Sudden Fire Near Dunbar Destroys Winters Home

FIRE FRIDAY BURNED THE HOME of George Winters about half a mile south of Dunbar on the county road. Everything the Winters' possessed by way of clothing and furnishings was destroyed in the sudden blaze. Fortunately the small 10-year-old daughter of the family escaped safely from the burning house when she rushed outside in a thin dress to warn her parents. They were both outside at the time. The fire was so far advanced Mr Winters could not get back into the house. Chesterville Fire Brigade arrived as soon as possible over treacherous roads but nothing could be done other than cool off an adjoining garage building. The house was a complete loss and was covered with approximately $1,500 insurance.—Record Photo.

Father J.J. Collins at Rotary--

Parish Priest Talks on Church Matters

Father J. J. Collins, parish priest of St. Mary's Catholic Church here, was the featured speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday evening. He was introduced by J. F. Moriarty and thanked on behalf of the club by Leon McMillan.

President Hosea Droppo officiated at the club supper. He reported on negotiations in progress to have a play presented here sponsored by the club. A drama group from Ottawa are interested in doing a one-night performance. It is hoped to have them here on February 28.

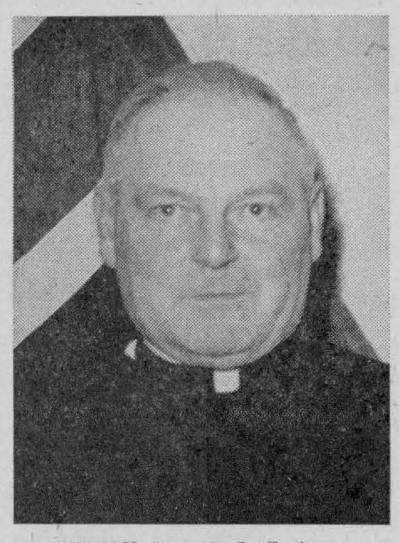
Father Collins, who was born in Tweed, Ont., based his talk on "A View of the Catholic Church, Its External Relations." He felt it was a subject that could be explored with profit without opening any argumentative subjects.

The speaker began with a description of the hierarchy pattern of his church. He explained the pope was the head of the Catholic Church throughout the world and as such is in a position of primacy and head of jurisdiction in church matters. Father Collins explained the pope is actually the Bishop of Rome and the term pope has been added through the centuries.

The College of Cardinals is the body from which a new pope is chosen when a successor is needed. It functions much as a cabinet in secular government and usually the cardinals were bishops in the many dioceses throughout the church world. There can be 70 cardinals in the college although only once in the past century has the college been up to strength. Then only for a few days as one of the older members died shortly after the 70th appointment was made. The cardinals are the direct representatives of the pope. The speaker noted that in spite of belief in some quarters, the popes are not necessarily Italians. In the past there have been African, Spanish, Portuguese and one English pope, as well as Italian.

Father Collins outlined the organization of the church in the countries where religion is allowed. Dioceses divide the areas to be served by the church and over each diocese is a bishop or archbishop appointed by the pope. They teach, as does the pope, but are confined to their own diocese, unlike the pope who, as the head of the church, has the task of teaching on a world scale.

St. Mary's congregation here belongs to the Kingston diocese of Archbishop J. A. O'Sullivan. The diocese extends from Morrisburg west to Trenton, north to Marmora then over to the Ottawa River and down to the Front again. Incidentally, the diocese of Kingston was the first Roman Catholic diocese to be formed in the British Empire after the Reformation. The Rt. Rev. A. Macdonell came to Canada and, after pausing at St. Raphael's for a time, went on to Kingston to set up the diocese there in 1826.



Rev Father J. J. Collins

A varying number of parishes make up the dioceses, Father Collins went on. Each parish is headed by a parish priest who is responsible to the bishop. The priest ministers to the congregation and St. Mary's here with about 200 families is just about all one man can handle successfully. Of course in some parts of the world conditions are much different and there are areas where a parish may contain 10,000 families scattered over many hundreds of miles of territory.

