NDDHS "Sound of Sixties" set for Friday evening

North Dundas District High School, which serves the Chesterville, Winchester area, is vibrating these days with the "Sound of the Sixties", as the Bands get down to serious work in preparation for their concert on Friday, December 5 at 8.30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Mr Norman J St Louis, Music Director, and his assistant Mr Frank Blair have put together a most interesting programme. The Senior Band will feature the works of Composer and Conductor Henry Mancini. Mancini's work is well known, having written the music for a number of films, such as "Days of Wine and Roses" and "Charade". His TV music includes scores for the "Peter Gunn" series and other shows. The band has chosen to play for this occasion numbers such as, "Dear Heart", "The Sweet Heart Tree", "Charade" and "Baby Elephant Walk."

Their programme will also include the exciting and well known Concert Band arrangement of "The English Folk Song Suite" by Ralph Vaughn Williams.

Since the Christmas Season is upon us, the conductor will include some Christmas Melodies.

The Junior Band under the direction of Mr Frank Blair will play a number of selections which will include, "Freedom Gate Overture", "Fascination" and others.

This year as last the conductors are assisted by a Music Committee made up of parents. This Committee looks after the behind the scene activities. Taking responsibility for advertising properties and most concert arrangements the committee hopes that the public response will be sufficient to buy additional uniforms at the cost of $700. The membership in the combined bands is 90 students.

Boxing Day, Friday, December 26, will be a holiday in the village.

The case of the four fire phones, with siren key, again confronted firemen and council. Although in the works since August, they have yet to become a reality. The phones should provide a greater degree of efficiency when calling the emergency number.

Police Chief Leonard Shane gave his monthly report, which stated, among other statistics, that 43 complaints were investigated. Snowmobiles came in for attention, with methods of control debated.

There were 13 applications for the position of Chesterville's second policeman. Interviews will be conducted at a future date to select the embryo constable. A lengthy discussion ensued re salary for the successful candidate.

Prior to a midnight toddle home, village accounts were approved for payment.

OMB hearing rules no decision re Winchester Centre

Ontario Municipal Board members W. H. J. Thompson and D. S. Colbourne conducted a hearin respect to the construction of a Community Centre in the Village of Winchester and the contribution of $65,000 by the Village of Winchester, and $20,000 by each of the Townships of Winchester and Mountain.

The hearings, in the Winchester Township Building, were held November 26, with F. M. Cass attending as solicitor for the municipalities.

After questioning Winchester Village officials on their plans to construct the proposed Community Centre and their long-range financial commitments in extending sewage services, the Board ruled that no decision on the construction of the Centre could be made until the village could show a more favourable financial position.

As a result of this decision, the hearing was adjourned with no action being taken in regard to the township's contribution to the proposal.

Best wishes are extended to Mrs Mary Sutherland of Avonmore, who on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, observed her 96th birthday. Mrs Sutherland spent the day quietly at her home "The Pines".

Friends called to extend their congratulations. Mrs Sutherland received many messages and birthday cards.

Still remarkably active for her years, Mrs Sutherland finds no problem in filling each day with a variety of activities, which might include household duties; painting pictures, reading and writing letters.

A lifelong resident of the community, Mrs Sutherland was the former Mary McRae.

Editorial Comment . . .

We're off and running

As of Monday morning of this week my partner Wayne LaPrade and myself feel this editorial heading can be taken literally. Mr Graham in writing his farewells last week commented that he had sold the business after considerable thought; at this time I would suggest that the business was purchased on the same basis. Wayne and myself feel we have a fairly large pair of Editor's shoes to fill.

We became owners-partners not exactly as strangers to the printing business. I have been in the Record's employment for seventeen years; Wayne has been with the paper ten. The paper will be operated by myself, Wayne LaPrade, Byron Campbell, Yvonne Coyne, along with some part-time help.

The makings of a good newspaper we feel are, faithful subscribers; advertisers, a necessity; good correspondents, and a group of earnest people to put the whole thing together.

