HENRY'S Shorthand School Ottawa, Ont.

No School in Canada offers a better training, or ensures a more successful future. Henry's leads all others, and ranks among employers as "THE SCHOOL OF HIGHER EFFICIENCY"—a fact borne out by more than 600 pupils who have, since January, 1913, left other Ottawa schools to come to it.

Therefore, it is not surprising that business men, in advertising for stenographers, should specially say, "Graduates of Henry's School preferred."

Morrisburg Boys In Accident On Highway Near Cardinal

On their way to Spencerville to skate Saturday night, Dalton Merril, Harry Ulman, Grant Casselman, George Lapierre and Percy Reid, of Morrisburg, narrowly escaped serious injury when the car in which they were driving struck a sheet of glare ice on the road, swerved, and went into the ditch. Merril was driving.

The accident took place at approximately 8.15, at a spot a few miles west of Cardinal. The car was completely wrecked. The boys went to a nearby farmhouse while the wreck was takn to Cardinal and then to Morrisburg by Roach's wrecking truck. Merril, Ulman and Lapierre were slightly hurt and the others were, of course, badly shaken. The car was insured.

Montagnards Are Coming

Monday night at the local rink hockey fans will have their first opportunity to get a real line on Chesterville's new line up for honors in the Central Ottawa Valley League when the fast Montagnard team from the Ottawa City league come here for an exhibition game. The Monties are in mid-season form and are tied for first place honors with Shamrocks right now with three games won and one loss each. With ice for two weeks here the home boys are in much better shape than at any time when the first game of the season was pulled and are ready right now to show that they are the big threat to other aspirants for premier honors. The Chesterville boys have always been known as the speed boys of this loop and this year will be no exception. Marshall, the new winger, has a burst of speed and stick handling that has pepped up the whole bunch and a brand of hockey is being played every night in practice that brings visions of some mighty struggles after a winner is declared in the Central Ottawa Valley.

Annual Meeting Citizens' Band

Monday evening the members of the Citizens' Band held their annual meeting, receiving a very favourable report of the year's work. Mr. A. Morris, vice-president, was in charge. The finances of the organization are in better standing this year although the receipts are not half of last year's. Mr. Geo. W. Brooks, Treasurer, reported the number of engagements as 13, total receipts $576.42, total expediture $468.55, leaving a balance of $107.87, as compared with receipts last year of over $1300 and a balance of $3.00. The purchase of new uniforms last year made the expenditure very high. It was decided that the Band would not play for skating at the rink this year as it interfered with the practice nights and, as a number of young players are expected to have to be broken in there will be extra time needed for them The admittance of girls into the membership was approved by the members and it is expected that three girls will join up this year along with three boys. The members agreed to play for the hockey this year if the band room at the rink is heated, as the horns at the rink is heated, as the instruments are continually freezing up and it is very uncomfortable playing in the cold.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Pesident, W. Hamilton; Vice Pres., Geo. H. Barkley; Manager, A. Morris; Sec'y Treas. Geo. W. Brooks; Band Master, P. G. Hewitt; General Committee, W. M. Saucier, Eugene McMillan, S. Morris, J. Morris, M. Marcellus.

Chesterville United W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the W. M. S. was held in the S.S. Hall, the president in the chair. Hymn 118 was sung, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. As this was the annual meeting the appointing of officers for next year was in order. By motion of Mrs. Houlehan, seconded by Mrs. I. Cross, the officers nominated at the executive meeting by the nominating committee were accepted:

Pres., Miss Bertha Merkley; 1st Vice Pres., Mrs. Forward; 2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. H. Durant; 3rd Vice Pres. Mrs. A. H. Fulton, 4th Vice-Pres., Mrs. A. Carruthers; Recording Sec'y, Mrs. Saucier, assisted by Mrs. Geo. Raeburn; Cor. Sec., Mrs. Chas. Graham; Treas., Mrs. W. N. Fulton; Temperance Sec., Mrs. P. Allison; Baby Band Sec'y, Mrs. Clayton; Missionary Monthly, Mrs. Dixon; Press Sec'y, Mrs. Geo. Cass; Strangers' Sec'y, Mrs. Colquhoun; Christian Stewardship Sec'y, Mrs. T. Houlehan; Supply Sec'y, Mrs. Geo. Hummel; Pianist, Mrs. Howard Fulton; Literature Sec'y, Mrs. P. Allison.

There were 12 meetings held during the year with an average attendance of 29. The president was present at every meeting.

The treasurer reported $408.06 for the year after deducting expenses. The Strangers Sec'y reported having made 121 sick calls, 131 social calls, 2 sympathy calls, 18 treats to sick, 3 gifts, flowers sent to sick and 5 calls to patients in hospitals. Mrs. Houlehan reported for Christian Stewardship, the financial statement and the programme showing sufficiently the work that has been accomplished.

