anger in his eyes.

"That woman's always sneering at me," he said angrily. "I'm damned if I'll have it. I'll get up and see her off."

His wife looked disappointed. Like all women of her type, she loved to make a fuss of a man; she would have been perfectly happy to keep Dennis bedridden for another month; it would have been bliss for her to wait on him. But secretly she rather admired Dennis for showing Barbara he was not a mollycoddle.

They had just finished breakfast when Barbara came downstairs.

"Oh, good-morning, my children!" she said benignly.

"Have you got everything packed?" Pauline asked. "I know you're so forgetful. I'll just run up and look round your room." She clattered away upstairs, happily assured that she was doing the right thing and looking after her departing guest in the proper fashion.

"You're an early bird," Dennis said.

"Yes!" Barbara did not turn round from the mirror, "I've got to catch the worm, you see."

"Isn't that rather hard on Barnet?" Dennis asked maliciously. "I hear from Pauline that you are lunching with him."

"He's not the particular worm I was referring to," Barbara said coolly. She turned round now and met his gaze steadily. "You don't look in the least like an invalid, you know."

Dennis half rose from his chair: "Look here——" he began impulsively, then stopped as Pauline came clattering downstairs again.

"You've left a handkerchief and a pair of bedroom slippers and a comb," said Pauline all in a breath. She plumped them down on a chair. "Where's your dressing case? They'll all go in," she said. "And the taxi's at the door. I do wish you weren't going. When shall I see you again? Come down soon, won't you, if you can stand such a quiet couple."

She liked to think that she and Dennis had been married for years; she was sure he was as happy and satisfied to be alone with her as she was with him. She would have been bewildered if she could have seen into his mind at that moment. Barbara gave Dennis the tips of her fingers in farewell.

Barbara gave Dennis the tips of her fingers in farewell. "Good-bye. Get well quickly," she said and was gone.

"Good-bye. Get well quickly," she said, and was gone.

Dennis went back to his seat at the breakfast table. He could hear Pauline's affectionate farewells and adjurations to come again soon.

Something in him badly wanted to get up and go to the window to see the last of her, and something else kept him sitting unwillingly where he was. Before they turned the corner of the street Barbara leaned out of the window and looked back at the little house with its shining windows and dainty curtains. Pauline still stood in the doorway, waving her hand, but it was not for her that Barbara looked.

* * * *

Jerry Barnet met Barbara in New York. He was a square-shouldered, cheery soul, with a loud laugh and an absolute gift for making a hash of things. He boasted rather proudly that nothing ever went right for him.

"Born under an evil star," he would chuckle. "Well, it's all in the game of life, I suppose. Awful!"

He had failed in business and failed in marriage, and at the moment was keeping his head above water and having what he called a "bon time" because his father had recently died and left him a considerable sum of money. "I shall lose it all, you see if I don't," he told Barbara cheerfully. "The only hope is for you to take me in hand and look after things a bit."

Barbara raised her delicate brows. "My dear man! What would your wife say?"

He grinned. "She'd say what she always did, I suppose—'Jerry, you're a damned fool!' Not so sure she's not right, too."

"Thought you were never coming back," he told her, as they drove away in his car. "Gave me an awful turn when I heard about that smash. Supposin' you'd been killed. Awful!"

"I got off with a sprained wrist. Dennis O'Hara was badly hurt, though."

"So you said in your letter. Rather nice chap, isn't he? Friend of mine—Stornaway—knows him very well; doctored him, didn't he?"

"Yes, I believe so."

"He likes him—said he felt rather sorry for him, too."

"Sorry for him?"

"Yes, unhappy marriage, isn't it? Like the rest of us—eh? Awful!"

Barbara paled a little. "My dear man," she said calmly, "Dennis O'Hara has only been married six months, and his wife is a great friend of mine, charmingly pretty, and she adores him."

"Dare say she does; it's generally one-sided," Jerry agreed, unabashed.

Barbara looked ahead of her down the busy street; there was a little smile on her reddened lips—rather a wistful smile.

It was nearly a fortnight later that Pauline wrote that she and Dennis were coming to town.

