Police community officer dies in snowblowing accident

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Moose Creek's community police officer was killed last weekend in a tragic snowblowing accident at his home in Stormont County.

Grant Myers, Roxborough Township community police officer based in Moose Creek, died Sunday, March 21, in the accident at his home in Lunenburg, about 10 km northeast of Cornwall.

The 47-year-old man was clearing his driveway using a tractor and a snowblower attachment. Myers stopped the machine for a minute to refuel the tractor while it was running.

Long Sault OPP report that Myers, who served at district 11 headquarters in Long Sault as well as Thunder Bay and a few other detachments, was somehow sucked into the attachment.

He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Myers, who held the rank of constable, served in police enforcement for about 27 years.

Ron Symington, the bylaw enforcement officer in Roxborough Township, said Myers was a well liked and well respected man.

''I knew Grant through working with the township. He was stationed at a satellite station in Moose Creek and dropped into the township office. He was a real joker.

''He liked a good joke. He always had a smile on his face. He was always in a good mood. He used that to ease tense situations (during his two years working as the communtiy police officer.''

Myers is survived by his wife, Glenda, and two sons, Grant and Nathan. All live in Lunenburg.

Visitation will be held at the Wilson Funeral Home on 822 Pitt Street in Cornwall on Wednesday, March 24 from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m.

The funeral service will be held Thursday, March 25, at Our Lady of Grace Church in Ingleside at 11 a.m.

'Jasper saved my life...'

Ewen MacNeil is thankful that dogs are man's best friend — one rescued him

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Monday, March 1, started out like any other day for Ewen MacNeil.

The RR 1 Dunvegan beef farmer was up before the sun, performed his usual chores, ran a few errands in town, ate a hearty supper and read his favorite newspaper just before going to bed.

Early to bed, early to rise - it's a routine which the grizzled farmer has repeated thousands of times.

But things took an unexpected and unwanted turn for the worse in the wee hours of Tuesday, March 2.

Six hours after he settled in for the night, MacNeil laid helplessly on the snow covered ground outside his home shivering as he watched flames and smoke spew from his bedroom window.

He couldn't move and he couldn't yell for help, although nobody was close enough to hear him. MacNeil's life literally flashed before his eyes as he waited for the inevitable to happen.

''I knew I was a goner if I stayed there. Either the house would fall on me or the electrical wire would snap and get me.

''I knew my arm was broken (it was actually the elbow) and I thought my hip was busted. I couldn't move,'' recalls MacNeil, who figures he was only half conscious at the time.

Firefighters estimate that the 48-year-old man was in his home for two hours while the fire burned. He eventually woke up coughing and choking but thought nothing of it, until he noticed the bedroom, especially the floor, was unusually hot.

MacNeil crept to the half opened bedroom door to take a peek downstairs and saw the smoke and fire creeping up the staircase.

His lungs felt like they too were burning. The smoke had infiltrated his bedroom and all MacNeil could think of was breathing some fresh country air. Wearing only his undershorts, MacNeil opened his second-storey bedroom window, broke the screen and hung his head over the window ledge gasping for air.

Sooner or later, he told himself, the inferno would catch up to him. At 2:30 a.m., he jumped out of his bedroom window and tried to land on a snowbank which would cushion his fall. Instead, he missed the mark and was seriously injured.

It's been nearly three weeks since the fire, yet MacNeil doesn't remember how long he was sprawled out beside the house. It could have been 30 seconds, it could have been 30 minutes. He just can't remember.

''I was half dazed. I was there and he came running around and nudged me a few times. I grabbed on to his collar and he just took off through the snowbank.''

He, in this instance, is Jasper, MacNeil's guard dog who ''saved my life.''

The pure-bred German Shepherd dragged his master 100 feet south of the house through the snow and even a makeshift barbed wire fence. He raced back to the house, which was engulfed by flames, and returned to be by MacNeil's side a minute later.

MacNeil once again clutched Jasper's tattered brown leather collar and was dragged another 150 feet south of the burning house that would soon fall like a house of cards.

MacNeil figures he was exposed to the frigid temperature for about 90 minutes. With each passing minute, MacNeil lost the feeling in his toes, his feet, his legs and then his entire body.

Jasper stood guard six feet away, sitting quietly on a small mound of snow. This wasn't the first time he had seen a fire.

As a puppy, the black and rust colored dog watched MacNeil's home go up in flames approximately two years ago. Another fire in September, 1991 destroyed the barn and all of the cows; MacNeil used to be a dairy farmer.

Jasper was sleeping in the large old wooden machine shed at the time of this fire before finding MacNeil at the side of the house and dragging him to safety, a scene which was reminiscent of a Lassie movie.

Firefighters from both St. Isodore and Caledonia along with Hawkesbury OPP arrived on the scene at approximately 3:30 a.m.

Rescue workers and firefighters worked half blind because of the thick plumes of smoke, the fogbank which rolled in that cold winter morning plus the sun had yet to rise.

MacNeil was lying adjacent to where the OPP cruiser had parked but no one could see him and his voice had escaped him when he needed it most.

Jasper, always the consumate guard dog, heard voices and began barking. Glen Nixon, one of MacNeil's neighbors who lives on the south side of Skye Road, firefighters and a police officer followed the dog's barking.

''I was the first to see him. He was lying on the ground, not moving. And Jasper was blocking our way, he was on guard. He was snarling and growling at us. I walked over to him, patted his head, slipped a rope around his neck and tied him to a pole,'' says Nixon.

MacNeil was placed on a stretcher and whisked away to Glengarry Memorial Hospital. Firefighters in the rescue van from St. Isodore bundled MacNeil in layers of winter coats.

He was treated for hypothermia at GMH and later transferred to Hotel Dieu in Cornwall where doctors inserted a metal pin through his broken elbow. MacNeil was released about 10 days after the ordeal and says Jasper recognized him - although he looked a little worse for wear.

MacNeil is living in a rented Dunvegan apartment until his home is rebuilt. In the meantime, he'll drive to the farm do his chores. He's constantly reminded of the fire while staring at the singed pieces of wood and metal and is thankful he came out of it alive.

So no matter what any cat lover may say, dogs are indeed man's best friend. Just ask Ewen MacNeil.

RR Dunvegan resident Ewen MacNeil is thankful for man's best friend, or in this instance Jasper. The purebred German Shepherd dragged the 48-year-old MacNeil away from a fire at his house which happened on Tuesday, March 2. To his right are the charred remains of the roof.

Community rallies behind unlucky victim

To say that Ewen MacNeil has had a run of bad luck lately would be a gross understatement.

The Dunvegan-native has lost two homes and a barn to devastating fires within the last three years.

When Claude Taillon heard about the most recent fire he wanted to reach out and help his neighbor and lifelong friend. He's organizing a dance to be held on Friday, April 2 at the Caledonia Community Centre to benefit MacNeil.

''The poor fella has lost everything. We're very good friends and I just wanted to do something that would make things a little easier for him,'' says Claude.

''The support has been wonderful,'' says MacNeil. ''It's been really good in every way. People have provided clothing and food. I've been pleasantly surprised by all this.''

Donations to MacNeil can be made at the door. Donations - which could include clothing, furniture or money - can also be made at the Caisse Populaire, Marielle's Confectionary in McCrimmon Corners or banks in St. Isodore.

SDG council takes home $191,828 in pay

United Counties council cost taxpayers $191,828 last year in payments to council members for meetings, travel expenses, and conferences.

Expenses were run up by 40 reeves and deputy reeves from the 20 municipalities which form the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, and five non-council civilians who sit on committees.

Last year Warden John Moss was paid $20,425, but Reeve Charles Sangster of Lancaster Township who headed United Counties Roads and Bridges committee came a close second with $11,871 expenses.

Lancaster Township Deputy Reeve Steve Preston claimed $3,436 expenses and Lancaster Village Reeve Jennifer Charbonneau was paid $1,571.

Alexandria Reeve Bruno Massie had expenses of $3,474, and Alexnadria Deputy Reeve Jacques Joly received $4,413. Kenyon Reeve Wilfred Vallance claimed $4,518 and Kenyon Deputy Reeve Donald Besner received $3,024.

Reeve Dave MacDonald of Charlottenburgh had expenses of $3,527, and Charlottenburgh Deputy Reeve had expenses of $2,666. Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell received $9,151, and Lochiel Deputy Reeve Maurice Montpetit was paid $3,272.

Maxville Reeve Jim MacEwen had $2,084 expenses paid.

Counties rejects market value assessment

by Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

United Counties council Monday rejected a market value assessment report from the Ministry of Revenue which would have seen farm property taxes climb — and Cornwall city property taxes lowered.

''It would have been more acceptable to us if the rural and city assessments had not been so far out of line,'' Lancaster Township Reeve Charles Sangster told The News.

''But a house valued at $100,000 on a farm is not the same as a $100,000 house in Cornwall,'' Sangster explained. ''The farm house can't be separated from the farm to be sold, and the farm house does not have the municipal services enjoyed by city property, there can really be no comparison.''

United Counties executive committee recommended that the property assessment program be deferred for a year to allow further study of how it could be phased in slowly over four years.

But council threw out the whole program study which the United Counties and Cornwall had requested be made by the Ministry of Revenue several years ago.

County Clerk Raymond Lapointe reported that of the 20 municipalities in the United Counties, 16 flatly rejected the market value assessment program and the rest ''didn't vote an outright no, but asked for deferrals.''

The assessment program dumped $750,000 extra property taxes into rural areas of the United Counties, and relieved Cornwall City of $750,000 property taxes, in an effort to balance taxes across the region so that all similarly valued properties would bear the same burden of municipal taxes.

But the $750,000 off-loading from city to rural properties was ''all to pay for schools and that didn't seem fair to us,'' Sangster pointed out.

Area man dies moments before car hits truck

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

A South Lancaster resident died of a heart attack and not from injuries arising from a collision he had with a tractor trailer on Highway 401 at 7:50 a.m. on Friday, March 19.

Dale Blair, 24, was returning from Montreal when he smashed into the back end of a tractor trailer. The truck, which was driven by Albert Lorne Basque of Linden, Alberta, slowed down to avoid hitting a pair of dogs on the stretch of highway just east of Lancaster.

Lancaster OPP report that the Sawyerville, Quebec native likely died moments before the accident because there were no skid marks or any indication that he tried to stop.

Blair's 1984 Volkswagen Rabbit was transformed into a twisted piece of metal, the front end crunched and peeled back to reveal the inner workings of what was left of the engine.

Lancaster Fire Chief Gene Picard says that his crew arrived on the scene around 8 a.m. to use the jaws of life but had the car towed back to the fire station to reduce the chances of another accident happening because of heavy traffic at the time.

Blair worked as a brakeman-foreman for CN Rail at their main yard in Montreal, Quebec and was returning from the night shift at the time of the accident.

Businesses won't be open on Good Friday

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

For the first time in four years, Alexandria residents won't be able to do a little shopping on Good Friday . . .

. . . In town that is.

Local businesses have had the opportunity to choose whether they would open their doors or remain closed on the statutory holiday since 1990. But not this year.

Provincial legislation which the NDP government passed in December, 1991 was modified about three months ago. As a result, local businesses cannot open on a holiday until the beginning of April at the earliest on the condition that they fall within a tourist designated area.

Local merchants it seems, are victims of bad timing.

But that's little consolation to Sheila Olson, owner of Town and Country Flowers and Gifts and the president of the Alexandria and District Chamber of Commerce.

''We have had really good Good Fridays. Our business has grown for the last three years,'' says Olson.

Customers who purchased food, clothing, flowers and other wares on Good Friday the last few years will likely drive across the border to either Quebec or the United States, says Olson.

''All we want is, as a chamber, if you wish to remain open that you have the right to remain open. That's all we're asking for.''

The chamber made a written request to Alexandria council last May. In the past, various municipalities made their own decisions on Sunday shopping and whether or not businesses could be open on statutory holidays. But in December, 1991, that power was transferred to the NDP government after Bill 115 was passed.

Sunday shopping is still permitted along with holiday openings but the area where the businesses are located

Don't forget, report immunizations

Diptheria, tetanus, polio, measles, mumps and rubella are six childhood diseases that may bring serious complications and a life of misery. The good news is they can be easily avoided with a regular immunization schedule.

A child may be immunized free of charge by a family physician, a pediatrician or by local Health Unit personnel. Please contact your Health Unit office regarding details on clinic hours.

By law, Ontario pupils must be immunized. If not, they could be suspended from school, and the parents may be fined. Parents are directly responsible for the immunization status of their children and must report the information to Health Unit officials each time the child receives an injection. In Eastern Ontario, this information should be channeled to the Health Unit office in Alexandria (525-1112). Call collect if necessary or information may be mailed to Eastern Ontario Health Unit, Highway 34 South, Alexandria K0C 1A0.

All Ontario residents can obtain a yellow personal Immunization Record card at the time of immunization. It is important for the parents to keep this record and have it updated each time their child is immunized.

Study was a waste of time and money

Lancaster Township council members had the proverbial rug yanked out from under their feet at their last regular council meeting.

Clerk-Treasurer Mike Samson told council that recommendations from a wetlands study — paid for by the Ministry of Natural Resources, Raisin River Conservation Authority and Lancaster Township — have been thrown out the window.

Lancaster contributed $15,000 towards the study, which was undertaken over a year ago and was to examine, identify and designate wetlands in Lancaster township. Most of that land is located between Highway 401 and the St. Lawrence River.

That land would be ideally suited for waterfront development but that can't happen because of the designation.

"They (MNR) more or less had their minds made up. This study was a waste of time and money for us, Raisin River and the Ministry," Samson said after the meeting.

Samson was told by ministry officials that some of the scenarios outlined in the survey were acceptable. However, they gave him nothing in writing and he didn't hear back from them for months. That was until the bad news arrived.

On a larger scale, the study will tie into the official plan which Lancaster is drawing up. The plan will outline the township's long-term development.

Samson had hoped that the possibility of waterfront development would open up. But there was no substantial changes to the designated areas. Waiting for the survey delayed the presentation of the official plan to the Ministry of Municipal Affairs by at least one year.

While council expressed concern for protecting the wetlands, many members voiced frustration and anger that little has changed.

"We're going backwards," Samson told council. "These things (designations) protect the wetlands. But try to explain that to somebody who owns this land and can't do anything with it.

"If the province wants the land so badly, why don't they buy it? And if not, they should stay out of the way."

Until the wetlands issue is resolved, the official plan could be drawn up excluding them, suggested Reeve Charlie Sangster.

Samson cautioned council that the plan may not be accepted or the partially submitted plan could backfire somehow.

"Besides, there's no use spending more money for nothing," commented Councillor Roch Major during the meeting.

Friday won't be so good

must be in a tourist designated area.

Poirier says that designation is awarded if the applicant(s) proves they depend on the tourist industry in areas such as recreation, culture or festivals.

"They must meet the criteria for tourist designation. When we received their first letter, we decided to put the issue on the backburner. The provincial government was rethinking its policy and there was no use spending time and money on this if we didn't have to," says Poirier.

Still, Olson is frustrated over the dilemma.

If sections of Alexandria were to receive a tourist designation the process would include a notice of 30 days prior to any public meeting. Council would also have to wait an additional 90 days for any objections before merchants got the okay.

At a recent council meeting, Mayor J.P. Touchette said he doubted that Alexandria would be eligible for tourist designation in the winter because the town doesn't depend on the trade that much.

When contacted by The Glengarry News, IGA owner Michel Ouellette was surprised that he couldn't be open on Good Friday

"I thought we could. That's something new to me."

Olson says that after the May letter, the chamber should have followed up their request. But hindsight is 2020.

"We were told we would have to reapply but were given no details. They (council) didn't follow this up and find out what was required under the law.

"Possibly the chamber should have gotten more involved in this but we didn't. We assumed the town was looking into it for us. In other words council was not that interested and there are some people on council that don't like Sunday or holiday openings for whatever reasons," says Olson.

Next year is another story.

SD&G tax hike likely to be tiny

United Counties 1993 proposed budget shows a .5 per cent increase in spending over last year's hefty $6.1 million expenditures, the first time in 10 years that such a small increase has been achieved.

Last year's stunning 23 per cent increase in the county levy over the 1991 levy, forced United Counties to hold the line this year. The county levy is spread over taxpayers in the 20 member United Counties municipalities.