Mrs. Cass for Baby roll reported five babies.

Mrs. Dixon read report of Mission Band, they having reached their allocation and a small balance over.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Graham and a number of the women took part in the study leaflet. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Kenneth MacLean Passes At New Westminster. B.C.

Kenneth MacLean died at his home 732 Twelfth Street, New Westminster, B.C., on Saturday evening, November 23rd. Although he had been ailing for some time hopes for his recovery were entertained until pneumonia set in earlier in the week.

Mr. MacLean was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. MacLean and was born on Lot 19 in the 7th concession of Finch. When a lad of 18 he went to Cheboygan, Michigan, where he lumbered for some years with his uncle, the late A. R. MacKinnon. 1899 he went to High River, Alberta, where for many years he managed a large horse and cattle ranch for an English company. He acquired considerable land in the Turner Valley district, a place now famous for its oil wells. He lived for a time in Edmonton where he married Sarah MacLean, daughter of the late Peter MacLean, also of Finch. About eight years ago he moved to New Westminster where he built up a large convalescent home which he and his wife conducted successfully. He was a man of sterling qualities, a Presbyterian and a Liberal. He had many friends for his was a true courtesy which was neither cultivated nor assumed. The funeral services were conducted on Tuesday, November 26th, by the Rev. H. T. Murray, of Aiden's Presbyterian church, burial taking place at Ocean View cemetery. Besides his wife he leaves a sister, Miss Catharine MacLean, of Avonmore, and two brothers, Major D. N. MacLean, of Almonte, and A. K. MacLean, of Ottawa.

License Plates Are Ready Fees Are Reduced

This month motorists will feel the benefit of the Ferguson government's $2,000,000 reduction in the motor license fees, as promised during the election campaign. The 1930 licenses and markers will be ready about Dec. 15, it was stated by officials.

Owners of four-cylinder cars and the lighter sixes will pay only $5 this year for their licenses These cars come within the low-fee class which includes all automobiles of less than 25 horsepower.

Motorists driving cars of from 25 to 35 horsepower will pay $10 for their licenses. In this class come heavier sixes—the type of cars usually described by dealers as medium priced. Big car owners whose machines develop 35 horsepower or more will pay $20 for the licenses.

Under the new system of prefacing marker numbers with letters indicating the car's origin, Ottawa and district has been allotted the letters A, B and C. The letters G and I are not being used owing to possibility of their being confused with numerals.

No license numeral will exceed the number 9,999, and where two letters have been awarded to a county or district such as will be the practice with the less populated or rural parts, the highest number will be 999. Government cars, it is stated, will have no prefacing letters, bearing only numerals.

Uniform Hydro Rate Is Wanted By U. F. O.

The United Farmers of Ontario concluded their 16th annual convention last week with the passing of several resolutions dealing with hydro cost, automobile insurance and the killing of game by wolves in Algonquin park reserve.

The hydro committee's report was adopted and a resolution passed that as hydro was a public utility finance by the public, it should be distributed on an equal basis to all.

"Certain changes are contemplated at the next sitting of the legislature, and should these changes take the form promised in pre-election speeches considerable redress will be given the farmer through lowering of the costs for light and power," ran the report presented by the hydro committee.

Believing that the present cost of accident insurance on automobiles and trucks is too high, the delegates unanimously adopted a resolution asking the executive to investigate the matter with a view to organizing a mutual accident insurance organization for the benefit of members of the U. F. O. This insurance would cover accidents that occurred in the operation of trucks and automobiles.

Criticism of the present insurance rates was made by W. E. Sinclair. of Muskoka, in discussing the resolution.

"I understand an attempt is being made to make automobile insurance compulsory," said Mr. Sinclair. "What are the rates? In many cases the rates charged are exorbitant and they spread from automobile insurance to fire risks and others. There is a tremendous difference in the rates charged on the same classes of risks. and we should, as farmers, investigate this with a view to the establishment of a mutual insurance company of our own."

Art In Speculation

"I have made a good deal of money," says a cool investor, "by always doing the opposite from what other people were doing. When the crowd was buying, I would sell. When the crowd was selling, I would buy." It is a very ancient business principle to buy when the other fellow wants to sell, and sell when the other fellow wants to buy. Yet how few amateur speculators practice it! It is the individualistic procedure, and speculators are not individuals—they are sheep.

TAIL LIGHTS PROTECT COPS.

Traffic policemen in London, England, are to be equipped with rear lights for safety. The lights, which will be strapped to the small of the back, are electric lamps capable of giving flash signals or of sending out a steady beam.

A court has decided that a cow in the road has the right of way. This indicates that the courts are just learning what the cows have always known.

Early History of Chesterville and District

Compiled and Written by Miss E. Harrison for the Women's Institute.

