FAST WATER—The Raisin River was running fast past the Martintown Mill yesterday. The mill dam is one of the major attractions of the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe race to be held Sunday. At press time it was uncertain whether the water level would stay high enough to allow canoes to jump the dam. Mild weather into the weekend will take the frost out of the ground and hopefully keep the river at its current level. Photo—Bob Roth

New industry to employ 50

Alexandria's newest industry, employing 40 to 50 local people initially, is expected to begin production later this week in the former IGA building on Main Street, North.

Berol, an American-owned firm with Canadian operations headquartered in Montreal, chose Alexandria over Cornwall last week following a series of fast-paced meetings with town officials and Marc Lalonde, owner of the building and president of the town's new Chamber of Commerce.

Should its new Alexandria operation prove to be a success, Berol will likely move its equipment and staff into a new, larger building in the town's industrial park, Mayor J. P. Touchette told The News Monday.

He said the industrial building could not be ready in time to meet Berol's demands and the availability of Mr. Lalonde's building made the difference between the town acquiring a new industry or losing it.

The mayor praised Mr. Lalonde for acquiring the "lead" on the industry in the first place and for his co-operation in attracting the firm to Alexandria.

According to Mr. Touchette, a Berol employee living in the area and shopping at the IGA mentioned the fact his firm was looking at the possibility of expanding its operations to Ontario to Mr. Lalonde, who immediately began selling Alexandria as the best choice.

"We showed them the Ryax building in the industrial park, but it was not ready yet and couldn't be ready in time," said the mayor. "Marc already had plans for his building, but he was able to bend a little and help us out."

Berol will only be assembling its products, chiefly felt tipped pens, which are being manufactured in two plants in Quebec. But the mayor is hoping production will grow in Alexandria, leading to more employment in future.

Mr. Lalonde told The News Tuesday that final packaging and shipping will also be handled here.

He said the firm's existing plants, located in Drummondville and Montreal, are running at capacity now and there is not enough room to expand. At the same time, the company has hopes of capturing a larger share of the Ontario market.

The firm may expand to two shifts in Alexandria, he said.

"We'll do our damnedest to keep them here," said Mr. Lalonde. "We'll do everything we can to make them feel at home. We hope everyone does the same. They have been very encouraged by the area so far."

Berol representatives were in town last week accepting applications.

Bishop calls for vote at St. Finnan's Cathedral

A consultative vote will be taken in St. Finnan's parish, His Excellency Bishop Eugene P. LaRocque told parishioners at the Easter mass in the cathedral, Sunday. The bishop was present to participate at the 11 o'clock mass and it was at the close of his homily that Bishop LaRocque announced his decision to authorize the vote.

The parish council will decide the date of the voting and presumably will also decide who will be eligible to vote.

Bishop LaRocque has issued the following letter which will be incorporated in the parish bulletin:

Dear parishioners of St. Finnan's Cathedral.

To assure that my words at the Pontifical Mass of Easter Sunday reach all of you, the Rector, Msgr. McDougald, requested that I summarize them for the parish bulletin.

Some three years ago a former student of mine, Mr. Murray McCance, presented plans for the renewal of our cathedral sanctuary. He has renewed the cathedral churches in Kingston, Peterborough, Toronto, Hamilton, London, and Pittsburg. Those plans were discussed and set aside.

A year ago Fr. Toby McGivern drew up plans which again have been submitted for discussion. As your Bishop and Pastor of the Cathedral parish, I make these plans my own. I believe they preserve as much of the old as is possible and allow reasonable space with worthy furnishings for the proper celebration of the new liturgy introduced 20 years ago by Vatican Council II. I am sure the Holy Spirit has spoken to the Church through this most solemn teaching voice and that these changes are already beginning to deepen the faith of our Catholic people.

However, I now want to hear the Holy Spirit speak to me

Chamber of Commerce holds first official meeting tonight

The new Alexandria Chamber of Commerce holds its first official meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers and incoming president Marc Lalonde is hoping for a good turnout.

"We seem to have lost some aggressiveness since our first organizational meetings in November. We had a big delay trying to rescind an ancient charter in order to get our new one so now we are anxious to re-stimulate interest in the Chamber," he explains.

The first item on the agenda, according to secretary-elect Agnes McDonald, is to ratify the slate of officers. In addition to Mr. Lalonde and Mrs. McDonald, Pierre Aubry has agreed to stand as vice-president and directors include Bob Leroux, Duncan Macdonell, Cathy Gauthier, Jacques Trottier, Jean Louis Menard, Marcel Ranger, Raymond Lewis and Bruno Lalonde.

Once the executive has been established, Mrs. McDonald says the first priority of the Chamber will be to build up membership and discuss their aims and objectives.

"We want the public to realize what our priorities will be so we can get feedback from them," she explains. "We want to do things to promote Alexandria, to do something good for the town. Naturally, we would have a more interested public if they feel they can be a part of this."

Mr. Lalonde agrees the most important objective of the Chamber is to promote the Town of Alexandria.

"There is nothing a community could want that Alexandria doesn't have," he says. "We have a lot to offer in the way of industry, recreational facilities—we have the sports palace, a beautiful park in the summertime for swimming, the curling club, the golf course. Don't forget the hospital. All of these things are not being advertised."

By publicising the assets, Mr. Lalonde says he hopes the Chamber can attract more industry and more people to Alexandria.

White water race Sunday?

The long range weather is favourable and the race is on.

Raisin Region Conservation Authority General Manager Jay Currier said the Great Raisin River White Water Canoe Race will be held this Sunday "come low or high water".

The rain is expected to taper off by today and day-time temperatures of between 5-8 degrees are expected into the weekend.

Water conditions on the Raisin will be adequate but it is too early to determine whether the level will be high enough to permit jumping of the Martintown Dam

"We may not be able to jump the dam by Sunday, but the portage will be set up in case," Currier said.

"The frost is coming out of the ground and it may keep the water to an acceptable level".

The 21-mile race from St. Andrew's to Williamstown attracted 79 canoes last year. As many as 118 canoes have participated during good weather.

A hot dinner will be served at St. Mary's Parish Centre in Williamstown starting at 2 p.m. Awards will be given out at the parish hall.

Registration takes place from 10 a.m. to noon at the school in St. Andrew's.

Canoes will launch three at a time, one minute apart, starting at noon.

Maurice Sauve, winner of last year's race, said there are some low spots in the river but the route is navigable.

"We went out on Monday and about one mile from St. Andrew's start, there is low water and lots of stones, but no danger."

He said there was plenty of flow in the river and canoeists can wind their way around the rocks.

Maurice Deguire teamed up with Sauve last year. This year Pierre Pinard of L'Orignal will be sharing the paddling with Sauve.

Martintown firehall expanding this summer

Martintown firehall will be expanded this summer with the help of five people to be hired through funds made available under the New Employment Expansion and Development (NEED) program, Stormont-Dundas MP Ed Lumley announced this week.

Thirteen projects totallying $1,184,904 in funding are the first to be approved under the program in Stormont-Dundas and will result in 145 new jobs here.

The Township of Charlottenburgh has been allotted $24,586 to hire people to build a new bay at the Martintown firehall to house the water truck. At present, the truck is being stored in rented accommodations elsewhere in the village.

The NEED program is designed to create new, productive employment for unemployed people who have exhausted their entitlement to unemployment insurance benefits or who are in receipt of social assistance. The job creation program was initiated by the federal government but is jointly funded with the Ontario government. Municipalities, voluntary non-profit organizations and private sector businesses are eligible to sponsor projects.

The Township of Roxborough is also taking advantage of the new program. They will use $11,898 to hire people for the cleaning and clearing of brush along township roadsides.

Other groups using the fund include the St. Lawrence Parks Commission which will receive $738,600 for personnel to upgrade facilities and landscaping at Upper Canada Village, upgrade facilities and picnic tables at Crysler Park and make improvements to park roads and campsites.

SD&G Counties Board of Education will put $154,000 toward repairs on the roof at Ecole Secondaire La Citadelle and general upgrading of their secondary schools.

Municipalities qualifying for funds include the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. An amount of $79,760 has been allotted for their weed control program, for repairs to buildings and to fencing of property.

The Village of Morrisburg will receive $48,924 to upgrade various municipal buildings.

Improvements to the community hall in the Village of Finch will be made with their $26,323 and the Township of Finch will use $21,630 to construct a storage building at the municipal office.

Anything can happen at Tory meeting

by Deb Rutherford

Anything can happen when local Progressive Conservatives gather April 27 to choose delegates to attend the June leadership convention in Ottawa.

That's the opinion of P.C. association president Jean Morrison and youth association president Ken Rock, neither of whom could say which of the declared leadership candidates would capture the support of the Prescott-Russell riding.

"There have been so many surprises across the country that I can't say what will happen here," commented Mr. Rock.

"We have to know who is running before we can give our support to anyone," said Mrs. Morrison in a separate interview. "I mean, you can't put your money on a horse until all the horses are in the starting gate, can you?"

"At the last convention, I supported Joe Clark," Mr. Rock said. "I felt he did a very good job. But, all the candidates have not been declared so it really is hard to say."

Neither would lend support to a rumour suggesting Ontario riding associations have been unofficially advised not to publicly support any candidate in case Premier Bill Davis declared his interest in the race.

