GLENGARRY IN BRIEF

Mother Daughter walk Sunday

Glengarry families are lacing runners and sweet-talking sponsors for this Sunday's (Sept. 24) Mother Daughter Walk for Heart and Stroke – stepping off at 1:30 p.m. from Lamoureux Park in Cornwall. Rain or shine.

"Our funding target's $18,000," says France Sauve, of Walk-sponsors Heart Healthy Rhythm Coalition.

The Coalition, of local municipalities and health agencies, is looking for a really big turn-out from Glengarry. There's attendance pizes, entertainment and a blood pressure clinic.

Liberals on line

Information about Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria, the Liberal Party and the riding's Young Liberals will be more accessible.

Two internet sites: www.donboudrialiberal.com or www.gprliberal.com, allows for more access.

Boudria to present award

Glengarry-Prescott-Russell MP Don Boudria will be in attendance at the Maxville and District Chamber of Commerce annual meeting next Tuesday.

The meeting will be at the Chieftain Restaurant, 4 Main St., S., Maxville. Cocktails will begin at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. and formal business at 8:30 p.m.

Boudria will be accepting a cheque on behalf of Culinary Team Canada. The money was raised by the chamber's Food Fair Lottery last year and will be used to support chefs and cooks representing Canada in international cooking competitions.

Boudria will also present the chamber's annual Community Award to an area resident in recognition of service to the community over many years.

Gordon Winter will prepare and present a testimonial speech.

Another case of scabies

Public access to Alexandria's Community Nursing Home was denied over the weekend as staff dealt with scabies again.

Nursing Home administrator Terry Dubé explained the measure was precautionary as a proactive reaction to the problem.

As of Monday morning, the doors were reopened to the public.

There hasn't been any reccurance for the home's neighbour, Residence Maria Goretti Inc., where access was denied to public earlier in August.

Raft of candidates aim for re-election

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

The candidacy list for this November's municipal elections has lengthened dramatically, as six incumbents and one former reeve have plunked down their $100 and registered during the last two weeks.

Sangster first to declare

Long-serving reeve of Lancaster Township and now South Glengarry, Charles Sangster, is the first in the South incumbent to throw his hat in the ring.

"I want to work for the people, as long as they support me," he told The News. If not they can get somebody else."

Coming off a turbulent year of derision, mostly from a large block of South Lancaster residents who are opposed to the water-sewage project in that hamlet, Sangster has no regrets about the project.

"Let me assure you the people down there are getting the best break possible that we can get them with the funding that was put in place," Sangster said.

Although some water pipes along specific properties were not funded by the provincial government, overall, the residents are paying only 25 to 35 per cent of the total cost, he said.

"That's still pretty good."

Sangster is anxious to move ahead with more water and sewage developments.

"We have lots of areas that are being looked at and need assistance for sure.

Some of these areas are shoreline areas such as Westley's Point and Amanndale Bay. He said these could be tied with Creg Quay's private system.

These new projects will be possible under new funding programs from the provincial government.

Sangster cautions that residents who live alongside developments must be prepared to accept the consequences.

"If you want progress you are going to be inconvenienced in the short term."

He is also behind the ambitious Korsch development project beside South Lancaster which is nearing the approval stage.

But as for projects that depend solely on the township's own coffers for financing, Sangster said, "It depends on what the people want."

While happy the township was able to reduce property taxes since 1997, he said more reductions are needed, especially for the business community.

In that regard, he said the township could do so much as most of the taxes collected go to the SDG government or for education purposes.

"We have to strike a balance there. Whatever works for the municipality.

One point that irks Sangster and that he doesn't have much control over is accountability for social programs that are being paid for through township taxes but are administered by the City of Cornwall.

Although most SDG politicians are unwilling to make restructuring changes, Sangster is at least willing to study the issue first and then make an informed decision.

Park rebirth begins

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

The first stage for the redevelopment of Alexandria Island Park was given its OK by North Glengarry Council on Monday, although discussion leading up to the vote became something of a personal battle.

The sparring took place between park project advocate Councillor-at-large Gilles Paradis and Kenyon ward Councillor Bill Franklin, who had denounced Paradis' method of acquiring public input.

Paradis was riled by Franklin's assertation the "park was being rushed through."

"I'll compare my (park) process with your (Glengarry) Trails," Paradis countered.

In particular, Franklin wanted to know why the township should hire a contractor to quickly demolish the four buildings the township had purchased in August. The properties are being earmarked for green space, fronting Main Street and the mill pond and create an attractive link between downtown and the Island Park.

Paradis explained it would be better to get rid of the buildings as they would pose a liability and unwanted expense during the winter.

Franklin's case for prudence also extended to the park itself. He questioned why the township should buy $255,000 worth of children's playground equipment "when we don't even have the money."

Paradis didn't see what difference it would be. "And the equipment will be there for 20 winters. It's a start."

Mayor Grant Crack told Franklin the township had received a "down payment" from Hydro One for the PUC's electrical portion.

Alexandria lawyer Jean-Marc Lefebvre said Glenex's $31,163 demolition bid was high. He had a building torn down for $1,000.

However, chief building official Ken Robbers said the contractor must have proof of liability insurance and workers' compensation.

Engineer Gaetan Lascelle will draw up layouts for $2,000. ABC Recreation Ltd. got the contracts for children's equipment for four years and older and 12 and under and site layout and preparation work, worth $112,000. Semexco got the water play equipment for $43,000. Eddy Oetelaar Const. will build a gazebo for $15,000.

Better water projects sought

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

When it comes to safe drinking water, North Glengarry Council recognized the need to move swiftly and appointed an engineering firm to draw up applications for new provincial government funding.

MS Thompson and Assoc. environmental engineer Bill Knight urged Council to send applications for the Ontario Small Town and Rural Development Infrastructure Program.

The new program is set up to assist municipalities pursue projects that rectify inadequate water supply and quality.

Council decided to prioritize three targets of action.

The highest priority for a public health and safety project is given to the Apple Hill water supply project, which was submitted two years ago for funding, but was denied because the previous program had exhausted its funds.

The money will be used to build a communal water system and partial sewage upgrade.

Applications must also be accompanied by a business plan, which Knight said MS Thompson can complete using the Environmental Assessment study done for the Apple Hill project.

Council also prioritized the Maxville water supply project, which needs an environmental assessment report before it can be considered for construction.

Council also authorized MS Thompson to begin the assessment.

Third on the list is funding for an engineer's report on the Alexandria and Glen Robertson waterworks systems. The reports are needed to ensure the systems are in compliance with the province's new Drinking Water Protection Regulations.

The $240 million program offers two other options for municipalities to render applications other than water infrastructure.

The township will spend $6,000 to hire MS Thompson for the reports.

Loyalist certificates awarded

News Correspondent

Recognition of the contributions made to Canada by the United Empire Loyalists was just one thing on the menu last Saturday night when the St. Lawrence Branch of the United Loyalists' Association of Canada held its 23rd annual charter night banquet at St. Mary's Centre in Williamstown.

President Sandra Shouldice welcomed the 100 members and guests in attendance and said that despite their promotional activities throughout the year, the United Empire Loyalist Association is accused of being the best kept secret.

Shouldice said that UELs are united in their respect for history.

"Where else can you talk genealogy and their eyes don't roll up into their heads," she asked of the group which Genealogist Lynne Cook frequently referred to as cousins.

The United Empire Loyalist designation, UE, following a person's name, means that he has been able to document

Raft of candidates seek re-election

Frank Prevost likes senior posting

Perhaps the youngest Warden of the United Counties of SDG ever, Frank Prevost wants to keep his hand at the senior level of municipal government as deputy-reeve.

"You could do more for your ratepayers at that higher level," said Prevost, who plans to register for deputy-reeve on Tuesday or today.

"Concerns regarding that would be County Roads 2 and 17 – I believe if the input isn't there from the municipalities then those items or issues don't get looked at."

County Road 2 is still in midst of a major reconstruction. Next on the list is 17, which connects Lancaster to Williamstown and links to County Road 27 (Summerstown Road).

While he admits the implementation of the water-sewage project in South Lancaster has been contentious, he believes the Council has chosen the right path.

"Everything went online. The public was well inputted from day one and were at our Council meetings on a regular basis and they have the opportunity of asking questions at Council meeting," he said.

Prevost admitted the project has hit snags, especially residents' billing concerns and an assortment of construction-related issues.

"As for changes, there's always little things that can be done differently, but we don't learn those things until we start the project."

Prevost hasn't identified any issues on the horizon which Council hasn't dealt with before.

He said provincial government service downloading on the municipalities was handled well by South Glengarry. On top of that, Council was able to reduce property taxes overall.

Gary Shepherd motors on

Current Alexandria ward Councillor Gary Shepherd, 56, is the first of North Glengarry's councillors to seek re-election for his own post.

There is much on Shepherd's legislative plate as the current Council winds down its term.

Outstanding developments to be resolved are the proposed town bypass, the redevelopment of Alexandria Island Park, the rejuvenation of the town's downtown core and the town's water supply which is not enough to lift a development freeze.

Shepherd is a supporter of these developments, but closest to his heart is the Island Park.

"I've been wanting improvements to the park for eight years. Now we can use the funds there so its going to be done," he said.

He said the price tag – upwards of $2 million – is justified because it will be an asset for all North Glengarry and beyond.

"I've seen the new equipment. It's something to be seen. It's top quality stuff."

The process of redeveloping the park has been roundly criticized by mayor hopeful Bill Franklin, but Shepherd shrugs that off.

"He missed one key meeting. If he came out of that meeting he would have a little more of an understanding."

Shepherd is convinced the park work should go ahead now and not wait for a new council.

"They may not have the same priorities. "We're making a good start at it."

However, the other issues should be strongly considered by the next council.

Of the work done during his past two and a half years, Shepherd is most pleased with how Council amalgamated the four old municipalities into one township.

He said this was recognized by provincial officials who invited the Council to make a presentation to municipalities which hadn't amalgamated.

The other major decision he stands behind is the sale of the electrical infrastructure of the Public Utilities Commission.

And as roads department committee chair, he believes residents are happy with the condition of their roads.

Shepherd, who was acclaimed in 1997, wouldn't mind someone to run against him, saying its good for the community to get politically involved.

Claude Massie seeks another term

Incumbent Lochiel ward Councillor Claude Massie, 57, is hoping that voters will recognize the effort he put into the last two and a half years as their representative.

"I did my best while I was here," Massie said.

Massie, who regularly makes it a practice to question the clerk and other councillors about the township's financial affairs, wants to continue that practice.

"I want to make sure their money is well spent, and make sure people are satisfied."

Acting as a go-between for residents and the municipal government is another privilege that Massie enjoys as councillor.

"I went out to help people the best I could," said the former dairy farmer who now raises beef and grows corn and soybeans on his 125-acre tiled land near Glen Robertson.

Representing agricultural concerns is a prime motive for staying on. He is not the only candidate from Lochiel with that purpose.

Former Lochiel Township Reeve Ron MacDonell also has a farming background, but as Massie pointed out, "he's getting rid of his cows and selling his farm."

George Currier wants back on

Another familiar name to North Glengarrians who wants back on is former Maxville Reeve George Currier.

"I've had a number of people come up to me to ask if I would run again," Currier told The News on Monday.

Although he has spent 14 years as reeve, Currier won't be campaigning for the mayoralty seat, which he tried to win in 1997 but came last in a four-person field.

"My biggest reason is to serve the people in this village (of Maxville)," Currier said of his registration for Maxville ward.

He said other seats which are elected by the entire township were not as appealing, as issues dealing primarily with Maxville are dearer to his heart.

Currier declined to elaborate on three specific issues at this time, preferring to wait until the campaign begins in mid-October.

Of the three issues, two are township funding for the Glengarry Highland Games and water quality and quantity in the village. Both these issues are intertwined with the funding allocations derived from the sale of the North Glengarry Public Utilities Commission's electrical component to Hydro One.

"I'm a big supporter of the Highland Games. The township should support the Games and show the lead."

Currier said he would speed up the process to get more and better drinking water.

'We haven't had enough meetings (to make a decision)."

The other non-related topic is to solidify a commitment that Maxville will always have one police officer dedicated to the village alone.

He said that's in jeopardy now because the Ontario Provincial Police detachment has been transferred to Alexandria, leaving Maxville with a community policing office.

Regardless of the issues, Currier said another factor for his candidacy is a willingness to serve his neighbours.

"I'm retired now. I don't run Kelly's Sports Bar anymore," he said.

Currier's only opponent so far is Brian Wensink, who is looking to fill the council shoes that will be left by his wife, and current Maxville Councillor Johanne Wensink.

There's not much too choose from. Brian Wensink also wants to see PUC money assist the Highland Games continue their $2.5 million expansion project and overcome Maxville's water woes.

New GDHS principal "supportive" of teachers

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

Considering his strong background in history it's not surprising GDHS's new principal is optimistic that students will be better off in the near future.

Jacques Lemire, 51, entered the second week of the 2000-01 school year at his new posting facing the cancellation of varsity sports.

