Henry's Shorthand School
Ottawa, Ont.

On the May Civil Service Examination, this year, we passed more stenographic candidates than the other local business colleges combined.

It is a common occurrence for Henry-trained students to get 100% in Shorthand 100% in Typewriting, and 95% in Composition.

These subjects being the most difficult on this examination, our record of FIRST, SECOND and FOURTH places for the whole of Canada, is at once explained.

During the past two years, more than 235 students have come to us from other local business colleges.

Does it not prove that we have a superior school?

Our instruction being individual, you may start at any time.

Address and Presentation to Mrs. Shiels

Quite a number of ladies of St. Mary's parish congregated at the presbytery Monday evening to bid farewell to Mrs. Shiels, before her departure for Kingston and to present her with a valuable club bag as a token of appreciation and esteem. An enjoyable evening was spent including programme and lunch.

Mrs. Shiels was taken by surprise and replied in a very suitable manner, thanking the ladies for their kindness to her since coming to Chesterville and regretted very much her departure, saying she would always remember them in kindliest terms.

The address was read by Miss Molly Jordan, and the club bag was presented by Miss Emma Lynch.

Dear Mrs. Shiels :

We have learned with deep regret that you are soon to leave us, and therefore our ties of friendship, which have for so long bound us in many benevolent and social circles, is to be rent asunder.

We feel your departure a personal loss one only solace we have, is the thought that you will be associated with the same noble work and on a larger scale.

We take this opportunity, dear Mrs. Shiels, of testifying in a very slight manner, our appreciation of the many services you have rendered us in the past, and ask you to please accept this little gift in token of our gratitude.

Injured Stealing Ride.

Another very serious accident took place at the station Thursday night by which James Kane, of 60 Lebretton St., Ottawa, lost an arm. He had been stealing a ride on the express from Montreal thinking he was going to Ottawa, and was riding between the tender and first car, standing upright with his left arm over the back of the tender. When the mechanical arrangement for shifting the coal forward was set in motion, catching his arm just below the shoulder and between the elbow and the hand and squash ing it to a pulp. As soon as discovered he was taken into the waiting room and a doctor summoned. He was given first aid and then taken to Smith's Falls hospital on the fast train, which had been flagged, where it was found necessary to amputate the arm at the shoulder. He was a machinist by trade and has a wife and family living in Ottawa.

Newington Boy Makes Unique Ring.

Mr. A. McMillan of Newington, recently received a letter from his son Neil who has been in the trenches in Flanders. He enlisted with the first contingent from the west and has been in the fighting line practically since he landed. He recently had leave of absence for six days and went over to England. While there he made a ring out of a German shell which he sent to his father as a souvenir. It is made of aluminum the work being done by himself. It bears the date, April 22, 1915 and also the names of the battles Neil was in, Ypres, Neuveau Chapeile, Labasse. It took several days to make the ring and after it was finished he was several times offered a pound, five dollars, for it.

Since receiving the ring Mr. McMillan has had another letter from Neil who has returned to the trenches in Belgium. He says that he is in splendid health and ready for another go at the Germans.

Mr. McMillan has another son, David, who resigned his position in the post office at Cornwall and enlisted and has since gone to Bermuda.

Mr. Eugene McMillan of town is a brother of the two soldier boys.

Burial of James Allen, sr.

The funeral of the late James Allen, sr., who was buried on Saturday last, was largely attended. About 100 carriages followed the remains to the R. C. cemetery, after a solemn Requiem mass was offered by Rev. Fr. Fleming.

The sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Allen came as a terrible shock to his wife and family who have the sincere sympathy of the community.

The deceased was a general favorite, and although 69 years of age, he was smart and active, holding always a buoyancy and hilarity which made him popular amongst his fellowmen.

His son Thomas of S. Dakota was unable to be present at the funeral.

The friends from a distance were his sister, Miss Allen of Kingston, Mrs. Gormley of Crysler, Miss Cashion of St. Albert, Mrs. Coligan and Mrs. King of Morrisburg.

