Chesterville Citizens Mourned

Donald (Dan) MacMillan Laid to Rest

Final tribute was paid a highly respected resident of Chesterville when people from all walks of life filled St. Mary's Church to capacity on Saturday morning when Libera was sung by Rev Father F. Price at the funeral of Donald (Dan) John MacMillan, who died in Ottawa General Hospital March 28.

Burial was made in St. Bernard's Cemetery, Finch, where graveside prayers were said by Rev Francis Foley, assisted by Father Leo MacDonell. Requiem High Mass was chanted in St. Mary's Church on Monday morning by Rev F. Price.

The profusion of flowers and the large number of mass cards bore testimony to the esteem and affection accorded the memory of Mr MacMillan.

Donald John MacMillan was born in Finch 88 years ago, the son of the late Alexander and Margaret Cameron MacMillan. He received his education in Finch schools following which he spent several years in Western Canada. Returning east, he entered the employ of the CPR and retained his position for 40 years, 33 of which he spent in Chesterville. Mrs George C. Merkley, one of Nation Valley's most highly esteemed citizens, was tendered a surprise birthday party at her home Wednesday evening, March 28, on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

Attended by over 40 relatives and friends, it was a very happy event. Mrs Merkley is very active for her 80 years and enjoyed the evening to the utmost. Spending the day at her daughter's home at Winchester Springs, she arrived home to find her many friends there to greet her and extend felicitations.

Games were enjoyed and her two grandchildren, Barbara Ann and Carol Merkley, entertained with musical numbers.

During the course of the evening Mrs Merkley was escorted to a seat of honour by her son, Lloyd Merkley, and her daughter, Mrs Harry Holmes, presented her mother with a corsage bouquet.

A beautiful remembrance book for the occasion, designed by Mrs Harold Merkley, Mrs Enos Munroe, Mrs Chas. Gray and Mrs Kenneth Merkley, containing a congratulatory address, was presented to the guest of honour in which all present registered. Many beautiful and varied gifts were then presented including a large decorated birthday cake. Mrs Merkley very graciously replied.

The tea table, which was centred with a bowl of red and white carnations, was presided over by Mrs W. O. Dixon and Mrs L. M. Colquhoun, both of Chesterville.

Those assisting in the serving of refreshments were Mrs Kenneth Merklev, Mrs Wm. Forward, Mrs Lloyd Merkley, Mrs Harry Holmes and Misses Barbara Ann Merkley and Lorraine Holmes Holmes.

Feeley–Shaver

Amid a setting of Spring flowers, the home of the bride's parents at Chesterville was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, March 31, when Beverley Jean, daughter of Mr and Mrs Fay Shaver, was united in marriage to Blake Arnold Feeley, son of Mr and Mrs Lorne Feeley, all of Chesterville. The bride and groom were attended by Mr and Mrs Henry Feeley, of Toronto, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony, the bride and groom, their immediate families and Rev R. A. and Mrs Mitchell enjoyed a wedding dinner at the Northway Hotel, Cornwall.

On return from their honeymoon in the United States, the couple will reside in Chesterville.

Chesterville Council For April Has Routine Meeting

Members of Chesterville council met in the clerk's office for the April meeting Tuesday night of this week. Present with the reeve, Chas. McMillan, were councillors Harold Sharkey and Carl and Erwin Merkley. Mr Arnold was not present through illness.

Knotty problems were few. Hydro affairs were quickly disposed of with the reading of the minutes and the passing of accounts.

Council discussed at considerable length the proposed change in the assessing method. Assessor E. B. Lynch was on hand to explain some of the fine points of the new system, declare it appeared clear as mud and offer his resignation if the system was adopted over the McIntosh System. Mr Lynch pointed cut the new method, while undoubtedly of value, would take at least an hour a sheet to revise, and there were nearly 500 sheets to do. It was his opinion the system would raise much argument but that his reason for being reluctant to the job would be the demand on his time. He felt he could not afford it.

Council had second thoughts on the whole matter and finally passed a motion rescinding the motion of last month calling for the use of the new system. The present method will be used until further information would point to the necessity of change.

Roads and bridges estimates were in for grant purposes and the department has approved the use of $3,400 for that purpose on which grants will be received.

A motion went on the books stating the wish of council that the name of Allan Farlinger be considered for a position on the St. Lawrence Development Board. The motion is to be forwarded to F. M. Cass, M.P.P., and the Minister of Planning and Development.