"I haven't heard anything about that," Mrs. Morrison stated. "But you can't rule anybody out until after May 25. I don't think anybody really knows and you can't be sure until May."

Mr. Rock suggested the controversy arose following a recent televised interview with MPP Osie Villeneuve wherein the politician said he was for Joe Clark all the way unless Mr. Davis declared himself a candidate.

"The feeling in the provincial riding association is pro-Davis," Mr. Rock acknowledged.

"A lot of people in the riding would like to see him (Davis) run," said Mrs. Morrison. "Traditionally, the people here in the provincial riding of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell are used to voting Conservative.

"Personally, I think he's enough of a politician to make a real good splash with an announcement like this. He wouldn't just let it leak to the press," she continued.

At this point in time, Mr. Rock said, no pressure is being felt by the association to support any one of the declared candidates.

"I won't believe any pressure is being felt here. It's at the general meeting that the battle really begins," he explained. "As delegates come before the association, the floor opens up for discussion and they can say who they support if they wish to. In my opinion, the delegates to the leadership convention will go with an open mind."

Although as president of the association, Mrs. Morrison is automatically a delegate, Mr. Rock will have to stand for election April 27.

"I plan to stand as a delegate," he confirmed. "I know Jane McTeer will, too. She and I were both delegates to the Winnipeg convention."

The association will send six delegates to the Ottawa convention. In addition to the association president, two will be chosen from the youth association, one from the women's association and two more from the association at large. As well, alternates will be chosen in the event regular delegates drop out for any reason. Alternates do not have a vote at the convention unless the delegate does drop out.

Registration fees to attend the convention are set at $350 per person, which must be paid by the delegate.

"We have a bank account, but you can see it would cost thousands if we sent everyone," Mrs. Morrison estimated. "It would be nice if we could pay for the delegates to go. Some people may not offer themselves because of the cost. However, I can't stress what an opportunity this is. It's a good chance to see just how fragile the democratic system is."

Memberships in the party are increasing, although Mr. Rock says there is nothing unusual in this.

"Membership always builds when there is a convention coming up," he stated. "We usually have a membership drive every second year when conventions are coming up. But people can join anytime and we are always after members to renew their memberships."

Mr. Rock claims he is not too concerned with the problems other assoociations have experienced recently concerning nine-year-old party members voting for delegates.

"Different associations have different constitutions," he said. "With some, the minimum age is 18; with others, it's 16 and some associations have no age limit at all. Here the age limit is 18, so I don't anticipate any of those problems.

"It's too late for associations to make changes in their constitutions now, but I would imagine in future a lot of ridings will be making some changes."

Mrs. Morrison sees the June convention as a chance for the Progressive Conservative party to prove itself.

"We have some terrific associations across the country," she boasted. "We are well organized and we can deliver the goods. We're very serious people and we've got everything going for us if we just get out and use it.

"We have a great responsibility to the people of Canada," she continued. "It's not enough to be against Trudeau. Now we have got to be for a Progressive Conservative leader."

Glen-Stor-Dun still has a future

by Deb Rutherford

The future of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge may be uncertain but, according to administrator Marlene Wert, it still has a future.

"The building has to be replaced," she said in an interview with The News Thursday. "We recognize something has to be done—either relocate or rebuild—but there has been no talk of closing this operation.

"And, while we would not spend a lot of money that is not necessary, we will maintain the building and fix any mechanical breakdown," she added.

In stressing these points, Mrs. Wert said it was important to clear up any misconceptions people may have following her presentation of the lodge's annual report at last week's meeting of SD&G United Counties council.

At that time, Maxville Reeve George Currier, chairman of Glen Stor-Dun board of directors, asked, "What's the good of spending large amounts of money on a building we'll probably be getting rid of in a year?"

"I think he meant it would be foolish to spend a lot of money on a major renovation project," the administrator commented.

Mrs. Wert's report to council listed frequent breaks in the piping of the heating system, difficulty in regulating heat and obsolete fire alarm system and deficiencies in the electrical system, including an inadequate number of electrical outlets in offices and patients' rooms where extension cords are used instead.

On the positive side, Mrs. Wert assured councillors smoke detectors had been installed in many rooms where patients' smoking is considered hazardous. Regular fire drills are held, she said, and the lodge can be quickly and easily vacated since it is a single storey facility. This layout also means a fire could probably be contained in one wing.

The report came as no surprise to councillors, who agree with Cornwall city councillors that the present facility is unsatisfactory both from structural and size perspectives.

The lodge is maintained jointly by the City of Cornwall and SD&G United Counties. At the beginning of 1982, the counties had 94 residents while 62 were from Cornwall. By the end of the year, 93 residents were from the counties and 72 were from the city. At year end, 165 of the lodge's 210 beds were occupied.

The present structure is simply suffering from old age. The expectations and requirements of the elderly have changed since Glen-Stor-Dun opened in 1952.

"Homes for the aged 30 years ago were for people who were reasonably well but needed a place to live," explained Mrs. Wert. "Today there are senior citizens apartments, retirement homes, etc. so that homes for the aged are now for people requiring some sort of nursing care. Nursing homes can't take them all."

More and more residents need extended and then chronic care, something the lodge is not designed to provide, the administrator added.

In a study of the care required for 76 of the residents, Mrs. Wert discovered 25 required residential care, 32 required beteen 1½ and two hours of daily nursing, or extended care, 16 required 2½ to four hours of nursing care, which the lodge is not designed to provide, and three required between three and four hours of daily care.

Although Mrs. Wert has to keep the staff adjusted to handle chronic care, she said the real problem comes in funding rather than staffing. She suggested approximately 85 per cent of the operating costs in 1982 went toward wages.

In fact, the lodge ended 1982 with a deficit of $278,497, with 58 per cent of this total being charged back to the United Counties. Residents paid just over 35 per cent of their own expenses last year. Although the average municipally operated home in the province had residents paying 40 per cent of their costs, and charitable homes received an average of 60 per cent of their costs from residents, Mrs. Wert said it is unlikely Glen-Stor-Dun residents will be required to pay a greater percentage.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Alex MacLean visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods, John and Lora at Ingleside on Saturday to celebrate the birthday of Glen Hollister.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dickson spent Easter weekend with Mr. and Mrs. George Baxter. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Baxter and Janet went to Palmerston to attend the funeral of her father, Mr. George Wright, a former mayor of the town.

Mrs. Clarice Sinclair is present spending a few days in the Cornwall General, recovering from an eye operation. Mrs. Joanna MacLean is also in that hospital for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Besner spent Easter weekend in Renfrew with Mr. and Mrs. Rod MacDonald and family.

RUMMAGE SALE SET

Coming up shortly—the annual Spring Event for district housecleaners, collectors—and the Guides and Brownies. Their big Rummage Sale will be held on Thursday, April 21, from 6 to 9 p.m.and Friday, April 22 from 3 to 9 p.m. at the Maxville Sports Complex. In addition, the Pathfinders will have a Bazaar Table at the sale with baked goods, preserves and crafts. Donations of all kinds are needed—good, clean summer clothing, books and magazines, textiles, toys, kitchenware, etc., etc. You have it—they need it.

Always remember that the funds raised by the activities of these groups keep them going throught the year, and it is only possible with your constant support. The Calorie Counters were delighted to raise nearly $200 at their recent bake sale; the Veterans' Club made an equal amount and were also pleased to take in over $50 at their white elephant table, which is clear profit. And on a larger scale the Maxville collection for the Heart Foundation was about $2,000 and this was a substantial share of the county total of $12,000.

DRAW WINNER

Jean Murray won the Lions' Draw last week—for $105. And this week it was Mr. Lion himself—Romeo Aubin for $102.50. Only two more weeks to go—you have this week and next to get yourself on the winners' list.

FURTHER PLANS FOR NURSERY SCHOOL

Last Tuesday, an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of nursery school supporters was held at the office of MacEwen Fuels, Maxville, because the Senior Public School was unavailable during the March break. The meeting opened with a report from President Janice MacEwen regarding rental of a classroom at the Senior School in Maxville. Upgrading the heating in this room would be required, cost of which is to be borne by the Nursery School group and therefore concern was expressed by many about closure a year down the road.

A comprehensive list of furniture and supplies was presented with an estimate of capital costs and consumable supply expenses for the first year. Compiling a list of basic toys and equipment with good educational and play value, yet with an eye to costs, took thought and planning. Listening to a reading of the list made many envy this opportunity the children will have.

Fund raising continues with a dance planned for April 30 at the Maxville Sports Complex with Tony's Disco. Lunch will be served. Ticket sales for a quilt to be drawn June 4 are selling slowly but it was pointed out "We're not the only quilt in town!" Plans to sell tickets at a Cornwall shopping complex are being investigated. A lively discussion followed with the prospect of a "Dunk Tank" at the Maxville Fair to raise monies. This levity might have been due to the anticipation of dunking certain Maxville personalities—the OPP being forerunners in this group.

Making up the budget was the final item dealt with. Fees and fund raising projects will help defray costs, but support from the communities served by the nursery school and by the county will be needed. Establishment of a Nursery School is no small task, but while this is a small community it is obvious from the meetings that there is a great fund of resourcefulness, energy, and ideas.

