Town gets more industries

Construction has begun on two major industrial buildings in Alexandria's industrial park, with the promise of at least 50, and possibly as many as 100, new jobs early in 1987.

Ground was broken last week for a $500,000, 16,000 square foot industrial plant on Industrial Boulevard, across from the town's new water tower. The building is being constructed by 142143 Canada Inc., a development firm owned by Gaetan Lacombe and Jacques Casavant, owners of the Glengarry Glass building on Macdonald Boulevard.

Mr. Lacombe said Thursday the building was being constructed for lease or sale to a suitable industry. He said an established heavy industry, with existing plants in both Ontario and Quebec, would likely be moving into the building by Feb. 1, but he was not free to reveal the firm's name.

A few financial details remain to be finalized, but it was nearly certain the new industry would take over the building as soon as it is finished, he said. He could not give a firm prediction concerning the number of jobs that would be created, but Alexandria Mayor J.P. Touchette said employment would likely reach 50 fairly quickly. The mayor added the new industry would make its own announcement later.

Mr. Lacombe said he and his partner were planning to construct two similar buildings for lease or sale to industrial firms that could be attracted to the industrial park in future.

Tradition Windows, a firm that moved to the industrial park last year, has begun construction of a 20,000 square foot addition to its modern plant on Leroux Street, at the corner of Macdonald Boulevard.

The expansion is the second of a four-phase development plan, according to company President Gerard Bougie. The original building, completed in September 1985, is 18,800 square feet in size. The third and fourth expansions, expected to be completed within five years, will each be substantially larger than the first two phases, he added.

Mr. Bougie predicted the current staff of 50 would double to 100 shortly after moving into the $600,000 expansion in February.

When the full project is completed, he said, the plant will be about 150,000 square feet in size, with up to 200 employees. The total investment will be in the neighborhood of $2 million.

He said the expansion was due to sharply increasing sales of the company's wooden windows and not to transfer of orders from a sister plant near Montreal.

"We will continue to manufacture the same lines of wooden windows, but we have to expand to meet the volume," he said. "We have increased business in both Ontario and Quebec. The products are well accepted and we have tripled our sales volume. We're obliged to meet customer demand."

Asked why they chose to locate in Alexandria, Mr. Lacombe and Mr. Bougie both listed the town's "good location" between Hwys. 401 and 417, a well-serviced industrial park with land available, a ready source of manpower and the assistance of town officials, particularly Mayor Touchette.

"We have been well served by the mayor and council of this town," said Mr. Bougie.

Mayor Touchete said the latest industrial announcements prove the value of maintaining a fully-serviced industrial park with available lots.

Without the park, he said, both industries would have had to locate elsewhere. He said he also welcomed the entrepreurial efforts of Mr. Lacombe's firm, arguing the town will be able to attract still more industries if good buildings are ready for them.

He noted the furniture company that moved into the former Graham Creamery building on Kenyon Street last year already employs between 40 and 50 people and is now in the process of constructing a 7,000-square-foot addition, with the prospect of creating still more jobs.

"We need these industries," he said. "We need the jobs they create, the taxes they pay and the spin-offs that help businesses throughout Glengarry. Ther're clean industries that we can handle without difficulty. They will be welcome additions to the community. I assure you.

"We are attracting more industries than many towns far bigger than Alexandria, not only because we have everything they need waiting for them, but also because we treat our existing industries royally and they bring their friens," said the mayor, "When prospective industries arrive, we make them feel welcome, we give them a tour of the town, provide all the information and help we can, and generally let them know that they are wanted in Alexandria."

Mayor Touchette said he was working with a prospective industry that could move into the vacant Glengarry Glass Building, but could give no other details until all financial details were worked out.

Mayor Touchette, as chairman of Alexandria's industrial committee, is the town's primary representative to prospective industries.

NEW INDUSTRY—This is an artist's depiction of a 16,000-square-foot industrial building under construction in Alexandria's industrial park for an unnamed firm expected to arrive in early February. The building is the first of three that may be constructed by one firm for sale or lease to new industries. The building is expected to cost about $500,000.

Lancaster woman honored for heroic rescue

OTTAWA — On Monday night, the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) presented Margaret MacDonald of Green Valley with an award for bravery in recognition of her heroic rescue of a driver from a burning truck.

OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson presided over the annual OPP Eastern Ontario awards ceremony held at the Chimo Inn in Ottawa. Eleven other recipients received commissioner's citations for acts of bravery, lifesaving, compassion and good citizenship.

"I am very pleased about receiving the award. However, I think most people would have tried to do the same thing," she says, emphasizing rushing to aid an injured driver was just a natural reaction. She does credit her nursing experience with an Intensive Care Unit in helping her realize the need for immediate action.

Mrs. MacDonald received the award in recognition of lifesaving assistance rendered a truck driver during an accident last year.

While on her way to work Oct. 1, 1985, Mrs. MacDonald noticed a truck skidding on its side on Hwy. 401 near Cornwall.

She rushed to the cab, now on fire, and helped the driver safely exit the vehicle before the gas tank exploded.

The truck exploded almost immediately after she and the driver had escaped. About three minutes had elapsed from the time she first spotted the accident to the final explosion.

Margaret attended the awards presentation and dinner with husband Gary. At home in Lancaster village, proud parents Milton and Mary MacDonald were taping television coverage of the event.

Rumoured rail line closing stalls multi-million dollar industrial expansion

Rumors that CN Rail was considering closing its main line through Alexandria have forced one of the town's biggest employers to stop construction in a $25 million expansion program.

Alexandria Moulding had already spent about $100,000 for foundation work on a 30,000 square foot building when company officials ordered construction stopped earlier this month, the firm's controller, John MacDonald, said Thursday.

He said the company had learned, through a reliable source he refused to name, that the railway was seriously considering closure of the line between Ottawa and Glen Robertson and discontinuation of all rail service to Alexandria.

The shutdown would destroy the company's plans to relocate its manufacturing and much of its warehousing operations to a 42-acre site north of the tracks, purchased last year. The moulding firm planned to spend about $1 million on the first phase of the expansion over the next five years, said Mr. MacDonald.

But the expansion would be senseless without continued use of the railway and the firm's own spur line for delivery of massive supplies of wood each year, he said. The company pays CN Rail about $2 million a year in freight charges and has kept a warehouse facility close to the rail line for a number of years.

Mr. MacDonald sent registered letters to CN, to Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria, SD&G MPP Noble Villeneuve and Alexandria Mayor J.P. Touchette demanding written assurances that the railway would be maintained permanently. Without written guarantees, he said, Alexandria Moulding would either have to drop its plans for expansion or consider another site near the CP Rail line through Green Valley.

Don Boudria spoke with CN officials Monday and to the presidents of CN and CN Rail on Tuesday, and came away with assurances that the company would never consider closing the line.

He told The Glengarry News Tuesday CN Rail President Ron Lawless denied and knowledge of plans to close the line and said the idea made no sense.

"He said CN can't shut down that line," added Mr. Boudria.

"He said it was a main line and there were several spur lines. In fact, he said there were no such plans in the short, medium or long term."

Mr. Boudria said the CN Rail president agreed to put his words in writing and guarantee the line will remain open. "If I don't have that letter in a couple of days, I'll call them and ask for it," he said.

The MP said it would be very difficult to close the line, in any event. It would have to be approved by the Canadian Transport Commission after public hearings and there would be a great deal of opposition, he said.

"Via Rail would be the first to complain," he added, noting closure of the line would cripple passenger rail service.

Mr. MacDonald told The News Alexandria Moulding would be ready to resume construction at any time once the company has received satisfactory written assurances from CN.

"We had no choice but to shut down until this matter was straightened out," he explained. "There's too much money involved."

Seperate school teachers get four per cent more in new contract with board

The teachers of the SD&G Roman Catholic Separate School Board's French schools will receive a pay hike of just over four per cent this year. The raise was outlined in a collective agreement signed by teachers and the board, Thursday night.

Teachers belonging to Association Enseignant/Enseignante Franco Ontarien (AEFO) have been negotiating for changes in the agreement since February. The two-year contract will be retroactive to Sept. 1 and in effect until Aug. 31, 1988.

The 250 teachers will receive a further 4.45 per cent raise in pay the following year. Additional major changes in the agreement include an increase in dental benefits, a slight one-year drop in pupil-teacher ratio and a raise in principals' allowances, says Roland Poirier, administrator of personnel.

The raise in pay means an inexperienced teacher with the basic requirements to obtain an Ontario teaching certificate will go from about $17,200 to $18,696 by the end of August 1988. An experienced teacher with tenure could climb from about $45,000 to $48,984.

Pupil-teacher ratios, which were 18.18 students to every teacher, will drop to 18.5 students during the 1986-87 school year, but will return to the original ratio for the 1987-88.

The teachers dental plan will be based on a 1983 schedule of fees for dental work rather than a 1981 schedule and this will again be upgraded to a 1984 schedule in January 1988.

Principals, who are paid a teacher's salary plus an allowance, will see more money. The allowances, which ranged from $3,400 to $6,800 a year, will increase by 2.5 per cent before August 1987 and by an additional 4.45 per cent prior to August 1988.

There are about 20 French schools in the system and approximately 4,500 students.

Charlottenburgh won't talk about union bid

WILLIAMSTOWN — No details about Charlottenburgh Township staff's application for certification with the Canadian Union of Public Employees (C.U.P.E.) are forthcoming from municipal and government officials and politicians.

Contacted Monday morning for information regarding an Ontario Labor Board Hearing scheduled for Friday, Nov. 14, in Toronto, Charlottenburgh Chief Administrative Officer Jay Currier would only say the hearing did not take place. Mr. Currier said agreements have been made, but not everything was in writing yet.

"I'm not sure what should be made public," he stated and suggested the Labor Relations Board might be able to privide more information.

Don Ainsley, registrar at the Labor Relations Board, shed no light on the matter, saying, "The parties involved would be in a better position to comment."

Reeve Morgan Major replied, "No comment," when asked if the staff had unionized.

He added nothing more would be volunteered until council had read the "documentation".

Township going to Toronto to push for Ruins funding

ST. RAPHAEL'S — A meeting has been scheduled in Toronto Nov. 28 to discuss the St. Raphael's Ruins.

Members of Charlottenburgh Council will be speaking with officials from the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, the Ontario Heritage Foundation (OHF) and consulting engineers Suter Keller Inc. of Ottawa.

Charlottenburgh administrator Jay Currier explained discussion of funding will be on the agenda. While he does not expect an immediate firm commitment, he hopes to have some estimate of forthcoming funding. Based on the results of the meeting, council will be better able to formulate a priority list of work to be done, to stabilize the ruins, he said.

Mr. Currier added municipal officials will then be able to speak with community leaders interested in private fund-raising. Once the township knows hoe much public funding is available, council will determine how much more money needs to be raised privately and what work can be done with the funds available.

The original estimate of $150,449 from John Entwistle Construction of Cornwall skyrocketed to $460,500 in a report from Suter Keller Inc. Council is now working from the higher estimate.

Charlottenburgh itself is prepared to contribute $60,000 over three years. This summer, the township received $82,700 from the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, based on an application using the original, lower estimate. Since then, the township has been seeking further funding from the ministry, as well as a commitment from the Ontario Heritage Foundation (OHF).

James Careless of the Heritage Foundation said Monday indications were positive for the St. Raphael's application.

"The OHF sees it as an important project that needs to be done," he said, adding the Ruins are of architectural and historical significance.

The OHF has already committed an undetermined amound of money, up to $50,000, to indicate its faith in the project. The grant will be awarded once final costs and supplementary funding have been determined and the project officially gets under way.

At the Nov. 28 meeting, Charlottenburgh and the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture will be discussing a second

ALEXANDRIA COPY CUP

Dann Rogers

Editor Dann Rogers in on holidays this week, allegedly skiing the mountain slopes of Vermont, so Copy Cup is being filled by the remainder of the news staff.

Dann's skiing was likely hampered by a minor accident he had one night last week. To make a long story short, he fell off a Main Street sidewalk in Alexandria and sprained his right ankle. He arrived at work Thursday on crutches, with one bandaged foot.

He seemed embarrassed every time someone asked how it happened. It was the first time anyone around the office has seen this lad blush. We're confident, with his holidays and recovery complete, Dann will be back in his usual form for next week's issue.

Speaking about recoveries, it was good to see Don Eastop, Alexandria's acting chief of police, back in the cruiser Monday morning.

Don had been off work due to illness for about two weeks, but the grumpy Scot appears to be back to normal, or at least as close as he has ever been.

The Bonnie Glen's Marcel Lanthier brought us an update this week on the popular local musical family, the Trottiers.

Though the Trottier sisters have gone their separate ways musically since retiring from the family group, they have all maintained their musical interests.

Lori, the oldest, has graduated from Algonquin College in Ottawa and is now employed as a legal assistant with Macdonald and Aubry in Alexandria. She still has several stepdancing students and holds classes two evenings a week at the family home.

Traci, the youngest, is attending Grade 12 at GDHS in Alexandria and teaches step dancing at Vankleek Hill Collegiate and at home on Tuesday evenings. On Thursday nights she teaches piano and dancing.

