MOE puts clamp on new developments for 1 1/2 years

by Lesley Cadham
News Reporter

A Ministry of Municipal Affairs official believes the ministry will not be in a position to approve new housing projects for Alexandria for about 1 1/2 years.

Senior Planner Tom Smart attended a meeting at the town hall, Oct. 20, which had been called by Ministry of Environment (MOE) officials to discuss what was considered a ''serious'' sewage and water insufficiency in town. When the meeting was over, Mr. Smart told The Glengarry News, he estimated that it will take at least 1 1/2 years before the town has satisfactorily solved the problem.

The ministry provides the ultimate approval for housing projects.

But Mayor J. P. Touchette Tuesday said he didn't think construction of three housing developments in town would be delayed. He disagreed with Mr. Smart's estimate saying, it was his prerogative to set his own estimated date. ''More than likely everything will fall into place for the spring,'' he said.

''There is no reason to create problems. The town is not falling to pieces,'' he added.

Also attending the meeting were representatives from J. L. Richards and Associates, the firm which is updating the town's official plan and zoning bylaw, A. D. Revill Associates which is acting as consultant for the Non-Profit Housing Corporation project, Public Utilities Manager Laurent Poirier, Public Works Superintendent Jean Guy Levert and Gaetan Lascelles of Desjardins-Lascelles Engineering of Hawkesbury.

Councillors Jim Baker, Jean Larocque, Jacques Joly, Larry Yaguchi and Fern Séguin were also present.

Gerry McKenna, district officer for Cornwall district MOE made it clear from the start that the ministry was not in a position to ''comment favorably'' on new developments, considering existing problems.

He added, he felt it was unfair to lead developers to believe its okay to go ahead with development when their work will have to be stopped. ''They'll spend a lot of money for nothing,'' he said.

Three housing projects have already recieved some degree of approval from the town; Denis Ethier's proposed subdivision in northeastern Alexandria, Dr. Frans Manouvrier's proposed development just west of Canadian Tire and the Non-Profit Housing Corporation project.

The three developments would create approximately 300 new households. There are also about 200 to 300 more vacant lots for which the town committed to provide services when they are developed.

MOE officials expressed their concern about Alexandria's sewer and water capacities after the Ministry of Municipal Affairs circulated plans for Mr. Ethier's proposed subdivision.

MOE had recommended that the town expand sewage services two years ago, and when asked for approval on yet another housing project, MOE decided it was time to scrutinize the town's services.

At the Oct. 21 meeting, Mr. McKenna said realistically, there are just enough services now to accomodate the town's population. He also said that he wasn't sure if there was enough capacity to connect the committed lots to water and sewer lines. MOE would not be able to stop development on those properties, he

Call for ban on leg hold traps follow injuries to rare turkey vulture, dog

by Dann Rogers
News Editor

A turkey vulture like the one spotted in Dalkeith recently was transported to a clinic in Kenona Tuesday to recover from injuries sustained while caught in a leg hold trap Monday.

''We had to amputate the two centre toes on its right foot,'' Dr. Janet Lalonde of the Alexandria Veterinary Clinic said Monday.

''The bird was in the trap for 24 hours maximum. It was not dehydrated so it should recover fine. This has to be the same bird which your readers have been writing to the paper about. It's very rare to see them around here. These are the types of birds you see in the Arizona desert,'' she said.

Mike Fradette of Glen Robertson found the turkey vulture on Monday at 2:30 p.m. on the road beside the Breadalbane road near Dalkeith.

''I saw the vulture struggling on the road, trying to fly, but it was obvious he was too pooped,'' said Mr. Fradette Monday. The gender of the bird wasn't determined.

''At first I thought he had a kill in his mouth, but then I realized he was caught in a trap. I went to pick him up, but he took off into the bush. He tried his best to get away, but the trap held him down.''

Mr. Fradette eventually put the vulture in the trunk of his car and drove the bird to the Alexandria Veterinary Clinic for treatment and to The Glengarry News for a photo.

'The trap . . . is just a complete nightmare':Vet

The vulture is expected to recover at the Chubb Raptor Centre in Kenona for 10 days and then released.

Dr. Lalonde said she has treated other animals who have been caught in leg hold traps.

''The leg hold trap is just a complete nightmare,'' she said.

''On Saturday, a dog was brought in here that had been caught in a trap for two or three days and it was completely mutilated.

''Its skin had been stripped away from its front leg and the flesh was all rotten. It had to be put to sleep.

''Every year I get four or five dogs that have been caught in leg hold traps and they always tear themselves apart trying to get free. I think they should be banned,'' said Dr. Lalonde.

The turkey vulture is a carrion eater, a loner, looks like a vulture and has a peculiar circling pattern, she added.

In his Oct. 7 letter to the editor, Dane Lanken of Alexandria described the turkey vulture as: '' . . . a large, black carrion-eater, has not generally been seen in this area, though it has apparently been expanding its range in recent years. It is much larger than any other birds seen locally.

''It is almost entirely black, with a small bald head, clearly separated feathers at the tips of its wings, and the wings are held at a characteristic V-shape when gliding.''

Train travellers have to dig deeper following rate boosts

Glengarrians who commute to Montreal or Ottawa by train will soon have to dig deeper into their pockets and accommodate ''minor'' changes in the timetable.

Effective Dec. 1, Via Rail's one-way and return fares from Alexandria will increase by as much as 14 per cent.

A one-way ticket from Alexandria to Montreal will cots $12, an increase of $1. A round-trip one-day excursion fare will go from $14 to $16 and a two-to-five day round-trip excursion will increase to $19, up $1 from $18.

Travellers purchasing one-way tickets to Ottawa will have to dish out $11 as opposed to $10. One-day round-trip tickets from Alexandria will cost $14, up from $13 and the two-to-five day, round-trip excursion will increase by $2 to $18, up from $16.

Via Rail Public Affairs Officer Marcel Bordeleau said, Thursday, the increase in fares is Via's way of meeting the cost of being in business. The additional income won't do much to alleviate Via's multi-million dollar debt, but will help to offset expenses.

Effective Nov. 29, commuters will also be forced to shuffle their schedules. Trains travelling from Montreal to Ottawa will depart five to 15 minutes later. Trains commuting from Ottawa to Montreal will leave 15 to 20 minutes earlier.

The early-morning train to Montreal will depart Alexandria at 8:03 a.m. arriving at Central Station at 9:10 a.m. The late train will leave Montreal at 5:50 p.m., arriving in Alexandria at 6:57 p.m.

Commuters to Ottawa will be able to sleep in a few extra minutes, as the first morning train will leave Alexandria at 8:54 a.m., to arrive in Ottawa at 10 a.m. The supper-hour train from Ottawa will depart at 5:10 p.m. and arrive in Alexandria at 6:05 p.m.

Three arrested in local drug bust

Alexandria police arrested and charged three Glengarry residents with drug trafficking, Thursday.

The arrests were in co-operation with a larger-scale investigation which also terminated Thursday with the arrests of 33 more people by District 11 OPP.

Police seized $50,000 in illegal drugs.

Acting Alexandria Police Chief, Cpl. Don Eastopp declined to release the individuals' names.

The three have been charged with trafficking under the Narcotics Control Act and will appear in Alexandria Provincial Court, Nov. 5.

Alexandria police were working with OPP, who had been carrying out an undercover investigation since July. Other areas under investigation were Rockland, Manotick, Morrisburg, Casselman and Hawkesbury. A total of 55 charges have been laid.

According to an OPP press release, undercover operators from the District 11 Crime Unit purchased drugs such as cocaine, hashish and marijuana from traffickers.

Price war ahead for truckers: GTL exec

Unsafe highways could result from deregulation

by Dann Rogers
News Editor

The deregulation of the trucking industry to take effect Jan. 1 will make highways more dangerous and set off a price war, an executive of Glengarry Transport Limited Group said Monday.

''Deregulation is happening Jan. 1, but the National Safety Code (NSC) (trucking watchdog legislation) will not come into effect until a year later,'' said Executive Vice-President Paul Poirier Monday.

''We worry about the first year of deregulation. New truckers entering the field may create a situation that will make trucking less popular to the public and prompt them to lobby politicians to restrict all truckers even more.

A log book is to come in with the NSC which will record the number of hours a trucker drives each week to help enforce the limit of 60.

''In the year of no NSC, it will be a free-for-all. New companies will push their drivers to work long hours so as to establish a niche for themselves.''

He says GTL is actively lobbying governments to at least implement the NSC immediately to control new truckers entering the industry.

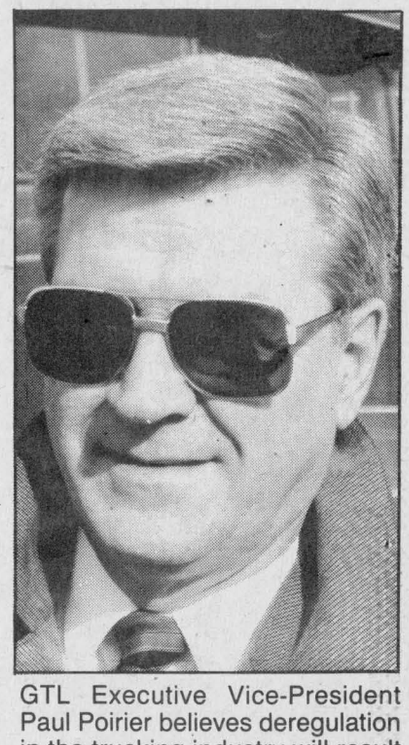
The other problem Mr. Poirier envisions for GTL is the inevitable price war which will threaten existing companies.

''New truckers don't know what the operating costs are so they will offer prices below operating costs and the shipping public will be attracted to those low prices.

''These new truckers will eventually have financial problems, but in the meantime they will have taken some market share away from more reliable and dependable trucking companies,'' said Mr. Poirier.

Another thing that upsets him about deregulation is that U.S. or new Canadian companies will be able to chase after new and expanded markets without acquiring government clearance.

''Over the years, GTL has paid a big price for acquisitions or spent endless hours in proving necessity for extended territory. Whereby now, any carrier will have access to these markets without the expense of proving public necessity.''



GTL Executive Vice-President Paul Poirier believes deregulation in the trucking industry will result in price wars and more dangerous highways.

Mr. Poirier says that while GTL would've preferred if the trucking industry remained regulated, they have gone to great lengths to ensure their survival in the new environment.

''Gilles Lefebvre (president GTL) felt that to survive deregulation, we had to become among the largest carriers in Canada. This we did by acquiring other companies or applying to various transport boards to expand our territories.''

Their latest acquisition was also their largest. Earlier this month GTL purchased all outstanding shares of Algocen Transport Holdings Ltd. which is commonly known as Thibodeau-Finch.

''That purchase made us the fourth largest transport company in Canada (up from eighth) and the largest regional carrier in Canada,'' Mr. Poirier said.

The company has also diversified into other fields with the purchase of Sani-Van, an environmental firm.

GTL has also gone into long-term leasing of trucking vehicles as well as entering specialty fields of transportation such as the flat-bed division and refrigerated product handling.

''We saw deregulation coming to Canada after it was introduced in the U.S. in 1980 and we have braced ourselves for it,'' said Mr. Poirier.

The seniors of Fraternite Alexandria Inc. held their annual general meeting on Oct. 18, at Fraternite Hall.

President Gerard Roy welcomed some 75 members present and reported on the activities of the Club d'Age d'Or: weekly bingos, card games every second week, monthly dances, physical exercises on Monday afternoons, bake and craft sale, several trips, pool and shuffleboard in the basement.

The club's dancers participated at the Save the Train gathering, visited at least twice during the year the Community Nursing Home and Maria Goretti Residence where they performed for the residents. Bus trips took members to Oratoire St. Joseph and Palais des Congres in Montreal, to Sherbrooke for a two-day visit and a social evening at a Club d'age d'Or in Stoke Centre outside Sherbrooke, an apple-picking party at St. Eustache, and a five-day journey to James Bay.

Two meetings were held at the hall: one by the local group of Heart Foundation with Dr. Ghyslain Marleau as guest speaker, and the other was organized by Noble Villeneuve, M.P.P. with professional speakers on nutrition, wills and power of attorney, homes for the aged and investments.

After the reading and presentation of the secretary's report and the financial report, the nomination committee introduced the candidates to replace the outgoing members of the board of directors. The new committee was chosen for the year 1988: President, Gerard Roy, First Vice-president, Omer Claude, Second Vice-president, Lucille Desjardins, Secretary-treasurer, Yvonne Roussin, Directors, Therese Seguin, Rosabelle Sauvé, Yvonne St. Denis, Ilma Legault, Fidelle St. Denis and Gerard Bourre.

The meeting was followed by a card game, a pot-luck supper, music, dancing and pool.

Fraternité has renewed its lease of the hall with St. Finnan's Parish which uses the premises for the church activities.

The membership in 1987 was 375, and the members come for Alexandria, and the townships of Lancaster, Kenyon, Lochiel and Charlottenburgh.

November is fundraising month for the Canadian Diabetes Association.

Diabetes is a condition where the body cannot use the sugar (glucose) properly. Sugar builds up in the blood and some of this sugar is wasted as it passes from the body in large volumes of urine.

The result is an energy shortage in body cells. Over one million Canadians have Diabetes. Some poeple are at higher risk for diabetes than others. Long term complications make diabetes the third leading cause of death in Canada.

The best insurance against these complications is early diagnosis combined with careful treatment.

If you would like more information on Diabetes or what the local branch has to offer please contact: Moray Libbos, North Lancaster, 525-3829.

During the month of November, canvassers will be calling on you for your support and please be generous in assisting the Canadian Diabetes Association find a cure.

A craft and bake sale will be held Nov. 14 at the Brookdale Mall in Cornwall to raise money for the association.

New developments put on hold by MOE

said, but he recommended the town think twice before allowing any more homes to be built.

Councillor Jim Baker, who is chairman of the Non-Profit Housing committee expressed concern that plans for 36 urgently required geared-to-income rental homes would have to be put on hold. He asked whether the units could be labelled top priority.

When Mr. McKenna replied that the ministry had to deal with all proposed projects on the same priority basis, Mr. Baker asked, "Are you suggesting we throw up our hands and quit?"

Mr. McKenna answered that a step in the right direction would be to ask Consoltex, a local fabric manufacturer, to recycle water to cool plant machinery.

Currently, the plant uses about 400,000 gallons of water each day, about half the town's total daily usage.

Town Councillor Larocque asked whether the expansion to the water filtration plant would be necessary if Consoltex reduced its water consumption. He then asked, "You mean they're costing us $1 million to expand?"

The town is currrently working on a $1 million expansion of the filtration plant to increase capacity from 1.2 millions gallons a day to 1.8 milllion gallons.

Mayor J. P. Touchette and MOE officials met with Consoltex executives, Monday, to discuss Mr. McKenna's recommendation.

According to MOE Environmental Officer Don Munro, Consoltex was open to the suggestion and is expected to discuss possible approaches during the next two weeks, after which the three parties will meet again.

But water supply is not the only issue.

Two years ago, J. L. Richards conducted a study on behalf of MOE to look at expanding the sewage treatment and pumping station plants.