When people were able to buy cows they had to have a place for the milk so they built milk houses. They dug quite deep to have them cool and in hot weather set the tureens (large earthen dishes, on the floor, in fall and spring on the shelves. The milk houses were whitewashed inside and out, some planted evergreens around to keep out the heat. Later they had cellars and the milk was kept in six or eight-quart pans on racks. It was a lot of work carrying it down cellar, straining, skimming, and carrying the sour milk up. The women often had to feed pigs and calves along with their other work. Women hadn't got enlightened then. All these pans had to be washed, scalded and put out to air. Every farm house had its row of pans out sweetening in the sun. Some one invented the dog churn which saved the women a lot of work for they generally had to do it. The dogs got wise and were often missing on churning days. Butter was packed in 50 and 100 pound tubs. There was summer and fall butter, the latter bringing a much better price. They would take wagon loads of it to Morrisburg, the buyers would try it with a long auger and try to beat one down in the price. It was not paid for according to quality but by the size of a house you had or social standing. At one time we had a cheese factory next McGee's store, Mr. Hill, of Portland, Ont., was owner and his sister-in-law, Miss Chipman, afterwards, Mrs. Jacob Bogart, made the cheese. Some farmers' wives had small cheese presses and made for their own use and a few for others.

About the only sweet they had was maple sugar, preserves were made of it but not until they could get jars. Berries were dried on pieces of bark on top of the shanty. Some would pick and dry a pillow case full while others were too shiftless to have anything ahead for the winter. Sometimes they got a swarm of bees and got into the honey business, the hives being made dome shape of rope made of straw, and let me mention straw hats the women made of wheat straw cut at a certain stage, braided, and sewed into nice hats for the family.

The pioneers raised flax and made linen for towels, table cloths, and bed ticks. They also made all the soap they used. The lye was made of hard wood ashes, a leech being made of a piece of a hollow log filled with ashes and water poured in. This made a strong brown solution which, boiled with grease, made soft soap. The iron coolers were lent round to those who had none. One woman in the village asked to borrow Mrs. Joe Markley's but some one else had it. She got provoked that she could not have it and said, "If Donald spares the Lord for another year we'll have a kettle soap of our own."

There were no trained nurses in those days but both men and women sat up where there was sickness. Many a time a woman went through the bush carrying her torchlight to keep the wild animals away.

Those were the days when there was real neighborliness, people had not got to the selfish stage.

There were two articles used in the home that the rising generation never saw, namely, candle snuffers and bootjacks. The snuffers were mostly of brass with a tray to hold them. A few were of silver. Recently in London at a sale of antiques a collection of 330 dating from the 15th to the 19th centures were sold for $2,250. A man out in the country a few years ago got a pair in junk at a sale, he or his wife did not know what they were for. Her sister thought they were having a joke on her by asking what they were but she enlightened them. If there was a bright speck in the flame it meant a letter to the one facing it. There was a song written called "The Letter in the Candle," it went like this:

"There's a letter in the candle
And it points direct to me;
And the litte spark does twinkle,
From whoever can it be?"

The bootjack was used for pulling off long-legged boots which the men and boys wore. It was a proud day when a boy got his first pair. There were lots of crooked faces getting them on and off, especially if they got wet. Every house had to have the can of boot grease to soften them.

You have heard the saying, "Did you come after a coal or a fire?" That started when fireplaces were used. They had no matches but had to start the fires with flint and steel and punky wood. They banked the fire with ashes but occasionally it would go out and some one had to go to a neighbor's for a few coals and naturally had to hurry home. Another saying, when parents sent the children on an errand, was "Pick up your feet, they'll come down."

Before there were stores here the women often walked to Williamsburg and even Mariatown and Morrisburg to trade, carrying a basket of eggs and a pail of butter. Eggs were about five cents a dozen, and not many years ago they were eight and nine here. The road was through bush, over fallen logs and brush, but they made the trip in a day.

With the Sink as a Wash Rack

An automobile that can be taken apart and parked in the kitchen has been invented by Englebert Zachka of Berlin.

Although slightly under regulation size, the car can carry two passengers. The body is constructed of canvas. The garaging process of this little machine resembles the parts of a jig-saw puzzle. First, the body is detached and folded into a neat bundle; then the chassis is dismounted. Each piece that makes up the frame is numbered and fitted. Steering wheel and post, wheels, motor, and body rods each are separate units.

The affair has three wheels and can be assembled in a few minutes.

Expecting Return Of Horse and Buggy

Boston.—Of course Rufus W. Collins, 97, and probably the oldest horse trainer in New England, may be unduly optimistic, but he believes the one-time honored horse and buggy is due for a come-back. Collins said he believed wealthy people would again return to horses for pleasure purposes, "to be different, if for no other reason." "There is a feeling of pride that comes from owning a horse that a car can't make you feel, no matter how big and shiny it is," he said. "I predict that you'll see them come into favor again, horses and buggies, as a means of travel. Rich people will decide they have had enough rushing around the country at 60 miles an hour and they will learn the pleasure of travelling leisurely."