The speaker discussed some of the rites of the church and noted there are 14 different rites in the Catholic Church, with the Latin rite having the largest number of adherents. The Greek Catholic rite followes in popularity. Father Collins explained the use of Latin by showing some of the advantages to those familiar with Latin rites. No matter where mass is attended throughout the world, it is the same and the priest felt that is one of the greatest reasons for keeping the liturgy in Latin.

Following his interesting talk, Father Collins answered a large number of questions asked by his service club audience.

Chesterville Ayrshire Leader in Class

Many high producing Ayrshire records were produced during the past month. A large percentage of all the records received were 120 per cent or over of Breed Class Average and hence qualified for publication in the Canadian Ayrshire Review.

Cows owned by Ontario breeders dominated the production leaders topping seven of the classes.

Here at home, Ivy Lodge Pepper's Brownie was the leader in the junior two year class, 305 day division, for H. J. Kittle & Sons, Chesterville. She produced 10,157 lbs. milk, 458 lbs. fat, testing 4.51 percent in 305 days. This is 145 percent of B.C.A. for milk and 156 percent for fat. She is type classified "Good Plus" as a first calver.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Spare Those Huns!

We drove to Morewood at the first of the week and on the short journey there and back counted 41 small Hungarian partridge near or on the roadway. They were fat and seemingly healthy and busily picking gravel where the snow plow had stirred up the frozen ground.

Last week we received reports from a couple of sources that a sportsman of the community had been out with the shot gun and had decimated a couple of the flocks. We have not been able to prove the rumours.

The Department of Lands and Forests at Kemptville is asking motorists to drive carefully when they see the small brown birds at the roadsides. The heavy snows of the past weeks have finally lifted the birds from their fence row hiding places and forced them into view as they seek the necessary grit to arm their small gizzards.

This is a plea to everyone to not take advantage of the winter conditions and prey on the little game birds. Ordinarily, they can look after themselves, as those who hunt them fruitlessly in season can testify, but when Nature removes their colour protection they are open to many more dangers than usual. Especially when unscrupulous characters gun for them as they sit huddled against the cold on a snow bank.

In all of Eastern Canada this area has the largest population of Hungarian partridge; the main reason for that has been the continued feeding through the long winters by interested farmers and the fact that this is a district where the Hun can thrive. Let's not ruin the record, either by carelessness or unsportsmanlike behaviour.

Who's John?

We were slightly shattered the other night listening to and watching a program emanating from Toronto and entering our livingroom via the TV screen. An interviewer with a camera and microphone slipped into a supermarket and asked half a dozen persons some questions. They were mainly about the present political problems of the country but the answers left us gargling for air. Person after person did not know the name of the Prime Minister of Canada; they did not know the names of the political parties of Canada and most of them really didn't bother to vote.

The answers given may not have been typical of the population at large, but even so they were enough to make a person wonder just what is read in the newspapers, what is heard on our radios or watched on the TVs of the countryside. What percentage of the adult public reads only words and does not add thought to the brew to get a digest of personal opinion? What are the figures on the readership of the comics against the solid stories of community affairs, either local or national? How many people read or listen with interest to other than rootin', tootin', hootin' soap 'opry' in its many forms whether it shoots arrows, sub-machine guns or six-guns? Is this really the year of the horse to such an extent we have become careless in our cardinal responsibility of being citizens?

We have cried from these columns many times that the word political or politics is not a dirty word. The British Empire was built on the policies of far sighted men; Canada has become a nation of tremendous stature in world councils through policies of elected men of government; name any advancement by any democratic process and it will be found it is the implementation of policies set out and freely debated by elected men who are grateful to be called politicians.

And yet our people develop a mental block about politicians, our politics, our very governmental existence. We make whipping boys of all the multitude of good men in government council because of Neanderthal throwbacks who crop up in any society of men; because of their very tiny minority they stand out like specks of soot on a dish of cream. Through our evident wish to have everything spelled out in black and white, good or bad, digested and instant, we are too ready to absorb a mish mash of sloppy dialogue about venal politicians, class them all as Senator Phogbounds and decide to consign them to the devil. Then when asked, the answer is: "No, I think politics stinks!"