Daylight Saving Time is to become effective starting Saturday midnight, April 28, and to remain in force until further notice in the Fall.

Council wound up the affairs with a long discussion regarding the advisibility of considering the use of a town foreman or supervisor for general upkeep and repair of the town's facilities. Nothing was decided and the matter was laid over for further discussion.

The meeting adjourned at 10.45 p.m.

The following accounts were passed for payment:

Hydro for village, $10.51; Sydney Morris, snow plowing, $45; W. A. Nash, bounty for fox, $3; Sydney Morris, snow plowing, $12; Harold Windsor, bounty, $3; V. Allen, labour, $4; Andrew Harper, garbage collection, $79; Separate School Board requisition, $500; Chesterville Public School Board requisition, $2,000; Earl Wood, fox bounty, $6; Leonard Shane, police salary and car, $230.50; Dave Johnston, labour, $5.02; Robert Ouderkirk, janitor's salary, $49.36; H. Local Societies Present at Auxiliary Thankoffering Mrs T. D. Ross Addresses Large Attendance of Ladies

"We are all walking on the road to Emmaus. We are either going toward it defeated and discouraged with our hope all gone or we are returning to Jerusalem filled with peace and happiness having met the risen Lord." So said Mrs T. D. Ross, the guest speaker at the Easter Thankoffering of the Evening Auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church.

Mrs Ross chose as her subject "The Living Christ." She told the story of a young boy in India who found some pages from one of the gospels in the dust along the road. He read most eagerly about a loving Jesus but he was sad when the story ended at the crucifixion. It was some time later that he learned that he hadn't had all the pages—that Christ rose from the dead and lives.

The speaker said how necessary it is that we have faith in a risen Christ to form an "inner brace" against the outside pressures which bear down so heavily upon us in times of stress and trouble.

Mrs Ross was introduced by Mrs Graham Smith and thanked by Mrs Dalton Docksteader.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs Gerald Gilbert, assisted by Mrs Leroy Smith, Mrs Dalton Quartus, Mrs R. A. Mitchell, with Mrs Hugh Marcellus at the piano. Mrs F. M. Cass and Mrs Douglas Fry sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs P. J. Gilroy.

The president, Mrs F. M. Cass, was in charge of the business period when it was decided that the Evening Auxiliary cater for the C.G.I.T. Mother and Daughter Banquet to be held in May. An invitation was read by the secretary, Mrs Mansell Brownlee, inviting the members to attend the Easter Thankoffering of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. to be held in their church on April 13.

The members of the Afternoon Auxiliary of Trinity United Church, the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the W.A. of Holy Trinity Anglican Church were guests at the Thankoffering. Mrs Lyle Marcellus expressed the appreciation of the visitors for the privilege of attending the meeting. Mrs F. M. Cass and Mrs R. A. Mitchell welcomed the guests as they arrived. Approximately 75 attended.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs Gerald Gilbert and her committee, Mrs Dalton Docksteader, Mrs Dalton Quartus, Mrs Graham Smith, Mrs Margaret Nicol, Mrs Leroy Smith, Mrs Hulbert Henderson and Mrs Mansel Brownlee.

The committee for the May meeting will be Mrs Harry Allison, Mrs Lloyd Smith, Mrs Hilda Belsher, Mrs Gordon Lannin and Miss Gladys Marcellus.—L.R.A.

OPINIONS . . .

Ours and Others

Spring Problems of Council

There comes a time when Chesterville council takes stock of the village system of doing things and emits sounds of dissatisfaction. This year is no exception and the Spring meeting this week is on record as having some of the same old problems ahead for the coming season.

Each year the repair and maintenance of our roads and sidewalks, the general upkeep of the village property is examined with an eye to possible economies. Usually the same system is used, that of doing each job as it comes up, in a piecemeal fashion, with what labour is available. Like all systems the old one could stand some improvements but like everything else it would cost some money to begin.

This page has noted the need for a more systematic method of keeping the village's physical plant maintained for some time. Amazingly enough we are not finding too much fault with the present system, but we are of the opinion that a more efficient and in the end less expensive system could be worked out that would give us a cleaner, more attractive village.

