Parks Commission Marking 10 Years With Celebrations

Celebrations marking the 10th Anniversary of The St. Lawrence Parks Commission operations will be held in Chrysler Farm Battlefield Park on Saturday August 21.

Ontario Prime Minister William G. Davis will attend along with former Prime Minister, Hon. Leslie M. Frost. Official greetings will be extended to Prime Minister Davis on his arrival at Chrysler Park by Clarke Rollins, M.P.P. Chairman, Parks Commission.

The program will commence at 2:15 p.m. and will include a spectacular Battle Drill display by the Fort Henry Guard.

Hon. Fern Guidon, Minister of Tourism and Information and Hon. J. S. C. Auld, Minister of Public Works, both of whom played a prominent part in the development of Commissions recreational and historic complex, will participate in the program.

There will be a special tribute to the Commission's first Chairman, George H.

Challies, whose vision and leadership through the early formative years ensured success of major development program in the Seaway Valley.

During the first decade of operations over 24,000,000 visitors have enjoyed Commission facilities which extend from near the Ontario-Quebec border 170 miles west to Adolphustown. Upper Canada Village and Fort Henry are two of Ontario's outstanding historic sites.

REV. ALLAN ROGERS TO ATTEND SEMINAR AT WINDSOR

Rev. Allan Rogers will attend a course in Pastoral Theology that is being offered at the University of Windsor during the coming week. This is part of the current program of renewal that is taking place within the Christian Church as a serving community. The Director of the course is Father Charles A. Curran, who is eminently known in the field of Pastoral Counselling. This aspect of the pastoral ministry is simply a greater preparation of the Minister to be an informed, concerned and directive aide to his people in order to help them meet more readily the variety of situations that make up life.

FULL PROGRAM OF CARNIVAL IN NEXT WEEK'S POST

Next week's Post will carry the complete Summer Carnival program including the Sidewalk Sale being planned by all Iroquois merchants.

They expect a local team to visit their hometown of Schumacher next year to repay the visit to Eastern Ontario. Fifth from the left in the back row is pitcher Jim Moir who also plays in the NHL for Philadelphia Flyers, and fourth from left, back row, is Eric Vail of the Niagara Falls Junior Hockey Club.

Over 1,000 people attended the third annual fastball tournament held last Saturday at Memorial Park, Brinston, setting a record for attendance at recent ball tournaments. The weatherman co-operated fully and with hot dogs, hamburgs and a corn and chicken feed later in the day, the event can be marked down as one of the most successful events ever staged by Matilda Recreation Association.

Out of the ball tournament came Cardinal Pats as the winners of the tournament, claiming $250 in cash and the Gordon Blair Trophy. Mr. Blair was on hand to present the trophy and wish the teams well.

Summer Carnival Gaining Momentum

While the attendance at the public meeting - called for last Thursday night - was less than enthusiastic, it is surprising to learn that a few people have things well in hand for Summer Carnival '71.

The three-day event, August 20-21-22, appears to be shaping up and once a few loose ends are tied up, a full announcement of what has been scheduled will be forthcoming.

Already the program involves many villagers and it is to be hoped that many others will at least participate by attending the events and enjoying the fruits of the labors of those who have done all the planning.

This is the first year for such an event in Iroquois and while it may not be large in content, what has been planned has been planned well and should be the nucleus for a foundation to build on next year and in succeeding years.

No matter what your interests are there are events coming up that should capture your attendance and, along with the visitors expected in our community that weekend by virtue of the annual Fly-in Breakfast and the lawn bowling tournament, it would be nice to see villagers outnumber the visitors.

There is still time for you or your organization to plan some event as part of the Carnival days. Contact Recreation Chairman Mrs. Helen Smith if you come up with something.

LET'S TAKE A LITTLE PRIDE

We've heard the odd report that garbage has been dumped off along the roads leading to the new garbage disposal area and a drive through the countryside confirmed at least two of the reports.

A warning was given when the dump opened that anyone caught doing this would be prosecuted if caught. And there are usually ways this can be done. Every effort will be made to trace those who would litter the countryside with these thoughtless acts and we cannot have any pity upon them.

As in all cases of this kind, it is the few who do these things but even a few can spoil the looks of the countryside.

There are some pleasant sights along those country roads and no one wants to see garbage as one of those sights ... green bagged or not.

WORTH A LITTLE EXTRA CARE FOR SAFETY

Hot summer roads can be the cause of blow-outs and a little extra care in seeing that your tires are properly inflated and in good shape can save you a great deal of trouble.

