Area pork producers air their beefs at meeting

Eastern Ontario Pork Producers are "fed up" with bad publicity concerning the quality of their pigs, the secretary-treasurer of the Glengarry Pork Producers Association said Monday.

Comments by Kitty Ewaschuk came during a meeting of over 100 Eastern Ontario pork producers who met in Alexandria and decided to form a swine co-operative to bolster their Quebec market.

Quebec integrators—people who buy weaners and fatten them for processing—have charged that Eastern Ontario pigs are of poor quality.

Mrs. Ewaschuk said she has been in the pig business for nine years and has never heard such criticism until this year. She said criticism of disease and a high death rate among Eastern Ontario pigs was exaggerated.

"We're fed up," Ewaschuk said. "Eventually this bad publicity is going to hurt us." She received a loud round of applause.

After an address by spokesmen for a London area swine co-operative, the meeting agreed to form an interim executive to begin work towards establishing a swine co-operative in Eastern Ontario.

Included at the meeting were producers from Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and Grenville Counties.

Concern for the quality of pigs was first raised publicly by Pierre Bergeron, a pharmaceutical firm representative who is close to Quebec integrators.

Bergeron told Monday's gathering that massive capital expansion in piggeries is underway in Quebec and increased pig production there could hurt Eastern Ontario producers if the quality of their product does not improve.

He was backed up by Rheal Lacoste, a Quebec integrator who also addressed the meeting.

Lacoste said he has been asking drovers for better quality pigs from Eastern Ontario for over three years.

Don McLean and Paul Bayer, representing Quality Swine Co-operative of Ontario, said their company has no problem selling as many pigs as it can produce.

The co-operative, owned and operated by 900 farmers in Southwestern Ontario, is assured of sales because it has acquired a reputation for top quality pigs, McLean said.

The co-operative is engaged in all facets of pig production, including breeding, testing and shipping. The company has totally integrated its operation and even services its own trucks.

In this way, farmers can bypass drovers and sell directly to prospective purchasers.

Some members of the audience were concerned that they might invest in good breeding stock only to find they did not receive a better price for quality pigs.

There was also some debate over whether each county should form its own co-operative.

Joe O'Neill argued against forming separate co-operatives saying that the organizations would only try to undercut each other.

A motion to form a broader-based organization passed with an overwhelming majority.

About 300,000 Ontario weaners were sold in Quebec last year and yearly sales have in the past been as high as 500,000.

Quebec integrators claim they are losing up to 10 per cent of their purchases through deaths and poor performance.

Stress placed on the weaners in shipping is being cited as one problem.

Under a co-operative system, farmers would have direct control over the quality of shipping.

Board won't force French—McLeod

SD&G County Board of Education isn't trying to shove the French language down anybody's throat, area trustee Sam McLeod has assured residents.

In an interview Friday, the representative for the southern portion of Glengarry, said the issue of French language instruction in elementary schools has become "utterly confused."

He admitted that a major source of the confusion is a "white paper" distributed to the schools by board.

"I had to read it two or three times to understand it," McLeod said. "It was a little too technical to be sent out. Now people think we're going to have a compulsory fully-bilingual program."

He emphasized that the white paper is only outlining optional programs for French language instruction.

"This (the white paper) is not policy. All we are saying to the public is, 'This is available. Do you want it? What parts of it do you want?' ".

The white paper outlines three options for the teaching of French: a core program which would involve teaching French for 40 minutes per day from Kindergarten to Grade 8; an extended program which would include the core program plus the teaching in French of another subject such as history or geography; and the bilingual program which would begin with 100 percent instruction in French in all subjects and phase down to 50-50 instruction in both English and French in Grades 7 and 8.

The white paper acknowledges that the bilingual program would not be practical for many areas.

Currently, most elementary schools have a core program in French which varies from 20 minutes to 40 minutes per day.

The board proposes to standardize the core program to 40 minutes per day in all grades.

Although the provincial Ministry of Education suggests the core program be compulsory, the SD&G board says it will keep the program optional.

"We say you cannot shove it down a child's throat," McLeod said.

The board is offering the French programs because funds have been provided by the federal government through the province, McLeod explained.

"We would be very remiss if we didn't make people aware of these grants."

McLeod said the national unity issue has created an emotional atmosphere which is sidetracking the debate.

"I think the children should be given the opportunity to learn a second language and I want to give them the opportunity to do that," the trustee said.

"It's an absolute guarantee that the English program won't suffer," he added.

He acknowledged that there is no guarantee that federal grants will continue after the program is established, but this is true of any grant.

If parents want no changes whatsoever in the existing French program, they are free to give that viewpoint, the trustee said.

He said he rejects holding a referendum on the white paper because it is the task of the elected trustees to make the decision. He would be abandoning his responsibility to pass the buck to a referendum, he argued.

He also opposes postponing a decision until after the next election.

"I think we've got to have the courage to face this now," he said.

Highlights of the board's white paper can be found on page 9.

Alexandria finally gets an industry

Alexandria will be housing a new industry as of April 1978.

This marks the end of an 11-year period in which the town had tried unsuccessfully to finalize a deal which would see an occupant in the industrial park.

Elegance Kitchen Cabinets Inc. have already started construction at their new site north of the Sports Palace on Macdonald Blvd.

Claude Leroux, a native of Alexandria and a son of the late Phillipe Leroux and Mrs. Mary Leroux of Victoria St. is the owner-president of the new manufacturing company.

The firm manufactures modular kitchen cabinets of solid red oak with the inside finished in vinyl covering.

Mr. Leroux expects to produce approximately 125 complete units per week and will employ between 35 and 40 people in the first year of operation.

Mr. Leroux was general manager for a similar company in Montreal during the past year.

His new company will consist of a 24,000 square foot, one-storey building of the usual flat top variety with steel siding.

"The firm has received grants from Eastern Ontario Develop-

French board being urged

A local francophone organization says it will make the establishment of a francophone board of education its priority for the coming year.

At an annual meeting Sunday delegates of L'Association Canadienne Francaise de L'Ontario (ACFO) regional council for Stormont-Glengarry said the creation of a homogeneous school board is the only way of assuring the survival of the French language and culture.

The delegates supported the motion already passed provincially at the Franco-Ontarien rally held in Cornwall last summer.

The regional council will examine the possibility of forming such a French school board and will ask the Ministry of Education for approval.

The delegates also backed SD&G Separate School Board in its recommendations on French schools.

Yvon Martin, a separate school superintendent, told delegates the board has two main goals. The first is to identify and define French language schools as those where the French language is used for teaching, communication and recreation. The second goal is to designate immersion schools for students who do not have sufficient knowledge of French to attend French language schools.

Martin said the board's goals could possibly become a reality next September at the junior Kindergarten level.

Delegates supported the board's position on the designation of French language schools, the creation of immersion classes managed by the French section of the board, the creation of a selection committee for admission to the French language schools, the creation of homogeneous classes by September 1978 and the creation of a French-language advisory committee for the separate board.

Delegates also suggested the province adopt a law on bilingualism and that the scarcity of French-language doctors outside Cornwall be examined.

Dates are set for meetings

A "wide open" meeting with school board officials at Cornwall Collegiate Vocational School on December 15 will wind up a series of public gatherings being held to discuss French language instruction in public elementary schools.

