Legion Rink Canvass Set For October 7-12 To Raise $7,500 Sum

Plans for canvassing Chesterville and District for funds to repair and renovate the old Chesterville and District Rink, to be renamed the Legion Memorial Rink and to be operated by Chesterville Branch 434 of the Canadian Legion, were made at a meeting attended by representatives from the Legion, Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club held in the Bank of Nova Scotia office, Friday evening.

It is planned to conduct the canvass during the week of October 7th to 12th, with the target set for $7500. The village was divided into sections and canvassers named, and the surrounding district was organized along the lines of the Red Cross drives.

A meeting of canvassers will be held some time next week when they will be given details of the drive and urged to assure achievement of the target.

The Legion Building Committee hopes to complete necessary repairs this fall so that hockey and skating will be assured this season and next spring make extensive renovations when, it is hoped, building supplies will be more plentiful.

The committee in charge of organizing the canvass consists of H. Brown and H. J. Hamilton from the Chamber of Commerce; Geo. H. Barkley and Leon Marcellus of the Rotary Club, and Carl Merkley and J. A. Morris from the Legion.

Work planned for this fall includes strengthening the remaining part of the rink with iron tie-rods, rebuilding the west end, repairing the electric lighting system, and doing other essential repairs to assure a resumption of ice sport for this winter.

MOREWOOD BOYS TENDERED FAREWELL PARTY

The Members of the Staff and the student body of Morewood High School, met in the Assembly Hall on Monday, September 16, for a joint farewell party in honour of two of last year's fifth form pupils, Mac Feeley and Malcolm MacGregor.

Mac Feeley, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Feeley has joined the Royal Canadian Navy and left Thursday evening for Vancouver to take a course in wireless telegraphy. Colin MacGregor, leaves this week for Guelph, to enter Guelph Agricultural College.

The evening was spent in games and dancing. At an opportune time, the boys were called to the front and an appropriate joint address was read. Each was presented with a cigarette lighter and flat fifties of cigarettes on behalf of those present.

A dainty lunch was served by some of the girls of the school, bringing a pleasant evening to a close.

BIG BEET IS BEATEN

GEO. W. BROOKS, Sr. of Dunbar, brought a record-sized Detroit Dark Red beet into the Record Office this week weighing 5 pounds, 15 ozs., to top Mrs. Heagle's entry by five ounces. This specimen was oblong in shape, being 16 inches in circumference and 24½ inches around the long way. Mr. Brooks says he has several more of these giants still growing that he's holding in reserve should anyone come up with one to beat this root.

Fine Displays by Pupils At H. S. Achievement Day

"Achievement Day" for the Girls Garden Brigade was held Monday afternoon at Chesterville High School, when a large assortment of fresh and canned vegetables and flowers were exhibited under the direction of H. G. Gillies, B.A., B. Paed., principal.

Members of the Chesterville Girls' Garden Brigade arranged their displays of carrots, pumpkins, cucumbers, beets, tomatoes, celery, onions, potatoes, cabbages, corn, squash, canned tomatoes and beets, and bouquets of asters, zinnias, petunias, cornflowers, gladioli, cosmos and snapdragon.

All entries were judged by Miss Marguerite Macdonell, of the Women's Institute branch of the Department of Agriculture, who stated the number of general exhibits was smaller than last year, but, on the whole, the vegetables were quite good.

Certificates of Achievement were awarded to girls who completed their second year of Garden Club work. They were Hazel Byers, Thelma Droppo, Betty Kelly, Shirley Rowe, Mildred MacIntosh and Ardeth Justus.

Entries of Hazel Byers, Vera Merkley and Marion Bell will be sent to Kemptville early in October for display with work completed by junior girls and boys in Eastern Ontario.

Women's Institute Gives $50 To Legion Memorial Rink

Chesterville Women's Institute authorized a donation of $50 to the Legion Memorial Rink canvass, at the meeting held in the Library last evening. The tag day for the Blind raised $44.95 last Saturday, and will be continued this Saturday. The branch will contact an Institute in Gloucestershire, home county of Mrs. B. Campbell, with respect to sending food parcels during the winter months.

Another splendid paper on the "Citizenship" series was given by Mrs. Byron Campbell, entitled "Structure of the Dominion Government", and read by Mrs. Eric Casselman. Mrs. Geo. G. Merklev, president, and Mrs. A. B. Clayton were named delegates to the Ottawa convention on October 9 and 10.

Set Your Clocks Back One Hour At Midnight, Saturday, Sept. 28th

Clocks will be set back one hour Saturday night when the country reverts to Standard Time. Officially the time changes at 2.00 a.m., Sunday, but you needn't wait up 'til that time to make the change.

