Modern Equipment
Modern Methods
Gone are the crude, harsh methods of conducting funerals used in the past. Modern methods and equipment have taken away much of the coldness. The funeral is conducted by us in such a way that the last memory is always a beautiful one. Those whom we serve are invariably impressed with with the calm, quiet dignity of the funerals—a fitting way to pay a last respect to a lovedone.

HENRY'S
Shorthand School
Ottawa, Ont.
No school in Eastern Ontario offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. It leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by 560 pupils who have, since January, 1918, left other Ottawa schools to come to HENRY'S.
It is not surprising then that business men, in advertising for stenographers, specially say, "Graduates of Henry's Shorthand School preferred."

A comedy entitled "Wanted—a Wife" will be presented in the Morewood Presbyterian Hall, by the Winchester Young People's Guild, Wednesday evening Feb. 29th, under the auspices of the Morewood Presbyterian Young People's Society. Admission 35c., and 25c.

CRYSLER FAMILY HONORED

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 22nd, friends numbering nearly one hundred gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ouderkirk to wish farewell to them and their daughters Maggie and Elva, before their departure for their new home in Berwick. Dancing was indulged in until about eleven o'clock when a suitable address was read and Mr. and Mrs. Ouderkirk were each presented with a handsome leather rocker: Miss Maggie with a beautiful ivory clock and Miss Elva with a lovely two-tone ivory brush, comb and mirror set.

Each of the recipients thanked the givers very feelingly for their gifts and assured all of a very sincere welcome to their new home.

Lunch was served, after which dancing was resumed until "nigh the mornin' hours" when all went home declaring that another grand sociable time had been enjoyed in the old home.

CHRLES W. COULTHART MOREWOOD

Charlie coulthart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coulthart of Morewood, died in hospital in Toronto on February 11th, a victim of typhoid fever. At the time he was a student a the College of Education in that city where he had gone early in January. Last spring he graduated in arts at Queen's university, Kingston, and at the time of his death was taking the final six months' course to become qualified for the highest positions in the Public and High schools of the province. His death has seemed therefore all the more premature and tragic. He would have been just twenty-seven next May. Like his father, he stood over six feet and was built other ways in proportion. The esteem in which he was held and the way in which his early passing gripped the heart of the commnuity were evidenced by the attendance of nearly four hundred at the funeral which was held in the Morewood United church on February 14th. The pastor, Rev. Roy P. Stafford, was assisted by two former pastors of the deceased, Rev. K. A. Gollan of Caledon, Ont., and Rev. F. L. Jobb of Cushing, Que. The College of Education, Toronto, sent Prof. Carlisle to represent that institution at the funeral. Interment took place at Maple Ridge cemetery.

The floral tributes were the folowing—Rev. K. A. Gollan and family a wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Gollan, wreath:Mr. and Mrs Lennox Baker and family, sheaf: Robt. and Orvis Steven and families, Sheaf: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Feeley, sheaf: Mr. and Mrs. George McBride, spray; Mrs. Mary Chadburn and family, North Bay,Ont. sheaf: Morewood Fishing Pals, 1927, wreath: Queens Graduates, College of Education, sheaf: Morewood High School, wreath: College of Education, sheaf: Staff of the College of Education, wreath; Young People'sSociety Morewood Uuited church, wreath: W. M. S. Morewood United Church, sheaf.

The sincere sympathy of a wide circle of friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Coulthart and family, and to Miss Nancy Gollan, fiancée, in their great loss.

NOTRE DAME LEADS IN FIRST PLAY-DOWN

With a three to two score Notre Dame, winners of the Hull and District honors last night led Chesterville at the final whistle in the first play-down, carrying a one goal lead into the second game which will be staged here Friday night.

Before about five hundred spectators, with perfect ice the fastest game of the season resulted. The play for the full sixty minutes was carried at top speed and Joe Robertson handed out but two penalties during the setto.

The visitors grabbed the first counter seven minutes after the start of play when Gagnon took a nice pass from Robertson at the goal mouth and slammed it home. Chesterville fought hard for the evener and repeatedly tried out Lascelle, Honeyborne drove a hard shot to beat him but caught the side of the post. Huard tried hard for another but could not beat Hamilton. Casselman and Jarvis did fine work going in more than once but could not make the grade. Kilrae and Robertson each worked in close for hard shots without further damage.

With the second session considerably to the good for Chesterville, seventeen minutes had slipped by before Jarvis trimmed Lascelle on a wicked shot just inside the blue line, taking a perfect pass from Gamble, who had carried the puck down trough the Notre Dame attacking division. Gagnon came back in two minutes with the advantage for Notre Dame when he slipped a slow one past Hamilton which the latter did not see.

Harper, Plantz and Leslie did brilliant work in in the final chapter, back-checking like fiends and displaying fine combination when going in on the nets against the heavy defence work of Robert and Fleming, both of whom were in the spot-light time and again. Plantz put Chesterville again on even terms when he took the puck in centre ice at the blue line and zipped one into the twine. With four minutes to go and the killing pace still maintained it was anybody's game for a minute, when Kilrae got by Chesterville's defence so close in on Hamilton that he had no chance for the counter that gave Notre Dame the edge. Huard, Verdon and Robertson played flashy hockey for the visitors during the period.

The line-up :

Notre Dame—Goal, Lascelle; Defence, Fleming, Robert; Centre Gagnon; Wings Robertson, Kilrae; Subs., Huard, Verdon.

Chesterville—Goal, Hamilton; Defence, Gamble, Harper; Centre, Casselman; Wings, Honeyborne, Leslie; Subs., Jarvis, Plantz.

Referee—Joe Robertson, Ottawa.

INITIAL JUNIOR PLAY-OFF RESULTS IN TIE 3 ALL

In the first game of the play-off in the Central Ottawa Valley Junior series Tuesday night in the local rink Chesterville and Winchester battled to a three all tie, before a large turnout. The game was very fast and clean, no penalties being handed out by Referee McMonagle of Finch.