Last week, J. L. Richards was appointed consultant by the town to examine the short and long-term effects of the sewage treatment plant on the Delisle River, into which treated sewage flows: to evaluate the opeation while taking into consideration future growth to the town, new technology and the effects of both on the Delisle River.

The consultants will also try to determine the ultimate amount of waste capable of being diluted by the river and will examine the effect of a reduction of extraneous flows to the sewage plant.

The town will apply to MOE for funding to carry out the study.

Tuesday, Mr. Munro said, "Unless we've got positive proof that there is a significant reduction in water consumption, we're not prepared to give the go-ahead on any developments.

However, he added, positive proof that improvements on sewer and water services will take place, may be enough to get the ministry's approval.

Schedules for trains "1" and "2" will not change.

On a larger scale, Via announced fares for transportation and accommodation (bedroom, roomettes, etc.) will increase by four per cent. However, Via will not raise rates on first class supplements and accommodation charges on the Eastern Transcontinental trains.

Passengers holding tickets for travel on or after Dec. 1, will not be forced to pay the difference. Passengers who have made reservations prior to Sept. 30 for travel on or after Dec. 1 have until Nov. 15 to secure their tickets at current rates.

Trespassers beware!

Lancaster OPP are reminding hunters that trespassing on private property could warrant fines up to $1,000.

"Trespassing" is an offence when a person enters property that is clearly private, such as a field or cultivated land, orchards or property that is enclosed to keep people away or to keep animals inside. Owners of such properties are not obliged to erect warning signs.

A red circle, about 4" in diameter means entry is prohibited. A yellow circle means permission to enter must be obtained from the landowner. Both symbols must be erected where they are visible in daylight, at ordinary points of entry.

OPP urge landowners to call if a situation appears to be at all dangerous.

WI welcomes neighbors

Eileen Johnston, president of Martintown Women's Institute, welcomed members of Dunvegan WI to their October meeting held in the Seniors Room of the Martintown Community Centre.

Under the leadership of Ginny Blair and Gerdie Huizinka, the 4-H girls were present and they outlined briefly their present project "A taste of Ontario's fruits and vegetables"; on hand was a display of different ways of cooking carrots — boiled, microwaved, steamed, panned, and baked.

All present ate a sample to try to determine the method which had been used. Mrs. Beverley Runions thanked the 4-H'ers for their interesting comments and display, at the same time extending sincere appreciation to the leaders for their time and talents.

Fourteen girls are registered for this particular course, so it seems there will be no lack of good future cooks in Martintown area.

Roll call was "What have you done to improve your education in the past year?" From the replies, it is still true — "It is never too late to learn."

A donation has been made towards the Halloween party being held this coming weekend at the Community Centre.

Beverley Runions was proud to present a special gift of appreciation to Mrs. Salem Thomson, as she has been a faithful and continually interested member of the branch for 50 years.

Members are reminded that on Nov. 19 a meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mary Murray. Roll call is "My earliest memory of the Williamstown Fair." New members are always welcome, so come and join us.

A haunting house

The Charbonneau family in Green Valley had local motorists' heads turning last week after the family decked out the house's front with various Halloween paraphernalia. Anik and Stephane, disguised appropriately, decided to put the final touch on the scene by frightening Maurice and Ginette, their parents, during a photo session Sunday. The decorations, which include a scary dummy, took Maurice a day and a half to put up.

Group toured Holland to study alternative waste disposal methods

by Sybil Carello
News Correspondent

An in-depth look at Holland's advances in waste disposal has prompted a delegation to seek the province's assistance in evaluating a refuse-derived fuel operation in Eastern Ontario.

Two representatives from the Stormont-Glengary Waste Management Master Plan Steering Committee, chairman Jay Currier and alternate, Roxborough counc. Laurent Souligny, were part of the delegation looking into alternative methods of waste disposal.

Others in the group included representatives from the Dundas-Grenville, and Hawkesbury Waste Management Master Plan Steering Committee's; Andre Lavigne, warden of the United Counties of Prescott-Russell and reeve of North Plantagenet Township; municipal officials from the villages of Alfred and Plantagenet; a representative for Jean Poirier, MPP for Prescott-Russell; a member of the Ottawa-Carleton Task Force on Waste Management; Andre LaFleche, president of Calco Holdings, a Roxborough Township firm interested in energy from waste technologies and Louis Racicot, a board member of Waste Treatment Industries Inc. (WTI)

WTI, which arranged the trip and paid for meals and accommodations, is a Canadian firm proposing the development of a waste separation and refuse-derived-fuel plant in Eastern Ontario. They say such a facility would be capable of handling waste from Prescott-Russell and SD&G; and possibly Leeds, Grenville and Ottawa-Carleton. In return, municipalities would be required to pay a basic tipping fee for the handling of waste.

Mr. Currier, chief administrator of Charlottenburgh Township, the co-ordinating municipality for the Stormont-Glengarry waste study group (a total of nine municipalities) said Friday he was "extremely impressed" by the fact that for some years now, the Dutch have been looking at waste as a "resource rather than a problem."

The tour of waste management facilities included I Cova b.v., a private firm which converts domestic and commercial waste into a marketable pelletized fuel product, comparable to coal for certain energy requirements.

The firm processes about 2,000 tonnes of waste daily, and sells the fuel by-product on the open market. The commercially successful system involves a separation process of metals, organics and stable wastes (glass, etc.)

"Nothing is lost in the concept", counc. Souligny pointed out in an interview Monday. "The stable wastes go to a landfill site" he said, adding one site, several kilometres outside of Amsterdam, has been turned into an 80-metre ski hill.

During the process, anything recyclable is sold; organic materials are burned at a municipal incinerator. The remaining waste is processed into solid fuel pellets.

"Holland is a much smaller country with different demands," said Mr. Currier, noting their attitude towards different waste alternatives. "They're (Dutch) very inventive," he observed.

While WTI has not yet determined whether municipalities see this alternative as a viable long-term waste-disposal solution, they're convinced it can work in this country. If such a plant is established it would be the first of its kind in North America.

Greenhouse operations were also on the itinerary. The delegation visited Aalsmeer Flower Auction, one of 12 such facilities in Holland.

Aalsmeer, is the size of 60 football fields, services 4,000 flower growers and hundreds of wholesale and retail buyers, employs 1,100 people, and receives about 250,000 tourists annually.

WTI, whose second phase of its proposal includes large-scale greenhouse operations, believes it may be possible to use the relatively cheap fuel produced from waste to heat similar greenhouse facilities here.

At a government-operated, Energy-Research Center, the group was informed that the fuel pellets produced by I Cova (researched and approved at the center) have excellent combustion potential, coupled with exhaust characteristics easily treated to avoid air pollution.

"We're taking the best of their (Holland's) technology, and adapting it to our needs," said Mr. LaFleche, Tuesday.

Mr. LaFleche was the main force behind the $55 million Agro-Industrial Waste Recycling complex proposal earlier this year. Although supported by the United Counties of SD&G and Prescott-Russell, an effort to get a response from the Ministries of Environment; Energy; Agriculture and Food; Trade and Technology, for a feasibility study, received no follow-up.

"The viability in my mind has a lot to do with volume," said Mr. Currier. Mr. LaFleche's population figure, for the plant's feasibility, is 200,000.

"The biggest problem," continued Mr. Currier, "is convincing local politicians and taxpayers."

He added, with the number of waste studies now in progress, it would make a lot of sense for the government to incorporate a feasibility study, "rather than each study group pursuing this particular alternative individually."

The Waste Study Master Plan, in conjunction with the Ontario Ministry of Environment, has provisions for alternative methods of waste disposal, provideded they are "shown through the process to be reasonable."

And while Mr. Laurent feels the need for a cautious approach at least until ratepayers and interested parties are informed of the concept as one possible solution, he admits to being "very impressed" with Holland's example.

He calls it the "plan of the future," something which "already exists."

Pleads guilty to probation breach

An R.R.1, Bainsville man will be back in court for sentencing after pleading guilty to charges of mischief and breach of probation.

Michel Saucier was charged July 18 in Lancaster and pleaded guilty to both charges in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday.

Mr. Saucier was charged with mischief after he damaged a 1976 GMC truck on Main Street in Lancaster. He had been drinking with friends at a nearby apartment. The man decided to go outside and put dents and scrapes on the vehicle. Damage to the truck was estimated at $197.95.

Mr. Saucier appeared in provincial court in June and was placed on probation for two years. Two of the conditions ordered by Judge Reginald Levesque at the time was that he not consume alcohol and to keep the peace.

Man fined $75 for holding grass

A Martintown man was fined $75 in Alexandria Provincial Court Thursday after pleading guilty to possession of canibus resin.

Laurier Lavigne, 19, was charged Oct. 16 in Charlottenburgh Township.

Police received information that Mr. Lavigne was walking in Martintown and has canibus resin in his possession.

After an OPP officer questioned Mr. Lavigne, he handed over 4.2 grams of canibus resin to the officer, which had an estimated value of $63.

Mr. Lavigne was given two months to pay the fine.

Garbage levy hike passed

At its Oct. 7 meeting, Lancaster Township Council reluctantly agreed to pay next year's increased garbage levy charged by Charlottenburgh Township.

Effective Jan. 1, Lancaster will pay $2,915 in dumping fees compared to $1,050 in 1987. Charlottenburgh has estimated the cost of operating the Williamstown dump to average $11.83 per resident. The Lancaster total is based on 250 residents using the neighboring municipality's dump.

These residents are customers of Char-Lan Sanitation, a private garbage collection service.

During council's deliberations, Deputy-reeve Charles Sangster suggested Charlottenburgh collect payment from Char-Lan Sanitation.

He also wondered aloud why Lancaster Township must pay Charlottenburgh so that André Seguin, Char-Lan's owner, can work.

Councillor Richard Vaillancourt advocated a survey be taken at the dump.

Other private collection agencies are occasionally dumping refuse from other municipalities into the township dump near North Lancaster. The municipality does not exercise control to ensure only township residents use its facilities nor does it charge users. Council discussed the possibility of levying a small fee per trip.

A township map highlighting all its private roads, the majority located along the waterfront, has been prepared.

During a similar meeting held June 25, discussion centred around the planning difficulties caused by scattered, large, undeveloped lots. Under the bylaws, property owners wishing to divide their land can either request one severance per lot or submit a plan of subdivision for multiple severances. Another alternative, less costly and complicated than a formal subdivision, may be preferred.

The province is studying the whole issue of private roads. Thursday's meeting will shed light on the results of the study.

Nevertheless, the township representatives decided to pay the Charlottenburgh levy. Council estimated the additional cost, both to the municipality and to Mr. Seguin, of changing collection routes and servicing all Lancaster residents at its own facility to be greater than accepting the Charlottenburgh increase.

PRIVATE ROADS

A special meeting to discuss private roads has been scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. Council will meet with Counties Planner Bryan Weir and Tom Smert of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing in Toronto.

LANCASTER HEIGHTS

Formerly called the Beauchamps Subdivision, the re-named Lancaster Heights project is shaping up.

The property, now owned by the township because of unpaid taxes, is located on Conc. 9, east of county road 23, between Glen Robertson and Dalhousie. The site features a small lake.

Next spring, the municipality intends to gravel the road, which has already been cleared.

Anglers upset with perch plan

by Lesley Cadham
News Reporter

Local anglers who gathered in Cornwall to discuss proposed fishing regulations with Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) officials, Friday night, left the heated meeting exuding an air of frustration and passive resignation.

Several of the 150 anglers in attendance at the Cornwall Civic Complex spent much of the three-hour meeting scoffing at ministry officials and hurling accusations that the new regulations were just a way of increasing ministry revenue.

Though the fishing of pike, pickerel and bullheads entered into the picture briefly, most of the discussion centred on perch.

An unidentified angler stood up and said he believed the ministry wanted to cash in on the perch sales. "What's wrong with what's going on now?" he asked.

Currently, only three fishermen are licensed to fish commercially with hoop nets in Lake St. Francis, however, many Glengarry and area anglers fish perch with rods and reels and sell to local restaurants. The commercial fishermen are not licensed to take yellow perch.

MNR is proposing to limit to 60 the number of anglers who can sell perch caught in Lake St. Francis. These commercial anglers would each be limited to a quota of 1,100 lbs. a year and the three commercial fishermen would each be allotted a quota of 11,000 lbs.

The ministry claims that while the perch population is not declining, it can stand no additional harvest.

"The problem is not the guy with the rod and reel," said someone in the audience. "The problem is the nets."

The crowd applauded and someone else added that though the commercial fishermen were prohibited from catching perch, that doesn't stop perch from swimming into their nets.

Mike Eckersley, MNR district biologist for the Cornwall district denied allegations that the ministry was motivated by dollars and said, "The regulations have nothing to do with revenue and taxes."

GOING FISHING

And when the discussion got too loud he reminded the crowd, "We're here to manage resources and we're here to get your ideas."

Another unidentified member of the audience asked, "You want these people (60 commercial anglers) to catch the (number of) fish that's sold to restaurants?"

Still another angler asked, "Seven hundred guys can't keep the restaurants going. How can 60?"

In a brief interview Monday, Lancaster angler Maurice Durouchie said even if he was lucky enough to get a commercial angler's license, 1,100 lbs. of perch a year wouldn't be enough to keep him in supply.

Mr. Durouchie's wife, Loretta, owns Loretta's Chip Wagon in Lancaster. He says he supplies the little restaurant with about 2,000 lbs. of perch a year.

When asked if he had left the meeting feeling helpless and frustrated, he answered, "Yes," adding that other men who were there Friday night expressed similar views to him.

NO GOOD

"They (MNR) are going to do what they want. The way they talked, it (the legislation) will go through, but it's no good to us."

He disagreed that the ministry is trying to get a piece of the action by forcing anglers to report their catches, saying, "They're not going to make that much money. I think they just want to know where the money (income to anglers) is going."

Met with wild applause was Glengarry Park owner Ray Rock's statement: "All this hullabaloo is unnecessary. Leave the fishermen and nets there. Just stop spring fishing during spawning season."

He added, setting a strict perch quota would undoubtedly cause the price of the fish to skyrocket.

Several anglers supported the suggestion to prohibit perch fishing for a few weeks in the spring. Others asked MNR to stock the lake with perch to increase the population.

"It's nice to see money spent but the rivers weren't restocked. That's what we wanted to see," said another man.

Mr. Eckersley admitted that MNR's first choice would probably be a seasonal reduction of perch fishing.

It is not yet known how the 60 commercial anglers would be chosen or how non-commercial anglers would be checked. But questionnaires, distributed at the meeting, must be in by Nov. 23. MNR will then make a decision with regard to controlling perch and are expected to call another meeting with the anglers to discuss the final details of the legislation.

Mr. Eckersley said, he believed the anglers were "not too pleased" with MNR's proposal. "They want to retain the status quo." But he added, the ministry would take their views into account when rendering a decision.

An unidentified angler contributes to the heated discussion which took place between area anglers and the Ministry of Natural Resources in Cornwall, Friday night. Emotions ranged from anger to passive resignation and one man commented, he feels the ministry will do whatever it pleases, regardless of the wishes of loyal anglers.

