THE IROQUOIS POST

VOLUME XLVIII - No 45. Second Class Registration No 1361 Iroquois, Ontario. Wed., April 28, 1971.

Joint Planning Being Undertaken By Four Area Municipalities

A joint planning board and the preparing of an official registered plan came out of a joint meeting of the municipalities of Iroquois, Morrisburg, Williamsburg Township and Matilda Township last Tuesday evening.

The four municipalities made the decision to proceed as a group due to the many considerations of boundaries and common problems, as well as for the financial fact that it would be far less costly by entering into a joint venture.

The study and final overall plan will take several months to complete and possibly close to two years before finalization of the registered plan.

At the same meeting, held in Morrisburg Council Chamber, the four municipalities hired J. L. Richards Associates, of Ottawa, as the planners on the project which will cost a total of $13,000. The cost will be shared by Iroquois and Morrisburg each picking up 30 percent of the total and the two rural municipalities sharing the remaining 40 percent.

The study will take into account all aspects of community life and planning, land use, economic studies, zoning and future planning and proposals for a long period in the future.

While Iroquois and Morrisburg both have plans, they are not officially recognized by the municipal board as registered plans and due to changes which have been made in the past few years and changes which are forthcoming in the near future, it has become imperative that all municipalities have registered plans if small communities and rural areas are to retain their individual identities and have a say in the future planning of their areas

The Joint planning board will be set up in the near future and will be appointed by the respective councils in the four municipalities. The planner will present his studies to the planning board, after consultations with municipal councils, individuals and organizations, and must come back to the councils for finalization before being sent on to the provincial authorities for the ultimate decision

Public meetings will be called later inthe project to hear citizens' views and to gather together more local comment and ideas.

Following ironing out of all details and approval from all legal sources, by-laws will be enacted to put the plan in to effect and control all studies which are implemented.

Review Decision

The Hon. Allan F Lawrence, Minister of Justice and Attorney General for the Province of Ontario, in a letter to Gordon Blair, Liberal MP for Grenville-Dundas, has announced that a review of the decision in the recent manslaughter trial involving a local man has been asked for.

The text of Mr. Lawrence's letter follows:

"Please be advised that a crown appeal is being taken so that the Court of Appeals may review the adequacy of the sentence imposed in this case. All those in the community who have indicated their concern about this case are being notified of the decision to appeal"

Mr. Blair had received numerous letters from residents of the village and area and passed these on to the proper authorities on behalf of his constituents.

80th Birthday

Mrs. Hattie Ellis of Hulbert, Ontario recently celebrated her 80th birthday. A small gathering of friends and relatives at the home of Mrs. G. Jennings of Inkerman where Mrs. Ellis has resided for the last few years helped her celebrate the occasion. She would like to thank everyone who helped make the occasion such a pleasant one with there gifts, cards and visits.

Library Service Soon To Be Expanded

Iroquois Library Board met last Wednesday evening to hear suggestions on improving library service in Iroquois and for residents of Matilda Township from representatives of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library Service.

With a Public Library Development Week coming up May 16 to 22 it was deemed appropriate to start a campaign aimed at informing the public of the two communities just what the local library means to the district and what is being offered by the local library. With all of the United Counties entered into regional library service, except for Iroquois and Matilda Township, all residents of our area will be serviced by the Iroquois Library.

Provincial library grants from both Matilda Township and Iroquois as well as a small levy on the Iroquois ratepayers pays for the operation of the Iroquois Library.

There is no charge for the borrowing of books from the local library by any resident of either Matilda Township or Iroquois and it is hoped that a great many more people from both communities will take advantage of the services offered.

During the next few weeks the Iroquois Library will keep the public informed of the changes that will be taking place to improve and expand the library facilities. As an example of how much the library is being used, there were 528 books borrowed from the library in 1970 and in March of this year there were 1023 books borrowed. . . . almost doubling the number. This trend has been coming to the forefront in the past year and to meet the increased demand and the further increase expected as more area residents take advantage of the service, another library room is being opened in the Iroquois Civic Centre to house the children's books and provide reading areas. This will alleviate the crowded condition of the main library room and provide space for more adult reading material.

The Iroquois Library is now open Tuesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday and Friday afternoons from 2 to 4:30 and Saturday afternoon 2 to 4 p. m. Mrs. Eva Summers is the Librarian and an assistant, Miss Katherine McGahey will be employed following university closing next month

Weekly Report From Queen's Park

With the Ontario budget for the current year being brought down on Monday, April 26th, the House spent the whole of this week on the debate on the speech from the Throne. This is the debate when not only Opposition Members but also Government Members bring to the attention of the House the failings of the administration and also the achievements and wants of their constituents. The debate this Session was lively and protracted; the wind-up on Thursday evening by Elmer Sopha for the Official Opposition and Prime Minister Davis for the Government was lively and long with the vote being taken at 2:00 a.m. Friday morning.

As the Federal New Democratic Party was holding its Leadership Convention in Ottawa at the weekend, the Ontario Legislature did not sit on Friday in order that N. D. P. Members of the Legislature might be present in Ottawa.

Only one Bill of importance was introduced during this week. It is a first in Canada and proposes to make available to citizens of Ontario the credit rating reports gathered on them by credit reporting agencies. How this legislation will operate is, of course, dependent upon the attitude of the government towards its enforcement.