Many parents are under the impression that they are required to stay with their children while they attend Nursery School. This is not the case. A teacher will be hired and two parents will be there as helpers, but this will be a responsibility shared equally among the parents. Donation of toys and children's furniture are still needed and can be dropped off during working hours at MacEwen's Fuels, Maxville.

Another meeting of interested parents for the Nursery School will be held on Tuesday, April 12 at 8 p.m. in the Maxville Senior Public School library. All welcome.

COLOR CO-ORDINATING

Color consulting is popular in the United States, Japan and Great Britain. It was introduced into Canada about three years ago—providing a practical solution for fashion conscious shoppers who want to economize, yet still look their best.

This new adventure in color co-ordination will be introduced by the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Ladies group of Maxville on Tuesday, May 17, at 8 p.m. at the Maxville and District Sports Complex.

Lynda Anderson, proprietor of "Seasons, Color Consulting" will demonstrate how everyone can achieve a tasteful, well-co-ordinated look by selecting colors which are most flattering to the individual's particular appearance. Mrs. Anderson and her consultants will discuss and answer questions on skin tone, skin care, wardrobe planning, and accessories—all designed to create a dazzling new you.

Plan to attend this exciting event with your friends. Tea and dessert will be served. Tickets are available from Barbara Beauty Salon in Avonmore, Danskin's Scottish Supplies in Maxville, and Ladies Auxiliary members Charlotte Kennedy, Fairley Kennedy, Janice MacEwen, Florence MacLennan, Helen MacLeod and Donnie Vallance.

Students may be eligible for loan

Students wishing to start their own summer business may be eligible for an interest-free loan of up to $2,000, Phil Gillies, parliamentary assistant to the Honorable Margaret Birch, provincial secretary for the Secretariat for Social Development, has announced.

"Last year we saw the number of businesses jump from 151 to 424. This year we are expecting even more students, to take advantage of the interest-free loans," Mrs. Birch said. The program is open to students 15 and over who are returning to school in the fall.

Those that have been successful in the past include: painting, landscaping and security services, as well as computer software production, boat rentals and fast food vending.

"This program develops a students' entrepreneurial skills and offers young people the opportunity to gain practical business experience," Phil Gillies advises.

The Student Venture Capital Program is sponsored by the Secretariat for Social Development and administered by the Ontario Youth Secretariat in co-operation with the Royal Bank and the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

Students wishing to apply can obtain application forms from secondary schools, college and university placement centres and the Ontario Youth Secretariat, 700 Bay Street, 2nd Floor, M5G 1Z6.

PetroCan gone too far

Big, three-color ads in the country's daily newspapers proclaim loudly Petro-Canada's latest expansion, following the purchase of BP (British Petroleum). Another 1,700 dealers and agents now join the giant, government owned petroleum company.

Maintaining what is now a constant theme, the ads use a nationalistic argument, claiming money by Canadians at PetroCan pumps goes back into Canadian hands. And now the national oil company can be found in 1,600 new locations in Ontario and Quebec.

The ads brag about great service, a claim made by all oil companies, then go on to say:

"In addition, you'll enjoy something you only get at a Petro-Canada station: the satisfaction of dealing with a company that is uniquely Canadian.

"The difference is vital: every dollar spent at a Petro-Canada station helps bring Canada closer to the goal of energy self-sufficiency, a goal we all share.

"Petro-Canada is your oil company, owned by you and by all Canadians. Every time you pull up to a Petro-Canada pump, you're pumping your money back into the search for tomorrow's energy. Back into jobs for Canadians. Back into Canada."

Those are arguments competing oil companies can't use with the same ring of authenticity. When it comes to marketing, Petro-Canada is the only oil company that has patriotism on its side, which gives it a significant advantage over competitors.

The state-owned company has another giant advantage when it comes to expansion, or any form of capital expenditure for that matter. It doesn't have to worry about where the money is coming from. The taxpayer's pocket seems bottomless in the minds of government and Crown corporation bureacrats.

As we have already seen, the government merely has to institute an additional tax on every gallon of gasoline and home-heating oil to pay for Petro-Can's buy-outs of competing firms. When the company wants to buy out still another, that tax is simply extended into the future, far beyond its stated cut-off date, to raise more billions.

In this fashion every motorist, regardless of where he buys his gasoline, and every oil company, every corner gas station, regardless of brand, and all their employees join with Canadians everywhere to help pay for one company's expansion.

There's no selling of shares here. We're all investors and shareholders, like it or lump it.

And PetroCan is, indeed, as unique as its ads claim. What company, in any industry, can expand primarily on the strength of dollars raised for it by its competitors?

PetroCan has ventured far beyond its original purpose—expanding oil and gas exploration in the mational interest.

It should never have been allowed to compete openly with private enterprise at the retail level. Every gallon of gas it sells is at the expense of private business, primarily small, independent agents trying to make their own way in a declining and fiercely competitive market. Through PetroCan, they're asked to compete with themselves and be proud of it.

Government should stay out of the market place as much as possible. At times intervention and direct market activity is necessary to save a vital industrial sector and its employees, such as aircraft manufacturing, for one example. This was hardly the case with the corner gas station.

There are strong arguments in favor of the government selling out most, if not all its Crown corporations, including CN Rail, Air Canada and the CBC. In all cases they are competing with independent businesses, which usually compete as well or better in spite of the obvious revenue advantages of their government-owned competitors. Federal Conservatives, led by Joe Clark in his brief stint as prime minister, talked of doing just that.

No matter the pros and cons concerning the long-standing Crown corporations, PetroCan is simply too much. It's too obvious and it is too powerful.

What is to stop any government from repeating the "success" of PetroCan in other industries? The potential is frightening.

PetroCan in its present form is a dangerous precedent. It's long past time to back away, but this government is not likely to consider such a move; fair play be damned.

Hopefully, another government will recognize the monster for what it is and kill it off before it becomes much more powerful.

Easter 1983 has now passed into history.

It wasn't the kind of day grandparents welcome when all the little Easter Feasters are coming to help make the day a big family occasion. Much too cold and wet to enjoy frolicking outside searching for bunny eggs around the trees.

Ah no! T'was evident the front door had to be left open to let Peter Rabbit in to scatter his eggs about the house. Then the eight grandchildren who live close enough to come for Easter dinner would be able to gather them in their little Easter baskets.

Alas, we hadn't reckoned on Bandit, the Allinott family dog who had also come for Easter. Bandit just had no respect at all for the Peter Rabbit tradition. Shortly before noon we noticed that all the Easter eggs that had been scattered around the stairway and floor corners were missing and Bandit was chomping delightfully on a bright yellow one when we discovered what was going on. Luckily a few had been beyond his reach.

Easter eggs were of a different sort when we were kids. It's hard to tell the family today as they select from several varieties of delicacies that back then, "eggs" were the feast.

At our home on that day we could not eat as many eggs as we wanted—poached, boiled, fried or whatever, for breakfast, dinner or supper. Oh there were a few candy ones that were mighty welcome too because we hadn't been allowed candy of any kind all through Lent. But there certainly weren't enough of them to collect in baskets.

In spite of the noise, fuss and bustle it was a happy day to have 20 of us together for a while and hear from the others by phone so actually we were all together in spirit.

It was the first time in my life I hadn't had an Easter greeting from an aunt of mine, Sister Mary Annunciata, because she died in February. I had always taken those cards for granted—on my birthday, Christmas and Easter: always, always she remembered. And it mattered not at all that repeatedly I had missed her special days.

Always the cards and letters kept coming, bringing little messages of kindly thoughts and encouragement. It was her way of always reaching out across the miles to bring joy. I suppose her absence then was most noticeable at this particular season of joy.

Joy, after all, is what Easter is all about. How to capture this joy and make it not only a part of our own lives but that of others is the everlasting challenge.

Cistercian monk Basil Pennington says "an abiding state of joy" does not just happen; it has to be cultivated. Since most of us are programmed more for suffering than joy we must "reprogram" ourselves.

One way to do this, advises Pennington is to learn to smile more and try to make pleasant and complimentary comments to others as often as possible. This should evoke a similar response, reinforcing our own new direction.

Another way is to reflect on each person who closely affects our lives, noticing the good in each. Here there should be much to contemplate since each is an image of God.

If we are going to make any change in our lives, it can only be a gradual process. And while these two little suggestions may not sound very challenging, it may be a bigger task than we realize. We'll only know if we try.

Leading from behind

As the mad rush begins among area Progressive Conservatives to choose delegates for the June leadership convention in Ottawa, a few moments should be given to sober reflection on the candidates seeking Joe Clark's former job.

Quebec businessman Brian Mulroney is generally conceded to have emerged from the pack and become the major challenger for the Tories' top spot, and, depending on who is telling the story, he and the former prime minister are now running neck and neck for support from delegates already chosen for the convention.

Riding organizations in Stormont-Dundas (Charlottenburgh) and Nepean-Carleton will soon hold their delegate selection meetings and it seems that at present Mr. Clark is the first choice among members of the riding association executives, although Ottawa-Carleton's membership has so ballooned in the past few days, from 75 to over 500, that no one can be certain from where, and for which candidates, this support is coming.

