Linda's Athletic Prowess Pride Of Metcalfe District

A quiet, unassuming pretty little 17-year-old girl is bringing honour to Metcalfe and the entire district, and very few people know about.

If you attend ball games at the Metcalfe Fair grounds you have probably seen her. She may have been dashing madly by on horseback with blonde hair flying in the wind, or she may have been running on the far side of the track. If the park was deserted she would be working out in front of the grandstand, but if people were there, her practising would be done far away at the other end of the park.

That is Linda. Linda Rawlings lives only a few rods south of the Osgoode Township High School and has excelled in athletics since she began school. A glance at O.T.H.S. year books and in athletic record books from year to year will make very clear the many honours she has brought to her school and community. A mantle in the Rawlings' home would dazzle the onlooker with silverware.

Although she is still running for her school, Linda is now a member of one of the fastest up and coming track clubs in Canada, the Upland Harriers, and in red and black jersey is showing her heels to runners in her 440 specialty all over Eastern Canada.

A gleaming gold medal on the mantle reads "Provincial Championship Ontario"; another reads "Provincial Championship Quebec", and another has been added. Only three weeks ago she captured the Eastern Ontario championship in St. Lambert, Quebec in the 440, and placed very high in the 880. Now she is off to Vancouver with the top athletes from Eastern Canada for more top competition.

What the future holds in store for this young athlete time will tell, but somehow the British Empire Games and the Olympics do not seem too far off. Simply put by a friend of Linda and Metcalfe, Joe Rowan says: "Your community is proud of your efforts and hoping for your continued success."—Press Staff Photo.

FOURTH IN CLASS

National Award For Press

In its circulation class, The Winchester Press has been judged the fourth best all round weekly newspaper in Canada, with the third best front page. This was the information revealed last week at the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association held at the Admiral Beatty Hotel in St. John, New Brunswick.

A consistent prize winner and leader among Ontario weekly newspapers for the last ten years, the current award was the first for this newspaper on a country-wide scale. It was also the first time The Press had ever been entered in a national better newspaper contest.

The Press was one of only two Eastern Canada winners in its class, the remainder coming from towns in Alberta and British Columbia. Because of the larger circulation of this newspaper, The Press steps up into a stiffer competition and is seeking honours against newspapers from much larger towns with populations in the five and six thousand bracket.

Winner of the class was the excellent Mission City (B.C.) Fraser Valley Record, another consistent award winner. Less than seven percentage points separated the first four newspapers in the class.

It was the 23rd award this newspaper has received in the last 13 years.

Highway 31

By-Pass Is Priority

Long a topic of conversation, Winchester's Highway 31 bypass has been allotted "immediate priority" by the Ontario Department of Highways in its long term planning for the network of roads in this Eastern Ontario area.

A detailed publication of diagrams, descriptions and statistics is just off the press and has been widely distributed to various groups and officials in Eastern Ontario. A projected plan for all roads in Eastern Ontario, the over-all plan gives pertinent information regarding traffic in this area over the next 20 years. The study was made in 1963 and already parts of it have been implemented. Highway 401, presently being completed, will be finished not later than next year. Other top priority projects include the start of a new four-lane highway from Brockville-Prescott to Ottawa and a similar expressway running between Ottawa and Montreal.

Highway 31, a busy highway at the moment with increased traffic each week, will reach its capacity within the next five years under the present two-lane system. Under the projected plan, Highway 31 will become a major collector highway, with two lanes being maintained. Some traffic will be diverted because of the extending of Stormont road No. 16 to tie in with the proposed new Ottawa-Montreal thruway. This will provide a more direct route between Cornwall and Ottawa and is expected to alleviate heavy traffic in and out of Winchester, particularly on weekends and during the summer months, the Department feels that an immediate effort should be made to proceed with the proposed two lane by-pass. No dates have been announced as yet for this project which will cost in the vicinity of $650,000 for the more than two miles of by-pass. One to three years is the most popular guess for the completion of this phase of highway programming.

Anxious to learn the details of the Winchester by-pass, the Chamber of Commerce directors this week said they would approach municipal council asking that the governing body make every effort as soon as possible to gain more pertinent information about the by-pass. There is some concern over the proposed two lanes, access, how it will tie in with Highway 43, lighting, etc.

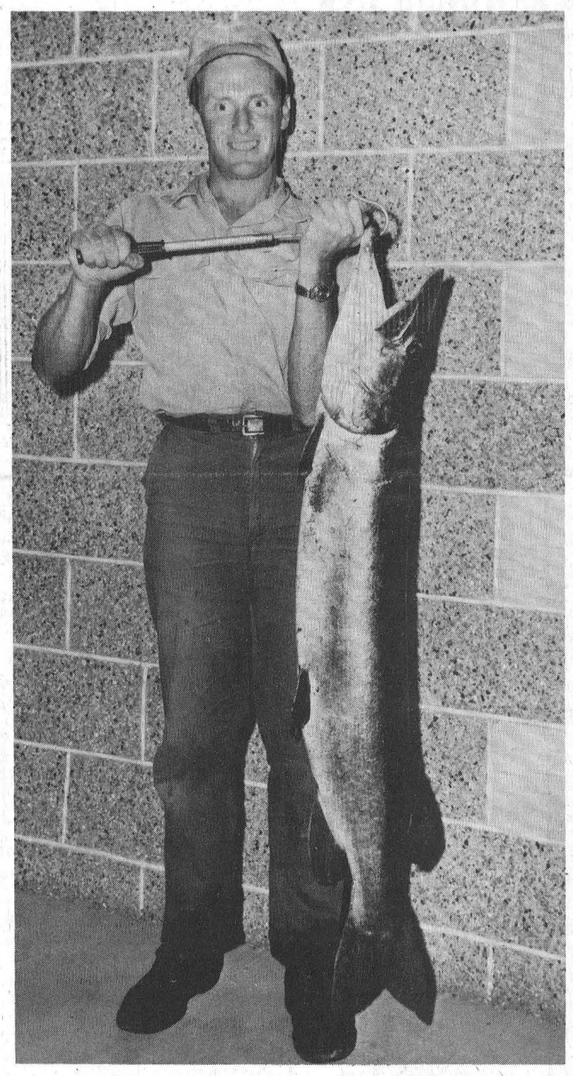
In the plan no mention was made of the increasing traffic problem in the police village of Williamsburg.

More New Lights

Fifteen new street lights ordered by the municipality will complete a lighting face-lift in the section south of Main and east of St. Lawrence. Instructions to order the new lights were given at last Tuesday's regular Council session.

With the holiday delaying the meeting from its usual first Monday and high temperatures in the humid Chambers, Council spent little time on any new legislation but did discuss the new recreation by-law. Complete understanding of the law was not apparent to those around the table and further explanation will be sought. The legislation complies with provincial regulations regarding grants and operations of community parks, etc.

