

MORRISBURG PEE-WEES, NEWEST HOCKEY CHAMPIONS OF O.D.H.A.

This year's junior and senior hockey teams in Morrisburg, left the playoff scene early, but the village still had representation in the district hockey wars. The Pee Wee team became O.D.H.A. "B" Division Champions last Sunday, having beaten all teams in the District. After winning the semi-finals from Rockland, they culminated a fine season by taking the finals from Shawville.

Mrs. B. Colquhoun Died in Hospital

Her many friends in this area will learn with deep regret of the death of a well-known former resident of the Morrisburg area, in the person of Mrs. Beatrice Colquhoun, who passed away at the Winchester Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, March 26th, after an illness of only two days. She was in her 83rd year.

Born at Morrisburg on May 25th, 1886, she was a daughter of the late James Nash, and his wife, the former Phillana Kyle. She attended local schools and in 1905 was married at Iroquois, to John A. Colquhoun, who predeceased her in 1936.

For many years, they resided at Morrisburg near the Nash Creek, but some years ago, Mrs. Colquhoun went to live with her daughter near Chesterville.

Surviving are three daughters: Mrs. Walter Wells (Margaret), of Morrisburg; Mrs. George Wright (Helen) of Chesterville; Mrs. Irving Cochrane (Ruth), of Port Credit; and four sons: Ralph, of New Liskeard, Ont.; Alister, of Shawinigan, Que.; Malcolm, of Galt, Ontario, and Raymond, of Kingston, Ontario. Another son, Arthur, predeceased her several years ago.

A kindly Christian lady, Mrs. Colquhoun was well known for her devotion to her family and her church, and will be sadly missed by a wide circle of friends.

The body is resting at the Vice & Craig Funeral Home, Chesterville. Funeral services are to be held at Colquhoun United Church, where she was a faithful member and a devoted worker on Friday, March 28th at 2:00 p.m. with Rev. D. L. Gordon, her minister, in charge.

Interment will be in Maple Ridge cemetery.

Ottawa Wins in Midget Tourney

Ottawa 67s defeated Prescott 7-4 to win the annual Midget Hockey tournament held Saturday at Morrisburg Civic Centre, under sponsorship of Beavers Dental Products Limited. Cornwall came in winner of the consolation draw.

Teams from Morrisburg, Cornwall, Brockville, Athens, Prescott, Ottawa and Kingston participated.

The 9 a.m. play saw Brockville defeat Morrisburg 2-1 in a tough encounter which featured 2 game misconducts, 2 majors and a regular donkeybrook. Then Prescott defeated Athens 4-1 and Ottawa 67s and Cornwall battled to a 1-1 tie with the decision going to Ottawa when John Harper made the third penalty shot and Cornwall's Brian McCulloch had the misfortune to hit the goal post.

The scheduled Montreal team failed to show due to transportation problems and Kingston elected to enter the consolation division with their bye to meet Cornwall. Kingston's second game, played against Athens saw them lose 4-1.

Cornwall defeated Kingston 7-0 and met the Morrisburg team who had bested Athens 5-0 with Paul Hill registering the shut-out.

The final consolation game saw Cornwall defeat Morrisburg, the champion team of last year's tournament, 4-1. They received the runners-up crests.

Claude Disotel of Cornwall and Brian McNairn were presented with most valuable player awards.

Championship finals saw Prescott defeat Brockville 5-4 to meet Ottawa 67s.

Trophy and crests were presented by Patrick Beavers representing Morrisburg Dental Bur Factory.

Chest Clinics to be Held Here in April

Chest Clinics, conducted by the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley Health Unit, will be held in this area during April. These clinics have not been overly attended in the past, possibly due to the fact that they have not been too well publicized in advance. For this reason, the advance announcement is made by the St. Lawrence TB & Health Association.

Dr. A. G. Jessamine, Director of Chest Clinics for the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley Health Unit, feels that the future of these clinics depends on how well the local people attend, and if the attendance continues low, there does not seem much point in sending personnel and equipment to these locations.

The Clinic in Morrisburg will be at the Health Unit Office in the Shopping Centre, Tuesday, April 8th, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Elsewhere in the area, clinics will be held at the following times and places:

Iroquois, Community Hall, Dundas Street, Tuesday, April 8th 1:30 to 3:00 p.m.

Winchester, District Memorial Hospital Board Room, Tuesday, April 15th, 10:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Finch, Community Hall, Tuesday May 13th, from 10:30 a.m.

Although the responsibility to safeguard his health is the individual's own, the opportunity to do so is now being made available to everyone through the Health Unit and Provincial Chest Clinics.

MRS. A. N. RILEY GUEST SPEAKER AT MARCH INSTITUTE MEETING

Mrs. A. N. Riley was guest speaker at the March meeting of Morrisburg Women's Institute held on Thursday in the auditorium of the Public School. She presented slides and commentary on her recent vacation to the Barbados, "The island in the sun". She discussed the variety of scenic beauty, the tropical climate as well as customs, crafts and hobbies of the native Barbadians which proved to be both educational and enjoyable. She also displayed souvenirs and handicrafts from that country.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Lorne Kinkaid and thanked by Mrs. Malcolm Robertson program convenor. Miss Dorothy Flower presented a series of solos accompanied by Mrs. Clifford Lamour. Mrs. Kinkaid discussed the theme of the evening "Resolutions", under the topic "Take Time". Mrs. Wilfred Foss gave a reading on the motto: "Friendship is often hindered by the things we fail to say and do".

