VOL. 88 No. 50 ALEXANDRIA, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1980 SINGLE COPY 25c

Warning given on minorities

One of the challenges for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education Trustees is to distinguish legitimate parent concerns from those raised by self-motivated, vocal, minority groups, the board's new chairman says.

Trustee Lucien Chenier said communication must become a major priority for the board because parents are demanding greater input.

"Parents want to know what is going on and why," Trustee Chenier told the board last week.

"A shift of priorities towards better communication with parents will do wonders to improve public understanding and support for our public schools.

"Our challenge will be to recognize true parent concerns as opposed to small, vocal minorities, whether organized or not, who in my opinion seem more concerned with self-serving personal vendettas than in providing useful suggestions to improve our system."

Mahlon Zeron defeated Harry Gatward for the vice-chairman's post.

He predicted "we're going to have some big problems this school year" and said "we must make sure to provide the best education possible for our pupils and to see the other side—the people who pay for them."

He said there will be problems because the board will have "to cut things and I hope we don't cut enough to hurt our children."

In other business, the board decided to review its borrowing rate every year.

Last July, the board gave a "banking commitment" to the Bank of Nova Scotia for five years.

"This is most unwise in this day and age of fluctuating interest rates," said freshman Trustee Sarsfield O'Connor.

Trustee Albert Morin seconded his motion that the interest rate be reviewed every six months.

The trustees voted 14-4 to review it once a year.

Car lost in blaze

Alexandria Fire Department was summoned to two small fires within the town during the past week.

On Sunday, a 1980 Plymouth Horizon car owned by Jeanyne Clement of Alexandria was burnt while parked in the Curling Club parking lot.

The automobile had stalled, reports the Alexandria Fire Department and upon an attempt to re-start the car, it burst into flames.

Chief Gerald Charlebois said the carburetor of the car was flooded and when the car backfired, fire broke out.

The car was a write-off.

OVERHEATING—(Top) This car got more than a little hot on Sunday afternoon when it caught fire in the Alexandria Curling Club parking lot and petrol ignited on the ground alongside the automobile. Gilles Diotte, who was helping to start the car when it backfired and the carburetor caught fire, is seen watching the blaze from the other side of the hood. (Bottom) Seconds later two Alexandria firemen, Maurice Brunet and Brian Sabourin, were on the scene with extinguishers to help put out the flames.

Group wants official ousted

The Association of Catholic Parents has called for the removal of the director of education for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Roman Catholic Separate School Board.

The suggestion was one of nine made by the ACP in a brief on how to improve the board's operations.

The brief, leaked to the press, was presented by ACP officials at a closed board meeting.

The brief says "we have observed at the education committee meetings, the two administrations failing to co-operate with each other for over one year.

"We believe it is the duty and responsibility of the director of education to make the people working under him work together to provide the best possible education for all the children attending separate schools in this district.

"We don't think the director is capable of accomplishing this."

The ACP suggests Director Charlemagne Lamarche be let go even if it means paying him for the length of his current contract which expires in August, 1982.

The ACP also says the role of the spiritual adviser should be increased.

"With the present set-up of the board," the brief says, "the spiritual adviser could bring a dummy in at the start of each meeting and pick it up after and be as effective as he is now.

"This is supposed to be a Catholic school board," the brief notes and suggests the spiritual adviser be seated at the board table "with full board member privileges except the moving and seconding and voting on motions."

Alexandria groups get cultural funds

Two Alexandria groups Le Centre Culturel and Alexandria Lions Club have received three grants from the Ontario Art Council totalling an amount of $3,275. The grants are included in the $1,922,601 awarded to 416 artists and 366 art organizations recently announced by Arthur Gelber, O.C., chairman of the Ontario Arts Council.

Le Centre Culturel received two grants worth $2,625 which was used for two different purposes.

A grant for $1,500 was given the Centre for the purpose of running various workshops from September through February and to financially assist the group in hosting an Arts Festival planned for December 13 at the Sacred Heart Parish Hall in Alexandria, said the Centre's director Michel St. Pierre.

Some of the workshops held by the Centre to date have included sessions on cameo, photography, wood burning and carol singing.

Another grant in the amount of $1,125 was awarded under the classification of Touring Arts Fund and was used to help finance performances by professional French language entertainers. Such performers have included a concert by singer Richard Seguin and two plays put on by the group Le Theatre d'la Vielle 17 from Rockland.

Fire hits body shop

Gilles Diotte's Body Shop at 46 Linsley Street East incurred only light damage when fire erupted in the ceiling of his shop on Thursday afternoon around 4:30 p.m.

Chief Charlebois said the source of the fire was a stove pipe located close to the ceiling. The fire department was at the site for 10 minutes and damage was limited to an estimated $100.

Mr. Diotte reports that he did not have to close down his shop.

Motorist collides with train engine

A 60-year-old Alexandria motorist struck a freight train engine on Monday evening, December 1, at the CN crossing on Main Street in Alexandria resulting in minor injuries to the woman and only minimal damage to the vehicles.

Esther Blanchette of RR 4, Alexandria was driving a 1974 blue Pontiac southbound on Main Street around 10:15 p.m. when she failed to notice the flashing lights at the crossing and came into collision with the right front corner of the railway train engine, report the Alexandria Police.

The engine had just dropped off a rail car at Glengarry Feeds Ltd. and was moving westbound on the tracks at a speed of approximately 10 m.p.h. when the collision took place, reports Constable Paul Deveau, the investigating officer.

Mrs. Blanchette suffered a slight whiplash injury.

Damage to the front of the car was estimated at $200 and $500 to the right front of the train.

Man was fined $936

Roger Leblanc, 51, of Linsley Street, Alexandria, who was found guilty of rolling back the mileage indicators of 11 cars and operating an unregistered dealership was fined $936 in Provincial Court and not $4,936 as reported in last week's issue.

The year described by club members as "very active" included a barn meeting, a bus tour to Huntingdon County, the host-day of the Ayrshire Cattle Club of Ontario during the month of July at Glenmalcolm Farms and the support of 4-H clubs in Glengarry and Prescott. The club also reviewed the excellent red and white show at the Williamstown Fair.

Throughout the year it was noted that a number of cows owned by club members achieved considerable recognition in shows, sales and production performance.

MICHAEL SULLIVAN

Sullivan breaking records

Michael Sullivan of Green Valley, well known in our area as a marathon runner has recently broken records set in the Canadian Armed Forces.

A press release has this to say: "It has always been compulsory for a young recruit to meet a certain standard in his basic training. Even in the '50's, recruits had to run a mile and a half in a certain time. In May '79, Pte. MacLennan beat a six-year-old record by dropping the time down to 7:34. On August 5, Sullivan managed to beat this record by three seconds, registering a timing of 7:31. The timing itself isn't very fast, but the course was a very hilly one." This record still remains.

Michael joined the Canadian armed forces some time ago and graduated from the Canadian Forces Base at Cornwallis in October. Presently he's on a 15-week course in Petawawa.

In Cornwallis, at his graduation he was named the top all round recruit in his squadron and received a certificate for the fittest soldier in Canadian Forces Base.

On completion of his course, Michael will be going to Germany for a four-year posting where he'll eventually be pursuing a career as Physical Instructor in the Canadian Forces.

School trustees increase wages

Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education trustees will receive $400 a month next term—up $100 over last year's rate.

The chairman's pay increases from $400 monthly to $600.

Trustee Art Buckland opposed the increases which passed by a 14-4 margin.

He said trustees should hold their pay down as "a small symbol on the approach we'll take on economic matters."

Trustee Harry Gatward, who expressed similar sentiments last year, proposed a raise noting that trustees have not increased their remuneration since 1975.

Salary scales for trustees are based on student enrolment. The maximum pay allowed for boards with between 10,000 and 40,000 students is $400.

The SD&G board has 6,300 elementary and 8,600 secondary students.

Trustee Lorne Thompson suggested the 50 per cent raise for the chairman "because of the increasing workload."

News from Maxville

by Velma Franklin

Mrs. Florence MacNaughton had the misfortune to fall and break a bone in her arm, but is recuperating comfortably at home by now.

Mrs. Jane Laing has moved to the village and taken up residence in her new home on Prince Street.

The Maxville Horticultural Society is once again sponsoring its annual Christmas Decoration Competition, which is open to residents of the village and district, and also to residents of Riceville, Fournier, Dunvegan and Greenfield. There are prizes in four categories this year—front door, front window and most effectively decorated Christmas tree—$12, $8, and $5—and overall residence, $16, $12 and $9. As always, the emphasis is not on quantity and kilowatts, but on the best use of decorative lighting with conservation and good taste in mind. In co-operation with Ontario Hydro the lights should not be turned on before 7 o'clock—and don't forget to turn them off when everybody goes to bed. Judging of the entries will be done between Friday 19th, and Tuesday 23rd. To enter, contact Gordon Winter, 527-2888, or your local director.

The residents of Dyer Road sponsored the euchre at the Manor this week. Ladies' winners were Jennie MacLeod, Sarah Presley and Janet Kennedy. For the men, it was Dan McRae, Moise Durocher and Joe Shane. The door prize went to Leslie Sloan. There will be no more euchres until sometime in the new year.

Mrs. Pat Flaherty's afternoon art class will be meeting for the last time in this series of lessons at St. Bernard's School on Saturday afternoon, December 13. There'll be painting, drawing, tea and cookies.