Winchester took the lead in the first period when Hitsman scored but Ed. Gillissie evened thing up shortly after on a nice shot. No further scoring took place in the period although both goalies were kept on the jump. In the second period Arnold Lynch put the locals one up only to be tied again by Hitsman, and shortly after Smith scored putting the visitors in the lead. Chesterville opened the final session pressing hard for a goal and after ten minutes Cecil Gillissie drove one from the blue line for the last counter of the game.

Hitsman played star hockey for the visitors while Mat Flynn showed class for the locals.. Chesterville goes to Winchester ror the return game tonight.

As a preliminary Winchester High Sshool girls won from the local High School by a score of 1 to 0. An unfortunate feature of the game being Miss Hitsman of the visiting team getting a gash over the eye requiring two stitches.

WIN ONE, LOSE ONE WITH RUSSELL

In the two games between Russell and Chesterville in the first of the district play-downs, Chesterville won the game on the home ice Friday night by 3 to 1,thereby carrying a two game margin into the second at Russell Monday night, where it did not prove enough, Bill Gamble having to add another to keep Chesterville in the play-downs. Russell won the game but lost the round by the margin of one goal. In the games with Notre Dame, Chesterville will go into the second game here to-morrow night one goal down, and will have to win by at least least a two goal margin. Notre Dame last night flashed the best brand of sixty minute hockey seen here this winter and now being one up will fight until the final whistle to retain it.

MISS GLASGOW SHOWERED

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Miss Amy Shaver Feb. 15th, in honor of Miss Ilsa Glasgow, whose marriage will take place this week. The house was decorated with pink and white crepe paper,an umbrella which was covered with white paper hung over the table from the ceiling and pink streamers hung down to the table where all the gifts which were wrapped in white tissue paper were placed. After a couple of contests the bride-to-be, with the aid of three other girls, unwrapped the gifts and passed them around so everyone could see. Most of them contained some little verse which the bride had to read. Ilsa thanked her many friends and invited them all to come to her new home, then she sat down in the arch under a balloon which held confetti and one of the girls burst it. A dainty lunch was served,then every one went home after giving Ilsa their best wishes for the future. She received many beautiful gifts and about forty wrote their names in the bride's book.

CAHORE GIRL TENDERED FAREWELL RECEPTION

Friday evening, Feb. 17th, about ninety people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Johnston of Cahore, to bid farewell to their daughter Ethel, on the eve of her departure for Cornwall, where she will enter as nurse-in-training in the Cornwall General hospital. A very pleasant evening was spent in progressive euchre and dancing, until eleven o'clock when Miss Ethel was called to the floor and an appropriate address was read by Miss Aggie Burd, and at the proper moment Miss Flossie Ouderkirk presented Ethel with a lovely club bag and purse. Following is the address :

Dear Ethel—We, your schoolmates and friends, have gathered here tonight, on the eve of your departure from our midst, not to say farewell, as we all hope to still see you often, but to spend a social evening with you as the nature of the profession you are choosing will cut off to a certain extent such functions. As a token of our esteem, we ask you to accept these gifts, not for their mere value, but hope as time passes their usefulness will remind you of the well-wishing friends you are leaving.

Although taken by surprise, Ethel thanked all her friends for the very nice gifts, and for their thoughtfulness in remembering her, and assured them she would always remember her old friends. All joined in singing "For She's aJolly Good Fellow."

A very dainty lunch was served by the ladies. About half past two the gathering broke up after all wishing Ethel, health, happiness and success in the noble work she has undertaken.

PRINCE OF WALES GIFT

So numerous were the letters received acknowledging the peony plants which the Prince of Wales had distributed throughout Canada last fall as a memento of his visit that His Royal Highness has requested that his formal acknowledgement to the Bank of Montreal, through whom the letters were forwarded to him, be taken as costituting a general reply.

It will be remembered that His Royal Highness asked the Bank to undertake for him the distribution of Canadian-grown peony plants to His Excellency the Governor-General, the Prime Minister and members of his Cabinet , the Lieutenant-Governors and Premiers of the Provinces; also to all cities, towns and incorporated villages throughout Canada.The distribution was made through the branches of the Bank with the co-operation and assistance of His Majesty's Mails, and the hundreds of letters received from mayors and other public officials showed how greatly the royal gift was appreciated. These letters, conveying the thanks of the various communities and expressing loyalty and devotion, were bound in a handsome portfolio and transmitted by the Bank of Montreal to Vice- Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, Comptroller of the Prince of Wales' household. The following letter from Sir Vincent Meredith, Bart., to the Comptroller, dated from the Head Office, Bank of Montreal, January 21st, accompanied the portfolio :

"Sir—I have the honour to forward to you under separate cover for the information of His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, a portfolio containing copies of letters of appreciation and grateful thanks for the gift of peony plants that His Royal Highness so graciously sent to the cities, towns and villages, through the medium of the branches of the Bank of Montreal throughout Canada as a memento of his visit to the Dominion during its Diamond Jubilee Year. Through the courtesy and co-operation of the Honourable the Minister of Finance and the Honourable the Post Master General, the services of His Majesty's Mail were promptly placed at our disposal and this greatly facilitated the distribution.

With every sentiment of loyalty and devotion to His Royal Highness, I have the honour to be,

Sir, your obedient servant,
(Signed) VINCENT MEREDITH

PERCIVAL FIRED THE SHOT IS JURY'S VERDICT

At the inquest into the death of F. J. Auger, of Burritts Rapids, held in Kemptville Town Hall Tuesday afternoon, the Jury found that "Frank Joseph Auger came to his death on Tuesday, February 14, as the result of a bullet fired unlawfully by W. H. Percival on Sunday, February 12."

The court room was crowded to its capacity, great interest being shown in the case of the two men who quarrelled over a gate on Sunday, February 12, Auger dying later in the hospital as a result of a shot alleged to have been fired by Percival.

Mrs. Helen Percival, wife of the accused, W. H. Percival, was the first witness called and told of the bad feeling between the two men andAuger's repeated treats against her husband. She gave it as her opinion that Percival on account of his age "being 76" was afraid of Auger and admitted that he kept a revolver convenient in the house on that account to be used in self-defence if necessary

On the Sunday afternoon on which the tragedy occurred, she testified seeing Auger strike her husband on the head with a stick of wood before he came into the house to get the revolver.When he returned to the house after the shooting she stated he was bleeding freely from the nose and throat as a result of the injuries inflicted by Auger. Miss Christena Russell, stepdaughter of the accused corroborated the evidence of her mother when she was called.

