Seven municipalities may unite to solve waste disposal problems

by Sybil Carello

MOOSE CREEK — Seven area municipalities are considering a $100,000 joint waste management study, as a first step towards the elimination of existing and future landfill site problems.

At a meeting last week in Moose Creek, Ontario Ministry of the Environment (MOE) officials from Toronto, Kingston and Cornwall, met with council representatives to discuss the pros and cons of undertaking such a study.

Interested municipalities included South Plantagenet, Maxville, Charlottenburgh, St. Isidore, Finch, Kenyon and Roxborough.

Provided four or more municipalities opt for the study, MOE will subsidize 50 per cent of the cost. The balance will be split among participating municipalities.

With $475,000 budgeted for the studies, MOE will allocate funds on a first come, first served basis. Six studies already in progress expect a completion date by the end of the year.

The initial phase of the proposed two-year study will include a review of existing landfill sites. Potential sites for the joint venture will be explored, with emphasis towards ministry regulations and data preparation for eventual environmental hearings.

Municipalities are not obligated to carry through with the project once the study has been completed. Both programs are voluntary.

What has precipitated this course is the Environmental Assessment Act, which came into effect in June of 1980. As a result, all urban and rural disposal sites across the province fell under the same ministry requirements. This meant a broader range of issues had to be addressed, all within the established guidelines.

To this end, the ministry instructed municipalities to provide detailed engineering reports for an accurate identification of life expectancy and operational methods of each site. Those not meeting specific requirements had two choices, upgrade or face closure.

This was Maxville's fate last year. The village's temporary solution, using Kenyon Township's waste disposal facilities in exchange for fire protection services, is only sanctioned through an emergency certificate of approval from the ministry. A permanent solution is pending, since Maxville is unable to comply with the necessary upgrading or relocation costs.

Ministry officials say a number of other municipalities are also operating under similar emergency measures.

Roxborough, too, is in a precarious position. The landfill site the township uses is on a rental basis, strictly monitored by the present owners, who have no wish to sell to the municipality. When council looked to a permanent solution, MOE suggested a joint disposal site involving a number of area municipalities.

Meanwhile, engineering reports of area sites showed some to be reaching the end of their life cycle; others, were facing potential problems in the future.

Joe Burnam, Environmental Management Branch, Toronto, said before regulations were stepped up, many sites had been poorly located and lacking in proper controls. Under present, existing regulations, none of these sites would have been approved.

"More than likely," he added, "your sites are in bad locations. Then, everyone used the dartboard system."

If the study is accepted, and goes to the project stage, municipalities will have to dig deeper into their tax pockets. According to MOE officials, talks on supplementary funding for the project, as well as immediate help for existing, individual site maladies, are only at "the internal stage."

Along with others, Roxborough Councillor Ray Alguire saw the necessity of such a study. His question, however, centred on the added financial burden to ratepayers.

This year, uncollected taxes in Roxborough have reached the 25 per cent mark, he said.

But Mr. Burnam gave no assurance of extra funding, save for the possibility of financial assistance towards the hydro-geologic (soil testing) study.

In any event, with further ministry revisions around the corner, municipal sites, already facing problems, will be certain to feel the crunch. In the past, and for various reasons, MOE has been lenient with landfill transgressions.

"I think that day has ended," concluded Mr. Burnam.

South Plantagenet Councillor Gary Bradley was not entirely convinced. Throughout the meeting, he pelted MOE officials with questions and subtle accusations, claiming it's always easier to browbeat smaller municipalities. Specifically, he wanted to know if there was enough of a population to warrant this kind of study.

"Are we facing that drastic a situation?" he challenged, emphasizing the possibility of soaring costs for the complete study and subsequent joint site (or sites) project.

Mr. Burnam explained sites with less than 10 years life expectancy are already in trouble.

More succinctly, he added: "If you have less than five years, you're dead."

Despite some further grumbling from other municipal officials, most resigned themselves to the fact there were no other options. Since ministry funding is unavailable for individual site improvements and relocation, pooling resources seemed to be the only long-term solution.

Ministry officials offered no comfort with their reminder that existing site operations cannot slack off until the project's completion. The study and project will span a projected three-year period from start to finish, but it will be ministry regulated business as usual at all area landfill sites.

Another meeting slated for May 14, will see a final decision on the study.

Charlottenburgh staff say council is unfair

WILLIAMSTOWN — Administrative employees with the Township of Charlottenburgh are up in arms over what they consider unfair treatment by the new township council.

In a formal complaint to council dated April 7 and signed by all four members of the general office staff, the employees voiced their objection to a two per cent salary increase. Men employed by the township's recreation and road departments are paid in line with the wages of the United Counties Road Department and have enjoyed salary increases totalling 12 per cent over the past two years, they stated, while women in the township hall have been given only four per cent.

"We feel that a two per cent increase in salary is insufficient, since the cost of living has gone up 4.3 per cent and the average salary increase is 3.8 per cent," continued the letter, presented to members of council Monday night. "It is our option that all employees of the township should be treated equally."

A further eight per cent increase would be required to provide some semblance of equality, they argue.

The woman also complained about the roads department secretary receiving a substantial larger increase than all

New constable

MAXVILLE — Constable Donald Gerald Dell was transferred April 14 from the Long Sault detachment to the OPP in Maxville. Constable Dell, a native of St. Catharines, Ontario, has spent his entire 22-year career serving in Long Sault.

He, his wife, Kathleen and two children, Steven and Karen now reside in Ingleside.

Hall opening

LOCHIEL — The Lochiel Township Hall has a whole new look. Renovations to both the Municipal Office and Council Chambers are now complete.

Council will hold an open house so all can view the renovations on Wednesday, April 23, from 3 to 10 p.m. There will be a ribbon cutting ceremony at 7 p.m.

Died at dance

ALEXANDRIA—Tragedy struck at a benefit dance held last Friday at the Bonnie Glen. Bert Rombough, 57, died of a massive heart attack during a fundraiser to aid the Robertson family, victims of fire at their Glen Meadows farm in Bainsville.

Archie Robertson had just finished delivering a speech thanking those who had contributed to the successful benefit dance. Approximately $25,000 has been raised thus far.

A little after 11:30 p.m. Mr. Rombough, who had not been complaining of chest pains, collapsed in the men's washroom.

Despite efforts by a team of health care specialists including nurses Tish Humphries, Roseanne Carr and Margaret MacDonald, the man could not be resuscitated.

Lifesaving measures were adminsitered for 45 minutes. Mr. Rombough, accompanied by Mrs. Carr and Miss MacDonald, was then rushed to Glengarry Memorial Hospital where he was declared dead on arrival by Dr. Laszlo Roman.

Williamstown girl captures top prize at regional science fair

CORNWALL — A Grade 8 Williamstown Public School student walked off with the top award Saturday at the United Counties Science Fair at St. Lawrence College in Cornwall.

Rebecca Kastack was the winner of the best project at the fair and the recipient of the Chemical Institute of Canada Trophy. For her effort, Rebecca received an all-expenses paid trip to the Canada Wide Science Fair in Calgary, Alberta, May 11 to 18.

The overall winner might have needed an armored truck to cart home silverware from the fair. She also won the IBM National Computer Technology Award for the best student in computer technology.

Other awards the young science whiz brought home included the Cornwall Rotary Club Trophy for the best junior project, an IBM plaque for the best computer project and a trophy in the Gold Awards.

Rebecca's sisters Rachel and Gloria were also winners in the fair.

Rachel, a Grade 11 student at Char-Lan District High School, was the best in the engineering class and was awarded the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario Plaque.

She also won the Technical Innovation Award for the best project directed towards the development of a potential commercial product or improved process and was the recipient of a Gold Award.

Gloria won the Parks Canada Trophy for the best project in environmental science and also received a bronze award.

Rachel and Gloria were also winners in the senior division of the Glider Competition.

In the intermediate category, Glengarry District High School's Shawn McRae received a bronze award. Other winners were Zachary Harrington of Williamstown Public School and Share Safruck of Iona Academy, while David MacLennan of Maxville Senior Public School received a merit award.

Poster competition winners in the senior division were Glengarry District High School's Norma Schulte and Kim Austin and Gloria Kastack.

In the junior division, Brian Kennedy of Alexander School was a winner.

The Maxville Senior Public School team of Jeri-Lynn Heinsma, Shawn Taggart, Heather Williams and Jeff Williams were runners-up in the junior science quiz and received the Bell Canada Trophy.

Green Valley Days will involve 27 businesses

GREEN VALLEY — Green Valley Days organizers are thrilled at the business community's response towards this year's promotion.

All 27 stores and businesses in the community will participate in the multi-store promotional sale on May 31.

This year marks the first time a committee has been formed to organize the event.

Allan Poulin, president of the newly-formed committee, said Wednesday he was excited about the 100 per cent participation among Green Valley merchants and businessmen.

"This shows a very strong community spirit," he said.

Some participating stores will be Lucky Dollar, C&D Garage, Menard Farm Supplies Ltd., Green Valley Fabrics and Green Valley Bar-B-Q Restaurant.

Colette Viau of Viau Ladies Wear, the main organizer in previous years, said she was pleased with the community's reaction. She added many businesses during the last two years enjoyed participating in the promotional event. While several stores did not make immediate profits, they enjoyed the festivities.

Last year roughly 2,000 people from Green Valley, Lancaster, Cornwall and Alexandria passed through Green Valley for the event.

In addition to each store offering reduced prices on selected merchandise, customers can fill out ballots for a trip for two to Montebello, plus $100 spending money.

Also planned is an outdoor dance at the Green Valley Bar-B-Q Restaurant.

Although all of the stores will have their specials and promotional activities slated for May 31, many businesses will offer specials during the week before that Saturday.

"It depends upon the business. You

Historic home to be demolished this year

WILLIAMSTOWN — Efforts to preserve Williamstown's historic McKinnon House came to naught last week when Charlottenburgh Township Council decided to demolish the structure. The municipality owned property will be used for expansion of the township's road department facilities.

In a recorded vote, April 8, council approved a resolution stating the township's intention to retain the property and demolish the house. Councillor Carol-Ann Ross was opposed, while Deputy-reeve Bob Roth was absent.

Bill Dean of the Glengarry Historicl Society and Hut McDonell representing those who had hoped to save the building were in attendance at the meeting.

Reeve Morgan Major later noted on date had been set for the house's demolition.

The municipality will be providing a buffer zone between the roads department grounds and the adjacent residential neighborhood, he added.

"We intend to keep up the property with shrubs and a fence."

Part of the extra land will be used to enlarge the parking lot.

$195,000 to repair recreation centre

by Patricia MacGillis

LOCHIEL — Renovations to the Glen Robertson recreational centre could cost $195,000, according to an engineering report recently completed for Lochiel Township Council.

Renovations to the former school would include a new roof, a new electrical system, new plumbing and redivision of the rooms.

Council decided during its April 8 meeting to hold a special public meeting in Glen Robertson on April 28 at 8 p.m. to discuss the study's results.

Council Consulting Engineer, Fern Decaire from Kostuch Engineering and Paul Phillipe from the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation are to attend.

Mr. Phillipe has indicated there may be some new information about funding at that time.

other staff.

In its resolution approving a general wage increase of two per cent April 8, township council also agreed to increase the salary of the roads department secretary nearly $1,100 more to equal the salary level of the recreation department secretary.

The resolution also authorized a further three per cent increase in budgetted salaries, based on the recommendations of a new chief administrative officer (CAD), who has yet to be appointed. The administrator, who would oversee all department heads, including the township clerk, is expected to evaluate all municipal staff during his first three months on the job and recommend needed changes, including salary levels.

All salary increases would be retroactive until January 1. The added three per cent increase may or may not be allocated evenly among employees.

The women also complained that the roads department secretary was given four weeks paid vacation after five years of employment with the township, while they have to wait 15 years.

They voiced strong objection to being placed on "probation" for three months following appointment of the new administrator.

"Isn't it usually the new employee that goes on probation for three months, not employees who have been with the township for from five to 22 years?" they asked. "We are all adults and feel that we have proved ourselves already. If we were not capable, we feel that our auditors would have already informed you of this when giving you the annual reports.

"We are also, as employees and as taxpayers, of the belief that the township would greatly benefit from the purchase of a computer, which would make for a more efficient office with a one lump sum investment, instead of hiring a highly priced CAO, who will probably cost the township a sum of nearly $100,000 yearly to maintain." the employees added in their letter. "The taxpayers are not going to like having to pay an extra $25 or so a year just for a man with a title.

