Glengarry tops in Canada

Glengarry high school bands vow National Music Festival

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Musicians from Glengarry District High School and Ecole Secondaire Regionale Glengarry wowed the judges at the National Music Festival in Toronto last week and came home glittering with gold.

Both the senior concert band and the jazz band, ranked solid gold at the festival that saw 126 bands from across Canada compete in several categories.

"This is big stuff," said music teacher Pierre Vaillancourt.

For the Glengarry bands, every selection they performed was awarded a gold by all judges, placing Glengarry in the national top 10 percentile, said Vaillancourt.

When students returned to classes on Monday they were excited to see the video tapes of their performances that had students from North Dundas District High School in the audience cheering them on.

Many students said they were thrilled with their success and were glad they went to the competitions.

The bands played three selections in their categories for up to six judges and the overall standings were based on the average award for the selections performed.

"You all cook up a storm," said one judge, in a written evaluation of the jazz band, "a truly dynamic band."

Vaillancourt is most excited about the sight reading selection played by the concert band and the jazz band's clinic selection.

At the competition, the concert bands are given a piece they have never seen before and are allowed five minutes to review it with their conductor before playing it for the judges.

"The only band so far that made music within five minutes," said judge Tom Telemantes of McGill University.

"The best sight reading band yet," said another judge more than half way through the concert band competitions.

During the jazz band clinic, one of the judges conducts the band through a familiar piece to see how the band responds to a different direction.

And in what has become Glengarry style, when they played it, it became gold.

This is the sixth year the bands have been invited to attend the national festival, after winning at the regional level, but in the past they could not afford to attend because it has been held as far away as Vancouver.

Proceeds from the annual citrus fruit campaign were used to send the students to the festival in Toronto this year, paying for most of the $300 cost per student in attendance.

The students left on Wednesday afternoon for the five-day visit that included visits to the Skydome and the Ontario Science Museum and giving concerts at a Sir John A. MacDonald High School and the Bayview Shopping Centre.

After giving performances, the musicians also had an opportunity to see a few when they attended Miss Saigon and saw the senior boys choir during mass at St. Michael's Cathedral.

Crown moves to try driver in fatal crash as an adult offender

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The Crown will attempt to have a young offender charged in the March 11 car-crash deaths of four Alexandria teens tried in adult court, The News has been told.

Crown Prosecutor Guy Simard said the decision was made last week to make application to have the trial moved to adult court.

He did not know what the odds are for success in such an application. But he said there are precedents to move such cases to adult court and such attempts are becoming more successful.

The 17-year-old Alexandria youth appeared in court Thursday. His case was remanded to June 9, where it is hoped a date will be set to hear the Crown's application to transfer the case to adult court.

The youth was charged with second-degree murder, manslaughter and criminal negligence causing death after a car struck a vehicle carrying the four Alexandria teens from behind, according to police, causing it to strike a tractor trailer.

Simard said the court proceedings will deal mainly with medical records, namely the report from the youth's psychiatric assessment which took place at the Royal Ottawa Hospital shortly after the charges were levelled against him.

It will not be a simple and straightforward hearing, he said. "(It's) something that needs to be looked at very deeply."

Simard said he has not yet seen the psychiatric report and does not know what arguments the Crown will be using to persuade a judge to move the case to adult court.

He also is uncertain about how soon a hearing, which he believes will be the first in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, can be held and how long the hearing will take.

The youth was released from custody with a lengthy list of conditions to adhere to on May 3, after four partial days of hearings to determine whether he should get bail.

His conditions include a 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. curfew, residence at his sister's home, abstention from alcohol and non-medical use of drugs.

He also is prohibited from driving, must not associate with anyone known to him to have a criminal record and must stay out of establishments licensed to serve liquor, including restaurants.

The court has banned publication of testimony from the bail hearing.

Youth's bail is denied by judge

By Pauline Ashton
News* correspondent

Bail was refused to one of two young offenders charged with second degree murder in the killing of Alexandria resident Gerald Cuerrier, whose body was discovered March 28.

Judge Peter Wright turned down the youth's application for bail after several witnesses testified in a day-long hearing at the provincial court in Alexandria May 13.

Judge Wright banned publication of all proceedings during the hearing.

Crown Attorney Guy Simard would not comment on whether he plans to apply to have the juvenile's trial moved into adult court. No date has been set for trial.

The accused youth, who is being held at a Brockville detention centre, appeared tired and confused during the hearing.

He was dressed in a striped pouch shirt and dark trousers. His parents, grandparents, and other relatives were present in court.

The youth is one of three teenagers accused in the Cuerrier murder, two youths whose identity is protected under the Young Offenders Act, and 18-year-old Jason Horvath of Kenyon Township, also charged with second degree murder.

Police believe Cuerrier was killed by a gunshot from a service revolver belonging to Jason Horvath's father, an officer with the RCMP.

School board passes good news budget

Alexandria rate to drop, rest of county faces slight increase in public taxes this year

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry public school board supporters will get some tax relief this year.

The board has passed a budget which will see slight increases for most of Glengarry's municipalities and a tax drop for one county municipality.

The good news came in the approval of a hold-the-line $87.5 million budget at a school board meeting in Cornwall Monday night.

On average, public school suporters across SD&G will pay less in school taxes this year.

The total amount ratepayers are to contribute will drop by $147,000, from over $34.5 million to less than $34.4 million this year.

"It's good news from the standpoint of the ratepayers of SD&G," said Jim Dilamarter, director of education.

"It's a tough, tight budget. But these are tough, tight times."

The one Glengarry municipality that will see a drop in public school taxes is Alexandria. Public school supporters in the town will see their school taxes drop by slightly over one per cent.

The remaining Glengarry municipalities will see tax increases ranging from a low of .44 per cent for Lancaster Township, to a high of 2.44 per cent estimated for Lancaster village.

Maxville public school supporters will face a 1.7 per cent school tax hike, Charlottenburgh Township a .92 per cent hike, Kenyon Township a 1.74 per cent hike.

The difference in tax levels for the different municipalities is due to provincial assessment changes instituted this year, according to Dilamarter.

But for the most part, the rates will reflect each municipality's own assessment level.

The major portion of the budget, more than half, is comprised of salaries in wages. The board is budgeting $56 million for wages, about $1 million less than budgeted last year.

The $34.4 million in local taxation and approximately $39 million in provincial grants make up the bulk of the school board's anticipated revenue.

The good news budget should make SD&G taxpayers happy, but their benefit comes at a cost. Social contract cuts will mean some classes will have a much larger number of students.

Dilamarter said some class sizes will increase by one or two students, to a total of 36 students.

The number of classes with large numbers of students will increase over the next couple of years, due to cutbacks mandated in the province's social contract, he said.

But he does not expect any classes to reach the level of 40 students.

OPP to meet with town about policing service

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Alexandria town and police officials will meet with the Ontario Provincial Police's servicing branch on May 25 to discuss the town's request to take over police service in town.

The meeting, to be closed to the public and media according to Clerk Leo Poirier, will update town and police officials on the OPP's costing process and procedures for taking over police servicing.

It is unlikely any news on the chances of Alexandria getting OPP police service will come out of the meeting, according to Alexandria Police Chief Paul Deveau.

And it will likely be a while before the OPP reach the stage where they can can give the results of its costing study, he said at a Monday night police board meeting.

He said the police servicing branch of the OPP is bogged down with numerous requests from Ontario municipalities, and coupled with social contract cuts, it is taking eight to 15 months for the branch to complete the costing process for a municipality.

Deveau said he was told by the branch to go ahead and budget for the full year, because of the amount of time it is taking to do the studies.

Mayor Jean Paul Touchette, chairman of the town police services board, however, said it should not be much longer before word is received on the town request, saying a lot of time has already passed since the town first made the request.

Touchette, hoping for some word on the status of the request, asked the board to defer approval of the police force's annual budget until after the meeting with OPP officials.

The police are proposing a $470,000 budget for 1994-95, about the same amount spent by the force last year.

Kids risking lives playing in bales: plant owner

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

Some town children are playing a dangerous game of chance at the local woodshavings manufacturing plant, says Sanilit Limited's owner.

Two weeks ago workers at Sanilit discovered children had been tunnelling into the stacks of bagged woodshavings stored in the yard and had also tried to set fire to the shavings.

"Parents don't know their kids are doing this," said owner Hubert Sabourin, "and what they are doing could be very dangerous."

Sabourin is concerned that with no one at the plant during the weekends, a child could be crushed if the bags of shavings caved in or they could be seriously injured after a fall from the skids.

The shavings, sold for animal bedding, are bagged and stacked on

Race raises $2,800 for RRCA

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

The Raisin River Canoe Race is enjoying continued success long after racers' paddles have dried off.

As a result of their fundraising efforts prior to the annual canoe race, The Friends of Summerstown Forest donated more than $2,800 to the Raisin Region Conservation Authority.

More than $1,100 has been donated to the operation of the cross-country ski facilities at Summerstown Forest and $1,700 to the Cooper Marsh Conservation Area outdoor education program.

"We've had good support," said Garry Atchison of The Friends of Summerstown Forest.

"The race is well respected."

The Friends of Summerstown Forest raised the money by selling advertising space in the canoe race brochure and space on three race banners located in Williamstown, Martintown and St. Andrew's at the time of the race.

A king-size Camporee

1,200 Venturers, Cubs, Scouts learn to survive in Apple Hill, during international camp-out

By Brenda-Jane Kerr
News* reporter

About 1,200 boys and girls got together over the weekend for likely the biggest camp-out Apple Hill has ever seen.

They were participating in a 36-year tradition, called the International Camporee, that brought Venturers, Scouts and senior Cubs from Canada and the United States together for team building, friendship and getting back to nature.

"It is a unique opportunity to knock down some peer pressure for being a part of the Scouts and to see the larger group," said Canadian Camp Chief John Evans.

Among the group were 1,124 Scouts aged 11 to 14 years, 68 Venturers between 15 and 18 years and a senior Cub pack of 10- and 11-year-olds from as far as Albany, New York, Eastern Ontario, Toronto and the Dorval region of Quebec.

"It is an exercise in coordination and cooperation between two countries and two provinces," said Evans, "it is organized so smoothly."

During the weekend, sponsored by the Tri-District Adirondack Council, campers participated in several outdoor survival skills competitions including building a shelter, chopping wood, orienteering and assembling a sketcher, or travois, within a given time period.

There were also activities to encourage the boys and girls to mingle with other Scouts.

During registration, leaders gave the troups questions that dealt with the differences between Scouts Canada and Boy Scouts of America requiring them to ask each other for help in answering.

And for Saturday lunch, everyone was encouraged to 'trade a scout' and have lunch with someone they didn't know from the other country.

The Scouts also came together for pin and crest swaps that Evans said was, "very serious business," and a fun way for the boys to make new friends.

Besides the competition activities the campers could also earn up to 150 points in the ribbon troop challenge competition for the appearance of their campsite.

During the weekend the sites were inspected regularly for neatness, safety around the kitchen area, recycling and respect for nature.

Many sites were very sophisticated, with regulation grease and fire pits, elaborate front gates, constructed with no prefabricated materials and some had luxuries including a pizza oven and a turkey roaster.

Campers could not leave until release forms were signed by inspectors indicating the site had been returned to its natural look with sod replaced over fire and grease pits and ashes and garbage removed.

Many Scouts said the camping trips are their favorite part of being a Scout because they make new friends and have a lot of fun.

One group that seemed to have the most fun at the camporee was the only group of senior Cubs in attendance, who look forward to becoming Scouts next year.

The six 10- and 11-year-old from Dorval, Que., often spent up to three times longer than the others to complete some of the events but said they could do it and didn't want to give up.

The boys also said they can't wait to go to camporee next year as Scouts, which will be held in the United States.

Contractor denies ignoring road rules

Equipment was removed before shipping to keep transport float within legal limit

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

The contractor involved in work at Alexandria's sewage pumping station has denied ignoring Lochiel Township load restrictions for its load.

The township accused Alexandria of ignoring the half-load restriction during work to install a sewage splitter box at the plant, which resulted in the dumping of 3,140 cubic litres of raw sewage into the Delisle River last month.

But Clarence McDonald, president of Clarence McDonald Excavation Ltd., said measures were taken before the shipping of the equipment to ensure it met Lochiel Township's spring half- load restrictions.

"Before making the move, I removed certain attachments on the shovel and hauled them on my own float, putting the overall weight under Lapointe's legal five ton per axle limit," said McDonald in a May 9 letter to Lochiel.

He also took exception to Lochiel's claims that this is "yet another incident" it has been saddled with.

"This is the first time I have worked for the Township of Lochiel and therefore it is not another incident on our part as you implied."

He said he respects the "legal load system" and that is why he hired the Lapointe float, which has the most axles for transporting equipment in Eastern Ontario.

Michael Bray of Louis W. Bray Construction Ltd., the firm in charge of the sewage plant upgrade work, said in a letter to Lochiel that he has been reassured by McDonald that all the necessary steps to meet load restrictions were taken.

"He, as well as myself, apologize for not contacting you prior, however, we were not made aware that this was required."

In the future, they will see that the township is notified of equipment being transported to or from the site, he said.

As for the claim that this is "yet another incident," Bray said "I apologize, but I am not aware of what other incident that Louis W. Bray Construction is responsible for."

"We would like to be made aware of this incident so that we can make an attempt to resolve any dissatisfaction we may have caused."

Relations between Alexandria and Lochiel have been tempestuous in recent months. The alleged road infraction is the latest in a series of spats between the two municipalities.

The relations between the two municipalities struck a sour note last year, when Alexandria refused to drop the water and sewer rates it charges residents living just outside town boundaries in Lochiel to the same level paid by Alexandria residents.

Adding fuel to the fire was the Ministry of Environments's decision to dump raw sewage into the Delisle River, which flows through Lochiel, from the town's sewage pumping station during work to upgrade the facility.

The sewage dump took place last month, despite protests from area residents.

Lochiel Reeve Ron MacDonell, reached Monday, did not want to comment on the claims by the contractor that he had adhered to road load restrictions.

He added, a written covenant drafted by consultants laying out procedures to be followed when doing work impacting on Lochiel, should avoid future problems.

His foremost concern is that the municipality and its residents are informed beforehand of sewage work that may have a negative impact in the township.

"We just want to make sure our interests are looked after," he explained.