Considerable confusion was experienced in Chesterville last spring when the proclamation issued by the Municipal Council stated Daylight Saving Time would commence "at midnight, Sunday, April 28th, instead of midnight, Saturday." But the proclamation reads the end of Daylight Saving shall be Midnight, Saturday, September 28th.

And there's no excuse for missing Sunday morning church.

RECEPTION HELD FOR MR. & MRS. HUBERT ROBINSON

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shay when about sixty friends and neighbours met to extend their welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Robinson.

The reception was sponsored by Mrs. Asel Merkley and Mrs. Stanley Shay and offered an opportunity to express best wishes to the couple and also welcome Hubert's bride who recently arrived from Aberdeen, Scotland.

The guests spent the evening visiting and playing games. Later an address was read by Mrs. Asel Merkley followed by the presentation of many beautiful miscellaneous gifts.

Dear Hubert and Sheila:

It is with deepest admiration that we, your friends, have gathered this evening to tender a heartfelt "Homecoming" to you and your bride.

Hubert, we try to realize what it meant to you to be taken to a distant land to fight for the freedom of your country, to experience the news of the changes made at home, and the faces that would be absent upon your return to the family circle. We know this was not easy but we rejoice with you in the choosing of a life partner.

Sheila, for many months since Hubert came home he has been telling us about the bride, the girl he met while he was serving his King and Country, overseas, to whom he proposed marriage, and the happy day when she became his bride. We recall how he described her sunny disposition, her charm and personality. Our enthusiasm too, was soon blended with his and we all waited anxiously for the day when she would arrive in her new home.

Since your arrival we are happy to receive you and to acknowledge you as one of us. We wish to assure you from the very depths of our hearts that all the affection and admiration in which we hold Hubert is equally yours and we warmly say, "Welcome Home, Hubert and Sheila."

As a further expression of our affection we ask you to accept these gifts hoping they will often remind you of the friends of this evening's gathering.

Meet Here Wednesday To Request Authority Nation Conservation

Representatives of municipalities in the eight counties in Eastern Ontario affected by the South Nation River will meet in the Community Hall, Chesterville, next Wednesday afternoon to discuss The Conservation Authorities Act, 1946, and if possible make application for an "authority" to proceed with the work of conservation and reforestation of the watershed.

Engineers of the Department of Planning and Development have been surveying the headwaters of the Nation this summer and expect to get as far as Casselman this fall, with the object of determining what course is best for controlling the flood and drought periods of this river which drains 915,600 acres throughout its winding course of 100 miles.

A few weeks ago members of the South Nation Committee and others toured the eastern limits of the river from Chesterville to the Ottawa and viewed the damage wrought by floods and erosion.

Copies of The Conservation Authorities Act, 1946, have been distributed among those concerned with the work, and it is hoped these will be studied so that work of organization may be proceeded with at the meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Section 4 of the Act provides: "Upon receipt by the Minister of Public Works of a resolution passed at a meeting . . . and at which a quorum was present, by not less than two-thirds of the representatives present thereat, requesting the establishment of an authority the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may establish a conservation authority and designate the municipalities which shall be the participating municipalities and the area over which the authority shall have jurisdiction."

ENORMOUS TOMATOES GROWN BY MRS. E. LASALLE

This week Mrs. Elgar LaSalle of town brought to the notice of The Record a couple of the largest tomatoes we have ever seen, one measuring fifteen inches in circumference, the other twelve inches. They are said to be of the Ox-Heart variety, with which we are not familiar. It is our intention to save the seeds from this specimen for testing next season. Large tomatoes are not the only things of interest in Mrs. LaSalle's garden. A snowball shrub which has already bloomed twice this summer is now in bud for a third time.

TALKS FROM REGINA

Denis Kearney, who is spending some time in Western Canada had an interesting telephone conversation with his home Sunday night speaking from Regina. He jokingly said it was to save writing a letter, but in reality it was to hear of all the home doings, about crops and fall work on the farm. His mother, like all mothers called to the phone in the middle of the night quickly visualized the many things that might have happened to her son, but was quickly reassured when his voice came through as distinctly as chatting face-to-face, and all was well.

REPAIR OF RINK A NECESSITY

Plans appear to be formulating at last for the repair and renovation of Chesterville's covered rink, so badly damaged in the windstorm on St. Valentine's Day. Difficulties have been encountered by the committee from the Chesterville Branch of the Canadian Legion in securing title to the property through the appearance of unpaid taxes and other bills by the Chesterville and District Rink Company which offered the property to the Legion for five dollars.

Taxes owing the corporation on this property amount, along with the interest and penalties, to $449.97, and it appears the Legion will have to take care of this debt when it assumes the property as the rink company is practically without funds and the municipality cannot "forgive" arrears of taxes.

But re-establishment of the rink is realized as a vital necessity by citizens of the village and district, as it is the one source of recreation for the young people during the winter months. The canvass, announced in other columns of The Record, will be made during the week of October 7th to 12th, and if the target of $7500 is to be realized the generosity of a great many persons will be necessary.