"The work here is done well, in our opinion, by the clerk-treasurer and his staff. Please reconsider and let us know your decision, so that we won't take further steps."

Reeve Morgan Major defended council's decision to reorganize the township's administrative structure when contacted by The Glengarry News on Monday.

"This is nothing new," he said. "It was discussed with prior councils in the mid-'70's. We are doing it for the betterment of the municipality.

"The staff is pushing the panic button," he added. "If they're doing their jobs, they've got nothing to worry about. If they're not?"

Deputy-reeve Bob Roth was upset by the fact the employees' complaints were being made public. The letter was a personnel-related document and should never have been released to the public, he said.

"This type of nonsense has got to be cleared up," added the deputy-reeve. "If they want a public war with their employer, I guarantee it will be the last time. This nonsense will end and the place will be run in a business-like manner.

Councillor Larry Gordon said the complaint was to be discussed during council's regular meeting Tuesday night.

"The reason for hiring a chief administrative officer is the enormous increase in work load," he explained. "There are additional and longer meetings."

Mr. Gordon said work for the staff had increased substantially and he was not surprised by the reaction to council's decision to re-organize.

"It's the same reaction to any change," he said. "Sometimes when you're 10 to 15 years on the job, you grow with the situation and you don't try to change it.

"This wasn't meant to reflect on-job performance. We've had complaints from the public about the lack of speedy action from the staff. They work fairly and effectively, but not fast enough. That, too, is a work load oriented problem.

There was some indication the issue may have cooled somewhat after a budget meeting with councillors Monday night. Tuesday morning the employees who signed the letter said they preferred to make no further public comment.

Clerk Marcel Lapierre declined public comment Tuesday, other than to express his discovery "that such a situation exists.

"It's most unfortunate," he said, "but it has not affected work in the offices."

take Menard Farm Supplies, for example, they wouldn't get the same number of customers in one day as some other types of businesses, so they would start their specials early," said Hortense Charbonneau, of Glengarry Aggregate and Concrete.

Green Valley Days got its start three years ago when Glengarry Aggregate and Concrete wanted to celebrate the arrival of spring by offering reduced prices on half-a-load transportation costs of gravel and other supplies and by giving free sand for children's sandboxes.

That year several other Green Valley merchants, impressed by Glengarry Aggregate and Concrete's idea, wanted to jump on the bandwagon.

Cubs take trophies in Kub Kar Rally

The 2nd Alexandria Wolf Cubs held their annual Kub Kar races, Tuesday, April 8. The races were held upon return of the group after a gruelling competition at the Cornwall District Rally the previous Saturday, where some 300 boys took part.

The "Kub Kars" were assembled by the boys, along with some help from mom and dad, from an official "Kub Kar" kit. This kit merely contained a block of wood, 4 pins, 5 plastic wheels and a few stickers. The boys were asked to build, whittle or form a car which they thought would race well and also look "spiffy". This, they did with great approval and satisfaction from their leaders, James Leggett and Bruce Urquhart.

The winners of the race were: first—Duncan Urquhart, second—Jeffrey Johnson and third Don Filiatreault.

There was also a designer trophy for the best looking car. In this competition the boys were instructed to judge what they thought was the "spiffiest" car, without choosing their own car. Sean McCormick captured the designer trophy. Sean's car was also chosen to compete in the designer's competition at the District Rally in Cornwall.

Laggan School students on the road to Florida on 16-day U.S. tour

by Carol Chow

Most teachers have to instruct through textbooks, but at Laggan Public School 25 students are in the midst of an adventure in a travelling classroom that left Thursday.

School Principal Kent MacSweyn, custodian Hugh MacMillan and teacher Peter Steiche are supervising the 16-day road trip taking Grade 7 and 8 students down the east coast to Florida and back up through the central United States.

The trip has many purposes and having fun is near the top of the list. Not only are the students learning geography and history as they travel, they are learning the importance of saving, budgeting and co-operating with others.

There is no free ride on this trip because every student had to save $350. Pupils were expected to earn as much money as they could without leaving the full load to the parents.

The school saved money over a two-year period, using fundraising projects to earn the $12,000 required. Christmas concerts, a gymnastics night and hot dog sales were the major contributors to the trip.

The school rented a 54-passenger school bus and seats from the rear area were removed to give students a resting area during the long ride.

The students will be staying in motels and while at Disneyworld, the group will stay at a campsite.

On the first leg of the trip, the entourage will cross the boarder at the Appalachian Mountain Range. They will get a chance to visit an Amish countryside where they will get to see people farming without modern equipment.

The students made pen pals last year at West Chester School in Pennsylvania and on the way through will get an opportunity to share experiences with their new buddies.

The next day, the entourage will go to Washington, D.C. and will get an opportunity to visit the monuments of Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson. While there, the students will get to visit the Smithsonian Institute. Pupils will also get a chance to visit the National Air and Space Museums where they will learn how air and space programs developed into today's space shuttle program.

Before the group moves on to Virginia, a bus tour will show all the famous places that the students only saw on television or read in a book, such as the White House, Library of Congress, FBI headquarters and the Pentagon.

After a tour of Colonial Williamsburg where students will see life before the American Revolution, the group will travel through South and North Carolina, Georgia and finally to St. Augustine, Florida.

A bit of rest and relaxation will prepare the group for a fun and exciting day at the Cape Kennedy Centre and a tour of the launch facilities.

After several days in motels, the students will get to rough it at a campsite. The next day will be jam packed as everybody heads off to the Magical Kingdom of Disneyworld. The day after, Epcot Centre is on the agenda.

As the pupils head north once more, they will travel through the Tennessee Hills and into Kentucky. A stop may be made in Nashville, where the students will get a chance to visit the Grand Old Opry or Country City Music Hall.

A tour of Mammoth Cave National Park will give some people their first experience in viewing some of the 900 miles of underground caves and caverns. In the afternoon, they travel to the Kentucky State Horse Park, where there is a museum which traces the horse from its prehistoric origin to today's sleek beauties.

The final leg of the trip will include a stop in Akron, Ohio before visiting the Niagara Escarpment and reviewing a bit of Canadian history before the students head homeward.

House prices up 8 to 10 per cent in Alexandria

by Liza Watson

Despite an increase in housing prices over the past year, home buyers are still attracted to Alexandria.

Richard Vaillancourt, owner of Richard Vaillancourt Real Estate, said Thursday the home real estate market in town has been excellent. "In the past two weeks we've sold six or seven homes," he said.

Mr. Vaillancourt estimated house prices jumped between eight and 10 per cent in the last year.

Other Alexandria real estate brokers also placed this year's housing price jump near the same mark.

Robert Poirier of Royal LePage Real Estate Services Ltd. in Green Valley said there were many factors influencing the housing prices and cited two.

Increased building costs and greater supply and demand forces could drive prices up, he said.

Many brokers would not speculate on the cost of the average house in Alexandria. Robert Vander Haeghe of Vander Haeghe Real Estate said an estimation on the average house price is difficult to quote because there are so many different styles of houses in a rural region like Glengarry.

"There are not too many houses here that are similiar," he said. But he did agree with most brokers that property in Alexandria is more expensive than the outlying communities.

Hugh McDonald of MacMillan and Howes Real Estate in Alexandria pegged the housing price increase at 10 per cent.

He also described the Glengarry real estate market prospects as healthy. He predicted lower interest rates would have a positive effect on demand.

Mr. McDonald said MacMillan and Howes looks after real estate properties from small rural homes to hobby country homes to in-town houses.

The only dip in Glengarry property market was with the small operating farms and good farming land, he said.

EDITORIALS/OPINION

Frightening

The American attack on Libya Monday frightened millions of people around the world, and with good reason. Every outbreak of international violence runs the risk of escalating. One spark has the potential of igniting a world war that would destroy humanity.

When news of the 15-minute aerial bombardment reached Alexandria Monday evening, one man was heard to say: "You know, we could all be dead by morning."

He wasn't joking.

Obviously, some action had to be taken to confront the growth of terrorist acts around the world. No one is safe. Even innocent children are deliberately targeted for murder. Throughout much of the world it's no longer safe to travel, to go shopping or even travel to work.

We have no reason to doubt the Americans when they state irrefutable proof exists linking Libyan dictator Moammar Khadafy with terrorist acts, including the bombing of a West Berlin nightclub and a TWA airliner last week. Plans existed for vastly increased attacks around the world, according to American intelligence. Other nations have gathered similar evidence.

France, for example, was able to warn the U.S. of a Libyan plot to attack a line-up of people seeking visas at the American embassy in Paris with handguns and grenades. Other attacks were to be aimed at as many as 30 embassies, diplomats, business people and tourists. It's terrifying.

Libya is also a strong supporter of various terrorist groups operating in countries around the globe. Khadafy supplies arms, money and training through a number of special camps inside his own country.

It's long past time that victimized nations made it clear terrorism will not be tolerated; that we will fight back and fight hard. It's natural for the Americans to take the lead in the battle.

In this case, there was no real risk of a major war, as it turns out. The Soviet Union knew well in advance the Americans intended to retaliate against Libya and they were officially advised as the attack began.

In a way, we're already involved in a frightening world war, but it's a new style of warfare, without clearly defined lines or enemies. It's a cowardly war of sneak attack that threatens us all. Canadians have not been immune. We can't be neutral.

Tax on sex?

Federal NDP leader Ed Broadbent may have uncovered a sinister plan taking shape in the Finance Department. He sees senior civil servants, at the behest of Finance Minister Michael Wilson and Prime Minister Mulroney himself, burning the midnight oil in the search of new tax measures.

Canadians, especially low income families, are already taxed beyond endurance, Mr. Broadbent argues. Meanwhile, despite a token minimum tax, the rich are still getting off too easily, leaving low and middle-income taxpayers to pick up the heaviest load.

Still, the Conservatives are determined to lower the federal deficit, no matter what it takes. They tried limiting the growth of old age pensions and made drastic cuts in youth spending. Federal employees, thousands of them, are facing the real prospect of having their job cut out from under them.

Spending cuts are not enough, however. Mr. Wilson has already raised income tax and sales tax and most other forms of tax he can get his hands on. Rest assured, there will be more increases, at least until election year.

But the Tories and the bureaucrats are looking for new sources of tax revenue, says Mr. Broadbent, and nothing is beyond their reach. The latest tax gouging measure being bandied about, he says, is a "value added tax," which could be collected at every stage of production. It's a tax measure common in many European countries, but untested on Canadian soil.

Would they dare? Yes, says the NDP leader. Value added taxation could conceivably be imposed as a tax on sex. Remember, he said it first.

You could come home one night, go "to your bedroom, shut the door and there you are with your significant other, and whatever you are likely to do—I kid you not—they are likely going to tax that," said Mr. Broadbent. "What this means is that whatever you do during the day—if they have their way—is going to be taxed."

Really? Has the concept of sin tax now gone too far? Successive governments have continually hit smokers and drinkers with heavier and heavier taxes, with the justification that we would all be better off if we drank and smoked less, anyway. Will the same reasoning be applied to the bedroom?

Of course not! Surely, Mr. Broadbent, you jest! Not even the Conservatives could be that conservative, could they?

Like the rest of television, commercials are fantasy

A FEW THOUGHTS
Joanne Stevenson

I envy friends with VCRs and even remote controls on their TV sets. With little effort, i.e. not having to lift themselves out of their armchairs, they zap the commercials into a meaningless blur or turn the volume off and thus are not forced to listen to meaningless chatter.

However, those of us on austerity budgets cannot afford the luxury of tuning commercials out. Thus we become experts at evaluating, categorizing and criticizing televised ads.

Some commercials simply disappoint. One past commercial promotes family life and the role of macaroni in daily living.

Portrait-like sittings of family groups feature a montage including large clans, the traditional family and even the single mom and her child, but no childless couples. Aren't we families too?

Not only are Dave and I, the two cats and Poopsie a family, but we love lasagna . . . especially our two little Garfields!

Some ads merely disappoint. Others infuriate. These ads appear to depict life through the eyes of an alien.

In the real world, what man would dare confront his wife with "ring around the collar"? She'd give him a choice of rings, alright—the boxing ring or the wrestling ring.

While commercials often insult the intelligence of the viewer, other ads make you wonder about the intelligence of the advertiser.