Down the drain

Spending the public's money is never a pleasant prospect for municipal politicians or ratepayers. But it's a necessity at times that should never be delayed to save in the short term at the expense of the long.

And yet, that appears to be what has happened in Alexandria. The Ontario Ministry of Environment (MOE) suggested two years ago the town expand and upgrade its sewage system. That advice for reasons only known to council was not acted upon, so when the MOE was approached with plans for approval of a subdivision which proposed the construction of 33 townhouses, 18 condominiums and 40 senior citizens apartments, it had serious misgivings about allowing it to proceed.

In fact, the ministry appears to be adverse to approving two other projects, including Dr. Franz Manouvrier's 120-unit apartment project for seniors and families, and Alexandria's Non-Profit Housing Corporations's geared-to-income development which will feature 15 units. Both projects are badly needed in town to stem a growing housing stock deficit for young and old people.

Growth is an important necessity to ensure a community's future health. Maintenance and construction costs have accelerated annually in recent years, well beyond the cost of living. As a result, a community's ability to pay for services and facilities fall further and further behind until ratepayers either are forced to accept poorer services or swallow hefty tax increases.

Ideally, a municipality anticipating growth should plan for it, and up taxes in appropriate amounts with each passing year. Alexandria council could have begun plans two years ago for expansion to its sewage treatment facilities, as the MOE had suggested. Councillors at the time should have been aware that any delays would simply drive up construction costs and increase the long-term financial burden.

Still, it would be premature to fault council entirely for the delay in moving on sewage expansion. It was not until the arrival of the provincial election that the MOE agreed to boost servicing subsidies to municipalities needing them. In some ways, the subsidy program encourages municipalities to delay improvements because it places communities on priority lists according to need. Naturally, the longer a town or township delays improving services, the worse they become and the higher on that priority list for provincial funding that municipality is placed.

All factors considered, however, and bearing in mind today's spiralling construction and servicing costs, the town would have been further ahead to have started sewage expansion two years ago. Now, it will have to pay the price anyway, and at greater cost both to developers and ratepayers.

A risky resolution

If Charlottenburgh Township Council views industrial development as an important tenet of its mandate, it has an odd way of demonstrating that to its ratepayers.

In its haste to oppose the free trade deal through resolution before learning the specifics behind it, council has played its cards early in the game without determining the stakes. Basically it has risked alienating it own taxpaying entrepreneurs, industrialists, and prospective clients for its industrial park, while gaining little except a contribution to a national debate not likely to be influenced by Charlottenburgh's resolution one way or the other.

In itself, that's a bad trade. What company would want to set up a shop in a municipality that's willing to exchange future economic options for political acrimony?

Councillor Carol-Ann Ross herself indicated that she thought the public should know the whole content of the deal, and said her own fear of the unknown prompted her to support the resolution opposing it.

Given her anxiety, it would have seemed prudent to err on the side of caution and abstain from voting or not support the motion, instead of committing herself fully against a deal.

Deputy reeve Bob Roth, whose connections with the NDP are well known, led the attack against the deal. While his concerns may be legitimate and arguments thought-provoking, it's difficult to avoid regarding his statements as biased and partisan, and sounding very much like those thundering daily from Ed Broadbent's chair during Question Period.

But if there was ever an issue that demanded balanced and unimpeded debate, the free trade deal is it. Indeed it has massive consequences for us all, municipalities included.

Charlottenburgh's strong stance at this stage of the game, however, is premature for the reasons stated above. But in many ways it may well lead to a suppression of that debate among Charlottenburgh citizens who see their political representatives' minds already made up.

Better a healthy militia than submarines in the arctic

RAMBLING REPORTER
Eugene Macdonald

The Department of National Defence has grandiose plans to spend some five billion dollars on the purchase of nuclear submarines. They would be used to patrol the polar icecap to protect Canada's claims to the Arctic regions. Theoretically they will repel both American and Russian submarines, said to be making light of our sovereignty up there.

Presumably those billions would simply be added to our annual deficit, so the costs are no worry. But why should we be acquiring nuclear weapons of war at a time when our government is piously promoting an end to nuclear armaments and when the super powers at last are seriously discussing dismantling of their huge nuclear stockpiles?

Either we're for, or against the nuclear threat.

We can't afford it, but if our government feels the need for spending billions on defence it might better make a start by rebuilding our manpower needs in the three services. That could also serve to reduce unemployment by offering military careers for those unable to find work in industry.

These thoughts on matters military were triggered by news of a change of command ceremony for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders at Cornwall. Lt.-Col. J. C. F. Sheflin, CD, retired after being Officer Commanding for two years. To head the regiment is the new O.C., Lt.-Col. J. K. Simpson, C.D.

We know neither officer but wish Col. Simpson well in his new command. Col. Sheflin, we read, is a laboratory analyst for Dupont Canada Inc. at Maitland. Col. Simpson was born at Kingston and served with another militia unit, the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa, before joining the SD&G Highlanders two years ago as the Deputy Commanding Officer.

It struck us that the officer corps of the area militia unit must indeed have fallen on evil days when the United Counties cannot furnish a steady supply of militia officers qualified to take command. We can recall post-war years when the SD&G's apparently had no shortage of officers centred on the armouries at Cornwall. But that was forty years ago and a new generation may not be as interested in things military.

If the Defence Department has let Canada's militia wither from neglect and the non-supply of needed funds we may rue the loss come that unhappy day when Canadians are called to the colors again. We can hope never again to be involved in a war, but just in case, it would be wise to retain the nucleus of a citizen army that the militia units provide.

In earlier wars going back to Glengarry's settlement it was the militia that was counted on to supply manpower for defence of a thinly-held frontier. Two battalions were raised as far back as 1787 and the entire male population between 16 and 50 was liable for service in the militia. In 1800, the Glengarry militia regiment had a strength of 443. Later, each township had its battalion.

Glengarry militiamen played important roles in the war of 1812 and the Rebellion of 1837. The 59th Battalion, the 154th, the SD&G's supplied reinforcements for active units in the more recent wars.

This is a more peaceful day and age but Canada would do well to nurture its militia units rather than waste billions on nuclear submarines in the Arctic.

Stock: How can you lose when you've nothing to lose?

JUST PLAIN JOE
Joe Banks

The stock market's tumultuous plunge last week did many things to many people, both in the chaotic exchange floors on Wall Street and here, in Smalltown, Canada, where such mighty events may seem distant and irrelevant.

But the market's wild plummet awoke some ominous feelings in those senior enough to remember the crash of '29 and the ensuing result. Younger folk who recall 26 per cent mortgage rates back in 1982 may have felt equally disturbed, though borrowing rates went the other way as the Bank of Canada intervened in the happenings of the day.

Only 10 per cent of us play the market, though play likely wasn't the appropriate word many investors used last week at this time. Still, practically all of us are affected indirectly by the market's rise and fall in one way or another — either through food prices or in the workplace where employers may be seeking the capital for expansion the stock market can provide.

Ironically, the Crash of '87 comes the week before the season of fear, Halloween, this year a time when many investors may be feeling more than the cold breath of goblins on their necks. Only their brokers may have seen the treat in the trick; they earn their living from sales commissions on stock.

Here in Glengarry, where financial panic usually erupts when an insurance bill is due or the mortgage payment's behind a few days, life appears to go on as before. Only the brokerage firms televised message between innings of the World Series and the dailies' headlines bring home the news that something is wrong somewhere in the economic clockworks.

But far from living under the shadow of the prospect of another depression or recession, the folks in the bank line Friday were smiling over the events of the week. The leather-faced senior citizen in the soiled mackinaw and well-worn cap askew grinned a toothless grin and waved his welfare cheque in the air.

"One thing about me," he said in a hoarse voice that doubtless came from too many roll-your-owns, "I don't have a helluva lot of money to lose at the market."

We all laughed along with him because, in some way or another, we were probably in the same boat. Probably nobody standing in the bank line had thousands spiralling down the drain. Most of us had pay cheques or withdrawl slips for the weekend shopping. And maybe there was even a little morbid enjoyment at the idea of standing in a financial institution that may have been taking a bath that very second, a place where in today's day of transferring managers and high staff turn-over, may seem impersonal and uncaring.

Maybe the lady with the out-of-style hat and the purse with torn corners had her religious convictions confirmed, that those who live by the sword die by the sword, or that those who gather their gold on earth will pay dearly in the afterlife. Perhaps the farmer cashing his quota cheque to pay the bills felt a little relief at knowing the pain, at least this week, was being shared by the wealthy and the worrying alike.

And so we could all laugh along with the man with the welfare cheque, who for me at least put many elements of what had transpired last week into perspective. If a high-rolling bullish market is good for the economy and employment, if the massive profits earned by the multinationals really create jobs and improve standards of living, well, you could've fooled him.

So a crash was just another day, or a series of days that maybe provided more entertainment than information to govern the future of his financial affairs. Even he knows you can't squeeze blood from a stone.

But if there was a day to treat himself to a smile and perhaps a celebratory beer at the local, maybe that day was it. This time around, the rich didn't get richer (unless they bought low and sold high) and the poor didn't get any poorer.

Life went on, as paper flew on Wall and Bay streets. And maybe it seemed just a tad sweeter than it was last week.

It's a drag

LOOKOUT
Dann Rogers

With so many Halloween parties being organized in the county for this Saturday, the choice of location is almost over — shadowing the choice of costume.

But not for us true procrastinators. I'm trying to come up with a new idea for a Halloween look this year because I've gone as Julius Caesar or Apollo too many times in the past.

Caesar was always an easy costume to throw together. All you had to do was take a white bedsheet and tie it into a toga.

Of course if it fell off during the evening you could just throw it over your head and say you came as a ghost.

Apollo, on the other hand, only required a loin cloth and some Swedish massage oils. Apollo, you'll remember was a Greek god who epitomized the perfection of beauty and youth.

Unfortunately, as the years pass and the intellect swells beyond control, so does the belly. So that question costume is out of the question.

Dressing up as Ollie North seems sort of trendy, but hardly original or inspiring. I wonder if I could get hold of that hog head the Beaver Club in Williamstown paraded around last week?

I think I might try that old favorite Count Dracula this year. You can always interpret his character as suave, debonair and a real lady's killer.

But sucking blood out of young ladies who frequent bars and parties is a very dangerous sort of character quirk these days. Definitely have to bring along my handy-dandy AIDS kit. You just stab someone in the arm and if it falls off, you move along to the next person.

Well that kind of takes care of me, but what of all the other hard-working individuals in the county who haven't had the time nor imagination to choose a costume of their own?

For Joe Banks, the publisher of The Glengarry News, we recommend a Joe Clark suit, the Pope's robes or a baseball coach's uniform. If he can't find an exciting title to his column, we have to assume he has some of the same characteristics of Joe Who.

A Pope costume because he is such a fanatic adherant to the Garcia paste-up method and a coach's uniform because he is trying so hard to foster a team spirit here.

For Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette, we see him looking classical in a Wayne Gretzky costume since he can stickhandle so well when the need arises. We suggest that his good buddy Fern Seguin dress as either Superman or a dog with a spiked collar to emphasize his watchdog approach to being a municipal councillor.

For Cst. Gilles Ruest of the Lancaster OPP, we envision him in a Santa Claus suit because he could fill it out and because he always brings us lots of stories.

MP Don Boudria would look quaint as a rat because of his involvement with the hard-working "rat pack" of the federal Liberal caucus. MPP Noble Villeneuve should rip up his clothes and go around as a holocaust survivor for managing to stay alive after the recent provincial election sweep by the Liberals.

Shadowy nights

THAT'S LIFE
Lesley Cadham

Why are we afraid of the dark? Why do closets, which in the daylight are merely places to hang clothes, at night become imagined havens for bogey-men or ghosts or other monsters too terrible to describe?

I remember, as a child, I'd lie alone in the darkness, eyes riveted to my closet. My favorite white dress which had hung so innocently during the day, turned into the ghostly form of a spirit from the past. An old hat hanging on my wall took on the shape of a disembodied head and tree branches swaying in the wind outside my window cast shadows that were certainly long boney fingers reaching out to grab me. I dared not move a muscle.

Restless spirits naturally stalked the halls of my home at night, I believed, and so I became terrified of the time when the house was darkened and so still, even the tiniest creaks sounded like the thundering footsteps of the bogey-man.

And even though I'm not a child anymore (some people might argue that point) I still feel a twinge of fear when I reach over to turn out the light. Years of nights, which have produced nothing more than darkness, should have taught me there is nothing to be afraid of, but I'm still not entirely convinced.

Cornwall psychiatrist, Dr. G. Kahn says our fear of the dark stems from a natural desire for self-preservation. We can't see things clearly in the dark so we can't be sure of just how safe we really are; simply, we're afraid of the unknown. It's much more comforting to be able to look around and see everything that surrounds us.

We create fear; our imaginations run wild to conjure up a host of horrors. And television is not to blame, says Dr. Kahn. People have been afraid of the dark since the dawn of time.

The fear of closets follows along the same line. Children are afraid of what they can't see. If the closet door is closed, something could be hiding inside. He suggests that the door be opened, therefore showing the child nothing ghoulish has retreated within.

People are also afraid of what could be lurking behind their backs. Ever stand at the kitchen sink and be overcome by the distinct feeling that someone is standing behind you, only to turn and find empty space?

According to a psychic I interviewed over the weekend, we are never alone. He closed his eyes and began to describe a guardian angel he claimed hovered over my left shoulder. The hairs on the back of my neck bristled and I couldn't shake the overwhelming urge to look back. But there was nothing there.

Or was there?

Waste watch

WORD SKETCH
Sybil Carello

The Stormont-Glengarry joint waste management study group, comprised of nine municipalities, is actively seeking two non-council members from each area, to form a public liaison committee.

That means two volunteers from Alexandria, Lancaster, Maxville, Finch, and the townships of Charlottenburgh, Lancaster, Finch, Kenyon and Roxborough. (Lochiel's participation, at this date, is still undecided.)

The study group's primary objective — in conjunction with the Ontario Ministry of the Environment (MOE) — is a long-term, economical and environmentally feasible solution to the area's waste site maladies.

Over the next two years, the Waste Management Master Plan Steering Committee (one council member and an alternate from each participating municipality, two MOE voting members, an Environmental Assessment resource official, and president and vice-president of the, as yet, unformed Public Liaison Committee) will strive towards this objective.

Given the grim reports of other, similar, regional waste studies and the public wall of opposition experienced when the site selection countdown begins, it will be, to coin a tired phrase, easier said than done.

Earlier this month, The Citizen ran a story on the first failed Master Plan Study in Ontario. Eganville-and-area's 2 1/2-year study skidded into the boards when three of the five municipalities involved, uninvolved themselves. Ministry officials, reknowned for their convoluted method of speech, pinned it down to "lack of communication." According to the story, when six of seven proposed waste sites were targeted in one particular area, a "very vocal" lobby group, dismayed over environmental concerns, waved a 400-signature petition, clearly stating, no, not in my backyard. Ministry officials correctly call this the backyard syndrome.