At United Counties council meeting Monday Clerk Raymond Lapointe emphasized that "this budget is only proposed but we are holding down our spending to last year's figures in every category."

The .5 per cent miracle was partly achieved by a $519,000 surplus spilling over from 1992, of which $450,000 will be applied to this year's budget.

The 1993 County levy came in at $6.34 million, a 3.4 per cent increase over last year's $6.1 million levy.

But this 3.4 per cent jump, "should be offset by the surplus from last year and a 2.8 per cent increase in property assessment in the United Counties," Clerk Lapointe explained.

Findings to be tabled at meeting tomorrow

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Findings from a meeting between three hospital board members and an Ontario Hospital Association representative regarding the operation of Glengarry Memorial Hospital will likely be presented at a meeting tomorrow.

But the presentation will likely be done at an in camera session, closed to the public, at the end of the board's monthly meeting at the hospital at 5 p.m. tomorrow, according to the board Chairman Sam Sultan.

Sultan, contacted by the News, was mum on what exactly was discussed at the meeting. But he did say: "There are positive things that came out of it."

"It was a pretty good, constructive meeting."

A proposal to discuss problems in the operation of the hospital was approved at the end of a closed session at the end of last month's stormy hospital board meeting.

The motion made at the meeting recommended a "committee be granted board approval to bring certain concerns to an appropriate level and if justified return to the board with a request to engage a consultant."

The committee which met with Willis Rudy, OHA vice-president of small hospitals, is comprised of Sultan, finance committee Chairman Kent McSweyn and board member Jacques Joly.

The proposal was made after a tumultuous session of the board in which proposals for two separate insurance packages were thrown out because of improper procedures.

Sultan said Friday it is too early to say what will come of the OHA meeting. But he said there will be more meetings among members to discuss the situation.

Board members received some names of consultants from the OHA representative they met with. Those names will be presented to the board for review.

But Sultan is not sure if an actual decision on a consultant will be made at tomorrow's meeting, saying it may not leave board members enough time.

Councillor says CAS cutbacks may have contributed to child's death

by Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

A child recently killed in Cornwall "might be alive today if the Children's Aid Society had not been forced to cut down the number of social workers," according to a United Counties councillor.

Williamsburg Township Deputy Reeve Lyle VanAllen told United Counties council Monday he believed CAS cuts may be to blame in the death of the child.

He called the situation at CAS "a time bomb waiting to explode."

Council was discussing United Counties $340,000 grant to Children's Aid for 1993, and the fact that Ontario has warned CAS there will be no increase in 1993 from last year's allocation.

VanAllen, United Counties representative on the CAS board, pointed to a $110,000 deficit from last year and child abuse case increases of 50 per cent from 1991.

"There are four fewer social workers than two years ago," VanAllen reported, "and remaining social workers have case loads exceeding 30, where the Ministry of Community and Social Services guidelines recommend 20 cases per worker."

VanAllen also said fundraising "is not bringing in the money it used to in our community, we are in a very bad situation here."

A CAS budget of $5.1 million was approved for 1992 and the Ministry has warned CAS to hold down increases for 1993.

VanAllen pointed to no increases to foster parent boarding rates, unions which have agreed to zero per cent pay raises, and employees who have agreed to pay their own long term disability. Two workers are on sick leave from stress.

VanAllen identified the main area where the CAS went over budget was paying costs for children with serious social and psychological problems which must be treated in outside institutions. Institutional treatment cost $215,000 in 1992.

One child cost $80,000 for institutional treatment last year.

The only bright spot in the CAS report was an 18 per cent decrease in sexual abuse in 1992 over 1991. But in the same period physical abuse climbed by 39 per cent, and emotional abuse was up 52 per cent.

"Liars" competing at festival

Glengarry District High School's production of "Liars" directed by David Sauvé will be competing this weekend in the Sears Eastern Regional Drama Festival.

"Liars," as well as "A Little Something For the Ducks" directed by Larry Poirier of CCVS were awarded Outstanding Production Awards at the recent district festival which was held in Alexandria at the high school.

This year's regional festival will be held in Cornwall at General Vanier Secondary School, 1500 Cumberland Street, from Wednesday, March 24 to Saturday, March 27, inclusive.

Thirteen one-act plays will be showcased, including schools from Ottawa, Fenelon Falls, Douglas, Arnprior, Oshawa, Port Perry, Cornwall and Alexandria.

Sauvé hopes that people who did not get a chance to see "Liars" the first time round, will take advantage of this second opportunity and support the teenagers in their creative endeavors to produce quality theatre.

The play's message is a powerful one as it deals with such difficult topics as substance abuse, teen-adult relationships, and family violence.

Dennis Foon, author of the play, co-founded Green Thumb Theatre of Vancouver, a theatre group dedicated to creating and producing meaningful theatre for young adult audiences.

"The quality of productions at the regional level is astounding" said Sauvé.

"Students take their work seriously and the polished final products are definite proofs."

The adjudicator of the festival will choose three of the 13 plays to go on to the All Ontario Showcase.

Glengarrians are saluted by Canada

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

One by one they came up to the front of the hall to receive glowing words of praise, a handshake, the customary photo and applause from an appreciative crowd.

They, according to MP Don Boudria in a speech prior to the presentations, are the "unsung heroes" of Glengarry County.

Twenty of them were honored — two in absentia — at a packed Glengarry Sports Palace hall Friday night.

They volunteered their time, energy and talents, sometimes even risking their lives, Boudria said. "They make our world a better one."

They were all presented silver Canada 125 commemorative medals in recognition of a host of things they have done to make Glengarry a better place to live.

"It's great to see such worthy recipients here this evening to be honored for the work they have done," echoed MPP Noble Villeneuve.

But he added, he regrets there were not enough medals to reward everyone who has contributed to making Glengarry a better place to live.

For historian Alex Fraser of Bainsville, founder of Glengarry Genealogical Society which traces the roots of family in Glengarry, the honor was tough to put into words.

"I don't think it has hit me yet," he said after the ceremony, stopping to talk about his favorite subject with David Anderson of the Glengarry Historical Society who nominated him for the award.

But there was no taking away from the fact is was an honor. "I feel great. It's nice to get it," he glowed.

Fraser started his genealogical work in 1971 by doing a family tree. He was hooked right away and created the genealogical society in 1974.

He has written two books on Glengarry family lines, entitled Gravestones of Glengarry, the first volume completely sold out and the second volume is closed to being sold out as well.

He now gets 2 to 4 letters a day from people all over the world asking about the lineage of their Glengarry ancestors, he said.

Another medal recipient, George Rouleau of Martintown, said he was "very much" surprised by his nomination.

"There's a lot of other people that have done so much more," said Rouleau who does youth presentations for the Eastern Ontario Health Unit, and is involved in the Optimist Club.

"You don't feel worthy of such recogition," he said, but added it does feel good.

He has also helped set up a block parent program in his area and is involved with the college in Cornwall.

Also honored were:

•Patricia Ager of Bainsville, for her work with the Women's Institute and the United Counties waste study.

•William T. Cooper of Lancaster for being the prime motivator to establish the Cooper Marsh Nature Sanctuary.

•Elie David of Alexandria, former school board chairman and founding president of the Caisse Populaire.

•Grace Doth of Maxville, for her involvement with the Maxville Manor, the War Veterans Association, the Maxville and District Curling Club, and for her dedication to people in need.

•Germaine Lalonde of Alexandria, for her work in the community for her benevolent work with the elderly.

•Lorraine Lanthier of Alexandria, for representing Glengarry on the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Voyageurs 92 committee.

•Richard Leger of Lancaster for being named Citizen of the Year for 1991 in his community and for his work in various organizations.

•Marcel Leroux for his work in Apple Hill and the surrounding area, his involvement in establishing the Apple Hill fire station, and his contribution toward the recreation centre.

•Rae MacCulloch of Apple Hill, for her role as the founder of the internationally known MacCulloch Dancers, some of whom entertained at the medal presentation ceremony.

•Harriet MacKinnon of Alexandria, for her devotion to the promotion of local books and history, for her involvement with the Highland Heritage and Glengarry Genealogical Society.

•Kathleen McGrath of Glen Robertson, for her active role in the promotion of the La Leche League and for her volunteer work with the Brownies and other youth organizations.

•Jim McGuire of Maxville, for his contribution in developing programs for children.

•Peter McLeod of North Lancaster, for his contribution to the Lancaster Township Soccer Association and support of the sport of soccer.

•Sgt. James Robert McWade for his role and the role of the Lancaster detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police in improving the quality of life and public safety of the community.

•Patrick O'Connor of Glen Walter, for his participation in founding the United Counties Aids Project.

•Gerard Roy of Alexandria, a former educator, for his work in assisting youth and senior citizens.

•Lea Titley of Alexandria, a midwife who assisted more than 500 mothers in childbirth.

•Alma Villeneuve of Maxville, for her dedication in serving the public of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry for 35 years and her continuous support of her late husband Osie

Court Report

The following are among the cases dealt with at the March 18 session of Alexandria provincial court.

Cornwall man fined for assault

A 27-year-old Cornwall man who assaulted a cottage resident on Farlinger Point last September has been fined $300.

Kevin McAteer and a group of six others were paddling two power boats near the shore from where the victim called out to see if the group needed any help.

Defence attorney H. H. Sherwood claimed that the victim and another man were actually taunting the group, but in any event, the two boats headed for shore where the occupants disembarked.

The group approached the men who had been on shore with McAteer striking one of them "between five and ten times."

In addition to being fined, McAteer was also placed on probation for 12 months.

Man refused to provide sample

A Hawkesbury man who failed to blow into a roadside screening device when asked to do so by a police officer has been sentenced to 21 days in jail.

Benoit Crete, 27, was stopped by Alexandria police because of a broken light on his vehicle when the officer noticed an odor of alcohol.

Crete, who had a previous conviction for impaired driving, twice was asked to blow into a screening device and on both occasions he failed to do so.

Crete's licence was suspended for two years.

Man jailed after accident

A 26-year-old man invloved in a three-car accident at the Brown House Corner intersection on Oct. 8 has been sentenced to 21 days in jail.

Richard T. Billard was driving south on Hwy. 34 at a high rate of speed when a car in front of him slowed down to turn left.

Billard swerved to avoid the vehicle but still clipped it on the way by.

Billard's car careened through a gas bar located just off the highway and into a side road where it crashed into another vehicle.

Four persons suffered slight injuries in the accident.

Billard was taken for breathalyser tests where his blood-alcohol level was shown to be slightly above the legal limit.

In handing down the verdict, Judge J. M. Belanger called it a miracle that someone wasn't seriously injured or killed in the incident.

Billard was also given a seven-day sentence, to be served in concurrence with the impaired driving sentence, for failing to appear in court on a previous date.

Young offender placed on probation

An 18-year-old resident who threatened to break the legs of his girlfriend's father has been placed on probation for one year.

The defendant, who was a youth at the time of the offence, went to the home of his girlfriend last April 7, but the girl's parents denied him acces to the house.

The youth kicked at the door, demanded to be let in and threatened the girl's father as he departed the premises.

Over $1,000 in damage was caused to the door and its frame in the incident.

The defendant was ordered to pay $200, the amount not covered by insurance, in restitution to the victims.

Alexandria man fined

An Alexandria man was fined $650 after pleading guilty to impaired driving.

Guy Lecompte, 51, was involved in a single-vehicle accident on Oct. 24 when his car struck a utility pole in Alexandria.

Police found Lecompte asleep at the wheel and breathalyser tests showed his blood-alcohol level to be almost twice the legal limit.

Lecompte was prohibited from driving for 12 months.

Needs should be proven

Public opinion polls are now firmly entrenched in the quest for public opinion as a legitimate and vital tool for big media and politicians. Unfortunately that thinking has trickled down to agencies, groups and corporations of a more community-oriented stature. They are now using unscientific and one-sided surveying as a means of justifying their needs.

A recent example came to this office in the form of a survey by two representatives of the Canadian Hearing Society, a non-profit organization which provides a wide range of direct services to deaf and hard of hearing people, advocates their interests and promotes their rights. It is a registered charitable organization, and its work is financed by donations, United Ways, productive income from memberships, sign language fees, sales of books and technical devices. It is also financed through government grants.

The surveyors — one was a volunteer, the other a government-subsidized assistant — were conducting the poll for the Cornwall chapter, founded in June of 1991. This chapter services Glengarry clients too, and has been surveying the county's businesses using an ''accessibility checklist'' for the last three weeks.

On the surface, their efforts are merely a way for the fledgling group to seek the need for the society's services.

But it is the nature of the questions — heavily slanted to underline deficiences in businesses in supplying customers and staff with hearing devices, even when the depth of need isn't established — that rankles.

Here are four of the 13 questions the survey asks: ''Are assistive listening devices easily available for the hard of hearing?''; ''Have the staff been made aware of and trained to use the technical devices for the deaf and hard of hearing found within your organization''; ''Are people consulted about their preferred method of communication''; ''Has the staff been sensitized to the special needs of the deaf and hard of hearing?'' The remainder of the questions are along a similar line.

For routine business operations where the requested or solicited need by staff and customers for hearing aids and information has been traditionally extremely low, the answer to most of these questions would be ''No,'' awarding the respondent ''0'' points, versus five points for ''Maybe/Sometimes'' and 10 points for ''Yes/Always.''

To their credit, the people conducting the survey agreed it was one-sided.

They also presented an unofficial alternative survey which was more reasonable. But disturbingly, they also indicated that the results of the survey would be used in part to convince government agencies to help fund the society. And certainly in these politically correct times, the politicians charged with making the decision would not wish to be seen to be questioning the integrity of the numbers the Society presents. Hence, it is not difficult to see that the public could subsidize a group's activities before fully knowing the need — through legitimate and scientific means — of the hearing impaired community it seeks to help.

In the rush to serve the less fortunate or the disadvantaged people of society, groups seeking public funds like the Canadian Hearing Society have an obligation to prove they deserve the support of the beleaguered taxpayer — through proper means. Those means do not always justify the end, and flawed and biased surveys only serve to increase the suspicion of an increasingly skeptical population.

Sabourin has no easy task

Congratulations to the SD&G tourism association for hiring its first coordinator, Denis Sabourin, and ushering in a new stage of tourism development throughout the region.

Sabourin comes well qualified for the job as a former Cornwall radio reporter, community newspaper publisher, school board trustee and a former Liberal candidate in the last provincial election. His lack of fluent bilingualism could cause problems in dealing with interests from Quebec or francophone communities throughout SD&G but that remains to be seen.

What is certain is that he has his work cut out for him. In addition to maintaining and enhancing tourism profile in areas already benefitting by the industry, such as Lancaster and Morrisburg, he must help communities such as Alexandria, Maxville and others develop the tourism potential they possess.

With limited resources and funding, this promises to be a massive undertaking. And without long-term commitments from government to keep the tourism office and association, it could be short-lived.

But, if his efforts and those of the association can be measured and qualified, that support may be more easily found, and could conceivably come from those who will most directly benefit from them — the tourism and related industries. That would go a long way in putting tourist marketing in SD&G on a professional and self-sufficient footing.

The numbers behind the storms

After Thoughts

by Joe Banks

Here's a big hope that the last fierce breath of this stubborn winter expired with that dumping last week. It left behind over 38 cms. — about 15 inches — of the white stuff around here. Fortunately, the melting snowbanks are making it a quickly passing memory that will live on in stories to grandchildren about that blizzard of '93.

Indeed, as it turns out, we have had more than most ''old fashioned winters,'' putting the lid on those claims by our own grandfolks that ''snow just doesn't fall like it used to.''

Consider the numbers, supplied to me by a couple of trusty Glengarrians.

A clipping from our good friend Daniel MacDonald of the Fourth of Kenyon afforded us a glimpse of the years between 1914 and 1971 — the year when an undisputed record of 171.4 inches of snow fell in the Ottawa area. Glengarry weather archivist and the official weatherman of The Glengarry News, George Hambleton of Dalhousie Mills, put some hours in to dig me up his own figures from 1968 to the present, compiled over 25 years. George's 1971 figures showed the accumulation around here was more like 165 inches — still a record.

Coincidentally, I bumped into Glen Robertson Air Canada pilot Bruce Marr Monday, who, with a grin, recalled gazing out over the hay fields behind his house that winter — unable to see a single fence post. Now that's deep!

Still, George's numbers do show that throughout the late 70s and almost all of the 80s, we've seen less than average snowfalls (average for us about 100 inches a winter).

