A JOLLY COUPLE

Santa Claus Was Here On Saturday

As predicted, Santa Claus arrived right on schedule on his annual visit to Winchester, and has, in a wire to the Press, expressed complete satisfaction with the fine reception afforded him, and because of the many acts of kindness shown him, he has promised to be overly generous with the Winchester children come December 25th.

Unfortunately, some of the floats were unable to participate due to the busy schedule common at this time of year, however, the parade committee wishes to convey their sincere thanks to everyone who helped in any way.

Heading up the parade was the Blossom Park Majorettes and the Morrisburg Legion Band, closely followed by Miss Winchester. The Boy Scouts looked extremely alert in their neat uniforms, and the Wincrest Dairy Float with 7 Eastern Ontario Dairy Princesses aboard dew rapt attention from the male segment of the onlookers. (The County Dairy Princesses were from Hastings, Grenville, Dundas, Stormont, Carleton, Leeds and Russell).

The gaily decorated Chamber of Commerce float which was made available through the kind co-operation of the Ontario Hydro, carried Santa Claus, and naturally his jolly laughter echoing through the streets brought joy to the hearts of the throngs of children.

The Chamber of Commerce were very pleased with the fine co-operation received from the Ontario Hydro, and the school staffs, as well as the Winchester Fire Department, and other local businessmen who had entries in the parade.

Reports Reveal Voters Shirking Responsibility

If on "Election Day" a decree were issued forbidding anyone to enter the voting station, one wonders what the reaction would be. It might be safe to assume that taxpayers would cry out in rage, voting stations would be stormed by angry mobs, no doubt violence would erupt, the government leaders would be burned in "effigy" and blood would flow on our busy streets.

Why do we suggest such turbulence? Because this would be the natural response of people deprived of their rightful freedom to vote.

In our great democracy, one of the most valuable heritages handed down from generation to generation is freedom of speech which, in essence, is the right to vote in secrecy for the candidate of your choice.

Unfortunately, because we have this privilege and are convinced it cannot be taken away from us, complacency has set in, and on election day no one seems to care.

There may be some who do not believe this complacency is widespread but a glance through the weekly newspapers published in rural Ontario makes the picture very clear.

The Village of Chesterville voted on the Sunday Sports Issue and 30% of the eligible voters turned up at the polls. The Acton Press reports only 23%, and the Markdale Standard, reporting on the election in Glenelg Township quotes 28%.

The Smiths Falls Record News points to a 54%, and the Prescott Journal tells us only 25% of the voters in Prescott showed enough interest to cast a vote.

The Prescott Journal goes on to report for Edwardsburg Township where the vote was 50%, and in Augusta Township where only 40% voted.

Reading in the Renfrew Advance, it should be noted that 30% voted in Bagot and Blythfield, while 52% exercised their franchise in Horton Township.

In all fairness it must be noted that residents of Kemptville appreciate their voting rights and a whopping 80% of the voters thronged to the polls.

The recent Provincial Election clearly indicated the reluctance of voting age people to come out and "speak." It is the strong feeling in this office that some "danger signal" should be lighted at once. Some of us might live to see the day, unless there is a decided change, and soon, the day when the voter is given only one choice—vote yes — or die.

REQUEST TO COUNCIL

Possibility For Sunday Movies, Toboggan Slide At Community Park

Special Sunday afternoon movies and a community Toboggan slide are just two of the suggestions which have been placed before Winchester Municipal Council. It is understood that there is more than a passing interest in providing a toboggan slide for the youngsters at the Community Park. The idea is to utilize the existing steel structure of the old grandstand and to make the slide in this location with the use of a number of planks which may be in existence and which were previously used on the grandstand.

No definite decision has been made. But Council has intimated that it is interested in co-operating in such a venture and has authorized the town foreman to investigate the possibilities without delay. Council members, it is understood, will also view the suggested location personally to determine the feasibility of such a move.

Also on the council table at the last meeting was a letter from the managament of Winchester Theatre requesting information regarding the showing of special films on Sunday afternoon. As outlined in the letter, the films would be of a special interest to all members of the family and would not necessarily be "run-of-the-mill" films. Some of them could tie in with religious themes and others could deal more with the tastes of the younger set in mind. At present, special deals presented to the local management cannot be made because the showing of such films must be for a special week-end package of Saturday and Sunday. The Winchester Theatre, it was pointed out, is the only theatre in the area which is not in a position, under existing laws, to make the necessary negotiations for film presentations of this kind. Council has discussed the matter thoroughly and will seek the advice of the town solicitor on such a move.

The outcome could be a town vote on this and other questions which Council believes should be evaluated by an expression of opinion by all townspeople at the polls.

First Since 1946

The Ontario Department of Transport issues a plea every year urging car owners to purchase their new markers early, and Depatment officials wish there were more Ontario residents like Harold Levere of Winchester.

"Tally," as he is best known by his many customers at the familiar Fina Service Station on St. Lawrence Street, does not believe in standing in a long line to purchase his new licence plates, and so he buys early—very early!

Since 1946 he has been the FIRST customer at the Winchester office when the new markers go on sale, and this year was no exception. He is shown affixing the new numbers securelv on his late model car.

The Department of Transport would breathe a sigh of relief if thousands more motorists would purchase their new plates during the early months, as this would greatly relieve the pressure during the last two or three weeks.

The Department advises that all 280 issuing offices across the province opened on December 1st, and also warned that there will be no extension beyond the February 29 deadline.

The pattern of past years indicates that more than half of all vehicle owners will not get their new plates until the last two weeks in February.

The Department and the people who work in the issuing offices are hoping human nature will change this year. Only you know the answer. Are YOU going to wait till the last week in February, and endure the time-consuming line-ups? Well the choice is yours.

Bob Wilkes Big Winner At Grey Cup Festivities

A dinner at Ottawa's famous Chateau Laurier! Watching Mayor Reid pull your name from a huge drum, and then being presented with a beautiful new colour television set by "Pa Cartright" of "Bonanza" fame!

What more could anyone ask as a birthday gift?

When Mrs. G. Dumbroski gave gave her son, Robert Wilkes, of Cornwall a ticket to attend the Grey Cup Dinner, she knew he would be pleased with his birthday present, but little did she know what the outcome would be.

Truth is sometimes stranger than fiction, and Bob is still trying to convince himself that it was not all just a dream—but there sits the colour TV, and Sunday night the Bonanza show will take on a new meaning.

Still Vacant Council Seat In Chesterville

The Village of Chesterville is still having trouble forming a council. Although four men were nominated at the last nomination meeting to fill the four vacant posts, only three qualified by the deadline last Saturday night.

As it now stands, Reeve James Brennan, and Councillors Adolphe Lauzon, Harry Allison and Fred Coons are officially elected, and a further nomination meeting will have to be held later in December in an attempt to fill the one remaining vacant seat.

Village Couple Mark Sixty-Two Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutt, of Winchester, were pleasantly surprised on Monday night when their children and grandchildren arrived to help them celebrate their 62nd wedding anniversary.

A delicious dinner was served with all the trimmings, including a large anniversary cake.

The Winchester Press joins with their many friends in wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Unique Centennial Project Completed

About a year ago, every Canadian was drawing up the final plans for his or her own personal "Centennial Project." To many it was a sacred tryst, and completed almost religiously. To others, it somehow got mislaid with the well-intentioned New Year's Resolutions.

One little 8-year-old girl, however, proud of her Canadian heritage, "danced" her way through the months of Canada's birthday year and completed "her project" on November 25.

Her project was to dance in competitions until she had won 100 medals, one for each of Canada's birthdays.

