Looking for Quebec car in farmhouse entries

OPP at Lancaster and Maxville are investigating break and entries in two area farm homes that appear to be related. They are looking for a car with Quebec licence plates the occupants of which might be implicated.

Homes broken into last Friday are those of Rene Fliegans, one mile east of Dunvegan, and William G. MacLeod, a mile east of McCrimmon on Highway 34.

It was the MacLeod burglary that brought the Quebec car into the picture. Mr. and Mrs. MacLeod left their home at 6:30 p.m. to attend a church supper in Vankleek Hill. When they returned home about 8 p.m. they found the door of their back kitchen broken open. Their color television set, vacuum cleaner and toaster had been taken; the loss is estimated at $600.

Mrs. MacLeod reports that as they turned out of their lane to go to Vankleek Hill a car with Quebec plates went past. Mr. MacLeod noted that it turned around while still in his rear-view mirror and it is conjectured the occupants were looking for unoccupied houses.

The second break and entry that day took place between 4 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. while Mr. Fliegans was at work in Alexandria.

A basement window had been forced to gain entry and the kitchen door had been broken. Only a black and white portable tv set was taken.

The break and entries are reminiscent of another in the Laggan area Feb. 6th when ten guns were taken from the home of Harry Franklin. A Quebec youth was later convicted on a number of charges for break-ins of isolated homes in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec.

Child bitten by rabid cat in area

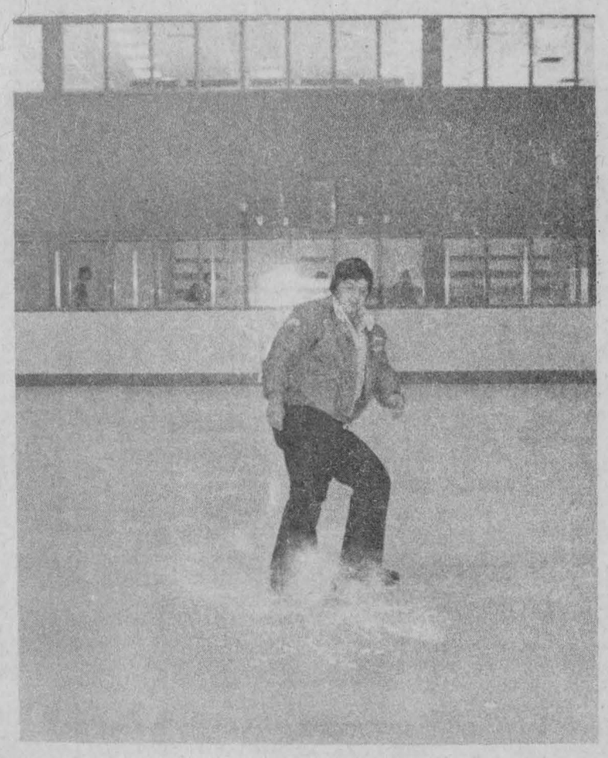
Rabies has shown its ugly head in the Maxville area where a case has been confirmed by the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Gertrude, a foster child of Hans Ciesleiwicz of Con. 13 Indian Lands, Kenyon, was attacked and bitten by one of their cats on Thursday. The cat was tested for rabies and proved positive.

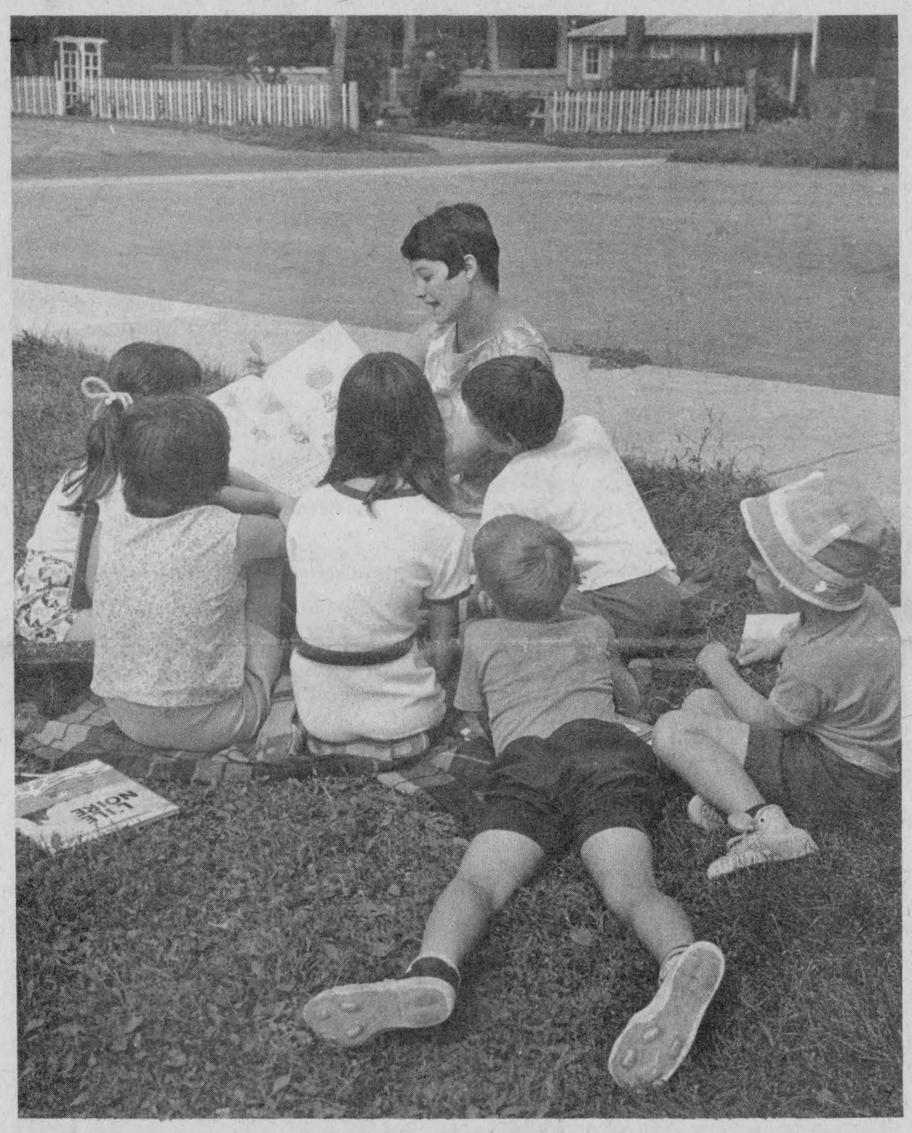
Mrs. Ciesleiwicz said she believes the disease started from a dead fox which was discovered in the Strathmore area some three weeks ago. She said the cat which carried the disease came from that area and she thinks the fox must be the source.

"It's too bad that people can't be made more aware of this disease," she said, "because had something been done to publicize the dead fox then something would have been done with the cat. Now we are left with the unpleasant task of having to destroy all our animals which are possible carriers, some of which have been pets for six years."

The Maxville detachment of the OPP said there is no reason to become alarmed however people may do well to keep a more watchful eye out for signs of the disease in the area.



BREAKING THE ICE—Somebody had to be first and Recreation Director Michel Depratto just happened to be the only one with the necessary equipment when the Glengarry Sports Palace received its first layer of ice this week. Public skating is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. —Staff photo



HAS EXPERIENCE IN STORY-TELLING—New supervisor at the Alexandria library, Mrs. Helene Lanctot has had experience in story-telling as witness this session of several years ago at Dalkeith when she was working on the library's summer program. Mrs. Lanctot is the wife of Guy Lanctot, credit manager at Glengarry Transport Ltd. and they have been residents of Alexandria for the past year, coming here from Cornwall. She has plans for story-telling periods at the library for pre-schoolers.

On teachers salaries

Arbritation ruling expected on weekend

An arbitration board decision on a new salary schedule for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry county board of education secondary teachers is expected to be received on Oct. 10th.

Robert Whittaker, board personnel co-ordinator, said a joint statement on the arbitration award will be made after it is received and examined by both sides. The award was originally expected to be received last Thursday.

An arbitration board decision is binding on both parties and the award regarding the new salary schedule will have to go to the anti-inflation board (AIB) for approval after it has been examined by the school board and the teachers.

The salary schedule is the only outstanding issue between the two sides in an eight-month contract covering the period of Jan. 1 to Aug. 31. The non-monetary items in the agreement were ratified at separate meetings in June.

Under the old agreement, which expired last Dec. 31, secondary teachers were paid salaries ranging from $9,500 to $20,000, depending on experience and qualifications.

The teachers received cost-of-living allowances last Sept. 1, of $1,000 to $1,400 to bring their salaries to the above range.

Child not seriously hurt

When returning to school after lunch Friday afternoon, Michelle Masson, 8, of Alexandria, was struck by a car driven by Jean-Guy Duval, also from Alexandria.

The accident, said police, occurred when Mrs. Ronald Masson let her daughter out of the car. Michelle then ran across Lochiel St. and was struck by a car which was making a turn onto Lochiel off Main St. South.

Police reported that Michelle only appeared to suffer from minor bruises but was transported to hospital.

Ice season opens at new Sports Palace

Ice is in at the new Glengarry Sports Palace and the first sessions of public skating are set for this weekend.

There will be skating Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Recreation Director Michel Depratto reminds that only the first 250 will be permitted on the ice each night. Admission for skating this year will be adults $1.00, under 18—50 cents.

A Thanksgiving day children's special is planned for Monday afternoon with a session for girls from 1 to 2:30 and one for boys from 3 to 4:30. Admission that day will be only 25 cents.

Tuesday, there will be [illegible] skating for the boys from 3:15 to 4:15 and for girls from 4.15 to 5:15.

In a season-opening message to the public, Recreation Director Michel Depratto reminds that the fine new Glengarry Sports Palace belongs to the people in town and area. Their co-operation in keeping it clean and nice is sought. People damaging the building will be severely dealt with, he adds.

Delicatessen store to open

A delicatessen store will open in Alexandria next Thursday, Oct. 14th.

Fritz Leicht, a resident of the 8th Lancaster for the past 18 months, has purchased the Bert Lauzon barbershop building opposite the Ottawa Hotel and will use the former barbershop quarters to house his new delicatessen. It will carry pastries, teas, imported chocolates and other items.