Area Trustee Sam McLeod said any groups or individuals wishing to present briefs to the board should file the documents by December 12 to provide for their inclusion in the agenda.

Groups wishing to address the board should also name a spokesman, he said.

School committee meetings have been held throughout the United Counties over the past weeks to discuss optional programs for the teaching of French as a second language.

Meetings still to be held in Glengarry are Laggan Public School Wednesday, November 23, 8 p.m.; Martintown Public School, Thursday, November 24, 8 p.m.; Glen Walter Public School, Monday, November 28, 7:30 p.m.; and Lancaster Township Area School (to include Lancaster Public School), Thursday, December 1, 8 p.m.

Farmers fear income drop

A drop expected in net farm income this year will mean farmers will be making the same money they were in 1973, the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture says.

Farmers' net income has been dropping continually and it is expected to drop another $700 million this year alone.

Declining farm incomes will be a major topic at the Ontario Federation of Agriculture's annual meeting in Hamilton November 28 to 30 and eight Glengarry farmers will be attending.

They are Gerard Massie, Donald Thomson, Lawrence St. Denis, Weldon McIntosh, William McGillis, Robert Poirier, Dr. Wilfred Johnston and Mac Robertson.

The theme of the convention is Positive Programs for Ontario Agriculture.

"Right now Canadians spend less than 14 per cent of their disposable income on food for home consumption," a GFA release says.

"This is the lowest percentage of any country in the world. The convention will try to bring these and other facts out into the open.

"It is necessary that facts like these be generally known and widely discussed in order that the Canadian farmer can maintain his position in the economy and in world markets."

The release lists some of the

Found

Our mystery picture in last week's News brought a great response from readers, for which we are grateful. It has been identified as the site of the carding mill, grist mill and saw mill in Peveril, Que., a few miles east of the Glengarry border. It is thought the picture was taken about the turn of the century and we are compiling a history of the different items we have received from readers. This will follow in a subsequent issue.

Retreat house heavily used

"Shalom" is Hebrew for peace and that is exactly the type of environment that the diocese of Alexandria-Cornwall is hoping to develop through its "Shalom House" in St. Raphael's.

Located at the most easterly end of Iona Academy it was originally built as a residence by the Sisters of the Holy Cross when they operated the school. Following their departure, the building was turned over to the diocese for the purpose of a retreat house in 1973.

"It is a centre for people who want to find God," said Rev. Gary Ostler, pastor of St. Raphael's and director of Shalom House. "A place of peace. Hopefully Peace in Christ."

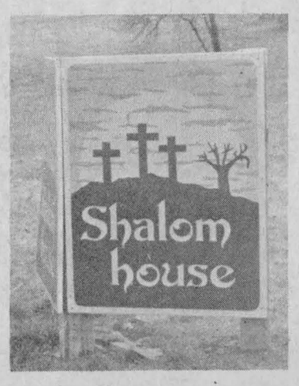
Approximately 10 years ago the retreat house in Alexandria was closed due to a lack of use. However, four years ago the community once again developed a need for similar facilities and the diocese accepted the responsibility.

Originally constructed in 1969, Shalom House includes 21 bedrooms, but can accommodate 36 people for short times. "Any amount larger than that would defeat the purpose of a retreat," said Father Ostler.

The home is run by 16 board members, the chairman of which is Real Dupuis of Cornwall and the secretary is Carmel Rochon of Alexandria. Father Ostler is the director and Sister Bissonette is associate director. Father Donald Scott was the founding director.

After two years of operation the house has hosted seven per cent of the Catholic population of Glengarry and Stormont. It has also been host to members of the United Church clergy and some individuals have made use of the location.

The four area councils of the K of C have been very helpful in the financial backing of the house with a donation of $10,000 that was used for the installation of kitchen facilities. "Almost all work is of a benevolent nature," said Father Ostler.



As for the future of the house it will be kept as is, with a few exceptions, said the director. We will need a new chapel in the near future and we would also like to reforest the grounds in front of the building. "In time the trees would grow providing a natural area for meditation."

"However, the facilities themselves could not grow as any group much bigger than 30 defeats the purpose of solitude."

"People come to a retreat for many reasons," he said. "Some come to pray, others for a rest or to strengthen their devotion to God while still others come to get their heads straight."

"A retreat is a personal thing and each person comes for his or her own reason."

An open retreat has been organized from Dec. 2 through 4 for persons over 16 years of age.

"We will help them to look at their spiritual selves and try to put some balance into their lives," was Father Ostler's comment. Bishop Eugene LaRocque will preach the retreat assisted by Sister Lucie Charest and Father Ostler.

Those interested in attending should contact Sister Jeannine Bissonette at 347-2391.

"It's hard to describe a retreat," Father Ostler said. "It must be experienced and lived to Francophone parents worried about 'anglicization'

A delegation of parents appeared at SD&G Separate School Board last week to protest the "anglicization" of French-speaking schools by students from English-speaking homes.

The francophone delegation, headed by Gerald Samson, suggested that English pupils learn French in special immersion schools and not in French schools where they're becoming a major factor in francophone assimilation.

Samson said strong action is necessary because English is being heard more and more in inter-pupil conversations at French schools.

"The French ambience is missing," he said.

It is estimated that about 20 per cent of children enrolled in French schools are English.

The delegation suggested that if English children are going to continue gaining admittance to French schools, teachers should stress conversational French rather than reading.

The progress of English students in the French system should be evaluated at the Grade 2 or 3 level and those who can't keep up should be transferred to the English system, Samson said.

The principle aim of French schools is to make a culture come to life rather than teach a second language, he said.

"Culture represents a rhythm and a way of life rather than a knowledge of grammar."

Samson acknowledged that the frequent use of English by francophone pupils can't be blamed entirely on the anglophone presence in French schools and that the social system was also to blame.

The situation must be rectified without necessarily closing the door on young anglophones who want a solid apprenticeship in French. The answer is French immersion schools apart from the French system, he said.

If nothing is done, anglophones will someday no longer be able to learn French in French schools because these will have been totally anglicized, Samson said.

The establishment of French immersion schools for anglophones could create busing problems, it was suggested during the meeting.

The issue is being scrutinized by a board committee chaired by Trustee Yolande Charron.

understand what it is."

He said the retreats usually centre on a theme and are organized in different ways depending on the needs of the group.

Generally speaking, on a weekend retreat, the Friday is spent gaining a rapport; the second day sees the group getting into their theme; while on the third day a wrap-up is held with an emphasis on community. During this last day, the group would usually discuss returning to the wider community with a renewed sense of strength or mission.

Father Ostler said the facilities are booked solid every day this month.

Various groups are making use of the facilities, he said, such as the Cursillo Movement, alcoholics anonymous, the Bahiai faith, the United Church, sisters, priests and married couples.

The retreat could merely consist of prayer or could involve sharing of experiences and encounter sessions.

There is the opportunity for confession or dialogue with the priest.

Erratum

A News story last week concerning Bernice Lefebvre of Cornwall, wrongly identified her as the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Legault. She is in fact, the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Legault, who were well known in the Moose Creek and Alexandria area. She is also the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Babe Legault of Cornwall.

ment Corporation," said Mr. Leroux. "We chose Alexandria because of its large work force and for its location between the large markets, Montreal and Ottawa.