Next meeting hoped for will be on August 15.



A Lot Of Fish!

Fishing in the lower Rideau has been proven a rewarding sport by Wayne Hunt of Osgoode.

36 pounds of muskie proved Wayne's point to perfection. Fishing with a bass hook, Wayne snared a small perch but before he could land it the three dozen pound muskie joined in the fun.

The big fish did not put up a hard fought battle but tested to the utmost the skill of the fisherman landing him in a two hour endurance test on a light test line. After two hours the big muskie, 53 inches in length and with a 21-inch girth, was landed and a smile of satisfied happy relief crossed the fisherman's face. The trophy specimen was caught in the Rideau in line with the Lighthouse.

Derry Day Here Saturday

Each year Royal Black Knights of the British Commonwealth honour the memories of brave men and women who died for their faith at Londonderry. Winchester is pleased and honoured to have been chosen as the site of the 1966 Derry Day Commemoration.

An opportunity of renewed acquaintance and Derry Day commemoration, the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley Royal Black Chapters join with the Grand Lodge of Orange Young Britons of Ontario East to welcome Black Preceptories and Crystal Chapters, Members of Loyal Orange Order, Orange Young Britons, and the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association.

Saturday, August 13, the village will be alive with the voices of visiting lodge members and their families. Highlight of the day will be the mammoth parade that will form on the Public School grounds and depart along a route through the village at two p.m.

Registration of visiting Preceptories, Chapters and Lodges will be at 11.00 a.m. on the school grounds. Dinner will be served at the Presbyterian Church Hall after registration is complete. Visitors to the Derry Day Commemoration will be welcomed by various officials at the School Grounds at one p.m.

On the lighter side of the day's activities the annual softball competition will start in the afternoon with eliminations taking the entries down to the championship game on the school grounds at 7.30 p.m. During the evening activity concession games of skill and chance will be operated on the grounds by the Winchester 100 Club. The evening meal will be served once again in the Presbyterian Church Hall commencing at 4.50 p.m.

Derry Day Commemoration in Winchester August 13, 1966. Visitors and residents alike are cordially invited to attend and participate.

St. Lawrence Parks Extend 1967 Season

The Honourable James A. C. Auld, Minister of Tourism and Information, announced Tuesday that the St. Lawrence Parks Commission will extend the length of its parks season next year to coincide with the opening and closing dates of Expo '67.

Mr. Auld said Upper Canada Village and all parks will open April 28th instead of mid-May, as is usually the case. The normal mid-October closing date will be put back until October 29th, two days after the closing of Expo.

The World's Fair in Montreal presents Ontario with an unprecedented opportunity to attract thousands of persons to the province for the first time, the Minister said. The Department of Tourism and Information is taking advantage of all possible ways to reap the tourism rewards of Expo '67 and of Canada's Centennial Celebrations generally.

Mr. Auld added that his department is looking beyond 1967 to ensure a continuance of the tourism flow developed during the 100th birthday celebrations. He made his comments during a Kiwanis luncheon speech.

OPP REPORT

July 31st to August 6th

During the week of July 31 to August 6th, in a total of 536 duty hours, OPP officers in Dundas County patrolled 8,770 miles of highway and secondary roads. Accidents increased slightly over the previous week with 14 property damage and 1 personal injury accidents being reported and investigated. Two persons suffered injury of a serious nature and are presently hospitalized.

77 traffic charges were laid, with 24 traffic warnings being issued.

A total of 20½ hours were spent in the courts with 54 convictions being registered.

Officers investigated 3 thefts, one in the village of Iroquois, and two in the county. 41 other calls of a various nature were also answered, including 7 disturbances, some property damages, fire, and lost property.

Two stolen automobiles were recovered in our area, with one arrest being made.

Night patrols in the area found two business premises insecure. It may be a good idea to double-check your place of business before leaving at the end of the day.

Lovely To Look At

Twenty-year-old Barbara Burton was crowned Russell County's 1967 Dairy Princess Friday evening. Crowning of the Dairy Princess was only part of the extravaganza of the 108th annual Russell Fair. Miss Burton is the daughter of Reeve and Mrs. W. E. Burton of Vars. In addition, the pretty young miss is the president of the Russell Junior Farmers.

Runner-up in the contest was Diane Scharfe, 19, of Cumberland. Miss Burton will carry the County banner to the provincial dairy princess competition in Toronto.

WIN PRIZES!

Thousands of dollars in valuable prizes will be won by nine lucky Eastern Ontario residents on October 21st of this year. This is the date for the Eastern Ontario Development Association Bonanza draw, and residents are eligible for these and other weekly and monthly prizes by simply purchasing one of the colourful EODA decals currently on sale in Winchester by Chamber of Commerce members.

In addition there are tickets to Expo '67 to be won as well as a special draw in August of next year which will bring the winner an all expense trip to Expo for a family of five.

Winning tickets last week were: 7637, 9622, 3019, 4549 and 1200. Unclaimed are 4905, 3901, and 4528.

This newspaper will carry a list of the winning numbers each week. In the meantime, Winchester Chamber of Commerce, which picks up a dollar bill for every $2.00 decal sold, reminds local and district citizens to boost the area now by purchasing their colourful crest.

Main prizes include colour television, summer cottage, food freezers, dishwashers, camping equipment and many other valuable items.

Vicious Storm

A vicious summer storm that hurled hail the size of golf balls on unsuspecting crops and residents. Damage to field crops was extensive and broken windows marked the storm's passage through the Ormond area at about 7.30 p.m. on July 28.

WCTU Meets At Williamsburg

The July meeting of the Winchester W.C.T.U. met with the "Little White Ribbons" and their mothers at the home of Mrs. George Barkley in the form of a picnic at Williamsburg with over forty present. An enjoyable time with races, etc, a pot luck dinner, followed by a short program. With Barbara Barkley at the piano, the children gathered around to sing "Jesus Loves Me". Mrs. Herb. Robinson spoke a few words.

Mrs. O. Wallace gave a grand story "Thoughtfulness For Others". She illustrated it by golden rod called so by thoughtfulness always turns dust to gold. The children will always remember this story. Mrs. Keyes closed with prayer.

A vote of thanks to Mrs. Barkley was moved by Mrs. Robinson,. seconded by Mrs. E. Merkley, brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

LAKE—In loving memory of a dear wife mother and grandmother, Mrs. Reuben Lake who passed away August, 12, 1963.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died three years ago.

—Always remembered by The Family. 14p

BARKLEY—In loving memory of our dear Brother Broder Lawrence Barkley who was accidentally killed August 4th, 1959.

We often think of bygone days,
When we were all together,
The family chain is bhoken now
But memories will live forever
To us he has not gone away,
Nor has he travelled far,
Just entered Gods Eternal home

—Lovingly remembered by Sisters and Brothers. 14p

QUINN—In fond and loving memory of a dear father William R. Quinn, who passed away August 1st, 1956.