The basic fact to be recognized is that certain village services now let out on an individual basis would have to be consolidated into the hands of the one department. This would mean that services such as garbage collection, snow plowing and removal, street patching, street cleaning and general maintenance would be done by the one village unit. A town truck would have to be purchased to do the job. A village foreman to work full time would have to be hired. He would have to act as fire chief and general factotum and be willing to pitch in and do enough labour himself to justify a salary in the neighbourhood of $3000.

Present cost figures for the total of town maintenance are difficult to arrive at but garbage collection, fire chief's salary, snow plow retainer, and odds and ends would come to nearly one half the suggested annual wage of a town foreman. Further economies would be immediately apparent in a continued state of repair of streets and other parts of the village plant. It is much less expensive to maintain than rebuild.

Members of Chesterville council have no intention of going off half cocked about the hiring of a village foreman. They, instead, would be grateful for suggestions from the ones who have to pay the village bills, the tax payers. There is much good in the idea of having the town foreman plan investigated, at least costwise.

Useless Taxation

Mr Harris, in his budget the other week, took a most unnecessary step to make himself unpopular with a great many people, when he proposed a 20 per cent tax on advertising revenue for certain Canadian-published American magazines. The tax will be unnecessary because the tax return will admittedly be very small, and the unpopularity arises from the fact that the whole deal smacks of playing the very small audience of Canadian magazine publishers for some well-slanted electiontime applause.

Canadian publishers of magazines such as Maclean's decry the American method of entering the advertising field in Canada with their publications. They point out the Americans have practically no editorial costs to charge against the Canadian editions because the parent copies in the States have paid those costs. The Canadian edition is nearly all gravy. "Canada for Canadians," says Mrs Harris and the cry is gratefully echoed by the affected publishers here.

Basically the despairing cry of the need for Canadian publications for Canadian consumption is so much hooey. Since when did we need the gentle hand of Ottawa to regulate our reading, Canadian or otherwise? Does Ottawa pay any attention to the competition afforded the Chesterville Record by the dailies that flood into the town every night? Does Ottawa use its surgically clean tax programme to keep vast quantities of commercial bilge off the airwaves of the CBC that originates in places other than Toronto? Does our federal baby sitter pretend that only Canadians should make advertising money in the Canadian market?

We read quite a few of the American magazines that are published in Canada. Also we take much pleasure in reading Canadian ones like Maclean's. We think the minister has been wrongly directed on the policy of special magazine taxes. While a certain amount of protection may well be accepted in the publishing field, it seems to us the unnecessary severity of the proposed tax is apt to advertise a short-sighted policy rather than a transfusion to a reasonably healthy industry.

Bits and Pieces

Spring is sneaking up on us in the most disheartening fashion this year. Here it is April 5th and the river is clogged with ice, the Barrel Run seems weeks away and the trout season is rapidly nearing. Perhaps the Chalk River fellows could lend us a bit of atomic juice to loosen things up.

o O o

Our fellow newspapers have the same problems as we have, it seems, when it comes to getting in the green stuff owing on subscriptions. They must be paid in advance and if they aren't, the publisher is on the spot. Help us hold the cost line by keeping your subscription paid up. The date on your label tells the story.

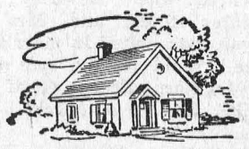
The Record joins the fraternity in congratulating the Prescott Journal and Iroquois Post on their new face and size. The Journal has installed a new and larger press and expanded the paper from seven to eight columns. We like the change. Editors Jack Morris, of the Journal, and Ken Kirkby, of the Iroquois Post, are Chesterville natives and their newspaper beginnings were under the careful hand of the late publisher of the Record, Mr G. C. Lacey.



Light Along The Way

The word "service," to this modern age, is akin to such words as "truth," "beauty," "goodness." But it was not always so acceptable. Originally it was associated with servants, and in Roman times was used exclusively for the work of the slave. It is in this sense that Jesus used it when he said: "But I am among you as one who serves."

