Local Women's Institute Stage Successful Fashion Show and Tea In Community Hall

By The "Bookworm"

The Fashion Show held in Community Hall on the afternoon and evening of March 22nd, was a great success. The splendid assortment of clothes and accessories was shown by courtesy of Mrs. L. M. Colquhoun, whom this way helped raise funds for the Room in Memorial Hospital which is being furnished and equipped by Chesterville Women's Institute.

The stage was beautifully adorned with Spring flowers and the guests were seated at exquisitely appointed small tables.

The commentator was Mrs. L. H. Doering and the models in the order of their appearance were: Leona Gallagher, Marie McCadden, Mrs. Jack Doering, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Ralph McMillan, Charlotte Lynch, Mrs. J. Fyke, Mrs. Emerson Johnson, Mrs. Lorne Marcellus, Mrs. H. Hough, Margaret Gilroy and Perry Baker. During the showings Mrs. Gilroy played soft music on the piano and she also accompanied Mrs. G. G. Merkley and Mrs. G. Barton, violinists, in several delightful musical selections. Miss Una Merkley sang in her usual sweet way "Alice Blue Gown". At the conclusion of the grouped showings a bridal tableau under the capable direction of Mrs. Hough was staged both afternoon and evening with the following members of the community as participants: bride, Mrs. Jack Doering, Bridesmaids, Leona Gallagher, Gwen Bell, Eleanor Barrie, Margaret Gilroy. Junior Bridesmaid, Beverley Shaver; Flower girl, Helen Merkley.

Tea was served by Mrs. Shaver, Mrs. Myles and Mrs. George Merkley, Mrs. D. Campbell, Mrs. H. Hamilton, Mrs. Harry Allison, Mrs. Allison Graham, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. George Johnson, ably supported by other members of the Institute.

The coiffeurs of the models were arranged by Mrs. Harry Henderson.

The small fee was taken at the door by Mrs. B. W. Campbell, sec.-treas., and Mrs. Eric Casselman, assistant secretary.

At the conclusion of the evening's showing, Mrs. Fay Shaver, president of the W.I., appeared on stage surrounded by the cast and thanked all who had in any way contribuated to the success of the evening and as a token of appreciation, the presentation of a bouquet of daffodils was made to Mrs. Colquhoun.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought to a close an event which in colour and charm was a fitting tribute to the theme of spring and a credit to all who laboured to make the occasion so delightful.

Winchester Merchant Found Dead In Bed

Charles Edward Emmerson, well-known business man of Winchester for more than 20 years, was found dead in his bed at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Mr. Emmerson had returned Monday night after spending the week-end with his daughter, Mrs. Bernard Taylor of 126 Churchill avenue, Westboro, and had retired to his hotel room about 10.30.

When he failed to appear long after his usual time of rising, J. E. Singleton, another resident of Hotel Winchester, went to the room and, finding it locked, summoned the proprietor, T. Tracy, and entered the room through the transom.

Dr. H. S. Gross was called and said that Mr. Emerson had been dead several hours. The coroner, Dr. C. R. Marcellus of Iroquois, was notified, and as Mr. Emmerson had been suffering from a heart condition for a number of years, decided that no inquest would be held.

Born in England, Mr. Emmerson had come to Winchester about 25 years ago and had conducted a boot and harness repair shop.

Chesterville Rotary Hears Postmaster F. Erle Helmer

Introduced by F. M. Cass, F. Erle Helmer, the postmaster of Winchester addressed the Chesterville Rotary club last Monday night at their regular meeting. Present as a guest of the club was Mr. Wesley Fulton, postmaster of Chesterville. Mr. Helmer based his talk on the subject, "Post Office Business".

The functions of the postmaster were many and varied, the speaker said. His main object was to give service without servility, and be a good front man for a great profitable business that netted something like $11,000,000 profits in the last year. Mr. Helmer urged the public to co-operate with the postmaster and his staff in all ways, and so help in prompt dispatch of the mails. "Do not leave off mailing that letter till the last thing," said he, "but mail it right away and get the best service." The speaker also stressed the need for a return address in the upper left hand corner of the envelope. Doing this will ease the load on the dead letter office and make for better service.

Aftr some further remarks concerning the services of the post office department, the speaker entertained his audience with two very amusing readings "Little Albert and the Lion," and "Little Albert's Return." The speaker was thanked on behalf of the club by Ray Dillabough.