Char-Lan workshop teaches cooperation in high-tech setting

Teachers learn to get students into the cooperative mode of learning

By Greg Kielec
News* editor

Cooperation in a high-tech environment was the focus of a recent teachers' workshop at Char-Lan District High School.

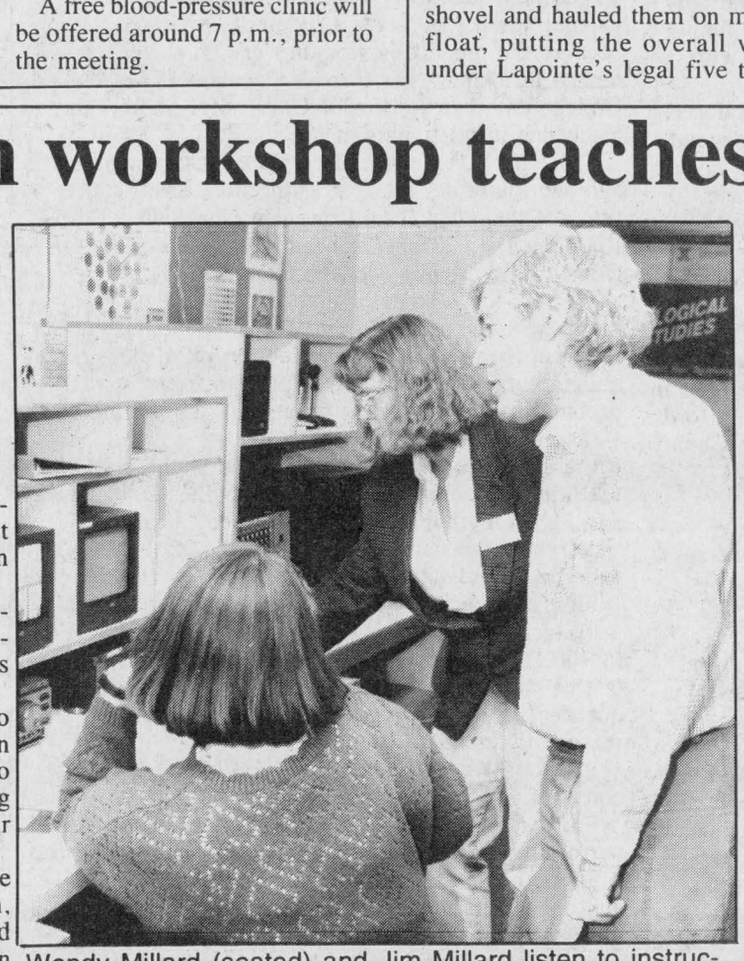
The workshop had teachers cooperating to pull together a multi-faceted project using different types of high-tech equipment.

The aim of the exercise was to show teachers how cooperation can bring a large-scale project to fruition, a lesson they can bring back to the classroom to give their students.

The exercise undertaken by the teachers pertained to the design, construction, test propulsion and multi-media promotional campaign of a propeller driven vehicle running on an electromagnetic rail.

Different teams of teachers worked to develop a wooden model, test the creation in a wind tunnel, mould a final test model out of plastic, add the propulsion unit to the vehicle, then get the vehicle to actually levitate and propel itself down an electromagnetic rail.

The track and the wind tunnel, both pieces of equipment a technology teachers' dream, were made by Carlisle's design technology students.



Wendy Millard (seated) and Jim Millard listen to instructions from Char-Lan teacher Nancy Van Velze during a workshop on cooperation in a high-tech environment.

Daniel Lapierre, a technology teacher at North Dundas District High School, initiates a successful launch of a test vehicle using wind propulsion and magnetic levitation, while other technology teachers look on.

At the same time work teams were fine-tuning the product, teams of teachers were working to come up with promotional posters sporting the image of the flashy red vehicle, and also a promotional video.

The work was all done in Char-Lan's high-tech communications lab, sporting state of the art computer, printing and video recording, editing and production equipment.

Each team was dependent on all the other teams, and all had to combine to complete the job and beat a set deadline for the project to succeed.

Craig Carlisle, a design technology teacher at Char-Lan, said the workshop was designed to create a bit of pressure for the teachers while at the same time teaching how to cooperate to bring the whole process together.

While the technology is interesting — "Magnetic levitation is hot," exudes Carlisle — it was not the technology that teachers were there to learn. It was the aspect of cooperation.

Nancy Van Velze, a Char-Lan communication technology teacher, said the workshop was a good exercise in cooperative problem solving and getting through glitches.

Teachers also learn how to use some students to provide leadership for student groups.

Van Velze said she often uses the technique in her communications teaching.

She finds sometimes students will take advice better from another student than they will from a teacher.

Has Victoria Day long lost its relevance?

The Victoria Day weekend is upon us, and along with it the long-awaited planting of the garden, opening of the cottage, and any one of a thousand other outdoor activities that traditionally signal the opening of another warm weather season.

It's a time of year that everybody is anticipating with eagerness, anxious to shake off the last, unpleasant memories of a wretched winter. Victoria Day weekend, however, is not one that is as visably and publically celebrated in Glengarry County or other small and big towns across the country as others, at least not the way it was many, many years ago.

Could it be that the celebration of the birth of a long-dead British monarch has long since lost its relevance? Of course it has.

But is that a reason for change? Probably not.

Victoria Day today exists only as an excuse for a day off work. For decades, it has not been a meaningful holiday to mark a moment in this nation's history and the effect this British queen has had on Canada's development.

Certainly over time, Canada has one by one snipped the constitutional, societal and cultural ties to Great Britain. We haven't reached the point of cutting out the monarchy and the parliamentary democratic system, but maybe the celebration of Queen Victoria's birthday is another piece of Old World England that would give way to a holiday with a reason for being. And she is, after all, one of the many symbols of British dominance over the French- Canadian population.

So should we make the holiday more relevant by re-naming it? Well, such a question may in itself seem irrelevant in these times when there are many more troubling issues in front of us.

But given the fact that we already have changed holiday names in one case from ''Dominion Day'' to ''Canada Day'' presumably to peel off one more tie with the Motherland, and while we are collectively trying to justify our staying together as a country, it's not an outrageous thought.

And when legislators get around to finally designating a day in February, Heritage Day, and re-writing the laws that designate such holidays, the re- designation of Victoria Day would legitimately be included in the debate. After all, they made much of the fact that they passed a bill of questionable importance in record time, by co-designating hockey and lacrosse as our official sports. Could the discussion on re-designating ''Victoria Day'' be any more or less onerous?

Perhaps not. But there is another question that needs to be answered first: does a holiday need to necessarily ALWAYS be meaningful and not simply enjoyed?

History aside, consider the words ''Victoria Day.'' They do have a warm sound to them, words that harken us all back to younger and simpler times. In many ways, they can be compared to chicken soup; while its medicinal properties are open to question, not a single doctor would disagree that it doesn't hurt.

Maybe, just maybe, Victoria Day should continue to exist, if only more as a state of mind than than in celebration of a queen's birthday.

Tourism publication must pay dividends to area

A big leap forward was taken by the SD&G Economic Development Department and the Seaway Valley Tourism Association with its just-released tourism guide and lure brochures. Both publications are colorful and easy-to-read and should provide the Seaway Valley tourist operators and store owners with dividends this summer.

In past years, such efforts were criticized as being too Cornwall or Seaway-oriented, and often tended to forget about the eastern half of the valley including Glengarry County. It's one of the reasons the Alexandria chamber this year felt obliged to produce its own separate lure brochure, due out in early June.

The 32-page small-format discovery guide, of which 50,000 copies have been produced (and will be distributed in West Island Montreal, suburban Ottawa and in visitor service bureaus on both sides of the border between Montreal and Trenton), allocates 10 pages to Glengarry including ads supplying consumer information, and lists bed and breakfast facilities here.

Some 25,000 lure brochures printed in English and French, designed to pique a visitor's interest, are equally attractive. Our one complaint is that Cornwall dominates these and promotes only the most traditional of tourist attractions when other facilities such as golf courses and swimming beaches may have been better highlighted.

But in the end, both publications represent a very professional effort in an attempt to show the visiting world that the Seaway Valley and Glengarry are very worthy of tourism promotion.

The RR1 Players take flight in area

Faces N' Places
by Joe Banks

Just a mile or so east on the Laggan Road, on a gloriously sunny May afternoon, a scene of song and music plays out in Cheryl Neill's backyard.

Guitar and banjo music waft through the air as a troupe of young men and women prace, dance, sing and act through lyrics and actions.

''Well if your shoes are wearing out,'' they sing, ''If you suddenly find a leak is springing from a spout, Or if you have an urge for saurekraut, All you really need, though some might call it greed, Is stacks and stacks and stacks and stacks of dough!''

The song is called Money, part of a musical titled ''Pink Bread'' the bunch is rehearsing. The irony is easily spotted; these are folks who have assembled a professional show on a shoestring production without a permanent home.

But then again, the RR1 Players are not your average troupe.

On this day, I am the sole member of the audience unless you count Cheryl's two big dogs woofing to escape past the front screen door. And the backdrop, not a stage, is Cheryl's 1820's-vintage stone house.

It is the home of one Cheryl Neill, ex-Montrealer who is sometimes creative dramatics instructor, sometimes newspaper cartoonist (known as Lefay for The Glengarry News), sometimes writer and producer of musical theatre and always Laggan-area resident for nine years.

But to come close to an accurate description of this bunch, anyone would have to take an off-the-wall sense of humor, a dab of that Neill cartoonist creativity, some rather extraordinary musical and writing talent and eight young Generation Xers, who are completely devoted to their mentor, and you begin to understand this is more than a job for all of them.

Preparing for the troupe's area debut at Vankleek Hill high school this Saturday, May 21, the RR1 Players are eager and happy to tell anyone who will ask why they're so refreshingly different -- and why audiences will be wowed by the side-splitting family humor, boisterous music and the obvious joy with which they perform.

For starters, Cheryl has written, scored, produced and directed the play every step of the way. Second, each of the players are willing to sacrifice the financial security that others of their generation chase, to devote their energies full-time to this fledgling two-year old production group.

And it's all, they tell you, because of Cheryl, a jack of all trades in the theatre business.

She wants to turn her corps into a functioning, travelling troupe of minstrels which would play venues for a fee, professionally employing them all in a craft too few Canadian men and women can afford to work at. And she hopes to make Glengarry County the troupe's centre of operations.

Stretched out on the lawn with the Players, Cheryl's pride in her gang is obvious.

''This is a tremendously talented troupe,'' she says without hesitation.

''Yes,'' jumps in a cutoffs-clad Mike Clancy, 25, ''That's talented with a capital T.''

''Except for Mike,'' quips Rebecca Allsopp. And any seriousness in Cheryl's comment flutters away into the spring breeze as the troupe breaks into laughter.

It's a typical moment with a raucous gang. And yet, the fun belies the fact that each of these people are talented graduates of Concordia's Bachelor of Fine Arts program, with specializations in Drama and Education. Some have been involved in leading storytelling workshops, and other theatre-related training.

Now, though, each are caught up in Cheryl's vision to take the troupe back to the nation's theatrical roots, to the days of folklore, storytelling and music, ''back when life was fun'' says Cheryl.

Fun, she says, is what it's all about. She compares what the RR1 Players are doing with improvisational theatre; she begins with a barebones script, and it evolves each time the Players rehearse, constantly changing with another piece of musical or choreographic inspiration from one of the performers or Cheryl herself.

Cheryl Neill, foreground, along with the RR1 Players, who hope to establish a home in Glengarry.

''My job is to nudge people,'' Cheryl says. ''The excitement comes from dropping these really fun characters down in an odd situation and then seeing what happens.''

And even though she has written 23 musicals for more than 20 years and saw 20 of them produced, it's the way she still prefers to assemble productions. She insists on the music and the lyrics fitting the character played according to the actor's interpretation.

This gives her group an edge that is becoming hard to find in more lavish, well-financed productions, she says.

That out-of-the-ordinary touch has served her well all the way back to her childhood in TerreBonne, Quebec when she played Cinderella in Grade 2 ''only because the other kids wouldn't cry on stage.'' It extended throughout her formal education at Macdonald College and then to McGill University. She became a teacher at just 19 years of age.

Teaching became her life's work but seven years ago she found her niche teaching drama and education at Concordia. Two years ago, she founded the RR1 Players and they've been looking for roots off Concordia's campus ever since.

Clearly, it's a labor of love.

Cheryl's enthusiasm is infectious as she talks about the troupe's work, being carried out on a shoestring budget with few props — the players frequently become inanimate objects throughout the productions — and a lot of creativity.

She calls what the audience sees after the curtain as ''kind of a combination of vaudeville, Dr. Zeuss and Monty Python.'' It's family-oriented fare but ''everybody gets something different out of it, everybody finds something they like.''

Flute, tamborine, guitar, banjo and other musical instruments are used to create a happy, jovial atmosphere in the production, titled Pink Bread, an old tale of petty jealousy that can end with serious consequences. In short, says Cheryl, there's plenty of reasons to attend.

''If you like music, come. If you like to laugh, come. If you want to bring kids, come.''

For the players themselves, it's more than mere performing.

Says Aengus Finnan, a Cobourg, Ontario native and one of the Players, ''Part of the interest of this group is to get out to smaller areas and bring this type of theatre, this tradition of music and laughter, into communities again.''

At the same time, adds Cheryl, ''we're trying to produce live acts in a Canadian bent'' by either inventing Canadian heroes or incorporating existing ones.

''There is always someone you can identify with.

The MacAllisters

Highland Paths
by Ken McKenna

First off, let's not argue about the spelling of the name. Spell it any way you like, but remember, as with all Gaelic names, there is only one way to spell it in that language and that is MacAlasdair. The MacDonalds (or MacDonells) have always been fond of the name Alexander, the English form of the name, as we discussed in a previous article. The chief of the MacDonells of Glengarry may be referred to in English as ''Glengarry,'' but his proper name in Gaelic is ''Mac Mhic Alasdair,'' ''the Son of the Son of Alexander.'' The Alexander after whom all the Glengarry chiefs are named lived in the Middle Ages. All Highland chiefs are known in Gaelic as descendants of some illustrious ancestor. The place where he lived, the lands he may have owned or occupied, may have been the most important means of identification in the non-Gaelic world, but were of secondary importance to the Gael, to whom ancestry and lineage meant more than wealth or possessions.