Mr. Mulroney has been a Tory eminence grise since losing out in his first leadership bid in 1976. Haunting backrooms and corporate boardrooms for the past seven years, he has consistently declined to put his name on the line by attempting to enter parliament.

The president of the Iron Ore Company of Canada has had several opportunities to re-ignite his leadership desires via the traditional route of a seat in the House of Commons, but he passed up the chance in the 1979 and 1980 federal elections and in the 1981 byelection for the Quebec riding of Joliette.

Surely this must leave party members wondering about Mr. Mulroney's dedication to the parliamentary system of government when he has consistently resisted the traditional—although by no means obligatory—avenues open to leadership hopefuls.

Even our Perpetual Prime Minister served his apprenticeship as an MP and cabinet minister before being elevated to the purple in 1968, but Mr. Mulroney seems intent on injecting the U.S. presidential style of politics into the Canadian system.

Why has Mr. Mulroney been so reticent about seeking a seat in parliament? Why has he so consistently denied himself to the party he now seeks to lead? Why should he be surrounded by the aura of success when he has failed to lead his company through the recession (the soon-to-be ghost town of Schefferville, PQ, will bear silent witness to his effectiveness as a business leader)? What guarantees are there that he will be any better for Canada than he was for Schefferville?

Conservatives will have to wrestle with their own private angels to come up with these answers and in the meantime they must also consider how ironic it is that an American style campaign should be conducted for the leadership of their party and, should Mr. Mulroney be successful, that they finished the headlong rush to republicanism started by the Liberals.

Second look

By Phil Rutherford

Alexandria IGA and the Canadian Tire store across the road joined forces last Thursday for their first "Midnight Madness" sale. Both stores advertised the special sale briefly in advance, featuring several sale items each.

Judging by the success of the effort, I expect it will be repeated and, more than likely, additional business will pick up on the promotional idea.

Three of us dropped into the IGA just after 11:30 p.m. and we were stunned by what we found. The parking lot was overflowing with cars and many more had been left on both sides of the street. A good many couples had obviously split up on their arrival, with one heading for the groceries and the other taking in the sale at Canadian Tire.

In the IGA the crowds were massive and the many employees were rushing, often running, to keep pace with the flow through the aisles and checkouts. At one point earlier in the evening the store had run out of shopping carts.

It was a great promotion and one that should be expanded in future. Alexandria's Chamber of Commerce, headed by IGA owner Marc Lalonde, could play a big role in organizing a town-wide Midnight Madness sale that could benefit a wide variety of businesses.

Every week readers could turn to the letters page of The News and find more epistles pertaining to the controversy surrounding proposed alterations to the interior of St. Finnan's Cathedral.

It has got to the point that some readers, dropping into our office early on Wednesday afternoons, ask how many such letters the latest issue carries.

I am not a parishioner at St. Finnan's and, subsequently, I do not have the same "feel" for the building or the issue at stake as many obviously do possess. For the same reason, I am not prepared to state any opinion on the dispute. I do not feel qualified and it's probably none of my business.

What does distress me is the magnitude and growing bitterness of the controversy. Surely a church is the last place where such bitter divisions should develop and the first place where they should be resolved.

I do feel that The News, no matter how honorable its motives, has not helped. On the the contrary, the few stories we have written and the dozens of letters we have published have probably served more to fan the flames than to extinguish the blaze.

The argument can be made, and strangly so, that this newspaper should never have published news articles on the planned changes that the church is not a public body and therefore its business is of a private and not public nature.

The contrary view, and obviously the one that held in this office, is that the proposal directly affected a great many of our readers, that St. Finnan's is valued historically by a great many people in and out of the parish and that, therefore, it was properly a news story and one we could not in good conscience ignore.

That's been our approach to date.

But it is obvious to me, at least, that it has got out of hand. Already we have been forced to reject two letters submitted for publication because they were either libelous or contained statements that were in extremely poor taste. At least two others had to be edited to remove similar remarks.

Two more letters are contained in this week's issue. I can conceive of no argument that has not been repeatedly and forcefully made already by letter writers.

I have come very close this week to making a flat statement that we would accept no more letters regarding St. Finnan's beyond next week's issue. That would have allowed for fair warning and the opportunity for those who disagree with this week's letters to reply.

I could have justified that decision, but I am afraid of the precedent it would appear to set. We encourage letters. Our letter page is a valuable public forum for our readers to express their fair opinions on a wide range of issues. I do not want that right curtailed.

Scottish right to preserve heritage

by Angus H. McDonell

The theme of our contribution to this issue is not the realm of sport, politics, history or a tribute to a distinguished Glengarrian. The subject is relative to the current topic—The Saga of St. Finnan's.

The time has come for a rebuttal on behalf of what is clearly estimated to be the majority of St. Finnan's parish. (Majority based on evidence of attendance at open church meetings and unbiased polls including the youths).

Opposition to the proposed changes to the sanctuary is not new. Those were heavily voiced at the outset. This attitude re-surfaced in December when the matter, so to speak, was taken off the back burner.

There is no need reviewing the suggested changes here because they have been reported in detail in this paper.

Criticism, regrettably in the most part from outsiders, of the dissenters has been severe and unwarranted. It is in complete contrast to our Rector, Msgr. D.B. McDougald's, plea that the matter be discussed with an open mind and no show of ill feeling towards a neighbor.

The parishioners resenting the changes, who incidentally requested this writer to be their spokesman, have obeyed their Rector with respect. In fact Msgr. McDougald was quoted by the press re a meeting dialogue, "It was held in good taste".

Those dissenters have the same belief in and love of God as anyone else. They hold a difference of opinion on a matter steeped in history that will be eliminated by change, a symbol of their Scottish heritage that will disappear for all time. To object is their undeniable church and God-given right.

As evidence of that assertion I ask you to turn to page 13, Sacred Liturgy, Vatican Council II. Read paragraph D—Norms of adapting the Liturgy to the Temperament and Traditions of Peoples, 37. "Even in the liturgy, the Church does not wish to impose a rigid uniformity in matters which do not involve the faith or the good of the whole community. Rather does she respect and foster the qualities and talents of the various races and nations. Anything in these people's way of life which is not indissolubly bound up with superstition and error she studies with symptahy, and, if possible, preserves intact, provided they harmonize with its true and authentic spirit."

Now double check that paragraph. Note in particular, "do not wish to impose a rigid uniformity...she (the Church) respects and fosters the qualities and talents of the various races...she studies with sympathy, etc".

Now will someone out there tell me why, when the Church does not wish to impose a rigid uniformity and studies with sympathy, etc; tell me why St. Finnan's sanctuary cannot be left as the obvious majority desires? Tell me why we shouldn't be treated with sympathy and the right to preserve?

The objectors to change observe the sanctity of the sanctury, the presence of our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament, just as faithfully as anyone. Including those exhibiting a holier-that-thou attitude.

In addition to devotion, those parishioners regard the sanctuary as a memorial, a symbol of the heritage handed down by our ancestors to maintain and preserve.

This St. Finnan's Scottish history began almost 200 years ago, in Glengarry, Scotland. The founder was a young priest, Father Alexander Macdonell. He was the padre of the exclusive R.C. battalion, the Glengarry Fencibles. In addition to his priestly duties he was a brilliant leader on and off of battlefields.

At the turn of the century, Father Macdonell arranged with British politicians, (The European Irish war was over), to lead his depressed highlanders, who included many Presbyterians, to Glengarry, Upper Canada. In due course, Father Macdonell, due to his integrity and leadership, was consecrated first bishop of Upper Canada. And later as a direct result St. Finnan's was founded, and almost 100 years ago designated to be the seat of the Alexandria diocese.

The cathedral, briefly, was designed and built by degrees to its present historic stage. This noble pioneer work was achieved by the succeeding bishops, priests, our ancestors and grandparents. Days and days of gratis labor. Financial aid until it hurt. That is what St. Finnan's, in this matter, is all about. A show of loyalty to maintain and preserve that heritage.

Because the apparent majority stood up to be counted, which is their right, against demolition, herewith are samples of rebutal from the powers that be. Inference that we don't know the difference between a church and a museum; St. Finnan's, declared in a telephone message, is the most stubborn and ignorant parish in the diocese (don't let anyone say that is a misquote) ; we were exhibitors of scandal, venom, etc; we were to stand or fall by our bishop and the proverbial straw that broke the camel's back, a devout parishioner was told, "If you don't like the leadership go elsewhere". Those remarks can only be classed as slightly less than blackmail.

I ask you out there, when Jesus Christ was on earth teaching the Apostles the preaching of the 10 Commandments, did He use such terms of phraseology? Does our beloved Pope John Paul, after he steps off an aircraft and caresses the tarmac demonstrating his humility and love for mankind, is that the way he wishes Vatican II to be expounded?

I was so filled with disgust, I guess I should say disappointment, with the foregoing that I set out to discover if we were a separate breed bordering illiteracy or did we have friends sharing our preservation views.

I would select professionals, I mean of professional status in his or her life's endeavor.

Commentary in sequence; Alexandria: Our French brethren of Sacred Heart Parish... "Don't let them make a mess of St. Finnan's the way they did of our church... if you Scottish let them ruin your beautiful church, you don't deserve one... the project is one of grandeur... not soul saving... all nonsense".