The announcement and cause of Mr. Allen's death was referred to in last week's paper, having been called to a fire at his son Willie's farm, whose barns and crop were burned. The shock caused a weakness of the heart an and hour and a half after arriving he died. Both Drs. Brown were present and Rev. Father Fleming was summoned, but he was beyond all human help. We hope he rests in that heavenly home beyond, where death and parting is neither felt nor known.

Nurse Gives Up Her Life to Profession.

Miss Gertrude Alice Huxtable, who in 1909 left Chesterville to study nursing at Bellevue Hospital, New York City, died in that institution on Saturday Sep. 4th, while undergoing an operation for the removal of a pin from her right lung.

For the past two years Miss Huxtable had been falling off in health and despite all efforts by New York's most eminent medical men, no diagnosis could be arrived at. An X-Ray was suggested and disclosed the presence of this foreign body in her lung. This had been swallowed two years before while calming a refractory patient. Due to the repeated hemorrhages from which she suffered the surgeons decided that the removal of the pin was imperative. The operation was performed through the medium of a Bronchoscope. While under the anesthetic and without any warning Miss Huxtable passed away. All known methods of resuscitation failed.

A service was held in Osborne Hall, New York City, on Sunday afternoon and at Chesterville Rev. H. E. Warren also held services. In a brief outline Mr. Warren showed how this simple country girl determined to accomplish a purpose in life. He pointed out that her life must be held up as a most appropriate example of love, sacrifice and honour.

In the space of five years her skill as a nurse had become generally recognized and her unselfish personality had won for her many sincere friends. As an example of the marked esteem in which she was held three of her friends from New York accompanied the body to Chesterville and attended the funeral. She was buried on Sept. 7th at Maple Ridge cemetery.

Young People Aid Red Cross

Ottawa Free Press

In many localities the young people as well as their elders are giving both time, talents, and money to Red Cross work. A group of such young people at Chesterville arranged to give concerts at the neighboring villages for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The treasurer of the Red Cross Society at Ottawa has just received from Mrs. W. B. Lawson, of Chesterville, a cheque for $215 as a result of their endeavors. Those who provided the concerts, and to whom the Red Cross Society is gratefully indebted are, Misses Amy Beattie, Hazel Saucier, Violet Saucier, Ruth Lawson, Messrs. A. E. Bolster, Ernest E. McMillan, and Masters Thos. Carpenter and Bobs Lawson, all of Chesterville.

Mr. Bern Shaver who has been in Weyburn, Sask., for some time arrived home Monday morning and is proceeding to Kingston to enlist with his brother Stanley who is a member of the 32nd Battery, now in camp at Barriefield. Bern takes the right view of the matter when he says this is no time for single men to hang back when the Empire calls.

A long time ago some one placed a leather glove in the fork of a shade tree in front of the residence of Henry Taylor, Perth. This must have been when J. A. Allan occupied the house At any rate the tree has so increased in size as to grow all around the glove and to completely cover it up so that only its fingers remain outside. These protrude from the body of the tree like so many knot, and are a unique curiosity.

Landed Behind German Lines And Rescued Brother Airman

Paris, Sept. 7,—Adjutant Bertin, of the French Aviation Corps, has been cited in the orders of the day and awarded the decoration of the Legion of Honor for alighting behind the German lines and bringing back in safety Adjutant Boyer, who was compelled to set fire to his machine as the result of an accident.

Both aviators were engaged in reconnoitring expeditions in the same direction. Bertin's landing point was about four miles beyond that of Boyer. On returning after executing his mission, Bertin saw Boyer's machine in flames. He landed in face of heavy fire, picked up his comrade and flew back to the French lines with a fragment of a shell in his thigh. The aeroplane was struck in 98 places by bullets and pieces of shells.

Letter From Sir John French Says 42 German Submarines are Gone

New York, Sept. 7.—A special to the Times from Washington says:— "Up to three weeks ago the British navy alone without regard to the navies of France and Italy, had sunk or captured 42 German submarines.

This information is contained in a personal letter from Field Marshall Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British army in Flanders, to one of the best known men in America, who is an old friend of Sir John. It indicates that Germany has lost at least half a hundred submarines since the war began. French destroyers are known to have sunk several submarines, and Italy may have accounted for one or two.

