Provincial policing would cost Alexandrians $150,000 more: Proposal

By Anne Kukhta
News* reporter

Ontario Provincial Police service in Alexandria would cost 35.3 per cent — $158,280 — more than it is currently costing the town to maintain its own police force, according to an OPP cost proposal.

And between 3 a.m. and 8 a.m. every day, no Alexandria-assigned officer would be patrolling the town's streets, although surrounding detachments would be responding to calls.

"We're waiting for some more information," Alexandria town councillor Jacques Joly said Thursday, referring to a meeting he said Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette is trying to arrange in Toronto with the Premier of Ontario, David Peterson.

"But if it's going to be this expensive, I would vote against it," he added. "There's no way we can afford it."

Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette declined to comment Thursday.

Alexandria is paying $289,942 this year for four officers and one acting chief, according to the 1989 town budget estimate.

For $439,780 a year, the OPP would provide six constables and one sergeant to the town. This is based on a cost proposal prepared by the Ministry of the Solicitor General, upon the request of the municipal government, to determine the cost and terms of OPP policing in Alexandria. A copy of this proposal was just recently obtained by The Glengarry News.

However, since the estimate does not encompass all the costs involved in maintaining a stand alone detachment (a force which has a headquarters), an additional $8,442 would have to be added to the OPP estimate. This figure is based upon the 1989 town budget.

Features omitted from the proposal are a caretaker's salary and the costs of a telephone, janitorial supplies, office furniture and equipment. The expense of maintaining a building for a headquarters is also unspecified.

The addition of these expenses raises the cost proposal to $448,222.

This estimate could be larger still because the report warns that neither inflationary increases nor any salary increases that may result from the current OPP staff salary negotiations are reflected in the proposal.

Alexandria councillor Fern Seguin, who was a police officer in Alexandria for 10 years and its police chief for the last year of that decade, said OPP costs would be considerably higher than those suggested in the proposal.

"The way I figure it, it's just over the $500,000 mark," he said Friday.

Mr. Seguin is considering items not covered in the proposal, including changes he thinks the OPP would have to make to the existing headquarters to modernize it to OPP standards.

But, he said: "I've got no difficulty at all (with the cost). The proposal that we've received is cut and dry. As far as I'm concerned, there's no room for discussion.

"I was never in favor of the OPP and I'm not changing my mind," he said.

"Maybe I'm a little old fashioned," he continued, "but there's a little bit more involved in policing this town that what the OPP can give... The police should be seen most of the time on the street with the people."

Comparing the cost proposal to the town's 1989 budget, the largest differences between the cost of OPP service and that provided by the Alexandria force occurs in the areas of salaries, officers' uniforms and equipment, office supplies, and the communications system.

For 1989, the town council has allotted $252,126 for salaries and officers' expenses. This is $150,730 (37.4 per cent) less than the amount the OPP has estimated for its officers' salaries.

Similarly, the town council expects uniforms and equipment for police officers will cost $2,000, whereas the OPP estimates $5,341. This is a difference of $3,341, with the OPP expense being 62.6 per cent more.

Furthermore, the town council estimates spending $500 this year to tap into adjoining OPP radio systems on which the town's police now rely. This is 79.5 per cent less than the $2,439 the OPP would charge for

Alexandria teenager killed, others injured in auto crash

By Anne Kukhta
News* reporter

Last Friday night started like any other weekend night for seven teenagers looking for a good time at year-end soccer awards.

But before the night was over, all were involved in an accident and one of them lost his life.

According to investigating Lancaster OPP, the teenagers were driving in two cars when they left the celebrations at the Bonnie Glen. Eighteen-year-old Pierre Juillet of Lancaster was driving three of the seven in his car, while the other two followed with Alexandria's Eric Lalonde, 17.

Just after 1 a.m., they were east bound on County Road 27 near Glen Norman when Mr. Lalonde manoevered his jeep into the oncoming lane and started to pass the other vehicle. As he was passing, he lost control of his jeep, causing it to drive off of the roadway and flip over several times.

Daniel Emond

The jeep was completely destroyed.

Meanwhile, Mr. Juillet drove off of the road and into a fence, damaging his car.

All three passengers of the jeep — Mr. Lalonde and 16-year-olds Daniel Emond and Randy Gebbie, both of Alexandria — sustained injuries and were taken to Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Gebbie remains there in satisfactory condition but Mr. Emond was transferred to the Ottawa Civic Hospital. Mr. Lalonde was transferred to the Ottawa General.

Daniel Emond died at the Ottawa Civic Hospital. His funeral was held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Church.

Eric Lalonde has been released and is home.

One of the passengers in the other vehicle was also injured: 14-year-old Melany MacDougall of Dalhousie, Que. Like the other injured teenagers, she was taken to Glengarry Memorial Hospital, where she remains in satisfactory condition.

It is as yet unknown if there will be an inquest; the coroner could not be reached for comment.

But Lancaster OPP said charges are pending completion of the investigation.

Riders' GM to speak at Hall dinner

Jo-Anne Polak, General Manager of the hapless Ottawa Rough Riders football team which has yet to see a win this year, will be the guest speaker at the 11th Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame induction dinner next Wednesday evening, Sept. 13.

But even if the GM won't have much to boast about in terms of the on-field product, her presence will fit in with the dinner theme which commemorates 100 years of Glengarry association through athletes with Canadian football play. This includes contributions to Ottawa College (now Ottawa University), the Rough Riders and the Ottawa Sooners at the Canadian junior level.

Inductees this year include the Alexandria Lacrosse Club, Ottawa and Ottawa Valley champions in 1913, to be enshrined as a unit, as well as the following individuals: Clarence MacGregor, Maxville; John W. Sandilands, Lancaster-Williamstown; John D. MacLeod, Dunvegan; Gordon McNeil, Williamstown and representing the younger generation, Henry Dumouchel, Alexandria.

Jo-Anne Polak

Invited guests will represent the heads of Glengarry municipalities, some of whom have made financial committments to the construction of the hall itself. Provincial and federal members are also expected to attend.

Tentative plans are under way to hold an historic sod-turning ceremony to mark commencement of construction of the building. Confirmation for over $213,000 in provincial funding was received by the Ministry of Culture and Communications on June 29.

The proposed site is the proximity of the present arch-type entrance to the Kenyon Agriculture Association fairgrounds. Plans call for the arch to be replaced by Glengarry fieldstone with iron gates similar to Williamstown fairgrounds. The details of this are yet to be approved by the K.A.S. members.

600 pound safe stolen from local food store

By Anne Kukhta
News* reporter

For the second time in less than a week, someone tried to break into Lefebvre Discount Foods.

But Monday night, they succeeded — to the tune of about $5,000 and a 600 pound safe.

Alexandria's acting Police Chief Paul Deveau said Tuesday that more than one person broke into the store the previous night, clipped a number of wires (belonging to both the alarm and the telephone), and carried away the store's safe. Investigating officer Roger Levert said the safe is estimated to have contained between $5,000 and $6,000.

"It appears that whoever went in, knew what he wanted, went in and got it," the chief said. He said he does not know if the tripping of the alarm on Aug. 29 is related to the Aug. 4 break in, but said it is probable.

The alarm did ring Monday when the thieves first entered, but Chief Deveau said it probably ceased after a couple of minutes. He said a neighbor heard the alarm — which sounds outside of the building but does not connect with police headquarters — and looked out of a window.

The neighbor then saw a car drive off, the chief continued, but didn't notify the police.

"It's gotten to the stage that everyone has an alarm," he said. "Alarms are not alarming anymore."

Kenyon rescinds motion restricting use of tape recorders in meetings

By Bruce Myers
News* reporter

Members of Kenyon council agreed to rescind a resolution which they passed at the July 25 meeting restricting the use of recording devices in the council chambers during public meetings.

Reeve Finlay Mcdonell, who broke a tie in favor of the initial resolution banning recorders said at the time that, " the councillors didn't seem to feel very comfortable with the recorders there."

The resolution was passed despite advice to the contrary from Mary McCuaig, clerk treasurer. She had recommended the council seek advice from their lawyer.

Consultation with the municipality's law firm by telephone suggested that the motion, which disallowed use of recording devices in the chamber without permission of the members of council, would be a "dangerous precedent to set" and difficult to defend.

All members of council except for one voted to withdraw the motion. Deputy Reeve Norman MacLeod abstained from voting, stating that he wished for council to consult its attorney, who has been ill in hospital during the past weeks.

A Glengarry News reporter's request to record the Aug. 29 meeting was approved by council.

A related resolution authorizing the clerk-treasurer to purchase a tape recorder to record all public meetings of council was defeated after lengthy discussion.

Questions were raised by council members about what would be taped, transcribed, the maintainance of the records, and right of access.

Instead, it was agreed that council seek the advice of its solicitors in the matter of the use of tape recorders in public council meetings.

Lancaster to burn mortgage

The Lancaster Village Recreation Committee will be doing something this Saturday night its members have been looking forward to for four years — burning the mortgage for the Smithsfield Hall recreation centre.

"The whole community feels good about it," said former Lancaster reeve Milton MacDonald, who was one of the many volunteers involved in bringing the centre to fruition.

The mortgage-burning party, to be held at the hall from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., marks the end of payments into an $80,000 investment. The centre was built four years ago.

Everyone is invited to attend to mark the event. Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Correction

A page 1 headline printed in last week's edition of The Glengarry News which said 'Propane cylinder explodes, kills man in camper' incorrectly described the accident.

In fact, the cylinder did not explode. As detailed in the story the camper exploded after the propane cylinder had been brought inside. According to an official from the acting Ontario chief of inspecting of the Fuel and Safety Division, the victim who was killed as a result of the mishap might have been either "fooling around" with the cylinder or checking it when the explosion occurred.

The News apologizes for any confusion the headline may have caused.

Obonsoins extension to be completed by Christmas

Within the next three weeks, the foundation of a 400-foot building will fill the cavity between Obonsoins drug store and Sunscoop ice cream parlour.

And next week, demolition will again start on Main Street as R.A. Lalonde contracting company destroys a floor of apartments above Obonsoins. The addition will extend over the drug store.

This building will be an extension to the drug store and was initially scheduled for completion by the end of September. But modifications to design plans have postponed that date.

Now, Obonsoins's owner Sam Sultan estimates, the building should be erected by Christmas. He said Friday the extension should be open for business after the holidays.

The extension is replacing the Alexandria Hotel, a 76-year-old building purchased in September of 1988 by Mr. Sultan and torn down just a month and a half ago.

Since that time, the building permit allowing the extension was contested by the owners of the Sunscoop building. Two weeks ago, they claimed the size of the building and its proximity to a river which flows underneath the Sunscoop building violates bylaws.

However, during the Aug. 22 council meeting, the Alexandria town council and its planning officer, Tom Kent of J.L. Richards, assured Mario Riggio and Gary Brennan that no bylaws are being broken.

Nurses avert strike with last-minute contract agreement

Almost eight months after their contract expired, nurses accepted the Eastern Ontario Health Unit's contract offer and averted a strike.

On Aug. 28, 71 of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry's 87 nurses met with the Ontario Nurses' Association. Despite recommendations to reject the offer, 60 per cent accepted a 4.25 per cent raise, effective as of Jan. 1, 1989, and another 10 cents as of July 1.

They had initially asked for 6 per cent, beginning last January.

They also accepted another 4 per cent raise in Jan. of next year, followed by an additional two per cent on July 1, 1990.

Again, they had requested 6 per cent.

The employee relations officer who handled negotiations on behalf of the nurses, Raymonde Boileau, said Monday the nurses' association is disappointed in the nurses' acceptance.

''They've gone backwards,'' she said, explaining that, before the contract acceptance, SD&G nurses were the highest paid nurses in the four districts — Leeds/Grenville, Renfrew, Hastings and SD&G — in Eastern Ontario.

Now, she said, they're the lowest.

And because nurses have accepted a lower raise, she said ''we'll have to work that much harder the next time we negotiate, to gain what we lost.''

She added that she believes many of the nurses accepted the contract to avoid a strike.

''It was their last chance. As of the 28 of August, they were in a striking position,'' she said. ''The nurses were afraid the employer would lock them out and they would be fired.

''It was their choice and now they've got to live with it until we go back to the negotiating table in 1991,'' she concluded.