Our ambition will be to try and supply a satisfactory service, publishing and custom printing, to Chesterville and area and secondly to make a respectable living.

At this time we would like to thank the many people for their congratulations, best wishes, advice and interest shown.

If the Chesterville Record can be of service to you in any way, phone 448-2144 and ask for Feeley or LaPrade.

Let's have safe driving 52 weeks a year

Christmas . . . a time for giving. But let's start giving earlier this year. A special appeal has come from the Prime Minister that everyone should give something extra, starting on December 1.

This, though, is giving with a difference. It costs nothing. Quite the reverse, in fact. We are asked for contributions that will involve no expense, and may actually result in tremendous savings.

We are asked to give a little extra care. Some extra patience. Perhaps, a little extra time. More courtesy, more good humour. In other words, we are all asked to support Safe Driving Week, December 1 to 7.

Cars don't cause traffic accidents. Nor do icy roads, fogs, or bottles of beer. People who don't handle these things the way they should, and can, be handled.

Traffic accidents are caused by you, and me, and the man in the next lane. By individuals. And just as the individual causes the accident, so can he prevent it.

The Ontario Safety League emphasizes that the best way to avoid accidents, is to avoid the possibility of accidents. One of the aims of Safe Driving Week is to persuade the individual to give extra thought and skill in avoiding the accident that never gets started. The book of averages says that over 100 Canadians die every seven days on the roads at this time of year, while thousands are injured. Yet avoidance of this impending national disaster lies within the control of individuals . . . individual drivers and pedestrians.

It needs no magic to reduce the total of continung tragedies that stain our streets and highways. It just needs a little extra effort from all who drive and walk on our roads. Safe Driving Week is a good time for us to pledge that extra effort, that our country needs so desperately. For, although the immediate aim of this safety campaign is the first seven days in December, the long-range objective covers all the days of every year.

Shop at home this Christmas

It's here, and it's wonderful! It's the merriest of holidays. Christmas is the season of joy and laughter, of secrets, shopping and surprises, filled with the pleasure of generous giving.

The coloured lights and gay decorations of neighbouring cities are beckoning you to bring your Christmas list and do your shopping. Upon arrival at the larger shopping centres you find yourself in an atmosphere that is generally very impersonal and often a bit confusing. Your ideas and inspirations disappear as you wind your way through the crowded stores.

However, venture into the local stores. You will find an air of friendliness as you ponder over your selection of gifts. Friends and neighbours meet, stop for a chat, and exchange season's greetings. Somehow it just seems easier to decide on the right gifts for those special friends and relatives on your list.

In your hometown stores, you'll find an exciting array of all the gifts that make Christmas merrier.

What's more, every gift you buy at home means money that stays at home, working to build a better community for you and your family.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: When our children read in the papers of the horrible things that happen almost every day they ask, "Where was God?" Why would He let a baby be beaten to death or an old man get shot in a 27c holdup? If there is a God and if he is everywhere as you say, why doesn't He intervene?

Other parents must get these same questions and I'm sure they are as bewildered as I was. I knew I had to provide an answer, and here it is. Feel free to print it if you think it has merit.

God was there. He warned somebody before it happened but they paid no attention. They failed to see themselves as God's instrument. They didn't realize the power they had. God an work His miracles only through you and me. Countless tragedies have been prevented because somebody listned with his heart. These are the incidents we never read about.

How many accident victims would be alive today if someone had shut off the liquor at the party, or driven the drunk home instead of allowing him to drive his own car. Those who say, "It's none of my business," are no better than the heartless breed who turn their backs on people in trouble and ignore the helpless victom's cry for help.

Commitment, compassion, and involvement are virtues that can't be overdone. God doesn't let things happen. It's you and you and you.—D.V. of South Bend.

Dear D.V.: A beautiful answer. My heartfelt thanks.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 and work in my dad's restaurant after school and on weekends. My two sisters and brother, all younger than I am, work here also.