"The number mentioned in Sir John French's letter is only two short of the full number of German submarines built and building on July 1, 1914, as officially announced by the American bureau of naval intelligence. But it is estimated that by using new shifts of men every three hours a boat can be finished in nine months. Even this minimum may have been reduced. It is regarded here as certain that Germany has launched many submarines since the war began.

"News that about fifty German submarines have been sunk goes far toward explaining the complete change in the German attitude toward this phase of the war. Recently editorials have appeared in German papers.

Stricken Woman Pinned Note In The Window.

Barrie, Sept 6.—A sheet of paper in the window of an neighboring house caused a little daughter of John Hepbun to be the means, discovering the death of Mrs. Hewson. The little one told her sister Lulu of seeing the paper in the window, and remembering that no stir had been noticed around the house, Lulu went over to investigate. On the window frame was the message: "Please send for George. He is working for Mr. Fielding on the Penetang road." Looking through the window, Lulu saw the body of Mrs. Hewson lyfng on the bed. Mr. Hewson was sent for, and on his arrival found Mrs. Hewson dead. Death was due to heart failure. Just before her death it is thought the woman, not being able to give the alarm any other way, posted the note in the window. Deceased was 48 years old.

Ten Submarines Cross The Atlantic For The British

New York, Sept. 5—Yesterday's New York Herald prints the following story:— "Operating under their own power, without re-fuelling or re-victualling and without the slightest mishap, ten submarines have within the last few months crossed the Atlantic ocean and are now doing yeoman service for the allied cause in German and Turkish waters.

In just five months from the time that Charles M. Schwab, of the Bethlehem Steel Company, signed a contract for the submarines with the British Government the "little Vipers" as they have come to be known, were turned over to British crews at the Vickers' yards, in Montreal, where they were built jointly by the Bethlehem Company and the Electric Boat Company, and started for the war zone.

"All records in submarine construction have been surpassed by this feat, and all record for speed and sustained effort h e been exceeded. Within two weeks after leaving Montreal five of the submarines were safe in the English Channel. Inside of twenty days the other five were in Turkish waters, and their commanders had reported for service to the British commander of the allied fleets, Vice-Admiral de Robeck.

The construction of craft and their despatch to the European war zone were attended with the greatest secrecy. In the face of the wonderful German system of espionage the workmen did their tasks unsuspected. So thorough were the precautions taken that until now not a person outside of those who intend to know had an inkling of what had been done.

The Crucifix On The Battlefield.

The testimony from the front as to the immunity of the crucifix from damage where bullets and shells are destroying everything else is much stronger than that concerning intervention of angels. We have ourselves had letters from soldiers attesting from their own experience the remarkable escape of the crucifix in many places says the London Times. A photograph taken at Ypres and reproduced in the current issue of the Windsor Magazine shows how the figure of Christ on the cross remained intact when large parts of the picture that contained it were torn and shattered. Sergeant O'Leary, V. C., is represented by an interviewer as having said: "One of the strangest things about the front is that absolutely all the figures on the cross are uninjured. They call it the miracle of the cross, and I can myself say I have never seen a wayside shrine with the figure damaged. I have seen cases where the church and everything else was knocked to the ground, but the crucifix has always escaped injury." Private Birchall of the 5th King's Liverpool Regiment bears witness to the same fact in much the same language. Everything in a village at which he fought had been knocked down except three shrines and a crucifix. They remained without a scratch. "It has been the same everywhere I have been," wrote Private Birchall. And Sergeant A. Pearson, of the 7th West Riding Regiment, the son of the late Rev. Mark Pearson, a well known Yorkshire Congregational minister, in a letter from the front to a brother Freemason, which has been published by the Daily News, says the British Tommies, noticing it was peculiar that they never saw a crucifix either on the roadside or in the churches smashed are having crucifixes and rosaries and hanging them around their necks to ensure their safety. He acknowledges that he had done this himself. We have not seen any statement on the subject from Catholic priests at the front. Doubtless their testimony would coincide with that of the laymen.—St. Paul Bulletin.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of muscous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sead for circulars free.