Mrs. Hugh Gillmore, curator, Mrs. Cephus Smyth, District Director, Mrs. Grant Beckstead, District secretary treasurer and Mrs. Oliver Smith will attend the Directors meeting at Iroquois March 26th.

A quilting bee will be held on April 9th in the lecture room of Knox Presbyterian Church. Tentative plans were made for the April Birthday party at Glen-Stordum Lodge.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION HELD MEETING AT ST. MARY'S

The Morrisburg-Iroquois OPTA held its fourth general meeting on Sunday evening, March 23rd, 1969 at St. Mary's School, Morrisburg.

The meeting was opened by the president Mr. DeBellefeuille. Father MacDonald recited the prayer for Christian Education and spoke briefly on the need for parents and teachers to give their undivided support to CPTA.

The main part of the meeting got under way with a question from Mr. John Valcour regarding the McKay report and its effect upon Separate Schools. Mr. Beavers replied and stated that the report concerns Public Schools and will in no way affect us.

Mr. DeBellefeuille then directed a question to Mr. Beavers concerning Kindergarten next fall. Mr. Beavers then told the group that three things were now being discussed by the Regional Board. — These are (1) Primary Education (2) Oral French (3) Religious Education. Although these items are getting top priority Mr. Beavers stated that nothing definite has been decided.

In the absence of the program convenor the chairman read a paper clipping about a local meeting featuring Rev. Peter Barkway of the Alcohol and Drug Foundation and voiced the possibility of having a representative of the OPP at the next General Meeting.

A film was shown entitled "Once Upon a Prime Time". After the film a discussion followed and a summary presented. The film depicted television and its effect upon a normal household. The general impression of all was that a family can become so absorbed in TV viewing that much of family life is lost. It was also stated that TV should be supervised, since many programs are unfit for children to see. It was suggested that parents should write to the sponsors of TV programs and voice their disapproval of certain programs as public opinion can in a large way influence the type of programs shown.

The meeting, which was enjoyed by all, ended with lunch being served.

Show New Annuals Horticulture Group

Mr. W.M. Cavaye, well known member of Ottawa Horticultural Society was guest speaker at the March meeting of Morrisburg Horticultural Society held in the Civic Centre. He presented an illustrated talk on "What's new in Annuals for '69". More than 100 brilliantly hued slides demonstrated the various annuals available to-day. The best gardens near Carleton University showed petunias in glowing and exotic shades in numerous sizes and forms.

"Snapdragons", the speaker said, have changed over the years. Now we can get beautiful double ones without the snap feature. The "Pink Butterfly" is an outstanding beauty, it also comes in colors other than pink and like the aster is an excellent bedding plant. In these two, one may obtain the dwarf varieties and the taller types.

Balsam plant has been greatly improved and varied and is coming back into favor because of its beauty if individual flowers.

Mr. Cavaye spoke at length of the marigold which comes in seven different groups from the very small "signet" to the very tall American Marigold. All are hardy and bloom continuously until the frost comes.

The Verbena still features the old reliable varieties but new and exotic ones have also been developed.

In a comprehensive showing of colorful flowering plants, the speaker illustrated Sweet Alyssum, the patience plant which grows best in dappled shade, fibrous bonitas, pansies, dahlias from seed, comes in crimson and blue and a variety of others, including asters, sweet peas, thistles and zinnias.

The speaker was introduced by past president Bruce E. Tuttle and thanked by Hugh Gillmore.

Alfred Shorten, Chairman of the program committee reviewed program plans for forthcoming meetings which include a film on "Viennese Gardens", a trip to the Montreal Botanical Gardens in July, and the May meeting which will include a sale of plants particularly a selection of garden mums suitable for this area.

Mrs. Graham Wells was winner of the door prize.

MARCH MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUB

Miss Gladys Bayne addresses the monthly meeting of Knox Presbyterian Church Women's Club on the subject "Ways to help our neighbour", under the theme — "Have a Heart". She discussed assistance through the heart foundation, the Canadian Cancer Society, the CNIB and the Women's Institute. As president of the Women's Auxiliary of Winchester Memorial Hospital she told of the many ways where help may be given.

Mrs. John DeGray, president, conducted the meeting with worship service led by Mrs. Maud Harper and Mrs. T. H. Boyd. A successful hat show held on March 12 was reported. Roll call was answered by a verse from Scripture having the word "Heart".

Mrs. Al Reynolds and Mrs. DeGray were winners of a contest conducted by Mrs. Thomas Fraser.

Wedding Vows are Heard at St. Peters

An early spring marriage of interest to their many friends, was solemnized in St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg on Saturday, March 15th, when Ruby Eileen Barkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barkley, became the bride of Arnold Carl VanAllen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold VanAllen. All are of Williamsburg. Rev. W. Goos performed the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Mrs. Maefred Merkley, organist, accompanied the soloist, Miss Eleanor VanAllen. Steven Barkley and Douglas Johnson were ushers. Lyle VanAllen assisted his brother as groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor length tiered gown of white madiera lace, square neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves and pearl buttons. She wore a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and orange blossoms.

The bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Steven Barkley, whose full length gown was of yellow puffed brocade, with a low backline and lily-pointed sleeves. She was wearing silver shoes, and her corsage was a large yellow chrysanthemum in a lace holder with white streamers.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a charm bracelet; the groom's gift to his best man was a cuff link set.

Following the ceremony a reception for fifty-one guests was held in St. Peter's Church hall, after which the happy couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls.

Guests attended from Martintown, Iroquois, Cornwall, Morrisburg and Williamsburg.

Queen's Park Comment

From Queen's Park has lately come a fresh outbreak of paternalism toward the municipalities of Ontario.