Our father was raised in the old country. He doesn't trust anyone outside the family so he refuses to hire help. A few years ago he did hire an outsider and that person was caught stealing from the cash register, so now there is no talking to him.

I have been working in the restaurant since I was 12. I've never been paid a nickel and neither have my brother or sisters. Dad says he gives us room and board and buys us clothes and that's payment enough. Business is good. We are not poor people. Dad and Mother spend quite a lot of money on things most folks consider luxuries.

My aunt and uncle have told Dad that we should be paid some sort of salary. They were told to mind their own business. Will you say something please? —Flat Pockets.

Dear Flat: Your dad will probably tell me to mind my own business, too, but I believe you kids should be paid and I'm saying so. Surely you get an allowance. The pay could be a substitute. How much better to earn money than get a handout. I suggest an hourly wage. You kids would then have an incentive for working overtime. Present your case in a calm, rational, businesslike way. I wish you luck.

* * * *

Dear Ann Landers: Am I wrong to feel degraded when my husband introduces me as his "new" wife? James' first wife died two years ago. When I introduce James I say, "I'd like you to meet my husband . . ." I don't feel it is necessary to say he is "new."

I've complained about this on three occasions, but he seems to forget. We've been married five months. What do you suggest?—The Second.

Dear Second: I suggest you forget it. In a year or so James will drop the word "new." When he starts to introduce you as his "old" wife, you'll have something to complain about.

Christmas can be a problem. What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new book, "Truth is Stranger," is available in book stores. It can also be obtained by writing Prentice Hall, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey. Price, -4.95.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Your Legislature Report . . .

Fred M. Cass, Q.C., M.P.P.

What are now accepted as the closing weeks of a Session of the Legislature which has now lasted for more than a year, have produced some interesting legislation in addition to hastening acceptance of departmental estimates for the year now two-thirds over.

The long awaited Bill to bring relief to tenants from the very subservient position which over the centuries they have occupied at British law was finally introduced. One of its most important provisions, at least for apartment tenants, is the abolition of the landlords right to require a security deposit apart from one month's rent. Undoubtedly many landlords have abused the previous deposit rights. Also introduced was the Bill to bring salaries of Members of the Legislature to parity with those paid Members of the House of Commons and of the National Assembly of Quebec. At the same time, the Minister of Education announced a long overdue increase in superannuation payments to retired school teachers. The new amount of $2,100.00 will be a tremendous aid to many of our older retired professional citizens who in their time served their communities so well.

Last week also the annual meeting of the Grenville-Dundas Provincial Constituency Association was held at Spencerville. The meeting was an important one in that a Constitution for the Riding was adopted, such having been made necessary by the absorption of the two counties into two separate federal constituencies. Mrs Parker Locke, as Chairman of the Committee which drafted the new Constitution, presented it to the meeting and pointed out that it should effectually meet the changing conditions in Grenville-Dundas. The new President of the Association elected at this meeting is Mr J. Arthur Edgerton of Morrisburg whose activities and reputation in his own community as an interested and public spirited citizen combined with his long experience in matters political eminently fit him to direct the Conservative fortunes in our area — successfully!

The Legislature enters the last few weeks of its present Session with only the estimates of the Department of Health yet unconsidered, a few Bills to be processed and the budget debate to be completed; in other words, the Legislative Slate (Order Paper) for this Session is almost clear and prorogation should occur by the middle of December.

Christmas seal campaign needs your support

Have you sent your Christmas Seal donation yet? Even a small amount helps towards fighting emphysema, asthma and tuberculosis.

You may not be affected with TB in your lifetime. But there are many other respiratory diseases which, at any time, could become troublesome to you. Then is when you will be glad you had a small part in aiding research and with providing aids and cures for these problems.

G. H. Lessard, Christmas Seal Campaign chairman of the St. Lawrence TB and Respiratory Diseases Association, Cornwall, launched the drive in the middle of November.