While lamenting the ill effect it will have on many students, Lemire is quick to say that his charges, the teachers, will not be forgotten.

"We're going to be supportive of the teachers," the Cornwall resident said.

Lemire sympathizes with the extra workload placed on teachers following the implementation of Bill 74, which increased classroom hours to 6.5 from six.

On top of the increase, teachers are required to participate in hallway supervision, the Teachers Advisory Program and introduce a new curriculum for Grade 10 students.

"To teach four and four (classes over two semesters) is physically very difficult and not get burnt out," said Lemire, his facing dropping into a serious frown from his normal easy smile.

He said he is confident the GDHS staff will come through, judging from the response he got when he was awarded the job.

"Everyone was congratulating me; they said Glengarry District was a great school with lots of tradition."

While not specifically identifying it, monitoring teachers' ability to cope looks to be an important task for Lemire.

"We're not going to add on things when someone is on-call. We're not going to overburden them," he said about morale concerns expressed by teachers.

Observation and visibility are important to him.

"I'm going to be dropping in on classes. Not all work can be done in the office," he said, explaining that an open door policy for teachers and students is something he believes in.

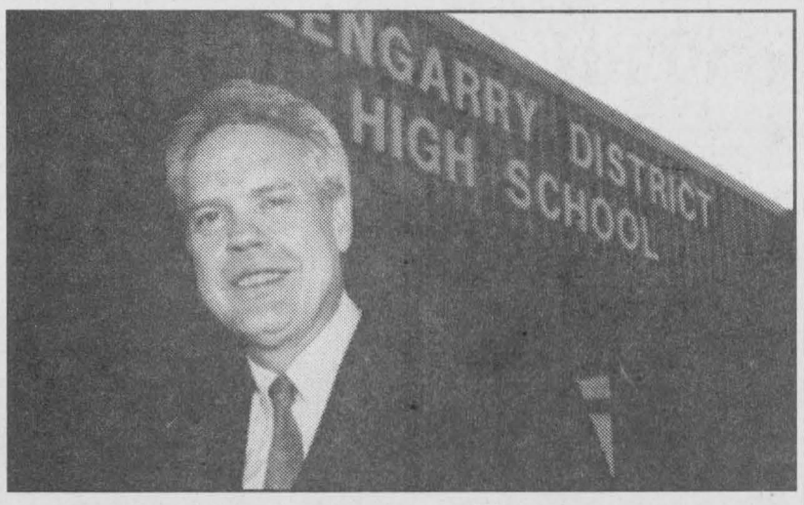
For Lemire, not only does he feel this is a professional necessity for the teaching environment, but a personal pursuit as well.

"When I go to classrooms, I want to see teaching taking place," he said as though he were a fan watching his favourite sport.

"The instruction might be different, but most teachers develop their little tricks.

"I've told the teachers to expect me to drop in and not to panic."

Rest assured, however, Lemire doesn't want teachers to get the wrong impression.



New Glengarry District High School principal Jacques Lemire is a 29-year education veteran.

"It's going to be management by walk-about," he said, breaking into a smile again when told that former principal John Danaher could often be found walking in the halls more often than in the office.

"The supervision of every teacher is for growth."

Lemire was glad to know that his predecessor, much esteemed by the community, favours this style also.

The underlying factor behind Lemire's close attention to teachers' well-being is the youth. Unhappy overworked teachers could result in under-achieving students.

"The students deserve the best we can offer," he said, while pointing out the changes wrought by Premier Mike Harris's government "have come too quick."

But he makes a point of saying that it is likely the turmoil is coming near the end.

He said actions taken during the last few years from the benefits of larger school boards, more influential school councils and balanced provincial budgets will be felt soon.

After about 20 years teaching, Lemire entered the administration field. His first posting was as vice-principal at Cornwall Collegiate and then vice at St. Lawrence and l'Heritage. He jumped to principal and left Cornwall for the first time for North Grenville High School in Kemptville 1998-99. He was then transferred to Cornwall Collegiate to be principal there last year.

Looking from an historical perspective, the father of three daughters, ages 21, 23 and 26 and husband to Lillian, a Grade 1 teacher, said, "Change is good."

Friends of Glengarry Trails receive Millennium certificate

Last Friday, Alexandria's Georgian House Restaurant hosted a fund-raising dinner on behalf of the Four Seasons Trail Project of the Friends of Glengarry Trails Association. Federal Cabinet Minister and local MP Don Boudria presented to the Friends of Glengarry Trails the official certificate of the Millennium Partnership Program, which provides one-third of the total project budget.

The Friends of Glengarry Trails Association announced that the Canada Environmental Assessment has been completed and approved.

The Environmental Screening Report states that "the project is not likely to cause significant adverse environmental effects, taking into account the appropriate mitigation measures."

The FGTA has begun work on the trail system taking into account these measures.

FGTA announced its sponsorship recognition program that will recognize and honour contributions that individuals or companies make to the project as monetary donations or in kind, including plaques on structures, internet presence and media acknowledgment. To date the Four Seasons Trails Project is sponsored by the Canada Millennium Partnership Program, North Glengarry Township, the Raisin Region Conservation Authority, Glengarry District High School, the Glengarry Snowmobile Club, EdInfo, Glen-Net, Domtar, members of the Friends of Glengarry Trails, local business and private individuals.

Eighty participants viewed the premiere of a video showing the beauty of the trail, its value for outdoor education and the work in progress to create the trails.

Artist Deborah Kerr donated an original oil painting of the Garry Fen viewed from the trail boardwalk as a door prize.

The Alzheimer Society of Cornwall & District is "perking up" for another exciting Coffee Break Fundraiser, coming up Sept. 21 in locations throughout the Seaway Valley.

Coffee lovers are encouraged to pop in to one of the participating locations to "grabba java" tossing a few coins into the collection box at the same time.

"Every penny counts," explained Craig Smith, education coordinator for the society.

"Last year, we raised over $5,000 with this project, and we are confident that we will go well over the $7,000 mark this year, having picked up some great new partners, such as all 16 MacEwen Petroleum locations in the five counties, Treats Coffee in the Cornwall Square, and Glen Services."

Want to get involved? Just watch for posters advertising the over 80 participating businesses and offices, or pop into any of the MacEwens locations in the Alexandria area, or Super Mario Burger and Lancaster Pharmacy in Lancaster.

Meeting hopes to improve personnel recruitment

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

Business leaders in the provincial riding of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell will tackle a problem that has chronically plagued economic development.

A dinner conference is being scheduled for Sept. 28 that will address recruitment of qualified personnel.

Those attending hope to build partnerships between sectors to resolve this issue.

This problem has been targetted after a series of meetings held by the Advisory Committee for the Future of the Economic Development of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell, said committee president Denis Perrault, in a press release.

"Our businesses have problems recruiting qualified personnel," Perrault said. "Our businesses have difficulty getting appropriate training to upgrade employees' technical skills."

The advisory committee was set up to identify "qualms" faced by economic sectors in the riding. The committee is composed of people representing education, health, agriculture, small and medium-sized businesses and industry.

On hand as guest speaker will be accomplished high-tech executive Denzil J. Doyle.

Doyle founded the Canadian subsidiary of Digital Equipment Corporation, which eventually grossed more than $160 million in sales.

Following that 18-year tenure, he forged his own company to assist the growth of Canada's high-tech industry.

his descent from one of the original settlers true to the British Crown – who fled to Canada following the American Revolution. Ten people, aged nine to 90, received certificates of designation on Saturday night.

Of special interest was the certificate presented to almost 91-year-old Yvonne Fleming. For Mrs. Fleming, it was her seventh certificate, this time for her descent from Loyalist Martin Alguire.

"Only three more to go," said the chirpy senior. "I'm running out of ancestors."

Mrs. Fleming was also presented with a special Award of Distinction for her 70 plus years of genealogy.

David Anderson of Williamstown was guest speaker at the event. Anderson said that the Loyalist cause must never be seen as a losing one, despite what soft historians of the day may say.

"If we pursue the meaning of it (UEL), we become better people," said Anderson, who stressed the influence of the Loyalists in the building of the Canadian Nation.

Anderson also paid tribute to William Pitt the younger, whose decision to compensate the Loyalists for their losses, gave them a good start in their new land.

"There should be a statue to Pitt," he said.

The St. Lawrence Branch of the United Empire Loyalist Association meets again in Williamstown on Oct. 15 to view the Glengarry Land Records which are now housed in the Sir John Johnston Manor House.

Glengarrians wishing to learn more about the UEL organization are invited to visit the branch's website at www.recorder.ca/uelstlawrence-br/.

Labour laws need to catch up with reality

The question that should be asked of the Ontario government by any resident who cares about fair treatment for workers is, "Which are more important – the profits of large multi-national corporations or the well-being of its employees?"

Judging by the circumstances now looming for employees of Hush Puppies' Alexandria Footwear plant, the answer, sadly, is, "the profits of large multinational corporations."

All of the Alexandria Footwear unionized employees and some of the administration staff will lose their jobs at the plant within about one month. The fact they are losing their jobs is not so much the issue.

Corporations, always mindful of the return to the shareholders, can further deepen their pockets by cutting production costs now afforded to them by emerging economic regions.

In this world market where labour is routinely transferred overseas, factories close and reopen all the time. It's a fact of life that took hold in the late 1980s and has continued uncheckered in the 1990s and now the new Millennium.

But the way employees are treated doesn't reflect this reality. Before the era of a global economy, the chances a profitable corporation would close a facility were comparatively little.

After all, where would the corporation relocate its lost production? The industrial capacity outside the established western economies was small then.

But now we hear so often about these factories springing up in Mexico, southeast Asia and, more and more so, in China, where Hush Puppies' prouction is being shifted. Can we blame the draw these countries have on the big corporations: labour costs the fraction there and are accompanied by substandard labour laws.

So now, corporations, always mindful of the return to the shareholders, can further deepen their pockets by cutting production costs now afforded them by emerging economic regions.

The provincial government should take a big slice of the responsibility for not adapting its labour legislation to deal with big, profitable companies.

One would think that eventually these workers will demand a bigger slice of the pie. When these will happen is anyone guess.

But that doesn't solve this latest chapter of the dilemma facing the 40-odd workers at Alexandria Footwear who are not getting severances. True, they were offered 16.67 per cent of a normal severance, but this wasn't good enough compensation when they saw, in their minds, work being contracted out that could have pushed the employment level over 50.

The provincial government should take a big slice of the responsibility for not adapting its labour legislation to deal with big, profitable companies.

The current Employment Standards Act of Ontario allows companies with less than 50 employees to be excluded from severance obligations. While this may be justifiable for a small business with limited resources, it surely is not for a big money-making corporation.

Like everything in life, in order to be fair, everything needs to be looked at on an individual basis. One rule shouldn't apply to all, not when the situation plainly differs so greatly.

People needed to muster their courage

FIRST PEERSON

GREG PEERENBOOM

Wanted: Hard working person, man or woman, willing to (graciously) stand up to criticism, sacrifice family and professional lives for sub-standard compensation and regular evening work. Should have interest in community issues and deal one-on-one with citizens which should result in rewards.

That's the job description for municipal council members. Any takers?

So far there's a handful, but only one new name as the guessing game season arrives – the deadline for the 2000 municipal elections is now less than one month away.

All those who wish to be a candidate must register at a municipal office by 5 p.m., Oct. 13 and pay $100. They have until 5 p.m., Oct. 16 to withdraw their name if they get cold feet over the weekend.

The list for Glengarry's two municipalities has doubled over the last two weeks.

Joining the race for North Glengarry are incumbents Gary Shepherd and Claude Massie, and ex-reeve George Currier. Already declared are mayoralty candidates Michel Depratto and current Kenyon ward Councillor Bill Franklin, deputy mayor hopeful William Hagen and Lochiel and Maxville ward councillor contestants Ron MacDonell and Brian Wensink, respectively.

Lagging behind is South Glengarry. Leading the way are current Reeve Charles Sangster, the only registered candidate as of Monday, although Deputy-reeve Frank Prevost plans to register for his position either Tuesday or Wednesday.

Councillor Janette Abbey said she is running but hasn't decided to stay put or challenge Sangster or Prevost.

Now we steer away from the facts to speculation. What about the others who have not declared their intentions? Again we know that from the North, Kent MacSweyn, Gilles Paradis and Johanne Wensink are not seeking re-election.

South Glengarry councillors Jim McDonell and Ian MacLeod are still uncommitted.

That leaves still the biggest question of all in North Glengarry.

"I'm going to make an announcement later this month," said Mayor Grant Crack.

Among the other two undecided, Crack's non-committal is the most compelling.

Until the summer of discontent in South Lancaster, Crack's tenure has been the more controversial of all of Glengarry's politicians.

Because of this, rifts have appeared in the majority support he received in 1997. This is why Crack is stalling.

While no one knew for sure which way the post-amalgamation vote would go in '97, it should be clear that some portions of North Glengarry are going to regard the election bid as anyone else, but Crack.

One area for sure is Lochiel, where many residents felt stabbed in the back by the resolution of the MacLennan Drain business and, earlier, the mass layoff of former Lochiel Township employees.