In a sense, this is nothing really new. For many years, the provincial government has treated Ontario's communities like small children, not to be trusted to make their own decisions. But Charles McNaughton, in his recent Budget speech, went the old pattern one better.

If the municipalities don't toe the line on spending, he threatened, the government may set up a budget bureau to oversee local plans.

"It's bad enough having to get Municipal Board approval of our capital programs, without having Big Brother sitting in judgment on our operating budget," was the way one senior municipal official put it to me. "Why bother electing anyone locally?"

Mr. Macnaughton's attitude is all the more peculiar when you realize that, only weeks before, he and Premier Robarts were castigating the Trudeau Government at Ottawa for its failure to consult the provinces. Ontario, he said, wanted to be treated as a full partner in Confederation.

Apparently, Mr. Robarts isn't prepared to extend the municipalities the same respect he wants from Ottawa.

For a long time now, Queen's Park has been getting away with its "father knows best" approach, because Ontario's municipalities haven't been in a position to fight back. There are 920 of them, set in boundaries created by the Baldwin Act of 1849. Few of them today are strong enough to ward off the paternalism of Queen's Park. All of them depend on property taxes and provincial grants for their revenue, — a combination increasingly inadequate to meet their tasks. As a result, the government has, over the last 25 years been moving to establish certain services on a regional basis. When for example, Mr. Grossman announced last year he was setting up regional jails to serve two or three counties apiece, it was the 32nd such service that Queen's Park had organized regionally.

The trend to regionalism, then, is inexorable. The question is, who is going to end up calling the shots, the provincial government, or the people involved and their locally elected officials?

If we just drift into regionalism, then, clearly, Queen's Park will stay in the driver's seat.

But if there is a proper, planned move to genuine regional government, it will be the municipalities which end up with the benefits.

TAX TIPS

QUESTIONS &
ANSWERS

Q. What are the various circled and uncircled numbers on the return used for. Should I be concerned with them?

A. No, ignore these numbers as they are used in our computer processing only. Also avoid making any entries in the column to the right of the white blocks as this area is to be used for departmental purposes only.

Q. Who is eligible to average his income for tax purposes in 1968?

A. Three requirements must be met: 1. The chief source of income for the period of averaging must have been from farming and/or fishing and no averaging could have been made in the previous five years. 2. A tax return must have been filed on time for each of the five years used in the averaging period. Exceptions to this rule are returns for non-taxable years in the averaging period, which must be filed by April 30, 1969. 3. Form 12011 "Election to Average Income" must be filed on or before April 30, 1969.

Q. I am a married man, age 66. My wife became 65 in 1968. When completing my 1967 Income Tax Return, I claimed $1,500 basic exemption for myself, plus $1,000 for my wife. Now that she is over 65, may I increase that exemption for her to $1,500?

A. No. The additional $500 exemption applies only to you, yourself. Of course, if your wife files a return on her own, she would be entitled to claim the additional $500 on her return, but this would not affect your exemption for her.

Q. I belong to hospital and medical insurance plans at work. Can I claim the premium for these plans as medical expenses?

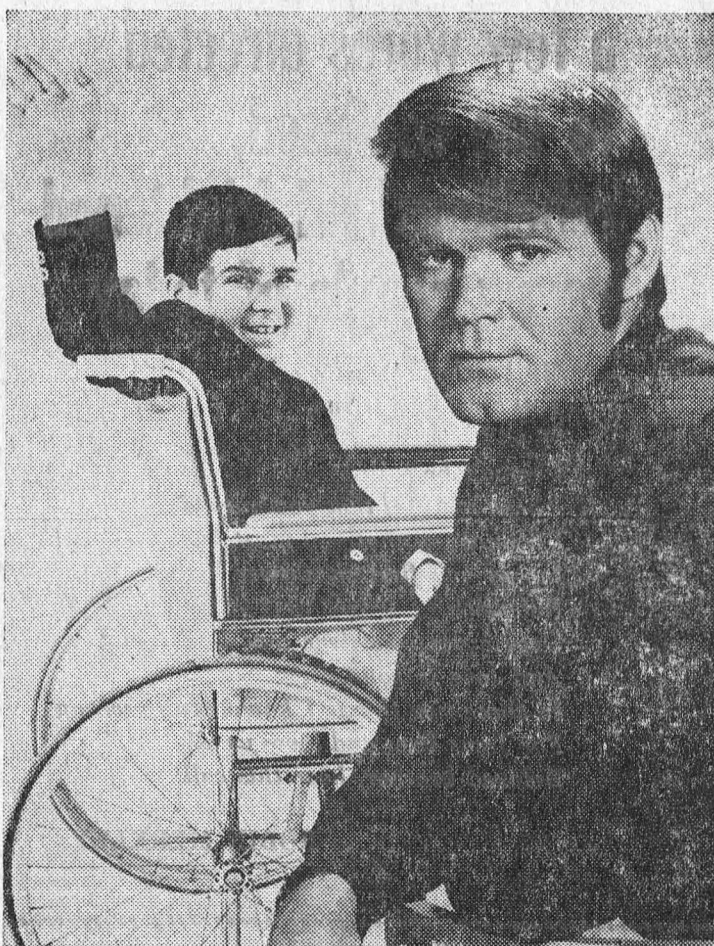

A. No. However, you may claim medical expenses paid for you by an insurance plan, as well as hospital expenses except those covered by a provincial government hospital plan. The statements you receive from the plan should show whether or not the amounts can be included in your claim for medical expenses.

Doris Clark

Fur for cigarettes

DEAR DORIS — The woman next door is such a domineering type that I feel sorry for her husband. She is forever telling him what to do and making fun of him in front of everybody. And he just takes it.