Over 18,000 letters with Christmas Seals (depicting the Eskimo where there is a greater incidence of TB) have been mailed by executive secretary, Mrs Alice McCanse, Cornwall. She has received $3,200. This is a long from the goal and will req your attention. Let's not wai follow-up mail before tuckin donation into the envelope provided.

Doctors in the three co and hospitals are receivin through the Association. P purchased for an emp patient now in Kingston ium, whose transportation ses were paid for by the local group.

Five Portable Intermittent Pressure Respirators were purchased and placed in all hospitals in the United Counties. Sample literature on respiratory problems was sent to 11 schools, and many more requests are being made to the executive secretary.

There is a great deal of interest in this phase of medical science. Let your light so shine this Christmas as one who has assisted proudly with the Christmas Seal Campaign.

Snowmobilers: Observe These Trail Tips

As the snow season looms over North America, snowmobile owners in the U. S. and Canada are tuning up their machines, and prospective owners are visiting dealers and poring over catalogues.

Snowmobile racing is the glamour sport among snowmobile fanciers, but the great majority of snowmobile owners simply enjoy the thrill of driving their machines from one place to another place through deep snow. Snowmobilers include a wide spectrum of types from snow-fun seeking daytrippers to conservation agents taking extended trips into remote wildlife areas.

Now is the time, says Dave Clarkin, President of the International Snowmobile Industry Association, for all snowmobile users to review the basic safe operating tips that will assure many miles of safe snowmobile operation under almost any conditions.

Industry leader Clarkin, who is also President of Featherweight Corporation, a Bangor Punta Company, says the four most important rules for snowmobile trail riding are: "(1) Never go on the trail alone; (2) know and respect your vehicle; (3) always carry extra fuel for long trips; (4) carry a 'safety kit' of vital spare parts."

Know and Respect Your Vehicle. The snowmobile is not a toy. The hundreds of park rangers, lumbermen and ranchers who use them for basic transportation can attest to that. But it is essentially a recreational vehicle and as such is subject to a certain amount of abuse and neglect. Unfortunately, abuse and neglect can lead to breakdown on the trail. And a breakdown on the trail in freezing weather and miles from aid can be a serious problem.

Snowmobilers are urged to ride with a reasonable amount of caution; to leave the spectacular aerial leaps and open-throttle full-tilt charges to race drivers. The majority of snowmobile operating disorders stem not from mechanical failures but from abuse and misuse of the vehicle.

Snowmobile users are also urged to learn how their engines work. The time to check the owner's manual is not after a breakdown has occured but before the vehicle goes out on its first long trip. Fortunately, snowmobile engines are generally quite elemental in design and construction and can be easily repaired with a screwdriver, pliers and adjustable wrench.

Snowmobilers include all types from grizzled forest rangers and lumbermen to the pert snowbunny above. All of them follow the four basic rules of snowmobile operation to insure safe, comfortable travel into and out of the deep snow country.

Never Go on the Trail Alone. There is safety in numbers. Participants in all adventurous sports from scubadiving to mountain climbing adhere faithfully to the buddy system for this reason. Always travel in pairs or groups when snowmobiling into remote areas. One operable snowmobile can travel farther in 10 minutes, when seeking assistance in deep snow for instance, than a healthy man can walk in six hours.

Always Carry Extra Fuel for Long Trips. Snowmobiles, as a rule, get excellent gas mileage and will run for great distances on a single tank of fuel. The greater the horsepower, of course, the greater the fuel consumption. But, since there are no gas stations on snow trails, and because snowmobiling is so fascinating that time and distance seem to vanish in a cloud of swirling snow once a snow trek has begun, the wise snowmobiler always carries a full one or two gallon jerrican of fuel along on every trip.

Carry a "Safety Kit" of Vital Spare Parts. Certain spare parts are easily carried aboard the snowmobile and will assure the snowmobiler of quick, easy start-up whenever necessary. These include a spark plug, spark plug wrench, a drive-belt, pull cord and light bulb. Many owners make up such a safety kit for their own use and will not go out on the trail without it.

