BINDER BOUGHT IN 1898 STILL TIES 'EM TIGHT

We had our attention called to a grain binder the other day that has set some kind of a record. Sim Droppo bought it new in 1898, and it has been cutting grain faithfully every year since. There are probably other binders just as old in the community, but Sim claims some extra marks because his binder still has two of the original canvasses in it.

The canvasses have never been left out in the rain and they are taken in every night. This year the binder bound half of a twenty-acre field of oats and barley and there doesn't appear to be a loose sheaf in the field, and it was one of the best crops in years.

Norman Foster Of Ottawa Speaks On Second Object Of Rotary

Norman Foster of the Ottawa Rotary Club spoke at the regular meeting of the Chesterville Club last Monday evening. President Howard Fulton welcomed as guests Lou Fleck, Vice-President of the Ottawa Club and Archie Grier of Ottawa.

Dr. H. G. Barton made a report on the Crippled Children's work to date. He described the benefits that had been gained by the small boy who had enjoyed ten days at the camp at Merrywood-on-the-Rideau. A volunter was asked to take a small handicapped girl to the camp next week. Howard Hough offered to do this Wednesday. The excellent response to the Easter Seal campaign makes it possible to give these children their weeks at camp.

Introduced by J. F. Moriarty, the speaker outlined the points of his talk after paying tribute to the late Perley Boyd. Mr. Boyd was the type of man the community and the country could ill afford to lose, Mr. Foster said.

Vocational Service, the second object of the Rotary organization, was in the speaker's opinion, the king pin of the other three. If a man, in his business life lived up to the high ethical standards set for him by example and as stated in the objects of Rotary all other standards would be high, and his associations in the business world would be profitable and above reproach.

"Service is the rent you pay for the space you occupy in this world," Mr. Foster stated as he enlarged on the idea of service in business and vocation.

L. A. David thanked the speaker on behalf of the club for his address.

Next week will find a novel program presented by the Rotary Club of Chesterville. A well-known concert pianist and recitialist, Dr. J. Menzies van Zandt will be the speaker to the club and at the conclusion of the meeting will entertain the general public in the auditorium of the Community Hall. No admission will be charged, and it is hoped the community will take advantage of this opportunity to enjoy an evening of excellent music and entertainment. Dr. van Zandt comes to the community with excellent recommendations.

ROAD SUPERINTENDANT SUGGESTED HEAD TOWNSHIP FIRE FIGHTERS

Foresters in the district have attended a few of the seventy township council meetings scheduled, but many councils meet on the same day, so it will take many months to attend all.

North Gower Township has fire fighting equipment, a fire chief, volunteer firemen, and power all healthy men to fight fires. Bathurst is appointing one fire marshall or more and is making it illegal to start bush fires in certain seasons. North Crosby councillors have their bush fire under control now although it has covered 500-600 acres in the last three weeks, and that council is most anxious to take adequate measures to prevent a repetition. They are seriously hampered by the low taxation income and seek a suitable system which they can finance. Other townships are appointing some one to take charge of the fire fighting and the road superintendent is most frequently chosen as he has men and equipment at his disposal.

The hundreds of busy farmers who have left their work in the last month to fight fires urge that people be careful with fire. Much of the grass in the pastures is tinder dry; pine woods are like gunpowder; fire will run almost anywhere; and the rural communities generally have no fire fighting organizations or equipment. A cigarette butt tossed from a car may cause a serious fire loss and a great dea of hard work, If the first person to see a fire would stamp it out many of our bigger fires could be averted.

Prevent forest fires and keep Ontario Green.

Although forest land makes up 57 per cent of the assessed area in Carlton, Lanark and Renfrew Counties, the Select Parlimentary Committee studying conservation afforded very little time to discussing the reasons for the present unsatisfactory conditions of the woodlands and possible improvements. Interested persons or bodies may offer their suggestions to their agricultural representative before the Morrisburg hearing on Sept-14th.

DIAMOND JUBILEE WHEAT RETURNED TO CANADA

Canadian wheat which was shipped to Great Britain more than fifty years ago, has been returned to Canada for germination tests and possible display purposes. It formed part of an exhibit of various products grown throughout the British Empire, erected during the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria on the present site of the Admiralty Arch, in Whitehall, London. After the celebrations, the component parts of this display were distributed to anyone interested in such souvenirs. Some of the Canadian wheat was secured by Mr. W. E. Nicholls, who now lives in Tottenham, North London. He placed it in a hock bottle 50 years ago, and recently called at Canada House with his treasure, thinking it might be of some use or possible interest.