Barbara was breakfasting in bed, with blinds drawn against the bright morning sunshine because her head ached.

She had had what she called a hectic time since her return to town—late nights, and too many cocktails, and too little sleep.

She had dashed off a short note to Pauline thanking her for her hospitality and hoping Dennis was progressing favorably, to which Pauline had replied at her usual length of four closely written pages.

"I adore waiting on him, of course," she wrote, with many underlinings. "But, poor darling, he hates being ill, and he isn't quite a saint over it. Still, I don't mind anything as long as he gets well." Barbara had not answered. There seemed nothing to say—besides, she had been too busy racing about with Jerry Barnet, turning night into day and getting herself talked about.

She opened Pauline's second letter with a yawn, but after the first glance she sat up and read intently.

Darling Barbara:

I have some news for you which I hope you will be pleased to hear, though I am not sure whether I am pleased or not . . .

Barbara's face hardened. "Going to have a baby, I suppose," she told herself cynically. With an effort she turned again to the closely written pages.

We are coming to New York for a fortnight's holiday. The doctors say Dennis must not go back to business yet. You can imagine how amazed I was when he suggested coming to town and doing some theatres and things! Can you imagine it? He said he thought New York would do me good. We are coming next Wednesday, and are staying at the Albion. It's quiet and not smart, but it's central, isn't it? and not far from you. I hope you are in town, and not thinking of dashing off anywhere just yet. Dennis has told me to get some new evening rocks, and gave me quite a big check. I shan't spend it till I come to New York, of course, so that you can go with me. Your taste is so much better than mine. Dennis is much better and walks quite well. I am sure you will think he has made a wonderful recovery. I asked Dr. Stornaway if he thought it was the right thing for Dennis to go to New York, and he said, "Let him do what he fancies." So, of course, there was no more to be said. Anyway, I shall see you—I have such a lot of things to tell you, darling. . . .

Barbara laid the letter down and closed her eyes. Somehow she was not at all surprised. Experience had taught her that people—especially men—did the most unexpected things.

Wednesday! and to-day was Monday. Well, she must have a look at her wardrobe and furbish it up a bit. She stretched out a languid hand and rang for Mrs. Mellish—a quiet little widow who looked after the flat.

"My bath, please," Barbara said briskly. "Oh, and get Mr. Barnet on the 'phone."

She got up and went over to the mirror, jerking up the blind as she went. Sunshine, warm and beautiful, fell all about her, and with sudden incongruity she wondered why on earth Dennis wished to come to New York.

PROPHETIC SIR WILFRID

When the reciprocity pact submitted to the people of Canada in 1911 went down to overwhelming defeat, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, responsible for its negotiation, made the following statement:

"Sometimes I realize that I have reached the allotted span, the threescore yars and ten. I may not live to see it, but the time will come, my friends, when my fellow-countrymen will wonder if, after all, Fielding and Laurier were not right in seeking freer trade in natural products with our neighbors, while increasing our trade with England through the British preference. Even my brilliant young friend from Calgary (Mr. Bennett) may concede it some time. I cannot pierce the mists of the future, none of us can but I am confident that coming years will vindicate our course."

Sir Wilfrid spoke prophetically. The "young friend from Calgary" to whom he addressed his remarks 22 years ago is to-day adopting the policy which he fought so bitterly at the general election of 1911. He has already gone to Washington, as Fielding and others did before 1911, and discussed the question of reciprocal trade with the President of the United. He has committed his party to a policy which it fought tooth and nail when the Laurier adminisration went down to defeat, and his party has accepted his leadership in this regard. All over the country, Conservatives are to-day publicly approving a course of action which they condemned wholeheartedly in 1911.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was a far-seeing statesman, one of the greatest that Canada has ever produced. He realized that, while his policy might be rejected by the people when submitted to them, it was nevertheless the right and proper course for a Canadian government to pursue and he predicted that eventually it would prove acceptable even to those who were its most bitter foes. To-day the Laurier policy of 1911 is being vindicated, if it needed vindication, by the Bennett policy of 1933, and Sir Wilfrid's wisdom and foresight are confirmed where there was the least expectation of confirmation taking place.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

May Become Universal

FOREIGN NATIONS ADOPT ENGLISH LANGUAGE

The English language is rapidly gaining ground and will be firmly established as the universal language in one or two more generations according to an article in the Swedish periodical "International Co-operation," the organ of the Information Bureau for Peace and International Co-operation in Stockholm.