This year, for the first time, a safety kit containing these items is being offered as a standard item by snowmobile producers such as Alouette (Featherweight Corporation), Starcraft and Arlberg.

"Snowmobiling has been a remarkably safe sport since its inception," Dave Clarkin points out. "Snowmobilers who follow these four basic trail tips and use their own God-given common sense will continue the sport's fine safety record."

If We Walk the Line

We all have got our problems,
They show up here and there;
Some seem to get off easy
And some more than their share

Some say if I had your troubles,
And you'd be fine with mine,
But, Oh, how our burdens are lightened
If we only walk the line.

Sometimes our load gets so heavy,
As a long life's road we roam,
But looking on and upward
We can see the lights of home

For there's one who can lighten every load
If they are your problems or mine,
How much they will be lightened
If we only walk the line

If we only stop to think,
All our blessings every day,
We would find our load much lighter
As we stroll along life's way

We have so much to be thankful for,
And all will turn out fine,
If we keep looking upward
And if we walk the line

JUST BUTCHER SHOP

When 13-year-old Ronald Frappier started collecting pieecs of thighs, knees and shins from a vacant lot near his home his mother thought that he had stumbled on a place where a herd of prehistoric animals had come to grief.

A call to McMaster University secured a team of experts to call by and inspect the site.

They went over the ground with a great deal of attention, checked the depth of the soil that had covered the bones, studied with care the bones themselves, and conferred.

Conclusion: a former butcher shop.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY—In loving memory of a dear wife, Blanche Barkley, who passed away December 5, 1966.
You bade no one your last farewell,
You said good-bye to none;
A light from our household is gone,
A voice I loved is still;
I often sit and think of you,
The things we used to say,
I wonder why you had to die,
Without a chance to say good-bye.
Each time I see your picture
You seem to smile and say
"I'll meet you again someday."
Always remembered by husband Stanley.

FERGUSON—In memory of our parents, Emily Ferguson who passed away December 10, 1964, and Alpin Ferguson who passed away October 20, 1950.

But memory turns back every leaf.
Ever remembered by The Famiiy.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY — In loving memory of a dear Mother and Grandma, Blanche Barkley, who passed away December 5, 1966.
What we would give if we could say
"Hello Mom" in the same old way,
To hear your voice and see your smile,
To sit with you and chat a while.
So if you have a mother,
Cherish her with care,
For you'll never know the heartaches,
Till you see her vacant chair.
Always remembered by Vaughn, Reggie, Helen, Doug and grandchildren.

Crysler leads N. S.-L. S. League players suspensions handed down

In a closely contested game last Wednesday night, Long Sault edged Avonmore three to two in a North Stormont - Long Sault Junior Hockey League game. Scoring for the winners were Ken Brown, Tommy Heard and Robbie Eastman, all in the 1st period. Avonmore came back in the last but goals by Ron Poapst and Reid McIntyre were not enough to close the gap.

The second game of the night saw three players receive suspensions as Eamers Corners clobbered Berwick nine to one. G. Rushford of Berwick and Richard Giroux of Eamer's Corners received game misconducts for fighting in the penalty box and each received additional one-game suspensions. David Ouderkirk of Berwick received a game misconduct and also a match misconduct for attempt to injure and for such will receive an additional two-game suspension.. P. Quinlan, Gary Locke, Allan MacDonell and Gary Lalonde got two goals each with Charlie MacGregor picking up a single. Berwick's lone goal was credited to Hubert Casselman.

Friday night's encounter saw Crysler go unbeaten this year to extend their winning streak to three in a row as they downed Newington six to two. Picking up goals for the winners were Pierre Courville with two and Pierre Cloutier, Edmond Chabot, Jacques Yele and Daniel Brisson getting singles. Gerry Zeran and Chris Ireland countered for Newington.