HILL—CHRISTIE

A quiet early Spring wedding was solemnized at the United Church, Brinston, on Saturday afternoon, when Doris Christie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Strader, Williamsburg, became the bride of Jack Hill, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hill, Williamsburg. Rev. G. D. Empey, pastor of Brinston United Church, officiated.

The bride wore a grey mist crepe street dress with nylon yoke, and black accessories, and a corsage bouquet of pink roses.

Attending the bride was her sister Miss Audrey Strader; William T. Casselman was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other western Ontario points. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Hill will take up residence on the bridegroom's farm, east of Williamsburg.

FLOOD WATERS SUBSIDE; CELLARS DRIED TOO

Last Friday the ice went out of the Nation with a "whoosh". At the same time the residents of Albert and Victoria Streets found their basements filling with sewer water from blocked up mains. Furnaces went out in short order, especially the electric ones and other equipment was rendered useless by the rapidly rising water. The Fire Department pumped steadily at the offending sumps but little headway was noticed for many hours.

With the clearing up of the blocked sewers, the cellars are normal again although some householders report considerable loss to their equipment due to the long immersion.

RAT HARVEST SKIMPY

Local trappers are finding few muskrats in their sets this spring. With little snow on the banks this winter, the vent holes of the dens are all iced over. It is feared that the mortality rate was high from smothering. Very little sign is found yet with the water high.

GARDEN CHATS:

By Lillian Allison

Hello Neighbors:- Right now I'm tired as I can be. I've had a busy day you see. This morning, early, I had to go and help out with the Fashion Show. I carried flowers and water and stuff, but I couldn't stay there long enough, I had to hurry right home then to get the dinner for the men.

This afternoon's been busy too. I had a great big wash to do. I know I went against the rules they teach in Domestic Science Schools, for morning's the time to wash they say, but I can wash any time of day. To-morrow, I'll hang them on the line. I'll have them all out there by nine. "She's awfully smart," the neighbours will say, "to have her clothes out this time of day." Now don't you tell them, or I'll be sore, that I did the washing the day before.

I suppose you think my housecleaning's through. Well, there's been so many things to do that although I started three weeks ago, I haven't got much done, you know. I've got to scrub the windows and doors, and wash the ceilings and wax the floors. I'm sure I'll never get it all done up until some time next fall.

Now that the snow is off the ground there is so much dirt lying all around, I'll soon have to go outside and take a steady grasp on our rusty rake and gather bones and sticks in piles and carry the stuff for miles and miles until I clean up our big lawn. Why I could work from dawn to dawn. I think that I'm tired now. Why this is just a taste of how I'll feel then with my aching back that hurts like it will almost crack. I know my arms will ache and pain until I promise that never again will I rake so long and work so hard at cleaning up this great big yard.

But come next year when the robins sing and the earth is steaming and smells like spring, even though I know I'll ache and pain, I'll grab that rusty rake again. For when the sun shines warm and bright I couldn't stay inside. I might as well do all I can to help old Nature work with man in making this world nice and clean and giving it a coat of green.

So much for the nonsense. Now for a few sensible items.

Did the tomato you planted last fall grow I've had some neighbours tell me that their's were up. I hope you have good luck. It's easier than having to sow seeds now, isn't it? I wonder why peppers couldn't be planted the same way.

I got an order ready to-day for some flowers and shrubs. I've sent for one of those new "super-duper" oriental irises in blue-white and a white delphinium that I've wanted for some time. Then I ordered a snowberry bush, a coralberry, and a pink spiraea. These are for foundation planting. Now, I'll tell you a secret. The prize money I got at our Flower Show last fall only lacked 30c of paying for all those things. Moral: Grow flowers to win prizes to buy plants to grow more flowers.

The Horticultural Executive is meeting tomorrow night. We hope to arrange an open Meeting to be held very soon at which you will hear the report of the Convention at Niagara Falls. Making out that report will be a big task, so do come to hear it, won't you? I'll try to bring you only the interesting features. I'm sure you will enjoy our meeting too. If you're in doubt, just ask someone who has attended a previous one.

Better have a look in the "Coming Events". The notice of the meeting might be there now. Thank you.

Goodbye for now.

Niece of Mrs. T.E.Coulthart Buried At Camrose, Alta.

(Camrose, Alberta Canadian)

After an illness of several months, Mrs. Ila Dee Slight passed away at the University Hospital, in Edmonton, Sunday evening, March 14th. Until very recently Mrs. Slight was the owner and publisher of "The Camrose Canadian," having disposed of it only last spring to Mr. R. L. King and Mr. Ken Patrige, later joined by Mr. Fred King. In her long connection with "The Canadian" she became well known and beloved personally, not only in Camrose but in the entire district, and her death occasions a loss deeply felt by unnumbered friends.