Another possible sore point is Maxville, where supporters of the Highland Games felt neglected after the Township did not categorically endorse the expansion project.

That leaves Alexandria and much of Kenyon, the richest voting blocks. Crack easily won both wards last time. It will not be so easy this time because standing in the way of these votes are two worthy candidates: Alexandria's Mike Depratto and Dunvegan's Bill Franklin.

Both are strategically placed to sponge off plenty of former Crack voters: Depratto will get a lot of the francophone, business and sporting fraternity votes; Franklin, much of the farming community in Kenyon and a large portion of disaffected Lochiel.

My belief is that Crack is waiting to see if a third candidate would come forward. This would spread out the votes, making it easier for Crack's core to out-distance his competitors.

With only two new names on the ballots so far – and even that's a bit of a stretch – it doesn't appear, yet, that anyone has found those rare qualities for elected office.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Take a closer look at Bill 103 before supporting it

To the editor,

I am just as concerned as Mr. Bill LaSalle (The Glengarry News, Sept. 6) in bringing the culprits involved in an alleged sex-ring in Cornwall to justice but I cannot possibly agree with the methods he wants to employ.

I am wondering whether he has ever read the text of Bill 103 which he is promoting. I would very much recommend that anybody who is asked to sign a petition to support Bill 103, first get a copy of Bill 103 and carefully read it. (It can be obtained on the internet.)

The Bill is called: "An Inquiry into the Police Investigations of Sexual Abuse Against Minors in the Cornwall Area Act, 2000".

The claims that Mr. LaSalle makes for this Bill are preposterous. The Bill proposes a Commission of Enquiry to discover whether there were attempts to subvert justice. It is not concerned with the prosecution of sexual-abusers but instead will help them stay free for a few more years.

To go back a short while, about four years ago, an investigation called Project Truth was commissioned by the government of Ontario. This investigation conducted by the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Ontario Provincial Police began to investigate sexual assault allegations that were made against certain people in Cornwall. This investigation has now been completed. On the basis of these investigations, criminal charges may be laid. This will be done by the end of October.

At the same time an investigation was conducted by the same branch of the OPP into an alleged conspiracy between the Diocese of Alexandria-Cornwall, the Cornwall police and the Crown-Attorney's office in Cornwall to suppress criminal charges against an area priest. The results of this investigation will be reviewed to see if there are sufficient reasons for criminal prosecution.

In other words, there has been a very thorough enquiry. Anyone who has a complaint had an opportunity (and still has) to lay it before the Criminal Investigation Branch. Charges will be laid where these are warranted. Where sufficient evidence of wrong-doing is shown to exist, our courts will punish the crime.

Enter Bill 103! If this Bill has the misfortune to pass into law, all criminal proceedings that will be before the court will be suspended. While a Commission of Enquiry exists, none of the accused can be prosecuted, either to clear his name or to be condemned. Knowing the speed with with commissions work, we could easily look at another four years of delay in bringing matters to a close. Justice delayed is justice denied and I hope that the sponsors of Bill 103 will have the good sense to wait with their enquiry until the court has had an opportunity to deal with the allegations.

Reading the letter of Mr. LaSalle in The Glengarry News I feel that he represents a group of people who are not very well balanced in their views. We don't want justice handed out by a lynch mob but by our justice system. I, and many others, believe that that is the only way to go. Let the police and the courts finish their job and then, if Mr. LaSalle is not satisfied, let him try and pass Bill 103. In the meantime, let us get on with the case.

One part of Bill 103 that was not mentioned in Mr. LaSalle's letter is sub-section 6 of paragraph 9. This deals with financial reimbursement of persons who financed private investigations into the complaints of sexual abuse.

Who these people are is not disclosed and I am sure people would like to know who the members of the committee are and what they have done in order to deserve tax money. The sponsor of the bill is MP Gary Guzzo (PC) of Ottawa and I can only wonder at his action in torpedoing the efforts of Project Truth initiated by his own government.

To conclude, Bill 103, rather than promoting justice, will delay it. It is limited to Cornwall and the County of Stormont; its very existence would imply contempt for the judicial proceedings which have already taken place.

South Lancaster water project critic should get on with life

To the editor,

I am a resident of South Lancaster, one of the few silent ones.

My husband and I have kept silent through the fight against the water, the fight to save the trees and now, the dispute over the ditches.

First I must say, I found the workers to have done their best to keep the residents of South Lancaster happy.

Don't' cut the trees. Well, where do you think the ditches can go?

They have to be put in so, I believe the workers worked with what they could in order to save your trees.

Therefore, they dug around (deep) and had to go away from your properties (out): the result, deep ditches, narrow roads.

Secondly, as far as I can see there is only one street quite narrow (Bethune). Since it is not a main street and, less than 10 houses on that stretch, why not make it a one way? I suppose that would be an inconvenience to someone.

Third, I find it unbelievable that anything that happens is automatically the workers' fault. I n regards to Victoria Stewart's newest mission when (Standard Freeholder, Sept. 8) one elderly lady had a septic pipe disconnected, which Stewart claims became disconnected by the vibrations of heavy machinery.

Now these construction men, who are busy as it is, were expected to jump down from their equipment and become plumbers.

Then Mrs. Stewart had the nerve to expect the repairs to be paid for by the taxpayers.

Well I do mind my tax dollar going to someone else's plumbing bills.

Should I have an outstanding plumbing bill one day is everybody in South Lancaster going to agree to pay for mine? Hey, I'm not rich either.

So Mrs. Stewart now would like to send the message that these workers treated this lady unfairly and is looking for other people to call in and complain.

Well Victoria Stewart, read this carefully, I see these men start work at 6 a.m. and I see the last one leave, never before 10 p.m.

I see these men doing their job every day under the scrutiny of a hamlet full of resentful and disrespectful harassers. I see these men go about their daily job never saying a word or complaining about the people of this hamlet and they sure do have a right to.

I do not wish for you, Victoria Stewart, to use the address, Citizens of South Lancaster, because I am not a part of your group nor, do I agree with your actions. South Lancaster is my home but I do not wish for anybody to associate me with your "team" of busybodies.

Enough has been said and complained about, let those good men finish their job and get yourself a hobby.

Sherry Davis,
South Lancaster

Take a drive and hang out with artists

ARTS SCENE

LORNA FOREMAN, 347-1338

Two columns ago I wrote about a new Studio Tour organized around the Dalkeith, Vankleek Hill over to Pointe Fortune area, the Harvest Tour.

This coming weekend, Sept. 23 and 24, there is also the 10th edition of the Apples & Art Studio & Heritage Tour. The fact that this is its tenth year is quite an accomplishment and only indicates just how popular these studio tours are.

Because I try to keep to Glengarry, I can't interview many of these artists. But I would like to mention some of the sites as well as some of the artists.

One of the group sites is Christ Church Anglican Church in Long Sault who is hosting Alan Bain and Joan Hopkins. The Lost Villages will be hosting Teen Dancause, Shawna Dunbar, Sharon Fraser and Alain Lauzon. Susan Jephcott (who I have interviewed) will be at the Cornwall Regional Art Gallery along with Helen White, Arlette Franciere, both of whom I have interviewed as well as Edwina Billyk.

Esther Bryan's "Invitation" quilt site is in Williamstown. This quilt will, when completed, hang at Hull's Museum of Man.

Therese Gaudet works out of her Apple Hill Studio and The Raisin River Heritage Centre hosts Margot Boucher, Gilles Givogue and Marie Therese Pelletier.

Why Studio Tours? They provide an opportunity to see artists working.

Most have work in progress even if they are not working out of their own studio spaces. It is fascinating to watch a painting come alive or a basket being created seemingly from nowhere. I try to create an understanding of what goes into artists work in my columns, but it will never come close to watching an artist or artisan work and be able to ask questions. Hopefully, by learning the processes, the thoughts that go into a work and how much joy the act of creating brings to the artist, a greater appreciation of handmade articles will be developed. Always that is my goal.

Of course, there is always the chance that once captivated, the viewer will attempt to try some of the many art forms and crafts for themselves.

Brochures for both the upcoming local Studio Tours are available throughout Glengarry and Cornwall. The times for both these tours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Harvest Tour is Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1.

Take some time to enjoy a drive around our beautiful area as well as meeting some very talented artists.

Olympic gold medal triathlete was here

MARTINTOWN

VIRGINIA WINN

528-4379

Our family had a special reason to be glued to the TV coverage of the Olympics from Sydney on Saturday night.

Simon Whitfield, the gold medal winner in the men's triathlon, is a family friend and has visited us at our home — not recently, mind you. Simon's mother, Linda, and I became friends in 1979 or 1980 when their family lived for a short time in Williamstown, and Linda, along with Kathi Legault Roth (then of Munro's Mills) and Betty Vaughan (who once lived in the Butzer's house in Martintown) formed the nucleus of a playgroup which eventually grew and met for several years at the Martintown Community Centre.

Simon began his schooling at Iona Academy while his sister Kate played with Ariana, Meghan Roth and Helen Vaughan.

After the Whitfields moved back to Kingston we kept in touch and they stayed with us at least once when Linda ran in the Raisin River Foot Race at the Williamstown Fair.

Linda has always been the kind of friend with whom it is easy to reconnect even after we haven't talked in ages.

We played telephone tag this summer, and I have a message on my machine which she recorded the day before she and Geoff left for Sydney.

In her usual modest manner, she gave no indication that Simon could be a medal contender, just that they were thrilled that he was to be in the Olympics.

Imagine our utter shock, joy and disbelief when he started to pull away from the pack and put on his incredible spurt to win the gold!

I last saw Simon a couple of summers ago when he was in Kingston between races and he regaled us with funny stories of the tricks he and his teammates use to avoid paying extra baggage charges for their bicycles on flights.

He is indeed a charming and entertaining young man, and an ambassador we can all be proud of.

Maybe Sport Canada will now find funding for triathletes in the light of Simon's success.

Fire prevention

The Martintown Volunteer Firefighters are a dedicated group of about 25 led by Acting Chief Brian Hope.

Van Rankin, still an active member of the fire department, has stepped aside as Chief in order to focus on his role of Fire Prevention Officer for Martintown.

Any questions or requests for information about fire prevention should be directed to him through the Township of South Glengarry Fire Services at 347-2444, or e-mail, sglen@glen-net.ca

Leading up to Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14, the Fire Department is encouraging all residents to develop a home escape plan to be ready for "The Great Escape" on Oct. 11 at 7 p.m.

An escape plan grid and entry forms for the National Fire Protection Association's "Great Escape" grand prize contest (a trip for four to Walt Disney World in Florida) will be distributed at Martintown Public School and is also available on the Council's website at: www.safecommunities.com.

Here is the first homework assignment, school or no school, to help you and your family develop a home escape plan: Gather your family together and draw a floor plan of your home using grid paper.

Mark all the windows and doors on the plan. Stay tuned for further instructions next week!

In the Saturday edition of the local daily two Cornwall firefighters who live in our area were pictured, namely Al Fraser of the North Branch Road and Bryan Ward of the King's Road.

Soccer success

This past weekend four Martintown girls played on Rudi s Magic team at Soccerfest in Glen Walter.

Rebecca Paquette, Megan Jarvo, Amanda St. Louis and Heather Robertson were part of the team which made it to the final and lost to the Rat s Nest Strikers on a shootout. Well done, ladies!

WI meeting

The Martintown Women's Institute is holding the first meeting of the fall this Thursday at 1:30 p.m. at Maxville Manor.

The roll call is "Share a memory" and the programme is in the hands of the Education and Health convener. It will be a good opportunity for the members who now live at the Manor to attend and be part of the meeting.

New members are always welcome to attend. For more information call Pat Yellenick at 528-4425.

Family moving

The Dawson family of Desjardins St. in Martintown are in the process of moving to Belleville.

Danielle is already attending her last year of high school there, and Scott is in Belleville most of the time.

They will be missed in the community.

Optimistic euchre

The results for the Martintown Optimist Euchre for Sept. 5 are as follows: Ladies, 1st Rita McCarthy, 2nd Rita Parette, 3rd Bertha Lalonde. Mens, 1st Armand Bissonnette, 2nd Gerald McGillis, 3rd Bill Johnston.

Winner of the door prize was the hard-working Onagh Ross.

Free ticket winner was Rita Parette and the 50/50 draw winners were John McMaster, Sandy Szirtees, Claire VanPutten, Gerald McGillis, Gloria Rolland and Rita McCrae.

Pies are round

Last call for pies, apple, blueberry, cherry or raisin!

The ladies of the Martintown St. Andrew's United Church will be in the kitchen on Saturday, September 23 filling your orders for unbaked pies to be picked up that day.

Call Wendy Poirier at 937-0670 to place your order today!

Friendship Sunday is Sept. 24, and the people of St. Andrew's United Church are inviting a friend or two to join them for coffee before attending the 11:00 a.m. service.

Summer flight

Back in August Jean and Rene Butler were treated to a flight to Hamilton with their son Philip at the controls.