Traci is also a member of the GDHS senior band and jazz band, which practise two evenings a week. She also plays bass with Sylvester and the Clansmen and will be playing at the Bonnie Glen on Dec. 6 for the Old Time Fiddlers' annual Christmas party.

Kelli, a student at Queen's University in Kingston, is playing with a country and western band, Red Rose Express, led by Joe Saunders. Mr. Saunders wrote the song, Is that Your Heart Beating or Mine?, which went to Number 3 on the charts after being recorded by Bruce Golden.

The six-piece band will perform at the Bonnie Glen on New Year's Eve.

Kelli is also teaching violin in Kingston and will be entertaining at a fiddle show in St. Catharines.

As usual, the entire Trottier family will be together again in the spring for their annual Country Hoedown in Laggan, which stars their pupils.

The SD&G Legal Clinic will be holding a day clinic in Alexandria on Monday at the town hall, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A staff member will be in attendance to take information from anyone seeking legal assistance. If legal representation is required, a financial assessment will be carried out to determine eligibility.

The clinic welcomes anyone with questions or problems of a legal nature.

The Alexandria Chapter of the Canadian Diabetes Association met at GDHS recently to discuss exercises for the diabetic. The guest speakers were Susan Rampersad, physiotherapist, and Natalie Lamothe, RN, both of the Cornwall General Hospital.

The two speakers gave information pertaining to the importance of exercise to the diabetic. The discussion also included precautions to take when exercising.

A diabetic requires as much, if not more, exercise than nondiabetics and can easily fit into health programs at local fitness centers and spas. The diabetic person can help himself immensely by being physically fit.

The above was taken from a well-prepared report submitted by GDHS student Richard Williams.

Police report Kenneth K. Oswald was southbound on Bishop Street at 12:44 a.m. when he lost control of his car and collided with a hydro pole and fire hydrant on the west side of the road, at the corner of Kincardine Street.

Mr. Oswald walked away and was charged by Alexandria police with leaving the scene of an accident and careless driving when they found him around 3 a.m. at Glengarry Memorial Hospital. He had been taken to hospital by friends for treatment of minor injuries.

Police report damage to the 1986 Honda, owned by Alexander Just of Con. 4, Kenyon Township, at $10,000. Replacement of the hydro pole cost $3,000.

Mr. Oswald was kept under observation at the hospital and released the next day.

According to the police report, Nicole N. Pattyn, 24, of 460 Bishop St. in Alexandria was southbound on Main following a car driven by Lorenzo Carriere, 63, of Hawkesbury.

Damages were estimated at $1,500 to Mrs. Pattyn's 1982 Pontiac and $1,000 to Mr. Carriere's 1984 Mercury.

Mrs. Pattyn was charged with following too closely.

Tuesday morning a woman was charged with failing to yield the right of way from a stop sign after a two-car collision at the corner of Lochiel and Chisholm Streets.

Linda Ann Cyr, 26, of Con. 1, Lochiel, was eastbound on Lochiel when a car driven by Jean Menard, 52, of R.R. 1, Williamstown pulled in front of her from a stop sign on Chisholm Street, according to the police report. Mrs. Menard was later charged.

Dec. 7 new date

Santa Claus parade stalled until Dec.

Alexandria's first Santa Claus parade has been postponed until Sunday, Dec. 7.

The parade, which was originally planned for Saturday, Nov. 29, was postponed because of a "limited responses," parade chairman Pierre Aubry said Tuesday. Mr. Aubry sent out about 30 letters in October to organizations he thought might want to participate in the parade, but received few replies.

The decision to push the affair back one week was made on Monday, when Mr. Aubry and Richelieu Club officials decided to combine the parade and a children's party hosted by the club . The party will be held at the Glengarry Sports Palace, where the parade will end.

In addition, merchants who could not have participated because they work on Saturday have shown interest in participating since the change of date.

So far, the parade will feature floats by Lanthier Bakery, the Richelieu Club and Lally Blanchard Fuels. Gilbert Sauvé will be Santa Claus. The starting time and place has not yet benn determined.

Everything is still in the early planning stages, says Mr. Aubry.

The parade is sponsored by the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce.

Arena board members fear harm from council squabble

Members of the Glengarry Sports Palace Board of Directors are virtually unanimous in their fear continued attacks from members of Alexandria Town Council will seriously harm the recreation facility, forcing the first deficit in 10 years.

In a survey conducted by The Glengarry News over the past week, the directors, representing Alexandria and the townships of Lochiel and Lancaster, questioned the credibility and timing of allegations of dishonesty from Coun. Fern Séguin and Reeve John Cormier, noting both men served on the board themselves in the past without complaint.

Some members worry the controversy surrounding repeated attacks from Alexandria councillors about management practices will overshadow significant advances in recreation, while others fear future deficits will force tax increases in all three municipalities. Most were outspoken in their support for Sports Palace administration.

Alexandria Coun. Jean Larocque, who also sits on the board, questioned why Mr. Séguin described Sports Palace operations as dishonest and illegal during a council meeting Nov. 4.

"I don't understand why he is doing this. Séguin was on the Sports Palace Board four years ago. He was totally satisfied then," he said.

"We should evaluate the situation and act together as a board," said town councillor Jacques Joly.

Lancaster Township Reeve Bernie McDonell felt both Lancaster and Lochiel Townships were well-satisfied with management and operations of the Sports Palace.

When asked his opinion about criticism from Mr. Séguin, Mr. McDonell preferred to make no comment, adding he thought the problem belonged to Alexandria Town Council.

Lancaster Councillor Richard Vaillancourt, serving his first year on the board, had two concerns. He wondered why Mr. Séguin and Mr. Cormier were now complaining. He also worried a loss in bingo revenues would hurt ratepayers in the wallet.

"Cormier was on the board and the bartender at the Sports Palace. If he thinks there is something wrong with the money flow, maybe it's because he saw it happen before," he said.

Mr. Vaillancourt continued, "As a new member, I see the Sports Palace as being well run. Bingo was getting great revenue, but now attendence is down and so is revenue.

"Fern is never satisfied. Maybe people have grudges, but this is a political debt that Lochiel, Lancaster and Alexandria residents will have to pay in tax increases", he continued.

"Our time and energy could be better spent," claimed Lancaster Township representative Peter McLeod, who fears recent adverse publicity will taint real advances made in recreation.

"I joined the board to create a better recreation program, not to get involved in petty politics," he said.

Mr. McLeod hopes systems of communication will improve.

Referring to the original allegations raised by councillors Séguin, Cormier, Larry Yaguchi and Jim Baker over five months ago, Mr. McLeod said, "The points raised by the four council members were probably good points if they could have been looked at in a sensible fashion. The bad feelings are affecting the operations of the recreation board."

Mr. McLeod is optimistic recommendations made by the recent Res-Can study will be implemented to better organize recreational events, facilities and personnel management.

"J. P. (Touchette) is doing a lot for the Sports Palace and never gets any credit. This is one of the very few arenas operating in the black and it is because of good management," Morlin Campbell of Lochiel Township stated.

Lochiel Counc. Maurice Montpetit acknowledged, "In sports, you can't do anything without money. Bingo brings the biggest income."

He worries bingo players will now go elsewhere and wonders what the eventual outcome of the dispute will be.

"When will it end?" he asks.

Councillor Jean-Lucien Larocque of Lochiel feels accusations are directed toward Mr. Touchette and manager Mike Depratto, not the Sports Palace Board.

"It is political revenge, stemming from last year's election. The arena board is a viable operation. The arena has made money in the past 10 years," he concluded.

THE GLAD HATTER—Alexandria's Brian Laflamme has collected 96 hats since last winter. He's proud of his collection and doesn't hesitate to let you know when he's got a new hat! He's also accumulated about 600 business cards, one from as far away as New Brunswick.

96 hats in one year

Hats, business cards, Brian just likes to collect things

by Lesley Cadham

He can't pull rabbits out of them and Pierre Cardin's name isn't on the labels, but Brian Laflamme's grand collection of baseball caps is worth tipping a hat to.

Mr. Laflamme, 33, started his collection last winter after a Harley-Davidson dealership in Cornwall gave him a cap bearing its crest. Since then, this Alexandrian has gathered 96 hats from as far south as Pennsylvania and all over Ontario.

His favorite and most expensive one comes from a memorable Blue Jays baseball game in Toronto in July and he is also proud of a Hawaii Dairy Queen hat passed on by the Alexandria Dairy Queen.

Mr. Laflamme, who works with ARC Industries and The Glengarry News, also collects business cards. During the past two years, he has accumulated about 600 cards from as far away as New Brunswick. The Glengarry Memorial Hospital emergency number is printed on the back of each card, should he ever need it.

He enjoys bowling, walks almost everywhere he goes and can rarely be seen without, you guessed it, a baseball hat on his head.

Charged in conspiracy

GLOUCESTER—A Moose Creek couple charged with conspiracy to traffic narcotics were to appear in an Ottawa Provincial Court, yesterday.

The couple were arrested by Gloucester police in September at the same time as 11 other men also involved in the international narcotics trafficking.

A nine-month joint investigation by Gloucester police and OPP code-named Project Coral uncovered the conspiracy, which stretched as far south as Florida, west to Brampton and to Montreal in the east. All persons were released pending yesterday's court appearance.

Fined $200 for fraud

A Dalkeith man was fined $200 Thursday in Alexandria Provincial Court after pleading guilty to fraud.

Donald E. MacLeod, 41, was charged Sept. 2 in Lochiel Township.

Mr. MacLeod went to a Dalkeith restaurant and cashed five cheques between Aug. 23 and Sept. 1, worth a total of $205. All the cheques were made payable to the owner of the restaurant. The cheques were written from an account from the Bank of Nova Scotia in Vankleek Hill.

The victim deposited the cheques in an account at the Bank of Montreal in Hawkesbury. The cheques were returned to the victim because of insufficient funds from the Bank of Nova Scotia account.

Mr. MacLeod made restitution in the full amount Nov. 1. He was given 90 days to pay the fine.

Protecting rights

Paranoia and age-old myths seem to have clouded the thinking of most Conservatives and some Liberals in the Ontario Legislature as they debate expanding the province's Human Rights Code.

The members abhor an NDP-sponsored amendment to Bill 7, housekeeping legislation introduced by the government last year to make Ontario statutes conform to equality provisions of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. The amendment would prevent discrimination against homosexuals and lesbians in employment, housing and services.

The NDP caucus is unanimous in its support, arguing sexual orientation is no grounds for discrimination, but nearly all Conservative MPPs and about one-third of the Liberal members are strongly opposed, in spite of the personal support of Premier David Peterson and Opposition leader Larry Grossman.

Opponents say the amendment will legitimize homosexuality, weaken the family and could open the door to other forms of sexual behavior such as sexual interest in children or animals. This distorted reasoning flies in the face of the fact that no evidence exists to suggest homosexuals are any more likely to engage in such interests than heterosexuals.

The debate has become distorted and confused to the point that many have forgotten what the amendment does do. In fact, all the amendment does is allow a homosexual or lesbian to complain to the Human Rights Commission if he or she had been refused a job, accommodation or service because of sexual orientation.

Approval of the amendment would endorse nothing beyond the basic concept of equality. It would reinforce a basic right; no more, no less. With its passage, Ontario would finally be in step with many other jurisdictions, including Quebec, which took the same step several years ago without fanfare.

Basic human rights should never be subject to the unreasonable fears and prejudices of others.

Hats off to the Glen

You have to take your hats off to the folks in Glen Robertson. In spite of incredible odds, the small community is forging ahead with plans to renovate its recreation centre, a decaying former school.

Thanks to $40,000 from the Ontario government and the constant support of Lochiel Township Council, roof repairs are expected to begin by Dec. 1, just in time to save the 30-year-old building from water damage that would likely have caused further heavy damage, rendering any plan to restore the structure nearly impossible.

At a cost of nearly $200,000, restoration of the building into a modern, well-designed recreation centre seemed impractical and a needless luxury. That picture has changed, now. The community has already raised more than $25,000. The recreation committee is actively raising still more and it appears at least $50,000 worth of labor will be donated by people from the community.

Combine all this with the likelihood of full provincial funding and it becomes obvious a recreation centre to rival those found in much larger communities can be a reality in Glen Robertson without being a burden to township taxpayers. That will be an impressive feat.

When the building is completed all those who said it couldn't be done should be on hand to eat a little crow. Pass us the first piece.

We ask that all letters include addresses and phone numbers to help us check for authenticity, when necessary. This information will not be published.

Under no circumstances will The Glengarry News print an anonymous letter to the editor. While we enjoy receiving letters from our readers, we will always insist that they be signed. We must always know the identity of the writer.

We reserve the right to edit letters for spelling, grammar, accuracy and good taste. Letters may be rejected if they are found to be libelous or in poor taste.

Babysitting in the 1980s, full of electronic challenge

A FEW THOUGHTS
Joanne Stevenson

I spent last Tuesday with a handsome young man, my first babysitting assignment in 20 years.

Over the years, a new vocation has emerged—parenting. The word probably cannot even be found in an old dictionary.

However, one thing never changes—babies will sooner or later require a fresh diaper. Around 11 that morning, the need arose.

