GLENGARRY IN BRIEF

Man shot dead

A Martintown man is dead after an apparent hunting accident Nov. 9.

Keith Flaro, 29, was on his trap line east of Maxville when he suffered a single gunshot wound at about 8 a.m. said Lancaster OPP Const. Hugh McClements. Flaro died shortly afterwards as a result of severe bleeding.

A man surrendered to police and was questioned and released.

Flaro is survived by wife Tracey and children Jake and Stephanie. The investigation is continuing.

Know about 911

The newly formed Kenyon Township Police Advisory Committee urges all residents to know the proper uses for the 911 emergency system.

The committee, which formed this summer, recently toured the OPP's Communications Centre in Kanata where they learned that many calls are not of the emergency variety.

The 911 number, and other emergency number are for emergencies only. Callers should be prepared to divulge the number from which they are calling, their name, physical address and nature of emergency. They should also be prepared to answer any questions from the dispatcher.

911 is not in service just yet and the correct number for emergency calls is 1-888-310-1122.

Strike preparations

With the threat of a postal strike (set for Thursday) please see the notice on page 12 of this week's paper for location where mailed copies can be picked up.

The system will be in effect for the duration of the strike. If you have any questions, please call Joan in our circulation department at 525-2020.

Scam warning

A local businessman is warning colleagues and residents to be wary of any pleas for money.

The man recently received a letter from a business in Nigeria offering millions of dollars in exchange for a bank account number.

The businessman reminds readers that these offers are usually bogus and normally result in bank accounts being cleaned out.

The Nigerian scam is one of the more common and a number of Eastern Ontario businesses have been approached.

Police say this particular scam is difficult to catch because of the international element.

Crack wins big in North

Grant Crack was elected the first reeve of North Glengarry after his popularity in Alexandria spread through the fields of the new municipality.

The Alexandria Mayor won 53 per cent of the votes cast or 2,742. Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell was a distant second with 1,143. Newcomer Claudia Lefebvre was third with 761, while Maxville Reeve George Currier took 533.

The vote was expected to loosely follow the boundaries of the old municipalities.

MacDonell and Currier were expected to attract a strong share of the rural vote. Crack needed to fend off a challenge from Lefebvre, a fellow Alexandria resident.

It didn't work out that way.

Crack won Alexandria by a landslide, tallying 1,169 while Lefebvre managed 345. MacDonell gleaned 214, while Currier lagged behind with 32.

MacDonell came out on top in Lochiel. But only by a slight margin (633-585) over Crack. Lefebvre won 143 while Currier finished with 134.

Crack also clinched a small majority of 54 per cent in Kenyon with 805. His opponents evenly split the remainder votes: MacDonell - 244, Lefebvre - 243, Currier - 190.

Out of 9,457 eligible voters, 5,229 exercised their democratic right.

Crack said the time was ripe for a change in leadership in the rural areas. MacDonell and Currier had held their seats for a number of years.

"They wanted to move into the 21st century. I'm very proud they chose me," Crack told The Glengarry News.

He said a combination of canvassing, strong performances at the all-candidates debates and a hard working team helped him to attract new votes.

"I was fully in command of the facts. When I speak I know what I'm talking about. I won't speak unless I have all the facts beforehand."

It was apparent early in the count that Crack was headed for victory. Early results from Alexandria and Lochiel had Crack up three to one.

About two hours after the polls closed at 8 p.m., Crack and his team started celebrating at his headquarters on the corner of Main Street and Elgin Street.

They then piled into about 10 motor vehicles and paraded through the streets of Alexandria, honking their horns.

The procession wound up at the Glengarry Sports Palace where the public and candidates were invited to watch the poll results.

Crack and his entourage entered to wide applause and cheers.

"This is going to be a new weight on my shoulders," the first North Glengarry reeve said in his acceptance speech. "They're not very wide, but they're strong."

He said the new council will also help him carry the weight, "but we're going to need a lot of help."

Crack was especially thankful to the rural residents who placed their faith in an urban mayor.

"They will get everything they deserve."

He promised to provide the same leadership Alexandrians have come to expect, and to run an "open, honest government, guaranteed."

Crack commended his rivals on their campaigns and hoped the new council could count on their experience and talents.

Sangster wins close race in South Glengarry

BY JOHN NELSON
NEWS EDITOR

Charles Sangster is the first ever reeve of South Glengarry.

Sangster, the current reeve of Lancaster Township, fell behind early to chief rival Dave MacDonald but came on strong as results trickled in from his main power base in the township.

Final unofficial results showed Sangster with 2,347 votes, MacDonald with 1,764 and third candidate Laurier Poirier with 365 votes.

The most excitement of the evening, however, came in the deputy reeve race between Steve Preston and Frank Prevost.

Prevost took an early lead in the polling but, as results came in, Preston jumped into the lead before being declared the winner by three votes.

However, Preston himself questioned the results of poll seven (St. Margaret) which showed him with a whopping 266 votes compared to 23 for Prevost.

Preston brought his concerns to the attention of the clerks on hand and a recheck was done.

It turned out Preston only had 66 votes and Prevost was the winner by a count of 2,163 to 1,961. Robert Gale finished third with 226 votes.

"It was very nerve-wracking," said Prevost after waiting for the new results to be posted.

He praised Preston both for his integrity in bringing the error up and for the campaign.

"Steve and I both did a good job," said Prevost.

Preston, upon being declared the winner, said the important thing was for the new council to work as a team.

With the new results posted he maintained that position and said he would continue to work as Lancaster Township deputy reeve until the new council takes over Jan. 1, 1998.

Before the first was even counted, Preston said it would be a tight race between he and Prevost and added that whatever the result, it would be his last term.

Reeve-elect Sangster, praised his chief rival in the campaign.

"There was nothing dirty or anything in the campaign," he said in a brief victory speech. "I think it was very clean."

Sangster said he did not believe any one particular issue that put him over the top.

MacDonald agreed and said it was experience and style that won the election.

"The people decided they were looking for someone with more experience," he said.

MacDonald's campaign was based on running the new municipality in a more business-like fashion.

Sangster, meanwhile, had no big immediate plans.

Class time will be made up, boards say

BY GREG PEERENBOOM
News Reporter

Schools in SDG shouldn't have any difficulty making up time lost to the teachers' strike.

"The elementary schools shouldn't be a problem," said public board director of education Jim Dilamarter.

However, the strike will have a harsher effect on high schools that operate on the semester system.

"We'll have some crucial problems that will be made up very carefully," Dilamarter said.

The administration of the public and separate school boards will meet to collaborate on various issues that involve both boards, said SDG separate board (English section) deputy director Kevin Lydon.

"It's an elaborate process," Lydon said.

A number of schools share the same building (Glengarry District High School and Ecole Secondaire Le Relais) and technical equipment, so the boards must agree on which PA days will be cancelled.

The boards also have a partnership with bussing and other transportation.

For now, the boards will work independently from the Ministry of Education.

"We've had no word from the ministry, although we anticipate something will be sent," Lydon said.

One of the major tasks is to make sure curriculum guidelines are maintained.

"In the past, other boards have had strikes of 25-75 days," Dilamarter said. "And they've managed to get back on track.

"What we have to do is consolidate courses," he said.

Dilamarter said principals will meet with teachers to priortize courses.

"Some of the nicer things we do will have to be dropped," he said, such as field trips.

"There is time allowed for flexibility," he said.

Fortunately, many of the teachers assigned work for students to complete during the strike.

"The only complaint we had from students was they needed someone to answer questions," Dilamarter said.

He said it's likely mid-term grade reports won't be available until December.

Naturally, all the board staff were ecstatic to see the teachers back to work and students back in classes.

"I know they'll do their utmost for the students," Dilamarter said.

Classroom emotions run high

Teachers may be in class but the fallout from their 10-day strike is still being felt.

"One of my teachers started to cry earlier this morning," said Chantal Cloutier, on Monday..

"I was kind of in shock. I was very uncomfortable," added Cloutier, a Grade 12 student at Glengarry District High School.

Mixed feelings as students return

Cloutier and some of her fellow Grade 12 students had gathered at the cafeteria during a spare period. One of the topics was, of course, the strike.

Her friends shared similar observations about the first day back: some teachers were dressed in black, others were emotional.

Cherylene Lajoie sympathized with the teachers' frustration at ending the walk-out.

"I think they know they failed to get rid of Bill 160," Lajoie said. "The teachers and the union (leaders) were separated on what to do. They didn't consult each other enough."

Student Jennifer Prieuer said the teachers weren't ready to abandon the picket lines.

"They would have liked to have stayed out a little longer," Prieuer said, adding the strike accomplished little.

"The strike didn't seem to make a difference. Nothing happened."

However, the trio agreed the teachers' statement was taken to heart by the students.

"They showed us a lesson. It's alright for standing up for ourselves," Cloutier said.

Prieuer said the teachers' stand against Bill 160 was just.

"They proved their cause. They really do care about our education."

Lajoie said the teachers may have won a consolation prize in their continuing fight against the provincial government.

"I think they'll get the parents and public behind them."

While many teachers struggle with the union's decision to end the strike, most students were eager to be back in school.

"I'm glad to be going back," Prieuer said. "I don't want to miss any more days -- I guess I was getting kind of bored."

The time off was far from a complete waste of time, she said.

"I had a little bit of homework. I did some studying."

Some of the teachers managed to allocate assignments during the walk-out.

Otherwise, most students occupied their time by socializing, playing sports or working a few extra hours at part-time jobs, not unlike the summer holidays.

Crack takes North vote

MacDonell, Lefebvre and Currier all congratulated the reeve-elect and the fine effort of their volunteers.

With many issues still unsolved by the transition board, the reeve-elect said the new council will meet informally so they can make crucial decisions in January.

Rival offers support to new South reeve

"We'll just wait and see what happens," he said.

MacDonald said he would support Sangster and added he was still interested in serving the new township.

"I know he'll do a good job and I'll support him in any way I can," he said while offering his services for committees or boards. "My heart is still with South Glengarry."

But MacDonald said he would not seek election in the next municipal vote.

"This is definitely the end of my political career," he said and added he took his best shot and came up short. "This is democracy at its finest."

In the race for the three council positions, Jim McDonell was the big winner, pulling in 2,392 votes.

McDonell has previous experience on Charlottenburgh Council but pulled in votes from across the new township, finishing first or second at most polls.

Next up was Ian McLeod, a political newcomer with 1,636 votes.

Third place went to Lancaster Village Reeve Janette Abbey with 1,610 votes.

Rounding out the field were George Shoniker with 1,320 votes, Don Kannon with 1,268, Janet McDonald with 1,179 (one poll not reporting), John Lounsberry with 773, Bill Madden with 659 and Hanz Schulz with 233.

Glengarry remembers the fallen

Remembrance ceremonies held across county

By John Nelson
News Editor

Residents from throughout Glengarry County flocked to local Cenotaphs Nov. 8 and 9 to pay tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice.

Mourners of all ages - from preschoolers to veterans themselves - showed their respect to those who gave their lives during two world wars and the Korean conflict.

Services were held Saturday in Williamstown and Lancaster and Maxville and Alexandria Sunday.

Crowds at the ceremonies numbered in the hundreds.

In Williamstown, Pastor Eric Urquhart encouraged those gathered to read the names engraved on the Cenotaph.

"I went to school with most of them," he said of those who lost their lives during the Second World War. "They lived their lives in Williamstown.

In Lancaster, Msgr. R. Villeneuve urged those gathered to pray for peace and justice.

He noted that the liberty we enjoy today was a result of the sacrifices of those who lost their lives.

Villeneuve told the crowd that while it may be easy to forget the past, everyone must strive to keep the memories alive.

Urquhart made a similar observation in Williamstown.

Referring to those who lost their lives in the First World War, he said little was known of them now.

He urged those gathered to ensure that does not happen to those who lost their lives in the Second World War.

On Sunday in Alexandria, a large crowd braved cool temperatures and rain to attend the afternoon service.

Dignitaries from all levels of government, representatives of local businesses and organizations laid wreathes in remembrance.

A ceremony in Maxville was held at the same time and an account is contained in Gordon Winter's column.

New councils facing challenging terms

Today the amalgamated municipalities of North and South Glengarry have new municipal councils.

Our congratulations are extended to all the candidates who stood for election and had the desire to serve the community at a time of profound change. All must be recognized for the civility of the campaign and the manner in which it was conducted.

All candidates can and should be proud of their efforts regardless of the outcome.

For those candidates who were successful their work is just starting. They are facing the mammoth task of putting together new municipalities.

North and South Glengarry councils will need community support

Their task will be to set aside their loyalties to their former municipalities in order to harmoniously bring together the various communities, each with their unique identities.

Councillors must be sensitive to the fears that some parts of their municipality might not be treated equally when it comes to services, road maintenance, municipal staff and fire and police protection.

This will not be an easy balancing act. Hard decisions will have to be made and they will not all be popular. One of the hardest decisions will be the location of the municipal office. It will be up to council to ensure that it makes a sound and open decision.

The new council will also be facing pressures from various groups. That too is part of the democratic process but it will have to be seen to be basing its decisions on sound economic and practical principles.