These public outcries point to the importance of a Public Liaison Committee, an essential, vital link between you and local and provincial officianados. One of the biggest problems in these study group efforts, according to MOE steering committee advisor, Dan Shatil, is the "incompatibility between (engineering) consultants and the public."

While it is true that engineering consultants are even more tongue-twisted than MOE, this finger pointing can be called, calling-the-kettle-black-syndrome.

During the next month, the steering committee, after careful review of proposals, will hire an engineering firm to oversee the proposed two-year study, tentatively slated to roll, Jan. 1, 1988. The sooner a public liaison committee is formed, the sooner it (and the public at large) can become involved in the study processes.

As a voluntary advisory body to the steering committee, its role will be to: prepare recommendations on all aspects of the preparation of the master plan for the study group's consideration; provide comments on completed and future work; advise and assist in public participation programs; provide effective representation from local interest groups. Except for issues of a monetary or legal nature, the committee will be a full-voting one. Within their own structure, subcommittee's can be established. Interested parties are asked to call their township offices.

"It'll be important to get the right people on that committee because they can stir up trouble" one steering committee member, said earlier. "The public liaison committee can be a very dynamic group," said Shatil.

These days, trouble is almost an afterthought, so prevalent is it. However, in this case, dealing with it face-to-face around a committee table, as opposed to an amorphous group of irate, possibly uninformed, ratepayers would appear to be the advantage. In these mammoth, province-wide waste matters, surprises are unwelcome — one indication of communication breakdown.

Rural postal system: Back to the past?

Sir:

A massive advertising campaign by Canada Post, costing millions of dollars, has recently been launched to sell Canadians on the Corporation's plans for the future.

It is ironic that emphasis is being put on the theme of "Taking Canada Post into the 21st Century" when the plans for rural Canada will take those citizens back to the 19th Century.

The early history of rural postal service shows the struggle that rural postmasters went through providing service to the community, while being paid a pittance, in the form of commission, for their efforts.

Service had to be provided far in excess of any normal work-week; even on Sundays and holidays. When assistants were needed to perform the work, their wages were paid by the postmaster out of a meagre commission, or as a subsidy from the postmaster's pocket. Additional responsibilities or work-loads were added by the government without consultation or additional remuneration.

Despite the postmaster's dedication to service and acceptance of these hardships, he was never sure of keeping his job. Jealousy, competition and political patronage resulted in the turn-over of many postmasterships. It only required an accusation by a Member of Parliament that a postmaster had engaged in "political partisanship" to bring about a dismissal.

In 1938, there were 363 dismissed across Canada, for this reason. Smaller postmasterships were recognized as part of the spoils of political victory.

It took 60 years for the government to finally realize the value of the rural post offices and the people who staffed them. Farsighted men, like Deputy Postmaster-General Walter Turnbull, recognized this. He said, "postmasters should break away from the notion of being retail merchants, selling on commission, and become full-time, salaried employees." Others, like William Hamilton, followed that example. He stated, "The postal service has been built, and will always remain based, on human beings — people. We can never get a machine to go down the street and deliver letters to individual houses. We can never find a machine which will stand behind the wicket in a revenue post office and do the variety of work which you do in your everyday routine."

More recently, André Ouellet stated, "In villages and small towns across Canada, the post office remains one of the most frequently visited places by citizens of the community. The post office has, over the years, become a much needed resource centre. Members of the community know where to go in order to obtain information on a variety of subjects. The federal government is everywhere in Canada and the post office is still the most familiar place which brings information to people.

The postmaster is foremost, a person of trust, goodwill and one who is willing to listen to everyone's needs. The post office is a meeting place for all and creates a bond between the members of the community. It is a unifying force which gives one the feeling of belonging."

Yet today, as we approach the 21st century, Canada Post plans to take you back to the "good old days."

Bowing to the pressure from the government to balance the budget, their answer is to abandon the responsibility of providing this vital service. It will be franchized out to a local business, which will be paid a small commission to do the job. No longer will the dedicated postmaster be there to serve a variety of functions, in addition to the postal duties.

Instead, an overworked store clerk or corner-store owner will try to serve your postal needs while managing the main business, which pays the bills. In many towns, the only representative of the federal government will disappear, as have all the other government services, like the railroad, the airport and small schools.

Rural Canadians do not expect to receive all the benefits enjoyed by city residents. However, they pay the same federal taxes as do their counterparts in those cities. The postal system is one federal service used by all Canadians. Is it asking too much to insist that this one service be maintained as a public, government service in rural Canada?

Canada Post and the present government say "Yes, you expect too much." What do you say?

'Frivolous Fruits and Vigorous Veggies' 4-H group meetings are clost to completion

DUNVEGAN
Mary MacCaskill
527-2855

Let's hope the bookmobile on Thursday at 1 p.m. has lots of Halloween type reading for us. The television lineup of ghoulies and ghastlies looks promising too.

In the treat department this week, James Whealon has sent me a report (thank you, James) on Dunvegan's 4-H group. The ''Frivolous Fruits and Vigorous Veggies'' meetings are just about complete.

They are going very well and are most interesting and useful. The recent meeting at Huguette Schmidt's house had members trying to guess the six different ways carrots are cooked (I could only think of five).

Members were also required to make a speech about Ontario fruit. For meeting six, the 4-H'ers are going to be planning a party to wrap up their meetings.

They will be inviting the Dunvegan Women's Institute (WI) members as a way of showing the group's appreciation for the use of the hall. They will also be inviting parents of the 4-H'ers that have been involved with the club. So WI members, keep Nov. 3 open, at 7:30 p.m. (next Tues.) at the hall for this party.

A reminder to all WI members about your meeting tomorrow night — Bill Campbell is the guest speaker. He has made several trips over the years to Hong Kong and should be a very interesting speaker.

Tom Trudeau from Brockville stayed with Jeff Williams this weekend. He was billeted with the MacCaskills through the Air Cadet squadron. Saturday Tom was treated to a Chinook helicopter ride, and a dance in the evening.

Happy Halloween everyone!

Mary Fraser enjoyed a holiday in Toronto visiting her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ewen MacMaster and family, and Mrs. Isabel Marshall.

John and Marion Loewen visited with their son John and Donna Loewen and family at Lunenburg on Friday, and helped them celebrate their anniversary.

Members of the Dunvegan Women's Institute who attended the area convention at Ottawa on Thursday are Flora Chisholm, Eunice Nixon, Joyce MacKinnon, Isabel MacLeod and Catherine MacRae. Ann Stewart, the delegate from the Dunvegan Branch attended Thursday and Friday.

The Dunvegan Christian Youth Group will be canvassing in McCrimmon West, Laggan West and Dunvegan area on Saturday for the CNIB. Please be generous when these young canvassers call.

The next regular meeting of the Dunvegan Christian Youth Group will be held on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Casey Van Drunen.

Nancy Marleau
527-3293

All right residents of Apple Hill — election night is here! On Sunday at 7:30 p.m. the Apple Hill Fire Hall is where we'll all be.

Seriously it is very important for as many of you as possible to show up. Let's have some support!

The Recreation Christmas dance will be held on Nov. 28. Just a note to let you know so you can put that date aside.

Next Friday, Lalonde's Mini Mart will be changing owners. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Serge André from St. Raphael's to our village.

I understand they will be taking up residence here in the near future. They will also be adding to our population as they have three children, one is away at university. So stop in and say hello and try to make them feel welcome.

Belated birthday greetings go out to Father Sylvester Theoret whose birthday was on Sunday.

Also birthday greetings to Brenda Jensen who will be 26 years old on Thursday.

We are pleased to see Archie McDougall is home from the hospital.

Lloyd Renaud wins trip to Florida

MARTINTOWN
Lorne MacDonald
528-4378

The Martintown Community Centre would like to say a great big thank you to all those who attended the fundraising dinner and dance this past Saturday at the centre.

Although the final figures are not yet available, from early reports it should be a resounding success. Thanks to a last minute rush on dinner tickets, approximately 135 people enjoyed a delicious Chinese buffet, supplied by Bev Poirier.

Everyone I spoke with (including yours truly) really enjoyed the dinner. Winner of the dinner draw was Marg Kennedy of Cornwall who won a lovely craft donated by Donna MacDonald. McMartins Fiddle was in top form for the evening's entertainment. I heard many comments throughout the evening on just how good these guys are! A fact I've known for some time now.

Don't forget Saturday is the Halloween party at the community centre from 5 to 8 p.m. There will be costume judging, miniature bingo, children's music with spot dances. Hot dogs and refreshments and much more.

Children must be accompanied by an adult. Donations are still needed for this fun event and can be dropped off at Lalonde's General Store, Renaud's Hardware, or by contacting Anita at 528-4405. Plan now for a safe and enjoyable Halloween.

Make sure and mark Nov. 15 on your calendar. That is the date for the annual craft sale at the Community Centre. It's always a good place to get a good chunk of your Christmas shopping done.

The hours are from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tea and dessert will be available featuring apple dumplings, black forest cake, pumpkin and lemon pie.

Baking goods are also required for the bake sale. Please make a special effort to donate as it will be greatly appreciated. Anyone interested in selling crafts, please contact Anita at 528-4405. Fee is $15 per table and must be booked at least one week in advance.

If perhaps you didn't get a chance to attend the recent fundraiser, this is your chance to help support your Community Centre by donating to this event.

Saturday afternoon the United Church Ladies are holding a Halloween tea and bazaar in St. Andrew's United Church from 1:30 until 3:30. The tea will feature chocolate desserts. There will be a bake sale, fancy work, a candy table and a granny's table. Admission is $2 and everyone is most welcome.

* * *

The Martintown Fire Department would like to thank John Hart of Harts Diner in St. Andrews, for helping to raise $1,400 through the sale of Nevada tickets at his diner. Thanks also go out to fireman Brian Hope, who set up the money-maker with Mr. Hart.

Lottery luck strikes again in Lancaster

NORTH LANCASTER
Diane Roy

Lottery luck strikes again in North Lancaster! This time Robin Robinson was the happy winner of $10,000 last Thursday in a three-match scratch ticket.

Robin and husband Claude were off to Toronto on Monday to claim the interesting prize while taking a well-deserved break.

AIR CADETS

Congratulations to Marc Campeau and Stéphane Elie, two Air Cadets from North Lancaster who experienced their first air gliding ride on Sept. 19.

However their thrill of a lifetime became reality last Saturday as they flew over our village in the Chinook, a large noisy two propellor army helicopter.

After a dance held at the Alexandria Curling Club last Saturday evening for both Alexandria and Brockville Air Cadet Squads, Marc had the chance to billet at home Chris Irvine a cadet from Brockville.

Then Sunday morning, the Brockville Squad left Alexandria on bus no. 870 of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets. It was a memorable weekend for all young cadets involved.

An afternoon seminar, workshop and field trip on edible and poisonous plants will be held Nov. 7 from 12:30 to 5 p.m. at Char-Lan High School cafeteria in Williamstown.

The project is sponsored by the Boy Scouts of 1st Lancaster and the fees are $2 for the general public, $2 for the workshop while Boy Scouts, Venturers, Guides and Pathfinders wearing uniform and accompanied by a leader will be charged 50 cents.

The afternoon should be of special interest to farmers who wish to identify those plants which may directly affect milk or beef yields. It should be noted that the age limit for the session is nine years and older, that the seminar is offered to the first 250 who arrive or pre-register and that walking boots are recommended for the field trip, being organized by Alfred Vogel.

Additional information is available by contacting Brian Bradley at 347-7560.

Happy wedding anniversary to John Paul and Ann Vachon celebrating today the 28th of October.

Belated birthday wishes to Stéphane Claude who turned 11 last Thursday.

Alexandria resident Carole Larocque, owner of La boîte à jouets, received a gift from the SD&G County Roman Catholic School Board, Friday night. Mrs. Larocque was honored for academic involvement, particularly in her membership in the French Language and Culture Promotion committee, for her term as secretary of the regional API and for her membership in the home and school committee of Ecole Sainte-Marie. She was also recognized for her involvement in the student community and community in general. A dinner was held at Freddy's, and Mrs. Larocque was congratulated for her hard work by people such as Separate School Board Director Gilles Metivier, French Language Education Council (FLEC) President Jeannine Séguin and Monseigneur Bernard Guindon of the Alexandria-Cornwall Diocese. The parish centre held its second euchre on Oct. 18 with 13 tables being occupied. The winners were as follows: women's section, first — Lillian McDonald, second — Henrica Wetering, third — Claudette Pilon, with the boobie prize going to Julie Lafleur.

Men's section, first — John Hugh Sloan, second — Lionel Dorie, third — Anthony Wetering, with the boobie prize going to R. Campeau.

Our third euchre is scheduled for Sunday at 8 p.m. in the parish centre.

Many thanks to all who helped out and or came out to support our "Fun Night" held Oct. 16 and which was a success. The main draw winners were: first prize — Allister MacDonald; second prize — Kevin Major; third prize — Peter Desrosiers; fourth prize — Hector Levert. The door prizes went to Mrs. Lucille Malo and Jennifer Schofield.

A big thank you goes out to the small but loyal group of people who supported the parish centre by enjoying themselves at the Octoberfest dance held Oct. 24.

Our thanks go to the people who brought food for the lunch, our disc jockey for his variety of music and the management who put a lot of time and effort into preparations and a most creative harvest display in the centre.

We would like to express heartfelt get-well wishes to Mrs. Cecile Poirier who is currently in the intensive care unit at the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Cornwall.

Our vocation view in the St. Raphael's parish bulletin stated that "we must stop putting band-aids on the wounds of society and that we must tell the world that we are all God's people."

Whatever beliefs we may have, we all agree that to find a solution to existing problems of our lives, we must get to the root of the problem rather than merely put band-aids on the results which appear.

I feel that if we put aside our differences a little more often we would be able to support groups, people, and or causes much more openly and freely than we do now. We do this at Christmas time with immediate family. Why can't we do it with our family in the community. After all, charity begins at home.

Please take great care this Sat. evening while driving. There will be many two-legged creatures out trick or treating, as well as Halloween parties taking place.

Have a happy Halloween weekend and drive wisely and safely.

Picnic Grove WI enjoy tour of Cornwall museum

Members of Picnic Grove Women's Institute enjoyed a tour of Inverarden Museum, Cornwall for their September meeting. The roll call "What did you enjoy most from today's tour?" was answered with liking everything about the house to specific items, such as the antique dishes and furniture to the small wooden bathtub.

The tour was followed by a business meeting conducted by Ina Byatte. A letter from Sheila Wilcox of Bridlington, England was read by Muriel MacLachlan. Ina Byatte was named delegate to attend the 72nd Eastern Ontario Area Women's Institute annual convention to be held Oct. 22 and 23 in Ottawa. Edna MacDougall was named alternate delegate. Hostesses for the meeting were Margaret McNaughton and Elizabeth Chatfield.

The October meeting will be held at the Chateau Gardens, Lancaster under the convenorship of Elizabeth Ferguson. The roll call will be "Name a Canadian export and destination."

It was probably the largest auction sale ever conducted in the village when the lifetime antique collection of the late Angus Joseph Macdonell was dispersed. Mr. Macdonell used to comment that he commenced collecting at age seven and had continued for over 80 years.