The Young at Heart had their euchre last week too. Lady winners were Jean Chisholm, Mrs. William MacMillan and Edna Rolland. Gent winners were William MacMillan, Mack O'Byrne and F. Brabant. Mrs. D. G. MacNaughton won the crokinole prize. The club's Christmas party is coming up on Tuesday, December 16, with the usual pot luck supper at 6 p.m. Besides a tasty supper dish, each lady brings a lady's gift, and each man, a man's gift, and it all makes for a very festive evening.

The Lions Club members had their regular dinner meeting on December 4. A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the microwave oven to its winner, Keith Smyth, of Nepean. The draw winner this week was one more man—Fred Leroux, for $113. Football night was a great success with Ray Boucher as guest speaker, and Jeff Turcott and Richard Getz of the Ottawa Rough Riders as guests. A donation of $500 has been made to Mount Carmel House at St. Raphael's. Last Sunday the Maxville Lions played hockey against the Alexandria Lions and squeaked to a 7-6 victory. Their Alexandria hosts graciously treated them to breakfast anyway.

Rain one day, snow and ice the next—no wonder everybody is getting the 'flu. Lots of empty seats on the buses and in school, and if you miss your friends at some gathering—they are likely home in bed. Just try and have it over with by Christmas.

Entertained at Manor

The afternoon Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society held a Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Rod F. McRae. The worship service began with a hymn and a prayer, and a scripture reading by Mrs. Ethel Long "Star of Bethlehem." Miss Olive Ferguson gave the story behind the writing of "Holy Night" and then sang the carol. Several members gave meditations, and Gladys Roulston led in prayer. Members were reminded that the next meeting, which will be on January 6, is the annual meeting. Secretaries are asked to bring their reports. This meeting will be at the home of Miss Gladys Roulston.

A Christmas Concert will be held at the Maxville Public School on Tuesday, December 16, at 7:30 in the evening. In the event of a snowstorm, the concert will be postponed until Thursday, December 18—same time and same place. While on the subject of storms—please remember that all announcements as to which buses are running—if any—are always made over the local radio stations. Listen to CJSS, CFRA, CKBY-FM, or CKOY and you will know whether to send your children out or not.

Point Blank

by Brian Filion

It has become a chore for me to sit and watch an entire hockey game on television. It is a dilemma whether to watch a Mannix re-run or Hockey Night in Canada. The professional game, in many cases, has turned into a sloppily contested version of Grand Prix Wrestling-clutch, grab and intimidate. The quality players of the league, and there are many, are almost threatened not to perform. The point is that there has been an overall decline in hockey interest.

What has happened to the game?

Many individuals propose that the decline of professional hockey began with the NHL expansion, that many players were being promoted to professional status and the title "hockey pro" became used in a questionable context. I don't know how much guts that argument has but I do know that many hockey folk are no longer "talkin hockey". Perhaps it has been a combination of factors including the increased number of teams which prevents the old established rivalries of the six-team era, the expanded schedule stretching into the warm summer months or in my case the roughhouse tactics employed by a number of teams. Intimidation became part and parcel of hockey when the Philadelphia Flyers illustrated how mugging was legal and could lead to accolades such as the Stanley Cup.

There was reprieve from our professional hockey during the 1970's with the invitational tournaments with the European and Russian National squads. It was refreshing to see the visitors employ a strategic and smooth system into the game we invented, and it was a slap in the muzzle to get beat.

Would the North Americans adopt the European game? No! Sadly the reverse appears to have happened and in the 1980 Winter Olympics, the Eastern teams were using the stick more and the clutch and grab tactics.

Oh I still enjoy the odd game when Les Canadiens are playing or the Edmonton Oilers. The Montreal Canadiens, my favorite club since childhood, always feature a freewheeling style of hockey and the entire club has class. I enjoy Oiler games if only to follow the play of local Blair MacDonald, who is a member of the dying breed, a player who can play a two-way game of hockey while ignoring the chippy rubbish. Wayne Gretzky's magic is also worth the price of admission on most evenings. Beyond those two clubs my interest has all but dwindled.

In younger days Saturday Night hockey was the highlight of every weekend. On several occasions I would watch the games with my grandmother who was one of the greatest Montreal hockey fans of all time, Granny liked Montreal teams but she thoroughly loved a good hockey game. I recall one evening Grandmother was listening to the French-language broadcast of the Canadiens game and surprisingly for that time, Boston led 4-0 after the opening period. Granny left her post aside the radio to inform her guests in the parlor of the score and that Boston had a new player "La Rondelle" who had scored all four goals.

Granny was not that good in French but she knew her hockey and I sometimes wonder what she would think of the game today and whether she would even watch them.

What direction is North American hockey headed?

Well the future of hockey, amateur and professional lies in our minor hockey system.

An Ontario Parent Survey conducted in 1979 and reported this year contained recommendations which will give minor hockey directives for the future and will hopefully lead to revitalization of the game in Canadian society.

In this particular survey, 78,754 questionnaires were mailed out to parents of competitive players, 40 per cent of them were returned. Amongst the recommendations collected I selected six which I feel minor hockey should concentrate upon:

1. More strict calling of stick abuse penalties, such as slashing and sticking, and calls made with consistency.
2. More practice time for house league players who want to improve their skills. In the past it had been, "Once a house league player, always a house league player". There was no opportunity to improve.
3. A goaltending instructor for minor hockey so kids just aren't stuck in nets because they cannot skate. Most coaches are not goalies and the position is taken for granted.
4. Department of Education should stress the teaching of hockey skills in the elementary school physical education curriculum. Did you ever notice how teachers often make the best coaches?
5. A shorter season with a decreased number of games. A lot of children become saturated with the game at an early age and quit.
6. No parental pressure, where to play or how to play, just a helping hand if wanted.

The survey concludes "...corrective measures must be initiated lest hockey, similar to lacrosse, become virtually extinct in Canadian society."

The future lies in minor hockey. Can we rebuild it?

Glens leap into second position

Alexandria Jr. "B" Glens leapt into second position from fourth position in the North East Division standings with a couple of key weekend victories.

The Glens outscored Vanier 72s 9-6 on Friday evening at the Sports Palace then managed to down their nemesis, St. Isidore, 5-2 on Sunday evening in their building. The two wins, translated into four points, gave the Glens 17 points on the season, tied with Navan but having played one less game can claim second spot.

An invincible first-place South Ottawa club is out of the Glens' sights at the present time with 29 points, having dropped only four points to date during league play.

For the Glens, Sunday's win over the Eagles of St. Isidore was particularly satisfying. The win marked their first victory of the season over that team after dropping three straight games to them and their record in the St. Isidore Arena has been less than enviable over the years. For a change the Glens could credit their victory to good defensive play.

"For a change we didn't give up any gifts, the entire team skated well right from the start and we got an early lead," said Coach Gaetan Giroux, in summarizing the victory. Coach Giroux lauded two of his players in particular for their play, Kieran McCormick for a strong defensive game and goaltender Daniel Lauzon for good steady goaltending.

Glens were without the services of high scoring right winger Leo Seguin and Frankie Morris both under suspensions and Ed Williams out with a shoulder injury which made the club a little apprehensive about the trip into Prescott County. However the club didn't miss the scoring punch and promptly went out and took a 4-2 first period lead. Following a scoreless second period Andre Cholette broke the tedium with his second goal of the game at the 13:28 mark to salt away the win.

The middle stanza featured 38 minutes worth of minor penalties to the two teams, which could account for the lack of scoring. Although Referee John Butcher had green sweaters in the box for most of the evening, he called "a good game" said Coach Giroux.

"He called the penalties quickly and before the third man got into it," said Giroux.

Scoring the early goals for the Glens were Luc Poirier, Brian Wensink, Frank St. Pierre and Cholette.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5
GLENS 9, VANIER 6

Glens and Vanier 72s engaged in a scoring battle on Friday evening and the Glens came away with their second consecutive home victory.

Alexandria led through the game and their lead was challenged only once during the contest and that was in the third period with the score 7-4 and Vanier netting back-to-back markers within 30 seconds to move within one goal of the hometown club. However Denis Brunet slapped one in to retain a two-goal margin minutes later and take the wind out of the Ottawa club's sails.

Kennedy MacDonald insured victory when he scored on a solo effort with four minutes on the clock, circling the net and slamming the puck in the short side. Frank St. Pierre added an empty net tally, his second goal of the evening, to round out the scoring.

Other marksmen for the Glens were Leo Seguin with a pair, Brian Wensink, Luc Poirier and Ronnie Besner.

SCORERS AT WORK—Two of the Jr. B. Glens top scorers Frank St. Pierre (14) and Leo Seguin, behind the net, are seen doing what they do best, creating chaos around opposing net minders during the Glens-Vanier game on Friday evening. Andre Cholette awaits a pass in the slot as two Vanier rearguards Marc Gagné (20) and Burt MacPherson come to the aid of their goaltender, Alain Labelle. Glens won the game 10-6. St. Pierre had six points on the evening and Seguin three.

Disbanded broomball team returns

The North Lancaster Roadrunners broomball club (which disbanded in 1976), came out of retirement this past weekend to compete in the 10th annual Almonte Broomball tournament.

They surprised even themselves by taking the 30-team Class "A" division and $450 in prize money.