Mrs. Christena Auger, widow of the victim, gave important evidence she being the only actual witness of the shooting. She told of her husband, after his Sunday dinner, going out for an armful of wood and being accosted by Percival, who ordered him to shut the gate. An argument ensued and Percival went into the house and returned with the revolver, which helevelled on the gate and pointed at Auger, daring him to open the gate. Mrs. Auger testified that her husband called her to witness the gun-pointing and she ran to part them. In the ensuing struggle the revolver was shot off twice, one shot going under her feet and lodging in the side of the house and the other entering the left temple of her husband. The witness testified that she had heard Percival some time before proclaim his intention of keeping a gun and had heard through the partition of the house his threat that Auger would "get his."

Constable Gordon Ault of Kemptville told of Percival coming to him after the tragedy and giving himself up with the statement of shooting his neighbor in self-defence. Provincial Police Inspector Palmer of Cornwall and Provincial Offcer McLeod of Prescott presented measurements and diagrams which they had taken at the scene of the tragedy and told of extracting a bullet from the wood in the side of the house.

The 19th regular meeting of the Chesterville Peptimists was held on Feb. 7th. After the membership buttons were distributed the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved. The president appointed Reggie, Dwight and Mary for programme judges. The programme was on St. Valentine and consisted of readings, recitations and stories pertaining to Valentine observance.

We also had a "uke" duet by Lillian Shaver and Betty Bolster, a piano solo by Wyda Maloley, and a Valentine song by our president, Rodney Hummell. We also had our Valentine post office which carried a heavy exchange of greetings both friendly and comic.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Lillian Shaver and Clara Cassidy for making the Valentine box. Clara received the merit badge for the best prepared part on the programme. The Attendance and Literary committees gave their reports. We received 27c in the mite box.

In the Merit Badge contest Stanley and Rodney retained their badges for the fourth time, Lillian received her third and Willie his second badge.

SAYS SON TALKED WITH DEAD CHUM

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle takes issue with Thomas Edison's recent remark that he believes the chances are "fifty fifty" for life after death. Sir Arthur in an article written for the Associated Press, cites an experience of one of his sons as corroboration of his contention that the chances are 100 per cent for immortality.

"Some months ago," he said, "the Hon. D. Duncombe, the young brother of the Earl of Feversham, was killed in a motor smash on the Great North Road. He was a member of a little coterie of youths all at the same time tutor's. My two boys, Denis and Malcol, were of "the gang."

"Denis was very close with young Duncombe, and some weeks ago he felt he might get into touch with him. The reason for his belief was that some strange physical phenomena—the movement of objects, etc—had been observed in his room.

"Therefore he went to consult Mrs. Barel, a well-known medium at the Psychic .College in Holland Park The rule of the college is that no name is given to the medium, so that until my son entered the room she knew nothing of the sitter.

"Notes were taken by Denis as he listened, and they lie before me as I write. The medium falling into apparent trance, young Duncombe at once came through. He greeted Denis by name and referred one after another to all of the "gang." He gave his own nickname and the nicknames of the others, this without any questioning or prompting.

"He then denied vehemently that he was asleep, as stated, when the accident occurred. He described the accident minutely, drawing a diagram with the medium's hand, and he commented upon the evidence at the inquest.

"He remarked upon a physical weakness which, in life, had made dancing difficult, and said he was quite free from that now. He referred to a new racing car my son had bought showed keen interest in it and chaffed them about it. He mentioned that one of the"gang" even when in evening dress, carried a small spanner in his pocket."

A HOPEFUL VIEW OF THE HORSE BUSINESS

In his latest report of the work of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, the Hon. Mr. Motherwell expresses a very hopeful view of the horse breeding industry. In the districts, he points out, where for the past decade horse breeding was almost neglected, attention is being given more and more to the raising of stock. The market for big draught horses has been increasing at good prices,which the Minister states, have during the past year been 25 per cent higher than during the previous year. The shortage in the eastern provinces is being filled from the West and it is shown that during the twelve-month period under review the western provinces supplied Ontario 6,700 horses, to Quebec 10,000, while large shipments were required to supply the needs of the Maritime Provinces. Reference is made to the export of one thousand western horses to Russia that has made such a good impression that delegates representing that country have been on the lookout for larger shipments. Saddlers, hunters, and polo ponies, the Minister reports, continue to find a ready market at prices from 15 to 25 per cent higher than previous years. The difficulty of being able to supply the market with suitable stock of the classes is quite pronounced. Referring to the horse breeders' clubs that are operated under the Federal assistance policy the Honpurable Mr. Motherwell states that they have increased 20 per cent over the preceeding year with an increased demand for the better class of sires, which it is being learned is doing much to establish a definite type and to grade up the horses of the district by the use of improved blood.

THAT LOST ART

Those who complain that we have lost the art of conversation are sadly mistaken if they think people can't talk intelligently. The trouble is that there are no listeners now as there were in the olddays.

It is the art of listening we have lost, and it undoubtedly is due to the fact that in this day everybody takes newspapers and magazines and each citizen is so well informed that he wishes to do a great deal of talking Even when others in the company have the floor he is not listening, but is turning over in his mind the things he will say when it is his turn to talk.

Good listeners are so rare to-day that when you meet one and notice that he is paying srict attention you are embarrassed. The novelty of being listened to causes you to wonder whether you are saying anything worth while.

PREPARATION FOR INCUBATION WORK

(Experimental Farm Note.)

Many are of the opinion that preparation for incubation work is only geting a nest ready for the broody hen or lighting the lamp of an incubator. Instead the preparation should commence with the selecting of suitable breeding birds at least six months before the hatching season. From results of actual tests at the Lennoxville Experimental Station, it has been proven that almost without exception, the chicks from matured hens will be much stronger and develop faster, than those from pullets during their first year of production. It is therefore to be recommended that vigorous healthy birds, which have been good producers during have been good producers during their first year, be selected about October or November, and that these be given a ration which will be most conducive to health without forcing egg production until nearer the hatching season. It is also adviseable to make another selection of these birds just previous to the hatching season in order to have only the best from which to select eggs for incubation.