The child, nearly motionless on the change table, must have guessed, or been warned, that he was dealing with a rusty nappy renewer because he was kind and gentle with me, and, I hope, vice versa.

Twenty years ago, this babysitter did not deal with computers. This babysitter, who has trouble manoeuvring an electric can opener, stared in trembling despair as the baby's mom demonstrated how to use the computer and the alphabet game. Then she left.

The two of us, alone in the house, Sesame Street no longer on the air, sauntered into the basement and came face to face with the dreaded computer.

His mother's instructions had become a blurred memory of garbled phrases. In desperation, I fumbled with the controls. Baby and I pressed any button that seemed inviting.

Finally, the words, "error, error," flashed on the screen. My godson, anxiously anticipating his favorite game, looked up at me with widening, moist eyes.

I felt like Old Mother Hubbard denying her doggie a bone.

However, all was not lost. We went upstairs and an episode of Fraggle Rock was on the VCR. In this electronic age, if at first one machine doesn't succeed, try, try another one.

Fortunately, when his mom did return, she turned on the alphabet game so Fraggle Rock no longer had to serve as an inadequate replacement. And Mommy was home so there was no need for that other replacement. Though he had been the perfect gentleman throughout the ordeal, baby could not help sighing contentedly.

Now, all was well in his world.

YOU KNOW YOU'RE TOO FAT WHEN:

. . . your gloves are too tight. This means that fat has finally run out of conventional places to hide, i.e. the stomach, the hips and the chins, and is, in desperation, attacking your fingers;

. . . you offer your seat on a bus and two people sit down;

. . . Canada Post has issued you your very own postal code;

. . . you enter a restaurant and the maitre d' says, "Table for two?";

. . . you buy a dozen doughnuts at the store, the clerks asks, "Do you want a bag or will you be eating them in your car?";

. . . the Christmas turkey looks like an appetizer;

. . . pregnant women look thin;

. . . restaurants offering buffets refuse to serve you;

. . . you get up from the sofa and leave a permanent dent;

. . . fitting into a compact car becomes the impossible dream;

. . . you wear necklaces as bracelets;

. . . you wouldn't recognize your feet because you haven't seen them for a very long time;

. . . your role model is a suma wrestler;

. . . kids write graffiti on your back;

. . . you can't tell when kids are writing graffiti on your back;

. . . you didn't laugh when George Balcon said, on the radio, "No man is an island, but Raymond Burr comes very close";

. . . your baby planted a Canadian flag on your head after he climbed you;

. . . you have no alternative but to wear a Glad Bag as a swimsuit;

. . . one Black Forest cake is never enough;

. . . people mistake you for the Botanical Gardens when you are wearing a flowered shirt.

Sure, it's a rough life sometimes when you're overweight. On the other hand, anything is better than dieting!

Strategically helpless men? Don't believe a word of it

SECOND LOOK
Phil Rutherford

It was hanging on the front of the refrigerator, neatly trimmed from the page of a daily newspaper and held in place by one of those plastic daisies with the magnet on the back.

That's the obvious place to put a note in our house. We've tried blackboards, bulletin boards and messages hanging from the ceiling. They have been taped to bathroom and dresser mirrors, to television screens and computer monitors, to cereal boxes and winter coats, to kitchen doors and car steering wheels, but nothing works as well as the refrigerator. Sooner or later, everyone has to eat and most of us eat more than we need to.

This was one item I was not supposed to miss. I didn't. The headline caught me: The 'strategic helplessness' of husbands. Obviously, the article was written for women. Few men would be comfortable reading it. It was hardly surprising to find it was written by a woman. Diane Cole, a correspondent for The Ottawa Citizen. Apparently, Mrs. Cole finds husbands, especially Mr. Cole, as amusing as frustrating.

She began with a question: "Is marriage a situation comedy?" Then she goes on to describe her husband as a competent executive at work, but a helpless, hapless stumble bum at home.

"To this man you do not lightly say, 'Take the chicken out of the refrigerator and stick it in the oven at 350 degrees.' Rather, you begin by saying, 'In the kitchen there is a large rectangular box. It is called a refrigerator.' "

I'm insulted. I make no claim to culinary talents of tremendous proportions, but I can survive, thank you. I can prepare almost anything that comes in a can. Most frozen foods withstand my cooking in edible form. I can do justice to hamburger, pork chops and steaks, as long as recipients aren't overly particular about how it's done; usually somewhere between rare and very well done. I can prepare most mixes if I read the instructions at least three times and I can come up with more variations on a Kraft Dinner theme than anyone I know. When all else fails, I'm a real whiz at calling for delivered pizza.

Mrs. Cole continues her embarrassing attack on Mr. Cole with the following: "You may well wonder why Peter cannot remember how to turn on the stereo, replace a typewriter ribbon, locate his favorite record album or discover a pair of matching socks. Why does he prefer instead to repeat his slightly mournful call of the jungle, 'Diane? Could you give me a hand?'

"If he merely suffered from a lack of mechanical aptitude, Peter's difficulties could be easily excused. But Peter has mastered the use of any number of advanced computer programs and has no difficulty adjusting a skewed television picture if his favorite baseball team has come to bat. In his office, every file remains easily at hand. But at home, I can count on Peter to search in vain for his L. L. Bean shirt (invariably, he's wearing it)."

She goes on to suggest there's a method to her husband's "madness" and dubs it "strategic helplessness."

Every breathing husband should stand ready to defend himself against such attacks and take steps to make sure their wives never read

The semi-color

LOOK OUT
Dann Rogers

Two of the holiest institutions that could ever employ me, The New York Times and The Los Angeles Times, have adhered to U.S. President Ronald Reagan's call for industry to test job applicants for drug use.

It would be hypocritical of them to publish stories about major drug rings operating at auto plants when their own reporters stop to powder their noses before interviewing police.

But the U.S. and Canada are going about battling drugs in the wrong way.

The urinalysis sampling trend sweeping North America is probably the result of good intentions, but history will judge it as another grand exercise in futility.

Smoke and mirrors you might say.

The authorities have about as much chance stopping people from lighting up a joint after work as they do banning cocktail hour.

It is true that light drugs can lead some people to use harder drugs like cocaine and heroin, but it's also true that drinking light beer can lead some people to eventually drink shoe polish.

Certainly, being stoned on the job is as inexcusable as being drunk on the job, but it is no more criminal.

If citizens judge themselves in need of an artificial escape from the grinding monotony of their daily routine, they will take that holiday through whatever means are available.

And soft drugs like hashish or marijuana are more readily available to young people in SD&G than alcohol. To drink in a bar or buy booze at the LCBO store or Brewer's Retail you have an identification card stating you are over 19 years old.

To smoke drugs, the only badge you need is a $10 bill.

And once people pay for drugs, they become criminals and part of a vast infrastructure that has developed around the illegal drug industry.

It is sort of like the prohibition era in the U.S. that helped give organized crime its start. The same tactics that were used back then should be instituted today.

The government should legalize soft drugs and tax the daylights out of them. Soft drugs are a $10 billion industry in this country.

If they were taxed at the same rate as cigarettes—50 per cent—the government could raise about $5 billion a year and eliminate Canada's deficit in seven years.

A Glengarrian suggested last week that President Reagan's call for a war on drugs was merely part of the U.S. government's public relations campaign to prepare the public for legalization of soft drugs.

He argued that in five years the president of the U.S. will tell Americans the government has tried to stop drug use but it is impossible so it is being legalized, monitored and taxed heavily.

Five years and one day later, the Canadian prime minister will say the same thing.

Cardboard cars

THAT'S LIFE
Lesley Cadham

Can you imagine getting around Glengarry without a car? Or standing on the corner of Main and Kenyon waiting for a GCTC (Glengarry Country Transport Commission) bus?

It's too bad, but most people today depend on their cars to get them where they're going and I'm willing to bet Alexandria won't have buses until long after I've moved into a box in the United Church graveyard.

Our total dependence on wheels is precisely what makes us captive audiences. You know? Not only are the prices of cars rocketing skywards by about 33 per cent every year, the quality of the materials used in manufacturing is going down.

I bought my car two years ago. The Japanese manufacturer built the engine from aluminum, the air hoses out of paper (thick paper, but still,) the bumpers from a flexible plastic and Consumer Reports now tells me I am not likely to survive a head-on collision, even at low speed.

Boy do I feel sorry for myself. By the time I've saved enough to buy another vehicle, the manufacturers will have had ample time to design a "car" (loose reference) made out of cardboard.

Okay, so the dealers rip buyers off a little with ridiculous prices. I could handle it if the scam stopped there. Take a look at this scenario: You're driving your Itsal Urssucker with the 30,000 km. warranty and you happen to see the odometer flipping over to 30,001.

At the same time, you notice a "clunk" sound emanating from the engine and acrid smoke pouring out from under the hood. After you pay the $75 towing charge to get your completely disabled Itsall Urssucker to the dealership, the service manager adds insult to injury by informing you the engine is "kaput" and unfortunately (oh, so unfortunately) the warranty has just expired.

As you feel an anxiety attack coming on, you squeak, "How much will it cost to install a new engine?" In the vicinity of $1,200 to $2,000 you're told; it depends on how much effort is put into loosening the bolts and what sort of mood the service manager is in when they make up your bill.

My brother owns a car he purchased from a local dealer. He practically camped out in the service department, wasted $200 and three weeks of his time before smartening up and taking the vehicle to an independent garage. The problem was solved in less than two minutes and for (are you ready?)—$1!

I almost bought a car from that dealer and am I relieved I didn't. Don't they realize, they lose customers from the incompetence displayed by their employees? And the salesman, responsible for selling you the lemon disappears into the woodwork once the cheque is in his hand. If you ask me, I think he should be the arbitrator between the customer and the service department—after all, he got you into this mess.

Normal to govern schools

Cornwall, Ontario

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I wish to refer to Mr. Bob Verdun's column, which you published in your Oct. 22 edition.

The changes that are taking place in our educational system are not due as a whole to the benevolence of our politicians. It is the Courts and Canada's Charter of Rights and Freedoms which are forcing the government to meet the educational needs of Ontario's official language minority.

It is stated clearly in Section 23 of the Charter that French-speaking citizens "have the right to have their children receive primary and secondary instruction" in French and, where numbers warrant, "in minority language educational facilities provided out of public funds". In Quebec, English-speaking citizens have exactly the same rights and over 40 per cent of them manage and control their school boards under the Protestant school system.

As you know, in all areas we are still struggling to have our own school boards to run our own educational facilities. All the commissions and other bodies, English and French-speaking alike, which have studied the situation during the past 15 years were unanimous: it is desirable and indeed normal to have anglophones govern English schools and francophones govern French schools.

We believe that all children should be able to learn effectively Canada's two official languages at school, through immersion or other programs. Members of the French-speaking community need to make special efforts to acquire all their mother tongue and other skills because environment is not adequately supportive. In other words, when you compare our two official-language communities, you necessarily find that our society is not at present geared to meet the basic social, cultural and educational needs of the minority.

This is why our self-help programs are so important and why, for example, it is necessary for us to have francophones govern our community's educational facilities.

Of course, we are counting on everybody's open-mindedness, fair play, and support even, since our community has a long way to go before being able to say it has the essential advantages and privileges the majority has. We are very grateful to all those who are helping us to progress and play an enhanced role in the development of Ontario and of our country as a whole.

Maxville wailing won't be from the bagpipes

St. Elmo, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I must admit that when I read your Glengarry News of Nov. 5, 1986, I had a chuckle at the cartoon depicting a "lagoon sniffer." It crossed my mind at the time that your people at The Glengarry News office, like Maxville Council, do not see the seriousness of the situation.

Your cartoon suggests that we here at St. Elmo are over-reacting to the proposed lagoon facility in our historic community. But are we really? I wonder how many of your readers would want to be in our position here at St. Elmo and have a sewage lagoon go into their back yards.

I realize that it is a trait of human nature not to worry about issues unless they affect you directly, so many of your readers may not care about St. Elmo.

In December 1984, during a personal conversation in our St. Elmo home, the reeve of Maxville informed my father that he certainly wouldn't want to live near a lagoon. In a conversation, this August (1986), with an engineer from Graham Engineering Ltd., he indicated the same. These are the personal opinions of two of the informed individuals supporting a St. Elmo lagoon site and who are telling us there isn't any reason for concern.

In my opinion this proposed facility raises two major issues: (1) affected property values and (2) offensive odors. I have been told by realtors, in other areas with lagoon systems in use, that property values haven't been affected to any great extent but certainly those proposed values haven't hit any all time highs.

Several of our St. Elmo residents moved here because of the quiet farm setting. When one moves to a farming community, he or she accepts certain conditions pertaining to country life. One condition is noise, i.e. tractors, combines, cattle, etc. These noises are "music" to a farmer's ears. The other condition is "smell." I call it "farmer's gold." These smells are part of a farmer's livelihood and are very acceptable whether it be from chicken, pig or beef manure. Odor from a lagoon is not acceptable. It is offensive.