George's numbers indicate that only during the winters of 1977-78 (123.4 inches), 1984-85 (106.6 inches) and 1986-87 (106.7 inches) did we see snowfall accumulation surpass the average. That's over a 15 year stretch.

Prior to 1977, snowfalls were very close to average all the way back to that record accumulation in 1971.

Beyond that, snowfalls actually drop off. The 60s seemed to be lean years, according to Daniel's numbers which were printed in the Ottawa-area papers during the big storm of '71. When the baby boomers were still in school, snow depths ranged from a high of only 110.3 inches in 1964 to a low of 48.6 in 1960. Most of the other years experienced snowfalls in the mid to upper 80s and 90s.

The 1950s saw a high of 108.1 inches in 1955 and a low of a measley 39.6 inches in '53, second only to 1982-83's record 32.7 inches as the most meagre snow accumulation on record. Recall the woes of the ski hill operators and the snowmobile merchandisers?

The 1940s, too, was not an overly impressive decade of snowfall. The big one happened in 1947, which marked 132.5 inches in Ottawa, third largest accumulation on record, while the lowest came a year later with a paltry 56.6 inches.

Beyond these years, the average depths moderate to an average in the mid to high 60s, but the meaner years appear to be more plentiful and clumped together. Prior to 1971's winter, 1915-16 was the previous record holder with 140.4 inches. After that the war years were cruel to those who kept the home fires burning — 1917 saw 116.9 inches, and 1918 saw 114.9. Strangely the next winter and with the end of hostilities in Europe, a more normal 88.8 inches fell.

It's little wonder we Canadians talk so much about the weather, with such an array of unpredictability to the season, especially winter. The numbers game alone could keep a roomful of bookies in business for years. Want to wager on the winter of 1992-93?

Turns out we were right up there, grandpa, a slim fifth (fourth in Ottawa) on the 78-year all time chart with a total to date of 121.2 inches. Take pictures before it's all gone.

Now, if only I can find some figures on the earliest robin sighting . . .

Frosty's abduction melts cold attitude

That's Life

by Lesley Cadham

Seeking one white, extremely rounded fellow with a corn cob pipe, a button nose and two eyes made out of coal. Last seen in a snowy Florida yard, being loaded onto the back of a pickup truck. If found, keep away from open flame.

You gotta wonder about two grown men who drove into a private yard and took off with a little girl's snowman. It was her first snowman, lovingly crafted from the first snow she'd ever seen. The men had already stockpiled six other Frosties. Victims were advised by police not to pay ransom, as these problems almost surely melt away.

Notwithstanding the tot's obvious disappointment, the story gave me a post-snowstorm chuckle, one that was badly needed given that I didn't crack a smile once through most of the real thing.

No, I didn't have to drive south for March break or north for skiing. My job was to get someone to a Toronto hospital to see a severely ill loved one.

We left early March 13, to beat what was forecasted as this year's most severe winter storm. Darn the torpedos and full speed ahead. Ignore everything but police cruisers. Easily said, but hard to do when you smell something cooking in the car and your passenger didn't bring a portable range.

The needle on the engine temperature gauge did seem to be a bit high. Was it supposed to be one cm from the red ''H?'' Not to worry; probably just a loose hose or something equally as inconsequential. Couldn't be my radiator. That was replaced just 1-1/2 years ago.

As we pulled into an auto service centre, I calmly reassured my passenger the storm was still a couple of hours away.

To a grandmotherly woman behind the service counter, I shrieked that I needed to get to Toronto. Now. She smiled in a way that made me certain she was about to pull a plate of home-baked peanut butter cookies out from under the counter. I knew why they'd hired her.

A flake or two floated by the window. The storm wasn't all that was a couple of hours away. So was my new radiator.

In no time, the parking lot wore a soft sheet of white powder. I had worn out the floor in the waiting room and used up every adjective I could think of to suit the occasion.

Then I thought of Kilmer, a McIntosh, Minnesota auto mechanic who was on his way to his favorite fishing hole on that lazy July afternoon when my water pump blew. The pump attendant had summoned him back to look at my disabled car, but it was me Kilmer studied. With an expression of incredulity I hadn't seen since I wanted to drive my mom's car to my best friend's seventh birthday party. A water pump for a Nissan? In McIntosh, Minnesota, population 700, at 2 o'clock on a Saturday afternoon? In your dreams, lady.

I counted my blessings. At least in Belleville, Ont., they were promising to have my car back on the road by around 2 o'clock — that day. In McIntosh, Minnesota, I'd had to hop a bus to Grand Forks, North Dakota and meet a ride to Winnipeg, Manitoba so that I wouldn't have to sit for three days on a curb in McIntosh for a water pump coming by pony express from Minneapolis.

On the other hand, it had been summer in McIntosh, Minnesota. Ah, sweet summer. When my car had finally been roadworthy, I'd been able to find the road.

Mòd update

Highland Paths

by Ken McKenna

''How the heck do you pronounce that word'' is the most frequently asked question that we get from those calling to get information about Mòd-Ontario-Glengarry. The next most asked question is ''what is it all about?'' To answer the first question, forget about the accent on the ''o.'' It is for Gaelic-speakers only, and just serves to confuse most of us. ''Mòd'' is pronounced as it is written — mod — not mode or mood. It might be phonetically rendered like the name ''Maude,'' as in the old song ''Come Into The Garden, Maude.''

The answer to the second question, ''what is it all about'' is simply that a Mòd is a competition, along the lines of the famous Welsh Eisteddfod, but in the Gaelic language of the Highlands of Scotland. Most of the categories in the Mòd are for Gaelic songs, sung by individuals, duets or larger groups such as choirs, but there are also competitions for prose readings of passages in Gaelic, seen beforehand or seen only at the time of the competition.

We will have the chosen material for the ''seen'' prose any day now, giving whoever enters that particular category plenty of time to be coached in the proper pronunciation of the words. There are several fluent Gaelic speakers in the Glengarry area who are available for coaching. We already have several entries in the ''seen''prose, including the well-known linguist Art Buckland of ''Address to the Haggis'' fame. He says that for those who think his Lowland Scots accent is unique, his Gaelic will really set them on their heels.

There will also be competitions in wind instruments and the Celtic harp. All the competitions will take place on Saturday morning, June 5, at Iona School, St. Raphael's, and the afternoon will be devoted to nine workshops on various aspects of Scottish Gaelic music, history, and folklore. On Friday evening, there will be a Ceilidh at the Bonnie Glen, starting with a buffet at 6 p.m. and featuring Glengarry and visiting musicians and singers.

Mòd-Ontario-Glengarry will conclude on Saturday evening with a banquet and concert, also at the Bonnie Glen, at which we will have the judges and other visitors from Scotland and Cape Breton strut their stuff. Never have Glengarrians had the chance to hear so much of the old language of Glengarry in one place since the War of 1812.

At noon on Saturday there will be mini-Highland games and entertainment behind the St. Raphael's Hall, while a picnic lunch is enjoyed on the lawn.

The important thing in all this Mòd business is not to win a prize or worry about competition. It is to have a good time and enjoy the sound of Gaelic in words and music, and to meet those from other places who are coming here because this was one of the few places in the world where the Highland Scot could live in peace and freedom in a Gaelic-speaking community.

Having said that, we hope that no-one carries the ''having a good time'' part too far. Our late friend Colin MacPherson, Bishop of Argyll and the Isles, was asked some years ago to preside at the second night of the week-long Gaelic Mòd in Scotland, taking place in Oban.

On the opening night he was seated among the dignitaries in the front row of the hall. Unfortunately, the master-of-ceremonies that night had been celebrating too long and too well, and between each stage performance of the best Gaelic singers in Scotland he kept nipping back for a nip backstage.

Finally he fell unconscious in the middle of the stage and had to be carried off. The chairman of the Mòd committee, much mortified and embarrassed, rushed over to apologize to the Bishop.

''Och, don't worry about that at all,'' he said, ''I am glad I came here tonight. I have never done this kind of thing before, and I wanted to find out how you do it.''

Odd language barriers and travel in Quebec

News to me

by Greg Kielec

A funny thing happened on the way to the Montreal Forum Monday night.

Lost Ontario tourists — my brother-in-law and I — were seen stopping and asking people on the outskirts of Montreal for directions.

Each person that was politely asked in French for directions, gave us an unusual stare, as if they were hearing a foreign language.

When the conversation was switched over to English, all of a sudden the person or persons enlisted for help became veritable tourist services, eagerly spewing out the best in directions one could ask for.

It was a strange happening for this Ontario anglophone, having been spoon fed stories since birth about rude Quebeckers who would not give the time to any Ontario tourist who did not speak the language of La Belle Province.

Now Dorval may not exactly be a bastion of support for the French language and culture. And possibly it is home to many transplanted Ontarians who would rather not commute to work in Montreal from out of province.

But it still is disturbing to see what could be construed as a possible erosion of the French language inside the province of Quebec itself.

It may also have just been the luck of the draw that the few people that were asked for directions used English as the language of their choice. And hopefully that is the case.

If it is actually indicative of the proportion of people speaking French in the area, than the Quebec government possibly is right to be concerned about challenges to French's inherent dominance in Quebec.

It at least appears the government should not be concerned with the treatment English tourists are receiving upon entry to Quebec.

Judging from Monday's experience, the stereotypical image of Quebeckers passed down to us by our anglophone ancestors is no longer valid, just another product of a bygone era.

Glengarry cancer rate isn't abnormally high

To the editor:

In reply to R. Bruce McCuaig's letter (March 3) in which he brought up the question of the seemingly high cancer statistics in the Glengarry area; several years ago the same concern prompted our local education chairman of the Canadian Cancer Society to write to the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation who monitor statistics concerning cancer patients and their treatments. Much to our surprise and relief, they determined that the number and type of cancer incidences in our area were no higher than the Canadian average.

I think that when one is receiving treatment for any disease, suddenly we are more aware of those around us who are in the same situation. Certainly the methods of treatment for cancer patients necessitate that they be brought to a central area and we use the cancer treatment centres in Ottawa.

The Glengarry North and Glengarry South Branches of the Canadian Cancer Society provide a number of patient services and emotional support programs in the local communities. Information can be obtained from Hazel Barker at 525-1001 or Catherine Cumming at 347-2986.

In April, once again, our door to door canvassers will be asking for the public's generous support for these services as well as new Education programs which reach out to school children to educate them to the hazards of smoking.

Peggi Calder, President
Glengarry North Branch,
Canadian Cancer Society

Get bilingual Ontario

To the editor:

It has been stated that there are almost as many French-speaking Canadians living outside Quebec as the total population of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. So what!

I do not know the numbers of French-speaking people in those provinces, but I do know that in Ontario there are only about 50,000 (fifty thousand) French-speaking persons who cannot speak English. And it costs the English-speaking population of Ontario a big bundle to satisfy their demands.

There are about 50 departments and agencies in Ontario where the cost of bilingualism is a factor. A survey of the cost of supplying services in French for only 25 of these agencies amounted to $400,000,000 (four hundred million dollars) last year, and this is at a time when the NDP government is shutting down hospital beds, cutting back on education, old-age pensioners medication, etc. etc.

Those 50,000 French only speakers would be happier if they were able to converse in the language of the province. It would be cheaper to enroll each one of them in a very intensive English immersion program, and the young among them would then be able to progress in what is now accepted as an English-speaking dominated world. Even the government of France has recognized this and has made English the compulsory second language in their schools!

Yours truly,
J. A. McDonald,
Cornwall.

Don Boudria not in majority

To the editor:

Legalization — Voluntary assisted suicide, Voluntary euthanasia for dying persons.

Is MP Don Boudria's vehement opposition to the legalization of voluntary euthanasia shared by the majority of constituents? A recent public opinion poll tells us that some 77 per cent of Canadians favor legalization.

Is he listening only to a vociferous minority of his constituents — those who ignore such matters as changes in medical technology that can drag-out the dying process of people "living" in a vegetative state?

This issue is in the forefront now with ALS victim Sue Rodriguez' plea to parliament to permit assisted suicide when life becomes intolerable to her. She is asking the parliamentarians "Am I supposed to die in quiet desperation?"

Yours truly,

Non-profit housing board looking for new member

To the editor:

The Board of Directors of the Lancaster and District Non-Profit Housing Inc. would like to express their appreciation to Dorothy Seguin whose resignation was accepted with regret at the annual meeting held in Lancaster on March 8.

It is only with such willing and faithful service that an organization can continue to operate with the best interest of the community in mind.

The need to replace a board members is always a difficult pursuit, and the directors would like to invite anyone who might be interested, particularly in Charlottenburgh Township, but not necessarily exclusive, to contact the Chairman Eric Urquhart in Lancaster.

Thank you for this opportunity to make people aware.

Yours truly,
Joan P. MacDonald,
Secretary.

Former Glengarrian honored with medal

To the editor:

Would you please place on your Letters to the Editor page of the Glengarry News the following:

A long time resident of the Yukon Territory, Joann (Gelineau) Graham who was born in Alexandria, Ont. with many relatives still in Glengarry, has been awarded a recognition for her many activities over the past 30 years.

A commemorative medal for the 125th anniversary of the confederation of Canada was conferred upon Joann Graham of Haines Junction, Yukon, and presented by the Hon. Audrey McLaughlin, NDP, Yukon.

It is in recognition of the significant contribution to compatriots, community and to Canada, 1867-1992.

Yours truly,
Thelma McDonald,
Cornwall.

Come again

To the editor:

I find it extremely hypocritical on the part of the Glengarry News to promote a "Shop Canadian" campaign on one hand, while accepting a "Grand Opening" advertisement for a new store in Massena, N.Y. with the other.

Yours sincerely,
Diane Bedford,

Highway 417 curse continues to wreak havoc

Police Briefs

The fates must be conspiring against drivers who dare to brave the cursed Highway 417. Or at least nasty road and weather conditions.

On Wednesday, March 17, there were four separate accidents which damaged cars. The mishaps were attributed to icy patches and whiteout conditions on the major highway, report Maxville OPP.

Coincidentally, three of the four accidents occurred at the same time, 9:45 a.m., within a four kilometre stretch. Most of the vehicles sustained moderate damage but the silver lining to this cloud was there were no injuries.

Charles Downey, 67, of Montreal was westbound on Highway 417, about two kilometres east of the Scotch River Bridge East Branch, when he lost control of his 1986 Chevrolet van. The vehicle skidded into the north ditch and flipped.

Meanwhile, just one kilometre east of the bridge, Roy Allan was driving his tractor trailer and swerved to avoid some cars that stopped on the highway during severe whiteout conditions. The 27-year-old Etobicoke resident's truck jackknifed. The cab came to a rest in the mediam and the trailer blocked the entire east lane.

Peter Grabs, 31, of Moose Creek was eastbound along Highway 417 when he lost control of the tractor trailer he was driving. It jack knifed and the cab was in the median while the trailer blocked the eastbound lane.

Maxville OPP directed traffic while workers retrieved the tractor trailers. Their work was completed around 1 p.m.

At 3:15 p.m., about four kilometres east of Highway 138 on - you guessed it - Highway 417, Harry Prizant, 34, of Ottawa lost control of his 1992 Mazda, skidded and rolled into the north ditch.

Mother charged

A 23-year-old Lancaster woman has been charged with abducting her daughter from the Children's Aid Society's office on York Street in Cornwall.

The mother was visiting her child, a ward of CAS. The mother and her two-year-old daughter left through the front doors and drove away in a van.

She was tracked to Green Valley, where Lancaster OPP assisted in her apprehension along with CAS workers and the Cornwall Police.

The girl has been returned to CAS custody.

Close encounter

A pickup truck was totalled by a Canadian National Rail train but it could have been worse.

Friedrick Machmer, 70, of Laval, Quebec was driving along Pitt Street in Glen Robertson on Friday, March 19 at 1:20 p.m. Machmer, who was driving a 1987 Ford Ranger truck, slowed down to cross the train tracks — but the vehicle stalled.

The barriers were lowered and the bells sounded as a train came barreling down on the elderly couple. Both Machmer and the passenger got out of the truck safely.

The train conductor engaged the emergency brakes but there wasn't enough distance to stop as the train totalled the truck.

That's entertainment

Thieves made off with their own makeshift home entertainment centre after they stole a color television, VCR and radio/cassette player from an RR 3 Dalkeith residence late last week.