While his collection had been reduced in later years, it was sitll large and certain items brought record prices.

The annual meeting of the Maxville and St. Elmo branches of the Canadian Bible Society will be held on Sunday in the basement of St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican Church at 8 p.m. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested in the work of this society.

Dr. Margaret Arkinstall, a daughter of the St. Elmo Manse and the widow of Dr. William of Athol was recently honored by the Ontario Medical Association along with 34 other doctors who have served for 50 years or more.

Dr. Arkinstall officially retired as a doctor two years ago at the age of 79 but she has 10 loyal patients who refuse to go to anyone else. They are members of a Vietnamese family sponsored by Dr. Arkinstall's church, Queensville United.

Dr. Arkinstall graduated as a doctor in 1930 and practised for many years in Hearst, an isolated town in Northern Ontario.

Her book, entitled, Pioneer Partners at St. Paul's, the name of the hospital in Hearst, gives many of the experiences of the Arkinstalls as well as some local color.

We are getting behind with our updating of the Auld Lang Syne columns. In the Oct. 14 issue of The Glengarry News, reference was made to some ardent baseball fans attending the World Series in New York. Mrs. Villeneuve's sister is now Isabel Grindley who lives in Calgary and her brother Linton is deceased.

Ninety years ago, the public school was closed because of a typhoid fever epidemic. That school now houses two apartments owned by Lionel Bourbonnais on Main St. South.

J. J. Wightman was the proprietor of the grocery store, next owned by G. H. MacDougall, then Hubert Quart, Bill Munroe and now Ken Birtch. The original store burned about 1941.

Also, 90 years ago Johnson Hoople moved to Vankleek Hill leaving Sam Cline in charge of the Maxville business operated from the building now owned by Arnold Munro. Johnson Hoople was the father of John who was the father of Clark, Gretta and Dunc.

Of the Cline family, Carrie, Mrs. Albert McEwen, lives in St. Catharines and Peggy, Mrs. George Cline lives in Maxville. George, Cecil, Eddie and Lottie are deceased.

The Dunvegan Museum has a very complete collection of books by Glengarry authors. One that is lacking is entitled As Others See Us by Robert J. Fraser. It deals mainly with the Frasers of Dundee, Que. and of Glengarry, Loch Garry in particular.

If any of our readers would like to donate or sell a copy of this book to the museum, your correspondent would appreciate hearing at the telephone number at the top of this column.

YOUNG-AT-HEART EUCHRE

Attendance was down to 10 tables at the Young-at-Heart Euchre, probably due to the fact that it was Thanksgiving day and some of the usual players felt they were not up to doing both the game and the lunch full justice.

Gloria Rolland was top lady player with Catherine (Dan) MacRae coming second and Marie Brabant from Apple Hill, third.

The Valley brothers from Moose Creek did well. Dave won the door prize and Chester came first for the men followed by George Jackson from Monkland and Norman MacLeod, Dunvegan, who also won a 50-50 draw prize.

Other winners of the draw were Herbie O'Byrne, Howard Eamon, Morrisburg, Gloria Rolland, Jennie McMillan, Finch, Margaret Michaud, Jean Smith, Vankleek Hill and Claire Van Putten, Apple Hill.

MANOR EUCHRE

On Oct. 14, the Manor Auxiliary Euchre was in the charge of ladies from Marlborough and Alexander Streets. The next one, tonight, will be sponsored by the members of the Maxville and District Horticultural Society.

Three out-of-town ladies were the winners — Sarah Presley from Finch, Gladys Barton from Vankleek Hill and Irene Losey from Long Sault.

King Euchre, Clifford Losey from Long Sault played true to form, perhaps assisted by good cards and keen partners and had top score followed by Dave Valley, Moose Creek and Bert Whittaker, Chesterville.

Bertha Lalonde won the door prize and 50-50 draw winners were Claire Van Putten, Apple Hill, Norman MacLeod, Dunvegan, Gladys Barton, Vankleek Hill, Edith Howes, Kirk Hill, Eldon Cutts, Riceville, George Essery, Moose Creek, Jean Chisholm, Ellery MacMillan, Finch and Jean Ferguson, Avonmore.

All Horticultural Society members are urged to attend the euchre tonight to make it a very successful one, in size at least, but also to add to the fellowship.

CURLING

Curling will soon be under way and the Glengarry Curling Club (Maxville) welcomes curlers and non-curlers.

There will be an opening bonspiel on Nov. 7. Why not try the game? If you would like to curl in this bonspiel please call Dave Findlay at 527-2537 or James Campbell at 527-5544 by Nov. 5.

A curling clinic will be held Nov. 8. Curling instruction will be given by a qualified instructor and for further information on the clinic please call Elizabeth Marjerrison at 346-5954 or Catherine Kippen at 527-5225.

Poor participation during Library Week

WILLIAMSTOWN
Sue Harrington
347-2279

All quiet on the Williamstown front this weekend. Could it be that those Friday afternoon parties which have suddenly become the rage are proving too much for us?

Or is it just social fatigue from last weekend's frenetic pace? I rather suspect that it is neither of the above. I think that Williamstowners are lying low and re-charging their brooms in preparation for a high-flying Halloween weekend.

Friday night there will be a Halloween dance for Char-Lan students at the high school, while on Saturday evening Williamstown demi-demons and witches will hit the streets.

Later, when the little ones are tucked away with their heads resting on candy filled pillowcases, there will be a Halloween party at the Old Mill Restaurant for more mature goblins and their ghouls.

The Friendly Neighborhood Club held a Halloween Euchre on Thursday night. Edith Abrams won first prize for her costume, while Catharine MacDougall snapped up second.

Winners for the wizards were Henry Struthers, Simon Fraser, and Roger Pilon. Roger was also the skunk.

Over in the witches' corner, winners were Florida Legroulx, Eva Amell, Dorothy Seguin. The skunk went to Vi Pilon.

Den-entering prizes were won by Florida Legroulx and the phantom behind her, while 50-50's went to Hector Leblanc, Albert MacDonald, Emily MacDonald, Isobel Larocque, Herb O'Byrne, and Louis Thomas.

On Oct. 15, the Friendly Neighbors entertained at the Chateau Gardens on the occasion of the residents' monthly birthday party. Dorothy Seguin played the piano and club members led the group in a sing-along and a bit of soft shoe.

Happy birthday to Ellen McAlear, Elizabeth Sandilands, Loretta Kennedy, Julie Greenwood, Maud Gadbois, Henry Duggan, Emile Brunet and Williamstown's own Dan Jim McDonell.

Back to prehistoric times and nes of the Friendly Neighbors October Birthday party held Oct. 8 at St. Mary's Centre. Violet Lauzon made the birthday cake in honor of celebrants Albert MacDonald, Roger Pilon, Edith Abrams and Ileen Latreille. Euchre winners were: Marie Menard, Rita MacDonald, Albert MacDonald and Emery Brodeur.

Florida St. Onge and Rena Major won door prizes while Eleanor Gibson, Alda Major, Beatrice Labelle, Kay McDonald and Catharine MacDougall won for the 50-50.

Under the cups went to Dorothy Seguin, while lone hand winners were Viola Pilon and Martin van Sleeuwen. (Should have had that one at the Halloween party.)

Halloween is a doubly special time for one little Williamstown lady. Happy birthday to Sarah McDonald who will be six years old on the big day.

Lucky Natalie Bourdeau of Lancaster was the first prize winner in the Char-Lan Minor Hockey draw for a side of beef. The draw was made during the Rebels' game on Oct. 17. Mr. R. Shahani of Toronto, who bought his ticket at the Williamstown Fair, won second prize.

In lieu of the side of pork, Mr. Shahani has agreed to accept the cash value, as organizers were a little leery of the effects the recent postal strike might have had on the pork should it have been sent through the mail. Just kidding! Janet McDonald of Bainsville won the third prize turkey and ham.

Ontario Public Library Week passed with disappointing public participation at the Williamstown branch. Despite free coffee and other give-aways, the week was one of the slowest in recent history.

Congratulations to 11-year-old James Doonan who won the children's bookmark contest. James' winning entry will be reproduced and used as the official Williamstown bookmark during the coming year.

Thanks to Rick Forrester, Char-Lan principal; Brian Loucks, principal, Williamstown Public School; Rev. Clifford Evans, minister of St. Andrew's United Church, and Mrs. William Dean, friend of the library, for responding to letters sent to them by the Williamstown branch.

These letters, sent to local dignitaries, requested that the recipients name the book which has most influenced their lives. Rev. Evans' response was immediate - the Holy Bible. For Mr. Forrester, it was "Think and Grow Rich," while Mrs. Dean's choice was made in her childhood reading days. It was "Pollyanna."

A recent Canadian Home Reading Union meeting was held at the home of Thelma Rose. Betty Campbell presented a paper on the life, work, and ideas of the late Dr. Wilder Penfield, neuro-surgeon and author.

Present at the meeting were the president and treasurer of the national CHRU, from Ottawa.

I don't know if any of you noticed a recent story concerning the Nobel Prize for Chemistry.

Apparently a carpet cleaner in California by the name of Donald Cram was phoned in the middle of the night and told in a voice with a strong Swedish accent that he had won the Nobel Prize for Chemistry. He replied that there must be some mistake and there was.

Now I will tell you who the real recipient is. He is my aunt's nephew, or my first cousin's cousin, and though I would love to make out that genius runs in the blood, I'm afraid it is just in the wedding band.

The Nobel Prize winning Donald Cram, now a Professor at UCLA, has roots in Carleton Place, Ont., and my aunt, Mabel Cram, who lives in Ottawa and is 97 years old, is justifiably proud of her nephew's achievements.

Sheila Lafave and daughter Courtney, along with Sheila's mother, "Grandma Pidgeon" have recently returned from two sun-filled weeks in Campbell River, Vancouver Island. There they visited Sheila's sister Donna and her husband Bruce and had a tour of a copper mine where Bruce works as a geologist. They also visited a salmon hatchery and hiked up mountain trails.

According to Sheila, Courtney was as good as gold (copper?) during the whole visit. Doesn't surprise me!

Bridge Club results from the week before last are as follows: 1) Audrey Blair and Dora Barrington; 2) Norah Ruth and Sheila Pickett; 3) Leonard and Kay MacLachlan.

Last week, Leonard and Kay were first and there was a two-way tie for second between Sheila and Norah and Alpheda Major and Isobel Larocque. Charlie Abrams and Maurice Lagroix were third.

The community was saddened to learn of the sudden death of Hugh Duncan MacPherson Oct. 11 at the Ottawa Civic Hospital in his 69th year.

He was the son of the late Duncan William MacPherson and Margaret Isobel MacLeod.

He was always interested in farming, agriculture and community activities. For several years he served as elder of Kirk Hill United Church, and as councillor and deputy-reeve of Lochiel Township.

He took great pride in his home, which was filled with warmth and hospitality to all.

To mourn his loss, he leaves his wife Lillian, four sons, Thomas William and his wife Karen of RR1, Alexandria; Gordon Allen and his wife Margaret; John Hugh and Ronnie Alexander, all of RR3 Dalkeith, seven grandchildren, one sister Katherine, Mrs. Howard Cunning of RR1 Vankleek Hill. Psychic doesn't predict reporter's untimely death

But he does see great changes in her near future

by Lesley Cadham
Staff Reporter

There is no crystal ball, no incense to delicately scent the air and the doorways are not draped in beaded curtains. Nor have the lights been reduced to a ghostly glow.

There's only a small, dark haired gypsy woman who gently takes my palm and begins to tell me of a young, blond-haired man who once loved me very much.

Her name is Betty, I am told, and while she studies the lines on my palm, I try not to blink or smile or show any affirmation of her statements. I figure she'll be clued in that she is on the right track if I nod, so I keep still, listening to her describe my personality to a 'T'.

But her voice becomes so soft I can barely hear what she is saying and then her words are completely drowned out by Keith Atkinson, who appears momentarily at the kitchen door, heaves a couple of loud sighs and scurries back to work.

They are psychics and I am visiting them at Gordon Hardy's home in Dunvegan.

I am the 22nd visitor of the day and I am not expecting Betty or Keith to read my palm, tarot cards or anything else. They are exhausted. I am there simply to interview these unusual people and write a story. But suddenly I am being propelled into Keith's 'office'. He asks me to sit up straight while he frantically sweeps felt pens over an 8 1/2-by-11-inch piece of paper. I'm not comfortable about this, but he detects my nervousness and tells me to relax. Moments later, he produces a drawing which vaguely resembles something my 3-year-old niece would have put together.

AWESOME AURA

"That," he says in answer to my look of astonishment "is your aura."

He pops a blank cassette into his tape recorder and begins to speak so quickly I now see the benefit of the tape recording. Some of his comments on my immediate past are accurate and his predictions for my near future remain to be seen.

But he doesn't predict my death and I am relieved; my fear of that prediction is what keeps me away from psychics. But Keith later makes it clear that he will only see death if it is preventable.

Furthermore, he adds, the future is always in motion, changeable by our actions.

"I will say there is going to be an accident, the results of which you can change. Very little is written in concrete.

"One day I was sitting in my office. Somebody walked by and I said to him, 'don't go home this weekend.' He said, 'why not?' and I said, 'there's going to be an accident'. He said, 'can I change it' and I said 'no, but by not going home, you can change the consequences'.

Well, he came in Monday and he said he wanted to thank me. He said, 'my wife was driving around and a car came through a stop sign and nailed her broadside. Had I gone home, I would have been driving and she would have been in the passenger seat. She would have been severely injured because that side of the car was pushed right in'."

POLICE STORY

He claims to have unofficially worked with the police on a couple of cases and reminds me that is how he and Gordon became friends. It was a year ago when Gordon sought the help of a psychic, desperate to solve the mystery of his son's hit and run death three years earlier.

He'd seen a television show on Halloween night, which featured several psychics and clairvoyants and the producer happened to be a friend. So he called him and asked if he could arrange to have one of the guests come to Dunvegan.

Gordon claims that he took Keith to a place within walking distance of the scene of the accident and then left him to pinpoint the exact spot where 16-year-old Grant was hit by the car and where his body landed after the impact. Mr. Hardy says he was correct in both instances.

Gordon later tells me, Keith determined the driver did not own the car and was not from Ontario. If you shave off the driver's beard, he says, you will find a scar on his chin. The driver, he continues, did not realize what he had done and stopped just outside of Dunvegan, then fled from the scene.

Unfortunately, there is not enough hard evidence to bring the alleged hit-and-run driver to court, but the man may, in the future, become involved in yet another crime.

Gordon glances at Keith and admits, this is the first year since his son's tragic death that he has not sunk into a depression in mid-October. Keith has taught him to accept life as it is and chuckles when he says, "He is a better psychologist than a (practising) psychologist."

Betty worries that many people who are in psychiatric hospitals shouldn't be there. She worries that perhaps they are clairvoyants or psychics, who were deemed insane because of their predictions or claims.

"The male is over your other shoulder."

Keith's wife Debbie chides in, "If anybody experienced anything out of the ordinary, (years ago) they were declared insane and put in an institution."