Yesterday she told me she didn't approve of him smoking and thought it was awful the amount of money he spent on cigarettes. So then she said that every time he bought a package of cigarettes she made him give her the same amount of money. She saved up these amounts and was wearing the fur neckpiece she had bought with it.

I told her it ought to choke her and she just laughed.

Smoke Signals

DEAR SIGNALS — I don't go for overbearing females; nor, for that matter, for overbearing males.

I expect Mr. Milquetoast smokes as a gesture of independence, cheap at twice the price! Do you suppose she secretly cares about his health, or is simply enjoying the profiteering?

If resentment piles up too high there'll be an explosion and the whole danged marriage will go up in smoke. She probably hasn't thought of that. Yet his silence, and his gesture of defiance, suggest that something is brewing underneath.

DEAR DORIS — Our family is planning to hold an informal reception for our 50th wedding anniversary in June.

Where do we sit or stand to receive guests and what should be said in greeting them?

I hope gifts are not brought but if some bring them, when are they opened? What would be a gracious thing to say? Are they displayed?

Looking For Pointers

DEAR LOOKING — Congratulations! A half-century of wedded bliss deserves a celebration.

Better be seated to receive your guests. They'll be arriving for quite a time and feet can get tired. Stand up, if you like, for the older, respected types. But let them all come to you. Say what comes from the heart. "Mary, I'm glad to see you." "They've been 50 wonderful years."

Turn the conversation to them: "Friends like you make it all worth while." Or, "How is that gorgeous granddaughter of yours?"

About gifts. Doubtless some will come, and if there isn't too much of a jam at the time, you may open them. Set them up on a table. Say, "It's lovely!" Or, "Just what we needed!" Or, "Thank you so much." Or all three. Try to stick with the truth. Gushers get caught.

DEAR DORIS — I am going nuts. I had a heart attack two years ago and was in hospital for two months. People are still asking me how I am and looking surprised when I reply "I'm just fine!"

They offer me all sorts of advice and treat me as if I should be in cotton wool. I tell them the doctor says I have recovered completely but I know they don't believe it.

Funny thing, but this whole affair seems to cast some doubt on my general intelligence and my right to a valid opinion about whatever is under discussion. Perhaps I am nuts and don't know it!

Not A Corpse

DEAR NOT A — I know. It's as if they were saying, "Are you still alive?" Not too encouraging. Might even give you guilt feelings for daring to breathe.

Funny thing is, they mean well. Let's hope some of them will read this and give you the right to a healthy, happy berth on this planet for a long time to come.

Mrs. T. J. Keyes of Winchester Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnston of Dixons Corners were Sunday night supper guests of Mrs. G. L. Barclay.

Miss Rhonda Pinkus of the Teachers' College in Ottawa spent the holidays at her parental home here.

Deepest sympathy of the whole community is extended to the family of the late Emerson Herriman, who passed away suddenly on Saturday.

"Hours of Protection"

The Ontario Provincial Police in Dundas County last week patrolled 14,068 miles, while working a total of 955 man hours. During all of these hours the officers from Morrisburg and Winchester Detachments investigated 2 Thefts, 2 Disturbances and 15 miscellaneous complaints. They also laid 54 charges under the Highway Traffic Act and issued 52 warnings. There were also 5 investigations under the Liquor Control Act which resulted in 8 persons being charged. With the coming of Spring and our area roads becoming dry and bare, it appears as though some drivers have forgotten some of the safe driving habits. This week the Ontario Provincial Police investigated 8 property damage accidents and 2 personal injury accidents, which resulted in 6 persons being injured. These injuries are more than we had during any of our snow bound weeks in Dundas County.

Magistrate's Court during the past week was busy, with officers spending a total of 33 hours in the courts and registering 105 convictions.

It has been brought to our attention that the majority of drivers do not understand their duty when being approached by a fire engine or police department vehicle upon which a siren is sounding. The following is the section from the Highway Traffic Act dealing with the duty of the driver.

Section No. 79(1)

The driver of a vehicle, upon the approach of an ambulance, fire or police department vehicle or public utility emergency vehicle, upon which a bell or siren is sounding, shall immediately bring such vehicle to a standstill as near as is practicable to the right-hand curb or edge of the roadway and parallel therewith and clear of any intersection.

The Ontario Provincial Police would appreciate all drivers to familiarize themselves with this section as there have been several hazardous conditions created in the past, simply because people did not know what was expected of them.

QUIET WEDDING HELD RECENTLY AT RUTHERFORD HOME

A quiet wedding was held on Friday March 7th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Rutherford, Fifth St., when Ellen Foster of Newfoundland became the bride of Harry Simser of Spencerville. Rev. David Murdoch performed the 8 p.m. ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of powder blue satin with matching lace overlay, white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford.

A reception followed the ceremony. The couple will reside at Spencerville.

a few words directed to the confused, rebellious and frightened young people of today

My brother

You have said to me,

"I will not do,

I cannot be."

I have not said that you must do,

I cannot say that you must be.

I pray you find an answer here.

Rebellion

Only hides your fear that God is not

And love is gone.

In these two things I know you're wrong

For Jesus lives and loves us all

Beloved brother, hear this call.

Toursit Council Needs Your Help

The Membership Drive for the Seaway Valley Regional Tourist Council ends March 31st, 1969, and all monies received up to $5,000 will receive a matching grant from the Ontario government. This year, for the first time in seven years, it appears that the Tourist Council may not achieve the objective.