However, the Ministry of Labour appointed mediator, Raymond Lapointe (also the clerk of the SD&G county council) described the settlement as reasonable.

''Under the circumstances, it was reasonable for both parties,'' he said Tuesday. ''Naturally, Miss Raymonde is dissatisfied. They were looking, and hoping, for more.'' He said that he thinks under the circumstances, and with the availability of funding for the programs the health unit is providing, it was a sensible settlement.

He explained that about 75 per cent of the unit's funding is provided by the Ministry of Health. And all the costs of the unit's special projects are subsidized by the ministry.

This year, Mr. Lapointe said, these subsidies increased by only four per cent.

So, he said: ''Their (the unit's) overall expenditures wouldn't be able to increase over four per cent. In order to provide salary increases over four per cent, they'd have to make concessions elsewhere.''

Instead of cutting programs to accomodate a higher raise, he said, they ''tried to operate within the funding being made available.

''I think the main thing is that they have made an agreement between the nurses and the employer and the services will increase without interruption,'' Mr. Lapointe said.

Three-car pile up on Hwy. 34 injures two women on Friday

As rain poured in buckets and slicked the Glengarry roads, three cars piled up on Hwy. 34 just outside of Alexandria. Two women were injured.

According to Lancaster OPP, London's Gordon Cowell was driving north bound on the highway just after 3 p.m. when he collided with Alexandria's Marie Theoret near Eigg Road. Mrs. Theoret had braked just moments before to avoid hitting the jutting rear end of a car, parked on the side of the road after a single-car accident earlier.

The collision propelled Mrs. Theoret into the parked car, which belongs to Lucie Hamelin of Alexandria. Mrs. Hamelin lives at the site of the accident and her husband Richard had been the driver in the previous accident.

Both Mrs. Theoret and Mr. Cowell's 71-year-old passenger, Jennie Smithers of Courtland, were taken to Glengarry Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Both have since been released but Mrs. Theoret says she's still shaken up and is taking some time off of work to recuperate.

''Twenty some years I've been driving,'' she said Tuesday, ''and it's the first accident I've had.''

The accident occurred in the midst of a rain storm that deposited a total of 14.6 millimetres of rain on this area, starting at about 2 p.m. on Friday. This is based on figures from George Hambleton, local weather analyst from Dalhousie Mills.

Ambulance attendant lifts injured Jennie Smithers onto a stretcher.

Kenyon Township

Council briefs

The following are among the items dealt with by Kenyon Township council at their regular meeting held Tuesday, Aug. 29.

Tender awarded

Two tenders for the tax registration property 86-04 (the old Fairview Cheese Factory) at the corner of lot 12, concession 5 were received by council.

A bid of $350 from Rolland Paquette was turned down in favor of another for $1,232 offered by John Tkachenko since the redemption price paid by council for the land was $658.21, and it is not permitted for the property to change hands for less than that amount.

A concerned resident spoke briefly to council about fears he has about the small tract of land. John Prevost said that he was worried that Mr. Tkachenko, who owns a nearby army surplus store, would use the land to erect a sign advertising his business, thus causing an ''eyesore'' to the surrounding area.

Close that road

Kenyon council, as well as that of South Plantagenet Township, authorized the temporary closing of Boundary Road for bridge repairs.

Construction was to have commenced last week.

Maintaining drains

Monies were allocated by council towards the maintenance and repair of two municipal drains shared with a neighboring township.

The estimated cost of repair to the Ninth Concession Drain was $1,706.25, while $872.50 was the estimate for maintenance of the Marleau Drain.

Both are shared with the Township of Caledonia in Prescott County.

New insurance package

Lloyd Rozon from Rozon Insurance Brokers of Lancaster made a lengthy presentation ot council about the details of the municipality's new insurance policy for 1989-90.

Permit rates too high

Marcel Leroux was a one-man delegation to council hoping to convince the municipality that the price he was charged for a permit to build a deck onto his home was excessive.

The cost of a deck is 18 cents per square foot, the same as for a house, but rates are lower if a permit for a swimming pool and deck are purchased.

Council explained that the rates for the current year had already been decided, but that public input is welcome when the price of next year's permits is decided around February.

Status quo on group homes

Council decided to remain with the status quo in regards to the number of residents permitted to reside in a group home in the township.

The current number allowed, six, will not be raised to eight as requested earlier by the Glengarry Association of Community Living.

Collision in Glen Robertson injures one person

An Alexandria woman suffered minor injuries when the vehicle she was driving — a 1985 Chevrolet Chevette — collided with a 1988 Nissan pick-up truck driven by Luc Roussin, 36, of Glen Robertson.

The Chevette, eastbound on Cty. Rd. 10 in Glen Robertson and driven by Rita Williams, 53, sustained moderate damages when it turned left in front of the westbound pick-up. The truck also sustained moderate damages.

The accident occurred at 6:20 p.m. Sunday.

Early Sunday afternoon, a 1986 Mazda pick-up driven by Marlene Makinson, 37, of Lancaster, collided with a 1974 Dodge Charger coupe driven by Lionel Poissant, 43, of Montreal.

The Mazda was southbound on Hwy. 2 near Hwy. 401 in Charlottenburgh Twsp. and had stopped to make a left turn when it was struck by the Dodge, also southbound on Hwy. 2.

Both vehicles sustained minor damages.

At 1:05 p.m. Thursday, a 1987 Ford tractor-trailer driven by Raymond Masse, 49, of St. Lambert, Que., collided with a 1988 Pontiac sedan driven by Dora Aubin, 65, of Alexandria, on Cty. Rd 17 in Lancaster Twsp. at the Cty. Rd 23 intersection.

The tractor-trailer was eastbound on Cty. Rd. 17 when it started to back up and struck the Pontiac.

The tractor-trailer was damaged minimally while the Pontiac sustained minor damages.

A 1988 Mazda sedan was demolished but the driver was uninjured when the vehicle rolled over twice on Hwy. 401 near Bainsville Rd. in Lancaster Twsp. Monday morning.

Control of the eastbound vehicle driven by Joaquim Raposo, 24, of Montreal, was lost on the wet road. The vehicle proceeded to strike the median before rolling. The accident occurred a 7:20 a.m.

Late Sunday afternoon, control of a 1989 Pontiac 6000 sedan was lost while it was on the eastbound 401 Boundary Rd. ramp in Charlottenburgh Township.

The vehicle, driven by Andreas Gjevik, 50, of Beaconsfield, Que., went into the ditch, sustaining minor damages. Mr. Gjevik was not injured.

OPP would cost more providing a communications system.

However, the Alexandria police force is expected to spend 31 per cent more than the OPP on office supplies, having slated $1,000 in the budget for supplies that the OPP estimates at a cost of $762.

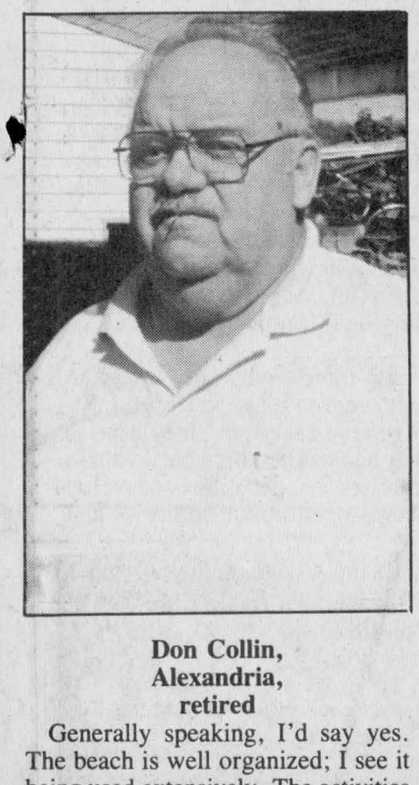
The cost proposal hasn't yet gone past the desks of the town council and the police commission, who are considering whether or not to accept it. If they decide in favor of the proposal, they must call an open forum and allow the town's citizens to argue either for or against the OPP.

If the citizens support the OPP, the town must then make an application to the Ministry of the Solicitor General, which will be either approved or denied.

The extra $158,280 that OPP policing would cost (at a minimum), would be compensated for by an increase in taxes.

We asked...

Was there enough for you to do in Alexandria during the summer?



Don Collin, Alexandria, retired

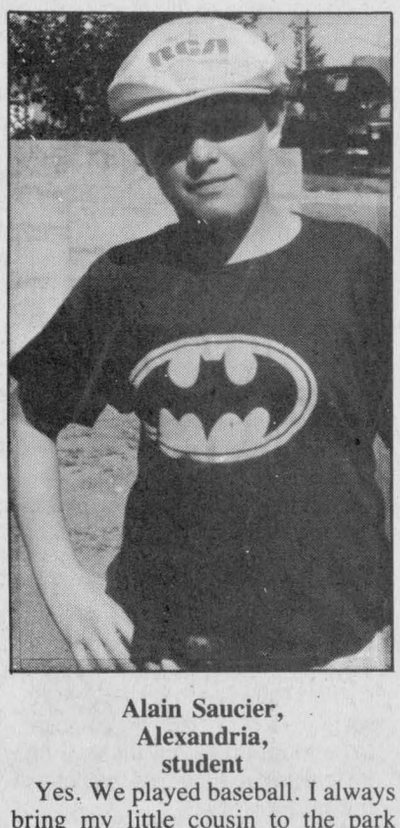
Generally speaking, I'd say yes. The beach is well organized; I see it being used extensively. The activities for senior citizens are adequate. You see them play sports all the time. I think the town is well organized.

Julie Quesnel, Alexandria, cashier

No. I think there could be more activities for people to do, like sports, roller skating and that sort of thing. I wouldn't mind having some place to swim.

Raymond Brunet, Alexandria, musician

Not really. They should get another strip bar in this town. Now that both hotels are down, the older people stay at home; they really felt comfortable with the girls.



Alain Saucier, Alexandria, student

Yes. We played baseball. I always bring my little cousin to the park almost every day. We go on the slides and the games.

Kim Sabourin, Alexandria, student

No, because you couldn't swim in the lake and there's no movie theatre and it's expensive to go to Cornwall.

Marc Leroux, Alexandria, student

Yes, there were the July 1 celebrations and other things to do. I also worked at all kinds of odd jobs during the summer.

Editorials/Opinion

Inquest is in order

Without question, an inquest should be called into the death of Daniel Emond as a result of a tragic accident in Glen Norman this past Labor Day weekend.

The 16-year-old's death — as well as the major injuries sustained by passengers in the vehicle — cries out for a public airing of the circumstances behind the accident. The few details known to date are in the least disturbing, and may very well penetrate to the root of problems relevant to this area and previously never addressed.

Inquests, of course, are time-consuming, expensive and at times result in little or no changes to laws governing road conduct. However, in this case, where "off the record" information reveals there is more to this accident than authorities can openly discuss (in particular because the accident involves teenagers protected under the Ontario Young Offenders Act), the questions far outweigh the answers. In an investigation involving deaths, this is not a satisfactory state of affairs; the safety of the public at large and young drivers in particular is being compromised.

Until the inquest is called, rumors will run rampant around the county, founded or unfounded blame will be levelled, and anxiety among parents of teenagers can only be expected to rise.

And a potential problem or problems will not have been addressed.

Back-to-school means back to better driving

It's that time of year again, the time when kids moan, teenagers moan and moms and dads leap for joy. It's back-to-school time.

And, due to the sudden change in driving conditions (school buses back on the road, children pedestrians), we feel it's also time to repeat a message well worth repeating — be on the lookout.

Starting this week, the highways and biways of Glengarry will be busy with schooltime traffic and junior pedestrians. After a summer of easy driving, it's easy for motorists to find themselves lacking in concentration.

Until those familiar driving patterns return, motorists, please, be careful. Nobody wants to turn the beginning of another exciting school season into a tragic one.

Snowbirds too important to be grounded for good

The horrible crash of the two aircraft from the Canadian aerobatic team, the Snowbirds, on the weekend begs the oft-asked question: Are such risky displays worth the cost of human life?

The answer has to be, of course, no. It makes no sense to subject anyone to high risk purely for the amusement of others. If that argument is furthered to its natural conclusion, the Snowbirds should be grounded, its pilots disbanded and re-assigned, and Canada's aerobatic team never be allowed to fly again for entertainment purposes.