The thieves broke into the private residence by breaking a pane of glass on the front door. The articles are worth approximately $400.

Police looking for stolen high-tech equipment

Crime Stoppers needs the public's help in solving a break, enter and theft that took place on Sunday, Feb. 7 in Williamstown.

The culrpits forced open the front door and swiped a grey metal security box, a JVC VCR and General Electric answering machine. Lancaster OPP are looking for information on a black GMC mini van which was spotted in the area.

Anyone with information on this or any other crime may be eligible for a cash reward up to $1,000.

Police don't want your name, they want your information.

Call Crime Stoppers at 534-8477 or, when calling long distance, 1-800-265- 8477.

Dizzying accident

A Dalhousie man driving along Highway 43 banged up both sides of his car after he went for a spin of a different kind on Wednesday, March 17.

Thirty-year-old Thomas Webster was driving his Honda Civic when he hit a slippery patch of ice on the highway and lost control. The car veered to the right and the right front section slammed into a high snowbank. The car spun around and the left side hit the snowbank before the car came to a rest.

The accident took place at 5:15 p.m., just four kilometres west of Lake Shore Drive in Kenyon Township.

Webster was uninjured but his car sustained moderate damage.

Tobacco bust

Cornwall RCMP have charged a Laval man with possession of smuggled goods after they found 136 cans and cases of tobacco in a rented cube van he was driving.

The smuggled goods are worth approximately $220,000.

Richard Racine, 37, was driving the van on Highway 401, just west of Cornwall, on Tuesday, March 17 at 2 p.m. when he was pulled over.

House ransacked

An Alexandria resident will have a rude homecoming when he returns from a Florida getaway.

Sometime before Friday, March 19, thieves broke into a private residence located in Alexandria. The thieves ransacked the house. They stole a stereo system and a car parked in the garage, which was recovered Friday in the parking lot behind Fraternité Hall.

Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau said the thieves took down all the photos hanging on the walls.

"They must be watching too much television. Maybe they figure there's a wall safe in every home."

Hot tools

Thieves broke into Robert's Rental Service, located at 325 Main Street South in Alexandria, by forcing the west window open and swiped a selection of tools. The theft was reported on Monday, March 23.

The thieves stole a 13-piece and nine-piece standard-size wrench set; 13- piece and nine-piece metric wrench set — both were SK brand. A red plastic toolbox, a Makita Sabre Saw and $100 from the cash register was also taken.

Alexandria Police say the tools are engraved with a licence number.

Joyride to where?

Sometime over the weekend, a thief stole a white 1992 Lincoln Continental car from Alexandria Ford Mercury.

The theft was reported to Alexandria Police on Monday, March 23. The car has no licence plates.

Generator taken

Sometime during the weekend, thieves broke into a shed and swiped a McCullough 1,500 watt generator and various tools.

Maxville OPP are investigating the theft which occurred at the residence of Bob Pearson, of RR 3 Dalkeith, who reported it on Sunday, March 21.

FIRE AND SAFETY ADVISORY

Corrosion of Mass-Insulated, Factory-Built Chimneys

The Office of the Fire Marshal and the Underwriters' Laboratories of Canada have issued the following public safety notice.

Corrosion occurring in some insulated metal chimneys poses a potential safety hazard. These chimneys are commonly used for fireplaces, wood stoves and furnaces.

Corrosion of your metal chimney could ultimately result in the chimney falling off the roof or nearby materials surrounding the chimney catching on fire. Corrosion can potentially lead to a metal chimney becoming blocked by its own insulation, resulting in poisonous carbon monoxide gas building up inside your home. Studies have found corrosion occurring in some chimneys that were less than three years old.

Homeowners are responsible for maintaining the safety of their own chimneys. The Ontario Fire Marshal recommends that you have your chimneys (both metal and masonry) inspected each year by a qualified chimney sweep or heating contractor even when the chimney is only subject to light and intermittent use. Efforts should be made to inspect those portions of an insulated metal chimney installed within concealed spaces.

A certified chimney sweep or heating contractor can determine how safe your chimney is. If your chimney is unsafe, you will be advised on what repairs are needed. Until repairs are made, the fireplace or other heating appliance should not be used.

Make sure your chimney is safe – it's your responsibility to inspect it annually.

For further information on this public safety notice please contact the Office of the Fire Marshal at 1-800-268-6187, or your local fire department.

Village of Maxville

Council Briefs

The regular meeting was held on Feb. 9 at 7 p.m. with all members present.

Firefighters report

Last month, it was reported that our local firefighters association had purchased a rescue van.

At this meeting Chief Donald Sabourin presented his budget for 1993 with details for the direction in which his group is headed. Martial Brabant has been meeting with classes in our two schools as an educational as well as a public relations project.

Maxville Firefighters stand tops in SD&G with 79 points earned.

Trucks are to be safety checked immediately. In co-operation with council, a Health and Safety Committee is to be organized.

While Mr. Sabourin's budget requires further study, council approved the purchase of four bunker suits at $1,000 each. Next year will see the purchase of five additional ones as the firefighters require nine by 1994 by statute.

Co-operating with local merchants

Reeve Jim MacEwen and Councillors Ruth MacQueen and Ewen MacDonald have met with merchants to discuss village beautification along Main and Mechanic Streets. New signs, pole decorations and general spruce-up are being planned.

Traffic control

Formal application has been made to the SD&G Counties Road Department for the installation of a ''bull nose'' at the intersection of Main and Catherine Streets.

Council is satisfied that with Main Street narrowed at this intersection, traffic will slow down. The loss of eight parking spaces is not considered to be serious.

Medical Centre

The village-owned medical centre is 25 years old and in the need of renovations.

While Dr. Jaggassar is absent during the spring break, the walls between the examining rooms will be sound proofed.

An assessment will also be conducted on the condition of the roof and floors and a decision is to be made on outdoor siding.

1993 Recreation executive

The members of the recreation committee have been announced as follows: Chairperson — Stephen Titus, Vice-chairperson — Audrey Denobriga, Secretary-Treasurer — Ruth MacQueen and directors — Erin Hosler-Wensink, Ewen MacDonald.

Council's 1993 salary schedule

A bylaw was passed to award members annual honorariums that will take in all council meetings and committee meetings, including Hydro business.

The reeve will receive $1,800 and councillors $1,500. Each member is entitled to attend one convention per year and will receive $800 for all costs involved when in attendance.

School boards unite to pitch emergency fund proposal

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

When the going gets tough, children suffer.

Educators say that economic hardships often set off a chain reaction of problems beginning at home and they eventually spill into the classroom.

Approximately 2,200 people have been fired or laid off in Cornwall because of the recession. And the problem is the same in Glengarry County.

Those problems may manifest themselves in the school system in the form of depressed, violent, hungry or abused students.

In an unprecedented move, both the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Catholic and Public School Boards have united to propose that an emergency fund be established to combat these problems.

The fund would be used to hire trained professionals at social agencies so that the additional influx can be handled.

''There's no sense in creating another level of bureaucracy to deal with the problem. Instead we'll tap into existing resources and use the fund to beef them up,'' says Roger Davidson, the director of eductaion for the SDG Catholic School Board.

''These are problems which are not confined to certain schools or certain school boards. These problems can be found in every school.''

Representatives will be meeting with Minister of Community and Social Services Tony Silipo on Tuesday, April 6 to discuss the proposal.

Teachers are not trained to deal with behavorial problems, says Davidson. The number and severity of the problems which are appearing in area schools are both on the rise. The problem has to be dealt with head-on.

That starts with the student and will also include the parents where the problem may originate from, says Davidson.

Under the proposal, school board employees such as principals, teachers or counsellors would refer children to an agency which would be able to help. For example an abuse case would be referred to the Children's Aid Society.

If the tabled proposal is approved as is, the school boards will receive a total of $9 million for the program — $3 million per year for three years.

Two million would be set aside to hire the equivalent of 80 full-time direct care workers such as social workers, therapists and psychologists. The remainder of the emergency fund would be spent on such things as adminstration, sex abuse assistance, emergency housing and food.

The two boards have applied to four ministries: Education, Community and Social Services, Municipal Affairs and Health.

The emergency fund would also help supply money to in-school programs such as breakfast for children.

''In the past kids were frequently hungry but only because they forgot to eat. Now, their parents are unemployed, there's no jobs to be had and the kids have to do without,'' says Davidson.

Davidson says that this funding isn't an option — it's a necessity.

In addition, the problem is compounded because school boards are being forced to reduce the amount of money they spend. The majority of their budgets goes toward paying salaries. After that, there's little or no room to manoeuvre.

Futures off to "fill gap"

Charlottenburgh could help itself through Community Futures, executive director of the committee, Susan Carter, told council at a regular meeting held March 9.

Carter, along with Chairman Joan MacDonald, appeared as a delegation to inform council members of funds available to township residents.

Carter explained that Community Futures is a program funded by Employment and Immigration Canada, designed to let communities be the innovators, leaders and directors in solving their long-term employment needs.

The program was introduced in 1986 to ''help Canadian communities that are in decline to plan and restructure to meet the demands of a changing economy and labor market.''

SD&G Community Futures is now into its second five-year term, and Carter said that several local initiatives have received its assistance. The program was a one-third funding partner with Cooper Marsh, helped with the Martinville Hockey Stick Company, and is currently working with the group proposing to set up an ethanol plant in the area.

In addition more than 87 people have received self-employment funding assistance. Community Futures ''fills the gap'' according to Carter, and attempts to provide ''local solutions to local problems, using local resources.''

The Community Futures Committee is at present developing a strategic plan that will guide the implementation of the program in SD&G over the next five years. The plan will be based upon community consultation and will compliment the existing economic development strategic plans adopted by Cornwall Council and Counties Council.

Written submissions to the committee would be most welcome. ''We'd love to do something for you in Williamstown,'' concluded Carter.

Hwy 401 contract awarded

Ontario Transportation Minister Gilles Pouliot has announced the awarding of a contract for the restoration of five underpasses on Hwy. 401 near Cornwall.

The $1.1-million contract, awarded to Peter Kiewit & Sons Co. Ltd., involves restoring underpasses between interchange #778 (Long Sault Road) and the Quebec boundary at Highway 2/34, Westley Road, Bainsville Road, Avonmore Road and Forced Road. Each underpass will be waterproofed, re-paved and restored with new repair joints, deck drains, curbs, gutters and guide rails. Deteriorated concrete and concrete overlays will also be repaired.

The restoration will extend the lives of the bridges and reduce maintenance costs.

The project will create the equivalent of 32 full-time jobs for one year. Work is scheduled for completion in early September 1993.

Adventures in snowplowing

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

Charlottenburgh council meetings are not often of the stuff that social writers thrive upon, but every now and then, the makings of a good story filter between the tenders and contracts, committee, staff and councillors' reports. Such was the case last evening when Roads Superintendent Ewen MacDonald described the road crew's actions during the ''big snow'' last weekend. Like a drama in true life with all the trimmings of a Reader's Digest story, Ewen detailed the hour-by-hour actions of our local heros.

Fortunately for all of us, the storm's publicity agent did a bang-up job. Advance promotions informed us in plenty of time to get good seats for the performance, AND TO STAY THERE. Of course the odd rebel tried to run the roads, and the odd doubting Thomas ventured out, but by and large, we were prepared. And so was our roads department.

For it, the show began around 5:30 p.m. on Saturday when the crews were called and told to make arrangements to be on the roads at 5 o'clock the next morning. At 7 p.m., due to the worsening conditions, Ewen decided he had better make the journey from his home in Maxville to the township garage in Williamstown, in order to be sure to be there himself!

From about 9 p.m. to the early hours of Sunday morning, Ewen manned the telephone, receiving calls, mostly from stranders and ditchers, who wanted to warn the plow drivers of their cars which lay buried at various points on various roads in the township. Meanwhile the winds whipped higher and the visibility remained at zero.

At 3 a.m. the local guys started coming to work — Kenny Ferguson, Sydney Gordon, Butch Gordon, Bruno Major — walking, of course, while Rene Chalette came by snowmobile. While the men got primed with coffee for the long day ahead, plans were made to prioritize the roads to be cleared.

At 5 a.m., still with darkness and zero visibility, Ewen made the call to wait until daylight to get the plows on the road.

As soon as the dawn arrived, at 6 a.m., the first plows set off to open up the Glen Road to the Glendale Subdivision to liberate Marc Giroux, who had to open up the arena so that the Winter Games could continue in Williamstown.

For the first time since 1971, the V-plow was used, but despite this, the going was slow on all routes. Concession roads were taking about three hours to plow and would fill in again shortly after. The men plowed for more than 15 hours straight, stopping only to refuel. Along the way they battled with a variety of problems, including frozen hydraulics, two flat tires, and getting themselves stuck several times.

And when callers would phone and say they hadn't seen a plow out yet, the road superintendent would reply, ''Yes you have, you just didn't recognize it in the blowing snow!''

Reeve Dave MacDonald told Ewen how much council appreciated all the work he and the men had done during the storm.

''It was a difficult day. The guys deserve to be congratulated,'' replied Ewen.

We agree: Congratulations and thanks from us all!

Now some storm stats for all you who hunger after figures: total accumulation — 48 cm.; total cost of snow removal — $10,000 ($8,000 for Sunday, $2,000 for Monday's clean-up); amount spent this year ('93) to date — $150,000.

But take heart; we have apparently spent less in '93 than in '92. There are two reasons for this. Less salt has been used this year than last, and the plows are not going out after 11 p.m. or before 5 a.m., so that they will jibe with their counterparts from the counties.

I haven't heard any horror stories yet from the March Breakers who travelled to the southern states. Maybe they didn't come back after all!

The Rawnsleys returned from a wonderful vacation in just the right spot — Palm Springs, Calif. It was 88 degrees F weather, they took long nature walks in the desert, and they spotted Richard Dreyfuss driving by in a Rolls Royce convertible! What more could one ask for? How about a glimpse of Barbara MacDougall in an airport lounge? Yes, that too!

Michael MacDougall had a different sort of trip recently, when he attended the Juno Awards ceremony in Toronto. Michael, who works for Molsons which sponsors the annual event, said it was an entertaining time but that he got a little tired doing all that clapping!

It's a trip of a lifetime for Ingrid Payer and her friend, Malcolm Argyle, of Ottawa. The two left March 1 for a holiday in Tonga, a hiking trip in New Zealand, and three months in Australia! While in Australia they will visit with friends and relatives.

Ingrid and Malcolm expect to return to Canada in time for the wedding of Maria Payer and Sean Pemberton which will take place in Kingston on July 17.

Sean, who comes from Ottawa, is working on a PhD in Chemistry at Queen's University, while Maria expects to graduate from Queen's this spring with a BSc.

Congratulations to you both!

Bob Campbell is going to be extra lucky today (Wednesday). Why? The answer comes from that mathematical friend of his who enjoys asking riddles. This year it's simple multipication: What's 7x7?

Happy birthday, Bob!

Lots of good news this week. It seems that Glenda McDonell, daughter of the late Allan Edward and Cecilia McDonell, has received a special award.

Glenda, who is the principal of Prince of Peace School with the Ottawa RC Separate School Board, was selected by members of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association (OECTA), Ottawa Unit, to receive the Doreen Brady Memorial Award, at the federation's professional day, held Feb. 26.

This award is given for excellence in leadership in Catholic education. It was presented to Glenda for her participation at the executive level of the federation, her service on numerous board committees and her dedication to the students of her school and community work.

''We were all very pleased to have her work and dedication recognized,'' writes Eleanor Macdonell, formerly of Glen Nevis.

Congratulations, Glenda!

Congratulations, too, to Darcy and Anne Gordon on the birth of their first child, a little girl, Bronwyn, born Monday at Women's College Hospital in Toronto.

The new baby is the fourth grandchild for Grace and Ralph Gordon of Williamstown.

You are all invited to the Glengarry South Cancer society's kick-off breakfast, being held Sunday, April 4, at St. Joseph's Hall in Lancaster, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

Locals honored in Canada 125 ceremony

Martintown
by Lillian Rouleau

Long-time resident Rae MacCulloch was one of 20 recipients of the Commemorative Medal for the 125th anniversary of confederation, Friday evening, March 19, 1993. The medals were presented by MP Don Boudria and MPP Noble Villeneuve, in a ceremony held in the Community Room of the Glengarry Sports Palace in Alexandria.

