Incumbents fall in Glengarry

MacDonald ends Sangster's hold

By Sue Harrington
News Correspondent

South Glengarry voters listened to Dave MacDonald's campaign slogan and decided that the time for change was indeed "now."

MacDonald toppled Reeve Charles Sangster by a 391-vote margin after a hard-fought campaign which saw the two men in a see-saw battle throughout most of it.

And although the trend toward MacDonald became apparent at 8:30 p.m. when the first polls were reported to the crowd of 75 waiting at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre, it wasn't until all polls were in at 10:10, that the congratulatory hand-shake between the reeve and the reeve-elect took place.

MacDonald swept the polls in Martintown, Summerstown, Glen Walter and Green Valley, while Sangster maintained his stronghold in Curry Hill, Bainsville, and North Lancaster. The two men split the polls in Williamstown and Lancaster.

Final tally was 2,778 for MacDonald and 2,387 for Sangster.

The new reeve will lead the old council. Re-elected as councillors were Jim McDonell, (who topped the polls with 3,760 votes), Janette Abbey (3,274) and Ian McLeod (3,150). Defeated candidate, John Lounsberry received 1,646 votes. Deputy-reeve Frank Prevost was returned by acclamation.

MacDonald expressed his pleasure at the win and attributed it in large part to his campaign team and to the voters' desire for change.

"The beat on the street was that they were looking for change," said MacDonald. "They wanted someone with a positive approach who would listen."

MacDonald, the former reeve of Charlottenburgh from 1991 to 1994, promised more open government and said that there had been several "hot issues" which mobilized the voters.

Representatives of MacDonald's team, which he called, "the best campaign team South Glengarry has ever seen", said they were happy to have had the opportunity to tighten up the democratic process.

"It had become a little sloppy over the years," said one of the co-chairs, Jane Foster.

The team made use of many scrutineers on election day, and one of their members organized a workshop educating the public on the rights and responsibilities of election watchdogs.

Foster also said that she was pleased to see that people had started to do some thinking during the campaign.

"Old loyalties can be a bad thing if they go on too long," she said.

In his acceptance speech, MacDonald congratulated his opponent on a very competitive race and pledged to issue an invitation to neighbouring municipalities to work together to share services to the benefit of all.

Sangster, a former Warden of SDG who has been in municipal politics for 20 years, was gracious in defeat, congratulating MacDonald and the members of council.

"I'm sure the township will be in good hands for the next three years," he said.

Sangster, who was formerly Reeve of Lancaster Township, became the first reeve of the amalgamated municipalities of South Glengarry when he beat MacDonald in the 1997 election.

Although the current councillors were returned by the electorate, it was defeated candidate John Lounsberry who drew the loudest round of applause.

Rural wave carries Franklin to victory

By Jason Magder
and Greg Peerenboom

Kenyon ward incumbent Councillor Bill Franklin rounded up a near majority of the rural vote on Monday to narrowly claim the highest seat in the North Glengarry Township Council chambers.

Franklin's victory also ended the tenure of two-term mayor, Grant Crack, who finished third behind political newcomer, Michel Depratto.

Franklin fashioned his victory by capturing 1,571 or 47 per cent of the total 3,347 cast in Kenyon and Lochiel wards. That total accounted for 74.6 per cent of his 2,106 votes. Overall, the two wards accounted for 58.4 per cent of the 5,730 votes cast for the position of North Glengarry Mayor.

In a short victory speech at the Glengarry Sports Palace, Franklin reached out to his former opponents and the general electorate.

"I am here tonight as your servant. And I hope that should I ever appear to forget that in the next three years, I know damn well that some of you will remind me and I hope you will do it," Franklin said.

"It's a time for healing," Franklin said later in a media scrum. "There's a lot of dissension, a lot of division and I think the time for that is over. My first priority is healing. My second priority is water."

Franklin said that public input will be a cornerstone of his mayoralty.

"My particular platform was for open government," Franklin said. "I've got to get those doors open. I want to get the people in. I want some consultation. I would suggest that the next three months are going to be spent talking and listening."

The Laggan-area farmer and former teacher also topped the polls in the smaller Maxville ward, with 188 of 404 votes. His strength in the three rural wards proved sufficient to overcome a weak showing in Alexandria where he garnered only 347 votes.

Outgoing Mayor Grant Crack's strongest showing came in Alexandria where he topped the polls with 780 votes, barely scraping by Depratto. The former Sports Palace manager collected 762 votes, trailing Crack. But with Crack and Depratto splitting the Alexandria vote, neither could keep up to Franklin as the rural poll results came in.

Early returns, mostly from Alexandria, looked to favour these two, but Franklin gradually picked up steam as the evening wore on. By 10 p.m., it was apparent Franklin's lead was permanent.

A large crowd of supporters, many of them affiliated with the North Glengarry Civic Action Group, applauded as Franklin donned his brown leather coat and departed his election night headquarters at the Alexandria Curling Club.

Crack's small lead quickly evaporated, especially in Lochiel, which gave him only 376 votes, less than half of Franklin. Depratto fared better, with 504.

Kenyon proved to be the breaking point. Both Crack and Depratto lagged behind Franklin's count of 790.

After the race was over, Crack spoke to the crowd at the Sports Palace.

"I would like to first of all congratulate Mr. Bill Franklin on his victory this evening," Crack said. "I think Bill is a very honest man. He's very convinced of his abilities and I'm also convinced that Bill is going to do a great job right here in North Glengarry."

Mediator needed for Catholic board

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

A mediator will be called in to try to settle the dispute by the Catholic District School Board of Eastern Ontario and its teachers.

The main issue at dispute is a reduction of preparation time for the teachers from 200 minutes per week to 160. The board made a unilateral change to the collective agreement in September in order to adhere to a no-deficit law imposed by the Ministry of Education

To protest the reduction, teachers have decided not to organize extra-curricular sports.

The board has tried to make up for this by having principals and parents organize some sports. However, there is just so much they can do because there are no organized varsity leagues to participate in.

Teachers said they cannot organize varsity sports because of a lack of time for their students.

"But there are a lot of other issues that (the board) hasn't even dealt with," said Peter Peckham, president of the Ontario English Catholic Teacher's Association. "We're looking for improvements in the maternity-leave clause, bereavement-leave clause, the transfer clause and the posting of vacancies, the travelling between schools and the benefits package. The board's latest offer didn't address any of this."

The board's latest offer came on Oct. 20. They dipped into reserves from plant and maintenance to offer two days of the year, dedicated to preparation.

"They'd be in the school or the board office, doing curriculum devel-

Rural wave carries Franklin to victory

Later on, second-place finisher Michel Depratto told the crowd that his work in the municipality will continue.

"I had fun, and I will continue as of tomorrow morning to work with the rest of the people of North Glengarry," Depratto said. "I'm still the president of the Glengarry Soccer League. I'm still in minor hockey. I will still represent the minor hockey in Ottawa. I'm still with the Lions Club, in the Chamber of Commerce, and that continues tomorrow morning."

Five new faces on Council

It will be very fresh council for North Glengarry, starting in December. The only returnee besides Franklin is Alexandria ward Councillor Gary Shepherd, who was acclaimed.

But there is also plenty of municipal council experience.

William Hagen of Glen Robertson is back after a three-year absence. He will again occupy the vice seat as deputy-mayor, as was the case in Lochiel between 1991-97.

"Our new council will likely have a little bit of a different vision. However, we will do the best possible work for each and every one of you," Hagen said.

He turned aside a solid challenge mounted by Maxville resident, Maryanne Kampouris. Hagen, a prominent farmer, relied on overwhelming support in Lochiel and Alexandria where he collected a total 2,229 votes to Kampouris's 1,300.

However, Kampouris, an educator, took Kenyon and Maxville with 851 and 235 votes, respectively. Hagen's rural popularity gave him a close second in Kenyon with 787. He had 161 in Maxville.

"It was likely experience," Hagen later said about the reason for his victory. "I've been in council before as councillor, a deputy reeve, and I believe I can continue in that grain."

The only lopsided result was for councillor-at-large.

Retired Ontario Provincial Police detective Chris McDonell had an easy ride, as he swept aside former lawyer Lionel Lustgarten of Dornie Road.

McDonell was the only candidate to win more than 1,000 votes in the three big wards. His total of 3,871 tripled Lustgarten's 1,213.

"I was kind of surprised. Lionel is a smart old fellow," McDonell said.

The life-long Glengarrian, who has been active in sports, said familiarity played a big part.

Among the three ward races, the closest was in Lochiel. But in the end, Ron MacDonell, the one-time long-serving Lochiel Township Reeve, survived a late charge by incumbent Claude Massie, winning 913 to 737.

In Kenyon, farmer Julie Akkermans pulled ahead of corner-store operator Graham Johnson late in the evening to win with 741. Johnson had 526, while former firefighter Ubald Cardinal managed 374.

Another former reeve, George Currier, is also back at the council table. He doubled up on Brian Wensink, who fell short of filling the shoes left by his wife, Johanne. Currier collected 282 votes to Wensink's 131.

Currier was confident of the result.

"It was what I expected going in," he said, claiming the electorate wanted someone with experience.

"They knew my record as Reeve. And they know I'm retired and I have a lot of time to serve the people."

MacDonald triumphs

"I'd like to thank John for a good run," said Jim McDonell. "It's always good to have an election."

Lounsberry forced the election when he submitted his name in the race at the 11th hour.

"Even though the numbers are not there, I feel good," he said. "Bringing myself forward has brought a lot of issues to light. I think there will be a more open year and we will get more feedback."

Abbey said that for the next three years she is going to carry on as she has been doing, promising to be "fair, true, and trustworthy."

McLeod, who had come under fire at several of the all-candidates meetings, termed the election "an interesting process. It was somewhat different."

The election in South Glengarry was not without incident. On the weekend what amounted to hate literature against Sangster was posted on shop-front windows in Lancaster and Bainsville, by a person or persons unknown.

And on election day itself, three workers were unable to take up their posts at the polls, forcing the use of two previously trained substitutes – and the municipality's administrator/co-ordinator Marcel Lapierre.

"I found out what it's like in the trenches," Lapierre said.

opment, and preparation," said school board chair, Nancy Kirby.

Kirby added the teachers would have to negotiate with their administrators on how they plan to spend the time.

"It would not be a day to go golfing. They would either be doing professional development or curriculum development, or preparation. It could even be preparing report cards if that's what they chose to do. They would develop a plan with their principal," Kirby said.

Peckham said the union rejected the offer because it did not give enough time to the teachers, who are asking for five days to make up for the time lost in preparation.

The OECTA offered the board a 160-minute per week, five-day package, which would make up for the lost minutes. Teachers would be able to spend this time on various aspects of program planning.

"The board's offer said that all of this banked time would be curriculum-related," Peckham said. "From our point of view, that's only one aspect of preparation time. There's planning, evaluation, reporting, meeting with students, calling parents. there's a wide spectrum of things that occur during teacher's preparation time."

Peckham was not aware that the board's plan included the possibility of writing reports.

"That's interesting to hear, because they never mentioned that to us. But the board's decision will be final, so if they don't like it, they won't approve it."

The teachers' offer to the board was to bank the minutes lost in preparation time and then have five days off. The board would hire more qualified substitute teachers to make up for the five days lost. However, they would not have to hire more full-time teachers, thus saving $400,000-500,000, according to Peckham.

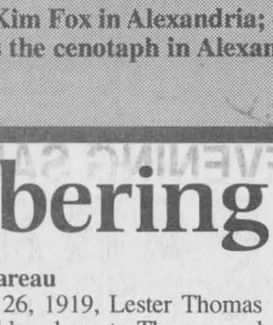
Remembering Private Ryan

By John Gareau

Born in Lancaster, Ont., Feb. 26, 1919, Lester Thomas Ryan was the second of six children born to Thomas and Eva Ryan. He was my mother's oldest brother. To say they came from humble beginnings would be a gross understatement.

He attended "Ontario School", from the ages of six to fifteen and was employed as a baker and deliverer for Langault's Bakery in Lancaster from 1934-1940. He was earning $15/week that summer when he decided to enlist for active service in the Canadian Armed Forces. On July 4, 1940 he joined the SD&G Highlanders and was posted to Kingston for basic training. He was later transferred to Halifax, N.S., to complete his basic training.

On July 22, 1941, Lester and the SD&G Highlanders left for what John Angus McDonald calls "a boat ride". John Angus is resident of Cornwall and at that time was a WW2 veteran, and a fellow Highlander, assigned to "D" Company 16th Platoon. He has been an invaluable source of information for this article and a first class gentleman.



Pte. Lester Ryan

Accompanied by the bulk of the 3rd Canadian Division, approximately 17,000 men embarked from Halifax, NS and disembarked at Avonmouth, England, July 31, 1941. According to John Angus, that boat ride was courtesy of a ship called the "ORION". They were part of a convoy of three-four fast passenger ships, protected by "a large, fast armed escort consisting of destroyers and sub-hunters". These were the fastest ships of the day and were necessary to outrun the German U-boats patrolling the Atlantic at the time. The reason for the relatively long time span of ten days to cross the Atlantic was due to the fact they 'dodged about', including going into the North Atlantic to decrease the likelihood of meeting any German submarines. Pressed about the fear of being sunk by German U-boats, Mr. McDonald reiterated that, "these were very fast ships we were on. The Germans would have had to be really lucky to intercept us."

Lloyd MacDonald of Main Street, Lancaster, tells the following humorous story about Uncle Lester during their stay in England:

"When payday would come on Friday, the boys liked to go out for a drink and Lester was certainly no exception. One Thursday night, just before payday, Lester decided he and a few of the boys were in the mood to go to one of the local pubs but they had no money because it wasn't payday until tomorrow. Lester suggested they take so-and-so's boots and sell them down in London and go drinking with that money. His companion thought this was a good idea, so off he goes and comes back, boots in hand. They sold them and went drinking with the money. They apparently had a good time by all accounts and it wasn't until the next day that Lester discovered his friend had taken Lester's very own spare pair of boots and those were the ones they sold."

The Glens landed at Juno beach, at Berniere-sur-Mer, behind the 8th Brigade, at approximately 1100 hours, the 6th of June 1944 and quickly reassembled into battle order ready to advance.

Their mission was to follow up assaulting troops and secure the beachhead for the buildup of troops and machinery that would be necessary for the push to Germany. Once this buildup was accomplished, the Glens were to capture Caen and Carpiquet Airport to provide suitable landing fields for the Allies; the Glens encountered limited opposition on June 6.

There was however, ample evidence of the carnage that had preceded them. Lined up behind the seawall, were the bodies of their fallen comrades, "covered with a blanket of course, but their boots were sticking out. We knew all along this wasn't just an exercise, but seeing it with your own eyes really drives that point home. We knew we were in a battle for our lives now."

Once the 8th Brigade had moved forward, the Glens pushed up the coastal area inland about three miles to Beny-sur-Mer, where slit trenches were dug. Today, this location is home to Beny-sur-Mer Cemetery, where many of our veterans are buried, including Lance Corporal Francis McDonald, brother to John Angus, and Private Gordon Lapierre, best friend to Lester T. Ryan. John Angus tells me it is the first cemetery after the beach; you can't miss it.

They were instructed to remain at Beny-sur-Mer for the night. The Glens lost only one soldier on "D" Day - Private Bert Box was killed by mortar fire and became the first Glen casualty of the Normandy invasion.

Their first battle came the following day, June 7 1944, near a village called Villons-les. It lasted three days until June 10th. During "The Baptism of Fire", the Glens suffered 30 casualties. The fighting was so intense, the area became known by the Glens as "Hell's Corners".

During the period from June 11 to July 7, the Glens engaged in several battles and lost 14 additional men. Their objective was to secure the initial beachhead and an area inland for about 10 miles. They were waiting for General Montgomery to build up the beachhead, in preparation for the Breakout.

The Breakout came at 0730 hours on the 8th of July 1944, with plans for an attack on Gruchy, and Chateau St. Louet. This operation was known as Operation Charnwood and the role of the Glens was to assault and capture Gruchy, one of the outer defenses of the city of Caen, and the strongly held Chateau St. Louet, then reorganize and exploit their success.