Both Mayor Bruno Massie and Lionel Leroux, chairman of the Industrial Committee said they were "very glad to be able to attract industry to the town at this time of low employment."

Elegance Kitchen Cabinets Inc. is the first company to take advantage of Alexandria's Industrial Park. The purchase includes three lots along Macdonald Blvd., measuring 100x400 feet each. The company has also purchased a five-year option on the three lots in back of the present site.

Claude Leroux graduated from GDHS in 1955 following which he worked as an industrial draftsman for a Montreal company. He attended McGill University from 1958 through '63 when he graduated in civil engineering.

After graduation he was employed with a consulting engineering firm before he became chief engineer for a Montreal construction company.

In 1965 he formed a company known as Formex Ltd. However, he sold his interests in the company in 1976 to work as general manager of a firm similar to the one he has started here.

Mr. Leroux is married to Francine Dubois of St. Lambert. He has a daughter, 13, and two sons, 11 and 8. All will move to the area at the end of this school year.

Lombardo band to play in new Gardens

In the early evening of Friday, June 2, 1978, the now familiar double-blue luxury coach with the large Maple Leaf emblazoned beneath the windshield, the insignia of the Guy Lombardo Royal Canadians, will turn off Highland Road in Maxville, cruise slowly on Fair Street and make a curb-side stop at the front entrance of the stately Maxville and District Sports Complex. The impressive focal point of the new beautiful Glengarry Gardens.

At 9 p.m. sharp, the Lombardo band, as is their custom, will rouse the crowd with a bar or two of Auld Lang Syne. Missing from the band stage will be the internationally known and beloved maestro, the late Guy Lombardo. As we all know Canada's all-time great dance band founder and leader, a world wide recognized musician, is now up there in the Valhalla of entertainers with the loveable Bing Crosby.

In the entertainment world there is an ancient tradition. Regardless of circumstances—"The show must go on." This dedication was significantly carried out some ten days ago. Following the funeral mass of the late Guy Lombardo in Our Holy Redeemer Church, burial was in the family vault, Freeport, Long Island. As the mahogany coffin was placed in the crypt, Guy Lombardo's brother-in-law, the band's noted vocalist, Teddy Gardner, walked over and tearfully patted it several times. Then Kenny Gardner and the Lombardo Band musicians walked to their waiting coach that conveyed the orchestra to Framingham, Massachusetts, to fulfill an engagement. Thus providing the authenticity of the aged entertainment axiom, "In show biz-the show must go on."

This New Year's eve, despite the fact Guy Lombardo will be present only in spirit, North American music lovers will still greet 1978 with the sweetest music this side of heaven, climaxed by "Auld Lang Syne." And on Friday night, next June 2, the Royal Canadians will make their fourth successive appearance in Maxville welcomed by an anticipated thousand fans demonstrating their desire to be part of the Lombardo presentation despite the fact Guy himself will be only a pleasant memory.

This occasion will not be the official opening of the Garden's Complex. At the present time those plans are incomplete, due to the pressure of other matters.

Formulating plans for the historical opening ceremonies will be top priority on the agenda of the administrating board that will shortly succeed the present construction executive. A tentative date, we understand, could coincide with the May 24 holiday.

In a weekend press release to the News and area papers, including the Lachute Watchman and the Massena Observer, among other important items, it has been revealed how the traditional Glengarry neighborly spirit was responsible for the booking of the Royal Canadians. The first 1978 major attraction in the Maxville and District Sports Complex, shortened from five words to two, Glengarry Gardens.

While chairman Bill Campbell and his committee were diligently raising money and chartering a financial course that would lead them to the unbelieveable climax of a debt-free enterprise at time of opening they were presented with their first entertainment challenge.

Following the Highland Games, one of the Laggan Recreational Association pillars, Morlin Campbell, confided with the project's publicity and promotion director, Angus H. McDonell, that the Laggan group, after three successful years staging the Lombardo dance in the Angus Gray Hall, would gladly turn over their franchise rights to Maxville. Thus once again making available to dance and sport fans the social highlight of the year. While the committee continued with their construction work, Mr. McDonell was authorized to negotiate with the Association of Performing Arts, Chicago, the financial terms and suitable date—preferably a Friday night. Surprisingly the appearance contract terms had not been increased since 1975 and Friday night, June 2 was open. Completing arrangements was routine.

The News also learned that at last week's Board meeting, Chairman Bill Campbell, who represents the Maxville and District Lions Club, informed the executive that the Lions were willing to accept sponsorship of the Lombardo entertainment. Fully realizing that a great deal of organizing and general work is involved, necessitating a lot of "young legs," the board endorsed a resolution accepting the Lions Club suggestion. One member commented, "This group has pledged $30,000 and if it can make a few bucks on the dance, more power to them. They deserve community support."

This social highlight, it is anticipated, will enjoy the same success attained by the Laggan sponsored Lombardo dances. And will set the pattern of future entertainments. It was reported that Danskin's will be the central outlet of ticket sales. Any tickets for a Christmas, anniversary or Easter gift, will be appropriately packaged, compliments of the Lions Club.

The final item on the meeting's agenda was relative to an appropriate name for the building project. In view of the widespread generous financial support received during the campaign, donations are still being received, it was the general opinion that the first two names should be Maxville and District. The term district would include areas beyond the county borders. Due to the diversity of the entertainment available throughout the year, the word complex appears to be more popular of late than community centre. But the single word complex lacked significant identification. As hockey and summer athletic play will dominate the program, it was agreed that the name sports should prefix complex. Hence Maxville and District Sports Complex.

Then it was pointed out that reporters and copy editors invariably shorten official lengthy names to fit column space. Now was the time to insure against the use of such long standing names as "rink" or "arena," being tagged to such a prestigious civic building.

What was a parking area for many, many Kenyon Agricultural Society (Maxville) Fairs and Highland Games will be transformed into an attractive landscaped acreage. Trees, flower beds, spacious lawns to blend with and enhance the picturesque setting of the Fair Grounds that each year earns admiration and laudable comment by thousands of visitors. Add to the appreciated suggestion, along with a tangible donation, of the Maxville Horticultural Society to assist in especially maintaining the flower beds. By combining all those features, the consensus of opinions was that the entire area reflected a garden setting. And there was only one more logical identification to go with a garden and that is historic Glengarry. So copy editors, the shortened form for the Maxville and District Sports Complex is—Glengarry Gardens.

"THE GRASS MACHINE" is an environmentally controlled grower of young green grass which produces a new crop every day. Seed is simply poured into trays and, during the 7-day growing cycle, automatically sprinkled with nutrient laden water on a pre-set time clock schedule. One pound of seed normally produces 6-8 pounds of grass, at approximately $22 a ton. Spring grass is the most efficient means of feeding livestock, poultry, dairy herds and any other herbivorous animals because it provides most of the known vitamins, minerals, protein, hormones and enzymes necessary to good health. The grass is produced, thereby providing the animal with vitally important grass juice elements. In most cases, roughage is the only other feed requirement.

Dalhousie still leading

Dalhousie is still holding down first place in Intermediate B hockey action after having come away with a tie and two wins in last week's competition.