Furthermore much depends upon a rigid selection of the eggs for hatching purposes. By using uniform, strong shelled, well shaped eggs, the percentage of chicks hatched is increased and thereby the cost of hatching chicks reduced. The storing of the eggs for hatching is also responsible for much of the variation noted in hatching results. Overheating the eggs, or keeping them too long before incubating, is very detrimental to the best results. While too great chilling is detrimental to hatchability, eggs will even stand freezing temperatures for short periods without affecting hatching results.

The next step in preparation might be the securing of a suitable place for incubation work, whether by broody hens or by incubator. For broody hens, a separate room,well disinfected and free from vermin, must be provided. Dust the birds with some good vermin powder and remove them at night to their new clean nests. For hatching by incubators, it has been proved that a clean well-ventilated cellar, is much better than an upstairs room for locating the incubator. The moisture of a cellar helps to reduce the percentage of death in shell. All incubators should be thoroughly disinfected before each hatch, and should be in good working order before being intrusted with good hatching eggs.

.... A Beautiful Fire

During a fire in a village in Ohio the editor of the local paper, being unable to locate the regular reporter, sent out the young woman who "did" the society gossip. Here is her report as it appeared :

"A brilliant fire was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Slipps, in Hope Street. A large number of people attended the function. Mrs. Slipps, who recently had her hair shingled, made a charming escape in an exceedingly handsome henna silk blouse, the pattern of which appeared in our woman's page last week. The firemen, who presented an attractive appearance, were suit ably garbed in blue, the tunics being full cut. The weather was quite delightful for an affair of this kind, a strong wind blowing. It is rumored that the fire was on a larger scale than any previous affair of a similar kind for years. It is also rumored that it cost Mr. and Mrs. Slipps about $25,000."

WINTER FARM FIRE ENTAILS BIG LOSS

With roads almost impassable, even though nearby town firefighting equipment were available, the fire menace during the late winter months in the country is greater than at ordinary times. Losses, too, are more serious, since the barns and other outbuildings are filled with feed, live stock and farm equipment. In addition, more time than usual is spent in the barn, particularly after dark when artificial light is necessary.

According to the Ontario Fire Marshal's report, barn fire losses showed a considerable increase in 1927, and in the same report it is pointed out that much of this loss was due to carelessness. Under this heading the most common causes are lanterns, smoking matches and gasoline. Special precautions, it is pointed out, should be taken in handling any of these.

Wherever possible, the Fire Marshall advises the installation of electric lights in place of the much more dangerous and less efficient lantern. Where a competent man does the wiring, and the same is inspected by a Government official, such a system of lighting is as near perfect as possible. There are, unfortunately, many locations where the installation of electric lights is impossible, and in these cases the barn owner is urged to place strong metal hooks in safe positions in the stables, upon which to hang the lanterns. It is suggested that a good plan would be for local fire insurance companies to purchase these hooks in quantities and present them to policy holders.

The only safe rule with smoking is to absolutely ban it from the farm buildings, and signs to this effect will be supplied by the Fire Marshall's department at Toronto for the asking. While such signs might look unusual in a barn, they would serve as a useful reminder both to the owner and hired help when they felt an urge to "light up." Matches should never be carried loose in the pockets, as they may easily be dropped in the hay or other inflammable material when pulling out a handkerchief or knife. Safety matches in metal boxes should be the rule.

Gasoline should be stored in closed containers and never stored in wooden structures. It cannot be emphasized too often that gasoline vapor when mixed with sufficient quantity of air becomes an explosive which rivals dynamite in its destructive powers. In this connection, gasoline engines, etc., should preferably be placed in cement or galvanized iron buildings away from stacks and wooden buildings.

Sunday night after church

Both the Henderson boys are far away from the old home. But Sunday is still a very special day for Father and Mother, for every Sunday night after church the telephone bell rings and the old folks know that one of the boys is calling them from the distant city.

Harry calls one week, and Fred the next.

Long Distance is wonderful for keeping family ties strong. It is so simple, so inexpensive, to call distant friends for a few minutes' chat. And how welcome is the sound of their voices!

Do you call friends by Long Distance?

The Evening Rate after 8.30 is very low.

"MAKE THE GARDEN PAY"

is the title of a new 80-page booklet which the Bank of Montreal has issued and is now distributing free to all who ask for a copy.

This booklet is one of a series distributed by the Bank for the benefit of the farming interests of Canada. It contains practical, scientific and experience-tested advice and suggestions on how to make a vegetable garden pay. It is dedicated to the idea of "An acre garden on every farm in Canada."

A free copy of this valuable booklet is waiting for you at our nearest Branch. Ask for it by mail, telephone, or in person.

Why Buy Them ?

Money saved for investment usually represents much hard work and self-denial, and should be only loaned on ample security for the payment of interest and return of the principal.

A good mortgage on land is safe investment.

A Bond is a mortgage for a definite amount at agreed interest for a given time.

GEO. K. CASSELMAN - DUNBAR

WHERE MOUNTAINS TAKE TOLL

Every Year Some Women Lose Husbands and Sons.

How the mountains take their yearly toll is told by Marjory Swift, who writes from Usorod, Ruthenia, as follows:

In a cleft between two ranges of the Carpathians there nestles amid scenery of savage beauty a tiny village, by name Brustura. Shut away from the rest of the world by mighty mountain peaks, eternally snow-capped, Brustura can only be approached in the late spring and in the summer, when after the great thaw, the mountain passes become passable.

But that same thaw which enables the adventurous traveller to pierce the fastness of these mountains brings to the inhabitants of Brustura at once the year's livelihood and the year's tragedy.

Upon the proceeds of the sale of timber alone can the peasants exist. The lower slopes of the mountains which enclose the village are grandly clothed with oak, ash, graceful silver birch, and glowing copper beech. Cultivation of the land is impossible. As fast as a clearing is made, the over-hungry forests put forth seedlings, and where last spring potatoes grew feebly, this spring the arrogant young saplings triumphantly reclaim the forests for their own.