It's a logical solution in the wake of the CNE crash, but it is also one, that, in the context of our substance as a people, would be wrong. For the Snowbirds do not exist only for entertainment purposes. They represent much more than that.

The Snowbirds have become a vision of pride in a country whose people are seeking symbols to reflect its national soul. The team is a tangible piece of the Canadian ability to excel at an activity few others in the world can duplicate. The young men who fly these machines are skilled ambassadors in places where people may wonder who Canadians are, what they think and what they believe. What better example of the Canadian ability to learn, execute and excel than the Snowbirds? What more dramatic way of demonstrating the breadth and beauty of Canada than the sweeping maneuvers of this remarkable team?

But apart from their role as representatives of this country, the team is an important "up front" public relations tool for the Canadian Armed Forces. At a time when the government is closing bases and cancelling material purchases, the military needs all the recruiting support it can get.

Their safety record is equally telling of their abilities. The team has flown 980 shows before 60 million people and has had three airshow accidents and two pilot deaths in their history. It's a safety record second to none.

Excellence, and the opportunity to display that excellence, is the essence of the Snowbirds. It would be an insult to the memory and family of Captain Shane Antaya, the pilot killed, if the tradition and the symbolism of that excellence were allowed to be snuffed out and forever grounded.

Education: Is back-to-basics the best option for the future?

After Thoughts
Joe Banks

With the commencement of another school year, the Prime Minister's comments last week on the inadequacies of our educational system were especially provocative. His harsh message was daunting; too many functionally illiterate students are graduating from high schools and universities, and Canadian students have not kept pace with the rest of the industrialized world (even some third-world countries) in the big-stakes competition for knowledge.

It was a frank message, but it needed delivering. As a nation, Canada is failing to graduate the kind and numbers of students it needs to compete in the global economy. Worst of all, parents aren't and haven't noticed this slippage and have slowly lost faith in their school boards to correct it. The trustees themselves are faced with curtailed commitments from provincial governments for education dollars.

So what can we expect from today's toddlers in the future?

That question was partially answered for me last Friday. I and about a half-dozen other newspaper publishers met with Ontario's new Minister of Education, Sean Conway in Eganville, Ontario. Probably the brightest light in the Peterson government cabinet, the minister is a highly approachable and affable chap, not the kind of stuffy, self-important politican you'd normally expect.

The meeting was convened to discuss the establishment of effective liaison between the provincial government and the Ontario Community Newspapers Association. Sean Conway agreed to be that bridge for the present and spoke at length during the two-hour meeting about the importance of that relationship. But, without prompting, he also addressed Ontario's educational system and cited some numbers which showed the province no longer possesses the smartest students in Canada. Ontario's performance at national math and science tests have showed we have been bested by other provinces which have not shown the monetary commitment our governments have over the decades.

While we weren't taking notes on the minister's points, it was easy to see he had a firm grasp of the deeply challenging problems that lay ahead. I'm sure Joe Gunn or Ron Eamer would have had sufficient cause to disagree with the minister had they been present; lessened provincial grants to education has resulted in major tax increases to their ratepayers. However, Mr. Conway hinted at improvements to come, both in terms of committment and renewal.

Discussion centering around education didn't progress much further than that, since it was a rather informal meeting held to discuss the liaison. But I sensed the minister's own concern about a system which consisted of, upon his own graduation, "the three Rs." Obviously, Readin' 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic stood him in good stead for what was to come in his career.

And, I can't help but feel that more money, bigger schools and higher-paid teachers will not solve our educational problems. The fact is, the best and brightest students have always risen to the top under any change in curriculum. It has been individual motivation — the desire to learn — which has separated the high achievers from the rest. Educators recognized that, and tried to make school "more interesting" for students. Today, it's arguable whether that approach has had the desired effect.

Maybe a return to the basics isn't the best solution to right the listing education ship in Ontario. But given the fact that education by trial and error hasn't satisfied our needs, it may be the only choice left.

War games may not be a healthy solution to stress

To the editor:

While I sympathize with your need to release some of your feelings of aggression, I do not believe the playing of war games is a healthy solution as you stated in your editorial comments of Wednesday, August 30, 1989. If you research the nature of games and how they affect people I think you would agree with me.

When we play or play act (like in playing war, cowboys and Indians, or hide and go seek) we are shaping ourselves at deep unconscious levels. Our imitating in games is actually an acting out of the way we believe life ought to be. The more we play a game the more we re-enforce the values and the nature of the game. When we have played the game often enough, intuitively, the values of the game which we play begins to manifest in our daily lives.

This is why our children often grow up with an obvious prejudice against native North Americans (cowboys and Indians). It is why they grow up to believe "might is right" — the non-sequiter belief that the team that wins the war is morally in the right (war games such as Combat). In his book The Ultimate Athlete, George Leonard wrote: Games "represent a key joint in society. How we play the game may turn out to be more important than we imagine, for it signifies nothing less than our way of being in the world."

In your article you stated that at the end of your day of play acting shooting and killing you were exhausted. You felt this was because your aggressive feelings had been erased or at least temporarily relieved. Many human behavioralists and psychologists might say that your exhaustion was due not to released aggression but to the intense stress you experienced while you played war games for the day (can you imagine what type of stress the real thing inflicts?). As humans we have the capacity to create games which actually exercise our aggressive nature and release the stress we aquire in our day to day living. Rather than devise games which imitate and foster the conflicts of war and the aggressive nature of killing we should be inventing new games which foster and imitate our creative nature. Or in the words of George Leonard: "the time has come to move on, to create new games with new rules more in tune with the times, games in which there are no spectators and no second string players, games for the whole family, games in which aggression fades into laughter."

If you had taken the time to speak to any of our surviving Canadian war veterans on the subject of war, they would have been eager to tell you that "war is no game!"

Tribute to inductee

In the Glens
Angus H. McDonell

It has been this writer's obligation for the past 10 years to research especially the records of the older founders of the Glengarry Highland Games and athletes who have been selected to be enshrined each year and submit to The Glengarry News a resume of their achievements.

In the case of the late Clarence MacGregor, Maxville, and with Mrs. MacGregor's permission, we reprint the moving tribute by emcee Frank Ryan, CFRA at the opening of the 1964 Glengarry Highland Games.

Occasionally a note of sadness creeps into gay and happy events even such as this.

But, many of us feel a sense of loss that one who made such a great and unselfish contribution, not only to all the Highland Games here — but to this whole community — is not with us today.

Maxville lost one of its finest citizens last December. The Glengarry Highland Games lost one of its ablest and most conscientious workers, with the passing of Clarence L. MacGregor.

Many have been the tributes paid to the smooth functioning of the Highland dancing at these, now internationally famous, Highland Games.

Past president of the Highland Games committee, perennial chairman of the Highland dancing committee, Clarence MacGregor contributed much to the continuing success of this annual event. The other members of the committee are the first to say that the success of the Highland dances here were due to the organizing efficiency, the attention to the most minute detail by this kindly and always smiling man.

Year by year, the number of dancers has increased. Year by year, Clarence MacGregor polished and improved his system so that the increasing numbers were handled in the same length of time. Performers and spectators alike enjoyed this glamorous event, thanks to the efficient direction of the performers by Clarence MacGregor.

So, today, where so many of his relatives, friends and acquaintances are assembled — we pause for one brief moment to pay a just and fitting tribute to this man. We rise now, and break the rhythm of the gay dances, the stirring music of the pipes — in silent tribute to a great citizen — a good neighbor — a friend to all of us — Clarence L. MacGregor.

(One minute's silent tribute)

In fitting tribute to this true Scotsman, members of the Glengarry Highlanders shall play a lament to his passing.

(The lament)

Clarence MacGregor was not the kind of man who would want to bring sorrow or sadness to anyone, even in death. His greatest thrill at these Highland Games was when his beloved dancers assembled on this platform in mass formation and danced the Highland Fing . . .

And so, in a final farewell to Clarence L. MacGregor, a man who has contributed so much to the success of these Games, we call on all the dancers on this stage to dance as they have never danced before — to the memory of their long-time chairman — Clarence L. MacGregor.

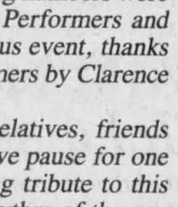
PEN THOUGHTS
Michael O'Dwyer



Canadians watch in horror and outrage as South Africans are ruthlessly denied their rights. How privileged we are to be living in Canada where everybody is considered equal and nobody is denied services, representation or their freedom. When compared with the atrocities in other countries, the Canadian society seems to be a brilliant star in the north, representing what others can become if they see the light.

Or are we?

A fast growing organization called A.P.E.C. (Association for the Preservation of English in Canada) is fighting hard to ensure that anglophone Canadians are not pressured out of the work force because they are unable to speak one minority language or another — could they be talking about French?

It all sounds honorable enough until you stop and realize that the English language is in no more danger of extinction or compromise than is Chinese. English is the international language, and most other Western industrial nations are snapping up our words as fast as we can create them.

So why all the fuss and bother trying to protect an obviously flourishing language? Maybe the answer lies south of the border with an organization called U.S. English.

These protectors of language and the American Way concentrate their attack on the Spanish threat. As ammunition for their fight for the honest and English United States, U.S. English is learning from the 'Canadian Experience'.

The fact that they don't know what the 'Canadian Experience' is doesn't seem to make much of a difference. People will believe everything they hear as long as it supports their fears. After all, what are these groups but increasingly powerful coalitions of racists hiding behind a sanctimonious shroud of justice and innocence.

They may even be the first to scream foul when our linguistic minority pulls the same kind of racist stunt in 'protecting its language.'

Everybody seems to forget that one of the prerequisites in a society where we all have rights is that we recognize and respect each other. Sometimes this involves compromise. I believe this is the position the Canadian government takes in its policy of bilingual services. This is a necessary step in recognizing the rights of all Canadians. This is called progress, and

Feelings of pride at Sports Hall of Fame dinner

To the editor:

A couple of weeks ago The News announced that The Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame had received a grant of $203,000 toward the construction of the building which will house portraits by artist Doug Fales, and the many mementos and sporting articles which will preserve our sports heritage. Both the Ontario government and the directors of the Hall of Fame are to be congratulated and we wish them well.

I am a Williamstowner of many years, born before the end of the last century. I was raised in a very sport-sminded family with father and brothers who were very competitive. I grew up with many of past inductees as a school friend and neighbor — a fine group of sportsmen.

Among them, the Cattanachs, Sullivans, Tupper McDonald, Johnson Raymond, Tab Larocque, and of course the well-loved high school principal, Wellie Barrett. These men, along with my father, J. K. MacDonald, have been inducted over the past 10 years, and it has always been a great thrill to attend the annual induction dinners and sense the feelings of pride shown by the families and friends of those honored.

Last year, the directors invited a number of young Glengarry athletes as guests to the annual induction. They were from all corners of our county; boys and girls in their teens and early twenties, who had established reputations as clean all around athletes in many sports.

I have been informed that this practice will be continued for future induction dinners. This is a splendid move and we older Glengarrians are certain the many sports programs such as soccer, hockey, softball, figure skating and the many other sports programs run by dedicated adults and coaches, are very beneficial in helping our young people enjoy a clean and healthy way of living. It will be of great help in their development into successful citizens.

Now the directors of the Hall of Fame will be faced with the task of raising a matching sum of $203,000 to construct the building. I'm sure that all Glengarrians and those with Glengarry roots will be generous in their support of this worthy project.

Yours truly,
Annette (Nettie) MacDonald

Disagrees with no-fault insurance stand

To the editor:

I read an editorial in the July 5 issue of The News that unfortunately I tend to disagree with.

The article was on nofault insurance. You were bemoaning the high cost of facility insurance and how hard it is for some people to afford. No-fault insurance, of course, would result in major reductions to these people you mentioned.

Instead of 150 insurance companies pooling their resources to cushion the millions of dollars this particular type of driver tends to generate in damage settlements, why not have the more responsible driver dig deeper into his pockets to help out?

I think it's time to examine who really has to look for facility insurance. These are drivers who have consistently broken the law with drunk driving, motor manslaughter, excessive driving infractions, or who have been in so many accidents that, as a result, in general, do not make good insurance risks. Their own insurance companies refuse to reinsure them and nobody else will.