The attack on the Chateau was assigned to "C" Company, under the command of Major Archie (A D.) MacDonald, brother to Lloyd of Main Street, Lancaster. Moreover, Private Ryan's No. 15 Platoon, led by Lieutenant D. C. Stewart, was to be the assaulting platoon.

The Chateau was a stone building, surrounded by a high stone fence. The property was well fortified and strongly defended by German troops. During this one single day, the Glens would lose 34 of their comrades.

"C" Company approached to about 300 yards of the building and occupied enemy slit trenches in a grain field while artillery was pounding the area in front. Major Archie (A.D.) MacDonald was severely wounded by a German grenade while directing the attack, and died from his wounds on July 10. Since No.15 Platoon was the assaulting platoon, they attacked from the centre, with No.13 Platoon on the extreme right and No.14 Platoon on the right flank.

No. 13 Platoon was pinned down by machine gun fire and it was here that Private Gordon Lapierre was killed. Private Alec Beggs of No. 14 Platoon was killed by sniper fire. The Chateau was, by this time, just a heap of ruins. No.15 Platoon reached its objective and captured over 30 prisoners. Lieutenant J. McKinnell of No.14 Platoon took over command of the company when Major MacDonald was evacuated.

Private Ryan would go on to finish out the war, even going so far as to volunteer for service in the "Pacific Theatre" on May 19, 1945. Those services never materialized due to the war ending shortly thereafter. He was discharged in November 1945 and returned to civilian life.

I did not know my uncles well but I am thankful everyday for the bravery and courage displayed by our fighting men when it was so desperately needed. On this Remembrance Day, I want to say "thank you" to veterans everywhere for keeping the horrors from our shores.

The challenge that lies ahead for new councils

In politics, there is no humane way to say thanks to an incumbent and at the same time dispense with his or her services. The dynamic of the ballot box dictates that inevitably the message will be both harsh and cruel – almost to the point of saying: 'Get lost.' Such was the case Monday night in South and North Glengarry as voters tendered their verdicts respectively on the records of Reeve Charles Sangster and Mayor Grant Crack.

If there is any consolation to the two outgoing heads of council, it can be drawn from the fact that both lost to experienced, qualified opponents.

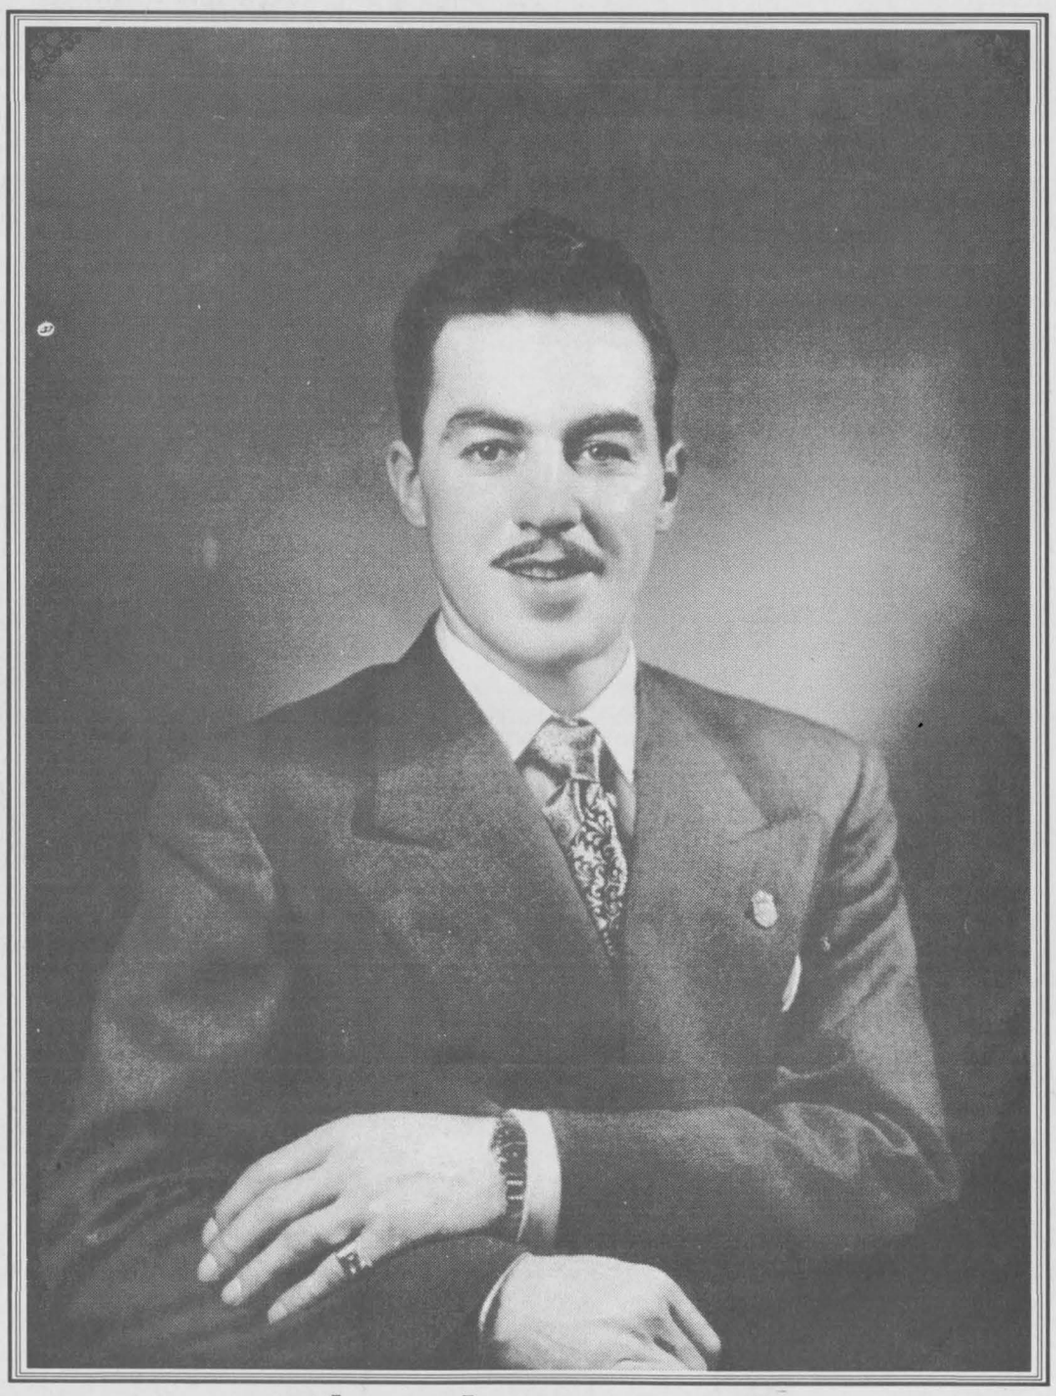
If there is any consolation to the two outgoing heads of council, it can be drawn from the fact that both lost to experienced, qualified opponents. In the case of North Glengarry, however, Crack also finished behind newcomer, Mike Depratto, who more than made up for any lack of previous council experience with his drive and determination throughout the campaign. Of the three, Depratto was the most active in door-to-door canvassing and it showed in Alexandria ward where he finished a close second to Crack, in the process effectively ending any hopes that the incumbent entertained for a second term as North Glengarry mayor. In fact, it's not unreasonable to speculate that Depratto might well have been the new mayor of North Glengarry if hadn't been for the fact that he was the third person in the race, and the victorious candidate, Bill Franklin, effectively controlled the margin of vote in the two big rural constituencies of Lochiel and Kenyon and the small urban ward of Maxville.

In South Glengarry, Monday night's vote reversed the decision of three years ago when the long-serving Sangster defeated Dave MacDonald in a three-way race. This time around, the former reeve of Charlottenburgh Township capitalized on that connection to overcome a sizable majority that Sangster enjoyed in the former Township of Lancaster. MacDonald fashioned a sizable plurality of some 857 votes, garnering 65 per cent of the 2,948 votes cast in the former Charlottenburgh. That performance contrasted the outcome in the less-populous area that once comprised Lancaster Township which Sangster calls home. There, the incumbent reeve captured 64 per cent of the vote but his 439-vote margin of victory proved insufficient to overcome the lead built up by MacDonald in the west end of the new municipality. Only in Green Valley did the vote not split along old municipal boundary lines. MacDonald carried both wards, winning the former Lancaster ward, encompassing voters on the east side of County Road 34, by a count of 123 to 112 and also carrying the west side by a 61 to 28.

Despite their defeats, both Grant Crack and Charles Sangster can draw some solace from the fact that their communities are better places as a result of their past terms in office. Taxes are down, services have been consolidated and a good number of the difficult issues that resulted from the process of amalgamation have passed. Clearly, though, considerable work remains to be done. As was evident in both elections, many people still think of themselves in terms of those past municipal identities. In virtually all of the contests, voters clearly divided along geographical lines.

Although Dave MacDonald, Bill Franklin and the new members of their respective councils will enjoy a brief honeymoon period that is traditionally accorded to recently elected office holders, regardless of political stripe or position, old wounds can easily be reopened to the detriment of their communities as a whole. The process of developing a new generation of civic voters who ultimately will identify with the new entities of North and South Glengarry has barely begun. Their future success and that of their constituents rests on the ability of the new councils to bring people together, rather than divide them any further. In that context, we join with their supporters in wishing them well in that and other future endeavours.

The process of developing a new generation of civic voters who ultimately will identify with ... North and South Glengarry has barely begun.



Alexandria commando

Joseph Taillefer, formerly of Alexandria, was a sergeant in a special commando unit of the Princess Patricia Regiment during the Second World War. He served for five and half years until he was captured by the Germans, tortured and left for dead. He was found and spent one and half years in hospital recuperating. Here he is pictured after the war. On his finger is a ring he took from a German officer. Submitted photo

Comparing guesses and the real thing

FIRST PE(E)RSON

GREG PEERENBOOM

I decided to save myself a lot of grief this year. Unlike three years ago, I did not publicly rate the candidates based on their performances at the all-candidate meetings in North Glengarry.

Instead, I sit here Monday afternoon, a few hours before the polls close and predict who will win in both Glengarry townships. Who I voted for is another matter and we'll be kept private to keep one or more zealous supporters – or the candidates themselves – from jumping up and shouting, "I knew it! I knew he was slanting those articles for him (or her)."

You have to trust me that I did not change them after finding out the result. Besides it's worth commenting on why someone did or did not win. . . and if I flop on this one, some people, I'm sure, will have fun pointing at the egg on my face.

North Glengarry Township Council

Mayor – Michel (Mike) Depratto: Big Mike squeezes out a narrow victory over runner-up current Kenyon ward Councillor Bill Franklin, who gets little town support. Incumbent Grant Crack finishes a close third after getting virtually shut out of Lochiel. Depratto appeared to log the most miles and shook the most hands. He also fared well at the all-candidate meetings. Most importantly for him was he is a well-known face and personality in the township. That being said, it probably helped that he was the only first-language francophone. Maybe it's controversial to say this, but it's likely there is a significant portion of the francophone community which sided with Depratto for this reason also.

Reality – Oh, one wrong, but I was right about Franklin not getting much out of Alexandria and Crack's weak Lochiel showing.

Why Franklin won? His opponents cancelled each other out in their strongholds, and he, with his strong organization, got a consistent turnout everywhere else.

As for Depratto, it's reassuring that few people appeared to vote simply along linguistic lines in North Glengarry. That's the way it should be.

Deputy-mayor – William Hagen beats Maryanne Kampouris. It's the story of the old guard coming through over a neophyte. Hagen has been around municipal politics and agricultural circles for many, many years. He was well prepared to take on any topic in the debates. Kampouris had a lot to overcome, especially among rural voters who have deep roots.

Reality – Now I'm batting .500. Came pretty close to calling this correctly, although Hagen and Kampouris did better than expected in Alexandria and Kenyon, respectively.

Councillor-at-large – Chris McDonell: The former police detective probably has more background in this county than anyone. Poor Lionel Lustgarten didn't. Unfortunately, he could have made a fine councillor; but McDonell is going to do quite alright, that's why his many friends, relatives and acquaintances embraced his candidacy.

Reality – Really, this was a no brainer.

Kenyon ward Councillor – Ubald Cardinal: The folksy firefighter had them howling with laughter at Greenfield. With a good all-around life experience behind him, he had enough to beat out runner-ups Julie Akkermans and Graham Johnson.

Reality – OK, I blew this one, but frankly, I really didn't know too much about this race, back to .500.

Lochiel ward Councillor – Ron MacDonell: Why would you not vote for someone who was a reeve for 16 years, as opposed to Claude Massie, who was neither a reeve or deputy-reeve?

Reality – Who knows if this was the answer, but at least I got it right. Now three for five.

Maxville ward Councillor – George Currier: Another former reeve who shrugged off a good challenge from Brian Wensink. Currier's another with lots of experience and plenty of connections with the village residents.

Reality – That was pretty much Currier's belief.

I finish the North at .667 or C+.

Alexandria ward Councillor Gary Shepherd was acclaimed.

South Glengarry Township Council

I have to admit, I don't know South Glengarry half as well as I do the North, but heck, there's only two to call.

Reeve – Dave MacDonald: It comes right down to the wire, but just a few more voters think it's time for a change than those who are satisfied with the way things are. Add in a large block of anti-Sangster voters from South Lancaster and there you have it.

Reality – Hey, there is more widespread dissension than I thought, as MacDonald wins in by almost 400. I guess I forgot about the County Road 2 residents, who saw so many trees cut down. I'm up to 71 per cent.

Councillors (three) – Jim McDonell (see his brother, Chris, above). Janette Abbey gets second based on the public's perception of her as fighter for the common citizen. John Lounsberry knocks off Ian McLeod, who had his share of bad publicity (deserved, undeserved?) over the South Lancaster water and sewage escapade.

Reality – Oops, Lounsberry got creamed. McLeod's overall performance was more than enough to compensate for the South Lancaster troubles.

I finish at seven of 10 for a B-.

Deputy-reeve Frank Prevost was acclaimed.

LETTERS

Here's why I resigned

To the editor,

I was a member of the North Glengarry Township Economic Development Committee. By letter I tendeded my resignation to the then acting chairperson of this committee. Why?

I was, with five other members part of an adhoc committee who met in a small side room at the Atlantic Hotel to discuss the closure of the Nestle Alexandria plant.

We discussed at length with the chairperson taking on the tasks of contacting MP Don Boudria, our provincial MLA, Jean-Marc Lalonde, the big Toronto Nestle people, etc. This involved a lot of correspondence. Suddenly a member of our adhoc committee said and I quote him here to his exact words - "Listen, we are doing a lot of work here - we certainly don't want Grant Crack to get the credit for our hard work." Taken by surprise, the five other adhoc committee members kept a surprised silence. I looked at this person sitting across the table form me and I quote my own personal words here now - "Well, Crack is the people's elected representative for North Glengarry and work that we, as committees do, will automatically be credit to him.

I resigned three weeks later from this group. In the world of politics, when a group of self-appointed people who work against the North Glengarry voter-elected council under the mask of the good word, volunteerism, anarchy is produced. We have witnessed, at all our North Glengarry Council meetings for the past three years, how this little group has put undue pressure on the administration and, sucked in some of our elected representatives, is I say again causing anarchy, which is now the disruptive element in North Glengarry.

When I vote, I give my trust to the candidates who get elected November 13th. Any candidate in bed and having been pressured and who expounds people's volunteerism when it actually is a little group of constant disunity and practicing anarchy is repulsive.

I will vote Crack who with dignity and intelligence withstood this onslaught of insults for the past three years and has done a first rate job with his council to to give the voter an excellent financial balance sheet, all within the hard choices of amalgamation.

Wolf population decreasing

To the editor,

I am sure that the people of Eastern Ontario would be surprised and upset to know that wolf populations remain at low levels or are declining here. In other areas of the province, the population of wolves is much healthier and, in some parts, the population is actually increasing. The Ministry of Natural Resources, the government department responsible for the wolf, has not made this decline widely known.