At the meeting held in Maxville on Oct. 16, 1986, it became very apparent to me that our own Reeve of Kenyon Township has turned against us. At an earlier meeting in July he had said that his council could live with the lagoon in Kenyon, but it was up to the ratepayers. If they didn't want it, neither did he. I wonder just where they stand.

Over-reacting? I don't think so. I realize Maxville's need for this lagoon, but I really believe it is at our expense. Speaking of expense, I will be interested in the reactions of the taxpayers in Maxville when the first tax bill is received following completion of the lagoon project. I truly believe that the "wailing" you will hear in Maxville will not be from the bagpipes!

Supports freedom fighters

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

In the past there have been Glengarrians who have visited Nicaragua and have come back with glowing praise for the Sadinista government.

In an interview with The Mindszenty Report, Msrg. Bismark Carballo, Nicaragua's second ranking Catholic Prelate, senior advisor to Cardinal Miguel Obandoy Bravo and director of Catholic Communications, who was expelled from that country on June 28, 1986, speaks out on the persecution of his Nicaraguan countrymen.

Many Nicaraguan technical people complain they have been replaced by Cubans. Msgr. Carballo was witness to Cubans walking into their TV stations, and the Mass, which had been broadcast for the people, was completely shut off. Cubans control the entire telephone system of Nicaragua.

Groups such as "Witness for peace", come from the U.S. for three days to act as experts. They are already prejudiced in favor of the Sadinistas. The monsignor had the opportunity to take care of these people when he was secretary to Cardinal Obano. Isn't it surprising that these people didn't protest when Bishop Pablo Antonio Vega and Msgr. Carballo were expelled from the country?

Bishop Vega stated probably 80 per cent of Nicaraguans are against the Regime which has closed down the Catholic radio and confiscated the press.

In Nicaragua there is no way to purchase food or medicine or to get spare parts for machinery. Everything a family needs is rationed. However, members of the government have their own stores where they can purchase necessities.

The Miskito Indians were officially harrassed in order to force them to leave the country. The biggest suffering is the lack of liberty and freedom, the lack of communication and the curtailment of the freedom of religion.

We who are free should be careful to obtain the truth and support the people fighting for freedom.

Motorists should watch out for wildlife animals

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Almost every person who has taken a drive on a Sunday afternoon, or at any time, in fact, can recall seeing a beautiful wildlife animal disemboweled by the wheels of a vehicle.

If persons driving slow down for an infant, this means drivers can slow down. People are taught in North America, from early childhood, that a human life is precious. Later, they are subconsciously wary of infants when driving. Furthermore, legislation has been enacted to root in that right to life, enforced visually by road signs.

Life is important. It is made even more important by the wildlife animals living with us. Yet, why is it that they are not included in our civilized way of thinking? Who omitted to include them as a group we must respect in our educational upbringing; in our legislation?

Perhaps we are all guilty of this serious omission. However we can begin to extend ourselves and to start caring. There are many ways we can do something for our wildlife animals, just as there are many ways we can experience happiness. One way is to allow one more to live.

Helpless men . . .

anything by Diane Cole. This kind of propaganda, taken seriously, could be damaging. It's a sexist attitude that's hard to swallow in an enlightened age.

How many men have witnessed the strategic helplessness of woman? Mechanical repairs, grass cutting, garden planting, window washing, and many more chores are spurned by women and tossed, with mournful eyes and helpless smiles, to the first man they can get their mitts on. There are exceptions, I know, but they only prove the rule.

If strategic helplessness exists, it's a malady that afflicts both sexes.

I have to go now. There are some dishes that need washing.

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

I'll bet that Joyce Lalonde who writes the Lancaster News has a big fat column this week. After all, her phone number somehow appeared under my name in my column last week! This situation might have had its advantages had my number appeared under her name, but, alas, it was not so.

Had the editor of The News been a crafty sort of fellow, he might have used the above technique to haul in that elusive correspondent from Martintown he's always going on about. Since he's not a crafty or devious sort of fellow and wouldn't dream of using a Martintown phone number under another correspondent's name, I'll give him a hand in his quest.

Come on Martintown! Williamstown challenges you to produce a writer for The Glengarry News. Aren't you always complaining that, "Williamstown gets everything?"

Just think, for instance, what fun you, as Martintown correspondent could do with R.B. Campbell's and Douglas McDermid's new book, The Kennedys—MacDiarmids, McDermids—Munros and other Glengarry—Stormont Pioneers.

The book has recently arrived at the Williamstown Public Library and is available for borrowing. Last week I sat leafing through it and was amazed at the number of people who are mentioned, like Bill and Ruth Mowat and family, Stuart and Kitty Munro, Gordon and Lillian Munro and, of course, John Hugh and Jill Munro.

Sharon MacDonell, secretary at Char-Lan, is in it, as is Len Ferguson, married to Doris MacWhinnie of Williamstown. Williamstown Public School teacher Una Thain (nee Ross) is there, and so is Helen McMillan, ladies' division member of the Williamstown Fair. (See, Martintown, you could have claimed her in a much more important capacity!)

Speaking of the fair, sometime handiwork judge Isabel Blair Kinnear is in the book, and so is the late Hazel McIntyre Edmunds, founder of the Manor House Branch of the Canadian Home reading Union. A man who summered at the Manor House many years ago, Colonel Donald M. Robertson is there, as well.

Frank and Ruth Lefebvre of Williamstown are included, Ruth through the Christies, once again of Martintown. Catherine Kinloch, our Grade 1 teacher, rates a mention through husband Charlie and Carolyn McRae of Char-Lan Minor Hockey fame is there in her own right.

Another Martintown girl, Mary Anne McPhadden, is in the book and is mentioned here by being married to Williamstown's Steve MacDougall. Carolyn Vallance and all her famous relatives up the branch, including New Jersey Devils' coach Doug Carpenter, are included.

Much as I looked, I couldn't find a trace of our family, though cousins of ours, Sheila Munro and Lorna Winter (wife of Gordon Winter, Maxville correspondent) were there.

As for the Martintown names, a columnist could have had a field day!

Apologies go out to the members of the Picnic Grove Women's Institute whose news last month didn't seem to make it in the paper. This is in no way due to Ina Byatte who delivered a report to me shortly after the meeting. In order to make amends, the following is this month's news.

"When country women of the world work together, great things are accomplished. This was the motto of the November meeting of the Picnic Grove WI held at the home of Carol Edwards in Williamstown.

Members were treated to a "show and tell" session as Carol displayed a ski suit and jacket she had made from a kit. Sally Blacker, winner of the first prize in the Bernice Noblett competition at the area convention, showed examples of the unusual hand crocheted Christmas tree decorations which won her the award.

Edna MacDougall reported on the 71st annual WI area convetnion of Eastern Ontario, held in Ottawa, and which she attended as a delegate.

Girl Guides visit Upper Canada Village

GLEN ROBERTSON
Kathy McGrath
874-2758

Glen Robertson Girl Guides, accompanied by their leader, Gail Vaillancourt, recently spent a very interesting day at Upper Canada Village, along with the Lancaster Guides.

The girls participated in a slide presentation and an historical picture presentation.

Half of the girls prepared and cooked the noon day meal over an open fireplace, while the other half participated in a sewing session, making money pouches. All the dishes for the meal were made by the girls, including the butter.

After a stroll through the village and a brief unscheduled stop to watch a Walt Disney crew filming, the girls proceeded to the Morrisburg Bird Sanctuary, where they went on a hike and watched in awe hundreds of Canada Geese feeding. All the girls are to be congratulated on receiving their Provincial Heritage Badges.

On Nov. 22 and 23 the Lancaster and Glen Robertson Guides will hold a craft and bake sale at St. Joseph's Hall in Lancaster, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Coffee and tea will be served.

Come along and sample some of the goodies and crafts made by the girls and their leaders.

ECOLE LAURIER CARRIERE

The bi-monthly concert was held this month at Ecole Laurier Carriere, with all classes participating and a good attendance of parents.

Children from Kindergarten to Grade 6 recently enjoyed a performance put on by the Belgian group, Isocele, and Grades 4 to 8 students are anxiously awaiting to hear from the 47 cards they filled out from Credit Valley Hospital in Mississauga, which were found in a bunch of balloons in Glen Norman and given to the principal, Mme. Richer. The contest closes on Nov. 30 and participants will be eligible for a prize.

The feast of St. Catherine is coming up and a group of parents will be at the school dressed up in pioneer costumes.

They will demonstrate the making of taffy and students will be given a treat.

The recent skate-a-thon held at the Vankleek Hill Community Centre was very successful, with many students and families participating. The final amount of money raised should be known in a few weeks. Mme. Richer wishes to thank all those who participated.

A SEWER'S DELIGHT—Tissus Micheline Fabrics was officially opened, Thursday, when Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette cut the facing at the newly renovated store on Main Street, Alexandria. # United church honors Jamiesons

MAXVILLE
Gordon Winter
527-2888

JAMIESONS HONORED

On Sunday, November 9, a large crowd assembled in the Maxville United Church for a pot luck luncheon and to honor John and Lila Jamieson who have sold their home in Maxville and have moved to an apartment in Cornwall. The Jamiesons served their church very faithfully for many years.

Lorna Blair, on behalf of the UCW, presented Mrs. Jamieson with a floral arrangement and Gregor McEwen, clerk of the session, presented both with a plaque. The Rev. Frank Bailey expressed the thanks and best wishes of all present to the Jamiesons.

Helen Hunter spent two days in Ottawa and a long weekend in Peterborough with Glenda and Ted Hunter.

This is a final reminder for the Anglican Church bazaar and luncheon on Saturday, Nov. 22, in the church hall.

Congratulations to Dave Valley, Moose Creek, for having been appointed an honorary member of the Glengarry Historical Society in recognition of his outstanding volunteer work on the History Museum building, which was officially opened in September. This building was once the Roxborough Township Hall at Warina and was moved to the Glengarry Pioneer Museum grounds in Dunvegan.

Isabel Morrison, Toronto, spent a few days with Ardis and Vernon Campbell and Sherilyn.

It was good to see Const. Bruce Libbos' name in Brown's Beat in the Ottawa Citizen. Good deeds do not always bring recognition but Bruce received it this time while at work in Ottawa.

It is now official. Dorothy and Howard Morrow have moved to their retirement home on Spring Street, the former residence of Dorothy's mother, Mrs. Alex Kennedy. It will probably be several years before the retirement question is settled, however.

Helen and Donald McEwen have been in Toronto babysitting at the home of their daughter, Marion, and Lloyd Dunham. The birth of a new grandson necessitated the visit to care for the baby's sister.

THE KING IN MAXVILLE

Much has been read in the press and heard over TV and radio about King Clancy at the time of his death and subsequent funeral.

There are probably few who know that he once was an after dinner speaker here at a Rotary Club dinner. The Rotary Club existed for a short time in Maxville in the late 1930's. Your correspondent was proud to have the autograph of King Clancy, obtained at the time of that speaking engagement.

Irma Marshall has returned home from an extended visit with family members in St. Catharines and New York City.

Best wishes and congratulations to Linda and John Morrow on the birth of their son, a brother for their two daughters.

Annie Wensink was away for a few days visiting members of her family in Hamilton and St. Catharines.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Harold Cameron and other family members in the sudden death of her sister, Jenny Dewar. Miss Dewar had resided with Mrs. Cameron for the last few years.

We also extend sympathy to John Howard Marjerrison, a staff member of the Junior Public School, in the death of his mother of Apple Hill.

Gordon Winter attended the senate meeting of the Superannuated Teachers of Ontario in Toronto, recently. As president, he represented District 25 at this meeting.

A native of Athol, Anna Arkinstall Lorimer died recently in Beeton, Ont. The Lorimers farmed for a few years at Athol before moving to the Newmarket area years ago.

Sympathy is extended to her immediate family, as well as to her nieces, nephews and sisters-in-law closer to home.

The weather presented many problems to our farmers during the last crop season. In spite of the weather problems, it is good to see the fine loads of corn that are being hauled to the silos at the west end of town for drying and possible storage.

In fact, if the price keeps going up, there may still be a few weak smiles.

TEEN DANCE

The First Maxville Scout Movement is sponsoring a teen dance on Friday from 8 to 12 p.m. at the Sports Complex. This will naturally be a non-alcoholic event and the charge will be $2 per person.

The staff at the Junior Public School send out a very informative newsletter frequently. All parents and guardians should receive copies and if someone thinks a newsletter is not being taken home regularly, the school should be contacted.

The last newsletter contained valuable information on the snow storm policy and how information concerning buses and school closings is obtained.

CURLING CLUB OPENS

The opening bonspiel of the Glengarry Curling Club was held in Maxville on Saturday, Nov. 7. Convened by Helen MacLeod, Elizabeth Marjerrison and Lori MacGregor, the bonspiel had 16 participating rinks.

The winning rink was skipped by Karen Campbell, with her father, James Campbell, John D. MacLeod and Norman Ferguson the other members. The runnerup rink had Bill Munroe, skip, Dave Findlay, Stella Harkin and Kay MacLeod.

President Jean Campbell thanked the organizers for a very successful bonspiel and for all the ones who participated. Fine prospects are indicated for the coming season.

YOUNG AT HEARTS EUCHRE

On Nov. 11 there were 30 euchre players out for this bi-monthly euchre party.