Where did they find "David's mother" on that detergent commercial? What kind of self-respecting mother of a baseball player needs her son to explain they s-lide into the bases and g-rind the dirt in. Furthermore, what kind of woman needs to repeat this explanation on national TV?

You also have to wonder about some of the products advertised, especially the mail order category. Why would anybody send $20 through the mail to buy $5 worth of chocolate and a couple of popsicle sticks?

And who in the world would buy anthing, no matter how wonderfully it works, called Magic Mud?

To sell Magic Mud, an elegantly attired leading "soap" star is seen extolling its virtues while she is seated in a lovely, floral-wallpapered dressing room. Money and effort must have gone into producing the ad. Why couldn't someone at the ad agency come up with a better name? "Sophisticated Sludge" or "Swamp Lotion" immediately spring to mind.

Sometimes, watching the consumer items being peddled, I ask myself "where will it all end?" For example, when would a person need a cordless can opener? At picnics or barbecues where no outlets are provided for the even more essential electric can opener?

Paid millions, but are they worth more than the rest?

SECOND LOOK
Phil Rutherford

How much money are you worth? Think about it. If you're like the rest of us, you're probably convinced you are not paid anything approaching your real value. What would be a reasonable level of compensation for the work you do?

You may or may not have a dollar figure in mind. Perhaps you have compared salary levels with people in the same line of work and reached the conclusion your employer is not compensating you fairly. There are lines of work with far better salaries than others. Are they truly worth more money?

I remember our family got by on my father's income of $30 or $35 a week. It wasn't great, but we hardly suffered. We used to envy people we knew who made $100 a week. We thought they were rich. They were rich compared to us.

My first job carried a wage of 70 cents an hour. My first job in the newspaper business paid $100 a week, but by then that once princely sum was starting to look pretty slim.

Today, no one working full-time makes as little as $100 weekly any more. Minimum wage in Ontario is $4 an hour, for about $160 a week.

An extra hundred dollars a week would be enough to get us all by quite nicely, it seems. Of course, we wouldn't have the new salary long before becoming convinced we needed $100 more. We'll always want more.

We shouldn't be envious of other peoples' salaries, of course, but when we hear of some it's natural for the blood to begin to boil.

Weekend newspapers carried reports that at least six Canadian business executives made $1 million or more last year and two are likely to set a world record, raking in up to $40 million apiece.

Ross Turner and Angus MacNaughton who alternate annually as chairman and president of Genstar Corp., could make their windfall if Imasco Ltd.'s $2.5 billion bid for their company is successful.

The windfall is a combination of salary, stock options granted over a period of time, plus shares they and others hold in a private partnership, according to a report in Toronto's Sunday Star.

What did they do for their money? They took no risk. They and other directors are able to make the best deals imaginable among themselves. They take care of each other.

Canadian big business probably reflects similar patterns in the United States and Britain. Astronomical salaries are not unheard of, but most do not become public unless the companies involved are listed on American stock exchanges.

In Japan, the most highly paid executives earn no more than five times

Is this justice?

People in dire economic straits should be allowed to steal food and clothing and even commit welfare fraud, according to a report on Criminal Code revisions prepared for the government by a group of feminist legal experts.

Christine Boyle, who teaches law at Dalhousie University in Halifax, wrote this portion of the report commissioned by the Status of Women Department in 1984 as part of the continuing review of existing criminal law.

The report recommends that the code should explicitly endorse the defence of necessity, under which an accused person can argue that his or her circumstances justified an apparently illegal act.

Can you imagine the chaos which would ensue should the legal right to steal be endorsed by government? How would the courts ever sift out the thieves from the needy shoplifters? What sort of barricades would the legitimate owners of property have to erect to protect their belongings from the hungry thieves? Indeed, how would the courts determine whether any one person's poverty was sufficient to justify legalized theft?

Certainly those among us who are wealthy enough to share our good fortune with the need should do so—and that is precisely what we do at present. A good portion of the taxes we pay are spent on the alleviation of need. Otherwise there would be no welfare funds, no unemployment insurance benefits, and the thousands of publicly-supported charities which benefit from our voluntary gifts would dry up.

Such utter nonsense as the proposal to make theft legal under some circumstances reflects upon the validity of many ongoing inquiries into public affairs. If this is a true sample of their wisdom why bother to pay for such studies in the first place?

Wingham Advance Times

Invest at home

Associate Defence Minister Harvey André, speaking at a recent news conference in Halifax, said the Federal Government is considering spending up to $100 million to purchase a number of small naval vessels for the Canadian Navy reserve fleet. Such vessels would be used for training reservists in peacetime and would be utilized as minesweepers in the event of hostilities.

While the announcement in itself is welcome, Mr. André's statement that such vessels would probably be purchased overseas, is not. In fact, to echo the comments of the president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repair Association, Henry Walsh, "such a move would be an outrage."

Despite Mr. André's contention that purchasing such naval vessels from other countries would be both economical and efficient, this newspaper believes that while shipyards in this region which are perfectly capable of doing the work are in need of contracts, they should receive the benefit of taxpayers' money and not foreign yards. Indeed such construction is well within the capabilities of yards such as Pictou Industries Limited (PIL), which has a record of turning out small warships that goes back more than 40 years to the Second World War.

The minister's suggestion, as we see it, is particularly reprehensible in the light of the recent National Sea fiasco, when that company sent trawlers to Iceland for major renovations, when the work should have been awarded to local yards. Subsequently, after some severe criticism, particularly from the newspaper, some of the work was awarded to PIL.

Canadian shipyards, despite an outward appearance in some cases of carrying out a lot of work, are really keeping going on marginal contracts. Major construction contracts would not only give them a new lease on life, but would ensure that Canadian workers receive long term employment generated through Canadian tax dollars. It simply makes no sense to invest the money in foreign countries, resulting in the Canadian Navy receiving warships built to specifications in which it has little or no input. Too much money and too many years have been spent by the Canadian Armed Forces in overcoming equipment defects which are the result of political decisions made by those in government who are only interested in getting the biggest bang for the buck.

If the Federal Government allows these new vessels to be purchased from foreign yards, then it deserves all the political flack such a move predictably will generate. Canada is supposed to be a major industrial nation and it behooves governments of any stripe to recognize that fact and support national industries whenever and wherever possible. Charity begins at home, not in foreign countries and any Minister of the Crown who cannot recognize that fact should be kicked out of office.

Perhaps it is time for constituents in areas in which shipyards are located to bombard the prime minister with notices of their dissatisfaction on issues such as this.

Parents are enthusiastic

Alexandria, Ont.

The Editor,
The Glengarry News:

We would like to bring to the attention of your readers the availability of a new book from the Canadian Parents for French. This book is an excellent source of information for those concerned with the teaching and learning of French as a second language.

Edited by well-known educational consultant Russ McGillivray, More French, s'il vous Plait! contains practical advice ranging from the views of businessman Andrew Kniewasser, who provides compelling reasons for learning a second language, to the latest research on French skills of secondary and post-secondary students (Sharon Laptin and Merrill Swain and Frances Morrison.

Clarence LeBlanc writes candidly about the role of French as a school subject in the education system and what parents can do to help, while Raymond Lemoine and Janine Tougas show how to experience "joie de vivre" when helping children developing their French skills through everyday situations.

More French, s'il vous Plait may be purchased at the Glengarry Book Store, 45 Main St. S., Alexandria at the price of $6.50.

Games for disabled to be held

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

The eleventh annual Eastern Ontario Regional Games for the Physically Disabled will be held in Arnprior this year on June 13, 14 and 15.

Sponsored by the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation and the Eastern Ontario Regional Council for the Games for the Physically Disabled, the games include competition in sports ranging from track and field, swimming and weight-lifting to shooting.

For many men and women who are physically disabled our regional games provide an introduction to competitive sports.

For others the games are a stepping stone to international competition. Last year several athletes in your area participated in the games and enjoyed themselves immensely. We trust the majority of those men and women will be returning and would like to take this opportunity to invite others to join them.

If you are interested in sports and meeting people or know someone who is, won't you consider joining us in Arnprior this June.

Athletes compete in for disciplines within the games. The Ontario Amputee Sports Association provides competition for athletes with partial or complete loss of one or more limbs. The Ontario Blind Sports Association organizes competition for those who have less than 10 per cent useful vision. The Ontario Cerebral Palsy Sports Association provides competition for people with various degrees of cerebral palsy and the Ontario Wheelchair Sports Association provides sports competition for disabled athletes in wheelchairs. All competitions are enhanced by subclassifications based on the degree of handicap putting equal against equal in that sense.

Registration forms are now available for interested athletes. However membership in one of the four sports governing bodies listed above is mandatory. For information on how to contact any one of the above organizations, those interested are invited to contact their local newspaper for further details.

Paid millions, but are they worth it . . .

hat the lowliest employee makes. In Canada some tycoons' salaries are inflated by substantial bonus based on their companies' profit levels. The more money the company makes, the more money the executive makes.

But even failing companies like Dome Petroleum, Massey-Ferguson and Inco, which have been losing millions of dollars in recent years, employ executives with salaries among the best in Canadian corporations.

Aside from the Genstar boys, corporate executives among Canada's top 30 earned between $385,000 and $1.85 million last year. One can assume they were able to meet the mortgage payments. Now, just try to get rid of one of them. They have signed agreements guaranteeing severance benefits, including salary and stock options, that can cost large companies millions of dollars. There's something to be said for job security.

There's always more, including pension plans that can keep the Bay Street boys living in style for many years, cars, club memberships, vacation packages, expense accounts and low interest loans.

How much are these men—there are few women within the ranks—really worth? Surely the value of their work does not run in the hundreds of thousands, even millions of dollars. Are they worth that much more than the rest of us? Hardly!

Where would we be if we all had the power to set our own salaries in the tycoon's fashion and the corporate income to make the incomes possible? It might be a lot of fun finding out.

Like the rest of television . . .

No, sir, cordless can openers were manufactured for gadget freaks and desperate children in search of ideas for Mother's Day gifts.

All negative comments aside, some good can be said about commercials. More and more, families are being depicted in less stereotypical situations. Dad is shown baking cookies while Mom studies. As well, single-parent families are being presented on the silver screen.

It's true TV commercials still show entirely too many beautiful bodies—alas, mostly female—too many women scrubbing ovens, floors and windows and too many men watching them. However, TV is still mostly fantasy and so are the commercials.

Reagan instigator of world terrorism

Ottawa, Ont.

The Editor,
The Glengarry News:

Your interesting editorial captioned "This is Peace?" (Glengarry News March 26) comments on U.S. President Reagan's recent naval actions off the coast of Libya and the overt and covert reasons for this bellicose action.

The history of Libya's struggle for independence from colonial rule is not well known in Canada and the United States.

I found it difficult to get background information about the country when I was invited to a conference of lawyers there in 1976 sponsored by the International Organization for the Elimination of all Forms of Racial Discrimination (EAFORD).

While there I learned that Libya had been an Italian colony whose people had suffered from colonial terrorism both before and after World War II. After the war, under the rule of King Idris, conditions were a little improved, but with U.S. multi-national oil companies being the real rulers who skimmed off the wealth from the newly-found oil wells.

The Khadaffi-led bloodless revolution of 1969 gave Libyans, for the first time, control of their own destiny. Since that time the standards of health care, education and general living conditions have improved dramatically.

The fiercely independent Libyan population has been halved during World War II, principally due to reprisals for uprisings against their colonial masters, and does not want to return to the horrors of colonial rule.

The media has been silent on one of the most important reasons for Reagan's antipathy to Libya's Khadaffi. Shortly after coming to power in 1969 the revolutionary government forced the evacuation of U.S. troops from the American Wheelus air and electronic espionage base. This was the principal U.S. north African base, providing strategic control of the southern Mediterranean coast. The foreign-owned oil companies were brought under control by the new government so that a more reasonable share of the revenue was used inside the country.

Whether or not Kadaffi and the Libyan government promote terrorism is an open question. What there is no doubt about at all is that President Reagan is by far the most important promoter and instigator of terrorism in many parts of the world.

As in the case of Nicaragua, he is just itching for a good excuse to invade and once again impose colonial and multi-national oil company rule on the country.

Heartfelt thanks from Easter Seal Society

April 8, 1986

The editor,
The Glengarry News:

Every day of the year thousands of physically disabled children in Ontario are fighting to live life to its fullest. And each day of the year the Easter Seal Society is there to help them win their fight.