With winter fast approaching and the hunting months upon us, I would like to highlight some concerns about the plight of wolves which are unnecessarily , and some would say senselessly, killed either for their fur or simply because they are considered "competitor" animals.

Here in Ontario, there is no closed hunting season for wolves - except for three winter months in three townships near Algonquin Park. As there are no bag limits on wolves - you may kill as many as you come across. Unfortunately, this also includes pups which hold the key to a healthy population in the future.

Wolf numbers have dropped significantly since the Europeans first arrived in Ontario. Currently there are thought to be less than 8,000 left in the province. This is only a rough estimate - there have been no serious wolf inventories done by the Ministry of Natural Resources. In truth, there is no wolf management plan for the province - even though the wolf, as a high level predator, is essential to the health of deer, moose and beaver populations. This despite the fact that the wolf naturally keeps these prey populations in check.

Unfortunately, European tales and stories such as Little Red Riding Hood and many of Aesop's fables have unfairly painted the wolf in a bad light. In fact, far from being a threat to people, there has never been a documented case of a healthy wild wolf killing a human in North America. In comparison, more than 20 people are killed and three million attacked each year by the domestic dog.

It is time that the Ontario government put serious energy and thought into creating a management plan for wolves in Ontario. The open season and lack of a bag limit must be eliminated.

Shall Eastern Ontario too lose the noble wolf as many European countries have? Our neighbour to the south, so recently without the wolf, lists the wolf as an endangered species and even has begun successful reintroduction programmes in the western states. Why does our own government take such an opposite view to the status of the wolf? Surely the time for the government of Ontario to act to preserve the wolf is now!

Negative once again

To the editor:

G-News emphasizes the negative, again!

In reference to the Glengarry in Brief of Oct. 18, I have to point out that the lead and the story exaggerate the negative, as so often, and some very important facts are omitted.

I agree with council members that Mrs. MacDonald was unjustly treated – but NOT by our council! It was our government that got stuck with another clean-up. As mentioned, that bill was one of $150,000 of drainage work bills that were not invoiced by the Lochiel Government and is still outstanding. It was also not explained that these bills are payable according to the Ontario Drainage Law by all upstream land owners.

Hopefully the rest of the drain will also be cleaned, and soon, so that it actually drains.

The Glengarry News, please try to report the whole story in future and don't take it upon yourself to judge or editorialize or lay blame, even indirectly, when writing news reports! That is what editorials are for!

Thank you,

Michael Johl,
Kenyon ward

An art form and a business

ARTS SCENE

LORNA FOREMAN, 347-1338

I have always been fascinated by photographs; they capture a frozen moment in time that can provide memories, evoke strong emotions and serve as records of events.

Myron Ulczak of St. Bernardin, runs his photography business out of his basement studio.

Myron and his family are originally from Montreal and only moved here about eight years ago.

"My parent lived here for about twenty years," Myron explained. "So we knew the area and I always felt at home here. We live on a small, non-operating farm just outside of St. Bernardin.

"I studied photography in Montreal," he said. "Took Creative Arts at Dawson College which included cinema and video."

Then studied at Concordia taking Communication Studies which involved all media including television. Even did some journalism. While I never did a lot of video work, I do occasionally make wedding videos for people."

Myron works a lot in black and white, a format I truly like as I find colour sometimes distracts from the impact of the image. Even weddings today seem to be going to black and white photography.

Myron's business, Caledonia Photography, is in the basement of his home but it is not your ordinary basement. He designed the home studio himself and allowed 10-foot ceilings making it a perfect studio. His darkroom sits in one corner and there is a table ready for product shots, plus, of course props for portraits.

Surrounding us the walls are covered with examples of his work. He does a lot of portraits, some of which are done with a 4-inch x 5-inch format camera. The detail is incredible.

"I carry a camera all the time," Myron told me. "Even if it is just a little one.

"I do most of my own black and white developing. There is a lab in Ottawa I use for my colour but on occasion I rent lab facilities when I want to do my own colour work.

Since just recently I interviewed a photographer who used digital camera, I was curious to see if Myron went into digitally produced images.

"I try not to manipulate images that way," Myron told me.

"I guess you could call me a traditionalist. I feel that I must understand what the film will capture, manipulate the light, and help the film see what I want it to see. There are also ways of controlling the image during processing.

I am always curious as to the steps. If I wanted a portrait done this is basically what would happen. It helps if I (client) had an idea of what they wanted. Myron would set up a background and make sure I was relaxed.

Not everyone loves being in front of a camera. A roll of film would be shot and then, once processed comes the decision – which one. Of course we all see ourselves differently and often, the proof that Myron thinks best, is not the client's favourite. I can attest to that since I dislike the photograph used for this column but then I always want miracles done.

"Weddings are wonderful moments to capture," Myron said. "I try to avoid contrived shots."

Myron also does product shots, photos for advertising as well as artists' promotional shots.

"I love gardening, cooking and carpentry," Myron said. "But I am trying to cut back on these things and really focus on the photography."

Myron's work will be represented at the Arbor Gallery's "Christmas Small Works Show" along with several other artists. It takes place Nov. 23 through Dec. 10. Not all his work are portraits and weddings. The show will include landscape photographs. Hours of the gallery are noon to 5 p.m. and it is located at 44 Home Avenue, Vankleek Hill. Call 678-5086 for more information.

Myron Ulczak can be reached at 678-6657 or his web site is www.hawknet.ca/photography.

Author sheds light on writing

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

Children in Grade 4-8 got to meet one of their favorite authors first hand at St. Joseph's Elementary School last Friday.

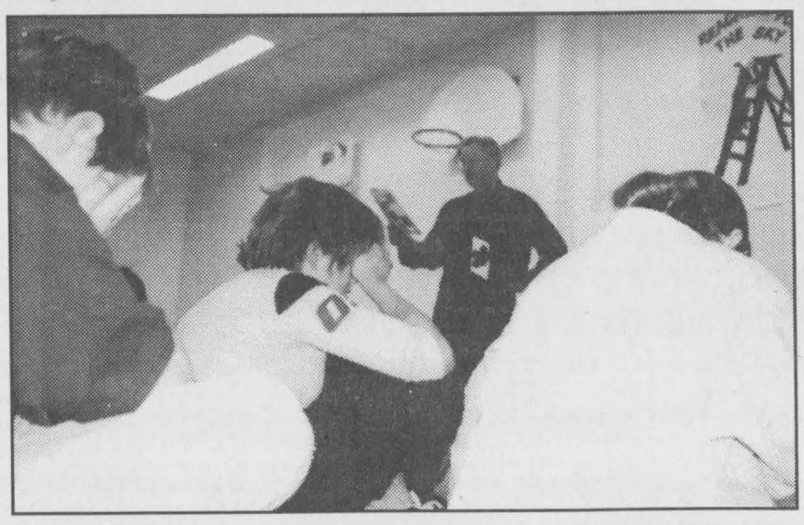
Ottawa-born author Eric Wilson, who penned Spirit in the Rainforest, as well as St. Andrew's Werewolf, came to speak to the children about the joys of reading and writing.

"The best way to enjoy a mystery is in the dark," Wilson told students, teachers and parents from St. Joseph's and Alexander Schools. "So can everyone please cover their eyes, adults included, while I read to you my latest short story."

Wilson did not read the complete the story, rather he photocopied the ending and gave it to the teachers so the students can write their own endings.

Wilson also told the children they should try to incorporate all five senses into their stories. He then asked the children to give him examples on how this could be done.

Wilson's visit lasted two hours and during that time he handed out close to 50 autographed postcards of his newest book, Escape from Big Muddy. The postcards were given to students who volunteered to help Wilson during his presentation and to those who answered his questions correctly.



"The best way to enjoy a mystery is in the dark," Eric Wilson tells Alexander and St. Joseph's Schools' students in St. Joe's auditorium during his recent visit there. Staff photo – Jason Magder

Wilson also spoke to the children about the research he has done to write his books, which take place in different Canadian vistas.

"Whenever I first get to a place where I know I'm going to write my book, the first thing I do is I ask myself what kind of real-life crime can happen in this place?" Wilson said.

He suggested to students that if they want to write, they should write about something that is familiar.

"Think about a time when you felt a strong emotion," Wilson said. "When you felt really happy or really scared, and write about that."

Wilson's presentation lasted from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. before leaving to give another presentation to a school in Ottawa. His visit was part of a tour that he does throughout the year. Wilson will be touring Ontario and Washington State this year. He will visit about 100 schools altogether. His next book is due out in September of next year. The first chapter, as well as information on how to get Wilson to a school is posted on his website: www.ericwilson.com.

Child Struck by car on Main Street

Police Briefs

A three-year-old boy was struck by a car in Alexandria as he was crossing Main Street on Nov. 6.

The toddler was on the street when a 1992 Cadillac came onto Main Street from Anik Street and struck the child. He suffered minor injuries and was taken by ambulance to Glengarry Memorial Hospital. No charges were laid against the 40-year-old Glen Robertson driver.

Man dies on Hwy 401

A 44-year-old man from Macedon, NY was pronounced dead at the scene last Wednesday, when his 1997 Lexus strayed from the roadway on the eastbound lane of Hwy 401. Speed was probably a factor as his car went over the median and then came back onto the roadway, police said.

His car was found stopped against a tree in the ditch on the South side of the Highway.

Man assaults mom, brother and dog

The mother of an 18-year-old Alexandria man said her son became aggressive and punched the family dog and his 12-year-old brother, before throwing a rug and Christmas decorations at her last Saturday night.

None of the victims needed treatment for their injuries and the suspect was brought to Cornwall Jail where he was charged with two counts of assault and one count of breach of probation.

Afternoon drunk driving

The driver of a 1988 Ford Thunderbird was stopped for speeding at 12:30 last Friday afternoon, on the Eastbound 417.

When stopped, he was found to have open liquor in his car. After failing an alcohol test, he was arrested for impaired driving.

Fire in Lancaster leaves police with no clues

South Glengarry's fire department responded to a fire on Second Line Road, near the municipal dump last Sunday.

When they arrived, they found no one around, only the burnt remains of a maroon Ford Mustang. The OPP are currently trying to identify the car.

Health Unit hires Clingen, Poirier

The Eastern Ontario Health Unit (EOHU) announced this week the hiring of Keith Clingen and Jean Poirier for the newly-created, key positions of community relations officers .

From 1995 to 1999, Clingen, of Martintown, was special assistant to Noble Villeneuve, then provincial minister of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs. For 32 years, he worked in radio broadcasting, notably with a Cornwall radio station. Clingen is also a past president of the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce.

Poirier, currently president of the Association Canadienne Française de l'Ontario de Prescott et Russell, was the member of the Legislative Assembly for Prescott and Russell from 1984 to 1995.

Prior to that, Poirier worked as economic development officer within Prescott and Russell. A graduate of environmental studies from the University of Waterloo, Poirier was parliamentaryP assistant to the Environment Minister and Official Opposition critic for that ministry.

Dr. Robert Bourdeau, medical officer of health and director general of the EOHU, underlined the community relations officers' important role.

"We've created these new positions to ensure that public health issues are on the public's agenda," said Dr. Bourdeau. "It's important that we raise awareness of the Health Unit's mandate and issues in order to reach public health goals."PP

"We're delighted that Mr. Clingen and Mr. Poirier have accepted to join our team. We're confident they'll provide a strong link between the health unit and the general public, including educators, business owners and elected municipal and school officials, among others," said Dr. Bourdeau.

Mayoralty candidates zone in on students

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

It was just another stop in the campaign trail, but this time many of the people the mayoral candidates were addressing will not be voting in the upcoming election.

"I'm not really sure if I should tell the prospective voters this but I was the enemy for 34 years," Bill Franklin said, in the cafeteria of Glengarry District High School, in front of about 100 students on Thursday morning. "I taught, was a department head and a principal."

Students got to hear comments from all three mayoral candidates from North Glengarry: Franklin, Grant Crack and Mike Depratto as well as the South Glengarry candidates for reeve: Charles Sangster and Dave MacDonald.

The candidates' speeches drew largely on ones made at the four all-candidates meetings. After that, students had the chance to ask questions.

After a few seconds of apprehensiveness, students came up to the microphone and let the candidates know about their concerns.

"We've been without our extra-curricular sports since September," said Dawn MacLennan, 16, who was part of a protest on the issue the previous day. "I was wondering what you could do for us."

Depratto said the situation is serious.

"It's extremely important that we have extra-curricular activities," Depratto said. "Right now there is a problem with the provincial government and the teachers union. If this drags on, the community should get involved and offer programs."

Franklin said the problem was more than a municipal issue. He encouraged students to take matters into their own hands.

"From where you sit, I know it's a very clear issue. Either you have the activities or you haven't," Franklin said. "From where we sit it's a little more difficult. It's between the province and the teachers federation. It's important that you become involved. The opportunity is here for you to speak with both sides and make your issues known so that when the decision is finally made, it's one that suits your needs."

Crack agreed that the municipality had a limited role to play in the issue.

"Municipal politicians should not get involved in the affairs of the education system," Crack said. "But we at the Township of North Glengarry have been very committed to updating our recreation facilities. We're also supporting youth programs. This is important because as you lose things in life, there has to be something there to replenish it."

After the first question period, students heard speeches and asked questions to Sangster and MacDonald.

"What measures would you take to bring business into South Glengarry?" asked Shannon Hardy, 16, and in Grade 11.

"One of the biggest problems we have in our municipalities is infrastructure," Sangster said. "To be in any type of business, you need to have water, sewage and roads to make those things work. Right now we're working with the City of Cornwall to construct an overpass over CNR railways. We put a water main that's going in as we speak for the sewage on the east side of Boundary Road. I think this will help small and medium industry to move into our area."

MacDonald said the township has to create the proper climate for businesses.

"We need to put a committee together to look at strategies to promote our municipality. We haven't defined areas for development. You have to put roads in and have your land available. You can't sell when you have nothing on your shelf."

Afterwards students were glad to have the opportunity to have the candidates addressing their issues, but for many it did not clear anything up.

"I thought it was too confusing for my mind," said Grade 11 student Shawn Verkuylen, 15. "I think they kind of back-tracked around the answers a little bit, but overall I think they did a pretty good job."

The event was particularly helpful for Michelle Carrière, an 18-year-old OAC student, who is voting for the first time.

"Based on this meeting I was able to make a decision on who I am going to vote for. I went to the meeting in Greenfield yesterday, and this one was a lot better," she said.

"I'm doing my independent study on Pierre Trudeau. The reason why he was so great is because he went over the politics and looked at the people. And I think one of those guys said that we're going to look at the people. The people are going to be heard. I thought that was great."

Second World War veteran at Diner's Club

GLEN ROBERTSON

COLETTE SAUVÉ
874-2076

Standing together at Glen Robertson's Social Centre, Frank Brooker, left, and Derrek Weatherston fought in France together during the second World War. They are standing next to fellow WWII veterans J.P. Prieur and Howard Barclay. In the middle is a uniform that was worn in the war. The display was one of many put up by veterans for the remeberance day dinner on Thursday afternoon.

Staff photo – Jason Magder

Howard Barclay, Second World War veteran who served in the First Corps Infantry attached to the British 8th Wing, welcomed 42 people at the Diners' Club last Thursday.

Attending diners were also veterans Frank Brooker, Derek Weatherson and Jean-Paul Prieur. After the "O Canada" two minutes of silence was respectfully observed in remembrance for all those who died in the wars.

Janet Kirton and Della MacDonald read a beautiful poem "Why wear a poppy." Mr. Barclay has been very busy this past week with a service for 150 children at the Legion, another one at the Round Church on Nov. 5, selling poppies and many more activities.

A very impressive display of war pictures and souvenirs was also on hand. This should remind us that wars should not exist and should never happen again.

So, wherever you are, spread peace and trust and leave confusion and hate on the back burner.

50/50 winners were Béatrice Lalonde and Muriel MacCallum.