The little girl, Cathy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, of Ottawa, is a Highland Dancer. The blonde, petit lassie danced in competitions throughout Southern Ontario, Northern New York State and Western Quebec, as well as Toronto, and on November 25th, in Canada's Capital, she won five first place gold medals and the 8-and-under age group trophy to give her a total of 101 medals and 18 trophies.

Cathy And Her Collection

Cathy's 6-year-old sister Kim also took part in the Ottawa competition and won 3 bronze medals and two "commended" ribbons. Both girls are pupils of Miss Maya Dillon, and both are pupils at Manordale Public School.

Needless to say, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are mighty proud parents, but there are some grandparents in this area, too, who have found a new pride in their "Scotch" ancestry: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Riddell of Mountain Township.

Harold Lannin Heads Soil And Crop

A new area Crop Specialist has been appointed for this district to replace Ross Dulmage who has resigned. The new appointee, Larry Ritchie of the Soils and Crop Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food was introduced at the Annual Meeting of the Dundas County Soil and Crop Improvement Association which was held in Henderson Hall on Wednesday, December 6th.

Various other interesting topics were discussed at the meeting with Grover Smith, District Weed and Seed Inspector, and Auldon Ennis, County Weed Inspector, giving helpful hints on weed control. Don Knapp, Rural Development Officer with the ARDA Branch, reported on Regional ARDA programs and reported that further study had been recommended on the Nation River Project. George Suffel, Association representative on the S. D. and G. ARDA Committee commented on the committee activities and reminded the group that farm people have a responsibility to help themselves by suggesting projects to the ARDA Committee.

Eric Casselman, chairman of the Special Award Committee, announced that Mr. Angus Smith of Chesterville had been selected as the Dundas County nominee for the Regional McNish Award.

A special feature of the afternoon was a discussion of the corn marketing through livestock and as a cash crop. Malcolm MacGregor, of Morewood, outlined his corn program in relation to feeding dairy cattle and referred particularly to the high moisture ground ear corn which he is using for the first time this winter.

Fred Byers, Canada Starch Company Ltd., Cardinal, spoke of corn as a cash crop and indicated that there are unlimited market possibilities for cash crop grains corn in Eastern Ontario.

Christmas Seal Campaign Passes $10,000. — Objective $20,000.

The St. Lawrence Tuberculosis and Health Association last week informed the Press that contributions have passed the $10,000.00 mark in its Christmas Seal Campaign.

The objective is $20,000.00—which is the budget for the year 1967-68. The directors express optimism in their appeal for funds to assist in the fight against Tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases which attack the lungs, such as Emphazema, Influenza, Pneumonia, Histoplasmosis, Asthma, Bronchiectasis Chronic Bronchitis, Pleurisy, and the Common Cold.

It is important that contributors send in their donations promptly, to prevent high postal costs caused by having to send out reminders. Last year $713. was spent on postage for reminders alone. This is money which could have been spent on Research and Education, two very important areas in the fight against these diseases. Other areas are Case Finding and Rehabilitation.

To continue the work which it has pledged itself to do to help the people of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, the TB Association needs $20,000.00.

ELEVEN YEARS AGO

A Date That's Hard To Forget

Eleven years ago, on December 9th, 1956, TCA Flight 810 departed from the Vancouver terminal on what was destined to be its last flight. Within hours it was a tangled wreckage high in the Canadian Rockies and 62 persons had been literally blasted into eternity, their broken bodies sprawled on the icy slopes never to be recovered.

Time is recognized as a great healer, but always when the Christmas season rolls around friends and relatives of Walter Rowan "remember." Walter, formerly of Metcalfe, accompanied by his wife and two children, were aboard Flight 810 on that fateful night, and Very Rev. Maurice Cooney, writing in a British Columbia newspaper some years later, paid the following tribute to the late Walter Rowan:

"One winter night in 1956, a plane crashed into the peak of Mount Slesse in the Canadian Rockies and brought a sudden flaming finish to the story I want to tell you today. I had several good friends on that plane. One was Gordie Sturbridge whom I had taught at St. Paul's who had become one of the finest professional football players in Canada. Just that afternoon he had played defensive end for the Western All-Stars in the Annual Shrine game at Vancouver. Watching the game were some other friends of mine, Walter Rowan, his wife, and their two small children.

I had not seen Wally in his later years when he was an executive of a commercial airline and an alderman of the city of Calgary. I was not surprised when Calgary people told me that he was universally liked and admired. Anyone who knew the younger Wally could have told you this.

I never think of him as an executvie or an alderman because Wally Rowan was a very young man when we were friends. He must have been in his early twenties then, and he was a wireless operator in an isolated post at an emergency landing field between Creston, B. C. and Cranbrook. As I rememebr him, he was a handsome, rangy, red-haired lad of somewhat serious mien, and I thought the world of him because he was, even then, a man of principle.

I had just been appointed pastor of Creston and was beginning to find out that, while I had some fine people in the parish, many of them were not greedy for the gospel. If the weather was normal, I might get forty people to Mass but, if it rained, I was more likely to see twenty. I even had some people who lived within a block of the church who missed Mass one very rainy Sunday. This particular day resembled the Scriptural deluge and it is the day I first met Wally Rowan. I first noticed him at Communion and mainly because in those days of strict fasting and late Masses there were few communicants. After Mass he made a thanksgiving and then he prepared to go home. He put on a raincoat and climbed on the wettest-looking horse you ever saw. Only then I found out that he had ridden that horse about fourteen miles to Mass through the downpour, fasting since midnight, and was prepared to repeat the performance still fasting until one of the other hardy souls who had come three blocks finally invited him to breakfast. This was in 1937 and I can still remember it clearly because in that valley there were not enough people willing to make sacrifices for their beliefs.

You cannot run a gasoline motor without electricity. You can have all the gasoline you need but you still must have a spark to ignite it. In the same way a lot of good will may make a pleasant man but he will be ineffective and aimless without the divine spark of proper principles to give direction to his life.

No one comes equipped at birth with principles. They are acquired only from wise and dedicated teachers. When a man so lives that everyone can see that he believes that God alone is worth knowing, loving and serving; when he demonstrates his conviction that his own personal comfort and gain must give way to God's will and to his neighbour's welfare; then you can recognize that wise and dedicated parents and teachers have been at work giving direction to this life. Such a man is an ornament to the parish family and a joy to the community.

I like to think that Wally found a real happiness in our parish. I know it was there that he met his vivacious wife, one of the sparkling Labelle twins. I like to feel that his life had a part in making Creston the fine progressive parish that it is now. I like to feel that he knows now how much his good example helped a young new priest who was greener than the trees of our valley. God rest him!

As Confucius said: "He who merely knows right principles is not the equal of him who loves them."

It is most fitting that in the lovely new church at Creston stands an altar railing in memory of the Rowan family, donated by the Labelle family. Wally would have liked that."

Elected Pres. East Carleton Jr. Farmers

Tom Murdock was elected President of the East Carleton Junior Farmers at their annual meeting on December 4th. The meeting was held in Club 31 Hall at Vernon with 17 members present. Retiring President Jean Shields thanked the club for their support and she was presented with a Past President's Pin by Dwayne Acres.

Other officers elected were: Hon. presidents, William Gladish, Garnet Kur and Mrs. Audrey Stewart; vice president, Ivan Jeacle; secretary, Heather Bellinger; treasurer, Winston Bellinger; press reporter, Linda Waddell; Representative to Federation of Agriculture, John McBride; Representative to Metcalfe Fair Board, Jean Shields; County Directors: Tom Murdock, Isobel Johnston, Floyd Fisher and Winston Bellinger; Auditor, John McBride; Gift Committee, Joyce Crerar and Heather Bellinger.