I don't know where I got the idea that the MacAllisters of Loup were the ''senior branch of the MacDonells of Glengarry,'' as I wrote in my column of April 13, but I know that I read it somewhere. Now I can't find my reference, and John MacCulloch, the Clan Donald geneologist, tells me that he believes the MacDonalds of Scotus or Scottas are the senior branch as that ''house'' has provided the chiefs of the clan for 300 years, and I am inclined to agree with him. Norman H. MacDonald in his book ''The Clan Ranald of Knoydart and Glengarry'' (p. 7), shows the progenitor of the MacAllisters of Loup as Alasdair Mor, (Big Alexander), one of the sons of Donald from whom Clan Donald gets its name. John MacCulloch shows the Loup family as the ancestry of Clan Iain Ruadh (Red John) of Knoydart. It's all too complicated for me, so if you want more information, contact John in Glen Robertson.

It has always puzzled me how the MacAllisters of Loup could be so closely tied to Glengarry. Loup, from the Gaelic ''lub'' which might mean a bend in the river, is in the parish of Kilfinnan, far to the south of Glengarry in the area known as Kerry in Argyll. The MacAllister MacDonalds had lived there ever since Clan Donald ruled the Kingdom of the Isles in the 12th century. Eventually Clan Campbell expanded throughout Argyll and the MacAllisters of Loup found themselves isolated far from their MacDonald clansmen. Kerry is also the territory of Clan Lamont, (pro. ''LAM-ond'') and we will talk about that clan at another time. It is interesting that the parish there is called Kilfinnan, which means the Church of St. Finnan. The MacDonalds were very fond of the memory of that obscure traditional saint of the early Celtic Church. (I am indebted for much of the information about Loup to Edith (Mrs. George) Major of Williamstown. who kindly donated The Imperial Gazetteer of Scotland (in 40 parts) to The Highland Society. It lists just about every known place in Scotland, and is a great help to me.)

The recent Clan Donald Ceilidh at the Maxville Sports Complex was a great success. Members of the MacCulloch School of Dancing and of the Glengarry Pipe Band put on a good show, as well as the Glengarry Gaelic Choir and three of the children from the Laggan School Gaelic Choir — Cameron McGillivray, Leah McDonell and Dawn McLennan. But where were the other children from the Laggan Choir that Fiona Fraser and Anne McKenna have been working with all year? The Highland Society and the members of the Gaelic Choir put a lot of time and effort into teaching children in local schools the songs and traditions of the Scottish Highland people who settled this area. To be invited to sing at a concert such as the Clan Donald Ceilidh is a wonderful opportunity to show why the Laggan School Choir won first prize last year at the Gaelic Mòd. Let's hope they ALL turn up for Feis-Glengarry and the Glenelg Pageant this year on Saturday, August 27 at Laggan School. We want to show them off, and their public wants to see and hear them.

Letters to the editor

Waste study not as advanced as indicated

To the editor:

The SD&G Waste Management Master Plan thanks you for your interest in our study, as indicated in your May 11th coverage of the presentation given to United Counties Council at its May 9th session as well as coverage given to the study in past weeks.

Your coverage of May 11th however, moves us along a little further than we actually are — mainly due to verb tenses. We appreciate the opportunity to offer additional information.

The quotation that "No sites have been chosen yet . . ." is correct. The remainder of the quotation " . . . and all sites have been investigated and discussed at public meetings held across the three counties" refers to activities that will occur in the future.

Where your article indicates exhaustive studies of the land have been done, sites have been investigated, and discussed at public meetings held across the Counties, the goals of the study are described correctly, except that the verb tense should be in the future — the candidate sites will be investigated, more study will be done, and meetings for the public will be held across the Counties. What the Study has now is a draft of some broad areas (on a mapping scale of 1:100,000) that have yet to be eliminated. The draft mapping is based on criteria which are used to "screen" ALL of SD&G. It's important to note that candidate areas require further examination since they are based on published information and not tested in the field. For instance, the criteria of groundwater cannot be mapped accurately at this broad level, according to our consultant. Work has been done on the criteria for the site selection process with the help of SD&G residents at a public workshop. Your correspondent correctly notes that a decision on whether one or more sites are suitable for SD&G has yet to be made.

So, we've got a way to go before we get to investigating possible sites. As soon as the mapping for candidate areas is complete it will be made available for public review. Public input is essential in this review. Copies of the criteria used in this preliminary step of the stie selection process are available from the Study Co-ordinator's office at: P.O. Box 240, St. Andrews West, Ont. K0C 2A0 or by calling 938-6112 or if that's long distance 1-800-267-2538.

We welcome your inquiries, and any inquiries from the public about the progress of the study. We take this opportunity to remind your readers that all Public Liaison Committee meetings and Steering Committee meetings are open to the public and are advertised in the coming events section of your newspaper.

Yours truly,
Anne MacGillivray,
Study Co-ordinator.

Maxville council doesn't want to hear his view

To the editor:

Where does Maxville fit in? . . . The saga continues! . . .

On Tuesday night, May 10, 1994, I was expecting to appear before the Maxville village council to brief them on the North Glengarry Economic Development Forum, which has been the subject of much ink in the past few weeks. I also expected to answer any questions that would seem to arise logically from my previous letter, which you published on May 5. This briefing had been arranged by the Maxville & District Chamber of Commerce and had already been deferred by a month from the April meeting.

A call came from the village clerk in the early afternoon of that day. Apparently I was not officially "on the agenda" and therefore, "couldn't speak." The reeve "does not wish you to speak," I was told. This despite the fact that I was the only Maxville resident at the forum and, thus, who could report in detail. I had the distinct impression that this was personal.

Although, as a taxpayer, I had a right to attend the council meeting anyway, I decided that this was probably one of those occasions when there was "no point in fighting city hall." (Unofficially, one councillor did offer to have me put on the agenda to speak at the June meeting, but I pointed out that this would be more than two months after the event and, therefore, of limited benefit to council.) I submitted my copy of the minutes from the forum to the village clerk to be tabled as council saw fit, and that, I suspect, is the last that will be heard of it.

All this goes to prove the point of my last letter. As I said in it, "If I am wrong, I will be pleased to be corrected." I make no claims to have "all the answers" but I believe I have raised some relevant concerns that cry out to be addressed frankly, publicly and urgently. These concerns are obviously shared by the many people who have called or stopped me in the street just to say "Right On!" about the letter. It is unfortunate that those who disagree with my opinions do not seem prepared to discuss it openly. I, for one, am looking forward to some constructive debate about Maxville's future . . . soon!

Yours truly,
Michael Cowley-Owen,
Maxville.

Players look for a home

This is fun theatre as opposed to the heavy, rigid play. The characters are always so vulnerable, the audience feels they can let their hair down and laugh."

This is what Shakespeare had in mind when he wrote and staged his soap operas for the public, says Cheryl: "Very much open, in-your-face comedy."

For Mike, that approach is perfect. But the reasons for his signing on with the Players is almost philosophical.

"Just knowing that you believe in this, is reason to put things on hold." Turning to Cheryl, he says, "I believe in you. I know I can take her words and apply them my way to my character."

Sue Bertola, 23, goes further than that.

"I didn't know I wanted to do this until I worked on the production last year. And that was it — Cheryl, I said, I devote my entire life to you."

She calls life with the RR1 Players "a life of play" despite daily rehearsals at Concordia from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Aengus says this kind of theatre, because of its modest requirements, is "very accessible and very needed. It has depth in its simplicity," and is not limited to a certain space or a certain group of people.

Rebecca Allsopp says the Players' work is something "we all believe in. It means more than a job. It's an attitude."

Indeed, no single Player gets away without a share of prop-making or writing publicity releases or any one of a hundred other small duties that every production, regardless of its modesty, needs.

"It's nice to be a part of a group that's so dedicated," adds Rebecca.

Cheryl beams with comments like that and is quick to use their comments as evidence that the aimlessness that has become stereotyped with Generation Xers is not in evidence here. Money takes a back seat to dedication.

"These are kids who have set goals and acted on them. They know what they want."

At first though, Brian Tordiff needed a job before he became a Player. But pragmatism gave way to the troupe's pursuit of excellence. Now, for him, it's about shaking off all the old rules they learned in school, and working with eight people "who want to work toward the same ideal."

"It's not about being rich," Sue agrees, who says she is happy to break even while she does something she loves to do. "It's about getting our theatre out to people because nobody has fun anymore."

She pauses, looking for the words. "At this point, it's for the love of the theatre. I know of no other group that's doing what we're doing. We have a niche."

That love has helped to embark Sue, Rebecca and Mike on a production of "Anne of Green Gables", the classic Donald Heron and Norman Campbell script, which they will perform in Hong Kong seven times in early September. It's a Concordia Players production, but the fact that Cheryl is involved along with three of the Players is ample proof of the level of professionalism.

In the long term, Cheryl says her group is seeking a permanent home theatre and they'd dearly love it to be Glengarry, in the best traditions of a family troupe.

Says Cheryl, "there is all sorts of potential here. The area really needs it and Montreal has so many of these already, they've become a little jaded. Here, I know we would have a warmer response."

The RR1 Players will stage a performance for $400 — half the price of Montreal-based troupes. Corporate sponsorships for performances are invited and welcome. That also means each show is reasonably priced "so it doesn't cost 50 bucks for parents to take their kids."

Saturday's show will be the first area appearance for the troupe, but Cheryl says quite convincingly that it won't be the last.

"We're willing to perform anywhere, anytime. It's just a matter of finding our audience for the first time. We want to be able to start something that is viable to support young artists. It's very important that we have things like this, to help make a career out of the performing arts for a talent outlet.

"It's part of a new respect for what can be done if you want it."

And from what Cheryl's followers say, there is little doubt the rest of the RR1 Players agree.

Mass of ordination

Last Saturday, in St. Finnan's Cathedral, I had the privilege of assisting at the mass of ordination to the priesthood of Allan John Ranald MacDonald from St. Raphael's and conferred by His Excellency Reverend Eugene LaRocque — Bishop of Alexandria-Cornwall.

It was a very heart-moving and beautiful ceremony in which our bishop told us that since two years, five new priests have been ordained in the diocese.

We certainly wish Father Allan the best of luck in his new and sometimes difficult role of priesthood.

The Meals on Wheels Committee of the Glengarry Outreach Services held its monthly Diners' Club luncheon at the Glen Robertson Recreation Centre last Thursday.

Some 24 people got together to enjoy a delicious lunch and stayed on to visit with friends and play bingo.

Watch for information for upcoming events and come and join us.

Winners of the Club 65 euchre were: Yolande Boucher, Huguette Titley, Louise Nother, Marguerite Carriere, Aline Lalonde, Gisele Titley and Lionel Ouimet.

Steve Nother was the recipient of the skunk prize while the door prize went to Irene Quenneville.

Draw winners were Betty McDonell, Mance Menard and Viola Ledoux. Last card party before the summer break will be on May 24.

A closing supper and dance will be held on Saturday, June 4 at the social centre. Please buy your tickets ahead of time if you plan to attend.

Sincere sympathy is extended to all the family and friends of Emile Hurtubise of Lancaster who died last week. Emile and Rita Hurtubise were residents here for many years.

Also, our condolences are offered to the family and friends of Bruno Menard of Montreal who passed away. He was the husband of the late Suzanne Laferriere, formerly of Glen Robertson. His funeral was held last Monday in St. Martin of Tours parish.

Library news

The library was a little busier in April than in the same month last year and on the first day it was open in May, four new children joined.

With the arrival of spring — at last — your thoughts may be turning to gardening. We have two or three gardening books on the shelves and, if you want a specific book, we can probably get it from headquarters. Just ask the librarian.

Gun owners may be interested in some material the library has just received from the Department of Justice.

The sections of the law concerning the control of firearms are outlined in detail and there is also a student's handbook on Firearms Safety.

This covers various types of guns, their operation and handling, types of ammunition, storage of weapons and ammunition, firing techniques, etc.

A training video will be available at a later date.

The library hours are on Tuesdays 6 to 9 p.m. and on Thursdays 2 to 5 p.m.

Bonanza winner of last Saturday's bingo was Irene Quenneville of Alexandria.

Mystery game went to Sandy Soulliere of Hawkesbury and the jackpot to Pauline Chretien of Williamstown and Louise Borris of Green Valley.

Along with friends and relatives they attended the burial of Inez (MacIntosh) MacGillivray at Kirk Hill United cemetery.

After-dark grass fires banned by Lochiel

Lochiel council will dust off grass fire regulations which forbid burning grass after dark, to cut down on false fire alarms.

Reeve Ron MacDonell suggested grass fire permits and the Township and Alexandria Fire Department be given dates of grass burning.

Controlled grass fires can cost a cool $1,000, if a neighbor calls the fire department, Lochiel resident Maurice Jeaurond discovered.

Jeaurond explained to Lochiel council he had four men watching the burn on his farmland.

"The wind was low, and with a slight rain, burning conditions were perfect in April, when fire trucks, called by a concerned neighbor drove up," he said.

"I had the fires out in 15 minutes after talking to the chief," Jeaurond said.

"I just wanted to explain to you how it happened and I don't think I should have to pay when someone else calls in the fire department."

A grand week in Williamstown

Williamstown
by Sue Harrington
347-2279

It was a grand week for Williamstown — a real showcase of the talents and achievements of our residents. Initiative, enterprise, caring, and lots and lots of hard work made the days ones we will look back upon with pride. The only thing to suffer was our leisure time and we really CAN have too much of that, sometimes!

The fanfare of the Fun Fair at Williamstown Public School was the perfect culmination to the week-long 30th anniversary bash. Children and their parents turned out in good numbers to do things appropriate for families to do together. There were games to be played, barbecue favorites to be gobbled, and races to be won.

The principals' trike race was hotly contested, and when Grant Edwards lurched to victory, there were cries of, "no fair," from former principals who claimed a dog had interfered with their progress! Any excuse, I guess.

Over at the teddy bear hospital, Bear Nurses Cavell and Veillette, examined and mended ailing bears, soothing worried mothers and explaining that often proper diet was the key to a hale and hearty teddy. You see, it seems that while some bears are content to eat honey, there are others who thrive on gummy bears!

Resident pharmacist, Alex MacDonald, will no doubt be filling countless prescriptions in the coming weeks!