On the way to the victory, they defeated Perth 3-2 (they won the Class "B" division), Ottawa Curries 2-0, Almonte 4-1, Petawawa 2-0 and Smiths Falls 4-1.

Playing for the Roadrunners were: Rene Lefebvre (goaler), Roger Jeaurond (goaler), Doug Dumouchel, Jacques Hamelin, Henry Dumouchel (defense), Phil Dumouchel, Jean Paul Claude, Michel Decoeur, Dan O'Brien, John Dumouchel and Ian MacKay.

Rene Lefebvre was selected as the top goaler and Jean Paul Claude was the MVP and top scorer of the tournament.

After their success on the weekend, some players are no doubt wondering why they retired so soon.

Rebels slide to fifth place

Char-Lan Rebels continued to descend down the standings of the South East Jr. "B" League following weekend play. After collecting a lone point in their two games, the Char-Lan team finds themselves in sole possession of fifth place, three points behind both Morrisburg and Cardinal.

Rebels were no match for the powerful Metcalfe Jets on Friday night as the hometown club handed them a 7-2 beating, but the Char-Lan team did rebound somewhat on Saturday night on home ice to tie the Morrisburg Lions, 4-4.

Royal Taylor was the hero on Saturday evening when he scored the tying goal, his second of the evening, with less than five minutes on the clock to salvage the point from weekend play.

Morrisburg had pulled out to a 2-0 first-period lead but the Rebels fired back in the second period with three unanswered tallies. Harvey Primeau, Robert Hope and Royal Taylor hit the hemp for Char-Lan.

Rebels' lead lasted only three minutes into the final stanza when Morrisburg snipers connected on two goals within eight seconds to regain the lead, 4-3, and set the stage for Taylor's heroics.

Goaltender Doug Spink had a strong game between the pipes as the Rebels were outshot throughout the contest, reports Manager Stuart Fourney.

A contributing factor to Friday evening's 7-2 loss was the fact that Char-Lan made the trip to Metcalfe with only 10 skaters. Three players were injured and three more were working, said Manager Fourney.

Metcalfe held leads of 3-0 after the opening 20 minutes and 7-0 after 40 minutes.

The Rebels got on the scoreboard in the third period with goals by Ray Bourdon and Kenton Spink while goaltender Chris Nichol turned back the Jets.

Jr. C Glens annihilate Chesterville Jets

Alexandria Jr. C Glens let all their pent-up scoring frustrations out on Saturday evening by shellacking the Chesterville Jets 16-3 at the Glengarry Sports Palace. The clubs inability to put the puck in the net has caused them valuable points thus far in the schedule but on Saturday night the scoring came easily.

Glens pulled out to a 5-2 first-period lead and never looked back, leading 9-2 after two periods and adding seven more markers in the final stanza.

Jocelyn Ranger, Kevin McRae and Mike MacDougall led the scoring onslaught with hat tricks. Mike Cholette chipped in with a pair while Mark Cooper, David McDonell, Stephane Levac, Glen MacMillan and Robin McLennan each had singles. Scoring for the hapless Jets were Ron LeClair with a pair and a single off the stick of Pat Kelly.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 3
FINCH 7, GLENS 2

Glens continue to have problems on the road after dropping another game to their western opposition, the Finch 72s, by a 7-2 score.

Finch pulled out to a 3-0 first period lead with two of the goals coming in the dying minutes of the opening period. Glens chipped away and cut the lead to two goals midway through the second period at 4-2 but the 72s came on with more markers to sew up two points. The final period was a scoreless struggle.

Accounting for the Glens' scoring were Carey Cameron and John MacSweyn. Netting the 72s' goals were Glen McHugh and Doug Hough with a pair, with singles by Greg Clements and Michael Odunohug.

First place hockey race continues

Lancaster and Glen Nevis continue their neck-and-neck battle for first place in the Alexandria Intermediate Hockey League after both recorded two victories in league play during the past week.

On Sunday two one-sided games gave Glen Nevis a 9-4 decision over Bainsville and Lancaster a 5-1 win over St. Raphael's.

Glen Nevis' scoring attack was led by Findlay McLeod, who potted three goals, and Stephen McDonell, who added another two markers. Robert MacDonald, Ian Sandilands, Warren MacKinnon and Randy McDonell each recorded a single. For the Blue Bombers the scoring output was a one-man show with Garrett McGillis netting three of four goals and adding an assist on a fourth tally by Murdie Ross.

Pete Leroux recorded the hat trick in the second game on Sunday to lead Lancaster to victory while teammates Maurice Andre and Claude Bourck added singles. Denis Jodoin had the lone marker for St. Raphael's.

In Thursday's action Lancaster doubled Bainsville, 6-3 in the first encounter and Glen Nevis swept St. Raphael's, 8-1, in the second game.

Brian Reasbeck had the hat trick on this occasion for Lancaster. Pete Leroux, Gordie Laframboise and Maurice Andre knocked in single markers. Bainsville's scoring was accounted for by Marty Gareau, Garrett McGillis and Yves St. Pierre.

Findlay McLeod was the big shooter again on Thursday evening for Glen Nevis with his first hat trick of the week. Ian Sandilands netted a pair while Jocelyn Ranger, Bert McDonald and David McDonell all had a goal each.

Ski Club ready

Glengarry Cross-Country Ski Club members have been active throughout the past month opening new trails and widening old ones. They now await snow to get on track.

Archie Roussin has returned as president of the club and will head an executive for the 1980-81 season composed of Ron Martin, first vice-president; Jean Marc Girard, secretary and Albert O'Connell Jr., treasurer.

The club's work during the month of November included the opening of new trails which meander over two nice hills, reports Mr. Roussin. In addition, the club's entire 15-kilometre trail system has now been widened for double track and two new trail shelters and privys have been built along the trails.

A new brush trimmer has been purchased to assist in clearing trails.

The club will begin operation when a little more snowfall descends. Nordic ski enthusiasts are encouraged to try the trails and are welcome to join the club. More information is available from members of the executive.

Tourney on weekend

Seventh Annual Char-Lan Peewee Hockey Tournament is slated for this weekend, December 13 and 14. The preliminary games will be played on Saturday and the final games will be featured on Sunday evening. The "B" Division final will be played at 6 p.m. and the "A" Division final will be contested at 7:30 p.m.

Cowboys and Indians

The games of cowboys and Indians that Canadians have played in their childish pasts seem to have left an indelible impression.

That is the only explanation I can think of that explains the furor over the Indians' constitution train that arrived in Ottawa last week.

The barriers literally went up on Parliament Hill and were removed only after protests by NDP leader Ed Broadbent. Riot fences had been erected by the RCMP in anticipation of an Indian demonstration, you see.

This stockade mentality would have us all pulling our covered wagons into a circle and keeping women and children out of sight.

Now just what the fear is, I fail to see.

The Indians, like other groups, chose to make a presentation to the constitution committee. As Broadbent said, "They came to Ottawa in peace and good faith" to discuss constitutional matters "which are of vital concern to their future."

That's it. You see, they're really just like all the other groups who want to talk to the government.

So what is this perceived difference? Could it be the old cliché about drunken redskins? I don't like to say this, but I think that the old cliché is alive and well.

Witness this tale, written by Geoff Johnson in the Ottawa Citizen.

"Anyone who expected the Indians' constitution train to turn out to be a Grey Cup special in disguise were quickly put on the right track. A CBC TV crew boarded the train at Hornepayne in Northern Ontario Thursday night with the intention of taping interviews and getting off at Capreol, near Sudbury. Not only did they have to stay with the train all the way to Ottawa because it was late when they boarded and all the principal characters were asleep, but it turned out to be a dry run. Indian leaders having wisely banned alcohol on the journey. Politely but firmly, they relieved the TV crew of a bottle of vodka they had brought along to keep them company. Forced to spend the night on the train, the crew whiled away the time complaining about the overcrowding and the loss of their bottle."

More and more Indian communities are banning alcohol as they realize the extent of damage it has inflicted. They have recognized the problem and are trying to solve it. Let us not forget that the problem was introduced to them by whites, along with smallpox, measles, reservations, starvation, unemployment and a host of other ills.

While in British Columbia this summer I had the opportunity to study Indian cultures through the medium of a superlative display at the Victoria museum. The Indian nation was at one time a collection of cultures as diverse as any we will ever see. The sophistication of their economy, religion, art and dwellings has to be seen to be believed. These people were civilized at a time when whites were just a couple of steps removed from amoeba.

It made me ashamed to compare their lot now with the life they had then.

As I have said, however, Indians today recognize their problems and are working on the solutions. It's a good thing they are taking matters into their own hands because they're certainly not getting help from anywhere else. Government policy re Indian affairs has varied from benign to not-so-benign neglect.

The biggest problem, you see, is us cowboys.

Celebrate 65th

Residents of Lancaster throughout most of their lifetime, John and Theresa Derouchie celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary on December 4 at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge where they now reside.

Among the many guests present were their immediate family: Edna, Mrs. Don Pigeon of Massena; Shirley, Mrs. Angus MacDonald of Port Stanley, Ont.; Barbara, Mrs. Ed Dufresne and Maurice both of Lancaster; Lloyd of South Lancaster; Bob and Earl of Cornwall. They were all accompanied by members of their families.