The club will continue to meet on the first Monday of every month.

4-H Awards Night At Metcalfe Centre

The 4-H Awards Banquet at Metcalfe Community Centre recently was again a great success, and with the exception of a slight "money problem" everything went as planned.

Assistant Agricultural Representative Bill Broadsworth had somehow neglected to bring along the "cash." However he did assure the winners that their cheques would be in the mail in time for Christmas shopping.

The purpose of such an awards night was to recognize the various winners in both the Vernon and Metcalfe Clubs, and the hall was filled for the occasion.

One worthy project sponsored by the clubs was the selling of "Name Gate Signs," and the Vernon Club proved to have the best record. The top salesman award went to Eddie Robinson and the "family sales award" to the Berube family.

The Berube family, besides being salesmen, proved their agricultural ability when Michael received for the best in the East Carleton Corn Club, and Richard for the Barley Club.

Other winners included: Irene McKeown, best in the Metcalfe Barley Club; Ruth Waddell, Potato Club winner; Margaret Campbell, Calf Club winner; Best First Year Showman, Bobby Mitchell; Best Second Year Members: Patricia Sharp and Terry Murdock; Top Girl and Boy in Vernon Club, Margaret Campbell and Eddie Robinson.

Metcalfe and District Lions Club award for the best area first-year member went to Raymond Berube, and the South Ottawa Kiwanis Club Showmanship Trophy was awarded to Isobel Johnston. The United Co-Operatives of Ontario Cash Award for the third highest livestock member in the county went to Margaret Campbell. Elwood Quinn was the recipient of an 18-Project Certificate.

The Guernsey Breeders presented T-shirts to their members; the Aberdeen Angus breeders gave their members calendars, and the Holstein breeders presented certificates as well as halters to first-year members with a pure bred calf.

Prices Change But Family Name Still Remains

"I'm bid only a dollar, do I hear a quarter? $1.25! Do I hear a half? a half anywhere? Last call! and sold! to the lady in the green coat."

How many times have you heard it? The sometimes buoyant, sometimes plaintive, sometimes even pleading voice of the "Auctioneer." He may hold aloft for all to see some small bit of pottery, or it may be an heirloom. He might be standing by the side of a modern array of furniture or some beautifully-carved antique, but always he is seeking the same thing — the highest bidder.

This writer spoke recently to an auctioneer. Not just any auctioneer, but a man who had spent the greater part of his life searching — ever searching, for that highest bidder.

It was an honour and a pleasure to have the opportunity to sit and chat with this retired gentleman, in his spotless room at Carleton Lodge, and listen attentively as he travelled back across the years to a spring day 57 years ago when he handled his first sale

He remembered well! "Sure, that would be Andy Brown's sale, back on the ridge." Futher questioning revealed that Andy Brown's place on the ridge is now a part of the Capital of Canada.

Why did he decide to become an auctioneer? The answer was very simple his father had been an auctioneer, and had suddenly become ill and was unable to carry on.

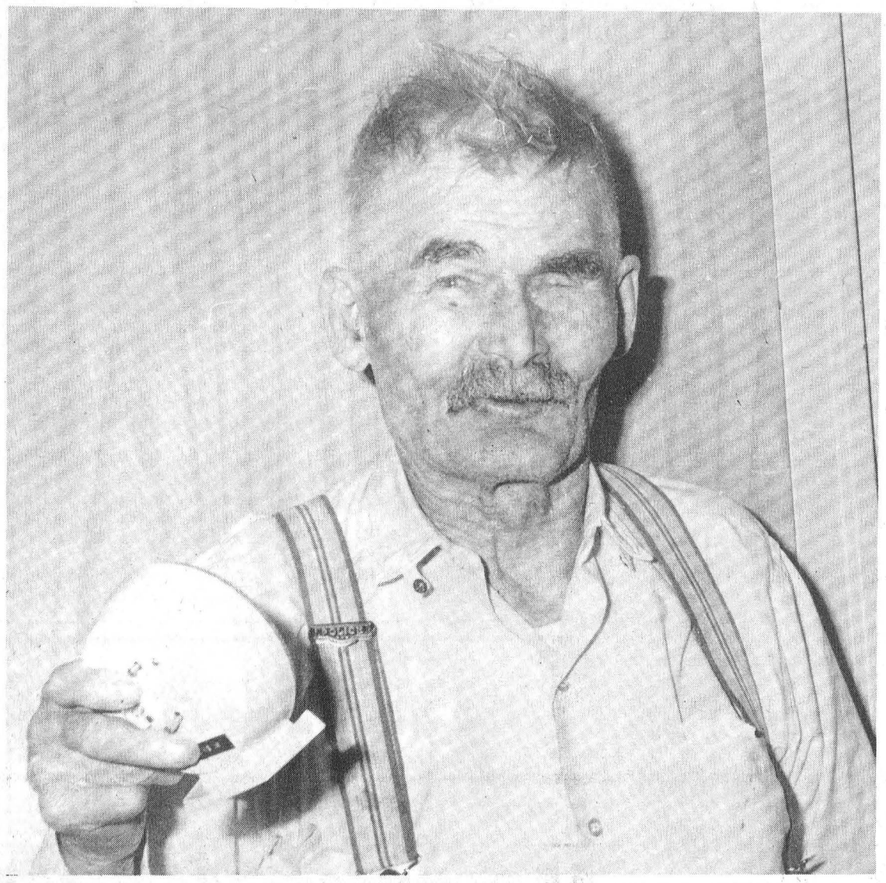
The man who had captured our interest on that bright autumn afternoon was John W. James, who was born and spent his lifetime in Osgoode Township. He became known far and wide as a professional auctioneer and his services were always in great demand — a conservative estimate of the number of sales this man had conducted in his life would no doubt be well up in the thousands as he distinctly recalls that in one three-year period shortly after World War II he had 600 sales.

Mr. James, who is now 87 years old, is still quite active, and told of the many hardships that befell an auctioneer in the "old days." He related stories of having driven, with his horse and rig, over countless miles of lonely country roads in the dead of night as he returned home from some distant sale. In fact, he well remembered his second sale which necessitated a drive to East Templeton.

Interesting, too, was Mr. James' revelations of the great changes in the prices of various articles over the years.

As we said in the beginning, this man is not just an auctioneer, he is a part of three generations of auctioneering. As above mentioned, his father, Thomas James, was an auctioneer, and since "Jack" retired from active participation his son Stewart has carried on the family tradition.

Ironically, too, all three of the "James' boys" served on the Osgoode Township Council, and Stewart is still serving in that capacity.



Annual Lions Christmas Broadcast Saturday

Members of the Metcalfe and District Lions Club will be very busy on Saturday. This is the day of the Annual Christmas Broadcast, and the boys from the service club will be on the move from early morning till late at night picking up the generous donations of area residents.

This fine plan of soliciting money for welfare work was initiated some years ago by the West Ottawa Lions Club and after many successful years, the idea spread into the smaller district clubs. For the first few years all local donations were divided on a 50-50 basis with the sponsoring West Ottawa Club, but now the Metcalfe Club is proud to announce that a much better arrangement has been reached, and this year money will be used for welfare work in the area covered by the Metcalfe and District Club.

Past President Gordon Boland is in charge of the operation and will have Graeme Hardy Willard Cummings, Bob Rowan Jack Morrison, Mac Cooper and Ron Isaac working with him. Many other members of the club will also be on hand to help throughout the day.

As in other years, the Metcalfe and District Lions are making a careful survey of the district and will have Christmas hampers for all needy families as well as small gifts and friendly Christmas Day visits to all elderly residents.