But even well-planned days (give the weatherman an A plus!) have their unexpected moments. Such a one occurred when one of the games — a Tic Tac Toe outdoor bean bag toss — was accidentally sold when it was placed near the White Elephant table. If you happened to buy this game and would like to see it restored to its original child owner, please call the school. A "deal" can no doubt be worked out.

The logo of WPS, is a beaver in a triangle, the beaver standing for you-know-what (NOT the orthodontist fees facing elementary school aged children's parents). The triangle represents the union of parents, teachers and children, and teacher Cathy Kinloch says that the week-long events were "a true workout of the triangle." Everyone helped out in so many ways, that it is impossible to single out individuals. So let us just say, "Thanks to you and you and me and me," for the hard work and co-operation which produced such a fun-filled week.

All kinds of material has been collected about the 14 schools which combined over the years to produce WPS. The books of memorabilia will be retained in the school library. If you didn't have a chance to read through them last week, please do so soon. They are wonderful!

And anyone coming across anything pertinent from any of the old schools, please don't dispose of it. The plan is to have a book written some day. All information is valued, so keep bringing it in to the school.

The years of schooling at our local establishments helped to put Williamstown on the educational map recently, when the senior Canada Quiz team from Char-Lan won the championship for SD&G, defeating a team from North Dundas, by a hangnail score of 50-49.

Members of the team, which was coached by Sue Payer and Doris Ferguson, included Chrystal van Riel, Robbie Prevost, Derek MacGregor, Mike Rzepczyk, and Norman Lauzon.

Char-Lan also entered a second senior team made up of James Doonan, Lance Brabant, Heather Williams, and Christine Sloan, and two junior teams. The junior team of Ariana Winn, Kevin O'Farrell, Heather Smith and Jeff Girard lost in the finals, also against North Dundas. This runner-up team was coached by Mary Jane Ferguson.

The second junior team of Jaye Makinson, Richard Malo, Sommer Robertson, Nina Craig, and Trevor Atchison had as a coach, Mary Jane's husband John, who had at one point uttered those fateful words, "If you can't find anyone else . . ."

The Canada Quiz teams from Williamstown Public, managing to dodge anniversary and music festival events, still finished highly respectably in both their categories.

Coached by Penny Cavell and Lynn Larkin, the junior team of Colleen Atchison, Nara Anderson, Michael O'Farrell, and Eric Cumming placed fourth among the 22 teams competing. Other team members, Vera Cumming, Grace Rawnsley and Jenny Larkin opted to participate in the music festival.

The intermediate team from Grades 7 and 8, comprised of Valerie Winn, Simon Harrington, Sarah McDonald, Willy Larkin and Connor Kinnear, and coached by Ainar Smiltnieks, also had a good day.

The coaches would like to thank the Rotary Club for its contribution to the Canada Quiz competitions which enable our students to "show what they know!"

And now a little dirt — of a very good kind — the kind you have to dig for. It seems that Amy Ward had a recent visit from her father, who lives in Saskatchewan. While chatting, her father mentioned that a community near his had started a "grow a row" program, whereby people putting in gardens, added an extra row this year in order to grow food for area food banks.

Amy picked up on the idea, and contacted J. P. Lepage of the Agape Centre in Cornwall who said he would be delighted if fresh produce were donated to help the centre.

So there it is. In the next week or so (?), when you are planting, dig a little extra, throw in a few more seeds, and give your extra yield to those who need it. After all, those boxes of KD can get pretty tiresome after a while!

When harvest time comes, Amy says she would be glad to take the food in to the centre in Cornwall, say on a weekly basis, or perhaps there would be others willing to haul in a load. Will let you know when the time is ripe!

Letitia Lynn Cumming was born on Thursday, May 12 to Mary and Alex Cumming. "Lynn" as she will be known, is a sister for Eric and Bryce and "My very own baby," for big sister, Pamela.

Congratulations to you all!

Five little people were baptized at St. Andrew's United Church on May 8, which, appropriately, was also Mother's Day. Rev. Caroline Turner performed the sacrament.

Baptized were Kimberly-Ann Warden and Elizabeth Hope Warden, daughters of Neil and Kelly-Lee Warden; Nicholas Kevin Comtois, son of Kevin and Wanda Comtois, and Brenna Elizabeth MacNaughton-Seguin and Keriann Patricia MacNaughton-Seguin, daughters of Shelley MacNaughton and Michael Seguin.

The Char-Lan Reunion Committee has received word from Don Boudria's office that it has received a Challenge '94 grant to hire a student for eight weeks, beginning immediately.

The student, who must be returning to school in the fall, will be an all round gopher (go fer this, go fer that), and will help with the deluge of registrations expected as the May 25 deadline approaches.

But don't get your hopes up. I'm told by the time this appears in your newspaper, the student will have already been hired!

I hope to get some news other than of the school variety in this column next week. In the meantime, those of you who look forward to the Green Thumbs' annual plant auction, please take note that it will be held this year on May 30 at 8 p.m. in Irvine Hall.

* * *

The Char-Lan School Committee meeting, scheduled for tonight (May 18) in the school library at 7:30 p.m. has been postponed until next Wed. (the 25th), same place, same time.

Grist Mill tour was held

Martintown
by Lillian Rouleau

On Wednesday, May 11, a group of interested persons met at the Martintown Grist Mill at 7 p.m. for a tour conducted by Marland Murray.

With flashlight in hand, they saw the old mill and some of its unique equipment, many of them for the first time.

Those who had worked on the stabilization committee had a great sense of accomplishment in having had the privilege to take part in saving this valuable historic landmark, which had been such a vital part of Martintown's heritage.

They were also very happy to have some new members interested in keeping this building for the future generations.

Coming out of the mill, they stood on the river bank, watching the beautiful sight of the walleye and other fish spawning in the rapids.

Looking down the river, Marland pointed out the remains of the foundation of the old tannery, and standing in awe, they could visualize the necessity of the river and the mills to the early life of Martintown.

From there, they proceeded to the home of Marland and Pearl Murray for a meeting of the Martintown Mill Preservation Society Corp.

Minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report for 1993 were read and approved.

Brian Shackleton, Ernie Higginson, Charles and Grace Brauns were appointed as new directors to serve for the coming year.

With regret, they accepted the resignation of Joan McDonald as director, due to other commitments.

A discussion on the preservation of the water turbine, which is badly deteriorating, took place. It was the general concensus of the meeting that the turbine should be preserved, as it is a Leffel Horizontal Turbine, and the only one left of its kind.

The meeting closed with a light lunch.

Students return with gold

Martintown Public School students are bringing home countless awards from their competition in the Kinsmen Music Festival held over the last two weeks.

Congratulations to everyone, and some results which are not available at press time will appear in next week's column.

The school choir, directed by Dave Irwin received a gold for their rendition of "The Coasts of Barbary," and a silver for their entry in the rounds and canons class.

Jimmy Vander Burg, Grade 2, a gold; Sandra Leishman, Grade 3, a silver; Alyth Kersley, Grade 3, a silver; Krystal Hamilton, Grade 3, a bronze; Travis Lafave, Grade 1, a gold; Stacey Lafave, Grade 5, a gold; Emily Sloan, Grade 5, a silver; Sara Waldrif, Grade 5, a bronze.

In the senior double duets class, performing "May I learn to be silent," Martintown's two entries won a gold.

Special thanks to accompanists Joan McEwan and Penny Stokes, who worked with the students to help prepare them for the festival.

A music-filled school assembly was held at 11 a.m. on Monday morning, when the Char-Lan Choir entertained students and staff and the Martintown Choir joined in with a performance of their own.

In other schools news, students will take part in softball tournaments Thursday, May 19, when the junior team will compete in Lancaster and the senior team will be in Maxville.

4-H club

On Wednesday, May 11 at the Martintown Community Centre, the final meeting on social recreation was held, with the 4-H members enjoying a fun evening of games and refreshments.

A special thanks to Bianca Portner for baking a cake, and the 4-H leaders for providing the pizza and drinks. New members received plaques, and all members received their achievement sticker for completing the social recreation project.

Special recognition went to Kim Bold for completing 12 clubs and to Blaine Kinloch for completing six.

Court Report

The following are among the cases dealt with by Judge Diane Nicholas in Alexandria provincial court on May 5.

Man granted conditional discharge

A 19-year-old Williamstown man who pointed a B.B. gun at a jogger has been granted a conditional discharge.

Jeffrey Breckenridge pulled his car up to the jogger on Dec. 15 of last year, pulled out the gun and ordered the man to put his hands up.

After the jogger complied, Breckenridge drove away from the scene.

A pre-sentence report prepared for the case underlined Breckenridge's spotless background. The report also stated that Breckenridge considered the incident a stupid joke which he now regretted.

Assistant Crown attorney Guy Simard did not request the court to jail or fine Breckenridge.

"Considering his background, he's allowed one stupidity in life," said Simard. "And this is it."

The terms of the conditional discharge included a 12-month probationary period and 75 hours of community service.

Fine for prohibited driver

A 36-year-old Maxville man who rode a motorcycle while prohibited from driving by the courts has been fined $500.

John Wensink was riding the motorcycle south of Maxville in July of 1991 when he was spotted by a police officer. Wensink readily admitted to being a prohibited driver at the time of the arrest, and explained he had only taken the motorcylce for a test run after making a few repairs.

He was granted six months to pay the fine.

Quebec man fined

A 36-year-old Quebec man was fined $4,295 for a violation of the excise act.

Richard Driver was charged in June of last year after being found in possession of a quantity of smuggled tobacco products.

The court gave Driver two years to pay the fine.

Warning to children

12-foot by eight-foot skids and stand 25 feet high.

Wrapped in tarps, they are stacked two skids high, more than 50 feet, in the company yard and stand about one foot apart.

A group of children climbed to the top of the 12-ton skids and once on top, they cut a flap opening in the tarps of six skids.

They removed several bags of the shavings creating a shaft down the middle of the skids, a fort-like room inside and tunnels out the sides.

What worries Sabourin further is the evidence found that indicates the children tried to set fire to the shavings.

When reassembling some skids, candy wrappers with burned edges were found inside one of the forts along with some charring on one of the bags of shavings.

An empty Bic lighter bag that once contained several lighters was also found.

"My intention is to warn the parents and help some parents to question their kids," said Sabourin.

"I want to prevent an accident."

Sabourin speculates there were at least six children involved in the recent incident and said one child carved his name in a bag of shavings.

The name was Steven.

One week before the incident Sabourin said he received a phone call on Saturday afternoon telling him that some children were playing in the yard.

When he arrived at the plant he found two girls and two boys between the ages of 12 and 14 playing between the skids.

He said he was satisified that after speaking with them that they had listened to him and left the property.

Sabourin has contacted the OPP and asked if officers would speak to children at Alexandria schools.

So far he said only the principals have been contacted about the incident, which he feels doesn't help deter the children.

He hopes that by going public, parents will speak to their children.

"I don't want it to happen again. It worries me that the next time it could be a life."

"I don't want these kids to risk their lives," said Sabourin.

Brian Goudie caught the most fish (5). Patrick Desjardins had the biggest catch at 26 1/4 inches, and Micheline Champagne had the smallest fish in her hand at three inches. Matthew Beaudin owned the longest worm and Eric Cyr the shortest one.

Appreciation goes to all the sponsors who donated prizes and to the Optimist members and especially to the kids who came out to enjoy themselves.

Line dancing

Instructor Beverly Hincks reports that line dancing classes will be off for the summer and will resume in September.

The last Fitness and Exercise class will be held in early June.

Busy garage sale

The Community Garage Sale held at the public school and sponsored by the Community Library was quite successful, with some 20 vendors participating. Proceeds will go to the library fund for the purchase of books in large print and talking books.

Appreciation goes to the Martintown Public School for the use of their facility. A pair of clip-on sunglasses was found in the parking lot and turned in to organizers. Contact person is Jean Butler, 528-4319.

Jamboree taking shape

The Planning Committee met on Monday evening, May 16 in the community centre and forged ahead with plans in organizing the Community Jamboree for this summer. A banner has been made and will be installed soon. Bands are booked and games and activities for all age groups are planned. Everyone is invited to come out and enjoy a family fun day on Sunday, July 10.

Volunteers are needed for periods of one or two hours, to work at the barbecue stand (hot dogs and hamburgers), between the hours of 2 and 8 p.m. The contact person is Margaret Prieur at 528-4272.

Hats off

Hats off to Glen Runions, who, once again this spring, went to work on his own initiative, and cleaned both ditches along the Kinloch Road, from the King's Road to the South Branch Road.

Glen could be seen working over a period of a few days, picking up litter accumulated over the winter. Several garbage bags were filled, with cans and bottles sorted out for recycling.

Kudos to this local resident who shows by his actions that he is committed to the care of the environment.

Condolences

Heartfelt condolences are extended to the family of retired Martintown postmistress Hazel McIntyre, who passed away Saturday, May 14 at the Janet MacDonell Pavilion, at the age of 72. Her funeral service was held in the St. Andrew's United Church, Tuesday, May 17 at 2 p.m.

UCFO Mother of the Year named

North Lancaster
Bernadette Campeau
347-2572

The regular monthly meeting was held last Tuesday at the Ste. Thérèse School, North Lancaster, for the members of the UCFO. It is the custom, at the May meeting to name the mother of the year and Claire Campeau (Mrs. Alcide) was crowned for the evening and given a lovely hanging basket of geraniums.

Later members enjoyed listening to three veteran moms talk about their souvenirs of younger days which proved to be quite different from modern day motherhood. One was from a family of 10, the other a family of 12 and the third from a family of eight.

Plans were finalized for the upcoming bake and craft sale this Saturday, May 21 at the township hall. Ladies were asked to bake lots of goodies.

The two winners of the 50/50 draw were Thérèse Bourbonnais and Fleurette Major. The winner of for crafts was Lucille Campeau while Angeline Poirier got the door prize.

There is a new business in our town. It is a chip wagon and is located next to the general store. If you notice the residents of North Lancaster getting fatter, you'll know why.

Solid Gold for Band

Congratulations again to the ESRG-GDHS Senior and Jazz Bands for capturing gold in all their musical selections at the National Music Festival finals in Toronto, May 11-15.

Thrilled with their success and memorable fun-filled "weekend" in Toronto are village students Amy McCormick and Donald Roy, North Lancaster area students Ginette Poirier, Angela Amstutz, Angela Robinson, Rachel and Matthias Meier, Carolyn Zagari, Jasmine Bleile and Nancy Paavila. Hats off to our deserving musicians and to their devoted accomplished instructor and leader Pierre Vaillancourt.