In the nightcap Osnabruck Centre whomped Chesterville six to 0 as Brian McIntyre and B. Gallinger collected two apiece. Lyle Swerdfeger and Eric Campbell got one each.

In Sunday's action, Eamer's Corner's, last year's champions, have started to move as they picked up a win against Long Sault, downing them three to two. The winner's goals were evenly divided among Morris Brodeur, Danny Locke and Allen MacDonnell. Walter Baker picked up the lone goal for the losers. Ken Brown of the same team was tagged with a game misconduct and for such will receive an additional one-game suspension.

St. Regis, the team whom everybody walked over last year have served notice to the contrary this year, that things are going to be different as they scalped Berwick 8 - 0. A new face in their line-up by the name of Mike Benedict, who in one game jumped into seventh place in the scoring race, popped in four goals and picked up one assist. Gaylord Thomas follows right behind in eighth spot when he countered for two and credit goes to Dennis Cook and Wendall Oaks who scored one each.

League Notes

Frank Swerdfeger and Fred Lobb, the property of the Chesterville Club recived their written release from coach Dick Henderson to play for the Winchester B's. Two other player's status are in the negotiating stage and terms of agreement are unavailable at present.

The monthly meetings of the Ottawa and District Hockey Association is being held in Hull on Dec. 9 at 9 p.m.

Linden Wells, referee in chief, of hte league who was often scoring champion in the now defunct Long Sault Senior League, has donated a trophy for top scorer to be presented annually and a replica to be kept by the player.

Upcoming games for this week are Wednesday, Dec. 3, Crysler vs Avonmore and Newington vs Long Sault. Friday, December 5, Osnabruck Centre goes against Avonmore and Newington takes on Glen Walter. Mrs Ralph McKenzie

The community of Finch was saddened and shocked to learn of the sudden passing on Saturday morning of Mrs Ralph MacKenzie of a heart attack.

Mrs MacKenzie who was in her 43rd year was the former Shirley Catherine Bradley, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs J. P. Bradley of Lachute, Que. She spent her early years in Lachute and in December, 1954 was married to Ralph J. MacKenzie of Finch. Shirley and Ralph were engaged in the dairy business in Chesterville, Westport and Brampton and of late years resided on a farm east of Finch, where they raised prize Jersey cattle.

Shirley had been a valued and esteemed employee of Nestle (Canada) Ltd. in Chesterville for five and one half years, where she was held in high regard by her employers. A plea for help from a fellow worker never fell on a deaf ear. She shared her husband's enthusiasm for breeding and exhibiting their prize herd at fairs and exhibitions near and far and was as much at home in the show ring as her kitchen. She was an indefatigable worker as evidenced by her beautiful home and surroundings.

She is survived by her husband Ralph; one daughter, Cheryl of Queen's University, Kingston; one brother, John P. (Don) Bradley of Lachute, Que., three nieces and one nephew as well as a host of friends in every community in which she resided.

The body rested at the Brownlee Funeral Home where the masses of floral offerings and donations to various funds paid silent tribute to one so well loved and admired. The funeral was held at the funeral home on Tuesday, with Rev. W. W. McI. Craig of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church bringing the message of comfort.

Pall bearers were Messrs Floyd Dingwall, Berwick, Gilbert Henderson, Cornwall; Gordon McIntyre, Earl Price, Dean and Lynden Hough of Finch. Burial was made in Finch cemetery.

Friends and relatives attended from Lachute, Montreal, Ormstown, Inverness, Que., Brampton, Bowmanville, Ottawa, Westport, Cornwall and the surrounding area.

Officials of Nestle (Canada) Ltd. and the office staff attended in a body.

GEHL MIX-ALL
• PLAIN FEEDER
• CRUSHER HEAD

Grinds! Mixes! Delivers!

The Gehl Mix-All, with economy plain feeder and exclusive crusher-feeder attachment, grinds, mixes and delivers the most uniform on-the-farm feed.