Having a breakdown on highways such as 401 where service is not readily available can be enough to spoil an otherwise excellent holiday ... so take a little extra care this year ... won't you?

NOW THE WALLS MUST MATCH COLOUR TV

By Bill Smiley

Just a collection of notes this week. Don't try to find any coherence in them.

I noticed in one of my favourite weeklies that an old friend of mine had been arrested for being drunk. When he turned up in court the following Tuesday, he was so drunk he had to be taken away for another week. This takes some ingenuity. But I'm not surprised. Same chap some years ago, when his house was burning, threw his six children out the upstairs window into the snow. Saved them all.

Why don't people ever listen to me? At least ten years ago, in this space, I said firmly that Red China should be recognized, admitted to the U.N., and that silly old dictator, Chiang Kai Shek, turfed into the Indian Ocean or somewhere. The column was received with real anger in some places. Now, everybody and his brother is buttering up the real Chinese and pouring cold water on the phoney Chinese on Formosa. Oh well, even my wife won't listen to me, so why should the politicians?

And speaking of that woman, who has made my life a roller-coaster of ups and downs, she pulled another one recently. I'd been muttering for months about a colour TV set. Each time, she stated unequivocally, which is the only way she ever states, that we couldn't afford it with two children at university, the mortgage, the insurance coming due, and the yak, yak, yak. Each time I subsided, as is my wont, and also because I didn't really care. Hardly ever watch the stupid thing anyway.

So, I came home late one afternoon, a couple of weeks ago, and there she was, playing with the buttons on a huge, expensive colour TV. It's been here since, "on trial", and I've been subjected to endless hours of discussion about colours. It's been worse than those unspeakably boring sessions we've had over the years on decorating. Do I like the mushroom with the lime green? Do I not think that the teal in the drapes will clash with the off-blue in the rug? That sort of thing.

At no time could I have cared less if she had painted everything midnight black, but I had to pretend I cared, or there'd have been an outburst of tears and recriminations. "You just don't care, do you? Other men are interested in their homes. I'm doing my best to make our home beautiful and you just sit there with that look on your face!" And so on.

It was like that with the TV set. Didn't I think there was too much orange? Why wasn't the green coming up more vividly? I finally called the dealer and said we'd keep it. That's the way I buy a car. I don't shop around, trying all the models. I just walk around the beast, kick the tires, and make a deal.

The other woman in my life is about as much trouble. She is more convinced than ever that capitalism is beastly, and that she is an exploited slave of the system. As I was driving her home from work the other day, she exploded bitterly, "I only made eight lousy dollars in tips today!"

I had to bite my lips so hard it drew blood. Those tips, plus her wages, made it $20 for an eight-hour day. My first job paid one dollar a day, for a twelve-hour day, seven days a week. (Kim's opinion of the capitalist system is seasonal. It bothers her not in the least to milk the old man for a cool $2,000 when she's not working, but going to school.)

See Page Four

You'd probably love to have a car like this to fool around with. But suppose you had to drive it day in and day out?

We Americans are used to having the latest, and we don't like to live with what seems out-of-date to us. For that reason, a good many of us don't go to church. We tell ourselves that church was great for Grandma and Grandpa, or maybe even for Mom and Dad, but it has no place for us in this jet age.

If we believe this ... then it is we who are out-of-date! The Church today is a modern institution in touch with the world around it. It helps us cope with the problems of modern life, teaching us to change with a changing world. Let's catch up with the times. Let's attend church.

Joyce Seeley Joins United Nations

Miss Joyce Seeley left Wednesday with the 20th annual Odd Fellows United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth as an observer at United Nations Headquarters.

Miss Seeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Seeley, of Prescott, is a student at South Grenville District High School and was chosen after open competition with other high school students, to be sponsored jointly by Amity Lodge, Prescott, and Riverside Lodge, Iroquois.

The pilgrimage will also include visits to Burlington and Manchester, Vermont, Philadelphia, Valley Forge, Baltimore, Washington and Gettysburg battlefield.

While at UN headquarters, the student delegates will be briefed on the many serious problems existing between member nations, of progress in disarmaments and the peaceful use of atomic energy, and of the ways in which problems of health, education, employment, and industry in underdeveloped countries are being helped.