Music was provided by Earl, Mrs. Maurice Dufresne and daughter Leeann while Administrator Marlene Wert acted as MC. A sandwich buffet was served and the entire function was organized by Paul Petersen, dietary department supervisor.

The couple received plaques from the Provincial and Federal Governments, the Governor General, and City of Cornwall while letters and telegrams were received from Her Majesty the Queen, Premier Bill Davis, Member Ed Lumley and Warden George Crites.

Among the guests were Past Warden Hubert Quart, Cornwall Alderwoman Pat Armstrong and Mrs. Linden Huff.

Disabled receive Gulf cars

The Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada and Gulf Canada Limited today announced that the company will donate 16 new cars to the Society in honor of the International Year of Disabled Persons, which is being mounted world-wide in 1981.

Gerald Seguin, president of the Society, said the Gulf Canada donation, which is valued at more than $125,000, is "a generous and practical gift which is badly needed by us. We are sure that Gulf Canada's community support will set a standard for other good corporate citizens."

Mr. Seguin said the cars will be distributed to the Society's divisions across Canada to provide more mobility for people with MS and to increase substantially the ability of all parts of the Society to serve MS patients and their families.

He said the cars will make the Society's work easier. "We estimate that our staff members travel nearly a half million kilometres yearly to serve the Society and our clients. We have always been short of adequate transportation and the cars will help us to solve a long-standing problem. We congratulate Gulf and we thank them," Mr. Seguin said.

R. E. Harris, vice-president of Gulf Canada and chairman of the company's donations committee, said "Gulf Canada is delighted that it can make this tangible contribution to MS patients across the country and help them in their everyday efforts to cope with the disease as well as assisting those who provide them with essential services."

"The contribution is, of course, above our normal rate of giving to any one cause but reflects our recognition of the forthcoming Year of Disabled Persons and of our corporate responsibility. We hope it encourages other companies to do something special for the disabled in 1981," Mr. Harris said.

Garden course ends

Some 85 women gathered at the Green Valley Pavilion on Thursday afternoon for the Glengarry County Summary Day, marking the conclusion of the Indoor Gardening course offered by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

The course, conducted by Mary Michels, county home economist, offered an opportunity for interested individuals to learn the basics of plant culture and provide the participants with a better understanding of how to raise plants and feel comfortable growing them.

Highlights of the program included the presentation of leader badges, a talk from Sheila Olson of Glengarry Flowers in Alexandria and a slide presentation on decorating with plants.

Sheila Olson spoke to the group about holiday decorating with plants and touched upon the topic of insects and house plants.

Mrs. Carol Baxter of Alexandria served as chairman of Summary Day and Ruth Fourney of Bainsville was assistant chairman.

Twelve women's groups throughout the county were represented with plant displays. Leaders of the groups were: Ruth Paige, Alexandria UCW; Mrs. Fourney, Bainsville; Catherine MacDonald, Glen Nevis CWL; Carmelle Hagen, Glen Robertson UCFO; Lorna Chapman, Glen Sandfield UCW; Rollande Seguin, Green Valley UCFO; Elizabeth Peters, Martintown WI; Mabel Patton, Maxville Horticultural Society; Annie MacMillan, McCrimmon WI; Inez McPherson, St. Finnan's CWL; Dorothy Seguin, St. Lawrence WI; Betty MacDonald, St. Raphael's CWL.

The day concluded with those in attendance viewing the various exhibits while tea and cookies were served.

Sister's funeral held

The sudden and unexpected death occurred at the Glengarry Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, December 3, of a beloved member of the Holy Cross Order, in the person of Sister Anne Sayborin, of St. Margaret's Convent. She had only been in the hospital three days.

She was born at Indian Orchard, Mass., a daughter of the late Edmond Choiniere-Sayborin and his late wife the former Anne Lungren, a native of Stockholm, Sweden. She was educated in her home town and later entered the religious life of the Sisters of the Holy Cross. She was a very brilliant and talented music and commercial teacher, having taught for many years in the U.S. before coming to Iona Academy at St. Raphael's where she taught the commercial course for several years. Later she taught at the Commercial High School at St. Gabriel's Academy, in Montreal, and 15 years ago she came to teach music at St. Margaret's Convent here in Alexandria and continued as teacher until her passing. She was a very devoted and dedicated teacher. Her charm and personality won a host of friends who have learned of her passing with deepest regret. Her large class of music pupils were shocked to learn of the passing of their beloved teacher.

The very largely attended funeral was held on Saturday from the Morris Funeral Home to the Chapel of the Mother House of the Holy Cross, St. Laurent, Quebec, where mass was celebrated by Very Rev. D. B. McDougald, rector of St. Finnan's Cathedral, Alexandria. Burial was in the cemetery at the Mother House.

The funeral was largely attended by former students, Reverend Sisters, clergy and other friends.

Martintown Rumor Mill

by Art Buckland

Dear Claus:

Here is my annual letter. First a comment on last year. The wife enjoyed both the axe and the snow scoop; or were the cross-country skis for her also?

Last year I also asked for Justice for the harried and harrowed husband, but that has not arrived yet; though neighbor Harriet's husband received new harrows.

This year if you could, bring English teachers better student writing and Math teachers better calculators (ones who sit in seats) and if you could, bring Char-Lan High School 1980 facilities, or even half that.

The farmers need more money for their quarts of milk, grosses of eggs, pounds of meat and bushels of wheat this year just to pay the animal feed bills. Now that was a cute little thing that you did last Yule, ingeniously kilogramming the pound and belitring the quart. But, I found the metrifying process petrifying. This year the quart is smaller and the dollar is smaller, so what your plan is one has no idea; perhaps to make the dozen smaller, or to turn a bushel into a barrel in the Petrocancan.

The PM has asked for a new constitution. He is definitely unhappy with his old one. I do not know what you will bring down from the north in this case, Claus, because acceding to his wishes, will give consumption to the East, congratulations to Kebec and constipation to the West.

In any event, Claus, a case of conviviality to all who need it.

Carol Edwards, the good looking Madame Chairman of the Williamstown School Committee was seen flashing her lights on South Branch Road recently, in an attempt to avert a head-on collision with another auto approaching in the same lane. One of the parties was trying to avoid a few body-jarring, teeth-chattering bumps by travelling on the wrong side of the "road" (official label). But, which party, dear reader, I leave you to answer. The incident occurred strangely, just by the cemetery. Carol is the wife of Williamstown Mac.

Kenneth C. was headed north to the land of Glen Roy last week on the Kinloch Road when his vehicle decided to head west to Glen Falloch. An excellent idea, but, unfortunately, K.C. had just passed the only road to that pleasant place and thus was unpleasantly "ditched" until Martintown Mac's wife extricated him simply by lifting both vehicle and driver back onto the road home.

Douglas and Mary Murray have just returned to Glen Falloch from a road trip with stops in Belleville and Hamilton where they played pre Christmas Santa to relatives.

Bachelor son Warren was overheard saying, "Funny, how you appreciate your mother so much more after she has been away for a while."

After seven years, Reverend Ed and Shirley MacDonald are leaving Martintown - Williamstown St. Andrews' congregations to minister to the flock at Richmond, Ontario. Best wishes. The question arises—does one wish a man of the cloth good luck?

Everyone is welcome to attend the Martintown Public School Christmas Concert being held in the school gym on Tuesday, December 16, at 7:30. Theme: "Christmas Around the World."

Sunday, December 14, 1980 is the date for the Martintown Santa Claus Parade.

The Martintown Recreation Committee officially takes over in their new facilities at the old separate school this week. Art Benton calls for volunteers, volunteers who are healthy and handy with a hammer.

Employee of the year chosen

The nursing staff honored Mrs. Cathy Montpetit, an RNA at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge who was chosen employee of the year at the annual Christmas party. The award was presented by Linden Huff, chairman of the Committee of Management for the Lodge and George Crites, warden of the United Counties. This is the Paul Halchuk plaque which is inscribed "Those who give unselfishly of their time and talents do not go unnoticed," Glen - Stor - Dun Lodge, Employee of the Year.

The employee is chosen from a number of names of deserving staff members submitted to the Committee of Management. The committee then has to weigh the merits of the individuals and make a final decision.

Surprised Cathy who was playing the role of Mrs. Santa Claus at the annual Christmas party, after receiving her award replied: "To be able to work in an institution such as Glen-Stor-Dun day after day, means you must be able to keep your wits and humor, but most of all, your sanity about you and still give out a little extra. Even though my name is on this plaque, I believe everyone here should be classed as 'Employee of the Year', as it is the employee who makes Glen-Stor-Dun what it is; in my view it is the best."

Rabies cases in Glengarry drop

For the first 11 months of 1980, Glengarry County had nine cases of rabies reported as compared with 38 cases during the same period in 1979.

There has been a marked decrease in the number of cases reported throughout Stormont, Glengarry and Prescott, reports Dr. Leo Kennedy, district veterinarian. There have been only 45 cases of rabies discovered thus far in the three counties as compared with 72 cases discovered last year.

Glengarry cases reported include six foxes and three skunks. In Stormont, three foxes, one dog and one cow were discovered to be rabid, and in Prescott, eight foxes, a cat, one skunk and two cows.