Millions of Slaves In the World Today

There are from 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 actual slaves in the world, according to a book just published in London by Lady Simon, wife of Sir John Simon of the famous commission that recently investigated India. At the present rate of emancipation, Lady Simon adds, it will take bout 1,000 years to set these chattels free.

Ladys Simon holds that the slave problem today is international, and that international pressure through the League of Nations is needed to destroy it. She speaks of the terrific price which slavery exacts from the ruling race, and says:

"America today is paying a hundredfold penalty in political, racial and economical embarrassment for the crime of bringing into her cotton fields over 5,000,000 slaves, stolen from their peaceful homes on the African continent."

She discusses the conditions of slavery wherever it exists, citing Abysinnia, the Sudan, Arabia, Sierra Leone, Liberia, China, Burma and Nepal, and she concludes with a consideration of other forms of servitude, such as peonage, contract labor and forced labor.

Facts About Furs

The most durable fur is that of the otter, with bear, beaver, and seal coming next in order. Natural mink is more durable than Persian lamb, and sable is less lasting than either. Coney is the least durable of any fur, and the skin of the mole comes next in lack of lasting power.

Such furs as fox, squirrel, and ermine, have only about a quarter the life of the other, but it is very difficult, if not impossible, to state definitely how long any fur will last, because so much depends on the original condition of the skin and the care taken of it when made up into a garment.

Furs can always be cleaned and renovated, but it is not often that they can be re-dyed successfully. Redying means taking a risk, and only a very expert dyer of furs can estimate the chances of success. Most people know that furs should be taken out of their covering occasionally when not in regular use, and well shaken.

Every One For Himself.

Kind gentleman (to little boy eating an apple)—Look out for the worms, sonny.

Little Boy—When I eat an apple, the worms have to look out for themselves.

Pushed Everything.

The traffic cop had gone through a hard day when he saw a most erratic auto driven by a woman.

"Hey, lady," he roared, "use your noodle, can't ya?"

She looked bewildered. "My goodness, where is it? I though I had pulled and pushed everything in the car."

Hospital For Sick Children

67 College St., Toronto 2
December, 1929.

Dear Mr Editor:

Your newspaper goes to a lot of good-hearted people who will be very pleased to learn that the country branch of the Hospital for Sick Children, established last year a few miles away from the main hospital in Toronto, is producing results even greater than its most ardent supporters anticipated when the ambitious project was mooted. So please publish this letter as a piece of good news for all friends of the poor little "Sick Kids."

Thousands of small sufferers, from all parts of Ontario, come to the hospital in the course of a year, and with the facilities available in this wonderful institution an immense amount of humane service is performed for ailing and helpless little folk, many of the cures accomplished bordering on the miraculous. Everyone is privileged to assist in this Mission of Mercy. Now is the time to do so in response to the annual appeal for funds, which, being in behalf of children, is appropriately made as Christmas draws near.

Generosity of friends throughout the Province has made possible the marvelous expansion which has now earned for Ontario the credit of having the finest hospital in the world for little ones, where every known child ailment is treated and there is no distinction in regard to race or creed.

For the information of your readers it might be stated, as a matter of great public interest, that in the year 1918 the Hospital for Sick Children recorded 70,153 patient days. In 1923 the total was 92,401 and in 1928 it was 93,901. But it 1929, the business year ending September 30th, the total had increased to the impressive one of 121,417. It well be noted that the number of patient days in the period following the opening of the country branch increased 30 per cent.

This remarkable growth naturally carries with it correspondingly large additional expense and as there is a loss every day on the cost of maintenance of practically every little patient, the deficit to be taken care of by big-hearted friends of the grand cause runs into an enormous total. Please ask your readers to lend a hand in lifting this big load.

Who is there more entitled to a share of the Christmas bounty than the "Sick Kinds"? This year there are many claims upon benevolent citizens, but none stronger than that of the large number of afflicted children who can be restored and a gift that will help towards that end carries the real spirit of Christmas with it.

It is important to note that the Hospital for Sick Children does not share in the funds of the Toronto Federation for Commnunity service, for the reason that patients are admitted from all sections of the province. Some of the helpless little ones come from the remote districts. Through the activities of service clubs they are brought in when their pitiable condition is discovered and receive the best treatment that medical and surgical science knows. The Hospital for Sick Children, which has been in operation for fifty-four years, is a God-send for those to whom it ministers and a big asset for the whole community.

Faithfully yours,
IRVING E. ROBERTSON,
Chairman of Appeal Committee.

Age-Old Problem.

A little girl came home from her first visit to Sunday School in a very happy mood.

"Oh, mamma," she said, "it was so lovely. A lady told us about a gentleman named Adam and a lady named Eve who lived in a lovely garden; and oh. they were so happy there till the servant came."