Membership fee in the Tourist Council is only a modest $15, and it seems strange that there not enough interested people in this area who would derive immense direct benefit from the Council activities, to reach such a small objective as $5,000.

At this moment there is a full file of requests from all over Canada and the U.S.A. for new Seaway Valley Brochure Maps, and none are available. New ones cannot be ordered until the money is assured to pay for them. This year the Executive of the Council had planned increased promotion to meet the keen competition for tourist dollars from other areas. This may have to be cut back if the funds are not available.

Surely tourist operators, service stations, restaurants and hotels must realize that without the promotional efforts of the Tourist Council there will be a serious drop in the volume of visitors to the area. One Department of Tourism official estimated this possible drop at 30 percent.

Advertising promotion must continue year after year to be effective. We are living and doing business in a tourist community. Let us continue to promote tourism in our community and our area.

YOUR membership cheque is needed NOW! Membership cheques payable to the Seaway Valley Tourist Council may be mailed to Box 211, Cornwall, Ontario.

About Your Easter Seals!

lengthened three or four times during the year. As a result of this current research development, Easter Seal funds are being used far more expansively in this program. The cost is high, much beyond the means of most parents, and so demands on Easter Seal funds have been increased. However, financial obligations are small when compared with the results, for these children can now look forward to a life of greater social and economic independence. The development of electrically operated arms in the Ontario Crippled Children's Centre Prosthetic Research Development Department is one of the most advanced steps.

This programme is just one of many important activities being carried on by the Easter Seal service clubs and the Ontario Society for Crippled Children in the rehabilitation of crippled children.

Total provincial objective for Easter Seals this year is at least $1,500,000 — an amount which can only be raised if everyone donates.

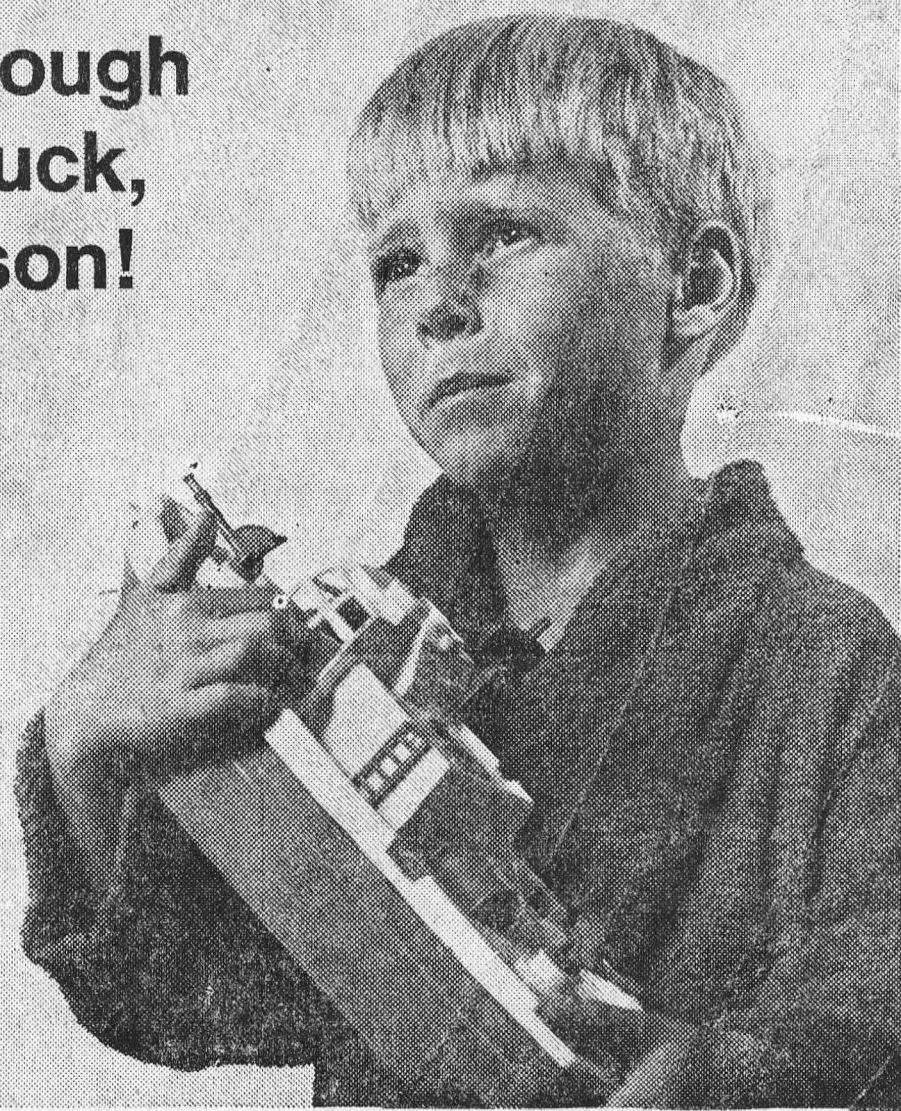

Have you returned YOUR Easter Seal letter yet? If not, why not do it today!

The development of prosthesis (artificial limbs) has taken giant strides in the past few years for the benefit of crippled children. A few years ago a six month's old baby wearing an artificial limb would not have been considered to be practical, but today, this child would be fitted with a prosthesis in a matter of months.

Research and establishment of amputee training programmes with Easter Seal funds, has encouraged the earlier fitting of prosthesis, particularly for the upper limb amputee, to assist in the establishment of balance; to encourage acceptance; to avoid frustration in the process of normal growth and development, thereby preventing further disability.