The Simpsons-Sears order office will remain in the north wing of the building.

Mr. Leitz came to Canada from Germany 17 years ago and had been in Montreal before moving to the Green Valley area. He will continue to live in the 8th Concession.

Addition to Carnation plant rumored here

A substantial addition to the Alexandria plant of Carnation Instant Foods is said to be in the offing. According to street talk a $350,000 addition is planned as well as a new CNR siding.

Plant superintendent Ken Brown could not confirm the report but he admitted Carnation officials were exploring the possibility of expanded plant to manufacture coffee-mate. "I have nothing to report at this time" said Mr. Brown, "but I am optimistic."

Coffee-mate continues to show a steady increase in acceptance on the Canadian market reports Mr. Brown.

If the rumors prove true it is not likely a start would be made on construction before next spring.

Died Monday

Owner of Bowen's General Store at North Lancaster, Hugh Bowen died Monday in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

The funeral will be held at 2 p.m., Thursday, from the Morris Funeral Home to the United Church at Dalhousie Mills.

New owner likes Alexandria

Alexandria's newest business, a modern Western Tire & Auto Supply store at 68 Main St., South, will be ready for its first customers today, Thursday, Oct. 7th.

Its official opening will culminate almost eight years of planning by its proprietor.

Cyril Marshall, President of C. F. Marshall Inc., has recently moved his family to a new home in the First Kenyon. He has owned the property there, 100 acres, for more than five years.

During that time he has progressively improved the land which had stood idle for many years, first by installing a mobile home in one of the meadows, then by building a swimming pool, and later by adding a winterized cottage.

Last year, a three-bedroom house was constructed fronting First Kenyon. Construction of both the cottage and the house was supervised by Mr. Marshall, who completed both himself with help from son Jeffrey.

Mr. Marshall, who had lived in Montreal since 1960, recalled that he spent more than three years looking for both the right piece of property and an attractive town to settle in.

"There's no doubt that this area satisfies everything we were looking for," he said.

He chose early retirement this month from a major oil company in order to open his new business.

Born in St. John's, Newfoundland, Mr. Marshall began his business career as a photographer, owning a very successful studio there until 1951. During that time, he was also a principal in a firm which produced motion pictures.

Following the sale of his studio, Mr. Marshall joined his brother in an electronics supply and repair firm. That company also produced films, including the first to promote the province to tourists and business.

In 1955, however, an oil company, attracted by his unique experience, lured him away from the island to join their marketing department in Toronto. He was later transferred to the company's headquarters in Montreal where he specialized in employee benefit plans.

Mr. Marshall and his wife, Ruth, have three sons and a daughter. Peter is co-ordinator of college information services for St. Lawrence College of Applied Arts and Technology. He lives in Kingston with his wife and two children. Jeffrey and Jonathan attend Glengarry District High School and Laggan Public School respectively. Jeffrey is in grade 12 and Jonathan is in grade 8. Valerie has started her third year of journalism at Carleton University in Ottawa.

"We looked all over Quebec, northern New York state, and eastern Ontario, for the right place for us," Mr. Marshall explained. "But there were several things about eastern Ontario that reminded us of Newfoundland. The communities were small and friendly, and the people have a tradition of pride and self-sufficiency.

"I liked Alexandria from the first time we visited it—in 1962 or '63—and feel confident enough about it to link both our futures together.

FACE-LIFTING COMPLETED—Alexandria's newest business, Western Tire, held its official opening Wednesday night at what once was Glengarry Motor Sales. The building's renovation was started in mid-July and completed only last week. Improvements include the installation of vertical steel siding to the top half of the building and the relocation of the apartment stairs to the exterior of the structure. The new stairs allowed additional room to the front and a second garage door was also added. —Staff photo

Library here to be open Thursday afternoons

The Alexandria Library will be open an additional afternoon, on Thursdays, starting October 14th. The hours will be from three o'clock until half-past five. Mrs. Helene Lanctot will be in charge.

Mrs. Lanctot is well-known to many readers in the three United Counties. She was the bookmobile supervisor in the early years, before the county library was formed. Later she worked as Headquarters supervisor and assistant to the business administrator. She has lived in Alexandria for the past year.

Now a mother of two, Mrs. Lanctot is also well-qualified to put into effect her plan to start story-telling periods for the preschool set. Arrangements regarding these story hours will be announced later.

Iona agreement

Negotiations for a land exchange between the SD&G separate school Board and the diocese of Alexandria were completed last week when the board agreed to turn over the old Bishop's residence at Iona Academy and about two acres of land in exchange for about 25 acres of land.

Wrote story

Now a resident, at age 94, of Maxville Manor, Miss Ethel Ostrom has had a story accepted by W. J. Gage Ltd. of Toronto. It will be included in a collection of short stories for children and Miss Ostrom received a cheque in the amount of $100.

The story is titled Janty and Janty was a baby dinosaur that found its way to an Alexandria home.

Miss Ostrom's delightful story of the baby dinosaur was based on a tale told by a well-known Alexandria barber, Gerald McDonald.

Blood donor clinic to be held here November 9th

The fall blood donor clinic will be held at Glengarry District High School on Tuesday, Nov. 9th and organization for the event was discussed last week when Alexandria Lions Club played host to the Richelieu Club members. The two service clubs collaborate in organizing the annual event for Glengarry Red Cross while Glengarry Council K of C organizes the spring donor clinic.

Lions President Marcel Ranger shared chairmanship of the meeting with Richelieu President Denis Vaillancourt. An enjoyable feature was a "roast" of several members of both clubs organized by Lion Duncan Macdonell. Mayor Bruno Massie and Reeve J. P. Touchette were among those given a hilarious roasting.

Another feature of the meeting was the presentation by the Richelieu Club of a plaque to Lion Ranald MacDonald for his money raising abilities in the Skatathon held by the Richelieu Club.

No mail here on Tuesday

Mail delivery in Ottawa and throughout much of the Valley will be affected for most of this week by wildcat walkouts in the city, Hull and nine area communities.

But the disruptions won't end there, the powerful Canadian Union of Postal Workers promised Monday. The strikes, it warned, will continue until the post office resolves the long, bitter automation dispute with the union.

Alexandria's post-office was closed Tuesday as the staff participated in a wildcat walkout that was expected to last only 24 hours.

Inside postal workers at Ottawa's Alta Vista depot refused to report for late evening shifts Monday. Others in Hull, Hawkesbury, Maniwaki, Brockville, Gatineau, Pointe Gatineau, Prescott and Arnprior were out, as was the case here.

Top teams in school football won again

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

In ideal gridiron weather the three top school teams in the SD&G Football League, CCVS, Tagwi and Gaels, won their games in last Friday's triple header. Each has four points and is tied in first place.

The Golden Raiders, two-year league champions from CCVS, barely edged Vanier Vikings by a hockey score of 6—3. Tagwi Warriors treked to Cornwall and the Redmen, like CCVS, came up with a three-point margin defeating La Citadelle Patriots 9—6. In Ourtown, Gaels blanked Cornwall St. Lawrence 27—0.

The defending champions, CCVS, were held in check by Vanier until the last quarter when they tallied the only major of the game. As the teams changed ends at three-quarter time, Vikings held a 3—0 lead by virtue of a single and a two-point rouge.

In the final fifteen, CCVS' ground gaining game moved the Raiders in scoring range. Once there they were quick to take advantage as Glenn Dick hit pay dirt for six. CCVS failed to convert the td.

Vanier kept on digging. They almost tied the score in the final moments with a field goal. Like some Hollywood script finishes of CFL games this year with the final minute-flag fluttering, Patriots' placement kicker Mike Johnston took a bead on the cross bar. He was rushed and the ball partly blocked missed the goal posts thus wiping out a tie and winning the game for CCVS, 6—3.

By holding Tagwi in check for most of the game before yielding the right of way, La Citadelle Patriots, a second division team last year, gave notice that they could be spoilers before the season ends.

The Patriots while stalling Warriors' offense for almost 50 minutes posted a second-quarter major by Ricky McCullough, not converted, that gave the Patriots a half-time lead of 6—0. This scoring play was one of the game's highlights. McCullough snared a Brian Wensink pass about the 55 stripe and it was all daylight to the Warriors' end zone. La Citadelle protected this lead through the third quarter and well into the final fifteen. However, Tagwi have too many guns to be kept silent for 60 minutes.

As the clock ticked away, Tagwi had to punt. Dave Rumer, one of the top booters in the league, hoofed the ball to the coffin corner, over the goal line and bounding out of touch to make the score Patriots 6 Tagwi 1. This single sparked the Warriors. They then scored a td but it was nullified by a penalty. Tagwi continued to storm the La Citadelle fort. And with the final minute flag waving, as in the CCVS-Warriors finish, Warriors were on the Patriots' seven. Brian Wensink handed off to the pride of St. Andrew's, Allan MacDonell, who cut around the left side into Patriots' end zone. Score now, Tagwi 7, La Citadelle 6.

Evidence of the confidence Tagwi coach Don Bond has in his rookie skipper, Brian Wensink, was the two-point convert try. This was a Wensink to Wensink pass completion, Brian to Peter. Then the gun cracked and the happy Warriors trudged to their teepee with their second win over two strong Cornwall teams.

Although Gaels racked up a lopsided win of 27—0 over St. Lawrence Saints, the score was not indicative of the play. The same analysis goes for last week's game in Williamstown. Both Char-Lan and St. Lawrence have good football squads as other school teams will discover before the season ends.

Gaels' Scott Hay belted the kickoff five yards deep in the St. Lawrence end but the Saints came up with a 20-yard runback. For the next 10 minutes the visitors controlled the game as they slowly churned along the ground or short end sweeps.

The Saints rolled up five first downs mainly on Champagne's running. This early surge carried them well into Gaels' territory. Then a second-down pass was knocked down. On third and five the Saints lined up to punt. This manoeuvre turned out to be an end run trapped by GDHS and Gaels took over.

Then Gaels were on the march. Wayne Lee was at the signal calling post, replacing Normand Laliberte out with an injured ankle. Lee handed off to Charlebois and "Johnny C" streaked for nine. Lee was good for the extra yard plus nine more to move the sticks. Then Lee fired a strike to Emile Lefebvre for 20 and now Gaels were knocking on the door.