Mrs. Slight was born in Morewood, Ontario, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Henry, who were pioneers in the Camrose district. In 1906, with their family, they came to the Avonroy community, where they resided for three years. They then moved into Camrose, where Mr. Henry engaged in business as a contractor and builder, and where his young family attended school. Following the completion of her High School course, Mrs. Slight attended McTavish Business College in Edmonton, and later accepted a position on the staff of The Camrose Canadian, then published by the late Hon. Geo. P. Smith. This early association with the paper continued until her marriage to Frederick J. Slight on Christmas Day, 1919. Shortly thereafter Mr. and Mrs. Slight moved to Erskine, where he engaged in the newspaper business for a short period. They returned to Camrose where, in 1922, Mr. Slight became a partner in the Camrose Publishing Company Ltd., being associated for a time with Thomas H. Gray, later becoming sole owner.

Following the death of Mr. Slight in 1930, Mrs. Slight returned to the newspaper business and continued to publish "The Canadian" until the spring of 1947. In the fall of that year, she purchased a home in Edmonton, where she has since resided with her three daughters.

In addition to business affairs Mrs. Slight was always active in community organizations and projects, giving freely of her time and talents in Church, Lodge and Red Cross work, where her cheerful disposition, kindliness and zeal were ever an inspiration to those associated with her.

Mrs. Slight is survived by three daughters, Hallie Marion, Carol and Lorna. Another daughter, Donna Mary, died in infancy. Surviving also are her father and mother, now residing in Vancouver, and four brothers, Halley K. of Vancouver, and Arne, Cal. and Max of Camrose. She was predeceased by her only sister, Donna.

The late Mrs. Slight was a niece of Mrs. T. E. Coulthart of Morewood.

Easter Thank-Offering Service of W.M.S.

There was a large attendance at the Easter Thankoffering Service of the Woman's Missionary Society, which was held in Trinity United Sunday School Hall on Thursday afternoon, March 18th. The room was tastefully decorated with flowering plants. Mrs. W. O. Dixon and Mrs. W. N. Fulton welcomed the women. Mrs. W. E. Wright presided and Mrs. H. Brown was pianist.

It was reported that 280 pounds of clothing had been sent for distribution overseas.

Throughout the meeting prominence was given to the leaders of the Younger Groups.

The theme of the Worship Service was, "Christ Lives," and Mrs. Wright was assisted by Mrs. Eric Casselman, C.G.I.T. superintendent who gave the Meditation, and Mrs. F. Stevens, Mission Band superintendent, who led in prayer.

Mrs. Geo. Merkley's rendition of "Open the gates of the Temple" made a very fitting conclusion for the Worship Service. Mrs. P. Gilroy was her accompanist.

Mrs. Wm. Yeudall of Montreal, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Yeudall is a Past President of Montreal Presbyterial, and is Dean of the School Leaders which is held annually at Edgehill. Her address was very timely and challenging.

The Thankoffering was received by Mrs. Wm. Hamilton and Mrs. Hugh Smith. Mrs. M. Phillips, president of the Evening Auxiliary gave the prayer of dedication.

Mrs. P. Gilroy, Baby Band superintendent, graciously expressed the thanks of the society to Mrs. Yeudall. Mrs. Wright thanked the committee in charge, Mrs. L. H. Doering, Mrs. S. Shay, Mrs. H. Brown and Mrs. F. Stevens.

A very pleasant social hour was spent at the close, when refreshments were served from an attractive table, decorated in honor of St. Patrick.

In judging of others a man laboreth in vain, often erreth, but in judging and examining himself, he always laboreth fruitfully.—Thomas A. Kempis.

IN MEMORIAM

DURANT—In loving memory of our dear mother, Minnie E. Durant, who passed away March 31, 1946.

Years of striving, little of play,
Loving and giving the whole of the way,
A cheerful smile, a heart of gold,
The dearest mother a world could hold.
Happy memories, fond and true
From those who thought the world of you.
Loved in life, she liveth yet
In the hearts of those who will never forget.

—Lovingly remembered by Harve, Lucie and Cora.

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services in the Morewood United Church were conducted on Sunday by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey. The morning service was built around the theme of Palm Sunday and the triumphant entry of Christ into Jerusalem based on the Scripture Matt. 21;1-11. It was pointed out that the great event was a prohecy of the entrance of the Christ into every phase of human experience and human relationships. The evening service featured Gospel songs with illustrated lantern slides with the text taken from Matt. V1-33. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." Miss Ellice Smith was at the organ and the choir led the service of praise.