In addition representatives of member nations will be interviewed, some with the aid of interpreters, and Commissions and Committees will be seen in action. International House, where graduate students from over 80 countries live under one roof, will be visited plus an evening at Radio City Musical Hall, a boat trip around Manhattan Island as guests of New York Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

A valuable by-product of the Pilgrimage is the fellowship which grows up among the 1,000 or more young delegates from all sections of the United States and Canada. The Pilgrimage is divided into seven groups, each of which will spend one week in New York during the summer of 1971. Since this great project was instituted in 1950, 13,991 students have participated. The entire expense is absorbed by Odd Fellow and Rebekah Lodges. These informed serious teenagers, on their return home have become assets to their areas and great aid in the spread of knowledge and the furtherance of world peace.

Davidson Road Picnic Site Opens

Are you looking for a peaceful spot among whispering pines and rustling oaks and resting poplars to have a picnic? Try the Davidson Road picnic site on the Greenbelt Forest. Located in Gloucester Township it is the second major recreational facility designed by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests for use by the people of the Ottawa area. To reach this secluded area proceed south of Walkley Road along the Conroy Road, past the Greenbelt Forest sign and turn left at the Davidson Road. The site is about a mile east.

If you like walking, there are over four miles of road and forest trails to choose from, offering many opportunities to a study of great variety of flora and fauna.

If you have a bicycle a wonderful change awaits you, the many gravel township roads in the area offer views of old agricultural Ontario relatively undisturbed by ribbon development and speeding cars. Explore the many gravel forest access roads. Take your lunch and make a day of it. Please do not litter the forest and above all watch your smoking materials. This is your forest and your children's forest. You have open spaces here second to none.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gilmer and boys were Sunday supper guests of his parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hill Hamilton, are spending some time at her father's home here while her father, Mr. Delbert Murdock is confined to hospital.

The community here was surprised to hear of the death of Mr. Harry Murdock, Cornwall on Saturday. Sympathy is extended to his wife the former Lilah Lennox of Pleasant Valley.

Master Brian and Richard Penkena have spent the past week with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. David Gilmer.

Some from here attended the Auction Sale of Morris Gore, Rowena, on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Somerville visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gilmer on Sunday evening.

Offer Bilingual Seminar

The Government of Canada and the Carleton Board of Education are offering an opportunity to students within 150 miles of Ottawa to attend an eight-day bilingual seminar this summer. The program is offered to students age 15 to 17 in grade 10. It was previously offered to students who lived outside 150 miles radius of Ottawa but now the barrier has been lifted.

The cost per student is $16. This fee covers the overall cost of accommodation, meals, and the full program of events.

The objective of the program, briefly, is to bring students across Canada to Ottawa for a comprehensive and intensive one-week educational seminar.

The program offered at each seminar provides an opportunity for the student to enjoy the features of the Capital region that have been established for a benefit of all Canadians.

Successful candidates are expected to provide their own transportation to Sir Robert Borden High School on the Greenbank Road in Ottawa, the headquarters, for EDUCANADA.

If an interview or further information is required please contact Marian Wylie either by telephone EDUCANADA 829-1788 or write directly to Mr. Bud Smith, C/O EDUCANADA.

Finally, another woman has entered my life, out of the shadows before I was born. Back in June, when I had a birthday, I challenged readers to guess my age. Some charming people suggested 48, 49. One miserable old editor, Jim Nesbitt of Brooks, Alta., had the indecency to suggest 54.

But Mable McRoberts of New Liskeard, Ont., was dead on. She named my parents, my older brother and sister, the street on which we lived, and described the house we lived in. She knew the exact year in which I was born. She had been a high-school girl boarding in town. The people with whom she was boarding came down with the terrible flu of that era. My mother took her in for a month.

OFF THE CUFF

By Charles Edwards

Anyone who enjoys the outdoors will tell you that there's no more unique and pleasant experience than camping. And they'll also tell you that there's no more unique and unpleasant experience than camping in the rain. We ended up indulging in the latter this past weekend, not necessarily by choice. The sky looked clear enough when we left home, but the clouds must have sneaked in under cover of darkness.

We woke to the sound of what writers refer to as Mother Nature's tears gently cascading through the trees. Actually it sounded as if Mother Nature was throwing out the wash water, and all of it on our campsite. It was still raining when daylight appeared and the fact that our pillows were touching the wall of the tent, and therefore was soaked, was no inducement to linger in bed.

A look outside at the picnic table and fireplace was enough to convince us that breakfast might taste better in one of the restaurants down the road. Obviously we weren't alone in that belief because they were all packed to the doors. The thought crossed our mind that it might be to the restaurant owners advantage in the slow times to see the clouds to induce rain every Friday night.