Luc Poirier carred the mail for another first down. Wayne Lee rolled out and appeared to be sacked. But the Vankleek Hill youngster, now a GDHS student, ducked away from two tacklers and with plenty of poise tossed the ball to Emile Lefebvre who romped across the goal line for a td. In the convert try, Scott Hay failed to get height and the ball was blocked. Time 12 minutes.

On the kickoff Scott Hay blasted the ball again into the Saints' end zone. On the runback St. Lawrence fumbled the ball. Gaels' Brian Danaher recovered. Another handoff, Lee to Charlebois, put the ball on the Saints' eight. Then Luc Poirier charged through Saints' front wall for Gaels' second major. This time Scott Hay split the cedars like Don Sweet. Thirteen points in two minutes as the first quarter ended.

It was trench warfare for most of the second. Except when Wayne Lee pulled the trigger on a long pass to his fellow townsman from the "Hill" Jeff Hudson, who made a spectacular catch in the end zone with two defenders draped around him. Scott Hay was on convert target raising the count to 20—0.

Before half time Saints twice were within field goal range on third down but gambled in favor of moving the sticks and lost the ball to Gaels both times.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. Gaels tackling was shoddy and ineffective as Champagne ripped holes in their line. Danny McPherson's spiral punts kept the Saints at bay.

Early in the final fifteen Gaels again took command. Luc Poirier lit the fuse with an inspiring yardage gain. Wayne Lee on a keeper hit for six more. Poirier right back through the middle added five. Gaels moved the sticks on short yardage by Charlebois and a Saints' penalty. At the seven-minute mark on second down and long yardage, Wayne Lee rolled out to his right. Two St. Lawrence tacklers broke through in hot pursuit. Lee spotted Emile Lefebvre alone in the flat and dumped a pass over to the rookie receiver who outran a swarm of tacklers into pay dirt for Gaels' final major that was converted by Scott Hay.

Although hopelessly behind, St. Lawrence kept plugging away and the best Gaels could do was a 40-yard field goal attempt by Scott Hay that was short of the cross bar by a couple of feet.

For the fourth time, Saints gambled on third down in scoring range and failed. Final score, Gaels 27, Saints 0.

A cruncher for Gaels coming up on Friday as they hit west 43 to Tagwi.

Parent involvement in education urged, parent-teacher convention

"Involvement of parents is the thing today, and through organizations like yours, this involvement can take place." These remarks were delivered by the Hon. Thomas Wells, Minister of Education, at the annual convention of the Catholic Parent-Teacher Association, held in St. Catharines on Oct. 1-2-3rd.

The theme of this 25th annual convention was Community Involvement in Catholic Education. Mr. Wells also stated that top priority must be given to developing and fostering those things which bring about parental involvement in schools, and the development of community involvement.

Arthur Maloney, Ombudsman for Ontario, a keynote speaker, recommended changes in the educational system which would develop Canada—its heritage and its resources—in the youth of today. "We must recognize the importance and advantages of being a Canadian," he said.

A panel discussion on "Why or Why Not a C.P.T.A.," concluded that if education is to be effective, there must be interaction between the home and the school. Also the CPTA is a framework by which communication, participation and trust can be brought about between parents, teachers, trustees, clergy and all those concerned with the educational welfare of the children involved in the separate school system.

The convention closed with a mass concelebrated by His Excellency Bishop McCarthy.

Mrs. Marie MacDonald, President of Iona Academy CPTA, and George Lagrue, Principal of Iona Academy, attended the convention. Mr. Lagrue was elected to the Federation of CPTA of Ontario, serving as a teacher representative.

Presbyterial WMS met

The annual fall executive meeting of Glengarry Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society was held in St. John's Presbyterian Church on September 27th. Morning session started at 10 a.m. with the president, Mrs. Alpin MacGregor, of Martintown, presiding. She welcomed the members and led in prayer. Morning devotions were led by the Avonmore society. Mrs. Hugh Morrison gave the message and said our gift of talents should be used every day—not just on Sunday. Mrs. Neil Bush led in prayer. A letter re the Biennial conference to be held in Toronto was read. Possible dates will be May 6, 7, 8. Roll call of societies showed most groups represented. Financial report read by treasurer Miss I. McGaughey. Miss Margaret Boyd, Ottawa, Resource Consultant, spoke on her recent tour of Israel, Galilee, and Jerusalem and showed pictures of these places. Meeting closed for lunch with prayer by Mrs. Wm. Ewing of Vankleek Hill.

The afternoon meeting opened with prayer and a message from the president, the theme "Be strong and of good courage" was stressed. Reports of departmental secretaries were given and the presidents of each group told of the year's highlights in their society. A skit entitled "Tell me Doctor" was put on by ten of the Martintown ladies. The secretary for children and youth groups, Miss Lois Gemmell, has called a special meeting on Saturday at 1:30 p.m., at St. John's Church to further that work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter recently spent a week in Lethbridge, Newfoundland, visiting his nephew and family . . . Rev. and Mrs. Brian Elder. Rev. Elder has seven churches in his charge.

For some good music this Saturday, come to the Hall for the Fiddlers' last concert of the season, featuring Art Jamieson of Renfrew.

The service this Sunday, Oct. 10th, at St. Michael's Anglican Church will be Holy Eucharist and Harvest Thanksgiving at 9:00 a.m.

Mrs. Morton Johnston of Ottawa, recently visited Mrs. W. M Morrow. Mrs. Morrow spent Monday in Ottawa visiting Mrs. T. H. Acres, Orma and Carrie.

WI HOSTS MARTINTOWN GROUP

The Maxville Women's Institute Branch held their first meeting of the new season on Tuesday night in the United Church Hall. The Martintown branch were guests and helped to make it a very successful evening. Mrs. MacLachlan, Picnic Grove Branch, showed slides of her recent trip to the East Coast. They were indeed very beautiful and so well presented, with a good commentary. A resolution should be made to see Canada first when there are so many beautiful and interesting scenes to be viewed. Some of us may never see these places unless viewed from slides. Thank you Muriel, for such splendid effort.

Mrs. Eva Kippen, presided for the meeting and announced that Mrs. Diane Jaggassar and Mrs. Mary Van Loon would be the leaders for the local 4-H girls Homemaking project. Mrs. Robert MacIntosh, accompanied by Mrs. Catherine McEwen, delighted us with lovely solos. These two ladies are alway prepared to entertain us and we thank them both.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed. Thanks to all who attended because it takes people to make a meeting so successful, and we are very grateful to the United Church for the use of their convenient hall.

Maxville firemen to show off training hall

The Maxville Volunteer Fire Department, under the direction of Fire Chief Bruce McDonald, is celebrating Fire Prevention Week with a special Open House at the Fire Hall this Saturday . . . 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

At 10 a.m. Reeve Hubert A. Quart, accompanied by his council, will cut the ribbon and officially open the newly completed training hall adjacent to the fire hall. This is the culmination of a project that got underway last October . . . town council bought all the required building materials, about $8,000 worth, and the members of the fire department donated their time and skills and did the construction in the evenings and on the weekends. Since a contractor's estimate was $32,000 the savings to the village were substantial. The new hall is large and bright, 20 by 52 feet, panelled, equipped with complete washroom facilities, and furnished with desks and chairs. Kitchen facilities can be added any time.

There is also a newly-erected tower beside the fire hall, the antenna for a two-way radio set-up which will enable the firemen to keep in touch with home base at all times. This is the "missing tower" which received some publicity in July—it formerly stood in North Lancaster, serving the EMO which is now disbanded. It was the property of the Mutual Aid Association of the Counties, and was given by this organization to the Maxville Fire Department which has always been a member of the Association. Radio contact will be an asset in view of the territory the Maxville Fire Department covers . . . from Roxborough boundary on the west, north to Prescott boundary, east to the road east of Baltics Corners, south to the railway tracks in Greenfield, and highway #43. At the request of the OPP the department also covers both lanes of Highway 417 for 16 miles . . . several vehicles have managed to catch fire in this area. For assistance the department's first call is Moose Creek and the second St. Isidore.

The rates are $100 for the first hour, and $50 an hour thereafter. The department presently has 18 members—a few more could be used, and anyone interested in being a fireman and taking an active part in the protection of his own community please contact Fire Chief Bruce McDonald.

Other improvements about the Hall include a paved driveway for the trucks and a new concrete walk. On the trucks is a new length of hose, and a hook ladder for chimney fires. There is also a breathing apparatus, an outfit which enables a fireman to enter a smoke-filled building if a rescue is necessary. All this will be on display on Saturday, 10 to 4 . . . along with coffee and doughnuts.

Come on up to the Fire Hall and have a visit with your fire department.

Touch football series set for Saturday

by Henry Dumouchel

Williamstown (Hope's Auto Parts) really took the measure of the North Lancaster (Cathy's Tavern) club on the weekend, when they defeated them 33—8 and 30—0 in the two-game, total-point semi-final Glengarry Football League play-off series. Kenny MacDonell played two strong games at quarterback for Williamstown, to lead their offensive attack, while Raymond MacDonald and his defensive team performed in the same way as they held the North Lancaster Colts to just eight points in the two games.

Hubert McDonell scored three touchdowns in the two games for Williamstown and Gordon MacDonald scored two. Raymond MacDonald, Huntley McDonell, Neil Cattanach, Robert MacDonald and Ian MacKay had one t.d. apiece.

Peter Kolada scored the lone touchdown for North Lancaster.

Williamstown will now meet Lochiel in a best two out of three final, starting on Sunday, Oct. 17th at 1:00 p.m.

The second annual Thanksgiving Day tournament is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 9th, with the first game starting at 9:00 a.m.

There will be eight teams taking part in the tournament.

First Round schedule

Field A (High School)

9:00 a.m. North Lancaster vs Bainsville.

10:15 a.m. Kingston (Emperor) vs Cornwall.