Jean reported that they flew at an altitude of 2,500 feet, rising to 3,000 when there was more aircraft activity in the area making them realize the importance of air traffic controllers.

The sights from the air were remarkable — fields looking like patchwork quilts with baled hay marshmallows, cattle and cars like toys and swimming pools of many different colours and shapes.

Over Toronto they looked in on the Sky Dome empty of ball players, saw a tall ship in the harbour as well as several lakers at the docks.

They were amazed at the amount of wilderness bush and water between Ottawa and Hamilton, and most bodies of water of any size had a fair number of sail boats and small watercraft.

It is an experience they will always remember.

Wedding bells

Cathy and Doug Walsh, formerly of the King's Road west of Martintown, saw both their daughters married within three weeks this summer.

On July 29 Elizabeth Walsh wed Ian Runnalls in Birmingham England. Cathy and Doug were over in the U.K. for a week or so before the wedding, and spent some time getting to know Ian's family in Reading.

While in Birmingham they stayed in a university residence, and Meredith stayed with her sister. Elizabeth is a nurse and is currently taking a course specializing in pediatrics.

She will be at CHEO this fall as part of her studies.

Due to the demands of her course she was unable to get home for the August 19 wedding of Meredith and Michael Phifer in which took place in Williamsburg, the home of the newly-weds.

Best wishes to both girls, who just happen to have been among our kids favourite baby sitters!

Bridge results

The bridge scores for the Martintown Goodtimers Duplicate Bridge Club of Sept. 12 are as follows: North/South, 1st Jean & Jim Campbell, 2nd Jeanne Plouffe & Andre Bergevin, 3rd Phil McGrath & Joan Owen. East/West, 1st Allan McLeod & Henryk Rzepczyk, 2nd Laurette Keir & Margaret MacLeod, 3rd Norah Ruth & Jean Murray.

Four face proceeds of crime charges

POLICE BRIEFS

Four Bainsville residents face crime charges laid by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The charges stem from a two-year investigation by the Cornwall Regional Task Force into trafficking and conspiracy to traffic cocaine and marijuana.

Marco Guay, Maxine Ratcliff, Jaimes Flores and Nathalie Guay of Bainsville face charges of being in possession of the proceeds of crime, conspiracy to possess proceeds of crime, laundering and conspiracy to launder.

Searches conducted at various locations in Eastern Ontario as a result of the investigation resulted in the seizure of 10 kilograms of cocaine, 2,150 marijuana plants, 140 kilograms of cannabis marijuana, nine vehicles and currency.

The four accused will appear in court on Oct. 30.

Car crashes into house

A 1990 Chevrolet crashed into a Glen Walter house during the early hours of Monday morning.

Richard B. Ryner, 37, of Cornwall, was eastbound on County Road 2 when he experienced difficulty taking a curve. The car left the roadway and collided into the side of a residence near the St. Lawrence River.

Ryner was injured and transported to the Cornwall General Hospital for treatment of non-life threatening injuries.

Don't leave it in car

A woman out for a hike at Gray's Creek Marina on Sunday afternoon had her purse stolen after leaving it inside her locked van.

The window of her van had been smashed.

Little Brennan brings people together

ST. RAPHAEL'S AND THEREABOUTS

ANNA-MARGARET MacDONALD, 525-1174

Sorry if St. Raphael's events have not been reported the past few weeks. The old adage goes: "Into the lives of everyone some rain must fall and September has been our turn to experience the downside.

It didn't start out that way. Sept. 8 was our 55th wedding anniversary and Mervyn and I were celebrating on a motor trip to Winnipeg. It had been a very enjoyable time and we had reached Kenora when we received word that the youngest member of our family was in a Hamilton hospital in intensive care. We immediately reversed our direction but Baby Brennan died while we were en route. It was Sept. 12, just three days before his first birthday.

Lovable happy little Brennan was the son of Tammy Allinott and husband George Hewitt of Guelph; grandson of Judy MacDonald and husband Ed Allinott of Winnipeg as well as George and Helen Hewitt of Listowell and great-grandson of ourselves and Huetta Allinott of Glen Roy.

It was devastating news for friends and a big family who came from points all over Canada to support the grieving parents.

Glengarry was well represented. Family friend, Father Bernard Cameron was present to preside at services.

At the funeral home vigil, the baby's uncle, Travis Allinott read the poem "Footprints."

Father Cameron reminded the mourners that Jesus came as a little child to bring everyone together in peace and little Brennan, in turn, had already brought many people together.

It was the custom of George and Tammy to sing to their baby before he went to bed for the night and they always conclude with "It's a wonderful world." They played Louis Armstrong's recording of it as their final lullaby. Yes, it was sad.

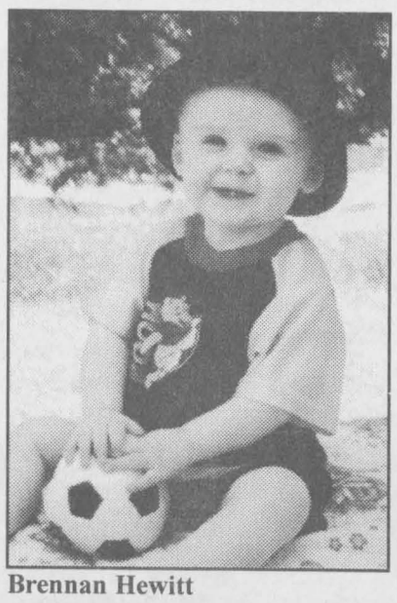
The couple have donated their son's organs.

St. John's Church in Guelph was full to overflowing for the funeral on Sept. 14. Father Cameron chose "forgiveness" as the theme of his eulogy. He said he felt George and Tammy had been especially commissioned to bring this message to others throughout their lives.

Barry and Mary MacDonald and their family were the choir and Carter MacDonald was minister of the eucharist.

The CWL of the parish served luncheon following the ceremony. As a final gesture,dozens of balloons were released to fly upwards towards Brennan's new home.

Brennan was injured in the home of his 51-year old babysitter. She reported that he had fallen downstairs.



Brennan Hewitt

She has been charged with manslaughter. Pray for her.

Wonder what it's worth?

Those wondering how much the family loom is worth could have it appraised at the Vankleek Hill third annual Antique Market and Appraisal Day on Saturday. Appraiser Mike Pariseault of Pointe-Claire, Que. discusses the possible value of Bob Cunningham's 1869 Infield musket. A family heirloom of Lachute's Cunningham family the musket is believed to have been used in the Finnian raids.

A special thank you to the Alexandria Legion which were amongst us to celebrate the mass last Sunday. Things are very slow in improving the 874 exchange phone line. A representative will be coming down at the Dalkeith Optimist Club on Oct. 3 at 8 p.m.. If you'd like to give a presentation or say anything on the matter, please call Joanne ahead of time at 874-2502. People are happy that they can now phone Cornwall free of charge. What about all the other surrounding towns that are still long distance calls? This is an open meeting to the public and everyone is welcome.

Legion week kicked off with vet room

By Sandra Berry
News Reporter

War Veterans entering Alexandria's Royal Canadian Legion now have a room they can formally call their own.

Officially opened on Saturday afternoon, the smoke-free boardroom located beside the Legion common received 'aws' from the seven war veterans present.

"A lot (of war veterans) can't come if there's going to be smoke," explained RCL public relations officer Joan MacDonald.

Freshly painted and newly carpeted the room sits approximately 15 in an ambiance geared toward recognizing the sacrifices of our Canadian soldiers.

What is nicer for the Legion is that it was the result of volunteer work and donation.

"It didn't cost the Legion anything. It has been a labour of love from people that care," continued MacDonald.

Padre Albert Brewer of Monkland dedicated the room followed by a piper's rendition of Amazing Grace.

Check out Gaelic music at United Church

Glen Sandfield

LORNA CHAPMAN
874-2408

On Sept. 24 the Na Nigheanan Glengarry Celtic group will present a 30-minute mini-concert of Gaelic music, sacred songs and prayers in Glen Sandfield United Church.

Could this be the first of what may become a series of recitals? What a pleasant thought!

Worship

Sunday morning worship on Sept. 24 will be held at 10 a.m. in Glen Sandfield United Church and at 11:15 a.m. in East Hawkesbury United Church. Everyone welcome.

Weekend person or half-time minister

On Sunday the four congregations of the Glengarry East Pastoral Charge will be asked to vote for their preference between a weekend person or a half time minister.

Everyone is asked to attend these important meetings following the regular services in each of the four churches.

Details will be given by the treasurers to the congregations before the votes are taken.

An official board meeting will be held on Oct. 3 at 8 p.m. at Dalhousie Mills in St. Andrew's United Church to address the results of voting. There will be only this one topic on the agenda that evening.

From Alberta

On Wednesday last, my stepson Edward Chapman from Morrin, Alberta paid me visit. He spent a week here in Glen Sandfield.

The Woman in Black

On Thursday evening last, Nancy Chapman and I drove to Upper Canada Play House, as guests of the Investors Group, to see the draw called The Woman in Black. We had a splendid time!

The play was extremely well acted and the sound effects were properly chilling.

Everyone was much impressed by the eerie make up and ghostly costuming of the lady in black. This presentation is well worth seeing!

The audience enjoyed a reception after the performance.

Reverend Ralph welcomed

The congregation at Glen Sandfield was pleased to welcome the Rev. and Mrs. Stanley Ralph last Sunday for his first service with them.

He was a fine addition to the choir when he gamely joined them for the anthem O Love That Will Not Let Me Go. Rev. Ralph has kindly consented to sing a solo the next Sunday he preaches in Glen Sandfield United Church so that is something to which we may all look forward.

Hymn sing

The Glen Sandfield United Church Women and members of the church choir will be in Maxville to present a hymn sing at Maxville Manor at 2 p.m. Bill Connors has kindly agreed to be the accompanist for the singing. Everyone is most welcome; the more voices the better!

Rally

Margo MacRae, Della MacDonald and I were among the 41 women who registered at the UCW rally in Hawkesbury on Sept. 14. At the end of the devotional portion, President Barbara Barton introduced my solo Let's Celebrate the Joy of Jubilee. Dot Burnett of the Alexandria UCW introduced guest speaker, the Rev. Kathryn Peate, who is a minister in Vankleek Hill.

Her topic dealt with the poverty that is so rampant in Nicaragua.

She had travelled with a group that had recently visited that country and she showed slides to illustrate her excellent presentation.

Her listeners felt that they are truly handsome people living in sadly dire straits.

The hosts served delicious homemade soup during the lunch break to accompany the lady's brown-bag sandwiches.

The next UCW Rally will be held in Vankleek Hill.

In PEI

Doris Spencer has recently returned from a month in P.E.I. where she visited members of her family.

She accompanied Wendy Miller and her son, Freddy Mutz, when they drove down from Montreal. They stayed only a week while she remained for an extended visit.

While there, she attended a large school reunion gathering and encountered some school chums that she had not seen in many years.

Fire leaves Summerstown woman with nothing

In times of difficulty you can always count on our community to help out. I am sure that this will be no different. A member of Salem United Church in Summerstown lost everything to a fire and aside from moral support all of her belongings need to be replaced.

So, Salem United Church is holding a musical benefit for Lorraine St. John and Don Lamorie of Summerstown on Saturday. Come at 7:30 p.m. and enjoy a number of guest soloists and musicians. Audience singing and good fellowship makes for an enjoyable evening. The ladies of Salem will provide refreshments after the program. Please come and support Lorraine and Don.

If you are unable to come and would like to make a donation, please send it to the Lorraine St. John Fire Fund , P.O. Box 411, Lancaster On, K0C 1N0.

WI news

Their goals are short and powerful. To assist and encourage women to become more knowledgeable and responsible citizens. To promote and develop good family life. To help discover, stimulate and develop leadership. And finally, to help identify and resolve needs in the community.

The Bainsville Women's Institute has the program for the new year already planned with these goals in mind. Meet the new executive for this very active group: Past President - Allison Main, President - Gillian Williams, 1st VP - Shirley Walsh. 2nd VP - Heather Baxter, Secretary - Fran Gordon, District Director - Allison Main, Alternate - Gillian Williams, Public Relations - Reina Troost, Tweedsmuir Curator - Susan Robertson, Education Coordinator: Gillian Williams, Card Convenor -Laurie McDonald, Nominating Committee - Joanne Steveson, Lillian Tozyski, Reina Troost and Sheila Urquhart.

At their first meeting held at St. John's Anglican Church, the roll call asked for members to name a community service organization. Guest speaker, Denise Paquette from the Community Access Centre, outlined the many services available to our five counties.

Members please note. The next meeting will be on Oct. 4. Come to the Curling Club for 12:30 p.m. where a car pool will be arranged to travel to Fassifern. At 1:30 p.m. a meeting of a different nature will take place as members visit the Patterson Ostrich Farm.

Diabetes

A Case For A Cure. The poster says that over two million Canadians have diabetes. I am sure this is true. We all have friends and family members who deal with this disease every day. So, on Saturday, A Case For A Cure project asks that you donate your empty beer bottles at your local beer store. All proceeds will go directly to the Canadian Diabetes Association to fund diabetes research in Canada. It's really easy and it's for a good cause.