It is all too evident we need considerable education along certain lines, not the least of which would be the primary class of becoming citizens of our own country. It is fine to say we slipped into Canada some generations ago as United Empire Loyalists; today how many of us have become so thickheaded with soft living we forget the reason for starving up the Mohawk Valley until we could reach Canada? Seems to us it was a matter of politics; and then it was important enough to do something about it.

Perhaps we are not too far from another Mohawk Valley time what with Sputniks, Mutniks and Explorers snapping about the heavens; it might be well if we sharpened up our interests to include more than our own selfish ends.

TAKE CARE WHEN BUYING BLANKETS

Shopping for the home is getting to be one of the housewife's most complicated tasks.

Buying blankets, for example, is no longer a simple problem of choosing the most appealing colour and the best quality of wool the budget can bear. Wool has a good many competitors now that are in the market for better or for worse, and a homemaker ought to know something about them.

Orlon, acrilan and dynel are trade names for some of the new fibres used in blankets. These are usually warm and serviceable, but light in weight.

The weave of these fibres should be tight and firm. The nap should support the weight of the blanket and not pull out.

Laundering quality of the blankets is reported excellent if they are manufactured properly. The fibres should not shrink or mat when washed.

A good quality nylon binding helps make a good blanket. Since the fibres are synthetic, they are smooth, and if improperly napped will fluff or fuzz easily. If the nap rubs off easily it will rub off in general use and in laundering.

If you prefer wool blankets, look for three characteristics—mothproof, washability and nylon binding.

A basket woven more than 2,000 years ago has been found in Nevada.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

What would you do if you suddenly realized the stranger alone in the room with you was blind? I dare say you'd do something stupid. I'm sure I would. I'd probably raise my voice and speak louder. (That seems to be the normal reaction when we are faced with a different situation. People always shout at immigrants who can't speak English very well and at old people who might be hard of hearing.) Then I expect I'd be so helpful the blind person would be embarrassed. I'd likely yatter away about everything from spoons to Sputniks in a laboured effort to talk about anything except the subject which would be of greatest interest to both of us—the stranger's blindness.

The thing which people seem often to forget is that the deaf, the blind, the crippled—all those who are handicapped in any way—are above all human beings. They are people who want to live as normally as they possibly can. They want to be as independent as their handicap will permit.

This week being White Cane Week we were asked to think about the sightless and near sightless people in our land. Perhaps one sensible thing to do is to learn how we can best help them to live the happiest possible lives.

And that reminded me of a clipping I had put away very carefully—so carefully I had trouble digging it up. But I found it and I'd like to pass along to you some of the advice it offers to sighted people who want to help the blind.

It says that we must remember that all blind aren't totally blind, that some can see a little from time to time. Then we musn't do what we are tempted to do—raise the voice—or we musn't omit from our conversation words such as see, look, blind, eyes. A blind lady I once knew used to scold herself for bumping into something by saying, "Oh, dear, I wasn't looking where I was going." If there is a blind person in a group we are advised to mention his name or touch his arm when we wish to speak directly to him.

We should speak promptly when we enter the room and say we are leaving before we go out. Also it is wise to identify other people for him. We should speak, too, when we hand him a cup of coffee or a glass of water in order to save needless spills.

One novel idea the clipping suggests deals with the way to describe the food on his plate. The meat is at twelve o'clock, the carrots at three and the potatoes at eight. That would make it easy for him to visualize his dinner.

Tell him where we are sitting and where others in the room are sitting. That makes it so much easier for him to talk with the people in the group.

We must never rearrange the furniture in a familiar room without explaining the changes to him. Blind people have to memorize where each chair and table is located. Rearranging them without his knowledge might cause him a serious accident.

We should offer our arm to a blind person to guide him and warn him of steps and curbs so he can be prepared. If we place his hand on the back of a chair he can manage to seat himself.

Don't forget, the clipping states, that the blind like to see with our eyes. We can describe the flowers, the room, the ladies' dresses, cars, etc. We must remember comment occasionally about his appearance. How else could he know how he looks?

The life of a blind person must be a very lonely one. We know what it is like to waken in the night and lie in the pitch blackness unable to see even the outlines of the windows. We, however, have only to turn a switch and all will be bright as day. For the blind there is no light switch, no sunrise.