Whatever they do they can expect to be criticized, often unfairly. The next few years will be demanding and challenging. Councillors, however, can save themselves a great deal of trouble by not bowing to pressures to make political, rather than fair decisions,.

In the north end of the county, council is further saddled with having to implement work that should have been done through the transition board. While some candidates during the election said most of the groundwork is done, just the process of reviewing it will be lengthy.

We do not envy the task they have taken on. This county has reached a pivotal point in its history.

Amalgamation can be a rancorous and bitter process if not handled properly. Mistakes made during that initial period can cause hard feelings for decades, especially in a close-knit region such as this.

As for our part, The Glengarry News intends to take a positive approach to ensuring the two new municipalities are brought together harmoniously.

We believe the new councils should be given the benefit of the doubt and supported. They will have to earn the trust and respect of the communities each council serves and certainly will be closely watched.

For our part we are looking forward to the challenges.

Teachers' walkout failed to resolve issue

Now that the teachers are back in their classrooms, perhaps some sober second thought can be given to the issue of Bill 160 and the ramifications of putting that legislation in place.

Teachers were out of for a full two weeks during which students lost time with their studies.

Bill 160 is moving ahead in spite of teachers' protest

From the outset teachers were in a lose-lose situation since their strike hit an emotional, rather than intellectual chord with the general public.

Voices of reason were drowned in the cacophony of accusations and counter accusations from the teachers' unions, the government

When the protest suddenly ended, the province was right back to square one with the exception that the teacher' unions are threatening to challenge the law on constitutional grounds.

Why didn't they come to that conclusion in the first place? Why did student, parents and teachers have to go through the pain of the walkout if legal means could be taken to get Bill 160 amended or struck down altogether?

We cannot question the teachers' motives in the walkout. We believe they were sincere in their concern over Bill 160. Still, it is the teachers who have been given a black eye over the strike. It will take time to live that down.

Meanwhile the contents of Bill 160 must be examined in the light of the teachers' concerns.

One issue that arose that is of some concern is the centralizing of contro' over education in cabinet rather than through elected school boards.

The education system does not need daily meddling by provincial politicians to make it work. It can be argued that when politics moves into decision-making, common sense can be left behind.

The teachers made a sacrifice. It should not be for nothing.

Yes folks, we could have done better

THAT'S LIFE

BILL McINTYRE

Unlike radio or television which send their mistakes out into the ozone never to be heard from again, newspapers are saddled forever with the gaffs they make.

I don't know if you have ever wished there was a week you could live over, but last week is one which I would dearly love to put behind me.

Not being one to make excuses, I won't.

What is prompting this bit of public soul-searching is a decision I made last week to allow an incomplete candidate profile feature to run.

Certainly I have taken a lot of flak over it, deservedly so. Some criticism was fair and some was not.

We left some photos of candidates out of the feature even though they had run them in their advertisements. There is no excuse I could advance as to why they could not have made their way down to the editorial department.

The written candidate profiles are a different issue. Some candidates simply would not fill out the questionnaire for whatever reason. I will assume they felt we had enough information on them to write the profiles from that. Fair enough, we probably could have.

I can tell you a lot of mistakes were made in preparing that section. To make matters worse the main editorial printer went on the fritz and we underestimated the amount of space we would need.

I admit a lot of human error went into that little project.

To those candidates who feel slighted by the feature I can only offer my apologies. Since that time very stringent guidelines and directives have been issued to ensure this does not happen in the future.

But to those people who have suggested it was part of some sort of conspiracy on the part of myself or The Glengarry News, I can assure you that was not the case and will never be the case as long as I am publisher of this newspaper.

I really resent any implication that anyone was left out of the feature because of political bias or gamesmanship.

At the start of this election I made it clear I, and by extension the staff, are politically neutral when it comes to covering elections of any kind.

Some folks might have chosen to look into every statement for some nuance or hint of who we were backing. The answer is no one.

My aim is to present you with the best possible newspaper we can afford to produce. We want to provide you with as much diversity of content and viewpoints as we can.

This extends to all aspects of news which we are striving to present as accurately as humanly possible.

We are not interested in excluding any individual or group from our newspages while reminding ourselves that we cannot be everywhere at once.

Limitations are imposed on everyone. That does not mean we wish to ignore anyone. I have learned over the years to succeed means to say yes, not no.

Are we perfect? No. Will we make mistakes? Yes. Will we try not to? Of course.

Certainly I must personally accept responsibility for errors that occur in this newspaper, and I do.

In closing I once again want to encourage any of our readers to call me or visit me if you have a problem with the newspaper, an idea for coverage or a story. It will help The Glengarry News to meet your expectations.

After the election, it's a win-win situation

BLAIR WILLIAMS

The local elections are over, so let's take stock and look ahead.

Much that has been said over the past couple of months has been negative and pessimistic. Our historic municipalities have been "forced" to amalgamate which raises the prospect of the "loss" of our traditional communities. The province is "downloading" programs and "slashing" grants which, will lead to "higher costs" and a greater "tax burden". And throughout it all the Transition Board, which was in charge of laying the groundwork for the new municipality, has been described as an abject "failure", a "complete waste of time and money".

However, despite the gloom and doom that characterized much of the campaign rhetoric there are good reasons why Glengarrians should be optimistic and full of hope for the future. It is appropriate, therefore, to take some time to think about what we may have gained in this election, and how that augurs well for the future of our area.

It is important to underline that the campaign itself has been positive in many respects. In North Glengarry twenty three candidates came forward to contest seven council seats. This resulted in the sort of dynamic and enthusiastic competition for votes that we have seldom seen at the local level. So the campaign was good news, both in terms of the level of activity and debate it generated, and also in terms of the positive results that should flow from it.

The election produced a new crop of dedicated local councillors with clear ideas o their own. They bring a level of experience and skill that will be most helpful in the immediate task of setting up a new administration and charting a new course for local government. The campaign demonstrated that the councillors elected last Monday will be inclined to pull their weight, and are not simply along for the ride. Through their words and actions all of the councillors have shown a commendable level of commitment to the job at hand.

The campaign was vigorous, and it revealed more than a few deep seated differences and animosities between the candidates and between their supporters. But this too should yield positive results. Differences in policy, style, and even personality, need to be exposed and dealt with in a democracy. The challenge now is for individuals to learn from their differences, to adapt, and to get on with serving the common interest of all the residents of Glengarry County.

In addition to an able council, the local campaign has produced a motivated and involved citizenry and this is a very positive sign for the future development of our community. It was clear from the meetings and from the level of campaign activity that large sections of the local population were fully engaged by the issues and personalities that emerged during the election. This is a healthy sign for our community and for democracy in general.

When a campaign mobilizes individual citizens, and captures their interest, the result can often be a more vigilant public that is better able to monitor, to judge, and to hold government accountable. This kind of intensified public scrutiny will surely become a reality over the next three years.

Popular involvement also means that members of the public are available, and usually willing, to help out by making a positive contribution to the community. Public participation should not be limited to the campaign period, and it is the duty of the new council (and a golden opportunity for them) to harness the energy and ideas of local residents who are prepared to work for the greater good of the community.

Residents should be optimistic, as well, when they consider some of the issues that were raised during the election campaign. Certain matters that go to the heart of our quality of life in Glengarry were vigorously discussed over the past two months. These were issues such as waste management, water quality, land use planning, youth employment, and community economic development--issues that have never been a strong part of our political dialogue at the local level. It is encouraging, a very positive sign, that we now have an alert public and a new council that believes these matters should be taken seriously.

Finally, it is good news that more and more people, including the candidates for election, seem to believe that communities have a responsibility to deal realistically and effectively with their own problems. It is no longer good enough to drift, to look elsewhere for solutions, or to ignore problems in the belief that some other level of government will look after them. One of the enduring positive lessons of this campaign may be that we, here in Glengarry, have the ability and the will to control our destiny at the community level.

The popular notion is that we should "think globally and act locally". Without realizing it, Glengarrians have taken a step in that direction, and we should all feel good about it.

A strange feeling that should be shared

OFF THE RECORD

JOHN NELSON

It's a strange feeling I get every year around this time, the chills up my spine (which I get even writing this column), the real sense of loss and thanks.

I'm talking about ceremonies - Remembrance Day ceremonies - which are held across the area and country on or near Nov. 11.

I grew up like many boys - building plastic models (my favourites were German Second World War tanks) and enjoying war movies. One of my favourites was an old black-and-whiter called Hell is for Heroes. One of my favourite songs at the time was a number called Billy, Don't be a Hero .

I don't build models anymore but I still like the song and the movie - though not to the same extent.

Somewhere along the way, my attitude changed. Perhaps it was the veterans who visited my grade school year after year on or near Nov. 11. Maybe it was the assemblies in high school, which often included dramatic presentations.

More likely, it was taking a closer look at the photos - photos of soldiers and their graves. Look closer at those pictures - especially of the graves. Young men are buried there - 18- and 19-year-olds. Perhaps it was the realization that I was of that age. I'm 34 now and have had a few positive accomplishments, I think. The young men in the war graves are still 18 and 19.

This was brought home again last week when a binder from Frank Periard crossed my desk. It was packed full of photos - old and new - letters and other items. Mr. Periard's brother Aime was a member of the Highlanders during the Second World War. He never made it back.

Included in the binder were maps and crests, a letter from the commanding officer and a News article from a couple of years back. The article, indeed the binder, was quite moving to read. But one simple sentence put the whole matter into focus.

"He was 26." Think about it. Twenty-six. Earlier in the binder was a photo of a smiling Cpl. Aime Periard - forever 26.

I have to wonder what was lost, what great deeds those 18- and 19- and 26-year-olds who served their country, helped liberate nations and freed the oppressed, would have undertaken.

They don't wonder so much in Europe. I've visited Holland twice - always proudly displaying a Maple Leaf pin or crest. I've heard the stories of veterans who returned to the continent many years later, of how the school children tend the graves and know their significance. Of how they respect - no honor - our veterans.

Perhaps one needs to be enslaved, then liberated, to fully appreciate freedom and the price that comes with it.

Perhaps that makes the sacrifices of Canada's soldiers the more noble in that they died so that others would be free - our nation, for the most part, has never been directly threatened.

These elements make their loss the more tragic, as well. For they must have been individuals of strong character, of honor and integrity (whether they knew it or not). Men committed to justice. What great works would they have done for their country and communities? We'll never know.

What is known, however, is that we should all be deeply thankful such individuals answered the call and still do today, their mission to protect freedom and ensure justice.

They died so we could all argue about Quebec sovereignty. So teachers could strike. So we could vote in municipal elections.

I'll take this opportunity to thank each and every veteran for giving me the chance to wri this column. And, during ceremonies this weekend, I thanked all those who didn't make it back.

By keeping these memories burning bright, perhaps no similar binders - with modern photos - will cross my desk again.

LETTER

Candidate profiles not up to standard due to favouritism or incompetence?

To the editor,

To the management of The Glengarry News, it would appear that some election candidates are "more equal" than others. For example, in your recent candidate profile (Nov.5, 1997), Mr. Crack was given double the space accorded any other candidate, and his three rivals (and many others) were completely ignored. As well, Mr. Seguin's photo was twice the size of any other.

If completed questionnaires and photos were temporarily lost in order to create the impression that certain candidates were too incompetent, lazy or disinterested to respond, then this was a blatant abuse of power and should be promptly investigated by the chief returning officer.

As professional journalists in a region with only one local media outlet, you owe it to your readers to be unbiased. Naturally, it's your right to support the candidate(s) of your choice. However, put this show of support where it belongs...in your editorial column!

If it wasn't deliberate, then all I can suggest is that it was incompetent journalism. The election shouldn't have been a surprise. Your reporters had lots of time to put together a balanced, informative summary. Furthermore, to print "photo not available" when pictures of virtually all of the candidates have appeared in paid advertisements in your paper over the past few weeks stretches the limits of credulity.

In either case, favouritism or incompetence, the person or persons responsible should be fired.

Yours sincerely,
James Joyce

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Story was one sided, says Bellefeuille

To the editor,

A person's good name is priceless.

To deal with the press is risky. Not to know the press is writing about you can be deadly.

The tough part of it is that, essentially, there is no one, virtually with the exception of an assassin, who can do you as much damage as somebody can in the press.

Journalism is not a science. Their duty is to get the facts straight. The article by Greg Peerenboom entitled "Misconduct Ousts Alexandria Lawyer" is replete with the lack of professionalism, serious omissions and false statements.

Only one side of the story was told. How professional can the journalist be when no other effort but calls to parents without leaving details as to the reason for calling, are the efforts to get a citizen to respond to an article attacking one's reputation.

The journalist then falsely reports where I live and that I have no telephone number.

The facts are that I have resided at RR #2, Alexandria since 1987 and have had a telephone number since 1978.

How great a challenge was it for the journalist to locate someone who has been in the local community since 1978?

This underlines my great concern of the power of the media to write articles without doing proper research or caring about their consequences, to have complex issues oversimplified and lastly result in false allegations.

This is my right of response in a democratic society.