During the Throne Speech debate, Prime Minister Davis make known his personal view against the rumoured abolition of the monarchy and also his determination to prevent federal centralization from ruining the booming economy and full employment which we in Ontario enjoyed prior to last year's federal anti-inflation policies. These policies seemed aimed at Ontario and certainly affected our Province, its economy, and its people much more severely than it did those of other provinces. The Prime Minister's personal opposition to a change to the Presidential system of government for Canada received almost unanimous support from Members of all Parties in the House at that time. It would seem that any such change would hasten and make much simpler the much feared prospect of the assimilation of our country into the huge nation to the south of us.

Q. Is there a type of concrete paint I could use on my basement floor that wouldn't create a problem if I decide to lay tile later on?

A. Yes. A rubber based paint called Colortread is specially formulated as a one-coat, fast-drying concrete paint. Floor tile can be laid over it without any special treatment if you use the commonly available emulsion type adhesive when tiling.

No Primer Necessary

This paint primes and finishes in one coat, drying to a high gloss. The rubber content makes it highly waterproof so it seals out dampness on floors and concrete block walls.

Q. Do you have to neutralize the concrete with chemicals before using this paint?

A. No surface neutralizer is necessary. There is no chemical reaction to the alkali salts in concrete. Aside from making sure the floor is as clean and dust free as possible, there are no preliminary steps you must take before painting with Colortread. Once down, it stops dusting of concrete and provides a glossy, washable surface. This makes it particularly appropriate for use on concrete patios as it can be hosed down in minutes. If I were putting it on porous concrete I'd use two coats to be sure I had a complete cover and a high gloss finish. One imperial gallon covers approximately 400 sq. ft.

For information on concrete paints write to Tom Tremfix, The Tremco Manufacturing Company (Canada) Ltd., 220 Wicksteed Ave., Toronto 17, Canada.

Tips On How To Drive The Expressways

Every year hundreds of accidents occur on our expressways. Some of the causes of these accidents have been found to be attributed to improper passing, improper lane changing, speeding and driver inattentiveness. The following driver procedures for driving on the expressways could prove beneficial to you:

When entering the expressway adjust your speed and position to permit steady accelerations so that you can safely merge into a gap between cars.

Your speed when entering the expressway off the ramp should be close to that of the posted speed limit on the expressway.

When changing lanes and passing the driver of the passing vehicle should first check ahead and behind using both inside and outside mirrors. He should signal his intention to pull out into the left lane and then check again to make sure he will not interfere with any other traffic. After passing, he should check to make sure he is well past the passed vehicle and then signal right before pulling back into the driving lane.

Maintain a safe driving distance between you and the vehicle in front of you. It is suggested that you leave one car length for every 10 miles of speed between you and the vehicle in front of you.

While driving on the expressway you should always "drive ahead" being alert for any vehicles which may pull out on the highway froma merging lane. If this occurs, look behind, signal left and pull out in the passing lane to avoid conflict. After passing, check your mirror, signal right. and pull back into the driving lane.

The expressway characteristics reduce obvious necessity for constant alertness producing monotony and boredom. The driver must remain alert to recognize the signs of drowsiness or sleepiness. You should allow yourself a ten minute break for every two hours of driving.

Complex expressway interchanges make specific lane use imperative. The overhead guides are designed for proper lane use and will assist you in making your lane change early.

When leaving the expressway, know where you will exit well in advance. Signal, and move into the correct lane as soon as possible. Move into the deceleration lane as soon as possible and then slow down only after entering the deceleration lane. Observe posted limits on the exit ramp and be ready for sharp curves.

By following these procedures, you will be much safer when travelling on expressways. REMEMBER, THE KEY TO SAFETY IS "YOU".

Ontario Provincial Police in Dundas County patrolled 12,-108 miles while working 924 hours. During this period 91 charges were laid and 99 warnings were issued under the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario.

Officers from Morrisburg Detachment investigated 2 thefts and 13 miscellaneous complaints. One person was charged with impaired driving while 9 others were charged under the Liquor Control Act of Ontario.

Although area highways were busy, officers investigated only 3 property damage accidents and 1 personal injury accident in which 1 person received minor injuries.

Provincial Court was quiet with officers spending 6 hours in Court while registering 26 convictions.

 MOTHERS: WHY NOT CLIP THIS OUT?

Round The Bend

by Sheila Watt

One reason biographers aren't rushing to compare my life with that of Rose Kennedy, is that she enjoyed brilliant, witty, and intellectually stimulating conversation with her children at mealtimes.

After reading about a recent week-long meeting in Rome of international clerical experts, discussing "blockage of cordial dialogue" within the church, it occurred to me that we have a similar problem at home.

It's not that we suffer from any lack of dialogue, you understand it's just the cordiality that appears to be blocked.

The time has come, I feel, to promote some basic diplomacy and evidence of goodwill on the home front.

For example, the same father who can study a smudgy mess his child drags home from art and smile an approving "Very interesting, dear", could- with a little forethought - manage something better than"Oh, God, not another bean bonanza" when I serve a nutritious casserole for supper.

Also, while I am aware that liver is not what anv of our children would select if they had any choice in the matter at all, I have repeatedly explained its value in fortifying our red blood corpuscles, and what I'm interested in is a bunch of empty plates, not miserable mouthings about what a good cook Bobby, Lloyd or Fraser's mother is!

Problems of communication are bound to arise, of course, when you're stuck with a picky eater and a glutton at the same table.

One child appears to derive all nourishment by a process of optic osmosis, gazing languidly at her plate and picking up her fork only in response to your direct request, while her sister cheerfully stuffs down a meal that would level a lumberman.

The picker doesn't talk because she's supposed to be eating, the stuffer doesn't talk because her mouth is always crammed.