In our area, as beer drinkers know, the empties go to Roger Menard's Garage. There will be someone there from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. to assist you.

Robertsons gather

Eighty-five members and friends of the Robertson family met over the Labour Day weekend in Earlton, Ontario. The last reunion was four years ago at the home of Archie Robertson of Bainsville.

Archie's brother, Alexander (Zannie), and his family hosted this year's family get together. It was a busy time of visiting, preparing meals, competitions, tours of the local zoo and Grant Forest Products plant.

The eastern contingent attending were Archie and his wife, Evelyn, Clarence and Elaine, Mackie and Susan as well as Archie's sister, Winnifred Petrie from Cornwall, and friends Olive and Alan Waite of Montreal, Extended Robertson families, i.e., Dixon, Reavie, Edson, arrived from Cornwall and as far west as Alberta and Wisconsin and many points between.

Winnifred, Zannie and Archie's parents, John and Margaret, farmed on the 2nd Concession of Lancaster Township.

Fire department building to be demolished

Never fear, you may not see the fire trucks at the Lancaster Fire Department but they are still on a site in the village and available when needed. In the meantime our fire department building is being slowly and carefully demolished to retrieve any materials that can be recycled. Once the demolition is complete a new building at a cost of $300,000 will be erected. As Mike Samson told me, this new building was overdue and really needed to house the three trucks. Building should start in a week or so.

It is hoped that the trucks will be in the new Fire Department by Christmas. The completion of this project is set for Spring 2001.

Fundraising dinner

It's up to the Fourth Annual! This is a dinner that raises funds to provide bursaries to secondary students from Stormont and Glengarry. Each student chosen will receive $500 from the Msgr. Rudy Villeneuve Foundation.

The dinner will be held this year at Chateau Cornwall, 41 Amelia Street, in Cornwall on Sept. 29. Cocktails will be served from 7 p.m. and dinner served at 7:30. Admission is $35 per person and income tax receipts for $20 will be issued. For tickets call Pat Bougie at 347-2781.

Coffee break

Calling all you coffee drinkers! Thursday is National Alzheimer Coffee Break. There will be several stations in our area. Chateau Gardens, Super Mario's, Bank of Montreal, Lancaster Pharmacy, McEwan's 401, Rozon's Insurance will have an in house donation from employees, and Sangster's General Store in Bainsville is getting on board.

There will be cash boxes to receive donations at many locations as well. Alzheimers does not make door to door canvassing but last year's national coffee hosts raised over $68,000 for local programs and services.

Coffee Break is a morning program but some hosts will choose to carry on later in the day.

Baptism at St. Andrew's

On Sunday, a large congregation gathered for worship at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. During the service Seamus Ian MacLennan and Thomas David Wood were received into the church by the Sacrament of Baptism. Proud parents, Glen MacLennan and Jennifer MacLachlan and John and Angela Wood, along with many relatives and friends, celebrated as they witnessed this important event in the time of their children. Special family get togethers followed the service.

Rev. Ian MacMillan also conducted a service of Dedication. Nursery furnishings were received and dedicated to the Glory of God in loving memory of Edna McDonald. Mrs. McDonald was an active and devoted member of St. Andrew's. For fifty-five years she was Cradle Roll Superintendent. On behalf of the McDonald family Harold MacLeod presented this generous gift. Lyall MacLachlan and Rev. MacMillan expressed sincere thanks to the family for their kindness and continued interest in St. Andrew's Church.

After the service a Coffee fellowship followed and everyone took time to view the beautiful and warmly decorated nursery.

Have a super week.

No severance for workers

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

The remaining 37 unionized employees of Hush Puppies' Alexandria Footwear plant voted last Thursday to reject a severance package termed by their union agent as "miserly."

"We were given a take it or lose it ultimatum," said Cam Nelson of the Brewery General and Professional Workers' Union.

Nelson said the severance offer – pay equalling one-third of a week for every year of service is much less than the "norm" for closing down a plant.

He pointed out that factories operated by Levi's in Cornwall and Nestlé in Alexandria provided severances of three weeks and two and a half weeks for one week of service, respectively.

He said Hush Puppies is taking full advantage of current legislation covering termination severances.

The employer is not bound to give severance compensation to any factory with less than 50 workers.

"They are only spend so much on paying people so the (profit) bottom line looks as good as it does," Nelson said.

"What we're giving you is a gift," Nelson said.

If the union had decided to accept the one-third-of-a-week severance offer, he claimed the total payout would only be about one-third of the bonuses the Hush Puppies' chairman of the board had received last year.

He derided the Hush Puppies' motto "We've never forgotten that our reputation is our best selling point."

"The reputation they are earning with respect to how they are treating their employees is pretty horrendous."

The 41 staff members have only weeks before the boot-wear plant closes for good.

"Our plant will shut down. We are scheduled for the second or third week of October," said Hush Puppies Canada president Angela Kakridonis last Thursday from her Montreal office.

"We haven't started winding down yet."

Kakridonis said severance negotiations had taken place over the last three weeks.

Not so, Nelson said.

"There were only two or three phone calls back and forth," he said.

Some of the non-union office staff were also given the same deal.

The fight to get a severance package is not over.

Nelson said an arbitration hearing for later this fall could eventually force Hush Puppies to resubmit a more generous severance proposal.

The union is contesting what it calls "contracting out work" to a factory in China. Nelson said it violates the collective agreement.

If the company had not transferred work out of the footwear plant, there was a strong possibility the plant would have had more than 50 employees. This speculation would have guaranteed a bigger severance offer.

The plant did employ 75 workers before it entered a temporary shutdown last fall.

While hoping the union would have accepted the severance package, Kakridonis said the company is working hard to find new jobs for its employees.

October's final layoff will make way for Farley Windows to take over possession of the building on Nov. 1, Kakridonis said.

Earlier this summer, Kakridonis received a commitment from Farley to give job opportunities once the robust company expands into Footwear building.

Farley general manager Alfred Olsen did not want to comment on his company's plans for the building.

When Simon passed that German runner

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279

Well how about that Olympic gold medal for Simon Whitfield? Those who saw the triathlon said it was a wonderful finale when Simon passed the German runner and took the gold.

Although he only lived in Williamstown for a very short time (less than a year) and probably has few memories of our town, it is still nice to claim him as one of ours.

Congratulations, Simon! You've made some of us — those who live vicariously through others — be able to say, "I've had a gold- medal Olympian playing right here, right in this house."

I still remember your mother laughing at the way I "cleaned up" the toys on the floor every day. Just took the old broom and swept them all into a big pile in the middle of the room.....

Torch run

Olympic fever hit the students of Williamstown Public in a big way last week. Opening ceremonies and even a special torch run were held in the field at Char-Lan High School, as teams from all nations encircled the track.

The Olympic Games are being held between 11.35 a.m. and noon each day at the school this week.

Open house at Williamstown Public

Let's hear it for the teachers at Williamstown Public! Last week the annual fall open house took the form of a barbecue for parents and students. And guess who cooked? The teachers! The school newsletter modestly gives credit to "Honorary Staff Member, Tim Kirkby" for his organizational skills, but a parent tip-off says that the staff must certainly be commended.

Despite rotten weather, the evening was a huge success. A scavenger hunt (won by the Ross family) throughout the classrooms got everyone into the spirit. A good start to what it is hoped will be a great year.

Wed

Congratulations to Ian Laplante and Shannon Wheeler whose wedding took place on Saturday and whose reception was held that evening at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

Ian is the son of Don and Marg Laplante and Shannon is the daughter of Millie and Willie Wheeler of St. Andrew's.

Donald MacLennan

Williamstown was saddened to learn of the death of Donald MacLennan on Friday after being in ill-health for some time. Don, a volunteer fireman and animal lover, will certainly be missed by all who knew him.

Our deepest sympathies go out to his wife, Betty, and his mother, Margaret, and to his brother and sisters.

Bridge

Bridge scores from Sept. 13 at the Williamstown Bridge Club are: N/S — 1. Elizabeth Marjerrison and Jim Campbell; 2. Marvin and Jeanette Scrimshaw; 3. Kay and Mel Colbran.

E/W — 1. John Roulston and Hanz Schulz; 2. Marion McCuaig and Penny McLeod; 3. Audrey Pasco and Lydia Johnson.

Lots to do

Busy is not the word for it as Williamstowners put their names on the dotted lines for another season of this activity or that. Don't ever let anyone tell you that there is nothing to do in the country. Read on to see what I mean.

Brownies and Sparks

Registration for Brownies and Sparks takes place Sept. 28 from 6 to 7 p.m. in the gym at Williamstown Public School. There will be a uniform exchange, so bring in your old gear and buy new. Brownies and Sparks will be starting in October. For more info, please call Sue Small at 931-1831.

Karate

Registration for Karate at Irvine Hall, takes place at 6 p.m. tonight (Wednesday). Following registration, a class will be held.

Classes take place on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:15 to 7:30 p.m. and are taught by Sensai Andrea Harrison. Both adults and children (over nine) are welcome. Newcomers are asked to wear sweatpants and white t-shirts.

Tai'chi

Tai'chi, taught by Richard Leroux, is also making a return to Irvine Hall. Classes will be held Tuesday mornings at 9 a.m. and Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m., starting this week. There will be a $10 charge and there is no formal registration — just show up.

Playgroups

Playgroups, the Tuesday morning program for any area babies and young children and their parents/caregivers is also beginning again at Irvine Hall next Tuesday morning from 10:30 to noon. There is no charge to attend. Just bring the children and a snack for them.

Apples and Arts

Apples and Arts, the annual SD&G tour of artisans' dens, takes place this weekend, Sept. 23 and 24, in an abbreviated form. Sole participant from the Williamstown area is Esther Bryan, and you are invited to see Esther and her "Invitation" quilt project on those days at the former Charlottenburgh Hall in Williamstown.

Brochures outlining all the artists on the circuit are available from the Williamstown Library.

Apple Pie and Quilts

The Nor'Westers and Loyalist Museum is continuing this year with its successful "Apple Pie and Quilts." Everyone is welcome to come along to the museum on Saturday, Sept. 30 and Sunday, Oct. 1, to enjoy an exhibit of quilts made by local artisans, and to have some pie and tea or coffee.

Time of "Apple Pie and Quilts" is 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., both days.

Ladies volleyball

Williamstown Ladies Volleyball starts Oct. 5, from 8 to 10 p.m. at the Char-Lan High School gym. Anyone interested is invited to come along and play in this weekly, non-competitive outing for local ladies.

Have a coffee

Tomorrow, (Thursday), plan to pop into Alex MacDonald's store and have a cup of coffee in support of the Alzheimer Society. The annual Alzheimer Coffee-Break has been brewing up donations for five years in Lancaster, but this is a first, I believe, for Williamstown.

Alzheimers does not have an annual door-to-door canvass, so this is one way you can support the cause, without leaving town.

Amnesty International

There will be an Amnesty International Action Circle meeting tomorrow (Thursday), at 7:30 P.m. If you would like to join, please call Cynthia at 347-2990 for details. Do come and be a part of this good work.

Green Thumb garden club

For Green Thumb garden club members the Sept. 25 meeting at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre in Williamstown means tips on the problems of fall pruning for shrubs and trees. Guest speaker Mark Burleton will give a hands-on demonstration of the how, where, when, and how much, of pruning. His speech will be followed by a question and answer sessions.

You are also urged to bring any extra perennials you might dig up this year, for an exchange with fellow members.

Friendly Neighbours Club

The Friendly Neighbours Club will hold its open euchre tomorrow, Thursday, at St. Mary's Centre, at 1 p.m.

Those of you who bought tickets on the club's raffle at the fair this year, may be interested to know the lucky winner will be chosen at the euchre tomorrow.

Community breakfast

This Sunday at St. Mary's Centre, Council 11243 of the Knights of Columbus is holding a Community Breakfast from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The cost for adults is $4, for children under 12 $2.50, and family rates are available.

Stop in for a hearty breakfst and a good visit with your neighbours.

Missing

Whew! That's the list. Just one thing missing. No wedding this weekend?

Yard sale on Saturday

Focus on G.D.H.S.

VICKIE HARDY

Autumn is knocking at the door and winter isn't far behind. A brand new school year has begun and aren't you glad summer vacation is over?

Fall is the perfect time to do a clean out in our homes to make room for indoor living when we forsake the outdoors.

For the last two years, the GDHS School Council has organized an annual fundraising yard sale on the school grounds.

This year's event will be expanded to include produce from local gardeners.

We are asking all gardeners who would like to sell their extra produce to consider renting a table and thus making some money and helping the school.

For the non-gardeners, this would be the perfect occasion to make a few dollars from that fall clean out you were contemplating. Cost is $15 per table for private and $25 for a business.

If interested, please call 525-1066 daytime or 525-3487 evenings.

Another option to help your school, if renting a table is out, would be donations for our bake table and/or any extra garden produce. Home-baked goods, especially pies and fruits and vegetables will be most appreciated.

