VOL. LXXIX — No. 43 ALEXANDRIA, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1970 SINGLE COPY 10c

NO PLACE FOR LOAFERS—When you're on the last lap of a 24-mile walkathon that's no place for loafers, the barefoot lads seen carrying their running shoes, above, seem to be saying. Some 90 of Saturday's walkers were of tender years but the really tender feet were liable to be found under their elders. The young and the not-so-young are seen at the finishing line, left. Our Sports in the Glens columnist, Lion Angus H. McDonell wore boots to walk the 24-mile course but seems to have left his pants at home. He sported the kilt and sporran and at 65 was the oldest youngster on the road. Seen with him is Billy Allison, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Allison of Alexandria. We thought Billie was the youngest walker to finish, but another 7-year-old, Carol Ann Larocque of Glen Robertson, also completed the course.

Two In Three Completed 24-Mile Course To Ensure Success Of Lion's Walkathon

Urged on by ideal weather conditions, 103 of 158 participants in Saturday's Lions Club walkathon completed the long 24-mile hike and the event promises to be an unqualified success. Most of the others walked most of the way and the proceeds could reach $3,825 if all pledges are honored.

That is about three times the amount walkathon organizers expected in view of the fact some 90 of those 158 walkers were children.

Following on two days of drizzle, Saturday saw the sun scatter the clouds and provide weather that warmed into the 60's as the walkers, young and older, trudged east to Glen Robertson, headed north to a refreshment area at Glen Sandfield and homeward via Quigley's and Fassifern. So fine an autumn day it was, walkers who had planned to cover only part of the route were induced to go the whole way. Others who aimed for Glen Robertson propelled their little legs all the way to Quigleys.

A group of 19 little ones from the Green Valley area walked 15 miles. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Robert Lemieux and as a special reward for each mile covered she had a ribbon to pin on each young participant. They were well bedecked with ribbons before calling it quits.

Roger Roy was the highest-priced of the walkers with more than $10 raised each mile he covered. Angus H. McDonell, Mrs. Monique Roy, Mrs. Duncan Macdonell and Louise Lalonde of Glen Robertson, were among others who earned big sums by completing the circuit.

Walkathon Committee Chairman Doug Baxter covered the 24 miles in much slower time than he had travelled the previous day. On Friday he had flown the Atlantic after a business trip to Germany, reaching Dorval in some six hours.

Most of the 158 walkers were on the road by eight a.m. and the first to complete the circuit were the brothers Bender, Jean Guy and Raymond, who reported back in early afternoon. Six check points were manned by Lions members, their wives and ladies of the Majorette corps and the route was patrolled by Lions members prepared to pick up stragglers of whom there were few. Lion John Larocque was in charge of the record keeping at the headquarters in the High School.

Young walkers were busy this week collecting their pledges and these are to be turned in to Lion John Cormier at Stedmans store with pledge cards.

Delighted with the success attained, Lion President Paul Roy reports there will be consideration to making this an annual event. On behalf of the club and the Majorettes committee he expressed appreciation to those who participated or helped in any other way.

LONG SERVICE RECOGNIZED—Lengthy service on the local Public Utilities Commission of two of its members was recognized at the recent annual meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association. Chairman Ray Gammon, right, received a plaque marking 17 years service and silver cufflinks and tie pin went to Jos. A. Sabourin for 25 years service. Due to illness Mr. Sabourin was unable to be present at the Ottawa gathering and the presentation was made to him by PUC Secretary Ambrose Lalonde at a PUC meeting here.

Their new project is raking of leaves and mowing of lawns for which they will be available this Saturday and next providing weather is suitable. For service they suggest you call 525-3266 or welcome the members when they drop by your home.

Maurice Quesnel is president of the new slate of officers recently elected.

Tuesday Start On Increasing Capacity Of Filtration Plant

Improvements to the water filtration plant that will double its capacity got underway Tuesday when men from the Adam Clark Co. of Hamilton moved in to start the project.

New pumps will be installed as well as new filter beds and the plant will be completely automated. Chemicals will be fed automatically and a 1000 gallon tank will store liquid alum which will replace the powdered alum now in use.

Remi Poirier has a sub-contract to build an addition on the south side of the plant which will allow for an increase in the holding capacity of the filtration plant.

Pumping capacity of the plant will be increased from 500,000 gallons a day to slightly more than one million gallons when the improvements have been completed.

Four Housing Starts On St. Paul Street

After a slow year in construction here the pace is quickening with the start of four new homes on St. Paul Street.

Remi J. Poirier and Ronald Menard of Green Valley, are collaborating in the building of three bungalows for sale. They are on lots just east of St. Margaret's Convent owned by Mr. Menard and Mr. Poirier will be in charge of construction.

Gilles Lefebvre is building a large bungalow in the same area, corner of St. Paul and Sandfield.

Arcidas Roussin reports good progress on the home he is building on Harrison Crescent.

Martin Lowe Grenville, Died

Martin Lowe, a lifetime Grenville, Que., resident and well known storekeeper on Highway No. 8, died October 10 in hospital at Hawkesbury following a long illness. He was 55 years of age, and had been chairman of the local school board from 1954 until 1964.

He is mourned by his wife, the former Catherine Macdonell of St. Raphael's, four sons and three daughters, Macdonell, who will be ordained into the Catholic priesthood next June, Leo of Hamilton; Grant of Ottawa and Austin at home; Mrs. Ian McDonald (Patricia) of Montreal, Helen of Ottawa and Ruth at home.