Sunday night they tied six-all with Alexandria in a game that saw only five penalties handed out between the two teams.

Wendall Lafave found the mark three times that evenfing. On three times that evening. On assists, Mike Ruest had two and Tom Ross, one.

Bob Currier scored a pair with help from Greg MacCulloch and Ken MacDonald on one with the second goal going in unassisted. The team's opening goal was scored by Ken MacDonald unassisted.

Claude Roy scored twice for Alexandria assisted by Roch Lajoie and Bobby Boisvenue. Other points came from Raymond Poirier, and Mike Beauclair. Assists were also made by Andre Poirier, Wallie MacDonell and Robert Lajoie.

The second game that evening saw Lancaster overpower Lochiel 9-5. Scoring for Lancaster was Paul Bishop who registered the last three goals of the night. Glenn Bethune scored the game opener. Mark Doyon and Andre Tessier each scored twice with a single from Jeff Fisher.

Paul Poirier of Lochiel scored an honest to goodness, old-fashioned hat trick that evening when he popped in his team's first three goals. Joe Kelly and Garrett MacGillis each scored singles.

On Friday evening Dalhousie downed Lochiel 5-1 with Ken MacDonald scoring four of the victor's five points. Bradley Gagnon scored the single.

The lone Lochiel point came off the stick of Jimmy Denovan.

Dalhousie overpowered Glen Nevis 6-2 on Thursday night in Williamstown.

Wendall Lafave scored three that evening with singles from Raymond MacDonald and Tom Ross.

Ross. Scoring for Glen Nevis were Jim MacDonald and Cameron McLeod.

Touch football team took part in tournaments

by Hugh MacGillivray

After winning the local league the Lochiel Touch Football Club journeyed to Ottawa to take part in the playdown tournament to decide the champions of the North Eastern Ontario Region. The team emerged as B champions.

Lochiel lost the first game to Sandy Hill of the Ottawa Senior league by a score of 20-7. Tom Lowe stole a pass from a Sandy Hill defender for a long gain and followed with another grab for a td. J. T. Hay added a single on a booming kick-off. With this loss, Lochiel dropped into the B division of the tournament.

The next game saw Lochiel defeat Post Office of the Ottawa RA league 20-8. Paul Poirier caught Post Office out to lunch or on strike for three touchdowns and a convert. B. J. MacDonald added another convert and Lochiel advanced to the B final.

The final against Almonte was a low-scoring, defensive battle as the score would indicate. Despite interceptions by Mike Kelly and J. T. Hay, Lochiel's offence could only manage a single on J. T. Hay's punt. A great defensive play by Bill MacLeod saved the game in the closing seconds.

In overtime Barry MacSweyn and Lynn Morrison caught long passes to move Lochiel into position and on second down Hugh MacGillivray quick-kicked for the point that gave Lochiel the B championship.

The next week was on to Toronto and even stiffer competition in the Canadian Touch Football Championship Tournament with 20 teams competing from across Canada. Unfortunately, the team was out of competition after the second game.

In its first game Lochiel squeaked out an 8-7 overtime victory against Oshawa to advance in the A division. Although the score was very close Lochiel could have won handily as the defense, strong all season, came up with five interceptions, three by J. T. Hay, one each by Roch Lajoie and Luc Lacombe. However, the offence failed to capitalize except for one td by Paul Poirier and the convert by Bruce MacGillivray. In overtime the defense gave Lochiel good field position and Hugh MacGillivray quick-kicked for the victory.

The next game was against Toronto and they opened up quickly for three first half touchdowns. J. T. Hay kicked a single to put Lochiel on the scoreboard. In the second half Lochiel's offence came alive and moved the ball well on short passes, mainly to Barry MacSweyn and Tom Lowe. On at least four marches, Lochiel moved deep into Toronto's end but could not finish off for six points. Meanwhile Toronto again proved too much to handle and scored the only td of the half on a long pass and run play. Campbell MacGillivray picked off an interception for Lochiel. Final score 27-1 for Toronto.

Toronto lost their next game to Hamilton, and Hamilton lost the final 20-13 to Montreal Panthers, the defending champions.

Despite the loss to Toronto and the tough competition in the tournament the Lochiel club was satisfied with its effort and confident whoever represents the Glengarry League next year will not be out of place.

Jr. 'B' Glens are having problems on and off the ice

by Brian Sherratt

The Alexandria Junior B Glens are having their problems both on and off the ice. The on-ice problem was their Friday 9-1 loss to Metcalfe and their off-ice problem is that several members of the team have stated they no longer wish to play for Coach Joe Kelly.

Team President Wally Hope met with five team members on Saturday night who claimed to represent the entire group. "They told me", said Mr. Hope, "that they would no longer play if Joe Kelly continued as coach."

They complained to Mr. Hope stating that "Joe doesn't tell us when we are doing things wrong". Their complaints included the fact that their coach foregoes the usual practice of spending between-period time with the players hashing out the previous 20 minutes of hockey.

Mr. Hope said they want to be told what their errors are and not left to finish a game without ever being corrected.

They also complained of the fact that Joe was switching the established lines around and confusing the players. He is taking defencemen and playing them as forwards and using four forwards to kill penalties rather than the usual combination of defencemen and forwards, they told Mr. Hope.

"As far as I am concerned," said the team president "the entire issue was caused by their poor showing in Metcalfe." I told them that they didn't have the guts to meet St. Isidore the next night and play as a team to win."

Possibly the players were up for the Sunday St. Isidore contest or maybe they just wanted Mr. Hope to eat his words. But they played what the Glens General Manager Gerry Simpson referred to as "possibly the best game ever played in junior B hockey."

They tied St. Isidore 1-1 in a style that caused the St. Isidore General Manager to comment, "if we play like this all season and meet in the finals we will fill the arenas."

Two games with such obvious differences in player effort (9-1 and 1-1) presents the question of how can the players put down their coach if he was behind the bench for both games. The same coach and the same players should produce a consistant brand of hockey.

However the Glens management, coaches and players were scheduled to meet this evening to hash out the entire problem and hopefully come to a common understanding.

Two things should be remembered at that meeting. One, that coach Joe Kelly has an obvious interest in his players, proven last winter when Joe commuted from Kingston for Wednesday night practice and for a loosing team at that.

And secondly, that the players are far from being pros both in experience and age. They play the game because they like the sport and most of them know they have about as much chance as a snowball in hell of making it to the top.

As for the weekend point getters; Jacques Lajoie scored the single in Metcalfe unassisted and Yvan Desautels scored Sunday assisted by the brothers Seguin.

Jr. C's lose weekend games

Alexandria's newest addition to minor hockey, the Junior "C" Glens, are giving the game their best shot, but they are having a little trouble pulling winning games their way.

Friday they hosted Finch at the Sports Palace only to be shut out 6-0. Then they went down to defeat here Saturday 5-4 in a close game against Maxville.

Their loss against Finch on Friday wasn't as bad as it may appear. Finch has been in the Junior C organization for some time now and for that reason alone they have a more organized team. Many of their players have been together for several years. Also many of the Finch players are cuts from Junior B hockey which gives them an extra edge.

The local squad have one player from last year's Junior B squad. It is a young club and will be in the running in the near future.

