Board officials clash over who is telling truth

Charges and counter charges abounded last week as SD&G Board of Education officials began arguing among themselves over what is the real policy concerning Glengarry District High School.

French language Advisory Board Chairman Albert Morin, who chaired a French-language information meeting at GDHS last Wednesday, has charged that Director of Education Rosaire Leger is not giving the public the whole truth on changes at the school.

Mr. Leger countered the following day by saying that "I resent Mr. Morin's allegations which are unfair and untrue."

Trustee Lucien Chenier charged that Trustee Morin was suffering from "foot-and-mouth disease," while Board Chairman Sandra Enns said misinformation being spread by Trustee Morin could destroy the board's credibility with taxpayers.

Trustee Morin told a group of about 250 French-speaking parents that no walls are going to be erected at GDHS and the proposed $649,000 provincial grant is merely to improve facilities.

The meeting voted to support the grant.

However, Trustee Morin also told two area newspapers that Mr. Leger must accept some of the blame for the confusion which has resulted over the grant issue.

"He didn't have the guts and courage to admit there was a problem at GDHS," Morin told The Ottawa Citizen.

He also rapped Leger for stating there will be no changes in the school's organization this Fall.

"If we get the provincial funds, it is obvious that the new facilities will result in some changes," he said.

Trustee Morin told the Cornwall Standard-Freeholder that Mr. Leger "preferred to skate while trying to cool the fires. He just made it worse. By trying to please both sides, he ended up pleasing no one."

The trustee said he and his FLAC committee believe there are already two entities operating under the single roof at GDHS and that Mr. Leger should admit as much.

Mr. Morin said Mr. Leger should have told parents at a public meeting April 10 that there was a change being planned to create an English department under the French section for September.

The following day, Board Chairman Sandra Enns denied such a plan is being implemented.

"Things will continue as they exist with only one English department serving both parallel language programs," she said.

"Morin jumped a lot of guns and statements like his could only get us into a lot of hot water. We can't afford that."

Chairman Enns was also upset with Trustee Morin's comments about Leger.

"Mr. Leger has at all times stated board policy. I don't perceive that as skating or as trying to cool fires.

"Board policy is that there will be no changes at the school for next September," she said.

"Our credibility is shot if things like this (Morin's statements) are believed."

Chairman Enns admitted the FLAC committee has approved a recommendation calling for the French section at GDHS to have its own English department, but the board has not ruled on the recommendation.

Trustee Chenier, also a member of the FLAC committee, supported Mrs. Enns.

"As far as I'm concerned, it's obvious that Mr. Morin has a recurring case of Foot-and-mouth disease," Trustee Chenier said.

"It's sad that after he handled such a good meeting he would use an interview to destroy Leger's and my own credibility.

"I've been repeating that there would be no changes at the school for next September. That is board policy. It's too bad that Morin could have destroyed everything."

During last Wednesday's meeting, a student government member from La Citadelle in Cornwall asked whether the French section at GDHS had "a totally Francophone student council that is proud of being Francophone."

Principal Rene Gauthier said the student council issue is under review and there "won't necessarily" be two student councils next year.

He told the audience member that "we are not La Citadelle."

FLAC committee member Denis Vaillancourt said the new gyms would "not necessarily" be divided on a language basis.

When asked for a guarantee that the school will continue as it is now, Trustee Morin said such a guarantee was impossible.

"We cannot give you a guarantee because we don't know what will happen in the future."

Trustee Chenier said, "We are not seeking the separation of the student body but rather to provide the best possible education facilities to our students."

The grant application will be discussed again at a special board meeting at GDHS May 21.

Trustee Morin said a petition circulating which calls for rejection of the grant will achieve no results.

"Even if they get two million signatures, it won't change anything," he said.

He explained the grant was recommended by the FLAC committee.

"Nothing in the world will stop us from having two parallel education systems, one French and one English in this school," he said.

Sports groups protesting hike in arena rates

A recent hike in the participation fee for minor sport participants at the Glengarry Sports Palace has resulted in a letter of protest from Alexandria's four minor sport's organizations—minor hockey, ringette, broomball and figure skating.

A passage within the letter expresses the groups' concern. "We have all been trying to provide recreation to our area youth at low affordable prices. This increase will force parents into having their children choose one out of a possible multiple choice of sports to participate in. Sadly enough, the less fortunate families or larger families will not be able to afford to register all or any of their children; the arena will become a place for the elite and not its original purpose."

It was the decision of the arena board to elevate the participants' fee thus having him or her bear more of the ice rental charge as opposed to the municipality's taxpayers. The board is composed of representatives from three municipalities, Alexandria, Lochiel and Lancaster, which fund the Sports Palace.

The $10 and $15 hike in participation fees for minor hockey and other minor sports, respectively, will mean an equivalent saving for the municipalities taxpayers. This would represent a hypothetical saving of $3,935 to the Town of Alexandria for next year based on last season's figures. Hockey registration will be $30 next year if the association's fees do not rise as well.

Arena Manager Michel Depratto reports the participation fee is comparable to other arenas in the area.

The letter of protest was read to Alexandria Town Council on Tuesday evening and received no response.

Parents' vote supports school

by Velma Franklin

Maxville Community Hall was filled to capacity last week for an unusual kind of school meeting. Stirred by dissension in the community a serious and attentive audience of parents and ratepayers gathered to hear a presentation of both sides of the question. Whether the Senior School should remain open as the Board has just agreed—or whether a petition should be made to have it closed after all. Administrator Lorne Lawson chaired the meeting, taking a few moments to explain the reasons for calling this meeting, and warning the audience of the seriousness of the situation. He expected a reasonable and controlled discussion of an issue that was apparently dividing the community, and that had to be settled for any sort of amicable future progress.

Jim Fergusson, chairman of the Senior School parents committee, presented the case for the school. He began by giving a brief rundown of recent events—the School Facilities Committee voting two to one to keep the school open—on the same night that the Board voted nine to one to close it.

The sparsely-attended public meeting followed at which the committee was authorized to organize and petition to have the closing decision reversed. There was a unanimous vote of support at this meeting, not one dissenting voice, and eventually the Board did reverse its decision.

Tonight, he observed, that both sides had emerged, an illustration that in this country people can still stand up, speak, and get what they want. In the case for the school he mentioned cost, which was not really a factor now, $24,000 had been allotted to run the school next year. There would be $3,000 required to meet the expenses of the extra pupils in the Maxville Public School, and the matter of the unpaid debentures debt on the school, not recoverable unless the building was sold.

The cost of the school amounted to one-fifth of one percent of the Board's budget—and with the mill rate already set there could be no change in the tax rates this year anyhow. The need for the school is obvious, he affirmed. Moving all the pupils to the public school would result in an enrolment of 308, allowing very little room for expansion. People are moving into the district all the time—the Senior school can serve as an overflow, particularly if Tagwi closes.

He felt very strongly that the Board should have accurate population projections for five and 10 years ahead, and that these should be made public.

From an educational standpoint the Senior School has many advantages to offer, involving personal values and the quality of life. The separation from the junior classes is an excellent preparation for high school—

Authority project hits another snag

The proposed $800,000 Raisin River channelization project has hit another snag.

Raisin Region Conservation Authority board members decided Thursday not to open tenders for the job because 19 landowners had not yet signed easements which would allow the Authority to do work along their banks.

A total of 55 easements are needed before the approximately seven miles of channelization work can be done upstream of St. Andrews to relieve annual flooding problems.

The Authority voted to contact the remaining owners and make a decision at a special meeting May 22 on whether to proceed with the project.

The Ministry of Natural Resources which is subsidizing 85 per cent of the cost of the scheme will not give the final go-ahead unless all the easements are signed.

If the easements are not in by May 22, the Authority will have the option of cancelling the project or expropriating the easements.

Cornwall Township Reeve John Cleary, who is the Authority's first vice-chairman, said he believed most of the easements could be obtained.

Several Authority members expressed concern that a minority of landowners could hold up a project sought by the majority of farmers along the affected part of the river.

Town is presenting brief at May 21 GDHS meeting

Alexandria Town Council members have decided to present a brief expressing their views at the special meeting of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education scheduled for May 21 at Glengarry District High School.

After several councillors and the mayor expressed the feeling they should take a stand at this time over the recent school issue, it was decided that they hold a closed session to discuss the matter. After some deliberation council put forth a resolution authorizing Town Clerk Don Collin to inform the school board they will be presenting a brief at the meeting with the mayor or a designated representative acting as spokesman.

Youth, 19, injures his head and hand in auto crash

D. J. McGillis, 19, of Alexandria, suffered deep lacerations to his head and left hand following an automobile mishap in Cornwall early Sunday morning.

D. J., son of Gerald and Marguerite McGillis, was driving his father's 1979 Toyota stationwagon northbound on Brookdale Avenue in the traffic circle area when he lost control. The vehicle rolled and came to rest on the side of the road.

Two other passengers in the car at the time were Alexandria residents Robert Brunet and Richard Aubry along with Jeff Milne of RR#1, Lancaster, all 19-year-olds. They managed to escape injury.

Mr. McGillis was thrown through the front windshield in the accident and came to rest partially underneath the vehicle. Friends who were following in another car came to his rescue and lifted the car off him. D.J. was then taken to the Hotel Dieu Hospital by ambulance where he is undergoing treatment for his cuts and will likely be released in about a week, reports a family member.

Cornwall Police estimate damage to the vehicle at $5,000.

MADE IT—The race—and the day—is over for Sonja Blanchette as she breaks the tape in the senior girls' 4x400 relay, the last event of Wednesday's GDHS track meet. Although a drizzle fell throughout most of the meet, it failed to dampen the efforts of Sonja, Alan or any of the other competitors, since fourteen records were broken throughout the day. Bilingual GDHS needed—group

The bilingual nature of Glengarry District High School must be maintained to preserve the bilingual nature of the community, says the Association for the Preservation of Bilingualism in Glengarry.

The group, which is fighting against separation of the student body at the school, says it will make a formal presentation at the special SD&G County Board of Education meeting at GDHS next Wednesday, May 21.

"Lifelong friendships are formed at an early age and it is the sincere desire of the APBG to ensure that such friendships among the students of both linguistic groups be encouraged at the school level, so that Glengarry may maintain its historical character of free-flowing bilinguality," a press release says.

The association also listed the following other philosophical points which were endorsed unanimously by the membership at a meeting May 8.

"The purpose of the association is to help preserve the bilingual character of Glengarry culture, which is an historical fact.

"The association expresses its faith in the community that it is able to live in a bilingual, cultural and social environment in peaceful co-operation and joyful contentment.

"The children in school today are the citizens of tomorrow and will carry the burden of leading the community in public affairs, business life and spiritual matters.

"It is, therefore, important that at the educational level, every opportunity is provided to let bilingualism flourish among Francophone and Anglophone students."

Plan Hell Drivers show for Maxville Fair in June

Maxville Fair again opens the fair circuit for Eastern Ontario on June 19, 20, 21 and 22.

The directors are planning several new attractions beginning on Friday night with Walter William's Thrill Show in front of the grandstand. The show's Hell Drivers will all be driving Ford 4-wheel drive pick-up trucks and Can-Am motorcycles. King Shows will be providing a new and bigger midway on all fair days.

The Eastern Ontario Holstein Show starts Friday at 11 a.m.

A trade show will fill the arena area of the Sports Complex again this year. Here fair-goers can browse or buy everything from machinery, tractors and automobiles to jewellery, crafts, fruit and nuts.

Friday finishes off with a dance in the Sports Complex to the music of the Country Comfort.

Saturday is Ayrshire, Jersey and 4-H day with a dance in the Gray Centre from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. with music by the Clansmen accompanied by the MacCulloch Dancers.

Sunday is Family Day with large beef and sheep shows.

There will be a dress-up show and a pet show for the children on Saturday, and a fashion show for the ladies on Sunday.

The heavy horse show will be on Saturday with a light horse show, a special Morgan show and an equestrian show on Sunday.

The school exhibits, baking, sewing and crafts will be on display in the Sports Complex on Friday and Saturday.

Charlottenburgh backs Char-Lan

Charlottenburgh Township Council has thrown its moral support behind Char-Lan District High School's bid for expansion.

The motion of support followed a presentation by the School Committee last week indicating that Char-Lan students are not receiving equality of education to City of Cornwall students.

Grace Gordon, Bob Evans and Robbie Sova led the delegation which noted that Char-Lan was once the board's number one priority for expansion. The board has now dropped it to fourth spot.

The board has placed La Citadelle at the top of the list. The school wants funds to expand its library.

Char-Lan's School Committee, however, points out that La Citadelle students have public transportation to any of the other high school libraries, plus the SD&G County library, plus the St. Lawrence College Library.

Char-Lan, meanwhile, has been operating with five portables, three since 1971 and two since 1975. The science labs need upgrading. There is no computer and the gymnasium and washroom facilities need upgrading.

Enrolment projections also show Char-Lan to be one of the most stable high schools in all of SD&G.

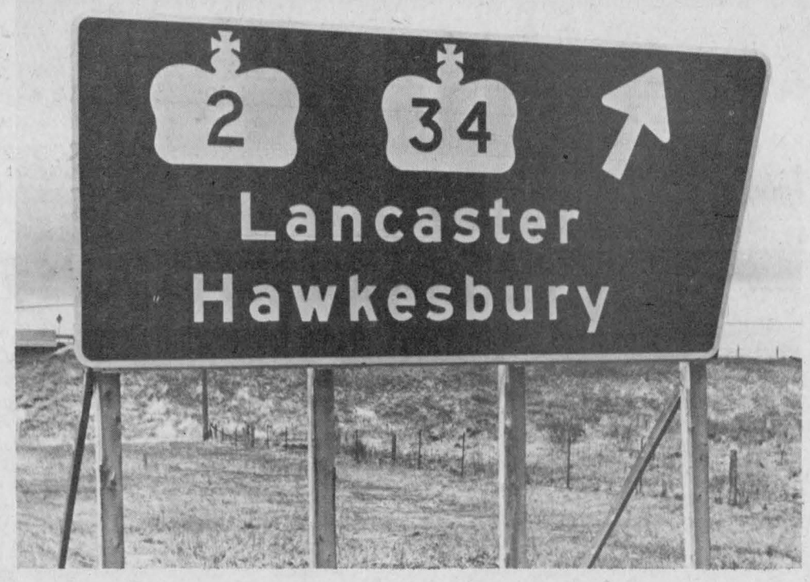
The board's own five-year projections show, for example, that student enrolment at La Citadelle is expected to drop by 21 per cent and at Glengarry District High School by 28 per cent.

The student decline at Char-Lan is only expected to be 14 per cent.

The Char-Lan School Committee is trying to organize a meeting with Ontario Education Minister Bette Stephenson and has asked the township council to select a councillor to accompany the group.

The delegation noted the province made a commitment to "equality of education for rural and city children." They say "this promise is not being kept at Char-Lan."