The Ontario Crippled Children's Centre and other local treatment Centres have established procedures in conditioning a child to accept an artificial appliance and to be trained and instructed, in its use. Important too, is the follow-up care for adjustment, repair or replacement. During the very rapid growth of a child, the limb is

MORE THAN 200,000 MATINGS RECORDED FROM E.B. SIRES

The Holstein sires at Eastern Breeders Inc., Kemptville, Ontario have been mated with 218,133 cows and are still reproducing to the tune of over 25,000 matings each in one year. Lassie Leader "Extra" 12,563 and Seiling Rockman 94,570 matings to date.

Modern science makes this possible through Artificial Insemination. It is quite feasible for a sire to produce enough semen in one day to father 600 calves and probably do so three days per week.

The Artificial Insemination Business is increasing steadily in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec, the area served by the farmer owned stud at Kemptville, Ontario.

The Annual Meeting held at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, revealed that 151,758 cows were bred in 1968 (an increase of 3,735 over 1967) with revenue of $1,171,365.60 59 per cent of the 110-738 Holsteins were bred to sires proven for both type and production. This massed reproducing of genetically superior sires is up grading the quality and production of cattle in Eastern Ontario faster and more economically than any single factor that ever came to the cattle industry.

Semen moves in frozen form, in liquid nitrogen by the airlines, from E.B.I. and other centres to USA, Mexico, Trinidad, Spain, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, England and many other countries of the world.

The rigid progeny-proving program exercised by the 14,000 member EBI organization, has identified some of the most valuable sires for herd improvement on this continent.

DR. D. LEY GUEST SPEAKER TO LOCAL CANCER SOCIETY

Records show that Cancer is a disease suffered by the ancient Egyptians. Dr. Dorothy Ley of Canadian Cancer Society headquarters in Toronto told Morrisburg, Winchester and Chesterville branch representatives at the Campaign Dinner held Tuesday at the Country Kitchen Restaurant, Winchester.

The speaker stressed the importance of preventive medicine, early diagnosis and education. She noted

A successful St. Patrick's Day Tea and Bazaar was held by St. Mary's C.W.L. Wednesday in the auditorium of St. Mary's School. Mrs. Wm. Allison was convener of the tea room where the dames covered tea table was centred with an arrangement of spring flowers flanked by tall tapers.

Other convenors were: Miss Irene Ryan — food table, Mrs. Jack Owen — White Elephant corner, Mrs. Florian Cayer — candy centre, Mrs. Alec McLaren — apron and fancy work.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Harry Peppers, president and Mrs. Ronald McKinnon, secretary treasurer.

that of the possible 55,000 cases discovered this year one-third can be cured, depending to a very great extent on its early discovery. She said, "Illness and particularly Cancer is not a new problem of society and we must learn to replace fear with intelligence and hope".

NOTHING NEW. The recent Progressive Conservative national convention officially buried John Diefenbaker and pledged unyielding loyalty to leader Robert Stanfield... but actually, that move was unofficially made last year. However, during recent months, Diefenbaker had made various attempts to hold the Conservative limelight in the House of Commons by out-politicking Stanfield. With the party throwing its weight solidly behind Stanfield the Diefenbaker era is ended. — TTS Photo

Report from the Ontario Legislature

By Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

This week was one in which the Government finally began to introduce large numbers of new Bills for discussion and eventual enactment into law; some 50 Bills were brought to third reading, while at least 25 more were introduced into the House. This, of course, means that the time of the Members can be, and is, taken up not only by consideration of Departmental Estimates and of these Bills in the House, but also by countless meetings of standing Committees called to meet to consider the new laws. Indeed, the Member now is finding, as usual, at this point in a Session, that he has a really full-time job at Queens Park.

The school holiday week brought countless teachers, parents and school children to Toronto; some to attend meetings of the O.E.A. and all to shop, sight-see and visit relatives, and a great many to visit their Ontario Parliament to work. It was the pleasure of Mrs. Cass and myself again this year to have a number of our friends and constituents visit us and view proceedings in the House. And every Member seemed to be having visitors which indicates a wide and a lively interest in Government on the part of our citizens, which is welcomed by all Parliamentarians.

Debate on Estimates continued, with those of Correctional Services and of Tourism and Information being completed. Despite the pessimism of many Members and the wordy efforts of a small number of Opposition Members, it now appears that the discussion of Departmental Estimates may not be as prolonged as in the last Session.

By and large Opposition Party spokesmen have been doing their homework and the calibre of these Debates has improved considerably over that of the preceding Session. As yet, there has been no indication of any Government move to set up, as in Ottawa, an Estimates Committee of the House which might well be an improvement in present procedure without in any way restricting Opposition probing of Departmental programs and expenditures.

News from Toronto, during the week of especial interest in our area, concerned an Ontario Development Corporation loan of half a million dollars to a Presott Industry together with a Department of Highways announcement of road connections for the new plant.

As was to be expected, the week also bustled with statements and announcements from the Minister of Education. Among them were two very interesting ones, namely the taking over by universities of all Ontario Teachers' Colleges and the discontinuance of Grade 13 in our high schools. For those of us of an older generation, these changes do appear strange but they undoubtedly fit in with modern educational theories and practices. The first assures that eventually every school teacher will have an earned university degree and the other opens the way for year round operation of our secondary schools and much freer choice of subjects by students in our secondary schools, both of which ends are very desirable in today's overcrowded and over-burdened school system.

Service Awards Presented

Once again, Community Service Awards will be presented to nine Grade 12 students — one from each Home and School area in Ontario, by the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations. The awards — which include $50 each — are in memory of the late Mrs. P. J. Glaubitz, Past President and Honorary Life Member of the Ontario Federation.