Lion members always wonder if there is a possibility some needy family might be overlooked, and would appreciate calls from any resident who knows of such a family. A telephone call to Gordon Boland, at 821-2423, is all that is required, or simply notify any other member of the club.

The success of the Lions welfare work is entirely in the hands of the general public, and the generous response in past years has made possible the fine serivce record of the Metcalfe and District Club.

On Sunday keep your radio tuned to CFRA where your donation will be made public and you may be the winner of a valuable prize.

Carleton Directors Hear FOA Guest

David Crone, economist for the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, spoke at an open directors' meeting of the Carleton County Federation of Agriculture on the new accounting service for farmers. This meeting was open to interested people to learn about the proposed farm accounting service. Mr. Crone stated that the type of service being offered would be an invaluable managerial tool. An added benefit would be the filling out of the income form. An intensive question period followed Mr. Crone's presentation.

A special director's meeting will be held on December 29.

Controversial Issues

POLL RESULTS

by M.P. Dick Bell

Carleton County Conservative M.P. Dick Bell now has a better idea of the views of his constituents on many of the controversial issues of the day, thanks to the results of a poll conducted by the well known parliamentarian.

Mr. Bell sent out 58,000 copies of his questionnaire—44,660 went to Ottawa homes and 13,340 to rural post offices or delivery routes.

7,000 people answered, and for public opinion sampling this is considered an excellent return, and Mr. Bell was particularly gratiifed to find that many took the time not only to answer the questions but also to write lengthy letters to their representative.

The questionnaire included 20 questions with some sub-divided into two or three sections, and the results in some cases are thought-provoking. For example, the question of a National Anthem was divided into two questions: (1) "God Save The Queen" as the National Anthem, and 30% approved while 33% disapproved. On the second part of the question: (2) "O Canada" as National Anthem, 70% approved and 8.1% disapproved. (The fact that many of the percentages do not total 100 is explained by the failure of all those polled to answer ever question).

Another interesting question concerned whether or not the voting age should be lowered from 21 to 18 years of age. 33% said yes, but 63% said no.

On the question as to whether there should be bonuses and preference given to bilingual civil servants, the answer was a resounding No! Only 20% were in favour. Red circling for public servants also came under consideration and 53% disapproved of this measure.

"Unification of the Armed Forces", which made the headlines for many weeks before becoming a reality, was another field where Mr. Bell sought public opinion and he found that 57% of those polled favoured the move, while only 34% were opposed.

The MP also touched on the contentious subject of divorce, abortion and birth control, and submitted three questions to the voters. The questions and the public opinion are noted, with the first figure indicating approval, the second disapproval:

Legislation to (a)) Broaden grounds for divorce, 33%, 5%; (b) Permit therapeutic abortions, 31%, 5%; (c) Permit distribution of birth control information and devices, 87%, 7%.

On the subject of ARDA, 49% favoured the expansion of this programme in Eastern Ontario with only 11% opposed, and when questioned on the present federal dairy policy only 50% of those polled answered the question and 30% didn't like the policy.

Here's' how the voters in Carleton County viewed: Capital punishment abolition, 39%, 54%; Senate abolition, 44.6%, 44.8%; Televise Parliament, 56%, 37%; Capital Gains Tax, 44%, 46%; Guaranteed Income, 29%, 60%.

Another subject uppermost in the minds of all to-day is the Canadian Foreign Policy, and Bell worded his questions in this way and received the following answers:

Canadian Foreign Policy in respect of: (a) United States and Vietnam, 53%, 29%; (b) Israel and the Arab States, 61%, 18%; (c) Non-recognition of Red China, 29%, 58%.

Mr. Bell expressed great pleasure at the response and said he felt he had as much fun reviewing the thoughtful letters he receives as obviously many of his constituents had in preparing them.

"The problem of keeping in touch with an area of over 230,000 persons justifies this type of opinion sampling," said Mr. Bell, "and I propose to repeat the experiment regularly."

Ladies' Aid Holds Annual

The annual meeting of Vernon Ladies' Aid followed the W.M.S. meeting at the home of Mrs. Ian Dow.

The president, Mrs. Audrey Stewart, opened the meeting with a reading "He Gave Us The Best He Had." The annual reports were read, which indicated a very busy and successful Centennial year.

The executive and directors were named to make arrangements for the catering to the 4-H Club Banquet at Metcalfe.

It was agreed that Christmas baskets for shut-ins would be made up again this year, al candy for the Sunday Scho Christmas Concert.

Mrs. Ken Dow thanked the retiring president, Mrs. Audrey Stewart, on behalf of the Ladies Aid for her capable leadership.

In the election of officers for next year, Mrs. Ray Longstreet was elected President, Mrs. Donald Duncan, Vice President, and Mrs. Bruce Dow, Secretary. Mrs. William Dow was re-elected as Treasurer.

Metcalfe School Zones

Boards Request Traffic Be Slowed

School Boards and teaching staffs at Metcalfe schools are not satisfied with traffic regulations on Albert Street. Albert Street is better known as the "South Road," and all three schools are located on this busy thoroughfare.

James McDonald, Principal of Osgoode Tonwship High School, informed the Press that his first move had been to consult the Ontario Provincial Police authities to see if traffic could be slowed down in the interests of safety for the students. The OPP suggested to Mr. McDonald that he should make a request to the Osgoode Township Council to have the speed limit reduced, since under provincial regulations the speed limit presently is set at 50 miles per hour.

At the same time, Andrew McKinley, Principal of St. Catherine's Separte School, and Mr. Alton, Principal of Osgoode Township Public School, were also pleading for better safety measures.

Spurred on by the teaching staff, each of the boards sent requests to the Township Council, and last week each of the three Principals received an answer from the Township Clerk.

The Council had given consideration to the request, stated the letter, but felt that since the ratepayers had been subjected to the extra expense of building a sidewalk from the village limits to the High School, it now was the responsibility of the teachers to assure that the students were off the road.

The St. Catherine's Board heard the letter read at their meeting last week and members were unanimous in their disagreement with Council's suggestion, particularly in view of the fact that both the Separate and Public schools are on the east side of the street and the sidwalk is on the west side.

Both Mr. Alton and Mr. McKinley had hoped to set up school patrols but both refuse to subject any child to such a dangerous task on a road where traffic is moving at an unsafe speed.

Fred Wilson, Osgoode Township Clerk, when contacted, said the Council felt that possibly the OPP were in error and that the speed limit in a "built-up" area is much lower than fifty miles per hour.

There the matter stands, but it is expected all boards will make a special plea to the council in the hope that some solution can be reached before tragedy strikes.

Back-To-School For Seventy-five Area Farmers

School bells rang for approximately 75 local area farmers, who were successful in being accepted for the Business of Farm Management Course which began last week at the South Grenville District High School, Prescott.

This course is directly sponsored by the Provincial Department of Education, A.R.D.A. and the Federal Department of Manpower and Immigration. It is designed to assist participants in improving their knowledge and decision making skills to the extent that they not only contribute to the better managing of their farms, but also to the economy of the country as a whole.

This course was brought about due to the fact that agriculture has become a highly complex, technical and competitive business in which changes have been rapid.

The official opening of the course took place on November 20th at 4.45 p.m. at which time the participants were addressed by Mr. John Wegenast, Co-Ordinator, Adult Education Centre, Perth, who was responsible for the setting up of this course. The course director is George Wood, a graduate of Guelph Agricultural College and a farmer in Toledo, Ontario. George Brown, Warden of the United Counties, brought greetings and expressed the hope that the course would be both successful from the viewpoint of the farmers and the people instrumental in setting it up. Mr. Earl Thompson, Manpower Counsellor at the Prescott Canada Manpower Centre, spoke to the participants and extended the full co-operation of the facilities of the Centre. He also emphasized the fact that this course was made available through the co-operation of both the Provincial and Federal Governmental Departments.