More than 6,800 children across the province count on Easter Seal support to help them overcome what can be incredible odds, and move closer to realizing their ultimate level of ability. Whether support takes the form of the provision of a wheelchair, artificial limb, transportation to treatment centres, a memorable camping holiday, the benefits of extensive research programs, or a home visit by an Easter Seal Nurse, the Society remains dedicated to helping special children in need—a privilege we have enjoyed since our inception in 1922.

The wide scope of Easter Seal services would not be possible if not for the generosity of individuals and businesses who care about the quality of life available for Easter Seal children. This would also be impossible if not for the tremendous volunteer commitment of our 235 affiliated Easter Seal Service Clubs who spearhead local fund raising activities, and administer Easter Seal funds on behalf of children in their communities.

The Lions Club of Alexandria has been an active partner in this important work since 1955. Throughout this time many past and present members have sacrificed hours of determined effort to help physically disabled children. We know this exceptional record is one which all of the members take pride in sharing.

On behalf of the Easter Seal Society, our heartfelt thanks to the entire community of Alexandria for backing thousands of young fighters served by Easter Seals. Your gifts to the 1986 Easter Seal Campaign will go a long way helping disabled children go a long way.

Drama production judged finest ever seen in this area

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

What a weekend for Williamstown! If other recent events were not enough to put us on the map, several things these past few days definitely were.

First came the news that our senior quiz team from Williamstown Public School did indeed make it to the SD&G finals to be held Thursday, April 17, at the Civic Complex in Cornwall.

Then, and for three nights running, Williamstown was the location of some of the finest theatrical work this area has ever seen.

I am referring of course to the Char-Lan High School Drama Club's production of, Your're a Good Man, Charlie Brown.

Now I've been in, directed, and attended numerous high school plays in my days and just the very thought of them brings to mind the word "amateur": youths standing awkwardly about, wondering what to do with their hands and usually doing nothing else but flinging them forward woodenly with each and every word they utter. No lines, no movement.

This weekend's performance, played in front of a total audience of more than 500 people, saw none of the usual gaffes associated with high school drama. The choice of "Charlie Brown", a play made up of a series of little vignettes taken from all the days of the comic strip hero, was an excellent one. Small school, small cast—no clunkers involved to spoil things with miscued one-liners.

Each of the seven—cast—John Vipond, Duncan Scott, Tanya Blumel, Diane Martin, Diane Aubin, Cathy Gordon and Tara McDonell, was "right". Every line, every gesture, every shrug of these young performers betrayed the professionalism of their experienced director, Char-Lan Principal, Rick Forrester.

It's hard to pick favorites from such a talented group, but Cathy Gordon as Snoopy certainly had my undivided attention. Not only has Cathy a marvellous stage voice, her every stage movement was perfect. Will any of us who watched her ever forget her "sugar lips"?

To Mr. Forrester, Tom Stewart, the show's producer, Raymond Lacroix, director of the orchestra, and to the countless others who helped behind the scenes, thanks on behalf of the community for providing such excellent family entertainment.

SCIENCE FAIR

Saturday in Cornwall, as you've probably heard, and which I hope is mentioned elsewhere in the "News" in more depth, the Kastack sisters, Rebecca, Gloria and Rachel, who attend school in Williamstown brought great honor to the community by claiming no less than awards at the United Counties Science Fair.

We congratulate Rebecca, Gloria and Rachel and also two other prize-winners of local interest, Zachary Harrington and Shawn McRae, whose exhibits won them bronze and silver awards, respectively.

It was good to see such a healthy representation from our area among the participants. Besides those students mentioned last week, entrants included Julie MacDonald, Terry O'Farrell, Robert Curran, Karen Runions, Ian Howes, Greg Runions, Ronnie MacRae and Tanya Ross.

My special apologies go out to Robert Curran, to whom I asked the unpardonable. Robert happened to be sitting near a project which read, "Holsteins are No. 1" and I actually said, "Is this your exhibit, Robert?"

SHOWER HELD

As if the events above weren't enough excitement for one Williamstown weekend, a shower in honor of Kim Chafee was held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Centre. Kim will marry Bruce Benton on Saturday, May 24.

Organized by members of the bridal party, the Lafave sisters and sisters-in-law, the large turn-out of ladies attested to the popularity of the bride and groom and their parents, in what will no doubt be one of the main social events of 1986 in Williamstown.

Kim received a multitude of wonderful gifts, with casseroles being the number one choice of those present. I suppose there is some comfort in knowing that if hard times should ever befall them, the newlyweds could always sell off some of their dishes to buy the food to put in the others!

Prize winners during the afternoon included Betty MacLennan, Christine McDonell, Helen Sloan, Lynn MacDonald and Alda Major.

Ladies lingered over lunch, chatting of this and that, seemingly loath to return home to their ever-present duties—a sure sign of a successful social event.

BIRTHDAYS

From April showers to birthdays—don't we Williamstowners just love a party! The Friendly Neighbors honored their members with April birthdays on the 10th of this month at St. Mary's Centre.

Mary-Rose Pilon made the April birthday cake to honor Lillian Rabin, Rene Geneau, Stella Lapierre, Ed O'Brien, Edith Major, Viola Pilon and Delia Lafrance, who all added an extra candle this month.

Euchre was played with Edith Major and Theresa Beaudette winning for the ladies and Ed O'Brien and Roger Pilon for the men. Skunks went to Viola Pilon and Austin Abrams.

Door prizes were claimed by Roger Pilon, Marie Menard and Eleanor Gibson. Marie Menard, Edith Abrams, Theresa Beaudette and Stella Lapierre were 50/50 winners while the jar of pennies donated by Ileen Latreille was won by Edith Abrams.

If you missed the birthday party, you can get in on another Friendly Neighbors' event by coming to St. Mary's Centre on Thursday, April 17, at noon. A pot luck dinner will take place and for the price of a suitable item of food, an afternoon of fun can be yours.

Euchre addicts take note: the club is sponsoring an open euchre April 24 at 8 p.m.

EUCHRE

The ladies of the north side of the village and the 2nd concession held a successful euchre under the auspices of St. Mary's Guild last Sunday.

Ladies winning at this event were: Mary-Rose Pilon, Jeanette Lapierre and Anna Verkuylen. For the gents, it was Vince Major, Ed O'Brien and André Boisvenue.

Dorothy Roy, Edith Major and Ed O'Brien went home with door prizes, while special draw winners were Euclide Poirier, Martin Van Sleeuwen, Eva Collette and Gordon Pidgeon.

HOME FROM FLORIDA

Florida seems to draw Canadians like a magnet, though I'm sure it takes a pretty strong one to lure our Williamstowners down. Still they do go, and, I'm glad to say, they still return. Among those who have recently made the round trip include Austin and Joan Abrams, Agnes and Paul Bissonnette and Viola and Roger Pilon.

East coast, west coast, which coast do you like most? For Susie Edwards, west is best, I'm sure. Susie has just returned from a jaunt to California where she attended a wedding. During her visit south, Susie was sorely missed (especially by her fellow Canada Quiz team members, I'm told).

BRIDGE

Leonard MacLachlan and Maurice Lagroix teamed up to take first place in this week's Williamstown Bridge Club play. In second, were Daphne MacDonald and Ethel Clark, while Isobel Larocque and Alpheda Major clung to their third-place slot.

Mentioning Isobel's name reminds me that I heard some interesting news about Ernest Larocque, son of Isobel and Ernie. Apparently Ernest has been appointed Area Enforcement Supervisor for the Ministry of Transport and Communications for SD&G with an office in Cornwall.

SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN

Don Kannon, Charlottenburgh Area Chairman of the recent Heart and Stroke Foundation campaign, thought you would be interested to know that residents of Glengarry, have, to date raised a total of $21,970.

Charlottenburgh's contributions amounted to $5,768, which is double that of last year, while our own Williamstown and area, under the chairmanship of Susan McDonell, donated $2,052 to this worthy cause.

CORRECTION

Last week when I told you about the Lang brothers placing among the top 10 finishers in the canoe race, I named the wrong pair. I suppose that in an ordinary-sized family a mistake of this nature would be inexcusable, but when there are six boys in the family, perhaps I might be more easily forgiven.

Anyway, my apologies to Martin and Paul Lang, and my congratulations to them, especially to Paul who entered the race this year for the first time.

From the Lang's residence comes some interesting news. Apparently work has begun on the restoration of the exterior of the house to its original state, circa 1812-1815, definitely before 1820. The Ontario Heritage Foundation is helping with the project so that it should be historically correct. Mary Lang says she is looking forward to the work on Fraserfield with great interest.

April always seems to have more than its fair share of meetings. There were four that I know of this week alone in Williamstown and I'm sure that I don't get wind of some of the more esoteric gatherings in the village.

I did get in on the ladies division of the fair board meeting, however, and watched Pat Ager preside, while Brigitte Loos read the minutes of the last meeting.

Judges for the various classes of the ladies division were lined up for the August fair and plans for next year's 175th anniversary edition of the fair were discussed.

Those ladies present decided that a raffle would be held at the fair this summer as a funding source. Judy Cumming will be in charge of this.

Pat Ager read an interesting account prepared by Edna MacDougall of the OAS convention she and Garnet attended in Toronto in February.

Municipal dump hours enforced

GLEN ROBERTSON
Kathy McGrath

Outreach 86, the ecumenical religious census to be taken by Christian communities in Stormont and Glengarry counties, started this week and continues until April 27. Canvassers will be calling at every home. For further information, contact Father Major at St. Martin of Tours church.

As noted in last week's Glengarry News, the municipal dump will be strictly enforcing its hours of operation. To put it simply, the dump is open every day until 4 p.m., except Wednesday, with half day opening on Saturday. Some people are finding the times unacceptable especially at this time of year when many residents who work from nine to five take advantage of the longer evenings and all day Saturday for outside clean ups and a trip to the dump. Perhaps the feasibility of keeping the dump open later in the evening and all day Saturday in the spring and summer could be looked at.

It's not a pretty sight to see bags of garbage strewn along the roadsides of our township. If you are not happy with the dump's hours, why not contact your councillor? Let's all do our best to try and keep our township looking clean and presentable.

The Glen Robertson 4-H Calcium Collectors completed their Milk Makes It project with an achievement day at Sacre Coeur Church Hall in Alexandria.

Diana Hagen presented the club's exhibit and Jenny Marr and Miriam van Nooten were presented with pins in recognition of their completion of six 4-H projects.

Catherine and André Desbiens have sold their home and moved temporarily to Lancaster. Catherine's friends will be pleased to know that she is doing well and is now walking without a cane. She recently spent the afternoon visiting with Florence Montpetit.

Mark your calendars for the St. Martin of Tours annual spring bazaar and tea to be held on Saturday, May 3 in the church hall from 2 to 4 p.m. Baked goods will be in abundance, as well as plants, crafts, including cabbage patch clothes, and a white elephant table. Everyone is welcome, so plan to attend.

Kathy McGrath, accompanied by Bessie Fraser, motored to Winchester on Thursday where they visited with Grace Stewart and had lunch with Grace's son, Robbie Hanley and family.

Grace recently celebrated her 89th birthday and her many friends in this area will be pleased to know that she is looking and feeling great.

Hears about poverty

by Ina Byatte

WILLIAMSTOWN — Rev. Allan Tysick of Brinston, Ontario was guest speaker following the monthly meeting of St. Andrew's UCW.

Rev. Tysick spoke on poverty in the community. He said people should put prejudice behind them and become more aware of the plight of those on welfare. He suggested people should complain and demand a change in the welfare system.

Mr. Tysick also showed slides of homes of the middle class and the poor and pointed out that many of those homes of welfare recipients are without proper plumbing facilities.

The speaker was introduced by Eleanor MacNaughton and thanked by Katherine Cumming.

Katherine Cumming reminded members of the annual cleaning of the hall and church to be held May 3. Brigette Loos reported for Church in Society in the absence of Linda Kubelka and the minutes and treasurer's reports were given by Ina Byatte and Norma Cattanauch, respectively. A special collection for Can·Save was taken by Ethel Clark.

Hostesses for the meeting were Ina Byatte, Ethel Clark, Eleanor MacNaughton and Katherine Cumming.

On April 5 and 6 our Optimist boys participated in a hockey tournament organized by the Rockland Optimist Club.

The first game was at noon on Saturday and our boys were against the St. Philippe team. It was a 7-6 victory for North Lancaster.