DAD

Dad is growing old and weary
And there's silver in his hair,
And his eyes are always solemn,
He has seen so much of care;
He has seen so much of sorrow,
He has known so much of tears,
He has borne the heat and burden
Of so many years!

Dad's already in the twilight
Of life's fast fleeting day,
And perhaps we'll often ponder
When his load is laid away,
Of the steps we might have saved him
When his feet and hands were sore,
Of the joy we might have given
To the heart that beats no more.

We'll recall a hundred errands
That we might have glady run,
And a hundred kindly actions
That we might have gladly done;
We'll remember how he labored
While the boys were all at play,
When the darkness hides him from us
At the closing of the day.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Salome Darling, who passed away Dec. 8th, 1928.

We are writing this verse for you, Mother,
And thinking of you today,
To prove you are never forgotten
But remembered every day.

For that love so true and steadfast,
For that life so sweet and fair,
We thank the God above us
For you are in His care.

Ever remembered by the Family.

Danger In Daily Life

Those who lack courage for new enterprises, due to fears for their physical safety, should take heart from the records of a Pittsburg insurance company. If they hesitate before crossing Sixth avenue at Thirty-fourth street, or put off from day to day their first airplane ride, a glance at reports of accidents which happen to people in the peaceful pursuit of a humdrum routine should make the avenue and the air seem safe by comparison.

An official of the company was interested in compiling a list of the unusual and unexpected hazards which seem to go far out of their way to find a victim. For fifteen years he kept a record of them.

One man kicked a thief out of his shop and broke the bones in his own foot. Another chased a chicken through a barbed-wire fence, and while the fowl escaped, the pursuer was painfully hung up. Then there was the sad case of one who was so ardently embraced by a friend that a rib was fractured. Another unlucky individual put in a claim for injuries sustained while riding in a trolley car; a workingman had thrown a shovelful of hot asphalt into the car and into the claimant's lap.

Talking quietly to a friend in the lobby of a building might be considered perfectly safe. Yet in such placid circumstances, the insurance company reports, a horse came charging into the hall and trod on the foot of one of the talkers.—New York Times.

The Elimination of The Small School

According to the statistical reports of the Department of Education, there have been from 900 to 1000 rural schools in the Province of Ontario for the last fifteen years that have had an average attendance of from 1 to 10 pupils each.

These schools are considered to be neither economical nor efficient. It is impossible for the child to receive such training as will fit him to co-operate with others, and play his part in life, when in early years he receives his training in isolation. There can be little if any competition in the class rooms, on the school grounds or in other activities whereby the children learn to work together. It must be very disheartening for the teacher to attempt to interest one or two pupils in a class. She has to put more enthusiasm in her work to make up for the lack of competition. The teaching process becomes a mere routine of imparting information. Pupils may be able to pass the entrance examinations at an early age, but we must remember that the mere passing of examinations is not education.

A convention of school trustees in the county of Carleton was recently held in the city of Ottawa, where this matter was gone into very thoroughly. Inspector R. C. Rose called attention to a number of schools having an average attendance of from 2 to 7 pupils. It was singular that most of these schools had no local trustee levy. Some of them had a balance in the bank of $1400. They drew the Township and the Provincial Grants. The school boards declined to take advantage of the school Regulations by which the few pupils in one school may be transported to the adjoining school It was pointed out to them by the Inspector that they would receive the Township and the Provincial Grant, if necessary, to pay for the transportation. It was considered that a few hundred dollars would cover the transportation, and they would not therefore require all of those grants.

School Boards hesitate to close their schools, even temporarily, for fear it would result in depreciation of the value of farm property. It might also be difficult, they say, to re-open these schools. They consider it a step in the centralization of educational control.

The following resolution was passed by this convention:

"Whereas there are many small schools in the Province of Ontario that are neither economical nor efficient; Whereas the School Regulations provide for the transportation of pupils from one small school to another; There Be It Resolved that it be made compulsory upon school boards, where are four or less pupils in average attendance to close the school temporarily and transport the pupils to an adjoining school, unless they can satisfy the Public School Inspector that it would be impractical."

This throws the burden upon the school board. The schools would, according to this resolution, automatically close unless they can give good reason for keeping open. It will be interesting to know what rural trustees think of this resolution.

News and Information For the Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

A calf was conveyed to the Royal Winter Fair by airplane. That's the nearest approach to the cow jumping over the moon that we have noticed, remarks one editor.

A total of $7,000,000 will be expended next year throughout the counties and townships of Ontario in the improvement of sideroads. This is nearly three times the amount spent during the past year and will doubtless prove of great value to many farmers.