The total cost of the additional facilities is estimated at over $700,000. The board has budgeted $46,000 for upgrading the labs.



Highway sign to change

Alexandria Town Council recently received a return letter from Osie Villeneuve, MPP, in response to the complaint over signs on Highway 401 which designate Hawkesbury, but omit Alexandria, the proximate centre to the highway.

Mr. Villeneuve's letter states, "After much pressure, it (Ministry of Transportation and Communication) has finally come to the conclusion that Highway 401 should designate Alexandria, both east and west, instead of Hawkesbury."

Municipal airport still up in the air

Charlottenburgh Township Council will take another look at the Summerstown Airport proposal.

Reeve Adrian Gadbois said council would make a final decision in the near future after hearing from the anti-airport element within the township.

Last week, John Woods presented a brief on behalf of the "Charlottenburgh industrial community" indicating the business community supports expansion of the Summerstown Airport into a full-scale municipal airport.

Mr. Woods is president of Woodmac Services Limited, a transportation consulting and driver supply company located in Cornwall with about 100 employees.

He said about 16 industries in Charlottenburgh were contacted and "not one was definitely opposed to the airport. Three were of no opinion, one preferred not to be involved and the others were entirely in favor of expansion."

Mr. Woods said air transportation is essential to the growth of the area.

"It would appear that this region has not kept abreast of business requirements of the modern world and that we are left behind in terms of industrial growth," he said.

He quoted a U.S. study on the value of air transportation saying a survey of the top 500 U.S. firms indicated that 80 per cent would not locate their plants in an area not served by an airport.

The 32-page brief also notes Charlottenburgh has shown a net growth of one industry in the past five years. Brockville, which has a paved airstrip, has obtained nine industries in three years, Mr. Woods noted.

The value of the existing airport has already been shown, he said. The Ontario Provincial Police use the facilities to aid in searches, he said, and farmers charter planes to look for lost stock or examine their fields.

Boaters have requested air service to search for lost docks and boats and the Ministry of Natural Resources uses the facilities to study flooding, beaver dams and count deer.

Domtar hires aircraft for woodlot conservation and television stations have used chartered planes to assist with stories.

Pilot education as well as hobby flying are also important activities in the area, Mr. Woods said.

Larry Gordon, speaking on behalf of some individuals opposing the airport, urged council not to make a decision without giving the anti-airport faction a hearing.

The reeve said he believed an airport could provide benefits but questioned whether taxpayers could afford it.

"I'd like to own a Cadillac," he said. "I'd like to own a helicopter, but can everyone afford it?"

He questioned whether it was necessary to develop "an airport every 50 miles. Is that the answer?"

He noted that "everything is of benefit. Is it enough of a benefit to justify the cost?"

Businessman Ian Macintosh said council should look at the expenditure as "an investment," arguing that new industry would bring in taxable assessment.

Workers get big pay hike

A provincial arbitration board has given unionized employees at St. Lawrence Estate Nursing Home a 42 per cent wage increase.

Home Administrator Murray Monroe said the privately-operated facility had no choice but to honor the award although the decision "will force us to look a little harder at our operations in order to come up with the extra money."

Earlier this year another provincial arbitration board awarded a similar wage hike to the unionized employees at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge which is operated by the United Counties of SD&G.

Counties council has refused to sign its acceptance of the award because the provincial government won't pay a share of the salary increase.

The St. Lawrence Estate award is contained in an 18-month contract covering the home's 81 members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

The contract is retroactive to July and wage increases will come in four instalments.

Currently, the average wage is $4.35 an hour. It will rise by an average $1.80 by the end of this year.

CUPE spokesman Steve Backs said he was satisfied with the award but noted it was still below the $7. an hour provincial average pay scale.

Expansion of town's filtration plant could increase water shortage danger

Expansion of the Alexandria water filtration plant could increase the possibility of a water shortage, the Raisin Region Conservation Authority has warned.

This ironic situation results because the town does not have enough storage capacity to handle a long dry spell, the Authority notes.

The town has already requested the Authority to proceed with a plan to increase the storage capacity by raising the Loch Garry and Kenyon Dams, but the project has not yet been approved by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Therefore, during a dry spell, the danger of a shortage becomes even greater.

The Authority says it is willing to monitor the water levels along the Garry River system to provide advance warning of a possible shortage so that the town can implement conservation measures when necessary.

The filtration plant expansion and storage increase project should be phased in together as much as possible, the Authority indicates.

The Authority suggests that an expanded filtration plant would create better quality water and, therefore, increase water usage.

To clean up

For the second time within months the Town of Alexandria has been told to clean up the upstairs sector of the town hall by the Ministry of Governmental Services. This area is used for provincial court every second week.

The area is rented from the town which leases half the downstairs office space and the second storey from the PUC which owns the building. In turn the ministry rents the upstairs from the town and is therefore the recipient of the complaints, although the PUC pays for the cleaning.

A letter to the town from the ministry warns that the premises must be cleaned to acceptable standards by June 9 as stated in the lease.

A new cleaning contractor has been hired!

Save building

Historic St. Andrews Convent has been spared from the wrecker's ball.

SD&G County Separate School Board has agreed to sell the former school to Cornwall Township for $1.

The board originally planned to demolish the two-storey building but met fierce opposition from area residents who succeeded in having the township designate the site historic under the Ontario Heritage Act.

The Cornwall Township Historical Society will use the building as a museum and cultural centre, said Society President Lois Smith.

Saving the building was the group's first major project since the society was formed two years ago.

Scrap program

SD&&G County Separate School Board has decided not to fund the full-day kindergarten program.

The program would have resulted in hefty tax increases because the provincial government has withdrawn financial support for full-day kindergarten.

Continuing the program would have cost the board $718,000 a year, resulting in a 3.75 mill increase for September to December and a 9.37 mill rise for a full school year starting in 1981.

The decision also means cutting 21 teaching jobs in September.

Fire destroys home

Defective wiring is thought to be the cause of a fire which completely destroyed the home of Romuald and Jacqueline Piche on Sunday afternoon in the Moose Creek area.

The couple and their two children, three-year-old Moise and 18-month-old Linda were visiting at the time at the home of Jacqueline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Piette at RR1, Apple Hill.

The fire which broke out in a woodshed at the rear of the home was noticed by a neighbor, Roger Lafleur, who called the Moose Creek and Maxville fire departments, but they were unable to be of assistance by the time they arrived.

The entire contents of the frame home were lost.

Anyone with appliances, furniture or clothing is asked to call Adele Lalonde, 527-2274 or Judy Piette, 528-4600.

The couple expect a third child in July.

Rabid animals are a hazard this spring.

Rabies, which is spread by infected animals, is a serious problem in Ontario.

This spring it is of special concern in built up areas where wild animals... particularly skunks...are infecting pets and children who come in contact with them.

Children should be warned to avoid wild animals, especially if they appear sick or friendly because these usually are signs that they are rabid.

Pets should be regularly vaccinated and kept indoors at night. You can also help to control rabies by reporting any pets or wild animals which seem to be acting strangely to your local police, humane society or health unit.

Do not touch dead animals and contact your doctor or health unit immediately if your child or pet comes in contact with wild animals. Do not handle your pet with bare hands immediately after it has fought with a rabid animal. Seek advice from a veterinarian.

If you would like to know more about rabies write for a free copy of our pamphlet, ANIMALS, RABIES AND YOU from the Ontario Health Resource Centre, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 1S2.

HELPING THE NEIGHBORS

The community has responded wonderfully well to the appeal for assistance for the Cadieux family, recently burnt out. A door-to-door canvass brought in generous contributions which have been deposited in a special account in the Bank of Nova Scotia—this account will remain open until the end of the month in order to accommodate those who may have been missed in the canvass. The Pathfinders, Guides and Brownies Bake Sale on their behalf raised $60. which was used to buy kitchen appliances. A benefit dance Friday night drew a large crowd. The Cadieux family are presently living in Nick Veenstra's old home, on one of the W.R. MacEwen properties. They have just received clearance to go ahead and rebuild, and intend to do this as soon as possible.

MOVED

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Richer and baby daughter Caroline have just moved in to the house on Catherine St. formerly owned by Garry Smith.

BIKE-A-THON

The Maxville and District Community Association continues its efforts—its annual Bike-A-Thon is scheduled for Saturday, June 7, and members are presently out with their pledge cards. This event is one of their major fund raisers for the popular Christmas Party—be a generous sponsor. This summer again they are constructing more playground equipment at the Sports Complex. Next "Bee" will be on Saturday, May 31, and volunteer helpers are urgently needed. Last winter the Association made donations to the Hockey League, the Maxville Manor, the Young at Hearts, and the Sports Complex—the money they raise goes right back into their community. And they are also sponsoring four children to a week at Camp Kagama this summer.

FIDDLERS' DANCE

The Glengarry Old Time Fiddlers are having one of their popular dances at the Bonnie Glen next Saturday night—May 17. This one will feature Bobby Brown and the Scottish Accent of Toronto. With the many fiddlers playing too this should be a great evening for dancing.

BAPTISMS

On May 11, Mother's Day, Rev. Harold Alston of the Maxville United Church officiated at the baptism of the three children of Hugh and Allison Wilson of the Fourth of Kenyon: Cynthia Lynne, Jennifer Joan, and Ian James; and the two children of Larry and Marily Cotton of Dominionville West—Matthew Donald and David Samuel. On Sunday, May 25, there will be a reception of new members at the church.

Proud of being big losers

by Velma Franklin

On May 2 and 3, 10 members of the Proud Glengarrians, Branch 598 of the Canadian Calorie Counters attended their first convention in Cornwall. May 16 was the anniversary for 19 active members of the Maxville club.

There were over 250 members attending the convention, from 36 branches in the eastern district, including Toronto, Pembroke, and east to Quebec border towns such as Lennoxville. The Maxville group was pleased to bring home a plaque for the best average weight loss which was 18½ lbs. per person. There were six members who received ribbons in the 10 pounds and over category—Helen Ayotte, Margaret Cope. Dorothy Crawford, Rita Evans, Jeanette Richard, and Milvie Vlastaris.

In the 20 plus category were Carole Robidoux and Fleurette Longtin, and in the 30 plus were Diana Lascelles, and Carole Williams. The branch's best loser was Diana Lascelles with a total of 33 pounds off.

A graduating Star is a member who has reached her goal in weight reduction for this year—there were three of these as a credit to the branch—Helen Ayotte, Mylvie Vlastaris, and Fleurette Longtin.

Those who have kept their weight at this goal for a full year after graduating are Brilliant Stars—Margaret Cope and Carole Robidoux.

Guest speakers at the convention were Dietician Gail Newicki, and Dr. Lauzon.

The Doctor felt the outstanding success of the Calorie Counters' program resulted from setting reasonable goals in weight loss, which members were able to attain personal satisfaction in researching. The key to success seems to be perseverance, cooperation, and encouragement among the members themselves.

The Branches are already looking forward to next year's convention which will be held in Cobourg.

Area Curling Club hosts Manor party

Maxville and District Curling Club entertained Maxville Manor residents at the April birthday party.

With Noble Villeneuve as master of ceremonies a varied program was much enjoyed. Assisting in the program were Kent Campbell who pleased the audience with bagpipe selections; Lynne Villeneuve who gave a display of gymnastic exercises; Micheline Villeneuve and Lisa Aubin who played recorder duets; dancers, Susan and Cathy Arkinstall, Sherri Shields, Bridget and Brenda Kippen who entertained with Scottish and tap-dancing numbers.

Irma Marshall and Rhoda Dewar sang duets. Musical selections on violins, piano and organ set all toes tapping. Taking part were, Cecil MacDiarmid, Ralph MacIntosh, John McDermid, Ron Clare and Bev MacQueen.

Gifts were presented by Noble Villeneuve to Vivian Britton, Flora Dewar, Margaret Grant, Effie McLean, Jeanne Marcoux, Jennie Ross, Ethel Thompson, Clifford Kinnear, Ford MacMillan, Wilfrid Sabourin, Harold Shane and Osias Valade.

Lunch was served by ladies of the Curling Club.

Parents' vote . . .

the little ones also benefit from being freed of the domination of the two older grades. There were the excellent shop facilities, and the home economics classes—and the heavy use of the building by many community associations. He concluded "This vote is very important—its effects will be felt for years to come."

Wilfred Vallance, presenting the case for closing the school, drew on his 20 years' experience with the schools in this area. With the advent of the area school, 20 small rural schools had closed, and the children moved in to Maxville Public. A new community spirit had developed from this association. During periods of frantic expansion many of the ratepayers at this meeting had attended classes in this very hall. A serious point he felt was that neighboring schools were being robbed of their Grades 7 and 8 to keep Maxville Senior going—pupils who were needed in their own little schools to bolster plummeting enrolment.

He could not see the wisdom of keeping two schools half empty and expressed the opinion that "A minority group has caused much dissension in our community—we must act in order to unite ourselves again." He mentioned that enrolment at the public school had once exceeded 400, and since then facilities such as playground space had been enlarged, and also felt that optimum use of such facilities was more easily organized in one building than two.

In closing he reiterated that there was no justification in robbing neighboring schools of their senior grades in order to keep Maxville Senior going—when there was already another school in the village.

A fruitful and productive discussion period followed, with all questions addressed to the chair. Concerning facilities and the size of the two schools, Ken MacLennan opined that those of the Senior School were better. In regard to the five empty classrooms, Principal Alice Ferguson explained that these were not exactly empty, but in present times of cutback and concentration Maxville Public was enjoying the luxury of having a separate music room, French room, and separate French kindergarten room.

In response to anxious concern she emphasized that the gym and the library would continue to be used as such, rather than turned into additional classrooms. Shop and home ec. would have to be omitted. Ken MacLennan explained that the buildings superintendent would be opposed to the use of the shop in the Senior School if it were closed otherwise. An alternative would be busing the children to Tagwi, or to Iroquois.

At this point Mr. Fergusson returned to address the chair, emphasizing that no way would his group countenance any busing out of the district, and his audience concurred with heavy applause. There was a discussion of exact enrolment figures, Mr. MacLennan explaining that the Board bases its staffing requirements on a five-month attendance record—September to January—giving him a figure of 211 for the combined schools.

Mr. Fergusson felt that a child who arrived in September was certainly in existence and need only be counted once—giving a figure of 267, or 308 if Roxborough was included.

Mr. Fergusson and Mr. Vallance summed up their views in brief closing statements, and chairman Lawson instructed the audience to proceed with the vote.

Registration for this, and the ballot box, was in charge of Clerk Jim Steel, and Peter Addison, of Kenyon Township municipal office. Scrutineers were Stan Jasiewicz and William Sopko. It took nearly an hour for the long line of voters, which extended around the hall, to cast their ballots. These were immediately counted and the results announced—75 to close the Senior School, and 170 to keep it open.