Murdie Campbell beat his two Dunvegan native friends, Dan MacRae and Cameron MacLeod, who are still in the running for the title of King Euchre.

Margaret Wilson from Riceville won the door prize and the 50/50 draw winners were Margaret Michaud, twice, two Vankleek Hill ladies, Jean Smith and Edith Howes and Alice Richer.

The next euchre will be on Nov. 25, same time and place.

MANOR AUXILIARY EUCHRE

Members of the Sandringham Social Club were out in full force on Nov. 12 to organize and look after the refreshments for the Manor Euchre. There were 16 tables of players.

GLEN NEVIS PARISH

We were honored to have Bishop LaRocque spend the weekend in our parish as he met with many parishioners at all the masses and different committees. On Friday, he spent the day at the school attending a concert and visiting each class. On Sunday afternoon he met with the young adults (14-24) of our parish to discuss peer pressure and how the parish can help youth.

We are very grateful for his visit and wish him success in his work.

UCFO

There was a very good turnout at last Sunday night's card party at the school. The lucky winner of the beautiful quilt was Mrs. Pat Major.

Thank you so much to everyone who worked hard in organizing the event and to those who came out for the evening.

Swedish student at home in Glengarry

by Joanne Stevenson

McCRIMMON — Birgitta Axelsson, Swedish exchange student staying with the MacLeod family at McCrimmon's Corners, finds Glengarry almost as familiar as her native Sweden.

Birgitta lives on a small farm in Sweden in a rural area sandwiched between a town the size of Alexandria and a city the size of Cornwall.

"Glengarry is very similiar to my own home," she says.

Birgitta is quick to point out she is enjoying her visit to Canada.

"I had no expectations," she explains, adding, "I just wanted to try something different."

Birgitta, an active soccer and volleyball player, is now enrolled in Grade 12 at Glengarry District High School. She was in her tenth year in the Swedish school system.

She says, "School is the most different thing about Canada." In Sweden, students are required to complete nine years of education and may then choose to enter the gymnasium for two or three years before entering studying at university.

Birgitta was studying economics at the gymnasium before deciding about university.

A cousin's positive experience as an exchange student in New Jersey encouraged Birgitta to investigate the possibility of becoming an exchange student herself.

"I brought home lots of papers about exchange programs, I was interested in this program because I wanted to visit Canada," she says. Already somewhat knowledgeable about the United States, she preferred going to Canada. "Because it's a little bit different."

"I am having a good time here. I like the family I'm with, the school and, most of all, the people," she states.

Birgitta is participating in the ASSE International Student Exchange Program. Area representative Dukke van der Werf of Dalhousie Mills, who is responsible for placing the students, notes any Glengarry student wanting to join the program should contact her at 347-3362 as soon as possible.

Qualified students from Australia, New Zealand, the United States, Canada and parts of western and northern Europe are carefully screened by school principals and teachers. The host families are chosen with equal care.

Birgitta will be in Canada for almost a year. However, the program also offers six-week-long exchange visits.

In Sweden, Birgitta, the youngest of three children, lives alone with her parents. In Glengarry, Birgitta lives with John and Mary MacLeod and the three of their five daughters still living at home.

Side trips to Cornwall and Ottawa haver proven the highlight of Birgitta's visit. In September, she enjoyed touring Upper Canada Village with Mrs. van der Werf and another exchange student.

Birgitta has quickly adapted to Canadian ways. Like most of us, she is looking forward to winter and escaping for part of it. Together with the MacLeods, she will be holidaying in Florida during the winter break.

Asked to compare Canadian and Swedish meals and males, she replies, "The food is a bit the same. And boys are always the same everywhere."

While Birgitta admits to missing her own family and occasionally longs to share experiences of the past with old friends, she knows, upon her return to Sweden, she will possess cherished memories of the MacLeods and friends met during her Glangarry adventure.

St. Joseph's School has new look

Story and photos by Lesley Cadham

LANCASTER — Ecole St. Joseph has a new look, inside and out.

The Lancaster school has just received a facelift. Aluminum siding, new windows and insulation have been installed to modernize the building and save on heating costs. Slides and monkey bars have been erected in the children's playground.

The curriculum has received an overhaul, too. The 128 Kindergarten through Grade 8 students are being introduced to "expression through the arts," a program to help youngsters find selfworth, become confident and taste success.

Principal Jean-Pierre Bourdeau believes education should be more than academics. He is ensuring his students learn about arts and culture and Mr. Bourdeau, an oil painter, hopes to teach his senior students oil painting before the year is out.

The children will also be learning about creative writing.

"I believe in enrichment, which can be done within the classroom walls. Academics are great, but I think it's about time arts and culture were given their place," says Mr. Bourdeau.

On Oct. 3, Grades 5 and 6 students staged a mini-operetta version of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, which they produced. Parents, teachers and fellow students were invited to view the performance. They hope to produce another play in the near future.

In addition, seven students have been selected to participate in an "enrichment program." Once a week, they spend a half day together, writing Christmas songs and setting them to music. They are guided by a teacher and the aim is to prepare the children for post-elementary school life. The teacher may ask them to set up an imaginary business and discuss finances and operation techniques.

To give the students a taste for music, the school will spend $700 on various instruments to enhance music classes and accomany the school choir.

A fundraising committeé has arranged to sell the students a hot meal once a week and will hold a bazaar in December. The profits will be put into the new programs, library books and school sweaters.

Once a month, one pupil from each grade is chosen to receive an honor certificate for special achievement, effort, conduct and participation in school activities.

HEY, WHY'S EVERYONE UPSIDE DOWN?—Chidren of Lancaster's Ecole St. Joseph have really turned things upside down since the school received this combination monkey bars and slide. While most of the younger children were doing acrobatics on the bars, the older students were pitching a ball around.

WI holds meet

by Janet Robertson

BAINSVILLE — Mrs. Fred Ager welcomed members of Bainsville Women's Institute with a short history of her old home. The meeting was chaired by Vice-President Mrs. Eric Urquhart.

Roll call was answered by each member displaying a wedding picture.

Short reports were given on the "Babysitting Workshop" to be held in early January; the meeting of the executive committee concerning life memberships and on "Short Order Meals", a short course given Nov. 11.

An enthusiastic report was presented by Mrs. William Black, delegate to the Ottawa convention. Since this is the International Year of Peace, the theme of the conference was, "Let Peace Begin with Me."

Her report began with an amusing skit with member participation. Some information brought back to us was the need for WI groups to consider carrying liability insurance; the free-trade seminar scheduled for next year, of which we shall hear more later, and the "Butler Report" which deals with the teaching of agriculture in our schools.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Ann McKim, VON, who spoke on understanding blood pressure readings and associated problems.

Mrs. Black ably replied to the motto "When Day is Done, be done with it."

Local hams elect slate

The Eastern Ontario Amateur Radio Club held its regular bi-annual elections on Thursday, Nov. 14.

Newly elected officers are: Ian McAuley, president; Stan Thayer, vice-president; Mel Massia, secretary; John Vanturnhout, treasurer and Fred Scott, past-president.

Mr. McAuley thanked the former executives for the fine job they had done during the past two years, remarking that under their guidance the club had placed first in Canada in its class both years in the annual North American Field Day competitions.

It was reported that the club placed second this year, but the official final figures put local members on top again.

The new executive extended an invitation to anyone interested in getting involved in amateur radio to call Ian McAuley at 525-1770 or Stan Thayer at 525-4229.

Legion Branch 312 held Remembrance Day services

APPLE HILL
Aline Gormley
527-56924

In Apple Hill, Remembrance Day was commemorated with distinction and honor on Tuesday, Nov. 11, with an appeal to freedom and peace and in appreciation for those who gave their lives.

The parade formation took place at Legion Hall, Glengarry Branch 312, led by members of the Glengarry Pipe Band to the cenotaph at 10:50 a.m.

The service opened with the singing of the national anthem and a lament intoned by the pipe band ushering the one minute silent observance, respectfully welling up into a battle song in memory of loved ones from the community who died in the two world wars.

The prayer was offered by President Lorne Hall. On behalf of the Province of Ontario, Noble Villeneuve, MPP addressed the assembly. Wilfred Vallance, reeve of Kenyon, also gave a talk.

In homage to fallen heroes, wreaths were laid on behalf of the Province of Ontario, the Township of Kenyon, Glengarry Legion Branch 312, Ladies' Auxiliary, OPP, Maxville and Monkland Boy Scouts and some 21 other individuals and commercial representatives.

Following the ceremony, coffee and homemade cookies were served by the auxiliary at the Legion Hall. Much to everyone's surprise a presentation was made by Mr. Villeneuve from the province in recognition of service to Canada and the improvement of life in Ontario on its' 60th anniversary. Lorne Hall graciously accepted this tribute.

Tagged on to the presentation was the personal gift of a recent picture of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip with a flag of the province given by Mr. Villeneuve.

The day was memorable in view of recognized service and appreciation of leadership coming from Lorne Hall and the devoted membership issuing from 47 years of valued assistance this branch has engaged in.

Kenyon WMS celebrated 110th anniversary

DUNVEGAN
Marion Loewen
527-2284

Brrr-rrr! It's that time of year again. I can't believe that not too many years ago I loved it. Now I would rather hibernate with the bears. I like to see the snow, but I'd really rather not feel it too much. Of course, Christmas needs snow, but then it could go away.

I don't mind the cold all that much, as long as the sun shines, but the last years we don't seem to get that much sunshine.

Oh well, I guess we humans are never satisfied.

Once again we send out best wishes and lots of happiness. On Thursday, Nov. 20, Mrs. Dougie MacDonald (Margaret F. MacLeod) will celebrate her 90th birthday at the Community Nursing Home in Alexandria. A long time resident of McCrimmon West, Mrs. MacDonald has been at the Nursing Home since August.

Lloyd and Eunice Nixon enjoyed having all their family home for a few days to celebrate their anniversary. Others coming from afar were sister Lillian and Irwin Perkins, her daughter Patricia and her girls Jennifer and Tiffany from North Bay; from Windsor, Wayne and Melody Perkins, Linda McKenzie and John Perkins; from Montreal, Jean and John Inglis, their daughter Myrna and her son Jeffry, and Irene Baron; from Ottawa Joyce and Mac MacCrimmon, David and Nancy, and Harold and Purley Alguire.

Those of us who were used to giving Lucille a call when we needed our hair prettied up, are so sorry to hear that she won't be doing hair any more. It was so convenient and she was always such a nice operator, it was more like going for a friendly visit. We miss you Lucille!

KENYON WMS

On Oct. 7 Kenyon WMS celebrated thanksgiving and its 110th anniversary of inauguration in Kenyon Presbyterian Church. There were 18 groups inaugurated outside of Toronto in 1877 and six of these were in Glengarry. The president, Annabelle Hartrick, expressed a warm welcome to WMS members from Maxville, St. Elmo, Kirk Hill, Moose Creek, Vankleek Hill and Skye, also to the clergy and to the guest speaker Mora MacGregor.

After a thanksgiving service, Helen Grant spoke "Words of Appreciation" for past members. Greetings and congratulations were brought by the Rev. Mr. Fresque and the Rev. Mr. Martin, moderator of the presbytery, and by Wilma Vanderwaal, president of the WMS Glengarry Presbyterial. Barbara Graham favored the meeting with two solos.

Jean Clark introduced the speaker, Mora MacGregor who talked of links with her past from the time she was born in Scotstown to her teaching years in Cecilia Jefferson School in Kenora. She followed this with a talk on "What Prayer Is" and "Prayer Promises In the Bible."

Mrs. Hartrick gave a brief historical sketch on the Kenyon WMS. Jessie Stewart lit the candles on the anniversary cake, which was cut by Joanna MacLean. A fellowship hour followed with refreshments.

The annual meeting of the Kenyon WMS was held on Tuesday, Nov. 11 at the home of the president, Mrs. D. J. Hartrick. Mrs. Hartrick read a piece taken from The Glengarry News on Remembrance Day, after which a two-minute silence in memory of those who served, was observed. Mrs. Clive Rochfort assisted by Mrs. John Loewen conducted the Remembrance Day worship service, during which the poem In Flanders Fields was read.

Kevin's mother is Theresa MacDonell, a native of the Glen Nevis area.

CRAFT SHOW

Our bicentennial craft show and sale had a good attendance on Saturday. About 10 exhibitors produced a variety of talent, mostly items for the Christmas trade.

IN GLEN WALTER

A dozen representatives from the parish attended the meeting in Glen Walter on co-responsibility on the pastoral council level held on Tuesday evening last week.

CONGRATULATIONS

We were very proud to see Margaret MacDonald on CJOH-TV as she received her special award for bravery from the OPP. She rescued a transport driver from his burning vehicle last year. Congratulations Margaret!

Glens' Meth line sparks club in wins

by Peter Conway

WINCHESTER—Andrew Meth was a forgotten man on the Alexandria Junior B Glens roster last season. His play was inconsistent. Some games he showed spunk, while in others he was a disappointment.

That was Andrew Meth of old. It appears the new one has finally arrived and is ready to contribute to the Glens' fortunes this season in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League.