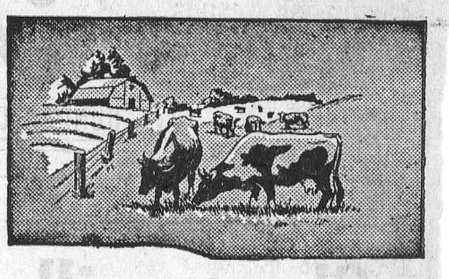
When Jesus was eating the Passover meal in the Upper Room with His disciples, Jesus asked them a question: "Which is the greater, one who sits at table, or one who serves? Is it not the one who sits at table? One can see the heads nod in agreement, for this has always been so. The master is greater than the servant, the employer than the employee, and it was then as it is now. Of course there could be no question of the surpassing greatness of Jesus, so it is easy to imagine the complete surprise of the disciples when He quietly adds: "But I am among you as one who serves." Could it be that they had the wrong idea of greatness? Was it possible that the mark of true greatness was not the power to command service but the desire and ability to render service?

But perhaps this is a new way to profit. Is it not written: "Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after some days?" Yet the life of Christ hardly succeeded to "reward" or "profit." Jesus did not suggest that service is, necessarily, profitable. But service will surely mean acclaim. Yet, while people thronged Jesus when He preached to them, at the end they "forsook Him and fled." He did not suggest service as a means to make friends an influence people.

Jesus said that need is sufficient reason for service. Is it not the moral character, religion, politics, economic views or social standing of our neighbour that are important; it is his need. The call to serve is the call to show compassion, simply because there is one in need of compassion. Service rendered in this sense is without any ulterior motive. There is no desire to dominate, or to secure an advantage that may later "pay off." There is no hope of gain whatever, there is only the desire to meet a need.

The most important reason for a man thus to serve his fellow men is that God is doing this all the time. Jesus preached the daring message that God the Almighty, the Creator of the Universe, the final reality and power of the world, is not as "one who sits at table" but as "one who serves." Those who have followed the Christ have accepted this view all down through the centuries. They have accepted this as a challenge to work out His purpose of good for the world in their daily dealings with one another. It is the judgment of Almighty God that: "whoever would be great among you must be your servant." It can truly be said that the Christian life is, primarily, the life of one who serves.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



By Lillian Allison

There's no doubt about it birthdays are queer things. To some they are the happiest of all occasions excepting Christmas, while others avoid them like the plague.

Our first birthday is quite an affair especially if we happen to be the oldest in the family. Invariably someone makes us a fancy cake with one blazing candle. Someone else snaps a photo of us gazing profoundly at the flickering light. Then mother whisks the cake away as quickly as possible for we aren't permitted to eat sweet things like that. And we dine on mush and strained prunes.

Along about our third birthday we develop an interest in parties. We don't exactly know why but the word "birthday" and "cake and ice cream" become practically synonymous. With them is a word called "presents" which has very happy associations. Of course from mother's viewpoint the associations aren't so pleasant. Birthday parties to her mean extra work, lots of noise, a strain on the budget, lots of noise, several lonesome, crying three-year-olds, lots of noise, a dirty house plus a few milk of magnesia tablets to settle the cake and ice cream at bedtime.

From that time onward for quite a number of years parties and presents go along with birthdays with unswerving regularity. In some cases the presents take priority. Five-year-olds have been known to remind their young friends that they are to remember the presents without fail. Some of us have even suggested that our guests bring us money which would be most appreciated. And mothers of this age suffer untold embarrassment in trying to submerge the "gimme" complex.

At twelve birthdays are far too few. Two or three a year would be welcomed by any twelve-year-old. The presents are still a major item but not nearly so important as the need to become sixteen. That is an important age. Of course we don't need to reach sixteen any more in order to associate with the opposite sex. That rule has been outmoded. But at sixteen we can get a driver's licence and few things could be more important.

From sixteen to twenty-nine birthdays come and go with monotonous regularity. A year one way or the other makes very little difference. We're young and we know it and that's all that matters.

uBt the thirtieth birthday strikes us with considerable impact. There's a great difference in being twenty-nine or thirty. And we're not too happy about the change.

The fortieth birthday is definitely worse. Few of us are much comforted by the statement that "life begins at forty." So we dread it like smallpox.

For the next thirty years we try to ignore birthdays. They serve only to remind us that time is slipping by, that youth, vim and vigour are fading, that we are growing old.

Seventy is another milepost however to be noted with a bit of satisfaction. For at that point the government begins to take enough interest in us to send us a birthday present every month. The result is we don't dread our seventieth birthday quite as much as we used to.

After seventy-five birthdays again take on a new significance. Most of us are a little proud that we've beaten the three score and ten and instead of merely admitting that we are such and such an age we say smugly that "we'll be so and so on our next birthday."