I practiced law from 1978 to 1991, totally committed to my clients. In 1986, the River Road Estates project was initiated.

When the investors/former clients invested in the real estate venture, the land portfolio had strong valuation. In 1989, the land assembly was valued at $2.7 million dollars.

Between 1989 and 1994, the North American real estate market crashed. No better evidence can be produced than the collapse of the TSE Real Estate Index, which lost 90 per cent of its value. This had never been experienced by any industrialized nation.

The issue behind the loss of the investors was that the real estate cycle had come to an end. The best minds, the governments, no one could predict when the good times would come to an end and how severe the drops in value would be.

The Law Society since 1991 was aware that I had ceased to practice pending the interpretation of the word client under Rule 7. In November 1996, the decision was confirmed that client was meant to include "former client".

The society also declared that a reasonable bill of fees had been rendered to set off the monies received and not deposited in trust ($4,000). No mention of those important facts were set out in the said article.

Furthermore, the article reviews the events of 1993, 1994 vis à vis my record keeping but again omits to mention that the Law society knew that my law practice was closed since March 1991 and that my time was devoted to the restructuring of the real estate project, including supervising a lawsuit against a local realtor for breach of trust.

Of greatest concern is the incorrect statement set out in the article... "he lied on his tax return, Form 2." This is false and never happened.

Given these serious lapses, it would be reassuring to all that the "News"review their internal procedure so that no other citizen be subjected to such 'erroneous' articles.

Charles Lindbergh once said: "Success is not measured by what a man accomplishes but by the opposition he has encountered and the courage which he has maintained in the struggle against overwhelming odds".

I had the choice to appeal the recommendation of the Law Society. I chose not to when it was agreed that I could resign without any consideration for readmission and maintain the right to apply for readmission now or at any time in the future.

Our negative life situations are essential for us to fulfill our intended destiny. However, unless we possess the power of endurance to live through the dark of the night, we will not see the glory of daybreak.

The law of cycles applies to all events and conditions. After a period of bad luck, there is good luck, after war there is peace, after depression, there is hope and optimism.

One must be able to conserve his energy and resources in preparing for the eventual return of his financial gathering opportunity.

I look forward to pursuing in my home town the "River Road Estates" project and the challenge of being an entrepreneur and adviser.

Respectfully yours,
R.E. Bellefeuille
Alexandria, Ont.

Correction

A story on page 10 of the Nov. 5 edition of The Glengarry News carrying the headline "Misconduct ousts Alexandria lawyer" contained an erroneous statement to the effect that Mr. Bellefeuille "lied" on a tax return and a Form 2.

A Form 2 is a detailed three-page declaration that lawyers provide to the law society annually.

The Glengarry News regrets this error and apologizes to Mr. Bellefeuille for any inconvenience or embarrassment it might have caused.

All material for the story was supplied by the Law Society of Upper Canada and was previously published, in part, in the Ontario Lawyers Gazette and from a lengthy report from the discipline committee of the law society.

Homemaker service in danger

To the editor:

As a homemaker with the Eastern Counties Branch Homemaker Service, I am worried about my clients, given the looming danger that Red Cross Homemaker services may have to close.

Being a homemaker means helping people stay in their homes when they become disabled, ill or too frail and elderly to cope on their own. I provide the daily set of hands that get the household chores done and I also offer human contact for the most vulnerable among us.

Without Red Cross homemakers, more than 73,000 people will not have the daily lifeline they require. In many northern communities, Red Cross is the only provider and it would be very difficult to find others to fill in our shoes.

I would like to ask your readers who have used homemaker services for their family, or think at any time in their future they might, consider what the loss of homemaker services might mean to them. Could you cope at home alone if you were sick, recovering from an operation or simply too frail to manage on your own? Do you think you should have the option of staying in your home? Do you think that we can send people out of hospital and home without any safety net in place? This situation may not apply to you today, but what about the future? Are you likely to need help at sometime?

Each of us knows that we too might need this kind of help some day.

If your readers think there is a value to having help when it is needed most, I urge them to call their local Member of Provincial Parliament and impress upon them the need for homemaker services. We need to put people before politics and find a solution that will provide continual assistance to our homemaker clients.

Don't leave those most in need without assistance they require to stay in their homes. All I ask of you is to tell your MPP that you care about the kind of care we provide for the frail and elderly.

Carole Berniquer,
Alexandria, ON.

Reader responds to letter

Editor:

This letter is in response to Mr. Daechsel's letter in the Oct. 22 Glengarry News (Changing one's habits can put end to hazardous waste). He is either dreaming or doesn't know what constitutes hazardous waste.

What would he suggest we use in our automobiles – linseed oil perhaps? How about our flashlights' and cars' electricity? No batteries – no work!

What should we do with our expired headache pills – eat them anyways? Where do we put our empty paint cans?

Did you know that all our rural septic systems are a kind of composting system?

I think you get the picture. We simply have hazardous waste which must be disposed of safely!

On the subject of grass-cutting: Consider yourself lucky to have been billed so little. When you live in a rural or bush area and your neighbours are far away, you can let your grass and weeds grow.

But, when you live in a civilized area where your neighbours are only a few yards away, your property has to conform to those of others and to bylaws, to guard against allergic reactions of some people and for aesthetic reasons. If you are really concerned about feeding the soil, learn about composting.

Michael Johl,
Kenyon

Cats are in Dalkeith

To the editor,

I have good news for Betty Vowles of Apple Hill. All the cats are here in Dalkeith. (This place should be called Catville). And she won't have to have all the Fishers destroyed. I sure would like to see a Fisher.

By the way we could spare a few skunks and raccoons also.

Teachers know what they're doing

To the editor,

I am a concerned parent and taxpayer. I think that the teachers' strike was the only way to get things to change in the education system.

I think that the parents, the students and the teachers should have something to say in the decisions about the education of the students of Ontario. Mike Harris promised no cuts in education, he was elected. He lied to get elected.

As for Aline Hébert's letter in last week's Glengarry News (Nov. 5), we could clearly see that she was frustrated with the teachers who gave homework. It is very sad that a parent cannot cherish the time spent doing homework at home. I always saw it as a chance to help and spend quality time with my children. Yes it is demanding at times but I knew that when I decided to have children.

If she is spending three hours a night doing homework with her two children, she should meet their teachers to see what she is doing wrong. As a student, yes I always had homework. My mother was always happy to help us with our reading, spelling and other homework. Homework came first.

Teachers do teach their curriculum and more but, if she does not want any part in her children's education, I can see her frustrations with homework and teachers.

If she thinks that teachers have it made, she should pray to God for the necessary qualities, get her qualifications and she would have it made too!

As for being a "volunteer teacher," I think she meant a "volunteer helper" in her children's classes. I hope she enjoyed that quality time even if she is now using this against the teachers.

While her business is slow, Aline should write a letter to Mike Harris telling him to trash Bill 160, spend quality time with her two children and trust the teachers since they know what they are doing. They also wanted to get back in schools but wanted to ensure the best education for our children.

A concerned parent,
Claude Lambert,

POLICE BRIEFS

A joint police services squad swooped down on a Lancaster location Nov. 4 and seized 3.5 kilograms of cocaine, a large quantity of marijuana, weapons and contraband cigarettes and alcohol.

The sting was one part of an investigation spanning over three years and involving RCMP, Cornwall police, OPP, Akwesasne Mohawk Police and Canada Customs.

Police arrested five persons during the Lancaster raid and another 14 during related operations in Cornwall, Cornwall Island, Ottawa, Hamilton, Kitchener and Montreal.

Among those accused with drug offences is Francoise Bedard, of 6059 Hwy 34, Lancaster.

Other charges stem from the smuggling and sale of contraband alcohol and cigarettes, the illegal possession of counterfeit U.S. currency, the possession and sales of restricted weapons and the possession of the proceeds of crime.

The investigation is continuing with further arrests possible. A bail hearing was held Nov. 11 at the Cornwall Provincial Court.

Via kills local woman

A 54-year-old Alexandria area woman was found dead Tuesday morning on the CNR tracks at the Massie Road crossing.

The woman was apparently walking on the tracks when the Via Rail train the Gatineau collided with her at about 11:05 a.m. No other details were given by Lancaster OPP.

At the request of the family, the identity of the person was withheld.

Hunter complaints

OPP are receiving numerous trespassing complaints as hunters take to the bush in search of deer.

No charges have been laid, said Const. Hugh McClements because either the hunters' motor vehicle licences were not reported or the complainants were neighbours.

McClements said police can't press charges against hunters who are spotted on a neighbour's property, it's at the owner's discretion.

401 crash injures two

Two Swiss travellers suffered minor injuries following a Nov. 10 rollover on Hwy 401.

Pierre Mauger was westbound when the 1997 Chev Lumina he was driving hit the shoulder, collided with the guard rail, re-entered the highway and rolled over.

Mauger and passenger Pascale Lefillatre were taken to Hopital Hotel-Dieu and released. The motor vehicle was demolished.

Robbery foiled

Lancaster OPP are looking for a suspect following an attempted robbery Nov. 9 at the B&X gas bar on Boundary Road.

The suspect, described as a five foot male with a slim build, was confronted by the gas bar operator and fled on foot.

Stolen van recovered

RCMP chased down and recovered a stolen van Nov. 7 that contained stolen property from three area residences.

Cathy Lynn Baker, 23, is charged with possession of stolen property. Baker will appear Dec. 3 at the Alexandria courthouse.

A male took flight after the RCMP stopped the vehicle. A warrant for his arrested has been issued.

Death threats uttered

One man has been charged with assault causing bodily harm and uttering death threats following a Lancaster Township residence disturbance.

Lancaster OPP responded to the residence where two brothers were involved. The identities have been withheld to protect the victim.

Break and enter

A Martintown area residence was broken into Nov. 9 sometime between 4:30-6:30 p.m.

The culprits entered through the north-side patio door and took $4,500 worth of property, including a CD player, cassette deck, Motorola cellular phone, an IBM clone personal computer, a Sega Genesis, a satellite receiver, VCR and some U.S. change.

Lancaster police are investigating. There are no suspects.

Backhoe stolen

An $80,000 backhoe was stolen sometime between Nov. 7-10 from the corner of Hwy 34 and Laggan Road.

The backhoe is a 1995 4x4, yellow CASE with an extended backhoe. OPP are investigating.

Que. police nab suspect

Alexandria police have arrested a break and enter and theft suspect after co-operation with the Surete du Quebec.

The Alexandria Bowling Lanes had been broken into during the night of Nov. 3. Some cigarettes and a large amount of cash was taken.

Surete du Quebec apprehended a suspect in South Bolton, Que. after a request by Alexandria police. Cigarettes and some of the cash was recovered.

Alexandria police recovered the remaining cigarettes at a Bishop Street residence.

Robin Clifford, 18, of no fixed address, is to appear in Alexandria court to face charges of break, enter and theft.

A 15-year-old youth has also been charged.

Library Friends select new logo

Patrons of Dalkeith Public Library celebrated library week with the unveiling of a new logo.

Noreen Christie of Mack's Corners submitted the winning entry.

The logo will be used by the Friends of the Dalkeith Library.

The "Friends" is a non-profit group committed to supporting the library.

One of the best examples of Friends' involvement is the recent renovation of the Dalkeith Library.

The group does not have plans for any immediate projects said president Phyllis Noble.

During the last couple of years, provincial funding has dried up, making libraries more dependent on municipal budget allocations.

The Dalkeith Friends are holding a membership drive at $20 per person. Memberships will be valid until Dec. 31, 1998.

During Library Week, libraries showcase specials section unique to that location.

Alexandria Public Library, for example, has two new sections - one featuring classic and established authors, the other on career planning.

Dalkeith has a large collection of books on genealogy and Lochiel history.

Election night was exciting in South End

WILLIAMSTOWN

SUE HARRINGTON
347-2279

So. Anyone win on the election sweepstakes? All your "x"s in exactly the right places? If so, let me know. Better still, let council know — might be good for a few political favours in the future.

The scene at the recreation centre on Monday night was reminiscent of the good old days when crowds gathered to wait for the tally. It was a social event: candidates gnawing on the insides of their lips, chewing their hang nails, or just plain pacing; spouses and families of same, with pencils at the ready to do the totalling; friends of candidates there to buoy and shore up —just in case; talk of parties, "win or lose;" retired politicians who just couldn't stay away. And then, of course, there were the also-theres: local municipal politics groupies and newspaper correspondents made redundant by amalgamation.

The feeling is, hereabouts, that the election process in South Glengarry has created a good balance. Instead of a lopsided council weighted in the more populous southwest end, the geographic distribution is even,with Bainsville, Tyotown/Glen Walter, Williamstown, Green Valley and Lancaster all represented.

Congratulations to all who participated, and especially to our winners.

A few bits of election colour now. One poll reported — before the election got underway — that the ballot box had already been stuffed. The DRO had apparently left the box (which was covered with the cardboard voting booth) on her kitchen table for a moment before leaving for her polling station. She returned to find the cardboard covering flung aside and a large purring ballot sleeping inside.