Somewhere beyond the shadows
Dwells a dear father of ours
Whom we looked on as a treasure,
Whom we cherished as divine,
Forget you father, we never will.

The blow was great the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near,
Only those who have lost can tell
How sad is parting and no farewell,
But God in goodness, comforts us.

Who For Finals ?

The Dundas Intermediate League has now reached the final stages before playoffs. This week is being used to play rained-out and postponed games to complete the schedule. It appears as though Brinston and Williamsburg will be meeting in the one semi-final series, while Winchester will take on Cardinal in the other. However, Winchester Springs could still squeeze out either Cardinal or Williamsburg by winning their three remaining games. At the same time the Warriors could still take over first place by winning both their remaining games and Brinston dropping their last two games.

Although final playoff plans have not been definitely formulated, it is expected the semi-finals will be a three out of five series while the finals will be a four out of seven series. In any case, Winchester and Brinston must be favoured to meet in the finals. Williamsburg and Cardinal could prove to be stiff opposition as both of these teams have come on very strong in the second half of the schedule.

Following are the standings at the present time and it is expected that there will be little or no change when all games are completed.

	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Brinston	15	6	1	156	96	31
Winchester	14	7	1	166	123	29
Williams'g	10	14	0	102	170	20
Cardinal	8	13	2	134	156	18

1966 PRIZE WINNER CANADIAN WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS ASSOCIATION BETTER NEWSPAPERS COMPETITIONS

Something New Has Been Added!

This week, for the first time, The Winchester Press proudly displays an unusual crest which is awarded annually to only a few of the seven or eight hundred weekly newspapers in the country. It is a national award presented to prize winning newspapers in the annual Canadian weekly better newspapers competitions.

Our award has been won on front page appearance. It is a first for this newspaper because it is the first time ever that The Press has been entered in a national competition. Naturally we are pleased! It is interesting to note that in the last 13 years The Winchester Press has now won 23 awards in various categories. All, except the most recent, have been won on the provincial level.

Interesting, too, that this newspaper was one of only two Eastern Canada newspapers to win an award in its circulation class. All others came from British Columbia and Alberta. In the over-all judging for best all round newspaper The Press came out with flying colours considering that the circulation class is the largest in the country and it pits this newspaper against towns with three and four times the population of Winchester. The Press placed fourth, with less than seven percentage points between the leading quartette of newspapers.

So, it is on with the daily routine of publishing a prize winning weekly, keeping in mind that prizes are nice to win but not so important as advertisers and subscribers. To this end we shall continue to do our best.

A Good Excuse

It is a known fact that Centennial Year is drawing very close. It would seem, however, that many rural people are not overly concerned about improving the looks of their home or farmstead for the celebration of Canada's 100th birthday.

In many if not all cases a few hours of just plain picking up around the yard or farm would transform appearance from messy to neat and efficient. To a great degree the impression that urban people carry of rural areas is that which they actually see themselves passing by on our highways. In many instances passing through a farm village the impression left by unpainted walls, board shuttered windows, unswept streets, or a trail of manure up Main Street is not the best. The same visitors travelling in the country may register disappointment at the sight of a falling barn, a neglected farm home, an uncut lawn, or a bent and rusted mail box. Seeing is believing that shatters many preformed impressions of the beautiful Canadian countryside.

Just a few hours of practical work might remedy the situation. A manicure for the lawn and a few flowers around the house; a straightened picket fence and clean windows might give the idea that the people in that residence care how they look to others.

Paint can work wonders by transferring the dingy ignored to an attractive noticed home. A coat of paint on the front steps or even the door may lead to a fresh colour for the whole house, and herein lies the excuse. The cause apparent for the whole thing is Canada's birthday, and a good one it is. In fact, it is a great excuse, impetus, or reason if you like to get things looking better. Take note, however, how one thing just naturally seems to lead to another.

A coat of paint on the door as mentioned may stretch to cover the whole house and maybe even to the barn. A new wooden fence to give life to the long lane may cause filling up of the potholes that infest the everyday path of travel or maybe a coat of paint and a fresh stencilling of a proud name on the mail box. Around farm or home, planting of young trees can serve many purposes. For windbreak, shade, or beauty the trees enhance the home, town or country, and may hide some undesirable view of the irrepairable. Concern about the barn roof may lead to the fixing of the hanging door on the back, or in the village the old barn may be caused to disappear and make room for a beautiful new addition to the house or a landscaped lawn area.

The chain of improvements goes on and on and once started the satisfaction of seeing completion of one project just naturally leads to contemplation of another. It provides not only a more attractive Canada on her 100th birthday but a source of personal satisfaction and pride for many, many future years. Try some soon!

Surprise! On Return

There's nothing more pleasant than getting back to your own home after a holiday. Unless, of course, you've been spending a month in a posh resort, and your own home is that unpainted two-room shack behind the town dump.

This week, we were looking forward to it more than ever. It had been hotter than Hades, and our house, surrounded by oaks and maples, is always cool. It had been a long drive, and we were tired. And while we were away, with the co-operation of our friendly banker we'd had the trim painted.

When we pulled off the highway and headed down our own street, we were practically purring with anticipation. A long, cold drink under the oaks. A leisurely inspection of the paint job. A quiet evening of idiot box or reading. Luverly.

As we drew up to the house, my wife squealed with delight. It looked splendid, with the shutters and trim whiter than white against the rosy brick and deep-green ivy. I agreed but couldn't help noticing that the grass was shin-high, and that an oak branch, thicker than a man's head and thirty feet long, had been blown down and straddled the fence, or what was left of it.

However, after three hours of dodging suicidal maniacs on the highway, all I wanted to do was fall into a chair and nuzzle a cold one.

As soon as I opened the door, my wife shrilled, "Bill, there's a terrible smell in here."

"Nonsense!" My standard reply. For one thing, my wife has a nose like a bloodhound. This faculty is allied with a vivid imagination. She frequently smells smells that I swear are non-existent. She has even said my column stinks, on occasion. Imagine.

But this time, "Dad she's right," Kim backed her up. "Yich. It's horrible. And look at the flies, everywhere, Yich!"

"All right, all right," I sighed, as only a father and husband can sigh. "Don't get excited. It's probably just dampness from the cellar, because the house has been closed."

The old lady was distracted for a moment by the pile of mail inside the front door. She pawed through it, looking for a letter from her first-born. She found it. As I staggered upstairs with the suit-cases, she shouted excerpts from the letter, interspersed wih comments on the horrible smell.

I came down and headed for the refrigerator. Wiped my forehead, licked my lips and opened the door. Even with my three per cent, I was knocked flat on my back on the floor. I hadn't smelled anything like it since the fields of Normandy, 1944. Pure putrefaction.

Two inches of blood on the bottom of the fridge. Streamers of what looked like coagulated intestines hanging from the shelves. I opened the freezing compartment.