Door prize winners were Mollie Brodie, Eileen MacGillivray, Derek Weatherson, Pauline Roussin, Christina MacKenzie, Mary Fulton, Sadie MacMillan, Janet Kirton, Della MacDonald and Archie MacGillivray.

The afternoon ened with a few games of bingo enjoyed by all.

Make sure to reserve for your next Christmas diners on Dec. 14 by phoning 525-4443.

Club 65 Christmas party

Club 65 Christmas supper and dance will be held on Dec. 5 at 6 p.m. at the centre.

Welcome Isabelle in our hamlet!

Laurier-Carrière school

Last Friday, Remembrance Day was celebrated at Laurier-Carrière school with two minutes of silence, a prayer so that Canada continue its quest for peace and understanding between different races, religion and among ourselves.

The students made wreaths and crosses in honour of this day.

Last week was also the Optimists' "Youth Appreciation Week" and a student was chosen from every grade for this very fitting title "For their pacific spirit - Pour son esprit pacifique."

Winners were Craig Léger, David Larocque, Nathalie Van Den Oetelaar, Véronique Jodoin, Michelle Lavigne, Cody Cléroux, Alexander Séguin, Christopher Beauclair, Mélissa St-Pierre, Joey Séguin, Mathieu Gauthier and Liam Séguin. Véronique received a gift certificate form Carrousel.

All the students received certificates given by Optimist president and organizer, Johanne McCarthy.

Job well done!

Better late than never for Char-Lan awards

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279

Talk everywhere else is bound to be abounding with election tattle, so let's be different here in Williamstown and talk about education.

Long overdue and greatly apologized for, is the following report of achievement night at Char-Lan High School. For a variety of reasons — most too insane to tell you about here — this did not make it into the column when it ought to have done.

I offer it now, with more pre-apologies, for the fax which spewed it forth (or the fax that churned it out) was malfunctioning. For every two lines of normal sized print, there is one which is small and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d out — sort of like your body looks when you are using a toaster as a mirror...

Anyway, in the event that someone's name is so stretched out as to have become invisible, please let me know and I'll rectify the problem for next week.

Char-Lar Awards

Awards for academic achievement went to the following students for their work in the 1999/2000 school year.

Gold awards (over 90 percent average) — Grace Rawnsley (Grade 11); Dean Melnyk and Agnes Sobiesiak (Grade 10).

Silver awards (85 to 90 percent) — Terri Gillespie, Kathy Robideau, Nara Anderson and Melissa Doyle (Grade 12); Teresa Renaud, Heather Robertson, Leah Know, Michael O'Farrell, Terri-Lynn Tessier and Erica Cumming (Grade 11); Aimee Holla, Sarah Evans, Renee Beaupre, Jenny Larkin, Sandra Leishman and Kris Hones (Grade 10); Andree Beaupre, Lisa Migneault, Naomi Servage, Megan McIntosh and Nicole Melnyk (Grade nine).

Bronze awards (80 to 84 percent) — Meghan Button, Angela MacCrimmon, Margaret Cumming, Mary MacGregor, Vera Cumming, Michael Poirier, and Christie Rankin (Grade 12); Josee Giroux, Chelsea Legault, Amanda St. Louis, Calla Humphries and Melissa McKay (Grade 11); Allison Smart, Eric Cumming, Sean Batty, Melissa McDonald, Robb Schaefer, Megan Flaro, Sarah Fournier, and Juliana Richard (Grade 10); Amy Moore, Mallory Wereley, Cassandra Zoppas and Samantha Oxley (Grade nine).

The winner of the Kara MacDonald Award

Winner of the Kara MacDonald Memorial Award was Calla Humphries. This award, in memory of Kara, is presented to the student who best combines academic achievement and athletic ability.

Merit Awards

Winning Merit Awards for their hard work and dedication in different subject areas were Kylie Cumming (Art), Jennifer Vogel (Business Studies), Travis Fowler (Co-op), Bobbi-Lee Chatelaine (Dramatic Arts), Katie Whitford (French Immersion), Jennifer MacCulloch and Emily Higginson (French), Drew Thomson (English), Jason Cardinal and Christine Marion (History), Stacey Lafave (Family Studies), Jennifer Vogel, Pat Sloan and Trevor Bougie (Math), Mark Richard (Music), Bobbie-Lee Chatelaine and Fred Hadzocos (Physical Education), Jimmy Wood, Annie Laurie Contant and Kris Lunan (Science), Martin Dorie and Fred Hadzocos (Technology).

Congratulations all around

Congratulations to all students mentioned above and also those who were awarded Citizenship Awards for their involvement in various school activities. And let me know won't you? I seem to see that there were some special history medals given for the millennium, but the names of the recipients have disintegrated into a series of little dots....

Puzzling Municipal elections

Education behind us now, congrats to all the candidates, both winning and otherwise for offering to serve us on council this term.

It was great to see so many formerly-apathetic residents rise up and take interest in this election, whether working in the polls or on behalf of a candidate.

One thing puzzles me about our municipal elections. It seems that homeless people can vote in the election despite having no fixed address, as long as they take an oath that they are Canadian citizens over the age of 18.

On the other hand, a property owner who lives in his residence and pays property taxes on it, does not have the right to vote if he is not a Canadian citizen (or if he is under 18 a dot.com kid, for instance.)

Seems a little out of whack to me!

Remembrance Say services

There was a good turn-out at the Remembrance Day services held Sunday at the cenotaph in Williamstown.

There were a few new faces, too!

According to the bulletins which were handed out, Comrade Christopher Hill was the young man in white who addressed the crowd with some background information on the poppy and why it has become such a symbol of Remembrance Day.

Music for the service was provided by the South Glengarry Pipe Band, and by students from S. J. McLeod Public School and Char-Lan District High School.

The passing of Gerald Pilon

Just five weeks after taking ill, Gerald (Gerry) Pilon passed away, on Monday. Our sympathy goes out to his mother, Mary Rose Pilon, his daughter Monique, and his many brothers and sisters in the area.

Linda Kyte dies at 93

A former resident and friend of Williamstown, Linda Kyte (nee Jamieson) died in Cornwall on Nov. 8 in her 93rd year.

The Jamiesons lived in that splendid red brick house just outside the village limits on the road to Lancaster and Linda never forgot that she was a Williamstowner. She and her late husband, Reg Kyte, were staunch supporters of local events.

Ironically, in Cornwall, Linda was a neighbour of ours, living just three doors down the street.

Our sympathy is extended to her sister, Winnifred MacDonald, her nephews and cousin.

The Peters

Friends of Lady Peters, who died in Cornwall recently at the age of 105, will remember her fondly during her years in Williamstown.

The Peters lived in the old McGillis house off Loyalist Road which is now the home of Kathleen and David Rawnsley.

Our condolences are sent to Dr. and Mrs. Peters on the loss of their mother.

Sewing machine quilting courses beginning soon

Sewing machine quilting courses are starting up on Wed. Nov. 22 in Williamstown. If you would like to learn the fundamentals of quilting with your machine and make some small gifts in the learning, please call Christine at 347-9046.

The courses will be held for four consecutive weeks at St. Mary's Centre (7 to 9:30 p.m.) and are open to everyone who knows the basics of sewing.

Birthday greetings went out to Emily MacDonald and Theresa Labelle.

Theresa Welcher won the door prize.

The club's next open euchre is being held tomorrow (Thursday) at St. Mary's Centre at 1 p.m.

Two churches unite

The congregation of St. Andrew's in Williamstown will unite with its brother church, St. Andrew's United in Martintown on Sunday at 10 a.m. Esther Bryan will be the guest preacher and will talk about Invitation: the quilt of belonging.

The good thing is if you forget about the joint service and show up in Williamstown at 9:30 a.m., you will still have time to get to Martintown for 10 a.m.!

Let the Christmas celebration begin

Tickets for the show and concert are $8 in advance, $10 at the door and include a complimentary raffle ticket. Savory hors d'oeuvres and light refreshments will be served.

The Seniors' Tea features assorted Christmas goodies, live entertainment and the opportunity to view the beautifully decorated trees, wreaths and garlands, crafted by local artisans, which will be auctioned at the Saturday-night gala. Admission is $3 per person and includes a raffle ticket.

Breakfast with Santa

Breakfast with Santa promises to serve up plenty of smiles and laughter as well as a hearty pancake breakfast. It runs from 8:30 to 11 a.m. with Santa arriving at 9 a.m. Admission is $4.50 per person and includes a raffle ticket.

In addition to a sumptuous dinner and a dance, the gala features a special auction of designer-decorated Christmas items and trees. Tickets are available at $40 per person, $75 a couple, or $280 for a table of eight.

Santa is coming to town on Dec. 9

LANCASTER

MARG MILLETT
347-2207, FAX 347-1297

Members of the S. G. Club Council met on Thursday to continue plans for the S .G. Santa Claus Parade. Yes, it is on Dec. 9. It is hoped that there will be reasonable weather on this day but there will be warm stations, both at the start and finish of the parade.

The parade starts at 2 p.m. at the Lancaster Legion where you may both register and warm up. The Lancaster Antique Car Club will be there to help you get your place in the line up.

As the parade arrives at St. Joseph's Parish Hall, participants and others will have another chance to warm up and the children will be able to visit Santa, as usual. The Annual Tree Lighting Ceremony will start at the Hall at this time and will carry on to the Library. There, awards will be presented and, as the tree is lit, the Christmas season in South Glengarry will officially start.

For those planning floats, the theme for the 42nd annual Parade is Family Christmas. Information needed? Call Barry at 347-2207

Many of you know that our parade has always been successful and Parade 2000 already shows great promise, with numerous floats already committed. Thank you to the following members of the S. G. Club Council: Lancaster Antique Car Club; Lancaster Optimist Club; Lancaster and North Lancaster Fire Departments; Bainsville Women's Institute; Lancaster Knights of Columbus; Royal Canadian Legion, Lancaster; Lancaster Beavers, Cubs and Scouts; South Glengarry Municipal Council, representative, Janette Abbey.

Bouquet to Roads Department

Bainsville residents would like to send a bouquet to the South Glengarry Roads Department for installing street lights at the corner of 3rd Line Road and the Old Highway #2. Visibility will be much better for anyone turning off the highway into Bainsville hamlet this winter. Just so there is no jealousy in other small communities, this wasn't a freebie. Residents do pay for any streetlights. It's written into their tax bills.

Lancaster Legion

When you make a call to the Lancaster Legion it is like a breath of fresh air. Amiable chatter and activity can be heard in the background as members get ready for the Remembrance Day Dinner and a happy guy called Billy tells me how to get Ian Wilson who gave me the latest info.

Nov. 25 will be a special event at the Lancaster Legion. Come to the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. and join in the fun at their St. Andrew's Ball...a first, and guaranteed to be a lot of fun. Why? One reason is the presence of Bob and Ducky for the evening. Good company and snacks of wee meat pies and mushy peas! Only $5 admission to participate.

For information, call Ian at 347-3015. If yer comin', yer welcome to wear a wee kilt, a tartan sash or just a sprig o' heather! (along with your other clothes, of course)

United Way

There will be, for sure, in our lives, a time that we really need to reach out for some help. Thanks to the United Way of Cornwall there are more than a few agencies that not only serve Cornwall but the United Counties as well. Tim Kirkby, campaign chair and Kazi Marouf, both of Summerstown, have made a concerted effort to make the United Way a stronger presence in our community. Our own Deputy-reeve of South Glengarry, Frank Prevost, has accepted the position of district community chair to help make this happen. There is a United Way flag in our South Glengarry municipal hall and soon a large thermometer will be on display, to let us know how well the campaign goals are being reached.

I attended one meeting of the United Way in Cornwall and it took only a few minutes to realize that there is an enormous pool of volunteers within the strong structure that has, for years, campaigned for agencies, who help us in our communities.

For your information, these are the agencies under the umbrella of the United Way. The majority of them serve the outlying communities as well. The first one you will recognize, since I mention it quite often to advertise their monthly meetings. The Bereaved Families of Ontario; Canadian Hearing Society; Canadian Mental Health Association; Cornwall Youth Centre; Family Counselling Centre; Ontario March of Dimes; Meals on Wheels; Open Hands; C.N.I.B.; Canadian Red Cross; Cornwall and District Immigration Services Agency; Cornwall Block Parent Programs Inc; Schizophrenia Society of Ontario; SD&G. Developmental Services Centre; St. John's Ambulance. The Salvation Army; Tri County Literacy Council. Valois Place.

The United Way raises funds yearly to support these member agencies and hope that you will consider them a good choice when you plan your donations.

Good eats

It's called Luke's Bar and Grill and it's another welcome choice for our community as a nice place to go for a good meal. The decor is fresh, bright and friendly and the service great. Luke Van Barneveld (big Luke) and his wife (tiny Diane) seem to have a great partnership. When you see their sign and the logo on the menu you will get the picture. Their specialty is grilled ribs and chicken but there are many other good choices.

You might just want to enjoy a coffee break from 10 to 11:30 a.m. There are great homemade goodies to have with the java.

After the All-Candidates meeting my friend Barbara and I stopped by for a coffee and a yummy, sat in a booth and enjoyed conversation in a warm atmosphere. Another nice option if you're about the village in the evenings.

Finally, the bar is Bop's Bar. Bop is Diane and she can explain this to you. Congratulations and best wishes for success, Luke and Diane. For those who don't know, this restaurant is just past the tracks beside Menard Plumbing & Heating.

Reminders

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall this Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The theme for their annual Christmas Luncheon and Bazaar is A Celestial Christmas. A delicious luncheon is only $5 and the sales will be a bargain.

On Sunday, the Knight's of Columbus hold their monthly Community Breakfast at St. Joseph's Parish Hall. From 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. All welcome.

***

Have a super week.

Moment of reflection

Lancaster residents gathered on Military Road at the cenotaph on Sunday afternoon to pay respects to those who have fallen in the world wars. Wreaths were laid at the village cenotaph.

Selling St. Albert cheese

NORTH LANCASTER

Inez Franklin
347-7666

S. J. McLeod School

The fundraising committee has decided to sell St. Albert's Cheese this fall.

This will replace the citrus fruit drive of the past few years. The forms have already gone home with the students and sales will be transacted between Nov. 13 to 24, just in time for Christmas gift giving!

As incentives for the amateur salespeople, the class with the highest total will have a pizza party, while second and third place classes will enjoy a movie and popcorn.

Please support this initiative!

Successful ticket sale

The Senators hockey night sold out in record time - everyone lucky enough to procure tickets is wished a happy evening on Dec. 5.

Craft and Bake sale

A reminder that the Craft and Bake Sale at the school is on Nov. 23.

Craft items may be submitted up to a week prior to the event while baking will be accepted on the day of the event. Donors are asked to pre-package and price their items. All parents, grandparents and supporters are welcome to this important fundraising evening. The sale will be in the gym.

Celebrations

If you happen to meet Lorraine and Lou Rattray of Glen Nevis this week do wish them a happy 40th anniversary. The couple will celebrate this milestone on Nov. 17. Best wishes from your family and friends.

Ray and Katherine McDonell hosted a birthday party for Kyle McDonell on Saturday. Kyle has been confined to her Ottawa residence studying for a course this past month so her entire family gathered to visit her and mark the occasion.

Gwen Farrell, a family friend, also made the trek.

Good luck with the exam, Kyle.

Sewing Skills

I had an interesting conversation with Christine Allan of Glen Nevis on Saturday.

This talented designer/seamstress, who earned her degree in fashion design from LaSalle College, has been featured in Lorna Foreman's The Glengarry News column in connection with her line of clothing designed for semi-handicapped individuals.

Christine is now focusing her talents on teaching others in two ways. She is giving sewing lessons to two families of home-schooled children, the Krolls and the Hoekstras. Her students won many prizes at the Williamstown Fair and last Saturday participated in the Child Awareness Day sponsored by Linda's Daycare at the Bonnie Glen.

Samples of the students clothing and quilting were exhibited. The next project the group tackles will be zipper repair. The children are taught in groups of four and have achieved remarkable success.