"There is no doubt that amongst the younger generation in most countries there is a strongly growing interest in English and that the ability to speak the language will soon be spread to an extent that only 20 years ago we were unable to realize," the article begins. The author points out that as a native language English is used by roughly 220,000,000 people, or about one-ninth of the world's population, spread all over the globe. As an auxiliary language English is used by untold numbers in all parts of the world, and the places where English cannot be used as a means of communication between strangers are in a distant minority. Thus in practically all the ports of the earth English is the natural linguistic link between people of different races and nationalities.

The author emphasizes that tuition in English is improving and increasing in the schools the world over and has been introduced in the lower public schools of many countries. The widely spread English-speaking contributed to increase the interest and knowledge in English amongst the young people. In this way, the author concludes, the question of adopting an international auxiliary language will ultimately be solved without any contest, dispute or conference resolutions.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH FINANCIAL CONDITION NOT CAUSE OF ALARM

There is nothing in the financial condition of the Presbyterian church in Canada to cause worry or alarm," declared James Dutton, layman of Peterboro, speaking in connection with the budget report at the session of the synod of Toronto and Kingston. Although the givings of congregations had decreased a little more than 15 per cent., there had been a corresponding decrease in expenses, the work had suffered in no way, explained Mr. Dutton, and, in spite of decreased givings, the church had succeeded in paying $18,000 off the accumulative debt during the past year.

Electricity!

No tale of wonders and enchantments has ever been written that excelled the actual reality which is today at mankind's fingertips in the wonders and magic of electricity. Step by step the intelligence of man leads him on through the ages of civilization until to-day our most common utility is in fact far beyond the mere comprehension of even the dreams of our forefathers. The Hydro System brings all of this to the citizens of Winchester. There is no new development or equipment in the fields that is not available to the life and business of local citizens. The drudgery can be taken out of housework if you let electric energy be the slave.

Possibly your home needs re-wiring or the present wiring a little overhauling. If so let us know about it. We are here to see that you get the best possible results from Hydro Light and Power.

Large Estate Left By Late T. P. Loblaw

Toronto, May 5.—An estate valued at $2,196,301 was left by the late T. P. Loblaw, former president and general manager of the chain of stores bearing his name, it was shown when application for probate of the will was made. The residence at Mimico is bequeathed to Mr. Loblaw's daughter, Jean, and the stores are bequeathed to James F. and John B. Loblaw, foster sons. The art gallery of Toronto is to receive two paintings, and any monies owing to the estate by the Stevenson Memorial hospital, Alliston, Ont., are to be cancelled. The advances to the hospital amounted to approximately $125,000. Emmanuel College, Victoria University, is left $25,000. A trust fund of $200,000 is left Mr. Loblaw's daughter. Toronto Western hospital is to receive a total of $500,000, while the residue of the estate is to form a trust fund for the downtown Kiwanis Club of Toronto to be used for under-privileged boys and other work.

CASE OF TWO MEN

Take the case of two men, John and James. They do the same kind of work and get the same pay. When one has a job the other has a job. When one is idle the other is idle. Last summer they had a fair amount of work. James saved $150 and put it in the bank. John bought a radio and some new furniture. In the winter both are out of work. As James had $150 in the bank he was not eligible for Relief. As John had no money he was put on relief. In the spring John and James are both without money. But John has his radio and furniture, while James has nothing.

PROMINENT MAN DEAD

Among the deaths recorded over the past week-end is George Barber Allison, 53, president of several automobile and real estate concerns, churchman and clubman at Westmount, Que. He was born in Chesterville.

MAN DROWNED AT CARDINAL

Alan H. Beggs, 38-year-old employee on the Government swing bridge at Cardinal was drowned in the canal there on Friday last. He was endeavoring to rescue a child who fell into the water when the accident occurred. His body was recovered 30 minutes after he sank, but the efforts of two doctors failed to revive him.