I talk, and what I say is:

"Don't rock back and forth on that chair."

"Don't stab that fork into that tablemat."

"Don't blow bubbles with your milk."

"Do NOT play spin the plate."

"Don't feed your cabbage to the dog."

"You've GOT a gravy slide for your microscope."

"Why didn't you go before supper?"

You don't have to tell me, I know what Mrs. Kennedy would say about all this, and every so often I make a determined effort to replace my negative monologue with some positive cordiality.

On Saturdays, for instance, I am perfectly agreeable to spend all morning over breakfast.

In relaxed, expansive mood, I announce that if everyone will but make their wishes known, little Mother-in-the-kitchen will serve whatever they fancy.

Pancakes and syrup, french toast, cinnamon buns and juice on the rocks - name it, dears, and you shall have it.

Two hours later, beating exasperated fists amidst the sticky debris on the table Daddy's cordiality expires.

"Yeah, yeah, yeah", he roars, in answer to a perfectly civil question "I Am the kipper on the blue plate getting cold!"

Thing is, Rose Kennedy had a cook.

Do you want to find some bargains? Well, you can probably locate many these days. Now that the January "White Sales" are long over, there are plenty of good buys around.

Stock up now on a variety of winter merchandize and clothing. This month is an excellent time to save on coats and overshoes, dresses, men's and boy's suits and infants wear. Even ranges are generally priced lower now.

For real savings, however, check the end of season specials, especially on winter sports items. Skiing, which is becoming one of the biggest recreational sports in the U. S. and Canada with millions of new devotees hitting the slopes each season, offers many bargains now.

Skiing can be an expensive sport unless you take some care in shopping for equipment. Plan ahead - buy now for next season, but remember that even at a sale, safety is a bigger factor than just price alone in choosing the right product.

Experts advise that your purchase should really give extra value. For beginners it is especially important to get the right boots and binders, not only for comfort but for safety.

Don't buy ski boots that are going to be too large next season, for boots must provide good ankle support and be properly fitted.

Skiing, of course, is just one of the sports where good buys can be found this month. Now is the time to look around, plan your purchases for next season and save money.

Spring Is Here !

You can see that spring is here - children and their bicycles are out in force.

Are your children aware of the responsibilities they assume as users of the road? A cyclist must stop for traffic lights and stop signs, signal turns and, most important, keep to the right side of the street.

As a motorist you set an example for your children. Is it a good one? For information about insurance protection for yourself, your family and your car, call

ONTARIO DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND FORESTS

Weekly Report

The Hand of Man

Nature is complex in its make-up. Each area of land is unique in its composition and its ability to produce. Whether it be land, vegetation trees or animal life, under natural conditions all seem to fit together to form the balance in nature.

Man has often greatly altered this balance and sometimes to his detriment. Early land clearing operations for agriculture resulted in marginal and sub-marginal farm lands being cleared. Fires started to dispose of timber and brush from these operations often got out of control and covered large areas damaging everything in its path. Greater demands of man and his changing ways of life in many cases have caused liquidation of some forests, overharvesting of wildlife, pollution of waters and disappearance of our wilderness.

Only in recent years has man turned his hand to thinking more about his future well being. Today, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests is planting millions of nursery stock trees on abandoned farms in Southern Ontario. Lakes and streams are being studied to determine their productivity and then stocked with suitable varieties of fish for sport fishing. More concern is being given to retaining the wilderness areas we have left for future recreational needs as parks, access to lakes and streams, public hunting areas and hiking trails.

Man must plan well for retainment of his future natural resource needs.

LATE MAPLE SAP RUN

BY: C.F. Coons.
Farm Forester.

The maple syrup season got off to a late start this year. Only small runs of sap were obtained during March and most producers did not start to boil until April 1st or later, about 10 days later than normal. Deep snow at the start of the season made gathering difficult for producers using buckets. Many found it necessary to have their bush roads bulldozed so that sap could be gathered.

Producers using plastic tubing benefited most this season since the deep snow did not affect gathering. The plastic tubing is used to convey the sap to large holding tanks or to the sugar house for boiling.

Last year was an average production year for Ontario's maple syrup producers. About 185,000 gallons of syrup were produced.

Due to the lateness of the season many producers feel that production this year will be down.

Maple syrup is retailing for about $8.00 per gallon in Eastern Ontario this year, just a small increase over last year.

R.M. Christie,
District Forester.

Safety Act Changes

- The operation of competition motorcycles, competition snowmobiles and minibikes will be governed by special regulations under amendments to the Motor Vehicle Safety Regulations that have been given Government approval, Transport Minister Don Jamieson said today.

Under the amendments, which were published on April 14, 1971 in the Canada Gazette, these machines will be established as specific classes of vehicles and will not have to be equipped with headlights and mufflers which are a legal requirement on recreational and transportation-type vehicles. The competition machines will be for use exclusively on competition circuits and will be required to bear a label clearly stating their restricted usage.

Minibikes will be classified as vehicles intended only for off-road use and will be required to be equipped with safety reflectors to assist in their recognition and identification. They, too, will be required to bear labels indicating their restricted usage.

Further proposed amendments to the regulations clarifying definitions of some specific classes of vehicles, as well as proposed changes in tire identification procedures, was included in Part I of the Canada Gazette issued on April 3. Mr. Jamieson has invited comments on these proposals from the manufacturing industry and other interested parties during the next month.

TEACHERS' VIEW

Six Hours Per Student Per Year

Teachers versus boards
Boards versus government
But where are the parents?
Where are the taxpayers?
Students say, "Strike! we'll have a holiday!