The mountain torrents which feed the streams of the valleys provide the only means of transport. In the winter these streams are frozen; in the summer they are too shallow to be of use. There remains but the spring, when, plentifully fed by the fast-melting snow, the torrents rush down the mountain sides and swell to an angry fierceness the streams of the valleys upon which timber rafts must be floated to the nearest market, some 50 miles distant. These streams conceal dangerous currents, treacherous eddies, unfathomable depths, which changing, year after year, make impossible a knowledge of their vagaries.

"Ahe! ahe! The mountains win!" complain the slim, dark women of Brustara. Their eyes of patient sadness watch year after year the grim fight between the savage torrents and their brave menfolk who, to gain a year's food for their families, must challenge the anger of the waters, must risk dear life itself to steer safely the timber-rafts to the town.

"Always, always do the mountains take toll," mourned a woman to the writer. "Always the torrents win. Every year the rafts set out steered by our husbands, our fathers, our brothers, our sons. And every year only some of those that leave return. Of fifty that leave but forty return. Every year some wife, some mother mourns her dead; every year are the children made fatherless.

"Unless the timber is sold we must die, for our mountains bring forth nothing but forests. To sell the timber our loved ones risk death. What would you? God's will be done."

Every year the swift currents take toll; every year adds to the eyes of the women of Brustara a greater depth of sadness, a more patient resignation to the tragedy of life.

Negro Gardener Had Stirring Past.

An African native living in a little cottage in Chislehurst, Kent, Eng., can look back upon a life which has been more eventful than any romance and which is reminiscent of the days of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

This man is Arab Makeppo, and he was rescued from slavery by the great African explorer, Dr. Livingstone.

"I was sold by my brother sixty or seventy years ago to Portuguese slave traders," Makeppo said, "and we began our journey to the coast. The men were tied two-by-two to wooden collars, which they wore even in their sleep; the women chained at wrists and ankles; the girls roped like horses and the little ones free."

Livingstone and his men routed the slavers and the explorer chose Arab Makeppo as his body servant. The ex-slave afterwards went to England and is now employed as a gardener to a private family. Makeppo to this day refers to Livingstone as "the Governor."

Island of Eigg.

Eigg, or Egg, is an island of the Hebrides, in Invernesshire, Scotland, five miles southwest of Syke. It has a length of six and a half miles, a breadth of four miles and an area of twelve miles. Its columnar cliffs are similar to those of Staffa. The rocks, of great interest to geologists, have been described by Hugh Miller in his "Cruise of the Batsy," published some years ago. Its population is a little over 200. Tradition says that on this island, in 617, St. Donnane and fifty more monks from Iona were killed by the native queen, though her people objected that "that would not be a religious act." Towards the close of the sixteenth century, 200 Macdonalds, men, women and children were smoked to death in a narrow-mouthed cave on the island by Macleod.

One In Every 200.

Out of every 200 of the population of the British Isles there is one person mentally defective.

WORLD'S STORE OF GOLD.

There Is About £2,000,000,000, Exclusive of Plate and Jewellery.

So much has been said and written of the enormous quantity of bullion lying in the vaults of the United States, says an Old Country paper, that some people now think that the republic has now possession of the world's whole supply of gold.

This, however, is not the case, according to a London financial authority who says: So far as Great Britain is concerned, we have roughly the same amount of gold as we had in 1913, that is about £160,000,000. Before the war, the Bank of England held about £40,000,000 of this total, while the remainder was divided between the other banks and the general public. To-day, however, practically no gold is in circulation, but, although no actual hoarding takes place, it is probable that the number of sovereigns held by various people as souvenirs amounts to several millions. The other hundred and fifty odd millions are safely locked up in the Bank of England.

The world's stock of gold coin and bullion (exclusive of plate and jewellery) is some £2,000,000,000. Of this total, the United States of America holds £800,000,000, compared with a pre-war total of £300,000,000. France has £220,000,000. and it is surprising to know that such a comparatively poor country as Spain ranks fourth in the world with a holding of more than £100,000,000. Germany has about £22,000,000.

It is illegal to export gold from Great Britain without permission. Permits, however, are issued for the re-export of gold sent here from abroad, and London acts as the world's clearing house for vast quantities of bullion.

The world's gold production in 1923 was £172,500,000, of which total more than half came from the Transvaal. The great bulk of this passed through London and shipments averaged about £1,000,000 weekly.

The price at which it is sold is fixed every morning at 11.15, when the bullion brokers meet at the famous banking house of Rothschilds. This price fluctuates according to demand and supply and in sympathy with the rate of exchange on New York. Gold can be coined in the United States into gold dollars, so, if the dollar rises in value, gold rises also. The metallic value of a sovereign is to-day about £1 2s. 6d.

Relished Joke Against Self.

During a recent investigation in Britsh Columbia, proceedings became highly technical and therefore very tedious. Premier Oliver, who was one of the interested parties, tried to liven up matters by slipping in what he fondly believed to be a funny story, but it proved a dud. Everybody had heard it before, lots of times; it was that old chestnut about "All the people are rogues except thee and me, and sometimes I'm no sure of thee."

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, one of the counsel, said the Premier's story didn't remind him of anything in particular, but he had one that was also very old, though still good.

"During my father's time," said Sir Charles, "there was a man back east popularly known as 'Honest Bob.' He was a good Liberal—if there is such an animal. My father had been attacked rather severely by the newspapers and this man went to him and said:

" 'Dr. Tupper, doesn't it worry you to read what the newspapers say about you this week?'

" 'Oh, no,' answered father, 'nobody with any sense believes what he reads in the newspapers. Why, they even call you 'Honest Bob!"

Most of the auditors smiled. A few good Conservatives laughed. Premier Oliver roared jovially, for he can appreciate a joke at his own expense.

He has been known as "Honest John" for twenty years!

Not Unprofessional.