Several of Ontario's foremost agricultural experts served as judges at the recent International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago. They included: John Miller, of Ashburn, (Shorthorn class); H. Noel Gibson, of Kokoma, (Shropshire sheep); Duncan Johnston, of Appin, (Oxford sheep); and W. T. G. Wiener, Ottawa (small grains). Ontario Agricultural College, as usual, sent a live stock judging team to compete against the pick of the United States.

Ontario Party at Chicago.

Sixteen girls and fourteen boys comprised the party which journeyed to Chicago during the first week of December to attend the Boys' and Girls' Club Congress in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition. They were the winners of judging contests in their respective counties by virtue of which their expenses were defrayed by local organizations. F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative for Norfolk, was in charge of the trip, and Mrs. Cook was chaperone. In Chicago they joined a party of 1500 young American boys and girls in a six-day program which included not onuly the Stock Exposition but tours of the city and one or two of the larger packing plants. The visit proved most informative and entertaining.

Hydro for the Farm.

Electrification of Ontario farms will be stimulated during 1930 by the program of expansion recently announced which will result in the building of 2,000 miles of hydro lines in the rural districts, as compared with 1,100 during the past year. It is also expected that service charges will be reduced and loans made available for installation of electrical equipment on the farm. The mileage added during 1929 will serve 6700 new customers and bring the total to 5,000 miles already in operation.

Winter Conditions.

Live stock and feed form the chief topic of the current weekly reports from agricultural representatives. This statement from one of the reports appears to be typical of conditions throughout the province: "Live stock have gone into winter quarters in poorer condition than usual. There will be over a third less feeders stabled this winter than is usually the case." The advent of severe weather and snowstorms brought fall work on the land to a halt. However, under favorable conditions most farmers had practically finished their fall plowing.

Corn Borer Situation.

The corn borer infestation in Ontario in 1929 has been reduced in the infested counties by an average of 50 per cent over the figures of 1928, according to a recent official statement by Prof. L. Caesar of O.A.C. Reductions as high as 75 per cent are shown in some counties, while for the first time in three years no reports of total destruction, or even serious injury, have been received, and no new districts report the pest. Nevertheless, Prof. Caesar pointed out that the actual number of insects would hardly vary from last year's estimates because of the spread over a much greater acreage.

Testing the Wheat Crop.

During recent weeks some splendid work has been done in testing the baking qualities of Canada's 1929 wheat crop at Trent Institute, the School of Commercial Baking of the O.A.C. Both the hard spring wheat of the western provinces and the soft winter wheats of Ontario have been under test. The report on the former is that the quality is in every way superior to the two previous crops, while the Ontario product, which is used most in cake making, is said to be superior in both milling and baking qualities to that produced in 1928. There is no evidence of sprouted wheat, which was the cause of some difficulty in handling last year's crop. On the other hand, the protein is lower, but on the whole it appears to be of excellent quality.

Cinching A Job

Born a poor boy 77 years ago, Thomas F. Ryan died the other day worth many millions of dollars. In the meantime he had given away a lot of money, also. But, so far as the main facts of his life are concerned, they do not differ greatly from those of other poor boys who have risen to wealth and power.

A little story is told, however, which may give some insight into the manner in which young Ryan got his start toward great riches. His first job was wth a Baltimore dry goods store, where he was hired for $3 a week and told to report for work the next morning. Now, he was in earnest about that job and didn't want to take any chances on letting it get away from him, so he said to the boss: "If you don't mind, I'll start right now without any pay for today."

Needless to say, he made good on that job, and two years later, at the age of 19, he obtained employment in Wall Street. At the age of 23 he became a member of the New York Stock Exchange, from which time his rise in the financial world was rapid and he became one of America's richest men.

Doubtless his remarkable success was due to the spirit which he displayed in cinching his first job—his willingness to "start right now." A good many boys of today might emulate that spirit with profit tothemselves.

WILL NOT HAVE ONT. LIQUOR STORE

A Government liquor store will not be established in Charlottenburg township, Glengarry County, as the result of a plebiscite taken recently. There were 560 votes against and 35 in favor, according to an announcement in the "Ontario Gazette."

Small boy, rushing in to his mother: "Mummy, I've been to Satan's funeral."

Mother (incredulousy): "My dear, what do you mean?"

Small Boy:—"Well, Mum, Satan is the same as the devil, isn't he?"

Mother—"Yes, dear, of course."

Small Boy—"Well, Mum, I head a man say as they took the coffin past, 'Well, poor devil, he's gone at last'."

Both the Henderson boys are far away from the old home. But Sunday is still a very special day for Father and Mother, for every Sunday night after church the telephone bell rings and the old folks know that one of the boys is calling them from the distant city.

Harry calls one week, and Fred the next.

Long Distance is wonderful for keeping family ties strong. It is so simple, so inexpensive, to call distant friends for a few minutes' chat. And how welcome is the sound of their voices!