He needs friends who will treat him as an ordinary person—an equal. He needs friends who are kind and understanding. And if there is someone wholly or partially blind in our families or in our communities we should try to be that kind of a friend. The day may come when we ourselves will find it necessary to use someone else's eyes.

Father: "Don't you think our son gets his intelligence from me?"

Mother: "He must. I still have mine."

TORONTO REPORTS

By F. M. Cass, Q.C., M.L.A.

The 4th Session of the present Legislature of the Province of Ontario was opened on Monday, February 3, by the Hon. J. Keiller Mackay, Lieutenant-Governor, who was recently appointed. There was the usual gathering of prominent citizens of the province including many guests of Members from their constituencies. The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs Mackay and the Premier and Mrs Frost received all the guests in the Lieutentant-Governor's suite in the Parliament Buildings after the House adjourned, and the visitors had the pleasure of meeting folk from all over our great province.

During the opening day of the Session those Members who had won by-elections since the last Session were introduced and took their seats in the House. Among these was Mr Fern. Guindon, M.P.P. for Glengarry, from Apple Hill. It is noted that the present Government has not lost a by-election nor has the Conservative administration in Ontario since 1945. This would indicate the strong position in public esteem held by Premier Frost and his Government.

As is customary, the Speech from the Throne, read at the opening of the House by the Lieutenant-Governor, reviewed the progress of Ontario during the past year and sketched a program of continued development with financial aid from the Ontario administration to local municipal governments, particularly in education, highways and public welfare. The Premier also announced that Ontario's business being the first charge of Members of the Legislature, there could be no shortening of the present Session in view of the Federal election but, of course, Members of all parties would be expected to do their duty also as citizens of Canada.

The first week of the Session, as is necessary, was mostly taken up with organization work and social engagements. The serious work of the Legislative committees commences with the second week. If one is to judge by the program outlined in the Speech from the Throne, 1958, all Members and committees will have a very busy time this Session.

BATTLE OF RAINMAKERS WORRIES NATIVES

Two jealous rainmakers, using their ritual skill to outdo each other, are blamed by fellow aborigines for one of the driest "wet" seasons in Australia's Northern Territory.

Akvert Morcom, who lives in Borroloola in the Gulf of Carpentaria district, brought this tale to Darwin the other day.

The rainmakers—Billy Hooker and Yellow Fred—are threatening to dry up the country and worried natives are trying to placate them. The rainfall for January was only 6½ inches against an average 15 inches.

Two years ago, Billy Hooker broke a drought at Borroloola—or claimed he had—after a series of ritual corroborees or stone-jugglings.

But his magic worked too well. He caused a flood and disgusted tribesmen threw him into the swollen MacArthur River.

After that Billy agreed to retire and sell his rainmaking ritual stones to Yellow Fred. But as Fred paid only half price, Billy gave him only half the stones.

Now every time Billy uses his half of the stones to make rain, Fred uses his half to stop him. No one knows where it will end, but local tribesmen are crying out for rain.

A YEN FOR FIREMAKING

The maid of a Yokohama businessman who was praised for fixing him a "comfortable hot bath" later told his she used 566,953 yen (about $1,687) in bills as fuel.

She took the bills from his wallet when she couldn't find a newspaper to light the fire.

Midshipmen are so called because originally they had quarters amidships.

The said the old-fashioned 3R's are still necessary along with the newer study subjects and project methods, as we must teach not only how to make a living but also how to live.

She was thanked by Mrs Geo. Ferguson, president, who conducted the meeting.

Mrs Lloyd Gallinger, secretary, reminded the members of Achievement Day for the 4-H Club Girls at Cornwall Centre, of the Summary Day on Lampshades at Lunenburg Hall and also a Leaders' Training School for the new 4-H Club Girls' project at Cornwall.

Members agreed to contact the eligible girls in an effort to form a new club.

Ten quilts and ten pairs of small boys' pants were handed out to be made for the Canadian Save the Children Fund.

Mrs George Ferguson conducted a contest, using "imp" in each answer, which was won by Mrs John Grandaw.

Refresments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. D. Rutley and Mrs Ferguson.