On Saturday the locals did everything they could to pull a win out of the 5-4 game but luck and the goalposts got in their way.

Coach Cameron McCormick went so far as to pull the goalie for the last minute of play and they gave Maxville their best shot but no goals.

Scoring for Alexandria were Mike Wray, Gerry Gareau, John MacLeod and Mike Sullivan. Mike was brought up from the midget team to fill a temporary vacancy.

Maxville points were made by Mike Atkins, Sandy MacDonell with two, Sandy MacIntosh and Darren Rolland.

Alexandria Junior "C" Glens next home game is Friday at 8 p.m. when they host Embrun.

The recent run on lifting money from garage cash registers started Nov. 15 in Monkland. That same evening a snow blower was stolen from the Sylvester Merpaw store in Greenfield.

On Nov. 16 the Rene Roy garage in Green Valley and the Donald Roy garage in North Lancaster were also burglarized of an undisclosed amount of money. PEOPLE on the MOVE

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Wightman have returned after visiting friends in Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria, B.C. They motored to the west coast with Mrs. T. Irwin Nightingale, Margo and Tom of Montreal, who are taking up residence in Victoria with Mr. Nightingale. They flew back from Vancouver for the return journey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Daniel MacDonald spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Allan J. MacDonald in Hamilton and attended the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

Mrs. Bertha Lalonde was in hospital last week in Kingston undergoing a check-up.

To make home in Kenora

The marriage of Audrey Catherine MacQueen and Garry Donald McIntosh, both of Kenora, took place in Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan, on Saturday, October 15. Officiating at the ceremony was the moderator, the Rev. Dr. Iver D. MacIver, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Donald N. MacMillan of the Presbyterian College, Montreal. Mrs. Allister Campbell was organist and the soloist was Miss Heather Tenger. Piper Allan Blaney piped the couple from the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beverley MacQueen of Dunvegan and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McIntosh of Maxville.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a floor length gown of white matte jersey with matching bolero jacket and hood. She carried a wicker basket of dried flowers.

She was attended by Miss Lois McIntosh, Maxville, as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Shelley MacPhee of Brockville, Sandra MacQueen of Ottawa and Mary Jane Gait of Kenora. The flower girls were Mitzi and Melissa Howes of Dalkeith. The dresses were identically styled, the maid of honor and bridesmaids in coral, and the flower girls in coral and blue. They carried wicker baskets of dried flowers.

McINTOSH—MacQUEEN

The best man was Dallas McIntosh of Maxville and the ushers were: Garry MacQueen of Dunvegan, Art Wagner of Kenora and Brian Benton of Apple Hill. The ring bearer was James McIntosh of Apple Hill.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the Bonnie Glen. Out of town guests were present from Kenora, Kingston, Toronto, Peterborough, Almonte, Ottawa and Cornwall.

For their wedding trip to the States, the bride wore a rust three-piece suit.

Prior to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Weldon McIntosh, Dunvegan; Miss Shelley MacPhee, Dunvegan; the staff of the third floor north of the Lake of the Woods Hospital in Kenora and by Mrs. Liz White, Kenora. Friends in Kenora also put on a mixed party for the couple.

The couple are residing in Kenora.

At press time he is still in a coma in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, under the care of Dr. A. E. MacPhee.

Sister Laurette Brodeur dies after 50 years service

A member of the Holy Cross Sisters for 50 years, Sister Laurette Brodeur died suddenly in St. Laurent on Wednesday, November 9. She had been in declining health for the past couple of years.

Also known as Sister Alma, she was well known throughout this area where she taught music at several schools. Many a local church event in the last number of years was supplemented by her beautiful organ renditions and vocal accompaniments. She was thoughtful and concerned about the best choice of music to suit the occasion and her selections were a constant source of joy at the many functions where she played.

As a teacher she was highly proficient in the organization of school orchestras and many a child in this introductory music instruction received inspiration from her to go on with further individual study. She loved working with choirs, and St. Raphael's and St. Finnan's in particular benefitted from her talent while she was resident with the Holy Cross sisters at Iona and at St. Margaret's Convent.

Sister Laurette was born in Adams, Massachusetts, 71 years ago, one of a family of 11 children. Only one sister survives, Mrs. Stella Bergeron of Auburn, N. Y.

The funeral was held in St. Joseph's Pavilion Chapel in St. Laurent on Saturday, Nov. 12.

Chief celebrant of the eucharist was Father Charles MacDonald of Apple Hill while co-celebrants were Father Leo MacDonell, Alexandria; Father Michael O'Brien, Williamstown; Father Garry Ostler, St Raphael's; Father Jean Guy Richer, Montreal and Father Bernard Cameron of Cornwall who also gave the homily.

Members of St. Finnan's choir augmented the Holy Cross Community choir, and boys from St. Finnan's and St. Margaret's Glen Nevis served the mass.

Seven nieces of the deceased acted as honorary pallbears in the chapel. Burial was in St. Laurent.

WENT TO COURT

November 16 turned out to be a very interesting day for Grade 12 law class taught by Hugh Wilson. They travelled to Cornwall and spent the morning in the Cornwall County Court, observing the events of an ordinary day. They had a late lunch at McDonald's and then returned to school.

DID HISTORY SURVEYS

History 550, a grade 13 class taught by Larry Yaguchi, has done a series of surveys on the people of Glengarry County. A variety of people were questioned on a variety of subjects. The results proved to be very interesting. There were four different surveys and the results will be published, one survey a week.

The first survey concerned the general opinion on separatism in this area. Since Alexandria is close to the Quebec border, it could be of great significance.

The people questioned were employed in a number of different professions. There were farmers, housewives, businessmen, teachers, students, nurses, laborers and ambulance attendants, totalling 30 participants in all.

Although those surveyed ranged in age, that seemed to have very little significance on the results. Nearly all the people questioned were English-speaking though, so perhaps the results would have been different if more French-speaking people had been surveyed.

The majority of the people in this area felt that separation was a breaking up of Canada. Sixty-three per cent of the people surveyed felt that Quebec could not survive economically without the rest of Canada. Bill 101 was understood by 93 per cent of the people, but 89 per cent, the majority, were opposed to it.

The general attitude was that separation would be troublesome to Alexandria in many ways. It was also amazing to observe that some people didn't take the questions on separation seriously at all.

BAND STUDENTS SELLING FRUIT

The student bands from GDHS have decided to sell oranges and grapefruits to the people of Alexandria and the surrounding district. The money raised will be used to buy equipment for the bands and to finance music student exchanges. If you are approached by a student, please support music students from GDHS.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

French language teaching

Confusion continues to dominate the issue of French language instruction in public schools.

A major source of the confusion is a white paper on the topic prepared by a school board committee and distributed to the school committees.

If you have a bachelor's degree in English, a master's degree in education and time to read the paper over at least three times, you have an excellent chance of comprehending it all. Unfortunately, such prerequisites leave most people in the dark. And that's where most of the debate so far has taken place—in the dark.

A summary of the white paper has since been produced and the new document is much easier to digest. Essentially the paper outlines three proposed optional programs—a 40-minute per day core program; an extended program that would include the core plus the teaching in French of another subject such as histoire or geographie; and a bilingual program that would include 100 per cent French instruction in all subjects in Grade 1 and be phased down to 50-50 English-French instruction by Grade 8.