Christine's second initiative will commence with machine quilting courses, which she plans to offer in Williamstown. She hopes to pass on her skills to as many students as possible and to keep vibrant this time-honoured art in the area.

Anyone interested in taking advantage of learning either personal sewing or machine quilting is invited to call Christine at 347-9046. She sounds like an enthusiastic and capable teacher.

Bake sales

St. Margaret of Scotland Parish will host its annual Christmas Tea and Bake Sale on Dec. 2. Tickets for the raffle of a Christmas cookie jar and mugs are available to all parishioners. More details to come!

St.Andrew's Church (The Round Church) will hold their bake sale this Saturday. A demonstration of crafts will be a new feature this year.

Better late than never for Char-Lan awards

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279

Talk everywhere else is bound to be abounding with election tattle, so let's be different here in Williamstown and talk about education.

Long overdue and greatly apologized for, is the following report of achievement night at Char-Lan High School. For a variety of reasons — most too insane to tell you about here — this did not make it into the column when it ought to have done.

I offer it now, with more pre-apologies, for the fax which spewed it forth (or the fax that churned it out) was malfunctioning. For every two lines of normal sized print, there is one which is small and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d out — sort of like your body looks when you are using a toaster as a mirror...

Anyway, in the event that someone's name is so stretched out as to have become invisible, please let me know and I'll rectify the problem for next week.

Char-Lar Awards

Awards for academic achievement went to the following students for their work in the 1999/2000 school year.

Gold awards (over 90 percent average) — Grace Rawnsley (Grade 11); Dean Melnyk and Agnes Sobiesiak (Grade 10).

Silver awards (85 to 90 percent) — Terri Gillespie, Kathy Robideau, Nara Anderson and Melissa Doyle (Grade 12); Teresa Renaud, Heather Robertson, Leah Know, Michael O'Farrell, Terri-Lynn Tessier and Erica Cumming (Grade 11); Aimee Holla, Sarah Evans, Renee Beaupre, Jenny Larkin, Sandra Leishman and Kris Hones (Grade 10); Andree Beaupre, Lisa Migneault, Naomi Servage, Megan McIntosh and Nicole Melnyk (Grade nine).

Bronze awards (80 to 84 percent) — Meghan Button, Angela MacCrimmon, Margaret Cumming, Mary MacGregor, Vera Cumming, Michael Poirier, and Christie Rankin (Grade 12); Josee Giroux, Chelsea Legault, Amanda St. Louis, Calla Humphries and Melissa McKay (Grade 11); Allison Smart, Eric Cumming, Sean Batty, Melissa McDonald, Robb Schaefer, Megan Flaro, Sarah Fournier, and Juliana Richard (Grade 10); Amy Moore, Mallory Wereley, Cassandra Zoppas and Samantha Oxley (Grade nine).

The winner of the Kara MacDonald Award

Winner of the Kara MacDonald Memorial Award was Calla Humphries. This award, in memory of Kara, is presented to the student who best combines academic achievement and athletic ability.

Merit Awards

Winning Merit Awards for their hard work and dedication in different subject areas were Kylie Cumming (Art), Jennifer Vogel (Business Studies), Travis Fowler (Co-op), Bobbi-Lee Chatelaine (Dramatic Arts), Katie Whitford (French Immersion), Jennifer MacCulloch and Emily Higginson (French), Drew Thomson (English), Jason Cardinal and Christine Marion (History), Stacey Lafave (Family Studies), Jennifer Vogel, Pat Sloan and Trevor Bougie (Math), Mark Richard (Music), Bobbie-Lee Chatelaine and Fred Hadzocos (Physical Education), Jimmy Wood, Annie Laurie Contant and Kris Lunan (Science), Martin Dorie and Fred Hadzocos (Technology).

Congratulations all around

Congratulations to all students mentioned above and also those who were awarded Citizenship Awards for their involvement in various school activities. And let me know won't you? I seem to see that there were some special history medals given for the millennium, but the names of the recipients have disintegrated into a series of little dots....

Puzzling Municipal elections

Education behind us now, congrats to all the candidates, both winning and otherwise for offering to serve us on council this term.

It was great to see so many formerly-apathetic residents rise up and take interest in this election, whether working in the polls or on behalf of a candidate.

One thing puzzles me about our municipal elections. It seems that homeless people can vote in the election despite having no fixed address, as long as they take an oath that they are Canadian citizens over the age of 18.

On the other hand, a property owner who lives in his residence and pays property taxes on it, does not have the right to vote if he is not a Canadian citizen (or if he is under 18 a dot.com kid, for instance.)

Seems a little out of whack to me!

Remembrance Say services

There was a good turn-out at the Remembrance Day services held Sunday at the cenotaph in Williamstown.

There were a few new faces, too!

According to the bulletins which were handed out, Comrade Christopher Hill was the young man in white who addressed the crowd with some background information on the poppy and why it has become such a symbol of Remembrance Day.

Music for the service was provided by the South Glengarry Pipe Band, and by students from S. J. McLeod Public School and Char-Lan District High School.

Bouquet to Roads Department

Bainsville residents would like to send a bouquet to the South Glengarry Roads Department for installing street lights at the corner of 3rd Line Road and the Old Highway #2. Visibility will be much better for anyone turning off the highway into Bainsville hamlet this winter. Just so there is no jealousy in other small communities, this wasn't a freebie. Residents do pay for any streetlights. It's written into their tax bills.

Lancaster Legion

When you make a call to the Lancaster Legion it is like a breath of fresh air. Amiable chatter and activity can be heard in the background as members get ready for the Remembrance Day Dinner and a happy guy called Billy tells me how to get Ian Wilson who gave me the latest info.

Nov. 25 will be a special event at the Lancaster Legion. Come to the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. and join in the fun at their St. Andrew's Ball...a first, and guaranteed to be a lot of fun. Why? One reason is the presence of Bob and Ducky for the evening. Good company and snacks of wee meat pies and mushy peas! Only $5 admission to participate.

For information, call Ian at 347-3015. If yer comin', yer welcome to wear a wee kilt, a tartan sash or just a sprig o' heather! (along with your other clothes, of course)

United Way

There will be, for sure, in our lives, a time that we really need to reach out for some help. Thanks to the United Way of Cornwall there are more than a few agencies that not only serve Cornwall but the United Counties as well. Tim Kirkby, campaign chair and Kazi Marouf, both of Summerstown, have made a concerted effort to make the United Way a stronger presence in our community. Our own Deputy-reeve of South Glengarry, Frank Prevost, has accepted the position of district community chair to help make this happen. There is a United Way flag in our South Glengarry municipal hall and soon a large thermometer will be on display, to let us know how well the campaign goals are being reached.

I attended one meeting of the United Way in Cornwall and it took only a few minutes to realize that there is an enormous pool of volunteers within the strong structure that has, for years, campaigned for agencies, who help us in our communities.

For your information, these are the agencies under the umbrella of the United Way. The majority of them serve the outlying communities as well. The first one you will recognize, since I mention it quite often to advertise their monthly meetings. The Bereaved Families of Ontario; Canadian Hearing Society; Canadian Mental Health Association; Cornwall Youth Centre; Family Counselling Centre; Ontario March of Dimes; Meals on Wheels; Open Hands; C.N.I.B.; Canadian Red Cross; Cornwall and District Immigration Services Agency; Cornwall Block Parent Programs Inc; Schizophrenia Society of Ontario; SD&G. Developmental Services Centre; St. John's Ambulance. The Salvation Army; Tri County Literacy Council. Valois Place.

The United Way raises funds yearly to support these member agencies and hope that you will consider them a good choice when you plan your donations.

Good eats

It's called Luke's Bar and Grill and it's another welcome choice for our community as a nice place to go for a good meal. The decor is fresh, bright and friendly and the service great. Luke Van Barneveld (big Luke) and his wife (tiny Diane) seem to have a great partnership. When you see their sign and the logo on the menu you will get the picture. Their specialty is grilled ribs and chicken but there are many other good choices.

You might just want to enjoy a coffee break from 10 to 11:30 a.m. There are great homemade goodies to have with the java.

After the All-Candidates meeting my friend Barbara and I stopped by for a coffee and a yummy, sat in a booth and enjoyed conversation in a warm atmosphere. Another nice option if you're about the village in the evenings.

Finally, the bar is Bop's Bar. Bop is Diane and she can explain this to you. Congratulations and best wishes for success, Luke and Diane. For those who don't know, this restaurant is just past the tracks beside Menard Plumbing & Heating.

Reminders

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall this Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The theme for their annual Christmas Luncheon and Bazaar is A Celestial Christmas. A delicious luncheon is only $5 and the sales will be a bargain.

Have a super week.

Moment of reflection

Lancaster residents gathered on Military Road at the cenotaph on Sunday afternoon to pay respects to those who have fallen in the world wars. Wreaths were laid at the village cenotaph.

Selling St. Albert cheese

NORTH LANCASTER

Inez Franklin
347-7666

S. J. McLeod School

The fundraising committee has decided to sell St. Albert's Cheese this fall.

This will replace the citrus fruit drive of the past few years. The forms have already gone home with the students and sales will be transacted between Nov. 13 to 24, just in time for Christmas gift giving!

As incentives for the amateur salespeople, the class with the highest total will have a pizza party, while second and third place classes will enjoy a movie and popcorn.

Please support this initiative!

Successful ticket sale

The Senators hockey night sold out in record time - everyone lucky enough to procure tickets is wished a happy evening on Dec. 5.

Craft and Bake sale

A reminder that the Craft and Bake Sale at the school is on Nov. 23.

Craft items may be submitted up to a week prior to the event while baking will be accepted on the day of the event. Donors are asked to pre-package and price their items. All parents, grandparents and supporters are welcome to this important fundraising evening. The sale will be in the gym.

Celebrations

If you happen to meet Lorraine and Lou Rattray of Glen Nevis this week do wish them a happy 40th anniversary. The couple will celebrate this milestone on Nov. 17. Best wishes from your family and friends.

Ray and Katherine McDonell hosted a birthday party for Kyle McDonell on Saturday. Kyle has been confined to her Ottawa residence studying for a course this past month so her entire family gathered to visit her and mark the occasion.

Gwen Farrell, a family friend, also made the trek.

Good luck with the exam, Kyle.

Sewing Skills

I had an interesting conversation with Christine Allan of Glen Nevis on Saturday.

This talented designer/seamstress, who earned her degree in fashion design from LaSalle College, has been featured in Lorna Foreman's The Glengarry News column in connection with her line of clothing designed for semi-handicapped individuals.

Christine is now focusing her talents on teaching others in two ways. She is giving sewing lessons to two families of home-schooled children, the Krolls and the Hoekstras. Her students won many prizes at the Williamstown Fair and last Saturday participated in the Child Awareness Day sponsored by Linda's Daycare at the Bonnie Glen.

Samples of the students clothing and quilting were exhibited. The next project the group tackles will be zipper repair. The children are taught in groups of four and have achieved remarkable success.

Christine's second initiative will commence with machine quilting courses, which she plans to offer in Williamstown. She hopes to pass on her skills to as many students as possible and to keep vibrant this time-honoured art in the area.

Anyone interested in taking advantage of learning either personal sewing or machine quilting is invited to call Christine at 347-9046. She sounds like an enthusiastic and capable teacher.

Bake sales

St. Margaret of Scotland Parish will host its annual Christmas Tea and Bake Sale on Dec. 2. Tickets for the raffle of a Christmas cookie jar and mugs are available to all parishioners. More details to come!

St.Andrew's Church (The Round Church) will hold their bake sale this Saturday. A demonstration of crafts will be a new feature this year.

Helicopter lands at Maxville Manor

MAXVILLE

GORDON WINTER
527-2888

It must have been a first. One day last week, a Manor resident experienced a heart problem, the doctor was in the Manor and knew that there was a helicopter in the area that could take the resident to hospital in Ottawa.

So, the flying ambulance landed at the east end of the Manor and the patient was rushed to an Ottawa hospital.

Fortunately, her condition was treatable and she was able to return to the Manor the next day, and by land this time.

Two high profile, part-time members of the Activities Department at the Manor will soon be leaving for full-time positions. Many volunteers have known them and worked with them and, while pleased to see them fully employed, we are sorry to see them leave the Manor and do wish them the very best.

Jackie Lalonde will be working with the Glengarry Outreach Support Services as secretary/program assistant and Mathew Fenton will be travelling to Brockville to work at the YMCA at the aquatic centre as well as in the child care centre.

Condolences

Theresa (Terry) Leduc had been sick for considerable time and died on Nov. 5. Sympathy is extended to her husband, Gerry, and her daughter, Jeanine, a Manor resident, and to all her siblings who made up the large family on Main St. S.

Over the years, Mrs. Leduc had developed a lovely rock garden on their property. She was extremely well versed on rock garden plants, belonged to rock garden clubs and kept everything in an excellent condition. Wedding photographs were often taken there and the garden, which consisted of about two village lots, added much beauty for those entering the village from the south.

Welcome

We welcome a new family to the village. Celine and Peter Flynn and their son are the new owners of the Catherine St. home of the Mills family. Before that, it was the home of the Albert Boisvenue family. We wish these new residents of our village much happiness here.

More rain needed?

After all the rain we had last summer, it is hard to believe that our farmers are now looking for more rain. The heavy, clay fields have become very hard, so hard in fact that ploughing these fields has been out of the question. No doubt the moisture will come eventually but it may be in the form of snow.

For the rest of us, the excellent fall weather has been much appreciated. There have been frosts some nights but they were not heavy and I pulled up geraniums in our planters last week and they were not frozen.

Election

The election is over and since this is being written before the election, I am unable to congratulate the successful candidates. Here in Maxville, we have been hearing too much about our water supplies and bringing up the problems that Walkerton had. The tragedy in Walkerton resulted from the lack of adequate chlorination of its water supply and it is hoped that, if we have to go to a municipal water system, that the authorities will be well qualified to monitor the chlorination system. Better still, it would be great to have a water supply that was not contaminated as some do not look forward to drinking chlorinated water.

Sandringham Social Club

The following information was mislaid and I apologize for not having it in this column promptly.

The Sandringham Social Club has been re-organized and the members of the executive are as follows: president - Norman Prebble, vice-president - Susan Hoar, secretary - Darlene MacGregor and treasurer - Elliot McRae.

We wish this long established community organization well in the years to come.

Going to the Winter Fair

Lorna and I were at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair on the weekend along with Keith Jack. Carole McAleese was our Jolly Tours escort and as usual, we enjoyed the Royal very much. Friday was Holstein day with many of our local farmers there.

On Saturday our daughter, Beverly, with Keitha and William, joined us and made the day that much better.

There were two firsts for me. In the very large petting zoo, I saw an animal that is a cross between a donkey and a zebra. It was named a zeb-ass. There, the donkey was called a jack ass so I assume that the male parent was the donkey. The hybrid had some stripes on its legs and the rest of the body was a light brown colour. There is no need to be concerned that things will get too mixed up. This animal should be sterile as mules are.

Both nights at the horse show, there was a new class and it was the first time it was sponsored in North America. It was a coach racing derby. Four horses were hitched to a small, low set vehicle and the driver had to get them through a rather complicated obstacle course as fast as possible. Two riders at the back of the vehicle were there to balance it on the turns to prevent it from tipping. It made for a very exciting class. One driver from Sweden was the European champion and had been taken over here to demonstrate his expertise. He did not win on Saturday evening though.

The step dancing and fiddling competitions on Saturday afternoon are a big attraction now and seating is at a premium. It was good to see Ian Macleod, Kirkhill's well-known fiddler and teacher there.

Last euchre

At the last Young-at-Heart euchre of the season on Nov. 6, Onagh Ross topped the ladies with two of the Club's best players, Gloria Rolland and Rita Seguin, placing second and third. The male winners were John MacMaster, Hormidas St. John and Howard Eamon who drives all the way from Morrisburg.

In the 50/50 draw, the money went to Barbara O'Flaherty, Florence Harkin, Mrs. Seguin, Cecile Currier, Erma Bradley, Grace Doth and Arlene Munro. Nina Ryan won the door prize.