Mr. Beggs had been fishing in a boat with three children. In attempting to climb ashore from the boat, the one child fell into the canal. Beggs dove into the water in an effort to rescue the child but failed to rise to the surface. The child was saved by the others in the boat by means of an oar. He is survived by a widow and four children. He moved to Cardinal four years ago from Pembroke, where he was born. Mr. Beggs was a veteran of the Great War.

GIRL FORCED TO KILL FATHER'S MURDERER

To shoot Oliver Day, the murderer of her father, John Schmitz, at the command of the slayer was the unique and dreadful experience of Loretta Schmitz in Elgin, Ill. Day, infatuated with the girl and maddened with drink, murdered her father with a shot gun, then handing the weapon to the girl ordered her to kill him with it or he would kill her. She complied. The jury rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide.

BORROWERS

Charles Lamb, tired of lending his books, threatened to chain Wordsworth's poems to his shelves, adding: "For of those who borrow, some read slow; some mean to read, but don't read; and some neither read nor mean to read, but borrow, to leave you an opinion of their sagacity. I must do my money-borrowing friends the justice to say that there is nothing of this caprice or wantonness of alienation in them. When they borrow my money they never fail to make use of it."

CHILD CAUSES SERIOUS WRECK

The desire of a seven year old child to see a railway train flatten a spike placed on the rail in front of a Southern Railway flyer on Tuesday, caused the death of one man, the derailment of seventeen coaches and $100,000 damages, railway officials report. It is a very dangerous practice to allow children to play on the tracks for, not only are they in personal peril but they may innocently jeopardize the lives of hundreds of persons and cause as above, thousands of dollars damages. It should be remembered that the right of way is the private property of any railway company and trespassers may be dealt with by law as such.

LASTEST KIDNAPPING CASE

Kidnapping has become prevalent in the United States during the last 18 months. The latest case is that of Margaret McNath, 10 year old daugther of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McNath, of Harwichport, Mass., members of wealthy and socially prominent families. The child had been sent to school in the afternoon of May 2nd, when about 2.30, a message was handed to the teacher requestng that the girl be excused for the rest of the afternoon. A man dressed as a chauffeur, rushed her into the limousine and drove away.

On May 7th police received their first real clue and a few hours later had taken into custody two brothers, Kenneth and Cyril Buck after McNath had paid $60,000 ransom money and solicited the aid of leaders in the underworld. The ransom money was also recovered. After a gruelling cross-examination it is alleged that the brothers have confessed to the abduction. They are now awaiting trial on May 22nd, bail being set at $100,000 apiece. In a preliminary hearing yesterday the men pleaded not guilty in the face of the police report that they had obtained confessions from both.

BEAUTIFUL HOME SURROUNDINGS

We are influenced to a greater extent than we realize by our surroundings. Children are particularly sensitive in this regard. Surely a home in and around which flowers are grown is a better place to bring up children than a home where no attention whatever is paid to these friends of the plant kingdom. As the twig is bent the tree is inclined, is an old saying and very applicable in connection with the training of children. If children are taught to love flowers and to become familiar with them, their hearts will be filled with love for these things which leave less room in their hearts and minds for the things that hurt and destroy.

Your individual efforts in making your home more attractive will improve your street and thus have a part in beautifying your community. Incidentally you will have helped to make a more beautiful Canada.—Bowmanville Statesman.

The body of Herbert McGowan, of Ottawa, was found floating in the Rideau Canal on Monday by the lockmaster. An inquest revealed that Mr. McGowan had died from natural causes while walking along the canal and had apparently toppled in. The late Mr. McGowan was born in Wales, Ont., and was a veteran of the Great War.

The Hunters Must Procure Licenses

All persons carrying firearms or airguns in the bush in Ontario for the purpose of shooting or hunting birds or animals must have a license, according to an amendment of the Game and Fisheries Act which went into effect this year. The amendment was passed on April 13 of this year. In former years no permit was required for Ontario residents to hunt in Ontario, bbut under the new order all must have licenses.