The situation in Quebec and federal bilingualism policies have created a highly charged atmosphere in the area and the issue of French language instruction has become intensely emotional.

When we examine the situation calmly, however, it becomes clear that no attempt is being made to shove anything down anybody's throat. The white paper simply lists what programs could be made available. It is up to the public to indicate its choice.

At present, French instruction ranges from 20 minutes to 40 mintues per day. It's simply not doing the job. According to Area Superintendent Lorne Lawson, only one per cent of students enrolled in this program ever become bilingual. The board, therefore, has suggested that the core program be standardized to 40 minutes per day minimum from Kindergarten to Grade 8.

The present elementary program obviously isn't stimulating students to continue French instruction in high school, either, because only 42.29 per cent of the English-speaking students in SD&G have chosen French at the secondary level.

Of a total board population of 9,326 students, 2,814 are taking French while another 2,672 students (mainly French-speaking) are studying Francais. In all, 3,840 students are not studying a second language.

At Glengarry District High School, 322 or about 62 per cent of a possible 514 English-speaking students are taking French, while at Char-Lan, 147 or about 44 per cent of a possible 335 students are studying French as a second language.

We would support the board in its attempt—through public discussion—to encourage instruction in the French language. Learning a second language is an asset regardless of where you live, but in this part of the province it is of even greater value because of our own French-speaking population and our proximity to Quebec.

We have to look realistically at the future. The demand for bilingualism in many jobs is one of those realities. To deprive our children of adequate instruction in French is to leave them seriously handicapped for the rest of their lives. We are within 60 miles of Montreal—one of the largest job markets in the country. At one time, most of our young people sought employment there. Today, because of the language barrier, our children are being forced farther away from home in the search for jobs.

Even here at home, a knowledge of both official languages is becoming necessary to obtain jobs in both business and government.

Far from being an attempt to shove French down English-speaking throats, the board's white paper is, in fact, a response to public demand. It is interesting to note, for instance, that 20 per cent of students enrolled in French language separate schools are from English-speaking homes. Many people who would normally support the public school system are sending their children to the separate schools simply because of the French program. The public board just wants to make the same service available in its system—if people want it.

In short, the demand appears to be there, the grants from the federal government (via the province) are there and the board wants to find out if parents wish to take advantage of the opportunity.

Issues of national unity or Quebec independence should not cloud the debate. It's a simple case of providing our children with the intellectual tools necessary to hammer out a decent living in the world of tomorrow. For better or worse, a working knowledge of both English and French is becoming essential in many areas of endeavor. The school board is anxious to ensure that our children are not left at a disadvantage.

We would encourage people to attend the various school committee gatherings and air their concerns, but we would also urge people to attend with an open mind.

If the board really wanted to shove something down our throats, it wouldn't bother encouraging meetings in the first place.

'From the old rail fence'

by Anna Margaret

It is strange the importance something takes on when it is given a special name. The kids, for example, come home from school and say, "I'm taking cross-country running in phys. ed."

If it's the first high school student, parents may rightly ask "And what's that?"

"Oh, it's running, but not on the ordinary track. We run across fields, up hills, down slopes, jump over fences, ditches and whatever else is in the way. It's great for endurance and is a real good outdoor sport anyone can participate in.

Shucks. Paw and I, and others, in that pre-historic generation have been doing that since we can remember. Only it wasn't designated as such. It was called chasing the cow that jumped the fence or rounding up the heifers to put them in the barn in the fall or trying to corral the turkey flock that wandered to the neighbors.

But it never amounted to anything real dignified like wearing a jacket with big letters on it that told the public you were one of the "cross-country" crowd.

In spite of the many organizations and programs which now exist, always there is need for new groups to combat problems which seem to be gaining new prominence. One of the most recent of these organizations is the "Block Parent Program."

The purpose of this organization is to provide a place for a child to run in an emergency. It is also designed to promote a safer atmosphere in our cities and towns, through the education of adults and children, by displaying the designated Block Parent Sign.

The Block Parent home will display a sign advising the children that "here is a place of refuge"; if, (1) alarmed by strangers; (2) accident; (3) illness; (4) bullies, vicious dogs. The Block Parent will provide emergency assistance as the individual case merits.

It is a community effort involving your police force, the local School Boards and the volunteer Block Parent. Encompassed is the education of the children and parents.

The Block Parent program is under the auspices of the Canada Safety Council and heartily supported by the Ontario Safety League. Members of the Block Parent Advisory Committee are Block Parent Volunteers and are representatives of all Block Parent Communities in the Province of Ontario. While primary interest is set up for the Province of Ontario, the concept of a national program is in future plans.

The next Annual Provincial Meeting of Block Parent Communities will be hosted by the City of Ottawa Block Parents in May of 1978. Present communications indicate a very large representation from Ontario and other Provinces. The program will be composed of various workshops, covering all phases of the operation of a Block Parent Program.

There was a time in country communities such as ours, or even in city blocks, when it was common knowledge where one could go for help if there was trouble. Our progressive world has changed this.

And so the "Block Parent" idea would appear to be almost a necessity. With parents so often away from home, it would surely be a consolation to know there was a concerned someone in the neighborhood who would care if the need arose. Currently there are over 80 communities in Ontario who have already organized an official group.

A provincial advisory committee with representatives from London, Oshawa, Ottawa, Sault Ste. Marie, Guelph and Burlington has been set up.

Anyone wishing for information to begin such a program in this area may contact George Pearson, 630 Bramrosa Road, Guelph N1E 2M8.

Perspective

by Bob Roth

A case for open meetings

Nothing is more insulting to the general public than locally elected bodies persistently holding closed meetings.

While a case can be made for closed sessions when matters of personnel or property acquisition are being discussed, many elected bodies have made a habit of secrecy.

So-called committee meetings or special meetings are held with little or no notification to the press and the public, and even in the case of regular board or council meetings, members are quick to slam the door as soon as anything remotely "controversial" comes onto the floor.

If elected officials are supposed to be representative of the people, what can be wrong with the people watching and hearing what is being done on their behalf?

Excuses for closed meetings are as plentiful as they are feeble, but during my 10 years in the municipal arena—both on and off council—I have noticed three major rationalizations popping up over and over. As is the case with most rationalizations, you have to sift through mounds of rhetoric to pluck out the real meaning.

EXCUSE NO. 1: Councillors (or trustees) will not speak as freely if they feel the press and public are watching. The presence of a public gallery might prevent an elected official from saying what is really on his mind. Only during a closed session does a politician feel free to lay all his cards on the table and participate in frank debate.

TRANSLATION: When a politician speaks publicly, don't believe a word he's saying.

EXCUSE NO. 2: Some issues are of a particularly controversial nature. Such issues usually involve or affect many people and public discussion would only fan the fires of discontent.

TRANSLATION: The more concerned the public is about an issue, the less you should tell them about it. Ignorance is bliss.

EXCUSE NO. 3: Many items are too complex for the public to understand. Debating them in public will only lead to confusion and result in needless misunderstanding.

TRANSLATION: The voters are stupid.

What it all boils down to is that many elected officials are afraid of the public. Sure, they'll come forward every two years to mumble a few promises at election time, but as soon as they're in, they'd just as soon not see you for another couple of years.