Field B (Park)

9:00 a.m. Lochiel vs Dunvegan

10:15 a.m. Kingston (Finley's Sport Shop) vs Williamstown

END RUN TO NOWHERE—St. Lawrence offensive players found little room for running plays in their Friday game against GDHS. Unfortunately for the "Saints" almost all of their game was on the ground with very little being left to the passing department. The Gaels on the other hand had a well balanced offense which may have contributed to their overpowering 27—0 victory. —Staff photo

Minor hockey here short one coach

The Alexandria and District Minor Hockey Association held a meeting of its executive and coaches Monday night at which time coaches were named for the various divisions.

The novice division will be coached by new members of the organization with the responsibility being taken on by Gilles Joanette, Robert Leduc, Terry Norman and Glen Smith.

The atom league coaches are Paul Poirier, Yvon Menard, Guy Lanctot and Ray Trottier. Both Mr. Lanctot and Mr. Trottier are new coaches this year.

Peewee players will be coached by Tim Taylor, Andre Boisvenue, Gerald Flaro and Mark Macdonell and the Bantam league has Jacques Campeau, Raymond McDonald, Gary and Rodney Shepherd and Gerry Simpson.

The Midget division is being coached by Leo Poirier, Bill Gebbie, Glen Murray, Chris McDonell and Cameron MacDonald.

Players interested in trying out for the travelling teams are invited to do so at the Glengarry Sports Palace Oct. 10th and 11th. Coaches for these teams will be: Midget, Barry MacDonald; Peewee, Gaetan Giroux; and Bantam, Wayne Crack. Unfortunately the organization has been unable to find a coach for the Atom division travelling team.

House league play is scheduled to start Oct. 30th, however any players who would like to join the league may still do so by registering at either of Alexandria's two sports stores. Over 330 players have already registered to play, with an almost equal distribution in all divisions.

The first two Saturday practice sessions this year will be devoted to the basics and form of hockey on a general basis rather than coaches taking over individual teams from the start. The association hopes that this will give the coaches a better opportunity to get to know their players.

Jr. 'B' Glens at practice this week

The Glens hockey team will have its first practice on the Sports Palace ice Wednesday night from 8 to 9. Other practices will follow: Thursday—8 to 11 p.m.; Friday—9 to 12; Saturday, 8:30 to 10.

The first league game will see Embrun here next Friday night.

Gaels on the Warpath

by Warren Everson

The best word to describe last week at GDHS is "full." It was spirit week at our school, a time when excitement and enjoyment add an added note to every part of school life. In a single week, we had a pep rally, a fund-raising campaign, two basketball games (both victories), the first home football game, a track and field day, and two soccer games. With so much going on, even the most apathetic of students was involved in something.

After losing to General Vanier last week, both girls' basketball teams won against visiting Char-Lan, the juniors by eight and the seniors 35 to 33 in a tight match that went down to the last minute before a key basket by Sheila Danaher put it out of reach.

The soccer teams kept their undefeated records, as both junior and senior squads played in Osnabruck. The juniors won a decisive victory but the seniors found the competition much tougher and barely stayed alive with a 2—2 tie.

The annual field day was the success it usually is, blessed with good weather and keen competition. The only disappointment happened early in the day as scores of non-participating students left the playing field and headed off to find amusement elsewhere. Due to their lack of competitive instinct the field day will be altered or cancelled next year, as the administration cannot permit this exodus on school time.

For those five hundred or so students who did compete it was a wonderful day, full of excitement and friendly rivalry. The midget champions were Richard Chabot and Brenda Golden; the juniors, Nadine Bourgeois, Mike Sullivan, Terry Epp; and the seniors: John Charlebois, Yvan Desautels, Yvette Blanchette.

The most important award went to class 9H for the greatest percentage of the class participating, while the overall champs in points were the 13A powerhouse.

Scarcely had the field day excitement faded when we staged our annual pep rally, run on Thursday afternoon, with an introduction of the football team, awards for the field day, and a display of several simple plays. The very next day the Gaels gave St. Lawrence an unpleasant welcome by beating the Cornwall boys 27—0. It was the second game that the opposition has failed to score on us, more of a tribute to their mistakes than to our defence. Although the Saints moved fairly easily down the field, they were unable to make the last effort and score. On offence, back-up quarterback Wayne Lee led the Gaels expertly, lobbing passes to Emile Lefebvre for two touchdowns, and to Jeff Hudson for a third. On the ground, fullback Luc Poirier scored the fourth touchdown, while Scott Hay was good on his convert attempts. Though John Charlebois did carry for one touchdown, it was called back on a penalty.

This Friday, the first of three climactic confrontations takes place, as the Gaels travel to Tagwi. The winner of this game must be looked on as a potential finalist, possibly as the champion team. After the Tagwi game the Gaels must meet defending champions CCVS and then General Vanier.

Off the playing field, the student council staged its first dance last Friday and no serious incidents were reported, to everyone's relief. The annual fund-raising drive was also launched, and students selling chocolate bars and almonds will again be trying to make enough money to make this year a success for the student council.

It was a hectic week for students and staff, but it clearly showed that this year things are going to happen in our school, as with an active and healthy air we settle in to this school year.

Stars complete league play in Ottawa league

(by Carman MacMillan)

On Wednesday, Sept. 22nd, in our second last league game against the Royals in Lochiel, the Glengarry Stars won the game by a 2 to 0 score. The reason that the game was a low scoring one was that the Royals couldn't field a team so the game was defaulted by a 2 to 0 score. For not fielding a team the Royals were fined $25 plus the referee game fee of $46.

Our final league game was played at Mooney's Bay on Friday, Sept. 24th, at 6:30. A depleted Stars team went down to defeat by a 3 to 1 score against the Ottawa South Internationals. Our lone goal came off the boot of Bert Massia.

Our season is now over in the league and within the next couple of weeks things will be finalized for all teams in the league.

Our annual banquet in the Ottawa League will be held on November 20th in Ottawa.

On Saturday, Sept. 25th, the Glengarry Stars played in the annual Maple Leaf soccer tournament and they failed to make the semi-finals on Sunday.

We lost our first game to Cosmos by a 1 to 0 score. Our second game we tied Centennials 2 to 2. Our third game we again lost, this time to the Maple Leaf club by a 2 to 1 score.

Our last game was against the Montreal Kickers, runners-up to the St. Anthony's Semi-Pro soccer team in the Quebec Major soccer league. It proved to be an excellent soccer game as the Glengarry Stars came out on top by a 2 to 1 score. John MacPherson and Tom Lowe scored for the Stars.

The teams in our division to qualify for the semi-finals were the Montreal Kickers and the Maple Leaf soccer club.

The standings in the Premier Division as of Sept. 24th:

Royals	14	9	2	3	20
Ottawa Falcons	13	8	1	4	17
Glen. Stars	14	8	1	5	17
Ottawa Cent.	12	6	1	5	13
Jadran	13	5	1	7	11
S.O. Inter.	11	4	2	5	10
Ott. Blue Hawks	13	3	1	9	7
Maple Leafs	11	2	1	8	5

Soccer league has surplus

The Glengarry Soccer League held its annual general meeting on Monday, Sept. 27th, at the Laggan Public School. The attendance was sparse as the constitution states only two delegates from one area can vote.

The problem there is, any outsider who does not have a representative in an area won't help by making amendments because they won't even be heard. So only the areas have a chance to change the constitution.

The areas represented were Greenfield, Lochiel, Alexandria, Glen Sandfield, Laggan and Maxville.

The financial report showed the league to be in a happy position with a balance after 1976 operations at $2,608.14.

No interruption of curling

Until recently it was feared that the Maxville Curling Club would be closed, however due to building code technicalities such will not be the case.

Initially it would have been closed under the same action which was taken against the Maxville arena. The threatened closing of the arena was made by the Ministry of Labor which has control over all public buildings. The word "public" is what saved the Curling Club.

A letter was sent by Club President Bill Metcalfe to the Occupational Safety Branch affirming that the curling club was not a public building. As such it came under another category and will remain available for the roarin' game.

HOME OPENER WELL ATTENDED—There was nothing lacking in the support department, however the competition left something to be desired in the first home game of the season with GDHS defeating St. Lawrence 27—0 Friday afternoon. Ideal football weather may have contributed to the Gaels' better brand of play but the school band, cheer leaders, teachers honking horns and a general attitude of being winners had to help. —Staff photo

College and University agree to share facilities

St. Lawrence College and University of Ottawa have agreed to co-operate in providing college and university-level courses by sharing facilities and services on the Cornwall campus of the college.

An agreement announced jointly by Principal Louis Tremblay of the Cornwall campus and Rev. Dr. Roger Guindon, O.M.I., Rector of the university, also has the two institutions sharing in the cost of providing bilingual para-academic services such as counselling, health, placement, sports and high school liaison.

The college and the university, however, will each retain its separate responsibilities for the academic area.

Mr. Tremblay and Dr. Guindon joined in describing the agreement as "breaking new ground in the field of post-secondary education in Canada". Foremost among its objectives, they said, are the integration of the human and physical resources required, program co-ordination between the two institutions and greater local involvement in the decision-making process with respect to courses and program offerings.

The university has agreed to offer courses to allow a full-time student to complete the requirements of the first year of a B.A. degree. It also promised to continue offering some second- and third-year courses so that an undergraduate degree could be completed in Cornwall.

Some of the highlights of the agreement include:

—The University will schedule periods in Cornwall for academic counselling by faculty and student advisors.

—Cornwall students will be welcomed on the Ottawa campus where they will have access to the library, and on appointment, will be received by the university staff.

—St. Lawrence College will examine areas where the college can recruit college faculty qualified to teach university courses as well as meeting college needs.

—The college will encourage and support professional development to increase the number of college faculty qualified, according to university standards, to teach university courses.

—Both the college and the university will attempt to identify courses offered by either which could meet their standards and be used by students for credit to a diploma or degree. In addition, the college will plan general education courses in co-operation with the university.

Plan nursing home

Land has been purchased at Lancaster and construction of the new nursing home will start before Christmas reports Robert Meagan of Cornwall. He hopes to have the 60-bed nursing home ready for occupancy next summer.

The nursing home will be located in the northeast corner of the village, east of Highway 34, on acreage Mr. Meagan has purchased from the village council. It will be of block and brick construction, according to present plans, though the contract has not yet been let.

Mr. Meagan is now operating the Maryvale Nursing Home at Glen Nevis and he expects to move the 35 patients there to the new institution at Lancaster. The Glen Nevis building will then become a residential home for people not requiring nursing care.