Keith laughs. "If we were doing back then what we are doing now, we would be burned," and Gordon draws a parallel between prophets in the time of Christ and today's psychics. There is a link, he believes.

GYPSY ANCESTRY

Betty Burden claims gypsy ancestry. For her, reading the tarot cards and crystal-gazing was a natural route of progression.

"My mother did it, my grandfather did it . . . in fact, my grandfather is a Spanish gypsy. I was about three years old the first time I looked into a crystal (ball) and I saw it cloudy and my grandmother covered it. She had it on her dining room table.

"I was seven when I looked at it again. I said, 'Granny, the clouds are parting' and she said, 'you're too young'."

Betty's mother was a psychic, a reader of playing cards, the palm and tarot cards. But even though Betty began to learn the mysterious art early in her youth, she had to wait until her mother passed down the "sacred rose," a precious set of tarot cards.

Six years ago, it happened and Betty, a wife and mother of four young men, began earning her living with her special gift.

She does not feel well tonight, and confesses she had to forfeit a sick bed to be in Dunvegan this weekend. She has a bad cold and a bit of a fever, and because of that, her energy level is down.

Energy, she says, is what psychics use to 'read'. Energy, Keith says, exists in all living and inanimate things.

"Hold up your left hand," he coaxes. I obey and he raises his palm to face mine about six inches away. He is attempting to transmit energy, he explains, but my hand is not receptive.

The conversation naturally drifts to spiritual beings and suddenly he is pointing to the empty space above my left shoulder and describing a young woman he claims is my guardian angel. The hair on the back of my neck bristles and suddenly I feel cold inside.

Don't worry, he says, she radiates peace and love and guides me during times of despair and I have found she is the one who whispers in my ear, he says.

Gordon tells me Keith has gone into a trance.

"The male is over your other shoulder. He appears to be changing. He guides you, reassures you when you get on a lonely street. You get nervous because you hear somebody call your name. He is the one. Do not worry, especially when you hear your name called. Acknowledge their presences," he tells me.

In her soft voice Betty says, "Yes, yes." The girl Keith sees over my shoulder is the same one she saw when interpreting my 'candle wax drippings'.

I shiver and later on, on the dark road between Dunvegan and home, I am unable to shake the fear that there really is someone hovering behind me.

But it is a lack of understanding that strikes fear in the hearts of men, says Keith. People who haven't experienced any psychic or paranormal phenomena have a hard time accepting their realities.

Keith Atkinson reads the past, present and future of one of several clients who visited Dunvegan-resident Gordon Hardy's home, Saturday. Mr. Hardy enrolled the help of Mr. Atkinson last year, in the hopes of discovering the identity of his son's hit-and-run killer.

Michel and Cathy Depratto spent last week in Collingwood, Ont. While Cathy attended the Provincial Social Work Conference which lasted four days, Michel stayed in his room and watched the stock markets go up and down.

In the evening he attended the social functions of the conference with his wife. It was a nice week to be together as they have just recently had their 10th wedding anniversary.

Last week I missed out on naming one of the 15 children present at the MacKinnon reunion. Tracey Belch was there to turn the scale slightly, making that three girls to twelve boys.

Being a judge of a contest is no easy matter. Out of the 72 entries in the Alexandria Library Branch contest we were able to narrow it down to six winners.

However the hardest part was that there could only be one winner; after much discussion on our part the honor went to Travis Etherington of St. Joseph's school who's bookmark we felt was the one with the most meaning and done up very attractively.

The five others who were winners to us were Christine Massie, Daniel Massie, Christine Michaud, Brian Bergeron and Shawn Duval.

Welcome to the Rene Charbonneau family who have built a home along the river on the George McKiel place.

It certainly is an inconvenience having our road blocked off, while the bridge is under construction. To visit my neighbor a short half mile away I would now have to make probably 10 miles to get there.

The huge sign stuck halfway on the road that states the road is closed is sometimes completely ignored by motorists who try to get through to find out it was all in vain.

Happy birthday to Larry Lacelle on Oct. 30 and to my cousin Debbie Donihee and my brother-in-law Rolland Dubeau both on Oct. 31.

Farmers can call helpline 'till March

The Farmers' Helpline referral service has been extended to March with the aid of a recent $200,000 grant from Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Nearly 3,000 Ontario farmers have called the helpline since its inception in November 1985. The toll-free number open 24 hours a day, seven days a week is 1-800-265-1511.

Many people seeking assistance are referred to special advisers who work under OMAF's Farm Family Adviser Program. This year, 300 calls have been referred to these advisers.

A new development at the helpline has been the encouragement of self-help groups in farm communities. Helpline staff have co-authored a book of guidelines with the ministry's rural organizations and services branch, describing how to set up a self-help group.

So far, 34 requests for this kind of assistance have been made.

The helpline also provides farmers and their families with information on where to obtain stress counselling and legal and management assistance.

The service also gives out information on government programs to help farmers learn new skills or find new jobs.

Glens thump Rebs for fourth win

by Peter Conway
Sports Editor

After opening weekend wins against Metcalfe and Westport, there may have been some skeptics hanging around the Glengarry Sports Palace, hoping to watch the Alexandria Glens' bubble burst.

When the club humiliated the Kemptville 73's 10-2 on home ice Friday night, some may have felt the Glens would meet their "Waterloo" the following night in Williamstown against rival Char-Lan Rebels.

But, after the Glens thumped the Rebels 11-4 for their fourth consecutive win in the young season, Peter DeRooy's club is starting to make believers out of some people.

As far as Rebels' coach Dave Hanson is concerned, the Glens are definitely for real. He doesn't need any convincing.

"The Glens surprised us and they deserved the win," says Hanson. "They have a good hockey club."

The weekend victories leave the Glens in first place in the St. Lawrence Division with a perfect 4-0 record. After dropping its opener, Winchester has reeled off three straight wins and sit in second spot with a 3-1 record, while Char-Lan is next with a 2-2 record.

Alexandria's weekend wins also gave the club a 2-0 mark in the hunt for a berth in the Boxing Day tournament. The two top clubs in each division after a home-and-home series with opponents in their division, will compete in the one-day affair in Metcalfe.

Despite the quick start, Coach Peter DeRooy still maintains a cautious approach with his club's four-game winning streak.

"We're playing well right now and I'm happy," DeRooy says. "If we keep improving each time out we'll be okay. The boys are working hard and there's a positive attitude on the team right now. The boys enjoy winning and they want to try and keep winning."

But, despite the lopsided win over the Rebels, he doesn't expect the same results this weekend when the two clubs clash in Williamstown.

"We played well against them, but Char-Lan has a good hockey club and they'll be ready for us Saturday night," said DeRooy.

Rookie forward Mike Sauvé sparked the Glens' offence with a three-goal performance.

"Every game so far someone seems to be standing out and taking charge. It was Mike Sauvé the other night and games before that it was Dullaghan (John) and McCormick (Andrew)," says the Glens' coach.

Dullaghan chipped in with a pair for the Glens, who led 3-2 and 6-4 after period intermissions. Singles went to Kevin Kamenski, Mathew Berthiaume, Leonard Seguin, Andrew McCormick, Glen Campbell and Andrew Meth, who also set up two goals.

The Glens also got a strong performance from defenceman Denis Boulderice. Boulderice, a 16-year-old, started the season with the Central Junior Hockey League's Hawkesbury Hawks.

Boulderice set up four goals and could play more contests in a Glens' uniform in the future.

The Glens got off to an early 2-0 advantage in Friday's win on home ice against Kemptville. Glens led only 3-1 after 40 minutes, but blew the contest open with a seven-goal third period.

"We got off to a quick start against Kemptville and then sat on the lead in the second period. But, the guys got it together in the third period," DeRooy says.

Leonard Seguin, John Dullaghan and Glen Campbell each tallied twice, while Ken Robinson, Andrew McCormick, Andrew Meth and Mike Makie scored singles.

Both of Kemptville's goals came off the stick of Derrick Byrd.

DeRooy says the four-game winning streak has developed a positive feeling among the players and has built up some confidence at this point.

"We're going to lose some games, but right now the guys have a good feeling about winning. We have a 2-0

Off to quick start

Midget Glens have played four games so far this season, two of them exhibition games and two league games. On Oct. 9, rival Char-Lan came to town and came away winners with a 4-2 victory. Goals for Char-Lan were scored by Kevin Welcher, Chris McBean, Trevor Bowles and Marc Beaudet.

Scoring for Alexandria was Stéphane Nadeau, assisted by Serge Bellefeuille and Andrew Sauvé. The second goal was scored by Serge Bellefeuille, assisted by Stéphane Landriault and Andrew Sauvé.

On Oct. 17, Alexandria met Hawkesbury A and won the game 4-3. Scoring for Alexandria were Andrew Sauvé, Stéphane Landriault, Stéphane Nadeau and Luc Francoeur. Assists were from Stéphane Nadeau, Stéphane Landriault and Luc Francoeur with three.

Alexandria Midget Glens started the season opener in the same manner they left off last year. The team travelled to Finch and won the game 7-4. After trailing 2-0 in the first period, the team came back for a 4-3 lead in the second period and 7-4 in the third frame.

Goal scorers were Stéphane Landriault with two, Marc Sauvé with three and Alex Maclaren and Eric MacSweyn with singles. Assisting on the goals were Alex Maclaren, Daniel Levert, Robbie Latreille, Eric MacSweyn, Stéphane Landriault, Marc Sauvé and Luc Francoeur.

On Oct. 23, Char-Lan came back to town and Alexandria defeated the Rebels 3-1. Goals for Alexandria were scored by Marc Sauvé, Pascal Joanette, and Luc Francoeur, while assists came from Stéphane Landriault, Luc Francoeur and Pascal Joanette.

GLENS NOTES

Richard Chevrier and Jérome Sauvé are sharing the goaltender duties. The club has three players under suspension as a result of fighting in the last game of '86-'87 season.

Serge Bellefeuille is out for six games, Stéphane Nadeau for four, and Andrew Sauvé for two games. Stewart Bankley and Robbie Latreille are out with collarbone fractures.

Rough Riders stumble on field, but still popular locally

by Peter Conway
Sports Editor

The Ottawa Rough Riders may be stumbling through the Canadian Football League season, but the club still has a staunch group of supporters in Glengarry.

The Maxville and District Lions Club staged its annual Football Night last Tuesday evening and it has become traditional for two Ottawa Rough Riders to attend the affair.

After emcee Denis Sabourin introduced fullback Jim Reid and receiver Marc Lewis to the audience with a brief description of the two players, an enthusiastic crowd put them on the hot seat during a question and answer session.

Reid, who started his Canadian Football League career in 1979 with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, said although the Riders are financially strapped and had lost 12 consecutive games, it just isn't the club's fault for its financial woes.

"I don't think the CFL does a good job promoting our league," Reid says. "We (clubs) have to do a better job promoting the players. Last week I was at a minor football function in the city and some of the kids didn't even know who I was. The kids seem to know the players by their numbers only. I've been a Rider for eight years and this matters to me. I've enjoyed playing in the CFL."

Another hot topic was the future of head coach Fred Glick. Despite the club's dismal record, Reid isn't putting the blame on the coach's shoulders.

"I've been through a few coaches in my eight years as an Ottawa Rough Rider, but I believe in Fred Glick. I think the world of him. He's probably the greatest motivator I've ever had as a head coach. We (players) just haven't been able to bail him out because we haven't won for him," Reid says.

Reid wouldn't give excuses for the club's dismal season, but said the Riders should have posted wins in some of the losses.

"We've been in nearly every game, but we haven't been able to execute the big play when it was needed. We seem to make a mistake and the other team capitalizes on it to beat us."

Marc Lewis, the son of former CFL great Leo Lewis, joined the Riders last season. With a brother playing for the National Football League's Minnesota Vikings, he says he doesn't regret his move north to play professional football.

"I had talked to my father about coming to Canada to play professional football and he felt it was a great step. He told me he was treated well when he played in the league and that's why I came here. My wife and I enjoy Ottawa, and although we don't have a good record this season, looking at the people here tonight shows me we still have fan support. I enjoy going out to small communities such as this one and representing the Ottawa Rough Riders," said Lewis.

Reid, also echoed Lewis's feelings, having grown up in the small southwestern Ontario community of Palmerston.

"I appreciate small-town people. There's a close relationship among the people and you get away from this if you leave for the city. My heart goes back to these small communities like here in Maxville. This is an enjoyable affair that the Lions Club puts on each year."

Angus H. McDonell, the main force in planning the annual affair a number of years ago, reminded the audience that next year's football night will mark a special occasion.

"It will be 100 years next year that Glengarry County made its original contribution to professional football in Canada. Glen Sandfield resident Duncan "Big Dunc" MacDonald left to play for Ottawa College in 1888 as a rookie. The following year they were Dominion of Canada champions, the equivalent to today's Grey Cup. We should celebrate Glengarry's contribution to Canadian football and fill this hall next year," says McDonell.

Following the question and answer period, MPP Noble Villeneuve acted as an auctioneer during the Lions Club's Chinese auction.

The auction raised $137 and the winner of the autographed Ottawa Rough Rider football was Maxville's John Baxter.

Indoor soccer season starts

The Char-Lan Indoor Soccer League wrapped up its exhibition schedule Monday night and six clubs open the regular-season schedule next week at Char-Lan High School.

In Monday's games, Richard Daniels scored the only goal as the Glengarry Stars dropped a 2-1 squeaker to the Cornwall Strikers.

Taffy Pye scored for Char-Lan United in a 7-1 setback against the Seaway Spartans.

A group of players from the Stars and St. Andrew's Saints combined to beat the Char-Lan U 2's 5-1. Roy MacDonell scored for Char-Lan.

Because of lack of players, the Lancaster Rovers club has been formed to replace St. Andrew's. Players who had intended to play for the Saints, will play for the Rovers.

In opening games next Monday night, Char-Lan U 2's tangle with the Cornwall Strikers at 7 p.m., followed by the Glengarry Stars and Seaway Spartans an hour later.

The final game at 9 p.m. sees Char-Lan United playing against the Lancaster Rovers.

Awards night

The Glengarry Slo-Pitch League will honor its players with its awards night Nov. 6 at the Bonnie Glen.

Beaupre Construction captured the league championship this season, ousting defending-league champion Alexandria Pizzeria.

The awards presentations begin at 9 p.m. and the public is invited to attend the affair.

Win streak continues for Lalonde Peewee club

Lalonde General Store Peewees kept their winning streak intact on home ice Sunday night, skating to a 3-0 win over South Stormont.

Brad MacDonald's first-period goal proved to be the winner as Lalonde's won their fourth straight contest. Michel Jeaurond and Eric Hamelin completed the scoring with a goal and assist each.

Donald Glaude and Michel Jeaurond shared the shutout between the pipes.

Hamelin tallied three times in Long Sault Friday night, sparking Alexandria to a 5-2 win over South Stormont. Michel Jeaurond chipped in with a pair of markers, while assists went to Jamie Nelson, Liam Kemp and Normand Jeaurond.

Luckily, for the Ottawa Rough Riders, next year's Grey Cup will be held in the nation's capital.