Augustine Birrell, in his early days at the Bar, often had many poor clients. On one occasion the defendant was so poor that Birrell offered to handle his case for nothing. Birrell won the case and the grateful client sent him thirteen shillings. In order not to hurt the man's feelings Mr. Birrell accepted the fee; but a fellow lawyer reproached him for doing so. "Don't you know," said the fellow lawyer, "that it is unprofessional to take less than two pounds?" "Well," said Mr. Birrell seriously, "I took all the poor beggar had. You don't consider that unprofessional, do you?"

Shine In the Arts.

The Royal House of Sweden is winning through its younger members a substantial reputation for distinction in the arts.

Prince Wilhelm of Sweden, in particular, has proved himself a good poet, a clever playwright, an enterprising explorer, and a writer of excellent prose. His translation of "Hassan," published in Stockholm, is said to be a fine piece of work.

The artistic strain runs strongly in the family. Prince Eugen studied art in Paris, and paints delightfully. His father, King Oscar II. was a poet of merit.

Another of the Bernadotte line, King Oscar's brother, Charles XV., was both poet and painter.

SUBSTITUTE COAL CAUSE OF SAVING

A saving to the public of $17,000,000 during the past five years has been made through the use of alternative fuels instead of anthracite coal. The Dominion Fuel Board makes this statement in a bulletin issued. The board has since inception conducted studies into the fuel problem with a view to making Canada increasingly independent of Pennsylvania anthracite. "An educational campaign demonstrating the proper methods of burning these alternative fuels in diffent types of furnaces has done a great deal to popularize their use," states the board. "Another beneficial feature is that a variety of fuels has established competitive conditions. There is now an influence tending against undue rise in prices as well as a steadying factor in the stabilizing of supplies." The occasion of the publication of the bulletin by the fuel board was a recent press despatch which stated that American anthracite was being displaced by other fuels in Ontario and Quebec to the extent of 1,500,000 tons a year.

.DOINGS IN THH LEGISLATURE.

Commensurate with care something in the nature of a record has been accomplished by the Ontario Lgeislature during the first week of the Session. Following a policy of business-like administration, legislation has been advanced through committee stage of the House earlier than ever before in the history of the Province. With barely a week gone by the Speech from the Throne has been given consideration and the debate on the Reply well advanced.

Firm declarations of policy enunciated in the Speech from the Throne have been met with approval from the legislature.Determination of the Provincial Government to adhere to the view that the compact of Confederation should be observed in all respects was strikingly emphasized and received with approval by the House. It was maintained that the future of Canada could best be assured by maintaining the status of the Provinces as established under the British North America Act.

The House was informed that the transference of settlers from unsuitable locations in the province to more promising situations was progressing favorably. Sufficient headway has been made in this connection by the government to warrant further settlements of a like nature.

One of the features of the session to date has been the prompt action of the government in issuing a commission to Judge Godson of the Mining Court to probe into the recent disaster at the Hollinger Mine. Premier Ferguson has also appointed Peter White, K.C., as special counsel in connection with the probe, while, in addition, every facility will be given the miners to state their case and put fort their recommendations with the view of preventing similar catastrophies in the future.

Prompt action was taken by Premier Ferguson in connection with the assertion of W.E.N. Sinclair that ballot papers were found on the streets of Ottawa after the last provincial election.The Premier announced on Thursday that the Privileges and Elections Committee of the House would sit in open inquiry on the matter. Announcement was also made that if special legislation was needed to facilitate a thorough investigation, it would be rushed through the House. Answering the Premier in the Legislature, Mr. Sinclair stated that the ballots had no marks on them of any kind and that he was not for a minute advancing the suggestion that there had been malpractice of any kind.

Practice of certain urban dairies in selling 8 per cent cream, known to the trade as "cereal" cream, will be brought to the attention of the Committee on Agriculture Hon. John S. Martin announced to the legislature. Legislation will be introduced to block the loophole in the present legislation that governs this commodity.

Ontario Department of Agriculture is preparing for further action in connection with the stamping out of tuberculosis among the herds of the Province. Answering a question in the House, the Minister of Agriculture stated that the Agricultural College was making a thorough and constant study of the disease. At the present moment the method in use in testing cattle is demeed to be the best. An increased demand for T.B. tested cows was also reported by the Minister.

Sesond reading was given legislation allowing municipalities to capitalize health department expenditures instead of meeting capital costs in the year in which they are incurred from the general funds of the city. Approval was also given an amendment to the Mothers' Allowance Act making two years' residence in Ontario necessary before eligibility to a pension can be established.

Amendments to the Succession Duty Act were approved by the House. Under the amendments insurance will not be taxable and duties payable within the period of one year, rather than eighteen months as heretofore. The bill also provides for reciprocity with other provinces in collecting succession duties from portions of estates outside of Ontario. "This is a step towards eliminating double taxation," stated the Premier.

Speaking in the Legislature, Premier Ferguson complained that many public men were criticizing the liquor system before it had a fair trial. He announced the government's intention to see that the legislation had a fair trial, and that it would remain substantially unchanged in the meantime. The Act, he stated, had been a much needed thing in many parts of the province in reducing the bootlegging evil that had previously flourished on a wide scale.

Aurelien Belanger, Liberal Member for Russell was loud in his approval of the government in taking steps toward a better understanding between the French and English races of the Province. Speaking in conection with Regulation 17, the Liberal member stated that the present government had taken steps in that direction that should have been taken by previous governments as late as 30 years ago.

DIVIDENDS WILL BE INCREASED TO POLICYHOLDERS

There was good news for the policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada in the report submitted at the annual meeting on the 14th, a copy of which appears in another column. President Macauley announced that for the eighth successive year the scale of dividends to be paid to policyholders would be increased, while the interest rate on dividends left with the company will be maintained at 5½ per cent per annum.

This was not the only note worthy factor in connection with the annual meeting. It was found that although the general increase of new business in companies operating in North America last year was very little in excess of new business in 1926, the Sun Life was able to report an increase in new business of twenty-three per cent.

The total amount of assurances with the Company is now $1,487,999,000—an increase during the year of $231,-500,000. The total net income exceeded $100,000,000—over $23,810.000 in excess of the previous year.