Puppets and pantomime at library

The official opening of the Alexandria Public Library in its new location in the Sports Palace takes place Saturday, Oct. 9th.

The public is invited to attend the ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2 p.m. This will be followed by a 35-minute production of the giant puppet play "Once A Giant" written by Canadian playwright Stephen Bush. Also included in the program is a performance by clowns, using pantomime and mime, including interaction between clowns and audience.

This program is presented to the public through the courtesy of the Eastern Ontario Regional Library System.

Wrong degree

Mrs. Odette Bedard of St. Raphael's won the Bachelor of Social Sciences degree and not "Social Services" degree, as reported in a picture caption in last issue.

SAMSON—DELORME

St. Lawrence Church, Curry Hill, was the setting for the wedding of Joanne Delorme of Riviere Beaudette, Que., and Alain Samson of Cornwall, on Wednesday, August 21st.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Delorme of Riviere Beaudette while Mr. and Mrs. Leonide Samson of Cornwall are parents of the groom.

Rev. Sylvester Theoret, Lancaster, witnessed the marriage vows. Mrs. Diane Van de Light was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a full-length gown of white nylon over taffeta with lace trimming and long sleeves. Her waist-length veil was trimmed with lace and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Micheline Samson, her sister-in-law, was maid of honor and Chantal Legros was bridesmaid. They chose floor-length gowns in yellow and blue and carried bouquets of white and yellow daisies.

The groom was attended by his brother, Rosaire Samson, as bestman and Guy Lefebvre acted as usher.

After a reception held at the Bonnie Glen they left for a wedding trip to Birchwood in the Poconos, Pennsylvania. For travelling the bride chose a light beige flowered skirt suit with pink blouse and white accessories.

They will reside at Curry Hill.

Guests were present from: Calgary, Toronto, Montreal, Hudson, Ottawa, Cornwall and the area.

First Swine Flu vaccine expected next weekend

First delivery of Swine Flu vaccine will arrive in Cornwall about Oct. 15, Dr. R. V. Peters, medical officer of health, for Eastern Ontario Health Unit, said Monday. It will be about 25 per cent of the total allotment.

Dr. Peters said the monovalent vaccine for 20 to 64 year olds has been held in abeyance and will not be administerred until a decision is reached following a meeting of the national advisory committee for immunizing agents in Ottawa on Oct. 15.

Program using bivalent vaccine will go ahead for those 65 and over as well as chronically ill in certain categories previously announced in all age groups.

Dr. Peters said about 18,000 persons will be eligible for injections of this type.

He said the health unit will arrange to distribute the vaccine to institutions such as nursing homes and homes for the aged as well as doctors for their patient use as previously requested.

"Any balance following this distribution will be used in senior citizens apartment buildings where clinics will be arranged.

"The next and largest supply of vaccine will be delivered on Nov. 12 following which date clinics for the over 65-age group will be set up across the five counties involved, times and places of which will be announced at a later date."

Initial plans were for administration of the vaccine to the 20-to-65-year-old group but that plan was placed in limbo after a meeting of provincial health ministers. The plan was to begin in October and any vaccine left over would be given to senior citizens.

THE ANTI-INFLATION PROGRAM

Where we are and where we're going.

After one year, the anti-inflation program is doing what it set out to do.

The most important achievement has been the drop in the inflation rate. A year ago, consumer prices were rising at a rate of 10.6%. By August 1976, that rate of increase had dropped to 6.2%. This fall some unavoidable increases in energy costs and municipal taxes will affect the rate of inflation. In spite of this, the first year target of an inflation rate of no more than 8% will be met.

Increases in all forms of income—wages, salaries, fees, profits, dividends—are also being successfully restrained. On the average, prices have gone up less than wages this year. This means that most Canadians can cope a bit better, we have more buying power than we had before the program began.

The goal of the second year of the anti-inflation program is to bring inflation down even further, to no more than 6%. This can be achieved only if increases in everything slow down together.

In our kind of market economy, prices have to be able to move up and down to some extent. But the anti-inflation program does put an effective restraint on prices by controlling profit margins. In the second year, the price and profit controls are being changed to make the rules simpler and to apply restraint more fairly among different companies. They also include important incentives to encourage the investments the country needs to make the economy grow and create new jobs for Canadians. New investment credits will make allowances for company profits re-invested to boost production and productivity.

In the area of wages and salaries, the second year Guidelines limit increases to 6% as a protection against price increases, with 2% more added as a share of national productivity. This Guideline is designed to protect and improve the real income of working Canadians, while bringing down the rate of inflation.

All governments are restraining their expenditures. The federal government is limiting growth in its own spending to keep it in line with the overall growth of the Canadian economy. This means that every day hard choices must be made to limit new programs and trim old ones. These choices are painful. But they have to be made if the government is to restrain its costs and avoid contributing to inflation.

Nobody likes controls. Not the people whose private decisions are affected by them. And not the governments that have to enforce them. But controls were and are needed, to bring inflation down and to assure a growing economy. The program will be terminated by the end of 1978. Until it is ended, the government is committed to making sure the controls work hard to bring about a continuing reduction in the rate of inflation.

Inflation has to be cut down to protect our personal buying power, our savings and pensions, and jobs for Canadians. If last year's spiral of rising prices and incomes had continued, Canadian-made products would soon be unable to compete in world markets. Imports could easily undercut goods produced and sold here at home. It's especially important for us to keep our prices and costs competitive with the United States, and on both counts the U.S. is still doing better than we are. Finally, inflation also hurts investment. And when investment goes down, unemployment goes up.

After a year of controls, inflation has come down. Progress has been made, in protecting Canadian jobs and improving Canada's well-being. The success of the anti-inflation program so far has depended a great deal on the co-operation of many Canadians. With continued co-operation, we can all look forward to sharing a more prosperous and growing economy.

PEOPLE on the MOVE

Archie M. MacDonald and Angus MacPhee visited in Northern Ontario and then attended the International Plowing Match at Walkerton, Ont., last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry McCauley and daughter Vivian of Tarragona, Spain, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor and family, St. Raphael's.

John R. and Marie MacDonald, and sons Allan, Angus and Ranald, St. Raphael's, visited Rita and Clarence Lennox and family in Niagara Falls on the weekend. While there, Mrs. MacDonald attended the annual convention of the Federation of Catholic Parent-Teacher Associations of Ontario in St. Catharines.

Mrs. W. A. MacKinnon, accompanied by Mrs. Alex J. McRae, Vankleek Hill, attended a Kennedy-Stewart reunion in Ottawa on Sunday. They were guests of Miss Elma Kennedy who was honoring Miss Emily Kennedy on her 92nd birthday.

Hugh McIntyre, Apple Hill, returned home Sunday after attending the plowing match held at Walkerton. He also visited his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Durnin at Goderich, Ont.

Mrs. Florence Villeneuve and Miss Gabriel Gormley spent the weekend in Montreal visiting Mr. and Mrs. Angus Gormley.

Mrs. Earl Holsapple of Hudson, N.Y., spent a few days visiting with her sisters, Misses Gabrielle, Helen and Vieve Gormley and Mrs. Florence Villeneuve.

Mrs. J. J. Applegarth of San Francisco, was a recent visitor with her aunt Mrs. W. J. Murray and Mr. Murray at Summerstown.

Still vacancy on committee

Frustration was often a factor on the GDHS School Committee last year judging by the speech given by Committee Chairman Mrs. Nancy MacKenzie at its Sept. 30th meeting.

The main purpose of the meeting was to elect new officials. However Mrs. MacKenzie took the opportunity to speak on last year's activities within the committee.

"There have been frustrations in this, our inaugural year." she said. "Frustrations in finding our role, frustrations in disagreement, frustrations in not always seeing our recommendations carried through. For we are an advisory committee only."

"The aims and objectives of the school committee," said Mrs. MacKenzie, "are to actively encourage and develop more public participation in total school planning and activities on an advisory basis; to expand and promote avenues of communication among various sectors of the educational community and to facilitate endeavors to that end. We are also to expand and maintain communications between the Board and the general public."

It has been a year since the committee's inception, she said, and it must have worked well, for never have any two of the three groups voted as a block against the third.

The committee consists of representatives from the faculty, students and parents. Purpose of this meeting was to elect new parent representation. Anna M. MacDonald was elected to represent the English portion of Lancaster Township however no one nominated would accept the same post for the French-speaking population in that township.

The only other parents' position to be filled was an English representative for Alexandria and Frank McLeister was elected to that post.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Much to be thankful for

Thanksgiving is traditionally a time for giving thanks but this last long weekend before Christmas probably will be so hectic for most they'll be forgetting the purpose for which the Pilgrims brought it into being.

The turkey with all the trimmings is meant to remind us how well-stocked is the larder for a long winter, how bounteous the harvest has been, thanks-be to Divine Providence. Most of us are city or town dwellers today, dependent on the supermarket or the corner store for our edibles. But we of the small towns, at least, are close enough to the soil to know when nature is generous to our farmer friends.

The harvest was something of a mixed bag in a summer that was unpleasantly cold and wet but there was growth in the gardens as has been attested in recent weeks by a succession of abnormally large tomatoes and potatoes reaching our desk.

Food will not be a problem this winter, if we can meet inflation's price. And today's prices of foodstuffs have little relation to what the primary producer is being paid for them.

We can give thanks this Thanksgiving for a plentiful harvest. Though the farmer has had his setbacks this year, there is no shortage of foodstuffs. We Canadians are among the "have" nations and we should be in a mood to give thanks for the many blessings that come our way.

Tractor demands constant caution

Fall plowing is underway we noticed recently as we drove by a field where a farmer was turning the first sod. Watching him drive his tractor down the length of the field we commented to a companion that the tractor plow must be a prized convenience to husbandmen old enough to have plowed behind a horse.

The tractor has undoubtedly changed farming for the better but it has brought its special hazards, including the power take-off. That recent accident involving a Lancaster Township farmer, Henk Plooy, is a case in point. His clothing caught in the power take-off, Mr. Plooy was whirled around until the tractor could be stopped. He lost his left arm and lies paralyzed in an Ottawa hospital as the result of other serious injuries.