Many politicians are visibly uncomfortable in a room full of onlookers, particularly if the onlookers are hostile. In fact, many politicians become irate when criticized by delegations. That, however, is part of the job. If you can't swim, don't look for a job as a lifeguard. If you can't deal openly with the public, don't seek elected office. It's that simple.

Granted, some issues are complex and some items are extremely controversial. But that's all the more reason to bring them forward. Unless these issues are debated publicly, how can voters determine whether their interests are being correctly interpreted and adequately represented by the people they have elected? If so much goes on behind closed doors, how can the public evaluate the performance of elected people to determine whether or not to support them in the next election?

It is precisely because local government has become so complex and so costly that new channels of communication have to be created. When you're just talking about patching potholes, the issue of open debate might not be that crucial. But today, municipalities are being asked to pass official plans, zoning bylaws and implement massive programs such as sewer and water installations. It's not enough to merely come forward once every two years at election time to consult the public. Too much can happen in two years. It is incumbent upon local officials who are genuinely interested in representing their constituents, to maintain constant communication. Open meetings and wider press coverage are the obvious first steps.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

APPROVES SENTIMENTS

Nov. 19, 1977

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I can't praise Bob Roth too much for his courage in taking to task people of his own profession for over-covering Margaret Trudeau (Perspective Nov. 9). Certainly the media have better things to do than making a heroine of a woman who walked out on a wonderful person like Pierre Trudeau and her own lovely children. There must be something wrong with Margaret Trudeau if what the marriage gave her was not enough for her—a husband who is at once mature and young, a family, the status of an outstanding public-man's wife and much more.

Our Prime Minister is a brave politician. Only his wife could put him in an embarrassing spot where he is trying to keep Canada from going to pieces after having failed to keep his family intact. The concept of separating one's public and private life is a polite myth and, believe me, the two matters are being viewed at a single glance. For all I know, it must be an utterly new experience for Pierre Trudeau to have, right or wrong, many people being sorry for him. Only Margaret Trudeau could do this to him.

As Bob Roth suggests, let Margaret find her own level in Canadian life which, it seems, should not be very high.

A summary of the board's "white paper"

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE POSITION PAPER ON PROPOSED FRENCH PROGRAMS IN THE PUBLIC ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS OF STORMONT, DUNDAS AND GLENGARRY

Principles

I. BASIC PRINCIPLES:

1. Respect right of parents to opt in or out of any of the proposed programs:

   Core—from 20 to 40 minutes daily
   —"Conversational French"

   Extended—approximately 75 minutes daily
   —"Conversational French"—35 minutes
   —A regular subject (History and/or Geography where French is the language of instruction)

   Bilingual—or Immersion
   From 100% French at the Grade 1 level to 50% French and English at the Grade 7 and 8 levels.

2. Respect the underlying and fundamental right for every child (and his parents) in this educational jurisdiction to learn French by the best available methods and for as many school years as he can profit from the experience.

Fundamentals

II FUNDAMENTAL CONSIDERATIONS:

1. That when and where Extended and Bilingual (Immersion) programs are implemented, assurance must be given that alternative courses in which English is the language of instruction be made available for pupils whose parents opt out of said programs (principle of non-interference with English program).
2. That when and where any of the three programs are implemented in a school, said programs become and be recognized as an integral part of the curriculum.

Basic

III CORE PROGRAM—"Conversational French"—Grades K to 8—40 minutes daily

1. Policy:
   a) From Kindergarten to Grade 8
   b) That every child be exposed to a Core program (unless they opt for an Extended or a Bilingual (Immersion) program

   c) Opportunity to opt out—Principal's advice
   —Serious parental reason

2. K. to 3 Program—"Point de depart"

   a) In schools without French Kindergarten, we plan to offer "Point de depart" program, from K to Grade 3.

   b) Time allocated: 40 minutes daily as of September 1978. (At present, offered only at Laggan Public School—30 minutes daily.)

3. Grades 1 to 3 Program—"Comment Dire"

   a) In schools where youngsters opted for French Kindergarten, to offer "Comment Dire" program, from Grade 1 to Grade 3.

   b) Time allocated: 40 minutes daily as of September 1978 (At present, 40 minutes in Grades 1 and 2.)

4. Grades 4 to 6 Program—"Un pas en avant"

   a) Upon completion of "Comment Dire" program at the end of Grade 3 (for students who opted for French Kindergarten), we will offer "Un pas en avant" program from Grade 4 to Grade 6.

   b) No decision reached at this stage as to the kind of Core program for Grades 7 and 8.

5. Grades 3 to 8 Program—"Ici on parle francais"

   a) At present, in schools where French Kindergarten program is not available, French is offered from Grades 3 to 8.

   b) Whereas 22 schools out of 25 presently offer a French Kindergarten program, the "Ici on parle francais" program, from Grades 3 to Grades 8, will be gradually phased out and replaced by "Point de depart" and "Comment Dire".

6. Time allocated:

a; At present:
K to 2—"Point de depart"—30 minutes
Grades 1 and 2—"Comment Dire"—40 minutes
Grade 3—"Comment Dire"—30 minutes
Grade 4—"Un pas en avant"—30 minutes
Grades 3 to 8—"Ici on parle francais"—20 minutes

b) Proposed:
September 1978:
K to 3—"Point de depart"—40 minutes
1 to 3—"Comment Dire"—40 minutes

4 and 5—"Un pas en avant"—30 minutes
3 to 8—"Ici on parle francais"—20 minutes
(To be phased out gradually)

After September 1978:

Increase Core program to 40 minutes daily, from Grade 4 on, at one level yearly, i.e.

September 1980—Grade 5—40 minutes
September 1981—Grade 6—40 minutes
September 1982—Grade 7—40 minutes
September 1983—Grade 8—40 minutes

Extended

IV. "EXTENDED PROGRAM"—75 minutes daily

a) Definition:

A program consisting of French as a subject (conversational, written and gradual exposure to reading) for approximately 35 minutes, plus, a subject (History and/or Geography) taught in the French language (approximately 40 minutes).

b) Policy:

1. Optional to parents and students.
2. Subject to same policy as French Kindergarten program i.e. if parents request it; if classroom space is available; if qualified and certificated teacher is available.
3. Priority be given to introduce this program at the Grade 7 and 8 levels, but not before September 1980. As of that date, students who started French Kindergarten back in September 1973, would have been exposed to an intensive program from Kindergarten to Grade 6 (Comment Dire—Grades 1 to 3 and Un pas en avant from Grades 4 to 6), and hopefully would master French sufficiently to be able to cope with a subject (History and/or Geography) taught in the French language.
4. Should parents request an "extended program" at the Grade 1 and/or Grade 4 levels, it is proposed that i. such programs be limited in number and kept under control.
   ii whereas "environmental science" is not taught every day at the primary level, (Grades 1 to 3) that we incorporate Music, Art and Physical Education as part of the subjects taught in French at this level.

To present "Our Town"

Donnie Ross is holding open house to celebrate the official opening of his Allis-Chalmers farm and garden equipment dealership. (Friday Nov. 25 till 4 p.m.)

Moose hunting-Glengarry style

Elias Kitts, Martintown store operator, headed north to Ontario's moose country recently. He returned home smelling of campfire.