The law may have given them their licenses back, but is this really the driver you want coming towards you at 130 km/h with a blood alcohol content well over the legal limit?

No-fault insurance will allow back on the road drivers who presently cannot afford this very costly insurance because of their driving habits unless you and I help pay their way.

I personally say NO. I believe other responsible drivers would prefer to not put them back in a position coming towards them also.

I am not involved with insurance sales and I believe there are always some who have learned their lessons. I also believe lessons don't come free.

I would be interested as I am sure many other readers are, as to your feelings on this type of driver.

Sincerely,
W. Fry,
Long Sault, Ont.

Torch run was very successful

To the editor:

As area co-ordinator for the 3rd annual Ontario Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics, and representing all runners who participated, I would like to thank all who have donated to make this event such a success.

It is a credit to the generosity of our community that donations have exceeded those of some other municipalities with a larger population.

I am sure that the handicapped who take part in the Olympics appreciate your support.

I also would like to thank The Glengarry News for coverage of the run.

Dislikes town

To the editor:

This letter is in regards to the dramatic changes I witnessed, while recently visiting Alexandria.

Being considered a city now, it's hard to believe that they wouldn't have stiffer fines for the people who have nothing better to do than use the Main Street as a drag strip.

Another thing that was atrocious was the continuous odor lingering over the city. You could almost swear you were visiting the farm.

The last thing that is hard to stomach is the number of people who litter. We had even witnessed the train conductor using the track as his disposal.

It is hard for the older people and people who have children to just take a walk. This kind of attitude will eventually force them to stay indoors. It will almost be criminal, if this will be the outcome of little historical communities.

Things like these eventually shape the little communities for the worse. If better care is not taken to preserve our heritage, what will be left for the future generations? Our history will be lost under a pile of rubble.

Sincerely,
Caroline Le Febvre,
Kinmount, Ont.

if some unfortunate folk are unable to get jobs because of progress, it wouldn't be the first time.

The brilliant star of the north is fast becoming nothing but a black hole, since the only difference between the aims of these language protection groups and that of the South African government is the style of racism they employ.

Canadians are renowned for being an easy-going friendly people, and yet this racism has raged on for the past 200 years when the French and English found themselves on the continent together.

The French and English can live together in harmony in this country. It's time to turn off the television and have a look at the racism thriving in our midst. We would make the supporters of apartheid proud because they use the same holier-than-thou drivel to quash the majority of people who are different. It's time for some constructive, healthy change to avoid the racism, not the small-minded insecure rhetoric of A.P.E.C. which only creates it.

About 35 members and guests of the horticultural society enjoyed a tour of local gardens last Wednesday.

The caravan of cars started at Mabel and Roger Guindon's, continued up to the Vander Wielen farm in Dyer, then to Oris and Bert Beaudette's attractive grounds, Hilda and Peter Alex MacLean's and Eileen and Basil Taits in the 5th Con. Roxborough. The Taits have done a great deal of work to their grounds, assisted by their twin sons.

The next stop was at Chris and Mollie Sporring's in Monkland. Their gardens are lovely, however they are not visible from the street.

Lunch was enjoyed at the home of president Tom and Marie Boyle, which is surrounded by rock gardens and much beauty.

The afternoon stops were at Lise and Bill Delhey's hobby farm, then at Grace and Gregor McEwen's country home south of Maxville, and finally at the home of Rosemary and Tom Nugent on the 6th Con. of Kenyon. An added feature there were the antiques, crafts and the interior decorating schemes of the couple who have been residents for only three years in their country home.

We are looking for contact persons of the following families: Murdoch MacLeod, 5th Con. Roxborough, William Morrison, Catherine St., Whissell, Mechanic St. W., Gordon Empey, Main St., Albert Bovin, Mechanic St. E. and Mr. Mann, poultry dealer.

With the fall season of activities starting, your correspondent will be pleased to include notices of meetings and other activities in this column. However, proprietors of businesses are asked to use the classified ad sectionof The News.

Organizations are also invited to appoint members to supply this correspondent with news of their activities. Better public relations may be achieved with a better knowledge of what is happening within our local groups.

Only one correspondent should be contacted for activities and the social news of Maxville.

A reader has supplied me with a clipping from the Vancouver Sun, dated Aug. 4, 1989, which features the Rev. Harry Lennox of that city. At the age of 91, Mr. Lennox is well and is enjoying life very much. He is the son of a Gordon Presbyterian Church minister, St. Elmo, and attended Maxville High School the year it opened in 1914.

Maxville United Church Sunday School

Registration for Maxville United Church School will be held on Sunday, Sept. 10 at 10:30 a.m. Light refreshments will be served. The curriculum is "The Whole People of God" with emphasis on active learning and an intergenerational focus: everyone is on the "same wave length" (at the appropriate faith level) whether three or 93 years of age. Charlie Churchmouse (he's a puppet!) is anxious to tell his nursery class what he's been up to all summer. All interested children from three until teens finishing Grade 13 are invited to join. For more information, please contact Di Jaggassar or Betty McIntosh at 527-5257.

Boy Scouts and Cubs

As another Scouting year is being planned, the following positions need filling: Chairperson to oversee the business, Secretary — to take minutes at meetings and keep up correspondence, cub master and assistant to work with boys 8-11, Scout Master and assistant to work with boys 12-14.

All above positions come with resource books, structured training, and hands on help from previous leaders and staff. To all parents and the community in general, if Scouting is to remain a vibrant organization offered to the boys in our area, we must all do our part. If you are interested or need more information, please contact Betty McIntosh at 527-5257 or Beth Williamson at the Maxville Public school for any volunteers. No boys will be registered until these positions are filled.

This organization will die without your support, and yet another activity now offered to the children of our community will no longer be available.

The Glengarry School of Piping and Drumming will begin lessons on Saturday, Sept. 23, 1989, at the Maxville Public School. Beginners in piping will be taught at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. All levels of piping and drumming will be taught in the afternoon. For further information, call Colin MacLellan at 527-3170. Watch for more information next week.

Young at Heart Euchre

With a larger number of players present, competition was keen at this regular euchre. Jean Chisholm, one of the local organizers, had top score for the ladies, followed by Queen Gladys Barton and Nina Ryan, Fournier.

Norman MacLeod of Dunvegan had the top score for the evening followed by Martin O'Brien of Monkland, and John Gregor MacMaster of Laggan.

Fern Brabant from Apple Hill won the door prize.

The O'Byrne brothers were lucky in the 50-50 draw with Herbie winning twice and Mac, once.

Mrs. Barton and Mr. McMaster were also draw winners. Other draw winners were: Edith Howes of Kirk Hill, Helen Jackson of Monkland, Cecile Currier, Eileen Campbell and Marge Howie, all from Moose Creek, and King Dan MacRae.

The next euchre will be held on Sept. 11.

HEALTHY LIVING

Think before you lift

If there's a box to be moved at work, you just move it. You seldom think about how to do it properly. Right?

If there's a piece of furniture to be moved at home, you just move it. You seldom wait until you can get help. Right?

It's this tendency to want to get the obstacle out of the way as quickly as possible, and the erroneous belief that you can manage anything you can lift, that causes most back injuries. Sprains and strains of the back are the third major cause of activity limitation, superseded only by heart conditions and arthritis/rheumatism conditions.

It is estimated that well over a million men, women and children suffer back injuries each year, mainly because they lift without thinking.

In addition to the agonizing pain that is experienced by the victims, it should be noted that temporary and permanent disablement from back injury accounts for millions of hours of lost time, millions of dollars in lost salaries, and tens of millions of dollars in lost production. A pitiful waste of energy and money!

Most disabling back injuries come from falls and careless lifting. They occur on the job, and at home as well. Thus it is important to protect your back by learning, observing, and teaching preventive habits.

Following are the Rules for Lifting as recommended by doctors of chiropractic, who are specialists in treating health problems related to the spine and nervous system.

— Size up the object to be lifted, decide how best to get a good grip on it.

— Plant your feet about 10-12 inches apart and solidly close to the object to be lifted. Squat down, keeping the spine straight.

— Lift up with the big muscles of your legs, thighs, arms and shoulders — NOT with the back. Keep the load close to your body.

— Use mechanical lifting devices for moving heavy objects. Get help for large, bulky, awkward, or extra heavy loads.

— Use rhythm, both alone and in a team effort. Let the load help lift itself.

— Be sure you can see where you're going.

— Keep floors clear of hazards which could cause you to trip or fall.

— Setting the load down is just the reverse of lifting. Keep the back straight, let the legs bend slowly, and set the load down easy.

Prevention is the best way to avoid a back injury.

Spinal problems must not be neglected as they can cause or contribute to disorders which appear at many other parts of the body.

These health views are published by members of the Ontario Chiropractic Association in the interest of better public health.

Maxville breeders are cat's meow

By Anne Kukhta
News reporter

Running through the house with a soppy mouth and sticky fur, Hollandia's Autumn Leaves tramples a kitten then inelegantly thumps down a hallway. A few minutes later, she comes sidling back, jumps onto a glass coffee table and leaps onto her owner's lap.

Autumn Leaves doesn't act like a cat for which a Parisian breeder offered $5,000. And Maxville's Grace and Peter Schoonrock don't treat her any differently from about 20 other long-haired Persians they breed — they treat her with the same loving consideration.

Autumn Leaves — informally called Button by her owners — is tied for the title of best cat in Canada.

And she's the ticket to international success for Holandia breeders, a young company with only about four years under it's belt.

"We have the biggest breeders in the U.S. asking us for kittens. All because of Buttons," Mrs. Schoonrock boasts.

The company consists of the Schoonrocks, a homey farmhouse, a couple of pens in the basement for nursing queens and breeding toms, and a lot of love.

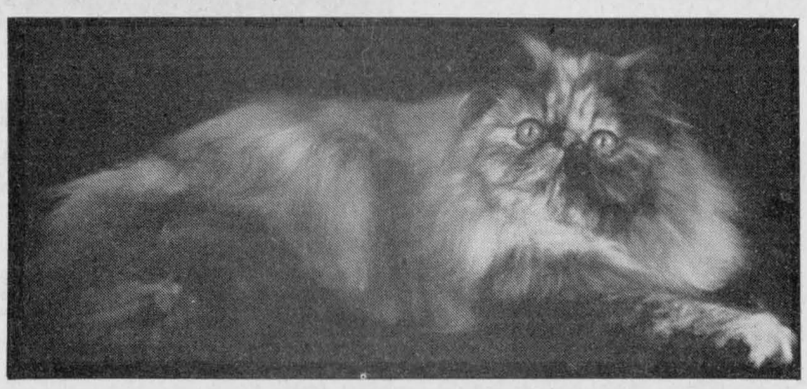
Love is the key to the Schoonrock's success — although they admit luck lends a helping hand.

Rather than assembly-line breeding, Hollandia breeders treat their cats like extensions of the family, giving them free reign of the house — as battle-scarred couches testify. Some of the cats even snuggle in bed with the couple.

The Schoonrocks also recognize each cat, and kitten, by sight as well as meow. They give each an informal, everyday name, such as Squish, to an aggressively playful pet blue Persian with crooked teeth and nose.

The Schoonrocks breed cats for three purposes. Inferior ones are sold as pets while superior models, like Button, are shown. Other cats that have superior genes yet suffer some small irregularity, like Squish, are bred, as are superior cats that are pulled from the show circuit to produce good- quality kittens.

But even these cats are guaranteed a happy retirement once they either can't produce kittens or become anti-social in the breeding environment. They are given away, as will even Buttons, despite her extraordinary value.



Hollandia's Autumn Leaves, tied for top Canadian cat.

"We've had to give up some cats that I've cried over," Grace Schoonrock says. "(But) we like to see they're happy because they've given us a lot."

The Schoonrock's choose retirement homes carefully. They insist upon both plenty of room for the cats, and new owners who couldn't afford to buy a Persian. Often they are older people.

"That is what we like: make somebody happy who can't afford to go out and buy," Mrs. Schoonrock says.

Peter adds, "We want some people who really want some company — beautiful company."

It was this desire for company that led the Schoonrocks to the cat breeding business.