He also leaves four brothers and two sisters, George, Hugh, Emmett and Clifford, all of Lachute; Miss Lydia Lowe, also of Lachute, and Mrs. Mary Hoysted, of Ottawa.

Two brothers, Bernard and Jim Lowe, predeceased him.

The funeral was held Tuesday, Oct. 13th, at the Catholic church in Grenville, where he had served on the parish committee for many years. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

Two Accidents On Main Street

Two area drivers were charged as the result of accidents which happened in the same Main Street area, Friday night and early Monday morning.

At 9.50 p.m. Friday a car driven by Lucien Quesnel, 1st Kenyon, struck a parked car south of Derby Street, went out of control and hit the porch of a house on the east side of Main. Police report the driver then drove off and his car later left the 2nd Kenyon road. In court, Monday, he was fined $250 and had his driving permit suspended for two years.

The parked car owned by Cameron MacDonald, Green Valley, suffered $600 damage while the Quesnel car was a write-off.

Power and telephone services were interrupted for residents of the same area early Monday when a car driven by Roland Dubeau, RR1 Lancaster, struck a service pole, north of Derby. The accident occurred at 5.15 a.m. as Dubeau was reported driving to work here.

His car suffered $1,000 damage and he is charged with careless driving.

Shotguns Only During Deer Season

The open deer season within the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry and the Counties of Prescott and Russell is from November 2 to 5, inclusive.

A printing error in the Summary of Hunting Regulations published by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests has caused many enquiries to the local Alexandria office reports R. L. Ramsbottom, detachment head. The Summary fails to include shotguns only in Schedule 12 which covers this part of the Province.

Hunters are reminded that this regulation is still in effect.

Lost Arm In Farm Accident

A well known Kirk Hill area farmer, Allister MacGillivray lost his left arm in an accident Monday while operating a corn harvester.

Mr. MacGillivray was reported working alone with the corn picker and his arm was drawn into the machine as he attempted to clear a blockage. Other men working in the field were able to stop the machine.

He was rushed to Smith Clinic in Hawkesbury where Dr. Drummond Smith amputated the arm between elbow and shoulder.

The accident occurred at 1.15 p.m. on the neighboring farm of Campbell MacDonald where the 45-year-old farmer was helping to pick corn.

Mr. MacGillivray is the father of four school-age daughters.

Firemen Called To Out-Of-Town Blazes

Alexandria firemen had two out-of-town calls over the weekend, one early Saturday morning, the second Monday night.

A vacant house at Guaytown had its interior completely gutted in a blaze discovered at 3.30 a.m. Saturday. The building is owned by Mrs. Mary Campeau who now resides in Western Ontario and origin of the blaze is unknown. Firemen controlled the flames and prevented their spread to nearby buildings.

The siren sounded again at 7 p.m. Monday, result of a summons to Ray's Body Shop in the 9th Lancaster, owned by Ray Larocque.

A car in the garage caught fire during welding operations. It was pulled outside before the garage interior suffered damage and firemen quickly quelled the blaze.

Doctor Coming To Lancaster From Saskatchewan In April

Lancaster will have its own doctor next April when Dr. Donald Conway expects to come from Esterhazy, Sask., to set up a general practice there.

Dr. Conway visited Lancaster early this month and also completed arrangements in Toronto under the Medical Incentive Plan. Mrs. Conway also spent a few days in Lancaster looking for suitable housing, reports Dr. H. K. Abbey, chairman of the Get-a-Doctor Committee.

After years of service in the Middle East, Cyprus and Egypt, Dr. Conway retired from the British Army Medical Service in 1966 and later came to Saskatchewan where he is presently a member of a three-doctor clinic.

The Lancaster committee had earlier made plans to bring Dr. G. G. McMurthy of Montreal on a part-time basis. These plans fell through when it was found he was not eligible for the government asistance plan.

Application has been made by the committee for a charter and when that has been received early next year a fund-raising drive will be instituted. The objective will be $30,000 with which to build a clinic that would accommodate three doctors, a dentist and a small pharmacy.

Lancaster's new part-time dentist, Dr. Marcel Tenenbaum, is being kept busy reports Dr. Abbey.

Lancaster Township Residents Along Delisle Protest Effluent Runoff From Lagoons

Pollution of the Delisle River through the runoff of effluent from our sewage lagoons is being protested by residents of Lancaster Township living along the river.

Town Council received a petition signed by 40 residents of the township and gave it sympathetic consideration. A copy of the petition was also forwarded to the Ontario Water Resources Commission and council expects the OWRC will investigate the problem.

A representative of Vanson Construction Co., Ottawa, which has the contract for work on the connecting links, was present to discuss council's desire for an early start on storm sewer work. He felt a start separate from the road surfacing program would present difficulties, would be messy and costlier. It was decided the town engineer and a representative of council would meet with the contractor and Department of Highways representes to discuss the matter. The DHO is paying most of the costs and what it decides will probably be agreed to by council.

Andy Menard and Lionel Leroux who have started the La Ronde Amusement Centre in the former Glengarry Sports Shop building were present to discuss the problem of licensing. Games of the type they have installed are covered by heavy licensing fees in a local by-law passed some years ago to rid town of pinball machines. Council felt these rates were punitive to a local business and they will be reviewed by a committee.

Arthur Duggan has been awarded a contract to install an oil heating unit in the former post-office building. Council had "invited" prices from local dealers on converting from coal to either oil or gas and the bid by Duggan Fuels was accepted.

Agreement for purchase of the building has only to be signed by council and the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation and the key to the building will be turned over to the town.

Members of council were to meet Thursday morning to inspect the building and decide what uses it can be put to. It is possible the Drop-In Centre will be moved to the basement if it appears suitable.