Did you know that among our various boards of education, a new one cropped up during the election on Monday? Not content with just the English public, the English separate, the French separate, or the French public, voters at one it-shall-not-be-named polling station, were asked (in the late hours of the day), if they were supporters of the "pepper" board!

* * *

Voters are certainly creative in the ways they spoil ballot and so is the government in the way it sorts them. There are almost as many different categories of "spoiled" as there are shades of pantyhose. And an equal number of envelopes in which to place them!

* * *

Special thanks in this election must go to the local lady in charge, Marilyn LeBrun, who dealt with an unfathomable volume of work in such a pleasant, unflappable manner, and to Joan Cashion, who, in her capacity as poll clerk, saved the day for one crazed election official

Other things have been happening around and about this week, but elections seem to wipe out all knowledge of the sweet herebefore.

The book/bake sale at the Manor House was a resounding success, with $711 being raised during the four-hour event — enough for a least one major appliance for the kitchen of the house. The kitchen is the latest room to be rescued and is now sparkling clean and functional and has water and all.

In the weeks prior to the sale, organizers were calling for donations of books. Guess what they are looking for now?

Anyone (a group perhaps) who likes Harlequin romances is welcome to a box of them. Simply call 347-2356 weekdays (8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m) to arrange pick-up.

The Manor House committee would like to thank all of you who brought baking and/or books and/or bought baking and/or books. There were lots of ways to support this event and, by gummy, you did!

Lots of us spend our lives thinking about how much we would rather be doing something other than what we do, day after day. But how many of us actually do something about it?

Count Michael MacDougall as a doer, not just a dreamer. Mike recently gave up his job and has headed off to South Africa, where he is presently visiting friends who live near Botswana on the edge of the sands of the Kalahari. Could be the start of a whole new adventure

The harvest will be reaped this Saturday Nov. 15, as the Char-Lan Foodgrains Bank cashes in on another season of aid for the less advantaged of the earth.

Observers are welcome to come and witness the actual harvesting which is set to start at 10 a.m. in Lancaster Township, opposite the S. J. McLeod Public School.

Dedication of the crop will take place at 1 p.m. at Munro Agromart in Lancaster

Still hankering for more political chit-chat? Today (Wednesday) you have another chance. MP Bob Kilger will be at the arena from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. to listen to, and talk with, constituents.

Just hope you read the News first thing.

Same day, same time, different place. Flu-shots will be given at the arena tomorrow (Nov. 13), from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., instead of at the high school.

The Eastern Ontario Health Unit is organizing this clinic which is open to all local residents.

A time-honoured tradition for ladies of all ages (and more recently for men) takes place this Saturday, (Nov. 15), at St. Mary's Hall. It's the Ladies Guild's annual Christmas tea and bake and craft sale, and you are all welcome to attend.

I was saddened to learn of the sudden passing on Sunday of Ileen Latreille, formerly of Williamstown.

For many years, Ileen kept me posted on all the goings-on of the Friendly Neighbours' Club, and I appreciated her calls. She gave concise, accurate reports, and always knew the correct spelling of everyone's name.

Her volunteer work in the community consumed many hours of her day, and she did it without seeking recognition or recompense. She will be missed by many.

An unconventional vacation to Australia was explained and explored, as the Green Thumb Horticultural Society met recently to hear Ross Conners talk about the trip he and wife, Dorothea, took down under.

It was the men's turn to provide refreshments at the meeting and Gordon Kelly, Sonny Petrie, William Cowling, Wes Millar and Les Wert, did such a great job that the ladies are thinking of hiring them to do so for life.

Or so I'm told.

Snow removal deal reached

Snow removal

Maxville Council has signed an agreement with Gilles Sarault of Fournier for snow removal until Dec. 31, 1997 and, if approved by North Glengarry council, until April 30, 1998.

Sarault will also be responsible for clearing certain sidewalks and has agreed to commence his work at 5 a.m. after snow storms. His rates will remain the same as in the 1996-97 contract.

Temporary appointments

Since the dissolution of the Maxville and District Sports Complex Board, Maxville Council has been in charge of its operations. Since the function of council will be limited after the municipal election, at an earlier meeting, two staff appointments were made that will be in effect until Dec. 31, 1997. With no change in salary, Clerk Connie Charbonneau is now the manager of the Complex and Carol Ann Scott the staff supervisor.

Rose Garden Workshop hopes to meet craft demand

Hot on the heels of a successful two-day craft show comes the Rose Garden Workshop.

The new craft business is set to officially open its doors this weekend and those who enjoyed the craft show Nov. 1 and 2 at the Bonnie Glen aren't likely to be disappointed.

"You're going to find fine handcrafted pine furniture," said Eric Sinden, who organized the craft show and owns Rose Garden Manufacturing along with his wife Christina, partner Rene Goulet and his wife Brenda. Christina and Brenda will operate the new business at 25 Main St. N, Alexandria.

As well as top-quality handcrafted pine items, supplies (featuring the Stockade brand) and the works of other crafters will be available.

Sinden and his partner have been turning out quality pine items at Rose Garden Manufacturing for some time but kept running into the same difficulty - nowhere to show the products off.

The idea for the new store has been in the works for about a year now.

In addition to pine items and craft supplies, staff at the store can also arrange for wooden floors and mouldings to be installed as well as Victorian screen doors.

"It's actually quite a variety of wood proudcts and crafts," said Sinden.

Sinden would like to expand the business to other small towns in Eastern Ontario buts added that's a couple of years away.

If the craft show, however, is any indication, it could be sooner.

Sinden said the two-day event was a huge success with 35 crafters taking part and recording impressive sales.

Some of those with displays had to restock several times.

"We knew right away the demand was there," said Sinden.

He added that 825 cards for a prize drawing were received and those were only completed by individuals who purchased items.

The success has led Sinden to consider another show.

CRAFTY -- Rose Garden Workship co-owners Brenda Goulet and Christina Sinden were all smiles at the recent craft show at the Bonnie Glen. They should be smiling even more this weekend when their Main Street, Alexandria business opens.

Rebels goalie Jason Pilon turned away Pierre Lafrance of the Buckingham Voisins on this breakaway on Saturday. The visiting Voisins still won the game 4-3.

Buckingham squeezes by Rebels

By J.L. Lefebvre
Sports editor

The Char-Lan Rebels are in every game they play, but their chances of winning on most nights is only about 50-50.

The junior B hockey club's record (8-7-1) is hovering around the .500 mark 16 games into the season, but the Rebels could be breathing down the Alexandria Glens' necks for first place in the St. Lawrence Division with a few key goals along the way.

All seven of Char-Lan's losses this season have been by one goal or – in two cases – by two goals because the opponents scored into an empty net.

One of those close losses came on Saturday at the Charlottenburgh Recreation as the Rebels lost 4-3 to the Buckingham Voisins.

Danny Bissonnette's second goal of the game at the 4:32 mark of the third period turned out to be the game-winner.

Ghyslain D'Aoust and Sylvain Lanthier also scored for Buckingham.

The Rebels got two goals by Tim O'Shea and one by Mike Rankin.

Despite the loss, Rebels head coach Jeff Carter was pleased with the effort.

"I thought we played very well, especially considering we were shorthanded and dressed only nine forwards," said Carter.

"Buckingham wasn't overly powerful, but they're strong on the blue line and they have some good goaltending," he commented. "They play an aggressive game and they definitely have some size."

As for the string of close losses, Carter thinks it's just a matter of capitalizing on scoring chances.

"We've outshout the other team in quite a few of those losses. We just have to start putting the puck in the net a little more and maybe we'll be on the other side of those one-goal games," he said.

Rebs win at South Ottawa

The Rebels played a rare Thursday game in Canterbury against the South Ottawa Canadians last week and came away with a 3-1 victory.

An early second period goal by Jean Greggain snapped a 1-1 tie and held up as the game-winner.

Tim O'Shea and Eric Fontaine had the other Char-Lan goals. Kevin O'Farrell had two assists.

Casey Scobie scored for the Canadians.

Rebels notes: The Rebels were without Jean Greggain (suspension), Chris Corput (ankle injury) and Mike Duffy (back strain) on Saturday. Greggain still has two games to serve on his three-game sentence for a match penalty against South Ottawa... The Rebels have released forward Chris Roy... Charlie Gurant, a defenceman, is expected to join the team this week. Gurant has played some junior B hockey with Kemptville... Coach Jeff Carter has created a bit of a Shamrock Line by uniting wingers Kevin O'Farrell and Tim O'Shea. Perhaps the line's centreman would consider changing his name to Eric O'Fontaine... The Rebels play in Westport on Friday and host South Grenville on Saturday.

Glens' streak dies at nine

The Ottawa West Golden Knights were the culprits as the Alexandria Glens' nine-game undefeated streak came to an end on Friday night at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

Ottawa West jumped out to a 4-0 lead and the Glens couldn't completely recover as the visitors hung on for a 5-3 victory.

Golden Knights captain Mike Murphy salted the game away with his second goal of the game late in the third period.

Mathieu Blake also scored twice for Ottawa West while Shane Journay had a single.

The Menard Brothers – Simon and Marc – each scored once for Alexandria as did Nicolas Besner.

Glens goalie Sebastien Laplante loses his first junior B outing of the season despite making 39 stops. Laplante rejoined the Glens last week after starting the 1997-98 campaign with the Hawkesbury Jr. A Hawks.

Friday's game featured only one penalty call by referee Scott Ferguson – a high-sticking minor assessed to Ottawa West's Ryan McAllister late in the first period.

Glens bounce back vs. Beavers

The Glens hope they started another streak on Sunday as they defeated the Clarence Creek Beavers 5-2.

Sebastien Laplante was named first star for his 43-save performance while Nicolas Besner led the offence with a goal and two assists.

Scott Nielsen, Stephane Loyer, Patrick Burroughs and Ghislain Valade also scored for the Glens. Kurt MacSweyn had two assists.

Christian Brunet and Sylvain Legault scored for the Beavers.

Glens notes: Not only was Alexandria undefeated during its nine games prior to Friday's date with Ottawa West (7-0-2), but the Glens also garnered the maximum total of 18 points thanks to shootout victories in the two ties... While one streak dies, another lives on. The Glens are unbeaten in their last seven road games after Sunday's win against the Beavers... The season is over for forward Cameron Lajoie. Lajoie had been told to give up contact sports by a neurologist because of repeated concussions and lingering symptoms. Lajoie is still hoping to resume his hockey career after taking a year off and will see another specialist for a second opinion... There was a Travis Young sighting last week. The defenceman attended Friday's game and is expected to skate at tonight's practice. Young has been rumoured to be on his way back to Alexandria for the last month... Injured defenceman Steve St. Denis will try to test his ankle tonight at practice... The return of Sebastien Laplante gives the Glens three goaltenders, but that situation may not last for long. Alexandria may wind up dealing one of the netminders... The Gananoque Islanders will be the visitors at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Friday. The Glens are in Athens on Sunday to face the Aeros, who occupy the Rideau Division cellar.

Status of soccer finals is uncertain

Despite a two-week delay because of the province-wide teachers' strike, an attempt is being made to salvage the boys' high school soccer season.

Some complications have arisen with the re-scheduling of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry league post-season.

The playoffs were originally rescheduled for Friday, but some school administrators expressed opposition to the idea of having student-athletes miss a full day of classes after the two-week layoff due to the teachers' strike.

Suggestions have been made about holding the semifinals and finals on separate days after school hours, but nothing had been finalized as of Tuesday. The unpredictable November weather also becomes a major factor in the equation.

The playoff tournament had originally been scheduled for Oct. 27, which turned out to be the first day of the strike.

Even if the SDG tournament is held, the Eastern Ontario championships – also scheduled for the fall – have been postponed until next spring.

The Glengarry Gaels head into tournament as the favorite in both the senior and junior divisions. At least, they carry the title of regular-season champions.

The senior Gaels (7-1) will play the Patriotes of La Citadelle (5-2-1) in the semifinal round.

The Pats were the only team to defeat Glengarry during the regular season.

The other semifinal features the second-place CCVS Golden Raiders (6-1-1) and the third-place Tagwi Warriors (5-2-1).

Junior division

The Glengarry juniors (6-0-2) will take on county archrivals Char-Lan (5-2-1) in a semifinal contest. The Gaels edged the Crusaders by a single goal during the regular season.

The other semifinal pits the St. Joseph's Panthers (4-0-4) against the St. Lawrence Saints (6-1-1).

Notes: The status of other high school sports was also uncertain as of press time. The boys' volleyball and girls' basketball seasons still had a handful of regular-season games remaining when the strike started.

Poirier's and Lady Raiders march on

Alexandria native Lisa Poirier played a key role in leading the Lindsey Wilson College Lady Raiders to the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference women's soccer championship.

Midfielder Poirier – who had a bout with mononucleosis earlier in the season – scored both goals in the Lady Raiders' 2-0 semifinal victory over Spalding University on Wednesday.

"Lisa's getting better as the year goes along," said Raiders coach Ken Hefner after the semifinal victory. "The mono) set her back a lot, but she's just now hitting stride."