IN MEMORIAM

BARKLEY—In loving memory of my dear mother who passed away March 25th, 1945.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
There is someone who thinks of you always,
Yet tries to be brave and content
We watched you suffer day by day,
And could not help in any way,
But just stood by and watched you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.

MAUNDY THURSDAY

Dear Readers:- As the day upon which you will receive this week's Record is known as "Maundy Thursday," (the day before Good Friday) I thought we would look into the origin and custom of the naming of this day. The word "Maundy" is derived from an old French word mandé, from the Latin, Mandatum, a command. In this case, of Christ, to His Disciples, to wash one another's feet as he had washed theirs (John XIII). In English history you will find reference in the year 1300 to the custom of the washing of feet, in remembrance of Christ's command.

The medieval Abbots originated the plan of sitting in the East Cloister of Westminster Abbey on Maundy Thursday, and washing the feet of thirteen poor men.

Having "clean washed" their feet the Abbot wiped them with a towel and then bestowed money and food on the "poor men". w

The practice was not restricted to Westminster Abbey, it taking place in all Cathedral Churches and in the larger parish churches.

After the Reformation the custom continued, Crammer participating in and defending it. The monarch sometimes took the place of ecclesiastics. Queen Elizabeth deigned to wash the feet of the poor. Thos. Rugge records that Charles II in 1661 was "pleased to wash 31 poor men's feet in the great hall of Whitehall and gave every man a purse of white leather. in it. 31 pence." He also gave them clothes, a basket containing four loaves, half a salmon and herrings red and whate.

In 1667 Pepys records that: "The King did not wash the poor people's feet himself, but the Bishop of London did it for him!"

James the Second was the last monarch to do the work himself. The Hanoverian Monarchs declined the office.

In 1739 the custom of washing the feet was dropped. but the giving of alms, food and clothing was continued. Money is now given in lieu of the last named. The ceremony is still performed in Westminster Abbey. The Almoner and his assistant are still girded with long towels, by way of a reminder of the original washing of feet. The number of men and women who receive the Maundy Money equals the age of the King. The money is brought in procession by two members of the Yeomen of the Guard, who carry a golden alms dish filled with little bags tied with long ribbons. Sometimes the King personally distributes the gifts.

Then we have Good Friday: In England the robin is a winter bird. and we are told the red of his breast is caused by a drop of Christ's blood, as it fell upon this little bird as it stood near the Cross where He died.

The death on that Cross which was to mean so much to all of us was at that time a very casual happening. He was regarded as a lonely Prophet, son of refugee parents, and then, as now, there was the juggling for power. The Romans endeavoring to be a Master Race, and the callous hunger for power of the Roman War Lords was matched only, by the appalling spiritual sabotage of the Jewish leaders themselves. So He died on the cross and all history dates from that hour. Whatever we are called upon to suffer, is as nothing to that which He endured, and when, as so often, in spite of our best efforts, we are pilloried, we can always remember: "They crucified the Christ". Did you ever wonder what became of Barabbas who was released, our Lord was the direct antithesis of this wild unlettered fisherman of Galilee.

So we find Annas, the authentic voice of Judaism deciding that the gentle rabbi from Nazareth was more of a menace than the shouting Israelite, for while he might declaim discontent, the mystic penetration of the calm pronouncements of the man known as Jeshua went far deeper than that. Destroying Him, however, fulfilled "Divine Law," and by His stripes we are healed, and so the Christian Church had its birth at the cross of Jesus Christ, and that cross becomes the symbol of our thought, planning, aspiration and inspiration of all of life, and nothing which happens us, can be like as to His suffering.

Then there was the Resurrection and He as always, showed Himself to those who were seeking Him. So the little group of men and women, who were heartbroken and utterly lost by the tragedy of Calvary were able to start out and tell of the Risen Christ and to succeed wonderfully.

Everything that is good and splendid is still possible, because wrong and wickedness and hate cannot finally triumph. Christ met and mastered the latter 2000 years ago and their final undoing must surely come.

Goodness and justice and love must win through, as Jesus who was dead is alive forever more.

Over the face of the earth in a few days now, grass, flower and tree will spring into new life—and with it the hope that spring's eternal in the human breast may the recently bereaved find hope in the Easter season, and may we all remember, that we have no glory, save in the cross f Our Lord Jesus Christ and that He said unto the woman "I am the Ressurection and the Life."