Point Blank

by Brian Filion

For years researchers have attempted to establish a cross-over effect from one sport to another or one activity to another, but have had little success. It is concluded now that playing a racquet sport for example has little effect on an athlete's ability to play baseball, even though hand-eye co-ordination is common to both activities. However, without the support of scientific measurement, there appears some mysterious relationship between soccer and other sports.

A few articles have been written by sportswriters over the years about this topic but none as well founded as Sean Patrick's recent magazine article in Soccer in Canada, titled, "Soccer Players All." Mr. Patrick does a great job revealing North American athletes with soccer backgrounds and athletic teams which use the game for training purposes.

It was the Canada-Russian hockey series in 1972 which first suggested a hockey training program foreign to the North American game. Soviet players were observed to possess the uncanny ability to handle the puck with their skates, maintain their balance and skate powerfully. Bobby Orr observed during a Challenge Cup Series, "They have such power in their legs, they skip along the ice. Maybe it has to do with the soccer they play." The Swedish and Russian National team practise soccer as a club for one month during the summer, prior to on-ice practise sessions.

Included amongst great professional athletes who attribute their success in sport to soccer are hockey players Ulf Nilsson and Borje Salming, both top calibre soccer players in their home country of Sweden. Two of the world's top ranked tennis players, John McEnroe and Bjorn Borg, both played soccer in their youth. But what better proof do we need of the all-round conditioning and skills developed in soccer than to have players perennially win the Superstars Competition held annually in the United States. Kyle Rote Jr. and Brian Budd have had a monopoly on the superstars title since the competition began. ABC-TV is presently attempting to discourage Budd from further competition.

Locally we have seen how soccer helped three Glengarrians become football kickers. Ivan MacMillan and J. T. Hay have both reached professional status, while Scott Hay appears headed in that direction. All three played minor soccer in Glengarry before discovering an ability to kick pigskin as well in high school.

I can recall Gilles Joanette of Glen Robertson instructing us in minor hockey drills to play with no sticks, only our skates. The soccer players really stood out, but I never appreciated that asset until later. I am told hockey scouts actually look for this skill in young players. So all you true Canucks who have aspirations of a hockey career should take to heart the words of Alexander Maltsev quoted in Patrick's article. "We are very good soccer players which helps to make us excellent hockey players."

It is not only hockey where soccer experience surfaces, for it is essential in many sports to develop strength, endurance and co-ordination within the legs. Youths of all ages should become involved in the game of soccer this summer; it's a great game for conditioning, it's a cheap sport to play and hasn't got a book full of rules where one is constantly involved in play stoppages.

A last note on soccer. The GSL season opens this Friday night in Greenfield with the Glengarry Stars meeting the Greenfield Marauders at Greenfield Park.

Six more inductions slated for Sports Hall of Fame

by Angus H. McDonell

The second chapter that will enshrine for posterity six more of Glengarry's major athletes will be recorded Wednesday evening, July 9, at the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame induction-dinner-dance in Maxville.

Selecting a half dozen candidates from the large number of qualified nominees proposed created quite a problem for the Hall of Fame executive. After considerable deliberation the following were chosen and all other proposed names will remain on file to be again reviewed next year.

The 1980 candidates are: Stuart Rayside, Lancaster; Octave "Tab" Larocque, Williamstown; Joe Marcoux, Alexandria; Willie MacLeod, Dunvegan-Skye; Dougal MacGillivray, McCrimmon-Lochiel; Benny Villeneuve, Maxville.

During the next six weeks an induction biography of each nominee will appear in these columns and they will in turn accompany Montreal artist Douglas Fales' individual paintings of the selected athletes. Herewith is a thumbnail introduction of the candidates.

Stuart Rayside at the turn of the century was rated among Canada's top-ranking football players. In 1900 Rayside played with Ottawa Rough Riders, Dominion of Canada champions, the Grey Cup holders of that era. Rayside also played with Queen's University and Montreal. Among Rayside's Rough Rider colleagues were the famed D'Arcy McGee, Bouse Hutton, Harvey Pulford and Petie Green.

"Tab" Larocque is justifiably rated Glengarry's all-time-great goalie in both hockey and lacrosse. Added to his champion years with Williamstown, Larocque's stellar net-minding with Alexandria in 1913 was a major factor in Ourtown winning the Lower Ottawa Valley hockey championship. The team was eliminated by Hull in the Allan Cup playdowns.

"Tab" was equally brilliant as a netminder in lacrosse.

Joe Marcoux was one of Alexandria's favored lacrosse and hockey players, in addition to being a popular and successful businessman.

In lacrosse, Joe's best years were in both the 12 and 10-man field lacrosse eras. His career ran out in Chisholm Park box lacrosse in the early 1930s.

Joe Marcoux was a rugged goal-scoring home player. In today's play this is a "forward." Besides playing with Alexandria's Lower Ottawa Valley champions coached by Charlie Gauthier (Father Gauthier) in 1913, Joe was also, later, a prominent figure with Nationals, Montreal's French club entry in the Canadian Lacrosse Union.

In hockey, Joe's greatest year has to be 1913 when he flanked Ottawa star centre, Tommy Lowrey, with "Tab" Larocque in goal, and for the first, last and only time, Alexandria hit the Allan Cup trail only to be eliminated by Hull.

From the 1924 founding year of organized soccer in Glengarry one of two players selected is William "Little Willie" MacLeod of the Dunvegan-Skye area.

"Little Willie," as he is affectionately known, starred as a centre-half with Dunvegan's 1924 soccer finalists. For many subsequent years he continued to play top bracket soccer.

Although retired from active play for some years, Willie MacLeod has not lost any of his enthusiasm and fan interest in the realm of sport.

Another of Glengarry's soccer and sportsman greats to be inducted on July 9, is the Pine Grove-McCrimmon native son—Dougal MacGillivray. Golf today, in retirement, could become Dougal's favorite outdoor activity. However, his boyhood yen for soccer will likely always be uppermost in his sport rating.

Dougal MacGillivray's outstanding soccer career was interrupted by a World War Two RCAF expedition that included awards for deeds of valor. Returning home after ceasefire, Dougal resided in Ottawa and played in the City Soccer League. In a short while this young Glengarry soccer forward was leading the scoring way in senior Ottawa soccer.

Being tied to a desk was an unnatural setting for this Lochiel farm boy. So he returned to the Glens where he continued to play in a starring and sportsmanlike manner until his retirement from the game.

This writer can't visualize any argument in classing Maxville's Benny Villeneuve as one of Glengarry's most versatile all-time athletes. Benny, most likely, will tell you that hockey is his first love. The ice lanes have led Benny from the old open air rink just west of the CNR station to Russell of Central Ottawa Valley glory days. Then on to Grimsby "Peach Kings" of the OHA.

Like "Little Willie" MacLeod, Benny Villeneuve was the soccer cornerstone of the 1924 Maxville eleven in the Western Division of Glengarry soccer.

He played in this leadership role on and off the soccer field for some years. In the meantime Ben's fleetness afoot and fine physical condition enabled him to star in the field position with Alexandria in the waning days of the 1920s and 10-man lacrosse.

Ben was also at home from house to hogline on the curling sheets. He was quite a marksman with a rifle in the hunting season and in his younger days knew the better fishing holes of the Nation in the Casselman area.

Benny Villeneuve's lengthy and invaluable years of contribution in the interests of the Kenyon Agriculture Society and the Highland Games will be fully recorded in Benny's induction biography.

The induction banquet program revealing the guest speaker will be announced shortly. Next week the biography of Stuart Rayside.

Boisvenue honored at Cornwall Lions Athletic banquet

Robert Boisvenue of Alexandria was honored Friday evening at the Cornwall Lions Club Annual Sports Dinner for his outstanding play last season in Cornwall Fastball League play.

Following a long stint in the Alexandria league Robert and his Bonnie Glen teammates opted to join the highly competitive Cornwall Sportsmen's Softball League last season, which features some of the best pitchers in the area. This Alexandria-based team finished third in league play but gained some valuable experience which has given them hope for a league title this year.

Robert personally had an outstanding season, fielding his shortstop position to perfection and accumulating a .348 batting average—second highest in the league. His consistent play won him Player of the Year and Most Sportsmanlike Player honors within the league.

Two other teammates also starred during their rookie season in Cornwall league play. Serge Vaillancourt was awarded Top Pitcher in the league last Fall and Bob Quesnel won the batting title, edging Robert by several percentage points.

In addition to league play the Bonnie Glen team participated in a number of weekend tournaments, taking home their share of trophies and over $1,000 in prize money.

Bonnie Glen started practising last week in preparation for the season opener slated for May 20 in Cornwall.

Recognized writer will speak at dinner

Tim Burke, a well known sportswriter with the Montreal Gazette, is the first confirmed guest speaker for the 15th Alexandria Lions Club Sportsmen's Dinner which will be held on June 9 at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

Along with the prestigious awards which will be presented that evening, the Lions will honor other locals who have made a recognizable contribution to sport.

Tickets are presently available from all Lions members and sold at several town stores, which include: Barbara's, Mister Mann, Hope's Sporting Goods, Marcel TV and the Atlantic Hotel.

Teams or groups of individuals who wish to sit together may acquire group tables from Mike Barbara, Michel Depratto or Richard Ranger.

Fourteen records broken at GDHS track meet

Fourteen track and field records were shattered at the annual GDHS meet last Wednesday. Amongst that total were six field records and nine track records.

Breaking a field record is particularly prestigious because in most cases the records date back to when the first high school meet was held. This is unlike track events where the introduction of metric measurement has made it impossible to parallel the times and therefore a new record book has been kept as of 1973.

In the girl's category, five records were broken. Diana McBean broke the midget triple jump while Sylvie Chenier and Birdeen Grant both broke two senior records. Sylvie excelled in the 100 meter hurdles and long jump and Birdeen in the javelin and 400 meter hurdles.

Jean Seguin broke the only midget boy's record with his javelin throw, but it was the junior boys who rewrote the record book, breaking no less than six records. Daniel Claude led the way with two sprint records in the 100 and 200 meter events. Other track record holders in this category were Jean Poirier in the 800 meter event, David Schroeter in the 100 meter hurdles and David Filion in the 3000 meters. Alan MacLeod and Kennedy MacDonald set two field records in the high jump and discus, respectively.

A single record fell in the senior boys' category as Philip Truesdale set the pace in the 800 meter event.

Individual winners of the day were as follows: Sylvie Campeau, midget girls; Ken Barton, midget boys; Rena Seguin, Sylvie Ranger and Donna Clark, junior girls; Alan MacLeod, junior boys; Birdeen Grant, senior girls; Philip Truesdale and John MacSweyn, senior boys.

The GDHS meet is a competition for the Glengarry students and performance in the meet determines selection to the school track team which will compete this Thursday in the SD&G track and field meet. Athletes placing first, second or third in this meet will go on to the Eastern Ontario High School competition held later in the month.

Golf course in good condition

A steady flow of golfers is making the rounds at the Glengarry Club with some saying the grounds are in the best shape ever. The first tournament of the season, the Early Bird, will be played May 24.

Plans for the opening dance May 31, with the Nowickjy orchestra, were finalized at a recent board of directors meeting.

At the meeting, a decision was made on a security system which, in conjunction with a fire detection system, is now being installed.

A tree-planting committee has been chosen. Named are Emile Hurtubise, Bruno Lemieux, Dougal MacGillivray, Ray Durocher, Fraser MacLeod, Donaldson MacLeod and John Vincent. It was decided this should be a permanent committee for as long as each member wished to serve. Their mandate will be to draw up a program for planting both small, young trees and some more expensive, larger trees where the beautiful, old elms have been removed.

It was reported that the sale of new shares is going well, with most new shares being purchased by people in the local area. To recognize the past support of present shareholders, the board voted to offer each one a 'right' to purchase one new share at $275. These could be purchased outright or over four years at $150 the first year, $50 for two years and $25 the fourth year with the 'right' becoming void in case of default of payment. The offer will be available from June 15 to July 15 and shareholders will be mailed a letter of explanation in time for them to exercise this option.

Ladies President Dorothy Derry has called a meeting for Sunday, May 25 at 3:30 p.m. All new members are cordially invited to join the group. Plans for the season will be discussed.

Daisy Pelley, twilight captain, has posted the list for the twilight league with May 27 the cut-off date. Those not signed up at that time will be listed as spares. Play starts June 3.

Gilles Houde, men's twilight captain, will be posting the list for that league at the club shortly.

A successful card party was held at the club May 6. Winners were Nora Ruth, Lucille Lalonde, Rose MacDonald and Anne-Marie Viau at bridge; Pearl MacRae and Marie-Paule Durocher at euchre. Alex McHugh won the door prize. The afternoon was organized by Germaine Lalonde and Marie-Paule Durocher.

Local soccer clubs travel to tourney

Two local soccer clubs, Glengarry Stars and Heart of Glengarry, travelled to Ogdensburg, NY on the weekend to participate in an indoor tourney but came away without any hardware. Both local teams were eliminated in the preliminary round-robin.

Glengarry Stars recorded one win, one loss and a tie, good for third spot in their four-team division. Their only victory came in the first game, a 3-2 decision over Potsdam. Hughie MacGillivray headed the winner into the net off a throw-in as time expired. Cameron Ward and Norman Laliberte accounted for the other goals.

Stars then deadlocked NCCC, a community college team from New York, 0-0 in the second game and lost a disheartening 1-0 decision to the host team in their final match which resulted in their elimination.

Heart of Glengarry players who were placed in a tougher division, suffered three straight setbacks. This new Maxville-based club under the direction of Billy Shields and D. A. MacMillan was shut out 2-0 by Ottawa Royals, 2-1 by Prescott and 2-0 by Cornwall City. Hughie Grant got the Heart's lone goal in the tournament.

Cornwall City won the tourney by defeating the highly favored Ottawa Royals 1-0 in overtime.

Soccer schedule set

The 1980 Senior Men's Soccer schedule was approved at the Glengarry Soccer League general meeting on Monday evening.

Lancaster library retains history

Since 1902 the library building has been one of Lancaster's landmarks. It was erected with funds provided by John D. Ross of Chicago. Although well-built, says Reeve Kenneth MacLennan of Lochiel, who heads the county library board, the years have taken their toll and the board of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Library, has decided that extensive repairs are necessary.

The history of the Lancaster library goes back well into the 19th century, but for lack of documents cannot be positively traced. There is mention of a library in the "Mechanics Institute building, between the McArthur and Wm. Henderson blocks, until it burned down." Later, according to the late Ross T. McRae," it was held in the Fraser block, in which Applebaum's store is now." Again, no dates are attached to these notes.

The present county library board has a document that mentions how in 1883 the present library property was made available to the Village of Lancaster, "for the moral and physical improvement of the people of Lancaster and being strictly non-political and non-sectarian in character." In 1911 the property was deeded to the now-defunct Lancaster Public Library Board.