Lindsey Wilson won the KIAC title by defeating archrival Midway 2-0 two days later.

Poirier, who is in her third year at the Columbia, Kentucky school, was one of six Lindsey Wilson players named to the all-conference team.

The Lady Raiders advance to the NAIA Mid-South Regional Tournament, which will be held in San Antonio, Texas on Friday.

Lindsey Wilson – ranked 13th in the country – will face ninth-ranked Berry College (Georgia) in the semifinals with the winner facing either Cumberland College or Tennessee Wesleyan in the regional championship game.

The regional titleist will go on to the NAIA national championship tournament.

Wheeler a wall against Cornwall

Four different players contributed goals as the Cornwall Kinsmen midget girls' hockey team defeated the Cornwall senior A club 4-0 on Sunday.

Cassie Depratto, Melanie Prince, Jennifer Pelkey and Beth Depratto were the Kinsmen scorers.

Leigh Ann Wheeler was in nets for the shutout.

On Saturday, the Cornwall midgets lost 5-2 to the Brockville AAA squad.

Crissy Mithcell and Beth Depratto scored in a losing cause.

•The Cornwall midgets managed only a tie in a pair of games against Ottawa-based teams the previous week.

Cornwall tied the Ottawa midget AA's 0-0 as Caroline Hare picked up the shutout.

On Nov. 2 in Alexandria, the Kinsmen dropped a 5-1 decision to the Ottawa bantams.

Jennifer Pelkey scored the only Cornwall goal.

Diotte posts shutout for bantam Glens

Sylvain Diotte was flawless between the pipes as the Alexandria Auto Glass Bantam Glens defeated Cornwall 6-0 in an Upper Canada Minor Hockey League game at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday.

Joel Quesnel paced the offence with two goals while Eric Nielsen, Rory McLeod, Andrew McIntyre and Jean-François Menard each scored once.

Jason Vickers had two assists.

On Saturday in Alexandria, Eric Nielsen had two goals and two assists as the Glens beat the North Glengarry-Stormont Braves 7-1.

Scott MacLeod, Rory McLeod, Blair McMillan, Joel Quesnel and Alexandre Menard also scored.

Jean-François Menard and Jason Vickers each set up two goals.

The bantam Glens started a successful week by winning 5-2 in Kemptville on Thursday,

Joel Quesnel and Eric Nielsen each scored twice for Alexandria.

Jeff Lobb chipped in with a single goal.

Selects beat novice Glens

The Maggie's Bar-B-Q Novice Glens dropped a 3-2 decision to the South Stormont Selects at the Billy Gebbie Arena on Sunday afternoon.

The Selects led 2-0 after the first two periods and hung on for the victory despite being outscored 2-1 in the third frame.

Julien Delorme and Patrick Delorme were the Alexandria goalscorers.

CLISL newcomers are in the "Zone"

One of the new franchises in the Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League is proving to be one of the best. Not to mention, most explosive.

The Zone won by a blowout score for a second consecutive week when the rookie team clobbered the Hellfish 9-0 at the Char-Lan high school gym on Monday night.

The Zone has scored 19 goals and allowed none in winning its first two games of the season.

Chad Beauregard led the offence with three goals while Shawn Montroy, Ben Pregent and Shawn McClements each scored twice.

•In another one-sided affair, Rudi Payer Sport rolled over the Nomads by a count of 8-1.

Derek Wereley netted five goals for Rudi's (2-0) while single markers were added by Jason Struthers, Garry Benson and Kris Wolochatiuk.

Leigh Thomson scored for the Nomads (1-1).

•Monday night's only close game saw the Glengarry Stars win their first game in three tries.

The Stars edged the Hellfish 4-3 in the first half of the Hellfish's doubleheader.

Toni Boos scored twice for the Stars with singles going to Craig MacSweyn and Tim McCuaig.

The Hellfish replied with two goals by Marc Legault and one by Normand Lacroix.

•Next week's slate of action starts off with the Stars facing the Nomads at 7 p.m.

Rudi's plays the Zone at 8 p.m. in a battle of the CLISL's only remaining undefeated teams. Rudi's also takes on the Hellfish at 9 p.m.

Drillers enter win column

Pasquale Mongillo scored a pair of goals to lead the Drillers to their first Glengarry Indoor Soccer League victory last Tuesday at the Glengarry high school gymnasium.

Martin Stadelmann, Luc Leblanc, Micheal MacDonald and Mattias Mader scored single goals as the rookie men's division franchise defeated Glen Nevis 6-3.

Glen Nevis, whose record falls to 0-3, got two goals from Marc Legault and one from Fred Oliveira.

•The Atlantic Express won its fourth straight game, beating the Bonnie Glen 3-0.

Jeff St. Denis, Scott McDougall and Leonard Pidgeon each scored once while the shutout was shared by Richard Willard and Mark Novosad.

The win gives the Express a two-point lead over the Atlantic Storm for first place in the men's division. The Storm has a game in hand.

MacSweyn nets four

The Springers got four goals from Tammy MacSweyn and shutout goaltending from Laura Urquhart in defeating M and D Sports 4-0 last Monday.

The win moves the Springers past Glen Sandfield and into third place in the women's division.

•Shepherd Sports continues to lead the division, stretching its record to 4-0 with a 7-0 win over Char-Lan on Wednesday.

Shepherd's exploded for six goals in the second half to break open a close game.

Melissa MacDonald's season goal total reached double figures as she scored four times.

MacDonald now has 10 goals for the season.

Margo McDonell of Char-Lan and Mandy Duval of Shepherd Sports battle for possession of the ball Wednesday.

Lee Tuppert, Jennilee Hamelin and Vanessa Van Sleeuewen each scored once while Sherry Duval was in goal fro the shutout.

•The Atlantic Hotel (3-0) kept pace with Shepherd's by beating Glen Sandfield 2-0 last Tuesday night.

Lisa MacDonald turned away every Glen Sandfield shot to record the shutout while Bridget Cameron and Meghan MacPherson provided the goals.

•Lori St. Denis and Tracy McNicol each scored twice to lead the Northerners to a 6-1 victory over Char-Lan on Wednesday.

Lori MacMaster and Mel Chartrand also scored for the winners while Tara McDonell replied for Char-Lan, which was playing its second game of the night.

Char-Lan midgets split games with Perth

The Char-Lan Midget Rebels have two wins and two losses to show for their last four Upper Canada Minor Hockey League games.

One of the victories was a 4-1 decision over the Perth Blue Wings, a team that had defeated the Rebels 4-3 in a previous meeting.

Chris Malyon scored twice in the rematch while Andrew Jarvo had a goal and two assists. Scott Johnston also scored.

In the first game against Perth, Johnston had two goals and an assist while linemate Steve Alguire had one goal and one assist.

Johnston, Alguire, Alain Bellemare and Chris Malyon had goals in Char-Lan's 4-3 victory over the North Dundas Demons.

Mike Gagne set up a pair of Rebel goals.

Char-Lan's other recent game was a 6-3 loss to the South Grenville Rangers in Prescott.

The Rebels led the 2-0, but the Rangers took control of the contest with five unanswered goals in the second period.

Josh Jodoin, Sylvain Matte and Luc Lapierre were the Char-Lan goalscorers.

The Rebels will be hosting a tournament this Sunday at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre in Williamstown.

Major peewees win once in Sudbury

The Seaway Valley Lally-Blanchard Major Peewee Rapids won one game in three tries at the Big Nickel minor hockey tournament in Sudbury last weekend.

The Rapids' lone win was a 7-3 decision over the Central Ontario Wolves on Oct. 31.

Peter Barnett and Pat Turcotte each scored twice with singles going to Mike Lauzon, Ranald Pecore and Nick Dasneves.

Seaway Valley lost its next two games to Toronto and Kitchener.

Steven Owens and Timothy Owens scored against Toronto while Dylan Graveley and Pat Turcotte had the goals in the loss to Kitchener.

Major bantams

The Cornwall Tire Major Bantam Rapids were also in Sudbury for the Big Nickel tournament and also managed one win in three games.

Jesse Kirady had a strong game between the pipes as the Rapids downed the Waterloo Marlins 3-1 in their final preliminary round game.

Luc Lanthier, Matt Verdone and Adam St. John scored.

The Rapids had been knocked out of playoff contention by losses to Whitby and North York.

Seaway lost 8-3 to Whitby despite holding an early 3-0 lead on goals by Matt Verdone, Mike King and Luc Lanthier.

Lanthier had scored twice in the Rapids' first game, a 4-3 loss to North York. Danny Lafave also scored in that game.

•In Ottawa District Minor Hockey Association league play, the major bantam Rapids blanked the Cumberland Barons 3-0.

Jeremy Leroux was in on all three goals as he scored twice and assisted once. B.J. Pelkey also scored while Adam Beehler had two assists.

Craig Helmer recorded his first shutout of the year.

Concert organizer inspired by youngster

By John Nelson
News Editor

For the fifth consecutive year, Audrey MacDonald is staging an Old Tyme Christmas Concert with proceeds going to a worthy cause.

This year, is no different with profits from the show - set for Nov. 15 - going to assist a five-year-old Dalkeith-area boy.

Julien-Andre Legault, as a baby, was diagnosed with Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable illness that causes a build up of mucus in the lungs.

The disease can be treated however and Julien is required to take up to 10 pills with every meal. In addition, he requires two 40-minute physiotherapy sessions each day.

"We were one of the lucky ones," says mom Martine Legault, explaining that because the illness was detected early the chances of successfully treating it are improved.

That treatment doesn't, however, mean mom or dad Denis Legault can relax.

"It can go very fast," explains Martine, who adds that Julien can be fine one moment but seriously ill and requiring hospitalization the next.

Julien also suffers from seizures - not related to cystic fibrosis - and is usually in a coma from 12 to 32 hours afterwards.

Martine recalls one of the first seizures. She was alone with her child and panic set in.

It was older brother Derick (about three at the time) to the rescue. He called another relative who realized the gravity of the situation and called in an ambulance.

Julien attends Laurier Carriere School in Glen Robertson now and is aided by a classroom assistant.

"I'm very sympathetic to a lot of causes," says MacDonald of why she organizes the Glen Robertson show and donates to charity.

BREATHING EASIER -- Julien-Andre Legault (centre) was the impetus behind Audrey MacDonald's decision to make the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation the beneficiary of this year's Christmas concert in Glen Robertson. Julien suffers from the disease and mom Martine (left) will be on hand to distribute information on the illness Saturday evening.

She met Martine and family at one of those shows and was immediately taken with their situation.

As a result information and a donation box will be available at the concert with proceeds earmarked for the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The organization offers support to families and sufferers of CF and conducts research towards finding a cure.

Martine points out that, fortunately, the costs of medication to treat CF is covered in Ontario.

"All the medication for CF kids is paid for," she says. That's quite a bill too as medication is required every time a meal or snack is taken.

As for the show itself, it begins the morning of Saturday, Nov. 15 with a craft show and bake sale - featuring local artisans - at 9:30 a.m.

At 8 p.m., the concert takes to the stage featuring traditional music and lots of laughter. There's even a rumour that the Jolly Old Gent - Santa Claus himself - will drop by at intermission.

When Julien's illness is not flaring, he acts much as other young boys. When the News visited, he was running and playing - and screaming loudly at times - like any other child.

"It's just like a normal life. It's a little bit like asthma," says Martine who explains that Julien runs out of breath a little sooner than other children might.

Martine, for the most part, remains calm about her son's situation and the extra work it entails.

"I have no choice," she says simply. "I have to do it. It's a lot of work but you have to - that's what keeps him going."

Still uncertainty and the stress of wondering when the next attack will occur take their toll.

"You never know," she says. "It's always a worry.

Anyone requiring further information about the Old Tyme Christmas Concert is encouraged to contact Audrey MacDonald at 525-3205.

Council approves snowmobile trail

By Dane Lanken
News Correspondent

Lochiel Township will allow an unopened road allowance to be used as a snowmobile trail.

Council decided, at a meeting last Tuesday, that the unopened extension of Cuthbert Road in the Third Concession would be maintained as a public road and not be offered for sale.

The decision permits the Glengarry Snowmobile Club to cut a trail of some 2,200 feet through thick bush that has grown up on the allowance - and dashes the hopes of neighbouring residents John and Carol Downing of buying the allowance and maintaining their "peace and quiet."

Lochiel clerk Ray Charbonneau said following the meeting that the township will ask the snowmobile club to put up gates at either end of the allowance in an effort to minimize summer use of the roadway as an all-terrain vehicle path or refuse dumping area.

However, ATV owners have already complained (in a letter to The Glengarry News) that they feel they have as much right to the roadway in the summer as snowmobilers do in winter.

The Downings appealed to council last month to purchase the road allowance, saying the trail would result in the wholesale destruction of the forest now growing there and "would have a significant negative impact on our security, quality of life and enjoyment of our property."

The proposed snowmobile trail runs within 40 yards of their residence.

Long awaited calendar ready

DUNVEGAN

PEGGI CALDER
527-5293

The long-awaited Kenyon Township calendar is now ready - and judging from initial reaction, supplies will be going fast.