The surplus earned during the year amounted to $38,500,000 . The Company has followed its usual conservative policy with respect to the surplus. The sum of $5,000,000 has been deducted from the market value of its securities to provide against possible future fluctuations increasing the amount so set aside to $10.000,000. $1,500,000 has been added to the account to provide for unforeseen contingencies, which now stands at $12,500,000. Over $11,000,000 has been paid or allotted as profits to policyholders during the year,and $6,200,000 contingently allotted to deferred dividend policies issued prior to 1911 and to five year distribution policies to provide for profits accrued but not yet payable.

After making these and various other deductions and allocations, $11,269,330 was added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over all liabilities, contingent accounts and capital stock to $45,280,896.

The assets of the Company were increased by over $56,000,000, bringing the total up to over $400,000,000.

Over $42,000,000 was paid out during the year to policyholders and beneficiaries with respect to death claims, matured endowments, profits, etc. The Company has paid out since its organization under this heading over $300,000,000.

Here and There

Winnipeg.—The British boy immigration scheme has been adopted by the Manitoba Provincial Government, and about fifty lads will be brought here this year for placement on farms in the province, Hon. A. Prefontaine, Minister of Immigration, announced. First, the boys will be placed at the Manitoba Agriculture College for preliminary training in farm work.

Calgary.—Two commercial airplane transport projects are being developed in Calgary. One calls for the use of airplanes carrying twelve persons each, to be used principally for passenger, freight and mail traffic between Calgary and Edmonton; the other calls for lighter machines, two or three passengers, for Calgary-Edmonton and mountain flight purposes.

All the way from Camrose, Alta., to Glasgow, Scotland, unaccompanied, a distance of approximately 5,000 miles is the record of Donald James Campbell, nine years of age. He took the All-Red route of the C.P.R. across the Dominion to Saint John, where he embarked on the liner Montclare bound for Glasgow. He is visiting his aunt, who lives in Busby, Glasgow.

All previous records in connection with the westbound movement of grain to Vancouver over Canadian Pacific Railway lines were broken during the first two weeks in January, according to E. Cotterell, superintendent of transportation, western lines of the company. Deliveries at Vancouver by the Canadian Pacific during the fortnight in question totalled approximately 22,500,-000 bushels of grain.

Calgary.—Farm land values in Southern Alberta are tending to become firm as the result of the series of good crops, and more inquiries for farm acreage have been received in the last few months, according to real estate men, than in any similar period in the past five or six years. Farms offered for sale last spring at $15 per acre and bringing no offers are selling now for from $20 to $25 per acre. The demand for farms both for purchase and rental is decidedly strong.

In recognition of the fine work by officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National during the last summer tour of the second triennial Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress, presentations of gold and enamel cuff links were made recently, to fifteen employees of both companies, at a dinner held in Montreal. E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. and Sir Henry Thornton of the C.N.R., were both present.

Snowshoe week in Quebec got away to a good start when several thousand members of the Raquette Clubs paraded the streets of the old city and later some 1,300 snowshoers in full winter festival costume made an attack on the walls defended by the garrison and illuminated by a brilliant fireworks display. The chief center of interest there is the International Dog Derby, which is to be staged shortly and for this, visitors from the entire Dominion and the United States are flocking to Quebec, taxing the Chateau Frontenac to its full capacity. MASTER FARMERS

Heretofore the conferring of degrees has been confined to persons of purely educational attainments, usually as a result of college training. We have had in profusion Masters of Arts, Masters of Science and the like.

But recently a new degree is being conferred, but not in formal ceremonies with the recipients in scholastic garb, but as a simple recognition of practical merit in one of the world's basic industries. It is that of Master Farmer.

During the past years this degree or title has been conferred upon successful farmers selected by agricultural journals in 17 states, the qualifications for the honor being stated as follows :

"Those who have maintained and improved the fertility of their farms through crop rotation, fertilization and the production of live stock ; used labor saving equipment; modernized their homes by installing electric lights, running water and other conveniences."

It is a good idea, worth developing until all outstanding farmers in the country have been awarded this recognition. In no line of effort is there so great a need for practical leadership as in agriculture. The degree of Master Farmer, if worthily bestowed will give acertai dignity to the important vocation of farming, and will point out those who receive it as conspicuous examples for emulation.

By all means let us have more Master Farmers.

THE POOR TALL FOLKS

The person of average height has no conception of the discomforts most tall folks have just trying to sleep. Everything is too short for them from the bed to the spread.

"Pull down the covers
—Your chest will freeze.
Pull up the covers

is literally true in winter and even in summer the situation is not perfect because there is still the shortness of the bed to contend with. I once got into one of the old time beds, short and very wide, and though I had it to myself I tried to imagine how it would seem to be sleeping in it with someone and laid myself out straight. My head was hitting the top of the thing while my feet were spang up against the bottom and I felt like something caged;no chance for that lazy stretching that is so restful to tired muscles. It reminded me of the ancient tortures where men were put for weeks into rooms too short either for them to stand up or lie down in and it took me away back to an incident of my childhood that I had not thought of for many years.

A very tall bald man came to visit us and seing me look curiously at his head he said something about his baldness. I asked him what made him that way and he replied in all seriousness, "Little girl it came from sleeping in beds that were to short."

Beds are made a certain stereotyped length and that is what you get if you do not ask for something longer. All that is necessary, if you want a long bed is to ask your dealer to order extra-length side pieces for you, the amount depending on the person for whom the bed is intended. Six inches will make the average tall person able to sleep comfortably. It is fine to have the springs and mattress extra length, too but they are proportionally much more expensive than the side rail and not nearly so necessary. Four inches extra length on a bed will not be noticed with springs and mattress of regulation length. The main thing is to have the bed itself long enough and if necessary you can piece out the length of the matress by rolling up a rug or a blanket and laying it on an extra bed slat placed where the springs end.

All bedding for a tall person should be long enough to cover the shoulders well and tuck in at the foot at least as far back as the knees. If you have bedding already that is too short piece it down with almost anything that is strong, for most of the piecing will be tucked in anyway. When making a wool bat comforter a good plan is not to stretch the bat out long enough for the full comforter length but to make it only a little more than long enough to cover the top of the mattress and let the rest of the length be simply the silkoline or whatever you are using for covering. The regular knotting will keep the bat from slipping.