The second game, played at 10 p.m., was against St. Pascal. We got another win with a 5-2 score, which led us to the finals in our category.

On Sunday, many fans gathered at Claude's Restaurant to take the bus to Rockland and cheer the team. The game was at 5 p.m. and we met with the Rockland team. At the end of the first period the count was 4-1 for Rockland. But our boys are not quitters. They retaliated with an even 4-4, but Rockland broke the tie and came out victorious. Regardless of the defeat, North Lancaster came home quite happy.

BENEFIT DANCE

Leave it to the country folk to make an event a huge success.

On Friday, April 11, we attended the benefit dance for Mackie, Sue, Janet and Archie Robertson who lost their barn in a fire at Bainsville. There were so many people present, my husband failed to notice his own boss. People came from the four corners of Glengarry and filled the Bonnie Glen hall to capacity. The music was very enjoyable and there was plenty of lunch for everybody. Mrs. Carolyn McRae (Ron) read an address to the Robertson family and Archie and Mackie thanked the people and entertained with their jokes and interesting stories.

I should mention the party was suddenly interrupted when there seemed to be a problem in the men's washroom. We were told someone had a heart attack. The ambulance arrived and he was taken to hospital but unfortunately didn't make it. Sincere sympathy to Mrs. Rombough for the loss of her husband, Bert and to all the family on behalf of your friends and neighbors.

A lovely variety of gifts and an impressive amount of money was received appreciatively by the bonnie bride to be.

No, that was not my husband who celebrated his birthday last week. His initials are A.L. I am definetly not the one expecting a baby. I guarantee you if it ever happens, I will gladly place a large heading over my column: "It's a miracle".

Members of the St. Lawrence Women's Institute met at Knox Church Hall for their annual meeting, which started with a pot luck dinner.

Following a delicious meal of a variety of main and dessert dishes, Mrs. Dorothy Seguin presided over the meeting.

The roll call was answered with the payment of fees, which, due to increased costs, were raised to $5. Members were pleased to welcome Helen Chisholm and Beatrice MacDonald as new members.

Dorothy Sharpe commented on the motto, "People don't plan to fail, they just fail to plan." Mrs. Sharpe also read the minutes and gave the financial report. All conveners gave their year end reports.

Sylvia Pilkington gave the nominating committee report as prepared by herself and Yvonne Leblanc, which was accepted. Officers and conveners for the coming year are: Past President—Isobel MacLean, President—Dorothy Seguin, Vice-President—Joyce Lalonde, Secretary-treasurer—Dorothy Sharpe, P.R.O.—Joyce Lalonde; District Director—Dorothy Sharpe; Alternate—Sylvia Pilkington; Curator—Pat White; Agriculture and Canadian Industries—Sylvia Pilkington; Citizenship and World Affairs—Elsie Garneau; Education and Cultural Activities—Isobel McLean; Family and Consumer Affairs—Beatrice Labelle; Resolutions—Yvonne Leblanc; Auditors—Alice Bellis and Sylvia Pilkington; Branch Directors—Beatrice Labelle and Alice Bellis.

Arrangements were made to hold a special meeting to prepare the program for the coming year.

Dorothy Seguin, Dorothy Sharpe and Helen Chisholm will be voting delegates at the Glengarry District Annual meeting, to be held Tuesday, May 6, at Martintown.

Mrs. Chisholm spoke of a workshop she is holding on home decorating in Knox Church Hall and stated summary day for this course will be June 3 at Martintown.

Mrs. Seguin closed the meeting with a verse, "Friendship"

Senior active in cancer fundraising

by Carol Chow

Age hasn't kept Bertha McRae from working with the Canadian Cancer Society.

Last year, the 84-year-old Maxville resident was honored with a personalized gavel for 25 years of selfless service with the society. She acted as the treasurer for more than 17 years and continued with the In Memorium Fund until 1984.

The Maxville branch of the society grew out of interested members of the Women's Institute in 1961. During the early years, the society made cancer dressings and promoted the reality of cancer through education.

She believes the education program through the society has helped change the public's attitude towards cancer.

"Before, cancer was a thing people hid," she said last week. "It was as if they were ashamed and most people just kept to themselves. Some doctors didn't tell their patients they had cancer."

Mrs. McRae recounted a story about a family wiped out by cancer, but who refused any outside help.

"You know, the husband served and took care of the wife until she died and then a brother took care of the husband until he died," she recalled. "The brother himself eventually died of cancer too."

Because people have become more aware, such tragic incidents are now uncommon.

The services of the Maxville branch have also changed to serve people in the area better. Today, the branch offers different kinds of drugs, friendly visits and transportation, through the Alexandria branch, to treatment centres in Kingston and Ottawa, where patients stay in a society-funded home called the Maurice Grimes Lodge.

Mrs. McRae scoffs at people who fear and avoid doctors. Her father had cancer, and husband Roderick has suffered from the disease since 1962. Mrs. McRae believes doctors are lifesavers, for they have treated and kept her husband well all these years.

Mrs. McRae was born five miles from Maxville and worked as a Bell Telephone operator (later, chief operator) in Maxville. While she spent much time with the society, her efforts included other organizations too.

Although she had a heart attack in 1950, Mrs. McRae remained an active member of many groups. She belonged to the Women's Missionary Society, the Maxville Manor Auxiliary, the Women's Institute and the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

She may have slowed her pace, but she still helps the Canadian Cancer Society all she can and intends to continue.

NOBLE VILLENEUVE
MPP SD&G

On April 12, the Ontario PC Party will be holding a Regional Policy Conference at the Holiday Inn in Kingston on Princess Street.

The ridings of Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry and Cornwall will be participating in this conference. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and there is a fee of $20 including lunch for the whole day. Topics at the policy conference will include health, housing, French language services and education, and economic development which covers agricultural issues. This meeting is open to all members of public and not only to party members. I look forward to seeing you there.

PASSES THE BUCK

In a classic case of waffling and baffflegab, Premier David Peterson recently told his Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations to find out why Ontario motorists were paying as much as 11 cents a litre more for gasoline, when taxes are excluded, than motorists in Detroit and Chicago. Before the Premier looks elsewhere to berate inflated Ontario gasoline prices, he should be looking to his government's inflated taxes on the resource.

If you think back to Treasurer Bob Nixon's budget of last fall you will recall that the Ad Volarum tax on gasoline (which rose of fell with the price at the pumps) was replaced with a fixed tax of 8.3 cents per litre. The Ad Volarum tax had been introduced by the previous Progressive Conservative government as a fair and equitable means of providing revenues to the provincial treasury without unfairly penalizing the consumers of the province.

When the fixed tax proposal of the budget was introduced in the Legislature it met with rejection from both the Progressive Conservative and New Democratic members. Through their combined efforts it was fixed at a half cent per litre less than Nixon had written into the budget. The main point to be made, however, is that if the Ad Volarum Tax had been left in place, as urged by the Progressive Conservative members, we would all be seeing lower prices at the pump.

If Premier Peterson was as concerned as he would like all of us to believe he is about the inflated price of gasoline in Ontario he would be taking action at Queen's Park rather than sending one of his ministers begging to the major oil companies. The oil companies have already taken action in response to the reduction of world oil prices. It is high time the premier and his treasurer acted in a similarly responsible fashion.

One short year ago Mr. Peterson beat the drum of lower gasoline prices if her were to win the election. He may not have won the election but through the coalition he formed with the NDP. He is now the premier and can do something constructive about the price of gasoline in Ontario—and he should.

Bainsville WI elects officers

by Janet Robertson

The members of Bainsville Women's Institute held their annual meeting at the home of Agnes Petrie recently.

Each answered the roll call with a written motto or roll call which could be used in next year's program.

It is hoped a good number will attend the district annual to be held on May 6 in the Presbyterian Church in Martintown.

Further donations of diapers, toiletries and other articles will be gratefully accepted at Baldwin House, Cornwall. Articles may be dropped off at Pat Ager's home.

Mrs. Robert McRae announced Glengarry Arts and Crafts Association will hold their spring sale at the Nor' Westerns Museum in Williamstown on April 26 and 27.

Mrs. Dukke Van der Werf, a representative of ASSE American Scandinavian Student Exchange—spoke to the meeting this interesting project.

This is a plan to give Scandinavian and other European students the opportunity to spend a year in Canada with a host family, and for young Canadians to do the same in Europe. They would be approximately 17 years old, would attend school, and participate in the activities of the host family who would provide room and board. Anyone interested should contact Mrs. Van der Werf.

Mrs. Donald Chisholm has agreed to teach the course on home decorating which will involve the making of balloon and Roman shades, candlewicking and budgeting. The date is April 16 at 1:30 p.m. in Knox Church.

Many beautiful articles were shown which were made by the ladies over the winter. These included quilts, tablecloths, sweaters, lace making, ceramics.

The next meeting will be held at Mr. Poppin's Restaurant in Monkland on May 14 at 6:30 p.m. The guest will be Charlotte Bender, a well know quilter.

A program planning meeting will be April 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Susan Robertson.

Annual reports were presented. All offices were declared vacant and the elecion of new officers was presided over by Pat Ager.

Officers for 1986—1987 are: Past President, Mrs. Robert MacRae; President, Mrs. A.M. Robertson; First Vice-President, Mrs. Eric Urquhart; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Carol Simmons; Secretary, Mrs. Lou Butrym; Treasurer, Mrs. W.E. 4-H Club holds cheese party

On March 29 Lochiel 4-Her's, "the magnificent milk makers", had a cheese party at the home of fellow member Alana Lobb.

Each 4-H member had to bring a different type of cheese and write a short description on the cheese they brought. Sandwiches were provided by Joanne Marriott, herb vegetable dip by Julie Quesnel, cut vegetables by Claudette MacNeil, ice cream pizza by Alana Lobb, cheesecakes by Nancy and Mary McCaskill and the pineapple punch by Enid and Dawna McDougall.

Guests attending the cheese party were the Lochiel Women's Institute and mothers and family members of the 4-H'ers. Two games were played involving cheese and the winners of these games were Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. McDonald. The prizes for the cheese games were made by Beverly and Nancy Vander Byl.

Members and friends thanked the Lobb family for offering their house for the party and for the enjoyable afternoon.

Rebels in final against Ottawa

by Peter Conway

OTTAWA — The message is clear for the Charlottenburgh Rebels.

The road to the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League championship will be easier if the club stays out of the penalty box. Discipline will be the key for Ken MacDonald's club in the series.

The Rebels and South Ottawa Canadians open the best-of-seven championship tonight (Wednesday) at Ottawa's Canterbury Arena. Game Two is back at the Glengarry Sports Palace the following night.

South Ottawa, North West Division champions, finished the round-robin portion of the Eastern Ontario championship series with a 3-1 record while the Rebels, Alex English Division champions, finished second with a 2-1 mark.

Brockville Tikis were eliminated last Friday night, dropping a 3-1 decision to South Ottawa and finished winless in three outings.

The Rebels' only loss in the round-robin came last Wednesday night at Ottawa, a 9-5 thumping against South Ottawa.

Ken MacDonald's club had opened the round-robin series with an exciting 4-3 winner over South Ottawa. Wednesday's rematch was a chippy affair and both clubs taunted each other with stick work throughout the contest.

Both clubs took a number of foolish penalties, particularly the Rebels in the middle stanza. Ottawa got off to a fast 3-0 lead after the opening period and increased the advantage to 8-3 after two periods.

If the Rebels are to be successful in winning their first-ever Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League title, they'll have to be more disciplined on the ice says Manager John Chafee.

"There's no doubt we took some cheap penalties in the second period in Wednesday's game," said Chafee. "If we're going to win this series, we'll have to stay out of the penalty box."

Although the Rebels trailed 3-0 after one period, the score would have easily been 3-2 in favor of South Ottawa.

South Ottawa's goaler made a couple of outstanding saves during Rebels' powerplays.

"We got off to a bad start in the first period. But their goaler made a couple of great saves and it easily could have been a 3-1 or 3-2 score after the first period," said Chafee.

Chafee also says the club will have to do a better job forechecking South Ottawa in their own end of the rink.

"Our forwards are going to have to work harder and forecheck South Ottawa in their own end. We let them skate too much the other night."

Glenn McDonald and Stu Thompson paced South Ottawa with a pair of goals and two assists each while Tim Featherstone, the best player in the game, scored once and set up four goals.