Resignation from the fire brigade of Antoine Carriere has been accepted and Jacques Lefebvre, Kenyon St. W., will fill the vacancy.

Five applications for approval of transfer of building lots were accepted.

Council, with other area councils, has been invited to meet with the SD&G Counties School Board to discuss areas of mutual concern, such as mill rates and tax collection. The meeting will be next Tuesday night at the High School.

Fire Hall Progressing

After a two-week interruption due to weather, progress has resumed on the new fire hall. Jean-Marie Lacombe of Glen Robertson, has the contract for the cement block walls and started laying blocks this week.

Marking Golden Year As Priest

The son of native Glengarrians, Very Rev. Eligius Weir, OFM, of St. Peter's Church, Chicago, Illinois, is marking 50 years in the priesthood this year.

He is a son of the late Dan Weir, a native of the 4th Kenyon, and Margaret McDonald of the 4th Lancaster and was born at Ashland, Wis., May 30, 1893. In 1913, Father Weir entered the Franciscan Order and he was ordained a priest on June 29, 1920.

During 50 years of active and rewarding service Father Eligius held the position of chaplain at Illinois State Penitentiary, Joliet, for 22 years. In 1931 he was responsible for stopping a riot of prison inmates there.

Among the many posts he held in his Order were those of Vice-Provincial of Sacred Heart Franciscan Province and, in 1951, the office of Provincial. Father Weir returned in 1969 to St. Peter's Church which was erected during his tenure as Provincial.

Eight Ontario Scholars Among Grads At Char-Lan Commencement

Eight students of Char-Lan District High School were awarded Ontario Scholarships at the annual commencement held at the school in Williamstown, Saturday night.

Receiving the scholarships were Robert Mowat, Marcel Aubin, Janice MacDiarmid, Marlene McLeod, Diane Petrachuk, Berna MacDonald, Catherine McKinnon and Janice Farbotnik.

Speaker was Louis Tremblay, principal of the Cornwall campus of St. Lawrence College.

Mr. Tremblay divided all students into two groups: those who felt education terminated after high school and the acquisition of a well paying job; and those who felt that education did not end until a college degree was obtained.

"Both groups are sadly mistaken," said Mr. Tremblay, "Education is a continuing process and does not end until death."

Following his address awards were handed out to outstanding students.

Birks medals for proficiency were presented to Robert Mowat and Marshall MacMillan.

Eleven students were awarded Student Council medals for proficiency, Hugh MacGregor, Monique Joannette, Theodore Peters, Gail Derouchie, Brian MacNaughton, Diane Brunet, David Lalonde, Anne Pilon, Lynn Vogelsang, Dale Lefebvre and Mary Laperle.

Karen Frederick and Janice Farbotnik were awarded the Calvin Smith Award for English.

Robert Mowat also was presented with the Student Council Mathematics Award and the Latin Prize.

The Knights of Columbus Tropty for Canadian History was presented to Janice MacDiarmid.

Mary Laperle won the principal's prize for Commercial students.

The French prize was awarded to Berna MacDonald, while the Francais prize was given to Pauline Benoit and Suzanne Desjardins.

The staff citizenship award was presented to Robert Blackadder, who was also valedictorian.

Receiving the Ross Scholarship were Robert Mowat, Marcel Aubin, Janice MacDiarmid, Marlene McLeod, Diane Petrachuk, Berna MacDonald, and Catherine McKinnon.

The SD&G Board of Education scholarships were presented to Mary Laperle, Lise Riley, Lois Eastman, Karen Frederick, Judy MacNaughton, Mary Nysten, Pauline Benoit, John Menard and Cathy McDonald.

Twenty-nine honor graduates received diplomas at the commencement while 39 other stu-

IT'S OUR OPINION

They Didn't Want To Get Involved

Quebec police were reported at a stalemate last weekend in their search for the hiding place in which James Cross was being held. All leads had been run down, possible places of detention checked and five days had passed without further word from his captors.

To add to the feelings of frustration was the growing conviction that Mr. Cross had been put to death, just as had Pierre Laporte one week earlier.

It is to be hoped that grim possibility will have been dissipated with his restoration to society by the time this issue of the News is printed. And it would be even more happy an ending if such an eventuality came about as the result of the keen-eyed observation of some ordinary law-abiding citizen.

One of the saddest aspects of the Laporte assassination, in our opinion, was the fact that residents of the area where it is now known that he was kept captive did not think to notify police. They realized "something funny" was going on in that suburban house. If the police had been called Mr. Laporte might have been the first to die, but members of one FLQ cell might have been corralled and their identity could have provided leads to the others.

Eventually, Mr. Laporte was put to death and his assassins escaped, possibily to murder again, because no one thought to tie in that St. Hubert house with the FLQ terrorists. Or an even sorrier possibility, because people did not want to become involved.

Those neighbors on Armstrong Boulevard, St. Hubert, should not be faulted, perhaps, because they failed to link that strange household with the FLQ. It is a commonly held belief that "it can't happen here" or that one is immune to accidents that befall almost anyone else. If the kidnappings never entered their heads in connection with that house, that can be understandable. Not so the total failure to become involved as citizens.

Something suspicious was going on in that house, according to press reports of the neighborhood reaction after the event. "I knew something was going on" declared one housewife, "but I mind my own business". "A very strange crowd", another termed them, "who came and went all the time". One thought the house was being used as a brothel, another saw it a hippie commune, a third imagined it inhabited by drug pushers or receivers of stolen goods.