Sam Cain backhoe specialist formerly from the branch, has also been up north on the trail of the elusive Canadian moose. You had better ask these men personally for their stories of their triumphs.

School meeting

Martintown public school people meet the circuit riders this Thursday evening to register their views on proposed French language teaching.

There are all kinds of hunters...

One upon a time four Glengarrians went hunting in the wilds of Northern Ontario. Donald, Mac, Alec and Charlie left the motel early the day before to get to a sure spot for moose on opening day.

They drove and drove and kept right on to the end of the road. At road's end, the loosed the bonds of their canoe, released her from the jeep top carrier and gently lowered her into the cold clear fast flowing stream.

When all the gear had been stowed in the eighteen foot cargo canoe, these four stalwart men from Glengarry clambered in and began to paddle upstream into virgin territory. There was not a sign, not a sound of another human in the area, or that man had ever been in this land. After all the road was only one month old and even then just a logging road. The men soon got their farming muscle converted to canoe paddling rhuthm and they moved swiftly up the stream though still with some awkwardness on the many meandering corners of this stream. The stream ran through nature pine forest with many precambrian outcroppings.

As they rounded a bend in the river, Donald, in the bow cautioned the men with a whisper of "Sshhh". They all stopped paddling and looked ahead to where the river widened into a bay. There, just 300 yards ahead, was a giant bull moose.

"He'd be a dead duck if this paddle were my 303," said Alec, aiming his paddle at the moose.

"Shall we draw lots to see who gets the trophy", asked Charlie without taking his eyes off the majestic beast quietly eating bull rush roots.

Mac, who was regarded as the leader of the group, snorted, "I'll shoot anyone who takes a shot before dawn on opening day and that means tomorrow."

Alex suggested that they lassoo the buck until the next morning.

They ultimately concluded that in this virgin land, moose would abound and man would be scarce. Thus they paddled past the feeding moose apparently oblivious to their gaping mouths.

The men picked a suitable campsite although as Mac said in an understatement, it needed a little work. Glengarry men always need a little sedative before dozing off and our group was no different. They piled the empties up as a windbreak and slept behind it.

Next morning, on opening day in this virgin country, ten miles in the bush from road's end, were the moose lined up fighting to be the day's first trophy?

The first thing these four fine hunters from Glengarry heard was a motoboat—yes a motorboat. An Indian guide and an American hunter headed by upstream. You can imagine how crestfallen these men were, but were not totally discouraged.

Total discouragement came with the regular sound of planes carting hunters into their virgin hunting area, and with the shots resounding through the swamp all day.

This group ate lots of moose-track soup, but after all getting away from telephone and other forms of electronic communication is justification enough—or so they say. Are their wives convinced?

Mac's philosophy

Martintown Mac says we are better off with too much challenge than too little.

Glen Sandfield

Mrs. Lorna Chapman
874-2408

The Congregational supper was held Nov. 21 at Glen Sandfield Hall with a very good turn-out.

Mrs. Arnold MacRae welcomed everyone and Rev. Jim Thompson gave thanks. This was a community affair with everyone contributing her own special salads and casserole dishes and there were many kinds of delicious pies for dessert.

After clearing the tables the young people had a short devotional period led by Kevin MacLachlan, Elaine Barlow and Marjorie Fraser, during which the choir sang and a humorous reading followed by Mrs. Charles Chapman.

A Christmas package was presented to Louise and James Thompson by Mrs. Arnold MacRae. Gifts of United Church tie tacks were presented to the elders and board of stewards and trustees, in recognition of their faithful service to the congregation over the year. There were also souvenir booklets of the Queen's Silver Jubilee distributed. Mrs. Ronald MacLachlan, vice-president, and Mrs. William MacLennan, past president, were presenters.

Rev. Thompson led in prayer for Stanley Fraser, who is so critically ill at this time in hospital.

Everyone helped to clear the tables and Mansel Hay took the floor to auction off items which had been donated for this sale. There was more fun than money flowing. Everyone certainly had a good time.

President active

Lochiel Reeve Alex McDonald has been busy in his capacity as president of the Rural Ontario Municipal Association.

Yesterday the reeve left for Winnipeg where he will represent ROMA at the Manitoba Union of Municipalities. He was accompanied by Mrs. McDonald.

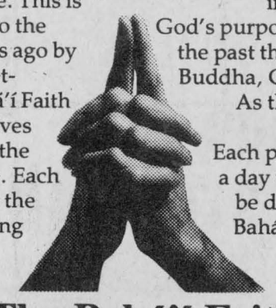
THERE IS ONLY ONE RELIGION

It has many names; but only one Source

With our own narrow vision, we see different religions as hopelessly divided. In the sight of God, they are one. This is the message given to the world over 130 years ago by Bahá'u'lláh, Prophet-Founder of the Bahá'í Faith.

Each religion derives its inspiration from the same Divine Source. Each religion is related to the others in an unfolding revelation of God's purpose for mankind. That they differ from one another is to be attributed to the varying requirements of the age in which they appeared.



God's purpose has been revealed in the past through Krishna, Moses, Buddha, Christ and Muhammad. As they were to their times, Bahá'u'lláh is to ours. Each prophet left a promise of a day when God's will would be done on earth. That day, Bahá'u'lláh proclaimed, has come.

The Bahá'í Faith

A Promise Kept.

The right and duty of the individual to investigate truth for himself is a basic principle of the Bahá'í Faith. For further information, please write:

In Memoriam

PIDGEON—In sad but loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Hughie Pidgeon, who was called home to heaven Nov. 27, 1976.
No one heard the footsteps of the angels drawing near,
Who took from us to Heaven
The one we loved so dear.
Who shall say the grief is lessened,
When at times they see us smile.
They little know the sorrow
Our smile hides all the while.
We smile with the world
But never forget,
As it ends the first long year.
—Forever remembered by wife, Mary Pidgeon and all the family, Lancaster, Ont. 47-1c

MacDONELL—In loving memory of a dear brother, Allan MacDonell, who died Nov. 24th, 1975.
We cannot bring the old days back,
When we were all together.
But think with tears and loving thoughts,
Live with us forever.
Sadly missed and remembered always by sister Catherine and Robert McGillis. 47-1p

CANNED TOMATOES

One way to brighten our Fall meals is by using canned tomatoes.

Canned tomatoes are not only economical but are nutritious as well. One ½ cup (an average serving) contains only 21 calories but is an excellent source of vitamin C (20.5 mg) and a good source of vitamin A and phosphorous.

When shopping for canned tomatoes, you'll find Canada Choice is the most popular, although Canada Fancy is also available. Canada Choice is more economical and suitable for most purposes.

These tomatoes can be used as they come from the can or drained to replace fresh tomatoes. One 19 fluid-ounce can of Canada Choice yields not less than 1 ½ cups of drained tomatoes or five half-cup servings of tomatoes and juice. A 28 fluid-ounce can yields not less than 2-1/16 cups drained tomatoes or seven half-cup servings of tomatoes and juice.

Canned tomatoes are easy to use. Add them to egg, meat, fish, rice, pasta and skillet dinners or make them into sauces. You'll soon find their attractiveness and good value help beat the doldrums of Fall.