The awards mark the outstanding leadership and community service rendered by Mrs. Glaubitz during her many years of active participation in the Provincial and National Federations of Home and School — as well as the work she did on behalf of many organizations in her own community.

Through the presentation of the awards, the Federation is pointing up the leadership potential and countless community services provided by the province's young students.

Students receiving these awards will be chosen from nominations submitted by the principals and teachers of Ontario Secondary Schools. Nominees must have maintained steady academic progress — with at least a 65% average in Grade 11 and Grade 12 Christmas examinations — and must have been active in some community service or training program during Grade 11 and 12.

Funds for the awards have been contributed by Home and School Associations and members throughout the province — as well as by many individuals who have worked closely with Mrs. Glaubitz.

The final selection of the nine award winners will be made by Mrs. F. H. Keeler, President of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations; Mrs. R. A. Donald, Chairman of the Awards Committee; Mr. R. Glaubitz, son of the late Mrs. Glaubitz and Mr. R. E. Secord, Administrator of The Youth and Recreation Branch of the Ontario Department of Education. Awards will be presented in May.

Spring is pure female

A couple of weeks ago, I sang a song of hate in this space. Since Spring, theoretically, is just around that corner which recedes steadily as you approach it, the least I can do is sing a song of love, and ask you to join me. Everybody loves something, even if it's only his car.

Looking into the backyard, it's pretty hard to get all goofy about Spring. The pile of snow pushed up beside the garage is now down to six feet. My cedar lawn chairs look like a couple of matrons, buried to the waist in blanc mange, their arms extended pleadingly. The picnic table still looks like a freshly-risen loaf of bread.

But the sun shines, day after day, and eventually those articles must reveal themselves in all their scabby, shabby ugliness.

Spring in Canada is pure female: unpredictable, perverse, passionate, hot-or-cold, cruel-or-kind. And completely unpredictable, as far as mood goes.

In this crazy climate, I have lain on fresh grass in March and in love and in sun that suggested the following month would be July. And I have gone fishing on the first of May and had my line freeze to the rod.

There. Having expressed my mistrust of Canada's Spring, I shall return to our theme: love.

This is a favorite topic for poets who can't think of anything else to write about. Not being a poet, I will avoid trying to be poetic and thereby save both of us a lot of embarrassment.

Some people think that love is a potion, especially in the Far East. You know: rhinoceros horn ground up in a mixture of oysters, and celery. Actually, I wouldn't mind taking a swig at it. Sounds jolly invigorating, or something.

Love is not a potion; it's a lotion. It warms the cold heart, as analgesic balm warms the sore shoulder. It lubricates the grinding nerves. It soothes the tortured soul as olive oil does the baby's bum.

It is an ointment (by the way, Mecca ointment is good for practically anything. Unpaid commercial). And it is a Mecca toward which you travel, and from which you return.

rather wondering whether the whole trip was worth it. Sand and flies and heat. And nobody else there but a mob of exhausted, hot, tired and disgruntled pilgrims like yourself. That's love.

However, one mustn't wax philosophical about love, even on a highly elevated plane like this. Not in this country, in this climate. Let's get down to specifics. What do we love?

I love my country. Not the government, or the people, particularly. The physical Canada. A black spring stream racing between the snowbanks in March. The ghostly mist of green that slips into the trees in May. The Rockies, in mid-summer, aloof, sneering at the ants that crawl about their knees. The sculptured blue-white seascapes of January.

I love peace and loneliness, and they're dam' hard to come by, now-a-days. It's beautiful to be alone, sometimes, without the yelp and clamor, the stink and garbage of everyday living. About the only place you can find it is in an inaccessible bog, with a fishing rod. The outboard motor and the skedoo have seen to that.

And I love all growing things: grass, flowers, leaves. Except when they have to be mowed, or cultivated, or raked. And nearly all children. Except when they grow up.

And I love a good poker game, especially when the cards are coming right. And a good argument, especially when I'm right, which seems to be nearly every time.

And I love my wife, but oh, you kid. And I love my kids, but OH, YOU KIDS!

And I love to do a good job, whether it's writing a column, or teaching a dumbbell something, or finding a new gimmick in my tax return. It seldom happens, but it makes me happy.

Sometimes I can even love my neighbor as myself. It's a lot easier these days. He hasn't an ox or an ass or a maid-servant to covet.

See? I've just begun. I haven't even mentioned hot bonfires or cold beer, or a thousand other things. Put down a list for yourself, and you'll decide you're not such an old miser after all.

OUR CHANGING LAND

By: D. G. Kennedy,
Deputy Chief Ranger

Today, the wilderness of Canada that invited the early explorers has been greatly altered. The massive forests have been reduced in area. The wildlife, that once was abundant part of this wilderness is not so plentiful. Many of the lakes and streams that once flowed pure are now floating with debris.

"Waste" has been only too common where man has existed in Canada. Forests were levelled with little or no concern for the future. In Ontario, during the squared timber days, the white pine forests were harvested as if there was an endless supply. Large areas of forest were cleared and burned only for agriculture with very little consideration given to whether the land was suitable for farming. Consequently we have the marginal and sub-marginal farmlands today, the soil often very shallow and the fertility very low. Fires were left to burn out of control and destroy millions of acres of virgin timber, with little thought that one day, timber would be in limited supply. Wildlife such as the beaver, the otter and the mink were trapped and hunted to the extent that the species were being overharvested.