How A Paper Mill's Days Are Spent

Of the 365 days in a year a typical newsprint paper mill must operate at full speed for eighty-one days to produce enough paper to pay for labor. This includes all men from the bush to finished paper. In other words, twenty-six per cent. of the year's activity is required to hire men for cutting, preparing, grinding and cooking it and for operating the machinery and equipment which makes the pulp into paper.

The next sixty-two days all hands must sweat, wheels hum and pumps throb to make paper enough to buy the necessary wood for the year. The cost of wood in this case being stumpage fees and other expenses, other than labor, in getting the prepared wood into the mill.

Employees must have a few days for rest and recreation, so the plant is sut down fifty-six days for Sundays and holidays. The machinery and equipment are just simply idle during this time.

A paper mill cannot get along at all without steam and power, so the whole organization is kept going at top speed for forty days in order to earn enough for steam and power to keep the wheels turning over and to cook pulp and dry paper.

The life of a plant and equipment, is of course, limited on account of wear and tear and obsolescence. The property must be insured against fire and other losses, and taxes, like the poor, are always with us. There is intere on bonds and other capital charges. To cover these fixed expenses requires thirty-four days' hard work for the whole layout.

Administration, selling and shipping takes a pretty good block of the year's operation, thirty-one days' production being necessary to pay for these experts and their expenses.

It takes fifteen days' operation to cover the expense of miscellaneous materials, such as sulphur, limestone, coloring, etc.

A paper machine must be kept in expensive clothing to do a good job. This item, together with wires, requires the gross earnings of ten days' operation.

Material for the ordinary every day repairs to machinery and equipment absorbs the value of one week's (six days) production.

By the simple process of adding and subtracting we find that there are thirty-one days left for the mill to work for its owners, provided there are no "shut downs" or "slowing up" of operation. It is easy to see that nearly all lost time must come out of this last thirty-one days.—News Print Service Bureau.

HILLSIDE DAIRY MILK

Hillside Dairy milk, cream and whipping cream from tubercular tested cows may be had at all hours at Mrs. Gillissie's Cafe. Your patronage solicited. 8

What Price Failure?

Are you ever discouraged or down in the mouth? Of course you are. Times of trial come to every one. You wouldn't be human if you escaped them.

Lightning kills the best cows in your herd. Funny it couldn't hit one of those low-producing grades as long as it had to strike. The ways of lightning are strange.

Fire destroys your barn, your house. The T.B. test wipes out all you have done in a lifetime of constructive dairy cattle breeding. Abortion sneaks into your barn. You lost calves, cows, milk, and courage. You try this and that; nothing seems to help.

A boy works hard to fit his calf for showing, spends months getting her in tip-top shape, only to have some other fellow's calf beat him at the fair.

"You hear a lot about the good luck of the Goodrich boys, about their successes and what they have done," Charlie Goodrich, a New York calf club boy who, with his brothers, has made a real record in his community, told us last summer at his home. "But when we lose an animal they don't print that. Tuberculosis, pneumonia and lightning have taken our cattle."

And then Charlie added this significant statement. "We have our failures the same as other people but, we don't howl about them."

Folks, there's a fighter for you. Takes a wallop on the nose like a man, doesn't whimper, but strikes right back, and before you know it he's on top again.

You can't keep the fighting kind down. That goes in farming as well as in anything else. Whenever you find a man who is making real success, there you'll find a person who has met failure and turned it into a stepping stone for success.

So never mind the knocks and bumps of life. You know there are plenty of them no matter who or what you are. Just your failures for stepping stones. What price failure? Success, that's the answer.

PROMINENT OTTAWA MAN PASSES AWAY

Harold Fisher, K.C., mayor of Ottawa from 1917 to 1920, inclusive, and former member of the Ontario Legislature for West Ottawa, succumbed last night shortly after 9.30 o'clock to pneumonia, with which he had waged a losing fight since last Saturday.

TROOPS TAKE PART IN SQUIRREL WAR

Headquarters staff of Military District No. 3, at Kingston, has taken sides in the battle being fought between the red and black squirrels. Col. W. D. Anderson has ordered his troops into the fray. Armed with .22 rifles the N.C.O.'s are daily killing their quota of the red marauders who threatened to drive the large black squirrels away from the grounds of St. Helen's, military headquarters.

The Test.

The old general was walking down the street when he was stopped by a beggar.

"Don't refuse a trifle," said the latter. "I'm an old soldier."

"An old soldier, eh?" replied the general. "Then I'll give you a test. 'Shun! Eyes right! Eyes front! Stand at ease! Now, what comes next?"

"Present alms," retorted the beggar.

The Reason.

"To what do you attribute your long life?"

"Among other things, to the fact that the sheriff still don't know who shot Jim Williams."

Spiritualist: "Mrs. Smith, your dead husband commands you to go home."

Mrs. Smith: "Commands? That is not my husband."