None thought to pass on their suspicions to the police and there may be the same hesitancy about becoming involved in the case of the missing Mr. Cross. Other neighbors in or around Montreal may be witnessing "something funny going on" and not associating the occurrences with a possible FLQ hideout. Or they may choose not to become involved and so a chance to save the life of James Cross may be lost.

It is even conceivable the FLQ could have a hideaway in Glengarry or Prescott, adjacent to the border. That may explain all those OPP checkpoints at the border and the story that police have been checking properties in this county purchased by Quebec residents in recent years. We do not believe the abductors of Mr. Cross would have travelled far with him in broad daylight. But if "something funny" has been spotted in recent weeks by any area resident he should long ago have reported it to the police.

This terrorist turmoil in Quebec is something no one would choose to become involved in and stay healthy. This is an especially nasty business, but if it has reached such a stage as to demand the War Measures Act might that not be because too many chose not to get involved in restoring a healthier outlook in that province?

The police can uphold law and order only up to the norms society will accept. If we are to be free of crime in the street and such terrorist tactics as the FLQ is now demonstrating, every citizen must become involved.

Is A Winter Election A Possibility?

A provincial election in December is scarcely to be credited. We cannot recall one held so late in the year, at a time when the citizen is shivering his way to the polls to elect a local council or school trustees.

Conditions would be bad enough for getting out the vote down here in southern Ontario. But what of the mining belt and the vast snow-covered stretches of the north?

It seems implausible Premier Robarts would think of calling a general election at this time of year, but we've been sniffing the signs of an impending vote for several weeks:

Item—Our paper carried three large Ontario Government advertisements last issue. Past experience has indicated the voters are being wooed to that extent only on the eve of an election.

Item—Ontario farmers have been induced to postpone a strike against the education tax on land by a grant equalling 25 per cent of their taxes.

Item—Approval has been received for a $900,000 bilingual junior high school in Alexandria at a time when enrolment in Separate Schools has dropped by 146 and all indications point to a declining birthrate and empty classrooms in the near future.

Our MPP has yet to inform us that the Department of Highways will allow access to the new Highway 417 at McCrimmon, but there have been other evidences the electorate is being readied for a favorable exercise of its franchise.

A winter election might put a few knocks in the Tory machine but Mr. Robarts may be encouraged by the knowledge the NDP is trying to heal a split in the ranks consequent on its recent acquisition of a new leader, Stephen Lewis. He must also be aware the Liberals are unhappy with their lustreless leader, Robert Nixon, and are trying to woo federal personalities back into the provincial fold, among them Paul Hellyer.

It has long been common gossip that Robarts wants out, but that the Party insists he first lead them back into office. We might have had a vote early this fall had not Ontario farmers become so intransigent concerning education taxes.

There is a hope we'll be spared a winter election, though. Ontario has the last surviving Conservative Government in Canada since Nova Scotia voters last week unpleasantly surprised the Tories by voting in a Liberal administration.

The machine that has kept a succession of Conservative Governments in power in Ontario for more than a quarter of a century may take a second look at what happened in Nova Scotia and decide to hold fast for another while.

Call Out The Pony Express

"Call out the Pony Express", pleads the editor of the Ridgetown Dominion who figures the mail riders of the days of the wild, wild west might deliver weekly newspapers faster than does the Canada Post Office today.

The Ridgetown editor has a tale of woeful delivery service that can be duplicated by any other weekly publisher. Dutton is only 25 miles from Ridgetown and yet it takes eight days for the Dutton Advance to reach the Ridgetown editor. The same tortoise pace is required for the Strathroy paper and readers of the Ridgetown Dominion in other southwest Ontario points tell of its arrival as much as two weeks after publication.

We are not happy with the fact the News can match anything the Ridgetown editor brings up. From Thunder Bay comes a query as to why the News is arriving so late. Prior to the recent mail strike it had been getting there on the Monday following publication, but now 20 days may be required and on Oct. 13th the writer had not yet received the issue of Sept. 17th. A follow-up letter on the 15th brought the "good news" that that Sept. 17th issue had arrived the previous day. In the same mail were the issues of Sept. 24 and Oct. 1st. Still on the way, presumably, was the Oct 8th issue.

So many such foul-ups in delivery service have been reported to us we have lost all faith in the ability of the Post Office to handle the flood of mail that zeroes in on the big city distribution offices. In the case of second class mail there seems to be an almost total disregard of anything in the nature of service; and yet some papers come through with despatch, at times.

There appears no rhyme nor reason in servicing the weeklies. The Thursday edition of the same Ridgetown Dominion was in our box on Friday. Other weeks it may arrive on Tuesday or even a week late. The Rodney Mercury, printed on Wednesday, covered some 400 miles in 24 hours and yet the Dutton Advance, mailed in the same area as Rodney, may reach us any day next week.

Weekly newspapers travel as second class mail and it seems the big city postal people treat them as a class of utterly no importance. Those mail bags are apparently shunted aside for later despatch and they may not get attention for days or weeks. Post office authorities will not admit as much, but this has to be the answer to the fluctuating service weekly newspaper publications receive.

The publisher who is paying ten times the weekly postal bill he had to meet even three years ago should not be faulted for expecting better service for his increased mailing costs. Instead he finds the service steadily deteriorating and the Post Office people ever more arbitrary, except in his dealings with his local office. His papers leave the Post Office on schedule; it is what happens to them in the city terminus that leaves him frustrated and furious.

That rotten service in the cities has cost us more than one hundred subscribers over the last 12 months, most of whom have stopped taking the paper because of its late arrival. Fortunately we have more than made up the loss in local sales and our biennial audit should show paid subscriptions rising closer to the 5,000 mark.