There are periodic reports of other such accidents involving the tractor's power take-off and other farmers have died beneath their overturned tractors. It is a marvellous mechanical aid but the tractor demands constant caution.

The terrible injuries suffered by Mr. Plooy should serve as a grim reminder of that fact.

Inflation rates must be reduced

In withdrawing its support of the government's anti-inflation program, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce has now become the unintended ally of organized labor in its campaign to have controls lifted. While labor leaders maintain the program works on wages, but not on prices and profits, the business sector complains it is bearing the brunt of the program. Both positions cannot be correct and in fact neither is.

That the principal spokesmen for the business community should be making common cause with the chieftains of organized labor is indeed a bizarre twist, suggests the Montreal Gazette. Can one now imagine the moguls of Canadian industry closing their boardrooms Oct. 14 and brandishing slogans in a demonstration that would not be incompatible with that of the labor movement's day of protest?

Neither the chamber's gesture, nor that of labor, can obscure the fact that the Canadian economy is in better shape today than it was a year ago in the pre-controls period. Government economist David Slater estimates the average cost-of-living increase for the year at 7.5 per cent, with average wage increases down to about 11 per cent—a far cry from the ruinous increases that begged for some form of intervention.

The program has been amended several times in response to criticism from both sectors and more changes are planned to match changing conditions and correct deficiencies in its complex regulations. It is not reasonable for the chamber to expect the program to be lifted now when it is just beginning to bear fruit. The goal of reducing annual inflation rates to four per cent is one that the business community should support, along with organized labor and the general public.

One year later

It has been one year, this week, since we went to the polls to elect the 30th Ontario provincial government. Much has been accomplished in that year, but most of it has been close to what might normally be called political suicide, suggests an editorial in The Perth Courier.

The first major step taken by the newly elected, minority Conservative government, at least the first step affecting something more than a silent minority, was the introduction of the mandatory seat belt law, to be followed soon after by the reduction in highway speed limits.

Both moves must be regarded, in retrospect, by the people as being the order of the day. Perhaps not pleasing, not even wanted by many, the moves were and are designed, as the ad says, to preserve and conserve. Hard to argue with those intentions.

The next time the winds were stirred by Premier Bill Davis' government, it was regarded by many at the time to be the death blow for the PC's. Hospital budget cuts hit like a plague.

Even though the government said it was reacting to public demand for spending restraints by hitting a health budget which has been increasing at a rapid rate, the budget cutbacks created ill feelings among hospital workers and people in many communities.

The protests now appear to have subsided and, in Perth, recently, the premier stated that Ontario still has more medical people and more medical facilities than you can find in any other area of comparable population.

Budget restraints imposed by the provincial government in other areas close to home, such as in education, have had an impact in many areas. In Lanark, 45 employees of the board had their jobs declared redundant, as a result of the limits placed on budget increases.

Again, the province was reacting to public pressure as taxpayers appeared to be fed up with paying more and more for an education system being highlighted in recent years by labor problems and claims that students are not learning the basics anymore.

The most recent provincial government action which has raised some eyebrows in many parts of Ontario was the announced closings of unsafe arenas. Another unpopular move in the short term, but something that the government must hope will be seen, perhaps in time for next election, as a wise and necessary action.

If the provincial NDP or Liberal parties were in a position to wage an election battle, what the Conservatives have been doing over the past year might have been a little like Russian roulette. However, without a real threat of an election, the PC's have been able to make some drastic moves and possibly lay the groundwork for the next "Look what we've done for you" campaign.

What too many people are looking for today is: Less to do, more time to do it in, and more pay for not getting it done.

RHODES WRITES AGAIN

We liked Rhodes Grant's first book, "The Story of Martintown, a Pioneer Village," but we're even more taken with his latest tome "Horse and Buggy Days in Martintown."

We cotton to it probably because it covers a period we're personally familiar with, the years between 1900 and 1940. The author has done a marvellous job of reconstructing the Martintown scene in that period and it is an era so different from today anyone belonging to our age group is left rather appalled at the transformation that has taken place in a few fast-paced decades.

Glengarrians in the same age bracket look back to a day when the pace of life was less hectic, when money was harder to come by but had much more purchasing power than the Trudeau dollar. As it was in Martintown in the years of World War I so it was in other Glengarry communities. We wouldn't want to go back to the conditions Mr. Grant so graphically describes but his is a sympathetic touch and the book leaves one with a degree of nostalgia for those good old days.

Haven't found time to finish Mr. Grant's book yet, but we think you'll like it.

Most Ontario municipalities prize their roads grant but not in the same way Martintown rates its Rhodes Grant.

DENNIS SOUNDS LIKE A MENACE

A study of the performance of Queen's University freshmen revealed that 71 per cent were not able to express themselves adequately in the English language. That is something parents have known, employers have known and the universities have known.

Elementary and high school students are not being taught to write and if some of them reach university with some mastery of spelling, grammar and composition it may be in spite of the fact their teachers were themselves unable to write. That is not to say all teachers of English are incompetent; but many are products of a school system that has as its guide the Hall-Dennis report. That educational philosophy rules Ontario education today and it is one that encourages the student to express himself and choose his or her own level of learning.

Wouldn't you know that that same Dr. Lloyd Dennis would rush to the defence of these illiterate college students. Director of Education in Leeds and Grenville, Dennis argues that the writing skills of modern students should not be judged by standards that existed 20 years ago. Students today have a "different style" of communicating, he claims. The modern media stress verbal communication and one result is that students have highly-developed verbal skills but are poorer writers by traditional standards, argues the "learned" Mr. Dennis.

He deplores popular opinion that the schools should return to a curriculum that stresses the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic. "Dreary spelling and grammar drills should receive less emphasis," he argued in his 1968 Living and Learning report that found such acceptance in the Ministry of Education.

"Please don't demand that we go back to what we were before" he told student teachers at Queen's faculty of education. "We now have a mature educational system" he concluded.

In his view, it seems, the teachers of tomorrow should continue encouraging bad grammar, poor spelling, ignorance of the basics in composition because students have "highly developed verbal skills." Poor writing practices are to be permitted in this era of verbal communication, he seems to argue.

We see Dr. Dennis a menace.

Charming mystery

(The Lampasas (Texas) Dispatch)

Scientists are using the word "charm" to describe the property of a new sub-atomic particle discovered with the big atom-smasher at Batavia, Ill. It's something like an electrical charge. We're not sure what this means to physics, but it tells us something about physicists. They're as baffled as the rest of us by some manifestations of nature.

Psychologists aren't sure why some women can turn men into butter, or, vice versa, why an awkward newborn puppy makes people want to pick it up. Musicologists aren't sure why certain tones strung together in a certain way can make people want to dance—or cry. Do art critics really know why people like to look at the landscapes of the Dutch masters?

It's charm, of course, and if something as mysterious turns out to be what holds atoms together, or the whole universe, we wouldn't be surprised. And if the physicists never figure out exactly what it is, we won't be disappointed.

It has been over 30 years since we said our "so longs" and went our separate ways and just maybe there are some who have taken up residence in this area.

I hope to re-establish old friendships by means of a newsletter and if possible, organize a reunion in 1977.

Andrew—died April 5th, 1878, aged 10 years.

Donald—died April 11th, 1878, aged 4 years.

Elizabeth—died May 20th, 1878, aged 7 years, 10 months and 23 days.

Another interesting stone is to the memory of Duncan McRae, son of Farquhar McRae, 6th con. Charlottenburgh. Please note that at the present time engraving costs at least $1.00 per letter. On this stone we are given a geography lesson. No worry apparently about the cost of engraving; but space was important—note the hyphen w- as: In memory of Duncan McRae, son of Farquhar McRae, 6th concession of Charlottenburgh, who was unfortunately drowned in the Madawaska river, which is a branch of the Ottawa river, on the 10th day of May, 1825, aged 23 years and 3 months. This stone erected by his affectionate brothers John and Christopher.

Another stone—again no worry about engraving costs—reads:

In the name of God
Beneath this stone rests the body of Anna McDonald, died May 23rd, 1825, aged 31. This sweet and amiable lady, who was loved by all those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance left a sorrowing husband and nine disconsolate children. In her suffering she had hopes in her Saviour. May her soul rest in peace.—Amen—Pray for her.

Willa McDonald

CONCERNING RUINS

Montreal

The editor,
The Glengarry News

The proposals for the future use of the St. Raphael's ruins set forth in the September 23 issue of your paper, together with the arguments for and against future dramatic and musical productions should excite the imaginations of all who have either existing or ancestral interest in that quaint community.

It would be as unthinkable in this writer's opinion to desecrate the ground by any commercial enterprise or endeavor as it would be to use it for any purpose associated with the arts. Everyone with knowledge of the funding of dramatic and musical productions knows that their almost invariable financial success places them in the same category as any other commercial enterprises such as grocery stores, potato chip wagons, laundries, tanneries and numerous others.

Reference was made to the reluctance of some to see St. Raphael's become another Stratford or Niagara-on-the-Lake and such an eventuality is certainly to be avoided. Many of our citizens have experienced the objectionable features of those two communities and have sworn to fight any move to create a replica in any other part of the Province and particularly in St. Raphael's.

In the circumstances any local citizens and organizations that have the courage to actively insist on the maintenance of the local flavor and uniform standard of mediocrity in the communal imagination may well be congratulated.

A joint meeting was held in the school house at St. Raphael's on Friday evening when both the pros and cons of the question of the withdrawal of Glengarry from the United Counties were argued with the meeting expressing almost unanimously in favor of Glengarry setting up house for itself. A series of such meetings is to be held throughout the county. The speakers on behalf of separation were Hon. Senator McMillan, Messrs. Hugh Munro, A. L. Smith and Geo. Campeau, while the opponents of the movement were represented by County Councillor Hugh Cameron, G. H. MacGillivray, J. A. B. McLennan and J. C. Brown of the Williamstown district. R. R. Sangster also said a few words. —Miss Ethel Ostrom left on Friday for Hamilton, where she will attend the School of Pedagogy.—Messrs. The Dunvegan team consisted of E. Cameron, H. Grant, W. Orrax, K. McLeod, A. McLeod, D. Murray, J. Band, D. Campbell, W. McLeod, J. McRae and A. McLeod.—Misses Jessie Kerr and Alice Leslie, who are attending the Model School at Vankleek Hill, visited friends in town over Sunday.