The rink, to be renamed the "Legion Memorial Rink", will become the property of the Chesterville Branch of the Legion and will be operated as a community enterprise, as a living memorial to the men who gave their lives on active service and to those who risked everything for the defeat of the enemy.

Plan now to give generously to the canvassers when they call—and assure rebuilding of the rink.

SOUNDING BOARDS OF THE COMMUNITY

The organization of business and professional men into clubs such as the Rotary Club of Chesterville and The Chesterville Chamber of Commerce is the beginning of an era of co-operation and development of the community, has been expressed by members of the Municipal Council on several occasions. Suggestions for improvements in municipal services and criticism of others have resulted in better results being obtained by the men elected to transact the business of the municipality.

Several years ago the Rotary Club instituted the plan for twice-a-week garbage collection. It was looked upon by many as an expensive innovation, but not many of these people would think of giving up the service today. For some months past the same club and then the recently-formed Chamber of Commerce has urged upon the Council the necessity of improving street lighting in the village. The result has been a survey of the village by lighting engineers of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission and the ordering of the initial installation of 18 new-style lamps.

The Record would suggest that when the new lights are installed, a couple of the old fixtures be used to light up College Street to the High School, for if that school continues to be a centre of civic interest as it has the past few years, lighting of the street is imperative.

Don't forget to turn the clock back one hour before retiring Saturday night. We don't want a repeat of the mix-up in church services experienced last spring.

* * * *

It is hoped by many farmers the recent rains will continue and replenish the water supply in wells for the winter months.

Fall commenced officially, so we were told, at 10.41, Monday morning, with summer-like weather prevailing. Wouldn't hurt our feelings a bit if the weatherman should decide to give us a bit more of this warm spell.

Reforestation in Nation Watershed

Final instalment of "The South Nation and Its Environs", given before the Conference on Conservation in Eastern Ontario by

Ferdinand Larose, Agricultural Representative, Plantagenet, Ontario

TOTAL LAND UNDER REFORESTATION

The total acreage of land devoted to reforestation in the South Nation River Watershed is as follows:—

Prescott and Russell County Forest—8,000 acres of which 2,000 have been planted.

Grenville County Forest ..... 600 acres are located in the watershed, out of a total of 1,200 acres.

Private Planting ..... 3,000 acres at normal spacing.

Total 11,600 acres.

It is estimated that not over 11,000 acres of non-agricultural land have been reforested during the past thirty years or so. This represents a little better than 5% of the total area unsuited to agriculture. At that rate, it will take 570 years to finish the job.

Number of trees planted within the Nation River System:—

Private Planting .....2,200,000 trees
Municipal Planting ... 800,000 trees
County Forests .....2,724,500 trees

Total .....5,724,500 trees

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE IN THE FUTURE?

So far, Reforestation and Conservation projects have been carried on at random, in a haphazard way, and at the favour of local circumstances. opportunities, or leadership. In the future, work should be undertaken in a more systematic and aggressive way. Plans would have to be worked cut, and steps taken to implement them. In other words, a complete survey of the Nation River Watershed should be made and developments drafted ahead, to ascertain that no mistakes will be made in their execution, and that the highest possible efficiency will be attained.

In this regard, two things strike me as essential and urgent:

1. A happy proportion between forest land and crop land should be established, taking into consideration that in agriculture, the size of a farm is less important than the intensity of its production.

2. A thorough study of ground water should be made, with a view of bringing up the water level in the soil to a proper height, by damming streams at strategical points.

This policy would help to keep our wells and springs, and would bring up the water table to a point where it may be readily available to crops. It is useless for me to go into details, as those ought to be left to expert hands.

Let us hope that long overdue action will be taken, in the near future, to make the best possible utilization of land in the Nation River Valley, for the benefit and the comfort of all those concerned.

DISCUSSION

DR. J. H. MUNRO: This project, as given us by the speaker, is something that is rather intriguing from the point of view of comparison with the Ganaraska scheme which has already been surveyed, in that the Nation River, on which the population of portions of eight counties in the most easterly part of Ontario depend, passes through a rich agricultural district, low flat land, with very few hills and ultimately finds its way into the Ottawa River. Over a great period of years the forests have been mined in these counties; have been denuded of trees. The result is now being shown in the agricultural community by the falling of the water table and lack of water in the river on which the whole population depends.