Following the second game of the series Thursday night, Game Three will be played Saturday or Sunday night back at Ottawa. The fourth game will be played next Monday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

LET ME OUT—The Charlottenburgh Rebels earned a berth in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League and will face the South Ottawa Canadians in the final. The Rebels dropped a 9-5 decision last Wednesday night to finish with two wins and one loss in the round-robin portion while the Canadians finished with a 3-1 mark. Above, the Rebels' Daniel Brunet and Kennedy MacDonald arrive too late to thwart a South Ottawa goal.

Roy's Garage champs

Robert Quesnel's goal with just over three minutes left in regulation time lifted Roy's Garage to an exciting 3-2 win over Hawkesbury Vikings Sunday night and the club's third straight Alexandria Foot Hockey League championship.

Roy's, who tallied 4-2 at one point in the six-point final, also got goals from Jean Lauzon and Kevin Massia.

Hawkesbury's goals came off the sticks of Luc Guerin and Luc Woodbury.

The champions forced a deciding contest following a convincing 7-3 win Friday night at the Glengarry Sports Palace. Robert Quesnel, Jean Lauzon and Donald Carriere paced Roy's Garage with two goals each while Luc Menard completed the scoring.

Roch Proulx led Hawkesbury with two goals while Michel Tremblay completed the scoring.

Glengarry Aces evened the best-of-five B Division final at 1-1 following a 6-3 victory over the Greenfield Wings.

John Prieur led the winners with a pair of goals while singles went to Roland Schroeder, Rejean Duperron, Armand Duperron and Ken McLeod.

Larry Smith tallied a pair for Greenfield while Robert Wensink completed the scoring.

Peewee softball tryouts

The minor softball season is just around the corner and the Alexandria Peewee squad is looking for players.

Daniel Brunet, who coached the squirts entry in the Osnabruck Township Minor Softball League a year ago, is moving up the ladder and will be the manager of the Giroux Sport Peewee squad in the same league this year. His assistants are Richard Sabourin and Victor Denobriga.

Tryouts for the team will be May 2 at 6:30 p.m. and May 3 at 1 p.m. at the ball diamond behind the Glengarry Sports Palace.

The tryouts are open to players 13 and 14 years old. The club has been accepted to participate in the Ontario Amateur Softball Association playdowns in July.

Should the club win at the playdowns, they would advance to the provincial championship.

Rebels playing at Sports Palace

by Peter Conway

If the Charlottenburgh Rebels capture the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League championship, they'll have to win away from the friendly confines of the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

The Rebels travel to Ottawa tonight (Wednesday) to open the best-of-seven championship series against the South Ottawa Canadians.

The Rebels home-away-from-home for the series is the Glengarry Sports Palace, since the ice was removed last weekend at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

Although the Rebels sported an excellent win-loss record this season on home ice, Manager John Chafee feels the club won't be at a disadvantage playing in Alexandria.

"We still should have an advantage over South Ottawa because we played three regular-season games and one in the playoffs at the Glengarry Sports Palace," says Chafee. "Our club is certainly no stranger to the rink."

While Chafee says the club received great support from spectators at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre all season, he cherishes the thought of playing the final in the Glengarry Sports Palace, with a larger seating capacity.

"As far as seating is concerned, it's a bigger rink and we should get bigger crowds. I think we'll draw well in Alexandria," he says.

Chafee is hoping that the club gets strong support from the Alexandria Glens' fans, as well as the fans who have followed the Rebels all year.

Game time at the Glengarry Sports Palace Thursday night is 8 p.m. The fourth game will be next Monday night in town and game time is 8:30 p.m.

Morris wins awards at Concordia banquet

MONTREAL — Although the Concordia Stingers didn't have a banner season on the ice, Alexandria's Frank Morris was recognized as one of the team's top players recently at the Concordia University athletic awards banquet at the Loyola campus.

Morris, a fourth year student in sports medicine, was the recipient of several prestigious awards. He was a repeat winner of th Reverend Father Cass Award, which goes to the most inspirational player on the Concordia Stingers hockey team.

Morris, who was instrumental in turning the Stingers season around in the second half of the schedule, was also voted the most valuable player on the team and was the winner of a special award as the student who contributed most to university life on the campus.

Morris and the Stingers were eliminated in the third game of a best-of-three Quebec University semi-final series against eventual champion Trois Riviéres Patriots.

Trois Riviéres went on to the Canadian University hockey championship in Edmonton.

Trophies presented to Jolly Afternoon Curlers

by Marguerite M. Seger

A lovely social event was held at the Alexandria Curling Club on Tuesday afternoon, April 8, at 2 p.m., when the presentation of trophies was made to the Jolly Afternoon Curlers. Jeanette Crevier, organizer and manager of the group, was thrilled to have 12 teams of players this year. She welcomed the players and guests and introduced President Joan Ryan, who gave a warm welcome, and thanked Jeanette for her untiring work with the players and with the committee. She presented Jeanette with a lovely gift.

For her work with the committee and players, Bertha Seguin was presented with a gift by Sam Courtney. A presentation was also made to Bessie Clingen for her many years of support and dedication to the club and, as it was the eve of her birthday, Jeanette Crevier made the presentation to Bessie and everyone joined in singing Happy Birthday. The presentation of trophies followed: the Philip Kaufmann Trophy to the winning team was made by his widow, Helen Kaufmann to Don Culkin (skip), James Baker, Bertha Seguin and Walter Chopp, (lead). Helen presented each player with a smaller trophy.

The Shepherd Brothers Trophy was presented by Marjorie Shepherd MacKinnon to second prize winners Roddie MacDonald (skip), Lenora MacMillan, Donald Gormley and Lucille Lafontaine.

The Chris Jourdeuil Trophy was presented to the third team by Chris and went to Germaine Lalonde, skip, James Y. Baker, Bertha Seguin and Sam Courtney. Each team received smaller individual trophies.

Dancing was enjoyed briefly, after which a lunch was served by the hostesses. Over 100 friends attended.

Afternoon summer bowling will be the next event to take place, shortly after the end of Mav.

The officials are not always at fault, but sometimes . . .

SPORTS

Peter Conway

You have to wonder sometimes why someone dons the striped sweater and steps on to the ice to officiate hockey.

Referees, for the most part are nice guys. They try to do their job each outing. But, no matter how an official calls a game, he is always citicized by players, coaches and fans.

There isn't a night in a rink that a referee isn't yelled at by a coach or by a spectator for an infraction he's missed or one he shouldn't have made.

We all like to criticize the officials, whethers it's a reporter covering a game, or the fan sitting in the far corner of the building who has had one too many beers.

Everyone harps about officiating, but there aren't too many people who would switch places with the men in the zebra sweaters.

Hockey people around the National Hockey League like to think their league is the best officiated among professional sports. I would tend to agree but major league baseball is a close second.

What I find disturbing is the way junior hockey is officiated some nights.

The Charlottenburgh Rebels and South Ottawa Canadians are presently playing for the Eastern Ontario Junior B championship. The clubs each won on home ice. The Rebels opened the round-robin series with a 4-3 win while South Ottawa crushed the Rebels 9-5 last Wednesday night in their rink.

As this column was being written, the odds were high that the two clubs would qualify for the best-of-seven final to determine the Junior B champion in Eastern Ontario.

Last Wednesday night's South Ottawa romp over the Rebels wasn't a playoff masterpiece. In fact, it was anything but an entertaining affair.

South Ottawa jumped out to a 3-0 lead after one period, and for all intents and purposes, the game was over for the Rebels and their fans who treked from Williamstown.

Ken MacDonald's club took a number of foolish penalties because of a lack of discipline. While penalties kept the team in trouble most of the game, the turning point of the game came in the middle stanza. With South Ottawa ahead 6-3, the Rebels' Roddy McKenzie broke up the ice on a breakaway. He was hauled down from behind by a South Ottawa player. Referee Chris Emard, from his angle on the play, refused to call an infraction.

But, the complexion of the contest might have changed had a penalty been called. If the Rebels score on a powerplay, they only trail 6-4.

After Emard chose not to call a penalty, the Rebels lost their composure and took a number of senseless penalties. The Rebels did not play a sound game. At times they were disorganized and sloppy.

The officiating of Mr. Emard is not the sole reason for the Rebels' loss. But, both teams chose to play a chippy brand of hockey in the middle stanza and too much was let go by the referee.

There was far too much stick work by both clubs and a couple of fans commented they wouldn't be back should the stick work and lumber he allowed to continue. These two fans were regular visitors to the South Ottawa games during the year.

Both gentlemen said the Rebels and South Ottawa were the top two Junior B clubs and they would provide entertaining hockey in the final—if they stayed away from the stick work and cheap shots.

The Rebels are a big club and can either skate, or bump and grind. But if Ken MacDonald's club is to be successful in the championship series, they will have to show some discipline and stay away from foolish penalties.

South Ottawa can skate and they have a potent powerplay. The Canadians don't mind a physical game either. Area hockey fans should be treated to an exciting series. The Rebels will play their home games at the Glengarry Sports Palace in Alexandria because the ice was removed last Sunday at the Charlottenburgh Recreation Centre.

Since realignment of the Alex English Division a few years ago, the championships have been divided between the Metcalfe Jets and Navan Grads. The two clubs have dominated the division in the playoffs.

So, the Rebels, will be trying to win all the marbles and will face a stiff battle against South Ottawa.

South Ottawa, throughout the club's history, has been one of the top Junior B squads in the Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League.

It should be an exciting final and the Rebels can use support from fans throughout Glengarry. The series opens tonight (Wednesday) at the Canterbury Arena in Ottawa. The second game is slated for the Glengarry Sports Palace tomorrow night.

by Sue Sloan

Glen Nevis' determination to win paid off Sunday as they squeaked past St. Raphael's 5-4 in the opening game of the best-of-seven final in the Glengarry News Cup.

Glen Nevis' record in the double round-robin wasn't as impressive as St. Raphael's. Glen Nevis entered the final with a 1-2-1 mark while St. Raphael's record was 3-1, making them the favorite heading going into the championship series. Glen Nevis advanced to the final following a 12-4 win over Dalhousie Wednesday night.

Darrell Hay, John MacSweyn and Marc Laperle each tallied twice for Glen Nevis while singles went to Mike McDougall, Glen Campbell, Joey McRae, Chris MacDonald, David McDonell and Andrew Meth.

David McKay fired a pair of goals for Dalhousie while Stephane Gareau and Bruce Benton chipped in with singles.

Thursday's action provided minor problems for St. Raphael's as they ousted Glen Nevis 5-1. Ed deWit paced the winners with a pair of markers while Jim Crockford, Leonard Seguin and Leo Seguin added singles.

The lone goal scorer for Glen Nevis was Ron Besner.

St. Raphael's went ahead of the pack again Friday night, ending the round-robin portion of the News Cup with a convincing 7-1 win over Dalhousie.

Jeff Johnson led the way for St. Raphael's with two goals while Paul Seguin, Frank St. Pierre, Jim Crockford, Leonard Seguin and Ed deWit each tallied once.

The opening game in the best-of-seven final provided fans with entertaining hockey and an intense struggle between St. Raphael's and Glen Nevis.

Glen Nevis rose to the challenge to knock off the favored St. Raphael's squad.

Blake Hambleton led the Glen Nevis attack with a hat trick while Mike McDougall and Don Wightman completed the scoring for the winners.

The scoring for St. Raphael's came off the sticks of Ed deWit with a pair and singles from Paul Seguin and Frank St. Pierre.

The final series resumes tonight (Wednesday) at the Glengarry Sports Palace at 8 p.m.

Daniel Parthenais, a Community Sports Development officer with the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, (pictured here) spent the day at Laggan Public School instructing students in gymnastics and making full use of the school's equipment. Mr. Parthenais and his partner also assist teachers in improving the quality of physical education instruction. At Laggan Mr. Parthenais spent time with all classes, demonstrating the basics of gymnastics.

I have just been informed by the Ministry of Transportation and Communications that steps are now being taken to improve safety by heightening motorists' awareness at the intersection of Highway 43 and the Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry County Road #7. It will consist of the repositioning of the stop signs, directional signs and warning signs.

SPECIAL TAX

Over the past months the Peterson Liberals have claimed to be working to improve access to health care in Ontario. They claim that a ban on extra-billing by doctors will ensure all Ontarians have access to our health care system.

But now David Peterson has contradicted his concern for access to health care by proposing a tax on people who use the system. In essence, Peterson is planning to replace extra-billing by doctors with a form of extra-billing by government, through a health care tax or user fee.