Breakfast completed, we went back to the campsite to see that the tent hadn't been washed into the lake. The rain continued to fall. The only ones who didn't seem to mind the rain were the kids. They had raincoats on and either romped through the park, or sailed boats in the puddles, while their parents huddled inside tents or trailers. A heated discussion had begun in the next tent regarding the merits of camping in less than perfect weather. Nothing puts a strain on family unity like sitting around in a soggy nine by twelve tent on a damp sleeping bag with little to do but read a two year old movie magazine.

However, there were others in worse shape. They were the ones who had to pull down tents and pack them in the car and head on toward their next destination. We don't really envy anyone crawling into a damp sleeping bag after a hard day on the road.

Just when we were starting to think of making an honourable retreat to home and hearth, the rain tapered off to become showers and the sun broke through the clouds. Within half an hour, the sky was clear and a strong wind had come up to dry out clothes, bed and dispositions. Everything begins to look better in bright sunlight. The kids all left for the beach, the people in the next tent stopped fighting and we discovered a new magazine in the back of the car. As we said, there's nothing quite as pleasant as camping.

Fresh Sunblushed Peaches Make Summery Cream Pie

If you had been a hostess in Queen Victoria's time, you might have ended a high fashion dinner in great style by serving each guest a single fresh peach in a nest of snowy white wool. The peach would have cost $5.00, an exotic rarity. Today fresh, sunblushed peaches are for everybody. They're in good supply at market, and they taste particularly fine in a home-made Peach Cream Pie. It's a luscious, light as air affair, fresh and fragrant with the summer's delicious golden gems from Peachland U.S.A. This pie is easy to make ahead and chill in the refrigerator 'til serving time.

Peach Cream Pie

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 cup diced peeled peaches | 3/4 teaspoon vanilla |
| 2/3 cup sugar, divided | 1/4 teaspoon almond extract |
| 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice | 2 egg whites |
| 1 envelope unflavored gelatine | 1 cup heavy cream, whipped |
| 1/8 teaspoon salt | 1 baked 9-inch pastry shell |
| 1/2 cup milk | Additional peaches for garnish |

Sprinkle diced peaches with 2 tablespoons sugar and lemon juice; set aside. Reserve 4 tablespoons sugar. Mix remaining sugar, gelatine and salt in small saucepan. Stir in milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add vanilla and almond extract. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Add reserved 4 tablespoons sugar gradually, continuing to beat until stiff. Drain peaches and add to gelatine mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites, then whipped cream; turn into baked pastry shell. Chill until set, several hours. Garnish with additional peaches, peeled and sliced, just before serving. Makes: 6 to 8 servings.

Now Is The Time

The hardest part of getting ready for the new fishing season is . . . getting ready! If you're like most of us, the fishing rods are still stacked in the corner where they were left last fall, and the tackle box is still in the same unorganized condition it was after last year's final fishing trip. If this is your situation, here are a few "get ready"

Mr. Arnold Beckstead of Prescott and Miss Alice Davidson of Cardinal, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Beckstead of Brockville, and Mr. Orval Cowan of Pleasant Valley were visitors this week with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Beckstead and family.

Mrs. and Mr. Walter Johnston of Dixon's Corners spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Aggie Casselman and Mahlon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Belanger of Brinston spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Beckstead and Larry.

This weeks visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hanson were--Johnny, Tommy, Donna Hanson of Williamsburg, Kimberly Shaver of Dunbar, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wells and Robert of Mariatown, Mr. Lionel Carriere, and Mr. and Mrs. Walford Reeve of Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patterson and daughter of South Mountain and Mr. and Mrs. Rickey Shaver of Dunbar.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Morris and son of Decantor, Indiana, U. S. A. had supper recently with Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hodgson and family.

Mrs. Lloyd Beckstead and Larry had dinner Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Bolten of Van Camp.

Mrs. M. Trottier of Sunnydale, California is spending sometime with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnston and family after undergoing surgery on her back at Civic Hospital, Ottawa.

Visitors this week with Mrs. Alton Riddell were- Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Coughler of Prescott, Miss Victor Riddell and Mrs. Eric Riddell of Dundela, Miss Joan B. Adams Mrs. Cecil Hanson and Kimberley.

Master Steven Coughler of Inkerman is spending a few days with Rony Hodgson.

tips from Red Fisher, the fishing expert at Mercury outboards, who, by the way, is probably in the same boat as you-unprepared.