It's too bad the Riders won't be playing in Canada's fall classic. It would serve as the ideal situation, a last fling to keep the Riders alive in the Canadian Football League.

The club's front office staff was trimmed last week. Only a skeleton crew will stay on over the winter to handle office duties.

Riders have had to cut costs due to financial difficulties. The latest cutbacks will save the club a few bucks on the payroll, but much more has to be done to keep the Riders from sinking.

Jim Reid, a fullback for eight seasons with the Riders, was in Maxville last Tuesday night as guest at the annual Maxville Lions Club's football night.

Also representing the Riders was wide receiver Marc Lewis. Although Ottawa is in a deep hole financially, you'd never have known it from the way Reid and Lewis answered questions from the audience inside the Maxville Sports Complex.

With the CFL critics just waiting for the collapse and death of the Riders, not to mention the league itself, you have to feel for a guy like Jim Reid.

Here's a guy, who came out of college ball at Wilfred Laurier U., and, although he isn't a flashy runner, he's from the ''old school.'' He gives the club an honest night's work each time out.

Jim Reid could embarrass the Ottawa Rough Riders Football Club at public functions such as the one in Maxville. He could have made fun of his employers.

But he didn't. Jim Reid is a class individual. He's a professional in every manner. Jim Reid doesn't have to be reminded some franchises are in financial trouble.

Jim Reid isn't the spectacular break-away runner, but rather a bruiser. He's enjoyed the game of football.

He could walk away from football at the end of the season, and after what he's endured on a losing club the past few seasons, you couldn't blame him if he did.

But Jim was telling me he'd like to come back for another year or two. He still feels he can contribute and contrary to what most may think, he believes the Riders aren't as bad a football club as their record indicates.

The Rough Riders have felt the wrath of critics in the past and likely as long as the club keeps afloat. Even if the Riders went out and won the Grey Cup next year, the club would likely have to scratch and claw to increase its season ticket sales the following year.

Jim Reid enjoys living in Ottawa and even with all the financial worries, he's still proud to be employed by the Ottawa Rough Riders Football Club.

The community group which bought the football club last winter, have done everything human to keep professional football alive in Ottawa.

People shouldn't dump all over the Riders. The club must shoulder part of the blame for a poor product, but the league brass are to blame as well.

The Canadian Football League has never promoted its product. Now that the league is in trouble, everyone is pointing the finger at clubs like Ottawa and Saskatchewan.

To many football fans, the CFL is a second-rate league. I get the feeling Doug Mitchell, the league's boss, may have the same attitude. Here's a guy who's getting paid a $200,000 salary.

He's preaching to clubs to cut down on player salaries, but he's still collecting a big pay cheque. When the Montreal Alouettes folded a couple of days before the season started, Mr. Mitchell didn't put much effort in trying to save the franchise.

Two years ago when Calgary was bankrupt, every effort was made to keep the club afloat and I'm glad for J. T. Hay and the rest of the Stamps, the city of Calgary still has a club to root for.

With all the problems on and off the field surrounding the Ottawa Rough Riders this season, it would be easy for Jim Reid to lash out at the league and the Riders.

Fielding questions concerning a club and league in trouble with a positive attitude in the manner exhibited by Jim Reid the other night, shows what type of guy he is. He cares about the league he plays in and the football club he's employed by.

If there's still a league around when Jim retires, he should be hired as the P.R. director. I get the feeling he'd have some positive ideas on how to promote the league, which is a lot more than I can say for Doug Mitchell and his crew.

Marc's Canteen blanks Sabourin in broomball

Robert Quesnel and Gaston Menard each scored twice, lifting Marc's Canteen to a 4-0 win over Sabourin Construction in the SD&G No-Contact Broomball League Sunday.

Bernard Carriere set up two goals, while Guy Quesnel earned the shutout in goal.

Rick Filion's four goals led Cornwall Oxygen to a 4-3 win over Tremblay Poleline. Gerald Seguin scored twice for Tremblay Poleline, while Daniel Bourgois added a single.

Rheal Lapensee tallied a pair of goals as Bedard Energy posted a 4-1 win over Lacombe Trucking. Hank Lapensee and Ray Lepine rounded out the scoring for the winners.

Yvon Delorme was the lone goal scorer for Lacombe Trucking.

Mr. Poppins scored the first goal, but Cashway tallied four consecutive goals in a 4-1 win. Scoring single markers for the winners were Noel Lalonde, Mike Tessier, Lyle Dingwall and John Hodmans. Don Massia scored the lone marker for Mr. Poppins.

Glengarry Angels and Maxville Farm Machinery played to a 4-4 overtime draw. John Prieur scored all four goals for the Glengarry Angels, while Jean-Pierre Ranger fired a pair of markers for Maxville Farm Machinery. Henkie Van Den Oetelaar and Bill Wylie completed the scoring.

In the final men's contest, Earl MacLennan's two goals gave Dunvegan Highlanders a 3-1 win over Guindon Tire. Mario Quenneville rounded out the scoring, while Barry Benton replied for Guindon Tire.

In the first of two women's games, Farley Windows squeaked past the Maxville Aliens 2-1. Naomi MacKenzie and Kim Dumouchel led the winners with single markers, while Geraldine St. Denis scored for the Aliens.

In the other game, Guylaine Leduc scored the only goal as Germain Sand and Gravel nipped Trottier Farm Equipment 1-0. Liette Tasse was between the pipes for the shutout.

Theoret sparkles

by Bruce Howells

Ladies sponge puck for Oct. 21 saw a battle of the top goalers in the league with Mary Ann Laframboise leading Paul's to a 2-1 victory over Nathalie Theoret and Mike Gibbs.

Kathy Grant, assisted by Sue LaPearle, gave Mike Gibbs a 1-0 lead with 2:28 left in the first period. At that point, Paul's came on strong and at the 10:57 mark of the second period Ginette Quesnel intercepted a clearing pass inside Gibbs' blueline and scored the first goal of the season against Theoret.

Paul's gained momentum at that point and three consecutive penalties to Gibbs let Paul's take control of the game. Theoret made numerous game-saving stops from that point on, but with 38 seconds to go in the game Naomi McKenzie won a scramble for the puck in the corner to the right of Theoret. She fired a pass to an unguarded Cheryl Wightman at the far side of the crease, who fired home the winning goal.

The evening's second game saw Gareau's spot Torque a 3-0 lead, before roaring back to tie it at 3-3 with only 1:03 left in the game.

The teams battled through a scoreless third period before Julie Montpetit won a battle in the corner for the puck and fired a pass to a wide-open Corky Robinson in the slot. She slipped the puck into the net to tie the game.

The evening's final game saw Tapis Richard register their third consecutive victory with a 5-0 win over GTL. Louise St. Pierre led the way with one goal and two assists.

League champs

record as far as Boxing Day is concerned and the players want to play in the tournament. They're working hard to meet that goal,'' he says.

GLENS' NOTES

An ugly note in Friday's win came in the third period after Kemptville's Kevin Leeder fractured an ankle after crashing into the end boards.

The Kemptville player was chasing Andrew McCormick on a breakaway and lost his balance while taking a swipe at the Glens' player.

Luc Decoeur suffered a dislocated finger in Saturday's game, but is expected back in the lineup this weekend. Mike Daniels missed the Char-Lan game because of illness.

The Glens have a busy weekend with three games, two on the road and one at home. The club travels to Prescott Friday night and is in Williamstown the following evening. Glens return home to face Athens Sunday night at 7:15 p.m.

The veteran Glens conducted their own barber services during initiation ceremonies.

Rebs surprised with two losses

by Peter Conway
Sports Editor

You won't find the Char-Lan Rebels taking their opponents too lightly in the future.

After the Rebels cruised to a pair of wins in the young season, they received a stiff jolt over the weekend, suffering back-to-back losses to the Alexandria Glens Club and Kemptville 73's.

While Coach Dave Hanson shrugged off the loss to rival Alexandria on home ice Saturday night, he didn't expect his club to lose to a struggling Kemptville squad on the road Sunday night.

The 73's entered the game with an 0-4 mark, but you wouldn't have known they were winless.

"I knew Kemptville was hungry and were coming off four straight losses, but I think we took them and even Alexandria too lightly," said a disappointed Hanson. Kemptville gave it that little extra effort and they wanted to win. They were humiliated against the Glens Friday night and worked hard all night."

After winning the first two games of the season, Hanson says his players will have to work harder in future games.

"We were kind of cruising along and although I'm disappointed with the losses, I know our club can play better than in these two games. We just have to work harder," he says.

Rebels' Manager John Chafee took the losses in stride.

"It's sometimes good early in the season to get shellacked in a couple of games. When you get a licking like we did against the Glens, it opens your eyes. The guys will just have to work harder," says Chafee.

Although the Glens were full value for the win in Saturday's encounter, the Rebels played well enough in Kemptville Sunday, but were stymied by a hot goaler.

"Their goaler, Jeff Rawson, played very well. We outshot them 40-29," added Chafee.

Kemptville led 3-1 after the opening stanza on a pair of goals from Jamie Ogilvy and single from Ken Matura. Mike Jodoin tallied the Rebels' lone goal.

Char-Lan went ahead 4-3 in the middle frame as Kevin Poapst scored twice and Roddie McKenzie once.

Kemptville got goals from Derek Rintoul, Rob Percaval and Jamie Kennear's first of two to grab a 6-4 lead after two periods.

The 73's went ahead 7-4 in the third period on Kinnear's second goal, but Mike Jodoin's second goal cut the lead to 7-5.

Joe Flay, with a shorthanded effort, scored Kemptville's final goal to make it 8-5.

In Saturday's loss to rival Alexandria, Hanson wasn't looking for excuses in the one-sided loss.

"Alexandria outplayed us and they're a good skating club," Hanson said. "They had a few surprises for us, but don't take anything away from the Glens, they deserve to win."

The Glens clung to a 3-2 advantage after the first period, thanks largely to the heroics of goaltender Daniel Brunet.

"He (Brunet) robbed us a number of times and that's the best I've ever seen him play. Brunet stoned us," says Hanson.

Rookie Mike Sauve sparked the Glens' attack with a hat trick, while John Dullaghan chipped in with a pair of goals. Singles went to Kevin Kamenski, Mathew Berthiaume, Leonard Seguin, Andrew McCormick, Andrew Meth and Glen Campbell. Meth also picked up a pair of assists.

Kevin Poapst led the Rebels with two goals, while Mike Jodoin and Jamie Latreille added singles.

REBEL'S NOTES: the weekend losses leaves the Rebels with a 2-2 mark. More importantly, however, the club is also 2-2 in the battle for a berth in the Boxing Day tourney.

The top two teams with the best home-and-home records against divisional foes, qualify for the tourney.

While the Rebels' first four games counted towards the Boxing Day tourney, this weekend's pair of games won't have any bearing on the annual tournament.

But, Hanson would like to see his club snap its two-game losing streak.

"It's frustrating for us right now after the two losses, but we'll get it together and it would be nice to get some kind of winning streak together."

The Rebels swing back into action with a home game Saturday night against the Alexandria Glens.

The club travels to Westport for a matinee encounter Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Novice squad wins

Alexandria Knights of Columbus Novice team are off to a fast start in the Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League.

The club won a pair of games against South Stormont over the weekend, both by identical 4-1 scores.

On home ice Sunday, Alexandria received a pair of goals from Jason Poirier and singles from Stephane Boisvenue and Pascal Decoeur.

Poirier led the attack Friday night in Long Sault with a pair of goals, while Marc Piette and Mark Laferriere completed the scoring. Laferriere set up three goals.

Alexandria recently won a 7-6 shootout against Char-Lan. Jason Poirier sparked the offence with a hat trick, while François Lortie chipped in with a single. Chancey Lajoie and Scott Neilsen scored single markers.

Kent McDonell, Kevin O'Farrell and Tim Corput each scored two goals for Char-Lan.

In Alexandria's league opener, they settled for a 3-3 draw against North-Glen-Stor.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of François Lortie, Scott Neilsen and Marc Piette.

Scores hat

Alain Borris fired three goals to spark Caisse Populaire Atoms to a 5-0 win and a two-game sweep over South Stormont at the Glengarry Sports Palace Sunday night.

Eric Decosté scored once and added three assists, while Jeffrey Gebbie chipped in with a single. Karl Hehn had one assist, while other assists went to Jean-Pierre Lefebvre and Borris.

Friday night at Long Sault, Alexandria posted an identical 5-0 victory over South Stormont.

Jean-Pierre Lefebvre sparked the attack with a pair of markers, while singles went to Karl Hehn, Joel Menard and Eric Hagen.

The club received shutout goaltending over the weekend from Julien Oetelaar and Yves Menard, who split the contests.

Laggan in first

Laggan sits in top spot in the Border Hockey League, following an easy 13-1 win over Lancaster Sunday at the Glengarry Sports Palace.

In the earlier contest, St. Raphael's and Maxville played to a 4-4 draw. Laggan sports a 6-1 mark for 12 points, while St. Raphael's is in second position with a 4-2-1 mark for nine points.

Glen Nevis is in third spot with a 3-4 record and six points, one more than Maxville's 2-5-1 record. Lancaster is in last place with a 2-5 mark for four points.

In last Thursday's games, Brian Wensink's four goals sparked Maxville to a 10-7 win over Glen Nevis and St. Raphael's doubled Laggan 4-2.

Sheldon MacDougall tallied three for Glen Nevis, while Jim Baker added a pair. Leo Seguin led the offence for St. Raphael's with two goals.