These figures compare with the following figures for Dr. Kennedy's district in 1979, from the first of the year to Nov. 30: Glengarry had 23 foxes, nine cattle, two dogs, a cat and three skunks reported. Stormont had 15 foxes, four cattle, three skunks, a dog and horse and Prescott County had a goat, four foxes, two dogs and three cattle.

Prescott was the only county in the district to show an increase of two cases.

Although there is a decrease, Dr. Kennedy warns against complacency. He cites two cases, one near Ingleside and another in Prescott where farm families narrowly escaped letting the family dog into their home, after the animal had fought with a rabid fox. Had this happened it would have been extremely dangerous, said Dr. Kennedy.

A case in Western Ontario where school children handled a kitten that strayed to a school yard, and was later found to be rabid was an example of problems which can arise, added Dr. Kennedy.

The disease is transmitted to humans by contact with animals. People are warned not to handle animals which are normally wild and seem unaccountably "tame" for no good reason.

Dogs have two forms of rabies, the furious kind when the animal appears to go insane (mad dog) and the dumb form, when the animal may have few outward symptoms. The disease is seldom transmitted except through a bite or a scratch, the medium of transfer, normally, being the saliva of an infected animal.

Rabies may infect all warm-blooded animals. Some experience varying degrees of paralysis. They may seem to have trouble eating and generally cease to eat. Some have a period of excitement but some may not. Horses generally roll, stagger and want to bite. There is no cure for it and when farm animals are infected with the virus, they die.

Cases where rabies is suspected should be reported to the branch at once, and steps will be taken to deal with the situation. The preventive treatment for humans is quite reliable and must be administered by a doctor.

Buses grounded

School bus cancellations forced the closing of St. Bernard's Separate School in Maxville Monday.

Bus service for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Roman Catholic Separate School Board was also affected in Finch, Moose Creek, Crysler, St. Andrew's and St. Lucy's due to icy road conditions resulting from freezing drizzle.

The public school board reported bus cancellations in Lancaster, Williamstown, Glen Walter, Long Sault and the Maxville area.

No public schools were closed, however.

GDHS band busy at work

by Helen Morris

Christmas is a very busy time for the members of the GDHS Senior Band.

As soon as their performance in Glengarry '80 at the N.A.C. was over the band began preparing their Christmas repertoire.

The annual Christmas concert, by the GDHS music department, will be held on December 16 at 8 p.m. in the GDHS cafetorium. The Junior band, under the direction of music teacher, Mrs. Poirier, will be performing along with the Senior band under the faithful baton of Mr. Vaillancourt.

The highlight of the upcoming concert is expected to be the debut of the recording by the Senior band of '79-'80. This album is the very first to be recorded by any GDHS band and its arrival is anxiously awaited by all. The album was recorded during April or May in Montreal at McGill University. Extra albums will be available for those who did not have a chance to place an order earlier. They can be purchased at the upcoming concert.

The fund raising event for this year has almost reached its peak. The third annual orange and grapefruit drive should be completed by the end of this year. The fresh, Florida fruit is expected to arrive this week, between December 10 and 15. The crates of delicious fruit will be delivered to all customers, in person, by the band member who took the order. We're expecting beautiful fruit as in the past.

The GDHS music department gratefully appreciates all the community support it has received and would like to take this opportunity to thank one and all and to cordially invite everyone to enjoy Christmas music at its best on Tuesday, December 16 at 8 p.m. at the GDHS cafetorium.

ALL SET FOR ACTION—The executive of the newly-formed youth group at St. Raphael's pose with some of their adult leaders following a meeting held at Shalom House on Saturday night. New St. Raphael's youth group formed

by Chris Hodsman

On the particularly icy night of last Sunday, December 7, Shalom House hosted the first meeting of the youth group of St. Raphael's Parish.

Although the icy conditions prevented many young fold from reaching Shalom House, the turnout was reasonable and the atmosphere, sheltered from the rain and ice, was cozy. Among the adult team present were Gary and Ellen O'Connell, Chris and Pauline Chisholm and of course, Father Gary Ostler.

The youth themselves soon lost their uneasiness among new friends as they discussed some group plans, philosophies, and pertinent issues in our area, followed by a film that definitely stimulated personal thought.

Finally the executive youth were elected. Chris Hodsman was elected as chairman, Elaine MacDonald as secretary, and Simone Pilon as treasurer; however it was made known that executive power may shift to other members once the youth group is well organized and has defined its goals.

Some goals were discussed, the main theme being showing our love and respect for our fellow humans by actively working with and aiding our community in improving itself.

The "Raphaelites" as they named themselves, will be meeting again on Sunday, December 14 at 8 p.m. in Shalom House and will continue to gather every week at the same place and same time.

Guides receive top honors

Alexandria Guides Helene Lauzon, Natalie Lapierre and Dawn Kirton have received their All-Round Cord, one of the highest honors in Guiding.

To help them attain their standing, they have had help during the year from members of the Fire Department. Chief Gerald Charlebois and Deputy Chief Jim Graham had all the girls at two meetings to give them instruction.

Nurse Eileen MacGillis taught the girls first aid.

The girls have now moved on to the Pathfinder group where Mrs. Jan Macdonald is their new leader.

IT'S OUR OPINION

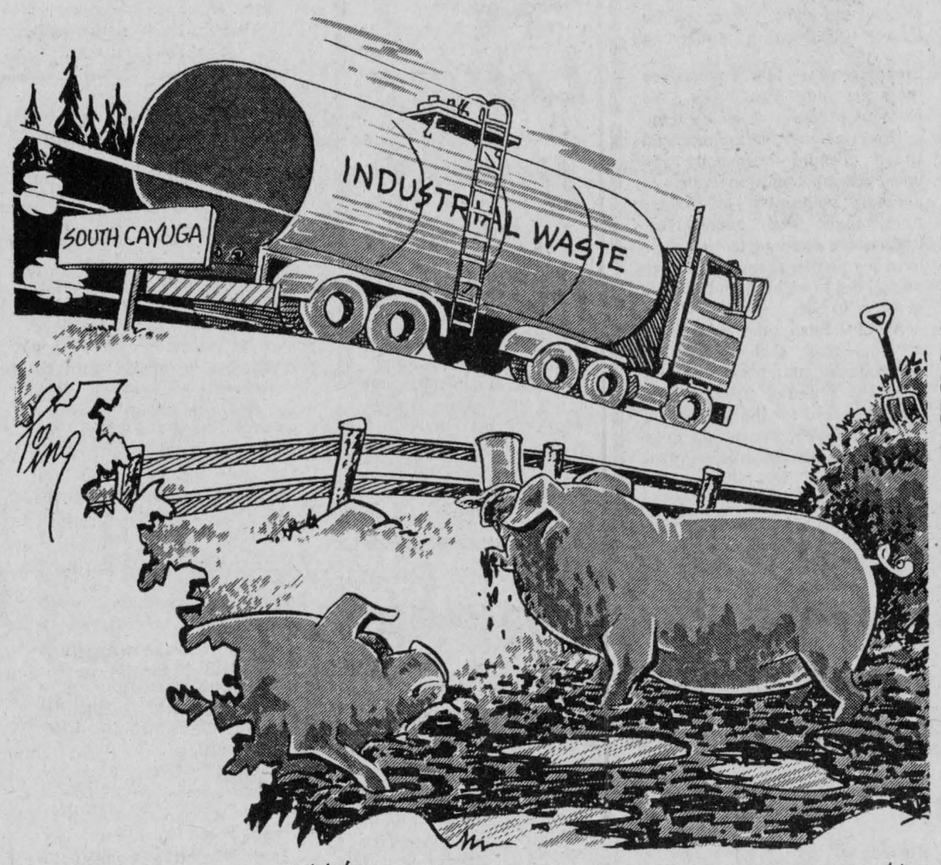
No hearing re dump site

Harry Parrott's perpetual search for a home for Ontario's toxic wastes is in the news again, and once again our Environment Minister is taking a lambasting from local opponents. This time the site in question lies within the ill-fated city of South Cayuga, nestled between the Grand River and Lake Erie. And this time, Dr. Parrott has added a few new wrinkles to his plans for a permanent disposal site, says Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists.

Almost everyone agrees that we need a proper treatment facility for liquid industrial wastes. When these poisons escape into the environment, they become a threat to human health and to wildlife that will remain with us for decades or centuries. Right now, some of the wastes end up in poorly-constructed landfills, some are stored for future disposal, and some undoubtedly are illegally dumped. But no matter how pressing the need, no community is likely to welcome an industrial disposal site, even one with the best of safeguards.

In two earlier attempts, in Harwick Township and near Thorold, Parrott proposed to use the Environmental Assessment Act to allow full public review of his plans to reassure local residents. In both cases, the process was effectively derailed before it even began by overwhelming opposition. Now Parrott has lost his patience. The Cayuga site will be established without hearings at all on government land. To reassure his critics, Parrott is proposing that a Crown corporation be established to build and operate the disposal facilities, and that local residents and environmentalists be appointed to the Board controlling this agency.

In the short term, those plans may be justified, but Parrott's plea for exemption from environmental assessment hearings on the basis of urgency is dangerously short-sighted. By doing so, he admits that the environmental hearing process can be cumbersome and untidy, and mimics the arguments of industry when they plead for exemptions from the Environmental Assessment Act. Parrott's sense of urgency to deal with toxic wastes may be admirable, but by short-cutting the process, he may well have rung the death knell for Ontario's most important piece of environmental legislation.