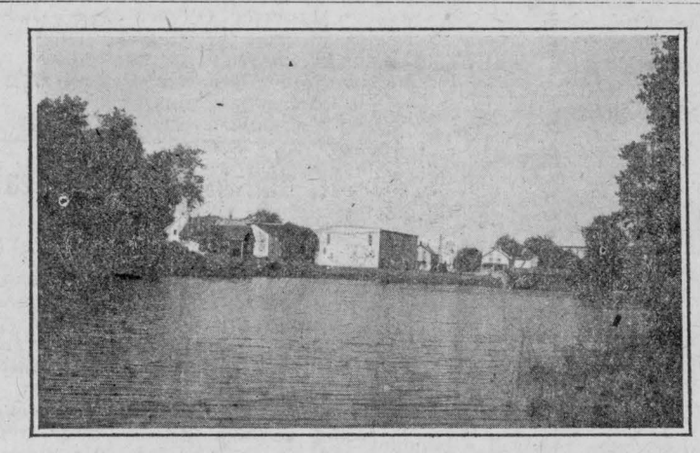

It is a problem which will have to be approached from a different point of view from that of the Ganaraska, in having the Nation River Valley surveyed, in that a number of thickly populated villages are in the area and all of them depend on the river for their water supply, and in some instances are large users of it at some seasons of the year. One is Chesterville where the Nestle's Food Products is located and which depends on the Nation River for its water supply and at times that company has to go upstream and pump from deep holes in order to get a sufficient supply.

Now, if anything brings home the need for reforestation, I think the best example in Ontario is in the Nation River Valley and I hope at this Conference that some action will be taken with a view to altering the conditions of flood in spring and drought in the summer.

MR. KING: May I add something to what Mr. Munro has said. I happen to be connected with the firm in Chesterville requiring this water. I have been in Chesterville twenty-five years, in charge of the plant and I have had a chance to observe the decreasing amount of water. It has been going down each year to a point where the situation has become so serious that in 1941 we pumped water from above the town to our pool from August 9th to October 14th. In 1944 we had to start on October 6th and we pumped until December 5th when the storm drove us out of the river.

Our company supplies a market for 450 of the best patrons in Ontario in the milk line, and it is very vital to them as well as to ourselves, that something be done in and around Chesterville.

MR. G. H. BARKLEY: I quite agree with Dr. Munro when he says the Ganaraska and the Nation watersheds are not alike. We have our towns and we have all our sewers which empty into the Nation River, and I tell you it is in terrible shape. If it hadn't been for the Nestle Company pumping water down there last summer we wouldn't have had fire protection.

The Nation at Chesterville When Rainfall is Normal

Authorities are convinced that with proper conservation and reforestation methods the South Nation River can be controlled to eliminate floods and maintain a constant flow of water throughout dry periods such as has been experienced this summer and fall.