You can bring your donation directly to the school on the day of the event, Sept. 23 or give it to someone who will be attending.

Meeting

The school council is holding a meeting on Sept. 18 and as always parents and guardians are welcome to attend. Since this is the first meeting of the academic year, elections will be on the agenda. Parents, take advantage of this opportunity to participate actively in your children's education.

Sanctuary filled to pay tribute to Rev. Frank Bailey

In one of the most eloquent addresses ever given in Maxville United Church, the Rev. Dr. Anthony Bailey confirmed that all of the superlatives used to describe his father, the Rev. Dr. Frank Bailey, earlier in his funeral service were true. Anthony, minister of Parkdale United Church in Ottawa, explained in his opening words that he was not trying to show courage in speaking at his father's funeral but that he wanted to point out what his father's life and work had meant to him and to others.

Anthony related that he had visited his father a few days before he died and asked him what his greatest hope was.

The answer was, "I hope that I am a man loved by God and that I have loved God fully. Also, I hope I have treated all people fairly and with dignity."

The sanctuary and the room at the back were filled to capacity for the funeral of this beloved minister. There were representatives there from many congregations Rev. Bailey had served as well as from Parkdale United. As well, local clergy, the Rev. Ed O'Neil, Father Jacques Labelle and the Rev. Jan Staniforth were there. Father Labelle was accompanied by Bishop Eugene Larocque.

The Rev. Gary Stokes, chair of the Seaway Valley Presbytery and the Rev. Gail Christy, president of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference, both spoke briefly during the service.

Long time minister friends of the deceased spoke of their fond memories and of the esteem in which they held him.

Chania Bailey, the eldest daughter of Wendy and Anthony, read the Epistle lesson and Christopher Charles served as a pall bearer for his grandfather.

Anthony had served for six years in Jamaica at an inner city church in Kingston. As a mark of esteem and respect, a representative from that church was in attendance at the funeral service and spoke briefly.

A community ecumenical choir led in the singing which was augmented by the Union Church Gospel Choir from Montreal. Marcia Charles, a Bailey daughter, is the regular director of this choir. The members sang with conviction and dedication, while a duet and a solo, The Lord's Prayer, were very much appreciated.

Following the burial service in the Maxville Cemetery, a dinner was served by the ladies of the United Church in the Angus Gray Hall to a large number of relatives and friends.

In Alberta

Elizabeth and Sander Stewart have returned from a trip out west and to Airdrie, Alberta in particular.

There, they were the guests of their siblings, Marjorie and Duncan Stewart, and attended the wedding of their grand niece, Nicole Stewart. The wedding took place in Bonnyville which is north east of Edmonton.

Nicole is the daughter of Bill and her new husband is Kristin St. Arnault.

Married

Congratulations and best wishes also go to Sean Robinson, son of Jack and Mary, who was married to Therese Bourget in St. James Church here on Sept. 1.

Cruising

Gwen Arkinstall took a holiday from her nursing duties at the Manor and enjoyed a cruise up and down the west coast of Canada.

Della Page

We extend our sympathy to Joanne MacLennan and her family in the death of her mother, Della Page, of Ottawa.

I happened to know Mrs. Page when I taught two of Joanne's brothers in Ottawa and she was the kind of mother who would always be present for parent interviews.

Jeannie Coleman has also lost a sister, Mary Lou Aubrey of Sault Ste. Marie, and we are thinking of her and her family at this time.

As it happens, Jeannie and Ivan are also missing their youngest son, Chris, who is out in Vancouver working for Entirage.

Turning 101

Best wishes are extended to Isabel Cameron at the Manor who will celebrate her 101st birthday on Sept. 23.

Mrs. Cameron is well and keeps posted on all the family news as well as activities in the Manor and village.

Maxville missed

I had an interesting letter from Edwina Mills last week.

The family is getting settled in St. John's and glad to be back in their native Newfoundland but, at the same time, Maxville and their friends are being missed a great deal.

From Guelph

We also had a letter from a friend in Guelph whom we asked to contact Mae Benton when she moved there.

Mae is getting involved in activities in that city, as we expected she would, and all is well with her.

Jacks give thanks

The 5th Conc. Roxborough can boast of two firsts. The lovely new home of Peter and Lynda Jack and family, which is now completed, is certainly the largest and most attractive along the road. Also, on Saturday night, the family held and appreciation night for all those who were good to them after the fire which destroyed their home and contents in January. There was a tour of the new home and a delicious BBQ meal in two tents set up in the yard.

Piping and drumming lessons

The Glengarry School of Piping and Drumming will be opening for lessons on Sept. 23 at Maxville Public School. The executive is looking for a large number of beginners in drumming along with the return of the pupils of other years.

New students require a pair of drum sticks and a pad. The many different exercises come first, then it is on to beatings for massed bands or parades.

When all this is accomplished the drum major will recommend to the pipe major that the student is prepared to play with a drum corps at the Grade 5 level. Transfers upwards come with skill.

The art of drumming has evolved over the years to the stage that the availability of a good drum corps can make or break a band. This past summer, a number of bands were unable to compete due to a lack of well trained drummers.

The school here is the only one in Eastern Ontario teaching drumming and the teachers are well qualified to provide excellent instruction. Beginning drummers should have a good sense of timing, be able to understand the theory and be able to memorize the exercises.

In a competition, there are four judges: two piping, one drumming and an ensemble one. The latter considers the overall sound produced by the pipers and drummers together.

The beginners class is at 9 a.m. on Saturday.

From B.C.

This news flash has just come in. For two weeks, Sonny and Terry Guindon from Campbell River, B.C. have been visiting with his sister, Martine, and many other relatives here.

I expect Sonny goes by some other name out there, but I don't know his real name but if I used it alone, locals would not know who I was writing about!

Landing in Zurich

As promised last week, I will write now about part of our trip. We know and appreciate several families here who have emigrated from Switzerland. Therefore, a visit to that country, means a bit extra. When we landed in Zurich, I thought of the Zollingers who came from near there, Berne is to the west and presently Dora and Werner Bill and his mother, Klara, are visiting there. We stayed in Engleberg for three nights and the Hess family came from near there with its high mountains and pasture fields that Heinz used to describe to me at school.

Finally, when we travelled from Switzerland into Austria, I thought of the Frei family who lived in that part of the country. The highlight of the trip was the Passion Play at Oberammergau in Bavaria, a province in southern Germany.

The village is not large and is noted for its wood carvers, along with the play held every ten years.

In 1634, the bubonic plague was spreading across Europe and the villagers of the village made a vow to God that if they were spared, they would do the play.

They were spared and the play has continued since then in the years ending in zero.

In recent times, special anniversary presentations were done in 1934 and 1984.All those taking part must have lived in the village for at least ten years.

There are 1,700 parts and the performers consider it an honour to participate and leave their businesses to do so.

The men grow their beards and hair for a year in advance.

The stage is outdoors but the theatre is inside and seats 4,780. It is well organized and there is no rushing or crowding. The play is in German but we could follow along with the English translation. As one would expect, the story is so familiar, that we could follow it with some reading ahead.

The play started at 9:30 a.m., there was a break from noon to 3:00 p.m. and then it concluded at six. It covered the time period from Palm Sunday to Easter Sunday. It was very intense and profound and one's interest never lagged. The singing and music was excellent, too. Two players are required to play the part of Jesus because it is such a big one. The crucifixion scene was so real, I was tempted to close my eyes at times. However the tomb scene at the end was very uplifting. It was an experience of a lifetime.

Plant sale

This is a reminder that the Horticultural Society's plant sale is this Wednesday evening in the United Church Hall starting at 6:30 p.m. There will be no pot luck supper but there will be refreshments at the end of the exciting and bargain-filled evening.

Diners Club

This Monday at 11:30 a.m. the lunch and games Diners Club will meet at the Manor. The cost is $5; you are asked to register by Friday and really make an effort to attend this new event under the S.O.S. program.

Bridge

At the bridge party at the Manor on Saturday afternoons, the winners at the last two afternoons were Dawson Burwash and Eddie Ukrainetz and Eddie again, and William Van der Byl.

Euchre

At the Young-at-Heart euchre on Sept. 11, the winners were Gloria Rolland, Violet MacDiarmid and Rita McCarthy along with Armand Bissonnette, Norbert Ryan and tied for third prize, Hormidas St. John and Oliver Gates.

The draw winners were Peggy Gates, Mrs. McCarthy, Chester Valley, Barbara O'Flaherty, Claire Flaro, Oliver Gates and Mr. St. John. Mr. Gates also received the door prize. The next party is Sept 25.

Calendar draw

The prize winners in last week's Lions Club calendar draw were Marilyn Boissonneault, Williamsburg, Judy Lawyer, Rod Martell, Cornwall, Mike Wensink, Embrun and J. M. Morin, Cornwall.

Stars defend Soccerfest title

Stars forward Bard Skjelstad flies in from Norway for weekend, heads back Monday as MVP

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

Last year Bard Skjelstad was an exchange student at Glengarry District High School.

The native of Bodo Norway impressed Glengarrians with his soccer skills as soon as he arrived.

Skjelstad was part of the Glengarry Stars club that won the Char-lan Soccerfest men's division a year ago.

It was his first experience at soccer in this area and he enjoyed it so much he told Stars coach Carman MacMillan he would play in it again.

"Before he left back for Norway he said he would be back to play the tournament and he did come back," said MacMillan.

"He flew in Friday to play Saturday and Sunday and he left Ottawa around 12:30 p.m. (Monday) because his school has started."

Skjelstad has already told MacMillan he will be back to play with the Stars next summer near the beginning of July.

Then he has to head back to Norway near the end of the season because students finishing their school careers have to spend a year in the military forces.

The only thing that can prevent that is if he lands a major scholarship or signs on with a professional sports team.

The outdoor season has basically come to a close now and MacMillan said he is happy with the results.

"It turned out real well, not as good point-wise compared to last year but it was a good year and the boys played well."

In the final of the men's division Saturday, Skjelstad with two and Dominic Normand scored in a 3-0 win over the Ottawa Internationals.

Former Glengarry District High School exchange student Bard Skjelstad flew for one and a half days from Norway to take part in the Char-Lan Soccerfest with the Glengarry Stars. He landed back in Norway last night after scoring two goals in the final and being recognized as the MVP of the weekend tournament. Pictured above Skjelstad just misses this chance during a 2-0 win over Kingston Portuguese.

In the semi-finals the Stars got past the Montreal Cowtippers 3-1. Skjelstad, Brian Cameron and Chancey Lajoie scored.

Char-Lan United was defeated by the Ottawa Internationals 1-0 in the other semi-final.

Rudi's have 'magical' showing

The Rudi's Magic soccer club had a very impressive showing in the ladies division.

For many it was their first experience in the tournament as several of the girls are aged 15 to 17.

The girls made it all the way to the finals before losing in a shootout to the Cornwall Strikers.

The Strikers won the shootout 3-1 on goals by goaltender Allison Jaillet (who was named tournament MVP), Julia Esposito and Lynn Struthers. Katrina Payer had the only Rudi's goal in the shootout.

Rudi's defeated the Glengarry Hearts 2-1 and tied the Ottawa Internationals 0-0 and Char-Lan United 1-1 on their way to the finals.

In the men's oldtimers division, Brockville got past Char-Lan United 2-1.

Rebels forwards Ryan Lalonde (15) and Jeff Laframboise (12) move in on a two-on-one against Akwesasne Wolves defender Dean Whiteye during the Tim Hortons Junior B Exhibition Tournament in Williamstown Saturday.

Rebels Jarvo, Sinfield and Redmond should add a spark

Season opener Friday in Alexandria

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

This Friday the battle of Glengarry will continue on Billy Gebbie Arena Ice as the Alexandria Glens and Char-Lan Rebels kick off another Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League season against one another.

Game time is scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

There will be a tribute before the game to former Glens captain Marc Menard who passed away earlier this year.

The Glens will raise his sweater just before the drop of the puck.

Looking at the Char-Lan Rebels, they always seem to reproduce youthful talent despite losses of key personnel year-after-year.

Last year the Rebels had a bunch of young players (namely Scott Champagne) jump in and fill the holes left from veterans who had graduated from hockey or moved up in the ranks.

This year a trio of new talent looks to do the very same thing.

Steve Jarvo, Troy Sinfield and Ryan Redmond all played on the same line for most of the Rebels first exhibition game of the year against the Akwesasne Wolves.

The trio were the most eye-catching players out of the Rebs lineup that included solely rookies except for veteran defenceman Doug "Bubba" Ferguson who left after his second shift with a game misconduct for fighting Akwesasne's Abednero Gunner.

The line produced several scoring opportunities for one another from the get go and both Jarvo and Sinfield were a force in the corners and behind the net.

Redmond, a more speedy, crafty type play-maker flew down his wing creating several break away chances for himself.

"We'll sign Sinfield and Jarvo tomorrow (Tuesday)," said Rebels general manager John Chafee Monday.

"Redmond, there's a good possibility we'll sign him too."