"WELL, THERE GOES THE OL' NEIGHBORHOOD!"

Christmas spirit found lacking

At Christmas time, society traditionally turns its attention to the poor. It is a time for gathering Christmas baskets and collecting toys for less fortunate children. Is such an activity genuine or is it just our once a year way of putting salve on our consciences?

In the community of Portland, near Ottawa, the Christmas spirit seems to be having great difficulty cracking through the surface of self-interest.

The City of Ottawa had proposed buying a farm there to use as a holiday home for the poor.

The 55-acre farm was to have been used as a retreat for those unable to afford the more conventional vacations most of us take for granted.

The farm would have been used and maintained by poor adults and children for gardening, beekeeping and recreational sports.

But some of the good people of Portland objected. A petition opposing the scheme was signed by 90 residents because, as one spokesman put it, "local residents didn't want a large population" to move into the area.

(The vacation program called for 55 people to use the site during the summer and 25 in the winter.)

One wonders whether the good citizens would have objected to this "large population" if it were associated with a more middle-class institution such as a college, rather than a retreat for the poor. Did the good citizens not want a "large population" or did they not want a large population of "that kind of people"?

To make a long story short, the residents got their way. A few of them pooled their resources and bought the farm to ensure the city couldn't get its hands on it.

"We're going to keep it for the use of local people," said one of the new owners.

Merry Christmas. B. R.

"Peace officers" at war

Little wonder that many young people have lost respect for authority when they see such spectacles as "peace officers" behaving the way they did at the Quebec National Assembly last week.

Quebec Provincial Police fired three tear-gas grenades from inside the assembly building to break up a protest by about 400 demonstrating prison guards.

Then, about 75 helmeted police marched out in military formation to clear away those who remained.

Police said they took such measures because the demonstrators were throwing bottles and breaking windows.

Whoever was right or wrong is irrelevant. The fact remains that violence had to be used by one group of peace officers against another.

Makes you wonder how you're supposed to tell the good guys from the bad guys anymore. B.R.

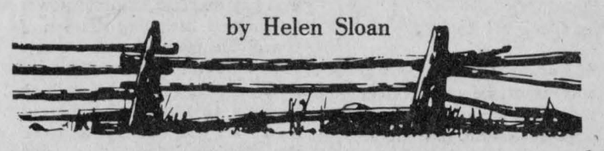
'From the old rail fence'

by Helen Sloan



The Christmas spirit—where is it? Where would one begin to look for it? At Stedman's in Alexandria? Master Feeds, in Maxville? Perhaps Lornie carries it in his store at Lancaster. No? If not, where?

Oh, I bet you I know—in our local churches! It's hidden in the churches and it will be passed around on Christmas Eve and we can all taste of the spirit of Christmas. That's it! Or is it? I'm still not sure. I thought I felt it the other day in the Cornwall Square. I was shopping through the nightgowns, looking for an appropriate gift for my mother-in-law. You know, something beautiful, yet warm, colorful but not loud, elegant yet inexpensive. I was all by myself with two hours yet to go before rushing home to noisy kids and a hungry baby and it was quiet. No one was pulling at the hem of my coat until my neck hurt. No one was yelling, "Mom, I want this for Christmas," "I know you and Dad can't afford it so I'll ask Santa instead." Soft music was playing.

As I hurriedly yet playfully went through the rows of gowns I thought I could actually feel this thing called Christmas Spirit. Suddenly I was jarred to my senses by a very angry man shouting to his wife, "Oh how the h--- do I know which one to get? We've looked at every d--- thing in here." There, it was gone. "It can't be here," I concluded.

I was sure I felt it a little later in another store when a young mother lovingly showed her child a gaily decorated tree but this seemed rather minute for a spirit that's advertisted and sought after every year at this time with great zest.

"There must be more to it than this," I told myself while driving home, the car packed with all kinds of things I would be surprised to see under the tree Christmas morning.

After much contemplation, I think I've found the answer.

The spirit of Christmas is hidden in our hearts. Some beautiful people take it out and spread it around all year. But many of us keep it locked in, protect it with our very lives. No one must see it or know we have it and we certainly must never share it—only at Christmas. Then it is permissable and even acceptable to smile, greet people with a friendly gesture and say like we really mean it, "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men." We have people in for meals, open gifts, donate to the Salvation Army and other grand organizations that seek the betterment of mankind and we go to church. We sing "Silent Night" and "Away In A Manger" with such beauty, the angels themselves must marvel. We play with the children and become child-like ourselves, give the dog an extra pat on the head and completely ignore the fact our neighbor is gossiping about us.

Suddenly it is December 26. Lock-up time. Get it covered! It is obscene to have our spirit exposed. We must put it away till next December.

I protest. Let's all protest. Let's bare it again all year through 1981 and really prove there can be, "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men."

Food as a resource

Free trade or protective barriers? Which strategy is best for a nation? The topic has been debated by economists for centuries. In this country it has been an election issue more than once.

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture has called on the government to reduce imports of foodstuffs and allow Ontario farmers to meet more of our needs. The OFA has also suggested that programs be implemented to increase the number of exports of Ontario produce.

Trade is a two-edged sword. When one country sets up quotas and trade barriers to keep out another nation's products, the other nation is likely to retaliate.

Canada imports a great many goods, but it also exports products. A sizeable amount of our income comes from exporting raw or semi-processed materials, particularly to our southern neighbor.

If these markets were suddenly cut off, our economy would collapse. Therefore, governments must be extremely careful about erecting trade barriers. If we want markets in foreign lands, we must reciprocate by opening our own markets to those foreign nations. This is what trade is all about.

The difficulty, however, is in keeping our balance of trade on an even keel so that we are not importing more than we are exporting. Otherwise we risk becoming too dependent on foreign sources. Unfortunately, Canada's trade patterns more resemble that of an underdeveloped country than a developed one.

We export a much greater proportion of raw materials than do most western, industrialized nations and we import a higher percentage of finished goods.

It is often said that when you export raw materials, you export jobs, jobs which would be created if the raw materials were processed here.

In order to improve our balance of trade, Canada should concentrate on producing those goods for export which it produces best. Food is one of those products. As an editorial last week showed, farming is more productive than any other sector in the economy.

Trade doors must be kept open, but they should not be kept wide open. Free trade only works when the trading partners are relatively equal. Canada has not yet developed an economic base which can hold its own against larger countries such as the United States. Free trade would simply allow more powerful interests in other nations to swamp our country with goods. That would mean a loss of jobs and ultimately a loss of sovereignty as we became dependent on those foreign supplies.

The OFA has suggested that aid be given to the food processing sector to upgrade its existing plants and establish new ones. The government should heed this advice. In the long run, such assistance would reap better long term benefits than doling out grants to pulp and paper companies and foreign-controlled oil companies.

Canada has a future in food production.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

We beheld His Glory,
Glory as of the only Son of the Father
full of Grace and Truth. John 1:14

Year after year, the celebration of the birth of Christ never fails to touch us with wonder. We behold Him wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger. We are led once again into the mystery of God's abandonment to humanity. The only Son of the Father becomes the infant son of Mary.

It is a strange experience to seek God in a stable. We expect power and find only weakness; we look for glory, but see only an infant. Slowly our faith saves us. God has exercised infinite power on Himself, stripping His Son of His divine position and dignity. The power of love has brought God low to raise us up. In giving us a Son, God has shown Himself the Father who wants us all to be His children. This is not just Glory seen, but Glory shared.

So the birth of Christ is more than a memory. It is a continuing celebration of a birth that is taking place in all of us. On the feast of Christmas the Church invites us in faith to behold the glory that is rising in our lives. Out of the weakness and smallness of our daily existence, the Father is fashioning children in the image of His Son. You can see them in your community. We have the privilege of seeing them in Nigeria, the Philippines and Brazil. People, especially the poor, are growing in love for one another; willing to give their time, their food, themselves; finding the courage to risk their lives for justice sake; people are being born to a Christian life. It is glorious to see.

At Christmas time especially, we remember each of you in gratitude for your friendship and support. Together let us give thanks to God for the gift of His Son. May we behold with the eyes of faith His presence growing in each of us.

Sincerely,
Sister Suzanne
Marshall, O.L.M.

Watching school board

RR#1, Lunenburg

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

So, Mrs. Enns does it again! No sooner does she finish espousing dictatorship under the guise of democracy than she declares that "the Board" will close small schools whether it is controversial or not.

I refer, this time, to Mrs. Enns' speech at the School Committee's Seminar held at Tagwi Secondary School on November 26. Is this yet another example of the "democratic process" about which you vocalized the previous week, Mrs. Enns? But what of the opinions of the other members of the Board—do they count for nothing? Or does the position of Chairperson carry with it a mandate to express the other trustees' views without the chance of debate?

What a mockery we have in our midst when, only days after going through the process of electing 18 trustees to manage the multi-million dollar operation of a County School Board, we find that one trustee can arbitrarily speak as "the Board."

But wait! We have yet another example of "democracy"—in the inaugural speech of the new Chairman of the Board (I wonder, are he and Mrs. Enns both graduates of the same Training School for Board Chairpersons?). Mr. Chenier opened his speech with "the most important need for trustees, teachers and administrators is to communicate more effectively with parents." Almost in the same breath he then went on to condemn small, vocal minorities "who, in my opinion, seem more concerned with self-serving personal vendettas than in providing suggestions to improve the system."