They were living in Ottawa, had just moved to an apartment and were forced to give away their noisy pet bird. Lonely, Grace asked for a quieter pet and Peter acquiesced in the form of Topsey, a pet-quality blue Persian.

Owning a Persian got them interested in attending cat shows as spectators until one day they found themselves buying a $1,500 orange male Persian.

And when Prince Maurits placed second best kitten in his first show, "that stuck us," Mrs. Schoonrock says. He went on to become the eighth-best cat in Canada in 1987-88 and is now one of the two males the Schoonrock's breed. He is also Button's father.

And now, after only four years of building the foundation of their business, the Schoonrock's are on solid ground.

"We've been producing quality which no one else has in Canada," Mr. Schoonrock says.

"And not so fast," Mrs. Schoonrock adds.

The Schoonrocks have chosen to breed cats with only amber eyes; about 90 per cent of blue-eyed cats are deaf. However, coat colors vary.

As Mrs. Schoonrock says: "There's a saying in this business. You build your house first, then you paint it. You don't go for color."

Some of the cats are red, others white, and still others are blue cream. Finally, there are cats like Button's mother Freule Lerena Rudolf who is tortoiseshell, a predominently black cat with rust and white highlights.

And then there's Button. She's what's known as a Hot Torty; she is the reverse of tortoiseshell, with red predominent.

This is one strike against her and is complicating her progress on the U.S. show circut. By show standards, Hot Torty counts as a mistake.

"But she's the top of her class," Mrs. Schoonrock says proudly.

And knowing they have an exceptional cat pushes the Schoonrocks.

"It's very addictive especially when you have a good cat and you start winning," Mrs. Schoonrock says. "You want more, and more, and more, and more."

"It's like smoking," Peter agrees. "It's like drinking. You get addicted to it. We don't take holidays. We quit smoking for them. We don't go out. We do everything for the cats."

They even moved from Ottawa over a year ago to rural Maxville so the cats could be raised in quieter surroundings.

And they gave away about 200 exotic birds they housed in a trailor outside their house, discovering that they hadn't enough time to devote to both birds and cats.

But this devotion is manditory, the Schoonrocks say.

"We bred them. It wasn't their own choice, so it's our responsibili-

Iona enters a new age of teaching

By Anne Kukhta
News* reporter

Students at Iona Academy will be able to work harder, faster and better in school, and all the credit goes to 16 innocuous boxes that beep, animate elephants, and monitor learning.

"It's a little bit of heaven right here at Iona," resource teacher Mary McKenzie said of the latest technology to captivate an entire school.

A new system was introduced to Iona during the last three months of the last school year. Children thrived on it, and teachers are looking forward to the same enthusiasm this year.

IBM loaned Iona Academy a $106,000 computer system for three months, free of charge. All Iona had to do was guarantee it would be given the full treatment from children, proving that the pilot system was durable and ready to market.

And now, the SD&G Board of Education bought the system for half price. The majority of this cost, according to Bert Bougie, the audio visual consultant from the board, will come from an incentive grant from the Ministry of Education.

During the trial period, students fulfilled their end of the bargain. The work stations were constantly girdled by a group of students, often doubled up on terminals. With fingers flying and intense looks of concentration, they accessed games, bidding elephants to climb flag poles or cars to circle race tracks.

But, as Principal Ron McAllister said, "It's not just play time."

The games are operated by spelling and typing tests with the students' answers to each question determining the animated action.

These games are part of a 10-finger typing program (one of many educational programs available). Each student uses this program and the computer automatically keeps track of the students' progress: The rate at which they're learning and how much time they're spending on the lessons. Teachers can access these individual records at any time.

> "It's a little bit of heaven right here at Iona."
> — teacher Mary McKenzie

This computer system can also be used by the teacher as a chalkboard, taking lessons off the wall and putting them in front of students. A teacher can transmit items from his screen to all the other screens — and lock the students' keyboards so he has their full attention — or he can pull items from one of the students' screens and send this to all the other terminals.

With this same screen control, a teacher can monitor a student's work by peeking into his screen while he is working. This saves the teacher obvious trips around the classroom to each desk.

"Computers — micros — in the school will never obviously replace teachers," Ottawa IBM's marketing representative Paul Walsh said. "But it enhances the teacher's role. People will say teachers can teach effectively with or without a computer ... but computers can make the job easier."

Teacher's aide Trudy Lapointe testified to this. She used the system to teach nine-year-old Jean Levac. Jean has Down's Syndrome, a disease that slows his reactions.

"I'm not saying it takes over for a person (teacher), but with animation, it makes him more comfortable," she said. "It seems that when he's on a computer, he expands more whenever he's discussing things."

For example, she said, when he played one of the educational games and saw an elephant climping up a flag pole, he said "Elephant walks," instead of just "Elephant," as he would normally.

Like the other students Jean used the typing program. Miss Lapointe said that while he only used two fingers, Jean learned to use his left index finger for the left side of the keyboard and his right index for the other side.

"The teacher's love it (the system), too," she added. "It's a great motivator for the kids. If they want computer time, they know they've got to behave."

The students even willingly sacrificed their lunch hours and recesses for a turn on the computers, resource teacher Mrs. Mackenzie said. She spent the whole day in the school's resource centre, where the computers have been installed.

"I think they feel they're working in today's world," she explained the attraction.

Monique Menard teaches Grades 6, 7 and 8. She said she liked the way the program unites the students and teachers, regardless of grade.

She said: "It's like a project we share throughout the school. We can share ideas and we can work at it. It's not everything that you can share from kindergarten to Grade 8."

Iona is considering extending the sharing to other schools. It has already contacted Alexander separate and St. Joseph's schools offering them use of the facilities this September.

Also for September, the board is trying to organize night computer courses open to the community.

"We'd like to extend to the community to include the parents of these children and the community at large," Mr. Bougie said. "If you can get the parents in here and make them comfortable with it, they will be more comfortable when their children come home and are talking about it (computers)."

Tech deparment gets grant

Through the Industrial Training Council of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry the Technology Department of St. Lawrence has received $25,000 in new electronics assembly equipment. The new computer electronics equipment will augment existing equipment in the college's electronics laboratory.

At a special ceremony on Friday, September 8 at 11 a.m., Dean of Technology Wes Libbey and representatives of the Industrial Training Council plus municipal, provincial and federal officials, will open the newly outfitted electronics assembly laboratory.

"We have, in Cornwall, world-class electronics industry that needs people who have basic training in electronics assembly," says Wes Libbey. "St. Lawrence, now with the new computer electronics equipment, can provide that training."

Libbey says that the Industrial Council was instrumental in getting the necessary funding for purchase of the electronics equipment.

Hollandia breeders are the cat's meow

ty," Mrs. Schoonrock explains.

But with every responsibility comes a triumph, and the Schoonrocks now have two: Button, and a cotton-ball kitten.

Mrs. Schoonrock, cuddling the tiny white Persian against her face, says: "This is our precious little one. This is our next show cat."

"That kitten is going to take us places," Peter predicts. "She's going to take up where Button left off."

Unfortunately, Hollandia's Morning Star is the last champion the Schoonrock's will get from the kitten's mother. She was spayed after her last litter when one of the kittens was caught in her birth canal. The Schoonrocks wanted to save her from suffering during further births.

Then, like all other Schoonrock retirees, she was given away.

This selfless caring epitomizes the Schoonrocks. They're compassionate breeders who love cats and refuse to lose sight of the individuals who make their business a success.

NOTE

The Schoonrocks are currently trying to place an affectionate blue cream female. Now spayed, she was used for breeding but is tired of being around kittens. Any potentially good owners are asked to call 527-2228.

50th anniversary

The family of Blanche and Rheal Goulet of Alexandria held a family reunion July 22 to celebrate the couple's 50th anniversary. They were married August 24, 1939. Attending the reunion were their nine children: Marcel, Jean-Guy, George, Denise, Andre, Elise, Helene, Yvon and Gilles.

Area entertainers will perform at Disneyworld

The MacCulloch Dancers are going places — literally.

The local troupe of highland and step dancers are currently making plans and raising the funds for an eight-day get-away to Florida

Forty dancers, two pipers from the Glengarry Pipe Band, the Brigadoons, and a number of chaperones, instructors and other support staff will make the trek to Disneyworld in Orlando to show off the dances of Scotland and Canada.

Talent scouts invited the dancers to perform after having seen the troupe in Cornwall during the past two years. The scouts were observing prospective rising stars at the Worldfest celebrations in Cornwall.

Rae MacCulloch, head instructor of the MacCulloch School of Dancing, said that the people from Disney were impressed, and the invitation was extended this summer.

The local organization will have to raise the funds to fly the performers down to the States, but Disneyworld will foot the bill for their accommodations and meals.

Anticipation among the dancers and other crew heading down south is building, she observed. "They're certainly looking forward to it."

The trip to Florida will mark another long-distance exchange for the MacCulloch Dancers. This year a contingent similar to the one which will be going to Disneyworld travelled to Tennessee, where they enjoyed a smashing success, said Mrs. MacCulloch.

In 1991 there are prospects of a voyage to West Germany and the year after that, to the centenary celebrations of the British Association of Teachers of Dancing in Scotland.

She said that she would like to see her dancers go on one major trip each year, and that while such exchanges are important, success on your own turf is a vital step.

"You have to be successful at home before you go on internationally," she commented.

In the midst of celebrating her 35th year of teaching dancing in the area, Mrs. MacCulloch said that she's looking forward to seeing many more years of successful steps for her dancers. "I think we're doing okay!"

Funding provided for vaccine

Everyone considered at high risk for influenza complications is eligible to receive free vaccine this fall.

The eastern counties branch of the Lung Association has reported that the Ontario Ministry of Health has expanded its coverage of people eligible to receive free vaccinations.

Previous to this year, only those considered at high risk in the 65 years and older group and those enrolled under the Ontario Drug Benefit Program received the free injections.

However, this year, everyone — regardless of age — who is considered easily susceptible to the flu will have access to the preventive medicine at no charge.

The Lung Association stated that it is pleased with the expansion of the service, and that its goal now is to make sure eligible people take advantage of it.

"We want people to be aware that funding has been provided," said Marg Alexander of the association's regional office, which covers the counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell.

Although the flu virus doesn't reach epidemic proportions in the area, Ms. Alexander did say that it is important that those considered at high risk of contacting the virus should receive immunization soon.

Another Labor Day weekend has passed, and I do hope it was just a super one for all of you, even though there was a definite hint of fall in the air, and the foliage has a distinct tendency to change colors.

During the week we had a minor convention of robins on our back lawn. I think they were checking out their flight plans. They weren't a very talkative group, but when the meeting broke up, I understood that the concensus was to stay for a while longer. (I hope.)

Another sign of fall is the fact that our resident chipmunk is busily stowing away all the maple seeds he can hold. Perhaps he's expecting a tough winter?

On to news of a human nature. Forgive the pun. There was a big family reunion on Monday, Labor Day. It was held at George and Winnie Williams home in Glen Nevis, (the old school house next to Maryvale Abbey, now the Davidson-Moore Residence).

Family members came from Brockville and Montreal, and all had a wonderful time, as George and Winnie are such gracious hosts. Do it again next year folks!

Winnie told me that hopefully George's cast will come off early in the week. Hope you'll feel fine again George.

Local Adelines singer is looking for crooners

Do you find yourself humming themes from Broadway musicals? Are you asked to sing at every family gathering? Do you yearn to be robed in sequins and satin and singing in front of an audience?

If the answers to these questions are yes and you're an enthusiastic female over 18 years of age, the West Island Chapter of the Sweet Adelines could have a spot in their chorus with your name on it.

About 80 crooners belong to this non-profit organization, all dedicated to the enjoyment and preservation of Barbershop harmony. They join other chapters of the Sweet Adelines across North America in performing shows and charity performances.

And they are looking for new members to join the ranks of English and French singers from Quebec, New York State and parts of Ontario, including Charlottenburgh Township, which is the home of Adelines singer Joanna Svendsen.

The Sweet Adelines will be holding a membership drive on Sept. 12. For more information, contact Mrs. Svendsen at 347-3924.

Sweet Adelines was formed in 1947 in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Since then, it has grown to encompass 26 North American regions as well as a worldwide region.