A numbered collector's item, there were only 750 printed by the Kenyon Bicentennial Committee.

The calendar is a "slice of life" from Kenyon Township to celebrate its 200 years of existence. You may find your relatives (or even yourself) in one of the beautiful old pictures or in the dated "happenings" that were gleaned from the columns of Auld Lang Syne.

Copies can be ordered from Kenyon Township, R.R. 5, Alexandria, ON K0C 1J0. Or give them a call at 527-2090.

* * *

Last Saturday night, Allister and Eileen Campbell were treated to dinner out as their children and grandchildren gathered to celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary.

* * *

The fact that we are now in November and the nights have been seasonally cool has brought the annual appearance on our bed of a beautiful warm cosy old quilt that belonged to Bill's grandmother.

The pink-and-blue patchwork is beginning to tatter, exposing the heavy homespun woolen blanket that was used as the filler.

The excessive weight of the quilt has prompted Bill to name it 'the blasting mat' – after the heavy mats that are used to dampen explosive charges on construction sites!

Thank You to all those who voted and supported me in the Nov. 10 election.

Reasons for dairy farm inspections

BY ROGER POMMAINVILLE

Farm inspections is still a fairly major part of the work milk quality advisors do.

Inspections on dairy farms are usually triggered by a quality problem encountered by the producer, but other reasons can be involved, as well as routine calls. There are fewer staff in the field to do inspections than a few years back, but we are still expected to do routine inspections to make sure premises meet Grade A regulations standards as dictated by the Ontario Milk Act.

Quality problem: The Ontario Milk Act empowers milk quality advisors to inspect at any time, any premises where milk is produced. When a quality problem of any type exists on a farm, there is an added reason why an inspection may be necessary.

Our mandate, as a rule, is to visit dairy producers who have encountered quality penalties, even if a previous contact was made by telephone or letter. If the penalty involves antibiotics found in the producer's milk, a priority exists for an immediate visit.

Bacteria and freezing point penalties also infer some urgency as to when an inspection should be done. Somatic cell count penalties also imply some urgency but not as a priority.

Renovations on premises: By regulations, we have to make an inspection on any farm where renovations were done and this before milk is produced in the new premises. This applies mostly for a new barn, but it also warrants a visit if a new bulk tank is installed, new equipment or major renovations to the milking area. The producer is responsible for notifying us in advance of the expected date when milk will be produced with the new equipment or in the new premises.

The reason for this inspection is to make sure the farm premises still meet Grade A standards as set by the Ontario Milk Act (every farm should meet Grade A standards every day of the year).

It is possible that one or more of the 36 major items to get a Grade A status are not met with the changes which were made. In that instance, a certain period of time is given for the producer to meet the required standards. On the subsequent visit, if the producer still has not met the standards, a Non A penalty applies.

In Memoriam

LALONDE – In loving memory of a dear husband, Bid, who passed away Nov. 13, 1992.
The month of November comes with regret
It brings back memories I can't forget
I watched you suffer, I heard you sigh
All I could do was just stand by
All through this time I suffered too
You never deserved what you went through
Although I smile and seem carefree
Nobody misses you more than me.
– Love Pearle. 45-1p

TAILLEFER – In memory of a dear father and grandfather, Roger Taillefer, who passed away Nov. 18, 1992.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory, sad and true

Of two who think of you.

CLASS ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT FOR THE PROVISION OF A COMMUNAL WATER AND WASTEWATER SYSTEM FOR THE GREATER LANCASTER AREA

PUBLIC COMMENT INVITED

The Greater Lancaster Area includes the Village of Lancaster and developments in the Township of Charlottenburgh and the Township of Lancaster. It encompasses all of the land south of Highway 401 from the Lancaster Inn in the Township of Charlottenburgh, east to Ammandale Bay in the Township of Lancaster and all of the property within and adjacent to the Village boundary.

Alternatives for improvements to the existing water and wastewater systems in the Study Area were identified and evaluated following the procedures set down in the Class Environmental Assessment for Municipal Water and Wastewater Projects. Based on this evaluation and comments from the Public, the recommended alternatives are:

• Construct a new water treatment plant in the vicinity of Faulkner's Point and install a water distribution system to provide municipal water supply to all residents.

• Rehabilitate the Village sewage collection system and install a new sewage collection system in the Study Area to convey sewage to the existing lagoons which have been enhanced to provide additional treatment.

Alternative designs and implementation plans are now being evaluated and input is required from the public and interested parties.

A Project Information Package will be available at the Township Offices on November 10 to provide further information on the proposals. An Open House and Public Meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 18, 1997 to receive input and comment from interested persons.

Open House 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.
Public Meeting 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.
St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall,
Church Street, South Lancaster

Project materials will be available at the Open House for review and project staff from the Communities, the Ontario Clean Water Agency and Totten Sims Hubicki Associates, consultant for the project, will be available to provide additional information. A brief presentation will be made at 7:00 p.m. by the Consultant, followed by a Question and Answer Session.

Following the Public Meeting, further comments are invited for incorporation into the planning and design of the project, and will be received until December 12. Please submit the questionnaire provided at the meeting or provide your comments, in writing, to your municipal office at the address below.

For additional information, please contact Mr. Bob Dunn, P.Eng., Project Manager, Totten Sims Hubicki Associates, 240 Terence Matthews Crescent, Kanata, Ontario, K2M 2C4. Telephone (613) 592-7070.

Subject to comments received as a result of this Notice, the Councils plan to instruct the Consultants to proceed with the planning for this project and an Environmental Study Report will be prepared and placed on the Public Record.

This notice first issued November 5, 1997.

NOTICE OF THE PASSING OF A ZONING BYLAW BY THE TOWNSHIP OF LOCHIEL

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lochiel passed Bylaw No. 468-97 on the 4th day of November, 1997, under Section 34 of the Planning Act, as amended.

AND TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Section 34 (19) of the Planning Act, as amended, any person or public body may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the Bylaw by filing with the Clerk of the Township of Lochiel not later than the 27th day of November, 1997, a notice of appeal setting out the objection to the Bylaw and the reasons in support of the objection, accompanied by the fee required by the Ontario Municipal Board ($125.00 payable to the Minister of Finance of Ontario).

Only individuals, corporations and public bodies may appeal a Zoning Bylaw to the Ontario Municipal Board. A notice of appeal may not be filed by an unincorporated association or group. However, a notice of appeal may be filed in the name of an individual who is a member of the association or group.

The land affected by this Bylaw is not currently the subject of an Official Plan amendment.

An explanation of the Purpose and effect of the Bylaw and a key map showing the location of the lands to which the bylaw applies (or alternatively, an explanation as to why a key map is not provided) are included.

The purpose of this amendment is to rezone a parcel of land consisting of approximately 3.6 hectares (9 acres), which has an existing four storey structure situated thereon. The structure, which is being utilized as a monastery, is located in Part of the East Half of Lot 36, concession II, in the Township of Lochiel and is being rezoned from "Residential - First Density - holding (R1-h)" to "Institutional (I)" in order to permit the parcel to be utilized for institutional uses including a monastery, a place for retreat and meditation.

The complete bylaw is available for inspection in my office during regular office hours.

DATED at the Township of Lochiel this 4th day of November, 1997.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Increased awareness of family services goal of info display

Local services for children are available - if only people knew about them.

That's part of the reason Linda Lapointe will be set up with an information table at the Alexandria Loeb this Saturday.

Lapointe, who operates a home day care said the table was being set up to coincide with the National Week of the Child, set to go Nov. 17 to 21.

"There's a lot of services out there but they're just not used," she said Nov. 6.

Lapointe set up an information table at the same location last year and the reaction from most visitors was surprise.

Many were not expecting to see the table but perhaps the biggest suprise was in the number of services available.

Lapointe said that despite cuts at all levels of government, local child services have not greatly suffered.

"Pretty much the same," she said when asked to compare services now to those of a couple of years ago but added "We could use more."

She praised local politicians for their commitment to child services but said one area for improvement would be outdoor recreation activities.

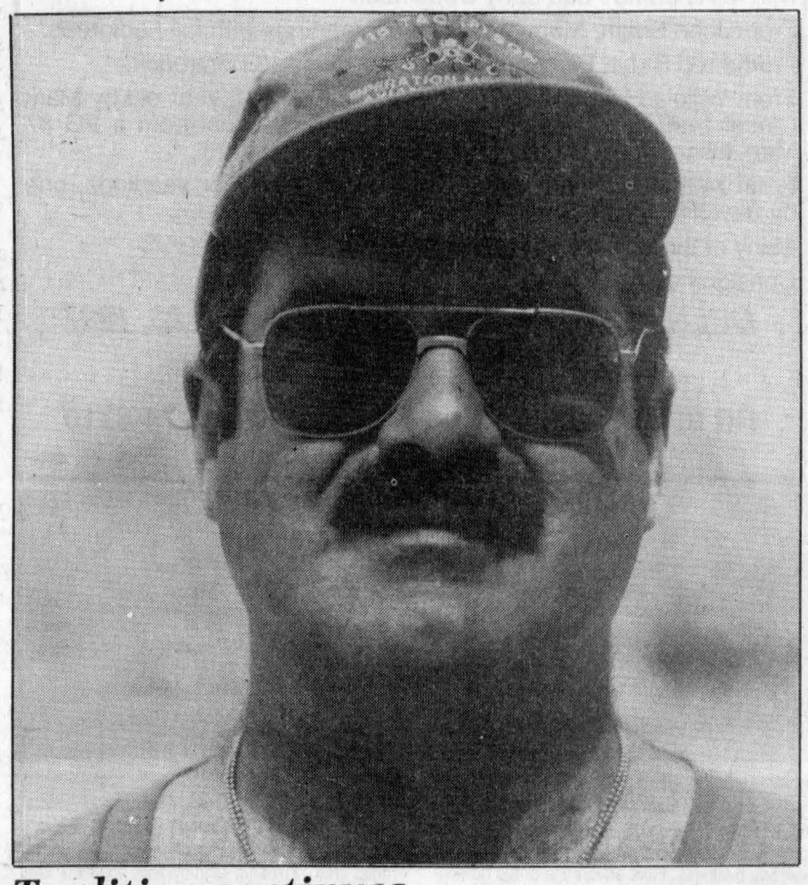
The information table will be set up at Loeb's from 1-4 p.m. Nov. 15.

Lapointe is hoping many area residents will visit and familiarize themselves with services available locally.

As well, she is encouraging everyone to wear a royal blue ribbon during National Child Week in order to help raise awareness.

The information table is supported by a number of organizations and businesses.

Several local family-oriented businesses have donated prizes to be drawn during the presentation.



Tradition continues

The local tradition of service to country continues with Cpl. Don MacDonald, 35, of Alexandria. MacDonald is a CF-18 technician from 416 Tactical Fighter Squadron, based in Cold Lake, Alta and deployed to Aviano Air Base in Italy in support of NATO's Stabilization Force in Bosnia-Herzgovenia. The Canadian contingent is helping to monitor the no-fly zone over Bosnia-Herzgovenia and to provide protection for NATO ground forces, including a Canadian infantry battalion. The Canadians left Cold Lake in August and will be overseas until mid-November.

Harvesting wet corn

By Gilles Quesnel, Soil and Crop Advisor, OMAFRA, Avonmore

After a tough growing season, the Eastern Ontario corn crop got a tremendous boost from the near perfect weather conditions in October. The warm, windy and dry conditions in October did a good job in drying the corn crop and reducing the need for artificial drying.

The dry weather also reduced the risk of ear-mold development in the corn crop.

However, a number of corn fields on the heavier soils never fully recovered from the uneven germination last spring. Some of the fields were hit by frost before they had a chance to mature, resulting in some growers having to handle wet, immature corn at harvest. The greatest concerns at this time are drying costs and corn quality.

Grain moisture in the immature crop is still in the 25 to 40 per cent range. As we move further into November, the potential for good drying weather decreases. Also, the risk of field and harvest losses increases as stalk quality drops and the chance of snowfall increases. At this point, potential yield decline is probably greater than the savings in drying costs. Given this scenario, there is little reason to delay harvest if the cobs can be shelled without causing excessive damage to the kernels.

Grain corn harvested at relatively high moisture levels usually contain a high percentage of broken kernels and fines which can lead to dryer inefficiencies and storage problems. Fines can be kept to a minimum by setting the combine for maximum cleaning and by using a grain cleaner when unloading.

Immature grain corn usually has a low bushel weight. Although bushel weight usually increases when grain corn is dried, it is not always the case with immature grain corn. When drying immature corn, keeping the temperature and drying rate down will give you the best bushel weight possible and reduce the number of cracked or darkened kernels in the sample.

If the cobs cannot be shelled without causing significant kernel damage, the best alternative may be to delay harvest until the grain is frozen. Spring harvest is an option for immature corn, however the risk of crop loss through the winter is high and spring harvest often interferes with the next years cropping program. Fields considered for spring harvest should first be checked for standability.

High moisture grain corn is another option for immature corn. Wet grain corn up to 40 per cent moisture will ensile and ferment properly. If permanent storage is not available, corn can be rolled or processed and stored in an Ag bag.