Congratulations, Mr. Chenier! You certainly have an unusual way of promoting the PR work—by insulting the intelligence and credibility of all those groups of concerned parents and taxpayers, who presented such excellent briefs, especially during the past twelve months. Where were you when the Reeve of Roxborough Township gave his superb "gut feeling" speech; when the members of the various school committees in the areas affected by school closure spoke, from their hearts, of the pride and belief they had in their community schools; when those concerned with the promotion of bilingualism spoke of their hopes for the future of Glengarry District High School?

Have you forgotten so soon, Mr. Chenier? Or could it be that you are the one promoting a vendetta? After all, you were the one to use that word. You might do well to refresh your memory with the saying "Judge not, that ye be not judged." But then, maybe you keep your Bible on the same shelf as the one on which Mrs. Enns keeps her dictionary—out of reach.

Says business offers no traps

RR1, Limoges, Ont.
December 8, 1980

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

In regard to the article in last week's Glengarry News that warned people of Alexandria of traps if they sign with us—if anyone can find a "trap" in the advertising circular I wish they would please contact me.

As I have stated before, our rates are cheaper because we will be using a garbage packer. We will be able to do double or triple the work of an open truck. Naturally our rates will increase slightly over the years. Most people of Alexandria are paying approximately $48 a year. Our rates won't reach that high for at least five years.

Now, for putting people on welfare—what about you people of Alexandria who do your business elsewhere; for example shopping in Cornwall? Aren't you taking business away from your own people? You aren't too worried there about putting the business people on welfare.

As I understand it, this is a free democratic society where a person can start his own business and be in competition with others without having recriminations as I have had. I am offering an honest and legitimate business proposal with no traps. Please don't be swayed by ugly rumors or articles criticizing us. Please make up your own minds. Anytime Real Huot would like a debate on this, I would be more than happy to meet with him to answer any and all of his questions.

Thank you,

To the citizens of Alexandria

As Fire Chief of the Town of Alexandria, I urgently appeal to each and every citizen to do his utmost and take every precaution against fire during the holiday season.

In setting forth the following safety suggestions, it is my earnest wish that they be strictly adhered to and thereby help to eliminate disaster and destruction of fire at a time when peace and joy should reign:

—Choose a 'fresh cut' tree with a high moisture content.
—Store the tree outdoors.
—Make a new diagonal cut at least 2" from the butt before setting the tree up indoors.
—Stand the tree in a container that holds plenty of water. Refill the container each day.
—Anchor the tree securely. Place it away from sources of heat to reduce drying.
—Use only electric lighting sets that bear the mark of approval and inspect for damage and frayed cords.
—Use only 15-amp. fuse on circuit serving your tree.
—Use glass wool or asbestos 'snow' or other non-combustible material in décorating the tree or your home.
—Dismantle and remove the tree as soon as it has served its purpose.

How to Choose a Fresh Cut Christmas Tree

—Bend needle gently. If needle bends instead of breaking, the tree can be termed 'fresh cut'. Should the needle snap, it indicates a dry and brittle state and is not suitable.

Wishing one and all a

by Angus H. McDonell

Writing recently in an Alexandria mercantile flashback I recalled that among the score or more horses stabled in "Little Archie" McMillan's livery barn there was one spirited standard bred that was distinguished from all other local horses as a result of being a prizewinner in the roadster class of area Fall Fairs. This horse was owned and driven by Mrs. McMillan.

We are indebted to a News reader, an Alexandria old boy, Ottawa's Norman Duggan, for drawing to our attention by mailing a photo with relative data of possibly the most widely and popularily known, by young and old, Alexandria horse following the McMillan era. This horse of course had to be E. J. Dever's gray-white Shetland pony named "Alex." An important factor in the operation of Dever's store in the "Golden Twenties."

For the benefit of younger readers, a brief review of the Dever Block—a flourishing Alexandria mercantile location following World War One. This noted building was located on the grounds now occupied by Wally Hope's Auto Parts and Auto Sales. (The block was destroyed by fire many years ago.)

This structure was a modern two-storey architecture finished in brick displaying quite an attractive mercantile centre. In addition to Dever's general store there were two other smaller stores. The Ontario Department of Agriculture manned by Edgar MacRae was next to Dever's and the second store was first John Boyle's famed ice cream parlor later purchased and operated by John Larocque, grandfather of Ourtown's councillor, Jean Larocque. This was also the original stand of the late Bert Larocque's taxi service, a canvas-top early 1920's Studebaker touring. Auctioneer Dave Lalonde was Bert's number one regular fare. Thus the popular Bert derived his elementary geography training of Glengarry as he drove Dave along every concession road to and from farm sales.

However, in addition to the foregoing capsule outlay of the Dever Block, out of view was also the essential storage warehouse and stable that housed "Alex." (Actually this building was at the rear of the present Sears office.)

Ed Dever and his staff had a double delivery service. One by Norman, the other by Alex. First the small orders were conveyed in summer on a boy's wagon, and in winter in a Salada Tea wooden box fastened to a hand sleigh. Thus Norman Duggan was introduced to his successful professional sales career with H. J. Heinz. At that time he was an energetic school boy just out of the Killarney of Lemieux-Pendleton. The Jim Duggans had moved to Alexandria.

The larger orders were delivered in town and beyond for about five miles. In this service Norman and Alex became fast friends. Norman had to feed, water and groom Alex before and after school hours. Also making sure Alex's hoofs were well manicured and shod regularly by Charlie MacKinnon.

The delivery wagon and sleigh were quite fittingly half-size thus matching the small horse stature of Alex.

Apart from general deliveries there was one each week of special breads, rolls and other delicacies, the products of the famed Montreal Strachan bakery. And herewith Alex displayed a lofty rating of intelligence that placed him in the equestrian show class of exhibitions.

When Norman hitched Alex to the delivery wagon and loaded the Strachan box of goodies there was a pattern route to the customer homes. Alex memorized the route like his master. This day an order was just different to all others.

Alex trotted out of the Dever store driveway, across Main Street and right down St. Paul Street to the Bishop's Palace. From there he would jog directly via Bishop Street to Centre and east to the dead end to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan A. (Alex Roy) MacDonald. Mrs. MacDonald was the former AHS teacher, Arnprior's Mamie Mulvihill. Then on to Ranny (in the bank) Macdonald's, the Dan Allans from St. Telesphore, then out Kenyon Street to Donald McKays, the AHS principal and on and on to a dozen or more without any driver guidance or error.

On the contrary Norman tells us that Alex could be as stubborn as a Missouri mule in one respect. Alex didn't mind you playing cowboy by jumping on his back as in photo. But that was all. Alex rebuffed all urging to jog around the store back yard. He simply refused to move in any direction. In fact should you persist he would drop to his front knees and lie down. Quite an oddity.

Norman and Alex parted ways when Norman was promoted to store clerk and at that time Alex became too old and feeble to deliver orders anymore.

The end of his life's service to mankind was brought about by Dr. "Donald Bahn" MacMaster gently putting "Alex" to sleep.

And that's it for 1980 folks. Best Christmas wishes to all and may Divine Providence provide the way to you and yours for health and happiness during 1981.

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

I wish to thank you for participating in the province-wide campaign to interest people in becoming foster parents. In addition to recruitment as its purpose, this campaign was also intended to educate the public about the great service foster parents provide and to create an awareness of the ongoing need for foster homes for children of all ages, particularly for teenagers and French speaking children.

We were indeed touched by the support we received from the community in our local campaign. The number of enquiries we had is a testimony to your endorsement. However, we are not sure at this point how many of those who made enquiries will follow through and in the end, will become foster parents. In any case, it is fair to say that we will never have enough foster parents and the need for more will always be with us. Nevertheless, we are confident that we can count on your co-operation and help in the future, not only in the area of recruitment, but in all our efforts to help children.

Yours sincerely,
Thomas J. O'Brien,

Clergy Comments

by Rev. Earle Eaton, Maxville and Moose Creek United Churches

It is the Advent season. I would refer back to a nation's expectancy. Through long years and several centuries Israel had entertained the thought of a Messiah. He had been foretold by prophet, poet and seer. The long expectation of a people centred about this fulfilment. Oft a captive people, their minds turned naturally to thoughts and illusions of nationalism, racial superiority and purity; a place of prestige among nations instead of a position of servitude, with tribute to distort and discolor the image.

Then "Jesus came preaching"; and teaching; and healing and helping. And his entire program and emphasis and way of life were so at variance with a nation's preconceptions that He and His program were not recognized nor accepted nor accredited. "He came unto His Own, and His Own received Him not."

They, the rulers of the temple, the rabbis, the ecclesiastics, the puppet politicos and collaborationists, looked for one with kingly mien. They found one meek, who advocated meekness as a policy for reward. They looked for a ruler. They found a servant. They looked for "The Lion of Judah"; they found "The Prince of Peace." They looked for the fulfillment of the Law. They found the unfolding of the Gospel. They looked for one who would come to minister exclusively to the "lost sheep of the House of Israel." They found a universal Savior, with a mission to the Gentiles. They looked for one who would restore the kingdom. They found one whose kingdom was "not of this world." They looked for an imposing, impressive personage. They found a lover of children, a friend of sinners, a sympathetic helper.