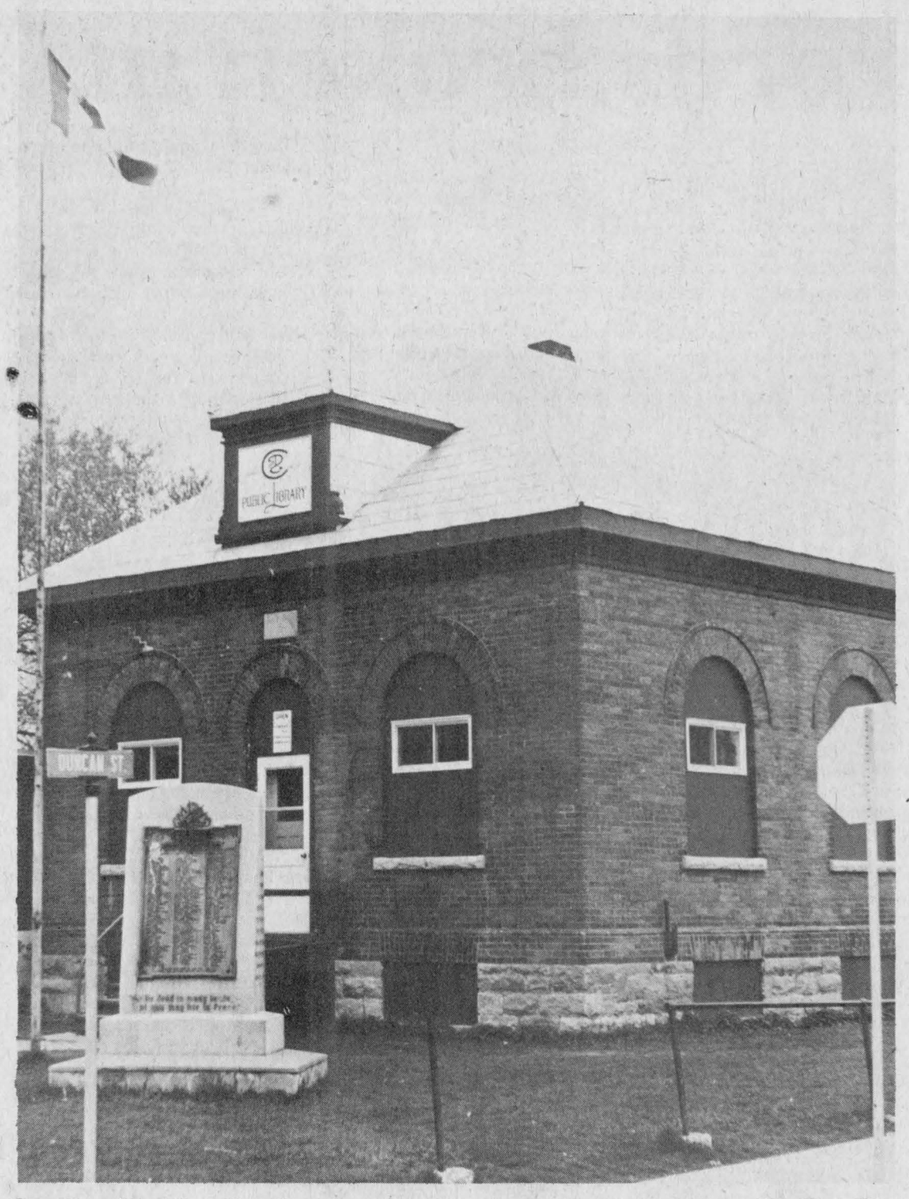
The library building had been constructed in 1902 at a cost of approximately $2,000. John D. Ross first donated $1,000; when this did not prove sufficient he was approached again and before shelling out more money he asked to see the plans. The late Ross McRae remembered: "The plans were sent to him and he noticed that it called for a hall over the library. He wrote back and told them, he could not help if they were going to take the bread out of his sister's mouth. She, my grandmother, was then running the McRae Hotel and McRae Hall. After much dickering they changed their plan, leaving off the hall part. He then sent them another cheque for one thousand dollars to finish the building without the hall."

This interlude may explain the absurd ceiling height of 16 feet, that graced the library until the first internal renovation during the early seventies. By bringing this ceiling down to about 12 feet, a very attractive hall could have been created upstairs. As it is, the present attic does not have sufficient height for a hall; the present false ceiling in the library hangs about three feet below the second floor.

When the structure was built, the banks of huge windows on the west, south and east walls served a good purpose, by letting in much needed light. Times have changed and these same huge windows are now the cause of very considerable heat loss. Also, the cost of glass has gone up drastically and as vandalism has increased, replacing windows has become a serious financial burden. Aside from that, the frames have rotted over the years and restoration would be prohibitively expensive.

At present the window openings are being filled in and insulated, with only double-glazed, side-sliding glass units six feet above floor level. This will make it possible to provide the library with more shelving along with window walls if and when the need arises.

Earlier this year, the library had been carpeted. Outside painting is now underway and when the structural changes have been made, the inside will also be repainted. This will give Lancaster and surrounding area a more functional library with a new look.



Glengarry Connection

Canadian J. W. Gordon Gourlay, under whose leadership the Clemson University library has experienced its greatest period of growth and change as it emerged into a true university library, will retire June 30.

Gourlay has served as director of the library for the past 26 years. He came to Clemson from Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston, where he was assistant librarian at the Prescott Memorial Library.

A native of Lancaster, Ontario, Gourlay graduated from Queen's University in 1940 with a B.A. degree in English, history and economics. He received his Bachelor of Library Science degree from McGill University (1941) and his Master of Library Science degree from the University of Michigan (1942) under a grant from the Carnegie Foundation.

When Gourlay joined the Clemson staff in February 1954, the library was housed in cramped, inadequate quarters in Sikes Hall. Five years later, planning was underway for a new $3 million building to serve the needs of an exploding enrollment, an expanding graduate school and increasing faculty research.

In October 1966, Gourlay witnessed a dream come true with dedication ceremonies for the new Robert M. Cooper Library, a beautiful three-level structure now used by almost a half-million people every academic year. The facility was completed in less than two years on a site once occupied by the motor pool.

With an eye towards the future, the building's designers included ample space for future expansion as the need arose. Since then Gourlay has seen the library's physical facilities expanded again and again and its collections grow in size and quality. Total volumes now number 762,408.

In 1968 Gourlay was instrumental in bringing computer technology to the R. M. Cooper Library with the introduction of an automated circulation system. The computerized record-keeping replaced a manual, two-card method of lending books, which had been used for 50 years.

Gourlay had seen the need for such a system some five years earlier in anticipation of increased circulation in the future. The automated operation meant a new era of book check-out for both borrower and librarian.

During his tenure as director, the library budget has increased from a total of $128,842 to an amount in excess of $2 million. The full-time staff was expanded from 15 to 78 and the budget for books has increased from $34,500 to $900,000.

REUNION HELD

On Friday evening May 2, a reunion was held at Dimitrios, Monkland, in honor of Miss Kaye MacLean by her Grade 1 pupils of Riceville.

By 5 o'clock all the guests had arrived. A corsage of roses was presented to Miss MacLean, as well as a "name card" for each guest. After a social hour, they sat down to a sumptuous dinner. During this time many toasts were given, autographs signed and songs sung. Each pupil's speech was most enjoyable to all. Numerous pictures were taken during the evening.

Miss MacLean replied, in a most gracious manner, of the kindness and thoughtfulness of her class to remember her and how happy she was to see them all again! She said that it was only "a labor of love" to teach them at Riceville—a community of flowers, gardens, and above all the lovely people there. She was glad they had not forgotten the loving heritage handed down to them. In all those years, seldom a day passed but pleasant memories came to her. The guests and friends also enjoyed their reminiscing and a reunion was being planned for next year. Guests came from Riceville, Ottawa, Nepean, Orleans, Williamsburg, Cardinal, Devon and Edmonton, Alta., Monkland and Dunvegan. The reunion ended at 11 p.m. and all decided it was "a night to remember."

Elizabeth Kennedy spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews in Lachine, Que.

Mrs. Marion Loewen spent Mother's Day with her mother, Mrs. Fred Hampel, in Pembroke. While there she visited with relatives and friends, and attended the Sixth Annual Upper Ottawa Valley Historical Symposium at Algonquin College, Pembroke.

They played Alfred at 8:30—the score 3-2 for Dunvegan with Roger Poirier, Kennie MacLeod and John MacSweyn scoring. On Saturday at midnight they played in the final game for the B Championship. They lost 5-3 to the fast L and M Automotive team, John MacSweyn, Mark Titley and Ricky Wensink scoring for Dunvegan. Dunvegan received the finals runner-up trophy and $100 for runner-up.

Museum to open on Sunday

The Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum will open on Sunday, May 18 with an open house to mark "International Museums Day." The hours will be from 1:30 to 5:30, admission will be free, and refreshments will be served. The museum will have longer hours this summer; from May 19 to Labor Day, from 1:30 to 5:30 daily; on Saturdays and holiday Mondays, from 10:30 to 5:30.

A well-planned and interesting program is scheduled. An exhibit and sale of paintings by Robert Fisher will be held from June 7-28. Mr. Fisher, who, as a Glengarry farm boy, painted water colors of the natural beauties of the countryside, has continued his interest wherever he has lived. Now a resident of St. Catharines, Mr. Fisher has studied and worked with many well-known teachers and groups of artists. Exhibitions of his work have been held in numerous places.

During July "A Stitch in Time" will exhibit needlework from the Museum collection. An exhibition of photography and art will be shown during Williamstown Fair days, Aug. 8, 9 and 10. "The Confederation Generation," a loan exhibit from the Royal Ontario Museum will be shown from Aug. 18 to Sept. 26.

The annual wine and cheese party will be held on Aug. 20. The Glengarry Arts and Crafts show and sale will be the weekend of Oct. 18 and 19. Plans are being discussed for a possible flower show by the Williamstown Horticultural Society for the end of August.

The season's program will offer interesting events, combined with the regular exhibits in the museum's permanent collection. The new curator, Miss Janet MacKinnon, from Ottawa, has had a variety of experience in museum work in Ontario and Saskatchewan. The summer promises to be a busy and rewarding time for the museum and its visitors.

ASSOCIATION POUR LA PRESERVATION DU BILINGUISME DANS LE GLENGARRY
APBG
ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF BILINGUALISM IN GLENGARRY

Enoncé de philosophie:

L'APBG se compose d'un groupe de parents et de contribuables soucieux, du comté de Glengarry.
Sa raison d'être vise à la sauvegarde de l'aspect BILINGUE de la culture dans le Glengarry.
L'Association est de l'avis qu'il est possible de vivre dans une atmosphère d'entente mutuelle ou il existe un climat social et culturel BILINGUE.
Les enfants qui fréquentent actuellement les écoles sont les citoyens de demain et donc auront à être les chefs de file dans le monde du commerce, dans la vie scolaire, municipale et spirituelle de la communauté.
Il est donc d'une importance primordiale, qu'en milieu scolaire, un bilinguisme enrichi soit mis à la portée de tous, tant chez les Francophones que chez les Anglophones.
Puisque des amitiés de longue date ont leur début au cours de la jeunesse d'un individu, i.e. à l'école, il est le souhait de l'APBG que ce genre de bonne camaraderie et d'amis d'enfance, soit encouragé parmi les élèves d'expression française et ceux d'expression anglaise, afin de maintenir, dans le comté de Glengarry, cette ambiance historique de bonne entente entre les deux groupes.

A statement of philosophy:

The APBG consists of a group of concerned citizens and ratepayers of Glengarry.

The purpose of the association is to help preserve the bilingual character of Glengarry's culture which is an historical fact.

The association expresses its faith in the community that it is able to live in a bilingual, cultural and social environment in peaceful co-operation and joyful contentment.

The children in school today are the citizens of tomorrow and will carry the burden of leading the community in public affairs, business life and spiritual matters. It is, therefore, important that at the educational level, every opportunity is provided to let bilingualism flourish among Francophone and Anglophone students.

Lifelong friendships are formed at an early age and it is the sincere desire of the APBG to ensure that such friendships among the students of both linguistic groups be encouraged at the school level, so that Glengarry may maintain its historical character of free-flowing bilingualism.

"Underground"

I have, on occasion, heard people say that they do not enjoy reading tales of "doom and gloom" every time they open a newspaper. They would prefer to read about happy things or encouraging things or optimistic things. People's tales of woe and horror do not make for good digestion and peaceful slumber.

Just think, though, how much harder it must be for those who are living those tales of doom and gloom. They do not have the option of using sad stories to kindle next morning's fire and watching the gloom disappear as thoroughly as smoke.

Such a tale is to be discovered in Newfoundland in the communities of St. Lawrence, Lawn, Lord's Cove, Lorries, Lamaline and Little St. Lawrence.

These communities are full of dying miners ravaged by industrial disease and of widows and children who have had to bear the consequences of their husbands' and fathers' occupations. In the towns of St. Lawrence and Lawn one household in every three has a dead or dying miner.

The devastation of these communities was caused by industrial diseases contracted by the men working in St. Lawrence's fluorspar mines. Any man who worked steadily in the mines before 1960 (when Alcan took over the operation and installed ventilation) expects to die, is waiting to die. (No one can state with certainty whether current health measures have eliminated or merely ameliorated the problem; only time will reveal that. In the meantime, however, new cases inexorably continue to appear among pre-1960 miners.)

The diseases these men have are silicosis and cancer. Silicosis results from dry drilling in the host granite in unventilated shafts. Free particles of silica released into the air lodge in the miners' lungs which results in scarring of the lung, reducing the lung's ability to breathe. The cancer is the result of an undiscovered (till the late 1960s) uranium deposit which backed onto the mine, particles of which dissolved in water and percolated through joints and fractures of the granite. If inhaled, the result is lung cancer. These facts are provided by a Royal Commission report and scientific publications published in the 1960's.

"On fine days, when the atmosphere is sufficiently warm and dry so that breathing is eased, the men emerge from their houses. Those who have received their death sentence watch each other with intense interest. They listen for the worsening of a cough, the gasping for breath and the vomiting. They watch for the collapse of the skin on the face, the hollowing of the eye sockets and the dulling of the eyes which presage the end of their suffering." So writes author Elliott Leyton, whose book, Dying Hard, is the story of a town whose adaptation to a new industry included the need to greatly enlarge their graveyards.

One miner talks bitterly about the 'Recreation Centre' the company provided for the town and says, "There's two great big graveyards over there to pay for that. I worked with 180 men on that job and there's 142 of them in the graveyard . . . a man got to come home from that job and spend five or six years dying, melting off the face of the earth . . . you see somebody next door and every day you go he's a bit smaller and by and by there's nothing left, only the bones."

Company compensation is either begged for or non-existent. Grandiose lump settlements consist of amounts like $4,300, or $2,800 for life. Widows are often cut off without a cent the day their husbands die. They are left with (usually several) children and "the Welfare" payments—and memories of helplessly watching their husbands smother and choke night after night until they die.

This is legalized carnage. As early as 1911 South Africa passed its first Compensation Act for Silicosis. In Newfoundland, Canada, dying men are still fighting to receive anything more than stunningly inadequate sums.