Six steaks, bought when they were on special at 89 cent. A five-pound roast. A two-pound bag of chicken livers. Hamburg, pork chops, frozen vegetables and orange juice from burst cans. All clinging together in a soggy, stinking corpse.

I'd prefer to draw a veil over the next few hours of domestic discord. But I'll give just the skeleton. Half an hour of bawling and mutual recriminations disclosed that we were both to blame. She had decided to defrost the fridge the day we left, ten days before. I had insisted we didn't have time. Finally, she had agreed. But she turned off the freezing unit and forgot to turn it on again, in the confusion of getting ready to go.

A trip to the town dump with two garbage cans and 400 flies. Two hours of scrubbing the thing out with soda, vinegar and good salt tears. Net result, zero. All doors and windows open all night but it was still like sleeping in a slaughter-house.

Call next day to friendly insurance agent. No dice. We weren't covered for stupidity. Visit to friendly appliance dealer whose eyes lit up even as his head wagged dolefully. "You'll never get rid of the smell." Dealer related various horror stories from past experience.

Net loss: fridge, $300; food, $50. Plus our planned trip to the coast.

Oh, well. We couldn't afford that trip anyway. But we'd probably have gone. Now, we really can't afford it. So look at the money we've saved. Or something.

Meditations ... by REV. CECIL W. TUININGA

Mark 10:24: "How hard is it for them that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God."

Jesus taught the people with many parables. Among them we find the one of the rich farmer (Luke 12:16-21). This is a remarkable parable. It fits our times to a "T". Here was a farmer who was progressive, industrious, up-to-date on the latest farming methods, a first-rate manager, prospering in all that he does. Reading Christ's description we conclude that he would fit right in with the progressive farmers of our day. And we may also conclude that he lives in the same kind of prosperous times. The parable is therefore peculiarly suited to speak to our times.

The central lesson of this parable is a warning against covetousness — (Luke 12:15). Christ spoke it for that reason. He introduced this parable with the words, "Take heed, and beware of covetousness for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." — Luke 12:15. This was the tragedy of this farmer. He lived for material gain and goods. That is why the Lord calls him a fool, and adds: "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God." — Luke 12:21. When the Lord calls one a "fool" it spells his eternal condemnation.

Why did the Lord call this man a fool? It was not because he was a person of wicked deeds. In fact he is pictured as a very good person, who works hard, is honest, a model farmer and citizen. His capital mistake lies not in the area of a life of wicked deeds but in that he forgot all about God in his life. It is a living for self away from God that makes his life so wicked. He is thoroughly self-centred. God has no place at all in his thinking or farming. He speaks as though God did not exist at all. We hear him say "my fruits", "my goods", and even "my soul," and his plans read "I will do this" or "I will do that." That makes him a fool, as Scripture says, "'The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God."—Psalm 53:1. Scripture also teaches, "Lo, they that are far from thee shall perish."—Psalm 73:27. A fool lives as though there is no God. This is his ruin for to live apart from God is death.

To appearances the world today is filled with such fools. In a time of great prosperity it seems God is completely forgotten. The whole complex of life moves forward, apparently without any thought about God and what He wills men to do. The great tragedy of our modern times is therefore that God is dead. Some dare to say, while many live it. The times are perilous, not because men are such great sinners in wicked deeds, but because God is thrust outside of men's lives. If there ever was a time that men should be constrained to return to the Lord, that time is today.

True life is to know God and serve Him. To that high and glorious end man was created. To that glorious and high calling every man must return. Not to do so is to continue in the way of death and destruction. To do so is to find joy and peace in our Lord Jesus Christ, our Saviour.

CANADA'S CENTURY

A news background special on the Centennial of Confederation

Great Men Of Medicine And Science

(23rd Of A Series)

By WALT McDAYTER

In a small makeshift laboratory at University of Toronto, Dr. Frederick Banting, left, and Charles Best isolate the pancreas hormone, insulin.

Canada's history as a nation is less than 100 years old, yet in this modest span she has produced some of the most brilliant minds in science and medicine that the world has ever known.

It was in the war against disease that Canadian scientists fought the hardest. Few remember today, for instance, that it was a Canadian doctor, Abraham Groves, who in 1883 performed the first successful appendix operation on this continent. Dr. Groves was a pioneer in antiseptic surgery in an age when unsterile conditions in operating rooms were claiming countless lives.

It was another of our doctors, William Osler, who revolutionized the teaching of medicine the world over. In 1874, he horrified colleagues by admitting his students into the hospital wards to learn by experience. He also introduced the practice of establishing resident doctors in hospitals. His book, Principles and Practice of Medicine, was the most highly acclaimed medical text of his day.

Wilder Penfield, one of Osler's students, became the foremost neurosurgeon in the world. It was he who built Montreal's famed Neurological Institute.

The names that are most synonymous with medical achievement, however, are those of Dr. Frederick Banting and Charles Best. In 1922 they discovered the hormone insulin, and saved the lives of literally millions of men and women who were suffering from the dreaded killer disease, sugar diabetes.

Another life-saver discovered by a Canadian was the Cobalt "bomb." Dr. Harold Johns, a physicist, perfected this radioactive device in 1951, and soon after Canada was producing these "bombs" for other countries, strategic weapons in the war against cancer.

In a related field, after discovering radium at Great Bear Lake in 1930, Gilbert Labine later built the largest radium refinery in the world at Port Hope, Ont. Uranium from the deposit was used in the historic Nagasaki atom bomb, dropped on Japan!

Canadians have been prominent in other spheres as well. Sanford Fleming devised the system of standard time, 1884. Alexander Graham Bell discovered the secret of the telephone in Brantford, Ont., in 1874. Working with Bell, F. W. "Casey" Baldwin developed hinged wing-tip flaps (or ailerons) in 1908, giving airplanes lateral balance. Baldwin was also one of the world's pioneers in hydrofoil watercraft. In New Brunswick, Wallace Turnbull invented the controllable pitch propeller, in the 1920's, making takeoffs safer.

Today, Canada is keeping apace in the space race, though her activities are so far confined to studying the ionosphere. She became the third world power to investigate space when the Alouette I satellite was launched from Vanderburg, Calif., 1962 and Alouette II in 1965.

It was as early as 1959 that McGill University began experimentation with launching satellites into space with a gun, a revolutionary method costing the smallest fraction of the conventional rocket-launching means.

When the Black Brant rockets were built and designed in Canada in 1956, for ionospheric exploration, they were the only rockets specifically tailored for research, and not just military cast-offs.

Canada has produced many top-notch scientists and technologists, but she has lost many as well . . . mostly to the United States. If Canada's achievements in the future century are to match the achievements of the past, it is obvious that she must plug a hole in this critical brain drain. One export that Canada cannot afford is . . . the export of our best brains!