Slowly but steadily our readership continues to increase, with no thanks to the slow and unsteady postal delivery service.

The Fundamentals Of Football

(by Ann McRae, Grade 12)

Women's Liberation Front is an almost overworked term these days. The reaction to these three words runs the gamut of joy to disgust to anger. To appease the wrath of my more militant sisters, I will attempt an exposé of the popular 'male-dominated' game known as football. This shall be an education pamphlet — my contribution to the revolution. The main concept is this: "Football is simple, simple, simple." Now—let us forge ahead.

In my opinion the most important player is the "quarterback" who throws or (in football terminology) "passes" the ball. Memorize the quarterback's number: this is a necessity. Now the "centre" is the guy in the middle of the line who has a towel tucked into his football pants. He throws the ball under and between his legs to the quarterback. This is a "hike". The towel in the centre's pants was an object of consuming interest to me; the two purposes of the towel are to dry a slippery football and the quarterback's slippery hands. (Ingenious, isn't it?) Just to simplify matters the other twenty-two members shall be known as "tacklers" (smashers) and/or "runners."

The object of the game is to get past the goalposts and onto the diagonally white-striped "turf" ("turf" is tough talk for ground) this is known as a "touchdown" and is worth six hefty points. By the way, at various instances in the game three points and one point scores are added. I cannot fathom the rules leading to this so if you possibly can try ignoring it. If you can't, ask your friendly football expert (there are about ten in every crowd).

Also in the game are terms known as "downs". There are three of these "downs". Actually I think it is an elaborate plot to confuse women, — "downs" signify just moving forwards or backwards (by yards).

In addition to these points which I've explained there are, as in any other healthy, clean, masculine sport, many other rules. But, you see, we women must be indoctrinated slowly; we must bridge the gap slowly. So, by understanding football, in part, we will have effectively begun to infiltrate the ranks. Let us look upwards and onwards, women of the world!

The Weeklies Say

DON'T CARE

The Westerner has come to suspect that the East can't see past the Great Lakes, that a government and Parliament dominated by Ontario and Quebec don't care much about the other provinces.
—Swift Current (Sask.) Sun

IT'S A RIGHT

Free speech should include not only the right to free and open expression of one's views, but also the right to be heard by people who may have some real jurisdiction over the question.
—Hudson Bay (Sask.) Review

ONLY ONE DIRTY ANIMAL

The expression is often used, "dirty animal." In truth there is only one dirty animal; the smart one, the superior one, the highest form of animal life—man. It is man who blankets the countryside with wrecked cars, with beer bottles, with empty cans, with boxes and wrappers. It is man who cleans his fish and small game by the shore and throws the offal into the water. It is man who leaves a trail of desolation behind him.
—Salmon Arm (BC) Observer

MUCH UNITES US

It seems to us that it is high time that ordinary folk on both sides of the 49th parallel reaffirmed the bonds of friendship which have traditionally linked the two nations. Some things divide us; but it is much much more that unites us. Let our thoughts dwell, not on what we can attack and tear down, but on what we can still contribute to humanity.
—Chiliwack (BC) Progress

NOT RESPONSIBLE

The day is gone, or should go rapidly, when the (car) manufacturer gets it both ways—when you buy, and when you have a problem.
—Rimbey (Alta.) Record

NOT DEAD

Local government is not dead. This must be the principal message to emerge from the troubled municipal scene this past year. The long period of hesitation and indecision which has plagued the vital institutions now shows signs of abating and leaving in its wake an awareness which must ultimately lead to strong local government.

RAMBLING REPORTER

DARKNESS COMES EARLY

Comes the return to Standard Time each October's end and someone invariably sighs over the need to turn back the clock. "Why can't we stay on Daylight Time all year round and stave off the late afternoon darkness", you hear them wishing out loud.

Our dog must have been thinking along the same lines as he took us for the usual walk along about six p.m. Sunday. We were covering the familiar route but it was altogether different because of the darkness and the unusual quiet.

He kept looking and listening for the neighborhood kids, but what a difference a day had made with the switch of the clock hands. Early darkness had halted their play and where yesterday mothers had been calling them in to supper, 24 hours later the kids were probably gathered around the table impatiently demanding their food.

MacDuff was a disappointed dog because of the absence of young friends to fuss over him and perhaps more than one mother was finding it difficult to adjust to the change of time.

We, too find it hard to take the early dusk and we'd probably vote for year-round fast time. People who had to leave their warm beds in the dark of a cold winter's morn might be more apt to cast their ballot for the return to Standard Time.

There's only so much daylight available through our long cold winters and perhaps it's more wanted early than late.

We detest the early dusk but there's a bit of a kick in being able to turn back time in its flight once each year.

WHY THE LEAVES LEAVE

October is just about finished and so is nature's colorful showing of the autumn leaves. The leaves have come tumbling down and most maples now look as gaunt and spiritless as were the dying elms through summer.

This autumn's show wasn't as colorful as usual, we've heard it said. One observer thought the color change came earlier and more gradually, perhaps because of the lack of frost.

Frost is not essential to make the leaves change their colors, we learn from a timely pamphlet issued by the Management Forester at Kemptville. In fact, he avers, leaves killed by frost will turn brown without undergoing the normal color change.

At the possible cost of removing all romance from this autumnal show we give you the Forester's why and how of the color change in the hardwoods.

He writes:

"The main reason why the hardwood tree discards its leaves in the fall is to reduce the area of the transpiring surface during the winter months when the supply of moisture is drastically reduced. Damage to the tree would result if it kept giving off moisture during the winter but could not replace this loss because the ground water is frozen.