Thee have been many complaints about youths hunting birds, squirrels, etc., in the bush and this new enactment applies to them also. The penalty for a breach of the act is a fine of from $10 to $100 and confiscation of weapons. However, farmers are allowed to hunt on their own property without a permit, this being the only exception provided under the amendment.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Jesus Asserts His Kingship.
Lesson for May 14th. Mark 11:1-33.
Golden Text: Zechariah 9:9.

When Jesus entered Jerusalem on that first Palm Sunday long ago, He gave His approval, for the first time, to a public recognition of His claim to be the long anticipated Messianic King. For Him it was the day of public decision. The secrecy He had hitherto insisted upon was now cast aside. We observe the Master determined to make a public stand, and then to accept the cruel fate His enemies were preparing for Him.

Rev. Chas. E. Duan

So we watch Him riding as a King, openly hailed as such, into the very heart of His people, challenging friend and foe alike in the venerable metropolis so dear to Him. It is a day of triumph. But when we consider what followed, remembering that the acclaim of Sunday ended in the shame of Friday, the word "decision" seems preferable to the word "triumph." Certainly it was a day of decision for Him. He enters the capital city in the manner of a public confession. He accepts the plaudits of the multitude. His time has come.

But it was also a day of decision for His friends and enemies. The former, in their more thoughtful moments, were asking such questions as these: "What shall I do with this King, Who is openly challenging His foes? How shall I follow Him? How can I be of help to Him?" And His enemies the fanatical Zealots, the conservative Herodians, the reactionary Sadducees and Pharisees, all were thinking of how they might best crush this strange King.

On the day following Jesus' entry an event took place that played directly into the hands of His foes. He entered the temple, and, in protest against the fraudulent, unholy traffic there taking place in the sale of animals and the exchange of money, drove out, with a whip of cords, the merchants and money-changers, upsetting their booths, and rebuking their desecration of the sanctuary. This bold act of denunciation sharpened the antagonism to the Master, thereby hastening the dramatic catastrophe of His crucifixion.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

THINGS WORTH READING

So many good—and bad—things are in print nowadays, that we must be careful, lest we go astray and believe some stuff that is not good for us. Sometimes in the little folio circular that comes to my desk, I find some of the brightest, most practical ideas and so well worth reading.

A prominent woman, Marie Dressler, is quoted in "Food Facts," in substance, as follows:

The modern cult among women, is to reduce. No matter what happens just so you ladies remain slim. You resort to any means that promises a slim figure —some of it dangerous to you.

When you want to make a thing better, you fatten it, don't you? A cow, chicken, pig,—fruit or vegetable—you grow them as big as possible . . . Dressler sagely remarks, "I never could see any beauty in the human skeleton." She is right, too.

Let me quote this interesting woman again:

"I fail to see where the fun is in a life that holds nothing more than a sip of orange juice for breakfast, two biscuits and a raisin for lunch, and a small portion of a grated carrot for dinner. . . . This is a cruel diet for which there is no necessity. Women are advised against eating carbohydrates—and since they do not know what carbohydrates are, they 'play safe' and eat next to nothing at all."

I know a lady neighbor, who must weigh almost 300. She is as happy a woman as I know. Seemingly perfectly care-free. I saw her dining at a restaurant the other day—she sat at the corner on one of those little perches provided for speed. . . . She was the picture of happy content. Isn't that about all that matters?

CHECKING UP ON SPORTS

Countless pitchers in the American League have collaborated in making Babe Ruth walk nearly 31 miles over the same path from the plate to first base. Starting in 1915, when the Babe played his first full season in major league baseball as a member of the Boston Red Sox, he has walked more than any other player in either league. He has been passed more than 1800 tiems. In 1923 he walked 170 times.

* * *

When the baseball season started the other day, the world champion New York Yankees picked up to try to continue a record that began August 2, 1931. Starting that day, the Yankees went through the remainder of that season and through the entire 1932 season without being shut out.

Anti-semitic activities in Germany may result in the 1936 Olympic Games, originally scheduled for Berlin, to be shifted to Rome or Tokyo.