The Seventh Column

A young fellow named Bob Jetters visited us for a few days at the Lake St. Lawrence cottage last week. He was one of 80 American Scouts visiting 80 Canadian Scouts on the International Scout tour just over. If the other parents were as impressed by their scout as we were with Bob the whole deal must have been a real pleasure. The American contingent looked sharp as they were welcomed at a Civic reception at Prescott, and the week up here was a reciprocal arrangement to the previous week spent in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. It's quite an event, one worth continuing each year. To the leaders and others for their fine administration, our thanks.

Already it's the 11th of August and mothers across the country are hanging on for dear life as the opening of a new school semester is now less than one month away. Time really flies and especially when the weather is as nice as it has been this summer. The tourists have flocked to the area in droves and both the St. Lawrence Parks and Upper Canada Village are experiencing their greatest years to date. Naturally the owners of restaurants and motels are going around with large smiles listening to the cash registers ring up a tidy profit. And wait until next year when Expo '67 is in full swing. In connection with Expo the Seaway Valley Travel Council has asked all district Chambers of Commerce to make a survey of their communities to determine the number of rooms available in private homes. If you are interested in making an extra dollar or ten next year and you have an extra room at your place just notify the Chamber to insure that your name is on the list.

Recently at a Hollwood party hostess Rosalind Russell was moving from one group to another greeting her guests when she noticed Bob Hope. "Dear Bob!" she exclaimed. "Oh! But I see you've nothing to sit on." "Actually," cracked Hope, "I have something to sit on. I just don't know where to put it."

Perry Como and Liberace are at the Ex. grandstand this year. From what we can learn, tickets are going fast. If you are planning to attend it would be a good idea to pick up your ducats now if you want seats without binoculars. The grandstand show at the Ex. has been a dandy over the last few years. The effort this year should be up to par — Como still has a big following of fans.

Of course safety is the prime word with a lot of critics and with automobile manufacturers to-day. Many of the car makers have been crashing cars with dummy passengers in order to study injuries. And to a large degree they've succeeded in making automobiles safer — for dummies. This is a good thing because there are an awful lot of dummies driving automobiles to-day.

More bathroom statistics. More than twice as many people drown in tubs as in swimming pools. So you're better off taking a bath in a swimming pool. Please — do not rush to the local establishment. Still swimming only.

Adverse publicity and public condemnation has forced the Ontario Farmers' Union to put a "slow down" on highway tractor demonstrations. At a time when just about every working man and his dog is either on strike, going on strike or thinking about it, it's good to know that the farmers have adopted what should be a more sensible attitude to their problem of getting higher prices for milk. The strike situation in the country today is critical. At the current rate both production and profits could drop drastically and rather than improving his position the union member could be hurting it.

If you happen to run into a teenager this week with a worried look on his face, don't be too concerned. It's an annual week of blood, sweat and tears just before the Departmental examination results are posted. Whatever they are, young men and young women, here's wishing you luck in the days ahead. To the successful students our wish for more success as you further your education. To the unfortunates who missed one, two or more, our advice to continue your academic work if it is humanly possible. Life is often made of a lot of failures — just ask your Dad, the man across the street or the most successful person you know. Give it a lot of thought before you decide to "drop out."

A word of congratulations this week to our wandering friend, Keith Graham and the staff at The Chesterville Record. In their circulation class (1,000 to 2,000) The Record picked up a national award to add to its collection. A bit unusual but nevertheless acceptable to have neigbhouring weekly newspapers win awards in different classes in a countrywide contest. An editorial on The Press award appears elsewhere on this page.

Mr. & Mrs. C. Hill Married At Ottawa

A double ring ceremony in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Ottawa, on Saturday evening, July 23, joined in marriage Carolyn Olive Lewis and Carson Hill.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fred Lewis of Vernon and the late Mr. Lewis, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill of Kenmore.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Dwayne. Mr. and Mrs. John Millar attended the couple at the ceremony performed by Rev. G. Churchill.

Bride-elect Feted At Bridal Shower

Miss Norma Armstrong, bride-elect, was honoured on Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower held in Club 31 Hall.

Mrs. Bruce Acres played "Here Comes The Bride" and Norma and her mother and Mrs. Larry Sayant were ushered to chairs by Marilyn Sheldrick, Bonnie Lewis and Wanda Mattice. A contest was held and won by Mrs. Edward Armstrong and Mrs. D. R. McDonald. Miss Judy Acres sang, accompanied by her mother at the piano.

Miss Marilyn Sheldrick read an address to the bride and presented her with a bride's book, while Misses Judy Acres and Judy Easter carried in several baskets of gifts.

After the gifts were opened and passed around, Norma expressed her thanks to all. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable hour spent.

Vernon

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cowan and family in the loss of their son, Alvin, by drowning.

Miss Judy Lewis has returned home after having been a patient in the hospital at Winchester for a week. Mrs. George Lewis also spent a week in the Civic Hospital where she underwent an eye operation, and is convalescing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edwin Snider, and Mr. Snider in Ottawa. We wish them both well soon.

Guild Plans Money Making Projects

Members of the Vernon Anglican Guild met at the home of Mrs. Fred Coons in Chesterville for their July meeting. A tour of their new home was made by all.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Fred Lewis, as vice president, presiding in the absence of the president. A new sign for the church is being made but has not yet been completed. Further money-making plans were left over till the next meeting.

Mrs. Bruce Acres had the devotion and Mrs. Fred Coons the topic. Fees were paid, and refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting in August will be at the home of Mrs. Bath.

Former Area Farmer Dies

Former Winchester area farmer Levi Merkley died July 27 in Ottawa. He was 68.

A native of Chesterville, he was the son of Edgar Merkley and his wife, Eunice Hummell. At Dunbar in 1929 he married the former Rennie Beckstead who survives. He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Winchester.

Surviving are his wife, a son, Donald, of Ottawa, a daughter, Ethel (Mrs. Allan Armstrong), Iroquois, and grandchildren Barrie, Brian and Arlene. Mourning the passing of a brother are Frank Merkley and Miss Olive Merkley, Chesterville.

Rev. William Duffy of Ottawa conducted the funeral service from St. Paul's at 2.30 p.m. on July 30th. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Pall-bearers were Ralph Johnston, Arnold Hogaboam, Victor Johnston, Bert Link, Eldon Turner and Clare Summers.

Vernon Mission Circle Meets

The Afternoon Group of the Baptist Women's Mission Circle of Vernon met at the home of Miss Elizabeth Stuart on Wednesday evening last with nine members present and several visitors.

The president opened the meeting, and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Tavilley, who has been holding services on the River Road near Manotick.

A former pupil of Miss Stuart's in Winchester, Rev. W. Spinks and his wife and family were also present — they had spent 10 years in Cuba working with the Spanish. They found a place in Montreal where they could continue the Spanish work, and also with the German, French, Ukrainian and English, and through the wonderful work of the Bible Society were able to supply Bibles in all these languages.