As the years march by we welcome our birthdays more and more. At ninety we get mentioned on the CBC. At a hundred the Queen sends her congratulations. And after the first century every birthday is an occasion of some import for the few of us who will ever have them.

PRACTICE TORPEDO DOESN'T MAKE PERFECT

A practice torpedo with an urge to travel gave Navy officials at Keyport, Wash., more than their quota of grey hairs.

The practice torpedo, in theory, is supposed to streak for the target, then veer off and run in circles until it's picked up.

This torpedo kept right on going up on to the beach and into the hull of a surplus 40-foot landing craft being repaired by James Colby.

The landing craft suffered extensive damage. The chargeless torpedo sustained a couple of small dents in its hard head.

GET-AWAY CAR DIDN'T GET AWAY

Two men entered a hardware store at Albuerque, N.M., and while one was asked to be shown steel sash in the rear of the store, the other went browsing.

After he had browsed away about $70 worth of merchandise the two men ran from the store and jumped into a get-away car in which three other men were waiting.

The car wouldn't start.

The store owner got the licence number as four men jumped out and slowly pushed the car down the street.

Police arrested the browser.

Nearly 765,000 television sets were sold by Canadian producers last year, compared with fewer than 30,000 in 1950.

Giant Auction Sale

A REGISTERED AYRSHIRE COW OR TRACTOR OR BALER?

Here is how it is done. When something is knocked down the buyer will be given a special ticket with his lot number on it. This he deposits in a barrel by the auctioneer's stand; twice during the sale and once at the end someone from the crowd will pick out a ticket. The lucky person whose lot number is drawn will take home this purchase absolutely FREE. If the buyer of the lot number which is drawn does not present himself to claim his refund within five minutes he forfeits his prize and another ticket is immediately drawn. As nothing of less than $25.00 value is to be sold at this sale, all three prizes are certain to be good, and it could be a Diesel Tractor, a lovely Ayrshire cow or a Clipper Combine that you take home free.

GROWING BAMBOO IN SCOTLAND

Bamboo promises to provide a industry for Scotland in the near future. Because it is now known to yield a high content of cullulose, which is used in the manufacture of rayon, the British Rayon Research Association decided recently to sponsor the new project.

For the economical growing of bamboo a good stretch is required —at least 50,000 acres, but the only great expanse of land at present not in use is peat bogland. This, the experts say, is not suitable. But a small experimental crop has been planted on the peninsula of the Rhinns of Galloway and this is thriving so well that a larger planting will shortly be made in another peat area near Barrhill, Ayrshire.

Teak trees in the forests of Burma may tower 120 feet to the lowest branch, with a girth of 25 feet.

SURPRISE! SURPRISE!

Paris police recently scoured the Pigalie quarter for a four-yard-long boa constrictor and the unlucky thief who took a suitcase in which the serpent was dozing amid hot water bottles.

SUGAR CANE WASTE MAY BE USED FOR NEWSPRINT

The president of the National Union of Journalists recently predicted revolution in the newspaper industry if current plans to use sugar cane waste instead of wood pulp for paper-making are successful.

The president, A. D. Ramsay, speaking at Blackpool, Eng., conceded the quality of the paper might be lower than that produced from wood pulp but people who had studied the matter claimed it would serve for newspapers.

Ramsay, addressing delegates representing more than 13,000 journalists at the annual conference, said trees in Canada and northern Europe take 30 to 40 years to reach maturity, but sugar cane grows annually in the West Indies.

"If the experiment succeeded, it would mean a constant and developing supply from this source," he added.

Canadian food processors turned out 922,500 gallons of bottled olives last year, against 567,000 in 1954.

There isn't a doubt about it birthdays are queer things. I had one this week that I could have easily done without. I greeted it with mixed feelings for while I am a year nearer the pension than I was last week I certainly don't enjoy getting a year older. The only consolation as far as I can see is in the hope that the poet was right when he said, "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be."

The president, Mrs Hyndman McMillan, opened the W.M.S. portion with a poem, "If I Forget," as a call to worship. A hymn was sung and Psalm selection 715 read responsively, followed with prayer by the president. Two readings were given, "The Customs of Jesus," by Mrs Bernice Barkley, and 'Stewardship Begins at Home," by Mrs Bowering.