Optimists roast past president

Last Saturday evening May 14, Optimist past president Gilles Glaude and his wife Betty were roasted at Landings Marina in the beautiful Creg Quay setting by an intimate gathering of friends, relatives and members of the North Lancaster Optimist Club.

After enjoying a finger-licking buffet in a relaxed atmosphere, Gilles was humorously roasted in turn by former past president and emcee André Leroux, treasurer Normand Vaillancourt, vice-president Pierre Bourbonnais, newly elected president Richard R. Glaude, actual president Roch Rozon and by long-time North Lancaster friend Diane Roy.

All stressed the amount of "time" Gilles devoted to all his Optimist duties, though he was rarely on time for many of them and the wonderful dedication of both Betty and Gilles toward the Optimist cause. On behalf of the Optimist Club, Donald and Diane Roy presented the couple with tokens and souvenir gifts of appreciation.

Sincere congratulations to Gilles for his successful Optimist year and to his wife Betty for her continuous generous support.

Phase 2 complete at Manor

Maxville
by Gordon Winter
527-2888

With the completion of Phase 2 at the Manor, last week was a very busy one there. Phase 2 consisted of renovating what used to be known as the South and East wings and building a new wing between the two. All the residents of the Centre and West wings were moved last week into their new rooms.

Visitors and volunteers at the Manor are becoming accustomed to a new nomenclature for the wings. It will be in full use when Phase 3, the renovation of the Centre wing is completed.

The Town Square has been assigned A. Then moving around counter-clockwise, Wing B will be the former Centre Wing, Wing C is the former South Wing, Wing D, a new one, Wing E, the former East wing and wings F and G are the two new wings that have been in use since late last summer.

The rooms in all the renovated wings are all single while some of the rooms in the brand new wings are double. All the married couples are in Wing D.

MacLeod relatives from the area who attended the funeral for Don Shaver in Toronto were Shirley Ferguson, Campbell and Lois MacLeod and Norman Ferguson. Jack McLean, Toronto, was able to represent Maxville friends.

Mrs. Ferguson stayed for a few days with her sister, Melba Shaver, and was driven home by Rodney Shaver accompanied by his mother and aunt Alma Metcalfe.

Herb MacKillican, Bath, has been spending a few days with his sister, Margaret Munroe.

mistaken too, and we do apologize for having Hilda Villeneuve, formerly from Athol, a year older than she actually is. On May 18, Miss Villeneuve will be celebrating her 90th birthday, for sure. She is now a resident of Maria Goretti Nursing Home in Alexandria and enjoys excellent health. She is the last surviving member of the James Villeneuve family.

It is interesting to note that this lady wanted to be a nun when she was young but was turned down because of health reasons. Nevertheless, her life has been one of service to others and this correspondent feels confident that she feels richly blessed as a result of all her good works down through the years.

Julie and Ralph Williamson, Tayside, have a new son, Justin Drew, born on May 3 in Ottawa. The baby is a brother for Tyler and his Maxville grandparents are Beth and Don Williamson and his great grandparents here, Chris and George Chase. We extend very best wishes to this family.

Since his graduation, Ralph has been working at the Manor on the construction project there.

Steve Titus, manager at the sports complex, phoned to clarify a point concerning the finances there. In a previous issue of the Glengarry News, Maxville Council Briefs correctly reported that the complex books showed a deficit of $23,000 for 1993. However, what was not reviewed was that there were capital expenditures of $64,389 to upgrade the facilities. These included a more efficient heating system, air conditioning and other renovations in the hall and better lighting. These capital expenditures were the largest since the sewer project here and if they had not been made, the complex would have shown a profit of about $9,000.

Ruth McIntosh, curator of the Pioneer Museum in Dunvegan, wishes to acknowledge the gift of another old ledger book from the Gordon MacKillican family. It contains the records of the Lochinvar Cheese factory beginning in 1904 and recorded by William E. MacKillican, grandfather of the above family members.

In 1898, Mr. MacKillican bought what was then known as the McTavish farm and now owned by Wayne Lothian. Mr. MacKillican had moved to Lochinvar from Breadalbane and found the location too far removed from a cheese factory. He and a Mr. McMillan organized a co-operative group and built the factory at the Lochinvar corner. Mr. MacKillican served as secretary-treasurer until 1910 when he sold the farm and moved to St. Elmo where he died in 1929. This farm was operated by his son Lyman and is now part of the larger farming area of Ralph McIntosh.

Tony Beaudette gave an excellent presentation on last Sunday's Valley Farmer program on the use of fibre and lime wastes from Domtar in Cornwall. The Beaudettes are very enthused about the use of this waste and are readily making use of it on their large cropping acreage.

Perhaps municipal politicians from closer to Cornwall and who are finding it difficult to study and make a decision on the use of this waste, should at least consult Tony or his father, Bert. With Tony speaking for this large farming operation on the program, it should be obvious to all that he is now the "chief."

A problem still exists in the village for some householders, seniors in particular. They have their yards raked and this usually means there are several bags of leaves to get rid of. These people are not able to compost, at least such a large volume of leaves all at once. The garbage collector is told that he is not to pick up leaves while at the same time each household is entitled to two bags of garbage per week.

This problem will not go away and this correspondent believes that a central composting facility is the only solution.

The Stanley Cup parade is still on as long as the Maple Leafs continue to win. There are many vocal fans ready to organize the parade when they know their team has won the Cup yet there are others who have been loyal fans of the Canadiens who are ready to stand along the parade route and indicate their disappointment vocally.

To the quieter fans of the Boston Bruins we extend our condolences and advise them not to lose hope.

The executive is as follows: Lori St. Denis, president, Lisa St. Denis, vice-president, Donna McDonell, secretary and Shawna Bankley, press reporter. Other members are: Nathan Bankley, Anique Carriere, Jacinthe Jeaurond, Colleen Cleary, Wanda McDonell and Louise Hamelin. Leaders are Hillary Nixon and Karen Kingston. The meeting was closed at 8:45 p.m. and then snacks were served.

Your correspondent wishes to compliment Shawna for her well written report.

The newsletter from the public school indicates that a profit of approximately $3,000 was made on the Pen Sale. Trudy Biscope and Jeff Waugh were the top sellers.

The school's Canada Quiz teams did very well. We congratulate Rodney Benton, Stacey Benton, Bruce Libbos, Kaleena McCrory and Melissa McIntosh who placed ninth out of 22 Junior teams and Pieter Funnekotter, Caroline Hare, Amie Munroe, Michelle Ractliffe and Cathy Toxopeus who were on the Senior team and placed second. Their coaches were Joan Dewar McKay and Anne Presley.

Close to $3,000 was raised for Jump Rope for Heart. This amount exceeds last year's which was $2,237.31.

The school has been fortunate in having Takako, a lovely young lady from Japan working with the students this year. May 31 will be her last day in the school before she returns home to Japan. For making it possible for the school to have this intern, two host families are thanked, Maryanne Kampouris and Michael Cowley-Owen and Doreen and Allan Crites.

Jeff Oakes, a parent who lives at Sandringham is coordinating a White Elephant booth at the KAS fair with the students of Grades 7 and 8 as a fundraiser.

Rosemary Harden, the school's music teacher is thanked and congratulated for the very successful performances at the Music Festival. The Senior Choir and the Glengarry Children's Chorus each received gold awards.

The soloists were recognized as follows: gold awards went to Rebecca Williamson, Angela Sabourin, Rachel Paquette, Jennifer Little and Matthew Delaney; silver to Shannon MacEwen, and Melissa Marjerrison and bronze to Cathy Toxopeus, Crystal Sauve, Tiffany MacLeod, Jodi Rolland, Megan Munroe, Sarah Garneau and Bodiene Amyot.

Bird-watching is one of the fastest growing hobbies in North America, according to a recent publication. We still have a few goldfinches at our niger seed feeder but one day last week a few pine siskins enjoyed a feed and two (likely a pair) white crowned sparrows have been around. Their distinct, black, longitudinal stripes on their heads, identify this species.

I hope the barn and tree swallows feed on black flies too. These bothersome insects made their appearance on Sunday.

We seem to have lost the strain of black squirrels with a red tail but I saw one the other day with a white tip on the end of its black tail.

Alderic Bray, Tayside, set me straight on the location of the old swimming hole as talked about in Ralph Connor's Glengarry School Days. I always thought it was west of the Athol School house, now at Upper Canada Village. Ice used to be harvested there. However, Mr. Bray, knows and this was confirmed by Donald McIntosh that the swimming hole was farther south and just north of the buildings where Ronald and Janice Metcalfe live. Previous farm owners were Mr. McIntosh and Dan McEwen.

Home care for former tabagie?

Business Beat

By Joe Banks, 525-2020

Sam Sultan, the new owner of the former Tabagie St. Denis, tells us he's exploring new options for the one-time corner convenience and lottery tickets store situated on the corner of Catherine and Main streets in Alexandria. He recently purchased it from Euclide St. Denis.

So far, his leading option is a home health care supply store that would stock wheelchairs, walking aids, incontinence supplies and numerous other specialized goods of interest to seniors and chronic care patients. He is checking regulations to see what kind of staffing requirements he would need.

At the moment Sam is busy getting the two businesses incorporated together, transferring the stock from the former St. Denis store into his inventory. After that, Sam plans to come up with a new approach to merchandising the goods in his pharmacy, by emphasizing new and competitive pricing on daily use items including stomach remedies, cough medicines and hair supplies.

"I will offer the consumers very competitive, rock-bottom prices on those items, in contrast to the few items that we used to offer on special."

Customers will be able to come in any time and buy new goods at competitive prices.

It may take "a few months" to effect the change, and Sam is exploring other options including a dollar store or a specialized women's lingerie store. But the home care store is one Sam feels is especially needed because customers now have to travel to Cornwall for these products.

Lalonde's store keeps expanding

Renovations and modernization to Lalonde's Pronto General Store on Main Street, Alexandria were completed last week.

The changes will provide customers with a new modern look, brighter, more spacious surroundings, and more product lines and variety.

The Lalondes, said Bruno's son Bernie, invested at least $10,000 to $15,000 in the changes. Bernie tells us there are more changes to come and customers will be even more pleased in the near future. What other changes would that include?

"We'll leave that open until the next time," Bernie laughs. "We're still in the planning stages."

Lalonde's put in a new meat counter last March and it has been a popular addition since.

Diaper supplies in Lancaster

A new cotton diaper supplies service is knocking the starch out of area baby-cleaning chores.

Consultant Janice McDonald of Lancaster's eighth concession started Indisposable Cotton Diapers this past January.

Products offered at the company include everything for the new mom andor baby including diapers, bibs, nursing pads and bras, creams and others. All products are environmentally friendly and reusable. Customers can either go to her residence to view the products that are available or she will take products to them.

Janice can be contacted at 525-4503.

President wants to focus on needy

Glen Walter
by Ron Holla

It seems the area weather can't make up its mind whether it is getting warmer or colder. Although leaves are now out on the trees and flowers are blooming, the temperature some nights has been downright cold and it seems strange to still be using the woodstove this late in May.

President's goals

More involvement in crafts and helping needy people in the community are two of the goals of the incoming president of the Precious Blood Catholic Women's League (CWL), Shirley Ingram.

"Starting in September, I would like to see us do more craft work, so that we can sell some things and donate the proceeds to area families in need," Ingram said in a recent interview.

"Our goal is to help a couple of area families at least — with Christmas gifts or food."

Ingram said it is important to demonstrate that the CWL is not just work all the time.

"Many of our members mentioned the possibility of doing crafts," she said. "I want people to realize that it is not just work, work, work."

New club

An organizational meeting held May 15 at Precious Blood Elementary School has resulted in the formation of Glen Walter's newest service club — the Club Optimiste de Glen Walter.

Alain Dumont, principal of Precious Blood Elementary and one of the new club's charter members, said attendance at the organizational meeting exceeded everyone's expectations.

"We're required to have 25 members before a new club will be recognized," Dumont said. "We had 25 out at our first meeting."

The new club was sponsored by the Club Optimiste of Alexandria, Dumont said, and he feels confident of the club's future judging by the calibre of the founding members.

"They're enthusiastic, young and energetic," he said.

Dumont added that the first official meeting of the club will be held later this month at the Precious Blood school.

July social

Planning is well under way for the annual Knights of Columbus July social, Grand Knight Paul Delorme said.

While many details about the July 9th social have yet to be confirmed, Delorme said that plans are to feature dancing troupes from Worldfest at the social.

"The social will be held at the Knights Hall on Purcell," Delorme said. "There will be games for the children and activities for the entire family."

Delorme added that the projected time for opening the social is 5 p.m.

CANADIAN TIRE

'To be the best at what our customers value the most'

Canadian Tire Store, Main St. S., Alexandria

In a recent interview Canadian Tire Store owner Michel Frechette tells the News how he and his staff bring the best service and lowest prices to Glengarry customers. Canadian Tire is celebrating 25 years of service and Mr. Frechette is proud to be the fifth in a distinguished succession of owners.

Frechette: I've been operating the Canadian Tire store in Alexandria for more than a year now. I'm very happy here. My family and I enjoy the area and the friendly people in town very much.

News: How is Canadian Tire structured?

Frechette: There are more than 400 Canadian Tire associate dealers across Canada. We're all independent, and run our own business, under the umbrella of the Canadian Tire family. We all buy and sell our products at set prices and take our profits from our own operations.

MICHEL FRECHETTE

News: Could you explain your motto, "We will do everything possible to be the best at what our customers value the most."

Frechette: What customers value most is to have the product in stock and at the right price when they want it, backed by a reliable customer service policy. That's what customers value and that's what we provide.

News: How do you achieve this?

Frechette: A well-trained courteous staff is one of the keys to maintaining a good store atmosphere. The staff makes all the difference when it comes to customer service. We do a pretty good job now serving our customers. We work every day to improve service through training classes and sessions familiarizing staff with new products. With all the competition out there we try to get that extra mile for customer satisfaction — to do things right.

News: You're putting in new equipment.

Frechette: We're speeding up checkout procedures for both cash and credit card customers. By next week we'll have product SCANNERS installed for faster price reading at checkout, and instant credit card processing. People hate standing in line. They want to have as little hassle as possible when they've chosen the product they need.

News: What's the new Option Program?