The anniversary of the Breadalban Church was announced and several expect to attend. Rev. Jas. Stuart from Auburn, N. Y. is to be the special speaker.

Following a hymn and prayer the meeting closed, after which delicious refreshments were served.

21st NAVAN FAIR

Mayor Reid To Open Two Day Exhibition

Mayor Don Reid of Ottawa will officially open the two-day Navan Fair on Friday, August 12th, at 8.30 p.m. in the arena.

The Capital City Chorus from Ottawa will be the main feature of a variety show which will follow the opening. There will be highland dancing and tap dancing plus other attractions Friday evening. A new feature for this year's Fair will be the crowning of the Cumberland Township Baking Queen. This will also be a part of the variety show on Friday night.

Saturday will be a busy day with the judging of the horse and cattle classes. The light and heavy draft horse show will go on all day as will the Ottawa Valley Jersey Parish Show and the Russell Black and White Show.

The pony show will again take place at 7:45 on Saturday night in the arena, featuring the popular musical chairs with ponies. A big dance in the Community Centre Hall will wind up the day's activities.

A new feature for this 21st Navan Fair will be the Russell County 4-H Championship Show all day Friday, with about 225 calves being shown by the 4-H members. Parents are asked to come out and support these young people in their endeavours.

This is the first fair for the newly appointed Secretary-Treasurer, Fred Grey, and every person is asked to co-operate with him and all the directors, and help make the fair a great success.

Navan Fair President, Donald Rathwell, asks everyone to please note that the Red and White Show will be held at the Russell Fair and not at Navan Fair as erroneously stated in the prize list. Rusell Fair took place last week.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary

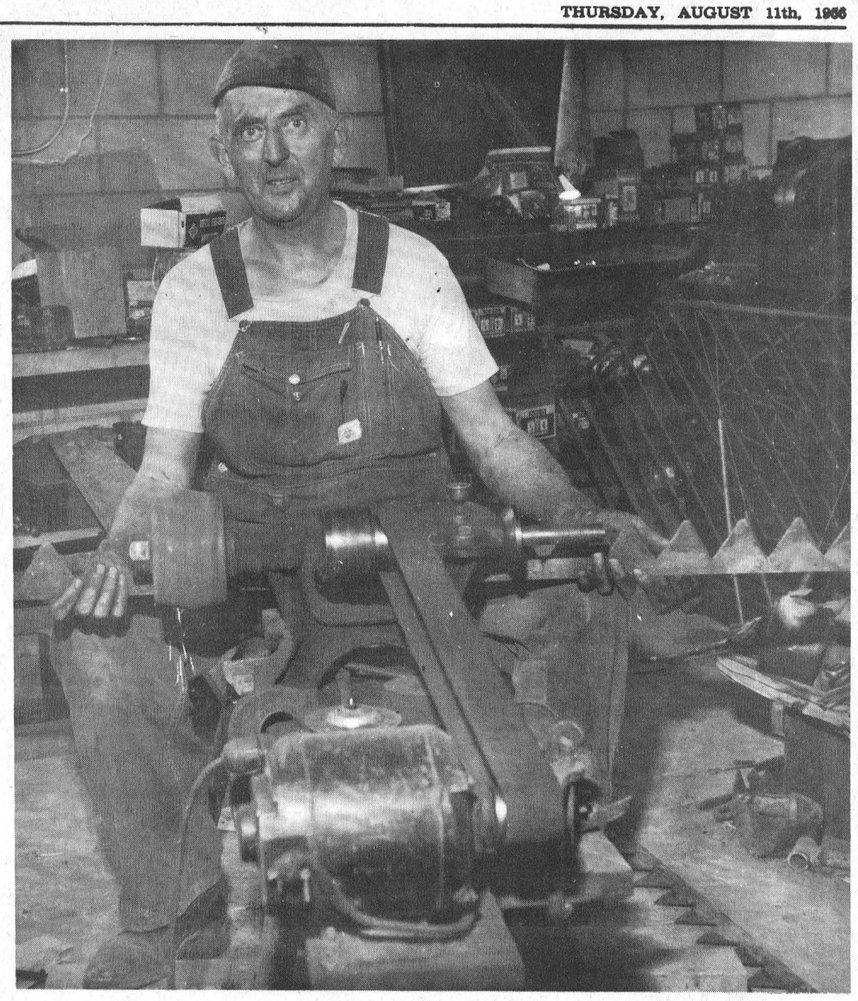
About 50 relatives gathered in the I.O.O.F. Hall, South Mountain, on Saturday night, July 30th, to honour Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Marriner on their 25th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Marrnier were escorted into the hall to the music of the Anniversary Waltz played on the accordian by Miss Colleen Clark, niece of the couple. After a corsage and boutonniere were pinned on the couple they were congratulated by everyone present.

A few games of cards were enjoyed and then an address was read by Mrs. Jean Clark. A chest of silverware was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Marriner by their children and the Murdock family. The Marriner family presented them with a pole lamp. They also received numerous other gifts and cards. A guest book, given by Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Hughes, was signed by all present.

Guests of honour were seated at a table centred with a three-tier cake made by Mrs. Leslie Holmes. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Donald Dobbie, Mrs. Jean Clark, Mrs. Dalton Hughes and Mrs. Lloyd Cameron.

Earlier in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Marriner received a phone call from Mr. Robert Murdock of Chatham, brother of Mrs Marriner, congratulating them on their anniversary.



How Things Change!

It's a far cry from over forty years ago when Albert Hoeksema started to work as a boy in Holland. In Canada since 1952 Albert has been in business for himself the past four years but just recently took a big step that he and his family and his friends in South Mountain are justifiably proud.

Albert does all his work now in a brand new cement block building. It's quite a change from his start in Zuidhorn, Holland. The new building measures 24x40 feet with a flat roof, concrete floor that provides almost a thousand square feet of work space.

What goes on in the shop between 6.30 until Albert is tired out, usually in the late evening, in the new shop? Well, if you want smithing, machine work, welding, sharpening, or scores of other jobs done by an expert, you have come to the right place. Just lately the demand for Hoeksema-made decorative railings is increasing with examples of expert craftsmanship now on display on homes in Iroquois, Williamsburg, Osgoode, Merrickville, Kemptville and various points in Mountain Township.

The man seated at an emery stone in his shop tells an interesting story about his new shop. "It was built by a Dutchman, the roof was put on by a Canadian, the big door by a Frenchman, and a Dutchman works in it. That's Canada."

Canadian-American Scouts In International Expedition

By Merv Dickey

"Be Prepared!"

The motto of the Boy Scouts has stood the test of time since Lord Baden-Powell founded the movement almost 60 years ago. Then it took a three-hour holiday last Thursday night.