Amplifying Electric Power

The Christian Science Monitor tells of a recent discovery in England, by which electric energy may be magnified so that a current, which under ordinary circumstances would light one small lamp, will light half a dozone or more. The method consists in passing the electric energy through a vacuum, and the discoverer has been working at the matter for seventeen years. One electrician, when asked to comment on the claim, declared that the only way by which the result mentioned could possibly be achieved was by producing "cold" electric light. At present eighty per cent. of the power in an electric current is lost in the production of heat; if by any means the energy could all be utilized for power alone the saving would be tremendous. In one of the experiments testing the inventor's claims, a generator was attached to a dynamo and the generator was turned by hand. The current was sent through the amplifier to the dynamo and then returned to the generator to keep the latter running. This it did for twenty-six hours, whereas, if there had been no amplifier, the generator would not have run for twenty-six seconds. If the discoverer can only substantiate the claims which he has made, a new era will be opened in the use of electric energy, and the world will secure it at a price which will be of fabulous cheapness. We trust the inventor's wildest dreams will all come true.

Keeping The Roads Open In Winter

In Uncle Sam's domains this winter there will be no less than 122,000 miles of roads kept open by means of the snow plow in the thirty-six states which are in the snow belt. This is rather an expensive proposition, and yet it is estimated that for every $100 spent this way $1,000 is saved in better and swifter transportation. About seventy per cent. of the nation's automobiles are in the snow belt, and to keep them running all winter will be no mean achievement. But this seventy per cent. means an investment of about $15,000,000,000, and it seems really worth while to keep this enormous investment active during the winter months. The cost of clearing the highways of snow varies from $6.49 per mile in Virginia, to $136.62 per mile in Wyoming. The removal of the snow means a saving in the upkeep of the roads, and one state estimates that for every $50,000 spent in snow removal it saved $150,000 in repairs. The problem is the more complicated by the rapid multiplication of motor buses for which the removal of the snow is an absolute necessity. Canada has a little harder problem to face, but there is an earnest attempt being made, and not unsuccessfully, to keep our roads open during the months of heavy snowfall; and as improved methods of snow removal come into vogue the matter will be greatly simplified.

Overestimating Oneself

When Paul told those to whom he wrote that they were not to think of thtmselves more highly than they onght to think we usually regard the advice as for those alone who were altogether too conceited, and we forget that the Apostle wrote, "To every man that is among you." We wonder if he really meant it!

We know some college professors who are conceited; some self-made business men; and some young folks who will not listen to our good advice; and some preachers who are too proud to do what we tell them; and some editors who think they know it all; but that it applies to Tom Jones or Mary Johnston, this seems absurd! Yet there may be something in it.

We overestimate ourselves when we refuse to listen to the advice of our friends. A friend may be mistaken, but he is a friend, and that means that he should be treated courteously. We may not take his advice but at least we had better listen to what he has to say.

And we need even more to give attention to what our enemies say about us. They do not like us; but that is all the more reason why they will not be afraid to tell us the truth. They may be wrong; but probably they are partly right, and they will let us see ourselves as we ought to.

And we overestimate ourselves when we think we are better than others. We may be; but the probability is that they are just as good as we are. They may have less education, but they may know more. They may have less refinement, but they may have greater artistic skill and discernment. They may not be able to argue at all, and yet they may have the rights of the case, and we may be absolutely wrong! Better think soberly and allow to others the possiblity of being occasionally a trifle wiser than we are. Of course it is humiliating, but it may be very safe.

Boys Will Adopt Neighborhood Vocations

Speaking at the formal opening of the new $350,000 vocational wing of the Peterboro Collegiate Institute Premier G. Howard Ferguson declared his intention of sticking to his post as Minister of Education until his program of a longer public school term and the teaching of one or two years university work in the secondary schools of the province came into effect.

"University professors will not agree with this policy," declared Mr. Ferguson. "The fewer pupils in the uiversities the fewer university professors will be needed."

The Minister of Education stressed his belief that the public school term should run up to the age of fifteen. with a primary course from seven to 11 years, and that the secondary schools should provide a couple of years of university education.

"Most casualities in the universities occur in the first year," pointed out Mr. Ferguson. "If my policy were in ffeect we would not only save $400 a year for each of these pupils, but dad would have $700 or $800 and the chances are that the boys would adopt a vocation in their own neighborhood."

A Sign of the Times.

He was the last word in picturesque rusticity, the gnarled and weather-beaten old man in the potato field—at least, that is what the young novelist thought.

"Good morning!" cried the man of letters. "What a lovely day!"

"Ay," answered the rustic, pausing with his fork and looking up at the sky. "But there's thunder a-coming."

The scribe was delighted.

"How do you know?" he asked. "Red sky at morning the shepherd's warning, eh,?"

"Dunno nothing about that,," replied the ancient, "but it were announced on the wireless last night and it's in all the dailies this mornin'."