Now, what about the other thing?
Education?
Who said that? I did, and I am a teacher. I am not just a teacher, for I have been in other professions but for some strange reason I find this teaching the most gratifying. I love my "Kids" for they are people and every one I teach could be mine. Because I have such a big family of kids - one teacher (me) to 33 kids - (I counted them). (The board says I only have 17.) However, multiply that by six and I have 200 kids and the boards says I only have 102.

Regardless, I still love my kids. You know, dear reader, it doesn't take that much more time to mark 200 essays (out side of school hours.)

PERSONAL ATTENTION

Now, if you have trouble with math, let me explain that in a 40 - minute period with 33 students in a high school class you can give one minute to each student and that does not include travelling time.

The board says I have over two minutes not including travelling time. Are you a parent? Well even with the board's 400 minutes, in a school year I have six and one-half hours with your child. In that time I must analyze, judge, teach, mark, help, discipline, encourage and be professionally friendly. That means 45 minutes for each part of our relationship.

Under actual conditions, as I have stated, I must manage with half that estimate. Of course. I am a genius and can do this easily.

What I have referred to in the preceding section is an academic class. Academic classes work with a minimum of direction becuase they are generally natural leamers. Practical students need twice as much time because they need more motivation and supervision. With such care they may move up to academic if they wish to do so but they actually receive less time from a teacher.

The occupational students need patience and much TLC (tender loving care) but even they are short-changed with a teacher to 17 students by the board average.

WELL PAID?

Take 200 students and divide that figure of 200 into $10,000.

You have paid one teacher $50 to see your son or daughter for 200 days in one subject. For six subjects that is $300.

Remember, this is based on my class load, which the board says is half of that. So that is $600. Depending on how you look at the situation.

Even if $600, the board gets $1,000 for each student.

If there is $400 left from grants and taxes after teachers are paid, why don't you as parents and taxpayers ask? You deserve an answer. May i ask, if you had seven years university training plus 17 professional years of experience and you enjoyed your work and loved your kids in school, that you would not feel you weren't being appreciated?

TEACHER EVALUATION

There are teachers on our staff who have years of experience who are not qualified by the new standards. If you live locally you know them. They are your friends and yet they may have to move. It was figured if the eight teachers under this stigma were dismissed, the board would save $24,000. Any concern here parents?

May I emphasize there is no ill feeling being expressed by myself as a teacher towards the board. They must administer regulations, which is their job.

But, even as they say they are only human, so do teachers, and the letter of the law has got rid of more justice than the law itself. In the meanwhile there is the question of education.

Now sir, when you mention that word are you talking politics economics, society or are you talking through your.....

POINTS TO PONDER

1. If you have been watching Henry VIII on the television series, you will see that when the status quo did not please him or was politically unfavorable he simply changed the law, because he was the Establishment E. G. The Carleton board says that all red tape would be cut if a community group would sponsor an extra - curricular activity. Is this not strike breaking.?
2. In our board we have five superintendents for 10 high schools, and several assistant superintendents. Do 10 high schools with principals and vice-principals need so much supervision? Business does not do it. Combine their salaries and you have 15 teachers.

3 A warehouse is going to cost $10,000 a year in interest, plus salaries to run it. Can this area afford such savings in bulk buying? Will they save that?

4. If you decrease a 60 member staff by four or possibly six andhave a 10 percent decrease in efficiency because of the student load, do you not reduce the equivalent of 10 percent in the school-leaving studen's productivity?
5. A lawyer an architect, a doctor, an engineer and a teacher are placed on a panel to discuss a young person's problem socially. Who contributes the most if each professional knows the young person?

(A) If the teacher contributed most why is he the least professionally recognized of the five?

6. Why is education such a political football and why are teachers blamed for tax increases and costs?

(A) Because politically the teacher by legislation is unable to defend himself legally?

7. Why does the media generally blame the teacher for increased education costs?

(A) Because it's easier to say that than say there are too many administrators consultants, red tape and servants.

8. Every professional association in Canada has its own organization to govern its professionalism except the teachers and the members degree of professional competence for which they are paid.

(A) Is there any reason the teachers can't have this right?

9. Who pays more taxes preportionably than anybody else?

(A) Teachers.

10. Who works more overtime for no remuneration or pay?

(A) Teachers

11. What group is saddled with the responsibility of keeping young society in line so there won't be anarchy?

(A) Teachers.

SUMMARY

The teacher teaches the student - not the school administration: not the board administration, not the elected trustees, not the legislature but the teachers the teachers, the teachers!

You can't argue with this. It's true. It's not the big buildings who teach. It's not politicians who train It's not money which teaches - it is teachers.

More than any other professional it is the teacher today who affects the life of a child from kindergarten to college.

Second meeting of Steering Committee

A meeting of the Iroquois and District Arena Steering Committee was held on April 26 at 7:30 p. m. in the Civic Centre.

Favourable reports in most cases were brought in by those members who at the last meeting agreed to check into some financial possibilities.

A less expensive type of construction has been brought to our attention and will be thoroughly investigated before the next meeting.

The committee members feel more professional advice along the financial and architectural lines is necessary at this time. Efforts will be made to have some of these people present at the next session, to be held on Monday, May 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Civic Centre

Again, anyone in the Iroquois and Matilda area who is interested, is welcome to sit in on any meeting

At an estimated cost of $35 million, and with the recruitement of some 48,000 temporary workers, the 1971 census promises to be the biggest peace-time operation of its kind this country has ever experienced. This time, too, Canadians will become more personally involved than before because they will be completing the questionnaires themselves.