Frechette: It gives customers the option of earning points when they charge items on their Canadian Tire cards. Point totals automatically show up on cash receipt slips. Points can be instantly redeemed for products in the store. This eliminates long waits ordering from catalogues. Customers use their points to get what they want when they want it. Cash customers still get 4-per cent discount Canadian Tire Coupons.

News: What's that Dish on the roof of the store for?

Frechette: That satellite dish hooks us directly to our auto parts warehouses through a computer ordering network. Parts are shipped twice a day to our store on an as-needs basis. It means a lot less waiting for car repair parts and pick up parts which makes happy customers.

News: You talk a lot about customer satisfaction.

Frechette: This is a customer driven business. Our customers must be 100 per cent satisfied. This means if something is not right we have to make it right. Customers pay our salaries and they are the most important people. We want them to come back again and again to our store.

News: Does Canadian Tire share profits with staff?

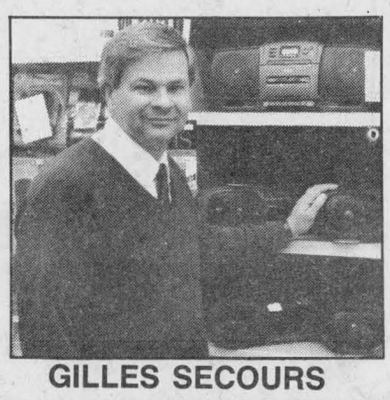
Frechette: We have a profit sharing program which distributes a percentage of profits among Canadian Tire staff at the end of each year. This gives the people who work here extra incentive to serve customers well so they will come back to buy regularly.

News: You've got an incredible amount of merchandise on display.

Frechette: My philosophy is that we can't sell what the customer can't see. We regularly stock more than 30,000 products in store on a year-round basis. We carry complete lines of automotive, hardware, houseware, sports and leisure products. If the customer needs a product today he should be able to find it here. If we don't have it on the shelf we'll get it here fast. We put a lot of emphasis on carrying a full line of products. That's what customers want. That's what we give them.

News: Are there advantages to shopping locally?

Frechette: Our Canadian Tire Store offers the same wide selection of products at the same prices as stores in any major city. We can give better, quicker service because we are local. Best of all, the customer's dollar stays in Alexandria and goes into paying our staff, enriching our community. Our store is a strong supporter of local and community activities right here in Alexandria. We will do everything possible to be the best at what our customers value the most.



GILLES SECOURS

Store Manager Gilles Secours says:
In this highly competitive environment we have to be very sharp to run a good Canadian Tire operation and send satisfied customers out our door. Our aim is to give the best service to every customer who walks through our door.

Signed: Gilles Secours

MARCEL LANTHIER

Auto Service Manager Marcel Lanthier says:
The six mechanics in our Auto service shop take courses regularly to improve their skills and keep up with fast changing technology in the car industry. Auto customers are very demanding. Our aim is to see satisfied customers drive away in vehicles which have been expertly fixed and serviced.

Signed: Marcel Lanthier

THANK YOU — MERCI

Frechette: I want personally and on behalf of my staff to take this opportunity to thank all our customers in Alexandria and the surrounding area, for their support during my first year in business here, and for their loyalty during the 25 years Canadian Tire has been privileged to serve this community.

Signed:

Senior and junior Gaels carry perfect records into playoffs

The Glengarry Gaels girls' high school soccer teams head into this Friday's SDG "AA" playoffs as heavy favorites to win both the senior and junior crown.

Both teams were undefeated during the recently completed regular season.

The juniors played an abbreviated four-game schedule and were completely dominant, scoring 27 goals while allowing none.

They'll take on La Citadelle in a semifinal game Friday morning.

Barring a miracle, Glengarry will play the winner of the St.Lawrence-St.Joseph's semifinal in the junior championship game at 1 p.m.

The Gaels hosted La Citadelle on Monday afternoon as the regular season came to a close. Glengarry won easily, hammering the Patriotes 8-0 as Tammy MacSweyn paced the offence with three goals.

Rachel Denner scored twice while Wendy MacLeod, Jessica MacLeod and Kathy Kennedy each chipped in with singles.

Melanie Salvatore recorded the shutout.

Glengarry's other game on Monday was a 7-0 victory over the Cornwall Collegiate Golden Raiders.

Meghan MacPherson scored a hat trick while Rachel Denner had a pair of goals.

Jacinda Rudolph and Jessica MacLeod also scored.

Last Wednesday in Maple Ridge, the juniors knocked off the St.Lawrence Saints by a score of 6-0.

Erin Graham and Jessica MacLeod each scored twice while solo markers were added by Tammy MacSweyn and Rachel Denner.

Again, Melanie Salvatore collected the shutout.

Seniors finish 6-0

The senior Gaels weren't quite as dominant as the juniors, but it still wasn't exactly a tough struggle.

Glengarry was 6-0 on the season with 23 goals for and only one against.

The Gaels won a pair of home games to wrap up their regular-season portion of their schedule on Monday, beating La Citadelle 3-0 and St.Lawrence 7-0.

Laura Urquhart recorded the shutout in both games.

Glengarry's Julie Aube (left) looks on as a North Dundas player leaves her feet to play a head ball during last Wednesday's SDG senior girls' soccer game. The Gaels won 5-0 on the way to a perfect 6-0 record and first-place finish in the "AA" division.

Offensively against the Patriotes, Lisa Poirier, Becky Howes and Jenny Lowe each scored single goals.

Julie Aube had a hat trick against CCVS while Lowe scored twice. Singles were added by Janna Palmer and Carol MacLeod.

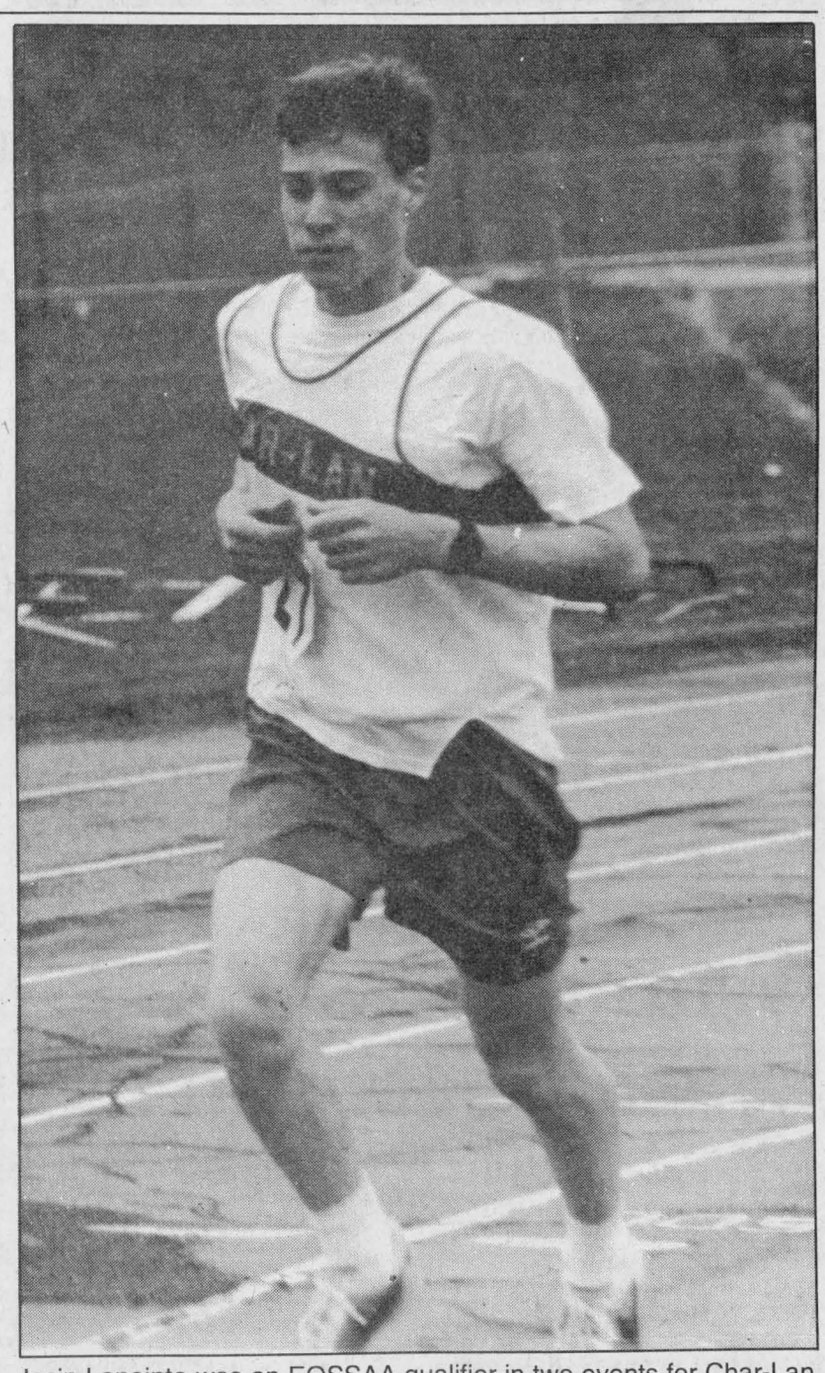
Last Wednesday at North Dundas, the Gaels blanked the Devils 5-0 and St.Lawrence 3-0.

Julie Aube netted a pair against North Dundas while single goals went to Jane McCuaig, Jenny Lowe and Wendi Lawson.

Lawson - with a pair - and Janna Palmer connected in the win over St.Lawrence.

In this Friday's playoffs at the ESRG-GDHS field, La Citadelle will take on St.Lawrence in one semifinal while the Gaels will face St.Joseph's.

The Panthers gave Glengarry its toughest game this year as the Gaels managed a 2-1 win on the opening day of the season.



Jacin Lapointe was an EOSSAA qualifier in two events for Char-Lan - the junior boys' 1500m and 3000m races. A total of 12 Crusaders will compete in Kingston this week.

A dozen Crusaders make the cut at meet

Char-Lan District High School will send 12 athletes to the Eastern Ontario high school track and field championships in Kingston this week.

Leading the way for the Crusaders at the SDG championships last Thursday in Avonmore was a pair of triple-qualifiers - brothers Rory and Adam Blackadder.

Rory will compete in three midget boys' events at EOSSAA - the 1500m, the 3000m and the pole vault).

At the SDG meet, Rory was third in the 1500m, first in the 3000m and fourth in the pole vault.

Meanwhile, Adam was third in the junior boys' 3000m and first in the junior boys' pole vault. He cleared 2.9m to win the latter event.

Adam also finished second in the 200m steeplechase, an open event.

The Crusaders also boasted a double-qualifier for EOSSAA.

Jacin Lapointe finished fourth in both the junior boys' 1500m and the junior boys' 3000m.

Char-Lan always has Hope

For the second year in a row, Chris Hope won the junior boys' shot put event.

Hope best's put in Avonmore was 13.9m, which was 1.7m further than runner-up Steve Iwachniuk of Rothwell-Osnabruck.

Crusader Joe Dupuis finished fourth with a toss of 10.94m.

In addition to the Blackadder brothers, two other Char-Lan pole-vaulters turned in top four finishes.

Scott Giroux was second in the senior boys' event while Jeff Proctor was fourth in the junior boys' division.

Three other Char-Lan junior boys will be in Kingston this week - Derek Abrams, Shawn Fields and John Fisher.

Abrams was third in the 300m hurdles while the other two Crusaders finished fourth in their respective events.

Fields qualified in the triple jump while Fisher competed in the javelin throw.

With absence of a senior girls' team at the SDG championships, only two Char-Lan girls will be going to EOSSAA.

Sylvia Bryan was third in the junior girls' 300m hurdles while Shannon MacLeod was fourth in the junior girls' javelin.

Boys lead Gaels to fourth spot

Glengarry sends 23 athletes to EOSSAA regionals in Kingston

The Glengarry Gaels finished fourth overall at the SDG high school track and field championships at Avonmore's Tagwi Secondary School last Thursday.

The Gaels had a total of 290 points, a dozen behind third-place North Dundas and 30 back of runner-up Seaway.

Once again, La Citadelle won the overall championship with a whopping 568 points.

The Patriotes won team championships in four of the six divisions and finished first in the boys' and girls' standings.

Glengarry was second in the boys' standings with a total of 184 points. La Citadelle had 306.

Here is how the Gaels fared as a team and as individuals in all six categories:

Midget girls

Five members of the midget girls' team qualified for the Eastern Ontario regional championships in Kingston this week by finishing in the top four of their events on Thursday.

Three of those five - Laura Patrick, Tammy Rolland and Melanie Elie - qualified in two events.

Elie won both of her events, finishing first in the discus and the shot put.

Elie's winning throw in the discus went 22.77m, almost a full metre better than runner-up Celine Lalonde of La Citadelle.

In the shot put, Elie's winning distance was 7.48m.

Rolland made her mark on the track, finishing second in the 3000m race with a time of 14 minutes, 37 seconds and fourth in the 1500m with a time of 7:06.20.

Patrick qualified with fourth-place finishes in the 80m hurdles and the 300m hurdles.

Glengarry's two other midget girls' qualifiers were Tina Vanore (second in the javelin with a best distance of 17.08m) and Martine Theoret (second in long jump at 3.8m).

Junior girls

The junior girls matched the midget girls with five qualifiers for EOSSAA.

Two of the Gaels who will compete in Kingston are long-jumpers Silvia Stadelmann and Kim Rolland.

Stadelmann finished second with a jump of 3.93m while Rolland was fourth at 3.82m.

Kevin Van den Oetelaar - seen here competing in the midget boys' discus - was one of 23 Glengarry students to advance to the Eastern Ontario high school track and field championships with top four finishes last Thursday at the SDG meet at Tagwi.

Natalie Jeaurond placed second in the 80m hurdles with a time of 15.1 seconds.

Also qualifying on the track was Lisa Dragone, who ran the 200m race in 31 seconds flat to finish third.

Chantal Duchesne's jump of 1.22m was good enough for third place in the high jump competition.

Senior girls

The senior girls' team was the smallest contingent on the Glengarry track and field squad, and as a result the Gaels only had one qualifier.

Chantal Secours finished top-four in two events - the discus and the 100m dash.

Secours was second in a discus with a throw of 25.2m and fourth in the 100m with a time of 14.4 seconds.

Midget boys

The Gaels had two more double-qualifiers in the midget boys' ranks - Olivier Barrie and Chris McCorkell.