The payments of on training allowances entitled to the participants will be handled by the Prescott Canada Manpower Centre.

The meeting was also addressed by several Agricultural Representatives and members of the Provincial A.R.D.A. Committee.

AT FIFTY-EIGHT

Receives BA Degree

There is nothing unusual about a student receiving a diploma. In this modern world in which we live to-day, there are more diplomas being won by zealous students than ever before in our history.

However, when the student receiving the diploma reveals that he was born in the year 1909, the first impression might well be that here, indeed, is a very "slow learner." This is not necessarily so, and in fact, the very opposite may be true.

Back in 1930, young Bob Rowan was in his fourth year at Ottawa University and had high hopes of a spring graduation with a Bachelor of Arts degree. There was disappointment in store and when the final results were posted, he had failed to make the required standing in three departments.

It was depression time and it was financialy impossible to go back to college and just as financially imperative that he seek some type of employment. Despite his better than average education Bob's first work was digging post-holes for the Ontario Dept. of Highways.

BOB ROWAN

The years sped by and further education was curbed by the necessity of providing for a recently acquired wife and the inevitable family that followed.

Bob spent many years in the auto-parts industry and eventually became a member of the sales force, but always, lurking in the back of his mind, was the hope that some day he might write and pass those examinations that had eluded him so many years ago.

In 1966, with family burdens lightened by older children "leaving the nest," he started back to night school, and last week a smiling student received his leather-bound diploma.

There have been some changes in the format of the "Bachelor of Arts" diploma since 1930, but then there are some changes in the student as well —the belt has been loosened a few notches, the black hair is lined with streaks of grey, and his steps are just a a little slower, but no exuberant youth ever displayed a prouder smile than this 58-year-old graduate.

Saturday Evening

Hear The Band

Everyone loves band music, but possibly many are not aware that there is a fine band at the North Dundas District High School. This students' band is the result of many many hours of practice and the instructors are to be highly commended for their efforts.

The general public will have an opportunity to hear this band on Saturday night when they put on a Concert at the School. The program will get underway at 8.15 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

It should be noted that the band is now equipped with new uniforms, and a drive over to the NDDHS auditorium on Saturday night should be well worthwhile.

N.D.D.H.S. STAFF NEWS

The 1967-68 school year finds seven staff members spending all or part of their teaching time in the Science Department. Head of the Science Department is Mr. G. Garlough, B.S.A. Teachers are Miss J. Lowe, Physics; Mrs. A. Hill, B.A., Chemistry; Mr. A. Gowanlock, B.Sc., Biology, General Science; Mr. J. Jaimet, B.Sc., General Science; Mr. K. Rowley, B.Sc., General Science, Chemistry; Mr. H. Craig, B.Sc., General Science, and Mr. G. Garlough, Agriculture.

These staff members are engaged in the task of trying to promote an understanding of scientific principles which will apply to the everyday life and work of the students themselves. To reach this goal requires the co-operation of all concerned — students, teachers, school board and parents.

As a result of foresight and good planning our department now possesses an important new addition to our science facilities. The new greenhouse, with accompanying workroom and laboratory, is giving students an opportunity to carry on practical experiments and investigations using various types of living plant materials. These facilities are the first of their kind in the Eastern Ontario area.

At the present time plants being used include: Chrysanthemums, geraniums and various other common house plants, cacti and succulents, as well as a few examples of greenhouse vegetable crops and farm crop plants. With these materials students will be able to study the importance of light, moisture, minerals, air, chemicals and pests in the growth and development processes of plants. From these experiences the students will gain some degree of understanding of how man can control living things in his environment. As well, some students will develop an appreciation of the asthetic value of plants to man.

Other Notes . . .

Mrs. L. Allison, Home Economics teacher at North Dundas District High School, attended a meeting of the Home Economics section of the Ontario Education Association. The meeting was held in Notre Dame School, Ottawa, on Saturday morning at 9:30.

Mrs. Geraldine Suffel of Mountain Public School, reported on a seminar she attended at Sudbury in August.

Speakers included Mr. Tubba who instructs the course for chefs at Algonquin College, Mrs. Lewis who is a fashion designer, and Mrs. B. Lambert, an architect and town planner. Mr. Tubba was thanked by Mrs. Allison.

Miss Karen Craigen was called home to Tweed recently because of the sudden death of her father, Mr. Anthony B. Craigen. Mr. Craigen, who had taught Grades 6 and 7 at St. Carthagh's Separate School for the past 23 years, died at his desk of a coronary. He would have retired in two years. Besides Miss Craigen, who teaches French at N.D.D.H.S., he leaves three other daughters, Maureen at home, Jane and Anne Marie teaching in Oshawa and Toronto, and a son, Michael, of Ottawa.

DOWN THE ALLEYS

Dale Wise, playing in the Community League, was top man at the Corner Lanes last week with his high cross of 684 made up of strings of 225, 237 and 222. The best single of the week was also played in the Community League with Allen McRoberts rolling a 294.

High scoring was evident in this league with five other players going over the 600 mark and 10 topping the 500. Wesley Clark 665-292, Allen McRoberts 659-294, Arnold Stobo 634-233, Ken McLaren 632-230, Mary Levere 606-248, George Watson 603-248. The over-500 bowlers were Alma Douglas, Carol Elaine Holmes, Don Levere Leroy Empey, Don Holmes, Janet Holmes, Bob Levere, Doug Poole, Willa Potter and Noel Potter.

FIRESIDE

Strings of 256, 182 and 192 combined to give F. Wylick a high choss of 630 to lead the league, and his single of 256 also proverd unbeatable.

Leadership went right down to the proverbial wire with Lloyd LaPorte firing 625-241 to finish a close second. Eight bowlers rolled over 500 and included Jack Plummer 559-211, Frank Bailey 555-218, Wayne LaPorte 546-215, Bill Casselman 537-195, Maynard Cinnamon 531-209, Norm Utman 514-187, Lorne Pemberton 505-212, and Edwin Skuce 504-196

HAPPY GANG

It was Marg. Dalgleish again in this league with 240, 184 and 194 to cross 618. Elsie Thompson played the best single, 241-588.

Other leaders in this division were Bruce Acres 582-217, B. St. Denis 568-218, Harold Dillabough 558-226, and Stuart Dalgleish 556-202.

GLAMOUR GRLS

Eight bowlers scored over the 500 mark in this league with position with her cross of 595, made up of strings of 212, 259 and 124, and her 259 single also was the best in the league.

Others over the 500 mark were: Irene Ouimet 575-207, Ruth Pemberton 564-220, Sandra Lannin 557-225, Connie Crowder 554-224, Dolly Lannin 531-208, Marlene Douglas 529-219, and Cora Stel 506-208.

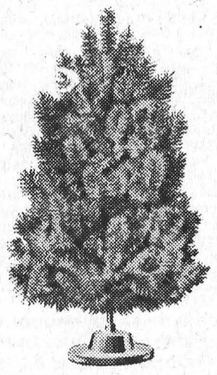
Christmas Tree Future Looks Good

Looking at the great stacks of Christmas trees piled on every vacant lot in the big cities, and watching them be transported by truck, trailer, and on top of automobiles would naturally raise a question. How long can such a tree massacre last? How many years till none are left?

Information from the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests might help to set some minds at ease, and here is the opening paragraph of their most recent release.