WONDERWORD

HOW TO PLAY: First read the list of words, then look at the puzzle. The words are in all directions — vertically, horizontally, diagonally, backward. Circle each letter of a word found and strike it off the list. The letters are often used more than once, so do not cross them out. It is best to find the big words first. When you find all the words listed in the clues, you'll have a number of letters left over that spell the Wonderword.

UCW hold regular monthly meeting

GLEN SANDFIELD

LORNA CHAPMAN
874-2408

Worship services for Sunday, Nov. 16 will take place at 10 a.m. in Glen Sandfield United Church and at 11 a.m. in East Hawkesbury United Church.

Congratulations to two Brodie Road families on the safe delivery of their new baby daughters. To Joanne and John MacPherson and to Carol and Kevin Nixon, our very best wishes for good health and much happiness go out to you and your little ones.

The members of the Glen Sandfield United Church Women met on Nov. 4 at the home of Margery McCaskill for a regular monthly meeting. The two program leaders, Eleanor Bickerstaff and Christina MacLachlan, drew their two poignant meditations from a veteran's magazine. The true stories were related by former servicemen about their experiences at the front. They were both asked what did they remember or think about during the minute of silence we observe on Remembrance Day.

One story told about attending a graveside service, with full honors, for an officer who had died in the line of duty. This young chap was in a large deserted stone building when the officer entered carrying a cardboard box. He began pounding on it to get it open. When questioned he replied that it was a land mine that his superior wanted dismantled so that the young men in the unit could examine its construction. Our young soldier went to help by holding the box.

Another officer ran by and ordered him to come and help distribute the cigarettes to the men who were waiting in the rain out on the parade ground and he left at once. He hadn't given out more than several rations when the building blew up with a tremendous blast, sending smoke, chunks of stone and cement everywhere.

The officer, who had been working on the land mine, was killed instantly. The funeral was complete with gunners, a band, buglers, a flag party and the chaplin.

At the end of the ceremony, the young soldier noticed two bedraggled soldiers standing near an open grave beside a body on a stretcher, which was wrapped in a grey army blanket. They both had tears running down their faces.

He spoke to them and asked what was wrong and they told him that they were awaiting the rabbi to bury their buddy and he was one hour late. The commanding officer, learning of their plight, commandeered the men who had been on hand for the officer's ceremony. The padre offered to officiate for their friends funeral but at the last minute, the rabbi finally arrived. The boy was buried with full honors, which he certainly deserved.

The old soldiers have much to think about during the one minute silence each November. There are many such stories of heart-breaking memories, which could be related by our veterans and we can well understand why they might want to just keep silent and not relive those times of sadness and loss. The group was invited to share their memories of loved ones lost during the war.

Bessie MacLennan, at the piano, accompanied the singing of the two hymns. Following the UCW Member's Purpose the business was opened by Lorna Chapman with the reading of the minutes of the two October meetings. Margo MacRae gave her financial report and several revisions were put into effect during the setting up of the annual budget plan.

The Christmas gift list was reorganized, as several recipients have passed away. The Christmas luncheon will be held at the home of Gail Kronwald on Tuesday, Dec. 9 at 12:30 p.m.

The menu was discussed and the members agreed on the dishes they were allotted for the meal. Correspondence consisted of the poster for the 1997 church calendar and several brochures about the program resource material. The meeting adjourned and a social hour followed.

Everyone is invited to attend a series of sessions dealing with Celtic Christianity which will be held at the Round Church in Dalhousie Mills.

The three evening meetings will take place, firstly, on Sunday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. with David Anderson speaking on The Footsteps of St. Colomba and the Glengarry Gaelic Choir will sing.

The second meeting will be held on Thursday, Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. when Ten McNaughton and Carolyn Byers will speak on Present Day Iona In Scotland.

On Thursday, Nov. 27, the last session will be held at at 7:30 p.m. and Mackie Robertson will speak on Nature and Celtic Christianity and Ken McKenna will address the tradition of Celtic music.

Cystic Fibrosis Foundation this year's chosen charity at show

GLEN ROBERTSON

COLETTE SAUVÉ
874-2076

The Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is this year's chosen charity at Audrey (Johnson) MacDonald's craft show, bake sale and concert and Julien Legault is the focus.

Denis and Martine Legault of Brodie Corners have two lovely sons; Derick and Julien. Unfortunately, little Julien suffers from cystic fibrosis.

"I'm delighted," Audrey says, "to have been able to organize this event with a local child in mind and hope that it will give people an opportunity to learn something about this disease with pamphlets, brochures, etc., distributed at a table by Martine Legault. She's a busy and very dedicated mother and can certainly answer any questions you might have about this sickness."

The event will be held at the Laurier-Carrière school in Glen Robertson this coming Saturday, Nov. 15. Doors open at 9:30 a.m. with a free cup of coffee to greet you!

The many talented artisans will be displaying crafts of all types and the bake tables will be tempting as usual! Throughout the day, and up to 4:30 p.m., there will be plenty to see and do!

One drawing attraction will be a clairvoyant!! Beatrice has an exceptional ability to look into your future and will be donating her time (with a minimum charge of $5.00 per person) to this special Cystic Fibrosis cause.

The spirit of Christmas will come alive at 8 p.m. when Audrey hosts her "Old Tyme Christmas Concert". She has once again gathered children and adults from the surrounding area to perform and Santa never ever forgets to drop in.

It's Audrey's last year to organize this event. So, please make an effort to join in on the fun and worthy cause.

Our Patron Saint

A novena to St. Martin of Tours ended on Tuesday, in the parish with a special mass since Nov. 11 is the saint's birthday.

St. Martin of Tours was born in 315 in Pannonia (now Hungary) of pagan parents. A soldier in the Roman army, he had a conversion at 22 years old.

In the year 360, he founded the first monastery in Gaul at Liguge near Poitiers. After 11 years of monastic life, Saint Martin reluctantly agreed to become the bishop of Tours in 371.

The new pastor worked to awaken religious vocations, and soon founded the great monastery called the "Marmoutier". He undertook the evangelization of Touraine, Berry, Auvergne, and even Paris. His preaching was such that he rarely left a place without having established a fervent and active parish.

He died at Candes, near Tours, Nov. 8, 397, surrounded by a great number of his disciples who had gathered at his bedside. St. Martin is one of the most popular saints in France. Devotion to him has increased so that today more than 500 villages and 4,000 parishes are under his patronage, notably the church in Glen Robertson!!

Road allowance creates controversy

The Maxville Village Council meeting was held one week early, on Nov. 4, in order to conduct monthly business prior to the Nov. 10 election.

The greater part of the meeting was used to try to settle two issues at the Fox Hill subdivision.

One concerned a perceived road allowance at the east end of the crescent and the other was the refusal of a building permit to Dale Munro.

Gordon Campbell, owner of Cozy Hill Developments, was at the meeting as was Allan MacEwen. Campbell is paying taxes on lots 12 and 13, which are being used as a road allowance. Campbell doesn't want the allowance there.

MacEwen indicated he uses the allowance as a limited access to the airport beyond and that it has an underground cable to supply hydro to the airport.

He therefore asked that the original subdivision agreement be honoured.

Dorothy Irvine, bylaw enforcement officer and building inspector, outlined the history of the subdivision, and indicated the lots had never been conveyed to the Township of Kenyon and, therefore, Maxville did not get them with the June 1997 annexation.

Irvine also explained that a representative of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs had stated this was a problem between Campbell and MacEwen.

After much discussion and the parties had withdrawn, council passed a bylaw that it would stay out of the controversy.

However, two days later, a council meeting was called, the bylaw rescinded and a new one passed stating that council would stick to the original subdivision agreement.

Therefore, measures will be taken for council to take over lots 12 and 13 for a road allowance, which will be used for limited vehicle traffic to the private airport.

The other issue was easily solved when Gordon Campbell was told that Dale Munro would receive his building permit if he extended the hydro line across the Munro lot, and install a street light and a transformer.

He agreed to do it immediately and council agreed to authorize the permit then, regardless of how the road allowance issue was solved.

Maxville's hydro rates unchanged for 1998

At its Nov. 4 meeting, Maxville Council passed a bylaw that kept the hydro rates for 1998 the same as they were in 1997 for all consumers of this service.

The Berminghams and McDonalds HIGHLAND PATHS

KEN MCKENNA

After writing the column last week about Dan Bermingham I received another letter from his brother Jack enclosing a copy of a letter written by Dan to his family in Montreal the year before he was lost in action in the R.C.A.F. In it he reports that he has just returned from a week's leave. Dan writes: "I experienced the added pleasure to the blackout of a London fog. Saw a bit of the main sights like the bombed areas, St.Paul's, Westminster (Abbey), Big Ben and mounted the tower of Westminster Cathedral besides inspecting the church - you were there yourself once, weren't you Dad?"

Then comes a paragraph that once again illustrates my contention that the Highland world is a small world indeed. Dan continues: "But the best time of all was the time in Scotland where another chap, Terry de Vris, and myself were the guests of a Mrs. Kenneth and her son Archie.... (They) are large landowners holding 4,000 acres of hills of heather where they raise sheep - fifty acres only being suitable for cultivation. To reach their place called Stronacullin, Gaelic for Holly Point, we journeyed from Glasgow by bus for four hours through the Highlands past Loch Lomond and other beautiful spots to Ardrishaig on Loch Fyne. These people treated us grandly. Why, we had separate rooms with running water in each and the softest bed I've ever slept in. And the meals - we had something to eat six times a day... Archie is a veteran of terrible battles before Dunkirk where he fought with a Highland Regiment. Now he is not A-1 and is a major in the Home Guard. Archie is one of the leading players of the bagpipe in Scotland and has won many trophies. He gave us plenty of good tunes. You should have been there. We had a wonderful time and we are going back if we can. Mrs. Kenneth will write you.... She also photoed us and will send this on with some others taken of their house and scenery. You'd be surprised at how the Scots regard themselves as a distinct people and theirs a distinct country as regards Englishmen and England. Over here never say England meaning the British Isles but Great Britain. If you want to make a Scot mad just sing 'Their'll Always Be An England' and he'll probably respond with the well-known parody - 'As Long As Scotland Stands'! Going to start some groundwork next week for a change. In best of health, your loving son, Dan"

Archie Kenneth! The name jumped out of the letter as I read it. Older pipers, both here and in Scotland, will remember him not only as a champion piper and pibroch player but as a prolific writer on all aspects of piping. He was a great friend of Seumas MacNeill of the College of Piping in Glasgow and wrote many articles for The Piping Times. In 1973, thirty years after Dan Bermingham spent "the best time of all" with Archie Kenneth and his family in the Highlands, we stayed a month in the town of Lochgilphead, a few miles from the Kenneth home in Ardrishaig. Dan Bermingham died in 1944. As far as I know, he never returned to Scotland.

The Glengarry News of November 28, 1984, recorded the death of Gertrude MacDonald, Dan's aunt. The obituary reads in part: "The service was conducted by Monsignor Donald Bernard McDougald, assisted by Deacon Ernie Bellefeuille ... Pallbearers were all nephews— Edward N. McDonald and John T. (Jack) Bermingham of Montreal, Edward Angus (Ned) MacDonald of Long Island, N.Y., and three brothers, Warren, Tallon, and John Francis MacDonald, all from Burlington, Ont. Among other out of town persons in attendance were John L. MacDonald of Cornwall, brother of the deceased; nieces Mary H. Gilsenan of Moorestown, N.J. and Shannon Bellefeuille of Cornwall; Giulia Angelini, Helen Bermingham, Doris Kennedy, Anne Kennedy, James MacDonald, all from Montreal; Anne MacDonald, Elizabeth Anne MacDonald and Stephanie MacDonald, all from Burlington, Ont.; Margaret MacDonald of Ottawa and Paul Bellefeuille of Toronto... The Danny John MacDonalds were connected to the McCormicks when Roderick (Tailor) married Oirig McCormick at St.Raphael's in 1817". In a notice a week later, the family gives special thanks to "Mrs. J. Daniel MacDonald, the organist... and Mr. Arnold C. Munro, for his fine piping".

(Coming up: Three Celtic evenings at the Round Church, Dalhousie Mills: Sun. Nov. 16, David Anderson will speak & The Gaelic Choir will sing: Thurs. Nov. 20, Ted McNaughton & Carolyn Byers on The Iona Community; Thurs. Nov. 27, Mackie Robertson and I on Celtic Christianity and music. All are at 7 pm.)

I apologize for the omission of my column last week. I did send it in...but I guess it's just flying around in cyberspace! In the meantime, the people from Chateau Gardens would like to thank all of those who supported their bake sale on Saturday. (The one you didn't read about in the lost column.)

* * *

Calling Weather by Day is the large type header to a story in the careers section in Saturday s Citizen. If that isn't clue enough, there....for all to view ..is a lovely colour picture of Cindy Day from Bainsville.

The story below her smiling face is common enough. Due to downsizing Cindy, a veteran of nine years for CFRA in Ottawa, was a victim of cutbacks. You can read it for yourself. As many of us know, Cindy went on to create her own company called Weather by Day.