Barrie had a pair of second-place finishes to his credit, one in the 100m dash and another in the 300m hurdles.

McCorkell meanwhile, was third in the high jump and fourth in the triple jump.

Also making it to the Eastern Ontario regionals were Matthew Tucker, Kevin Van den Oetelaar and Ian Wilson.

Wilson won the pole vault event with a top height of 2.10m.

Van den Oetelaar - who finished third in the pole vault - and Seaway's Rob Gibb also successfully cleared 2.10m, but first, second and third were awarded based on fewest overall misses.

Tucker qualified in the javelin where he finished tied for third with a throw of 31.2m.

Junior boys

The junior boys' team boasted James Addison, one of the Gaels' two triple-qualifiers.

Addison was first in the 200m (24.1 seconds) and second in both the 100m (11.4 seconds) and the long jump (5.66m).

Mike Libbos won the triple jump with a best distance of 10.4m. Libbos also qualified in the high jump where he finished second (1.66m).

Luc Elie (third in pole vault), Tommy Tuppert (third in discus) and Eric Lavigne (fourth in 110m hurdles) will also be in Kingston this week.

Senior boys

Glengarry's other triple-qualifier was senior boy Patrick Cadieux.

Cadieux won the javelin event by nearly four metres over his closest competitor.

Cadieux's winning throw was 43.35m.

Cadieux finished second in his two other events - the shot put and the discus.

Glengarry's final EOSSAA qualifier was sprinter Francois Viau, who earned the unofficial honor as the fastest man at the SDG meet with victories in the 100m and 200m races.

Viau's winning times were 11.2 seconds in the 100m and 24.2 seconds in the 200m.

Stelmach steals the show for Warriors

Apple Hill's Troy Stelmach led the list of Tagwi's qualifiers for the Eastern Ontario high school track and field championships at last Thursday's SDG association meet.

The Grade 9 student won all three events in which he competed and was named the athlete of the day in the midget boys' category.

Stelmach won the 800m race in a time of two minutes, 12.9 seconds, only three seconds off the SDG record held by North Dundas' Murray Link.

Stelmach also won the 1500m event (in a time of 4:51.03) and the high jump (with a top leap of 1.52m).

Were it not for a rule that limits athletes to three events at the SDG championships, Stelmach's day could have been even more impressive. Stelmach was the winner of the long jump competition at the SDG warm-up meet earlier this month.

Paced by Stelmach's performance, Tagwi's midget boys finished first among "A" division schools with a total of 51 points, eight more than the total collected by Rothwell-Osnabruck.

Two other Glengarry residents attending Tagwi qualified for the EOSSAA championships, which will be held today and tomorrow in Kingston.

Jeremy Nixon of Apple Hill was third in the senior boys' javelin with a throw of 37.46m.

Maxville's Kevin MacKillican leaped 1.77m to win the junior boys' high jump.

Ten Warriors qualify

Tagwi will send a relatively large contingent to EOSSAA as a total of 10 Warriors will travel to Kingston.

The Warriors sent only half that many to the EOSSAA competition last year.

The other qualifiers were: David Beaudette (third, junior boys' long jump), Jeremy Brozincevic (second, midget boys' discus), Doug Ferguson (first, midget boys' shot put), Cyndi Jones (second, junior girls' high jump), Shawna Marjerrison (fourth, junior girls' discus), Natalie Mayer (fourth, midget girls' 3000m) and Bill Pynenburg (third, senior boys' long jump).

The Warriors' good day on an individual level was not reflected in the team standings.

Overall, Tagwi's girls collected 19 points (which placed them 11th and last in the team standings) while the Tagwi boys had 94 points (9th overall, 3rd among "A" schools).

The Warriors' combined total of 113 points placed them last in the overall standings.

Dave Robertson, Rodney Craig and Kevin Welcher scored for the Storm.

Mc-Mac Tents had little trouble with Dalhousie, thrashing the Bruins by a score of 12-1.

John Fisher had four goals for the Tents while Shane McDonell and Adam Lefebvre (two each) also had multiple-goal nights for Mc-Mac.

Kurtis Latreille, Darrell McDonell, Craig McDonell and Dave MacDonald also scored for the Tents while Lee MacDonell tallied for the Bruins.

Last week's other game had Marc's Canteen shutting out Farley Windows 9-0.

Doug Delage gets credit for the season's first whitewashing while Kennedy MacDonald gave Canteen more than enough offence with five goals.

Leo Seguin scored twice while Jean Lauzon and Leonard Seguin had singles.

Seaway Express leads the league with 5-0 mark

Lorna Howes and Rachel Denner each scored twice on Monday night as Tapis Richard Ranger defeated Maxville 4-2 in Alexandria Women's Ball Hockey League action at the Billy Gebbie Arena.

Denner and Natalie Gravel each had two assists as Tapis evened its season record at 2-2-1.

Julie Cholette and Carol McDonald replied with goals for Maxville (1-2-2).

Chez Bob won its third game in five tries this season by downing the Atlantic Storm by a score of 4-1 on Monday.

Wendi Lawson had all four goals for Bob's while Isabel Seguin scored for the Storm.

In Monday night's other contest, the Seaway Express blanked M&D Sports 5-0.

Joanne Tessier had a goal and two assists for the Express while Debbie Nadon and Donna MacGregor each had one goal and one helper.

Gino Lalonde and Krista Casselman also scored while Sue Villeneuve recorded her third shutout in five games this season.

The Express has a perfect 5-0 through the early stages of the 1994 season.

Thursday results

A pair of 1-0 finals were on the menu on Thursday night as Maxville and M&D Sports each collected their first victories of the season.

Maxville surprised Bob's 1-0 as Carol McDonald's second-period goal - on a set-up by Julie Cholette - accounted for the game's only scoring.

Kathy Wensink recorded her third shutout of the season for the winners.

Meanwhile, Nathalie Theoret kept the Atlantic Storm scorers off the board as M&D Sports claimed a 1-0 win.

Kim Kennedy set up Jenny Lowe for the game's only goal. Lowe's goal was M&D's first tally this season.

The Express downed Tapis Richard 4-1 in last Thursday's other game.

Donna MacGregor paced the offence with two goals and one assist while Debbie Nadon had a goal and an assist.

Barb Benton also scored for Seaway while Rachel Denner replied for Tapis.

Local players collect MVP honors in indoor soccer loop

SOCCER Notes

Five Glengarry players collected trophies as the Cornwall Indoor Soccer League held its awards night last Tuesday at La Maison Tavern.

Rudi Payer Sport netminder Randy Burke was a double winner, taking home trophies for being the best goaltender and the most valuable player in the men's division.

Wendi Lawson of the Minimax Hearts was voted the MVP of the women's division. Hearts teammate Lynn Legault received the top scorer's trophy.

Shirley Hay of Kirk Hill was named the most sportsmanlike player in the women's division while Robin Basara was voted most improved in the men's division.

Team MVP awards were given to Phil Poitras (Rudi's), Malcolm MacPherson (King Edward Flyers), Brian Cameron (Atlantic Storm), Jay Major (M&D Sports), Wendy Hay (Kirk Hill) and Legault (Hearts).

Campbell's play was Mmm-Mmm good: Glen Nevis' Glen Campbell had a banner season playing varsity soccer for Montreal's McGill University last fall.

Campbell, the team captain, was named as the Redmen's most valuable player and was also chosen as MVP for the conference in which McGill plays.

MVP honors are nothing new for Campbell as the standout forward has been voted the GSL men's division's best player on three occasions.

Kick-off 1994: The Glengarry Soccer League gets under way this week with the beginning of regular season as well as the annual Gerald McDonald Memorial Tournament.

The senior men and senior women will play their portion of the McDonald tourney in Lochiel on Sunday while the old-timers will be playing in Maxville on the same day.

As usual, proceeds from the day will go to the Canadian Cancer Society.

Ten senior division teams will make their 1994 debuts at the McDonald tournament, but four others will already have played their first league games by Sunday, weather permitting.

On Friday, Laggan will play defending champions Dunvegan in a rematch of last year's women's division championship series.

Likewise on Saturday, Glen Nevis will take on reigning champs Greenfield as the 1993 men's division finalists renew hostilities.

Old-timers still kickin': Speaking of the old-timers, league organizers are sending an open invitation to anyone wishing to play this summer.

Interested players should contact D.A. MacMillan (347-7739), Bill Shields (346-0026), Mallory Franklin (347-7666) or Gordon MacPherson (874-2005).

C-day this Friday: This Friday could potentially be a big day for the county's high school soccer teams.

Championships at both the senior and junior levels in the "A" and "AA" divisions will be on the line.

The Glengarry juniors appear to be a lock to win a 14th consecutive high school championship while the senior Gaels have also been very strong in regular season play.

Things are a little more dicey for Char-Lan on the "A" side as the Rothwell-Osnabruck seniors had a win and a tie in two meetings with the Crusaders this season.

The Char-Lan juniors were undefeated in six games but had two ties while every Crusader victory was by one or two goals.

Junior Gaels tune up: The Glengarry boys' soccer teams also have an important date coming up as both the seniors and juniors will be taking part in EOSSAA championship tournaments on May 26.

Last Friday at the Glengarry field, Brian Filion's junior Gaels prepared for the big day with an exhibition game against St.Anthony's, an under-18 club team from the Ottawa area.

Glengarry held a 3-1 halftime lead on goals by Alain Decoste, Brennan Cameron and Chancey Lajoie, but St.Anthony's rallied with four unanswered goals in the second half to take a 5-3 comeback victory.

Blazer-Glens make debut: The Blazer-Glens under-19 team played their first game of the season on Sunday when they took on the GSL's Alexandria Drillers in an exhibition game.

Glen McMillan scored twice to lead the Drillers to a 3-1 victory.

Chad MacRae also scored for Alexandria while Garry Benson replied for the Blazer-Glens.

Char-Lan seniors on the brink in soccer semifinal

The Char-Lan senior girls' soccer was facing a do-or-die situation yesterday at Tagwi Secondary School.

The Crusaders - who finished third in the "A" standings during the regular season - were taking on the second-place Warriors in a sudden-death semifinal game.

The winner travels to Ingleside on Friday to take on the Rothwell-Osnabruck Lancers in the SDG championship game.

Late-season slide

The Crusaders (3-2-1) fell to third place by dropping two of their last three regular season games.

Last Wednesday in Williamstown, the Crusaders lost 2-0 to R-O.

The Char-Lan seniors won their other game 2-0 as Karen Montgomery recorded the shutout and Katharine MacLachlan and Kelly Lariviere each scored single goals.

On Monday, Char-Lan lost 3-2 to the Tagwi Warriors.

Andrea Villeneuve scored twice for Tagwi while Jennifer Casselman netted a single goal.

Michelle Owen and Joanne Legault scored for Char-Lan.

Juniors clinch first

The Char-Lan juniors finished first in their division with a 4-0-2 record and only one goal against in six games this season.

The junior Crusaders will host the SDG championship game this Friday afternoon.

Char-Lan concluded its regular season with a 4-0 home-field win over Tagwi on Monday.

Kara MacDonald scored twice for the Crusaders while Adrienne Lauzon and Tracy Benson added singles.

Heather Smith recorded her fifth shutout in six games this season.

Last Wednesday at Char-Lan, the junior Crusaders beat Seaway 2-0 and played to a scoreless draw with Rothwell-Osnabruck.

Attendance high at WI district meeting

Glen Sandfield
by Lorna Chapman
874-2408

Margo MacRae has recently returned from Winnipeg where she visited her mother Velva Smith. Ruth MacRae from Ottawa travelled with her.

Together they visited with Mrs. R. M. (Marion) MacRae and her husband Melvin and their family. Marion and Melvin lived for a few years at the present day farm of Ken and Anne McKenna.

Ruth and Margo were able to celebrate Allen and Peggy Smith's 19th wedding anniversary with them, as well as Andrea Smith's 15th birthday. They reported that the weather was just beautiful for their trip.

The congregations of East Hawkesbury and Glen Sandfield United Churches will be celebrating Holy Communion together on Sunday, May 22 at 10 a.m. at Glen Sandfield.

Georgette Paiement has recently returned from Tupper Lake, N.Y. where she attended the funeral last Wednesday of Marcel Richer, a friend who was an undertaker there. While in the area she visited with other friends and relatives.

Wendy Nangreaves and her friend Joyce drove me down to Cornwall on Friday last to attend a birthday surprise party in honor of my granddaughter Diane's 8th birthday. Wendy's birthday was on Monday, May 9 and she won the local radio's free birthday cake. On Friday, May 13 her daughter Dianne also won the local radio station's birthday cake. My birthday is in May, can we make it three times for this family? Well, we'll just wait and see; they are going to submit my name to the station this week!

Those hard working women at St. Andrew's United Church (the Round Church) at Dalhousie Mills are to be congratulated on putting on one of the best suppers we have seen in a long time on Saturday afternoon, May 14. I always say that the best cooks ever live hereabouts!

It was the variety of the dishes both hot and cold, rich and flavorful, light and tasty that were available that boggled the minds of the diners. There was something for every taste, it seemed, and if anyone found the table otherwise, I would class them as most picky indeed. The many desserts were delicious and generous servings were provided.

I had to miss several recent church suppers, but I "was" able to attend this one and I would recommend the next one (unreservedly) that will be hosted by the ladies of the Round Church.

Church suppers are something that folks around here do really well, and it certainly is a treat to attend any of them.

For a most reasonable price, one can dine as well, or better, than at a really posh restaurant, and enjoy the good company of friends in all probability too. Haven't we read that laughter eases the digestion?

What a perfect recipe for a specially enjoyable meal; good food and friendly conversation.

The McCrimmon Women's Institute branch hosted the 1994 District Annual meeting at Kirk Hill United Church on May 12 with over 50 women in attendance.

The retiring president Eileen Johnson welcomed everyone and the meeting proceeded smoothly starting with the flag ceremony and later on in the program a most touching "In Memoriam" ceremony for the five members who had died during this past year.

McCrimmon WI remembered the late Marion MacMaster with a fine tribute in her memory.

Reports given during the course of the morning included that of the Program Co-ordinator Liette Butrym. She summarized the branches' programs and dwelt on several interesting mottos and roll calls.

From the information she read on branch programs, it is no wonder that the WI members enjoy their regular meetings so much. Guest speakers, demonstrations and some hands-on projects speak of lots of variety.