Everybody's Business

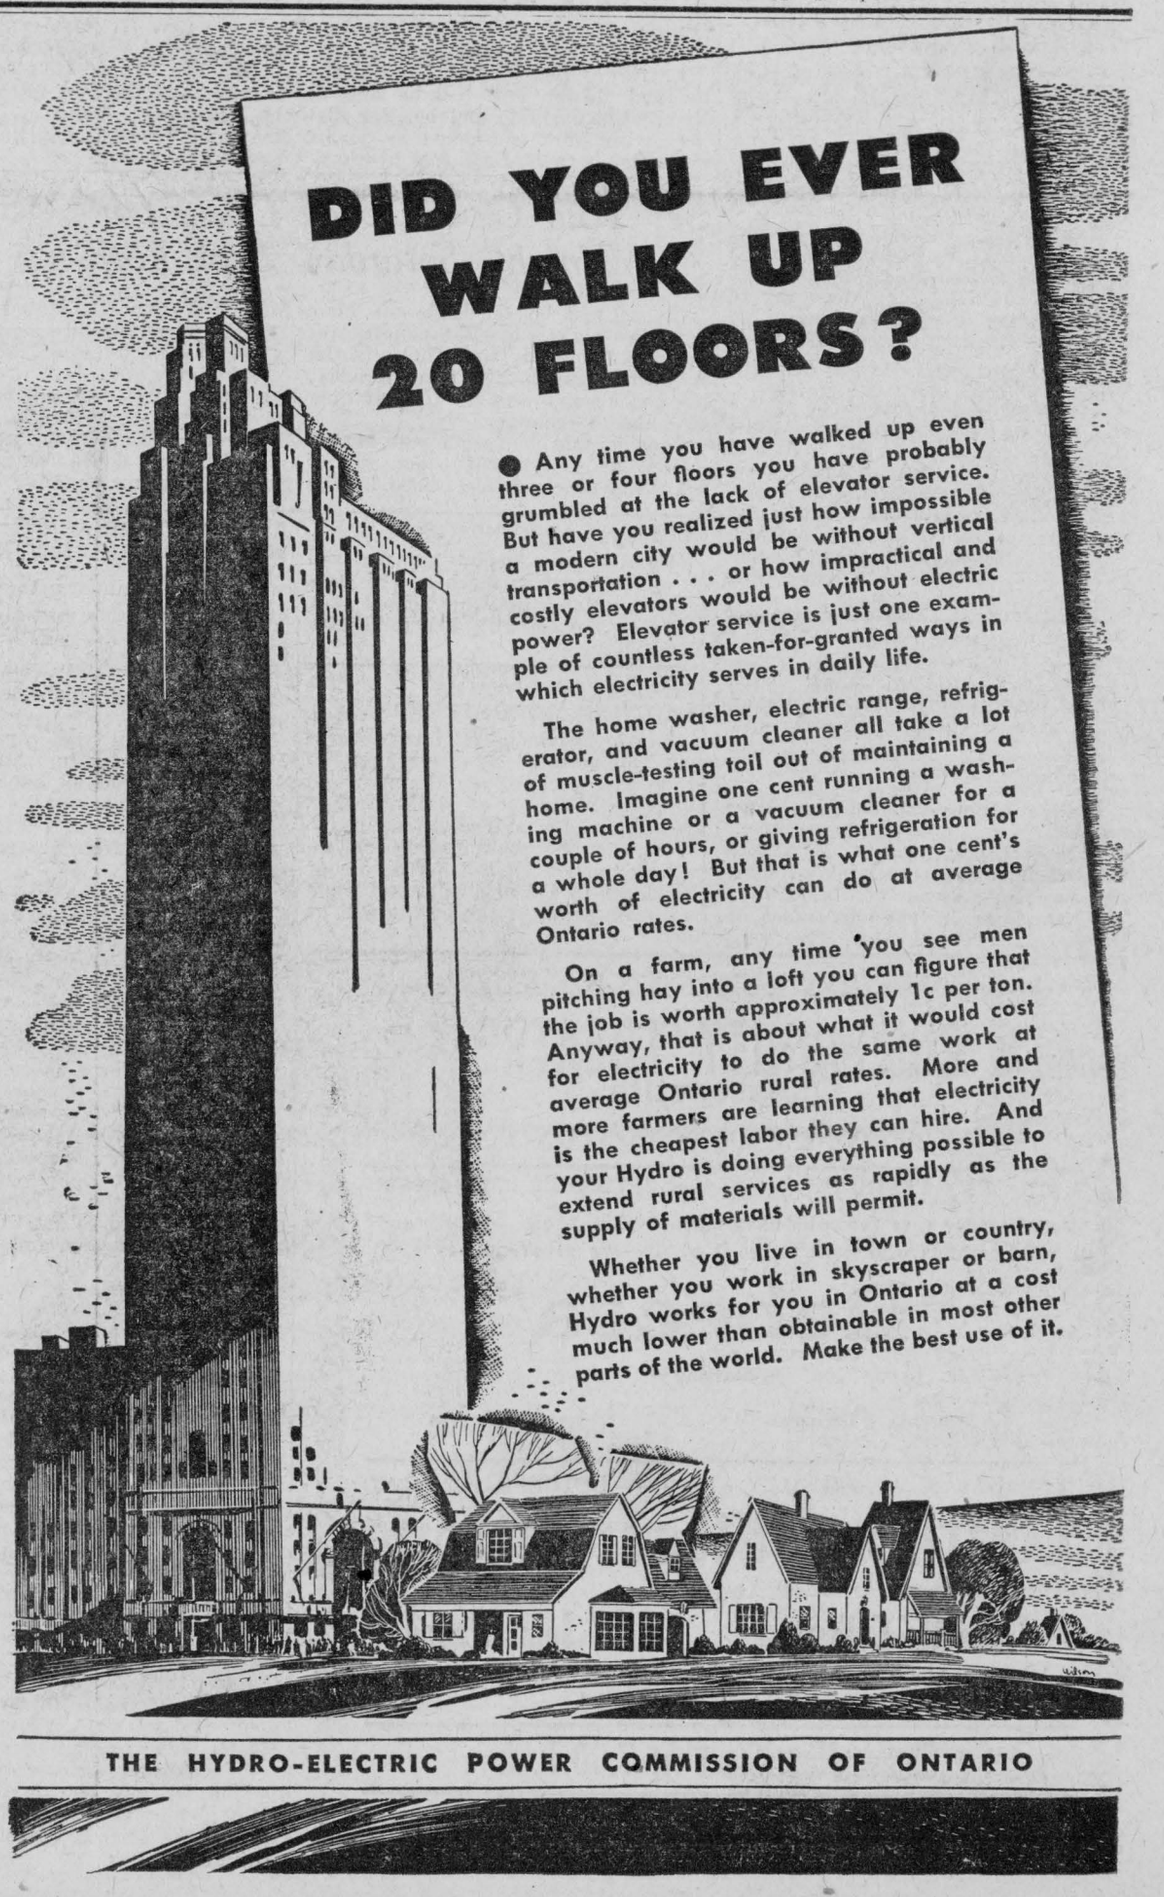

It is almost a year since the greatest and most devastating of wars came to an end. A year ago hearts were high with the thought that at last it was over; now it would be possible to turn from our concentration on death and destruction to the alleviation of suffering, the restoration of normal life, a life that could be happy and livable and generous again. We hopefully expected that at last the minor restrictions, the seemingly purposeless doing-without, would quickly come to an end. If we did so much for war, many hopeful individuals urged, certainly we could do as much for peace. But this is wishful thinking, for one of the requisites of doing as much is that people should have their eyes as unselfishly fixed on a goal in peace as they had in war.