The Rebels are looking for three players to fill a fourth forward line but adds the team may sign more like they did a year ago.

"Dale's (Ferguson) close too, we'll take a real close look at him."

The Rebels first game of the season was against last year's third place Wolves.

Wolves 6 Rebels 3

The Rebels got on the scoreboard first as Jarvo didn't need much time to pot his first goal in a Rebels uniform.

Redmond and Sinfield assisted.

The Wolves scored the next four goals to close out the first period.

Sinfield from Redmond and Chris Hart and Mario Bissonette from Jeff Laframboise and Shawn Mainville scored in the third period but it wasn't enough as the Wolves won 6-3.

In the Rebels other game they were edged by last year's fourth place finishing Morrisburg Lions.

Glens win exhibition tournament

ALEXANDRIA JUNIOR B GLENS

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

With the start of the 2000-01 Eastern Ontario Jr. B Hockey League only days away, the Alexandria Glens are already off to a great start.

In five games played so far this preseason the Glens have lost only one, tied another and won three.

The Glens are fresh off winning the Tim Horton's / Char-Lan Rebels exhibition junior B tournament over the weekend.

It's only the preseason but the early success including the tournament win, might be a sign of things.

Glens coach Marc Sauve isn't reading too much into the great start though.

"We're happy we won but it's early to bank on us being a calibre team," he said.

"There's a long season ahead of us."

The tournament returned successfully this year after a one-year break due to mechanical problems at the Charlottenburgh Recreational Centre a season ago.

The Glens destroyed last year's St. Lawrence division champion Kemptville 73s 7-3 to take the preseason title.

Joel Poirier, with two, Nicholas Besner, Eric Leroux, Ghyslain Valade, Michael Lauzon and Pat Johnson scored in the victory.

Danick Ritchot started the game in goal with Felix Limoges taking over later on.

In the Glens second game of the tournament, they defeated the Akwesasne Wolves 5-2.

Valade led the way with a pair of goals and a helper. Jeff Lobb, Stephane Maltais and Steven Owens rounded out the scoring for the Glens.

Limoges started in goal and Michael Bates took over later.

In the Glens next contest they doubled the Morrisburg Lions 4-2.

Besner, Luc Lanthier, Louis Brisson and Andre Leduc scored for the Glens.

O'Shaughnessy (faced 20 shots) started in goal with Ritchot (faced nine shots)coming in later as both allowed one goal.

Glens have tough time against Clarence Creek Beavers

The Glens started their preseason Sept. 14 as they headed to Clarence Creek to challenge the Beavers.

The first game of the year for the Glens resulted in a 7-7 draw.

Michael Cunning drew a couple looks from Glens brass as he potted four goals in the game. J.F Menard (shorthanded), Maltais and Steven Stewart also scored.

"He's a tough kid who's good with the puck," said Sauve. "What he lacks in speed he makes up with calmness with the puck. He'll make a good power forward."

O'Shaughnessy started the game in goal for the Glens before Bates took over.

A night later the Glens hosted the Beavers at home.

Despite potting five goals in the second period, the Glens couldn't hold on to the win losing 7-5.

Anyone cracking the Glens roster this year might want to remember to try and pick jersey #14.

It was the number Cunning wore on Sept. 14 during his four-goal game and Lauzon also had some success while donning the same number on Friday at home.

Lauzon scored one goal and added three assists in the loss.

Besner made his Glens return and immediately made an impact scoring a pair of goals.

Johnson and Pierre Chaumont had the other goals.

Limoges started the game in between the pipes before giving way to Nicolas Lepage.

The Glens have come closer to reaching a final roster as only four positions remain open.

Few spots left to fill

In goal 16-year-old O'Shaughnessy has signed on. O'Shaughnessy was brilliant at last weekend's tournament especially in the opening game against Morrisburg.

Ritchot, Bates and Limoges are the other goaltenders fighting for the other spot.

According to Sauve, Limoges has the edge as he played junior A hockey last year and is a bit more experienced than the other two. Ritchot has only played two periods of hockey (at the Char-Lan tournament) for the Glens so far.

At defence the Glens have signed Simon Menard, J.F Menard, Steven Owens, Marc Filliol, Michel Quesnel (wrist injury may miss start of the season).

Maxime Leduc, Richard Redmond and Andre Leduc will look to fill the other one or two open spots.

At forward, Eric Leroux (left wing), Valade (centre) and Besner (right wing) will form what should be one of the league's most potent lines.

"They (Besner and Valade) should be a great 1-2 punch. Besner will steal some of the offense from Valade but if it works they should do well. Leroux will take care of the defence."

All three are signed as are Joel Poirier, Pat Johnson, Luc Lanthier, Michael Cunning, Louie Brisson, Steven Vanden Oetelaar, Jeff Lobb and Joel Quesnel (collar bone injury will force Quesnel to miss first couple of weeks of the season).

Looking to fill the final two holes up front are Michael Lauzon, Stephane Maltais, Steven Stewart, Dominic Deceour (played with Glens last year but skated for the first time since knee surgery last night) and Jonathan Bray.

The Glens open the regular season this Friday against the rival Char-Lan Rebels starting at 8:30 p.m.

Before the game, the Glens will pay tribute to former captain Marc Menard who passed away earlier this year.

Menard's jersey #4 will be raised to the Billy Gebbie ceiling and there will be a moment of silence.

Lions have lineup set

Lions 4 Rebels 3

Word around the Charlottenburg Recreational Centre on the weekend was the Lions had basically completed their 2000 roster.

The Rebels had most of their veterans in the game although McCuaig missed because of a minor ligament pull in his thigh. He should be ready for the Rebels season opener Friday in Alexandria.

The Lions scored two goals in the first period and two in the second to edge the Rebels.

Char-Lan's McConnell scored the first goal from Belmore 6:41 into the first period. Doug Ferguson scored at 11:06 unassisted.

In the second the Lions jumped out to a 4-2 lead before the Rebels came within one. Sinfield scored his third goal in two games from Larocque and Mainville at 16:13.

Breaking down the Rebels lineup

The veteran forwards that are back are Nick Dube, Stephen Alguire, Ian McConell, Chris Corput, Luc Lapierre, Andrew Banville, Stephane St. Denis, Chris Malyon and Eric Larocque.

On defence the Rebels are possibly looking for a sixth defenceman.

The team has added former Akwesasne player Marc Lemire to the team to join veterans Ferguson, Ryan Major, Pat Smith and Stephane Mainville.

Chafee said he is hoping there still is an opportunity for Kerry MacDonald, who is away at school, to return and says there is also a slight possibility of signing last year's Cornwall Colts star defenceman Kacey MacDonell.

If not the Rebs have d-man like 6'7" Denis Guay, Michael Belmore and Shawn Mainville who are trying out with the Rebels to pick from.

Dale Ferguson is also a possibility as he has played on the blue line before.

In goal Tim McCuaig will definitely be back but Doug Long may not.

Long has expressed desire to play more minutes and has hinted he would like to be traded according to Chafee.

"He's a very good team man. He said maybe he could get more ice time elsewhere, so there's a possibility of a trade there.

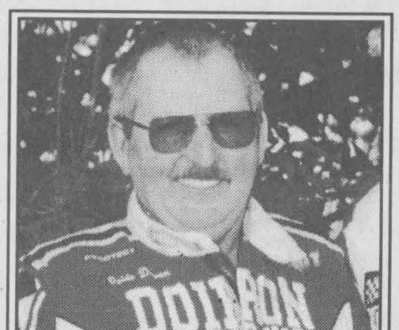
Announcements



Check out this Mid-Twentieth Century Classic. This one of a kind "Acadian" model rolled off the assembly line in Shediac, New Brunswick on Sept. 22, 1940 and now has 524,160 hours of mainly smooth operation. Vast majority of original parts, still in excellent condition, although over the years some modifications to grill and windshield have been made. As with other vintage models, some risk of blown gasket if overheated. Although headlights are excellent design, head beams tend to need help when the light dims. Original colour has been maintained except for the roof that has been made silver the last couple of years. Tends to be hard to start in the mornings, but runs smoothly thereafter until late in the day. Does not respond well to a remote control.
Happy birthday to the best!
We love you... 38-1p

Lens and needles part of fall's list of clubs

4-H News

MARGO PATRICK
347-7298

Are you interested in sewing? Or holiday food and crafts? Or herbs and spices? Or photography? Or knitting? Well, this is the fall for you! All these clubs are either started or ready to go, so now is the time to join 4-H!

Sewing

For sewing enthusiasts, or beginners as well, there will be a basic sewing class offered in North Glengarry. For more details and to register, call Eileen Lobb 874-2271. Eileen has come forward to join our enthusiastic leaders from around the county.

If you would like to join us as a leader as well, call Joyce MacLennan, 525-2579, or Margo, 347-7298. We offer opportunities to join us during a club so you can see how it is done. We always welcome new leaders with new ideas!

Customs

"Home for the Holidays" will be starting in the near future. This exciting club reviews holiday customs from around the world and lets the members enjoy lots of holiday recipes and crafts. This perennial favourite is sure to be lots of fun, so to join call Trish Hamilton at 874-2804. Get ready for the Christmas season before the rush!

Spice of life

Do you like to eat chili, or curry or salsa? Have you ever seen a pomander, or do you use lavender to scent your clothes? All these are uses of herbs and spices, and this is the topic of "The Spice of Life". This club has already begun, but there is room for some more. This club runs every other Tuesday, with the next meeting being this Tuesday. Either call Margo, 347-7298, or Heidi Krol, 347-7561, or turn up at Margo's house next Tuesday at 7 p.m. Read Reuben's article at the end of this column to see what you have already missed!

Say "cheese"

Smile, say Cheese! Photography is alive and well and busy in Glengarry.

The photography club has had their first meeting yesterday, going over the basics of photography and learning what you see through the lens. Other topics will include animal photography, landscape and portrait photography as well as journalistic shots. If all this appeals to you, then call Margo 347-7298.

Knit, knit, knit

Knit 1, purl 2 and soon that sweater of your dreams will be your own creation. Are you interested in making those needles fly?

Well Joyce MacLennan is just the person to teach you how to do it! She needs to know the names and times of members who are interested, so she can set up the project, so give her a call 525-2579.

Rules

The usual rules apply to new members - you must be between the ages of 10 and 21 (that means born in 1989 or before).

If you turned 10 in the year 2000, you can join the clubs that begin in January. For new members the cost is $20 with the possibility of a craft fee as well For those who have already attended in 2000, the cost is $5 plus the craft fee. Come and join 4-H and "Learn to Do by Doing"!

Awards Night

The plans for Awards Night are underway. This year we will be celebrating 4-H in the county with a noon buffet at the Bonnie Glen on Oct. 22.

If you have ever been in 4-H in Glengarry or anywhere else, you are invited to attend.

Come and bring your enthusiasm and more important your anecdotes about what you did while you were a member. Cost for the buffet is $5 per person, $3 if you are between 6-12. There will be good food, good friends, awards and door prizes, so mark this Sunday on your calendar!

Speaking of memories, we would like to compile some of them and have them around the room. If you have any photographs or anecdotes that you would like to contribute, please call Margo Patrick, 347-7298, or Joyce MacLennan, 525-2579.

We will arrange to pick them up, scan them and return the originals to you so they remain in your safekeeping.

We are also looking for people who would like to take a turn at the mike telling their tales of their time in 4-H, and, if you would like to be that person, let either of us know. We welcome old projects that you have done, but we draw the line at bringing your prize calf! Join in the fun, for you have "Learned to Do by Doing!"

Spice up your life

Now, for the report that you have all been waiting for - here is our intrepid reporter Reuben Lindeman on the first meeting of "Spice of Life"!

On Sept. 11, the 4-H club on spices started. I do not mention a name for the club because not all members were present and we didn't have enough suggestions to vote on, so we decided to leave that order of business until the next meeting, which is this Tuesday.

However we did get around to electing people. The people elected for jobs were as follows: President went to Nathan Lindeman (but not with out a political fight from his brother James).

The job of Vice President went to Whitney Hoekstra while her sister, Amber, got the lucky job of Secretary. I, Reuben Lindeman, got to be Press Reporter.

After elections were over we were handed a 136-page book. If it sounds like a long book, you don't have to worry; 50% of it is to color and put pictures and pressed herbs in.

There were 23 different herbs and spices set out in a quiz form.

We had to guess the name of each one. Some of the herbs included were parsley, sage, rosemary, vanilla, lemon balm, and geranium (the flower).

We ended the meeting by eating carrot cake muffins and lemon geranium pound cake as well as ordinary juice. All in all it was a yummy meeting.

If there is anyone out there who would like to join our spice club there is still time just call Margo Patrick, 347-7298.

Till next time in two weeks, Reuben Lindeman.

Full range of services for families offered again this autumn

Eastern Ontario Health Unit News

From old wives tales to high tech advances, sifting through all the information that's now available to anyone expecting a child can be challenging. . . and confusing.

Still, parents want to provide their child with the best possible start in life. That's where the Eastern Ontario Health Unit comes in to the picture.