Mr. Nicholls was tempted to dispose of his souvenir on several occasions, especially when taunted by his friends for keeping such a "useless and unglamorous object", as it was called. With the caution of one who comes from a family of sixteen, he preserved this bottle of Canadian wheat. It was even salvaged from the ruins of his home, which suffered destruction during an air raid in January, 1942. Incidentally, it was one of the few things recovered from the wreckage.

Mr. Nicholls explained that he had to move to another part of London, where he was on ambulance duty during the war, and was only recently able to rebuild his home and move in. His bottle of Canadian wheat was also returned, its sentimental value greatly enhanced.

Commenting on his experiences at the time of the Jubilee, Mr. Nicholls recalled that he sat on one of the lions in Trafalgar Square to watch the procession. He saw little, however, because of the wooden stands that were erected along the route for the convenience of spectators who could pay for seats. Being only a boy of thirteen in 1897, the son of a coal heaver, he said that he considered himself lucky if he was given a penny a week to spend. Continuing, Mr. Nicholls observed that anyone who believed those were "the good old days' was welcome to them. He had been unable to rent a seat from which to watch the Queen drive by.

GREEN BELT

That thriving rural surroundings are essential to a growing city has been recognized by the planners of Canada's National Capital.

The future limits of the Capital's built-up areas are to be surrounded by a green belt of from three to five miles in width.

"The country frame necessary to the life of the city", as Jaques Greber chief consultant of the National Planning Committee, describes it, will serve three purposes.

It will set an unalterable limit to built-up urban areas thereby enabling low-cost planning for future streets, municipal services and public utilities. Dangerous ribbon developement of of housing along highways will thus be prevented.

Much of the rich farming area now surrounding the Capital lies within the proposed green belt and this is to be zoned to restrict it to market garden or farm use, providing the Capital with a permanent source of garden produce. Any soil not suitable for farming will be zoned to leave it in its natural state.

Finally, it will enable the city dwellers to get into the country without travelling long distances.

Green belts are not a new departure in town planning. There are already several in the United States and England. Ottawa's will in general, start within five miles of Parliament Hill and will enclose an area expected to contain a population of 500,000 by the turn of the century.

SCRAP METAL CLOCK

"Necessity is the mother of invention" is a saying known to most people. Its truth is proved by the church clock of Wootton Rivers in Wiltshire, which Arnold Hare spoke about in a BBC programme from the West of England. It was in 1911 that this village wanted to celebrate King George V's Coronation by the erection of a church clock. Unfortunately there was no money available. Spurred on by necessity the village postman, Jack Spratt, came forward with a wild and most unorthodox proposal. If the parish would provide a few hundredweight of scrap metal, said Postman Spratt, he would build a clock from it. The villagers considered the proposition, thought that they would be no worse off if Spratt's plan did not work and considerably better off if it did, and began to bring in their junk. It was an amazing collection; disused farm implements, bits of old mowing machines, chaff cutters and reapers, gas pipes, bedsteads, prams, fire-irons, taps and old saws.

With this heterogeneous pile of apparently useless rubbish Spratt began his work, assisted by various trusty helpers. More astonishing than the materials from which the clock was made was the fact that when finished it actually worked. By the time the Coronation came round it was ticking away most efficiently in the church tower, where it still is. The clock has chimes too, added later but still the work of the ingenious Spratt. It is a unique piece of work, for one of the three faces has letters on it instead of numerals, using the words, "Glory Be To God" to indicate the hours. It is the works, however, that are the astounding sight, only shown to visitors with the rector's permission. The pendulum, for instance, looks remarkably like a broom handle —it probably was one—but this wonderful product of mangles, brass bedsteads and old bicycles keeps time with only slightly less accuracy than the best precision-made instruments in the world. And what more can be asked of a clock?

On August 11th, Mrs. Geo. Barkley was hostess to the monthly meeting of the Afternoon Auxiliary W.M.S. Mrs. W. O. Dixon was acting president in absence of Mrs. W. Wright.