They found, in short, one whose every act and word and attitude was a source of wonderment. He truly was their Savior of surprise. Instead of withdrawing in indignation and horror, He loved the sinner, while hating the sin. Refusing to pass judgment on an especially revolting evil, he observed: "Let him who is without sin cast the first stone." Simplicity characterized His entire life and career. Lack of comprehension kept the people, His own countrymen, from appreciating and accrediting Him. Incomprehensible to the populace was it that He could miraculously feed a multitude, yet be Himself hungered in the desert. Preposterous was it that "He saved others, Himself He could not save." Of lowly lineage, humble childhood, peasant status, socially, He labored in young manhood at a humble trade. He knew want, loneliness, homelessness, poverty, rejection. He broke with tradition. He habitually worshipped on the Sabbath in the synagogue, but He also healed, helped, taught and lifted on the Sabbath. Not alone did He amaze monarchs and ecclesiastics, but confounded scholars and philosophers, too. Witness His tarrying in the temple at the early age of 12, and confounding the doctors of learning by His knowledge. And, in later years, when He taught the people, "they were astonished at His doctrine, for He taught them as One having authority."

His birth was a surprise to slumbering Israel. It was neither foretold nor proclaimed by the Sanhedrin. The ecclesiastical orders, Pharisees, Sadducees, Levites, Nazarites, knew nothing of it. No wonder their ecclesiastical dignity was ruffled. The world-shattering event was quietly made known to members of an Oriental arcane order, by revelation and calculation; and simple announcement was given to lowly shepherds, tending their flocks on a Judean hillside. They alone were honored with strains of the angelic chorus. There was no proclamation in the palaces of kings, and the society column of the Jerusalem Herald did not carry it.

His life and career continued to be a major surprise to all. He was the "man with a message," albeit He spoke "as never man spake before." Early in His public ministry demonstrating His power as a worker of miracles, men marvelled and queried: "What manner of man is this?" He taught, unlike the Scribes, by principle, rather than by rote; by reiterated precept, rather than by tradition. Meek and unassuming, He still could defy authority when a matter of principle was involved. "The lowly Galilean" was the human fulfillment of "The Mighty God."

Standards, too, were changing. Instead of the Law, the Gospel; in place of the "letter," the spirit. "He was rich, and for our sakes He became poor." Commendation and rebuke alike fell from His lips, on appropriate occasion. Average morality was not good enough for Him. To the moralist and legalist He said: "One thing thou lackest." Charity, love, sharing were compulsory, not as meritorious, but as automatic components of a life of dedication. Leaders who anticipated a career of patronage were invited to answer the call to discipleship. His way of life was a demonstration of "pure religion, undefiled"; love, joy, peace, equality of man, giving, sharing, sacrifice. Purity versus expediency; high morality versus legality; true genuine living was His life pattern.

The world still is astonished at His doctrine. The world, like Israel of old, is not ready for Him and His teachings. People admire, but do not follow. Or they "follow afar off." He still is the Savior of surprise.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO SHOUT MERRY CHRISTMAS.

1. If you decorate your house with Christmas lights, keep it simple. Too much of a good thing is a waste of electricity.
2. Turn your Christmas display on after 7 pm, when the demand for electricity is lighter. And please, remember to switch if off at bedtime.
3. A happy Christmas is a safe Christmas. Discard old lights that show wear or damage and make sure lights are marked C.S.A. (Canadian Standards Association) for safety.

GLEN SANDFIELD

GO SLOW — PROTECT OUR CHILDREN!

by Lorna Chapman

This Sunday morning at 11:15 a.m. The Sunday School people, under the able direction of their superintendent, Mrs. Arnold McRae, will conduct the White Gift Service, in Glen Sandfield United Church.

The Mitten Tree will be there to receive any wintry wear. This year it has been decided to leave the tree up until January 6, in order that people may have a chance to get their offerings in, and to see it decorated with wearables, as there are so few services before Christmas, only one in fact. We hope donations will be as generous as they have been in the past. Any warm garments will be happily accepted with thanks. They could include mittens, caps, scarves, socks and sweaters.

Wendy and John Nangreaves spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Chapman. They left Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Sandford to return to Montreal.

On St. Andrew's day, Arnold and Margo McRae had a farewell luncheon for Jean MacEachern who is leaving shortly for the Isle of Skye, Scotland.

The highlight of the occasion was the serving of the haggis which was brought by Jean's father, Ken McKenna of Mount Royal.

Alex Wardrop of North Lancaster recited the "Ode to the Haggis," then immediately severed the beast. Following the meal, his wife Moira gave the "Salute to St. Andrew's Day." Finally everyone enjoyed a few sips of Glayva.

Cold goats eat more

With winter almost here, dairy goat farm operators should plan to supplement their livestock rations.

The amount of feed required to maintain a goat over the winter may increase by up to 20 per cent because of lower temperatures. And, even more feed is needed if the farmer wants to maintain milk production.

Dr. Paul Burgess, a dairy nutrition specialist at Agriculture Canada's Fredericton Research Station suggests goat farmers add an 18-per-cent dairy ration to any lower-quality grass hay they feed their animals over the winter.

Dunvegan News

Gordon MacLean, Melfort, Sask., with his two daughters and son-in-law, visited his aunt Mamie, (Mrs. Scott Elliott) in Owen Sound, Ont. Among other Glengarry friends and relatives visited were: Mrs. George MacRae and Miss Kaye MacLean of Dunvegan; Mr. and Mrs. Willie K. MacLeod and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Chisholm of Skye. They went on to visit relatives in Ottawa and Chalk River before returning to Melfort, Sask.

Congratulations go out to Mr. and Mrs. Denis Paquette on the birth of a daughter, and also to Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bertrand on the birth of their daughter. It's nice to hear of these precious bundles of joy coming to families in the area. They are truly a gift of God.

Robert Chisholm is home from the West. Welcome home Robert!

On Sunday, Mrs. Barbara Ladouceur and Gabriel, Green Valley, accompanied me on a trip to Pembroke to visit Mrs. Fred Hampel at the Miramichi Lodge. While there we also visited other relatives and friends. The trip back was slow, because of road conditions, but we arrived home safely. Apparently, others weren't as fortunate, possibly because their speed did not make allowance for the icy spots. The worst conditions we met were Highland Road and Dunvegan Road. I hear someone detoured into Fisher's barn on Highland Road.

Apply now for college

Now is the time for high school students and others thinking of going to college next September to start getting ready to apply, according to Nicole Theriault, school liaison and admissions officer at St. Lawrence College.

Miss Theriault said that the college will start accepting applications for next fall after January 1. All applications received up to February 15 are considered on an equal basis.

After February 15 applications are considered on a first-come first-served basis. This means that in some programs in which enrolment is limited, late applicants will have difficulty getting in.

Programs with limited enrolments include nursing, early childhood education, behavioral science, and medical laboratory technology, Miss Theriault said.

"High school students should start applying through their guidance offices in January," Miss Theriault said. "Adults in the community who wish to apply can do so through a high school guidance office or come directly to the college admissions office."

CAREER COUNSELLING

Calendars outlining the programs available at the college are available in high school guidance offices and at the admissions office at the college.

Miss Theriault pointed out that adults thinking about going to college next fall may wish to take advantage of the career counselling service available at the college, as well.

The basic entrance requirement for post-secondary programs is a grade 12 general diploma. Some programs have specific prerequisites and some recommend certain high school courses as useful background. In some of the short trades and business courses at the college the entrance requirement is grade 10. Adults who lack grade 10 or grade 12 can enrol in the college's academic upgrading program.

In her school liaison role, Miss Theriault visits all high schools in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry four or five times a year. During these visits she makes presentations to grade 11, 12 or 13 students about the various career possibilities available to them through programs at the college.

CAMPUS TOURS

On her high school visits Miss Theriault encourages students to visit the college. She says that by touring the campus and meeting with teachers from the programs that students are interested in "they get a better perspective on the college and whether the program they are interested in will suit them."

Campus tours can be arranged for students, parents, teachers or community groups, Miss Theriault said.

Another aspect of Miss Theriault's school liaison work includes visits to grade eight classes in SD&G. The purpose of these visits, she said, "is to get the students to start thinking about careers. I give them some information about programs at the college and some basic information about careers.

"I emphasize the importance of choosing the right high school courses in order to be able to be eligible for post-secondary programs later on."

Miss Theriault also pointed out that she is open to invitations from elementary and secondary school committees to discuss career planning and programs at the college.

Farm women hear Lumley

Stormont-Dundas MP Ed Lumley says farm women must continue to organize collectively to attain recognition in society.

Speaking at the First National Conference on Farm Women, the minister of state for trade said "the role of the farm women in our society has changed a great deal and only through a collective effort such as this will you be able to attain your goals.

"Together you will continue to grow, to gain recognition and obtain the desired results."

The federal government spent over $54,000 towards the planning and staging of the conference which was spearheaded by Dianne Harkin of Winchester.

Her group, Women for the Survival of Agriculture, was initiated in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The conference served as the first opportunity for farm women from across Canada to meet and air their concerns on their dual role as women and farmers.

The conference's agenda included various workshops and panel discussions dealing with such topics as the role of women in farm organizations, salaries and benefits for farm women and how women could influence decision-making.