If you take 140,000 Ontario school children from 4,500 different classes in 2,500 schools and set them to work planting 1,500,000 trees, what will you get? Probably some excellent forested land which the young tree planters will be able to point out to their children with pride.

The article further points out that this was a three-year Centennial tree and shrub planting program which started in 1965, and the type of trees planted were white spruce, red pine white and scotch pine, Norway spruce, black spruce, white cedar, tamarack, silver maple,



Carolina poplar, white ash and red oak.

If you are statistically minded The Department supplies the following figures—

1965—29,000 students representing 1,200 classes from 800 schools planted 622,000 trees.

1966—56,000 students representing 1.600 classes from 820 schools planted 423,000 trees.

1967—55,000 students representing 1.500 classes from 780 schools planted 467,000 trees.

Thanks to the farsightedness of our government and the co-operation of our school children, the outlook for the future of Christmas Trees is excellent

HAPPY PATIENT

While Saint Nick made his annual visit to Winchester last Saturday and following the parade and Community Centre stop, he made his way to the Winchester District Memorial Hospital where he distributed bags of candy to the young folks. Shown in the above picture is one of the young ladies, who is a patient, confiding her Christmas secrets to Santa.

Metcalfe Unbeaten In Jr. 'B' League

The Metcalfe team remains unbeaten in the St. Lawrence Junior "B" Hockey League, with three wins and a tie. In their last game against Morrisburg on Sunday afternoon, the boys overcame an early Morrisburg lead and went on to win 5 to 4.

Don Honey led the scorers with two, while Gay Ford, Allan Duncan and John Kelly had singles.

Ken Morrow and Dave Mason each scored two for the losers.

Weather conditions have made it very difficult to get the ice in the Metcalfe rink, but it is hoped to have the team make their first appearance "at home" the day after Christmas.

The Metcalfe boys will play Cardinal on Thursday night, with the game being played at Spencerville.

A Way To Say Merry Christmas

There are coloured lights, tinsel, mistletoe, and evergreens; there's wining and dining and partying galore; there's the hustle-bustle of shoppers running hither and yon; there are gifts and more gifts, and soft snow slowly floating down from the heavens, and there's happiness and peace and fulfilment and there is the coming of good old Santa to bring still more to many who already have plenty. And this is Christmas in this Canada we love.

But possibly some have forgotten that Christmas comes to all the peoples in all the lands of our world and countless millions will never know the festive season we are prone to take for granted. One wonders, too, as the big day moves ever nearer, and tensions mount if the true meaning is sometimes obscured from vision by the glitter of what we know to be Christmas.

As the anniversary of the birth of the Christ Child nears, in this our Centennial Year, there is an anguished cry from the hungry and sick children of the world for help.

This pathetic cry has been heard and there are some who are attempting to answer in the only way possible — with food YOUR help!

THE CANADIAN SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND (CANSAVE) is one such organization. "Cansave" is a fund organized to SAVE the children — to provide a better present and a brighter future and it is dependent upon the voluntary donations of concerned Canadians—UPON YOU.

"Cansave" knows no racial, colour, political or religious boundaries; only that disease may be eradicated, some education made possible and, above all, food made available.

This year, won't you invest a portion of your Christmas dollars in the future of a child, perhaps, even, in the future of the world? Send your donation to: The Canadian Save The Children Fund, National Headquarters, 70 Hayter Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Must Postpone Medicare

The Liberal government at Ottawa finds itself in a financial jam and it is going to take a fair amount of sound leadership and know how to get out of it. Whether this government is capable of doing more than increasing taxes remains to be seen. Not far off is Medicare which the government continues to stubbornly insist that it will be introduced next July 1.

This is a billion dollar deal. At a time when government spending must be curtailed to create some sort of incentive for the rest of the country, it is foolhardy at least to continue with a program like Medicare for the sake of a few votes. It will take a great amount of political courage of the highest order if the Pearson government, despite all current talk to the contrary, is now to defer its program of nationwide Medicare. Yet this clearly must be done. The recent meeting of provincial finance ministers with Federal Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp, who personally can see the need of Medicare postponement, provided ample evidence that almost all the provincial governments have grave doubts about their current ability to finance Medicare. The NDP insists that it must be done, that we can afford it. But this is to be expected from an administration which would give away the moon without first finding out how it could be done.

The Financial Post says: "It is to Ottawa that Canadians look anxiously for leadership when world economic conditions dictate a firm hand on the controls. For most taxpayers, nationwide Medicare remains a worthy objective, one to be achieved when the provinces and Ottawa have sorted out their spending priorities. But the lesson of Britain and its present troubles provides a startling example of what happens when an economy is overloaded by government programs, however desirable they may be."

A few years ago this same government prematurely introduced the Canada Pension Plan and used it as a plank in its election platform that same year. With a federal election looming on the horizon, the same kind of situation could be created again by the more shrewd types of the Liberal regime who, it seem, are ready to sacrifice the public dollars for a few votes, no matter what the cost.

Medicare in time, but certainly not next July.

Beware Tiny Kim

Maybe it was the approach of Christmas that got me thinking about money. Maybe it was Kim asking me what "collateral" was. In trying to explain, I got into gold reserves and depreciation of the pound and inflation, and we both wound up refreshingly bewildered.

Only thing of any value that came out of it was the ridiculous nature of modern money.

Money, or some form of it, is as old as man, whether it be wampum, bits of elephant tusk or fancy sea-shells. Gold early became the favorite, because it was heavy, malleable, decorative and hard to get hold of. Silver and copper made up the unholy trinity, and we were in business.

But from early times, and even into the last century, money was real. You could feel it, bite it, smell it, heft it, look at it shine, and listen to it ring. It had weight, substance.

You could put it in a sock and feel like a banker. You could bury it in the ground when you heard the tax collector was coming. Try that with modern currency.

What fun it must have been to go into a tavern with friends, spin a gold guinea on the table and shout: "Landlord! Three game pies, a haunch of venison and three gallons of your best brandy." And get ten jingling shillings in change.

Mine host stirs the fire, cooks bustle happily off-stage and waiters scurry, tugging at their forelock and brimming up the tankards.

Compare. Today you go into a tavern with friends. Half an hour later, when your eyes have adjusted to the gloom, a waiter, either surly or insolent, hands you a large piece of paper. This, eventually, produces a very small drink at a very large price.

After a suitably lengthy period of anaesthetisation, in preparation for the coming shock, another waiter, this one morose or bellicose, hands you another large piece of paper. Eventually, this produces a platter of something which you're lucky it's too dark to see.

Later, he brings another very small piece of paper, with a figure on it which you're also lucky it's too dark to see. In turn, you show him a piece of plastic, called a credit card, and sign a paper. Or if you're just a peasant, you hand over a number of pieces of colored paper.

He takes it away and comes back, promptly this time, with a little tray. All your paper is gone and there is a quarter and four pennies on the tray. He stands, glowering, until you put another piece of paper on the tray. He grunts, snatches it, and departs.

On the way out, you fork over the quarter to ransom your overcoat. You are left with four pennies. They don't exactly jingle.

Point is, no real money has changed hands. There is no personal contact, and therefore no satisfaction in it.

Every month, I receive a piece of paper with figures on it. The figure at the extreme left is fairly substantial. Then there are a lot of other figures. The figure at the extreme right bears no relation to the first one. It is one jump ahead of the old-age pension. This is known as a pay cheque.

I take it to a large building, write some figures on another piece of paper, present both to a nice lady, and she gives me back some other papers, green, blue and brown, with figures on them. My wife gives them to another nice lady, in exchange for a big basket of groceries and maybe three pieces of real money, coins.

Once a month we sit down and write things on some different paper, put the paper in envelopes and send them to all sorts of people who have previously sent us pieces of paper with figures and the words "Please!" or "Last warning!" on them.