Kenzie MacGillivray Heads FOA In Stormont

Kenzie MacGillivray was elected president of the Stormont Federation of Agriculture at the annual executive meeting in the Ontario Department of Agriculture offices at Cornwall last week.

George Pollock, of Berwick, is honorary president; J. H. Maginnis, Ingleside, past president; Mrs E. L. Filion, Avonmore, first vice-president; Alfred Beaudette, Northfield, second vice-president; William Legault, Cornwall, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs D. A. McGregor, Moose Creek, J. J. McKenzie, Finch, Arnott Empey, Berwick, and Charles Shaver, Ingleside, were appointed to the executive committee. Under the Stormont FOA constitution officers are elected by the directors, from among their own number, and each director represents a local farm organization.

First important project for the coming year will be sponsorship of Rural Safe Driving Week in the county. The week's observance will begin with a rally on February 24. Counties Warden A. C. Vallance will be requested to proclaim the week.

Alfred Beaudette will head a committee in charge of arranging for observance of the safety week campaign. There will be prizes available for members of Farm Forum groups competing in an essay contest.

Kenneth Best, agricultural representative, reported on the current campaign to establish a brucellosis control area in the United Counties. He said that response had been excellent so far with few cattlemen objecting to the proposal. He reminded the group that February 7 was the deadline for returning votes in the campaign.

William Legault, secretary-treasurer, reported keen interest in the farm improvement competition sponsored by the Federation in preparation for the International Plowing Match near Crysler this October. Response has been good, he reported, and deadline for entries is the first of April.

Since the newly-elected president could not be present, past president J. H. Maginnis acted as chairman.

Chain Saws Stolen At Finch

The premises of Hough Brothers, machinery dealers in Finch, was broken into Friday night and three power chain saws valued at a total of $$620 were taken out of the window.

The store is jointly owned by Dean and Lynden Hough.

Dean Hough is at present on holiday in Florida and Lynden, who has just returned from Mexico, was at Chesterville at the time.

Mr Hough left Finch in the early evening for Chesterville where he attended a dance. When he returned about 3 a.m. he noticed nothing unusual.

On going to work Saturday morning, however, he found the back door open and the latch forced.

Nothing had been taken apart from the chain saws and the till had not been forced.

Ontario Provincial Police, Cornwall detachment, are investigating.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs W. W. Henry

The death of Mrs W. Wendell Henry occurred on Saturday, February 1, after a short illness, in her 57th year. Mrs Henry was the former Hilda Shaver, daughter of the late Donald A. Shaver and his wife, Laura Alguire. and was born at St. Luke's. She was educated at St. Luke's Public School and Finch High School.

In 1925 she was married to W. Wendell Henry and moved to their farm south of Berwick, where they have since resided. She was a member of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church, Finch, and an active member of the Women's Missionary Society, the Ladies' Aid, the Berwick Women's Institute and of Signet Chapter No. 272, O.E.S.

She leaves to mourn, besides her husband, two daughters, Mrs William Borland (Colleen), Cornwall; Mrs Robert Maginnis (Eleanor), Cardinal; two sons, Donald Henry, Canadian Customs, St. Lawrence Seaway; Evan, attending Cornwall Collegiate; three sisters, Mrs Rupert McIntyre (Molvena-, Finch; Mrs Willard Rutley (Anna), Cornwall, and Mrs W. G. Brownlee (Laura), Finch, and one brother, D. Shaver, Finch.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon from her residence to St. Luke's Presbyterian Church where the service was conducted by Rev John Bell.

Pall bearers were nephews of the deceased: Barry Brownlee, Donald McIntyre, Ross Henry, Arnold McIntyre, Garry Shaver and Robert McIntyre.

Flower bearers were Howard Henry, Osborne Shaver and James Rombough.

Friends attended from Cornwall, Massena, Montreal, Ottawa, Cardinal and Brockville.

The body was placed in the vault to await burial in Finch Cemetery later.

10 Units Represented At Auxiliary Meeting

An attendance of 39 members answered roll call at Winchester Memorial Hospital Auxiliary meeting held in the assembly hall of the hospital February 6. Ten units were represented, many of whom reporting projects underway.