From helpful, informal prenatal classes to the Birth Companion program, the health unit provides a full range of services to future and new parents. All are free or involve a small fee (which may be waived) for course materials, and are available in the five counties.

"The focus of each program is friendly, reassuring information-sharing, from nutrition to child development," says Patti Gauley of EOHU. She says programs such as Healthy Babies, Healthy Children are especially helpful to parents before and after the birth of their child, because they provide valuable links to a range of community resources. For more information about any health unit program, call Health Line/Appel-santé at 930-7080 or 1 800 267-0852.

Local kitty featured on calendar

Dunvegan

PEGGI CALDER, 527-5293

There's a famous feline at Fiske's Corners.

Ronna Mogelon's calico kitten, Nutmeg, has been chosen as one of the beautiful kittens featured in a wall calendar by Workman Publishing (New York) entitled "The 365 Kittens-A-Year 2001 Calendar". She decorates the April 25th square.

Nutmeg's Glengarry connections include her mother, Cobblestone, who resides in a barn at Fassifern, and two brothers, Smudge and Ginger, who live in a house on Mill Pond, Alexandria.

No "paw"tographs, please!

Anniversary

On Sept. 24, a 160th anniversary service will be celebrated at Kenyon Presbyterian Church.

Former minister Rev. Gordon Fresque will be the speaker for this anniversary and rededication service.

The Ottawa quartet, Northern Reflections, (which counts as a member Richard Cherry, son-in-law of Catherine Dan MacRae) will sing several hymns during the service.

Everyone is welcome and there will be a social hour following.

Please note that this service will start at 2:30 p.m. and there will be no morning service that day.

Remember this song?

Does anyone remember this song? "Little old lady passing by, catching everyone's eye. Little old lady dressed in lace, with a smile on her face. Little bit of business here, little bit of business there. Something all around the square."

One of my mom's friends asked her if she remembered it, which she did, but the tune and correct words escape them both. Please give me a call if you have the words and music.

Of course if it had been written in this day and age, the politically correct version would have to be "Little older person passing by".

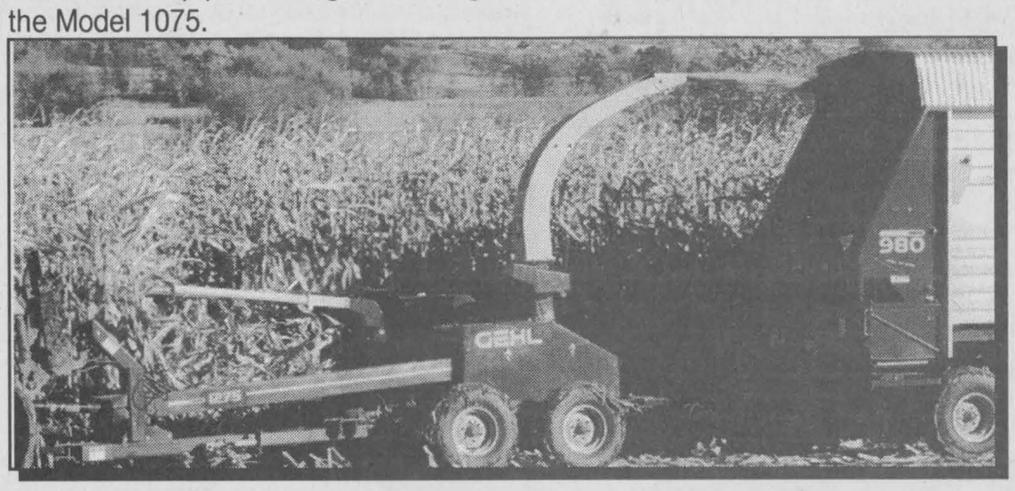
GEHL
Increase Production and Profits WITH A GEHL CROP PROCESSOR™
Waiver of Financing until Oct. 1, 2001
0% FINANCING 36 MONTHS o.a.c.
Gehl offers a choice of crop processing forage harvesters to match your needs.
Better feed starts with better harvesting, and that's what you get with a Gehl crop processing forage harvester. Gehl was first to put crop processing rolls in a pull-type forage harvester. And today Gehl remains the leader with crop processing units designed for both the Model 1275 and the Model 1075.


Gehl Scavenger®
THE ORIGINAL V-TANK SPREADER JUST GOT BETTER!
Why is Scavenger the best?
One big reason is the unique new round-core auger. This auger features segmented paddles grouped in a spiral pattern. This fighting configuration delivers more material to the discharge expeller in less time for faster unloading. The paddles are precisely positioned to deliver more uniform feeding to the discharge expeller. This exceptional design breaks up and blends all types of manure.
The auger is hydraulically powered both up and down (unlike competitive units that use springs, gravity or fixed augers). This design provides more control to chop through bridged material or power down through heavy loads.

KEN MCKENNA

The ongoing story of Ranald Big Jim, Broadaxe Giant from Glengarry, from the tape recording made and read by Lauchlin MacInnes, has certainly raised a lot of interest in this column over the past few months. Hardly a day goes by without someone telling me how much they enjoy it. Lauchlin's cassette is available through me at this paper or by contacting him directly at 3339 Council Ring Rd., Unit 6, Mississauga, ON. L5L 2A9, 905-828-8302.

Last week's segment ended in a cliff-hanger. J.R. Booth, the Lumber King, had arrived in the camp where Ranald was working and issued a challenge: A ten dollar bill to whoever could perform a difficult hewing job in the fastest time. The foreman, of course, immediately called on Ranald.

The outcome of this contest between man and tree will have to wait, however, for another column, because a couple of items have come up in recent articles in The Montreal Gazette which are worth reporting.

The first is from The Gazette of August 20, 2000 and concerns the discovery, on a remote Arctic island, of human remains which may be connected to Sir John Franklin's lost expedition of 1845 to find the Northwest Passage. There were no survivors of the expedition and although some remains had been previously discovered, this latest find is completely new.

According to writer Bob Weber of the Canadian Press, local Inuit in the Nunavut settlement of Gjoa Haven had always known of the location of the remains. There is a strong possibility that other sites will soon be discovered.

A theory persists that one of the causes for the death of Franklin's crew was lead poisoning. The expedition carried supplies of canned meat, a process for preserving food which was new at the time, and scientists speculate that the lead used to seal the cans contaminated the meat. And what's the Glengarry connection?

Well, Finnan the Buffalo's brother, John McDonald, was a big supporter of the Franklin Expedition and was so respected by Lady Franklin that she had a memorial to McDonald erected in Newmarket, Ontario after his death. I hope that John McDonald's support of Franklin's endeavour did not include the supplying of canned goods for the expedition!

Another item of interest, this time in The Montreal Gazette of Sept. 9, 2000, concerns a CBC-McGill concert taking place on Thursday, Sept. 21 at Pollack Hall in Montreal. The programme is described as "a musical tour of the Scottish Highlands." It includes "Three Scottish Songs by Beethoven, four Robert Burns settings by Robert and Clara Schumann... and Mendelssohn's Fingal's Cave."

Two centuries ago, when Beethoven was at the height of his popularity as a composer and Burns was at the height of his fame as a poet, Burns' publisher in Edinburgh commissioned Beethoven to write piano accompaniments to some of Burns' poems and a selection, set to traditional Scottish airs, was sent on to the great composer. He evidently was so entranced by the music that instead of simple piano pieces, he composed complete arrangements for string ensembles.

The Schumanns were also intrigued by the newly-discovered musical treasures of Scotland and Mendelssohn actually joined one of the cruises to Iona that had become the fashion of the day, finding inspiration for his Hebridean Suite of which Fingal's Cave is a part.

These European enthusiasts were inspired by MacPherson's Ossianic poetry (now considered largely spurious), Robert Burns' poetry and Sir Walter Scott's romantic novels. Up to the end of the 18th century, the Scottish Highlands and the people who lived there were virtually unknown to most outsiders (including many Scots) and the general impression was that there was little of interest there. Almost overnight, the picture changed.

Early tourists poured into the areas made famous by Rob Roy, tour boats were launched on Loch Katrine and Loch Lomond and hardy souls braved the stormy seas to visit the fabled Inner Hebrides. Scenery was everything. Many sightseers exulted in the "beauty" of vast depopulated glens. The language, the music and the identity of the Highland people who once lived in the now-deserted valleys were of little or no interest.

Any music composed in those days by outsiders, inspired by enthusiasm for the Highlands, bears no connection to the actual musical heritage of the Gaelic-speaking Highland Scot. That appreciation would take another century.

The concert on Sept. 21 in Montreal promises some beautiful music, but it is mis-named. Rather than "a musical tour of the Scottish Highlands" it should be called "a non-traditional musical tour of the Scottish Highlands" because there doesn't seem to be any authentic Highland music in it.

The Bible tells us, "Those who trust in the Lord for help will find their strength renewed. They will rise on wings like eagles; they will run and not get weary; they will walk and not grow weak," (Isaiah 40:31).

In Through the Out Door:

Cornwall General Hospital Ambulatory Care Centre to Optimize Outpatient Options

Options, education, preparation, follow-up — in the new Ambulatory Care Centre, the whole outpatient experience will be greater than the sum of the parts. And all parts are of equal importance.

"Right now, many outpatient services are run through the Emergency," explains Connie Mattice, Clinical Resource Nurse for Critical Care at the Cornwall General Hospital. "That makes for a very congested unit. Other clinics and offices are scattered throughout the General and the Hotel Dieu. It tends to be disjointed, and duplication is a result. Consolidation will change all that."

When outpatient services consolidate to one site at the Cornwall General Hospital as part of the on-going restructuring mandate, the result will be a new Ambulatory Care Centre (ACC). Separate and distinct from the ER, the ACC will maximize these services with a more streamlined approach that will manage one-day procedures and over a dozen different scheduled clinics.

With the merged caseloads, many of these clinics will expand their services and hours of operation. The Cancer Clinics at both hospitals currently run a total of two to three days per month combined. Once consolidated, the new Cancer Clinic will operate at least two days per week, and expand its local role with chemotherapy.

"We just received the funding to initiate the chemotherapy aspect," says Mattice. "You can't imagine how Cornwall cancer patients will benefit from having that part of their treatment right here."

Diabetic Nurse Natalie Lamothe agrees. "Some people have strong reactions to chemo and it can make them quite sick very quickly. The motion in the car coming home or a longer trip due to bad weather can be very trying after a treatment. Patients shouldn't have the added worry about making it home in time."

Lamothe currently supervises the Diabetes Clinic at the Cornwall General. Once merged with its counterpart from the Hotel Dieu, the new clinic will go from part-time to full-time hours to accommodate the growing number of cases in the Cornwall district.

The Cornwall A-Team (l - r): Connie Mattice, Clinical Resource Nurse for Critical Care; Natalie Lamothe, Diabetes Nurse; Jean Meek, Pre-Admission Officer – Cornwall General Hospital. Nancy Loiselle, Patient Care Coordinator for Community Services – Hotel Dieu Hospital.

"The Canadian Diabetes Association uses the term 'epidemic' in its description of diabetes as a growing disease," Lamothe explains. "In this country, 60,000 new cases are diagnosed every year. Right now, we're working with limited resources. Once we have a full-time clinic with full-time staff, we can provide better education, counselling, support and on-going treatment adjustment."

In 1986, Dr. Thomas Baitz won the Frederick Banting Award — the national award from the Canadian Diabetes Association — for his work at the Cornwall General in developing an innovative multi-disciplinary approach to diabetes management. This approach is still the operative framework used today. "With nurses, internists and registered dieticians, diabetics can access quality care throughout their lifespan," adds Lamothe.

"Reduced waiting time and more quality time for individuals and groups are investments in the good health of the patient. With diabetes being a major risk factor in debilitating conditions such as heart attack, stroke, blindness or kidney failure, controlling the disease is an investment in the health of the community."

Pre-surgery preparation and follow-up are other investments in patient care that will receive more attention in the new ACC.

"Once the new system is in place, we will be seeing everyone for assessment and appropriate lab work beforehand," says Jean Meek, Pre-Admission Officer for the General. "A lot can be done ahead of time — referrals, consultations, teaching. It all makes for less patient anxiety. We do home care referrals after the day surgery is completed, if needed, as follow-up." After consolidation, Meek sees more support for the outpatient. "With all our resources focussed and duplication costs gone, we can offer more pre-operative teaching and more post-operative follow-up more consistently done."

While most services will merge at the General, two top-quality clinics initiated at the Hotel Dieu Hospital will move over as complete units — the Sleep Lab and the Chiropody Clinic. Nancy Loiselle, Patient Care Coordinator for Community Care Services at the Hotel Dieu, sees the coming change as highly beneficial.

"The new Centre will be modern, with a central registration and health records. New equipment will be acquired to augment what is currently in use," she says. "Health care is costly. We will join together to meet the common goal of providing patient care in a cost-effective manner. With outpatient services amalgamated, service delivery will be further enhanced."

"A quieter, more controlled environment," agrees Diabetes Nurse Lamothe. "This means less anxiety coming in, and a much more pleasant outpatient experience."