These men do not receive the minimum recompense that a civilization must offer its victims.

Nowhere is the moral bankruptcy of industrial society better documented than in its industries' death roll and in its governments' pitiful attempts at "compensation."

Question: What is the reason for printing tales of horror and gloom?

Answer: Neglect kills.

Choir in top voice

The Girls Choir at Char-Lan which recently completed its fifth season under the direction of Kenneth Johns, a Physics teacher has been awarded first place at music festival in Cornwall and Ottawa.

The purpose of the choir has always been to give people who enjoy singing the chance to perform together. An unexpected benefit has been the chance for some young people to gain personal confidence by performing with friends in front of an audience.

The choir, which has ranged in number from 14 to 20 singers, has met twice a week for practice at lunch time. Imagine the dedication of singers who have only 15 minutes left for lunch after a practice. The type of music performed has ranged from Christmas to folk to popular songs arranged for three or four singing parts and piano. The choir has been very fortunate in the talented student accompanists who have helped strengthen the musical level of the choir.

Over the years, the choir has performed in Williamstown at assemblies, Christmas and Spring Concerts at Char-Lan as well as at St. Andrew's United Church in Williamstown. They have also sung at the Parisien Manor in Cornwall, Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge and the Maxville Manor as well as annual carolling visits to the Hotel Dieu and General Hospitals in Cornwall.

For some, success might be measured by highly successful performances at the Kinsmen Music Festival in Cornwall or at the Ottawa Music Festival. Perhaps a better measure is the joy brought to residents in senior citizen homes and to hospital patients. The other measure of success would have to be the reaction from graduated former members who have remembered the fun, the work and the songs.

For more information, phone Jim Lalonde 347-2941.

FIX BIKES

Any second-hand bicycle should be carefully inspected to make sure it's in safe condition. The Canada Safety Council says be especially alert for poor brakes, wobbly wheels, broken pedals or chain slippage. Add reflectors to front, back and side if the bicycle doesn't already have them. File sharp edges or cover them with heavy waterproof tape.

Celebrate 33rd anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morris, Fourth of Kenyon, marked their 33rd wedding anniversary with a mass of thanksgiving Saturday, May 10 at 4 p.m. at St. Finnan's Cathedral. Very Reverend D. B. McDougald, rector of the cathedral, was celebrant of the mass. Frankie Morris served the mass and Ann Morris did the readings.

Witnesses for the renewal of the marriage vows were Mr. and Mrs. Al Elliott, Howard's sister and brother-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris were married on May 10, 1947 at Mille Roches by the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. Ewen J. Macdonald, VG, DP, then pastor of the church. The bridesmaid was Miss Verna Villeneuve, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Morris was the former Gwen Cleary, daughter of the late while Mr. Morris is a son of the while Mr. Morris was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Morris.

Organists for the mass were Mrs. Mary Harrison and Mrs. Beatrice Morris, while soloists were Maureen, Donald and Billy Morris and Grace Thompson.

Attending the family reunion were Mr. and Mrs. Al Elliott of Beaconsfield; Mr. and Mrs. Garth Ryan and Casey of Lorraine, Quebec, Mrs. Gordon Hynes and Mrs. Nick Haramis of Cornwall, Mr. and Mrs. John Morris who have just returned from Saudi Arabia. All the immediate family were present with exception of their daughter Jean, her husband and son, who are presently residing in London, England, and his sister and brother-in-law, Ida and Ed Mulcair of Ottawa.

Principal to be moved

One of the extra-curricular activities held in conjunction with Education Week by the children from Laurier-Carriere, Glen Robertson, was a visit to Fatima House at Alexandria on May 8. One resident they met is Mary Ellen (Conlin) McDonald who taught some of their grandparents while she was a teacher at Glen Robertson.

On May 9, a concert was given by the children at the school. On the program was a group of fiddlers led by Sid Plamador. Mr. Plamador, Jean-Marie Lacombe, Stanley Robinson and Paul Lacombe were accompanied by Simone Plamador and Simone Lefebvre on the piano.

An unhappy note to the week's celebration is the news that principal Gilles Joanette is to be transferred to Ecole Rouleau in the Fall. It seems that the parents and children wish to keep our principal here.

To be wed

THEORET—REGIMBALD

The approaching marriage is announced of Margaret Theoret, daughter of Mrs. Lucy Theoret of R.R. 1, Alexandria and the late Roger Theoret, and Claude, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Regimbald of Ottawa. The marriage will take place in St. Alexander's Church, Lochiel, on Friday, June 6, at 7 p.m.

Martintown Rumor Mill

By Art Buckland

Recently I attended a high school party—the occasion was a school band exchange with a Brantford high school. The party ended at three, which is not an unusual party-ending time, but I confess that 'twas a few days before my system recovered. Just not used to a party sans Glengarry orange juice, I reckon.

However my condition greatly improved at a recent one-man art show. H. Vyvinkel's paintings were on display at Christie Gallery in historic Merrickville. We journeyed up there for the opening and free wine.

It is wonderful to see the talents of a young Canadian on display in one location. I would recommend a trip to Merrickville to view and buy some of his work before the rest of the country discovers him. Especially striking are his pen and ink sketches of scenes of Canada past.

Where is Merrickville? Head to Kemptville on Queen's Highway 43 and then west a few miles. Show ends May 20.

On our way home, we toured KCAT. As we were leaving the Agricultural College, a car stopped us. Who was it but the good looking young Patsy Campbell from Avonmore way. Patsy has completed her first year and has a summer job at the college. Good luck Patricia.

Wayne McDonell phoned to announce that by the time you read this, dear reader, a group of Martintowners will have met with Reeve Gadbois and the Charlottenburgh Council to discuss the purchase of the Catholic elementary school as a recreation site for the area.

Vandals at work again. First, mailboxes were knocked down (after the snowplow season), now I see several holes in the display windows of the Raisin River Refinishing building. More reason to have alternate entertainment and recreation.

The Char-Lan School Committee received moral support from council for their drive to achieve 1970 standards of education at Char-Lan High School. Yes, Virginia, 1970; that is how long such facilities have needed improvement. The minister of education has been invited to view the situation "in site." Grace Gordon Robert Evans and student Rob Sova were spokesmen for us all. One councillor suggested that councillor Kannon accompany the group if they have to travel to Toronto, because "he is mixed up in education." If we have our new airport, will Dr. Stephenson then agree to fly down?

Dr. Jim Algire also approached council with his plans for an animal clinic in Martintown. "If all goes as planned," Dr. Jim stated, "we should be open for business during this summer." Proposed site is across from the public school in front of the old Robertson home (now owned by Garth Campbell).

I know one shouldn't rely on linear logic, but . . . We held a national hockey championship in Cornwall, but no Cornwall team was allowed to play. We have a contender for a national championship, so we send that team to Brandon 2,500 miles away to play with two other teams not one of which is from Brandon. Hmmm?

Parks Canada is not going to Guelph, Peterborough, Quebec and/or East Inch Corners, she is staying in Cornwall. One employee told me that as far as he is concerned, "Parks Canada can go to . . ." (Even though there are no trains or parks there?)

Many professionals will be leaving as a result of the decision. Why is park-Can. staying in Cornwall? "Better support staff in Cornwall" is the reason. Ed, take the medal and say 'twas a political victory for Cornwall. Had we elected Jim Bredin would Parks Canada be in Cornwall?

Answers (in brackets) to last week's riddles in which one letter in each word was changed. a) Ease toes if. (Easy does it.) b) Tar it well. (War is hell.) c) Wind woven add gong. (Wine, women and song.) d) I kiss as is food am I male. (A miss is as good as a mile.)

Here is a brain teaser. Three men met at the top of a mountain. Their conversation revealed the following facts: 1) The banker was taller than the artist. 2) James was older than the chemist. 3) Fairmount was heavier than Davies. 4) Enfield was richer than Harry. 5) The artist weighed more than George. 6) Harry was taller than the chemist. 7) The youngest, who was also the shortest, did not hike the most. 8) George was richer than Enfield. 9) Harry was younger than the artist. 10) George hiked more than Davies.

Identify the three men by occupation and name. For more challenge, deduce their relative positions in age, height, weight, wealth and hiking experience.

Shed old things says guest speaker

by Beryl Bruce

Iroquois United Church hosted the 12th Annual of Seaway Presbyterial held April 9. Registration showed an attendance of 226.

Previous to business, a film strip was viewed namely, "Visions, Gifts, Deeds"; Mrs. Linda Hawley then led a sing song with her accordian. President Christine Judge presided, the theme being "One More Step".

Report of the Nominating Commitee was given by Mrs. Ruth Alguire as follows: Past President Jean Scott, President Christine Judge. Regional vice Presidents: Region 1 vacant, Region 2 Amy Pollock, Region 3 Margaret Manted, Region 4 Edith Jenkins, Recording Secretary Muriel Eastwood, Corresponding Secretary Alice Hughes and Treasurer Marion Peterson.

Convenors: Christian Development, Nancy Dulmage; Stewardship, Alice McLauchlan; Church in Society, Phyllis Noble; World Outreach, Libby Vipond; Communications, Joan Oakwell; Literature, Jean Casselman; Ass't Literature, Betty Forward and Irene Merkley. Nominations, Jean Scott.

Mrs. Evelyn McOuat, president of M&O Conference UCW brought greetings and also a humorous report of past summer events. Mrs. Linda Kubelka, co-chairman of 1980 Summer Event gave a brief report Kemptville College KCAT with theme "God's Garden".

Morrisburg UCW with Judy Corman, Isa Lamb and Kathleen Harkness led us in worship with "Time" as the topic.

Mrs. Phyllis Noble introduced the guest speaker of the day Mrs. Marion Logan who is associate secretary, Division of Mission in Canada, Ministry with Adults (women). Her topic was "From old Things to the New" as spring is a time for shedding old things. Our history as church women in fund raising, fund using, in significant service reveals a community of caring women, involved in all the movement, change and flow of the years of pioneering, depression, war and social upheaval.

We need to be aware of a changing world, to reach out for new relationships to a new understanding of God and His call to us as Church women. We want a better world for our children as 1980 will be a stressful time to all of us.

Mrs. Miriam Woodland then presented Scrolls to Mrs. Ann Webber, Mrs. Ruth Alguire, Mrs. Linda Lubelka and Mrs. Beryl Bruce for services rendered.

Some thought provoking questions were: Does women's lib mean same as women's liberation? Where did I get my attitude to women's lib? Am I afraid of change? Am I afraid of the freedom younger women have, am I threatened by It? Am I secure enough to let others who are different stand close to Me? Do I choose to profess a "Me and Jesus" religion or "Jesus, Others, and Me".

In conclusion "Have You a Vision for Yourself"? You have the gifts. Are you ready for the "Deeds and Actions".

Ingleside/Newington had the largest attendance, 27 in all, which entitled them to the Lillian Allison Banner, "Faith is a Journey". 44 UCW were represented from 26 pastoral charges. Presentation of Banner by Marguerite Frappier of St. Paul's Cornwall who were last year's winners.

Previous to the Benediction by Rev. Brian Gee, a word of advice. "Don't let your culture stand in the way of your Christianity in determining your attitude.

ALGONQUIN GRADUATE—Louise Ouimet has graduated from a two-year course in law and security administration. She is the daughter of Mrs. Dolores Ouimet of Lochiel and the late Lionel Ouimet.

Indian woman visits

Martintown United Church Women held a general meeting in the church hall on Wednesday last.

Members of Williamstown UCW were invited, especially to hear guest speaker Rev. Elizabeth Newhort.

The meeting convened at 8 p.m. President Mrs. Campbell Murray opened with a reading of some choice lines, "When God made Mother."

Mrs. Susan Clark and Mrs. Leslie West led in a brief worship service on the theme of Hope.

Mrs. Murray announced some coming events in the life of the congregation. Bible Sunday will be observed on May 25.

On June 8 the congregation will welcome to the pulpit, Hugh McGregor, one of its members, who will conduct the service of divine worship. Hugh will be ordained to the ministry at a United Church Conference service in Stanstead, Que., on June 3. A reception in the church hall will follow the service in Martintown.

Vacation Bible School will be held this summer after a lapse of one year. It will meet July 7-11 at Lancaster.

Mrs. R. Kubelka of the Williamstown group reminded all of Summer Event to be held at Kemptville Agricultural College on July 18, 19, and 20.

Mrs. James MacMillan introduced her friend, Rev. Elizabeth Newhort, now retired and living in Islington. Rev. Newhort received her education in Toronto schools. After graduating from the Ontario College of Education she taught in Ontario high schools for five years. In 1945 she went to India where she continued her teaching career and did rural evangelism. Returning home on her first furlough she completed a course in theology and was ordained to the ministry in 1952. On her third furlough she, with further courses, secured her Masters degree. Not allowed to return to India, in 1967 she accepted a pastorate in New Brunswick and later, one in Kemptville, Ont. before her retirement.

Speaking on her work as a missionary she showed slides which depicted the lives of the people in India, describing their customs, dress and homes. Women in India have servants who do their cooking, shopping and all housework. As a missionary she received all this attention as did other church workers.

STEEPLECHASE HURDLES FOR SD&G —The steeplechase was introduced at GDHS for the first time at last Wednesday's school track meet, thanks to the construction of five hurdles at the school. The hurdles were designed and constructed by John Houseman and his woodworking students. The painting was done by Gary Palmer's class shown above, from left to right: Guy Charette, Danny Osmor, Larry McIntee, Pat Bray, Mr. Palmer, Bob Mayes and George Denneny. Missing from photo: Noel Lacombe, Mike Marion and Bob MacSweyn. The cost of the material was shared by the secondary schools of SD&G and these hurdles will now be used for all SD&G meets. Party leader coming Cornwall and Cornwall Township Provincial Liberal Riding Association is hosting an Eastern Ontario Liberal Party Convention on Saturday, June 7.

Dr. Stuart Smith, leader of the party, and members of the Ontario Liberal Pary caucus will be in the city for the occasion.

The purpose of the convention, conceived by the local Liberals, is to define some of the major issues which are causing concern in the province. This will allow the members of the Liberal party caucus to receive input from Eastern Ontario voters and encourage debate on Liberal party positions on these major issues.

Workshop sessions, with members of the Liberal party caucus as chairmen, are planned for both the morning and the afternoon with such vital subjects as agriculture, education, energy, health, social services and small business being highlighted.

The local Liberals are expecting the whole of Eastern Ontario to be represented and coaches are being arranged to transport participants from Ottawa.

Representatives from Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry as well as Prescott, Russell will be attending.

General Vanier Secondary School has been chosen as the site of the working part of the convention, which will start at 10 a.m., with a keynote speaker.

The final address by Dr. Smith will close the formalities at 5:30 p.m.

The social side of the occasion will be highlighted by a dinner at 6:30 p.m. followed by a dance, both being held at the Civic Complex.