St. Columbans: Don't blame Father McDougald for the dissension here... it was his two curates who were the driving force behind this disaster... parish councils are only a rubber stamp".

St. Andrews: "If you (St. Finnan's) lose this battle we will be next... that will mean digging trenches".

Martintown: "If I belonged to St. Finnan's I wouldn't want those changes either".

Williamstown: "For the life of me I can't understand the reason for changing that beautiful church and sanctuary".

St. Raphael's: "After the fire we had to fight dictatorship to retain our parish".

On to Hamilton: "A Cathedral parishioner there for 13 years said, "We had the same problem as you... it was settled by fire damages... we retained the wooden pulpit but didn't restore the railing".

Thorold: A pillar of the parish and of Glengarry roots told me, "Thorold is 50 per cent Italian and so is our parish. Marble to Italians is like heather in Scotland... our main altar was sliced in half... they were furious... we were unhappy, too... there is too much dictatorship and not enough democracy". That is exactly what I was told in St. Columban's and St. Raphael's.

St. Catharines: They have their problems, too, but not relative to ours.

Now on to Ottawa. I wished to see the interior of the Basilica, Archbishop Aurel Plourde's church. The doors were locked. So I'll relate the experience of a St. Finnan's colleague parishioner who was on the same mission recently. He found no changes. He asked a priest he met, why? He was told that among the reasons was history.

At St. Joseph's, Sandy Hill, changes yes. No surprise, as among their parishioners are members from "Ambassador Row". In my day, ushers wore morning dress.

Now I'll end this safari at St. Patrick's. The last bastion of the legendary Irish from Lower Town in the Bytown days to its glory on Upper Town, Kent Street.

I had the honor of meeting in the vestry, Msgr. Gerald Fogerty. The greeting was with words of retrospect. "I remember you, Angus, I played golf with you and Father Eagen one day a long time ago". He continued relative to St. Finnan's. "I know your beautiful church. I have been there. I was present the day Bishop Smith was consecrated".

Our dialogue began with my suggestion that in answer to a few pertinent church questions our talk would be newspaper fashion, "Off the record".

Reply. "No, on the record, tell everyone".

The Msgr. stressed that the church only asks for moderation —not extremes. For instance, he said, "A few of our good sisters skilled with a crochet hook may have embroidered surplices a bit too much. Sometimes too many altar flowers. And now we have some priests wearing flashy ties and shirts, you don't know them". "and", he continued, "there are extremes in carrying our church interior or sanctuary changes". "We have had that here (Ottawawa). The result is that St. Patrick's congregation has been supplemented by those dissatisfied faithful". Some Saturday masses standing room only, four priests serving communion. To emphasize his point Msgr. Fogerty leaned forward a bit, eyed a side door and with hands out as if holding a sling shot, quipped, "In some churches it was... Z-I-N-G.. and out goes everything".

Need anything more be said?

I retreated into the church. Stood facing the sanctuary. I couldn't believe my eyes. Here is this beautiful edifice, venerable with age, just as I knew it first at mass 50 years ago. From the dome ceiling hangs the traditional sanctuary lamp. (Where did St. Finnan's go?) The main altar as of yore. One crucifix above the tabernacle. Altar boys' pews exactly as St. Finnan's used to have. A wooden altar to celebrate mass facing the congregation and on a carpeted base slightly above floor level.

The bishop's chair facing the sanctuary and mass celebrant. The lofty wood canopy blending with the church decor. Now if the location of this chair is suitable to be occupied on occasions by either Archbishop Plourde or Auxiliary Bishop Beahen, why isn't the chair in St. Finnan's regarded in the same manner?

Then, similar to St. Finnan's, that beautiful marble railing. Complete with padded base to kneel on while receiving communion. (Just like those desiring the same privilege in Stellarton, N.S.)

Finally, again like St. Finnan's that is slated for demolition, the marble pulpit in line with a row of pillars complete with mini-lectern.

Now in view of the aforementioned facts will someone out there tell us why if heritage has entrenched Montreal's historic French Notre Dame church, and we understand Archbishop Plourde's Basilica, plus respecting the Irish descendants at St. Patrick's by allowing them to worship in a traditional way as the church permits... then why cannot the Scottish descendants, on a pro rata basis along with their fellow compatriots of various heritage, continue to keep and preserve our beloved St. Finnan's as it is and as it should always be, thus preserving as was intended our historic heritage. Amen.

Instead I ask those considering writing letters on the St. Finnan's controversy to weigh the matter carefully before putting their thoughts on paper. Please avoid personalities. Personal criticism and obvious antagonism will only cause damage.

Do you have anything positive to contribute to the debate? Or are you merely repeating the same argument that has been made a dozen times or more before?

No, we are not going to refuse publication of letters just because they deal with St. Finnan's. If some readers want to keep the debate going through letters to the editor we'll feel obligated to publish them, subject to the usual limits for libel and good taste.

But I do believe everyone involved would be much better served if the issue was simply left alone for a while, so divisions can be mended and injured feelings can be healed.

A decision will be made, hopefully in a better atmosphere that which now exists.

SOMETHING Moses never wrote. Our Saviour Jesus commandments told to me, a christian, in His Spirit. Love my Father and Jesus for we are love. And love your neighbor as you love your children. Try not to steal unless you are starving. Do not kill under any circumstances. Do not love another man's wife or husband, or husband and husband, or wife and wife, as to break up a family or hurt the children. Love the animals, try not to eat them. Love plants for they are the giver of life. Respect the law of your country and pray to Me, Jesus, so I can pray to my Father to change the injustices of the world. Love and follow the commandments of my sweet Moses. Love with your fullest of human love, your wife and especially your children. Love your parents as you love Me, Jesus. Do not be prejudiced. Do not commit abortion for it's murder. Love the children of the world more than you love, I Jesus.

Town building permits are down

In spite of the recession and high interest rates, building in the county in 1982 appears to have continued at a fairly normal rate.

There were fewer building permits issued in 1982 for the Town of Alexandria but the estimated value was up $338,165 from the previous year.

Seventy-three permits in 1982 were valued at $1,864,058 while 91 permits totalled 1,525,893 in 1981.

The major permits were for the addition to Glengarry District High School in the amount of $1,503,453 and for the warehouse for Alexandria Moulding for $78,000.

There were 55 permits for improvements of residences valued at $185,258 and seven permits for new garages and carports at $17,700. There were only two new homes built, five commercial improvements and one swimming pool.

In 1981, there were no new homes and the permit for the new apartment building at $1,200,000 was taken out that year although construction did not take place until 1982.

All alterations over $100 and new buildings require permits.

In the Village of Maxville, construction was minimal and in the Village of Lancaster, permits were issued for five new houses.

In the Township of Lancaster, however, building was booming in the past year with permits for $2,298,276; up $923,776 from the previous year.

There were 23 new homes built and 21 extensions to homes. In November alone, requests for permits were for $540,654, reports Inspector Lionel Levac.

In Lancaster Township, no permits are required for improvements to existing dwellings but permits are necessary for even the smallest building to assure that its location and specifications are within requirements.

In this township too, permits are required for farm and agricultural buildings so a great deal of the building includes barns, grain bins, silos and implement sheds.

In Charlottenburgh Township however, there is no permit required at present for agricultural buildings, according to Wendy Shoniker who does much of the office work for Building Inspector Howard Rose.

The Township however, prefers to have a record of the new buildings for assessment purposes so appreciates when people phone in the information to keep records up to date. Permits, may become mandatory for assessment purposes in the future, Ms. Shoniker notes.

All other repairing, additions or new buildings do require permits in the township, with different areas having different requirements.

A permit for a new home requires approval from the Department of Health and a complete set of plans and the cost is $1 per thousand of evaluation.

If however, application is from an area south of Old Highway 2, there must be approval from the Raisin Region Conservation Authority, and Ministry of Natural Resources as well as the Department of Health.

All renovations must also have a permit.

Permits in Charlottenburgh were highest in the county at, $3,564,854. Of this, Char-Lan High School addition of $1,324,274 was the largest amount and Kraft Foods was $230,000.

By comparison, permits in 1981 were $1,778,176; in 1980 - $2,301,660 but in 1979 had been $4,364,395.

In 1982 there were 34 new homes built but in the three previous years there were 35, 37 and 98, respectively.

Permits in Lochiel Township were $1,303,150 last year, down slightly from $1,582,783 in 1981.

There were 15 new single family dwellings, a repeat from the year before and two building permits for "accessory" mobile homes; that is, on farm property for family connections. There are no mobile home parks in the township.

Permits are required for any renovations to existing buildings in excess of $800; for any addition larger than 800 square feet and for agricultural buildings. Any extension to a family dwelling must also have a certificate from the Board of Health.

Value of building permits in Kenyon Township in 1982, totalled $1,946,250. This was down slightly from the value in 1981 at $2,058,700.

Included were 34 permits for new homes, garages or sheds on residential lots, to a value of $1,655,250; farm buildings $152,000; extension to residences $121,900.