That was the occasion of our visit to "Operation Brotherhood", the camp-out at Grenville Park of the Canadian-American International Expedition, 1966, involving about 80 Boy Scouts from each side of the border, with their respective staffs of eight adults each.

Mark you, it wasn't the Scouts were the unprepared. It was a one-time Old Wolf, Association chairman, and even now an honorary member of the Canadian General Council of Boy Scouts.

We looked for their camp down by the riverside. They had set up their little city of tents two fields north of the highway, with a farm pump in the centre of the oasis.

As we drove cautiously up the laneway, we were unprepared for a bevy of Scouts racing towards us. Such a welcome for the occasion was not merited, we thought. But the welcomers kept right on coming, and right on by us. Only when we got to the camping area did we learn the truth. Our welcoming committee was only a fatigue party doing penance for throwing apples and being caught at it by an alert Scouter.

For our next bit of unpreparedness we took our way to the HQ tent to meet Commissioner Countryman and get a briefing on what had been laid on for the boys of the news media and this special visit to the Can-Am Expedition. We had visions of a good hot plate of beans or bacon and eggs to fortify the lettuce sandwich we had hastily grabbed in our haste to get to the Scout Camp at the deadline time.

The D-C, friend Howie, gave us a warm welcome, and an introduction to Rev. Peter Wendell, of the U.S. Staff, but they went right on with their cup of coffee. So we assumed we were a bit premature since the whole entourage had just returned from their Fort Henry visit.

Twenty-three campfires were sending out a smoke signal and that happy odor of burning hardwood, but not one had the slightest hint of food being prepared.

Oh well! A Scout whistles under any difficulty, so we whistled a few bars of "Happy Wanderer" and set out to learn a wee bit more of this great Scouting Movement.

The boys were "on free time" and most of them bareheaded so it was hard to tell American from Canadian. They were divided up that way, to start with, and after four days of fraternization, and swapping, they were all one big milling group. The Canadian Scouts could be picked off if they had their Stetsons. The Americans uniforms were of a darker forest green, and the white belts designated one of the "Explorer" or First Class strata.

An American boy can begin his Scouting career at 10 years. Canadian boys can get indoctrinated as Wolf Cubs and move up at the 11-year stage. How long they stay depends on how long they can handle their studies, their urge for female companionship, or employment problems, and still find time for Scouting. There is no boundary line on that drop-out problem, the U.S. leaders assured us.

What about proficiency badges? A visiting Scout with so many badges he had them on a sash passed by and aroused our curiosity along this channel. It took us to Bill Pettinger, one of the genial types heading the American group, who pointed out that the sash is essential to a good Scout because U.S. policy allows only five badges to a sleeve, and those sleeves didn't have much more room anyhow.

For the Canadian Scout, the only limitation is the length of the shirt sleeve and his ability to pass the tests. There are 108 proficiency badges in the Canadian branch, and very close to that number across the border, according to Ralph Stewart, another of their leaders. They even have one for missiles and rockets study now, he added.

Badges of territorial significance or attendance at camps were quite in evidence, either on sleeves, sashes or on a swapping table. A Brockville merchant, Jack Requa, was on hand to operate a flourishing Trading Post of Scout garb, but no swapping of personal effects was being permitted from the outset, a wise precaution laid down in the framework of the operation.

Three blasts of a leader's whistle and Scouts scampered from their patrol tents to the centre of the camp and the big bonfire. A hand went up. Then another, and another. That was a signal for silence and it came quickly. The boys were ready for the nightly campfire in a short time.

Welcomed for his third night and officially presented with an Expedition badge was Wolf Cub Danny Potter, for the Maynard Pack. Despite a physical disability, Danny was there in full uniform, taking everything in and it was only fitting that the Scouts acknowledged this demonstration of Scout courage by one so young.

Cliff Belyea was Campfire Chief for the night and he had able help from two American Scouters, Ed Kehler and Rev. Peter Wendell in three rousing songs which the boys entered into with gusto first and harmony of secondar importance.

Then followed some of the most ingenious theatrical performances ever given to an audience as half of the patrols presented a skit that met with mixed receptions with the sternest critics being the front-row gang from other patrols. Shouts of "watermelon" left the unitiated baffled but we can be sure it wasn't meant to be congratulatory.

In between acts, certificates acknowledging press contributions to the success of the camp were presented to Mike Dukelow, of the Winchester Press, Merv Dickey of The Prescott Journal, and Allan Reid, for the Brockville daily newspaper.

There were also the introduction of an Exchange Scout, Brian Barker, of Middlesborough, Yorkshire, England, who was a guest of Brockville District Scouts.

Before the night's events were over we were introduced to Bucky Vernon, Chief of the U.S. supervisory staff, who warned the boys to be ready to move out at 7.30 the next morning for Ottawa. Groans received that news but we doubt if any of them slept in.

While the Chief was speaking we were startled to hear fireworks exploding in the background. The explanation cleared the mystery. Somewhere in their travels Boy Scouts found fireworks for sale and yielded to the boyhood urge, only to have them confiscated by the omniscient staffers. They relented to the point of having Scoutmaster Garry Walker set them off instead of disposing of them in a pail of water. So that explains why cottagers along the Front may have seen one rocket light up the sky on a warm August night.

After the Ottawa visit, to the Changing of the Guard, a look inside the House of Parliament, and other attractions in the Capitol, the Expedition returned to a last-night campfire before saying goodbye to the boys from Easton, Phillipsburg, Frazer and other communities along the Delaware early Saturday morning.

The pilot venture of an interchange of visits was so successful that plans are now being made to have it a biennial affair, with 1968 the next target date.

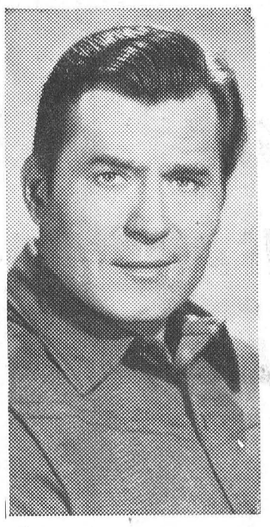
THE BIG MAN



TALL AND MANLY are the words to describe Clint Walker, who stars with Martha Hyer and Keenan Wynn in Paramount Pictures' "The Night Of The Grizzly," opening to-night at the Winchester Theatre. Set in an untamed wilderness, the film deals with the trials of a young family as they battle against the hostile elements in nature and man. An exciting and dramatic film, it has a wholesome viewpoint that makes it entertainment for the entire family.

Russell Fair Features

As always, special features at the annual Russell Fair were the top notch horse show and the many attractions in the exhibit hall.

The 1966 presentation of the fair was alive with activity with the Ottawa Valley Red and White Show, Russell County Dairy Princess Competition, St. Lawrence Jersey Parish Show, and Light and Heavy Horse Shows crowd pleasers.