His influence on a generation of Ontario students has produced teachers who can't write and an entire age group that has been encouraged to be glib but not literate.

Dr. Dennis be damned; learning to write we see important if our culture is to be maintained. It takes constant practise and it must be under the guidance of a teacher who can express him or herself and can correct the faults of the students.

There should be no room for the Dennis views in Ontario education.

THIRD SECTION

ALEXANDRIA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1976

Avonmore Presbyterians to mark centenary this weekend

The upcoming Thanksgiving weekend will be one of special significance for the members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Avonmore, who will be joined by many former members and friends from neighboring congregations in the celebration of the church's 100th anniversary.

Under the able leadership of its present minister, Rev. John H. Wiseman, B.A., many special events have been held during this Centennial Year to commemorate this important milestone in the congregation's history. However the main thrust of the anniversary celebrations has been reserved for this weekend.

Saturday night in the Roxmore Public School auditorium a congregational dinner will be served. It is expected that there will be an overflow gathering for the occasion. Insofar as the Centennial Planning Committee has arranged for caterers to provide and serve the dinner, it is indeed a "first" in that congregational dinners most often involve most of the ladies of the congregation in a variety of ways. Highlighting the program will be an historical pageant with many participants and featuring many events of past years.

At the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, the guest speaker will be Rev. Dr. Donald C. MacDonald, Toronto, a former minister of the local church who is now Clerk of General Assembly, the Presbyterian Church in Canada. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the message will be brought by Rev. D. R. Chatreau, B.D., minister of Kenyon Church, Dunvegan.

The choir of St. Andrew's Church, under the direction of Mrs. Neil Bush, will be bringing special numbers. Guest soloist will be a former member, Mrs. Stan Hagerman (the former Sybil Rutley), St. Thomas, Ont.

As one of several worthy projects marking centennial year, the history of the congregation has been updated and will be available in printed form this weekend. Twenty-five years ago a historical booklet was published and a limited number of these booklets will also be available.

The Presbyterian church in Avonmore at its inception was an off-shoot of a well established church at Lunenburg, known as Willis Presbyterian Church, which numbered among its members several from the Avonmore community. Prior to 1876 the spiritual lives of those living in the Avonmore hinterlands were strengthened by the dedicated service of Elders who conducted in the homes Sabbath School and cottage prayer meetings during the week.

The "hiving off" from the Lunenburg Church was a natural phenomenon in those days. The local community was rapidly expanding. In September of 1875 the Avonmore group made formal application to the Presbytery of Glengarry for permission to build a church. Their request was granted.

In the months that followed an arrangement was made whereby services were held every second week in the village school house, a log building, which was located on the present site of Robinson's Garage. Services were conducted by Rev. Charles Cameron, who at the time was minister of the Roxborough (Sixth Concession) Church.

In the meantime Alexander Duff had donated a tract of land on what was known as Paul's Hill, about one mile south of the village. Construction was completed in 1877. The charter members of that first church were the 21 members of the Lunenburg congregation who sought Presbytery's leave to build locally. The first congregational meeting was held in January 1877. By September of that year the membership had increased to 72.

The first church was a red brick structure, with a two-door entry, tall arched windows, and a belfry in which hung a bell, donated four years later by Oscar Fulton, MPP for Stormont County at that time. It is recorded, "The first seating arrangement of planks supported by blocks was soon changed to strong high-backed pews which faced the pulpit, three rows flanked it on either side." It was also noted that the singing was led by a precentor. There was no organ or choir loft. The first settled minister was Rev. W. A. Lang.

Because of the rapid expansion of the congregation within the next 13 years and the fact that the building was much too small, it was decided that a new and much larger edifice should be built in the village. In the interim the railroad had been built; many new homes had been erected in the village; and the members in the village were just beginning to complain about the distance that they had to travel to Paul's Hill.

Elias N. Shaver donated the village lot whereon to build the church. Rev. Alexander Matheson was the minister at the time. In 1890 the new church, a truly fine edifice, was erected and dedicated the last Sunday in November. The workmanship and materials that went into the construction were the finest that were available. It served the congregation well. In 1925 major renovations were carried out and the entrance design was changed.

The ministers from 1891 to 1925 were Norman A. MacLeod (who was later to become a Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada), Rev. T. A. Mitchell, Rev. George Weir, Rev. H. N. MacLean, Rev. S. D. MacPhee, Rev. J. I. Manthorne, Rev. A. L. Howard and Rev. H. G. Steers. In the congregation's first half century great things had been accomplished in Avonmore for Christ and His Church.

The second half-century was launched on a high spiritual level under the leadership of Rev. A. D. Sutherland. His ministry of six years, strengthened by a dedicated Kirk Session and membership, prepared the congregation for the depression years that followed. Rev. J. D. MacKenzie was the shepherd of the flock during the greater part of those difficult years. Upon his death in 1937, Rev. Donald MacMillan was ordained and inducted. His 15-month ministry had the distinction of being the shortest in the congregation's history. However, during that time the congregations of St. James Church, Gravel Hill, and St. Andrew's Church, Monkland, became a part of the Avonmore Pastoral Charge.

Rev. M. N. McDonald was called by God and the congregation at a time when war clouds were quickly building up over Europe. Many young men and women of the congregation were soon serving in Canada's Armed Forces. On Jan. 5th, 1945, a fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the church and all its contents.

In the 20 months between the time of the fire and the dedication of the present church building, which took place 30 years ago this week, the congregation with the encouragement, energy and de-

Harvest sale sold out

"The 39'ers" held a most successful Harvest Tea and sale on Saturday at the Church on the Hill with total receipts more than double their 1975 bazaar results. This was due to the tremendous efforts of the following convenors and their many generous helpers: Tea Room—Miss H. Smith; Home Baking—Mrs. E. Hay; Handicrafts—Mrs. F. Franklin with Mrs. M. Watson; Grannie's Attic—Miss F. A. MacGillivray with Mrs. F. MacDonald; Farmers' Market—Mrs. L. Chapman; Stationery—Mrs. V. Dudar and President-convenor, Mrs. M. Wright.

Many friends came from Montreal, Valleyfield, Que. and throughout the county. Beautiful Glengarry handicrafts and home baking proved to be most popular for the generous visitors.

Field day a success

A better than average turnout contributed to the over all enjoyment of the GDHS field day held last Wednesday. Emphasis was placed on participation rather than excellence in sport.

Taking the honors for the largest percentage from one class was 9-H with 89% of that home form turning out.

Winning first place as the class with the greatest all-round ability on the field was 13-H, athletes from which managed to total 125 points for their efforts.

Although participation and not necessarily winning was the theme of the day individual points were awarded. Winner of the midget girls' category was Brenda Golden with Nadine Bourgeois taking the junior category and Yvette Blanchette senior.

Boys' midget honors were won by Richard Chabot, with Terry Epp and Mike Sullivan tieing the junior category and Yvan Desautels and John Charlebois also tieing for the senior position.

Like the Olympics, which the day was patterned after, records were broken. However, the high winds of the day kept them at a minimum. While there was virtually an equal number of contestants of each sex the female department broke a surprising 19 records as compared to the 10 new records made by the male track and field contingent.

IS HE GOING TO MAKE IT?—Unfortunately David MacDonell of North Lancaster wasn't quite up to it but then that was not the main purpose of the day. David is the perfect example of the Sept. 29th GDHS Field Day in which participation and not necessarily ability or style was the theme. —Staff photo

ALONE AT THE WIRE—Winning the 800 metre run was John Charlebois with a time of 2:14.50. John was a consistent winner at the GDHS field day having not only this race to his credit. He also won the 1500 metre, 3000 metre and was on the winning team for both the 400 metre and 4x400 metre relay races. —Staff photo

GAVE IT HER ALL—Nadine Bourgeois put everything she had into this long jump as can be seen on her face. The effort gave her first place in the event with a distance of 9.43 metres.

So, you have read that about ¾ of Queen's first year students, (would they now be called Freshmen or Freshwomen or Freshpersons or Freshlesswriters) can not write. I have always suspected that about Dairy Queen university, Mixmaster U., V. of Tea, McDilly U., Ought to V. and Leastern U.

One main reason is that students are not being stretched as much as they should be. Writing is hard work; writing well is extremely hard work. St. Lawrence College made this discovery years ago, and now leads Ontario's colleges and universities in teaching students what they need to know.

Another reason that students cannot write is the loss of Latin as a curriculum subject. Latin gave students, beyond the study itself, a background in vocabulary for over half our words.

My contest continues. Win a book by making up a list of palindromes, (reversible words such as tit for tat, madam), and by punctuating my tavern owning uncle's letter to Vyfvinkel signs. Please put more space between horse and and and and collar. Send entries to me in Glen Falloch, Ontario, K0C 1S0.

SLC is offering an excellent course in Beekeeping for interested apiarists, in Alexandria. Miss Emily McInnes, one of the best teachers to ever teach at CCVS, phoned to tell me of this course being offered by an expert in the field from Macdonald College.

Adult country dancing classes are being held in Martintown's school gym, Mondays at 8:30 p.m. Rae MacCulloch takes time out from her heavy schedule with children's classes and with our internationally known MacCulloch dancers, to work with the older crowd.

Wayne McDonell has a furniture refinishing business which he has started on the banks of the Grape river in Martintown. Official title is Raisin River Refinishing.

Mrs. M. MacDonald from Cornwall, formerly from Martintown north, phoned to inquire about tickets for Glengarry '76 our Canadian-Scottish Variety Show at the National Arts Centre on Friday, October 29.

The Glengarry pipe band, MacCulloch dancers, Brigadoons, Old-tyme fiddlers and balladeer John McNamara will all be there. Max Keeping of CJOH-TV will be the lively master of ceremonies. A night to remember, for certain. Tickets are available from Hub in Alexandria, Danskin's in Maxville, Kitts' Coronet Camera Shop in Cornwall or NAC box office in Ottawa. There will be buses from Alexandria, Maxville and Cornwall and any area where there is sufficient need. This could be a great trip for Senior Citizens. Please let the ticket sellers know whether or not you would like bus transportation.