* * *

Argentine's Davis Cup team is, at this writing, on the high seas bound for the United States to play the winner of the North American competition. The matches will be played in Washington, D. C.

* * *

Back in 1905 Christy Mathewson, playing for the New York Giants, pitched three games against the Philadelphia Athletics within six days and won all three. During the three games he allowed 14 hits, but no runs; he struck out 19 men, he gave just one base on balls and hit one batman.

Football apparently is to have another new shift or huddle given it during the coming season by the Northwestern team. Dick Hanley, the coach, had what has been called a "jig-saw" shift in operation during the Spring practice. In this, the team comes out of the huddle and lines up at almost any place but the right position. Guards are at ends, tackles in the backfield and helfback at center. Then, at the quarterback's signal, they suddenly shift into correct positions, ready for the play.

PICKING HIS MARKET

JESUS' preaching was almost incidental. On only one occasion did he deliver a long discourse, and that was probably interrupted often by questions and debates. He did not come to establish a theology but to lead a life. Living more healthfully than any of his contemporaries He spread health wherever He went. Thinking more daringly, more divinely, He expressed himself in thoughts of surpassing beauty, as naturally as a plant bursts into bloom. His sermons, if they may be called sermons, were chiefly explanatory of His service. He healed a lame man, gave sight to a blind man, fed the hungry, cheered the poor; and by these works He was advertised much more than by His words.

Bruce Barton

The church, which covets advertising and receives little, is much more faithful in such good work than the man on the street suspects. Most of our colleges were founded under its inspiration; most of our hospitals grew out of, and are supported by its membership; the ideals that animate all civic enterprises are its ideals; and its members furnish to such movements the most dependable support. More than this, the day by day life of any genuine pastor is a constant succession of healings and helpings, as any one who has been privileged to grow up in a minister's family very well knows. The door-bell rings at breakfast-time; it rings at dinner-time; it rings late at night—and every ring means that some one has come to cast his burden upon the parsonage. A man comes blinded by his greed or hatred or fear—he opens his heart to the pastor, and goes away having received his sight. A parent whose child is dead in selfishness, comes leading the child by the hand. And sometimes the preacher is able to touch the withered veins of conscience, and life becomes normal and wholesome again. A man out of work, whose family is hungry, knocks timidly at the parsonage door. And somehow, from the parson's few loaves and fishes, the other family is fed.

These are Jesus' works, done in Jesus' name. If He were to live again, in these modern days, He would find a way to make them known—to be advertised by His service, not merely by his sermons. One thing is certain: He would not neglect the market-place. Few of His sermons were delivered in synagogues. For the most part He was in the crowded places, the Temple Court, the city squares, the centers where goods were bought and sold. I emphasized this fact once to a group of preachers.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mrs. B. Foote, a prominent Gananoque lady, died on Sunday last in her 60th year.

Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal leader, has made the definite announcement that he will abandon the Dominion House of Commons and contest the riding of Elgin in the provincial field.

At a congregational meeting called for the purpose at the Memorial Park Church, Carleton Place, on Tuesday evening, Rev. Donald Munro, B.A., of Russell, Ontario, was invited to become the minister in July.

The City of Cornwall has at last decided that Daylight Saving Time in that place should have gone into effect on May 1st and the city once more straightened out. All last week part of the city was still on Standard Time while the balance was on Daylight Saving.

There passed away on Thursday, a highly respected citizen of Hainesville, in the person of George Samuel Thibault, beloved husband of Bertha Sears. Mr. Thibault was the oldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Thibault and was born in 1852 in the Township of Matilda.

W. E. Crateau, Prescott, has purchased the weekly newspaper, the Iroquois Post, from the Iroquois Post Publishing Company and assumed control on May 1. The Post will be carried on under the management of J. A. Keeler, Iroquois. Mr. Crateau is also the owner and publisher of the Prescott Journal.

A disastrous fire on Sunday last destroyed the larger part of an entire city—Ellsworth, Maine. Over fifty business buildings were destroyed and two hundred residences, with the fire still raging. A section over half a mile wide and two miles long was completely laid in ruins.