Meth and linemates Chris Carney and Paul Kweicinski sparked the Glens to a pair of victories over the weekend. Roch Lajoie's club squeaked out two 7-6 wins over the Winchester Hawks. It was the Glens' second weekend sweep against the Hawks in the past 10 days.

Thursday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace, the Glens appeared to have things well in hand with a 6-3 advantage after two periods of play. But, Winchester didn't act like a last-place club and rallied to tie the game 6-6.

The Meth-Carney-Kweicinski trio, the best forward combination during the entertaining contest, sent the Glens' supporters home happy. The three combined on the winning goal in the dying moments, with Meth connecting on a pretty two-way passing effort. Meth and Carney provided the offensive spark with two goals and two assists each, while singles went to Glen Campbell, Michael Daniels and Stephen Stewart.

Mike Sargent led Winchester with three goals and three assists, while Mark Smith with two goals and four assists, and Donnie Marcellus completed the scoring.

At Winchester Friday night, the Glens jumped out to an early 2-0 lead in the opening period but Winchester scored two late powerplay goals to send the clubs into the dressing rooms even at 2-2.

Andrew Meth's line continued to provide the offensive spark for the Glens. Meth scored twice and added three assists, Kweicinski had two goals and one assist, while Carney scored once and set up three goals. Jean-Luc Menard and Stephen Stewart completed the scoring.

The prettiest goal of the night came from Andrew Meth. With the Glens trailing 6-5 midway in the third period, Meth skated end to end and beat Winchester goaler Barry Kennedy high on the glove side.

Trevor McClatchie scored twice and added three assists for Winchester. Mark Smith also scored twice, while singles went to Mike Sargent and Scott Konick.

The Glens' sweep over Winchester leaves the Glens in third place in the Alex English Division with a 5-5-1 mark for 11 points, three back of second-place Char-Lan and six back of division-leading Metcalfe.

Despite the two wins, the Glens failed to open up any breathing room between themselves and fourth-place Winchester. THe Hawks are only two points back of the Glens after their win

OVER HERE, OVER THERE—Standing wide open for a pass, Laggan's Mark Titley anxiously waits for the puck from teammate Keith Rigby during a Border Hockey League contest, Sunday, at the Glengarry Sports Palace. Laggan posted a 6-3 win over Glen Nevis.

NOT THIS TIME—Laggan's Mark Titley was hard-pressed to get by Glen Nevis defenceman Darrell Hay during this scoring attempt in the Border Hockey League contest, Sunday, at the Glengarry Sports Palace. Titley got the shot away, but the puck was deflected wide by Glen Nevis goaler Denis Parette.

Suffers first loss

CORNWALL — It had to happen sooner or later. Alexandria's Knights of Columbus Novice travelling team dropped its first game of the season Sunday, in a 5-4 squeaker to Cornwall.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of Karl Hehn, Jason Poirier, Martin Boisvenue and Dominic Laferriere. Picking up single assists were Eric Hagen, Dominic Laferriere, Francois Lortie, Karl Hehn and Joel Menard.

On Saturday at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Martin Boisvenue's hat trick sparked Alexandria to a 6-1 win over Cornwall. Joel Menard added two goals, while Eric Hagen completed the scoring.

Jean-Joel Trottier had three assists, while Martin Boisvenue had a pair. Single helpers went to Stephane Boisvenue, Ryan MacDonald, Karl Hehn, Jason Poirier and Jamie Pelletier.

Alexandria's next game is Friday night at Long Sault against South Stormont. The club is also participating in the Vankleek Hill tournament Saturday.

Gebbie scores winner

Randy Gebbie was the scoring hero as he tallied the game's only goal for an exciting 1-0 win for Alexandria Lalonde General Store Peewees Sunday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Steve Poirier drew an assist on the goal, while Donald Glaude earned the shutout. Alexandria travels to Vankleek Hill Friday night for an exhibition game. The club's next league game is Sunday night on home ice against South Stormont.

Seguin scores five goals as St. Raphael's wins easy contest

by Sue Sloan

In Border Hockey League action, St. Raphael's continued to score a lot, overwhelming Alexandria 12-4 last Tuesday at Alexandria.

Frank St. Pierre gave St. Raphael's the momentum when he sent five shots between the pipes. Stan McGillis tallied a hat trick and was supported with two goals from Leo Seguin and single markers from Norm Seguin and Bob Sonnel.

Alexandria's Richard Cholette fired two goals, while Joel Doiron and Michel Cholette scored singles.

Laggan continues on the upswing and is narrowing the point spread with St. Raphael's following two wins last week.

Thursday night at Williamstown, Laggan downed Lancaster 6-3. Andy Sangster and Kenton Spink each tallied a pair for Laggan, while Eddie deWit and Neil Sandilands knocked in one each.

Lancaster's three-goal effort came off the sticks of Glen McKay, Mike Tessier and Vance McLaughlin.

Game 1 on Sunday saw Lancaster hold its own and defeat Alexandria 6-3.

Mike Tessier scored the hat trick for Lancaster, while Norm Leroux and Chris Eamon scored one each.

Alexandria's goal scorers were Brent McDonell, Frank Paquin and Joel Doiron.

Game 2 of the day saw some intense competition between Laggan and Glen Nevis, as Laggan took the game 6-3.

Laggan's John Tessier set the pace with two goals, while singles were popped in by Andy Sangster, Mark Titley, Keith Rigby and Dwayne Spink.

Glen Nevis' three goals were knocked in by Chris Macdonald, Gilles Parisien and Lyle Ross.

Border Hockey League action on tap for the upcoming week will see Lancaster take on Glen Nevis Thursday night at 10:40 at Williamstown. Sunday's first game in Alexandria, at 1 p.m., will see Glen Nevis against St. Raphael's. At 2:30 p.m. Laggan will take on Alexandria.

Next Tuesday night at Alexandria at 10:20, St. Raphael's will play against Alexandria.

Local Atoms lose against North-Glen-Stor squad

Steve MacMillan scored the winner in the final stanza as North-Glen-Stor skated to a 3-2 win over Alexandria Caisse Populaire Atoms, Sunday, in a Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League contest at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Also scoring for the winners were Richard Hutt and Chris Lefebvre.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of Jean-Pierre Lefebvre and Jamie Nelson. Mathieu Poulin had one assist.

It's time goalers got some protection

SPORTS

Peter Conway

I'd hate to be a goaler, especially in junior hockey. Although the Junior B season is only 11 or 12 games old, already we've had a couple of incidents where goalers have been run into by forwards.

A couple of weeks ago, two Char-Lan players ran Clarence Township's goalers. Both goalers had to leave the game. The second incident came in the last couple of minutes and Clarence Township was forced to finish with six attackers.

Last weekend, a Clarence player stormed the crease and hit the Navan goaler. The player was assessed a five-minute major penalty.

Last Thursday night, a Winchester player deliberately slammed Alexandria Glens' goaler Daniel Brunet behind his net. The player received a match penalty and with it comes an automatic three-game suspension.

Well, there's no way in the world someone will convince me that hitting a goaler is part of the game. Brunet took a few minutes to pick his body up off the ice and regain his composure. Brunet was lucky he wasn't hurt seriously.

One of the Clarence Township goalers suffered a cracked bone in his shoulder. He probably will be out of action for a couple of months. His backup returned the next game while the Navan netminder was only dazed for a few moments from the blow.

Hockey is one of the most entertaining sports to watch. There's nothing better than two clubs skating and some solid, clean hitting thrown in.

Goalers are so vulnerable. I wouldn't want to be wearing all that heavy equipment and skate for a loose puck near the net. Some players must think goalers are invincible because of all the padding they wear. Boy, are they wrong.

I have no sympathy for the player who runs a goaler and expects a minor penalty for roughing. More referees should be stricter in penalizing culprits who hit netminders.

Football protects its quarterback. Hockey should protect its goaler.

IT ISN'T ALL FUN!

Former National Hockey League star Bobby Orr received a letter from a hockey-playing youngster in Massachusetts. The youth wrote the letter to his parents.

Orr writes a column for Goal magazine and felt the letter should be published. The letter should be not only of interest to parents, but anyone involved in minor hockey.

Dear Mom and Dad:

I hope you won't get mad at me for writing this letter, but you always told me never to keep back anything that ought to be brought out into the open.

So here goes. Remember the other morning when my team was playing and both of you were watching? Well, I hope you won't get mad at me, but you kind of embarrassed me.

Remember when I went after the puck in front of the net trying to score and I fell? I could hear you yelling at the goalie for getting in my way and tripping me. But it wasn't his fault—that's what he is supposed to do.

Then do you remember yelling at me to get on the other side of the blue line? The coach told me to cover my man. I couldn't if I listened to you, and while I tried to decide, they scored against us. Then you yelled at me for being in the wrong place.

But what really got me was what happened after the game. You shouldn't have jumped all over the coach for pulling me off the ice. He's a pretty good coach and a good guy, and he knew what he was doing. Besides, he's just a volunteer, coming down at all hours of the day, helping us kids just because he loves sports.

And then neither of you spoke to me the whole way home. I guess you were pretty sore at me for not getting a goal. I tried awfully hard, but I guess I'm just a crummy hockey player.

But I love the game. It's a lot of fun being with other kids and learning to compete. It's a good sport. But how can I learn if you don't show me a good example? And anyhow, I thought I was playing hockey for fun, to have a good time and to learn good sportsmanship.

I didn't know you were going to get so upset because I couldn't become a star.

Love,
Your son.

Char-Lan Rebels snap Metcalfe streak

by Peter Conway

WILLIAMSTOWN — After being swept recently during a home-and-home series, the Char-Lan Rebels had every reason to be cautious against the Metcalfe Jets over the weekend.

In their second home-and-home confrontation, the Rebels were hoping for at least a split. After dropping an 8-6 decision Friday night at Metcalfe, they bounced back on home ice Saturday night with an 8-5 win over the division-leading Jets.

The victory was more than two points in the standings for the Rebels. It was a confidence booster.

"We went into the weekend series looking for at least a split," said Rebel President John Chafee. "It's always nice to get two points in the standings, but the win was a confidence booster for the players. We hadn't beat them (Metcalfe) in three previous games."

The victory improved the club's record to seven wins and four losses and left them three points back of first-place Mecalfe.

The Rebels have seen it all before.

"Playing Metcalfe this year was like our games against Navan two years ago," said Chafee. "We couldn't beat them and we finally beat them in Boxing Day tournament that year. That got the monkey off our back."

Bruce Bergeron sparked tha attack with a hat trick, while Mike Jodoin chipped in with a pair. Ron Lefebvre, Daryl Menard and Kevin Poapst added singles.

Metcalfe led 2-1 after one period, but the Rebels jumped ahead 5-3 in a fight-filled second period. After Char-Lan's Brent Laplante and Metcalfe's Mike Pratt squared off early in the period, a six-player fight ensued in the final moments. Also banished from the game were Char-Lan's Mike Lapensee, Dave St. John and goaler Kevin Buchan and Metcalfe's Peter Holmes, D'Arcy Provost and David Warren.

Brian Downey led the Jets with two goals, while former Rebel Don Bissonnette and Mike Thebarge had one goal and two assists each. Peter Holmes tallied once.

In Friday's setback, the Rebels trailed 3-0, but rallied to 3-2 after the opening stanza. The Jets led 6-4 after two periods.

Peter Holmes paced the Jets with two goals and an assist, while singles went to Brian Downey, Mike Thebarge, Mike Pratt, Don Bissonnette, David Warren and Barry Stefureak.

Herbie Seguin, Kevin Chafee and Mike Jodoin each tallied twice for the Rebels.

"It was a good game and a hard-hitting affair. Of all the teams we've played, Metcalfe is the strongest and the team to beat so far. We've played everyone except Navan and beat every team at least once," Chafee said.

Chafee praised the work of Metcalfe goaler Pierre Labelle over the weekend.

"Labelle is playing well and he did an excellent job against us. Goaltending was to have been a weak spot for them after Stu Paterson graduated, but Labelle has done the job."

The Rebels have a busy week. They play at Ottawa Thursday evening and host Navan Saturday night. Sunday afternoon, they travel to Clarence Creek to face the Beavers.

REBEL NOTES

The club has signed Lynd McDonald as an assistant coach. He coached the Cornwall Junvenile squad last season and also coached the Cornwall Township Junior C Flyers for two seasons.

While Captain Kevin Renwick isn't expected back in the lineup for 10 days, the club got more bad news over the weekend. Shawn Blanchard will have an operation on his injured shoulder in the near future and will miss the remainder of the regular season schedule. Club officials are hoping he'll be back in time for the playoffs.

The St. Hubert players Saturday night were Bruce Bergeron and Larry Frappier.

While Blanchard recovers from surgery, he will assist Coach Dave Hanson behind the bench.

GLENS' NOTES

The Glens travel to Ottawa tonight (Wed.) to face the South Ottawa Canadians. Clarence Township makes its first appearance at the Glengarry Sports Palace Friday night.

Just how bad do Charlie Link, Chris Carney and Paul Kwiecinski want to play junior hockey? The three travel over one hour by car to practices and games from Potsdam, New York.