President Hank Staal and secretary-treasurer Arnold Park held in the big show in rein and large crowds turned out in warm August weather, the fair's earliest dates ever.

North Russell W. I. won a prize for their display of life on the farm in one of many judging departments. High stepping and brightly decorated ponies were part of the children's show pony class on Saturday afternoon. — Press Photo.

C.T.C. Reveals Major Changes In Management At Toronto

A big change has taken place in the Toronto headquarters operation of Canadian Tire Corporation Limited, according to J. Edward Hanson, manager of the district's modern CTC Associate Store at Williamsburg.

Mr. A. J. Billes, who began the business in 1922 with his late brother, J. W. Billes, has chosen to step down as President and Director.

The new management team, according to Mr. Hanson, now assuming administrative responsibility for the 44 year old corporation is one of the youngest to be found in any major Canadian company today. The new president is J. Dean Muncaster, B.A., M.B.A., 32, and his new vice president is Richard J. Hobbs, B.A., M.S., 35. Returning to the corporation after a number of years absence is Alex E. Barron, well known Toronto financial executive, as Chairman of the Board.

Mr. Billes, who is well known personally to Canadian Tire franchise dealers, and was its chief executive officer for the past ten years, will remain in the business. While giving up administrative responsibilities, including his seat on the Board, Mr. Billes will continue to be active in merchandising and personnel, two areas in which he has always been personally interested. In planning this move, he considers it "'more like graduation than retirement."

Canadian Tire's new president, Dean Muncaster, was formerly vice president and director. He comes from Sudbury, Ontario, where his father operated a highly successful Canadian Tire Associate Store for many years. There he got his first experience as a $15 a week stock boy. Also, at 18, he got his first chance at management when his father left him in charge of the family store and 40 employees for one long summer month.

Mr. Muncaster gained his Honours B.A. at the School of Business Administration, University of Western Ontario in 1956 and his M.B.A. at Northwestern University, Chicago, in 1957. He joined Canadian Tire in 1957 as Financial and Operational Analyst, became a Director in 1960 and vice president in 1961. During an interval of three years from 1960 to 1963 he managed his father's store in Sudbury, commuting back and forth from Canadian Tire's Toronto headquarters.

"Rich" Hobbs has also had first hand associate store experience, having managed or owned Canadian Tire stores in three Ontario communities, Orangeville, Sault Ste. Marie and Hamilton. He was invited to join the head office staff of Canadian Tire in May last year. Mr. Hobbs obtained his B.A. in Honours Business Administration at University of Western Ontario and M.S. in Marketing at Columbia University.

The Company's new executive will manage an organization which has grown rapidly in the last ten years and now has 224 Associate Stores throughout Eastern Canada.

Mr. Muncaster, an executive with a crewcut and an earnest manner, said his election to the presidency illustrates Canadian Tire's commitment to a youthful and aggressive management. He sees his task as making profitable use of the resources that have been created over the years by the founders. He intends to broaden the line of products offered by the chain of Canadian Tire Associate stores which stretch from Ontario to the Maritimes. Plans are being made to enlarge several existing stores and to open new ones in the Montreal area.

Nominated

Vice chairman of the Board of Cornwall General Hospital, Gordon W. Thom has been nominated for a position on the board of the Ontario Hospital Association.

Mr. Thom, a Morrisburg resident, has played a key board member's role in the current expansion and development plan of the General.

Married At Williamsburg

The marriage was solemnized on Saturday, August 6th, at St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, of Miss Muriel Elizabeth (Betty) Merrikin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Merrikin, to Mr. Ronald William Herbert Schell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vane Schell, Morrisburg. Pastor Walter Goos offiicated. Mrs. Grace Froats was the organist and Mr. Gerald Adams the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of silk chiffon over taffeta, featuring empire styling with a modified A-line skirt, and a double panel of chiffon forming a chapel train. A lace mantilla formed part of the train, and she carried a sheaf bouquet of Forever Yours roses and baby's breath.

The attendants were Miss Sandra Merrikin, sister of the bride, as maid of honour, and Mrs. Anthony Markey as bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of aqua shantung, designed on Empire lines with floor-length capes, and carried sheaf arm bouquets of deep red gladioli.

Margaret Phillips, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza trimmed with aqua and carried a basket of aqua-tinted mums. Barry McIntosh, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Michael Pokluda was best man, and the ushers were Ted Roberts and Pete Couglar.

Following a reception in the Church Hall, the couple left for England and the Continent, the bride travelling in a printed silk ensemble with black accessories. They will reside at 265 Dixon Road, Apt. 1002, Weston.

Guests from Windsor, Toronto, Barrie, Oshawa, Brighton, Kingston, Perth, Smiths Falls, Brockville, Ottawa, Cornwall, Morrisburg and Williamsburg attended.

Milestone As B. of M. Opens 1,000th Office

A milestone in the development of the Bank of Montreal came on August 1st as G. Arnold Hart, chairman and president, announced the opening of the 1000th office. It is an important part of bank development that will complete its 150th year in 1967.

The Bank of Montreal initiated Canada's branch banking system — now considered to be one of the finest in the world— when it opened its second office at Quebec City two weeks after its foundiing in 1817. Other branches soon followed at York, now Toronto, and at other trading centres and outposts across the young country

The bank placed its resources behind the Canadian Pacific Railway and opened branches in the communities as they developed in the west. At Confederation the Bank had 27 offices, by 1900 this figure had grown to 52, by 1945 there were 475, and since the close of the Second World War 525 offices have been opened. Today the bank has assets of more than $5 billion.

Bank services reach abroad with offices across the world and on Canadian Armed Forces bases.

District Dealer Helps Expo Project

Garnet Ralph, of Ralph Dale Fertilizers Limited, Richmond, Ontario, has announced that the Company has joined with a group of fellow fertilizer manufacturers located in farming communities across Eastern Canada to help sponsor a project at Expo '67.

Ralph Dale Fertilizers Limited manufacture fertilizers in association with Cyanamid of Canada Limited.

The announcement made by Mr. Ralph said that he and his associates had combined their resources to raise about $18,000.

The funds will be directed towards co-sponsorship with the Canadian Fertilizer Association of a completely non-commercial project in the Soils Building of the "Man The Provider" pavilion at Expo. Plans call for support of an exhibit demonstrating soils and their fertility

In commenting on the announcement, J. J. Greene, Minister of Agriculture said: "this is a good example of a group of individuals doing business in the agricultural community, acting in the best possible sense as good corporate citizens of Canada."

Mr. Ralph is most enthusiastic about his Company's participation in Expo. He said "this is a typical example of how local businessmen from rural communities can join together in support of an Expo project."

Mr. Ralph went on to say, "I am convinced that "Man the Provider" will be the showcase for Canadian agriculture. As a vital segment of the industry concerned with feeding an ever-expanding population, I hope our support of this project will enable the consuming public to appreciate it even more."