One caller told me that he feels commercial signs pollute our small town environments. He is willing to organize a take-down and paint up campaign.

Three Ewans phoned to deny that they had picked up Aunt Molly's cache of Glengarry water. In her day it was just a simple matter of burying the goods under leaves and marking the spot. Today there are not many leaves; workmen are even busy today making sure that the ditches of tomorrow will not be clogged by any leaves; they have cut down another two dozen or so mature maple, oak and elm trees on South Branch.

However, ever since the coming of instant plastic disguised as food, ditches have a new material in them. Such well known products as A & Eh, General Saunters warm plastic chicken and MacGeorges leave their advertising trademarks all over. Sometimes one finds the product thrown away and the brightly designed container half eaten. McLuhan has told us that the medium is the message. Ahh, but times change and we progress, Aunt Molly; we must not be old-fashioned.

I recommend "Communication: the Invisible Environment" on Sunrise Semester, New York University, channel three, 6:30 a.m., Mon., Wed., and Friday.

Martintown Mac reminds you that we all possess the potential of ability to organize and express our ideas clearly in writing and speaking. Keep working on it.

Avonmore . . .

votion of Rev. Mr. McDonald, and with the financial help of many friends from near and far, undertook and completed the major task of rebuilding. Sunday, Oct. 6th, 1946, was a red-letter day for the Presbyterian folk in Avonmore.

The past 30 years have been ones wherein the work of the Church has been well maintained. In addition to that of Rev. M. N. McDonald, there have been five successful ministries which, under the Hand of God, have been significantly blessed. The ministers have been Rev. Donald C. MacDonald, guest speaker at next Sunday morning's service (1948—1955); Rev. W. A. Douglas (1955—1961); Rev. Hugh Wilson (1962—1967); Rev. W. E. Sayers (1968—1974); and Rev. John H. Wiseman, who was inducted as minister of the Avonmore Pastoral Charge last November.

During the years the missionary outreach of the congregation has been attested to in many ways. Five young people of the congregation entered the full time service of the Church. The congregation has never failed to support generously world-wide missions and many special appeals made over the years. Missions have been promoted in all organizations, embracing all the children's and adult groups.

Many devoted members have served faithfully during their day and generation and their places have been taken by others willing to take up the Cross.

At the present time the congregation is in a very healthy state. There have been many changes. In recent years several families, new to the community, have joined the fellowship and the work goes on unabated.

The Kirk Session, under which all the other organizations serve, is at the present time composed of the following members: Duncan Bethune, Allan McIntyre, George D. McElheran, Neil Bush, Glenn McIntyre, Ford Warner, Jack Bush, and Gordon Campbell.

As the congregation prepares to enter its second century of service and witness to the Risen Christ, there is an air of optimism and hope, based on the fact that it is the same Holy Spirit which has guided its members during the past 100 years.

Winners in bridge play here, on Sept. 29th were: Raymond and Robert Lemieux; Lloyd Bentley and Howard Cunningham; Julie and G. G. Aubry; Rose McDonald and Florida Thauvette.

Widow of slain missionary Mrs. Ione McMillan died

Many friends throughout Eastern Ontario were saddened by the announcement of the death of Mrs. Ione McMillan, the widow of the late Rev. J. Hector McMillan, a native of the Avonmore community, who after years of missionary service in the Belgian Congo in Central Africa, suffered a martyr's death in a native uprising in 1964.

Mrs. McMillan, who spent a total of 32 of her 63 years in missionary service in the Congo (now known as Zaire), passed away after a lengthy illness at her home in Pontiac, Mich., on Sunday, Sept. 19th. Ill health had prevented her from returning, as she had planned, to this area where she had visited many times, speaking in many of the churches that had followed her work over the years with great interest.

Twice since her husband's death she had returned to Zaire to continue her labor of love. She had worked as a dorm mother to many little children of missionary parents. Then later she helped in many places even in a native women's Bible Conference where no missionary had been for 10 years. It was there she became ill when she was brought home three years ago.

Marguerite Ione Reed was born Aug. 17, 1913, in Grand Rapids, Mich. The family lived for a time in Washington, D.C., before taking up permanent residence in Pontiac.

At Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, she was shocked, as was the entire Christian community around the world, by the martyrdom of two missionaries in far-off China. She responded to the challenge of the occasion and dedicated her life to the great cause of Christian Missions. Talented as a singer, she was a member of a trio that travelled widely across America.

Ione met her husband when he was serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force. Later they were married at a town in Sudan on the Nile River, and they continued on to the Congo.

In 1964, during the terrible Simba rebellion, Rev. and Mrs. McMillan and their six sons were held as hostages for three and one-half months along with others. Finally, on Nov. 24, Rev. Mr. McMillan was killed. The rest were miraculously rescued.

In Avonmore, immediate steps to establish a Memorial Fund were taken. The action was nationally recognized and the Fund was generously subscribed. It was used specifically by Mrs. McMillan to assist in the education of her six sons. The Fund was officially launched at a never-to-be-forgotten Memorial Service in St. James United Church, Avonmore, on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13th, 1964.

The community of friends are pleased that the work to which the parents dedicated their all is being carried on by their sons, two of whom and their wives are already preparing to leave for Zaire in the near future, under the same mission board, the Unevangelized Field Mission.

A great memorial service was held in First Baptist Church, Pontiac, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 23rd. Many tributes were paid.

The pallbearers were her six sons, Dr. Kenneth, Paul, David, John, Stephen and Timothy.

In addition to her sons, Mrs. McMillan's passing is mourned by her aged mother, Mrs. Leone Reed, with whom she lived in Pontiac, one granddaughter and three sisters.

Attending the funeral were three of Mrs. McMillan's late husband's sisters, Mrs. Florence Damant, Montreal; Mrs. Irene Pierce, Brockville, and Mrs. Claude V. Miller and Mr. Miller, Dunnville, Ont.

Shortages of milk possible unless quotas increased

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board is polling dairy farmers on their production expectations for the winter to see whether milk requirements can be met.

But George McLaughlin, chairman of the board, said it would be a month or six weeks before final results are available. He said the board fears there will be shortages of fresh milk as a result of decreased production by dairy farmers.

Farmers had their dairy quotas cut back by 15 per cent at the beginning of the new dairy year last April after exceptionally high production the previous year.

But cows can't be turned off like taps. So farmers produced a disproportionate share of their quota in the early part of the year and are drying up cows or slaughtering them to reduce their production capacity before putting them on winter feed. The result could be a shortage of fresh milk products in the winter.

Winter feed is one of the unknown factors that will affect milk supplies. One of the reasons milk production held so strong last winter was the exceptionally high quality of feed in the barns. Production per cow has been increasing at an average rate of about three per cent a year as farmers improve their herds and adopt better feeding and management methods.

But last year, Mr. McLaughlin said, production per cow increased seven per cent. The high quality winter feed made the difference.

He said the problem could be solved by increasing the quotas, but that it would take a decision by the federal cabinet.

Quebec Agriculture Minister Kevin Drummond said he wasn't asking for higher quotas. He just wanted Quebec producers to have the latitude to produce into "the sleeve."

Quotas are set five per cent higher than the estimated national need. That five per cent is called the sleeve. But this year the dairy commission didn't give a sleeve. Estimated need was seen as 9.5 billion pounds and that is where the quota was set.

The Ontario Milk Marketing Board went ahead and gave Ontario farmers a five per cent sleeve anyway with the promise to the commission that it wouldn't be in a surplus position by the end of the year.

Mr. McLaughlin said about 15 per cent of the dairy farmers will under-produce for one reason or another—sickness, going out of business, herd health problems. That will take care of the sleeve.

Hans Mestern, chief economist for the commission, says there is no shortage as far as the commission is concerned. It is simply a matter of milk diversion. The provincial boards can direct fresh milk to those products that require fresh milk and draw from commission stocks of skim milk powder and butter for their other needs.

Mr. McLaughlin agreed that would have to be done to meet the requirements of many of the province's small cheese factories.

Dr. Mestern said that if production had been at its present rate since the start of the dairy year "we would be right on target." But farmers were still over-producing in April and May. There was no real cutback until July.

Imports of butter in 1973 and 1974 indicated there was a need for higher milk production in the 1975 and 1976 dairy years, Dr. Mestern said. The commission was looking for five per cent more milk. But dairy farmers produced 12 per cent more. Production in 1975 was 11.2 billion pounds.

Dairy farmers complain that they were misled into over production and that the cutback is too drastic. The trend of over-production was evident months before any action was taken, one Winchester area farmer said. If the farmers had known that, they could have started reducing herds and drying up cows last winter instead of waiting until spring.

The target price for industrial milk is set at $11.02 for each hundred pounds. That is made up of about $8.40 from the creamery or the cheese factory and $2.66 from the federal treasury. From that must be subrtracted $1.35 to support the export of skim milk powder, anywhere from 50 cents to $1 for transportation and 9½ cents to the Ontario board for administration.

The penalty for over-quota production is high. Not only does the farmer not receive the $2.66 subsidy but he is penalized $8.60 which is more than the creamery will pay him.

Scottish show at Hill next week

"A Breath of Scotland" will invade Canada for the 14th time, this fall, appearing locally in Vankleek Hill on Oct. 13th, sponsored by the Glengarry Pipe Band. As usual, the Company will perform in a great variety of locations, from school halls to the largest auditoria, and will pretty well cover Eastern Canada.

Also as usual, a great deal of Scottish song, music, dance and hilarity will be dispensed. There will be songs by Margaret Anderson, the lovely lass from Dundee, now on her third tour, by Joss Esplin who specializes in ballads, and is also an accomplished musician, and by this year's headliner, Billy Marshall, who accompanies himself on his accordion.

The music will be supplied by the two lads mentioned above, plus Blanche MacInnes, the Queen of the Keyboard and hardest-working member of the cast. Dancing will be handled by Sandra Wright, no stranger to Canada and former world champion. She hardly seems to touch the stage.

Comedy will be handled by "Wee Eddie" Rose, who made such a hit last year, ably assisted by "Big Ron" Coburn, who besides doing comedy and helping at anything, is also the show's manager and producer.

The show is not a series of solo acts, but has developed the "Ceilidh" atmosphere of informality, having most of the cast on stage most of the time, and having almost everybody do almost everything.