Come spring, there will be an announcement of the next euchre party.

Calendar draw

In the Lions Club Calendar draw last week, the winners were James and Roxanne Robertson, Harry Lalonde, Monkland, the late Robert Cunning, Alexandria, Caitline Cartier, Cornwall and Mike Wensink, Embrun.

Diabetes clinic

On Nov. 22, Seniors Outreach Services is hosting a diabetic clinic in conjunction with Diabetes Awareness Month. The Diabetes Assocation will be on hand with an information display, and a registered nurse will be administering free blood sugar testing. Please drop in any time from 1 to 3 p.m.

Enjoy a get together

The "It's too early for Christmas" Diners' Club is being hosted for all seniors on Nov. 23, 5 p.m. at the Manor. This event includes a full-course meal and entertainment poking gentle fun at our Christmas-crazy society.

Please phone 527-2170, ext. 237, to register. The deadline for tickets is Nov. 20.

100th Anniversary

On Nov. 26, 7 p.m., the people of St. Andrew's church are holding a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the church and 174 years of the congregation. The community is welcome to come and share the evening with the congregation.

Diseased birds

From the newsletter that I referred to last week, I also learned that the black-capped chickadee and the dark-eyed junco were the two birds that were reported in the top ten list in all the regions across Canada.

Also, there are two species that are being affected by disease. Last year, redpolls were found sick or dead, the result of infection from a salmonella bacterium. Also the house finches are sometimes found in the same condition with an eye infection. If any reader finds either or both of these cases, I will pass the information on to Project Feeder Watch.

The house finch was first seen in Ontario in the early 1970s and has now grown into a population of millions.

Another bird that we like to have at our feeders and I for one, do not have it most years is the cardinal. It first reached Ottawa around 1945 and has responded well to bird feeders. It is native to the eastern United States.

Rebels enjoy perfect weekend

Char-Lan earns six points after three weekend wins outscoring opponents 20-9

Rebels

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

How things have changed for the Char-Lan Rebels.

There still is some recollection of the slow start the club had at the beginning of the 2000-01 Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League season but since their 0-7 start the Rebs have been one of the league's hottest teams.

Last weekend the Rebels could do no wrong as they were perfect during a rare three-game weekend.

The Rebs won 8-4 Friday night in Cardinal against South Grenville Rangers, 5-3 Saturday night at home against the Athens Aeros and 7-2 Sunday in Williamstown against the Akwesasne Wolves.

"We see the team has turned around now," said Rebels general manager John Chafee.

With the recent addition of defenceman Danny Lafave the Rebels have six experienced blueliners that can do it all.

Coach Jeff Carter said the club's success depends a lot on his rearguards.

"Initially it was our plan to get more help from the back. With our system the defence have a green light to jump into the play. We encourage that and like to see that. I think our offence has improved because of their contributions."

Rebels defencemen earned 13 points during the three games on the weekend.

Ferguson leads the way with 14 points on the season.

Chafee said he also expects big things from the blue line.

"I think right now we have the best overall defencemen in the league. We have six guys who can do it all and each of them are solid and physical."

The forwards have been putting some impressive numbers on the board as well.

One player who finally broke loose last weekend was assistant captain Chris Corput.

Heading into the weekend with no goals and just five assists, Corput responded in a big way.

The feisty winger potted four goals and two assists for six points in three games.

Three of his goals came in the second period against the Athens Aeros.

It was a natural hat trick as all three came in a row.

"We've been waiting for him to bounce back," said Chafee.

"He did. He had three goals in one game and had a six-point weekend, it's nice to see. He's such a hard worker but hasn't been able to capitalize early this season, maybe he's turned the corner."

In the Rebels home ice win Sunday afternoon in Williamstown 13 different players earned at least one point as the Rebels pounded the last place Akwesasne Wolves (2-14-0) 7-2.

Rebels 7 Wolves 2

Ian McConnel and Kerry MacDonald scored the Rebels first two goals on the powerplay and McConnell added his second of the night with 12 seconds left as the Rebels took a convincing 3-0 lead after 20 minutes and as it turned out wouldn't have needed any more goals.

Char-Lan added another four though as they earned their third win of the weekend over a struggling Wolves club.

Andrew Banville scored the Rebels only goal of the second period 16 seconds in to make it 4-0.

The Wolves bounced back nine seconds later with their first of the game.

In the third the Rebels secured the win as they added another three goals.

Troy Sinfield, Ferguson and Steve Jarvo were the marksmen.

The Wolves added a goal with 28 second left to make the final 7-2.

Derek Duval, Nick Dube, Corput, and Stephane St. Denis all added two assists each in the win.

Tim McCuaig was in goal for the victory as he turned away 26 of 28 shots.

With the win the Rebels earned their fourteenth point of the season and are currently three points behind the Morrisburg Lions for third place in the division.

The Winchester Hawks trail the Rebels for fourth by two points and have two games in hand.

On Saturday night the Rebels took early control of the game against the Athens Aeros (6-9-0)but couldn't capitalize until the second period where both teams combined for seven goals.

Forstner ranks third in skate sectionals

Alexandria native Tara Forstner had an outstanding performance at the 2001Bank of Montreal Eastern Ontario Sectionals in Kingston Nov.10 as she placed third in the juvenile ladies category.

Just Nepean's Jessica Elliott and Gloucester's Tara Maxwell were able to finish ahead of her.

Novice B Glens win two games

The Alexandria Novice B Glens won a pair of games last weekend as they edged South Stormont 1-0 and routed Akwesasne 6-0.

Against South Stormont Sunday in Alexandria, Danyck Ladouceur scored the lone goal unassisted with 6:07 remaining in the second period.

In the Glens other contest Saturday in Akwesasne the Glens got three goals from Chad Borris as part of a 6-0 win. Nathaniel MacMillan, Jacob Nadeau and Yannick Rochon also scored. Stone McCauley was in goal for both shutout wins.

Canada, Dupuis win Four Nations Cup gold

Williamstown native Lori Dupuis was part of the Canadian women's hockey team that captured gold at the Four Nations Cup Saturday in Utah after a 2-0 win over the United States. Dupuis actually had an assist in the second goal.

Canada is preparing for the 2002 Olympics where they hope to avenge a loss in the gold medal game of the 1998 Nagano Olympics to the United States.

Bantam B Rebs tie two

The Bantam B Char-Lan Rebels earned two points last weekend with two ties and a loss in three games.

Pierre-Luc Legros, Kurtis Thompson, Steven Lucas and Patrick Leblanc scored in a 4-4 draw with South Stormont. Garrett Hurrell and Mikey Fontaine scored in a 2-2 draw with Morrisburg and Kurtis Thompson scored in a 3-1 loss to Cornwall.

Glens split weekend games against Rideau Division clubs

Alexandria loses to South Grenville Sunday as Ghyslain Valade and Stephane Maltais miss trip

ALEXANDRIA JUNIOR B GLENS

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Alexandria Glens earned a weekend split as November's interleague schedule between St. Lawrence and Rideau Division teams continued.

The Glens turned in what coach Marc Sauve said was 'one of their worst performances of the year Sunday in Gananoque against the Islanders (8-8-0). Two nights earlier, the Glens squandered a 5-3 lead late in the game against the Brockville Tikis (7-8-0) at home before winning on a goal with 22 seconds left.

Sauve was asked if he was satisfied with the weekend split.

"Yes and no. We're looking always to get a four pointer on the weekend and going in we thought we would get four points. We play most of the month against the Rideau division and that's where we struggled last year. This year we are hoping to finish at least .500 against them."

Friday the Glens earned their second win (over Brockville) in three games before evening their record at 2-2 with a loss to Gananoque Sunday.

Glens 6 Tikis 5

The Friday night tilt against Brockville was a showcase of just how good Glens leading scorer Nicolas Besner is.

Besner clearly wasn't playing at his best as the solid forward missed some easy passes, wasn't skating as fluently as usual and basically didn't stand out.

On the scoresheet he did though.

Besner quietly earned himself a five-point game with a punctuation mark at the end as he scored with 22 seconds left.

Besner earned an assist on a Stephane Maltais powerplay goal with 2:18 left in the first period to cut an early Brockville lead to 2-1. Louis Brisson also picked up an assist.

Brisson joined Maltais and Besner on the top line with the absence of Valade.

Brisson scored at the 10:44 mark of the second period, also on the powerplay, to cut the lead to knot the score.

Brockville added another goal at the 9:17 mark to regain their one goal lead at 3-2 and that's when the Glens mounted their comeback.

At 8:51 Marc Mainville scored his second goal of the year from Michael Cunning and Pat Johnson.

With 42 seconds remaining in the period Maltais scored his second goal of the night (also on the powerplay) and ninth of the year to give the Glens their first lead of the game at 4-3.

5:25 into the third period the Glens increased their lead to 5-3 when Besner scored his first of the night unassisted.

With 4:46 remaining Brockville cut the lead to 5-4 and with 51 seconds left completed the comeback drawing even at 5-5.

The Glens didn't drop their heads and feel bad about giving up the late lead though as Besner scored from Maltais with 22 seconds left to spoil the efforts from Brockville.

"Brockville had a good hockey club and we were on our toes at the end," said Sauve. That's something I'm concerned with. I think we'll work on our defence down the stretch."

The Glens left for Gananoque Sunday around 4:30 p.m. and arrived at the arena around 6:25 p.m. According to the coach the lengthy bus ride didn't have an effect on his team.

"It's a long bus ride for sure but they had enough time to get their bus legs off. It was just one of those games."

The game Sunday night started at 7:45 p.m.

Senior boys lace 'em up in Char-Lan

Senior boys students in four area high schools had the opportunity to take to the soccer pitches at Char-Lan District High School last Friday in a one-day soccer tournament that wouldn't have been made possible without the efforts of local volunteers.

Although the games were just 45 minutes long and each school played just three games, players were happy to be given the chance to compete despite this year's work-to-rule situation.

"It's very important," said Char-Lan senior Garry Lee about sports in high schools.

"It got our spirits up last Friday. We very much appreciated the work by the volunteers."

Lee's Char-Lan team won the tournament edging Glengarry District High School by one point.

Char-Lan beat Glengarry 1-0 to open the tournament on late goal by forward Ryan Major.

Char-Lan then defeated North Dundas Secondary School and tied Tagwi Secondary School 2-2.

Glengarry rebounded from their opening loss with a 2-0 win over Tagwi and a 5-1 win over North Dundas.

Tagwi beat North Dundas in the other match-up.

Youth Unltd. satellite director Phil Benjamin initiated the idea of having the tournament and first contacted Tagwi principal Mary Mayer on how to get the ball rolling.

Benjamin contacted GDHS principal Jacques Lemire, who became instrumental in getting the other principals to come together and agree to the tournament.

"Jacques really used his knowledge of the other principals to get them on side," said Benjamin.

"I think the day went really well. All the kids, from what I saw, enjoyed themselves and appreciated the opportunity of playing some competitive soccer. Sports is important in school. Even non-athletes feel proud of their teams and have something to cheer for."

Lemire said he feels that sports is important at the high school level.

"I'm glad we had a chance to go through with it. We saw some excellent soccer that day. Everything was well organized and it was nice to see the volunteers come in and offer their services."

Benjamin coached the Tagwi team, Mike Lee coached Char-Lan while The Glengarry News Sports Editor Todd Anderson coached GDHS.

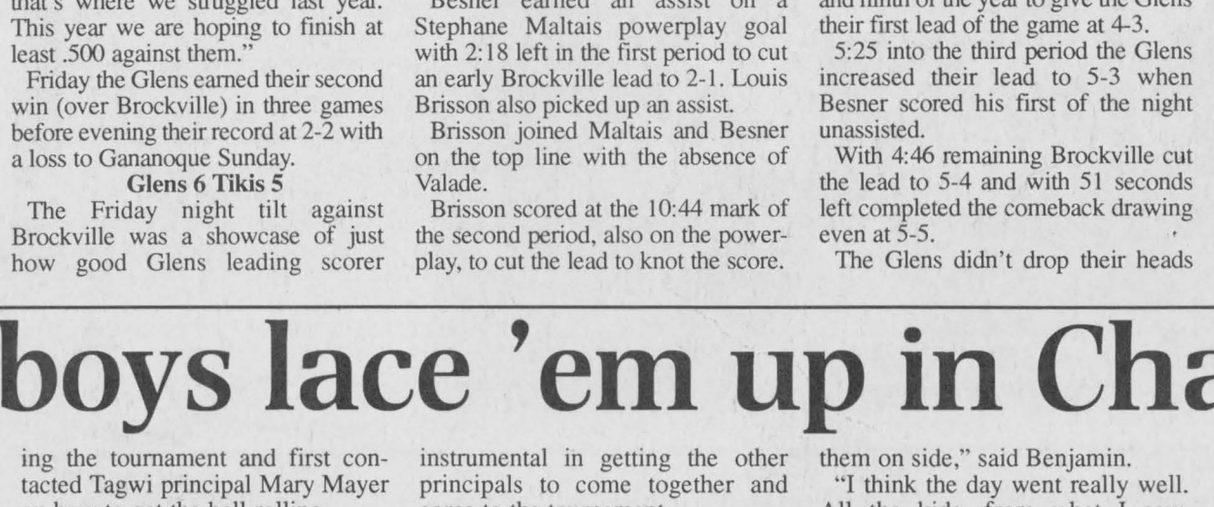
The tournament was played at Char-Lan because of the availability of two soccer fields.

GDHS' Rory McLeod felt that the tournament proved how much students would like to see sports return.

"It was a good thing for us because the students that participated showed they want to have a season. Hopefully we'll get the school season at the end of the year."

Next in line for volunteers is the upcoming basketball season. There was a meeting to organize the season last week. Their will be a season for junior and senior boys this year starting in December.

The girls volleyball teams will also take to the courts soon.



Youth Unltd.'s Phil Benjamin, left, and Glengarry District High School principal Jacques Lemire were vital in organizing the one-day senior boys soccer tournament at Char-Lan District High School Friday.

Strong second period vaults Rebs past Aeros

Rebels 5 Aeros 3

Fortunately for Rebels fans their club had four of them.

The second period started off with a flurry of goals as both teams combined for five in the first five minutes.

MacDonald scored his first of the year from Rebels leading scorer Dube and Sinfield 53 seconds into the middle frame.

At 2:14 Athens tied things up with a goal by Carson Runions.

The Aeros went up 2-1 a little over a minute later when their leading scorer Bill Palmer scored.

30 seconds later the Rebels made it 2-2 when Corput scored his first of three consecutive goals from Pat Smith and McConnell.

Athens' Kevin Dostie restored the Aeros lead at 5:22.

At 12:14 Corput tied the score once again from Jarvo and Smith.

With 1:31 left in the period Corput completed his hat trick off a feed from St. Denis while short-handed.

Up 4-3 and with the Aeros net empty Dube added an insurance goal with seven seconds left from Ferguson and Jarvo.

The Rebels outshot Athens 44-25.

Louis-Phillip Raymond was in goal for the win.

Despite the win Carter said his club was lucky after a couple of undisciplined plays.

"Banville, Corput and (Eric) Larocque all had undisciplined penalties and we were lucky to win. There has been a definite improvement in that area though lately. But we still have our moments where we lose our cool."

On Friday night the Rebels started off the weekend successfully after a match-up in Cardinal against the South Grenville Rangers (2-14-0).

Rebels 8 Rangers 4

Up by a close score of 4-3 heading into the final period the Rebels potted another four goals as they ensured themselves of victory.

"We're reaching a point where we're learning to close out games," said Carter.

"The guys are making better decisions where we would previously take bad penalties or make bad decision. We're making a lot smarter decisions now."

The Rebels took charge down the stretch as McConnell, Corput, Duval and David Carry all scored in the third period.

Duval had a goal in each other period as he registered his first hat trick with the Rebels.

Also scoring for Char-Lan was Sinfield and Lafave.

St. Denis, Dube and Ferguson each added two assists.

Raymond was in goal for the Rebels win.