It's all very logical, of course. And the crowning piece of logic is that the whole thing is based on digging gold out of a hole in the ground in Northern Ontario and burying it in another hole in the ground at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Meditations . . . by REV. CECIL W. TUININGA

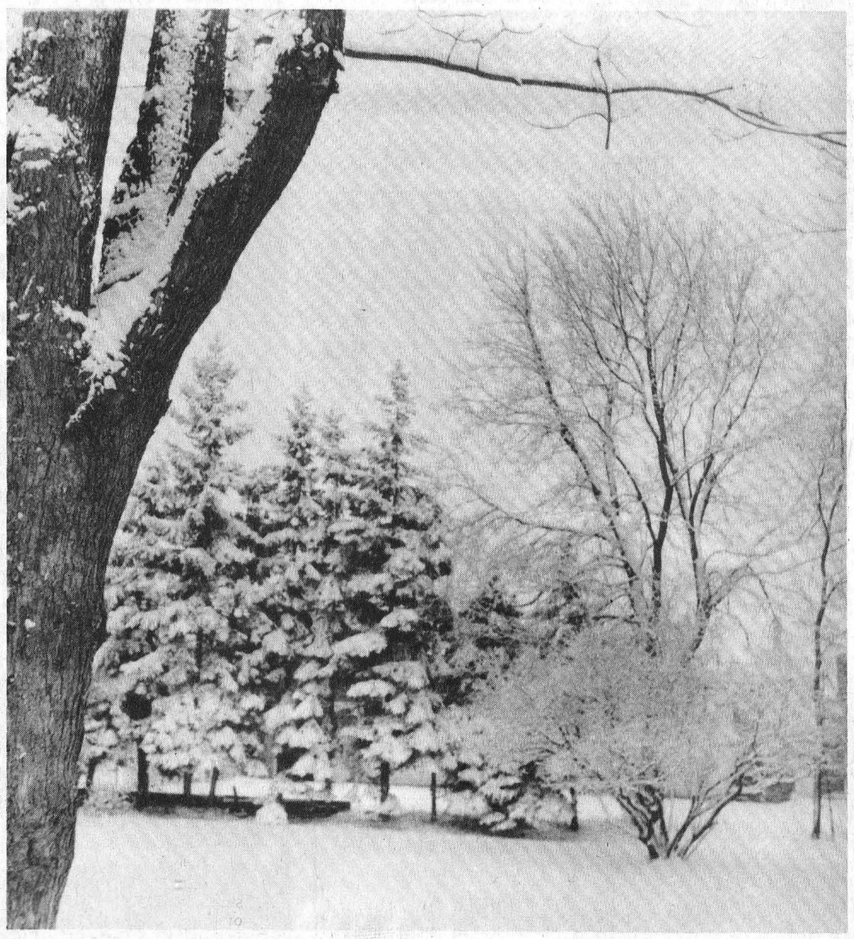
Genesis 3:20 — "And Adam called his wife's name Eve; because she was the mother of all living."

After their fall into sin Adam had rejected his wife. The break between them was complete when Adam said to God, "The woman thou gavest me (Gen. 3: 12) in which he pointed an accusing finger at her. But when, a few moments after, the Lord proclaimed deliverance through "the seed of the woman" (Gen. 3:15) Adam in faith received his wife again. In that moment, when faith triumphed, Adam renamed his wife. By faith he saw that God's great plan of redemption would bring life to man through Christ Jesus, the seed of the woman. Therefore he called his wife's name Eve, because, as he saw it by faith, she was the mother of all living, that is mother of all made alive in the One who was to come and conquer over Satan. He would "bruise" Satan's head in victory.

It was a glorious moment for the condemned pair when faith triumphed in that re-naming. They faced a fearful hard future. Because of their great sin God spoke severely to them. To Eve He said: "I will gladly multiply thy pain and thy conception; in pain thou shalt bring forth children (Genesis 3:16) To Adam He said: "Cursed is the ground for thy sake; in toil thou shalt eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns also and thistles shall it bring forth to thee . . . in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return."—Gen. 3:16-20.

Adam did not misinterpret the gospel when he called his wife Eve. God had made that too clear when He said: "I will put enmity." — Gen. 3:16. Adam knew that not all men would be saved. He was not misled to think that all coming generations of which Eve would be mother, would be the living. Adam knew what God meant, that only believers could be classed as the "living." But that was the great message of hope, that God in Christ would reconcile the world to Himself, and give life to all who believed. So Eve could be mother in the true sense, could answer that high calling of bringing forth sons and daughters of God in Christ Jesus. That renaming was therefore a high point in the life of Adam and Eve. In the hope of complete redemption they could carry on through life.

Adam's renaming of Eve has rightly been called man's first Advent message. Taken by itself one might conclude that it only meant that Eve is mother of all mankind, that all owe life to her. But the context teaches us differently. It explains Adam's motive and gives a definition of world history. It spells out for us that life was possible, and is possible still today, because Christ the Deliverer promised to Adam and Eve, was coming and has come. Do we by faith have life in Him?



A Winter Wonderland

The Seventh Column

It's getting close to Christmas, people are more interested in finishing off their Christmas list and doing other Christmas things than they are in reading columns. So in an abbreviated effort this week we'll simply ramble along and make an observation or two.

Saturday's annual Santa Claus parade in Winchester drew another overflow crowd. But there were minor criticisms dealing chiefly with "What happened to the parade?" The parade this year was, of course, an abbreviated edition of what people have often seen in this town in previous years. It was a good parade but there were not enough entries. With no reflection on the organizers the time may well have come to take a long look at the Santa Claus Day in Winchester to determine what can be done to improve it. And to improve it the wholehearted co-operation of all business places will be necessary. This is not a one or two man job as a lot of people would like to think. And although the suggestion has been made more than once to "drop it" for a year or two, we doubt that this is a solution. Once dropped it could go the way of the Trade Fair, and this could very well be a tragedy for this town. What it needs is renewed interest and support. It is still the best parade in the entire area at Christmas. If we want it to stay that way we'll have to work at it a little harder another year.

We're sitting on the inside looking at the outside as we try to do this column this week. And the thought occurred to us that especially at this time of the year the many, many people who are "insiders" for one reason or another should be remembered. Donations to any worthwhile project, CANSAVE is an example, there are countless others, a visit to see a sick friend, a card or call may help make someone's Christmas a little brighter.

Even in this modern age Christmas trees and fires go hand in hand. If you are not using a fireproof artificial tree this year, make certain you follow a few simple rules to assure fire safety around your home. Keeping the tree moistened regularly and checking the wires of the lights are just two good ways to assure a fire-safe Christmas.

To help celebrate the holiday season, to bid farewell to our Centennial year and to welcome 1968 you may want to attend the special New Year's Ball sponsored by the Centennial Committee. It promises to be a real dandy, and tickets are on sale now. Smorgasbord dinner, dancing, decorations, noise makers, all in the price of the tickets.

BOARD OF BROADCAST GOVERNORS

Those hardy folks who have read my column over the years know that I was a great supporter of an independent Board to regulate broadcasting in Canada, because I felt that the CBC, in as much as it was deep in the broadcasting business itself, should not be allowed to regulate its competitors. I still feel that way, but I am grievously disappointed in the BBG.

The BBG is headed by a hard-nosed Scot with whose opinions I usually find myself in agreement; but he is surrounded by a Board of part-time members, politically appointed and, I am afraid, quite politically minded at decision making time.