Her company caters to local needs such as snow plow operators, farmers and those who completely rely on specific weather forecasts for business or travel.

Way to go Cindy! By the way, Cindy, if you are talking to the Citizen any time soon, would you please tell them exactly where Lancaster, Bainsville and Williamstown are? Their geographical descriptions are very vague! Sometimes we are even deleted!

* * *

It's a sign of the times, and times they are a changing.

As I drive along, many names on signs flit past my eyes. After a time, I've got them all in my mind. But who is this person called Worms? What is he or she running for? ... Just kidding, but for a brief second I questioned. I know Richard of Mac's Marina is not endorsing a candidate called Worms!

Cruising along the highways you start to notice all of the signs. They represent a time-honoured tradition that transcends the technology of the modern age. They are the first communication of a group of men and women who are willing to represent us and to work for our community.

On these signs are the names of people in our community who will carry us into our newly amalgamated identity...South Glengarry.

Some have broken or blown over. Some have actually been knocked over or taken away. Let's hope that this is not a sign of the times.

With the all-candidates meeting as well, it must have been very busy that day, the 29th, at St. Joseph s hall! There, at noon hour, was held a special dinner honouring the volunteers of Chateau Gardens.

Amanda Hoekstra and her three children, were honoured for 100 hours of service. Dallas, Amber and Whitney Hoekstra must be a welcome sight for the residents.

It was 400 hours for Sheila Urquhart. Both Barry Shaw and Eleanor Watters were honoured for 100 hours service as well. Millie Vialette had the most hours worked in Ivy s Tuck Shoppe. Linda Mccune had the most volunteer hours from April to September.

Heather Masterman, having completed flu shots at the nursing home gave a short talk on all aspects of the influenza virus.

The Knights of Columbus, Council 8715 of Lancaster, would like to thank all of those who donated to the Arthritis Society. It's harvest time again. There will be lots of farm machinery on our roads day and night.

The Lancaster Community Policing Committee advises you to take care. All of these vehicles should have proper lighting with tail lights on the gravity boxes which they are towing. They must also have a slow moving vehicle sign on the back. The fine for improper lighting on gravity boxes is $105.

These vehicles will be on the road, traveling at considerably less speed than the normal traffic. Keep in mind that they are authorized to be on the road. Remember also that these are you neighbours going about their daily work. Be patient if their slowness inconveniences you a little. A thought occurred to me that one might put a sign on the back of their boxes - Farmer at Work.

On this very subject I had a conversation with a local farmer. His farm is on a corner that joins Hwy 34, very near a railroad crossing.

Usually his farm vehicles are only on the road for five minutes at any given time. He says that in the past few years there have been near accidents more than 100 times. Why?

Traffic does not slow down even though he is quite visible. Drivers ignore the double line..and the railroad crossing, and pass. Truck drivers drive in excess of the posted speed and honk with impatience. It's always a relief to get off that road! he says.

He thinks that farmers should be reminded to use good safety chains and pins with proper clips.

Although we expect these tractors to move to the side of the road, he says that there really isn't a lot of room on the shoulders.

My guess is that this is an important safety issue for all.

A recent event has led my husband, Barry, to enter me into some arm wrestling contests lately.

The gardener in me desired to get some really nice topsoil for my flower beds. So, I called our friendly supplier and ordered some. I m sure that it sounded as if I knew what I was doing, as I tried to figure out how much we needed.

After discovering that it is cheaper by the load...I ordered a load. Makes sense, right? It came that very afternoon. Wow...now this was a load!

Our supplier, a real gentleman, offered to take some back, but we really needed to level our lawns anyway so I took on the challenge.

You have heard the expression, making a mountain out of a molehill? Well this exercise, and I do mean exercise, became Operation Making a Mountain Into a Mole Hill!

Having a wheelbarrow and a little red trailer (35 shovels) helped. Having Barry home through the week helped. Having great weather helped, and finally it's done.

I'm in better shape but I never want to do this again!

Roxborough wins waste challenge

The Township of Roxborough has been declared the winner of the Household Hazardous Waste Challenge.

The challenge was part of the United Counties and Cornwall Hazardous Waste Collection Day with Roxborough taking the title on the basis of 6.7 per cent of households taking part.

Those disposing of hazardous waste were asked to fill out a questionnaire which included, among other items, the home municipality of the individual disposing of waste.

The total for all materials collected on the Oct. 25 waste day was as follows.

Waste oil - 9,820 litres; antifreeze - 1,570 litres; paint - 8,346 litres; flammable liquid - 7,866; corrosive liquid - 1,456; pesticides - 840 litres; aerosols - 1.065 litres; dry batteries - 415 kilograms; oxidizing - 307 kilograms; poisonous solids - 232 kilograms; solid toxic waste - 1,303 kilograms; propane - 150 tanks; automotive batteries - 195.

The event was held as part of Waste Reduction Week but, in an effort to ensure good weather conditions, the event was held a week earlier.

Those disposing of waste were given a handout describing non-toxic alternatives to household hazardous products and reminded that the best way to get rid of toxic waste is to never use the products in the first place.

Santa Claus parade needs public help to take over planning

Right now, the village needs one of its organizations to indicate its public spirit and take hold of the planning of the Santa Claus parade this year.

With the imminent loss of the chamber of commerce which has looked after the parade for many years, some organization has to step forth and offer its service to the village and especially to the children of the community. The cost is not large, the Village pays some of the expenses and the ground work has all been done. Which organizations will be first to volunteer and show it cares.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Campbell with their son, Jason, from Ottawa, were recent guests of her mother, Kathleen MacLean, Spring Street.

Margaret Hunter, Toronto, has returned to her home in Toronto after spending a week with her mother, Helen.

Margaret MacKellican, Kingston, spent a few days here with her sister-in-law, Margaret Munroe.

Janice Pasco, a graduate student at Queens University, was home last weekend.

Lorna Winter was in Tecumseh for a few days with Colleen and Bill Blair and our grandsons, Ian, Eric and Kerry.

The deaths of two ladies from the village occurred last week, Ethel Long had been a Manor resident for a few days and died peacefully on Thursday. Local readers will remember her son, Charlie, who had lived here too and who was a faithful, grown-up paperboy for some time.

After a short illness, Margaret Morrow died in Glengarry Memorial Hospital on Friday. She had been a resident of Glen Garden Village, a village resident for many years and a native of St. Elmo east. Her husband, Hamilton Morrow, predeceased her many years ago and she is survived by her sister Kay MacRae and brothers, the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacKinnon and Alex MacKinnon. Sympathy is offered to the family members of these two ladies.

A foundation has been established in the name of Msgr. Rudy Villeneuve to enable deserving high school students to pursue advanced education. A native of Maxville and remembered better as Father Rudy, this honour came on the 50th anniversary of his ordination in the priesthood. He has played a prominent role in education along with his duties to his church and has been named citizen-of-the-year both in Cornwall and Lancaster.

On behalf of the many old friends here, as well as relatives, congratulations for this honour and best wishes for the success of the foundation go to Father Rudy, son of the late Donim

Jason Williamson, son of Mavis (nee McBain) and Robert Williamson had the experience of a lifetime last month. He was taken on as a hand on the Matthew, the ship which is a replica of John Cabot's ship and is visiting North America to mark the 500th anniversary of Cabot's first visit here.

Jason was on the ship from Miramichi, New Brunswick to Quebec City and figured missing a few days of school was a small price to pay for the experience. He is in his second year in the multimedia course at the community college and the grandson of Helen and Ian MacRae.

New provincial association formed

There's a new club in the area and local Liberals are invited to join.

The first meeting of the Glengarry-Prescott-Russell Liberal Association will take place on Nov. 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Isidore recreation centre on rue de l'Eglise.

Tne association has been formed due to the redistribution of electoral boundaries by the provincial government. The new boundaries match those of the federal level.

Already supporters are seeking to lead the new organization.

Embrun-area resident Jean-Francois Claude has announced his intention to run as president of the association.

Claude has been involved with local associations affiliated with the Ontario Liberal Party and the Liberal Party of Canada - Ontario since 1993.

Claude has worked as a communications advisor to MPPs Jean-Marc Lalonde and Jean Poirier, as well as MP Don Boudria.

The new Glengarry-Prescott-Russell provincial riding will be made up of 72 per cent of the former Prescott-Russell riding and 23 per cent of the former riding of Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry and East Grenville.

At the inaugural meeting, the association will adopt its constitution and elect a board of directors.

A local girl, the daughter of Margaret and the late Donald "Doc" Munroe has taken on a very challenging yet interesting task. Kathy and her husband, David Mayberry of Ingersoll have been appointed to the position of Ontario grain coordinator of the Canadian Foodgrains Bank.

The Mayberrys have sold their dairy herd, plan to become crop farmers and subsequently have sufficient time to devote to the work of the Foodgrains Bank for which they have served as volunteers. The Bank has been providing food to the world's hungry since 1983.

In the jointly held position, Kathy and David will work closely with bank volunteers and donors within both the farm and church communities, offer support and guidance to local community growing projects, work with the Ontario grain industry to facilitate the collection and storage of donated grain, offer support to the 13 member agencies of the bank in the area of resource collection and be responsible for the continued growth and expansion of the bank's program in Ontario.

In its most recent fiscal year ended March 31, 1997, Canadian Foodgrains Bank received 14,200 metric tons of donated grain and other agricultural commodities from Canadian farmers and realized grain and cash donations of $4.5 million.

We congratulate the Mayberrys for being selected to fill this important position and offer them our very best wishes.

The Centennial Book Committee has five defective books in hand. Two of them are hard cover and they are being offered for sale at the village office. With a few blank or loose pages, their price is from $10 to $20. The blank pages may not matter to you, the price is right and these books will look perfect on your book shelves.

I was very interested in steaming piles of Domtar wastes in one of Bert Beaudett's fields near his home last week. The material is crumbly, damp and a very dark gray colour. The company will spread it for Mr. Beaudette and then the field will be immediately ploughed to help hide the smell. I didn't find it very offensive and the Beaudettes like it because it adds organic matter to the soil, there is no cost involved and it provides soil nutrients, especially nitrogen. This is an excellent illustration of recycling wastes.

This may be coming a bit late, but if you have a garden and access to a tiller, try spreading your leaves or your neighbour's on your garden and working them in with the tiller. Leaves are "gardener's gold" and should be in your compost pile or garden rather than going out in garbage bags later this week.

With a drizzle falling and skies cloudy, the annual Remembrance Day service was held here at the War Veterans Monument on Sunday at 2 o'clock. Ivan Coleman was chairman and opened the service with "O Canada" and the reading of "Why Wear a Poppy" by Don Crawford. Shawn MacRae served as piper for the parade and during the service.

Clergy representatives, Father Marc Pichè and the Rev. Ed Gratton, both spoke. The customary two minutes of silence were observed with an additional one minute to honour the memory of John Coleman and Peter Alex MacLean, active members of the Club who had died in the last year.

As has been his custom for many years. John Rolland read 'In Flanders Fields".

Many wreaths were placed at the front of the monument. Mary Ann Kampouris did so on behalf of the Federal Government, Elaine Villeneuve for the Provincial Government, Edythe Coleman as Mother of the Year, Joe Rolland for the Maxville War Veterans, Reeve George Currier for the village, Kent MacSweyn for the Township of Kenyon, Donald Sabourin for the Maxville Fire Department, Nancy Ripley for the CWL, Velma Franklin in memory of her husband, Keith; Hilda MacLean in memory of her husband Peter Alex, Edythe Coleman in memory of her husband, John and Gladys Derrocher in memory of her husband, Arthur.

After the well attended service, the veterans and their guests which included the Brownies, Cubs, Sprites and Sparks paraded to the Glengarry Curling Club for refreshments.

The November meeting of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society will be on the 19th in the United Church hall starting at 6:30 p.m. with a pot luck supper. This is the annual members night and each one is asked to bring an item for the food bank.

If you have been driving through the country lately, you will have noticed the brilliant yellow colours of the tamaracks and the birches. The tamarack is the only coniferous tree that loses its needles each fall. Some refer to it as the only evergreen which isn't.

I have received two reports on sightings of ruffed grouse or partridge. These are lovely birds which we like to have in our area.

The Canada geese are prolonging their stay with the mild weather. It almost looked as if Carolee MacIntosh was kindly feeding them in one of the MacIntosh fields last week near the corner of Highland Road and Hwy. 43. It was a corn field that had been harvested for ensilage but there must have been some corn shelled in the process.

An item in the Auld Lang Syne column of 100 years ago was particularly interesting to Norma and I. Six hunters from Riceville and Fournier had shot six deer in five days in the Skye area. One of the hunters, Albert Wilkes, was Norma's grandfather and George and Arthur Ryan were my grand uncles. George Bradley was the grandfather of Richard Bradley of St. Elmo. The other two hunters were Sam Nicholson and Jim Lynch.

The ACW of St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church, wishes to thank everyone who attended its bazaar and luncheon on Saturday and therefore made it such a successful event. In a small community such as our it is very important that we support each others social activities and this certainly was very evident on Saturday.