Year of WI proclaimed

"Prevention and rehabilitation" was chosen as the theme for 1981, "the Year of the Handicapped" at the semi-annual meeting of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario. The board directors and executive met in Toronto recently making decisions that will affect the 28,000 members in Ontario as well as parts of the world. With 1980 being proclaimed "the Year of the WI" the members were urged to be a strong force for the good of their communities.

Moose Creek women held April meeting

The members of the Catholic Women's League Society held their April meeting in the Senior Citizens Club Room.

The president, Miss Florence Gentles, conducted the well-attended meeting. Mrs. Fred Scott, treasurer, gave the financial report, which was most encouraging.

Our Lady of Good Counsel Mass will be held on April 27 at 10:30 a.m. It was decided to hold a rummage sale on Saturday, May 3 in the Senior Citizen Club Room. The members will meet in the hall to make final arrangements on April 30.

The members agreed to the Spring cleaning in the church on April 3. On April 16 the members are requested to meet in the home of Mrs. Romeo Forgues to make roses for Mother's Day. Mrs. Leona Lafrance will bring all necessary supplies.

A tea will be held on April 24, which it is hoped will encourage new members to join the league. The guest speakers will be Rev. M. J. O'Brien and Mrs. Nick Haramis. It was agreed that an offering be received for a mass for Rev. Lucien Lussier's 25th anniversary to the priesthood.

Mrs. Emery Brunet read "The Mary Stewart Collect" and "The Five Mysteries." Contest winners were Mrs. Fernand, Mrs. Paul Lapierre and Miss Florence Gentles. The next meeting will be held on May 7 when Mrs. Maurice Villeneuve and Mrs. Paul Lapierre will be conveners. Lunch was served by Mrs. Armand Hutt and Mrs. Emery Brunet.

IT'S OUR OPINION

GDHS: The forbidden questions

Last week's "information" meeting (and its aftermath) at Glengarry District High School did much to confirm what we have noted from the beginning—that school officials are continually contradicting each other and, in many cases, telling a different story than they were four or five weeks ago.

There are many questions which we would like to ask our trustees to help clear up this matter. However, board officials have banned questions at the May 21 public meeting. Consequently, we would issue a public challenge now to our trustees to ponder the following questions and provide answers by meeting time.

1. QUESTION: If there are to be no changes at Glengarry District High School as a result of the proposed $640,000 grant, why did a letter signed by the principals say there would be a change?

BACKGROUND: On April 8, the principals sent a letter to parents stating that the board was applying for the grant. The letter said that "Should this (grant) request be successful, this means that in September there will be two entities (ESRG-GDHS) which will co-exist under one roof."

This wording clearly indicates a cause and effect relationship. It says that there "will be" two entities "should" the grant request be successful. In other words, we do not have two entities now, the letter suggests, but "there will be" next year "should this (grant) request be successful."

2. QUESTION: Why is French Language Advisory Committee Chairman Albert Morin now denying that he is pressing for separation of the student body when he has stated publicly that he believes two separate student councils will be the logical outcome of the two entities program being proposed for GDHS.

BACKGROUND: At an SD&G County Board of Education meeting April 8, Trustee Morin indicated that separation of the student body would be the logical outcome of accepting the grant. The April 9 issue of the Ottawa Citizen contained the following report of the meeting:

"Trustee Albert Morin, chairman of the French Language Advisory Committee of the Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry Board of Education says the establishment of two student councils is part and parcel of a proposed $640,000 expansion program slated for the Alexandria school."

3. QUESTION: Why would the SD&G County Board of Education select Trustee Morin to chair an information meeting when Director of Education Rosaire Leger has stated that Mr. Morin's views on the situation are personal opinions and do not reflect board policy?

BACKGROUND: At a public meeting at GDHS on April 10, Mr. Leger said Mr. Morin's views, stated at the April 8 board meeting, did not reflect board policy. When a member of the audience asked Mr. Leger about Mr. Morin's views, the director said, "he is entitled to his opinion. Mr. Morin's statement is not board policy."

4. QUESTION: If Mr. Leger was giving us all the straight facts at the April 10 public meeting, why did Mr. Morin state last Wednesday that Mr. Leger is confusing the public?

BACKGROUND: Lest The News be accused of bias, let us note that Mr. Morin was quoted in both the Cornwall Standard Freeholder and the Ottawa Citizen as saying that Mr. Leger has not adequately informed the public of what is happening at the school.

5. QUESTION: If no one has any intention of separating the student body, why did Principal Rene Gauthier state in a Glengarry News interview on April 8 that "I strongly suspect that we will have two student councils."

BACKGROUND: The statement, made in front of co-principal Phillip Lloyd, was the second time Mr. Gauthier indicated his desire for two student councils. He made a similar comment earlier to the students council executive.

6. QUESTION: If the proposed $640,000 grant is for both language groups, why do so many people suggest that failure to get the grant would deprive Francophones of their rights? Would it not deprive Anglophones equally?

7. QUESTION: If no significant changes can be made without approval of the trustees, how was the policy on bilingual home forms changed within a two-day period without trustees' input?

BACKGROUND: On April 8, Principal Rene Gauthier announced that only students registered in the English section would be allowed to take bilingual home forms. Students in the French section would not have that option.

Two days later, at the public meeting at GDHS, Mr. Gauthier confirmed that this was the policy but that it was being changed so that French section students could take bilingual home forms.

It is worth noting that this change came about only after the issue had been made public and student protests had arisen. Trustees had no say in either of the changes.

8. QUESTION: When three school board officials say the chairman of a board-sanctioned information meeting didn't tell the public the truth during subsequent newspaper interviews, who are we to believe?

BACKGROUND: Following last Thursday's "information" meeting, Board Chairman Sandra Enns, Director Leger and Trustee Lucien Chenier said meeting chairman Albert Morin had not told the truth about changes at GDHS when interviewed following the meeting by the Cornwall and Ottawa press. Trustee Chenier said Morin had "a recurring case of foot-and-mouth disease."

9. QUESTION: Why is expansion of GDHS necessary when the school board's own documents say the school is only operating at 94 per cent capacity now and when the board's five-year forecast predicts a drop of 28 per cent in student enrolment by 1984?

BACKGROUND: The above statistics are contained on pages 23 and 27 in the board's statistical handbook for 1979-80.

10. QUESTION: Although the grant is available at no financial cost to local taxpayers, what would be the annual operating and maintenance costs of this addition? Would taxpayers be paying for space that will not be needed in view of declining enrolment? Would we, in fact, have a Tagwi situation where new facilities are unneeded almost as soon as they are built?

11. QUESTION: Is it not significant that neither Vincent Caron nor any other ministry official has retracted Mr. Caron's analysis that what is being created at GDHS is two schools—a separate French language school and a separate English language school.

BACKGROUND: It is extemely noteworthy that the letter from the ministry's assistant deputy minister does not retract any of Mr. Caron's comments nor does it indicate that the ministry official said anything wrong.

The lack of a retraction from the ministry speaks for itself.

12. QUESTION: Why has the board spent $1,500 to date running advertisements in the local media which do not deal with the issue?

BACKGROUND: The board is running the assistant deputy minister's letter even though it does not clarify whether we are going to have a single, mixed school or two "entities" or separate schools.

13. QUESTION: Why has the board not extended the same privilege to English-speaking ratepayers as it has for French-speaking ratepayers and scheduled an information meeting in the English language?

BACKGROUND: Last week's information meeting was conducted entirely in French to serve the area's French-speaking ratepayers. The May 21 information meeting will be bilingual which means there is no meeting at which all of the information will be given in English. This is clearly discrimination against English-speaking ratepayers who, although they pay the same taxes to the board, now find they are not entitled to the same opportunity as their French-speaking counterparts, namely the right to an information meeting and full explanation entirely in their own language. Why the double standard?

14. QUESTION: Will the board not clarify this whole matter by making a detailed policy statement on the existing status of GDHS and the long-range plans?

BACKGROUND: What is needed is a statement from the trustees indicating "that Glengarry District High School is to be maintained as a single, mixed school offering parallel academic programs. It is not the intent of the board to create separate French language and English language schools under one roof."

Right now, officials are playing word games. They don't use simple words like "separate." They speak of "two entities." The above motion would clear up the confusion, we believe. Since the May 21 meeting is being called as a board meeting, resolutions are in order. We hope our trustees will take this opportunity to settle the matter.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

Our county is a very small part of Canada but so unusual in its 50-50 French-English population that we could be an experimental area. What we work out here might very well be an example for our nation to follow.

And since the democratic process is the form of government prescribed, it behooves us to try to implement the system as much as we can, to have everyone involved in the process.

To make prudent decisions it is necessary to have information pertinent to the cause. In the past weeks we have tried to obtain statements from officials at different levels of administration to present to the public regarding schools.

And if week after week we carry reports of school situations it is solely to keep the public alert to its part in the democratic process. Only by discussing issues will these be solved to the satisfaction of the county as a whole.

It is extremely necessary that the ratepayers agree on what they want. On what they want to share and what they don't want to share.

Trustees can give no long-lasting guarantee. Those on the board now could be replaced this coming November and another set of trustees could change decisions completely next term. You will note that we have been assured there will be no changes this coming September.

However if the ratepayers have discussed what they want, have made decisions and demand that their desires be carried out, their wishes can predominate.

The ratepayers on the other hand must be guided by the administration who confront the problems head-on. But if directors never inform the community of its headaches they cannot expect co-operation and understanding of the people.

Parents for instance, anxious to have their children fluent in French, enrol them in a French-speaking school. It would seem to be the logical continuation for these students to follow this same program on through Grade 13 since this is now available.

However, when these children reach Grade 9 many parents feel that now their offspring speak French fluently, this is adequate and the students can now enter the high school program in the English sector.

Parents may have a right to this choice but it sure plays havoc with the administration trying to project an enrolment for a French high school program.

Should there be some kind of commitment?

We hear too of children being pressured into taking subjects in a particular language. I don't know if this is true but since it takes 20 registrations to warrant the teaching of a course we could understand if a teacher seeing his job disappearing might try to persuade a student to take a subject in a particular language to fill his quota.

A coach is justified in selecting all the top athletes for his team. Might not a teacher also be tempted to coax an outstanding student into his language class for the satisfaction of working with a true intellectual in addition to the regulars?

By discussion we can surely help each other to understand.

We do have some good examples of togetherness in this community which lead me to believe that we can carry on together.

One of these is the English-French marriages we have in abundance. I have never heard any of them say language was a problem in the home. And I don't know any couples who have separated due to a difference in language.

Another great example is the children themselves. While they may study courses in different languages, they have learned through past experience in sports participation , Scouts, Guides, 4-H movements and the like that language need not be a barrier to friendship. Several teachers I've questioned say they never hear the children in school deride each other along racial lines. This is an improvement from a generation ago.

All of us in the county have shared enough to know we can work out our differences.

But only if we continue to discuss, with the best interests of our children and the community at heart.

Minister sends reply

Brantford, Ontario

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

You very kindly published my lengthy letter to you in your April 30th publication of The Glengarry News. As a follow-up to same I would ask you to again follow through by publishing the Minister of Education, Bette Stephenson's reply to my above mentioned letter in that I had sent her a copy last April 16.

Dear Mrs. Blackburn:

Thank you for your letter of April 16, 1980, expressing your concerns regarding the funds requested for the Glengarry District High School.

In my statement of October 5, 1979, I indicated that this province believes that the educational needs of French-speaking pupils must be met and that boards are responsible for providing educational experiences to meet the linguistic and cultural needs of these pupils. Given that the French-language school situations vary considerably across the province, a fundamental concern of the Ministry in the development of this policy has been to avoid imposing in each and every case a rigid and uniform pattern. Flexibility, therefore, is an essential element in the application of our policy. I am sure that the problems which exist currently at Glengarry District High School will be solved to the benefit of the student population concerned.

While we are aware that the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education has included the Glengarry District High School project in its Capital Expenditures Forecasts, it should be noted that no allocation has been granted at this time. Indeed, the level of funds available for school construction or renovation is so limited that only projects of the highest priority are being considered.

Thank you for sharing with me your views on this matter.

Yours truly,
Bette Stephenson,
Minister

It is my wish to share the Minister's letter which I received as I feel it imperative that the letter be made public so that all Glengarrians be made aware of just what the Minister of Education actually had to say on the very serious matter. You have my express permission to use this letter at will at the forthcoming May 21st meeting. I cannot attend.

Hopefully the aftermath of this meeting will not see us referred to as 'barbarians'. It would seem to me that strong intelligent leadership is very much a need so that both positives and negatives will be discussed openly, frankly, and without haughtiness.

I personally like Maurice Lemieux, he has leadership qualities.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Suzanne (Lamarche-Taillefer)
Blackburn

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I would like to comment on Mrs. Lessard's letter to the editor in the May 7, 1980 issue of The Glengarry News.

As a professional translator with the Canadian Government Translation Bureau in Ottawa for the past ten years, I fail to see why Mrs. Lessard should mention that she is a translator and court reporter in a letter that logically deals only with education in French for Francophones. Where is the connection? Does she believe that her profession adds weight to her arguments in another subject? If she intended to imply that she was more qualified to pontificate on education in French for Francophones by virtue of her profession as a translator, I object most strenuously. Such an action—presumably to influence public opinion—would be tantamount to the misuse of professional status and quite unethical. If Mrs. Lessard wishes to comment as a concerned parent, she should do so without introducing extraneous elements.

I also take exception to her criticism of The Glengarry News. Since I have not followed the controversy in question, I can only assume that the editors of the newspaper have commented on the subject in their editorials, as is their perfect right. Does Mrs. Lessard wish to imply that newspapers should not express opinions in editorials? What would have been her reaction, had she understood the editorials to be favorable to her cause? The reader is left with the impression that Mrs. Lessard is not prepared to tolerate differences of opinion. So much for the freedom of speech.

Had I the space, I could continue by refuting the many contentious points in subject-matter. One excellent example is the assertion that "English is much easier to learn than French (. . .). However, I assume that your readers will use their good judgment.

This is the first time that I have read The Glengarry News and I find it interesting. Enclosed is a cheque in the amount of $12 for a year's subscription.

Yours sincerely,
Cecil McPhee

Wants policy change

Alexandria, Ontario

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

An ad written in French in the Glengarry News! That is good news! (I'm referring to "Avis Special" by T. R. Leger that appeared in the April 23rd issue.)

I would like to congratulate you for allowing yourselves to communicate with half the Glengarry population in their own language. I realize you had to break your "English only" policy. You are to be commended.

Why not extend this exception to the rule into a regular Glengarry News policy of bilingualism?

Our two cultural groups are already on the path of isolationism. A brief look at our local institutions confirms this. The elementary schools are separate. The church groups are divided along language lines. The social clubs offer some degree of intermingling of the two cultural groups. Yet, the Richelieu meetings are held exclusively in French while the Lions meetings are held exclusively in English. The Knights of Columbus offer certain degree of bilingualism at their regular meetings.