SCALES AND JAILS

Observant Japanese Official Says Fat Men Are Rarely Criminals.

The Imperial University in Japan has awarded a diploma to a medical officer at a Japanese jail for his thesis on the proposition that fat men are rarely criminals. Crimes, says the writer, are almost invariably committed by the lean and slender. Presumably this deduction is founded on years of observation, and if true it lends great significance to a recent announcement from nearer home. An American writer says that twice as many men as women are now taking slimming treatments in New York. He suggests, as a possible explanation of this fact, that to keep slim is an outward and visible sign of solvency, only the rich and leisured being able to afford the expense and fag of being massaged, pounded, baked in Turkish baths or taught to throw medicine balls about. The man of moderate means, on the other hand, has in very truth to take his figure as it comes, eat what he can afford whether it's starchy or not, and presumably keep his nose, however fat, to the grindstone.

Was it because of his confidence in their superior morality that Caesar said, "Let me have men about me that are fat"? Is Mr. Al. Capone's generous figure really a disguise? Was Henry VIII. no worse than a dear old thing with a passion for variety in family life, and stout Nero really golden at the heart?—From Toronto Saturday Night.

COAL MERCHANT ON DOLE.

Owner of Wagons, Trucks, and an Employer of Labor.

What the prosecution described as one of the worst cases of fraud the British Ministry of Labor had ever dealt with was revealed at Coventry when Herbert Wright, of Longford, near Coventry, was charged with fraudulently obtaining about $119.00 unemployment pay.

It was stated that Wright had been carrying on business as a coal merchant with a coal-yard at Stockingford, and that he employed two or three men. He had several vehicles on which his name appeared, and two coal-trucks, which also bore his name. During one month Wright paid for coal purchases the sum of $775.00, and during the week mentioned in the summons he paid a colliery company over $165.00.

Wright, in a statement to the magistrates, explained that he took the business over through sheer kindness for his brother and his children, and that he considered he had done no harm. Asked who had the profits, he or his brother, he replied that there were neither profits nor wages.

Wright was sentenced to two months' hard labor.

SKY PAINTED IN REVERSE.

Of the millions who pass annually through the Grand Central terminal, New York, probably not one-half of one per cent. turn their faces skyward to look at what was once proclaimed the most beautiful ceiling in the world. It had a fine effect with stars, etc. But some cruel person came along and vowed that the whole works was incorrect in that the starry heavens were inverted. A painter's error put the stars on backward—that is, their arrangement is a mirror image of the same stars' real position in the Heavens. An interior decorator copied a "celestial globe" from the outside, instead of viewing it from within.

WHALE CHOKED ON CABLE.

Cruising the ocean bottom near the Panama Canal Zone, with his mouth wide open, a whale recently made the miscalculation of getting a submarine cable between his lips. He broke the cable all right, but in trying to get away from it he wrapped 180 feet of it about his body and choked himself to death. He weighed about 90 tons.

Our Column

It will soon be "Victoria Day."

Have you planted your garden yet?

The nights are chilly, but the days glorious.

Ploughing, seeding, harrowing, particularly the latter says the pessimist.

Winchester Springs is showing signs of progress, a barber shop is to be opened in that police village. Williamsburg had better look out or the Springs may resurrect another Dr. Anderson and his famous mineral water. No telling what the County of Dundas may yet produce.

It is never safe to allow children to play with sharp tools or implements. Two children, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Davis, of Aylmer, Que., were playing with an axe on Monday last. In some fashion the little girl got her fingers under the blade and her brother accidentally clipped off three of her fingers on the right hand. An accident it is, but one which will prove costly.

It requires 570 bees working during their entire lifetime to produce one pound of honey, their average total working time being from three to six weeks, according to an agricultural authority. During 1931 it is estimated there were produced in Canada 27,867,397 pounds of honey, which at 570 bees a pound, equals—well, you can figure out for yourself how many bees would be required to produce this amount.

Black and white will be the color of Ontario motor license markers for 1934, it has been announced. Convicts at the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, assisted by outside mechanics where skilled labor is required, will manufacture the plates, Hon. G. H. Challies, provincial secretary, said. The cost of manufacture for next year's series of white back ground with black numbers will be 8 1-2 cents per pair. This year's markers cost 10 cents.