Here's proof: Samples of feed grains, ground by Gehl and competitive mills, were compared in a "sieve-shaker" analysis (a grinding uniformity test used also by commercial feed manufacturers). In test after test, Gehl samples were the most uniformly ground. And, the more uniform the grind, the better the mix!

In the Mix-All hammermill, 66 thin, alloy-steel hammers cut . . . not pound ingredients on a big grinding surface for faster feed flow with reduced "fines." Come on in for a close-up look at all the Mix-All features, including the swinging auger-feeder.

Recall library history for Book Week at Newington

Young Canada Book Week was observed at the Library, Newington, when 175 pupils and seven teachers from the Public School visited the library. The custodian, Mrs Lawrence Steele, welcomed the teachers and pupils and related the history of the library.

In 1901 the lot was donated by Dr Munro and the family of the late Mrs Peter Forbes built the reading room in memory of their mother. This was named the Forbes Memorial Library. Mrs Steele told the children that to obtain money to purchase books bake sales were held, there were membership drives and the room was rented and used as a Continuation School for Grades 9 1 to 2 p.m. and 10 from 1935 to 1948. In 1950, when the Public School burned, it was again used for classes until the school was rebuilt.

The residents of the village kept the library going until in 1964 when the Osnabruck Public Library became a reality. A Board was selected to serve the two branches, Newington and Ingleside, books were purchased and a system for operation devised. The doors were opened and the venture began in earnest.

The year 1968 showed an increase in circulation. Membership: 1964, 123; 1968, 206. Books borrowed: 1964, 1,630; 1968, 8,750.

An important feature of the expanding service has been the noon-hour openings of the past two years. Elementary school children travelling by bus may use the library each Wednesday during the noon hour.

The library hours are Saturday 7 to 10 p.m. and Wednesday 1 to 2 p.m.

Some of the custodians over the years were: Miss Mae Thompson, Miss Bernice Poapst, Mrs Ada Rombough, Miss Marion Dickey, Mrs Jack Sherman, and at the present time, Mrs Lawrence Steele.

The Board's policy has been to concentrate on the book collection for the children who form the bulk of the membership. Each year, as well, both adult fiction and non-fiction are acquired but in lesser numbers.

KITCHEN CORNER

You can't beat a slice of traditional mince pie or a plump mince tart as a fine dessert, but these mincemeat minis are a happy answer for pick-up and eat entertaining. They're festive, easy to pass or set out for callers and have the delicious aromatic touch of fruity mincemeat. After all, this is the Christmas season, and gay and delicious are the words.

Mincemeat Mini Puffs

1 pkg. cream puff mix
1 16-oz. jar mincemeat
2½ cups milk
1 tbsp. granulated sugar
1 tsp. vanilla custard powder

Prepare cream puff mix according to package instructions. Let cool. Slice a piece off top and fill puffs with mincemeat. Return filled puffs to warm oven for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare a custard sauce for topping by heating 2¼ cups of milk in a saucepan, stirring constantly. Dissolve granulated sugar in hot milk. Mix custard powder with remaining ¼ cup cold milk; slowly add to the hot mixture, stirring constantly. Continue heating and stirring for five minutes.

Remove hot, filled mini puffs from oven and spoon hot sauce over them.

Mincemeat Macaroons

3 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tbsp. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
2 cups flaked coconut
½ tsp. almond extract
1 16-oz. jar mincemeat
Preheat oven to 300° F.

Lightly grease two cookie sheets. In top of double boiler, combine stiff egg whites, sugar and cornstarch and cook, stirring constantly, about fifteen minutes. Remove from heat. Bake twenty minutes until lightly browned. Cool on rack.

IN MEMORIAM

CASSELMAN—In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Willis Casselman, who passed away December 6, 1964.
The years are quietly passing,
Though we don't forget,
For in the hearts that loved him
Your memory lingers yet.
Sadly missed by wife, Florence and family.