One major institution, (GDHS-ESRG), where the children of both cultural groups have the opportunity to live (think, learn, play, talk and grow) together, is presently under the severe strains of controversy. The present set-up is perfect, allowing both groups to grow culturally on common grounds and giving parents the ultimate in educational freedom by permitting them to expose their sons and daughters to both cultures and that, to the degree they choose. Only with the greatest vigilance will the present arrangement be maintained. The recurring efforts of certain extremists will always demand a state of readiness on the part of those who believe in a bilingual and bicultural Glengarry.

If the high school situation worsens and each group becomes entrenched into fixed positions, there goes the last bulwark of biculturalism in our county unless . . . probably the most potent institution of our community i.e. The Glengarry News allows itself to reflect the views of both major cultural groups in their own language by a sudden implementation of a bilingual policy.

Not only would such a policy increase sales, but it could be the greatest contribution to impress upon the minds of the local citizenry, that the two major cultural groups can live side by side and need not go their separate ways to live all aspects of their life. Perhaps our high school students would finally have one adult organization as a model on which to copy.

Every time The Glengarry News is published, the perceived message (for many Francophones) is . . . "We have no space for you (your language) here." What option do the Francophones have, I ask you? They will have to start their own newspaper. And then, again, we will have lost another opportunity of "doing it together."

Glengarry News, the challenge is yours!

One who believes we can make it together,

Jean R. Lecompte.

P.S. I certainly would like to read your reaction to my letter.

By way of informational ammunition that may help in answering hardened critics of a bilingual policy: Don't you think that 46% of Francophones that make up the population of Glengarry warrant at least some space in their language in the community newspaper?

Spot treatment with Roundup® in the crop can stop yield-robbing milkweed from spreading further.

Patches of milkweed can grow and spread, soaking up moisture and valuable nutrients. Milkweed patches can slow you down at harvest. Cause yield loss. And come back next year and do it again.

Spot treatment with Roundup herbicide gives control of milkweed. Roundup by Monsanto controls treated milkweed and stops it from spreading or regrowing. Because Roundup controls the whole weed, roots and all.

How to hit milkweed with Roundup. Just spray Roundup on actively growing milkweed, when most of the weeds are in the bud to full bloom stage. Retreatment may be necessary if all milkweed plants are not at t he same stage of growth. You can use a boom, a handgun, or a backpack sprayer. Roundup will destroy the crop if you spray it on the crop, so keep Roundup where you want it. Right on those ugly milkweed patches.

Roundup stops where the treated weeds stop. Roundup goes wherever the treated weeds go. Then it stops. Because Roundup works in the weeds not in the soil.

Don't let patches of milkweed spread in your crop. Hit the spot, with Roundup. See your dealer today and ask about the new trial-size.

Still concerned about Glengarry home

10731 Mersey Drive,
Richmond, B.C.
V7A 3N5

The topic of a provincial grant to provide GDHS/ESRG with facilities to separate the school into two units has certainly been well versed. I've enjoyed reading the Glengarry News to find out the opinions of the community and while I am now a "Westerner" I am nevertheless very concerned about a possible school split. Living in BC makes it fairly easy for me to say it doesn't affect me personally, but on the other hand it does affect some of my family and very importantly the part of Canada I call "home."

Never learning to speak French fluently is something I regret. I can understand Georgette Sauve's angry feeling that more of us cannot speak French but I trust her feelings are not based on a lack of understanding of the French language education available to us at GDHS/ESRG. It has been proven that the only way to learn another language fluently is to be "immerged" in it. The younger members of my family are fluently bilingual and very proud of it. This is actually the issue—the need to keep French and English students together. We are a benefit to each other.

Georgette Sauve is obviously a person who is concerned about the community. I can't help but feel that her feelings of hurt, frustration, guilt and sorrow had the edge of an understanding she felt for both English and French students and their parents.

I am totally against two separate schools, two separate groups of students, athletes and teachers. I too petition my name to stand behind the community in keeping the students of GDHS-ESRG together. Don't forget, I brag about this place.

Tribunal ruled

Ontario Farm Products Tribunal recently turned down the demand for two hog marketing yards by Prescott and Glengarry producers.

That decision was the latest in the ongoing battle between local producers and the Ontario Pork Producers Board.

The tribunal ruled that the proposed McCrimmon yard site could handle production in the area and be operated more economically.

Prescott producers and some Glengarry producers were appealing the board's decision to build a central yard at McCrimmon after previously saying it would erect two yards, one at St. Isidore and one near Alexandria.

The tribunal heard the case for four days during March and April in Cornwall before putting forth a decision.

Kenzie R. MacCuaig dies at 84

Relatives and friends were deeply grieved at the sudden death of Kenzie Roderick MacCuaig on Monday, April 21, in the Glengarry Memorial Hospital, Alexandria at the age of 84 years.

Mr. MacCuaig had been in his usual health and was attending the church service on Sunday when he was stricken with a heart seizure. He was rushed to hospital but despite all medical aid, passed away in the early hours of Monday morning.

Mr. MacCuaig was born in Moose Creek, on September 20, 1895, a son of the late Roderick MacCuaig and his wife, the former Christie MacIntosh. When a young person he came with his parents to reside on a farm in the Seventh Concession of Roxborough Township (Dyer district).

He became a very successful farmer and continued in this occupation until a few years ago when he disposed of his farm, retaining the residence. On June 17, 1936, he married the former Mary A. Robertson of Moose Creek.

He was a faithful member of Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek, where he served as an Elder of the Kirk Session for almost 35 years, a member of the Board of Managers for several years and was a staunch member of the Loyal Orange Order No. 623 Roxborough Lodge. He was greatly interested in the work of the Sunday School and the Young People's Society of the Church and in all activities he will be sadly missed.

Mr. MacCuaig is survived by his wife, one son, William and daughter-in-law Carol, and two grandchildren, Lorilee and William (Billy) MacCuaig of Massena. He was predeceased by three brothers and two sisters, Duncan, Norman and Oliver MacCuaig, Miss Florence MacCuaig, RN and Miss Gretta MacCuaig.

His largely attended funeral was held at the Brownlee Funeral Home, Finch, on Wednesday, April 23, conducted by his Student Minister, Mr. Kerry McIntyre, assisted by Rev. John Wiseman, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek, who brought a comforting message to the bereaved relatives and friends.

The pallbearers were three nephews, David, Kenneth and Neil MacCuaig and three neighbors, Fraser MacMillan, Stewart Bradley and Alexander McLean.

Relatives were present from Sarnia, Waterloo, Addison, Massena, N.Y., Cornwall, Apple Hill, Moose Creek and Maxville.

Interment took place in the family plot in the Maxville Cemetery.

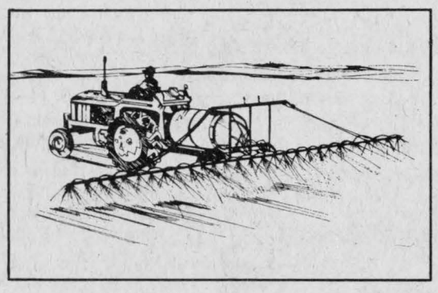
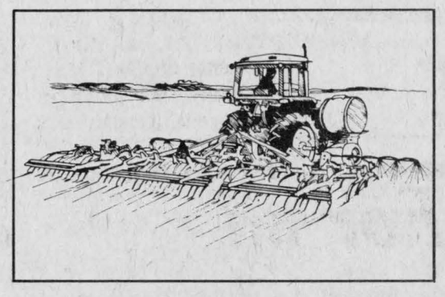
Surface application or shallow incorporation.
It's your choice with Lasso®.



Surface application



Shallow incorporation

Lasso® herbicide by Monsanto is usually surface applied before the crop emerges. Some farmers, however, prefer to incorporate their herbicides, and Lasso fits the bill.

"Shallow" is the key word.

Lasso should be shallowly incorporated, prior to planting corn or soybeans. First, broadcast Lasso; then thoroughly incorporate it into the top two inches of soil. To make sure the incorporation is shallow, set your disc or cultivator to work the soil to a maximum depth of four inches.

Shallow incorporation of Lasso plus atrazine suppresses yellow nutsedge in corn.

To suppress yellow nutsedge for six to eight weeks, shallowly incorporate Lasso plus atrazine (mixed at new labelled rates) before planting. Suppressing yellow nutsedge with Lasso plus atrazine gives your corn the chance to become established without nutsedge competition that can hurt your yield.

Whether you surface apply or shallowly incorporate, you get outstanding grass control with Lasso.

Lasso consistently controls annual grasses in corn and soybeans. With excellent crop safety. And no carryover. And you can surface apply Lasso or shallowly incorporate it. Because it's your choice, with Lasso.

Honored by Orange order

Recently, there were three Glengarry-Prescott LOL meetings worthy of note. At the semi-annual meeting held on April 22 it was decided to cancel the local 12th of July celebration which has so successfully been held at night the last few years, in order that everyone could have the opportunity of attending the one being held at Metcalfe, marking the 150th anniversary of Orangeism in Canada.

The regular meeting of LOL 2813 at Glen Sandfield was highlighted by the joining of four new members. James E. Langabeer, Grand Master of Ontario East was present along with a number of other visitors.

Then, on May 1, at a regular meeting of LOL 214, Vankleek Hill, which included some visiting members from Glen Sandfield, Russell Newton was honored for being 60 years in the order and was presented with a gift marking the occasion.

Still a very active member, Mr. Newton gave a short talk on his experiences through the years and how he had profited by his connection with the organization. At the lunch which followed, a cake beautifully decorated for this anniversary was served.

FLOWERS OF HOPE—For Mental Retardation Week (May 11 to May 18) A.R.C. employees have been filling envelopes with marigold seeds which will be sent to every household in Glengarry. Glengarrians are encouraged to plant these potential flowers and send a return donation towards our Glengarry Mentally Retarded Association. Packing the envelopes last week before mailing were Elizabeth, Wayne, Mrs. Pierrette Laflamme, campaign chairman and Ann. (Photo—Filion)

Victimized once more

For the second consecutive week Poirier Building Supplies has been victimized by lumber thieves. Last weekend $300 worth of plywood was stolen and then early Wednesday morning a pile of "two by fours" vanished, valued at $250.

Following a fire last month Remi Poirier and his son Cluade have had to utilize an open construction supply lot at the rear of their property located on Main Street North in Alexandria, until they can rebuild. Looters have taken no pity on their misfortune.

Alexandria police report they have arrested and charged two Alexandria men with the break and entry at Crevier's Diner in Alexandria last weekend. Police managed to recover the stolen radio and $200 worth of merchandise.

GDHS bands perform well in festival

by Pierre Vaillancourt

On Tuesday, April 29 the Kinsmen Club of Cornwall hosted the Music Festival for the band division at St. John's Presbyterian Church, Second Street, in Cornwall. There were a total of 21 entries ranging from elementary concert bands, intermediate, senior concert bands to stage bands.

There were two main classes, several levels of competing classes reserved for groups composed strictly of school students. These categories were given an evaluation and a mark for their work.

The second class was open in which performing groups made up of adults and students were given an evaluation but no mark for their performance.

Adjudicating the groups were Walter Hoffman presently teaching at South Grenville District High School in Prescott and Ralph Whetstone of Kingston-Napanee. He is presently working for Yamaha Music Co. of Kingston.

Of the 21 entries, the GDHS Senior Concert Band obtained the highest mark, 90 per cent in the competitive category. The same group obtained the most complimentary evaluation in the open class. Even though Glengarry's Stage Band performed last they also obtained the most complimentary criticism of all stage bands entered. Although most of the audience had left by the time they performed the adjudicators made comments such as "I wish you would have played first, we would have used you as an example."

The junior band performed two selections Fireworks Music by Handel, Musico-Erickson, for which they obtained a mark of 78 per cent. The intermediate concert band performed in the open class "Black Knight" by Clare Grundman and Prelude in C Minor, S. Rachmaninoff. Both selections were well received by adjudicators.

The senior concert band in the competitive class performed "Parade of Tall Ships" by J. Chattaway which is a very demanding selection on the whole group but especially the French horn and percussion sections. The French horns played stunningly well to the point of obtaining a special mention from both adjudicators. The percussion section was to the point and blended impeccably well with the group. Some very nice work on marimba by Michel Joanette and on tympani by Lee MacKinnon. The second selection in competition was "2nd Suite in F Major for Military Band" by G. Holst. Two of the four movements had been performed previously last fall at Glengarry 79. This time the group performed all four movements. The trumpet section played beautifully and with precision throughout the whole suite. The brass section did a superb job of the first movement and even better on the third "Song of The Blacksmith." The euphonium solo played by Josee Sauve was professionally executed with good tone, phrasing and a refined musical sense. The second movement featured a solo by Inez McDonell on oboe and Leslie Myers on solo clarinet showing good blending, balance and tone. The fourth movement featured a saxophone soli followed by the clarinet section climaxing to a combined 6/8 and 3/4 movement very firmly and musically handled by the whole band. Some very nice bass drum work by the rookie of the percussion section, Tracey Ager.

The suite concluded with a piccolo solo expertly performed by Sue Lemieux, then a final motif by the bass section played by Cindy Lefebvre, Madeleine Huot and Philip Truesdale.

The group then performed in the open class, a medley of Barry Manilow selections featuring most of the sections of the ensemble. The band finished with a stunning interpretation of Jim Webb's MacArthur Park. Some impressive and tasteful work by Paul Houle on the drum set.

All the ensembles from the GDHS Music Department are now making preparations to present to the public their Spring Concert on Monday, May 26 and Tuesday, May 27 at Sacred Heart Church at 8 p.m. We are sure that they send to all a very courteous invitation to attend.

WATCH TOYS

All toys are not suitable, or safe, for all children says the Canada Safety Council. A plaything that is perfect for an older child can be a real threat to a baby sister or brother. Toys may have loose parts which can cause choking when swallowed, sharp edges which can hurt, poisonous, corrosive or irritating chemicals which can be fatal to small children. Children between two and three years of age are in the age group most frequently injured by toys. This is Child Safety Week. Make sure that little ones play only with toys that are safe and suitable for their ages.

CHANGE IN DRAINAGE LOAN INTEREST RATE

Effective April 1, 1980, the interest rate on tile drainage loans was changed to eight per cent from six per cent. This announcement was made along with other changes to the drainage guidelines, i.e. effective April 1, 1980, the amount of drainage loan available to any one farmer under this program in a fiscal year will be $20,000; the total amount which any one farmer may have outstanding at any one time has been increased to $60,000.

HEAD SMUT IN ONTARIO CORN

There has been considerable discussion and many articles written regarding this disease. From information I have received I can only conclude that chances are we will not have an outbreak of Head Smut in this area.

Following is a press release from L. M. Weber, chairman of the Ontario Corn Committee which may answer some of your questions regarding this disease.