Mrs. MacCulloch was honored for founding the MacCulloch School of Dancing, and her work with Glengarry youths over the years.

The first dancing class was held in 1955, in her sister's farm kitchen, with seven young students. When asked why she started the dancing classes, Mrs. MacCulloch replied that she had enjoyed dancing as a child, and after moving to this area upon her marriage to Alex MacCulloch, she wanted to share this enjoyment with the local children, and so, she began teaching them.

Now, almost 40 years later, the school has 500 students, and daughters Heather Forbes of Navan and Deborah Wheeler of St. Andrews, are instructors and the MacCulloch grandchildren are all dancing. Classes are held in Navan/Orleans, Maxville, Martintown and Alexandria.

The MacCulloch Dancers are internationally-renowned, and they perform almost weekly at various functions. They have represented Canada at festivals held throughout the U.S., in Puerto Rico, and have toured Scotland, as well as Ontario and the Maritimes. They have also performed at Disney World three years.

Their reputation is spread far and wide by word of mouth, and they have no need to advertise. They receive no government funding, and when performing locally, they never charge any fee. When invited to cultural festivals, all expenses and accommodations are provided by the festival organizers, but they must provide for their transportation. From time to time, they will raise funds by holding a dance or a raffle, and they accept donations.

The travelling MacCulloch Dancers are high school students and the group may be 35 to 60 in number. The average age is 16 years. Members of the group are very dedicated young people, who give up much of their personal social time to practice, travel and perform with the MacCulloch Dancers, and Rae considers them as family, as so many of them begin in her classes as young children and remain until they leave for college and university. The parents are also wonderfully supportive and involved with their youngsters' progress.

Congratulations Rae MacCulloch!

Another local honored with a medal on Friday evening was George Rouleau for his involvement in the Voyageurs '92 student exchange program.

This was only the most recent of many community projects in which George has been involved over the years.

He has served on school committees, initiated a Block Parent program in the community where he lived at the time; he was a lay missionary with the Presbyterian Church in the innercity of Montreal, doing prison visitations, crisis intervention, food and clothing distribution, working with youths, etc.

George Rouleau came to this area in 1987, to oversee the opening of the detox centre in Cornwall, where he was director, and in December 1988, he became director of the drug addiction program at the Eastern Ontario Health Unit. He also teaches counselling skills at St. Lawrence College and does private counselling.

He has served on boards and advisory committees for Baldwin House, Mt. Carmel Treatment Centre, and other organizations, and is a member of the Critical Incident Stress Debriefing team of Eastern Ontario. He was also the charter president of the Optimist Club of Martintown.

More recently, he has been referred to as ''Liliane Rouleau's husband,'' something that brings out his sense of humor and which he accepts

Caring for Life

By Dr. George McKiel

Our Liver

I always remember way back in my undergrad years, a biochemist enamoured by the chemistry of this complex organ, our liver, saying ''the liver performs more than 3200 different biochemistry functions.'' But, to put it more briefly the liver

1. cleans our blood by neutralizing, destroying or storing any poisonous substances we breathe, eat or absorb through our skin
2. regulates our body supply of fuel by producing, storing and releasing blood sugar and fat
3. manufacturing many of our essential proteins which ties in with transport, via our blood, clotting of blood and resisting body infections
4. making bile, a waste product, which is recycled to aid fat digestion
5. regulating the balance of many of our hormones including those of sex and our thyroid ones
6. regulating our body cholesterol by producing it when needed, converting it to other substances and also excreting the excess
7. regulating our repertoire of essential vitamins and minerals like iron and copper.

So our liver is a busy chemical factory which can and does sometimes, go awry such as in a gallstone attack when they grow as large as golfballs, and cause severe abdominal pain. Gallstones form from cholesterol and certain pigments, crystalizing out of the bile. They can block the ducts. Some 20 per cent of Canadian women and 10 per cent of men will have gallstones by the age of 60 and they are more common in obesity and people who eat too much or lose weight rapidly by extreme diets.

Another liver disorder is viral hepatitis, an inflammation caused by several viruses: hepatitis A, B, C, D and E. In most cases the body's defenses can eliminate the infection but there is also the chance it may become chronic, lead to cirrhosis or cancer. We do have an effective vaccine to preclude hepatitis B and people at risk (police, nurses, health care workers and those having multiple sex partners) should avail themselves of the vaccine. In fact, in British Columbia hepatitis vaccination is mandatory for all grade 6 children. What is important, most important, and most people do not realize this, is that the hepatitis virus is far more infectious than AIDS and, like Aids, is most commonly spread via sex or contaminated blood. The hepatitis B virus can cause cancer, probably the major cause of liver cancer worldwide though the cancer may result from certain parasites, drugs, and environmental toxins.

Cirrhosis takes the lives of thousands of Canadians each year and most of these are associated with alcohol abuse though some metals, notably cadium, will scar the tissue of the liver and bring on cirrhosis.

There are well over 100 known liver diseases and one of the best, most informative organizations to support, join or contact is

Canadian Liver Foundation
1320 Yonge St., Suite 301 Tollfree 1-800-563-5483
Toronto Ont. M4T 1X2

This not-for-profit organization provides funding for research ($3/4 million last year alone), education, finding causes and cures for liver diseases. There are 27 Chapters for Can•Liver Foundation across the nation and our closest is

Cornwall, Box 1121, Cornwall, Ont. K6H 5V2
931-3227 and the current president is Denise Proulx

I rather liked their adoption of the Daisy as a symbol of Hope in the ongoing battle against liver problems. They even supply a packet of daisy seeds to promote their image.

Lochiel Township

Council Briefs

The following are among the items discussed by Lochiel Township council at the regular monthly meeting March 9.

Road paving

Lochiel council members will inspect Lorne School road for potential paving to the bridge section when they make their spring roads inspection in April.

Reeve Ron MacDonell said there had been an estimate of $20,000 to pave to the bridge, and that there is a request for a cattle walkway culvert near Hugh MacPherson's farm.

Community police

Councillor William Hagen told council he got calls from residents of Dalkeith and other areas of the township, complaining that the OPP Community Police officer is not in his office in Glen Robertson often enough, when people try to phone him with problems.

"But he was more visible last month," Hagen said. "The reason for his absence from the office was due to short staffing at the OPP Maxville office during January.

Composter containers

Public meetings will be held during April at Dalkeith and Glen Robertson, to explain township-wide household garbage pickup and recycling schedules.

Council will advertise the time and place of each meeting in the newspaper to explain what products can be recycled and garbage pickup routes.

The new garbage service is slated to begin in May.

Severances

Council granted a lot severance to Ontario 729027 Inc. for a lot of 40,000 sq. ft., fronting on River Road east of Alexandria.

But council delayed acting on a severance application from the farm of Hugette and Yvon Lortie at lot 4, con. 2, until council meets in April.

Building Administrator Dorothy Irvine pointed out that the Lortie application requests severance from the farm of a lot which would be built on by a non-family member.

The township Official Plan allows building lots to be severed off farms for retirement homes for the farmers, or for the use of sons and daughters who are working on the farm.

"If we break our own laws for one person we will have to break them for everybody," Councillor William Hagen warned.

Administrator Irvine said most severance applications over the past year have come in from working farms.

"But we are beginning to get more requests for lot severances on marginal land and on the outskirts of towns, which is where we would like to see home building."

Deputy Reeve Maurice Montpetit suggested Lochiel should follow Lancaster Township's example and set up a subdivision like Lancaster Heights, "put in the service ourselves and sell off lots. We have plenty of areas with good road access where we could plan subdivisions."

New job for Reeve

Reeve Ron MacDonell was elected chair of the Eastern Ontario Region chapter of the Association of Conservation Authorities of Ontario (ACAO).

He was vice-chair last year of the region, which includes Raisin River and the South Nation River Conservation Authorities, stretching from Napanee, east.

Fire costs

Fighting four fires in Lochiel Township during February cost the township $7,450 of the $15,900 general accounts tab, approved by council. Fire calls are handled by Alexandria Fire Department and billed to Lochiel.

Most expensive fire was a two-call run to Glen Robertson, which cost $1,074 for the first call, and $3,042 for the second run. Another Glen Robertson fire cost $832 to fight, and a fire on Boundary Road cost $873. A Fassifern Road house fire cost $1,311.

Council authorized payment of a $27,000 roads account, $203 for Glen Robertson water pumping, $546 for recreation costs, and $35 for the community policing mobile phone.

Splatters rezoning

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

General Splatters Paintball War Games in Lancaster could be shut down if an application for rezoning is not approved by Lancaster Township council.

At their last regular meeting, held Wednesday, March 17, council members passed a resolution to defer their decision on the rezoning application. The matter will be put to a vote after Canadian National Rail and the Ministry of Agriculture and Food respond to the application.

"If CNR disagrees or the Ministry of Ag and Food says it's okay or not okay we'll know what we'll be getting into," said Clerk-Treasurer Mike Samson.

The five-acre paintball game operation is located about one kilometre east of Lancaster village and has been in operation since last summer. The problem is that this war zone is zoned for agricultural use.

Rolland and Ursula Schroeder have applied for rezoning, either tourism or commercial/recreation. But if the Ministry of Agriculture and Food turns them down, the operation may be nixed.

"The Ministry of Agriculture and Food will likely refuse (the rezoning application)," Samson said.

The other problem may come from CNR.

A bullet train which travels the Toronto to Montreal corridor runs near the operation. Council is afraid that a car-train collision is in the making because there are no warning signals and players must cross the tracks en route to General Splatters.

For now, council will wait to see what CNR and the Ministry have to say.

But, as Reeve Charlie Sangster pointed out, it would be a loss to the area because General Splatters draws players from as far away as Montreal.

Kenyon rejects rejection

A suggestion that recommendations by the Sewell Commission be rejected and that a new commission comprised of representatives from each Ontario municipality be established, did not fly with Kenyon Township council.

The suggestion was made in a resolution from the Township of Osprey, much to the chagrin of council members who rejected the idea that the entire process of revising planning and development policies in Ontario start anew.

"We're being 'committeed' to death . . . Why would they proceed to throw it out and start all over again? Give it a chance to die a natural death if that's to be," said Clerk-Treasurer Mary McCuaig.

Councillor Owen Walker made a brief and impromptu presentation to the Sewell Commission March 2.

He said, "I think they (commission) have done a good job. They've gone around the province gathering information and have put together an interim report.

"It will change. I thought they were receptive to suggestions and ideas; it didn't seem to be mere pro-forma. They were there to hear people."

Earlier in the meeting, Deputy Reeve Donald Besner told council: "Something bugs me about the whole system. It appears that someday they want to get rid of municipalities. There would be only counties and upper tier governments."

Landfill site extension encounters no objections

A long-awaited decision on the fate of Charlottenburgh's north landfill site should be made known within several months, following three-and-a-half days of hearings which ended March 4.

The hearings held at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre in Williamstown, examined evidence in the township's application for a five-year extension of its certificate of approval to operate the site.

Once a hot issue in Charlottenburgh municipal politics, the landfill site hearings drew a mere 10 residents, all of whom had no objections to the extension of the certificate.

David Rawnsley, a township ratepayer, did request that certain conditions be attached to the certificate.

Rawnsley, who was unable to be present at the hearings, told The Glengarry News that his written submission urged that the township provide collection facilities at the landfill site and at least three other locations in the township for the drop-off of recyclable items.

In addition, he would like to see the township manage the sale of recyclables and establish an "environmental committee" to advise on the management of the landfill, a task taken over by the municipality from a private contractor in February.

Rawnsley said he thought the township "should start planning now for the next five years" and that the extenstion "should be an election issue."

"If we all manage our own thing locally and do it properly, we could have a landfill site," said Rawnsley. "There are all sorts of things we as residents can do."

Going green

Iona raises awareness of environment by doing lunch

Iona Academy teachers Rick Blanchard and Mary Lynn Sauve gather around the school's composting area with members of the student outdoors club. The club is spearheading waste reduction at the school.

Lunch at Iona Academy in St. Raphael's recently had the distinctive hue of green.

But it was not the food that was green, but the way it was transported to school using environmentally friendly reusable containers.

The exercise was undertaken by school teachers and students to determine just how must waste is being created through lunch packaging. And what they found was surprising.

They weighed all the waste created during a normal lunch hour, then weighed the waste created during a litterless lunch day where students used reusable containers.

Measurements indicated the school could save with litterless lunches 40 lbs. of waste each day at meal time, or a whopping 8,000 lbs. per year.

The project was headed by teachers Rick Blanchard and Mary Lynn Sauve and students of the school's environentally friendly outdoor education club.

Blanchard, said it was when the total garbage savings per year were totalled that they realized just how much waste was being created at lunchtime.

''That starts to hit home,'' he said in a interview at the school.

The school already recycles its cans, paper and composts its food waste in a compost pile in the bush at the edge of the school yard, so completely litterless luncheons is a natural progression.

The next step is to impress on the students the amount of waste they can save with litterless lunches; ''make them see 8,000 lbs. is a significant amount,'' said Blanchard.

They in turn will have to convince their parents, who pack their lunches, the significance of the saving.

And hopefully the same ideas will be applied by the students in their homes to reduce waste there as well, Blanchard said.

Opening of Wal-Mart prompts chambers to host competition seminar

The Wal-Mart juggernaut is about to set up shop in nearby Massena, N.Y. but chambers throughout SD&G, through the Border Zone Advisory Committee (BZAC) want retailers to fight back.

Eclipsing such retail giants as Sears and K-Mart, Wal-Mart is now the largest retailer in North America. An ad printed in last week's Glengarry News advertised its opening, scheduled for later in April.

The Cornwall area BZAC, which has representation from Glengarry, and the Cornwall and Morrisburg chambers are presenting Wal-Mart expert Dr. Kenneth Stone, professor of economics at Iowa State University, who will introduce participants to Wal-Mart Marketing strategies and operations. Then, it will show how to identify its weaknesses and more importantly, show how to cash in on generated traffic and when.

The seminar will cost $20 plus GST for chamber members and $30 plus GST for non-members. Seats must be reserved by calling 933-4004 in Cornwall or Morrisburg 543-4558. In Alexandria, you can reserve by calling Alexandria chamber president Sheila Olson at 525-4098.

The session will be held at the Best Western Parkway Inn on Thursday, April 1. A light buffet supper will be served at 6 p.m., followed by the seminar at 7 p.m.

Plans for bicentennial proceed

The monthly activities of the Glenelg Bi-Centennial Committee was held in Laggan School on Mar. 1 with Morlin Campbell in the chair.

The activities planned for Aug. 1994 were gone over, with some discussion re the ''Sound and Light'' program planned. Details of this venture will be worked out later.

Another project being planned is the Glengarry Summer School of Scottish Culture, which will probably be held during the last week in August. This will include classes in Gaelic (Conversation and Song), Piping, Highland Dancing, Drumming and Violin. Competent instructors will be arranged, but of course the success of this project will depend on students enrolling in the classes. The committee will attempt to arrange billeting with local families for students from a distance, and it is thought that if this project is successful it might become an ongoing thing.

There are many details of this idea to be worked out yet, and the public will be informed of how students may register in plenty of time.

The next meeting was set for April 1.

Barrier-free access ordered

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

An Alexandria insurance broker is asking the town for proof that he needs to provide barrier-free access for the physically challenged.

Remi Prud'homme of Prud'homme Remi Insurance Brokers Ltd. made the request in a letter brought up at an Alexandria council meeting March 9.

He, expressing he was "surprised at the tone" of the letter ordering him to provide the ramp, has asked for certified copies of the provincial law, building code and town bylaws requiring him to provide disabled access.

Prud'homme was ordered by Terry Hart, Alexandria Chief Building and Zoning Administrator, in a Feb. 25 letter to provide a ramp at his business at 2-198 Main St. South.

Prud'homme, reached at his business Thursday, refused to comment on the situation.

Hart, also reached Thursday, said that under the Ontario building code, if there is a problem identified with a building after it has been constructed, if must be corrected.

Prud'homme's building, constructed in 1989, should have been built with some sort of barrier-free access for the disabled. That usually means construction of a wheelchair ramp.

Hart said the fact the building was done without a ramp was likely an oversight at the time.

Prud'homme has been sent the documentation he requested indicating he is required to provide barrier-free access, and has been given until August to provide such access.

In Prud'homme's case, there may not be enough room to provide a ramp with the required gentle slope, Hart said. But a chairlift could be another option for the business, he said.