The new slate of officers is as follows: Past President — Mrs. Wm. Johnson; President — Mrs. Russell Urquhart; First Vice-President — Mrs. Marion Loewen; Second Vice-President — Mrs. A. M. Robertson; Secretary-Treasurer — Mrs. Ian Byatte; Tweedsmuir History Curator — Mrs. Don MacKenzie; P.R.O. — Mrs. Fred Ager; Program Co-ordinator — Mrs. Liette Butrym; Resolutions — Mrs. Wm. Calder; Auditors — Mrs. R. Rozon and Mrs. Eleanor Gibson; Elected Delegate to area convention — Mrs. Ian Byatte; Alternate delegate — Mrs. Liette Butrym; Scholarship Committee — Mrs. Michael Beauden, Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. David Stevenson.

Retiring president Mrs. Wm. Johnson spoke about several items that might win favor in the membership's eyes.

One particular suggestion was that each branch might compile a brief history of WI and their branch's background including past achievements and future goals to enable new members to relate more easily to the organization.

Presenting a copy to each new member would give her more insight into WI past, present and future aims.

Many new members have no idea what has been accomplished by Women's Institute and there are a great many changes that have been wrought by Institute pressures and suggestions at government level.

For instance, how many people know that the WI was instrumental in getting the yellow (or white) lines painted down the middle of the roads to help control traffic accidents?

Do you know that wrapped bread was unheard of before Mrs. Hoodless the WI founder, lobbied more sanitary bread delivery?

How many new members would be aware that the opaque milk bags that are now so common were the result of many letters from concerned WI members, who learned that the lights in the store display cases where milk is kept cold, emit harmful rays that can become absorbed by the milk?

There are many more small, simple things that WI is responsible for, of which members may not be aware (and not only new members). It was a really excellent idea that Mrs. Johnson had proposed!

Why does WI not have more posters on display? Other clubs certainly make their presence known. Members could have posters in a window to tell people that a WI member lives there.

Some branches have area signs where they meet; she advised the membership to become more visible in the community. Members volunteer for so many things; members help with community projects, drive seniors and handicapped persons to doctor appointments and for groceries; members help out in so many other ways and just go on about their quiet ways, not looking for any recognition.

When other organizations get involved, you hear about it and there is nothing wrong with a little PR for your group, that's how you get people interested in joining. "By all means," Mrs. Johnson advised, "let's tell the world more about us!"

WI must be generous with their talents and try new jobs. Everyone is new at a post at first, but in time, it becomes easier and more comfortable.

There are always members ready to help out a new officer at her job. Be willing to try higher levels of offices. Everyone will be rooting for you and most willing to excuse a few booboos.

Who hasn't forgotten some important part of a meeting and lived through it, at least once, and can now look back on it and laugh?

We are all among friends in WI. We just have to remember this at all times. Everyone wants you to succeed, and you can, but first you must agree to try. I guess that applies to all of life doesn't it?

If a group is interesting, if it is fun to attend the meetings, if people see that the group is doing something worthwhile, it stands to reason that women might be really interested in joining such an organization.

Be positive and enthusiastic when speaking of WI. It isn't hard because there is so much about which to be upbeat.

Mrs. Johnson certainly has that quality. She is enthusiastic about WI and has enjoyed her time as president. Mrs. Sheila Urquhart now steps into that office, and she too will be a great PR asset as president.

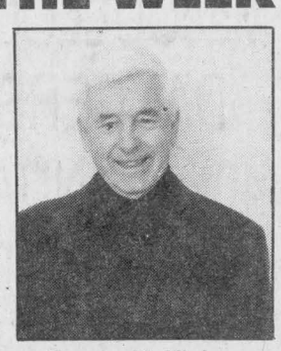
Mrs. Sue Robertson spoke about 4-H clubs and their projects over the past year. There have been 31 clubs involving 40 leaders. The members completed 421 clubs. and one of the most popular was Home for the Holidays, in which they did Christmas crafts and baking. Ninety-two members took this course.

A Lifeskills Project is expected to begin soon. Area President Peggy MacLeod brought greetings from Ottawa to the meeting.

Mrs. Vivian Fawcett, provincial board director for subdivision one, gave her report and conducted the ratification of district directors and the election and installation of the new officers.

At noon a delicious lunch was served by the women of the church UCW. All in all it was a most successful meeting.

VOLUNTEER OF THE WEEK



George McKiel

Readers of this newspaper will be happy to know that, although George McKiel and his wife are moving to Nova Scotia, George will continue to write his column, "Caring For Life", for the Glengarry News.

George was born along the St. John River in New Brunswick but moved to Devon, England, with his parents when he was only a year old. He and his family returned to Canada when George was thirteen, but George crossed the Atlantic again when he was eighteen, this time to join the Royal Canadian Air Force as a navigator, flying Lancasters with the Sixth Group in Yorkshire.

After the war, George studied at Sir George Williams University (now a part of Concordia) to become a teacher. Later he obtaind his Ph.D. from the University of London and taught at John Abbott College on the West Island of Montreal from its inception until his retirement in 1987.

After his retirement he worked in Australia as a nursing consultant and a few years later returned to Canada to live in the Alexandria area. Here he has volunteered his services in many ways: board member for the Victoria Order of Nurses, public member on the Medical Lab Technology Council of Ontario, founding member and past president of the Katherine Trail Naturalists, and a member of the Green Thumb Horticultural Society of Williamstown. A terrific friend and neighbour. We'll miss him.

Caring for Life

Cold Sores, Shingles, Genital Herpes and Chickenpox

What do they have in common? They are totally different diseases yet are caused by a virus that is called collectively, Herpes simplex. The extraordinary part is that this viral family can live in our bodies, in a latent phase, for all of our lives from childhood on. To actually see the virus you need the magnification of 10,000X, that is, only an electron microscope can reveal their complex shape, but even then the herpes look exactly the same for the 100 we know about.

Usually our immune system can deal with bacterial or viral infections but some viruses, including the herpes family, have adapted so exquisitely that rather than being a usual parasite, making severe demands on the host, they reside in the bodies of sensory nerve cells for yrs. Remaining latent until the body is excessively fatigued or stressed, the virus can then break out, reproducing itself by coercing our RNA into manufacturing viral particles rather than their usual coded proteins. Then there is a recurrence of the disease. Take the example of herpes simplex type 1 (HSV-^{1}), a cause of cold sores. The initial infection, for 90% of us, occurs by the age of 5 yrs and may be asymptomatic (no overt symptons). the ulcer or blister, usually on the junction of face, skin and lip, is contagious, lasts about a week and then heals without scarring. The majority of people will not even get adult recurrences and so are unaware that they carry the virus. With (HSV-^{2}) the crop of blisters tends to occur on the genitals, similar in appearance to a cold sore and more often (or apparent) in men. Homosexual men may develop anal lesions but for any outbreak it's best to be abstinent from intercourse. Also, condoms are advocated during all intercourse. Acyclovir (Zovirac) shortens the herpes 2 attack, slightly reduces the rate of recurrence especially if used on the initial attack and in the tingling phase before the blisters appear. The medication can be taken as tablets or applied as a cream.

Chickenpox usually happens in pre-school years giving a blistering rash that's gone within 2 weeks. Ironically, it's better to catch it in childhood as you'll likely have a more severe bout in adulthood, even turning into a severe pneumonia.

The chickenpox can revisit, mostly after age 50, when it's called shingles (or herpes Zoster). The virus emerges with a sensation of itching/burning/tinglng or a numbness just under the skin where the blisters will appear. The rash comes out in about a week, fluid-filled blisters usually in a band across the chest, face or stomach. In another 10 days they crust, fall off, sometimes leaving scars. The pain can be excruciating, but not life threatening. It's estimated that 10-20% of all men and women will get shingles. Again the Acyclovir is the choice of medicants.

The herpes virus that causes "the kissing disease", or mononucleosis (also known as glandular fever) is called Epstein-Barr virus (EBV). Mono has widespread effects including infecting a specific group of white blood cells, causing them to increase greatly in number so the lymph glands enlarge as well as the spleen (2 or 3X its normal size).

Cytomegalovirus (CMV) belongs to the herpes family and can cause birth defects if contracted during pregnancy but most of us will become infected and never be aware of it.

To date, scientists have identified 100 herpes viruses and of these only 7 are known to cause disease in humans. Want to be a virilogist? - It's a fascinating though complex field of medicine.

St. Andrew's youth group donates $150 to Guatemala project

track and field meet in Maxville on June 16 as he will be coaching the team that day.

During his stay, Paul Duval from Ontario Hydro visited the Grade 4 class to give a lesson on safety around hydro lines and Karen Runions from Cornwall's Energy Efficiency Team spoke about how to save energy in the home.

On Mr. Hinck's final day he assisted in supervising the Grade 4 class on their annual trip to the fascinating Oeggerli farm.

On May 9, Terry Goodfellow, a CN police officer spoke to all the students concerning staying safe around railway tracks.

As you might guess, the message was DON'T be around railway tracks.

For Education Week, a spring mural was created by the primary grades and placed at Denise's Country Kitchen in Lancaster.

The school organized a "Jump Rope for Heart" fundraiser. Eighty-five students jumped in teams for two hours one afternoon.

It was a warm and breezy day and they jumped outside and fulfilled their objective — having fun while promoting a healthy lifestyle and raising money.

Nutritious snacks were provided during the afternoon and they raised $2,500 for the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Ontario.

This year the students have been using a computer program called "Lego Logo" under the direction of Cynthia Marcino. After building machines with lego pieces, students program the computer to automate their design.

Some creations include a timed light standard, cars, washing machines, hydroplanes and merry-go-rounds.

This program was one of the displays students showed at the Brookdale Mall for Education Week.

Also with computers, students are now learning to use Lancaster's brand new IBM compatible for word processing, math, reading and social studies.

The school band, under the direction of Walter Nowickyj, also enjoyed entertaining the shoppers at the mall. Another annual activity involved the French program.

After having won the Glengarry Scrabble Tournament in French in Avonmore, Jill Robbers, Jada Watson, Joel Hamelin and Tim Magoon competed in the final SD&G tournament at Tagwi Secondary School. Once again they were successful, taking first place. Congratulations!

For Mother's Day the Grade 2 class organized a "White Elephant" sale.

Many Lancaster mothers must have been quite surprised Sunday morning to see the treasures they received.

The sale was very successful and students surpassed all expectations in selling every single item! The money raised from the sale was used to buy T-Ball equipment and extra balls and bats for the primary grades.

On May 12, the Grades 6, 7 and 8 students had a visit from a well-known local author, Jean Mills. After studying her novel "Wild Dog Summer," they were thrilled to be able to discuss the novel with her personally.

They were impressed with how easily she related to them and how approachable she was. They are looking forward to more of her novels.

The Grade 5 class enjoyed a visit from Colin Osborne, a woodsman with Macdonald College who demonstrated to the children how to build a proper campfire and how to properly extinguish it.

On Friday, May 13, those same students hiked to a local bush and, with the assistance of parent volunteer John Rogers, built their own campfires and cooked fish, fiddleheads, wild onions, mushrooms (store-bought) and a wild rice dish.

These excursions were a follow-up to a novel which they studied entitled "My Side of the Mountain."

Junior softball and primary T-Ball have begun at the school during the noon hours.

The Erewhon Theatre from Toronto performed "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe" at the school on Monday afternoon to all grades.

The Glengarry Junior softball tournament will take place at the school on Thursday, May 19.

On Tuesday morning, May 24, the Junior Kindergarten to Grade 3 classes will be going to Aultsville Hall in Cornwall to see a play entitled "Franklin." This play is adapted from the books by Paulette Bourgeois and Brenda Clark.

On the afternoon of May 24, Mrs. Roy is holding an open house for all the new Junior and Senior Kindergarten students registered for September 1994.

The Rev. Dr. Donald MacMillan and Dr. Wallace MacKinnon were in Montreal this past Thursday, May 12, for the 127th convocation of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, which was held at 8 o'clock that same evening in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal. The opening service of Divine Worship was conducted by the Rev. J. S. S. Armour, minister of the church, assisted by two of the graduating class, Helen Allum and Byron Grace.

The Rev. Dr. Wm. Klempa, Principal of the Presbyterian College presided for the Convocation program. Among special guests who were welcomed was the Rev. James Chang, minister of the church in Mainland China who has been visiting in Montreal and associated with the Presbytery of Montreal since March and will be returning to China this summer.

The following presentations and recipients of awards of prizes or scholarships are of interest to Glengarry people because of the local persons or organizations which have provided them.

The H. Keith Markell Prize in Canadian Church History was awarded jointly to Elizabeth Graham and Victoria Murray. The late H. Keith Markell who was born at Wales, Ont., was the professor of Church History at the Presbyterian College and the McGill University Faculty of Religious Studies for many years. He was ordained to the Christian ministry in 1941 as a graduate of the Presbyterian College.

The Delbert Chatreau Scholarship in Pastoral Care Studies was awarded to Helen Allum of Hamilton, Ont. At the time of his death, the late Rev. Dalbert Chatreau was the minister of Kenyon Church, Dunvegan.

The Evelyn MacKinnon Scholarship for Proficiency in the B.Th. three-year course was awarded to Campbell Cameron Laker. Campbell was a guest preacher in the Moose Creek and Maxville Churches two weeks ago and will be ministering in the Presbyterian Church at Melbourne, Que., during the summer months.

A group of persons from the area were welcomed on this past Saturday morning for a visit to the two historical church buildings at St. Elmo, the Gordon Church and the old Congregational Church, and to see and read the three historical plaques.

In the group were David G. Anderson, Williamstown, President of the Glengarry Historical Society; Ken McKenna who writes the column in the Glengarry News, Highland Paths; Blair and Jean Williams, Velma Franklin and Donald Chisholm.

We complain a good deal about the weather we have been having this spring. Consider this, as an alternative to our homes, well insulated with good heating systems. Quadruplets were born outside my home, on the north side and are living in a home constructed of dead grass and straw and mud. They are there in their birthday outfits, that is, some very fine hair on their naked bodies. From time to time the roof flies off the home and with it goes the insulation and the heating system.

In sympathy for them, I am not using my bathroom as this robin's nest is on the north side of my home on the bathroom window. (I use a little washroom which is off one of the bedrooms.) With a north west wind blowing and cold rain coming down, I would say "Babies, it must be real cold out there."