T. Addison is township building inspector.

through you. I am, therefore, asking the Parish Pastoral Council of St. Finnan's to supervise a consultative vote of the parish on the plans which I propose to you. I ask that each eligible voter cast his vote conscientiously and that there be no lobbying or campaigning. If you want me to consider this parish vote seriously, (and I fully intend to do so, as I have always done with my various consultative bodies), then you must vote prayerfully and with personal responsibility.

My hope is that the parish as a whole will unite in faith no matter what my final decision may be. If the vote indicates to me that it would be possible to proceed, then, according to a principle set down by the diocesan finance committee, we must have at least half of the total cost before we can proceed (the other half would be loaned by the diocesan loan fund at the going interest, which this year is six per cent).

May I assure you that I bear no resentment toward anyone and that I really seek to lead you in the name of the Lord.

Eugene P. LaRocque,
Bishop of Alexandria-Cornwall.

Drain proceeding

The Township of Roxborough will proceed with the Payne Drain project with or without a one-third federal grant, Deputy-reeve George Crites announced at a special council meeting March 28.

Attending the meeting were representatives of the Townships of Osnabruck and Finch and the Village of Finch who will share the cost of the project.

Mr. Crites said council's decision was based on the fact that 74 per cent of the project is being funded by the ratepayers of Roxborough Township and MP Ed Lumley had advised them that the deadline for contracts to be awarded would be June, 1983.

Without considering any grants and allowances, Roxborough will have to contribute $234,635.69 to the cost of the project. The Township of Finch is responsible for $43,714.58 and the Township of Osnabruck for $39,913.38. The Village of Finch was assessed for $188.50 and its representatives agreed to support the proposed drain.

Osnabruck Township representatives said they would hold a public meeting to determine ratepayers' feelings towards the proposed expenditure and Finch Township representatives advised the matter would be brought back to a council meeting in the near future.

At the beginning of the council meeting, Reeve Garnet Robertson declared a conflict of interest and left the premises.

New chamber is meeting . . .

"We have a new industry coming to town on a test basis," he explains, "and they are really enthused with the results they have gotten from working people here. You don't have to go out of town to find skilled workers."

In order to realize these expectations for the Chamber, Mrs. McDonald outlines seven committees which will require some enthusiastic members. These include a membership committee, finance committee, industrial committee, program committee, telephone and mailing committee, publicity committee and a committee to monitor proceedings at town council meetings to see how these will affect the Chamber.

"The idea of establishing a Chamber of Commerce here was to bring business people closer together in the community," explains Mr. Lalonde. "We can be a strong voice in our community.

"These days, newspapers use anything bad that people say about a community," he adds, referring to Judge J.F.R. Levesque's recent comments concerning violence in Alexandria. "We want to promote our town, not run it down."

Mr. Lalonde extends an invitation to anyone interested in participating in the new Chamber of Commerce to attend tonight's meeting at the town hall.

Says reform necessary for progress

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

In its editorial page of Wednesday, March 16, The Glengarry News strongly emphasized the importance of the Peace March organized by Development and Peace in collaboration with other churches and associations.

Hundreds of people took part in the slow march to demonstrate their concern for peace and social justice, as well as their solidarity with the Third World where all contributions to war preparations constitute a major obstacle to the real development of the population. All are opposed to this militarization which causes exploitation, domination and often repression. They have requested the so-called "democratic" government to take action in order to establish peace and to promote development.

For Development and Peace, such an objective will certainly require more than good words and even more than financial aid. The participants of this Peace March were no doubt aware of this fact and this led them to ask for structural and economic changes in our society as well as for political action along this line.

To ask for such a reform, however, cannot be qualified as being political: it is a necessity for our world. Our Bishops maintained this affirmation in a pastoral letter in 1968: "It is necessary to understand that the obstacles to development are often found in our own structures, mental, social, economic, industrial and policital—it is these we must accept and transform".

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your editorial and to express the hope that those who see political and anti-Christian attitudes in such a manifestation will come to understand the meaning and the necessity for this type of action.

News from Dunvegan

by Marion L. Loewen

Muriel Stewart of Ottawa visited with Mrs. Mary Fraser on the weekend and visited with her former neighbors.

Betty Kennedy has returned home after spending a week in Lachine visiting with Sara and George Andrews.

John and Marion Loewen, accompanied by Mrs. H. Hampel of the Manor, spent Easter Sunday at a family gathering at the home of John and Donna Loewen of Lunenburg.

Donald Clark spent Easter Sunday visiting at the home of John and Donna Loewen of Lunenburg.

Gabriel Ladouceur of Green Valley spent the Easter weekend visiting with his grandparents, Noel and Annie Ladouceur.

We hope that Russell Morrison, who is a patient in the Hotel Dieu in Cornwall, will soon be well and home again.

Johnny Carpenter is still a patient in the Glengarry Memorial Hospital at Alexandria. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Jessie MacLeod is still a patient in the Civic Hospital in Ottawa. We hope there will soon be an improvement in her condition.

Please do not forget the regular meeting of the Dunvegan Recreation Association at 8 p.m. on April 11 at the school house. We need new members and new ideas. Please show us your support!

Remember, April is Cancer Month. I hope that everyone will support the drive when someone comes to your homes to call. Remember, that the money given to the Terry Fox fund does not do the same work and does not go to the same fund that these contributions do.

Also, please remember that those who contributed to the Quebec based organization, Cancer Research Inc., did not contribute to the Cancer Society. The Cancer Research Inc., is a legitimate organization established in 1946, nut many people have been confused since they have extended their fund-raising to include Ontario, and think they are giving to the Society. Please do not forget about the work of the Canadian Cancer Society, and give as you have before. It is terribly important that the Society work go on, and it is only as you give that this work can be done.

Now I come to a place where I must say a few words on my behalf. After thinking long and hard about this column. I have come to the conclusion that it is time for me to say goodbye. I have made many friends while writing this column, and I appreciate all the support I have received from those who have sent in their news. I hope that you will continue to send in your news to our new columnist, Mrs. Betty Kennedy. She has kindly consented to take over and carry on the column. I hope those who supported me will do so with her. This little space means a great deal to those who no longer live in Dunvegan, and it can only continue if everyone does their best. I wish Betty good luck in her new endeavour, and say thanks to all those faithful contributors and readers. Anyone wishing to send their contributions as they always have, I will see that she gets them.

Georgette Paiement spent the Easter holiday in Tupper Lake, N.Y., with Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Payment.

Condolences are extended to Miss Paiement on the recent passing of her cousin, Gaetanne Payment, who passed away March 21 after a long illness in Tupper Lake Nursing Home.

Kathleen and Etta McMeekin, Ottawa spent the Easter holiday with their brother Mack.

The Easter holiday was a busy one at the Chapman's this year. Daughter Lorna Pinsonneault of St. Blaise and granddaughter Danielle Lauriel of Outrement, spent the weekend and 20 family members were present for Sunday dinner; with each group contributing to the fare for a wonderful festive meal.

Sincere sympathy to Mrs. Josette Seville on the recent death of her husband Marcel at the General Hospital in Cornwall and to Monique McCracken on the passing of her father.

St. Andrew's War

St. Andrew's West, Ont.

Editor:

The article in today's News by Dorothy Macdonald states that St. Finnan's Cathedral is an historic monument, so it should be left intact.

I agree with that statement completely.

But she adds: It is the only church in the diocese still untouched. Well new pews were added in our church about 20 years ago and the gate of the communion rail was removed about the same time. What some call the windbreak, was added near the back door. Those are the only changes made in our wonderful old church, and may I add that we do not wish to have more.

In 1972 the Bishop then wished to sell a large part of the parish farm that they owned since 1817. Many of the parishioners disputed his right to sell their property. They engaged a lawyer from Ottawa and won the argument.

Definition of Francophone may be an issue

Six "Francophone" trustees will be added to the SD&G County Board of Education as a result of the province's new French education program.

The major difficulty may be determining who is a "Francophone", Trustee Lucien Chenier suggested yesterday.

Chenier, who represents separate school electors in Lochiel and Lancaster Townships and Lancaster Village, said he was pleased with the new law guaranteeing French-speaking children an education in their language anywhere in Ontario.

"Short of homogeneous French boards, it's the best thing," Chenier said.

The proposed law "intends to recognize the right of every French-speaking pupil to an education in the French language," a government release says.

"The proposed legislation will, in effect, remove the condition 'where numbers warrant' in the provision of education for minority language pupils in Ontario."

School boards will be responsible for providing this education if only one child requires it. If the local board cannot supply French language education, it will be responsible for paying transportation and lodging for the student to attend a French school in another jurisdiction.

The proposed legislation provides for the election of Francophone trustees in proportion to the number of French-language students within the board's jurisdiction.

In the SD&G case, six Francophones would be added to the 19-member board.

The law is not being applied to separate school boards due to constitutional problems, although negotiations will take place to see if similar arrangements can be made.

"The government believes that the proposal can also apply to separate school boards," the release says.

"It has been argued, however, that the powers guaranteed at Confederation to separate school electors as a whole cannot be divided among different classes of separate school supporters. That is to say, a division of powers within a separate school board based upon language may be open to question."

Separate School Board Trustee Aime Marcoux said he hoped the law could be adapted to the Catholic board.

"I represent a greater French-speaking area than most of the trustees," the Alexandria, Kenyon, Maxville representative said.

"In that area there is only one English separate school".