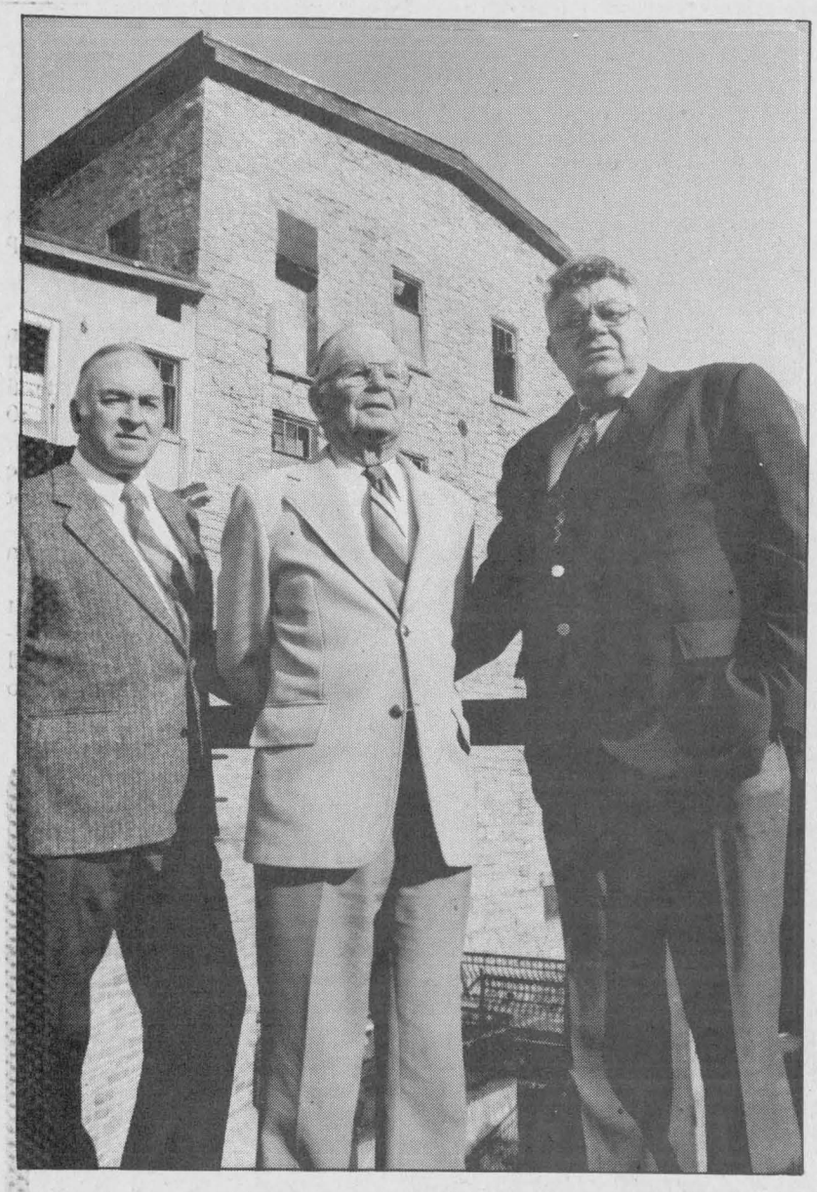
Glengarry Highland Society reactivated



A gathering of history-conscious Glengarrians took place this weekend at the Priest's Mill to discuss resurrection of the Glengarry Highland Society. Milton MacDonald, left, was elected president of the revamped society and Angus H. McDonell and Sandy McRae are directors.

The Glengarry Highland Society after a dormant period of 57 years was reactivated at a meeting last Sunday afternoon in Priest's Mill by a group of heritage-interested Glengarrians representing every area of the county.

The first priority in keeping the more than a century old tradition launched by the society founders is the renewal of staging St. Andrew's concert in Alexandria that has lapsed for more than 10 years.

The motivation of this project began following this year's record-setting Highland Games in Maxville. When the subject of reorganizing the Highland Society and promoting the original heritage aims was casually discussed by a few history minded personalities like Milton MacDonald, Sandy McRae, John R. MacDonell and Ken McKenna. The subject gained momentum and Angus H. McDonell was invited to fill the role of organizing chairman.

Last Sunday's meeting was arranged and the enthusiastic response indicates immediate success.

After welcoming the meeting delegates, McDonell a long-time booster of Glengarry heritage whether it be the realm of sport, Highland Games or any other Scottish custom, briefly reviewed the history of the Glengarry Highland Society first established by Bishop Alexander Macdonell, continued by St. Raphael's, the Sons of Scotland, Dunvegan and then perpetuated for many years in the Alexander Hall, Alexandria.

The chairman concluded by drawing to the attention of the delegates that the Glengarry Sports Hall of Fame enshrine the founders and builders of the Glengarry Highland Games because the basics of the Games founded in Scotland centuries ago were laid by athletic competitions.

There is the great work of the Glengarry Historical Society, the Nor'Westers' Beaver Club, Williamstown and the Dunvegan Museum. However, there exists a heritage vacuum that should be filled by the enshrinement of Glengarry's noted authors, artists, pioneer Gaelic singers and musicians.

Among the first speakers to expand on the suggested enshrinement was past president of the Ottawa Glengarry Club, Sandy McRae, now residing in retirement at Masterson's Beach, Loch Garry. McRae gave an interesting concise evaluation of such a worthy hall of fame project. He concluded by stating: "and the logical site should be a suitable small part of right here (Priest's Mill) a building loaded with heritage that exceeds any other in Glengarry county."

That summary set the continued discussion theme. Glen Sandfield's Ken McKenna, a scholar of Scottish history, explained that such a museum could and should house Gaelic literature, music references and at least copies of Glengarry records that eventually are filed in the Toronto Archives.

Another past president of the Ottawa Glengarry Club and instrumental in the success of the Strathspey and Reel Society plus being another Gaelic scholar, Donaldson MacLeod endorsed all that was said in favor of reorganizing the Glengarry Highland Society and emphasized the importance of keeping within the limits of an established budget.

Municipal politicians present also endorsed the project, Lancaster Township reeve, Bernie McDonell; Lancaster Village reeve, Milton MacDonald; Kenyon deputy-reeve, Finlay McDonell and Alexandria Mayor J. P. Touchette. "J.P." recalled that his introduction to Alexandria was many years ago when he accompanied Father John McPhail to take part in an Alexandria St. Andrew's concert. He was in accord with the objective of a suitable hall of fame as part of Priest's Mill that would further enhance Alexandria's heritage.

The meeting concluded by formulating plans to stage a St. Andrew's concert and the election of a steering committee. The concert will be held in the auditorium of the local high school on Nov. 27. The majority of the entertainers at the Ottawa Glengarry Club recent National Arts Centre program will take part. Among the feature numbers will be pianist Justin MacGinnis, Cape Breton, now a seminary student in Toronto. Mrs. Mary Jane Macdonald proposed reviving the long-time custom of singing by a group of young students.

The steering committee members are: president, Milton MacDonald; vice-president Donaldson MacLeod; secretary, Anna Margaret MacDonald; treasurer, John R. MacDonell; directors, Lorne Lawson, Edna MacMillan, Sandy McRae, Carol Baxter, Murray MacQueen, Connie Blaney, Ken McKenna, Mary Jane Macdonald, Bernie (Gill) McDonell, Gwen Morris, Donald J. MacPhee, Archibald MacDonell, Arthur Maclaren, Ewen McDonald, J. P. Touchette, Finlay McDonell and Angus H. McDonell.

Mrs. Kathleen (Smith) Emberg a veteran highland dancer in the post World War One era and noted historian was an interested spectator rendering whole-hearted approval of the discussions and objectives. She was accompanied by Mrs. Christena MacDonald.

Bantams lose close games

Although the Alexandria Bantam Lions Club sport a disappointing 1-3 record in the Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League, opponents aren't exactly skating off with easy wins.

The club dropped a pair of games last week, losing by identical 4-2 decisions to North-Glen-Stor and Char-Lan.

In Maxville Saturday, North-Glen-Stor led all the way as Chris Leroux scored twice and singles came from Dave Lavergne and Ken Wensink.

Alexandria's goals came off the sticks of Luc Sabourin and Scott Graham, while assists went to Stephan Roman, Randy Gebbie and Stephane Pilon.

Fields scores pair of goals

Shawn Fields scored a pair of goals to spark Columbia Finishing Mill to a 3-2 win over Conroy Septic Tank Sunday, in a Char-Lan Minor Broomball League Peewee contest.

Johanne Legault rounded out the scoring for the winners, while Kelly LARIVIERE AND Damien Lafave were the scorers for Conroy Septic Tank.

In the Junior contest, Shepp's Pizzeria posted a 4-1 win over Munro Feeds. Kirk Wallace paced the attack with a pair of markers, while Glenda Lauzon and David Chaddock chipped in with singles.

John Ferguson was the lone marksman for Munro Feeds.

Off to soccer EOSSA

Glengarry District High School's senior boys soccer team is off to EOSSA today (Wed.) and the senior girls squad is hoping to earn a berth in the championship tournament as well.

LAND STEWARDSHIP PROGRAM

The Glengarry County Crop Improvement Association has appointed a committee of four for the Land Stewardship Program. Our committee consists of Archie Robertson, chairman; Robert Dicaire, Jim Sangster and Jim Vallance.

This committee will be responsible for the approval or rejection of applications under the Land Stewardship Program. Application forms which will consist of Land Stewardship Inventory and Action Plans are not yet available. The program became effective on Sept. 1, but farmers should be aware that any items purchased prior to application may not receive approval.

There will be opportunity for most projects to be applied for during the winter months. The committee will have time then to determine the eligibility of these projects in time for the spring of 1988. Full details of the program will be available in the near future.

In order to take advantage of the assistance available under the Residue and Crop Cover Section you may have to modify your fall tillage methods. This section provides a grant of $20 per acre for up to 30 per cent of the applicant's previous years tilled acreage which has more than 20 per cent crop residue after planting. You will have to justify your methods of tillage under the Land Stewardship criteria.

SWINE A.I. COURSE

A Swine Artificial Insemination Course will be held on Nov. 19 at Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required. Course fee is $100. Participants in the Ontario Pork Industry Improvement Plan are eligible for a rebate. Registration forms are available from the agricultural office.

Reducing Days to Market Workshop will be held at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, Dec. 8, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Psychic festival held at Dunvegan home

On the other hand, sometimes people take Keith's or Betty's information as seriously as the word of God. Psychics are rarely 100 per cent accurate, says Keith. They obtain about 85 per cent accuracy and he says he doesn't believe people who say he is giving them a 100 per cent accurate reading.

he doesn't want to become a decision-maker for his clients and is not the least bit interested in taking away a person's choice to ruin their life or improve it as much as possible.

''That is why we say, 'if we do nothing else, we make people think'.''

Sometimes, clients find that the tape recordings of the readings have 'disappeared' from the tape or that only portions of what the psychic has said are audible. Keith explains this could be caused by a low-quality tape, or more dramatically, is the mysterious way of making people really think about what has been said.

One thing that makes him nervous, though, is when he is in the midst of a reading and he encounters a ''blank spot,'' sort of like ''writer's block,'' only ''reader's block.''

''Within that blank spot there is something that is going to happen that prior knowledge could change. Nine times out of ten, it's something that will make a person happy. Maybe if I got into it I could give you the 6/49 winning numbers.''

I have been with these people 4 1/2 hours now and I have a long way to drive in the pouring rain. Besides, they have to get up and return to their homes in Ottawa in the morning.

And as I write this, Betty's written words come back to me, a ''realistic platitude'' as she calls them.

''I think, therefore I am. But am I what I think? For could it be that I am a person who sleeps and dreams of being a butterfly or a butterfly who sleeps and dreams of being a person? Can we open our eyes and not see? Who is blinder? The man who cannot see or the man who will not see?''

Seeing you in pain, made us cry,
But still we didn't want you to die.
Three years have gone by,
Every day we are reminded
Of a sweet daddy, grandpa so kind,
Our love for you will always shine.
Beside your grave we stand,
Wishing we could just hold your hand.
Our eyes are blinded with tears,
For our daddy so dear.
A flower is not much,
For one who did so much.
Memories of a sweet daddy,
A prayer is sent your way.
Take good care of him Lord,
Cause he's someone special
He's our daddy.
—Marcel, Thérèse, Marc and Lynn Lalonde. 43-1p

SAUVÉ — In loving memory of our dear father, Joseph Sauvé, who passed away October 31, 1957.
Someone remembers, someone cares,
Your name is whispered in all my prayers.
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere,
How often I wish you were still here.
—Always remembered by Pauline and Armand Sarault. 43-1p

SAUVÉ — In loving memory of a dear father, Joseph Sauvé, who passed away October 31, 1957.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Lovingly remembered, Daniel and Gwen Sauvé. 43-1p

SAUVÉ — In loving memory of a dear father, Joseph Sauvé, who passed away October 31, 1957.
He is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed.
—Always remembered by Josephine and Arthur Sarault. 43-1p

MacKAY - SAUCIER — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Albina, who passed away October 30, 1984.
Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has her in his keeping
We have her in our hearts.
—Sadly missed, always remembered by Dorothy, Ed, Jeff and Lori. 43-1p

MacCASKILL — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Betty, who passed away Nov. 2, 1985.
Your end came fast and sudden
No time to say goodbye,
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.
A golden heart stopped beating,
Two busy hands at rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.
Your heart was true and tender,
You lived your life for those you loved,
And those you loved remember.
—Sadly missed, Audrey, Ken and families. 43-1p

MacMILLAN — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Lloyd, who passed away Oct. 31, 1986.
Some day we hope to meet you,
Some day, we know not when,
We shall meet in a better land,
And never part again.
—Always remembered by Sara, Richard, Christena, and Ernie and family. 43-1p

MacKAY - SAUCIER — In memory of the dearest mother and grandmother, Albina, who was called home on October 30, 1984.
We think of her in silence
And make no outward show
But what it meant to have her
No one will ever know.
Too dearly loved to ever be forgotten.
—Gert and grandchildren. 43-1p

In Memoriam

MacKAY - SAUCIER — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Albina, who passed away Oct. 30, 1984.
Down the path of memories
We gently tread today
Our loving thoughts are with you
As life goes on its way.

With love and sad regret,
We all loved you dearly
Never will forget.
—Daughter Belle, and family. 43-1p

JOUBERT — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Norbert who passed away Oct. 26, 1986.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just in all his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Always remembered by wife Gwen, children and grandchildren. 43-1p

MacCASKILL — In loving memory of a dear father Donald W., who passed away Oct. 26th, 1986.

But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
—Always remembered by son, Ian. 43-1p

McNaughtan — In memory of a dear friend, Gordon, who passed away October 23, 1977.

A Canadian Forces Chinook helicopter from Ottawa arrived at Alexandria Airport on Saturday to take Air Cadets from No. 379 Glengarry Mustang and visiting cadets from No. 870, Brockville, on familiarization flights. The flights were followed by a lunch and an evening dance at the Alexandria Curling Club for cadets of both squadrons.

Helicopter takes cadets to the skies

A six-hour 'window' in the weather was just enough time for the 379 Glengarry Air Cadets and visiting Brockville Squadron to enjoy helicopter flights on Saturday.

A low ceiling made the arrival of the Chinook twin-rotor helicopter from 450 Squadron in Ottawa nearly an hour later than planned. Helicopters fly on "visual flight rules" only and with the improved weather were able to air-lift more than 70 cadets over areas from the St. Lawrence River to Hawkesbury on the Ottawa.

The 31 air cadets from Brockville 870 Squadron joined more than 40 local cadets in a combined operation which included lunch, the helicopter rides, games and a dance before the visitors were billeted in local cadet homes for the night.

The helicopter was commanded by Flight Lieutenant Spandley, an officer of the Royal Air Force on exchange in Canada and attached to 450 Squadron. Two of the crew members were ex-cadets now active, operational members of the Canadian Armed Forces. All expressed their interest in providing air experience to young cadets.

Many of the Brockville cadets had visited 379 Squadron last year and they renewed friendships while on the exercise.

The hamburger and beans lunch was supervised by Mrs. Sheila Mayes of the Squadron parents' committee. Warrant Officer Mike Mayes organized the dance which took place at the Alexandria Curling Club.

As in past years the 379 Glengarry Squadron will be assisting the Alexandria Legion in selling poppies on November 6 and 7, and will march in the Remembrance Day Parade on November 8.

A field exercise is planned for November 14 on a local farm.

"Effective agricultural banking means seeing my farm customers on their farms."

As farm managers you face intense pressures to make sound financial decisions. Your banker's job is to take the complex business of farming and help make your banking arrangements as straightforward as possible. Therefore, it is important that your banking needs are handled by a banker with agricultural banking experience and know-how.