The West Island Chapter has performed its four-part Barbershop harmony in a variety of establishments and for a variety of audiences, including for the Prime Minister at the Conservative Delegates' Convention at the Palais des Congres in Montreal.

It has been asked to perform at Carnegie Hall next June, but had to decline because of having to raise funds for a trip to Utah in October, 1990.

The group is going to Utah to participate in an international competition among the different chapters of the Sweet Adelines. It will be representing its region, having recently placed first against 20 United States's choruses.

Crowds, catches up at annual tourney

Everything, it seems, was up at the 1989 South Lancaster Fish and Game Club Walleye Championships held over the weekend.

The crowds for the ninth annual event were up from last year; organizers estimate between 1,000 and 1,200 people were on hand over the two days.

There were 228 teams entered in the competition, up from 187 a year ago.

And there were 66 walleye caught Saturday and 45 reeled in Sunday, an eight per cent increase from a year ago. Never mind that walleye are known to bite with greater frequency when the conditions are cloudy.

"We had two gorgeous days and that was a factor in attracting the large number of crowds and entries," said club spokesman Armand Chenier. "And the fish were really biting. Walleye are usually caught in cloudy conditions but they were sure biting this weekend."

The largest walleye caught was a 5.14 kg (11 pounds, five ounces) specimen reeled in by Richard Bourget of Cornwall. Bourget received fishing-related gifts — items such as a tackle box, fishing rod and depth sounder - worth over $1,000.

Linda Andre of Lancaster was second with a 4.77 kg (10 pounds, eight ounces) catch. Albert Lefebvre of Cornwall took third place with a 4.315 kg (nine pounds, eight ounces) grab.

Twilight final set

Gerry Deguire Plumbing will meet Alexandria Moulding in the Glengarry Golf and Country Club's Men's Twilight League playoff final tonight (Wednesday).

Plumbing wrapped up the Glen Division pennant in the final week of regular season play last Wednesday, recording three points for a season total of 37.5. They fired a collective -69. Titley Chev-Olds was second (35.5 points, -38), Roy's Pontiac Buick was third (33.5 points, -69), and Guindon Tires was fourth (33.5 points, -49).

Alexandria Moulding had clinched the Garry Division title a week ago. They wound up with 40.5 points and at -88. Atlantic Hotel was second (34.5 points, -71), Champions Roadhouse placed third (33 points, -32) and Dick's Paving Stone was fourth (32 points, -43).

The most valuable player award goes to Lucien Bellefeuille of Roy's Garage, who finished at 20 under.

The year-end banquet and dance will be held at the clubhouse Saturday, Sept. 23.

Local lifters capture first

The Beasts from the East continue to rule the home front.

For the second straight year, host Pattyn's Gym Powerlifting Club won the Eastern Ontario Open, the 4th annual held Saturday at Glengarry District High School.

The three-man team — comprised of John Baxter, Rodger Chapman and Vince Collard — captured the top team trophy recording a total of 33 points. The University of Toronto Powerlifting Club took second with 27 points while the Super Coq Team from Magog, Que., was third with 24 points.

A total of 21 lifters from Magog to St. Catherines took part in the competition, with seven weight classes contested.

"We're very happy with the results," said team coach Luc Leblanc. "Usually we have a team of at least six lifters so to win the team trophy with just three is quite impressive."

Leblanc says the self-nicknamed Beasts will field a full team for the club's next meet, the Cambridge Intermediate Open on October 7. "A lot of guys don't train during the summer but we will have more lifters gearing up for Cambridge," Leblanc said.

Two of the Pattyn's lifters captured first-place in their weight class. Rodger Chapman of Greenfield lifted a combined three-event total of 640 kilos to win the 125 kg (275 lbs.) class. Chapman recorded a 240 kg squat, a 150 kg bench press and deadlifted 250 kg. Richard Appleton of Owen Sound was second with 530 kg.

Competing in his first contest, novice lifter Vince Collard of Alexandria won the 100 kg (220 lbs.) division with a 562.5 kg total. Collard's bench press and deadlift were particularly impressive, recording lifts of 130 kg and 230 kg respectively. Collard squatted 202.5 kg. Ken Smalko of Thorold, Ont. was second, with a 552.5 kg three-event total.

Blind lifter John Baxter of Maxville, competing in the 125 kg and over (275 lbs.) category placed a close second behind Brian Duguay of St. Catherines. Duguay won the class with a 692.5 kg total. Baxter totalled 675 kg (275 kg squat, 140 kg benchpress, 260 kg deadlift).

In the lightest class, the 67.5 kg division, Tom Marlow of Oshawa took home top honors with a 425 kg total. Stephen Williams of Kanata was second with 375 kg.

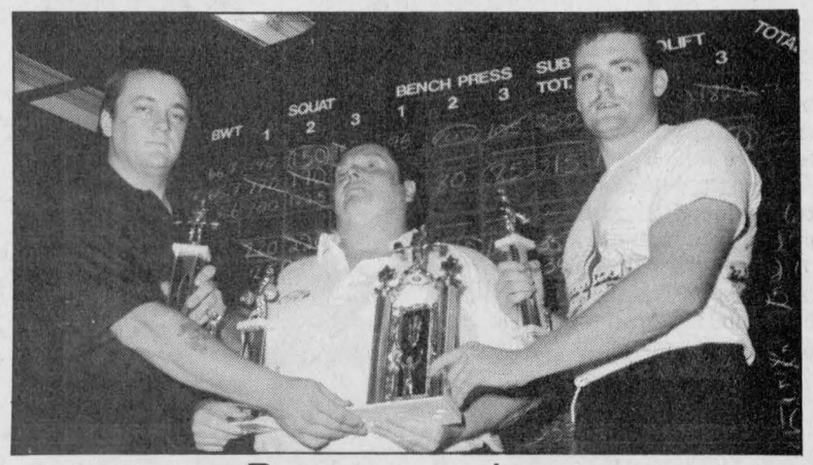
The 75 kg class was won by Jeff Becker of Kitchener who didn't miss a lift going nine for nine (each lifter gets three chances in each event) and totalling 635 kg. His total was a "Master" total, one step below the top "Elite" level. Second place went to 37 year-old Charlie Archdekin of Wasaga Beach (612.5 kg). Veteran lifter Wilbur Harding of Toronto was third at 587.5 kg.

Daniel Belanger of Magog won the 82.5 kg class with a 612.5 kg total.

Trevor Cottrell of Waterloo was second (572.5 kg) and Andrew Skinner of Curran was third (487.5 kg).

Alain Criche, also of Magog, won the 90 kg class with a 677.5 kg total.

Jay Gemmell of St. Catherines was second (587.5 kg).



Beasts are best

Pattyn's Gym won the top team trophy at the 4th annual Eastern Ontario Open Powerlifting Contest Saturday in Alexandria. Team members are, from the left, Rodger Chapman (first place in 125 kilo class), John Baxter (second place in 125 kilos and over class) and Vince Collard (first place in the 100 kilo division).

Sandilands longstanding contributor

By Angus H. McDonell

The Sandilands name has a longstanding history as a contributor to Williamstown and Charlottenburgh agriculture, teaching, and sport history. Among the family members who have been prominent in recording those chapters of Glengarry heritage is John William Sandilands, born December 7, 1921, at the Sandilands pioneer homestead on the Third Concession of Charlottenburgh.

John Sandilands lives with his wife, the former Connie Snider, East Front of Lancaster. He will be enshrined in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame on Sept. 13 in Maxville.

After graduating from public school, S.S. 14, Charlottenburgh, John Sandilands attended the village high school where, in addition to matriculation studies, he was taught the basic fundamentals of hockey, football, basketball and track and field. His tutor was Glengarry Hall of Fame member "Wellie" Barrett, who was for many years, the principal of that historic seat of learning, Williamstown High School.

John Sandilands

John William Sandilands embarked on a teaching career following his graduation from Ottawa's Normal School. Like many of his pioneer predecessors, his first teaching assignment was in a concession public school. This was in Lochiel and it was logical that he would join the football (now soccer) team that played their home games on the Father Gauthier field beside St. Alexander's church just a jog west of Quigley's. He next taught and played football closer to home at Glen Gordon. John recalls that Glen Gordon was eliminated that year by Greenfield in the Glengarry finals.

From Glen Gordon, John Sandilands spent four and a half years in the RCAF and RAF air crew, taught two years in Lancaster, seven terms in Simcoe, two in Malartic and, in the role of principal, 26 years at the combined high school, St. Hubert, Que.

During all those years, John Sandilands was active in the realm of sport. He excelled in curling where he was highly rated among the masters of the "stane and the broom" in the dual role of skip and as an executive member.

Apart from curling in all branch events for the St. Hubert curling club, John Sandilands was a member of the Canada vs U.S. team five times in the Gordons International bonspiels. However, among his cherished curling memoirs is twice winning the prestigious Edinburgh Trophy and the Tri Service competition three times.

In mixed curling, John Sandilands played and won in area bonspiels at Loraine, St. Sauveur (twice), St. John, Belaire, Otterburn, St. Hubert (twice), Longue Pointe, St. Lambert, St. Bruno, Lancaster and South Shore.

Among the many other bonspiels, John Sandilands vividly recalls the Annual banquet caps soccer league's 65th year

The Glengarry Soccer League executive decided to try something new this year, and hold their year-end awards banquet a month earlier than usual.

And a good thing, too. Whereas in the past a crucial playoff game may have been contested in quagmire-like conditions, awards were being doled out Friday night in the cosy confines of the Bonnie Glen as a driving rain pelted down outside.

An estimated gathering of over 350 people was on hand as the banquet marked the end of the league's 65th year in operation.

"Reaction has been positive to ending the season and holding the banquet earlier," said outgoing league chairman Ernie MacMillan. "In the past, many of the players, particularly in the senior divisions, would be at college or university and miss the latter part of the playoffs and the banquet. This year people are going back to school and it's all over."

Trophy winners in the various divisions are as follows:

Senior men

Barry MacSweyn — who led Pine Grove to a third-place finish in regular season play — was named best coach in the division. Pine Grove players receiving silverware are Glen Hay (most gentlemanly player), Scott Graham (top rookie), and Darrel Hay (top scorer and best forward). Pine Grove was also presented with the Greenspon Challenge Trophy for defeating Greenfield in the midseason tourney final in July.

The Playoff Championship Trophy went to Alexandria Drillers, who defeated Stars three games to none in the recently-completed final series. Allan Barton (playoff MVP) was Drillers only individual award winner. Drillers also copped the top scoring team trophy.

Glen Nevis received the Gerald MacDonald Memorial Trophy for winning the annual spring tournament as well as regular season first-place silverware. Glen Nevis back Sheldon McDougall was selected regular season MVP and best back in the league.

Best goaler was Pierre Roman of the Stars, while Greenfield player/coach Frank Morris won the Louis Shepherd Award for outstanding sports advancement.

Senior ladies

The team Morris co-coached in the senior ladies division — Dunvegan — was presented with the playoff championship trophy and the Ronald MacLachlan Challenge Trophy for winning the mid-season tourney.

Three Dunvegan players received individual awards. Betti MacLeod was named best goaler, Lori MacMaster was regular season MVP and Bridget Kippen was playoff MVP.

Laggan was the first-place team during the regular season as well as the top scoring club in the loop. Laggan individual trophy recipients are Bonnie MacLeod (best forward and top scorer) and Anne McMillan (best back).

Allana Dapratto of Alexandria A was selected most gentlemanly player in the division. Playoff finalists Greenfield won the Gerald MacDonald Memorial Tournament in the spring.

Bantams

Laggan appeared down and out but came back to beat Char-Lan in the divsion playoff final, and were rewarded with the championship trophy. The team was coached by Robert Kemp.

Char-Lan — coached by Oliver Blacker — finished in first place during the regular season. David Filion and Gerry Simpson coached Alexandria to the Gerald MacDonald tournament championship while the Bantam Youth Shield mid-season tourney was won by Laggan.

Individual award winners in the division are Norm Decoste (Alexandria, best goalie), Kalidas Cappuccino (Greenfield, MVP), Julien Boisvenue (Laggan, top scorer), Matthew Steiche (Alexandria, tied for most gentlemanly player) and Scott MacIntosh (Laggan, tied for most gentlemanly).