"As the lifelines between the leaves and the tree become blocked, the existing chlorophyll in the leaves slowly disappears. The leaves now become yellow or orange because of the presence of the pigments xanthophyll and carotin, which are no longer obscured by the chlorophyll (green coloring pigment). The bright red color of some leaves is due to the production of a pigment called anthocyanin."

Sounds almost as grim as hardening of the arteries, doesn't it? But isn't it beautiful while it lasts?

If the leaves didn't leave would we have a fall before snowfall?

PRO HOCKEY IS SLIPPING

Watched a few minutes of the Saturday night hockey game between the Leafs and Chicago and the ragged, scoreless play appeared not much better than the brand of hockey to be seen on the local arena ice. Some of the players seemed slow on their skates and far below the calibre of pro hockeyists who performed even a few years back.

It was bound to happen when the NHL was expanded to twice its size and this year there are two more teams in Vancouver and Buffalo to be fleshed out from an already limited pool of hockey talent.

The result was inevitable, a dilution of the top talent through 14 teams where once there were only six to be staffed. Players who would never have made the

Rambling...

NHL are now in demand, veterans who might long ago have retired are still in uniform and the junior leagues are being raided for teenage youngsters who might be better for a few years of seasoning in senior amateur company.

The brand of hockey served up in the NHL ain't what it used to be and probably pro hockey has seen its best days. The pace is already slower and there will be fewer speedsters coming out of today's minor ranks where the accent is on winning games and producing stars rather than on developing strong skaters.

If the calibre of hockey continues to slip there could come a day when the advertisers who finance televising of the games will shift to another sport with more public appeal. Then the money-hungry NHL owners will cry to high heaven and perhaps even rue the day they grabbed at those millions of dollars the expansion teams were offering for a spot in the top league.

If NHL hockey slows even more the Russians may decide to include our pros in the Cold War.

Propcorn is an agricultural chemical system which destroys rot-causing moulds and bacteria in high-moisture corn. It permits safe storage of crops in conventional bins or on barn floors. Here are the main advantages of this new system:

- crops can be safely stored for long periods
- treated corn can be moved without deterioration
- the need for drying equipment or sealed storage is eliminated
- transportation and waiting time costs are greatly reduced
- losses due to multi-handling are reduced
- a continuous, efficient and economical harvest operation from field to storage is possible
- livestock is encouraged to feed better, fatten faster

Hawkesbury, VCI In Senior Final

(by Angus H. McDonell)

As a result of last Friday's senior school football games neither Maxville nor Alexandria will be in the finals. Vankleek Hill, still undefeated, will host Hawkesbury, tomorrow Friday, in a sudden death final for the league championship and the MacArthur trophy as a result of side tracking Gaels 13-7.

Hawkesbury had too much power and defeated Maxville 25-0 but the score doesn't fairly represent the play as the Indian Lands youngsters were tough to handle and lost out in a creditable manner.

In the VCI-Gaels semi-final; it was the Hill all the way in the first half as the Alexandria crew floundered around hopelessly. In the final 30 minutes Gaels held a wide margin of play but it was too little and too late.

One of VCI's scoring punches is a pass from Mike Hudson to flanker Sid MacCallum and this was run off flawlessly midway in the first quarter to give the homesters a TD, not converted, and a 6-0 lead.

As the first quater ended VCI were deep in GDHS territory and on the first play after changing ends versatile Paul Brunet cracked through for the Hill's second major, also not converted. This meant that after 16 minutes of play Gaels were behind 12-0. Their defence improved enough to hold on until half time but the offence couldn't muster any worthwhile attack.

During half time we feel certain that coach Stan Fraser's remarks must have been a bit searing because Ourtown's youngsters ripped almost everything apart in the third frame. Donnie Morris ignited the fuse with ground gaining plunges. Roch Lajoie hustled on right end sweeps and "Moose" McCormick belted the ball like Joe Zuger with the result that by the end of the third Gaels were only four yards away from pay dirt.

On the opening play of the final round Donnie Morris crashed through for the bundle six and Murray MacDonald converted. Score 12-7 for the Hill. Gaels kept the VCI defence under pressure especially when Duncan MacLeod pulled in a remarkable catch from Charlie MacKinnon who took over the controls after half time. This moved the sticks deep in the Hill zone but VCI held and forced Gaels into a third and kicking situation. The formation was field goal try but turned out to be a fake with a quick pass to MacLeod who leaped, grabbed but could not hold on to the ball and GDHS had to give up the leather.

VCI added a single by Brunet and ground out the clock to end the game 13-7. To the victor go the spoils and VCI deserves to be in the finals. However, if a few of the Gael players had been able to concentrate entirely on their studies and football for the days preceeding the game instead of a silly confrontation they might have come up with the upset of the season.

FIRST HOME—There were no winners in Saturday's walkathon except the Lions Club service fund, but Jean Guy Bender was the first to complete the 24-mile course. Councillor Raymond Ouellette had the early lead but youth told in the end as both Jean Guy and his brother Raymond led at the finish. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Bender, Alexandria. # GDHS Juniors Retain Inter-School Football Title With Play-Off Win

(by Angus H. McDonell)

For the second successive year the Glengarry-Prescott interschool junior football championship pennant flutters proudly from the GDHS mast.

This was made certain last Thursday in anything but favorable football weather when the young Gaels defeated Hawkesbury here 21-18 in what many fans rated as the best game of the year in either league.