The program, "Gifts Galore for Europe and Asia" was in the form of a Playette the story of which was Two Canadian Women on their way to the great Amsterdam Conference of Protestant Churches, interviewed three German Women who very clearly told of how help and gifts could be used by 14,000,000 war refugess, and of Protestant ministers of Germany. Grateful thanks for that which had already been accomplished. Mrs. W. Edgerton and Mrs. C. Thompson represented the Canadians and Mrs. Geo. MURPHY—BELLINGER

Multi-colored gladioli adorned the high altar and sanctuary of St. Brigid's Church in Ottawa, for the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock Monday morning, August 15th, when Doris Jean, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bellinger, Ottawa, and Gerald Benedict, youngest son of Mrs. Catherine Murphy and the late James Murphy of Crysler, Ont.

Rev. Father John Whalen of St. Bridgid's parish officiated at the ceremony. Rev. Father Corkery, P.P., was present in the sanctuary

Mrs. Charles O'Reilley, organist, played the wedding music and Mrs. Arnold Ingram was the soloist and sang beautifully "Oh Perfect Love", "Mother Dear, O Pray For Me" and at Holy Communion Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March and looked lovely in her floor-length white brocaded nylon dress over taffeta. The sweetheart neckline was finished with a cape effect, short puffed sleeves set off the fitted bodice with a full circular skirt. Elbow length nylon mitts completed her costume. Her three-quarter length veil of silk tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of rhinestones. Her only ornament was a 6-strand of seed pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of briarcliffe roses, white carnations and white gladioli.

Miss Julie Gravelle, Ottawa, as bridesmaid was wearing a floor-length dress of powder blue duchess satin, made on fitted lines with square neckline, tiny covered satin buttons to the waistline, peplum skirt, cap sleeves with full-length gloves to match. Her headdress was a bonnet of powder blue tulle trimmed with lily of the valley. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow gladioli and Queen Elizabeth roses.

Mrs. Bernard Foley, Finch, Ont., sister of the groom, was matron of honor and chose a model floor-length gown of dusty pink corded taffeta, with an inset yoke of nylon in an off-the-shoulder effect, fitted bodice with a bustle back and a full circular skirt. She wore matching taffeta mittens and tulle. She carried a colonial nosegay of orchids, gladioli and better time roses.

Mrs. Bellinger, mother of the bride, was wearing a two-piece navy blue bengaline suite, black accessories and wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Murphy, mother of the groom, was wearing a black two-piece silk moire suite with black accessories and a corsage of Killarney roses.

Ken Murphy, Crysler, was best man for his brother. The ushers were Eddie Lafontaine and Willie St. Au-

Following the ceremony a wedding reception and dinner was held at the Alexander Hotel, Bank St., Ottawa, for the immediate families and friends, after which the happy couple left by motor to Niagara Falls, Toronto, Midland, Ont., returning by way of New York. Toasts were proposed by Rev. Whalen and Rev. Herliky and Ken Murphy, responded by the groom.

For travelling the bride wore a navy blue taffeta dress with a fitted bodice, short sleeve with full circular skirt and navy accessories. Her corsage was of Happy Day Roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white kid prayer book and sapphire rosary and to the best man a leather billfold and to the ushers cigarette cases.

The bride's gift to the groom was a Ronson cigarette lighter, to the bridesmaid, a mother of pearl rosary and to the maid of honor a three-piece necklace, bracelet and earrings to match.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Catherine Murphy, Ken Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Moran, all of Crysler; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Foley and Elaine of Finch; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cavan, Brian and Catherine Anne of North Bay; Miss Veronica Murphy, Mr. Allan Parsons of Montreal; Mrs. M. St. Louis of South River, Ont.

Aultsville

A terrific gale blew here on Wednesday. Some trees were blown down, one at Sanford Wells' garage, one at Fred McIntosh, north of the track, and some east of town. Then it began to rain and we got a good downpour for a while with some electricity.

The Anglican Ladies' Guild met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Earl Hollister, 2nd Con. It was decided at this meeting to get three tons of coal for the church, also some prayer books. During the afternoon Mrs. Hollister served a dainty lunch which was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gow and family of California, were recent guests of the former's brother, Duane Gow and Mrs. Gow.