Lures are the first order of cleanup business. Metal and plastic lures should be washed in a warm-not hot-soapy solution to remove grime and grease which dulls the finish, making them unattractive to fish.

Flies and feathered jigs should be checked for loose thread, rusted hook eyes, bits of leader, and general condition of the body materials.

Wipe rods clean with a mild soap solution, check ferrels and guides for frayed or broken threads, and test the reel.

Strategy Against Parents

"Children love luxury. They have bad manners, contempt for authority, they show disrespect for their elders and love chatter in place of exercise. Children are now tyrants."

Socrates.

It is possible that, after thousands of years of tyranny, the parent/child relationship will be changed.

The recent leakage of secret Pentagon papers will pale to insignificance beside the publication of "Strategy Against Parents" the diary of a ten year old, turned over to us by a pint sized informer.

It represents the first real breakthrough we've had since Socrates complained about his lippy lazabouts.

We'll be able to apply counter measures, now that we recognize their manoeuvres. Read what the fiendish little demons are up to, and you'll agree that we should never underestimate their cunning.

SATURDAY: Mother doing weekend crossword. She's been doing it for three hours because she's a dum-dum-dum. Made her stop crows word by saying I can count to 100,000. She said very good dear so I showed her I could count. She stopped crossword at 8, 243. When she starts crossword I'll count again. Maybe I'll sniff at nines.

MONDAY: Ran across the grass to say hello to my father when he came home from work. Leapt at him from five yards and swung around on his neck. Very good trick. He has had heddick all night and sore neck too. Heard him say to Mother his neck mussels were simply shredded and that the kid is stronger than he thinks. Ha ha.

TUESDAY: Sucked my top teeth all dinner. Father said stop disgusting noise and Mother said Please dear let's not have tenshun at mealtimes. Kept sucking teeth. Big vein stood out on his forehead and sort of pumped away. He did not take dessert. I ate his too.

WEDNESDAY: Father doing accounts. Adds same numbers on cheque book again and again and bites his pen. Says it is my bedtime. I tell him it's still an hour to go till bedtime and I'm right he's not. Showd him my picture I painted. It was still wet. He washed his hands and got new envelopes instead of smeary paint ones. Stamps got wet, too. I stuck them all together when he went for envelopes. He went and got whisky and Mother said that didn't solve anything. Asked him if whisky was alkaohawl and he said yes, and I said did he know you could keep things forever and ever in alkohawl and he said Mmhm. So I got Gary my grasshopper and put him in whisky and told Dad he could keep Gary forever and ever. I think

I have won. He is just looking at the clock till it is bedtime.

Farm Vacations Better Income

Farmers eager to augment their income might take a cue from the result to a recent story produced by the Ontario Department of Tourism and Information. A press release pertaining to farm vacations, it triggered a response of more than 600 written enquires, from places as distant as Mexico and Puerto Rico.

The article with photo was made available to 1,400 Canadian and U. S. house magazines, 500 Canadian weekly newspapers and to the 600-member Society of American Travel Writers, representing North America's big circulation newspapers, international magazines and auto clubs.

The majority of the letters and postcards, 289, came from California, where the story appeared in The Los Angeles Times. Ontario was second with 236 requests originating within this province.

The remaining 99 of the total 624 respondents were from Quebec, Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Washington, and as mentioned above, Mexico and Puerto Rico. In all, 15 jurisdictions were represented.

As described in the story, a farm vacation is simply a holiday on a real, working farm for paying guests. There are about 60 such host farms currently listed in Ontario.

The mail response was prompted by a paragraph in the release suggesting interested parties write for a free booklet Ontario Farm Vacations, containing listings, rates and additional information.

No coupons were used and all were direct, personally written communications with their own postage.

FRIDAY: Shopping day. Drove Mother wack-woo. Played Blink and Sniffle, Belch, and Whine all day. You just blink your eyes as if you can't help it, and she says what's wrong with you, stop blinking, then you blink AND sniffle and whenever you pass someone you belch real loud. Then when she's thinking what to get or how much is this soap or that soap you start to whine, like you want Popocuffs for breakfast not a stinking egg. Watch her and her nerves start to twitch. Then you pull a bottom can from a shelf, and they all fall down tam-tam-tam-kleeter-sput-aagh. And she can't kill you because the manager is smiling and being nice. And you've won.

WATCH IT, children. Your rule is ending.