The young Gaels held their goal line firm during the schedule but this record was broken at the 4.31 mark of the second quarter when Hawk's Andre Hurtubise broke through for a TD that was not converted. Ten minutes later Allan Laframboise evened the score with Gael's first major and J. T. Hay added the convert to give the locals a half time 7-6 lead.

About the seven minute mark of the third, Hawks regained the lead on another TD by Hurtubise wtih no convert count. Following the kick off Gaels came right back with the key play of the game when pivot Mike Hurtubise hit Allan Laframboise with a fine pass and a gallop through the mud for 65 yards. J. T. Hay was good with the extra point.

Early in the final quarter Mike Hurtubise pulled the trigger on a 29 yard strike to Ray O'Connell who pulled in the ball on the Hawks one yarder and stepped over for the game and championship winning TD. J. T. Hay split the posts for the third time and these three converts were the victory margin as Hawkesbury scored their third unconverted touchdown with the final flag drooped in the rain.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

The Alexandria Junior "B" Glens' Hockey Club is at the crossroads. One leads nowhere, the other should be a road that will become a credit to Alexandria and district.

You will ask why such a leadoff assertion? Because for the second time in a few months a very unsavory incident involving the hockey club has occurred.

The first incident was a so called team fan filling the role of a "Smart Alec" by taking along a "mickey" to Prescott, resulting in junior drinking. But that has gone under the golf club bridges with the spring run so let us leave it down near the lagoon where it belongs.

Let us, without prejudice to anyone, deal with last week's episode. Here, in sequence, is what happened.

The highlight of Ourtown's high school football season, and this reflects over a great part of Glengarry, was the semi-final game in Vankleek Hill, last Friday, when the Gaels had to win to earn a shot at the championship. This tense situation brings pressure on high school coaches and players just as it does in college and pro leagues.

It also happened, last week, that the Glens hockey team was in preseason training with an exhibition game slated on the eve of the football game in the Hill.

Six key players were members of both teams. They are Morris McCormick, Raymond Poirier, Donnie Morris, Roch Lajoie, Mike Kelly and Lee Taillefer. Following Glens' Wednesday practice, manager Gerry Simpson informed these players that they were to play hockey Thursday night against Cornwall Royals "B" team —"or else". Or else meant suspension.

The stunned youngsters Thursday at noon met with their football coach and revealed the Simpson edict. Coach Stan Fraser was not only astounded by the manner his players had been interfered with on the eve of such an important game; he was quite justifiably more than a little annoyed. Stan Fraser then got in touch with manager Simpson and discussed the situation. We have coach Fraser's permission to quote him on the result. There was no reasoning on the part of manager Simpson, no compromise and the "ultimatum" still stood.

The usual players' meeting before the football practice was held later that day, Thursday. As you would expect from the stature of a coach like Stan Fraser there was no counter ultimatum, only the mention that school loyalty was an important part of a student.

Then came the climax. The six football players put their school and their gridiron team first by refusing to dress with the Glens. (God bless them). Now the anticlimax. While the Gaels were dressing for Friday's game coaches Stan Fraser and Jean Yves Jeaurond (here we have permission to quote) both became deeply concerned to hear that the topic discussed, instead of football, was the now famous Simpson suspension. In that atmosphere not even the late great Vince Lombardi could get a team "up" for a game. Result—for the first 30 minutes the Gaels couldn't have even handled their junior team, let alone a keyed-up, full-of-fire VCI squad. The second half saw the team fighting off elimination in a creditable manner—but too late.

We have learned that following the football windup the said players met with Glens' coach Bill Upper and manager Gerry Simpson. The suspension would be lifted, but replaced with a $10.00 fine. The players were given a half-hour to think over the matter. We understand Bill Upper had no part in the suspension, nor did he approve of it. In fact hockey coach Upper confirmed this by phone with the writer. We were unable to contact Simpson. Now the half-hour is over and there is no surrender, if that is the proper term. Finally the fine was wiped out, the hockey cards signed on the condition there was to be no interference by such as high school basketball. Amen.

Stanley Fraser and Jean Yves Jeaurond are highly respected teachers, gentlemen and sportsmen on and off the football field and in any phase of sport. We know this from experience—great guys to work with. To learn that these two coaches and their players should have been subjected to such childish nonsense over an exhibition hockey game on the eve of an important football playoff defies description. This writer has been following sport trails for 51 years and for the likes of this to happen within the friendly limits of Alexandria has to be classed as the most stupid, most uncooperative and most unsportsman-like happening in our limited experience.

The owners of the Glens are fine sportsmen with money invested for a double purpose. First to provide minor grads the opportunity to play junior "B" hockey and this in turn should keep Alexandria prominent in sport and in step with Ourtown's general progress.

In closing we trust that the club executive extends an apology to Gael coaches and players for the unnecessary ordeal they had to contend with last week. This at least will exonerate the owners and coach and should help to regain some valuable support lost last March, and a great deal more last week.

The 1971 Grand Prix. A piece of fine machinery.

You already know how well built Moto-Skis are.
Well, the Moto-Ski Grand Prix is just a little more precise. A little more refined.
On top of all the great features it shares with other Moto-Skis, the Grand Prix gives you a choice of three specially built engines, a wider track of rubberized steel cleats, with a one year warranty a speedometer, a tachometer, a gold metal flake finish, and more safety features than ever before.
We think you'll appreciate the precision you get in the Grand Prix.
It's just a little more precise than our other machines.
And they're still way ahead of everyone else's.