To now propose a user's tax on health care services only demonstrates that Peterson has little idea where he wants to take health care policy in Ontario.

We need real leadership in health care issues. So far the Peterson Liberals have only provided us with confrontation, rather than building on the strengths of our system as it now stands.

Heart and Stroke Foundation collects nearly $22,000 in local campaign

The Glengarry chapter of the Ontario Heart and Stroke Foundation knows Glengarrians can indeed be generous.

At the chapter's meeting Monday night, it was announced that the annual February campaign in Glengarry raised $21,970 for the heart and stroke research. The total exceeded the local chapter's goal of $15,000 and left organizers ecstatic.

"It's unbelieveable," said Wally Hope Jr., president of the Glengarry chapter the past year. "It shows that Glengarrians are generous and always willing to help."

While Mr. Hope praised Glengarrians for their generosity, he also said the people who worked during the campaign played a major role in the campaign's success.

"I think the campaign was very well organized and the team leaders and all the volunteers did a great job. The money raised came from business and resident donations and the Roses for Research and Jump Rope for Heart programs."

The amount raised from business donations was $1,017, $17,897 from resident donations, $359 from Roses for Research and $2,585 from the Jump Rope for Heart program at Ste. Marie School in Green Valley.

The totals from the various team leaders throughout the county also showed that people were in a generous mood when canvassers came knocking.

The amounts from the various areas: Don Kannon, South Charlottenburgh Township, $1,946.25; Susan McDonell, Williamstown area $2,052; Gwen Benton, Martintown area, $787; Betty McDonald, St. Raphael's area, $983; Evelyn McColl and Gordon Winter, Maxville area, $1,751.50; Mae Benton, Annie St. Denis and Marilyn Lajoie, Apple Hill, Kenyon Township and Green Valley, $1,379.50; Elaine Lalonde, Lancaster Village, $624.65; Ron Munro, Lancaster Township, $1,998; Bonnie McMillan, Elsie MacLean and Ernest Lalonde, Town of Alexandria, $2,589.40, and Marylou MacMillan and Sheila Pickett, Lochiel Township, $2,536.50.

The chapter's annual meeting and Volunteer Appreciation Night will be held May 21, at 7:30 p.m., at the Alexander Hall.

The guest speaker will be Dr. Lyall Higginson from the Ottawa Heart Institute.

Organizers are hoping for a large turnout for the evening

Proposed land use controls draw protest from local councils

Local reaction to proposed changes in the present Foodland Guidelines has not been favorable. The new guidelines will stress the importance of preserving prime agricultural land and restricting non-agricultural uses.

Kenyon Township has forwarded an objection to County Planner Bryan Weir, suggesting the Ontario government should not permit such a blanket coverage of all farmland in Ontario and that Eastern Ontario be considered a special case.

Charlottenburgh Township did not receive the proposal when it was being circulated in February. The municipality has only recently obtained a copy from township planner Simon Ainley.

Councillor Carol-Ann Ross and Clerk-Administrator Marcel Lapierre had attended a Planning Information Session in Cornwall on April 2. They asked provincial planning officials about the impact of the new guidelines on planning documents. At that point, other representatives from county offices and councils expressed concern because the proposal deals with large parcels of prime land, whereas the agricultural land in Eastern Ontario is often a mix of prime and marginal land.

Lancaster Township Council agreed with the proposal and forwarded positive comments to Mr. Weir.

Clerk Mike Samson noted the restrictions "are not much tighter than we have now." The township planning documents already separate the land into agricultural and non-agricultural uses.

In a speech delivered in February, when copies of the proposal were being circulated, Jack Riddell, the Minister of Agriculture and Food, explained the principle behind the new guidelines, "The Ontario government is committed to keeping a land area available for agriculture on a long-term basis," he said. "And we also want to ensure that agricultural activity can take place within that area, with a minimum of disruption from competing or incompatible uses."

The proposal advocates restricting non-agricultural uses on prime agricultural land and will prevent farmers from obtaining severances for retirement purposes. Minimum separation distances between new non-farm uses and livestock barns are also outlined. If adopted, the policies will have to be incorporated into municipal planning documents.

Mr. Weir has been receiving written objections from municipalities in the United Counties and concludes, "It must be recognized that Eastern Ontario is different from southern, northern or western Ontario. We have regional differences and discrepancies in land use, availability, quality and consumption. Some consideration must be given to this difference."

Municipalities have been issued an April 30 deadline to submit their comments. However, Mr. Weir said the Ministry of Agriculture and Food is willing to entertain comments until May 31. He suggests municipalities, agricultural organizations, interest groups and the general public inform the ministry their comments will be forthcoming before May 31.

"Most municipalities would still like to see one retirement lot permitted," Mr. Weir said. He added sometimes the sale of a retirement lot is financially necessary to save the farm.

He added the separation distance tables are calculated from a much easier formula than was previously used.

In Memoriam

BRUNET—In loving memory of a dear mother Blanche Brunet, who passed away April 20, 1977.
Flowers may die, and time will fly
But the loving memory of you will never die.
—Remembered always by daughter Claudette, son-in-law Hubert, Pierre and André. 16-1p

BRUNET—In loving memory of Blanche Brunet who passed away April 20, 1977.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps her near.
—Sadly missed by daughter Muriel, son-in-law Bob and family. 16-1p

GAREAU—In loving memory of a dear mother, Yolande, who passed away April 15, 1974.
There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the years long since you went;
There is someone who thinks of you often,
But tries to be brave and content.
—Sadly missed by daughters Ginette and Carole and sons Michel and Raymond. 16-1c

GAREAU—In loving memory of a dear wife, Yolande, who passed away April 15, 1974.
God knew that she was suffering
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Sadly missed by husband Royal. 16-1c

LALONDE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father Rheal, who passed away April 19, 1981.
He left us quietly his thoughts unknown.
But left us memories we are proud to own.
So treasure him Lord in the Garden of rest.
For while on earth he was one of the best.
He fell asleep without a goodbye.
But our memories of him will never die.
Although we smile and make no fuss.
No one misses him more than us.
And when we recall his kind and loving ways,
We miss him most of all.
—Sadly missed by wife Jeannine and children. 16-1p

EXPLANATORY NOTE
AMENDING ZONING BY-LAW NO. 122(A)86

The zoning By-Law amendment changes the zone category of approximately 4 Ha. (9.8 acres) of land from "Rural (RU)" to "Rural-Special Exception (RU-8)". The lands are located on Part Lot 37, Concession III in the Township of Lochiel, and, form Part 1 of Reference Plan No. 14R-1248. The subject lands form part of a proposed lot (severance) which has been conditionally approved by the United Counties Land Division Committee. The "special exception" zone would allow the property to be used for residential purposes subject to this By-Law and other relevant sections of Zoning By-Law No 854-77. The zoning By-Law Amendment implements the provisions of Official Plan Amendment "005".

NOTICE
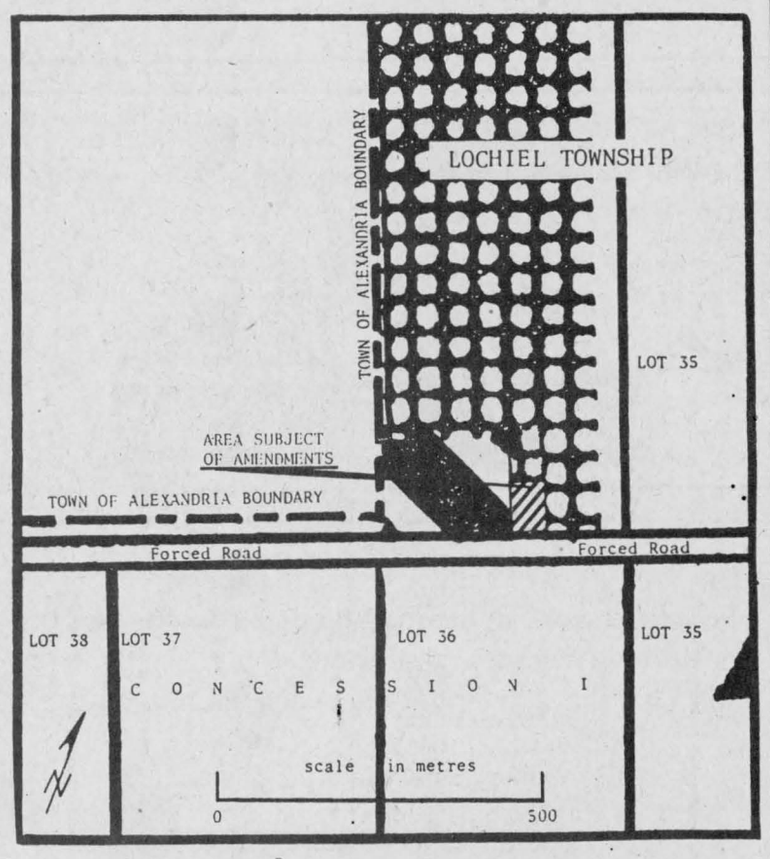
PUBLIC MEETING CONCERNING A PROPOSED OFFICIAL PLAN ZONING BY-LAW AMENDMENTS

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the Township of Lochiel will hold a public meeting on May 13, 1986 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Municipal Building to consider a proposed official plan and zoning by-law amendment under Sections 17 and 34 of The Planning Act.
The proposed Official Plan Amendment would change the designation of approximately 2,912 square metres (31,350 square feet) of land from "Residential (phase 2 and 3)" to "Residential (phase 2 and 3) - Special Exception." The lands are located on part Lot 36, Concession 1 in the Township of Lochiel (as shown below). The subject lands form part of a proposed lot which will be approved upon fulfilling certain conditions as set out by the United Counties Land Division Committee. The proposed "Residential (phase 2 and 3)-Special Exception" designation will allow the subject lands to accommodate a dwelling on private septic and well systems. The amendment is also intended to rectify an error in drafting which occurred during the Official Plan allocation process. Reference on the Official Plan Schedule was inadvertently made to another land use.
The proposed Zoning By-Law Amendment would change the zone category of the same parcel of land (as shown below) from "Rural (RU)" to "Residential First Density (R1)" to allow development of the property for residential purposes subject to the "Requirements" of the "R1" zone.
ANY PERSON may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of or in opposition to the proposed amendments.
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION relating to the proposed amendments is available for inspection at my office during regular office hours.
DATED at the Township of Lochiel this 9th day of April 1986.



R.M. Charbonneau, Clerk Treasurer

Farmers should be ready to move onto the fields quickly

AG. COLUMN
Glen J. Smith

We have had a somewhat unusual spring but it would appear that warmer conditions are now with us and spring's work is just around the corner.

With the low water table and lack of moisture the land will dry quickly. We should be prepared to move when the conditions are right. All tillage and planting equipment should be checked and serviced if necessary. Numerous problems resulted last year from improper maintenance to slow down planting. We normally have a very short period with optimum conditions for planting and tillage. Do not be delayed with breakdowns.

Last year it was evident that some corn planters were not placing the seed at the proper depth. This may have been due to field conditions, improper settings or malfunctioning units. If you were concerned about your germination last year I would suggest that the corn planter be checked over thoroughly.

It is also the time to have your supplies of herbicide, seed and fertilizer purchased. By delaying you may miss the variety or hybrid you wanted to use or you may not have the material when you want to use it.

Small grains and forages respond to early planting and withstand and thrive in cooler conditions. Delays in planting of spring grain will result in yield losses. Therefore, spring grains and forages should be planted first followed by corn.

With Lasso being removed from the market, corn producers must adjust their herbicide program. There are certainly adequate herbicides available to control the weed problems which exist. Herbicide programs should be established specific to the weed problems on your farm. It should be pointed out that pre-plant incorporated herbicides tend to be more effective due to the fact that they do not rely on moisture to activate them as is required with post emerge applications. Many producers are experiencing problems with Atrazine resistant broadleaf weeds. If Atrazine was applied last year and pigweed and/or lamb's quarters persist, you have Atrazine resistant broadleaf weeds. Products on the market, Kil-mor, Banvil, MCPA and others, offer excellent control. Again, with these products there are specific recommendations which can be found in publication No.75—Guide to Chemical Weed Control, available from the agriculture office or your farm supply dealer.