Today, things have changed. Foresters, now carry a textbook to the bush first, instead of an axe. The relationship between the development and growth of the forest and the amount of timber being harvested must be fully understood. No longer are forest areas cut and abandoned, but are managed in a manner that will ensure a new forest crop following the harvest. New forests are being re-established on lands, thought at one time to be suitable for agriculture. The use of fire in the forest, today, is controlled by legislation. The hunting and trapping of wildlife is managed by regulations. Hunter and trappers are permitted to hunt and trap wildlife species only during open seasons and by established quotas.

Although the wilderness can never be completely restored, man can work constructively with the natural forces that have produced our land, rather than against them. Man must be part of our living plant and animal community.

HAVE YOU FORGOTTEN SOMETHING?

The snow is melting and our thoughts are turning to tree-planting. Did you remember to send in your application for nursery stock? If not, please do so today! Please note that red pine, white cedar, tamarack, Norway spruce, black walnut and white ash are already out of stock for this spring's planting season.

Want to pet a pig?

In India, it's only the cow that is sacred. In Canada we slaughter the steer for steak, but we lend the halo to every hairy, feathery or furry beastie under the sky and sun.

Ah, yes, we're a nation of animal lovers. We may butcher calves for veal, slit the throats of pigs for ham, hack up sheep for mutton, chop up a chicken for a barbecue; we may peel an animal's hide for leather shoes or gloves, we may wrap ourselves in fur although cloth could give just as much warmth... but no one will convince us that we don't love our animals with a devotion that is wondrous indeed.

And how we love the wild animals of our forests and fields, as hunters head north on their annual carnage to gun down deer and moose, rabbits and geese, or sports fishermen drop hooks into dark streams and pull up fish by the torn flesh of their throats.

In sharp contrast to all this, however, is the treatment we give the household species, the cats and canaries, dogs and goldfish and the cute assortment of animal cuddlies. We lavish them in special foods, pamper them with care, and spend as much on some pets each year as it would take to support a starving child in Biafra or India.

If these animals become unwanted, if they're caught wandering the streets dirty and flea-ridden, we whisk them off to elaborate shelters and pounds, and if they're not claimed, they're gently "put to sleep." Everyone nods his head, delighted that they have done the humane thing.

The Ontario Government recently decided that although this might be humane, it was also senseless. Bills 73 and 74 were placed before the Legislature, stipulating that animal shelters and pounds would be required to turn over unwanted cats and dogs to dealers in research animals.

How that sent the fur flying! Emergency meetings of antivivisectionists were staged, where angry women shook their fists and swore to topple the Government for daring to put such a utilitarian value on "Fido" or "Tibby." Butchering stocks for meat or leather, blasting wildlife for the pleasure of the hunt — nothing was said of that. But using a puppy or a pussy for scientific research, even if it could lead to a discovery that would reduce human suffering? That was unthinkable.

Letters of protest flooded into newspapers. There was no point arguing with the enraged that countless men, women and children might one day be saved by research. The lives of pets today seemed more important than the remote chance of saving people tomorrow. One suspects some are holding a grudge against Banting and Best to this day, for using dogs in their experiments to discover insulin.

The ballyhoo over Bills 73 and 74 had not yet died down when another crisis loomed for the East. The 1969 baby seal hunt, although hampered by bad weather conditions, came along... along with the annual outcry against hunter brutality. Few seemed to care that the Newfoundland inshore fisherman, struggling to subsist on a meagre $1,500 yearly salary, were depending on the $1,000 supplement from seal hunting. They weren't doing it for the sport.

Fisheries Minister Jack Davis, who favors a seal sanctuary, has admitted that floss after a seal hunt are not a pretty sight, but he added that neither is an abattoir. It's a sensible enough observation. So long as we remain carnivores, we're going to continue to kill animals. The killing is not pleasant to think about, but it's a necessity if we want meat, leather and fur.

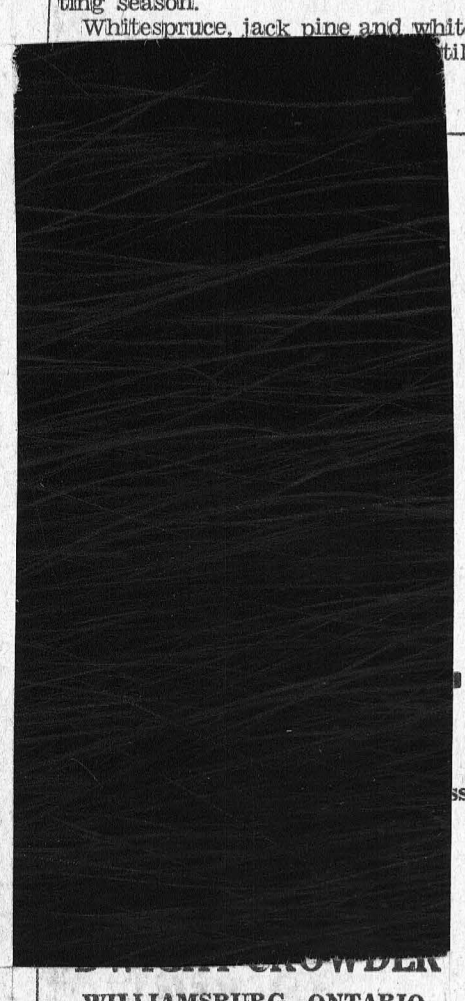

Similarly, it is necessary to kill cats, dogs and rats in scientific experiments if we want medicine to advance. By all means, let's take every precaution to see that the research animals do not suffer needlessly, but let's not permit sloppy sentiment to cloud our reason.

Cats and dogs are cute, and have been traditionally protected as pets... but one wonders what would happen if cows suddenly learned to purr, or pigs to sit on our laps. Would we give up beef and bacon?