Pledged Vows At Sioux Lookout

MacLEOD—RIVAIS

Marriage vows and wedding rings were exchanged in Sacred Heart Church, Sioux Lookout, Ontario on August 22, 1970 at 6.00 p.m. when Marion Ruth, only daughter of Mrs. John Lewis Rivais and the late Mr. Rivais of Sioux Lookout, became the bride of John Clark MacLeod, eldest son of Mrs. John Duncan MacLeod and the late Mr. MacLeod of Dunvegan, Ontario. Reverend Father D. J. Pruner, OMI, and Reverend David Robertson of Kenora, formerly of Moose Creek, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Tht altar of the church was decorated with a basket of white poms and white mums. Mrs. Robert Armstrong, sister of the groom was soloist and sang "The Wedding Prayer", "Ave Maria", and "The Wedding Benediction".

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her uncle, Basil Rivais, was escorted to the altar by her mother and uncle. The radiant bride chose a two-piece gown of imported Lagoda crepe. The slim sheath dress had a high ring collar with an empire waistline. The coat, featuring a bolero style bodice with slim, full-length sleeves, closed with a row of tiny self-covered buttons. The coat fell into a train and was trimmed with matching Guipure appliques. Her four-tiered elbow length, bouffant veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by a pill box hat decorated with seed pearls. The bride carried a stylized cascade of red "Forever Yours" roses, white stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Gordon Duke of Winnipeg, as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of floral English terylene georgette in shades of aqua, turquoise and gold.

Mrs. Ken Smith and Miss Marion McCron, friends of the bride and Miss Debbie Dark, cousin of the bride, were attendants, and Alison Armstrong, niece of the groom acted as junior bridesmaid. The girls, in floral shades of rose, peach and gold, were gowned identically to the matron of honor.

James Duncan MacLeod, Ottawa, was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Ken Smith, Gananoque, Paul Rivais, Winnipeg and James Knauff, Thunder Bay, both cousins of the bride.

A reception dinner and dance followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall. For the wedding trip to Banff and points west, the bride chose an aqua dress and coat ensemble of puffed silk. She wore pearls, white accessories and a white orchid. The bride and groom have taken up residence in Gananoque.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Manitoba while the bridegroom graduated from McGill University. Both are presently on the teaching staff of Gananoque Secondary School.

Out-of-town guests were from Dunvegan, Ottawa, Brockville, Winnipeg, Thunder Bay, Gananoque, Dryden, Kenora and Transcona.

dents received graduation diplomas, 19 received Commercial course diplomas and 15 were awarded certificates of training.

Following the presentations, valedictorian Robert Blackadder addressed the gathering, pleading with parents, teachers and administrators not to become discouraged with the present generation.

"You may disapprove of the length of our hair and the mode of our dress," he said, but these are mere superficialities.

A report from your Glengarry Agricultural Office

(by Glen Slater)

Why is it that in the Fall and Spring months, we have the highest incidence of respiratory diseases in all types of livestock. Dr. R. A. Willoughby says that rapid temperature changes and subsequently variations in relative humidity, alter the efficiency of disease fighting processes in the animal and thus makes them more susceptible to disease.

ENVIRONMENT CONTROL

Don't let these words scare you. Most farmers control the environment in their barns to a certain extent. I think it is better if we use this term rather than ventilation, because it more accurately describes the situation we would like to have in our barns. It is being proven that mature livestock can produce efficiently in a wide range of temperatures and relative humidities; quick fluctuation in these items show quickly in milk production or rate of gain. Baby animals such as small pigs and calves, do not have the ability to control their body temperatures as effectively as adults, so a controlled environment at a specific heat and R.H. is required.

During the past spring and summer, a lot of things have happened to many farms in Glengarry. Some farmers will be housing an extra ten head in their barns this year. Some farmers have made repairs and tightened up walls and added insulation. A lot of farmers have built new extensions or a completely new barn. All of these things will affect the extent of your environmental control throughout the winter months.

A system should be designed that will give you a good environment in the warm damp days in the fall and spring and in the cold dry days throughout the winter.

Some common methods used by farmers are: the installation of fans of various sizes controlled by thermostats; the addition of proper inlets, which should always be continuous along the perimeter and should always be adjustable. The inlets should be made of materials that will not be affected by frost or moisture. Supplemental heat is often a necessity in areas where calves are housed or in farrowing areas.

If any farmers are contemplating problems, now is the time to correct them. Call the Agricultural Engineer in your County Agricultural Office.

GLENGARRIANS AT THE OTTAWA WINTER FAIR

Glengarry was well represented at the OWF last week. Gerard Smits, and Charles Naylor of Lancaster, as well as Gerald Graham of Williamstown, were the exhibitors representing the Glengarry Holstein Club. Rideau View Cindy Rockman won the Grand Champion Ribbon for Naylor, while the Smits and Graham herds each won 3rd and 5th prize ribbons in large classes. Donald Angus McLennan, Dalkeith, exhibited the Grand Champion Clydesdale Stallion Collessie Pride.

Twenty eight 4-H Calf Club members were involved in competition. The champion group of 3 Ayrshire calves was made up of the entries of Malcolm Cumming, Jim Vallance and Elizabeth Murray. The Reserve Champion group of 3 Holsteins were the entries of Leslie MacLeod, John McIntosh and Cornelius Van Sleeuwen.

Stewart Irvine of Dalkeith, was the winner of the Junior Management Competition on Tuesday with entries competing from all counties east of Hastings.

Glengarry 4-H Corn Club members John McPherson, Robin Thomson and Gordon McPherson stood 6th, 7th and 9th in a class of 46 entries of cob corn.

Lyle Howes won the open shelled corn competition as well as a 2nd and four thirds in seed classes. Myles MacMillan won three classes as well as two third prize ribbons.