Rebels notes:

Inter-league play continues for the Rebels this weekend as they host the Rideau Division's Brockville Tikis (7-8-0) Saturday in Williamstown starting at 7:45 p.m. and travel to Gananoque Sunday for a 7:45 start against the Islanders (8-8-0).

Coach Jeff Carter said he doesn't know what to expect from either team.

"We haven't seen either team play. We expect they'll be close to Athens. We'll worry about our game only, if we play our game we should be able to pick up four more points this weekend."

Mike Rankin, who is attending Loyalist College in Belleville, is still probably going to join the Rebels this season.

General manager John Chafee hinted that he could join the Rebels near the Christmas break.

Chris Corput and Kerry MacDonald each scored their first goals of the year last weekend. Rebels regulars who still have yet to score a goal are forward Chris Malyon (three assists), defencemen Marc Lemire (four assists and 60 penalty minutes) and Pat Smith (five assists and 30 penalty minutes).

Glens lose against Gananoque without two-thirds of top line

The Glens took to the ice without two-thirds of their number one line as centre Ghyslain Valade and winger Stephane Maltais both missed the trip due to prior commitments.

Sauve said that he knew the two players would miss the weekend since the beginning of the season.

Maltais had commitments with school while Valade was off on a hunting trip.

Others that remained out of the line-up were Michel Quesnel who also had a school commitment, J.F Menard remained out with a knee injury, Steven Vanden Oetelaar's shoulder is still ailing and Joel Quesnel is also suffering with a shoulder injury.

Although he maybe had a right to, Sauve failed to use the inavailability of players as an excuse.

"I think we were taking lazy penalties. We weren't skating, we were hooking on and grabbing on."

South Grenville took advantage of the Glens undisciplined play as they capitalized on two powerplay goals and another shortly after Eric Leroux returned to the ice after serving a tripping penalty with 1:16 left.

Islanders 6 Glens 2

The Glens scored the first goal of the game but couldn't keep the momentum going as the Islanders took control before the end of the first period and never looked back.

Glens captain Simon Menard scored his third goal of the year to give Alexandria a 1-0 lead at the 11:43 mark of the opening frame.

Leroux and Jeff Lobb drew assists.

The Islanders bounced back with two goals to finish with a 2-1 lead after 20 minutes.

In the second the Islanders capitalized with and two goals to make their lead 4-1.

The Glens had a better start to the final period holding off the Islanders and drawing to within two goals with 5:00 minutes left.

Besner scored from Brisson to cut the Gananoque lead to 4-2.

With a slim chance of coming back the Glens didn't respond as the Islanders put the game away with a pair of late goals.

The Glens registered the most penalty minutes they have in a long time as they were assessed 14 minors.

Still a low number to junior B standards, the total exceeds the total the Glens registered last week, nine minors in two games against the Akwesasne Wolves and Char-Lan Rebels.

Taking into consideration the rivalry with Char-Lan, Sunday's penalty total against Gananoque was quite high.

"It was our poorest effort so far this year," said Sauve.

"Bryan (O'Shaugnessy) struggled for the first time in goal. He was staying in the back of the net and was challenging shooters like usual. Felix had a bad game against Char-Lan last week too but we have nothing to complain about the goaltenders we have. We know they'll bounce back."

Glens notes:

The Glens host the South Grenville Rangers (2-14-0) Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and travel to Smith Falls to play the Rideau division leading Westport Rideaus (12-3-1) Sunday starting at 1:30 p.m.

With the absence of J.F Menard on defence Sauve used regular forward Joel Poirier on defence last weekend. Menard is scheduled to attend practice this week and might play this weekend. Joel Quesnel is not likely to return to the lineup before December.

Affiliates Michael Lauzon and Steven Stewart played in both games but saw limited action.

Louis Brisson scored his seventh goal of the season on this play during a 6-5 win over Brockville in Alexandria Friday night.

Stars win 11-1

Men's Division

The two leading teams of the Rudi's Sport Invitational Indoor Soccer League took it to the Char-Lan teams last week as the Glengarry Stars routed Rudi's Rage 11-1 and East Side Mario's beat Char-Lan Rangers 9-2.

The Stars were led by men's division player of the week and current leading scorer Allan Campbell who tallied five goals in the victory.

Other goals were scored by Brian Cameron with four, Phil Lewis and Dave Pongrac.

Kyle Fraser spoiled the shutout for Stars goaltender Tommy McKay with 15 minutes remaining.

The Rage were missing several players as Michael Conway, Jordan Reasbeck and Robb Schaefer were in Kemptville playing hockey for the Char-Lan midgets, Gary Lee was attending night school and Mike Lee was suspended.

In the other contest East Side had a balanced attack as they cruised to a 9-2 win over Char-Lan Rangers.

All but one player scored in the win for East Side.

Shawn Montroy led the way with three goals. Danny Menard had two while singles went to Mike Marsolais, Kieren Kennedy, Jean Bergeron and Chris Knight.

Women's division

Rudi's Magic are in first place after a win over Char-Lan Dazzle.

Jenny Larkin moved a-top the leading scorers list of the league as she scored an insurance goal with four minutes left on a penalty shot.

Rudi's had jumped out to an early 2-0 lead when Vanessa Van Sleeuwen (three minutes in) and Amy Palmer (six minute mark) scored the other goals.

The Dazzle drew to within one two minutes after the Palmer goal when Heather Robertson found the back of the net.

Cornwall Strikers and the Hearts of Glengarry battled it out to a 1-1 draw in the other match.

Christine Peeters saved the Hearts as she scored with three minutes remaining to tie things up. Julia Esposito scored for the Strikers.

Next weeks schedule:

6 p.m. Rage vs East Side
7 p.m. Rangers vs Stars
8 p.m. Magic vs Hearts
9 p.m. Strikers vs Dazzle

Mustangs suffer worse loss of 2000

By Todd Anderson
Sports Editor

The Maxville Mustangs Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League team continued their season of ups-and-downs last weekend after suffering their worst loss of the season at the hands of the Embrun Panthers.

The first-place Panthers were firing on all cylinders during the game played Friday night in Embrun.

A total of 12 goals found their way behind goaltender Mathieu Seguin in the Mustangs goal.

"We were out-skated, we came out terribly flat," said Mustangs head coach Ivan Coleman.

"Maybe two guys put out a solid effort but the rest of the team looked like they were taking a casual skate. I'm not impressed at all with our effort."

Although Coleman feels Embrun is the most talented team in the league, a loss like this may mean changes at practice.

"Maybe I'm too soft on them at practice. Maybe they need more skating. We drill positional play and then they don't execute. Some of them don't have their mind totally at the rink because of exams at school. I can appreciate that but when you come to the rink you better be ready to play."

Panthers 12 Mustangs 1

EOJCHL leading scorer Brad Kennedy had a field day in the Mustangs zone. Kennedy potted five goals in the win. Nicholas Bruyere also had an impressive game for the Panthers as he scored two goals and handed out four assists.

In goal, former Char-Lan Rebel Doug Long was impressive as he turned away an abundance of Maxville shots including a pair of breakaways.

"Long played a hell of a game," said Coleman.

"We had about the same amount of shots and hit a couple of goal posts but we just couldn't get the puck by him."

The Mustangs finally did get one goal, spoiling Long's shutout with 1:46 remaining.

Trevor Wotherspoon scored from Eric Bourgeois and Derek Crawford.

The Mustangs also lost the services of Stephen Alguire with 3:07 remaining in the second period.

Alguire dropped the gloves with EOJCHL second leading scorer Hakim Boukhaloua.

Mustangs notes:

The Mustangs host the Vankleek Hill Cougars Thursday night in Maxville starting at 8:15 p.m. Then they entertain the Casselman Stars on Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. start.

The Cougars will be looking to avenge a 7-4 loss in Maxville the last time they played on Oct. 14.

"I understand Vankleek Hill has improved since our last game," said Coleman.

"Their kids won't quit. I'm sure they'll be looking to come back here and restore their pride but we usually don't play two stinkers in a row."

The Mustangs took a look at another defenceman last night. It's hoped the Casselman native will be able to help out what Coleman feels is a defence core that is too slow.

Forward Martin Theoret missed Friday's game due to a suspension after a third period fight in the previous game.

Scott Coleman had his broken hand re-checked recently and his return date is unknown as the bones are still broken and there is some ligament damage.

Last week the players on the Mustangs expressed to management that they wanted some changes done about leadership.

Crawford has inherited the captaincy from J.F Gagne and Scott Coleman will become an alternating captain with Crawford when he returns from his broken hand.

The new assistant captains are Brad MacMillan, Gagne and Theoret.

Midget Glens win three games

The Alexandria Pic's Sports Midget Glens earned six points last weekend as they earned victories over NGS, Morrisburg and Cornwall.

Against Cornwall Sunday the Glens won 7-5.

Michael Lauzon, Steven McDonnell and Kris Hehn all scored twice in the win. Grant McLeod had the other goal.

Lauzon and captain Steven Stewart each handed out two assists.

Against NGS Saturday the Glens edged the NGS Braves (who returned to the league this year after a one-year absence) 4-3.

Kevin Libbos, Stewart, Lauzon and Blake MacMillan scored in the win for Alexandria.

Jason Claude, with two and Jonathon Bray scored for the Braves.

On Nov. 7 the Glens edged the Morrisburg Lions 3-2.

Stewart potted two goals with Hehn netting the other.

Meet the family chiropractor

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

Former Williamstown resident Angela Smith is coming home, but this time, she's changing the community and hopefully people's misconceptions about chiropractics.

"The main thing I want to convey to people is that people of all ages can go to a chiropractor," said Smith, during the grand opening last Saturday of the Smith Family Chiropractic.

And Smith, 24, leads by example. She regularly does chiropractic adjustments on her niece and nephew who are both around one-year-old.

Smith graduated with a Life Sciences Undergraduate at Queen's University and then spent the last three and a half years at Palmer College in Davenport, Iowa, the birthplace of chiropractics.

Smith explained that chiropractors deal with interference in the spinal column. These blockages manifest themselves not only as back pain, but often as allergic reactions and bad asthma attacks.

"We're not saying that we can cure asthma and allergies," Smith said, "But often these things happen because the body is not responding in the way that it should, because of an interference in the spine."

Smith says regular treatment by a chiropractor helps keep the spine free from interferences and keep the body healthy.

The practice has been open since the middle of September, but the official opening was only last Saturday. Guests were allowed to get a free neck exam and a tour of the facilities as well as refreshments. North Glengarry Mayor Grant Crack was on hand for a tour.

The clinic's first patient, Robbie Duval, last saw a chiropractor 15 years ago and just began treatment again for a pain down her leg.

"I lift boxes at Purolator every day," Duval said. "I always just put off (getting treatment), but when I saw that there was a chiropractor opening up here, I decided to go. Now I still have a little pain, but not as much in the area that was bothering me."

After spending the last three and a half years in Iowa, Smith is happy to be back to the area where she grew up.

"When I graduated, I knew I definitely wanted to come back to Canada to practice and I wanted to be near my family," she said. "Alexandria is the place to be."

Wally Wollinger a hero

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

Wally Wollinger is a retired firefighter from the Canadian Armed Forces. However, his firefighting skills recently earned him a Governor General certificate of bravery for pulling his neighbor out of a blazing fire.

It was Oct. 11, 1997, and Wollinger, 42, living near Dominionville since 1996, heard the smoke alarm go off at his neighbor's house.

"I was in the kitchen when I heard the alarm," said Wollinger, who is now a used car broker. "I told my wife, Fay to call 9-1-1 and I went to the house. I got there and his house was locked up, so I had to break in and I got him out of his bedroom. He was overcome with smoke."

Wally Wollinger holds his certificate of bravery from Governor-General Adrienne Clarkson. Next to him is his neighbor, Bill Gourley, who Wollinger saved in a fire three years ago. Staff photo – Jason Magder

In fact, Bill Gourley's entire room was on fire, including the walls and bed, by the time Wollinger had come onto the scene.

"I just vaguely remember him helping me out," Gourley said. "And the next thing I remember was waking up in (Glengarry Memorial Hospital)."

The fire was caused by a cigarette Gourley was smoking. By his admission, he had also had a bit too much alcohol to drink. The combination of alcohol and smoke made Gourley very disoriented when he woke up in a house full of smoke. When Wollinger arrived, he was in his kitchen and then walked to the bedroom. Gourley has not had another drink since.

"He was most likely trying to get something of value out of the house," Wollinger said. "I had to tell him 'Out! Let's go!'"

Gourley was helped out by Wollinger shortly before the firefighters came and salvaged his house. Gourley spent that night at the hospital, getting treated for minor smoke inhalation.

Wollinger told the story to a colleague, Garry Robinson, at Cornwall Freightliner, where he was a medium-duty truck manager. Robinson later wrote the Governor General.

Wollinger got a visit from an RCMP officer last year and then got the certificate in the mail last month.

The certificate is for "an act of great merit in providing assistance to others in a selfless manner in North Glengarry, Ontario."

It's signed by Governor General Adrienne Clarkson. Gourley said the certificate conveys his gratitude as well.

"I can never thank Wally enough for what he did," he said.

However, this wasn't Wollinger's first brave act.As a former crash rescue structural firefighter, he rescued many soldiers from fires in aircraft and buildings. In 1979, he put out a fire from a 101 VooDoo war plane at the CFB Uplands Airbase in Ottawa.

Local 4-Hers compete against the best

4-H News

MARGO PATRICK
347-7298

They're baaccck! The eight members and eight calves had a wonderful experience at the Royal Winter Fair.

The Royal as it is affectionately known is the penultimate farm show of the season and the culmination of each year's 4-H dairy effort. Mac Cumming, Cameron MacGillivray, Kevin Johnston, Mark Howes, Julie St Denis, Laura MacMillan, Melanie Poirier and Lori St Denis represented Glengarry at the Scotia Hays Classic. The 21st Anniversary running of this prestigious 4-H cattle show showcases the Dairy clubs at their finest. There are 8 participants each from every county of Ontario, 48 participants from Quebec and 10 participants from every other province who come to Toronto to shine with their animals.

Sunday was the preliminary Showmanship Class. Mac and Cameron represented Glengarry with their Aryshire calves, while Kevin, Mark, Julie, Laura, Melanie and Lori showed Holstein animals. In each of these classes, ten participants are pulled out to show in the finals for showmanship but this was not to be Glengarry's year to go forward.

Confirmation classes were held on Monday. Four of our Intermediate Holstein calves made it to the finals-which is very good indeed! Laura MacMillan placed 4th, Kevin Johnston placed 13th, Mark Howes placed 16th, and Julie St. Denis took 22nd place. Congratulations to all on wonderful examples of Glengarry Breedings!

As well as the Showmanship and Confirmation Classes there is also the Tie-Stall Competition. This class showcases the groups stall decoration and set-up. This year Glengarry was pleased to be chosen to be in the "E" category. Congratulations to all the members and their chaperones for a job well done!

A big Thank-you is extended to all who have helped our kids in both monetary and any other support. It is through you that we continue to develop strong citizens and farmers for our community.

We have two sets of Press Reports this week. The Photography Club is learning all about cameras and photography. Our Press Reporter is Amber Hoekstra.

Meeting 1: The meeting started at approximately 7:10 pm. It took a while for everyone to find a place to sit. First Mrs. Nixon took down everyone's names and we held our elections. Then Mrs. Bauck gave us a slide show on lighting and different speeds of film. We also talked about automatic, digital, and Polaroid cameras. When we finished, we discussed the date and place for the next meeting. Cooper's Marsh on Oct. 14 at 9 a.m. was the decision. The meeting was then adjourned.

October 21

The meeting was never called to order because the president was absent. The members met at Bordeau Chip Wagon and the leaders drove us to Cooper's Marsh where we had a field day. The first category of photography was animals.

Since the only animals in Coopers Marsh are birds, (the other animals would run away before you have time to take the picture), we had to bring an animal with us. The animal was a ferret; we took pictures of it from different viewpoints. We then restored the ferret to its kennel and moved to the next category, people. After walking down the path some ways, we found the ideal spot for photographing people. It was a flat rock sitting just in front of a small pond. Everyone split into pairs and took a picture of each other. Traveling further down the path, we found a patch of stalks with tufts of fluffy stuff on the ends. With dead tree stumps sitting here and there, it was picture perfect.