We haven't any such attitude today, and we haven't any particular goal but our own selfish interests and we are not too smart in looking after these. We still stand in line for butter, for meat, for shirts and stockings and clothing. We look endlessly for places to live. We hope that increased construction will eventually overtake this need. We find instead that we are joining other lines begging for bricks and lumber and structural steel. We can't get a thousand and one raw materials, so stock piles dwindle and industry bogs down. Goods on the merchants' shelves become scarcer daily, so we stand in line again for other goods. But there is no relieving satisfaction that we are sacrificing for a great end. Perhaps we dimly realize that we are suffering because we won't think straight.

Every day there are new disagreements between labor and management: labor possibly demanding too much and management conceding too little and too late. Yet neither management nor labor has a right to lay down terms of unconditional surrender, because neither can survive without the other. Ultimately there will be concessions, after an industrial battle that benefits no one and harms everyone. If satisfactory adjustments are possible at all, they are possible in the beginning before damage is done. A little less of the threat of coercion; a little less of the "be damned to you" attitude and we might achieve the normal life for which we had hoped.

We might as well reckon the costs of our attitudes. Let us leave aside for the moment the beclouding differences of labor and management. Then what becomes clear is that there is only one way to assure the survival of our present way of life. It is that we should produce more goods, better goods, cheaper goods. Without that, politically we cannot maintain our position as a first-grade nation. Labor cannot maintain the gains it has secured. We citizens cannot continue the social-security policies we have undertaken. We workers everywhere cannot protect the jobs we now have. A solid postwar prosperity can be built on a foundation of more production from farms and factories and mines and forests and fisheries and all the industries that serve them. But shortened work hours and decreased production mean less goods, higher prices, and lost markets at home and abroad. And that road leads to another depression.

Therefore Canadians as a whole have a right to demand that neither extreme demands of labor nor short-sighted policies of management should be permitted to jeopardize the flow of goods on which the hopes of all of us depend.

"Murder on Wheels" Subject of Rotary Talk

"Before the end of 1946, 50,000 Canadians will be involved in highway accidents, 1500 of them will die, and repair bills alone will amount to seven millions, if the present upward sweep of traffic continues," declared Lewis A. David when he spoke before his fellow Rotarians Monday evening on the subject "Murder on Wheels". Authorities are alarmed over the increase in motor accidents, and there is every possibility Canada's blackest year, 1941, may be topped.

Harold Williamson was the only guest of the club. F. W. Barker, owner of the McCloskey House was welcomed into Rotary by Keith Graham, to become a member of the Chesterville club. An invitation was read from the Kemptville club to an international ladies' night on Friday evening, October 11, and Dr. S. H. Hutt reported plans well advanced for the international exchange with the Malone, N.Y. club, whose members will visit Chesterville on October 7, and will entertain the local club on October 24th.

The speaker was introduced by M. A. Flynn, and the appreciation of the club was expressed by H. Brown.

Most serious accidents occur on straight stretches of highways under ideal driving conditions when drivers feel the urge to press down on the gas and let the old bus all out, said the speaker. They do not understand the great power of momentum built up by the speed and weight of the auto. He listed the seven traffic evils contributing to death and destruction: Passing on hills, racing into curves, hogging the middle lane, turning without signalling, chiselling traffic lights, swerving suddenly in traffic, and mixing the death cocktail—alcohol and gasoline.

Bishop of Ottawa Urges Life of Sacrifice In Holy Trinity Visit

Urging the young people to change their way of life and devote more time to the thoughtfulness for others and duty to the church, the Right Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of Ottawa, addressed the congregation of Holy Trinity Anglican church when he visited the parish on Sunday afteroon.

Laying the blame on deterioration of youth equally on the shoulders of education authorities and parents, Bishop Jefferson said for the last 35 years young people have been sent out into the world with the thought only of getting as much out of life as possible. He said he would advise a son of his to always try to do his duty to God and his neighbours, "don't forget, there is a God above to whom you will have to answer some day—and God always repays his debts."

The world is on the verge of a new era today, much as it was 1500 years ago when Christianity alone survived to carry on and rebuild a better life. Wars can never be settled until we learn to build Christian lives through peaceful homes. Public opinion's transition was shown in Ottawa recently when homeless veterans seized vacant buildings and the authorities made no move to oust them. They realized these men had not had a square deal, said the Bishop, and were anxious to see the wrongs set to right.