If Prud'homme does not comply by August, he could be levied with some hefty fines for failing to comply with the order.

Prud'homme's building was one of a number singled out by the advocacy group Freedom After Disability in a meeting with Alexandria's planning committee.

Another building singled out is the town's curling club which had renovations done to it in the 1980s, and if they were done after 1986, means the club also must provide barrier-free access.

Hart is looking into to it to see if in fact the building is contravening the code.

Council will likely grant their wish

By Scott Ferrier
News* reporter

Future guests in search of Glen Nevis resident Jack Patrick's homestead may be hard pressed to find it.

Lancaster Township, which has been assigning official names to roads for the rural numbering system and a soon-to-be-released map, was going to name the lane, which Patrick lives on, Glen Road.

But Patrick wrote a letter suggesting a change.

"We've got enough glens to fill a valley never mind a glen," he wrote referring to Glen Robertson, Glen Sandfield and any other glens that might pop up.

He wrote that the road to Glen Robertson is commonly known as Glen Road and anyone travelling to his residence might get lost.

In the letter, which was read at councils' regular meeting held last Wednesday night, he suggested that the small laneway be renamed Church Road or Maryvale Road (in reference to the church). Although council didn't officially pass a resolution approving of the change the consensus was that the road will be renamed to avoid any confusion.

Clerk-Treasurer Mike Samson said the small change to the map won't cost any extra money because it's on computer and has yet to be printed or even finalized.

Councillors liked Butternut Lane, which Patrick suggested, because many area residents have always called it that. The name originated from a poem and a cluster of butternut trees which are located alongside the road.

"The name is longer than the road," joked Samson.

Of all the suggested names, however, Lovers Lane drew the most vocal response — in the form of a few chuckles. In earlier years, that area was a popular parking spot for young couples.

But increased development has taken the romance away.

Kinsmen goaltender, Jamie Poulin, makes a save on Rodney Craig as the Glen Nevis player and teammate Findley McLeod break in two-on-none during Game Four of the Border Hockey League final at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday. The Kinsmen won the game 10-7 to force Game Five tomorrow night. See page 15 for full series story.

Glens shake things up

Poirier is new president while Stewart returns as manager

A couple of old faces will be filling new roles for the Alexandria Jr. B Glens next season.

Leo Poirier, who has been the team's secretary-treasurer for the past seven seasons, will be the Glens' new president while former prez Archie Stewart takes over from Claude Roy as general manager.

Meanwhile, public relations director Daniel Brunet has resigned.

The moves were made at a team meeting last Monday (March 15) but weren't officially announced until the team's year-end banquet on Saturday.

Both Poirier and Stewart said the number one priority would be bringing the team back into the playoffs after a last-place finish in 1992-93.

''Our first goal is to legitimately make the playoffs next season. That's the first step,'' said Poirier.

''Turmoil seemed to follow us around for most of this season. For the upcoming season, Archie, Robert (Boisvenue, the Glens' coach) and myself are going to set some rules from Day One and hopefully that will bring better results on and off the ice.''

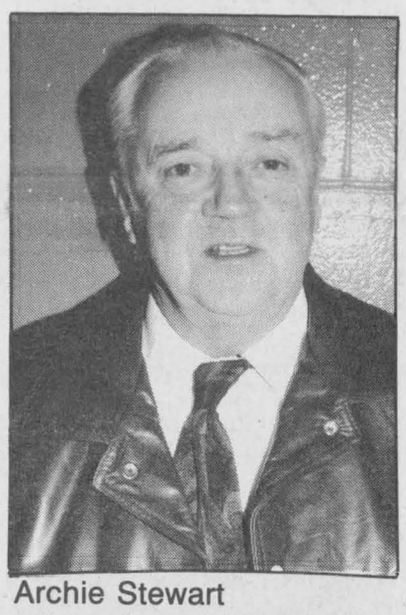
Stewart, who is making a return to the GM position after a one-year absence, is also anxious to bring back the Glens' winning ways.

''This is one more shot to get the team back on track,'' he said. ''We have a few good guys coming back and there's some other good players hanging around the county.''

Stewart's return to GM was necessitated when the position was left vacant by the resignation of Roy after the season.

''Claude did a terrific job but he had a lot of commitments other than the team and that made it difficult for him,'' said Stewart. ''We appreciate what Claude did for us.''

Leo Poirier



Archie Stewart

DeRooy never considered

A persistent rumor that had been making the rounds for the past couple of months had former coach Peter DeRooy coming back as coach and general manager, but Stewart says he never spoke to DeRooy about either job.

''We never really talked to Peter about being our coach or our GM.''

When he asked if he gave any thought to possibility of DeRooy's return, Stewart replied: ''Not really.''

One plus for the Glens is the fact that the management situation has been settled early in the off-season.

At this time last year there was uncertainty surrounding all the key positions in the Alexandria front office and the personnel didn't fall into place until the summer months.

''It's really cut and dried right now at just about every position except secretary-treasurer,'' said Stewart.

The new management staff has already been out on a few scouting missions and the surface has already been scratched on such topics as player affiliations and practice time for the 1993-94 campaign.

''One of the things we're going to have to do is take a good look at our schedule in relation to our practices,'' said Poirier, pointing out that there were more mid-week games than ever this past season.

''With the schedule the way it is there was an adverse effect on our practice time last year. It's kind of difficult to work on things when you're just basically going from game to game.''

Regardless of the obstacles that the Glens may face in the coming months, Poirier is convinced that the situation is not as dismal as last season's record would indicate.

''Unfortunately, the results on the scoreboard didn't necessarily reflect the improvement off the ice.

''I think we were a much better team by the end of the season. The impressive thing for me was that they kept showing up. Sometimes, when you have a season like we just had, you have to scramble to get enough players late in the season, but that never happened with Alexandria.''

Incidentally, the resignations of Roy and Brunet means that none of the five staff members hired less than a year ago will be with the team in September.

Coach Lee Taillefer was replaced 10 games into the season while assistant Frank St.Pierre had to give up his post because he embarked on a new business venture (as part-owner and operator of Champions Roadhouse) early in the hockey year.

Luc Sabourin, the other man hired to assist Taillefer, completed the season as co-coach with Robert Boisvenue but has already indicated that he is unlikely to return next year.

C-L house league playoffs winding down

The Char-Lan Minor Hockey house league playoffs are entering into their final week of action with the divisional champions to be determined in ''The Weekend of Champions'' in Williamstown this Friday through Monday.

Here are some of the results from the double round-robin games played in the last week heading into the championship round:

Bantam-midget

Four different players connected for Dan's place in a 4-0 win over Mac's Marina in bantam-midget divisional playoff action.

David Small, Jason Buriak, Dan Gillespie and Pat Menard each scored once for the winners.

Dan's also defeated Poirier Bus Lines last week, getting a goal each from Sam Cain, David Small, Robbie Lamarche and Dan Gillespie in a 4-1 victory.

Damien Lafave had the only goal for Poirier.

Paul St.Denis scored twice as Gauthier's Greenhouse and Mac's Marina played to a 3-3 tie.

Geoff McLean also scored for Gauthier's while Mac's replied with singles by Dan Olson, Travis Guest and Reid Guest.

In the other bantam-midget contest, Gauthier's and Poirier played to a 1-1 draw.

Billy Goudie scored for Gauthier's while Andre Hebert took care of the Poirier offence.

Peewee

Charles Leclair and Chris Malyon each had four-point games as Malyon's Excavation dumped Longevity Acrylics 7-4 in a peewee division game last week.

Leclair had three goals and one assist while Chris Malyon had two goals and two helpers.

Tyson Currier and Darryl Major had the other Malyon goals.

Robert Martin Jr. had three of Longevity's goals while Francois Bourdon was responsible for the other.

Longevity also lost its other game last week, dropping a 5-3 decision to Munro Agromart.

Kirk MacMillan and Phillippe Menard each scored twice for Munro while Paul Dawson added a single.

Robert Martin, Ryan Gillespie and Chad McIntosh were the Longevity scorers.

Joel Plamondon scored a hat trick to pace Kalrim Sports to a 5-3 win against Malyon's.

Patrick Dubeau and Ian Main had the other goals for the winners; Charles Leclair, Chris Malyon and Darryl Major replied for Malyon's.

The other peewee game saw Munro Agromart slip by Kalrim Sports 4-3 as Jason Bacon and Paul Dawson had a goal and an assist apiece.

Other scorers for Munro were Phillippe Menard and Kirk MacMillan.

Jason Varrin, Alex Hadzocos and Alex Pattingale each scored once for Kalrim while Patrick Dubeau had three assists.

Kalrim was in Kemptville to compete in a tournament last Friday, and the locals took the ''A'' championship, defeating Richmond, Perth and Blackburn Hamlet.

Goalie Tyler Murree was Kalrim's MVP for the final game.

Atom

Cornwall Aviation and the Glengarry Kinsmen will square off in the atom division final after the completion of round-robin games last week.

The two-game, total-goal final should be a close one judging from the teams' their most recent meetings, which saw the two clubs fight to a pair of ties.

Blake Roy scored a deuce for the Kinsmen in a 4-4 draw with Aviation while Nikola Kovanich and Jason Gales added one goal apiece.

Scott McKenzie scored twice for Aviation while Russel Colebeck and Ed McCorkell added singles.

The teams also tied 3-3 as Aviation's Phil Hadzocos, Russel Coleback and Brad Snider exchanged goals with Kinsmen's Michael Touchette, Shawn O'Bery and Blake Roy.

Russel Colebeck, Scott McKenzie, Phil Hadzocos and Brad Snider each found the back of the net in Aviation's 4-1 win over McCuaig Plumbing last week. Marc Tremblay had the only McCuaig tally.

Finally, McCuaig Plumbing

Blazers heat up at tournaments

The Alexandria Blazers atom house league team has been cleaning up on the minor hockey tournament scene the past couple of weeks.

The Blazers, who are coached by Michel Depratto, Dan O'Brien and John Cullen, have participated at four different competitions in the past 18 days and have captured three ''A'' championships along the way.

Alexandria narrowly missed making a clean sweep of things, losing in double-overtime in the only tournament they failed to win.

The Blazers' string of success started in Hawkesbury on March 6 and 7 as Alexandria outdistanced a 12-team field to take the tournament's top honors.

The team refueled and then nine days later made it two tourney wins in a row by taking the Char-Lan tournament in Williamstown.

In Kemptville on March 17, Alexandria cooled off just a little as the Blazers lost a double-overtime heartbreaker in the championship game.

The team got back on the winning track two days later however as the Blazers brought home their third tournament victory by winning a competition in Smiths Falls.

The members of the team are: Jason Lobb, Mark Van Den Oetelaar, Cassie Depratto, Marie-Andree Carriere, John Cullen, Derek O'Brien, Nick Quenneville, Steven Van Den Oetelaar, Julien Sarda, Mathieu Sarda, Sylvain Decoeur, Michael MacKinnon and Rory MacLeod.

Brodie Bombers win another DOBL crown

For the eighth time in a decade, the Brodie Bombers are the playoff champions of the Dalkeith Outdoor Broomball League.

The Bombers added another title to their collection earlier this month by dispatching the Kenyon Regulators in two straight games of the DOBL final series.

After Brodie took the first game 5-4 in a shootout, the Bombers clinched the playoff crown with a 2-0 victory in Game Two.

Ray Robinson and Dan Fourney scored the goals for the Red Machine while David MacPherson provided shutout goaltending.

Maxville takes consolation crown

Maxville Farm Machinery captured the ''B'' title after defeating the Vonpreussen Chiefs by a score of 2-0.

Marc DeRepentigny and Norm DeRepentigny each scored once while Martin Cardinal recorded the shutout.

Stars come out at Palace

The league put on an All-Star Game at the Glengarry Sports Palace to wrap up the season with the East scoring a late goal to salvage a 3-3 tie with their counterparts from the West.

The East actually stormed out to a first-half 2-0 lead on goals by Ray Robinson and Duncan MacPherson before the West rallied for three consecutive goals in the second half to take the lead.

Stephane Menard, Marc DeRepentigny and Norm DeRepentigny were the goalscorers for the Westerners.

The East pulled their goalie for an extra attacker in the closing stages of the game and the move paid off as Dan Fourney scored with six seconds left on the clock to knot the score.

Post-season awards

The DOBL also handed out some hardware at the conclusion of the 1992-93 season.

In addition to honoring the team winners, including the Kenyon Regulators (first place in the regular season), the Brodie Bombers (A champs), Maxville Farm Machinery (B champs) and the Vonpreussen Chiefs (C champs), several individuals also received trophies.

Rocky Lacombe of the Regulators was named as the regular season's most valuable player and the Kenyon sniper also shared the top scorer prize with the Bombers' Dan Fourney.

Two other Bombers players also won awards as Randy Cousineau was selected as playoff MVP while Ray Robinson got the nod as the loop's top defenceman.

Kenyon's David Wensink and Maxville's Martin Cardinal were picked as co- winners of the top goaltender trophy while Kerry MacMeekin was given the sportsmanship award.

Sports nuggets

News Cup begins Friday

The 1993 Glengarry News Cup hockey tournament kicks off this Friday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

There will be at least one game that night (at 8 p.m.) and perhaps two if a fourth team has joined ranks by then.

So far Lancaster, Charlottenburgh and Alexandria have committed to play in the annual spring event.

Softball sign-up begins

The registration process for the 1993 Alexandria Men's Softball League season is under way.

Sign-up forms are currently available at M and D Sports on Main St. in Alexandria.

Tammy wins sister-brother duel

An exhibition hockey game between the Cornwall RCAFA Hurricanes peewee girls team and the Seaway Valley ''AA'' Rapids wasn't only a battle of the sexes, it was also a family feud.

Laggan's Tammy MacSweyn suits up for the 'Canes while brother Kurt is a key member of the Rapids.

The Hurricanes won 5-4 as Sara McCullough scored twice for the winners. Singles were added by Dominique Laroche, Melanie Bertrand and Alison Lebano.

Kyle McAllister, Donnie Patenaude, Nigel Newland and Josh Lebrun scored for the Rapids, who were recently eliminated from the ODMHA playoffs by the Nepean Raiders.

Martin's winter of glory

Lancaster Township figure skater Michelle Martin picked up her second and third gold medals of the season at recent competitions in Beauharnois and Vaudreuil.

The 11-year-old Martin took gold in the freestyle preliminary class in Beauharnois and in the preliminary interpretation category in Vaudreuil.

Martin's medal haul also includes a bronze in the junior bronze class of team competition in Beauharnois and a freestyle silver at an event in Valleyfield.

Quintet shines at tae kwon do event

Five Glen Robertson residents turned in top three results at a tae kwon do competition in Terrebonne, Que. last month.

Members of the quintet, all students at Ron Valade's school, include Bryan Stamm, Lincoln Cumberbatch, Paul Sauve, Marc Sauve and Brad Rickerd.

Plans are under way for a tae kwon do event in Glen Robertson next month.

Lions go one up

The Morrisburg Lions had a 1-0 win in the St.Lawrence-Rideau Conference final of the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League after an 11-6 win over the Athens Aeros at the Morrisburg Arena on Sunday afternoon.

Game Two of the series was last night in Athens. The Lions are looking for their second consecutive conference championship after beating the Westport Rideaus in 1992.

Stars, Rudi's ready to do battle in final

By J.L. Lefebvre
Sports editor

After a two-week layoff, the Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League playoffs resume next Monday night with the first game of the championship series between the Glengarry Stars and Rudi Payer Sport.

It's the second year in a row the two teams have met in the final, with the Stars looking to duplicate last year's triumph. In fact, Carman MacMillan's team is seeking its fourth consecutive league title.

Rudi's meanwhile, has recent history on its side as the club won the CLISL's regular season title in 1992-93.

Payer also won all three regular-season meetings between the two rivals.

The final is a two-game total point affair which will conclude on Monday, April 5. If the two teams split the two contests, a mini-game will be played following Game Two with penalty kicks to follow if the issue still isn't decided at that point.

At the same time, the Char-Lan U2's and Cornwall F.I.S.T., the semi-final round losers, will take part in a consolation championship.

Goalies share MVP

Netminders Paul Seguin and Jean-François Boyer, who regularly handled upwards of 50 shots per game this season, were named co-winners of the Most Valuable Player award at the Alexandria Jr. B Glens' year-end banquet at Legion Hall on Saturday.