Rev. Lloyd Cummings, Guest Priest For Knox Church

97th Anniversary Service, May 2, 8 p.m.

The 97th Anniversary of Knox Presbyterian Church, Iroquois, will be observed with a special evening service of praise, this Sunday, May 2nd, at 8 p.m. and to which members of other churches and of the neighboring communities are cordially invited.

Guest speaker for this memorable occasion will be the Rev. W. Lloyd Cummings, Parish Priest of St. Daniel's and St. Anne's Roman Catholic congregations of South Mountain and Dixon's Corners, and the guest ministry of music will beoffered by the newly formed Morrisburg Choral Society, under the leadership of Mrs. John Degray, who will be singing the anthem selections, "Pilgrims' Journey" (Tillotson), "The Lord's My Shepherd" (Crimond), and "When the Saints" (Modern), and giving leadership in the singing of congregational spirit songs.

Marking the anniversary of the Knox congregation's witness and work in the community, the service will also speak to the combined work of the churches in the area, as exemplified in the ecumenical spirit of sharing a common missional concern, and particularized in the recent Lay School of Theology held in South Mountain and Iroquois during the past season of Lent.

The guest speaker, Fr. Cummings, is a native of Carelton Place, receiving his theological education at St. Augustine Seminary, Toronto. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1955, holding parishes in Spencerville and South Mountain since that time. He is presently Chairman of the Liturgical Commission of the Diocese of Kingston. The host Minister, the Rev. John Hibbs, will conduct this service of Anniversary praise.

On Wednesday evening, May 5th, the congregation of Knox Church will host the annual Anniversary Turkey Dinner, to be held in the church hall, with servings beginning at 5 p.m. and until all are served. Tickets are available from members, or may be secured at the door the evening of the dinner.

A very cordial invitation is extended to the Seaway Community to share in this Anniversary commemoration.

A SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION

The four area municipalities of Morrisburg, Williamsburg Township, Matilda Township, and Iroquois have agreed to form a mutual planning area and while it is a form of regionalization, it takes on a form that gives local control. This is a far cry from the proposals for regional government that have come out of Toronto, but it does show that local municipalities can cooperate together and in some measure help solve common problems by planning for the future.

The decision to proceed came after meetings where information as to the problems we all face, as well as some of the solutions that could be expected, as well as municipally-elected officials aired their views.

Taking a look at what the move can mean, it is easily realized that four municipalities within such close proximity have many mutual boundary problems. Recent changes in government legislation regardig land severences in the rural areas to try to increase the possibility of more urban building has meant a great deal to the rural areas. The move by provincial authorities was taken to try to stem the interrmittant development on township roads which might cause problems of servicing in future years. Servicing water and sewage in a built-up municipality create far less problems than they do in a rural-oriented community.

Better land useage in the future, proper land zoning and zoning by-laws, all will be taken into consideration in the planning to be done in the next year on behalf of all the four municipalities.

It is a step towards creating a master plan of development for our own area, and a plan that can be registered as an official plan in Toronto, giving us at least some say in what we want to see happen in South Dundas.

It is an excellent move towards a more efficient system within our own boundaries.

LIBRARY SERVICE FOR MORE PEOPLE

The announcement was made this week that an extension of library service will be made to both Iroquois and Matilda Township residents in that a new room is being added to the facilities in the Iroquois Civic Centre for children's books. The room had previously been used by the Red Cross Society.

During the coming weeks residents of both communities will be notified of the facilities offered and just what a library means to the community that it serves.

This year Matilda Townhhip formed a non-operating library board and the grants that it receives will be used by the library to expand its facilities and make the library of greater value to the area.

Reading material of all kinds is now available in the Iroquois Public Library and at no cost to the residents of the two municipalities. If you want a book from the library just go and ask for it. It's as simple as that.

What the library board intends to do is see that every resident of the two municipalities knows what is available. Then it's up to the public to take advantage of this great public service.

THE BILL SMILEY COLUMN

HOW SMILEY DEALT WITH OFFICER TYPES

By Bill Smiley

Last week I had a rare chance to do something I've always wanted to do, and I seized it with both hands and my tongue.

I was speaking to the Vimy Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, at its annual observance of the battle for Vimy Ridge. The Vimy branch is unique in that nearly all its members are ex-officers of the Canadian armed forces.

On the program for the banquet was printed a list of the executive and the past presidents. It contained a bounty of Brigadiers, a confusion of Colonels, a mess of Majors, a wedge of Wing Commanders and a scattering of Squadron Leaders. Senior officers. Sitting ducks.

Ever since my days as a fledgling fighter pilot, I've enjoyed a firm conviction that there is no possible way anyone can pound anything into the head of a senior officer.

Here was a golden opportunity to prove my theory, and I sailed into it with gusto. I didn't use a phoney survey or a lot of statistical facts, but personal experience, and I let them have it with both barrels.

As a flying student, I first ran into the obtuseness of the senior officer. This wing commander, the chief flying instructor, nearly had a stroke because I'd tried to land from one end of the runway while another student was trying to land from the other. How was I to know the wind had changed 180 degrees since I'd taken off?

During advanced flying training in England, a similar occurrence deepened my conviction. I was coming in to land, every sense alert and my mind dallying with a 72-hour pass and a chubby Land Army girl. Some fool down on the runway started firing red flares.

I went around again, and again he did it. I had checked the windsock carefully this time, so knew it was his fault, not mine. On my fourth approach, I did the usual cockpit check and no red flares went up.