Reporting on business conducted at the General Synod of the church held recently in Winnipeg, and which was attended by the Arch-bishop of Canterbury, Bishop Jefferson outlined progress in talks for the re-union of the Protestant churches. Representatives of the Anglican and United churches will report back after three years details of their study. The Anglican Advance Appeal, of which Bishop Jefferson was chairman, has already gone over the four million dollar goal by $68,000, and by the end of the year it is hoped many more thousands will have been realized.

Closing his sermon, he thanked the rector, Rev. J. A. L. Ellacott, the wardens and people for their assistance in the great work, and pleaded that more young boys should enter the ministry; to give up everything as St. Matthew did at his customs post when the Master said simply: "Follow Me."

Some Coupons Still Valid In Old Ration Book

Stop and take a good look inside your old ration books before you chuck them into the ash can or roll them up with the garbage. This warning comes from the WPTB Ration Administration following reports that many consumers have discarded their old books after obtaining the new one.

The point is that there are still some coupons in the old ration book which are still valid for the purchase of sugar, meat, preserves and butter. These will remain valid until the Ration Administration declares them no longer of any use. Following are coupons still good: S1 to S25 for sugar or preserves; R18 to R21 for butter; and Q1 to Q4 for meat.

Thursday, September 23rd, 1926

Monday morning Harold Baker of Nation Valley, suffered serious injuries to his head when he was caught between an engine and threshing mill as he was preparing to move from Andrew Droppo's where he had been threshing on Saturday.

Sunday morning about a quarter to twelve the unusual sight of a bull moose passing through the north end of town made folks rub their eyes. The big fellow with a nice spread of antlers came in from the north west reaching the railway tracks a hundred yards west of Main street. Before crossing the street he stopped and viewed the surroundings, then proceeded along the station lawn until near the station, taking to the tracks again and passing along to clear the fence in W. H. Casselman's field, then out Limerick way to Tom McCloskey's, Ed. Carroll's, Dan McMahon's and Will O'Neill's where the trail was lost.

Three horses were instantly killed, a fourth injured so severely it had to be shot, and a large barn destroyed by lightning at Metcalfe fair shortly after noon on Wednesday.

Alice V. Coulthart and Russell Swerdfeger were married Saturday, September 18th, in Morewood United church when the ceremony was performed by Rev. R. P. Stafford.

John Clement had his leg broken last Saturday while delivering a cow from the home farm to Williamsburg. The cow became startled jumping out of the front of the wagon knocking the young man to the ground with his leg entangled in a chain breaking the leg. The horses ran away entered a corn field making a complete circle in the standing corn before they were caught as they tried to reach the road again.

HOGOBOAM—COONS

The Wesleyan Methodist church, Winchester, was the scene of a pretty autumn wedding when Elsie Eileen, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Coons, Winchester, was united in marriage to Mr. Gilbert Arnold Ho-Hogoboam, of Cass Bridge on Wednesday, September 11th. Rev. H. Keilty officiated, Miss Idena Coons presided at the organ and the soloist was Mrs. Wilburn Coons who sang, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden", during the signing of the register.

Miss Lottie Carkner of Ottawa was bridesmaid, the best man was Mr. Ray Cook of Cass Bridge, and the ushers were Mr. Wilburn Coons and Mr. Lorne Hogoboam.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of gladioli, aster, mixed fall flowers and ferns.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white taffeta, with shirred bodice, long tight-fitting sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a coronet of pink rosebuds. She carried an arm bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hotel Winchester. After the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Hogoboam left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and other points in Western Ontario. The bride travelled in a green veline crepe dress under a green topcoat, with black accessories. They will reside at Cass Bridge.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Erratt of Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Boyd, South Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hogoboam of Williamsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMenomy of Inkerman; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott and Mrs. John Scott of Melvins.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION

There is more to fire prevention than reporting the gory details of death and destruction that result from carelessness and neglect. Fire prevention can only be brought about by the individuals responsible for fire hazards. So this brings the question of fire prevention right down on the home and place of business of every person.

A furnace, for instance, when properly installed, is provided with insulation to eliminate overheating inflammable surroundings. The same applies to the electric or gas heater. Even the electric iron has safety devices, but individuals are responsible for their use. Electric wire is made as nearly foolproof and fireproof as possible, but again the human element can render its safeguard valueless by carelessness or neglect.

A guest in a hotel feels much safer sleeping in a room if he knows a sprinkler system is ready for instant use in the event of fire. Every home and building cannot afford a sprinkler system, but the occupants of such places can refrain from using pennies or other metal objects in place of fuses. The occupants of such places can see that all wiring and heating systems have needed attention, and they can clean up trash, dirty rags, paint cans, paint brushes, oil, etc., which are all potential fire hazards.