I had a lesson in bed making a few months ago. It taught me some new things and emphasized some others that we are apt to grow careless about. Here are the main points I got from my lesson :

Lay pad smoothly on matress and place over this the bottom sheet, center fold at the midle of bed, large hem at top.First tuck in the foot and miter corners. This miter in the scientific way is used in the best hotels and hospitals for keeping sheets smoothly in place. To make the mitered corner take hold of the edge of the sheet about two feet from the corner. Lift and turn it back over the mattress. This leaves a small strip of the cover and end of the sheet hanging along the side of the mattress. Tuck this under, then let the side of the sheet fall into place and tuck under. When the foot is finished, draw the sheet smoothly to the head of the bed and repeat.

Place the upper sheet with the center fold in the middle of the bed, the smooth side of the hem facing down. Tuck in upper sheet at foot, mitering corners. This holds not only the sheet but also the blanket in place.

Place blankets next, mitering foot corners only. When all is in place, turn the top sheet back. Many people like to have the upper sheet turned back as much as one fourth its length in order that the blanket tops may be well protected. The spread is put on last and should be turned back over the foot of the bed at night or taken off and folded.—LucyThompson, in Hoard's Dairyman.

Worse and Worse

Lady (at theatre to man in seat behind)—"I hope my hat is not worrying you."

The Man—"It is worrying me a lot—my wife wants one like it."

And he lost the case.

A young lawyer had been retained by a farmer to prosecute a railroad for the loss of 24 hogs. He wanted to impress the jury with the magnitude of the case.

"Twenty-four hogs, gentlemen," he said, "just think! Twenty-four—twice the number there are in the jury box."

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

Substantial advances have been made in all departments during the year. . .

The total net income for the year exceeded one hundred million dollars . . .

The strength and resources of the Company have been further enhanced . . .

The high earning power of the Company's investments has been again demonstrated. The net rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets, after fully providing for investment expenses, was 6.47 per cent. This gratifying result has been made possible by dividend increases, bonuses and stock privileges accruing on many of the Company's holdings.

The wisdom of the investment policy which has been consistently followed in past years, in favouring long term bonds and the stocks of outstanding and very carefully selected corporations, has been once more emphasized. The appraisal of our securities shows that the excess of market values over cost increased during the year by $19,235,889.99. In addition, a net profit of $5,028,033.20 accrued from the redemption or sale of securities which had risen to high premiums.

The quality of the investments listed in the assets is testified by the fact that on both bonds and preferred stocks not one dollar, due either as interest or dividend, is in arrear for even one day, while the dividends accruing to common stocks are greatly in excess of the dividends payable on the same stocks at the time of purchase.

The surplus earned during the year amounted to $38,511,029.67 from which the following appropriations have been made:

$5,000,000 has been deducted from the market value of our securities as a further provision against possible future fluctuations, increasing the amount so set aside to $10,000,000.

$1,500,000 has been added to the account to provide for unforeseen contingencies, which now stands at $12,500,000.

$1,000,000 has been written off the Company's Head Office building and other properties.

$500,000 has been set aside to provide for the greater longevity of annuitants, bringing the total provision under this heading to $2,000,000.

$50,000 has been set aside to provide for claims in respect of total disability as yet unreported.

$11,090,056.61 has been paid or allotted as profits to policyholders during the year. In addition, $6,205,573.00 has been contingently allotted to deferred dividend policies issued prior to 1911, and to five year distribution policies, to provide for profits accrued but not yet payable.

After making these deductions and allocations, $11,269,330.89 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over all liabilities, contingency account and capital stock to $45,280,896.14.

Your Directors are gratified to announce, for the eighth successive year, a substantial increase n the scale of profits to be distributed to participating policyholders during the ensuing year.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

BOY SCOUT WEEK

On February 8th the 18th anniversary of the establishment of the Boy Scouts of America was celebrated by Scouts and their friends throughout the country, climaxed by an address over the radio by their national president, Walter W. Head of Omaha, and the repitition of the Scout oath and law by hundreds of thousands of Scouts in unison. Every Scout within reach of a receiving set had the opportunity of joining in the ceremony.

It is difficult to estimate or appreciate the tremendous influence of the Boy Scout movement, not only in America, but throughout the world. At the last compilation of statistics in 1927 there were 811,931 Scouts and officers in the United States alone, while the organization has spread to nearly every civilized country. Next to the United States, the greatest number of Scouts are found in England and in the countries of the British Commonwealth.

The Boy Scout movement as we know it was organized by Lieutenant-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell of England in 1908 and by Daniel Carter Beard and others in the United States in 1910, although similar organizations had existed in this country before that time.

Each year the week in which February 8th occurs is designated as Boy Scout Week, and its observance is growing in proportion to the growth of the great organization, which now has troops in nearly every town of importance, as well as in many rural communities.

The Boy Scout movement is civilization's answer to "the boy problem."

Quite Possible

There is a movement in Chicago to outlaw prize-fighting. Probably Mayor Thompson has just discovered that the Marquis of Queensbury was a British subject.

PRESBYTERIAN LADIES AID

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church were invited to hold their February meeting at the home of Miss Nell Elliott, a devoted worker of the society, on Wednesday Feb. 15th at half past two.

The president, Mrs. Shaver, was in the chair and held the programme for the afternoon. The meeting was more of a social gathering as very little business was done this month. The meeting was opened by singing Hymn 595 "Work for the Night is Coming." Then followed Bible study taken from Second Cor., chapter 5. The president then led in prayer.

The secretary was asked for the minutes of the January meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. McIntosh. The minutes were read and adopted.

The president then reminded those who were not at the January meeting of our Apron Shower for the March meeting. Other items of business were discussed and the president asked for Roll Call when fourteen members responded. Mrs George Marcellus a former member was present. We are glad to welcome past members or future ones to our meetings. Mrs. Craig presided at the piano. Mrs. Barrie invited the society to her home for the March meeting. This invitation was gratefully accepted by the president.

The meeting closed as usual with the Doxology, after which Miss Elliott served a dainty lunch, receiving a hearty vote of thanks from the ladies.