Sheldon McDougall, who signed last week, is expected in the lineup tonight and Friday night.

The sweep over Winchester left the Hawks with eight straight losses. The streak was snapped Sunday against Clarence Township.

It wasn't all good news for Roch Lajoie's club during the two victories. Captain Stephen Stewart was injured in Friday's game and may be out of the lineup for a couple of weeks. He suffered torn ligaments in his shoulder early, but played the remainder of the contest.

* * *

It appears Norm Sauvé won't be back this season with the Glens. Sauvé says he's lost interest in junior hockey and no longer enjoys the game.

Leonard Séguin held in check over the weekend, has four powerplay and four short-handed goals to date. Stephen Stewart, Jean-Luc Menard, Chris Carney, Glen Campbell, Michael Daniels and James Robinson all have two each. Sylvain Audette has scored three goals. All have come on the powerplay.

Mary Nixon assisted by Anne McPherson opened the scoring for Tapis Richard, while Cheryl Rigby with one goal and Helen MacDonald with two assists rounded out the scoring.

Scores four

Alexandria Junior C's let a win slip away on home ice Friday night and it took a dramatic rally in the dying moments to preserve an exciting 5-5 draw with Casselman.

Alexandria led 2-1 and 4-2 after two periods of play. The local club held the 4-2 advantage with seven minutes left in the contest.

The visitors then scored three straight goals and went ahead 5-4. It looked as if Casselman had pulled out the win, until Guy Quesenl tied the game with 17 seconds left on the clock. The goal was Quesnel's fourth of the contest.

Maurice Bellefeuille completed the scoring for Alexandria. The club's record in the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League is one win, six losses and one tie.

Chenier fourth at championships

CAMBRIDGE — Alexandria's Sylvie Chenier recently competed in the Ladies Provincial Powerlifting Championships at Cambridge and placed a respectable fourth behind two national champions.

It was Miss Chenier's second meet. She has been powerlifting for the past year.

Having participated in a number of sports, Sylvie took up the sport of powerlifting as a new challenge.

"Things have been going well for Sylvie and she is training a lot," says Luc Leblanc, of Pattyn's Gym.

At the meet, she qualified as a Class 1 lifter, which means she can participate in the national championships. Miss Chenier had a combined total of 312.5 kg. Her individual totals were 127.5 kg. in the squat, 57.5 kg. in the bench press and 127.5 kg. in the deadlift.

She competed in the 60 kg. class, one of the most competitive categories for women lifters.

Leblanc says Miss Chenier has a bright future in powerlifting.

"Having achieved so much in a short time shows how much potential she really has, "Leblanc said. "If she plans to stay with the sport, she could very well be the person to beat in her category in the near future."

Bedard wins

MAXVILLE — Roger Brodeur and Ray Lepine tallied two goals each to power Bedard Energy to a 5-2 win over Villeneuve Water Supply, Sunday, in an SD&G No-Contact Broomball League game at the Maxville Sports Complex.

Roch Séguin completed the scoring for the winners, while Jody Dewar accounted for Villeneuve's goals.

Marc's Canteen blanked Cashway 2-0. Scoring for the winners were Roger Carriere and Gerald Cholette. Guy Quesnel earned the shutout between the pipes.

Sabourin Construction posted a 3-1 win over Monkland. Daryl Dumouchel, John Prieur and Marcel Piette were the marksmen for Sabourin Construction. Steve Norman was the goal scorer for Monkland.

Dunvegan Highlanders nipped Lacombe Trucking 1-0. Earl MacLennan was the lone goal scorer, while Michel Menard earned the shutout.

Guindon Tire squeaked past Bourget 1-0. Mike Bissonnette scored the only goal of the contest, while Doug Delage was between the pipes for the shutout.

In the final men's game, Theo Oetelaar scored both goals, as Maxville Farm Machinery defeated Tremblay Poleline 2-1. Daniel Bourgeois replied for Tremblay Poleline.

Two games were played in the women's division. Manny's Auto Body squeaked past Lemieux 1-0. Barb Benton scored the only goal. Julie Monpetit earned the shutout.

Routette places second

Alexandria's Marc Rouette walked off with silverware during the Eastern Ontario Motocross Association's awards banquet Friday night at the Nepean Sportsplex.

Rouette, 18, in only his second season of racing, finished runner-up in the points standings in the 250 c.c. class. Hawkesbury's Doug Kego won the class with 173 points, one more than Rouette. He received a trophy as the runnerup and a plaque for perfect attendance during the racing season. He participated in 15 races over the summer.

"I'm pretty happy with my season," Rouette said. "My mechanic, Reynald Bourcier, did a great job helping me all summer. Shepherd Motors also helped me a lot."

Although he had a successful season, Rouette is undecided about racing next year.

"I'm not sure if I'll go back into motocross racing. I may try road racing, but I'm not sure at this moment. I will be ice racing this winter though," he said.

MAX KEEPING

St. Andrew's annual dinner dance

by Angus H. McDonell

While browsing through the last issue of your favorite family journal, we were delighted to read in the classified column that the Glengarry Pipe Band was carrying on the ancient remembrance tradition of Scotland's patron saint, Andrew.

The band executive is staging a dinner-dance, Saturday night, Nov. 29, in the Maxville and District Sports Complex community hall.

We were also pleased to note that among those at the dinner head table, in the role of guest speaker, will be one of the most loyal supporters of Glengarry heritage, Ottawa's Maxwell "Max" Keeping.

The presence of a noted speaker, folks, is best described by our pet phrase, "History repeating itself." So we stirred the fireplace flame with another maple, lounged back in our Archie Bunker chair and literally turned over a few pages of time that told in retrospect some of the long gone St. Andrew's Day dinners. We will reminisce.

One hundred years ago Alexandria was rated, as it is today, among Ontario's most progressive towns comparable in size. The Grand Union Hotel, now the Alexandria, Mill Square, like similar hotels, had a large dining room. This was necessary to accommodate the many commercial travellers of that era and farmers who had a long wait for a wagon load of grain being ground at the grist mill.

The spacious dining space, with ornamented chandeliers and fitting decor of the time, served another purpose. Alexandria's businessmen occasionally feted a popular politician or successful colleague. However, the major dinner each year was held on or about Nov. 30, St. Andrew's Day, with a distinguished personality as guest speaker. And the host chairman most likely was the founding editor of The Glengarry News, Col. A. G. F. Macdonald.

In 1896 the pioneer era of crowded hotel dining room St. Andrew's Day dinners gave way to the building of St. Finnan's Temperance Society Alexander Hall. Included was a stage complete with drapes, roll-up curtain, footlights and about 200 seats, thus becoming the home for many years of St. Andrew's dinners, featuring a guest speaker followed by a concert.

World War One terminated such gatherings of the clans in the Alexander Hall, celebrating the anniversary of St. Andrew.

In 1919, renewing the heritage became the social highlight of the year, St. Andrew's Ball in the Armouries attracted Glengarrians from every part of the county, Montreal, Cornwall and Ottawa. At midnight, a sumptuous lunch was served by the ladies auxiliary and a toast for the occasion proposed by the committee chairman.

The custom of celebrating St. Andrew's anniversary flourished until the depression of the Thirties. The demise was complete with the outbreak of World War Two. However, by a strange coincidence, the war hostilities revived St. Andrew's dinners, guest speakers and concerts in the Alexander Hall.

In organizing his wartime cabinet, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King drafted the Hon. Angus L. Macdonell, premier of Nova Scotia, as Minister of Naval Affairs. Settled in his Ottawa office, we were motivated to interview the minister for a Glengarry News story. "Angus L" as he was popularly known, hailed from Inverness County, Cape Breton. Glengarrians and Cape Bretoners had a lot in common, especially as violinists and Northern Ontario miners.

The minister, no doubt, was a busy politician. As a timesaver we submitted a short questionnaire for story data. Noting we represented The Glengarry News, his secretary called to say Mr. Macdonell desired a meeting. Timidly we entered the minister's office at a specific time. We were immediately put at ease with a Gaelic welcome. Fortunately, we were able to answer with a "bit of the Gaelic."

At the conclusion of our brief, but interesting, chat we asked the Hon. Angus L if he would like to attend the forthcoming St. Andrew's gathering of Glengarrians in Alexandria. He would be delighted.

We promptly called Father William J. Smith, St. Finnan's pastor, to get on the blower and officially invite the Minister of Naval Affairs to his St. Andrew's concert. Needless to say, with such a prestigious Highland guest speaker, the program was an outstanding success. That, folks, is how the custom of guest speakers at Alexandria's St. Andrew's celebrations was revived after a lapse of 30 years.

There has been the occasional repetition in recent years. Continuity is assured by the Glengarry Pipe Band's St. Andrew's celebration, Saturday night of next week in Maxville.

The program will feature some of the centuries old traditions. At 6:30 p.m. the cocktail hour will get under way with the exchange of greetings by the early arrivals. Marcel Lanthier has promised a super roast beef dinner served by a full staff of waiters. There will be the Ode to the Haggis and then the dinner guest speaker's address.

Max Keeping is no stranger to Glengarrians. In full evening kilt dress he has conducted Glengarry Night presentations by the Ottawa Glengarry Club at the Ottawa Arts Centre. He has attended the Glengarry Highland Games and this year was the emcee of the tattoo show. We repeat, there isn't anyone in the field of broadcasting and television that exceeds Newfoundland's native son, CJOH-TV's news anchorman, Max Keeping, in expounding Glengarry's heritage.

Following the dinner the Glengarry Pipe Band and MacCulloch dancers will entertain, while the dance music will be by the Brigadoons.

Euchre party was successful

GLEN NORMAN
Mary Lacelle
525-1372

This is one of those weeks when not a single person called to give me news. I'll try to make this as interesting as I can.

I attended a euchre party put on by Les femmes Culturel at North Lancaster this past Sunday evening. Now, I'm not a great card player, but I'm good at dealing, Bernard Besner and Robert Glaude can vouch for that. It was a real fun evening, thanks to my partners, who were such good sports.

* * *

Here is a recipe you might try for Christmas. I found it in an 1895 edition of The Glengarrian.

GRANDMA'S GINGER COOKIES

Come my dear and I will show you
How I make my ginger cakes
How I mix the dough together
And how long the baking takes
With a quart of good molasses
Mix a pound of sugar sweet
Add a pound of lard or butter
Half of each in my receipt
Ounces two of powdered ginger
With a pinch of salt or two
Mix one egg—with flour stiffen
Roll out thin and you are through
How to keep them when they're finished
When they're baked and nicely browned?
Well a good strong lock and key, dear
Is the best that I have found.

Fall fashions were advertised in the 1911 edition of The Montreal Herald by Goodwins Limited.

The article read: "We are going to give you a peep into what some of the fashions for fall will be this year. Tailored and peasant sleeves are still prominent; so are plain and fancy borders. You will find the Empire style, Citoyenne waist effect, some denoting the straight and narrow figure. Our dresses are in Challie, Mull, Delanie, Lingerie, Chambray and Muslin. The colorings are white, blue, helio, pink, black on white, navy on white and others too numerous to mention. Our customers never thought $10 too high a price for them, so you can judge $4.98 the price for tomorrow (June 23) will be quite a welcome one. Store opens at 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m."

We are saddened by the unexpected and sudden death of Martin Solinc. Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Solinc and family.

* * *

Happy birthday to Michael Lacelle Nov. 19, Mathilda Koenig, 20th, Nicole Secours 21st, Jackie MacDonell 24th, and a belated birthday wish to Theresa O'Shea Nov. 13. Happy anniversary to Leo and Margaret Séguin, Nov. 24.

Two Kenyon bridges get $320,000 face lift

KENYON — A $320,000 project to repair two Kenyon Township bridges has been completed.

A small crowd gathered in Thursday afternoon's biting cold wind to officially open the 8th Concession Bridge, which crosses the Scotch River, and the Athol Bridge, a traverse over the west branch of the same river.

Both structures were declared unsafe by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications in 1984. Repairs to each cost $160,000.

Construction to double the width and stablilize the 8th Concession bridge began in late 1985. The 18-foot wide cement, steel and timber structure was cracking and sinking into the ground. The new traverse is composed of concrete foundations and roadway and steel beams and H-piles. The work, by R.D. Chisholm Construction, was completed in May.

Willis Kerr Construction began work on the Athol Bridge in August.

The cement structure, built around 1900 to carry light traffic, was cracked and deteriorating. It was removed and replaced with a 100-foot long concrete pipe levelled with gravel. Guardrails have been installed.

This project, funded by MTC, is just the first of several tasks the year-old Kenyon Township Council hopes to complete, says Reeve Wilfred Vallance.

November meeting of CWL was held

ST. RAPHAEL'S — The November meeting of St. Raphael's CWL was held on Monday, Nov. 10, with 18 members in attendance.

A mass for Jack Kehoe, the deceased husband of one member preceded the meeting.

President Donna Schofield called the meeting to order, Father Tom Villeneuve led the League Prayer and Pat Major read scripture passage.

Anna Margaret MacDonald read the interpretation of the scripture passage from the "Daily Study Bible" by William Barclay and recommended it as a worthwhile book to have on hand.