The same rule applies for fire prevention as for health—"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound for cure." And nobody but the individual whose life, property and health are at stake can, in most cases, provide the "prevention" that will forestall calamity.

Potatoes Not Too Plentiful Despite Better Ontario Crop

Housewives and buyers who recall the scarcities of potatoes which have prevailed periodically during recent years will be glad to know that the Ontario potato crop shows some promise of a slight increase over last year, says R. E. Goodin, potato fieldman of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, but the overall picture in the Eastern Canada Provinces is not so hopeful, he adds. The dry weather, which was responsible for drying up pastures in Ontario and lessening the output of dairy products, also had a marked effect on potato crops. Reports from New Brunswick state that their crop will be away below normal and that dry weather until about the second week in August retarded the development of the potato crop in Prince Edward Island. Ontario consumers usually require about 3,500 carloads per year from these two Eastern Provinces, but with a short crop and heavy demands for export to southern countries, it is doubtful if normal supplies will be forthcoming during coming months to Ontario markets. Last year it was necessary to import substantial supplies from the United States to meet consumer demands here.

Potato acreage in Ontario was stepped up considerably this year but a large portion of the increase was by growers of the early crop in Southern Ontario. The yield per acre of early potatoes was very satisfactory, but practically all that early crop has now been harvested, marketed and consumed. Late potato growers throughout the various areas of the Province have not yet started to harvest their crops on a large scale, but growers report that yields in some areas are disappointing. Practically all Eastern Ontario and parts of Northern and Central Ontario, reports Mr. Goodin, are particularly poor. Supplies are now being provided by growers of intermediate crops, many of whom are anxious to harvest their potatoes so as to sow fall wheat on the same land. Considering all circumstances, the market should strenghthen for quality potatoes under ordinary marketing conditions. Weather has not to date been favourable to development of late blight, so consumers may purchase their supplies for winter storage with confidence.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Electricity will be playing an increasingly important role in our homes in the near future. There will be improved lighting. Lighting will be chosen first, because it is adequate for good vision and, secondly, because it is decorative. This is in complete contrast to the days when the rose shaded lamp with the fringe cast only a small cirlce of poor light, but was considered very elegant.

Electricity helps you work or relax with ease if the light is adapted to your work. Bare bulbs, even inside frosted ones, are glaring and should not be used if they come within your field of vision. A 200 watt light is placed four feet from your tedious work, whereas a 200 watt central lighting fixture is ample for general kitchen routine.

One reason why homemakers prefer white or ivory paint for their kitchens is that these colours do not absorb light. It is especially important to stress keeping the kitchen lighting fixtures clean as they become greasy and dusty quickly. Darkened bulbs should be discarded—they give poor light and may burn out at an inopportune time. When you buy a supply of new ones, purchase long-life bulbs of the correct voltage. The local Hydro man should be consulted about the kind to buy.

Now that more people are studying and reading fine print every night you really must consider adequate light. A white lined shade with a straight slanted side in a table-lamp near your reading chair with a 200 watt bulb provides the best source of light. The best types of floor or table lamps are those with white glass or white plastic bowls. A reflector bowl should be used below the bulb if the lamp is high. The tri-light lamp for instance has a reflector bowl and table-reading lamps should have them too.

TAKE A TIP

Lighting and lightening tasks are two different things. Each should be planned and revised. Equipment is man-designed, but woman-used. The best way to decide whether your kitchen is usable is to make a time-and-motion study of the jobs you do. How can your kitchen be improved?

1. Work space: Although the sink, refrigerator and electric range may be relocated for greater convenience in the approved plan the sink is the center with the range near the dining room door. There should be work surface on one side of the range, on both sides of the sink and at the opening of the refrigerator.

   If the counter is too wide then there will be difficulty reaching for overhead cupboards. Shallower cupboards are accessible places to store things, while additional storage is provided under the counters. A cabinet under the sink provides space for storing cleaning equipment and a hiding place for the garbage can. If there are not vents on this door, you should put a screen on it to prevent dishcloths or mopcloths from going sour. Vegetable bins should have open grill at the front and a small space at the back for ventilation.

   Sliding doors may be expensive, but they are worth the money compared to the head-bumps of open doors in a small kitchen. An overhead place next to the refrigerator should be reserved for food storage. One side for cereals, crackers, canned goods, syrups, etc.; the other for cooking ingredients and spices, seasonings, etc. And directly under this section available working surface which covers the baking utensils.

2. Improvements at the range: It is interesting to see the new features on the new electric ranges. These do a splendid job of baking, broiling, etc., and reduce time and strenuous work.

   To complete the cookery section a metal utility shelf is needed at one side or directly above the range to hold seasoning and utensils used while cooking.