I rolled to a stop and the squadron leader was standing in his jeep, his face a sort of mulberry shade. And once again the insensitivity of senior officers was displayed. Not only did he call me a stupid clot who should be sent back to Canada in a strait-jacket, but the dirty dog cancelled my weekend pass. And all because I'd forgotten one little item on my first three approaches: putting my wheels down.

Then there was my squadron commander in France. I was his No. Two and we'd made a dive-bombing attack, firing our cannon as we dived, which was our wont, not to hit anything, but to bolster our nerves. He shouted something on the way down, but I thought it was something silly like, "Hammer the Hun", so paid no attention, closed my eyes, as was my wont, and squeezed the tit.

When we landed, he was in a terrible flap because I was the only one who had dropped his bombs – on the wrong side of the bomb line.

I thought it was damn poor navigation on his part. I think what really bothered him was that I'd shot off a bit of his wing on the way down.

Then there was the ridiculous squadron leader in flying control who made me land with a hang-up. In those days a hang-up was not some trivial emotional disturbance. It was a fused bomb, dangling by its tail from your wing.

I tried to get rid of it over the sea. Nothing worked. Hopefully, I suggested, "Shall I bail out?" His reply: "Don't be silly. We need that aircraft". Pilots were cheap, aircraft expensive.

One bounce on landing and it would be meat, me, all over the landscape. And I was always known as Two-Bounce Smiley. Did you ever see a mouse with kid gloves on, walking on eggshells? That's the way I landed. But what hurt was that he wouldn't let me land on the metal air-strip, as he didn't want it torn up when I blew up. I had to land on the bumpy verge beside the strip.

Just a few of the examples I gave to the senior officers in my audience of the bone-headedness of senior

THAT WORRIED LOOK

Thursday Daniel 9:3-9
Friday Matthew 22:36-40

With these young pups, that worried look isn't real. You might call it a physiological illusion. The whole problem is that their heads haven't grown enough to fill out the wrinkles in their brows.

But with people a worried look is usually real. It reflects the deep concerns that trouble our world and lives.

Yet worry isn't going to improve the world. Its only real value is that it encourages us to seek solutions where they can be found. The best thing to replace worry with is FAITH.

Through the centuries man has found hope and courage in the truths of religion. God never meant us to solve our problems alone. Perhaps our most perplexing problem today is that too many people have been trying to do just that!

Touch of Spring

Miriam Coligan

April is particularly backward this year, especially with a snowstorm greetings on April 14. However, at long last, the old rail fences may be seen zig zagging across the fields bordering old established properties.

Until very recently the snowdrifts made smooth white mounds of their entire length. Now they have become playgrounds for the chipmunks and squirrels darting between the rails while the robins noisily protest because after all -- the rail fence is an ideal place to build a nest. A rhymster/ once said: Otis Shirk.

I love to wander back in thought as retrospect retraces
The paths of childhood once again, through old familiar places. There are many things I now hold dear, in memory they have charm. And not the least is the old rail fence once found on every farm.

Soon the sunny days will set earth's chemistry to working. Here and there we see signs of growth and all along the Nation flood waters are rampant. Soon the countryside will become clean swept and alive and spring will be here.

100 years of measured progress

OTTAWA: "Speaking to the World", a 15¢ stamp marking the inaugural of powerful new transmitters for Radio Canada International, and "100 Years of Measured Progress", a 6¢ stamp commemorating the 100th anniversary of national census taking in Canada, will be issued by the Post Office Department June 1st.

The Radio Canada stamp was designed by Burton Kramer of Toronto, Ontario. It measures 40mm by 24mm and a quantity of 10 million is being printed Hans Kleefeld, also of Toronto, designed the Census commemorative which measures 30mm by 24mm. A total of 25 million is being printed of this issue. Both stamps are being printed in three colour lithography by the Canadian Bank Note Company of Ottawa.

Radio Canada International is the shortwave transmission service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It was inaugurated February 25, 1945 with the dual purpose of providing Canadian armed forces abroad with news and entertainment from home, and projecting Canada to listeners in other countries. It also serves to stimulate an interchange of trade and an exchange of programmes with other countries. The transmitters, located near Sackville, New Brunswick have a domestic usage as well in providing daily broadcasting to people in Canada's remote northern regions.

Canada's national census is conducted every ten years by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Its original constitutional purpose was and still is today to provide information on which electoral representation is determined.

Recreation Tips

Over a third of all the victims of boating accidents last year in Ontario were fishermen and a high percentage of these fatal accidents occurred during the spring months when the water was cold.

And the causes? Most of the victims were more intent upon catching fish than thinking about their own safety. Bad weather and high waves accounted for the greatest number of these tragedies. A small fishing boat will only take so much heavy weather before it capsizes or swamps. Standing up in a small, light boat was the next, most frequent cause of these spring fatalities. The moment a man stands up in a light boat it begins to move under him and, unless he is extremely dextrous he loses his balance and falls overboard. It is like attempting to walk a tightrope. Yet fishermen stand up to cast, land a fish or just stretch their legs without realizing, apparently, that the next moment they could be in cold water that is deadly.

The above statements are authenticated facts from the Ontario Safety League's report on boating fatalities for 1970 in Ontario. These hazards are widely publicized throughout the Province of Ontario every spring by the League but the warnings are unheard or unheeded because every year the same unnecessary tragedies occur during the early fishing season.

In absence of the President and Vice President, Chief John Hehir of - Chesterville presided.