Despite inflated goals-against totals, the Alexandria goalies won praise from many observers around the league for their play in the face of a constant barrage of rubber.

Seguin, who also received the team's award for leadership, was particularly impressive. He was named the St.Lawrence Division's first all-star team netminder last month and saw action with the Tier II Hawkesbury Hawks during their recent playoff series with the Ottawa Senators.

Stephan Nadeau was named as the club's best defenceman for the second season in a row. Nadeau played on the mid-season St. Lawrence Division all-star team and was selected as a second team all-star at the conclusion of the campaign.

Fellow overager Serge Bellefeuille was presented the trophy for being the team's top scorer after potting 35 goals and adding 37 assists for 72 points in 1992-93.

Nadeau and Bellefeuille were also presented with watches by the team to commemorate the end of the duo's junior careers.

Martin Boisvenue was a double winner on Saturday, copping rookie of the year honors and sharing the sportsmanship trophy with centreman Steve Poirier.

Boisvenue was the team's second-leading goalscorer with 27 tallies and was the centre on the St. Lawrence Division's all-rookie squad.

Boisvenue and Poirier had the lowest penalty minute totals among the Glens' regulars with 20 and 22 respectively.

Team captain Randy Gebbie was chosen as the most improved player after finishing the season as the team's second-leading point-getter.

Gebbie finished the season with 18 goals and 40 assists. Last season, as a member of the Char-Lan Rebels, Gebbie had nine goals and eight assists.

Gebbie's younger brother Jeff also took home an award as he and Alexandria midget teammate Darcy MacDonell were chosen as the team's top affiliated players.

Groceries to face Lumber in final thumped the Kinsmen 7-1 as Marc-Andre Miron scored twice and assisted on a third goal.

Marc Tremblay, Sylvain Pilon, Jason Cumming, Andrew Jarvo and Andy Knox chipped in a goal each for McCuaig.

Jason Gales scored the Kinsmen goal.

Novice

Curry Hill Lumber and MacDonald Groceries will be the finalists in the novice division in the two-game championship series which will be played this Friday and Saturday.

Curry Hill tied Fontaine Renovations 3-3 in their last round-robin game as Tim Owens scored twice.

Mike Fraser also scored for Curry Hill. Phillippe Glaude scored twice for Fontaine while Robb Schaeffer accounted for the other goal.

MacDonald Groceries, meanwhile, was a 5-1 loser to the Williamstown Fire Department as Andrew Knight scored his team's only goal.

Jean-Charles Dumont notched a hat trick for WFD while Devan Bancroft had the other two goals.

Fontaine blitzed Rozon Insurance 7-0 in the other novice division game last week.

Robb Schaeffer, Justin Lalonde and Steve Lucas each scored twice for Fontaine while Phillippe Glaude rounded out the scoring.

SunLife forces third game in sponge semi-final with Tapis

Cathy Grant scored with 1:39 left in regulation time to give SunLife a 2-1 over Tapis Richard in a Ladies Sponge Puck League semi-final game last Wednesday at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

Chantal Legault had the other goal for SunLife while Mary Nixon accounted for Tapis' offence.

SunLife's victory evens the series at one game apiece with the winner of tonight's Game Three advancing to the final.

The other finalist has already been determined as Art Benton has moved on thanks to a two-game sweep of MacMillan Insurance.

Benton wrapped up the series on Wednesday with a 2-1 win as Debbie Nadon and Barb Benton scored for the defending champions.

Wendy Hay had the only goal for MacMillan, who will now take on the loser of tonight's game in a consolation final.

Notes from here and there

Sports scripts

By J.L. Lefebvre

Once again, we've reached that period of time which is the sporting equivalent to no-man's land.

The official arrival of spring, the longer days and the hint of warmer weather suggest that the winter sports season is over but for the shouting, but at the same time, the four feet of snow still on the ground is an indication that taking out the soccer cleats would be a little premature.

Only in the month of March could you have the announcement of the kick-off for an ice hockey tournament (the Glengarry News Cup) and the start-up of registration for the softball season.

Here then, are some random lingering thoughts on some sports and events from the recent winter season:

The Glengarry News Cup: Last year's tournament was a big smash at the box-office but the results on the ice were only lukewarm, thanks mainly to the fact that Alexandria easily outclassed the three other teams en route to taking the trophy.

The main attraction for most of the spectators was not the closeness of the competition but the spark of nastiness that existed between finalists Alexandria and Lancaster Township.

The rivalry was such that the final featured a bench-clearing brawl and the series was dotted with other displays of genuine hard feelings between the two sides.

Therein lies the biggest problem of the Glengarry News Cup.

While the fans enjoy the NHL rules employed in the News Cup - the 60-minute games, the bodychecking and the fighting - it's obvious that those same features are keeping many players out of the tournament.

Some of the players who take part in the News Cup just aren't mentally or physically capbale of handling full-contact hockey and those skaters represent a risk not only to themselves but to others on the ice as well.

The older players who have families and jobs don't want to take a chance on being seriously injured by a poorly-placed check and who can blame them for their caution?

It took several weeks for as many as three teams to enter, and there has been only mild interest on the part of another group for a fourth club.

The widely-held belief on the street seems to be that eight teams could easily be signed up if the Cup went no-contact.

The question then becomes - If hitting is abolished, would all those people who turned out to watch Alexandria and Lancaster wrestle last year still go to the games?

Junior A hockey: The Cornwall Colts completed a first-round series victory over the Gloucester Rangers on Sunday and word is that Rebel call-ups Cory Maxam, Adam Morris and Marc Bellemare had a significant impact on the outcome.

While the trio didn't produce the offensive output for which they've become known at the junior B level, the ex-Rebels came in handy when injuries depleted the Colts' forward ranks.

Cornwall coach Jean Payette was full of praise for the reinforcements from Williamstown, particularly after a 4-3 victory in Gloucester in Game Four when the Colts had to rely on the threesome when Cornwall lost centres Tom Sheehan and Travis Mercer early in the game with injuries.

The victorious Colts, who will take on the Ottawa Senators in the Robinson Division final starting tonight, have two Glengarrians among their ranks - Alexandria's Ryan MacDonald and Glen Robertson's Luc Duval.

The series win over Gloucester, incidentally, was the first in franchise history, which includes previous incarnations as the Massena Turbines and the Massena Americans.

Border League: Watching the Border League from a distance this year, I got the impression that the league was on its last skates.

But after seeing the Kinsmen and Glen Nevis do battle in Game Four of the league final on Sunday, it's obvious that the BHL has plenty worth saving.

The action was intense, wide-open and there was a good blend of good-quality players and skaters with modest abilities but ample desire. There was also a decent-sized crowd for a Sunday afternoon.

There are still a lot of problems of course.

The league had only four teams this season and those clubs were so shortstaffed that there were several forfeits throughout the year. Several other contests were played with one or both teams playing with the minimum amount of skaters.

The other major concern is the amount of politicking that goes on away from the ice as decisions seem to be made on the spur of the moment with little or no consultation with the teams.

The BHL has dealt with the first problem by abolishing the draft and accepting teams as a unit.

While that creates the danger of having stacked teams, the make-your-own- team system will probably make clubs more stable throughout the season. A player is more likely to show up for games and would be less inclined to quit if he's on a team with all of his buddies.

The added stabilty would help the Border League handle the other problem of having to make up the rules as they go along.

If league organizers know ahead of time that they're going to have x-number of teams in the league all season long, decisions can be made and stuck to on topics such as schedules, playoff format, tie-breaking procedures and so on.

Broomball: Seven Glengarrians were part of Eastern Ontario teams that captured provincial broomball championships in Lefroy, Ont. last month.

Wendi Lawson and Glenda Lauzon, students at Glengarry District High School and Char-Lan District High School respectively, were members of the girls juvenile (age 16-18) gold medal winners.

Eastern Ontario also won the boys juvenile title with contributing efforts of five local players: Chris Hope, Garry Benson, Martin Cardinal, Remi Cardinal and Rocky Lacombe.

Hope scored one of his team's goals in Eastern's 2-0 gold-clinching victory over the Southwest region.

The teams are currently trying to raise funds to be able to compete at the national championships in Cornerbrook, Nfld. on April 22-25.

Kinsmen still kicking in Border Hockey League final

The Glengarry Kinsmen rallied from a 3-1 deficit to beat Glen Nevis 10-7 in a wild and spirited Game Four of the Border Hockey League final at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday.

Glen Nevis, who entered the game with a 5-1 lead in the six-point championship series, scored the only goal of the first period on Sunday as the game got off to a conservative start.

The Kinsmen got the offensive machine rolling in the middle frame, scoring seven times while holding Glen Nevis to three goals.

In addition to combining for 10 goals in the second period, both teams also filled the scoresheet with penalties as a total of 16 minors were handed out.

Both teams scored three goals in the third period.

Carter MacDonald and Ron MacDonald each scored a hat trick for the Kinsmen while Kennedy MacDonald had a deuce.

Darcy MacDonell and Steve Maisonneuve added singles.

Stewart MacDonald scored the last four goals for Glen Nevis while Kevin Craig, Findley McLeod and Burt MacDonald each scored once.

Still up 5-3 in series points, Glen Nevis will get another chance to wrap up the final tomorrow night at the Palace.

Glen Nevis was less than a minute away from finishing off the Kinsmen on Thursday but a late goal by Kennedy MacDonald forced another game in the series.

Leading the series 4-0, Glen Nevis had a 6-5 lead going into the final minute of the game when MacDonald netted his second goal of the game with 58 seconds left to allow the Kinsmen to salvage a 6-6 tie.

Aime Periard also scored twice for the Kinsmen while David McKay and Ron MacDonald chipped in with singles.

Findley McLeod and Stewart MacDonald each had a deuce for Glen Nevis with solo tallies being added by Rodney Craig and David McDonell.

Midgets use stingy defence to reach finals

Give credit to the Char-Lan Rebels midget travelling hockey team.

The Rebs were placed in a difficult situation — a series of four must-win playoff games — and Char-Lan came through in spades, outscoring their four opponents 30-4 to clinch the Lower St. Lawrence Division and earn a berth in the Upper Canada Minor Hockey League final against Brockville.

The four-point series gets under way in The City of 1,000 Islands tomorrow night. Game Two of the series will be in Williamstown next Tuesday.

The Rebels finished at 7-1 in the double round-robin playoffs and allowed only 15 goals in the eight games.

The last of Char-Lan's playoff victories came last Saturday in Alexandria as the Rebels dumped the Glens 9-2.

Jason Flaro led the winners with four goals while Paul St.Denis had a pair of markers.

Steve Gareau, Stephane Veillette and Marty McDonell added singles. Scott Giroux had three assists.

Peewees win at Perth

The peewee Rebels, who will take on Smiths Falls in the Upper Canada final, tuned up last week by capturing the "A" championship at a tournament in Perth.

Char-Lan breezed through the tournament, winning all three games without allowing a goal.

Gerry Goulet had two of the Rebel shutouts while Jason Pilon had the other.

Stephane Loyer had two goals in the deciding game, a 3-0 win over the host Perth team.

Stuart Rutherford scored the game's only goal as Char-Lan shaded North Frontenac 1-0 in one of their preliminary round games.

The Rebels opened the competition with a 7-0 drubbing of Rideau-St.Lawrence as Lindsay Campbell paced the offence with three goals.

Kacey MacDonell, Luc Lapierre, Lee Klazinga and Stephane Loyer each contributed one goal.

Novices stopped by Braves

The Char-Lan novices were at a tournament in St. Isidore on the weekend where the Rebels lost 2-1 to North Glengarry-Stormont in the final as the Braves scored in the last two minutes of the game to break a 1-1 tie.

Daniel Desnoyers scored the only Char-Lan goal.

In the team's other games, the Rebels defeated Casselman 5-2 and Cumberland 3-1.

Matthew Verdone scored four goals in the Casselman game while Matthew Gordon's single rounded out the scoring.

Jordan Reasbeck fired in a pair against Cumberland. Matthew Verdone had the other marker.

Coming Soon... Inside Information on Energy Efficiency

If you're looking for a new appliance, look for the new EnerGuide label. You'll find it on every new refrigerator, freezer, clothes washer, dryer, range or dishwasher, sold in Canada.

The new EnerGuide label shows the typical amount of energy an appliance will use in one year. By looking at the label, you can compare the energy consumption of one appliance to others with similar features.

The lower the number, the more energy-efficient the appliance. It's that simple.

Choosing an energy-efficient model today can add up to a lot of savings over the lifetime of the appliance.

So become energy wise. You'll save money and help the environment at the same time.

It pays to read the new ENERGUIDE label.

Local WI members learn CPR technique

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

The McCrimmon WI members held their regular monthly meeting at the Lochiel Township Hall on March 19 with 18 members and guests present. The roll call of an Irish joke or story turned out a bit different than planned.

Certainly, there were several jokes, but for the most part the group had mementos of Ireland to show. One lady had a wonderful T-shirt with an Irish greeting and cartoon in green, there was a charming little collector's teaspoon, a real Irish linen tea towel with gold symbols on a green background, one lady had a description of a wonderful PBS program of Irish music by the Chiefs, from the evening before.

Another member had a 150-year-old candlestick from Ireland, that had come over here with her great grandmother. She also had a painting she had done herself at Cashel Rock, of the ruins of an ancient abby, where there is said to be a St. Patrick's well.

This proved to be one of the most interesting roll calls, so far.

The district annual meeting will take place on May 1 at the Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan. Registration will be $2 and the catered luncheon will cost $5. Baking, crafts and new items are requested for the bazaar tables that day.

In a letter from the CWIO, the president explained that the new headquarters building will be ready for March 1994. It is located in Guelph, and $11,000 has been raised so far.

Members are asked to collect a meter of loonies each to help defray costs, with the deadline in time for the fall convention.

Linda Ambrose would like photos of minute book pages, information from the 20's to the 80's about the branches, special events and people, for the history book about Women's Institutes.

The quilt committee had the finished Grandmother's Garden quilt on hand for display. With its dainty blue and white pattern, it reminded one person of Wedgewood china designs, because of its bright crisp look. The quilt will be on display soon in Alexandria.

Gretta MacDonald read a funny poem about how she knew (the author, that is) she was getting old. "My git up and go has got up and went. But that's not so bad, it isn't a sin, When I think of all the places my git-up has bin." It struck home to a lot of us.

She then introduced Fiona MacPherson the guest speaker who proceeded to open her mysterious suitcase to bring out "Resussit-Annie," the adult doll used for demonstrations and practice of CPR.

She went into detail about the reasons for heart attacks and who is most at risk, why they occur and ways to prevent them. She explained the difference between a stroke and a coronary.

Some of the heart damage can be reversed, after a heart attack, if the patient gest help within two hours, and if someone can perform CPR until the ambulance comes. She stressed that clear directions be given to avoid unnecessary delays. One might place a car with flashing lights at the entrance of the driveway, give landmarks or have someone wait outside to flag them down.

Many lives are lost, that could be saved, by wasted time looking for the house, especially in rural areas. Lochiel Township is installing house and lot numbers in April of this year, and it should then be much easier to get services to victims since there will be clear identification at destinations, and large clear numbers marking the site.

What to look for when the possibility of stroke or heart attack may be occuring, the best procedures to follow at that time, and keeping up an encouraging attitude were discussed in a clear, calm, forthright manner.

Everyone learned a great deal from this quite efficient lady. Some of the women tried the CPR compression exercise on the adult doll, and others on the baby mannequin. It was all very enlightening and made some of her listeners ask about taking the full course of CPR.

She will give the course herself if she can have four people to attend the 16-hour course. Anyone with children or those with elderly parents or relatives at home would all find this course very reassuring.

The Hemlich manouver for someone choking, how to do mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, when not to do it, where to place the heel of the hands for chest compressions and how to position them, one over the other, were all covered in this most interesting talk.

Doris Spencer thanked Mrs. MacPherson and presented her with a gift of sincere appreciation, on behalf of the group.

Several competitions are coming up, and some interest was expressed in participating by some members. O Canada followed by light refreshments brought the exciting afternoon to a close.

The 39'ers meeting will take place this Wednesday at 12 p.m.

Steve Ward came home from Banff, Alberta, on Thursday last. Scott and Gina Ward were married on February 22 while on holiday in New Orleans for the Mardi Gras. They are keeping mom Carolyn Ward busy trying to keep up. Congratulations to the newlyweds, and may you always be as happy as you are right now.