The president announced the CWL would purchase "Advent 1986", a booklet of Family Prayers and Activities, to distribute to all parish families for Advent.

The CWL will also have a Christmas hamper for Baldwin House, the home in Cornwall for battered women and their children. Each member is asked to donate any child's toy, a child's book, sleepwear for either children or adults or a grocery item.

The Christmas party for all members and spouses is being held on Dec. 1 at the Parish Centre. Since one of the group's main projects for the upcoming year is the follow-up to Outreach '86, members have invited Pastor Steven Olson to speak on this topic.

Spiritual Life Convener Therese Valade outlined the spiritual topics to be covered throughout the year.

Organization Convener Sue Lajoie reported that having the telephone committee call members on the day of the meeting to remind them to try to attend really brought results.

Resolutions convener Anna Margaret MacDonald asked members to write letters of support to Noble Villeneuve, MPP, for the stand he took in the Legislature against the bill he claims gives special rights and privileges to homosexuals.

Communication and public relations convener Betty McDonald announced the fall newsletter would be given out at weekend masses. She also made the motion that the CWL send The Glengarry News to Rory MacDonald, a seminarian presently studying at Wadham's Hall, Odgensburg, N.Y. Rory's mother, June MacDonald, asked that all members pray for Rory, who is now facing stressful exams

Board makes staff changes

CORNWALL—The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education recently announced a number of senior staff appointments.

The board has authorized the placement of a business studies co-ordinator and a technical studies co-ordinator on a half-time basis.

The co-ordinators will be responsible for implementing recommendations contained in a recent review report on business and technological studies, received and approved by the board in October.

Shelagh Peever, currently serving as director of business studies at North Dundas District High School, will become business studies co-ordinator.

Brian Gilmour, vice-principal of St. Lawrence High School, assumes new responsibilities as technical studies co-ordinator.

Richard Plamondon, a computer education teacher at St. Lawrence High School, has been appointed computer studies consultant of secondary programs.

Delores Green, currently teaching at Rothwell-Osnabruck School, takes over the full-time duties of elementary computer studies consultant and junior division consultant.

No winter work on mill

MARTINTOWN — Stabilization work on the Martintown Mill is scheduled to end this month because of weather conditions.

The Raisin Region Conservation Authority (RRCA) reports most of the work has been completed on the foundation. The basement has been cleared of debris and the floor is now covered with gravel.

The RRCA has loaned Upper Canada Village a mill stone from the Martintown Mill. The stone will be used in one of the Village's mills.

The opening of the commercial trapping season marks the end of the RRCA's beaver control program. In 1986, 340 beaver were trapped and the authority contributed $34,000 to assist member municipalities in trapping beaver and taking out dams.

The authority will propose repeating the program next year.

BROCHURE

The RRCA is now preparing a brochure, to be available in January, highlighting its programs and activities.

Snow causes mishaps

MAXVILLE — The winter's first real snow storm was blamed for four accidents Saturday evening.

Jean King of Maxville was driving her 1985 Pontiac Firebird north on Highland Road near Hwy. 43 when she attempted to pass a vehicle driven by Daniel Leroux, also of Maxville. Ms. King's car went out of control colliding with Mr. Leroux's 1979 Dodge van, causing an estimated $325 damage to both vehicles.

Fifteen minutes later, OPP answered another call after Sylvie Doth of Vankleek Hill lost control of her 1978 Chevrolet on Hwy. 34, 1 km north of Laggan. Ms. Doth braked for a car on the highway's shoulder, lost control and went into the ditch. A vehicle following Ms. Doth, driven by Lachute resident Debra McCullough-McRae, also braked, lost control and struck the rear of Ms. Doth's vehicle. Damage is estimated at $6,500.

A Napean man lost control of his 1981 Ford when he crossed an ice-covered section of Hwy. 417, east of Highland Road. The vehicle, driven by Richard Stackhouse, came to rest in the south ditch.

Another vehicle driven by Elden Meldrum of Avonmore, lost control on Main Street in Maxville, when he attempted to make a right turn onto Fair Street. His vehicle struck a support post on a display sign. There is an estimated $1,200 damage.

Association visits schools

Representatives from the Lung Association have been visiting Glengarry schools as part of a program to educate children that their "lungs are for life."

Marg Inskip, a qualified teacher, instructs kindergarten to Grade 3 students with the help of "Octopuf," a large puppet. Older students are shown a 25-minute video and participate in a question and answer period.

This program is made possible through donations to the Christmas Seal campaign and, this year, the Lung Association hopes top raise $60,000, of which $12,000 has already been raised.

That keeps our hearts in touch,
With all the long past yesterdays
And those we loved so much.
—Sadly missed by wife Pearl and family.47-1p

BELANGER—In loving memory of a dear father, grandfather and father-in-law Moïse, who passed six years ago November 21, 1980.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep,
His memory we shall always keep.
—Always loved and remembered by son Claude, daughter-in-law Ella and grandchildren André, Gilles, Joanne and Alain. 47-1p

ART DISPLAY—Jean McCormick and her students staged an art exhibition over the weekend. Mrs. McCormick, who teaches a class of 60 students at her home near Finch, has been painting for 20 years. Cindy Rowe was one of Mrs. McCormick's students taking part in the art exhibition.

Art of painting satisfying and fun to learn at any age

Although some people might think differently, learning how to paint isn't that difficult. It's a matter of how much a person wants to learn, says Jean McCormick.

Mrs. McCormick has been painting for 20 years and teaching art lessons from her Finch home for the past five.

She and her students staged an art exhibition over the weekend at the Priest's Mill. The third annual affair was a success; an opportunity for students to show off their work for the public.

"The whole idea of the art exhibition is for the students to show their work," Mrs. McCormick says. "There's no other way the public would get to see the paintings. It's one thing to paint, but you still have to be recognized."

Mrs. McCormick teaches about 60 students in six classes weekly. She says you can learn to paint at any age. There are students from ages seven to 77.

"All of my students are from the United Counties. There were over 400 paintings exhibited and a good percentage of them were sold," she says.

The price of paintings can be as low as $50, or as high as $500. It depends on what the buyer is looking for.

The art exhibition was the first ever held in Alexandria by Mrs. McCormick and her students and she was pleased with the response.

"We had a wonderful response from people in Alexandria and area. They really supported the art exhibition and the students were pleased," she said.

Slick salesmen involved in advertising scam

MAXVILLE — OPP are warning merchants to look out for phony sales representatives.

The police report 15 southern Ontario communities have been victimized by sales reps who use fictitious names to sell advertising space in telephone books and restaurant placemats. They carry phony Quebec licences featuring such names as Bowling Pro, Promote Plus and Telemarketing.

They take your money, but don't deliver the promised merchandise.

The scam is being investigated by the OPP anti-rackets branch in Toronto.

If you are approached by a sales person trying to make you pay up front, keep your money in your pocket and contact the nearest OPP detachment.

Bailiff has the toughest job she'll ever love

by Lesley Cadham

She's sprinted from vicious dogs, waded through farmer's muddy fields and has been tossed out of people's homes on her ear.

But that doesn't phase Adele Collin. To the bailiff and clerk of Alexandria Small Claims Court, it's all in a day's work.

Mrs. Collin delivers summonses to people who have had a claim made against them for unpaid bills. She often helps arrange repayment plans, according to income and does her best to ensure they make it to the court house on time.

The job can be tough, especially when many people know what she and her car look like, but she loves it. She recently spent eight months tracking down one elusive man with a court summons.

Mrs. Collin says if there is a nice way to tell people they must appear in court, she's bound to find it.

"You have to have a lot of compassion and patience," she says. "They're human beings. They have a problem (with finances) and you're there to help them with it.

"This is the stock of my trade," she adds, holding up a cigarette. She avoids dropping a summons into the trembling hand of the indebted and usually asks if she can join them in the house for a coffee and cigarette to talk things over.

"I tell them who's putting the claim against them and I tell them their rights. If they do owe money, I tell them to come into the office. I act as a referee.

"Everything in this job is interesting, like the people you meet along the way. I'm not in it for the renumeration, that's for sure," she says.

The Ministry of the Attorney General pays Mrs. Collin a commission on the summonses she delivers, but she is not paid for seven or eight days a year she spends in court. There are no fringe benefits, no retirement plan and no OHIP coverage.

They only pay for her gas consumption if she successfully delivers a summons. If there is no one home she only receives $1.25 for her trouble.

Though her territory is a 45-mile radious of Alexandria, she never telephones to make sure there is someone home to accept the summons. Would people stick around to wait for her? she asks.

She takes the precaution of checking people out before marching into a possibly volatile situation. Her sources of information are the friendly neighborhood post office, general store and the OPP, who might accompany her if the person is known to be violent.

Dogs don't bother her. She carries a can of spray to ward off vicious canines, but has never used it. She remembers an experience she had while new at the job.

"I was pretty green. I parked my car and walked over to the house never expecting trouble. It was getting dark. I knocked on the door and asked if it was so and so's place. The woman said yes and yelled at her husband.

Before I knew it, he grabbed my arm—the ground was icy—and tossed me outside and sikked his little dog on me. It went one way and I want the other," she laughs. "I got out of there pretty fast, throwing the summons over my head."

She warns people the old system that required a bailiff to actually touch a person with the summons to make the delivery legal is outdated. Today, the bailiff needs only present the paper to a person 16 years old and over. It can be dropped on the ground, thrown in the air and chewed by the dog. As long as Mrs. Collin is delivering it to the recipient's residence, it's legal. She simply pops another copy into the mailbox the following day.

Private property signs do not stop her from entering someone's property. A landowner cannot touch her for being on his land, even if signs are posted. But there are situations when even that knowledge is of no comfort.

"When you're alone, in the middle of nowhere, you're covered from head-to-toe by Workman's Compensation, but no one is around to help you. Every farmer has a gun and they're likely to shoot first and ask questions later," she says.

One farmer who reacted adversely is a friend today. When the initial shock of receiving the claim wore off, he called Mrs. Collin and amicably arranged to pay off his debts. Now, when Mrs. Collin is looking for a house in his area, she calls him for directions.

It's been hard to get used to walking in on the poverty some people live in, she says and recalls an elderly women who lived in a shack with a dirt floor. It was winter and the woman answered the door wearing an old ski-doo jacket held shut with pins.

When it's time to give up her job as bailiff, Mrs. Collin hopes to start up a service to help senior citizens.

The number of cases reaching small claims court have decreased since she joined the court in 1981. She attributes this to the charge card revolution, reasoning most people have a spending limit of over $1,000. A claim would not be made until they had exceeded that amount and small claims only handles debts of $1,000 and under.

People don't realize how much they're spending and when the bill comes, the trouble starts, she says. Sometimes a married couple, living well on two salaries, could suffer a setback because of an unexpected pregnancy or work lay-off.

Mrs. Collin became bailiff and clerk of the Alexandria Small Claims Courts in July and, previous to that, worked as deputy to the former bailiff and clerk, John Cormier, who resigned this summer.

Jail can be the outcome of a case which begins in Small Claims Court, Mrs. Collin warns. People don't realize it, but if a summons recipient does not show up in court or neglects to make the payments even after going to court, the only alternative is to send the police into the home with a warrant.

Families deserve quality child care

DON BOUDRIA, MP
Glengarry-Prescott-Russell

One of the most important concerns of parents today is the provision of adequate and affordable child care. Society has changed dramatically in the past 20 years.

The majority of Canadian families no longer fit the traditional nuclear family pattern—the wife at home with the children and the husband out working.

Today, more than half of all women with pre-school children work outside the home. And many families are now headed by single parents—most of whom are young single mothers. Despite the changing character of the family, only about 20 per cent of children whose mothers work outside the home are served by accredited day care centres. And only two in every 100 school-age children have access to after-school care.

Members of the Opposition are firmly committed to providing quality child care based on the principles of cost sharing and choice. Paying for child care should not be the responsibility of just the parents. The burden should be shared among parents, employers, and provincial and federal governments.

The child care system should also offer all families with pre-school children choices that suit their needs. This means that child care facilities should be accessible to as many people as possible.

Financial assistance should also be available for those families who do not have access to facilities—particularly in rural areas; and to working parents who prefer to have their child looked after by a relative or friend rather than in a public facility.

This past March, the government finally tabled a comprehensive report from the Task Force on Child Care, commissioned two years earlier by the previous government, which contained many good recommendations. However, the government has yet to act on these or any other recommendations for an improved child care system.

The need for adequate, affordable and accessible child care will not go away by ignoring it. It's time now for the government to provide leadership on this issue—for our children's sake.

Boudria welcomes tariff

OTTAWA — Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria, the Liberals' deputy agriculture critic, has praised the recent decision by Revenue Canada to impose a duty of $1.45 a bushel on U.S. corn.

But, in a press release, he said he was disappointed by the time taken to arrive at the decision, delayed from Sept. 30, which allowed massive shipments of lower priced American corn to enter the Canadian market in recent weeks.

He said about five million bushels of U.S. corn entered Canada in only 10 days.

"The minister of revenue must now impose this duty retroactively in order to minimize the damage caused by U.S. corn entering Canada," he said. "Otherwise, Canadians will conclude that the government is not serious about helping farmers."