Chenier said there will have to be some discussion at the public board over criteria for electing the new trustees.

"What's the definition of a Francophone? he asked. "Is it French-speaking or French origin?"

Chenier said it was important that the trustees have cultural links with the French-speaking students.

He suggested being "bilingual" was not sufficient because "The cultural end comes into it and this is why I feel Francophones should make the decisions."

Chenier said the new law would allow the Francophone trustee to make decisions on purely French school issues, while the Anglophones would decide English school matters.

Both ethnic groups would vote on items of joint concern.

Chenier questioned the motives of Premier Bill Davis in making the sudden announcement on French language rights.

"Why does he do it now? We've been after him for 10 years to do it."

The legislation will also guarantee similar English language rights where Anglophones are a minority in the province.

The law will be implemented in time to provide for election of trustees in 1985, the release says.

Traffic lights approved

Tenders are being solicited this week by the Town of Alexandria for the installation of traffic lights at the intersection of Lochiel and Main Streets.

The Ministry of Transportation and Communications recently awarded $40,000 to the town to cover 90 per cent of the cost of installation of the new signals. Under a cost sharing agreement, the town will pay the balance.

The busy intersection has long been a source of concern for residents and town officials because of the heavy pedestrian traffic across Main Street. Sacred Heart Church and Ecole Perpetuel Secours are both located at the intersection.

Public Works Superintendent Jean-Guy Levert says he hopes the new lights will be completely installed by the beginning of the school year in the fall.

Roto-Rooter has been awarded the contract by the Town of Alexandria for the flushing and cleaning of sewers and pumping the catch-basins.

The company, which has had the contract in the past, was given the nod by town council last week at their regular meeting. The Montreal firm was successful over one other company invited to bid on the contract.

Milano owner granted extension

The Town of Alexandria has granted a 30-day extension to restaurant owner Dionisios Scrivano to effect a clean-up at the site of his former business, 22 Main St. North.

Mr. Scrivano was in Alexandria on March 16 and met with Jean-Guy Levert, the town property standards officer, following several attempts by the town to have the site cleaned up.

The restaurant was destroyed by a fire February, 1982.

The owner's lawyer, Albert J. Roy of Vanier, informed the town in a letter last October that attempts were being made to obtain a settlement from the insurance company involved, but that the company had not been "overly co-operative."

On January 25, the town sent official notification to the restauranteur through his lawyer that he had 60 days to commence work to bring the property up to standard, in compliance with the property standards bylaw.

Mr. Scrivano told town officials on March 16 he intended to rebuild his restaurant business once the claim had been settled.

If further delays occur after the extension deadline of April 25, the town will have the option of initiating action on its own to make improvements at the site.

Requests survey

Alexandria has applied for a grant under "Experience '83", a federal government program to create summer jobs for students.

If the grant is approved, the town intends to hire one student to conduct a survey to determine the number of senior citizens who require geared to income accommodation.

"At the time the newest senior citizens complex opened there were 32 people on the waiting list", said Mayor J.P. Touchette. "I've received a lot of calls from people who want to come back to determine if additional accommodation of this type is required."

The mayor said the town originally was responsible for 7½ per cent of the deficit in the operation of the housing projects, but the province has since assumed total responsibility for any deficits incurred.

The grant would allow for one student to conduct a personal contact survey of senior citizens and provide assistance in filling out a questionnaire.

The amount requested was $1,223, with the town meeting the balance of the total cost of $1,747.

Three teams vy for News Cup

by Sean Sullivan

Three area teams, Glengarry Juniors, Dunvegan and Glen Nevis, vying for the Glengarry News Cup began a double round robin tournament Friday at Glengarry Sports Palace.

The Glengarry Juniors won their first game 3-2 over Dunvegan. In the first period, the Juniors opened the scoring thanks to Luc Sabourin who set up Andy McRae at the 3:08 mark.

In second peiod action, Dunvegan tied it up with a goal by Charles Giroux with Willie Kippen assisting on the play

Going into the third period, Andy McRae got his second of the night giving the Juniors a 2-1 lead. Shortly after, Dunvegan's Brendon McDonald slapped a hard shot by goaltender Germain Sauve, tying it once again. But that tie was broken 24 seconds later thanks to Andy McRae who set up Joey McRae for the game winner. Final score of the game was 3-2 for the Glengarry Juniors.

Dunvegan managed to defeat Glen Nevis 7-4 Sunday at the Sports Palace.

Joscelyn Ranger of Glen Nevis opened the scoring 10 minutes into the first period. Nearing the conclusion of the opening period Alain Raymond of Dunvegan tied it at 1.

In the second period Dunvegan took a 2 goal lead thanks to Brendon McDonald and Charles Giroux. Glen Nevis' Dwayne Spinks narrowed the gap to one goal making the score at the end of the second period Dunvegan 3, Glen Nevis 2.

In third period action, Glen Nevis' Lyle Ross tied it at 3. But Dunvegan's domination in the last five minutes of the game provided them with four goals. The first of these came from Darrel Hay and nineteen seconds later Alain Raymond gave Dunvegan a 5-3 deficit. At 3:36 Darrel Hay once again was credited for his efforts but fifteen seconds later it was Dwayne Spinks of Glen Nevis who made it 6-4.

At the conclusion of the final period, Dunvegan's Charles Giroux singled to give Dunvegan a 7-4 win over Glen Nevis.

Next games are Friday night at 8:30 p.m., Glengarry Juniors vs. Glen Nevis and Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m., Glengarry Juniors vs. Dunvegan.

Peewee Glens take home division finals

by Claudette Francoeur

The Bank of Montreal Peewee Glens won the Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League Peewee division finals on Friday, April 1, in Williamstown.

The local squad pulverized Char-Lan 7-2 last Wednesday in the first game at the Glengarry Sports Palace, and Friday night, they outscored their rivals 5-3 in the best of three series.

FINAL GAME

Michel Duval sparked the attack with three goals Friday while Alex Maclaren and Mike Sauve completed the local summary. Scoring support came from Marc Sauve twice and Alex Maclaren. Stephane Nadeau was outstanding in nets with several big saves for Alexandria. Blake MacDonald with a pair and Doug Hale responded on the losing side. Final result: Alexandria 5, Char-Lan 3.

TROPHY PRESENTATION

Jim Scammell, president of the Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League, presented the champion's trophy to Marc Sauve, captain of the Peewee Glens. Tom Murray, president of the Alexandria and District Minor Hockey Association, assisted at this final game.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30

In the first game of the series held Wednesday on home ice, Alexandria won a 7-2 decision in a convincing way.

Marc Sauve led the scoring drive with a hat trick. Michel Duval registered a pair of scores and drew one assist while Mike Sauve and Paul Vincent each collected one marker and one helper.

Alex Mclaren chipped in one assist. Once again, Stephane Nadeau averted the win with a strong performance in the nets. Jason MacDonald and Derek Menard scored for Char-Lan.

EXHIBITION

Alexandria won a slim 2-1 exhibition game to North Glen Stor Monday, March 28 , in Maxville arena. Mike Sauve supported by Luc Francoeur and Michel Duval, with the help of Alain Rochon and Pierre Cuerrier, netted the Glens goals. Mark Leduc responded for NGS. Stephane Nadeau earned the victory.

Advance to finals

Moulding Mavericks advanced to the finals in the Alexandria Foot Hockey League but they had to go to a sixth game in a best-of-five series to decide the winner.

In Thursday's game, Betty Bread tied the score 2-2 with 12 seconds remaining in regulation time. On Saturday the Breadmen scored the winning goal with 21 seconds remaining to win 5-4. This tied the series at 5 points each. This set the stage for the sixth game on Sunday.

There was no score after the first period but the Mavericks went ahead 3-2 in the second on two goals by Chico Gareau and a single by Andre Cholette.

Maurice Leduc and Marcel Leclair replied for Betty Bread. Roger Carriere added an insurance marker in the third period to give the Mavericks a 4-2 victory. They now advance to finals against Silverwood Wolves.

A very ugly incident took place in the game on Saturday, when an official was assaulted by Richard Hamelin (Moulding Mavericks). It is something that could have been prevented, had his teammates attempted to control him and bring him to the player's bench. For his actions, Richard Hamelin will be suspended from the league for life.

Dunvegan Wings advanced to the finals in the consolation round, defeating Lalonde's G.S. 7-3. Hugh McMaster scored two goals for the Wings and singles went to Millen MacPherson, Pat Poirier, Garth Franklin and Mallory Franklin.

Lalonde's got goals from Richard Leroux, Yvon Dupuis and Richard Lebrun.

In the first game of the consolation finals Ottawa Hotel were the victors by a 4-2 score over the Wings.

Armand Duperron scored two goals for Ottawa Hotel. Luc MacDonald and Serge Lefebvre scored one each. Larry Hay and John MacSweyn replied for the Wings.

Local Peewees take home title

Alexandria Peewees came away with three straight wins to capture the title at the Finch tournament, March 19.

In their first game, OPP Alexandria crushed Grant Ready Mix 10-5.

Jason Palmer scored a hat-trick for Alexandria while Trevor Marley and Simon Nadeau picked up a pair each.

Singles went to Martin Levert, Patrick Leger and Roch Rochon.