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Easter brings a joyousness made even more vivid by the Ontario climate. Grandmother used to say, "I feel the smell of spring in the breeze and of ham in the steam." It is true that our Eastertime sharpens the senses. We look forward to the enjoyment of nature's reawakening.

At Easter we like to keep our food preparations in tune with the times —attractive, new and spring-like. That is one thing about the traditional Baked Ham—it is wonderful hot or cold. Other suggestions are Meat Loaf, Roast Veal or Roast Chicken. As for accompaniments, you can use your imagination since something artistic is expected for this occasion.

Tinted green pears are easily coloured in simmering green syrup; or prepare thick apple slices in the same way. Pineapple slices cooked with the ham improve both its flavour and appearance, but you can use pineapple jelly powders to make a delicate garnish on cold ham. We should mention lime jelly for Roast Veal or chopped hard cooked eggs with parsley. Any homemade preserved jellies go well with cold meats. If the Meat Loaf is spiced, use something bland such as plums or mild onion slices steeped in hot pickle juice.

The entree will be sure to please if the homemaker cooks with skill and sets her table with care. Good food, good friends, good cheer, make entertaining a real joy—come Easter.

BUYING TENDER HAMS

1. Because the length of time needed to cook a ham depends on its kind, be sure you know what you are buying. Ask the butcher to show you the wrapper—for the wrapper of tenderized hams clearly states what brand it is and whether it is smoked, cured, or cooked.

2. If the ham has no wrapper or identification on the meat itself, we suggest you treat it like the old-fashioned kind, soaking it and then simmering it until tender before glazing and baking.

3. Tender, cured hams vary from 8 to 18 lbs. For a family of 6. a whole ham of 8 to 10 lbs is a good buy. Plan to bake it whole for use at several meals. For a family of 2 two slices of ham can be broiled. However, 4 people may like to see half a ham or a shank end of 6 lbs., and there will be ham left over for 2 or 3 meals. The shank end because of the percentage of bone, usually sells for less than the butt end. If you are buying a ham for a buffet supper, it's helpful to know that a 10 to 12 lb. ham will serve 20 to 24 persons.

COOKING HAM

Method 1

Leave ham in cellophane paper. Wipe it off and place in a preheated electric oven at 325 degrees according to timetable. Forty-five minutes before baking time is up, remove ham from oven. Slice off the rind with a sharp knife and score the fat into diamond shaped pieces. Stick ¼ cup whole cloves into top, then spread on a mixture of 1 cup brown sugar and 2 tbsps. dry mustard. Return to oven until meat thermometer reads 155 degrees or about 45 mins.

For 5 to 8 lbs. ham allow 25 mins. per lb. For 8 to 10 lbs. ham allow 23 mins. per lb. For 10 to 12 lbs. ham allow 20 mins. per lb. For 15 to 18 lbs. ham allow 16 mins. per lb.

Method 2

Use a 10 lb. whole smoked ham and cover with boiling water; bring to boiling point, lower heat to simmering, cook 3¼ hours. Tenderized hams may cook in one-third of the time.

Trim off the rind, add glaze and place in preheated oven for 15 mins. at 350 degs. Baste 2 or 3 times.

Honey Glaze—Stir 1 tsp. pastry spice into 1 cup honey.

Orange Glaze—Combine 1 cup brown sugar with 1 tbsp. orange rind and 1|3 cup orange juice.

Virginia Glaze—Combine 1 cup white sugar, 1 tsp. dry mustard and ¼ cup pineapple juice.

TAKE A TIP

1. There are more servings per lb. cut from cold cooked ham.

2. If you want to reheat ham, allow about 14 mins. per lb. in preheated electric oven at 325 degrees.

3. Serve Sauted Apple Rings and crisp turnip sticks with ham.

4. Baked Potatoes and Stuffed Onions make a tasty main course with ham.

5. An attractive lime jelly mould with grated carrot in it looks festive and fresh.

6. Suggestions for dessert: Spanish Cream with peaches; Graham Cracker Pie; Marshmallow Delight; Fruit-Rice Pudding; Spiced Rhubarb.

THE QUESTION BOX

Miss B. A. asks: Ingredients for the Banana Gingersnap dessert published 3 years ago.

Answere: Gingana Cream:

1 cup whipping cream, 2 tbsps. fine sugar, few grains salt, 3 bananas.

Whip cream slightly stiff. Add sugar and salt. Press bananas through sieve; add lemon juice. Fold into cream and crumbs. Put in freezing tray to chill. Serves 5.