Here in British Columbia, particularly in the lower mainland, the big Liberal newspapers present the Ottawa viewpoint in quite a partisan way. They mock Victoria a large part of the time. The powerful broadcasting stations also appear to be quite Ottawa-oriented. The Victoria viewpoint was put forward most fairly, it seemed to me, by the weekly papers and by a little radio station at Langley, CJJC.

The owner of the Langley station allowed his commentators complete freedom. Recently, when he went to ask the BBG for permission to increase his power, he was turned down for the second time. Ostensibly the Board feared that he was attemptinig to get into the Vancouver area by the back door, for they had once extracted a promise from him that he would stick to his own bailiwick. Local observers, however, are convinced that this was not the real reason — but rather, the Board wanted to keep the station small, because of its tendency, at time, to criticize Ottawa policy.

For example, a CJJC commentator made Mr. Pickersgill quite uncomfortable during his visit here, over the question of toll bridges. Another lambasted the change in the National Housing Act, which raised interest rates. And this assault on Ottawa policy was taking place only a few days before the station made its bid for increased power.

It is altogether possible that the BBG is not basing decisions such as this of political considerations. But recently they have made so many decisions which smelled of politics, the citizens of this Valley are losing faith in them.

I would hate to see the BBG destroyed; but on the other hand, it seems to me that a good deal of reform is called for.

Buy Winter Potatoes Now

Lloyd F. Mainprize, Provincial Potato Extension Specialist of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, strongly recommends you buy your winter supply of potatoes at this time.

Prices could increase significantly next spring, says Mr. Mainprize, since this year's production is the lowest since 1959.

According to a recent survey conducted by the Farm Economics, Co-operatives and Statistics Branch of the Department,, a family of four, on the average, will consume about five hundred pounds of fresh potatoes in one year.

The Department further suggests that the Sebago and Netted Gem varieties are best, not only for storing, but also for taste qualities.

Best To Date

The South Mountain United Church Annual Christmas Fair was again a great success and netted the sponsoring group the U. C. W., approximately $400.00.

Unfortunately, Mrs. Frank Ryan was unable to be present to open the fair, but the ceremony was ably conducted by Mrs. W. E. Black at 2.00 p.m. last Saturday.

The setting was the church basement (Hall) which was suitably decorated for the festive season, and the ladies had on display many novelties, home baking, as well as gift and decorator itmes. There were "Nearly New" booths and "Touch and Take" booths, and the large attendance had a very enjoyable afternoon.

Conveners of the event were Mrs. Brian Raistrick and Mrs. Lynn Boyd, who were assisted by many ladies of the congregation.

Ottawa Report by Mrs. Jean Wadds

Much is heard about the rapid course of events and certainly if this week is any criterion we can expect to be caught up in a whirl of activity in 1968. The political events of 1968 may well be as exciting, as frequent, and as varied as the Centennial events of 1967. There is no doubt that Canada's second century will have new personalities, new techniques, and new mental attitudes. Until recently these changes may not have been broadly anticipated or expected but all of a sudden many people and many groupings are aware of the fact that Canada's second century is going to be very different and very challenging. Problems are becoming clarified and although solutions are in most cases beyond the horizon, at least it is encouraging to be able to see the problems.

This pattern of events may also be noticeable in other areas but it is certainly noticeable in government and in political parties. Everything seems to be moving at such speed that there is no time for the negative approach, the positive approach is mandatory. This is borne out by the fact that many in the Liberal party had expected to wait until after the National Conservative Convention this fall, to learn from it and to profit by mistakes in it. By a process of careful organization, research into the national conventions of other countries, an enormous amount of very hard work, and a fair amount of luck the Conservative Convention seems to have been an almost was such a success that many complete success. At least it Liberals feel that they were left at the starting gate and will not have time to catch up.

The Conservatives very wisely looked beyond the choice of a national leader, and months before the convention started considering their national party organization so that a great deal of work has already been done for the new leader's consideration. The new leader, the Hon. Robert Stanfield, is of course proving to be more and more the most successful element of this successful convention. Every day he is proving his readiness for the second biggest political job in the country. Those who had any fear that he did not know Canada outside of the Maritimes now find that he knows it very well indeed. There is no selfish regionalism in his thinking or speaking and he does not intend that the National Conservative Party be weakened by those who think in this way.

The appearance of the Report of the Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism which produced its first section this week will undoubtedly be an important milestone in Canadian history. It is certainly important in the Conservative Party because it marks the time when their new national leader began to really lead. It is daily becoming more and more apparent that as many of his early supporters already knew, this is one of the most highly qualified of all Canadian politicians. It is sometimes forgotten that Robert Stanfield went into politics in the first place, some eighteen years ago, to offer a contribution to the Conservative Party and the Province of Nova Scotia. He approached the federal leadership with the same attitude. Only after much pressure and much serious consideration did he accept the onerous job. Then it was not because of any personal desire to do so but only because he knew full well the problems involved and felt a great responsibility to help solve them. The clarity of his thinking and the honesty of his intentions are so genuine that it is dangerous for anyone to oppose him with any other tactics.

This week in less than an hour the force of his character dominated the House of Commons, a domination which will probably last for many years. He had said earlier in the week that the B & B Report dealt with the unity of Canada and must not fall prey to political partisanship. When his sincerity was questioned by the parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Labour a new element arrived in Canadian politics. Mr. Stanfield does not debate over his honesty. His answer to M. Mackasey was that having refused to play politics with the unity of Canada himself he would not allow others to do so. It is a new type of control but may prove to be the most effective weapon ever used on the floor of the House of Commons.

THE OPP REPORTS

OPP officers in Dundas County last week patrolled 12,664 miles of highway and secondary roads in a total of 904 duty hours. This resulted in 46 traffic charges laid and 57 warnings issued. Ten property damage and one personal injury accidents were reported and investigated. Three persons suffered minor injuries.

Investigations into infractions of the Liquor Control Act resulted in five charges under that statute. Officers also investigated 21 other occurrences including one theft in Winchester area.

The Safety Officer from Morrisburg Detachment spoke to 900 high school students on school bus safety and teen-age drinking.

A total of eight hours was spent in the courts with 31 convictions registered.

Several safety minded citizens have requested that the following section from the Highway Traffic Act be included in this report once again. It seems they have had near accidents by the failure of others to comply with this section.

Section 63 states: "Subject to sections 64 and 66, a driver or operator of a vehicle approaching an intersection shall yield the right of way to a vehicle that has entered the intersection from a different highway and, when two vehicles enter an intersection from different highways at approximately the same time, the driver or operator on the left shall yield the right of way to the vehicle on the right.

Snowmobiles Are Fun

. . . but remember safety tips!

With the long range forecast very favourable for snowmobile owners, the National Safety League of Canada issues some safety tips.

"Skimming over the hills and trails in the speedy vehicle can provide enjoyment," says the Safety Council, "but a broken leg, or worse, a fatal injury, takes all the enjoyment out of it for longer than just the winter."

TAKE NOTE:

—Because of the hazard of traffic, don't operate snowmobiles on roads or highways (some provinces require that if roads are used both the snowmobile and driver must be licensed as in the case of automobiles).

—When travelling in remote areas, go in pairs or groups and carry the recommended survival equipment.

—Carry basic spare parts and tools and use gasoline de-icer in the tank.

—Stay out of races and rallies until you have the necessary experience.

—When towing a skier, make sure he is thoroughly experienced, and have a person seated backwards on the snowmobile to watch him.

—Stay off ice surfaces—you never know when a river current may have made the ice too thin for the weight of the snowmobile.

—Allow children under 12 to operate a snowmobile only when accompanied by an adult.

Have fun, but keep it safe and don't spoil the enjoyment of this burgeoning winter sport, says the League.