Search and Rescue Team Here During Fly-in

A Canadian Armed Forces Search and Rescue team will visit Iroquois, Ontario to participate in the August 22nd Fly-In.

The team will include the Search and Rescue Buffalo, the Canadian designed and built twin engine transport from the Canadian Forces Base, Trenton and the Voyageur twin-turbine powered helicopter from the Canadian Forces Base, Ottawa.

Both aircraft will arrive at the Iroquois Flying Club on Sunday morning and will be equipped to provide information on "Defensive Flying" a most popular program with Flying Clubs across Canada. The aircraft will be open for inspection throughout the day. BUFFALO Powered by two GE turbine engines cruises at 180 knots at 31,000 feet. The Buffalo which has a range of 2000 miles carries a crew of four plus a Search and Rescue para equipped team.

VOYAGEUR Powered by two GE turbine engines cruises at 100 knots at 14,000 feet. The Voyageur which has a range of 200 miles carries a crew of four plus 15 stretcher patients and rescue crew.

In 1970 Armed forces search and rescue unites across Canada had one of their busiest years since their formation in 1947.

The rise in search and rescue activity is due partially to the steady increase in aircraft and pleasure boat ownership by Canadians. This year more than 10,000 private aircraft and 750,000 private boats are registered in Canada.

While many search and rescue incidents were of a routine nature, the 23 military aircraft on primary rescue duties have also been involved in major aircraft searches and sea rescues.

In all there were 54 air searches for missing aircraft in 1970. Of the 54 missing aircraft only four were not located. Two of these flights originated in Canada and other two were outside Canada but search and rescue aircraft did participate in the search for them. Search and rescue aircraft found 23 of the missing aircraft while civilian found another 12. Hunters, and police located another nine and in six instances pilots or passengers either flew or walked out. There were 399 people saved by search and rescue facilities, helped by civilian aircraft.

There has been a marked increase in the number of missing aircraft which carries electronic locator devices (ELD) ten in 1970 as compared to three in 1969. A total of four aircraft were located electronically in 1970. Only one was found in 1969.

The Canadian search and rescue organization's publicity regarding the importance of filing and closing flight plans and the value of electronic locator devices has been paying off. Civilian volunteer organizations, such as the Lakehead SAR Unit, also do very effective work in policing local flying clubs and stressing flight safety. There were no searches in the perennially active Lakehead area during 1970.

Many search and rescue incidents occur at sea. Last year, for example, there were almost as many air searches for marine craft (53) as there were for aircraft (54).

Last June a fishing vessel, with a crew of four sank approximately 200 miles off the south coast of Nova Scotia. The crew took to a small boat and later were sighted by a search and rescue Albatross aircraft. The SAR Crew alerted the US Coast Guard and a C130 Hercules was quickly dispatched to the scene. The Coast Guard dropped two Para rescue personnel to determine the condition of the survivors.

Two Sea King Helicopters were dispatched from CFB Shearwater. The fishing crew and the two para rescue personnel were picked up and landed at CFB Shearwater. Co-operation in this case came not only from Canada and the United States but from the United Kingdom as well. RMS Queen Elizabeth II, responding to an "all ships" broadcast, stood by at the scene until the rescue had been completed.

Mercy flights or airlifts for emergency medical cases continued at about the same frequency as in previous years, 180 mercy flights were flown in 1970 as compared to 157 during 1969. The greatest number were in the outport regions of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts where small settlements are accessible only by sea or air.

PAY-OFF BY WORKING

Hitch-hiking their way across the country is one approach by young people to living in the outdoors that is increasing in popularity. This fact is obvious when travelling a Trans-Canada route such as Highway 17 past Wawa where we have been staying for a few days with the Ontario Safety League's Canoe/Camping Demonstration Unit.

I went over to a picnic site where the Michipicoten River Flows under the highway a couple of miles east of Wawa to attend the unveiling of a historic marker commemorating the importance of this river to the early fur trade, and I ran right into history in the making. Beside the picnic site was a drop-in centre for hitch-hiking outdoorsmen operated by the National Museum of Canada with the assistance of the Armed Forces who supply tents and equipment and vehicles. But this drop-in camp has a new twist to it. Hitch-hikers do not pay for accommodation and meals with Canadian currency, they work for it, participating in a scientific research program on the ecology of the surrounding countryside.

This pilot project, made possible by a Canada Man Power grant and under the supervision of Professor Ken Dawson, well-known educator and archaeologist, is helping to make the outdoors safer and more interesting for our young outdoorsmen of the highways.