Since flowers are quite scarce this time of year, taking pictures of them was not going to be all that easy. But, fortunately for us, one of our leaders had the insight to bring a beautiful red rose. Stuck in a thistle and misted with water, it looked lovely. For the next thirty minutes, we walked along the path taking pictures of ducks, dragonflies, mushrooms, berry bushes and anything else that we thought looked "nice". Bringing things to a close, when we got back to the entrance, we took the ferret back out of his cage; because some people did not get to take a picture of him yet. Then we all piled back into back into the waiting cars and drove home.

Do you remember the Home for the Holidays Club? They have been to the chocolate place and have lots for us to drool over!

Hi, this is Jennifer Lalonde reporting for the Home for the Holiday's Club.

Today we met up with the group at our Leader's Home or at the Curling club in Alexandria. We are off to the Hershey's Candy Factory in Smith Falls.

We met at 1 p.m. at Trish Hamilton's home and got to the factory at 3 p.m.

We had a tour from the observation deck and got to see a huge vat of chocolate and caramel. It looked so good. We also saw all the machines and mold for the bars and Brown Cow syrup. Then we were off to the store to buy our goodies. They had really good prices on broken candies. We were able to get home at 6 p.m. eating chocolate all the way!!!

This is Amanda Drouin reporting for the Home for the Holiday's Club. Our 3rd meeting was at the leader's home, Trish Hamilton. This was a jam-packed meeting, we had a lot to do. Sabrine and Sarah both did presentations of their family's Christmas traditions. They were very interesting and very different from each other. Then we made our Christmas centrepieces for the fairs. The wooden blocks were donated by Ken Alexander. We finished them off with a candle in the middle.

For the last hour we designed our gingerbread houses and made the patterns, now we are ready to roll and cut!!!

Local farmers swell last week's Ottawa protest

By News Staff

Glengarry and area cash croppers were among the 1,000 farmers who demonstrated Thursday before the nationally-televised leaders' debate in Ottawa.

"As the leaders of the parties discuss and debate their visions of Canada's future, I can only hope they are thinking of our future," said Ontario Federation of Agriculture vice-president Bill Mailloux.

However, the debate did not once tackle the issue, although Prime Minister Jean Chretien did mention "farmers" in the same sentence as "workers", citizens which the Liberals want to support more if re-elected.

OFA president Jack Wilkinson said it's time the government fixes the disparity between what the farmers receive for their produce and what they get for government assistance.

He said a $12 plate consists of $1.22 cost for buying the food and $1.47 in federal and provincial taxes.

"Is that right?" he asked the crowd, which yelled back, "No!"

Wilkinson said the OFA has no option left, but to pressure the governments so farmers eventually receive the same assistance as U.S. counterparts.

MP Don Boudria has written a letter to Ontario Ministry of Agriculture Ernie Hardeman.

He urged the province to increase the province's 40 per cent share of the cost-sharing arrangement, which totals $2.2 billion.

PCs field candidate

By Greg Peerenboom
News Editor

With only 28 days before the federal election, the Progressive Conservatives will field a candidate in the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell riding.

An analyst and researcher, Ashley O'Kurley was endorsed at the PC's meeting in Casselman last Thursday.

O'Kurley has aligned with the PCs because he believes Clark's life-long philosophy of Canada being "a community of communities" is close to his own evaluation.

His employment has included the Alberta government, the office of PC leader Joe Clark and auto-parts giant Magna International.

O'Kurley, 30, has been a resident of the riding for six years after being raised in Edmonton.

He has an extensive business-related education, with a Bachelor of Arts in Economics from the University of Alberta and additional business study at the University of Western Ontario. He also studied French at l'Université Laval and l'Université de Montréal. He is also currently taking correspondence courses from Athabasca University.

Enter bin with care

The Farm Safety Association issued a warning on entry into confined areas after three Ontario farm workers were killed earlier when they entered a manure spreader tank on the dairy farm where they were employed.

The following confined space entry procedures should be followed:

•Test the atmosphere for oxygen and for levels of toxic and explosive gases. If you cannot test, always assume that the atmosphere is dangerous.

•If a dangerous atmosphere exists, you must wear a self-contained breathing apparatus. Ventilate the area as thoroughly as possible before entry.

•All mechanical equipment must be locked out.

•Use the "buddy" system and wear a lifeline. Sufficient equipment and manpower must be available. A third person should be on hand to summon assistance, if needed..

•Establish how you will be communicating before entering the confined space. The meaning of verbal signals, hand gestures or tugging the line signals must be understood by people on the outside.

•Never re-enter a confined space without retesting and venting the area.

French public board acclamation Daniel Morin

By Jason Magder
News Reporter

For Daniel Morin, being acclaimed as Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry trustee for the French Public School board is probably a good sign.

"When people are acclaimed, the reason I like most to explain it is because they're doing a good job," Morin said.

Morin has been a member of the board, which includes Ecole Terre des Jeunes, since its inception in 1998. Before that, he was a member of the French division of the English Public School Board. Morin has been involved with the board since 1988 and is currently beginning his fifth consecutive mandate as trustee. This is the second consecutive time that he has run unchallenged for the post. In the last three years, Morin has served as vice-chair in 1998, 1999, and as chair of the board last year. The new mandate begins on Dec. 5 and the Cornwall resident plans to run for the chair position again.

"I want to make sure that all of the schools in the board are adequate. I don't want to have any schools to have portable (trailer) classrooms, and I want them all to have fully functional gymnasiums," Morin said.

The board is a relatively large one: covering the territory from Alexandria to Kingston, up to Ottawa and reaching as far as Renfrew and Pembroke. With all that territory to cover, it seems he has his work cut out for him.

"In the last three years, the whole system has grown by 15 per cent," Morin said. "It's as difficult to manage growth as it is to manage a decrease."

Activities for the children

Glengarry District-Le Relais will be holding National Child Day activities this Saturday.

There will be crafts, a fish pond, cooperative games and more. Prizes will be offered.

LAVIGNE, Archie –In loving memory or a dear husband, father and grandfather, Archie, who passed away three years ago November 17, 1997.
Our hearts still ache with sadness dear Archie
And secret tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you
No one will every know.
When days are long and lonely
And everything goes wrong,
I seem to hear you whisper
Cheer up and carry on;
And when we see your picture
You seem to smile and say,
Don't cry I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet again some day.
– Sadly loved and missed by wife, children and grandchildren 46-1p

And we know we always will.
His bright blue eyes are closed,
We long to see them once more.
Proud parents we will always be,
Our sweet Kirk, we will always adore.
He plays with the heavenly angels now,
His illness exchanged for peace.
First we held him, now he comforts us,
As tears and heavy heart, we release.
We cherish the time we shared with him,
And wish we could have had more.
Blessed to have been chosen to love him,
Our sweet Kirk, we will always adore.

Parish supports Msgr. D.B. McDougald

Solidarity was the reason for the huge turnout in St. Raphael's Parish Centre to honour their priest, Msgr. D.B. McDougald.

Speaking at a brunch provided by St. Raphael's Knights of Columbus, Carl Rines, spokesman for the parishioners said: "We want you to know you do not stand alone in adverse times. In every way possible we are all here to show you we believe in you, respect you and appreciate all you do for us. Just as we turn to our families for support, we want you to turn to us."

A plaque presented by Bernard MacCulloch read "In appreciation to Msgr. D. B. McDougald for constant dedication and guidance to the parishioners of St. Raphael's. May God grant you peace, happiness and health for continued labour in our parish and good judgement for the decisions you now face. Be assured of our love, our prayers and enduring support."

Father McDougal expressed his thanks to his parishioners and received a standing ovation. As he preferred not to receive a monetary contribution, the proceeds of the brunch were given to the "Youth Blaze," a young group who are occupying Mount Carmel House while studying evangelization.

School entertains seniors

The Brown House Circle group of seniors were pleasantly entertained at their November meeting in St. Raphael's Parish Centre when the students of Grade 5 to 8 from the Sam J. McLeod School band visited with their director Walter Nowicky.

Saxaphone musicians were: Alyson Orwell, Ashley and Kalita Koggel, Melissa and Corey Madden, Angie Boruck and Victoria Couchman.

Playing the clarinets were: Katie Gallagher, Mary Jan O'Shea, Kaley Corbett, Samantha Martin, Natalie Charette, Kelly Ann Lynch, Brittany Werely, Heather Newton, Killian McCormick and Ellen Astle.

Trombone players: Billy Dupuis, Jessica McLeod, Benjamin Oeggerli and Shannon Gallagher.

On drums were Celia Decosta and Michael Coleman; on trumpets Kacie Lancaster, Melissa Madder, Stephaine Carrier, Amber McDonald and B.J. Coleman who also played the bagpipes.

Clad in their white shirts and green tartans they are a really smart-looking young group, certainly a credit to their school.

Frank Periard appeals for the fallen soldiers

Frank Periard of Alexandria, guest speaker at the November meeting really held the attention of the seniors as he spoke in a subject dear to his heart - remembrance of the Canadian soldiers who lost their lives to preserve Canada abroad.

The appreciation of the people of Holland is on-going, he reported from experience as he has gone to Holland for the past seven years to pay homage at the grave of his brother Aimé who died helping to liberate that country.

Every year at armistice time, the Dutch people have all-day services in memory of the Canadian army who fought to liberate their country. "They shut down the schools and teach the children to respect the fallen by having them all go to the cemeteries to lay flowers on the graves." Periard explained.

Mr. Periard feels there is not enough recognition given here to those who helped to keep the war far from our own shores and not enough emphasis on the history of those soldiers who paid such a sacrifice.

How true his words! Our own services here don't get the attention that goes on at a hockey game. Good luck Frank, with your crusade to encourage their remembrance!

Louise Walker will be missed

Louise Walker passed away at her home last Wednesday evening. She and her late husband Cyrus had moved to Dunvegan from the United States in protest to the Vietnam war and, as a change from their former occupation of dairy farmers, had operated a sheep farm for some time. They had been benefactors of the Glengarry Pioneer Museum, donating land for its expansion a couple of times. Louise was an expert weaver.

She was a wonderfully feisty woman, who was direct in her manner and, owing to the support of her family and a circle of close friends, coped well with an extended period of illness.

Late in life, when many people throw up their hands at the thought of new technology, Louise jumped onto the information highway and learned to use a computer and the Internet.

The condolences of the community go out to her sons Michael of Toronto and Tim of Vermont and to their families. Louise will be missed by her many friends.

Guest speaker

At their annual meeting, Nov. 20, the Vankleek Hill and District Nature Society will have Dr. Rodger Titman, Professor of Wildlife Biology, MacDonald Campus of McGill University, who will speak on "Canadian Field Studies in Africa".

The meeting will be at Vankleek Hill Collegiate high school at 7:30 p.m.

Don't call area code 809

There's a new scam out there designed to boost up your Bell bill and give you real difficulty in fighting it afterwards.

Do not return any message (phone, email or fax) to an 809 area code. You may have an urgent message about the illness of a family member or that someone has been arrested, or that you have won a wonderful prize.

This area code is in the British Virgin Islands and, if you call from the U.S., you will apparently be charged $2,425 per minute. Or, you'll get a long recorded message. The point is, they will try to keep you on the phone as long as possible to increase the charges and your phone bill could run into the thousands of dollars.

This 809 area code is similar to our pay-per-call 900 numbers and, since it is out of the country, it is not covered by our regulations which require that you be notified and warned of charges and rates involved when you call a pay-per-call number. And there's no requirement that the company provide a time period during which you may terminate the call without being charged.

It's important to prevent becoming a victim of this scam, since trying to fight the charges afterwards can become a real nightmare. That's because you did actually make the call.

Father Dan's ballot

HIGHLAND PATHS

KEN MCKENNA

The current mess due to the strange voting processes of our neighbours to the south makes this column particularly timely. As I write this (Nov. 12), the Americans have still not been able to figure out who won the presidential election. They have been using some form of secret ballot for over two centuries but don't seem to be able to get it straight yet. It's too bad that Fr. Dan Macdonald is not still around to show them how to do it.

The story of Fr. Dan's secret ballot is a local legend. Over time, stories that are passed down in the oral tradition can change and vague rumours can sometimes become unquestioned "facts." But proper research may reveal a different story. It may also confirm a story that even the tellers doubted.

That's what happened with the oft-repeated story that the bagpipes and the Gaelic language were once banned by government decree in Scotland. A study of the Disarming Acts passed after the Jacobite Risings in the 18th century include no such references, but historians and others repeated those untruths for centuries. The Highland Scots suffered under many forms of persecution and discrimination, but official government banning of the pipes or of Gaelic was not among them.

Now comes a happy verification of a story that has been circulating for years in Glengarry. In previous Highland Paths columns I touched on Fr. Dan Macdonald, pastor of St. Margaret of Scotland parish in Glen Nevis during the first half of the last century. I heard stories about him from many people, including Charles McDonald, John J. MacLeod and Katherine and Ray McDonell.

Everyone I interviewed agreed that Fr. Dan had invented a secret ballot to be used in elections but facts were not forthcoming. Now we have the proof: a copy of the actual patent, obtained by Susan Drinkwater of Ottawa, President of the Glengarry and Ottawa Valley branch of the Clan MacMillan Society.

Susan had read my columns on Glen Nevis and decided to verify the story of Fr. Dan and the ballot. She contacted Carole Choinière, Information and Search Officer, Client Service Centre of the Canadian Intellectual Property Office, an Agency of Industry Canada and lo and behold! - a copy of Fr. Dan's original patent was sent to her. Now the story is no longer vague, but a fact.

The approved application form is under the printed heading "Department of Agriculture, Patent Branch" and is followed, in what is obviously Fr. Dan's fine hand, "Alexandria, Ont. January 25/26 1897. Rev'd D. R. Macdonald, Bishop's House." Then, under Application For Patent, in a different hand, is "Ballot Paper." Then comes "$20.00 pd." (The charge, I suppose, for registering the patent). There are a number of other notations and initials in the various hands through which the application passed. The patent number is hand-written in large letters, "55763."

On three attached papers, again in Fr. Dan's hand, are "Specifications - For an Improved Election Ballot Paper." After the preamble identifying the applicant are the words "having invented a new and useful improvement in election ballot papers... [this]is a full, clear, and exact description of the same."

There follows a very complete explanation: "This ballot paper, as shown by its accompanying drawing, consists of a sheet of paper 6 inches by 4 (or may be of any more convenient size). It is divided into three sections by two perforated lines. These sections are marked on the drawings A, B, and C respectively. A and B are counterfoils. C is the ballot proper." Fr. Dan's description of how the ballot was to be used to ensure secrecy and the drawing attached look to me very much as the present-day ballot appears. I don't know how election ballots were designed before this, but Fr. Dan's invention must have been a great improvement. Although he did not invent the first secret ballot, Fr. Dan should certainly be recognized as having contributed greatly to the efficiency and security of the election process.

The application was witnessed in Alexandria on January 28th, 1897, by A. G. F. Macdonald (the founder of The Glengarry News and grandfather of the present owners) and Don D. McMillan. As Susan Drinkwater says in her note to me accompanying the document that she discovered: "What a wonderful piece of our history!"

This Friday evening, Nov. 17, Dr. Michael Newton of Boston, author, academic and noted Scots Gaelic scholar, will give a talk at the Celtic Studies department of the University of Ottawa. •Char-Lan Crusaders senior girls basketball team did the expected Monday beating visiting General Vanier Vikings, 58-44, in the SD&G "A" division final. But when the title game ended there was no wild celebration on the court that one would expect from a championship team. Winning the tri-county crown has become old hat for Crusaders: it was their third straight. What they really want this year is an EOSSAA tournament (being hosted again by Char-Lan, this Friday and Saturday) crown, and that's something Char-Lan has been denied at each of the last two Eastern Ontario championships.

•The North Lancaster Optimist Club was host to the president of Optimists International during his rare visit to the district last weekend.