Miss Elliott's report showed a balance of $179.87 after expenses were paid. Twelve bedside lamps, costing $303, have been paid for by the Auxiliary.

It was evident from Mrs Mulloy's report that the hospital had been busy in every department. Donations were received from Marvelville, Morrisburg and Finch.

After the meeting adjourned two films were shown by Mr A. Alford, which proved very interesting.

Seeks PC Nomination For Stormont

Grant Campbell unsuccessful Progressive-Conservative candidate in the June 10 federal election, announced last week that he will stand for nomination as Progressive-Conservative candidate for Stormont in the forthcoming election.

Mr Campbell contested the Stormont seat for the first time last year and was defeated by Albert Lavigne, Liberal representative in the House. This was his first attempt at federal politics.

His great-great grandfather, James Alexander Campbell, was the first member for Dundas County in the Upper Canada legislature.

Grant Campbell was born in Cornwall 35 years ago. He received his primary and secondary school education in Cornwall and, having terminated his employment in Ottawa, is now in the process of moving his family to Cornwall. He will take up permanent residence there.

He recently passed examinations on transfer from the British Columbia to the Ontario Bar. The transfer will permit him to engage in private law practice in Cornwall.

After serving overseas for four years with the Black Watch and the R.C.E., Mr Campbell received his B.A. and L.L.B. degrees at the University of British Columbia and for the past two years has been a junior in the Ottawa law firm of Honeywell, Baker, Gibson, Wotherspoon, Matheson and Lawrence.

He is married to the former Priscilla Wanklyn, of Montreal, and has two children.

Both have a bank account - and a purpose for saving

Nurse and father both agree that some things are too important to leave to chance. So, like most Canadians, each uses a chartered bank for planned saving, making regular deposits to accomplish a definite purpose.

Your own savings plan may be a short-term, modest one — maybe a vacation trip, or new drapes for the living room. Or your goal may be long-range, like providing more security, greater comfort and independence for you and your family.

But whatever use you find for the money you save, you'll always be glad you saved it!

Save at a bank — millions do!

The level of the lake was lowered, recenty, Brazil said, and the billfold was in the exact spot where his boat capsized.

RESCUES CHILDREN RECEIVES BLACK EYE

Pat Collins ran up a flight of stairs in the Cabbagetown district of east-central Toronto recently, rescued two children from smoke and fire and got a beating for his trouble. He was mistaken for a kidnapper.

Police said Collins apparently was the victim of a multi-language misunderstanding.

The two children, Vera Janpolsky, 5, and sister Swetlana, 9, could only scream and talk their native Russian when Mr Collins took the pyjama-clad pair into a nearby Chinese restaurant.

Several waiters, hearing the frightened girls' screams, thought they were being kidnapped and began to punch and kick Collins.

When things were straightened out through an interpreter, the waiters offered to apologize. Before they could, Collins, one eye closed, said: "As long as the kids are okay, that's all that matters." He then departed.

It took the firemen more than an hour to control the blaze, said to be caused by faulty fire.

Rutley; president, Clara Moke; first vice-president, Ron Beaudette; secretary-treasurer, Kathleen Empey; press reporter, Rosemary Rutley; fund raiser, Donald Eamon; lunch convener and head of program committee, Margaret Beckstead; directors, um. Rutley, Ronnie Casselman, Marjorie Millward, Billy DeGray, Margaret Empey; auditors, Mrs Roy Moke and Clara Moke.

The secretary urged the members to attend the annual meeting at Kemptville, if at all possible.

It was decided to have a skating party to which Cornwall Centre and Finch Junior Farmers will be invited.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Robert James Empey

Robert James Empey, prominent churchman and resident of Winchester for 40 years, died Saturday morning in Cornwall after a long illness.

Born at Cannamore 75 years ago, he was the son of the late James Empey and his wife, the former Mary Jane Young. He purchased a farm at Winchester 40 years ago. After disposing of the farm in 1943, he was employed by the M. F. Beach and later the Lannin Lumber Company, until he became ill about three years ago.

He took a leading part in the work of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, was a member of the Session and of the Trustee Board at the time of his death, having held both of these offices for many years. He had also served a long term as superintendent of the Sunday School. Taking an active interest in elementary education, he had been a member of Winchester Public School Board and was chairman at the time of the building of the new public school.