Intermediate girls

The three team trophies in the division were won by three different clubs. Greenfield (coached by Kathy Wensink) won the playoff championship, Laggan (coached by Mary MacLeod) took first place in the regular season and Alexandria B (coached by Jeff Lowe) was victorious at the spring Gerald MacDonald tourney.

Individual trophy recipients in the division are Sophie Seguin (Alexandria B, best goaler), Louise Villeneuve (Greenfield, MVP), Jenny Lowe (Alexandria A, most gentlemanly player) and Deanah Shelley (Laggan, top scorer).

Peewees

Peter Conway's Alexandria squad made it a clean sweep, winning all three team trophies (playoff and regular season champs, winners of Gerald MacDonald tourney).

They also claimed two individual awards. Eric Lavigne was best goaler and Jason Libbos was MVP.

Glen Sandfield's Sean McCormick was named most gentlemanly player and Brad Harkness of Laggan was top scorer.

Junior girls

Laggan junior girls, coached by Henrietta MacSweyn, won all three team trophies for regular season first place, playoff champions and spring tourney champs.

Laggan also won the lions share of individual awards. Tammy MacSweyn was top scorer and selected as

Soccer veteran receives dedication award

A 32-year veteran of the Glengarry soccer scene is this year's Gerald MacDonald Dedication Award recipient.

Gerry Simpson was presented with the award — for 25 years or more of outstanding dedication and promotion of the Glengarry Soccer League — at Friday's banquet.

"He's done everything," said league chairman Ernie MacMillan. "He's contributed in just about every way possible."

Simpson made his first contribution as a player, suiting up as a centre forward, right winger, and goaltender, for Glen Sandfield from 1957 until he was "over the hill"— his words — in 1963.

He then turned his attention to refereeing, from 1963 to 1968. Since then he's sat on the league's board of directors, has been an area representative and has helped draw up league schedules, among other duties.

This year Simpson was co-coach of the Alexandria bantams and the Alexandria Drillers, the senior men's division playoff championships.

But his proudest achievement was the instrumental role he played in getting minor soccer off the ground in 1958. "That's the biggest change I've seen in Glengarry soccer," says Simpson. "Back then it was mostly senior ball being played around here. But we were able to get the minors going and it's just grown ever since."

The Gerald MacDonald Dedication Award was donated by Duncan MacDonell. It was first presented — to Ronnie MacLachlan and Carman MacMillan — at last year's banquet.

This year's Louis Shepherd Award for Outstanding Sports Advancement was presented to Gwen Morris accepting for her son Frank Morris, who is playing professional hockey in Scotland.

Over the year Morris organized the league's all-star game against the Ottawa Intrepid reserve team, organized the Glengarry Soccer School, coached Dunvegan Senior Ladies to a playoff championship, and played goaltender for the Greenfield Senior Men's team.

With the league in need of a referree-in-chief back in June, Morris volunteered his services. "He's a very deserving winner," MacMillan said. "The senior ladies' teams are required to get their own referees but Frank went out on his own and selected the referees all season long."

Top scorers

Top goalies

Best goaltenders presented with silverware at the Glengarry Soccer League banquet are, in the front from the left, Lily Lanken (junior girls), Warren Marleau (sprites), Eric Lavigne (peewee), Josh Decoste (most improved sprite), Tina Bond (junior girls, most improved player). men's competitions at the Alexandria Moose, Lancaster Fisherman's (twice), St. Hubert, St. Bruno, and the seniors at Smiths Falls, Glenmore and St. Hubert. Add Quebec Seniors championship three times, Quebec City (twice) and Asbestos.

After retiring and returning home to Lancaster, John Sandilands competed with the Lancaster Legion Branch team six times.

In addition to his curling awards over the years, John Sandilands compiled an equally distinguished educational career. He was a reserve Cadet Officer for seven years and during that time founded the St. Hubert Air Cadet squadron. He is a life member of P.Q. Retired Teachers Association; member of Quebec Association School Administrators, and he served a term as president, received the Distinguished Service Award in 1978, served on Comité du Plan under the ministry of education, he was a past president of the South Shore Principals' Association, he was a past president of the interscholastic Athletic Association, and a summer school instructor at Bishop's U. for seven years.

John Sandilands executive skills included leadership at the provincial command level of the Canadian Legion in Ontario.

Alexandria Triathlon is Saturday

By Todd Hambleton
Sports editor

So you think you've reached the sporting pinnacle, conquering every sandlot softball and beer league hockey circuit there is out there.

How about giving the Alexandria Triathlon a whirl? It'll be held Sunday (Sept. 10) at the park and it's open to anyone willing to expand their sporting horizons.

Surprisingly, race organizer Maurice Deguire says while it's no piece of cake, it's probably not the toughest athletic challenge you'll ever face, either.

"Of course it's a challenge," says Deguire, "but even someone who's been training for just a short time shouldn't have any trouble finishing the race. The main thing is to try to finish the race, and not worry about your time. If you go at your own pace, you'll be okay."

The race, being run for the eighth straight year, has a professional class for seasoned veterans and a recreational class for beginners. The professional race will consist of 15 km of canoeing, followed by 15 km of cycling, and a 4 km run (gasp) tacked onto the end to make sure you're really tired at the end of the day.

The recreational division is a doubles class where teams of two canoe for 5 km. That's followed by 10 km of biking and a 3 km run. A total of 30 competitors participated in last year's race.

"We're hoping all the beginners will do the shorter course," says Deguire. "We don't recommend they try the long one.

Don't fret if you want to participate but don't have a canoe. Deguire says organizers will help find one for you.

You can register over the phone by calling Deguire at 525-4319. The cost is $7.00 and a lot of sweat.

Char-Lan Rebels announce training dates

Char-Lan Jr. "B" Rebels have announced their registration and tryout dates for the 1988-89 hockey season. It all gets underway with a registration session at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre Monday (Sept. 11) at 7 p.m.

On-ice tryouts begin Thursday (Sept. 14) from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The drills and scrimmages will continue Saturday (7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.) and Sunday (2 p.m. to 4 p.m.).

"We're asking all the boys who are interested in playing to come out and register. We'd like to have as many out as we can," says first-year head coach Lynd McDonald, who's expecting at least 45 players to be in attendance.

McDonald is looking forward to a competitive season. "We've only got six players coming back from last year's team," he says, "but there are some good quality hockey players that are coming up. Our season will depend on the quality of the rookies that make the team."

McDonald's assistant coach — named last week — will be Cornwall native Randy Martel.

Lanthier's leads

Lanthier's Bakery continues to hold down top spot in the Glengarry Golf and Country Club's Ladies' Twilite League. Bakery has 44.5 points, just ahead of second-place Caisse Populaire, which has 44 points.

The late Clarence MacGregor, (left), Maxville, is among the candidates to be enshrined in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame induction dinner, Wednesday, September 13, in the Maxville and District Sports Complex. Mr. MacGregor was a son of the late Alex MacGregor, Sandringham and his wife the former Edaline Cameron, St. Elmo East. Clarence MacGregor was noted in particular for his contribution to the founding of the Glengarry Highland Games. (See reprint of Frank Ryan, CFRA tribute, page four In the Glens column.) The late John D. MacLeod, Dunvegan, is another of the candidates to be enshrined in the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame at the induction dinner, Wednesday, September 13, in the Maxville and District Sports Complex. John D. was a son of the late Duncan Rory MacLeod and his wife the former Jessie MacCuaig of Dunvegan. "Big John" as he was popularly known was one of the stalwarts of the Dunvegan Football Club, 1924 champions of the newly organized Glengarry Football League. He played on defence behind the MacLeod brothers, Chisholm, "Little Willie" and Cameron. He was also instrumental in re-organizing the Glengarry Pipe Band following the launching of the Glengarry Highland Games.

Laggan completes bantam division comeback

Laggan capped a giant comeback, beating Char-Lan 2-1 Tuesday to capture the Glengarry Soccer League's bantam division championship.

Trailing five points to one, Laggan stormed back winning the next three games and the trophy seven points to five.

Marc Seguin scored both Laggan goals in the series finale. Shane McDonell replied for Char-Lan.

Alexandria finally won the peewee title last Tuesday, knocking off a stubborn Laggan entry 3-0. Alexandria wins the series six points to three.

Alain Decoste scored two goals in the win. Brennan Cameron scored once and Eric Lavigne recorded the shutout.

Art Benton, Caisse Populaire can clinch

Art Benton and Caisse Populaire both have two game leads in their respective Alexandria Ladies Softball League "A" and consolation division finals and had a chance to wrap up the titles Tuesday (Sept. 5) night.

Art Benton opened their "A" series with a 10-4 win over Lalonde's General Store last Tuesday and went ahead 2-0 with a 23-4 win the next night.

Ninth annual Terry Fox Flotilla is September 17

The ninth annual Terry Fox Flotilla will be held Sunday, Sept. 17 at Charlottenburgh Park.

The event raises money for the Canadian Cancer Society and consists of eight miles of canoeing to Summerstown and back. Pledge sheets can be picked up at Sauve Real Estate in Alexandria or by contacting Maurice Sauve or Bruno Major.

Playoff series tied up

The Glengarry Slo-Pitch League final is going the distance. Down two games to one, Baker's Pride rallied for a lopsided 22-3 mercy rule-shortened win over B & B Market Sunday at Island Park.

The fifth and deciding game of the series will be played Sunday, beginning at 9 a.m.

league MVP, and Tina Bond was named the loop's most improved player.

Best goaler was Lily Lanken (Alexandria) while Alexandria's Mandy Duval and Glen Sandfield's Tamara Hartrick shared most gentlemanly player honors.

Sprites

Roger Ladouceur's Alexandria A squad wound up in first place during the regular season then proceeded to win the division's playoff championship. Laggan, coached by Joan Laferriere, had won the Gerald MacDonald Memorial Tournament title.

Top scorer and most valuable player was Kurt MacSweyn of Laggan. Laggan's Warren Marleau was chosen top goalie. Most gentlemanly player award was a tie between Cameron Lajoie of Alexandria A and Guillaume Ouimet of Glen Sandfield.

Most improved player trophy will be shared by Jason Lobb (Glen Sandfield) and Josh Decoste (Alexandria A).

Border League to hold draft

At the last Border Hockey League meeting, it was decided that teams will be selected through a draft process.

League president Jim McDonell says the move will hopefully draw more players to the league. Players interested in signing up should call Shepherd Motors (525-1402), leaving their name and phone number.

This is the time of year for tears

Dunvegan
Marion Loewen
527-2284

It's that time of year again. The Labor Day weekend is over and the children are back in school, some for the first time. Some will go bravely, but for others, it will be a tearful experience, and it may also be a tearful time for some moms. It's not easy to see your baby starting down the road to independence, especially if it is your first child. But it does get easier each day and then you start to feel the pride to see your little one becoming more confident and to see each new accomplishment. Hang in there mom, you'll soon know what I mean!

Kenyon Church held its annual memorial service on Sunday, and many families came home to come out and remember their loved ones who were laid to rest in Kenyon cemetery. The many floral tributes at the graves gave the cemetery the look of a beautiful park. 'Tis said that the measure of the people can be told by the way they honor their dead.

On Monday afternoon, many neighbors, friends, and relatives gathered at the WI Hall to wish Donna Clark a long and happy married life. Donna will shortly be changing her name to Mrs. Wayne Green and she received many lovely gifts to remind her of her home in Dunvegan when she returns out west with her new husband. Her cousin, Lauri MacMaster, gave the address to the bride-to-be. Sarah MacCrimmon, Sarah Deneault, Serena McRae and Wendy MacLeod carried the gifts to Donna. During the social hour that followed, the guests extended their personal best wishes to Donna, and all enjoyed the delicious lunch.

SHORELINES

"working together"

The MINISTRY OF NATURAL RESOURCES and your local MUNICIPALITY share responsibility for regulating development along shorelines and near-shore areas. If you are considering any construction project such as a retaining wall, placing or removing fill, or erosion protection, you must complete an application and obtain prior approval from our offices. Co-operation is the key to protecting valuable natural resources.

Why?