The minutes and friendship report were followed by the roll call which was answered with a verse or poem about Easter.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs Wilfred Carruthers. The roll call will be a verse about Spring or "Resurrection."

Mrs Burton Beckstead took charge of the programme. Hymn 252 was sung. The Scripture was read by Mrs Glenn Barkley and Mrs Egerton Barkley.

A solo, "Evening Prayer," was sung by Mrs Bernice Barkley, accompanied by Mrs Wilfred Carruthers.

Two of the group received life membership certificates and pins, Mrs Wilfred Carruthers and Mrs Bernice Barkley, and were addressed by the past president, Mrs Graham McPherson, while the presentation was made by Mrs Hyndman McMillan.

A short meeting of the W.A. followed with Mrs Bernice Barkley taking charge of the devotional.

Next month the roll call will be answered with a donation of get-well cards. After the business was concluded a lunch was served by the hostess and conveners.

Tickets were distributed to be sold for the April euchre and bridge.

At the conclusion of the meeting the president called on Canon Carryer. In a few well chosen words he expressed the feeling of regret the members of the congregation felt on hearing that Mr and Mrs Wells were leaving for Kemptville but that they were wished all the best in their new home.

Trinity United W.A. Holds Annual Easter Bazaar Entertainment, Tea and Sale Highlight Afternoon

In warm and friendly manner the Rev R. A. Mitchell declared open the Easter bazaar, which is an annual event presented by the Woman's Association of Trinity United Church, and was held this year on Maundy Thursday, March 28, in the afternoon.

A sextette of young ladies sang a group of songs , during the course of the programme which preceded the selling of the attractive items offered, Melanie Fyke, Ann Casselman, Joyce Marriner, Carolyn Durant, Susan Graham and Brenda Smith, to piano accompaniment by Mrs Allison Graham, and pleased the audience with the selections offered.

Carol Merkley and Sylvia Bowman, to piano accompaniment by Barbara Bowman, sang in their usual charming way. Chesterville's own Miss Addie Campderros sang two Easter ballads with brilliance and sincerety. She was accompanied by Mrs Don Cross.

The dining hall, where the goods for sale were displayed, was nicely decorated; the theme of spring being conveyed by flowers and colourful motifs, helping all present to forget the unpleasantly wet snow falling outside and the warmth of the greeting extended by Mrs Alf Jarvis, president of the Society, also left a pleasant memory.

The many pretty and useful aprons were sold by Mrs W. B. Hamilton, Mrs H. E. Durant and Mrs Harold E. Merkley. Selling the variety of miscellaneous articles were Mrs Fay Shaver and Mrs Don Cross.

The tables, loaded with home baked goodies and dainties, were soon cleared of the enticing food and the capable attendants, Mrs W. O. Dixon, Mrs Campbell Thompson, Mrs W. A. McLaggan, Mrs Graham Durant and Mrs D. R. Docksteader, were kept busy.

Mrs Myles Merkley reported a very large demand for the many types of cards which were available. The table containing surprise packages and candy were pleasingly decked with flowers and bunnies, was soon cleared to the delight of the conveners, Mrs George Johnston and Mrs B. W. Campbell.

The tea table, which was charmingly appointed with a centre of daffodils and lighted yellow tapers, was presided over by Mrs John Bogart, Mrs Wesley Cross, Mrs M. F. Smith and Mrs A. J. Forward.

Mrs Lyle Marcellus, the convener of the afternoon tea, was ably assisted by Mrs T. D. Ross, Mrs Gerald Kittle, Mrs Chas. McMillan, Mrs Willis Harper, Mrs Angus Smith, Mrs Milford Glasgow, Mrs Walter Hummel, Mrs D. M. McElheran, Mrs Aura Hutt, Mrs Erwin Merkley, Mrs Earl Merkley, Mrs Wm. Forward, Mrs Basil Rowe, Mrs Stanley Shay, Mrs Haldane Durant, Mrs Lloyd Merkley, Mrs Ken Merkley and Mrs Marie Pelletier.

The committee in charge of the interesting programme was composed of Mrs Eric Casselman, Mrs George Merkley and Mrs Charles McMillan.

As a result of teamwork and the co-operation of the members of the public and members, the treasurer of the W.A., Mrs Graham Smith, was pleased to announce that $400 was raised.—S.C.