He married the former Mabel Currie, of Crysler, who survives.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs Elmer Robinson (Jennie), Masrouche, Que., and Mrs Kenneth Derick (Sybil), Montreal; three sisters, Mrs Dorothea Fawcett, of Winchester; Mrs Margaret Farmiloe, Toronto; Mrs Annie Coulthart, Ottawa; two brothers, Jacob, Winchester, and Rowat, of Williamstown.

The funeral was held from the family residence to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, with Rev William Sutherland conducting the service. Interment was in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

CONTENTED HUSBANDS FORM CLUB

Forty-five breadwinners at the Wales town of Porth have banded together to former the Ancient Order of Contented Husbands.

Their coat of arms is a hacksaw, rampant against a field of balls and chains.

Their charter, hung over each member's mantlepiece, says:

Do not disclose your pay.

Do not chop wood or get coal for the wife.

Do not wash dishes, clothes, floors or any such task that would discredit the order.

Do not fail to visit the club at least once nightly.

There is a waiting list of hopeful members for the club. Meetings are held in the local tavern and members who fail to obey the rules have to pay fines.

Of the 6,773 sacks of coal spot-checked in Middlesex, Eng., last year, 1,815 were underweight.

TUESDAY, THE 18th, IS PANCAKE DAY

PANCAKES AND SHROVE TUESDAY seem to go together, so even if you do not make them often during the year give your family a surprise. Serve pancakes next Tuesday. Use either a prepared mix or one of the following old reliable recipes. You can serve them at any meal, for main dish or dessert depending on the accompaniment.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has a good recipe for Potato Pancakes in the bulletin, "Potatoes Every Day."

Potato Pancakes

2 cups grated raw potatoes
¼ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
2 tbsps. flour
1 tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
1 tbsp. diced onion (optional)

1. Add potatoes to milk and allow to stand 5 minutes. Drain off milk.
2. Blend egg, flour, and seasonings and add to potatoes.
3. Drop by tablespoons into hot greased frying pan. Brown on both sides. Serves 4.

Serve potato pancakes with pot roast and vegetables. Omit onion and serve pancakes with apple sauce or syrup.

Basic Pancake Recipe

You can dress up this basic recipe in a number of ways to add variety to your pancakes and your meals.

1¼ cups sifted flour
1½ tsps. baking powder
¾ tsp. salt
2 tbsps. sugar
3 tbsps. melted butter
1 well beaten egg
¾ cup milk

Sift dry ingredients together into a bowl. Combine egg, milk and butter. Add to dry ingredients. Mix until dry ingredients are just moistened. Grease heated frying pan lightly. Drop batter by spoonfuls or pour from a pitcher onto frying pan. Cook uncovered until rim of each cake is full of bubbles which have formed and broken and underside is golden brown. Turn with a broad spatula and brown other side. Serve at once while hot, with butter and maple syrup.

Variations of Basic Recipe:

Bacon Pancakes: Fry six slices of bacon until crisp. Break into chips and fold into basic pancake recipe which has been made omitting sugar. If you wish you may substitute bacon fat for butter in the basic recipe.

Ham Pancakes: Fold ½ cup ground ham into basic recipe. Serve with orange sauce.

Orange Pancakes: Add 1 tbsp. grated orange rind to dry ingredients in basic recipe.

Corn Pancakes: Add 1 cup cooked drained corn to basic recipe. Omit sugar from recipe.

Dessert Pancakes: Add fruit such as blueberries, thinly sliced bananas, drained crushed pineapple, mincemeat or chopped apple to your basic recipe. One-half cup of fruit should be enough. Make small pancakes and dust with powdered sugar.

Pancakes made from the basic recipe may be made small and served with jam, jelly or any sweetened filling desired.

Correspondence was read and dealt with as follows: It was decided to hold a shower of jams and jellies for Cornwall General Hospital; it was decided to accept the penny round-up bags in aid of the Mental Health organization; rent will be paid for a hospital bed in order for a local patient to have use of same; it was decided to hold a baking sale at the home of Mrs Wm.