Assists went to Simon Nadeau (3), Jason Palmer (2), Nicko Charbonneau (2), Trevor Marley (2), Robbie Latreille, Normand Gauthier and Roch Rochon.

Assists went to Jason Palmer (3) and Simon Nadeau.

In game three, Alexandria outpaced Chesterville 6-4 on a four-goal effort by Jason Palmer.

Friday, April 1, Glengarry Sports Shop Atoms played in the annual Char-Lan tournament capturing the A title by defeating Cornwall Police 6-2, Rail Car Canada 2-0 and Julius Miller 5-1.

Patrick Sauve and Ricky Latreille did most of the damage scoring 13 goals in total.

Sauve scored seven goals while Latreille scored six and assisted on three.

Members and guests of the Glengarry Community Club recently enjoyed a delicious pot luck dinner at the Charlottenburgh arena.

President Ernie Pain welcomed all and special guests, Rev. Clifford Evans and Father Charles MacDonald who said grace.

Following the meal of a large variety of tasty dishes, President Ernie Pain and Secretary-Treasurer Reta Heath presented a cheque for $100 on behalf of the Club to Paul Rozon a member of the Williamstown Bi-Centennial Committee to assist with the forthcoming celebrations.

The gathering viewed the movie "On Golden Pond" on a video tape and all found it very interesting.

Winner of a ham was George Croll.

The Club plans to hold its next open euchre on Monday, April 11.

Door prize was won by Ian Kennedy and specials, Martin Van Sleuen and Pat White.

The next euchre will be Monday, April 18.

Winner of a well-attended euchre sponsored by the Lancaster Jolly 50's Senior Citizens Club were Florence Dubeau, Cecile St. Pierre, Beatrice Labelle, Emanuel Dubeau, Stuart Hall, Gordon Pidgeon and Arien Leroux.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING on the
NEW OFFICIAL PLAN for the
TOWNSHIP OF ROXBOROUGH
Two public meetings have been scheduled to obtain public input on the draft Official Plan.
DATE: April 19, 1983
TIME: 7 p.m.
PLACE: Avonmore Community Hall
DATE: April 20, 1983
TIME: 7 p.m.
PLACE: Moose Creek Community Hall
The new Official Plan will replace the Lower St. Lawrence Official Plan which is currently in effect. This new Plan apply only to Roxborough Township. There are several substantial changes in the new Plan. For instance, the rural portion of the township has been divided into prime agricultural lands and marginal lands. The prime agricultural lands will be protected as much as possible. Various forms of development will be allowed to take place on marginal lands. The severance policies have been refined based on the new land use categories. Hazard lands have been more carefully defined. Areas of future pit and quarry development have also been identified. This Official Plan will have considerable impact on the use of private property in the township. We urge all ratepayers to take an interest in this important document.
Copies of the draft Official Plan can be viewed at the clerk's office during regular office hours prior to the public meetings. The township's planning consultant will be in attendance at the two public meetings to answer questions and to explain the new Plan.

Sports in the Glens

by Angus H. McDonell

In view of the impressive results attained by the Glens' Scottish heavy events entries at the recent annual Highland Games in Dunedin, Fla., it may readily be predicted that the 1983 campaign will be the best ever by the Cabers Club of Glengarry.

Carrying the athletic heritage ensign of Glengarry's great athletes, Ian Sandilands posted a creditable fourth overall points total in the highest U.S. professional ranks. Sandiland's youthful neighborly colleague, Willie Lang, a protege of Robin Thomson, was impressive in his first U.S. amateur competition, finishing in second place.

In the feature event, the caber toss, the timber was of a lighter standard. Accuracy was so easy that after two rounds it was cancelled at 12 p.m. The contest reverted to distance.

It was now a matter of strength over accuracy and skill. Ron Short, Pittsburgh, Pa., was first; veteran Fred Vaughan, Myrtle Beach, S.C., second; Tom Carmichael, Knoxville, Tennessee, third and the farm boy from the River Road, Charlottenburgh, fourth. Sandilands was 18 inches short of first.

It was in the 22-pound hammer throw that Sandilands was greatly pleased with his effort. He hadn't lifted the hammer since last Thanksgiving Sunday in the Cabers' competition, Williamstown fairgrounds. So without any practise he surprised himself and all beyond expectations.

Larry Satchwell, Atlanta, Ga., was first, posting a 90-foot throw. Tom Carmichael, second; Fred Vaughan, third and Ian Sandilands, fourth. The last three were slightly behind the leader in the 80's.

In the sheaf toss Sandilands was fourth and fifth in the 28-pound throw for distance.

In the sheaf toss Sandilands was fourth and fifth in the 28-pound throw for distance.

Sandilands thus earned three fourth place finishes and one fifth, competing against the top bracket heavy events athletes in North America. He was invited to join this prestigious class at the Highland Games in Gattlesburgh, Tennessee, May 28.

Willie Lang, also from the same River Road area, accompanied Ian and took time out to visit his grandparents in nearby Clearwater. At the Dunedin Games obviously his travelling companion was his cheerleader. Willie Lang, as a novice, posted a remarkable over-all total points. He earned two firsts and three seconds in the seven events.

Ian Sandilands' attendance at the Tennessee Games in May will depend on the farm spring work schedule.

In an indirect way, Glengarry will have representation at the Athletic Seminar this weekend at Cornell University, Ithaca, NY.

John McDonald, Syracuse, who has been competing at the Glengarry Highland Games for some years and a charter member of the Glengarry Cabers, will be one of the program speakers. His discourse will be relative to the founding of Scottish heavy events competitions at highland games. He will also give a brief demonstration of tossing the caber, throwing the hammer and weights.

The annual spring meet of the Glengarry Cabers will be announced shortly.

Atom Glens are finalists

by Francine Sabourin

Metcalfe: Atom Glens Caisse-Populaire swept to two straight victories and came near a championship triumph on Saturday, at the Metcalfe tournament. They lost the "A" honors to Embrun, but not before giving them some heart-stopping moments. The "B" trophy was claimed by host Metcalfe.

In the preliminary morning round, Alexandria got off to a rousing start with first and second-period scoring sprees en route to a 6-4 victory over Russell. Pascal Joanette and Marc Seguin each scored two goals and assisted on two others. Julien Boisvenue also tallied twice. The other helpers came from Randy Gebbie, Steven Maisonneuve and Ronnie Alteen. Goaltending duties were shared by Christian Bellefeuille and Michael McDonell.

In the "A" semi-final, Alexandria nipped North Glen Stor 2-1. Both team battled hard with Maxville getting on the scoreboard first. However, two goals late in the third period by Luc Duval and Marc Seguin broke open a close game and powered Glens past N.G.S. Patrick Ravary earned an assist on the winning goal. In the loss, Chris Leroux was the lone respondent.

The final game was a lively and exciting spectacle. Alexandria prevailed and managed to protect a 2-1 lead. In the last seven minutes of play Embrun erupted for three goals, capping a 4-2 triumph and the "A" title. Alain Gignac was the sparkplug behind the victory as he counted all four goals and his shots were the only ones to elude goalie Christian Bellefeuille. Randy Gebbie and Patrick Ravary netted for the Glens while Pascal Joanette, Marc Seguin and Ronnie Alteen contributed the assists.

In spite of the loss, we were all very proud of our boys. Being finalist in a tournament was a first-time affair this season for the Atoms CPA.

In Lower St. Lawrence Atom division, Cornwall Royals Major won the championship trophy over South Stormont in the best-of-three final series.

First game: South Stormont 4, Cornwall 3.

Second game: Cornwall 5, South Stormont 1.

Third game: Cornwall 4, South Stormont 3.

Sean Clarke of South Stormont was the top scorer during the over-all playoff series with 11 goals and two assists.

Char Lan wins one, loses one

The Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League Midget playoff final got underway, with Char-Lan "Country Beef & Pork" Midgets and Cornwall "B"s deadlocked 1-1 after two games in the best of five series.

The first contest was a chippy affair which saw 26 penalties called in the game. Char-Lan was down 6-1 going into the final period, rallied to come within one goal of tying, but went on to lose 8-6 on an empty net goal in the last seconds. Alain Menard and Roddie McKenzie led Char-Lan with two goals each, and Blake Hambleton and Dave Dupuis added singles.

The second game saw Char-Lan come from behind again after Cornwall jumped out to a 2-0 lead. Char-Lan then fired in three consecutive goals by Roddie McKenzie, Alain Menard and Danny Flaro to go ahead, only to see Cornwall tie it up with Char-Lan two men short at the time, sending the game into overtime and a shut-out. Jean Luc Menard scored the only goal in the shoot-out to give Char-Lan the win 4-3.

Receives suspended sentence

A 16-year-old Quebec youth was given a suspended sentence and two years' probation in Alexandria Provincial Court March 24.

Randall Sims of Pierrefonds was charged with stealing goods from a truck which had stalled on Highway 401 February 20.

Crown prosecutor Bill Duncan said Sims and another person were on their way into Ontario when they noticed the truck.

About $500 of goods were taken.

On the way home, Sims stopped again and took about $2,000 worth of goods, the Crown said.

McDermid said the act was "totally out of character for Randall" and noted he has a learning disability.

The youth spent three days in custody after his arrest.