In spite of hard times and talk of economic distress, a few things have remained unchanged in the course of events from those "glorious days" of 1929. The spring is rapidly advancing as is customary at this time of year, the buds are beginning to swell and give promise of an ample crop of foliage later on, the land is drying out nicely and farmers throughout the country are getting the spring's work don,e seeding has commenced and early indications are that good crops will be the result. Yes, all is not gloomy in this world, and truly thankful we should be that such is the case. Man's blunders are in the whole, responsible for our present situation.

There is much in a comment of the Orillia Packet-Times on the attitude of the people toward the leaders in public life. "A factor," it says, "which is making it more difficult to deal effectively with the situation in Canada is the lack of faith in our public men. Those who make personal attacks on our political leaders the basis of their politics are doing their country doubtful service. As it happens, the Premiers of the Dominion and of the Province of Ontario are both wealthy men—something unusual but not to their discredit. The fact, however, leaves them more or less at the mercy of every demagogue who cares to draw attention to their wealth in a manner that insinuates that they are hereby precluded from sympathising with or serving the common people.

BURNED TO DEATH IN GRASS FIRE

Iroquois Falls, Ont., May 10.—Three-year-old Jimmy Smith is dead here, burned in a forbidden grass fire while playing with other children. Although the youngsters had been told not to start the fire, one of them ignited some grass and the blaze spread to Jimmy's clothing. Jimmy MacDonald, a youthful playmate, beat out the flames with his bare hands, but the Smith lad was too severely burned to recover.

MUST FEED HUNGRY

Toronto, May 10.—Regardless of Ottawa policy, unemployment relief in Ontario, according to Premier Henry, "must go on."

"Nobody will be allowed to starve," he said yesterday. "We will have to feed the people. That is all we are doing now, and it will be continued."

Rumors had reached him, Mr. Henry stated, of the possibility of the Dominion government reducing its contribution to direct relief, but he had not, nor had any other Ontario government official, as far as he knew, received any confirmation of the rumor.

SATURDAY WEDDING AT DIXON'S CORNERS

Knox Presbyterian Church, Dixon's Corners, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon, May 6th, at 2.30 o'clock when Rev. William Merrilees, of Iroquois, assisted by Rev. T. A. Woods, of Ottawa, uncle of the bride, united in the holy bonds of matrimony Dora Agnes Bell, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs Andrew Bell, of Brinston, and Richard Lang, B.A., of Ottawa, son of Mr. J. G. Lang and the late Mrs. Lang, of St. Thomas, Ont.

The bride, who was given away in marriage by her father, wore a charming gown of pale blue net with an organza jacket and hat of the same shade. Her slippers were of pale pink crepe, with gloves of the same tone. She carried a shower bouquet of rapture roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Mae Bell, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor, and was attired in a New York model of pink waffle crepe, with a pink mohair and tulle hat. She carried a muff of pale pink and blue organdie roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Albert Mitchener, of Detroit, Mich., Mr. Earle Woods and Mr. George Lang acted as ushers. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers and greenery. Miss Jean Johnston, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. H. E. Reilley, of Montreal, sang "Constancy."

Mrs. Bell, mother of the bride, wore a pretty attire of cadet blue crepe, with grey accessories. Miss Lillian Lang, sister of the groom, was gowned in black chiffon velvet.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Bell assisted the bride and groom in receiving, after which a dainty luncheon was served to about sixty guests. Late in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Lang left by motor for Boston, from whence they will take a boat trip to New York. For travelling the bride wore a black and white shepherd's check suit with black accessories.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful articles. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. J. C. Lang, Miss Lillian Lang and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lang, of St. Thomas, Mr. J. G. Lang, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Reilley, of Montreal, Miss Lillian McGinnis, of Toronto, Miss Marie Brouse, of Vancouver, Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Woods and Mr. W. J. Reilley, of Ottawa, and other friends of the happy couple.

The best of good wishes and congratulations of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lang in their journey through life.