In answer to the roll call fifteen Departments responded with fifty - members present, who represented the following areas· Avonmore, Cornwall, Crysler, Chesterville, Finch, Glen Walter, Long Sault, Morrisburg, Moose Creek, Maxville, Newington, St. Andrews, St. Lawrence Parks, Williamsburg and Williamstown.

The minutes of the last meetings at Avonmore and Alexandria were read by the Secretary, Chief "Gib" Raistrick, which was approved and passed on a motion by Chief Merton Cassey of Maxville and seconded by Albert Evans.

The Treasurers report submitted by Chief Alton Major of Glen Walter showed a Bank Balance of 494.38 with no outstanding accounts.

A lengthy report of correspondence was read by the Secretary which was filed on a motion by Allan McIntre and seconded by Chief Robert Little of Williamstown.

On Committee reports, Chief Merton Cassey of Maxville for the Sports - Committee reported that the annual Curling Bon-Spiel was a great success in which eleven departments participated. The four major prize winners were Newington, Avonmore, Chesterville and Finch. Prize awards for these events are sponsored by "Molsons Breweries" Levitt Safety Supplies and the Mutual Fire Aid Association.

Chief Cassey, further reported that the Maxville Fire Department are in the process of training a group of young men from age 16 - 21 years for future firefighters and are receiving special instruction from outside - instructors on these subjects. Mr David Shorey of Brockville and the Levitt Safety Supply will lecture and demonstrate such items as Arson, and Breathing equipment on May 5th and 19th. Any local department who - wish to attend are invited.

Due to the absence of Chief John Miller of Avonmore, there was no Point system report given at this time.

Captain Clarence Snider of the Cornwall Fire Department reported for the Counties Co-ordinator, Chief L.A. Carriere, that in the near future all Fire Chiefs of the three United Counties would be invited to attend a - Special meeting in Cornwall to have the National Emergency Measures program explained to them. He further requested that all Fire Chiefs submit the regular Fire Prevention report to his office before or on June 21st 1971.

On behalf of the Special events Committee, Captain Snider reported that the annual Fireman's Banquet would be held at the "Cornwallis Hotel" in Cornwall on October 9th of this year. Tickets to this event would soon be on sale which would cost $3.25 each. All Firemen and friends are - invited. There would also be the usual $100.00 Bond draw this year along with spot prizes for every dance. The Dance program would be under the direction of Fireman, Morgan Major.

Under special announcements, Chief Robert Little of Williamstown, advised that a special appreciation night would be held at St. Josephs Parish Hall on Oak Street in Lancaster on April 30th, to honor Mr. Alphance Major, who had served thirty-five years in fire fighting. All members of the Mutual Fire Aid Association were invited to attend. At this time there were several members of the Association who have served from twenty-five to thirty-five and have applied to the Ontario Fire Marshal for the long Service medal. Noted in this group were Fireman "Al" Kilby and Chief John Hehir of Chesterville, Chief Merton Cassey of Maxville, Chief "Gib" Raistrick of the St. Lawrence Parks and Captain Clarence Snider of the Cornwall Fire Department.

The usual door prize draw which was sponsored by the Crysler Fire Department was won on numbers 15039 and 155062 by Fireman Howard Haley of Roxboro Township and Lyle Kehoe of Williamsburg.

On a Motion by Chief Merton Cassey, seconded by Alfred Shorley of St. Andrews west, the meeting adjourned to meet in Cornwall on June 21st, 1971.

The Crysler Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department served a very - delightful lunch in which they were thanked on behalf of the Association by Chief "Gib" Raistrick and Captain Clarence Snider of Cornwall.

350 Teachers Discuss Strategy

350 Secondary School teachers met this evening at Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School auditorium to discuss procedures for implementing the planned week of work-to-rule, and one day withdrawal of services across the province.

Guest speakers were OSSTF Field Secretary Ray Primeau of Toronto, who outlined Provincial Executive policy in this matter. and Warren Kingsbury of Carleton District, who read the Carleton Board's statement of precisely how the Department of Education ceilings will affect education in that area.

Speakers repeatedly stressed that the action proposed by teachers is in no way related to salary negotiations Concern was expressed that the public does not understand that the real issue is that the education of virtually every student is at stake.

Although provincial concerns were the key issues in the meeting, much discussion centered around local issues such as the Board's refusal to indicate where cuts, if any, were being made at the administrative level. So far, only cuts that directly affect students have been planned, it was reported.

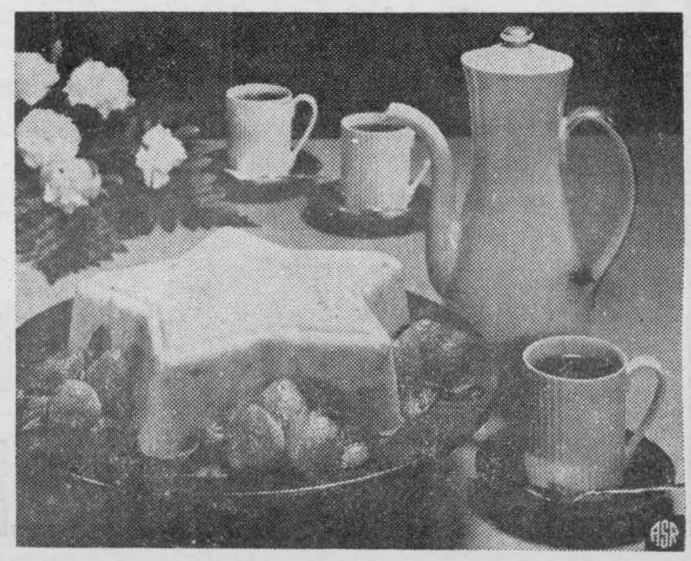

The Board has repeatedly refused to refute or affirm any charges of disproportionate cuts directed at student programs.