- Shorelines are important to fish and wildlife for:
  - food
  - shelter
  - reproduction
  - migration
- Wetlands are important for:
  - reducing flooding
  - improving water quality
  - economic resources: trees, furbearers
  - fish spawning and rearing
  - wildlife food and shelter
- To minimize damage caused by:
  - Flooding and erosion to you and your neighbour.
- The land under the water is generally owned by the crown.
- Avoid delays and possible violation of the Federal Fisheries Act and the Public Lands Act.

Children back in school, time to get out again

Williamstown
Sue Harrington
347-2279

Now that the children are nestled all snug in their classrooms, a new cycle begins in the life of an average Williamstowner. We join things! Registrations for this and that soon reduce our wallets to a bit of leather and a few ticket stubs. But never mind, our joinings soon introduce us to good friends unheard of before, to physical and mental activities guaranteed to keep our minds and bodies supple, and to calendars so choc-a-bloc that boredom wouldn't dare to instigate a raid on us.

In order for you to decide what groups you would like to join this year, I will try to give you a run-down on what is available when and where in Williamstown.

If you are an afternoon person, that is, someone with afternoons free, and if you like to play euchre and other card games, and enjoy the refreshments which go along with such activity, then there are two local clubs which welcome you.

The Friendly Neighbors Club is beginning its season on Sept. 7 at 1:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Centre, while the Glengarry Community Club meets today (Wed.) at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre at 1:30 p.m. Next Wed. the Glengarry Club will be having a potluck luncheon and birthday party and you are all very welcome to attend.

If your card playing instincts run to bridge, in the evenings, you might be interested in joining the Williamstown Duplicate Bridge club which meets each Wed. at St. Mary's Centre at 7:30 p.m. This week's winners, Suzanne Hazlett and Marge Lussier, Jacques and Yolande Allard and Burton Ayres and Gordon Lunan will no doubt welcome the competition!

* * *

A gardening enthusiast? The Green Thumbs' Horticultural Society meets on the last Monday of the month at St. Mary's Centre at 8 p.m. And if it should happen that you have a giant pumpkin growing in your garden, watch out for the mad measurer who is sure to crop up in your yard with his tape!

* * *

Our local WI is Picnic Grove which meets on the second Tuesday of each month. Although normally these meetings take place in the evenings, this month's event is the ''grandmothers' meeting'' and will be held on Sept. 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the Norwesters and Loyalist Museum. The topic to be discussed is genealogy.

Our two churches, St. Mary's (Roman Catholic) and St. Andrew's (United) have ladies' groups which meet monthly. If new to the area, why not attend the one of your faith and find out more about these and other church-related activities.

For sports enthusiasts our arena boasts a bevy of activities. Registration for this year's minor hockey, minor broomball and figure skating takes place at the arena on Sept. 8, from 6 to 9 p.m. and on the 9th from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Public skating, for young and old will be in its usual time-slot of 3 to 5 p.m. on Fridays, beginning on Sept. 15.

Badminton at Char-Lan High School is a popular way to keep fit and socialize too. Watch for more info on this activity, usually held on Wednesday evenings and catering to the adult and young adult crowd.

Baden-Powell followers in the Williamstown area take note that registration for beavers, cubs and scouts will be held Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall in South Lancaster. The fate of Williamstown brownies and guides was not known at press time, but when the information is forthcoming it will be delivered to you.

* * *

Apologies in advance to any group or organization I might have missed. Give me a call and I'll include your information in next week's postscript. And now, before I'm accused of becoming nothing but a coming events column, let's get on to the social news.

Several rounds of congratulations are circling Williamstown this week. First of all, congratulations to Gordon McNeil of the Fraser Road on his upcoming induction into the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame. Gordon has delighted fair-goers for years, driving his horses around the ring.

Similar honors go out to John Sandilands, all-round athlete who is being inducted for his successes on the curling rink. For information on attending the Induction Dinner, being held on Sept. 13 in Maxville, give Jim Hill a call.

For 25 years of marital bliss, we congratulate Jane and Robert McDonell who celebrated their silver anniversary recently. Also celebrating an anniversary today (I'm beginning to sound like Max Keeping) are Stella and Harold Johnson of Buxton, England. The Johnsons will celebrate their 40th at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Stephen and Andrea Johnson of the Glen Road. Best wishes to you both!

Hidden treasure was theirs for the finding, as members of the Williamstown Library's summer reading club celebrated with a party at the Manor House. The treasure hunt was one of a couple of games played to honor those children who had qualified to attend the the party by reading at least three books this summer.

Prizes were awarded to Jesse Lafave, Ariana Winn, and Sarah Harrington, for reading the most books in their age groups. Michael Johnson and Bobbie-Jo Achilles were second place winners, while thirds went to Megan Sloan, Lindsay Roberts, and Lisa Cooke.

Special prizes were awarded to young readers Grace Rawnsley and Laura Meyer.

Others qualifying to attend the bash included Sarah Gordon, Patrick Sloan, Toni Achilles, Sarah Meyer, Laura Rawnsley, Sarah McDonald and Simon Harrington.

Best wishes for a speedy recuperation go out to Ethel Clark who is expected home from hospital later this week after a two week stay following surgery.

Mary-Rose Pilon has returned home following a two week visit to the homes of her brothers in various locations in Quebec. The street will start to look a little more alive now!

Clark and Eileen McDonell entertained visitors recently. Here from Waverley, N.S. were Eileen's sister, Isabelle Story and her husband, Jack. Also ''home'' for a visit were Doug and Carolyn McDonell, and children Nancy and Laurie, of Milton.

On Sept. 7 at 7 p.m. upstairs at the arena, Carol-Ann Ross, in her role as our reeve, is holding a public meeting so that taxpayers can air their concerns about education. Carol-Ann wants input so that she can take a brief to the ministry, so any of you with suggestions, beefs, ideas, come and be heard!

First store was a well stocked one

Brent Delage returned recently from a working holiday. He spent his summer vacation travelling across Canada in a truck with owner Dean LeBlanc of Martintown.

The General Store is getting a facelift. The first coats of paint are drying and now Norm is working on how to stay warm this winter as he removed the pipes last weekend. One suggestion was to have June knit him a toque! Any others?

As calls were few and far between this week, I have included an excerpt from The Story of Martintown, written by the late Rhodes Grant in the early '70s.

The first store in Martintown of which there is any record was the one kept by Alexander McMartin, a son of Malcolm McMartin who built the mills. There is in existence an invoice dated 1811 for goods he received from a firm of Montreal wholesalers, so the store existed in 1812.

Judging from the variety and quality of the goods listed, it was a well stocked store. One item was a set of dishes. Good quality, if a high price is any indication. It is surprising that dishes of that quality and price should have been offered for sale in a pioneer community. Someone must have had money.

Alexander McMartin was a very busy man with many interests. The handwriting in the store ledgers show that the store was run by hired clerks. The well kept books show that they were careful and faithful and trained penmen, but weak in spelling. Kenyon Township is spelled Keynon all through one book. This store is now known as Nell's General Store.

This book as well as Horse and Buggy Days in Martintown, by the same author, are still available.

* * *

Next week, Martintown will be without a column as Dean and I are taking Lawson to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to visit relatives. There will be someone home to take down your news for the following week, so please don't hesitate to call.

Area actor to perform for local audiences

A Williamstown native who once stood on a Stratford Festival stage wearing a blonde wig and a dress will be headlining two of the Eastern Ontario Theatre Company's three seasonal plays.

The season opens Nov. 3 at the Aultsville Hall Theatre in Cornwall with a one-night appearance by one of Stratford's leading actors, Brian Bedford, in his new show, The Lunatic, The Lover & The Poet, which is a humorous portrait of William Shakespeare.

As well as his Stratford credits, Mr. Bedford is the winner of a number of awards, including a Tony Award and Obie Award, and has several TV appearances to his credit, including Cheers and Murder She Wrote.

The next show in the season ushers in Darcy Gordon, winner of Stratford's 1986 Dora Mavor Moore Award and born in Williamstown. This is the second appearance of Mr. Gordon in Cornwall this year, having performed in An Evening of Passion earlier.

This time, Mr. Gordon will be joining actor Marshall Button (who is also the artistic director of the Upper Canada Playhouse and creator of the one-man play Lucien) in The Melville Boys, running from Nov. 30 to Dec. 2.

In this comedy, Mr. Gordon and Mr. Button play two brothers whose plans for a weekend of fishing are disrupted by the arrival of two sisters.

The part of one of two sisters who are characters in this play is still being cast. Actresses between 18 and 25 years of age are encouraged to audition Sept. 9 at Trinity Church Hall in Cornwall. Resumes can be sent to Mr. Gordon at P.O. Box 192 in Williamstown before Aug. 31.

The season winds down with Mothers and Fathers, again featuring Mr. Gordon. His co-star will be Kate Cullen in this New Zealand comedy hit about surrogate motherhood. The play will be held from Jan. 18 to 20.

Thank You Volunteers

Once again, resident of Maxville Manor enjoyed a day of visiting shared over lunch, Sunday, August 20th at their Family Picnic. Although family and friends were unable to celebrate outdoors due to weather conditions, volunteers contributed incredible efforts toward making the day a true success. Sincere appreciation for your hard work, enthusiasm and team effort in making the event a memorable day.

In Memoriam

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear friend, Ross, who passed away September 7, 1988.
Time slips by, but memories stay,
Quietly remembered every day;
Happy thoughts of times together
Memories that will last forever.
—Always remembered by Mary Catherine MacLeod,
Skye. 36-1p

FRASER — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Ross, who passed away September 7, 1988.
He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Lovingly remembered always by children: Dale, Faye and Joy; grandchildren, Kellie, Tanya and Craig. 36-1p

O'CONNELL — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Brigitte who passed away August 31st, 1977.
There will always be a heartache,
And often a silent tear,
But always precious memories
Of the days when you were here,
Sprayed with a million tears,
May the winds of love blow gently,
And whisper so you can hear,
That we still love and miss you,
And wish you were here.
—Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, Wayne and Maureen. 36-1p

LOST
Yes, I am still searching for my lost malamute mix, female dog. The weeks have turned to months & my desperation grows. She has been sighted on numerous occasions but I have always been notified too late. Being as timid as she is no one has been able to catch her. Anyone who has tried only succeeded in making her flee. She is about 65 lbs., mostly white with some grey & beige on her back. She got lost only 2 days after my move to this area and I know in my heart that if she is still alive she's trying to find home.
Please, if you see her, do nothing but call me immediately ANY TIME OF DAY OR NIGHT.

A loud crash and the screech of tires echoed through Glen Norman in the early hours Saturday morning. The sounds of what proved to be a fatal accident awakened nearby residents.

Morag Libbos says there was a feeling of panic when she and husband Brian rushed out to find an overturned vehicle on the street in front of their home. Another car rested in their ditch.

The Libbos' and Carpenters comforted the injured teens in the vehicle until the ambulances and police arrived minutes later.

We were all very saddned to hear of Daniel Emond's death from that accident. Our sympathy is extended to the Emond family and wishes for a speedy recovery to the other young men injured in the accident.

On behalf of everyone in Glen Norman, I would like to welcome Ginette Girard to our town. Ginette has now moved into her new home.

The house is built on the south side of the Ninth Concession, in the woods in front of Claude and Linda Leroux's.

Ginette is a teacher at Iona Academy in St. Raphael's.

To commemorate a beautiful summer of weekends by the lake a "wine and corn" gathering was enjoyed by all at the Vaillancourt's cottage in Curry Hill Sunday night.

To send Summer 1989 off with a bang, Richard and Claudette, Jean, Julie, Paul and his wife Sylvie were joined by Richard's mother Germaine Vaillancourt of Alexandria and Claudette's sister Claire and husband Jean Pierre Claude of Alexandria (during the week) and Curry Hill on weekends! The wine was cold, the corn-on-the-cob hot and fresh. A weekend of R&R by the lake was a perfect way to cap off a season.

Ed and Sandra Ruttenburg, their son John, and friend Danny Sabourin, caught a performance of Upper Canada Playhouse's "The Gin Game" recently. The Ruttenburgs were also in Potsdam for "Annie Get Your Gun" by Music Theatre North.

Sandra says that show was more along the 'sights' of her son John!

Now that all the kids are back at school, all the teachers are asking themselves that same question: "I wonder how long it takes to get a real estate license!"