NEW BRITISH SUPERSONIC 'JET' FIGHTER

This picture shows the Supermarine 510, a development of the famous "Attacker", latest fighter aircraft announced by the British firm of Vickers-Armstrongs. Details are still on the secret list, beyond the announcement that the 510 is powered by a Rolls-Royce 'jet' engine, and the fact that the characteristic swept-back wings are a feature of aircraft designed for super-sonic speed. More than 600 miles per hour is confidently predicted for this aircraft, which is to be used in the exploration of high speed problems.

BARNS, OTHER BUILDINGS LOST IN FREAK FIRE

When a stone in a sheaf of oats was struck by a steel tooth of a threshing machine Saturday mornin, the resulting spark set off a fire, which destroyed barns and other farm buildings of Bernie (Gill) Macdonell, a farmer of Lancaster township, whose farm is located at Bridge End, 12 miles southeast of Alexandria.

In a short time the fire was out of control. Flames reaching more than 50 feet attracted the attention of neighbors and the volunteer fire brigade of Lancaster village, but in spite of vigorous attempts of these to save the farm, only the house was spared from the flames.

Several times flying sparks set the house on fire, but each time the volunteers managed to quell the blaze. The loss of the other buildings will run into thousands of dollars, only a small part of which is insured. All of this year's grain crop was destroyed also.

Mr. Macdonell and several others the blaze and required medical the blaze and requi-ed medical treatment.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The service at Morewood United Church was conducted on Sunday morning by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey, B.A. The theme of the sermon was "The Challenging Christ" based on Matt. 26;29, "He went a little farther."

In the agony of Gethsemene Jesus had to go apart and fight His battle and win His victory alone. He took with him Peter, James and John and bade them "Tarry ye here and watch with me, and He went a little farther, and fell on his face and prayed saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me, nevertheless not as I will; but as Thou wilt." The little farther that Jesus went not only represents physical distance; it represents also the realm of human experience. Jesus went a little farther than his apostles could go; He goes a little farther than we can go to day. In a sense Jesus always went the extra mile; He always did more than could be expected. He will always go a little farther with us and for us. He went a little farther in poverty, in love, in forgiveness, in suffering and prayer. That extra he had to go alone. So in human experience there are times when we have to go alone. We bear our own pain, our own disappointments and finally we face death alone. For each one there is a Gethsemene; but one can look beyond it and discern by the eye of faith a little farther on, the Christ who will not leave His own nor forsake them.

The anthem rendered by the choir was "I could not do with Thee". Miss Ellice Smith was at the organ.

WHOOPING COUGH TAKES MORE TOLL THAN POLIO

A disproportinate emphasis is is sometimes placed on poliomyletis in comparison with other diseases, it is declared in a statement by the Health League of Canada.

The statement points out that an editorial in the magazine Health reveals that last year whooping cough alone caused almost as many deaths as diphtheria, polio and scarlet fever combined. In a five year period, whooping cough caused nearly five times as many deaths as polio and diphtheria three and a half times as many.

"At this time of year,", the statement says, "parents are nervous about poliomyletis, or infantile paralysis. Such feeling is understandable, particularly during such a year such as this, when there has been a sharp increase in the number of cases. However since our knowledge of the 'why' of polio epidemics is extremely scanty there is no reason for forecasting an epidemic than for prophesying that there will be none."

The statement points out that while there are specific preventives for whooping cough and diphtheria, there is, unfortunately, no such preventive for polio. However, there are sanitary precautions which should be followed Here is common sense advice offered by health officers throughout Canada:

People should live outdoors as much as possible and make sure of good ventilation when indoors. Water which is not chlorinated must be boiled. Milk supplies should be pasteurized. Streams polluted by sewage should not be used for bathing. Rubbish should be burned or disposed of in proper receptacles. Flies and mosquitoes should be kept out of the home. Dusting should be done with a damp cloth, and sweeping with an electric sweeper. Fatigue and crowds should be avoided.

The Health League statement was issued in connection with the forthcoming National Immunization Week, September 11th to 17th, and pointed out that the public should realize that it has a definate duty to see that children are immunized against diphtheria and whooping cough, both of which can be prevented--and each of which takes greater annual toll among Canada's children than does polio for which, so far, there has been discovered no specific preventive. The Health League feels that the general public should become as concerned about the tragic effects of diphtheria and whooping cough as they are about possible polio after-effects.