Facts that were communicated by the Board to date are the following: class sizes will increase substantially throughout the area: school budgets are cut by almost 20%: teaching staff is to be reduced by fifty teachers in the secondary schools.

Authorization was granted by the meeting for a massive public relations campaign to inform the public of the issues at stake.

President Richard Phillips expressed the hope that the campaign would cause parents to contact Board officials and school officials in order to determine exactly how the provincial ceilings will affect their own children.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor:
We wish to appeal to your readers for help in a program to preserve Canadian History. Many settlers in the Canadian West came from the older provinces, so the Glenbow-Alberta Institute of Calgary is now trying to discover any old records which might exist among eastern families. Items such as diaries, letters, photographs, drawings, political or business papers, and artifacts dealing with the west are probably lying in many attics in your area. Some may deal with the fur traders, Mounted Police, missionaries, railroaders or ranchers, while others may be letters from relatives who homesteaded on the prairies.
If such items are sent to Glenbow, they will be preserved and made available to historians. Glenbow has two museums, an art gallery, library and archives devoted to this purpose. By knowing our past we hope that people will understand their country and have greater pride in being Canadians.
If any of your readers have western items or know where they may be found, we hope they will write to Director of History, Glenbow-Alberta Institute. 902 - 11th Avenue, S. W., Calgary 3.

Hugh A Dempsey.

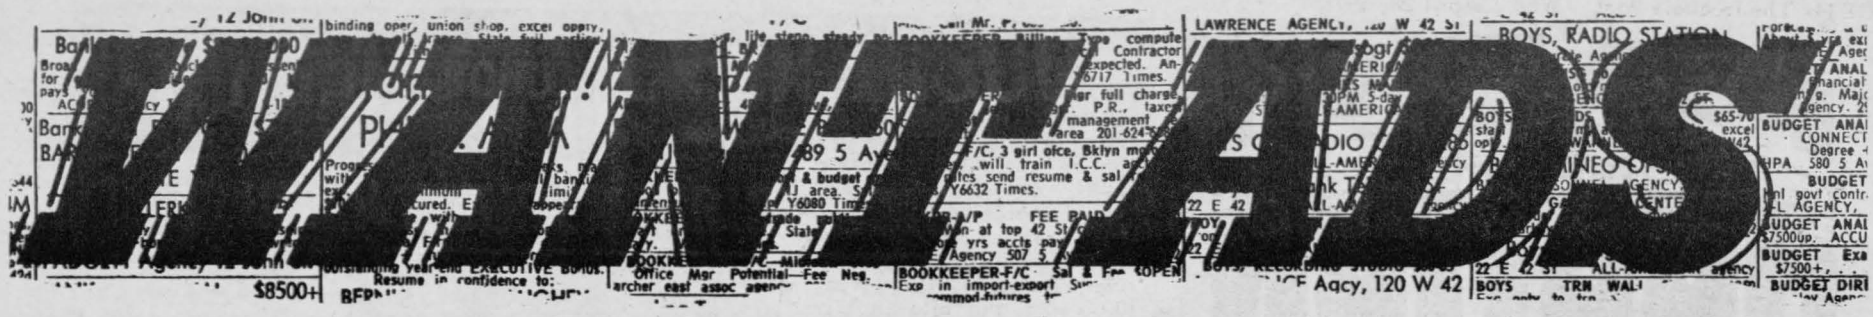

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor.
Rather than a letter to the Editor this is to draw attention to what I believe are some serious errors in a letter to the editor of a few weeks back while I was out of town.
The words "Where your backyard is everyone elses" with its critical undertone, aroused particular resentment in me. Some years ago we came here perfect strangers from Montreal and my first backyard experience occurred two days after our move when a neighbor crossed over to bring us fresh vegetables from her garden. In the years since, this backyard trend has continued. Adults and children alike have shown thoughtfulness in many ways Especially was this so during the year of my husband's terminal illness when folks I scarcely knew by sight came to enquire or to bring offerings from their bake oven or garden.
The writer says she didn't know our cruelly murdered Mrs. Hamilton - a pity - for no person could have been kindlier than she, nor more beloved by old and young alike - with not an enemy or ill-wisher.
Again I quote in reference to the comment "He is a human being in case some people have forgotten".
May I suggest that so was our Mrs. Hamilton and those women here living alone who lived in fear and terror until the criminal was taken in custody and who still have uneasy nights on their beds.
No, none of us has made an about-turn, neither have we reverted back to the Sweet Vengeance bit. Our citizenry must be protected and for the enormity of this crime surely the judgement does NOT measure up.
How many others may be tempted to commit similar crimes, feeling that when if caught they will only receive a similar light sentence?

Early Camping In Parks

While the Parks and Historic Sites operated by The St. Lawrence Parks Commission will open on May 15 provision is being made a several campgrounds to accommodate early campers.
On May 1 sections of the campgrounds, which have electrical service for trailers, at Adolphustown, Brown's Bay, Riverside, Woodlands, Charlottenburgh and Glengarry Parks will be opened. Normal camping fees will apply.
Each year there is an increasing number of campers, particularly those with trailer units, who take to the outdoors while the trees are still budding. By opening these campgrounds the Commission will provide convenient camping facilities throughout the Parks system in advance of the normal opening date.