Cultural centre looking for French prose

Being that the National Book Festival is April 26 to the 30, the Centre Culturel "Les trois p'tits points . . ." is organizing a literary contest, in French, for adults 18 years and over and one for young people.

At one time or another, everyone has told a fine tale to friends or family. We all have a bit of a story teller in us.

The purpose of the contests is to open doors to the public, for the people who want to develop their writing abilities.

The topic is of your choice; a short story, a news report or a fairy tale, anything that a writer finds interesting might be for someone else also.

The young people less than 18 years old have the choice between a short text or a comic strip.

The participants must hand in their stories to the Centre Culturel no later than April 17. The texts will be read by a panel of five judges.

The names of the three winning writers will be announced Friday, April 30 at 7 p.m., at the Centre Culturel. Winners will receive prizes.

An article in The Review (March 17) Vankleek Hill's weekly "Using your head, sewing for the disabled" is of local interest. Michelle St. Amour, who lives in Breadalbane, is the owner of Ribbons 'n' Lace, a fabric store in the Mews. She is a clothing designer and along with some helpers is designing kits to adapt commercial sewing patterns for people with special needs. A sewing machine repairman, Normand Miner, also in the Mews, has adapted a sewing machine for a handicapped person to use.

Michelle and her helpers will appear on the CJOH-TV show "Eye on Ottawa" on Thursday, April 1 at 9 a.m. (not on March 25th as stated in the Review.

Eddy and Lise Berry motored to Guelph last weekend (March 12 to 14) to attend College Royal 93 at Guelph University Open House. Their daughter, Sandra, was in charge of the Cat Show. While in Guelph they were able to see live surgery at the Veterinary College, which was open to the public. Very interesting!

Anne de Prescott at a most enjoyable luncheon. Unfortunately, Bill has been in Glengarry Memorial Hospital for a few days but was well enough on Saturday to get a "two hour" pass from the doctor in order to celebrate the occasion.

Also celebrating is 91st birthday on March 23 is Donald John MacLeod. Donald is recently home from hospital and recuperating very nicely. On Sunday his family gathered for a birthday celebration. Best birthday wishes and good health to you both.

Helen MacLeod, president, welcomed the ladies and turned the meeting over to Gretta MacDonald, Janet Kirton and Leonora MacMillan for the worship service. During the business part of the meeting it was decided to have a ham supper on April 28 with two sittings — one at 5 p.m. and a later one at 7 p.m. Advance tickets will be available.

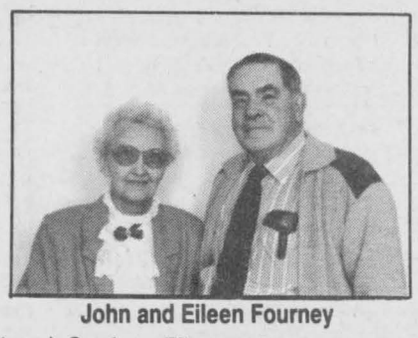
VOLUNTEER OF THE WEEK



John and Eileen Fourney

John and Eileen have lived all their lives in this area and are very proud of their Welsh-Scottish-Irish ancestry.

They are retired farmers from the 4th Concession of Lancaster, John having been secretary on the Hog Producers Board and was one of the first directors of the Eastern Breeders.

They have three sons, two being ministers and the other now running the family farm.

John and Eileen's volunteer involvement is plentiful. They are regular supporters of Glengarry Outreach Services, Eileen acting as driver co-ordinator for the Outreach van, and John driving the van. Meals on Wheels uses their services regularly and they even drive for Maxville Manor.

At Chateau Gardens they assist at bingo, do friendly visiting, help at Pub Night when John likes to dance with the ladies, and drive for outings like bowling, the sugar bush or just a ride in the country and an ice cream treat.

The Fourneys are also active in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. John was a Planning Board rep. for Lancaster Village for five years and was trustee on the Lancaster Public School Board from 1947-1965. John supports the Boy Scouts at the church and is Clerk of Session and an elder. He is past Grand Stewart of Ontario for the Masons. Eileen is a member of the Presbyterian Women's Group and Picnic Grove Women's Institute. In her spare time she likes to knit, paint and do crafts.

Thank you John and Eileen, from a community well served.

Theatre club shows as a great success

Glen Robertson
By Colette Sauvé
Tel. 874-2076

There were 19 participants in the theatre club show which was held last Thursday and was a great success.

Rehearsal started at 10 a.m. and the show which was produced by Trish Hamilton was presented at 3 p.m. for the parents.

A delicious lunch sponsored by the social centre was prepared by Barbara Howes and Aline McCallum.

The event consisted of a hilarious fashion show, highland and tap dancing, piano solos, songs, poem readings and comedy skits. Special thanks to our assistant producers who were Polly Johnson, Sarah Dalby and Sarah Newman.

Development and Peace

Development and Peace is a Catholic organization which works to establish a better world of justice and peace.

Founded in 1967, Development and Peace has supported about 10,000 projects of development in about 70 countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America.

These projects are based on the aspirations and community resources of each concerned couintry and also tries to eliminate the causes of underdevelopment.

For those of you who didn't get a bank for Share Lent '93 and who want to contribute money for Third World people, there are still envelopes at the back of the church. Please feel free to take one and return your contribution by Easter.

Share Lent is more than just a fundraising campaign. It is also a time for prayer, for education and for celebration of the dignity and equality of all people. We are blessed with so much and we ask people to be generous so that somebody might survive

Many Third World people die every day because they don't have the basic necessities like clean water and food.

If anyone would like to have the address of Development and Peace, please phone me and I'll be happy to give you the information.

In Memoriam

McINTEE, Patrick Sr. — In memory of a dear father who passed away March 29, 1983.
Your last parting wish,
We would like to have heard,
And breathed in your ear,
Our last parting word.
Only those who have lost,
Are able to tell,
The pain in the heart
At not saying farewell.
—Always remembered by family John, Ann, Rita, Terry and Robert. 12-1p

MacCUAIG — In loving memory of my dear mother, Martha MacCuaig who passed away on March 26, 1974.
To us you were someone special
Someone good and true,
You will never be forgotten mother,
For we thought the world of you;
Every day in some small way,
Memories of you keep coming back,
Today, tomorrow, our whole life through,
We will never stop remembering you.
—Sadly missed by daughter Grace.

BELLEFEUILLE, IRENE—In loving memory of a dear wife, mother, mother-in-law, grandmother and great grandmother who passed away March 27, 1991
There will always be a heartache
And often a silent tear,
Always precious memories
Of the days when you were here.
We hold you close within our hearts,
And there you will remain,
To walk with us throughout our lives,
Until we meet again.
Broken is the family circle,
Your helping hand was always first
To render any aid you could,
Your voice was always raised in praise,
Your words were wise and good;
Since you have gone away
The ones you loved so true,
Try hard to carry on the way
We know you'd want us to.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by husband Laurier, children and grandchildren.
Forever in our hearts, minds and prayers

Committee soliciting views of residents

North Lancaster
By Bernadette Campeau 347-2572

I wouldn't want this column to become the snowman competition.

But as I recall, last week I told you about my "Frosty" and this time while walking by Micheline and Rosaire Samson's house I noticed this strange white fellow, decorated with Christmas lights and leaning to one side, held up by a snow shovel.

Well moms, I hope you're not too exhausted after the past March break.

I would like to hear of your doings, trips, catching-up-ons during this week.

One gal that went south during the March break was Célyne Renaud and before she returned she was the lucky winner of yet another trip drawn at the Marché Yvan Desautels Market.

Another winner of a trip, this time at Donald Roy's Garage, was Stéphane Besner. Congratulations to both of you.

Robert Fordham was hospitalized recently due to a heart attack. His family wishes him a speedy recovery.

The Green Valley Recreational Committee will be ringing your doorbell in the near future. As you have probably heard, they want to build a hall and need to find out how much money people are willing to pledge for this purpose. This is not a money collection, it is more of an inquiry.

Which One Had Six Owners?

You're faced with some very important questions when you buy a used vehicle. How many owners were there? Are any loans still owing against it?

In the past, getting the answers wasn't always easy. But now, to assist people who are buying or selling a used vehicle, the Ontario Government has introduced the Used Vehicle Information Package.

If you are a buyer, the Used Vehicle Information Package will tell you important facts that will help you make a better informed decision. The Used Vehicle Information Package will tell you the names of the vehicle's previous registered owners. It will also tell you if any outstanding loans or repair bills are registered against it.

If you are a seller, just think what the Used Vehicle Information Package can do for you. Presenting a buyer with all the information right from the start will make the decision to buy your used vehicle a lot easier to make. And the cost for this package is just $20.

The Used Vehicle Information Package can be ordered through the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations any time, day or night, by phoning 1-800-267-8847 outside Toronto, or 325-8847 in Toronto.Telephone Device for the Deaf 1-800-461-8866 or 326-8866 in Toronto. Credit cards accepted. Or after May 3rd, 1993, a package can be picked up at any Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Office.

A brochure with tips on buying or selling a used vehicle can be ordered through the above telephone numbers, and is available at any Driver and Vehicle Licence Issuing Office.

It is spring officially as of March 21. But it doesn't look much like spring yet.

The luck of the Irish certainly wasn't with Glen McCuaig, when he returned home on Wednesday, March 17. He found to his dismay, that his home had been broken into. His dresser drawers were open and his clothes strewn on the floor. The bed had been taken apart, apparently looking for money. His ghetto blaster and a telephone had been stolen.

On inspecting the basement, he discovered a case of home-brewed beer was missing. Also the thieves had stolden a chainsaw from his garage.

The thieves had tried to get in two of the windows but failed and then succeeded in gaining entrance by way of the garage.

President Wallie McRae displayed the very attractive quilt and cushions, which she had sown together from the blocks that the members had handed in from the last meeting.

After singing a few Irish songs lunch was served. Cupcakes with birthday candles were enjoyed in honor of the two birthday girls — Martha McRae and Helen McLeod.

Maxville citizens honored with 125th anniversary medals

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

Last Friday evening in Alexandria, two local ladies were recipients of the 125th anniversary medals. They were Grace Doth and Alma Villeneuve.

Mrs. Villeneuve who is the widow of the late Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP has in her possession a very fine tribute which was paid to her and Mr. Villeneuve on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary in 1980

It was paid by Ontario Premier William Davis, one of the party's staunchest defenders of the traditional family who said ''When Osie Villeneuve (Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry) married Alma MacLeod in 1930, two fine old cultures which settled and developed that part of eastern Ontario. Mr. Villeneuve and his wife have exemplified all that is best in both French and Scottish cultures.''

Other members of the legislature praised Mrs. Villeneuve for being strong enough to run the MPP's constituency office out of their home in Maxville since his election in 1948.''

Word was received last week that James MacKeracher, Long View, Washington, had died at the age of 104. He was the youngest son and last member of the family of 13 of Duncan MacKeracher and his wife, Annie Cameron, who died in her 99th year. The farm home was at Tayside.

Ethel MacKinnon, Maxville and Eileen Chisholm, Cornwall are nieces of the deceased and Arnold McEwen, the Manor, a nephew.

We extend our sympathy to all family members.

Claire and Bruno Besner arrived home two days late from their three-week Florida vacation after enduring the big storm in Pennsylvania and waiting for the roads to be opened for safe travel.

Elizabeth Roy and son Matthew, Peterborough, were with her mother, Evelyn McColl for a few days last week.

Winona Eles, Colin and Robin, Stouffville, were home for the holiday week with her mother, Verna MacGregor.

The Ken Johns family spent a few days in Hamilton with relatives there.

Dorothea and Ross Conners travelled westward as well in order for Mr. Conners to attend a board meeting of the Ontario Horticultural Association near Guelph over the weekend.

At the church service in the United Church on March 14, the infant son of Kelli and Rene Zollinger was baptized and given the names Blake Allan. The baby's grandparents are Margaret and Ed Dickson, Maxville and Anna and Walter Zollinger, St. Isidore. The parents entertained their family at a luncheon after church.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Phillips had as their guests, Joe and Sharon MacFarlane and their children from London, Ont. The special occasion was Mrs. Phillips' birthday.

Mr. Phillips, who is a retired railroader, took special interest in the railway plow that was stopped here on a siding after the big storm. An engine pushed the plow and had a caboose attached behind it.

These plows used to be seen often passing through the village after snowstorms but with the high speed of trains now, the tracks are kept clear usually without the use of them.

We express sympathy to the Menard family, Carr St. at this time, in the sudden death of 16-year-old Mario.

The Don Williamson family managed to reach Florida on the last flight out on that stormy Saturday for a week's vacation. While Jennifer was away, her paper route was well handled by Amanda Moores, assisted by her grandmother, Hilda Holmes.

Eileen Colbourne, who conducted her first meeting as president of the local Horticultural Society, was very pleased with the large number in attendance last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Colbourne was especially gratified to see new faces in the crowd.

The pot luck supper was enjoyed as usual. The tables were attractively decorated with shamrock plants and cut-outs.

The guest speaker was Gary Skillen from our local Canadian Vitamineral Products plant. Mr. Skillen presented brand new concepts on weed and insect control and new ways to produce better crops. He was introduced by Mrs. Colbourne and thanked by Ross Conners.

The bird feeding season will soon be over so this is a good time to assess the feeds we have been using. Many probably use mixes but I don't because I consider there is too much waste with them. Without evening grosbeaks this year, our striped sunflower bag went down very slowly this winter and the blue jays seem to like the black oil sunflower equally well. In separate feeders this year, I fed suet, a fat mixture, niger seed, black and striped sunflower seeds and cracked corn on the ground. Some corn was probably wasted under the snow and some kept two or three rabbits in good condition.

4-H Update

If you have been wondering when the next 4-H project will begin in Maxville, you will be excited to know that the new project is on personal safety. It is hot off the presses and tentatively planned to start on Tuesday, April 20.

Meetings start after school and run until 6 p.m. in the United Church Hall. Topics will include protecting ourselves against crime and protecting our senses and self-esteem (feeling good about ourselves). Pre-registration will be necessary for this project and further information can be obtained from the leaders, Barb Graham, 527-2101 or Di Jaggassar, 527-1017. Watch this column for further details.

It is interesting to note that 90 years ago, 80 members and adherents of the Congregational Church voted in favor of church union but that it took three more years to get the new church built.

A 20-year-old clipping recorded this: ''March 1973 will probably go down as one of the warmest on record and the one with the least precipitation. The average high for the month was 43.5°F and snowfall was 3.4 inches along with 2.4 inches of rain.

Mural is unveiled at mass

At 11 o'clock mass, the fourth degree Knights of Columbus had an honor guard for Father Raymond.

After mass Father Raymond thanked Odile Têtu an aritist from St. Eugene, who did a mural over the altar in our church of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Believe me, it is very beautiful, the colors, the angels, it has to be seen to be appreciated.

The Knights of Columbus presented Father Raymond with a clock and a card of thanks for all his help to them in the parish.

Later in the afternoon a very special gathering was held at Ste.-Marie's School, when the parish community assembled to bid farewell to their priest and wish him well in his new parish which is Christ-Roi in Cornwall.

Many groups were represented and were called upon to offer their best wishes to Father Raymond who leaves on March 26.

On behalf of the Green Valley Parish, Anicet from La Caravane in Glen Roy presented Father Raymond with a parting gift.

Everyone enjoyed a light lunch. Parish members would also like to welcome our new priest Father Marcel Larouche who comes to the church from Sacré-Coeur Parish in Alexandria.

Henri Dorie is presently preparing for Green Valley days. Booths will be made available on request for the Saturday activities. Henri can be reached at 525-2625 for more information.

The Green Valley Recreation Committee is sending a troupe of canvassers throughout the Green Valley region for pledges regarding the construction of the Green Valley Recreation Centre. They will call on residents within the next two weeks.

The Green Valley Girl Guides went on a hike at Bernard Besner's sugar camp. They had games in the snow, ate taffy, and learned about maple syrup. They were very pleased with their day. Their leader Thérèse Bourbonnais spent the weekend in training at Shalom. This means exchanging ideas, learning new methods and ideas to be a better Guide leader.

Birthday wishes going out to Gilbert-Lee Pilon, Alain Lefebvre, March 26; Andrew St. Denis, March 28; Christian Brunet, March 29; to Marcel Bellemore of Farm Fresh on March 30 from your employees. Have a safe and happy week.