It is evident that we are supplying sufficient fertlizer for the grain crops and new seedings, but the older meadows and pastures at times appear to be forgotten. They do require annual fertilizing. The phosphorus and potash requirements should be determined by a soil test. The general nitrogen requirement for hay fields or pastures with one-half to one-third legume content is 60 pounds. For meadows or pastures with one-third or less legume, it is recommended that up to 125 pounds of actual nitrogen be applied in early spring and up to 100 pounds of nitrogen applied at second application after the first crop has been removed or in the case of a pasture, in late June or early July.

I had the opportunity to discuss cost of production with a corn producer yesterday. His average yield was 95 bushels per acre and his cost, including land rental, came to $137 per tonne. With pressure on the corn market and prices forecast for the fall being very poor, it would appear that some serious decisions must be made on many farms. Some producers are tied into corn, those that are not should identify the fields which do not yield well. These can be planted into spring grain (a less costly crop) or seeded down to forages.

There is an interest in planting canola in this county. Considerable acreage has been designated for this new crop. Early seeding is a must. It is a new crop and will require good management to ensure the return for which you budgeted.

One of the main problems in crop production is the identification and control of weeds. Assistance is available from this office or from your herbicide dealer to identify weed problems and make recommendations for control. Velvetleaf, proso millett, Atrazine resistant broadleaf weeds, coltsfoot, are becoming problems on some farms. The primary step in control is identification. If you need assistance please call our office.

E. A. Hodgson, the enterprising manager of the boot and shoe factory, has decided to enlarge his business. A joint stock company is to be formed, to be known as the Alexandria Boot and Shoe Co., which will give employment to between 150 and 200 hands.—We learn that A. H. McDonald is making preparations for the opening out of bath rooms in the Grand Union block at an early date.—Tenders are being asked for the construction of a two-storey building, balloon frame veneered with brick, to be erected on the lot of Dan P. J. Tobin, corner of Main and South Terrace Streets, Lancaster.—At the usual monthly meeting of village council held on Tuesday, Angus P. McDonald was appointed collector of electric light dues and the engineer in charge of the light was instructed to run till 1 o'clock each morning instead of 11:30 p.m., as heretofore. Reeve McArthur was delegated to go to Ottawa and interview the officials of the C.A.R. with a view to supplying the railway with water.—We learn that the carcasses of a number of dead cattle and horses have been placed on the ice west of this village. It is the intention of Policeman McDonald to see that a stop is put to this kind of work before ice breaks up.

Grant announced for school board

CORNWALL — Stormont—Dundas MP Norm Warner announced Monday the Rothwell-Osnabruck High School in Ingleside will receive a $12,800 travel grant under the Secretary of State's Open House Canada Exchange Program.

Open House Canada is a year round exchange program, available to youth groups between the ages of 14 and 22, that offer young Canadians an opportunity to travel and discover Canada.

The Osnabruck group consisting of 43 school band members will be travelling to Vancouver, B.C. on May 13, to visit its twin group, the Britannia Elementary Secondary School for one week.

The Britannia School is a Grade 8 to 12 inner city school with the majority of its student body consisting of Oriental and Vietnamese children. The Osnabruck students will be immersed in a structured program aimed at educating them in the geographical, social and cultural aspects of the Vancouver community.

Some of the highlights of the trip will include three days at Expo 86, admission to the Canadian National Stage Band Festival, a tour of the B.C. legislature, and participation in various Chinese cultural activities.

Following the journey to Vancouver, the Osnabruck students will have the opportunity to host the Vancouver school in the Ingleside community, commencing June 22.

The grant provided by Open House Canada will cover transportation costs for 27 students taking part in the exchange. The remaining costs are being covered through the fund raising efforts of the participating schools.

OMAF seeking producer input for free trade talks

by R. Morrison

KEMPTVILLE — Canada's indicated willingness to negotiate a bilateral trade agreement with the United States has raised both concern about free trade with the U.S. and optimism about the prospects of expanded markets for Canadian producers. Ontario's agricultural producers share both this optimism and pessimism.

The expansion of trade with the U.S. offers both countries the opportunity to take advantage of some well-known economic principles. Free trade will allow both countries to specialize in the production of those products best suited to the intrinsic and acquired characteristics of each nation. Factors, such as climate, raw materials, capital equipment, characteristics of the labour supply, etc. will give one country a relative advantage over another. Given a free trade environment, production patterns will shift to take advantage of these differences.

Economic theory tells us that even when one country is in a somewhat disadvantaged position relative to another, in all areas, both countries can benefit from free trade. The advantages come from the significance of specialization and the economics found in the production of larger volumes of fewer goods.

Economic theory aside, the adjustment that must take place with an economy during the evolution of this type of economic reorganization can have a disastrous effect on individuals and industries in decline.

What are the prospects for free trade with the U.S.?

Canada is a trading nation and continues to become more of a trading nation. In 1982, 28 per cent of all Canadian production was exported. By 1985 this number had grown to 32 per cent and is expected to be 33 per cent in 1986. To put this in perspective, one Canadian job in three depends on foreign buyers, and 70 per cent of them are presently Americans.

The choice facing Canada does not seem to be one of continuing with the present situation or expanding trade opportunities through bilateral talks, but one of greatly diminishing trade on the one hand or on expanding trade through the proposed negotiations. This latter choice seems to be the more realistic one given the present protectionist stance of the American House of Representatives.

Export markets are more vital to Canada's agricultural economy than they are for other products. Whereas 33 per cent of all Canadian products are exported, 50 per cent of Canada's agricultural production depends on foreign markets. But whereas 70 per cent of all exports go to the U.S., only 18 per cent of Canada's agricultural exports are purchased in the United States. Trade with the United States is absolutely vital to the Canadian economy, but agricultural trade with the U.S. is not so important.

While it is difficult to predict what would happen with the introduction of freer trade over time, it is reasonable to assume that those areas where Canada presently has a trade surplus with the U.S. would continue to enjoy the U.S. market oportunities. Those industries in which Canada has trade deficiencies with the U.S., or which have been protected from U.S. imports may be faced with a struggle for economic survival.

The Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food is presently forming a position that will be forwarded to Canada's negotiator on this issue of free bilateral trade talks with the United States. Individual agricultural producers, or producer organizations are invited to submit their views. Submissions should be sent to Mr. Russel Duckworth, Marketing Division, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, 801 Bay Street, Toronto, Ontario. M7A 1A6.

Don't take honeybees for granted

by Doug McRory, Agriculture Specialist

What do you think of when you see honeybees busily buzzing about your garden and flowering plants? So often we take for granted these industrious little creatures that are truly one of nature's most intriguing and beneficial insects. In our complex and highly technical modern environment, a few moments of reflection on how the docile honeybee survives in this modern scheme of things will be rewarding to us all.

Honeybees are one of the few insects that can be managed by man for his benefit. Most insects that we are concerned about we tend to want to eradicate because of their detrimental effects. Honeybees contribute immeasurably to our food supply by cross-pollinating many of our important agricultural crops. Because honeybees live in a beehive, man can somewhat control them for his own ends. He can increase their numbers and he can move them to areas where they will benefit him the most. If the bees are threatened by changes in the environment (i.e. pesticides, etc.) man can move them away from such threats.

The management of honeybee colonies has been very well developed in North America since Rev. Longstroth discovered the movable frame hive in 1852. For those who would like to pursue beekeeping there is a good deal of literature and information available through the office of the Provincial Apiarist, located in the OMAF office at 17 Wilson Drive in Milton.

As members of the community we should be aware that honeybees are beneficial to use as individuals and do what we can to protect the honeybees that we have in our environment. Even if we do not produce large acreages of crops, such as apples, cherries, pears, clovers, rapeseed or sunflowers that require large numbers of bees to properly pollinate them, the honeybees in our home gardens are important to pollinate our strawberries, raspberries, cucumbers, melons and many other garden plants.

Honeybees are very sensitive to pesticides and care should be taken to apply any pesticide that you may have to use in a manner which will cause the least effect on the honeybees and still control the pest. Some chemicals are less toxic to the bees. These are outlined in Publication 360, page 10, of the Fruit Production Recommendations. Spraying in the evening, after the bees have quit flying, will also reduce the effects on the honeybees.

The other question that comes to mind is 'are there sufficient honeybee colonies in my area to sufficiently pollinate the plants that I am growing?' Beekeepers usually do not leave their bees in areas where they suffer bee losses due to pesticide poisoning. Therefore, in the spring it is necessary to rent bee colonies, especially for orchard pollination. Colonies are also rented throughout the season on crops which benefit from honeybee visits where the populations of honeybees are low. For garden purposes, you may not want to become a beekeeper yourself, but would like to have bees in your area: contact your Agricultural Representative's office

A Breakfast Communion presented by the Alexandria Council of the Knights of Columbus, Sunday, was a huge success. The tables at the Sacre Coeur Parish Hall were full of hungry people waiting to enjoy the hearty breakfast.

After the meal, Ernest Lalonde, Faithful Navigator of the Fourth Degree and event organizer, introduced the head table speakers.

Father Roger Desrosiers, in his speech, noted the success of the Communion Breakfast and hoped more such events could be organized.

Alexandria Mayor Jean-Paul Touchette, who has served 28 years with the Knights, thanked the organizers for including him in the festivities. Claude Brunet, who organized the church for the activity, spoke, praising those Knights' long service.

Mr. Brunet, a past Grand Knight, explained the duties and qualities required in a Knight were represented in each of the letters in the word — Chevalier — C-clergé, H-honneur, E-ensemble, V-valeur, A-aimer, L-loi, E-ensemble encore, R-respect.

Scrolls and pins were presented to members with over 25 years service, as well as to honorary life members.

Local man awarded $2,000

by Liza Watson

A Summerstown man was awarded $2,000 by the Ontario Criminal Injuries Board last Tuesday for injuries received when a patron of his tavern-restaurant attacked him in 1984.

Albert (Ray) Henstock suffered multiple cheekbone fractures after Patrick Lemieux of 28A Marlborough St. in Cornwall punched and kicked him several times, a Lancaster OPP spokesman said last week.

Mr. Henstock was knocked unconscious. He was taken to Cornwall General Hospital for x-rays and was later released.

Mr. Lemieux, 31, was sentenced to four months in jail for assault with bodily harm.

The incident occurred October 28, 1984 after a group of men entered Mr. Henco Henstock's Glendale Tavern-Restaurant for a game of pool.

A dispute ensued when one of the members of the group began to erase names off a pool list.

The tavern owner told the group to quiet down, then turned to rewrite the original names on the pool list.

Mr. Lemieux hit Mr. Henstock on the left side of the head. The tavern owner fell and was kicked until unconscious.

The Summerstown man took four weeks off to recuperate from injuries and is now completely recovered.

The board awarded Mr. Henstock $2,381.50 but $381.50 went for dispensaries.

Came close to world record

Charlie Myers of Dalkeith came very close to a world record last week, or at least one of his sows did.

Mr. Myers, a pork producer and president of the Glengarry Pork Producers Association, has a 3 1/2-year-old Yorkshire sow that gave birth to 28 piglets last Tuesday.

That mark is only six short of the world's record, set in Denmark in 1961.

Lochiel to proceed with drainage project

by Patricia MacGillis

LOCHIEL — Manson Barton, drainage superintendent for Lochiel Township, gave his monthly report at council's April 8 meeting and two drains were the focal point.

The first discussed was the MacGillivray-McLeod drain. An entrance culvert is in the process of collapsing and Mr. Barton approached council to see if the members had a preference as to the type of pipe to be used to repair the culvert.

Reeve Ron MacDonell told Mr. Barton it was his final decision.

The second drain discussed has been on the back burner for about two years, namely the Kennedy-MacGillis Drain.

Mr. Barton had asked all four landowners to attend the meeting to air any grievances they had regarding the drain.

The problem is council and all concerned have been writing for a one-third grant from the federal government to help with the $61,000 project. While the provincial government will pay one-third, there will be no federal grant, leaving the four property owners to pay more than $40,000. The landowners must now decide if they want to go ahead with the drain.

The only landowner present was Alex Kennedy.

"I want to get the drain done," he said. "I would like to have the other one-third, but I want the drain."

Mr. Barton referred to the other landowners. He had received a letter from Angus Kennedy indicating he would be in favor of the drain if a slight change was made. As he is the last one upstream there is no problem.

Mr. Barton had spoken to Bill MacGillis, another landowner, who said he couldn't afford the drain.

The reeve said council has been waiting for two years for additional funding on the drain. A motion was passed whereby council is instrucing the engineers to call for tenders so that work can be completed as soon as possible.