In 1979, an outbreak of head smut, a corn disease which destroys the entire ear of an infected plant, was found on 34 farms in Oxford, Elgin, Middlesex and Perth counties. The frequency of infected plants varied from only traces on several farms to as high as 35 per cent in one field of one farm. Head smut may be present on other farms as well and also may have occurred in previous years, although it was not positively identified in Ontario until late in 1979 growing season. Head smut differs from common smut in that the entire ear is replaced by the smut gall and often the tassle also is covered with smut. In common smut, on the other hand, the galls can occur anywhere on the plant and, if on the ear or tassle, affect only a few kernels on the ear or portions of the tassle.

Head smut is a soil-borne disease and likely overwinters in contaminated fields. It does not spread rapidly, but spores can be carried by combines, trucks, tractors, etc., and, to some extent, by the wind. Once a field is contaminated and if conditions are favorable for the disease, the frequency of diseased plants may gradually build-up over a period of years to a significant level. For the first year or two of contamination, a low frequency of diseased plants is expected.

Recently, Agriculture Canada plant pathologists found trace amounts of head smut spores on some seed lots of seven corn hybrids. The four seed corn companies involved have been directed to withdraw these contaminated seed lots from the marketplace, including seed already distributed to farms. However, the time remaining before planting has not permitted examination of all seed lots of all hybrids sold in Ontario. Therefore, it must be assumed that some contaminated seed lots have not been discovered. Sweet corn is also known to be affected.

No seed treatment has been registered for control of head smut spores on corn seed. However, Vitaflo-280 liquid suspension is registered for use on corn seed to control damping off and seed decay. It also controls smuts in other cereal grains and there is some preliminary data which indicate that it may control head smut in corn.

Although there can be no guarantee of the effectiveness of Vitaflo-280 liquid suspension to control seed-borne head smut, farmers may wish to consider treatment of their seed corn with this chemical as a potential preventive measure for avoiding introduction of this disease into their fields. Directions for treating corn seed are on the label. Safety precautions should also be noted.

Researchers are investigating potential control measures both for seed-borne spores and for fields that already have been contaminated. Resistant hybrids have been identified in other areas where the disease occurs. Hybrid screening trials are planned for Ontario in 1980.

Hog stabilization program announced by ministry

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan today announced a stabilization payment of $2.46 per hundredweight carcass weight for market hogs sold between April 1, 1979 and March 31, 1980.

The total payment to Canadian hog farmers is expected to be about $46 million.

"Hog receipts normally account for about 10 per cent of farm income, so the low hog prices of the past year have had a big impact on the whole Canadian farm economy. This major stabilization payment will be much-needed cash income for many farmers," Mr. Whelan said.

"However, as I have said publicly on several recent occasions, I believe hog producers bear some responsibility for the current high production and low prices. I would like to see producers gear their production more closely to consumer demand. With a system of orderly marketing, they could get a reasonable return from the marketplace and would not need stabilization payments. By overproducing, pork producers have given consumers about $70 million in reduced pork prices at the retail level.

"Hogs are a named commodity under the Agricultural Stabilization Act," Mr. Whelan explained. "A support price is set each year according to the terms of the Act, based on 90 per cent of the average market price of hogs in the previous five years. The support price includes an adjustment for changes in cash production costs."

The 1979-80 support level was $61.05 per hundredweight (Index 100 hogs), including an adjustment of $4.36 per hundredweight to reflect higher feed costs, interest rates and machinery and other operating expenses in 1979-80 compared to the previous five years.

"The average market price for Index 100 hogs last year was $58.59 per hundredweight. The stablization payment is the difference between this price and the support price," Mr. Whelan said.

"The support price will add about five per cent to the market price farmers got in 1979-80."

"More than 11 million hogs were marketed by Canadian farmers in 1979-80," Mr. Whelan pointed out. "This was a record level of production. Coupled with the increased production in the United States, this resulted in lower-than-average prices and the necessity of making a payment under the Stabilization Act."

Farmers who raised and marketed hogs in 1979-80 may claim payment on a maximum of 5,000 animals. All hogs grading Index 80 or above, except sows and boars, are covered by the stabilization payment.

Application forms will soon be available from Agriculture Canada inspectors and graders at local stockyards, the department's regional livestock offices, Farm Credit Corporation regional offices, and from the Agricultural Stabilization Board in Ottawa.

Producers must submit hog carcass grading certificates as proof of sale and slaughter and to show the weight of the hogs for which payment is claimed.

All Canadian hog producers are eligible for the federal stabilization payment, even if they have received deficiency payments for hogs under a provincial income assurance program.

As with other federal stabilization programs, bona fide partnerships will be eligible for separate payments. Up to three partners may claim on a share of total sales (up to the individual maximum of 5,000 hogs) provided they can show equal investment, labor, management and risk or profit sharing.

While the payment is being made on a maximum of 5,000 hogs per farmer, the average Canadian hog producer sold less than 200 hogs in 1979-80. The average carcass weight was about 165 pounds. Therefore, the average stabilization payment per hog is about $4.07.

In 1979-80, the percentage of national hog marketings by province were as follows: Quebec 36 per cent; Ontario 32 per cent; Alberta 13 per cent; Manitoba nine per cent; Saskatchewan five per cent; Atlantic Provinces four per cent and British Columbia one per cent.

Farmers who have questions about the program or who cannot obtain application forms locally should contact the Agricultural Stabilization Board, 9th Floor, Sir William Logan Building, 580 Booth St., Ottawa, K1A 0Y9.

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT

"The Trottier family" were special guests of the Sunshine Singers last Thursday evening. Their tap dancing, singing, and piano and violin playing were thoroughly enjoyed. Several of our residents enjoyed waltzes with members of the Sunshine group as the Trottiers played.

MOTHER'S DAY VISITORS

Sunday turned out to be a memorable day for all our mothers. The Daughters of Isabella once more gave of their time and showed their generosity by giving each lady a pretty potted plant. For those who were not able to get out a special dinner was served. Visitors were evident in every room, even downstairs in the privacy lounge where Mrs. Margaret Shago enjoyed dinner among her family. Mrs. Celina Boisvenue had her daughter from Montreal, Mrs. Ellen McCann her daughter from Ottawa. One of Emma Brunet's sons and his family travelled from St. Catharines to spend the day. From Hawkesbury, there was Mrs. F. Garry's son and family, also Ethel Thauvette's son, wife and grandchildren.

OUT FOR MOTHER'S DAY

Ada Dear had a Mother's Day and birthday celebration combined, going out for dinner with her niece. Sadie Barton was all smiles as she headed out to a daughter's to enjoy the day and all her grandchildren. Ella Thauvette was out with her mother and sister. Bernadette Leroux and Gabrielle Gauthier enjoyed a beautiful outing with their respective families. Bertha Massie extremely enjoyed a rare outing with family at one of our local restaurants. Hawkesbury was Florida Proulx's destination for her special day. Mrs. Antoinette Filion had a nice change and went out with members of her family. This was especially nice for her as she recently lost a daughter. Mrs. Roseanna Garreau made a real day of it, starting with dinner at a son's in Alexandria and supper in Lachute. Along with all these women we had two men who ventured out, Bernard Masterson and Elzear Andre who when asked why he was going out as it was Mother's Day, stated "I'm going out to kiss all the mothers."

ANNIVERSARY

Russell Morrison of Dunvegan was in to join his wife Isabelle, in celebration of their 42 years of marriage. We all wish them many more.

BIRTHDAYS

The dining room was a busy place on Monday as the hostesses for May entertained and sang old favorites much to the pleasure of all. The "Stardale Women's Institute" distributed gifts to eight people altogether for the month of May. Punch and birthday cake added just the right touch to the afternoon's festivities.

Birthday wishes going out to Emma Brunet on the 19th and Cecil Wilson on the 24th of May. Many happy returns.

VOLUNTEERS

Just a reminder to anyone with a little free time. Volunteers are always appreciated. Especially now the nice weather is here. So many of our residents would love to have someone to take them outside or just sit and talk with them. Please feel free to come, you will be warmly welcomed.

BAKE SALE

Our bake sale is this coming Wednesday, May 21. Everyone welcome. If anyone would like to contribute baking it will be greatly appreciated and you will be helping us to purchase little extras that we want our residents to have and enjoy. Tickets on the wine rack will be available and there will also be a door prize. See you all on the 21st.

The funeral was held on Wednesday, May 7 at the Reformed Presbyterian Church at Brodie. Rev. Paul Faris pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian Church, Lisbon, N.Y., officiated. Inverarden Museum opening for season

by I. Bowering, curator

The fully restored and refurnished Georgian Parlor will open at Inverarden Regency Cottage Museum in Cornwall on Saturday, May 24. At 2 p.m. visitors will be able to view the refurnished parlor, and dining room. They will also be able to see the partially furnished servant's room and music room.

Two more rooms will feature artifacts from the early 19th century. A slide show highlighting the restoration project will be shown, and visitors will be able to take tours and partake of refreshments.

The furnings were obtained with money raised by local business and then matched by Wintario. Altogether over $20,000 has been spent on artifacts appropriate to the period.

Built in 1816, by retired North West Company fur trader John McDonald of Garth, at an approximate cost of 5,000 pounds sterling, Inverarden is the finest example of Regency architecture remaining in Ontario. Restored by Parks Canada and now operated by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Historical Society for the City of Cornwall this 14-room cottage is situated on 2½ acres of land overlooking the St. Lawrence Seaway.

McDonald came to Cornwall at age 45 after spending 20 years in Canada's northwest and a year and a half in Montreal "amidst gaiety, amusements and feasting." Within a decade he had over 60 tenants working on his lands at Inverarden, or Garth as he called it.

Pursuing the life of a country squire, he became a magistrate and a force in local politics. In 1823, he remarried and sold his property to his eldest daughter's husband, another fur trader, John Duncan Campbell. The Campbells lived in the house until 1965.

Inverarden was designed externally as a Regency Cottage with casement windows set into a plain stuccoed wall. Inside each room is subtly different. The mouldings on each set of doors change from room to room.

During McDonald's occupancy, the house was furnished with the latest fashions from London. A partial inventory of the larger items includes a pianoforte, two sofas, a sofa table, a pair of pedestal card tables, a dining table, a sideboard, chairs, a secretary-bookcase and an 'oeil-de-boeuf' mirror surmounted by a horse. A visitor may still see the original table and sideboard on loan from Grant Campbell of Williamstown.

The museum is open for tours and also houses Cornwall's temporary art gallery. For further information call 938-9585.

Dancers featured

by Mary Lacelle

Eight hundred people filled Glengarry District High School cafetorium to watch 150 of Sandy's Glengarry Dancers perform.

Introduction opening was by Alexandria Carnival Queen Diane Claude who dedicated the recital to all mothers on their special occasion.

Hostess for the evening was Joey Gallant, co-host was Murray McDonald. Murray entertained us with a Scottish and Newfie joke (nothing personal of course). He'll make a good lawyer with his quick wit.

The traditional Country Boy led by Annette Charlebois started off the evening with the audience clapping to the music.

Polka Dot Bikini was a real heart stealer and tiny Valerie McDonald won the audience with her cute little wiggle and farewell kiss.

The Dorie sisters, Suzanne and Denise, gave a good toe-tapping performance.

Connie McDonald and Susan Andrews as near to professional as you can get with their complicated baton tricks and disco steps put on a pretty spectacular show.

The Chatanooga Choo Choo derailed a few times but it soon got back on the right track and came through just fine.

The evening held a special treat for everyone. There were kilts flying, little hearts dancing to music, toy soldiers on parade, the belle of the ball and even a Kung Fu lesson led by Charlene Willard and Lisa Turgeon and a good Kung Fu demonstration by Susan Andrews and Firma McDonell.

Ginette Menard, assistant to Sandra, performed in very fine style indeed. She is a real credit to Sandra.

The Glengarry Dancers featured were Roxanne Lauzon, Kim McRae, Firma McDonell and Tracey McRae. These girls bring great pride to Glengarry, they were really marvelous. The McRae sisters were presented with a Five-Year Attendance trophy.

Fred Astaire era was brought back with an old soft shoe performance by four of the Lancaster girls, who really did him justice, then along came Sharon Lefebvre putting her soft shoe forward, which brought it no doubt toe to toe with dear old Fred.

In the Navy, led by Brigette Lefebvre gave some people the idea that enlisting in the navy would be pretty good fun.

There were Cookie Monsters nibbling scrumptious looking cork cookies and the rubber duckies led by Nicole Taillefer were a Sesame Street favorite.

The Star War fans got a real treat with Conquest of the Stars and Night Flight to Venus. Instant replay was an instant winner.

Thanks to the Cornwall girls, Jodie Poapst and Cathy McGregor, students of Sharon Lefebvre, who came down to give us a great performance.

And all good things must come to an end, but first we got to see what Sandra Ruest, the dancing teacher got to do, and boy can she do!

Sandra thanked everyone for the success of the evening with a special thanks to Mary Sheldon for the artistic creation of all the costumes, they were truly beautiful.

She thanked all her helpers and said how lucky she was to have such fine students, but we know that we are most fortunate in having such a warm loving teacher for our children.

Draw held

The Parents Association of Sandy's Glengarry Dancers held a ticket draw Sunday evening at Glengarry High. The tickets were drawn at the end of the recital. First prize for the highest seller of tickets went to Lisa Turgeon. Tie for second place were Cassandra Sheldon and Susan Andrews. Raffle of a black and white TV went to winner Lee Cousineau 150 Seventh St. East, Cornwall. The seller prize went to daughter Laurie. Second prize, a platform rocker, was won by Jean Seguin, RR2, Alexandria. Denise Dorie was seller of that ticket. Third prize, a picnic cooler, went to Buddy Howells, RR1, Bainsville. Seller was Angie Whistle. The sellers also received nice prizes.

Library answers questions

Cornwall Public Library has a toll-free information line (1-800-267-7144) which anybody in Eastern Ontario may use to find the answer to any questions which he has. The variety of questions which people do ask is indicative of the broadening interests of people in every area of life. One enquirer wanted to know how to make a Singapore Sling but another person asked where to donate old deeds and historical artifacts. Reflective of our present day living was the query "what regulations apply for selling dairy products off the farm without having a government quota?"

In past months such questions as the origin of the term "doughnut" and the term "doughboy" have been asked and answered successfully. The staff member who received the query about the "dwell setting for a 1977 Chevrolet" did not know what was meant by it—but did find the answer to the question.

Some of us may feel that we hear enough about elections but one of the callers on the INFO line wanted to have the dates of the elections held in Canada in the 1800's. And among the callers are the antique buffs, especially the caller who was interested in the history of buttons and elastic. Not the usual query which comes to the reference desk but giving the staff deep satisfaction with finding the answer for this question!

As a reflection of the present day fuel crisis there are many questions both the regular reference servif Cornwall and from the IN line on an evaluation of vl stoves and of how to build sheated houses.

Questions, ctions and more questions—and the Cornwall Public Library both through its regular reference service and its toll-free line 1-800-267-7144 is trying to find the answers for the public which it serves.