FARM LIFE STRESSED IN 'GREEN PROMISE'

The romance of modern farming is the inspirational theme around which have been woven the drama of "The Green Promise," Glenn McCarthy's initial film production for the RKO Radio release.

Starring Marguerite Chapman, Walter Brennan, Robert Paige and Natalie Wood, the picture deals with the reformation of a suspicious and domineering old farmer who has no use for modern agricultural methods. A stormy love affair between Miss Chapman as the farmer's daughter, and Paige, and the efforts of the latter, a County Agricultural Agent, to modernize Brennan's management of the farm, are the principal ingredients of the story.

William D. Russell directed from the screenplay by Monty F. Collins, and Paige and Collins co-produced the offering which introduced interesting features of 4-H Club work. Ted Donaldson, Connie Marshall, Robert Ellis, Irving Bacon and Milburn Stone head the supporting cast, which also includes little Jeanne La Duke, a real 4-H girl from Mt. Vernon, Ind.

"The Green Promise" comes to the Community Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 25, 26 and 27.

At last he hit on an idea. He stepped to the phone, dialed his home number and shouted hoarsely:

"It's all right, darling, they let me go. Don't pay the ransom."

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hello Homemakers! Peaches and cream — whether we are talking of complexions or the luscious fruit, are wonderful. We cannot be too choosey about peaches this year. We'll take what we get and make good use of them while they last. They are delicious to serve at the beginning of a meal, to top off a meal, or snack between meals.

Fully ripened peaches make a speedy and a scrumptious dish—skin, slice and serve with a sprinkle of fine sugar and cream. Nowadays we are prepared since we keep a can of 18% cream on the shelf. Without refrigeration the can can be chilled in a short time by placing it in cold water.

We slice peaches on pastry dough for an open face pie, or put them in a cake pan then cover with batter, or between slices of fresh shortcake and serve with a melba sauce. The sauce can be prepared ahead of time using crushed berries. Crush and strain stewed red currants or raspberries and thickened with a paste of cornstarch (1 tbsp. in ¾ cup cold water). Cook until clear.

Honeyed peaches are an extra special treat. Wash and rub six peaches well with a clean cloth, but do not peel. Place in baking pan and add 1½ cups of water, ¾ cup of brown sugar and 1 tbsp. butter. On top of each peach put a teaspoon of honey and sprinkle with a little nutmeg. Bake in electric oven 400 degs. for about 25 minutes.

Baked peach halves are very good baked in moderate heat with only butter to grease the casserole and glaze the top of each half. Serve with cheese and a marschino cherry in each cavity.

PEACH ROLL

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 to 4 tablespoons ice water
2 cups sliced peaches
½ to ¾ cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons butter
Dash of nutmeg

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening and add enough ice water to make a stiff dough. Chill and roll into oblong sheet. Spread peaches over dough and add enough brown sugar to sweeten to taste. Sprinkle with a dash of nutmeg; roll up like a jelly roll and bake in a well greased baking dish in an electric oven at 350°F. for ½ hour. Baste with ¼ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon melted butter and continue baking 20 minutes longer. Serve with cream or vanilla ice cream.

TAKE A TIP

1. Cut honeydew melon in sections, scoop out seeds and then slash across sections. Squeeze a little lime juice over melon; chill, then serve.
2. Cut a head of lettuce in quarters or eighths, wash carefully and drain. Carefully lift leaves and insert daubs of sandwich filling. Serve with tomato wedges.
3. Meringues are an inexpensive addition to a fresh bowl of sweetened berries. Drop spoonfuls of meringue in a greased baking sheet, bake in a slow oven for 30 minutes, then cool. Make one for each serving of berries.
5. Salt brings out the juice of fresh fruit. Sprinkle salt on chilled melons and peaches, then serve—no need for sugar.

THE LETTER BOX

Mrs. S. T. asks: How can I make crisp shoestring potatoes?

Answer: Cut raw potatoes into very fine slivers and soak them in ice water awhile. Drain them thoroughly on towel; drop quickly into very hot fat. Cook with cover off. Remove when brown, drain on soft paper. Salt only when ready to serve.

Mrs. J. M. suggests: Insert short sections of drinking straws into slits of a fruit pie before you put in the oven to bake. The juice rises in the straws instead of running over.

Mrs. H. D. says: Ever buy hickory salt from the butcher? Just a pinch of smoked salt in hamburgs is a good seasoning.
