MR. MICHAEL J. CASSELMAN

Mr. M. J. Casselman, native of the Township of Matilda, an outstanding citizen of Morrisburg, and one of the best known men in the United Counties, died at his home, Morrisburg, on Tuesday, April 27th. Mr. Casselman was 88 years of age, son of the late John W. Casselman and his wife, Nancy Garlough, of U.E. Loyalist descent, who were among the early settlers in the Township of Matilda. Deceased took up farming on lot 35, in the First Concession of the Township of Williamsburg, where for many years he tilled the soil with considerable success. He manifested his traits of character by directing the major portion of his activities and devotion to his home circle, making many sacrifices for the well-being of his children. His efforts were crowned with success—two of his sons, Percy C. Casselman and Clifford Casselman, both doctors (who predeceased their father some years ago) practised their profession in this community for many years, and Lieut.-Col. Casselman, K.C., M.P., who survives, is established in Prescott, having just recently enjoyed the distinction of being chosen Conservative Whip by his colleagues in the Federal House. One daughter, Mrs. Aden Casselman, of Berwick died about two years ago.

While Mr. Casselman's devotion to his family was unlimited, he also took a keen interest in public affairs, being particularly interested in matters affecting the municipality in which he resided. He was first elected to the Counties' Council in 1899, representing the Township of Williamsburg,, and always advocated policies which were to promote the mutual welfare of the people of the United Counties. He manifested the courage of his convictions by vigorously opposing any movement which he thought was of a selfish nature, and took a particularly active part in matters pertaining to the equalization of Assessments. Sterling integrity, kindness and cheerfulness, coupled with a remarkable knowledge of municipal government, were characteristics which soon made him a man of outstanding prominence, and in 1903 he was chosen Warden of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry. The duties of this office he discharged with credit to himself as well as to the municipality which he represented.

Having accumulated considerable wealth, Mr. Casselman discontinued farming and took up residence in Morrisburg, where he became engaged in the hardware and grocery business, under the firm name of Hunter & Casselman, and later successfully carried on the business of coal merchant. Shortly after becoming a citizen of Morrisburg, he was elected Reeve, and the interests of the municipality, under his supervision were well looked after.

Mr. Casselman was twice married, his first wife (nee Miss Almeda Casselman) predeceased him in 1916. His second wife, who survives, was formerly Miss Charlotte Irvine, daughter of the late Rev. John Irvine and Mrs. Irvine. He is also survived by one son, Lieut.-Col. A. C. Casselman, K.C., M.P., of Prescott; one brother, Mr. Levi Casselman, of Williamsburg, and one sister, Mrs. Ralph Empey of Williamsburg, and ten grand-children.

The funeral was conducted from his late home to St. Paul's Lutheran Church, on Thursday, April 29th, at 2 p.m., where a most impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. A. Melanbacher, assisted by Rev. Dr. Maurer of Kitchener, who preached the sermon and pronounced benediction, Mr. Maurer being an intimate friend of deceased. The remains were then conveyed to Fairview cemetery and laid to rest in the family plot. The pall-bearers were Hubert Keyes, Ryerson Casselman, Gerald Casselman, Raymond Casselman, Glendon Casselman (five grand sons) and August Rohrig.

Representative friends from practically every community in Eastern Ontario, attended the funeral, including Hon. R. B. Bennett, Mr. Deton Massey, M.P., Mr. Alex. Edwards, M.P., and Mr. Geo. H. Challies, M.L.A. Among relatives from a distance were Lieut.-Col. A. C. Casselman, K. C., M.P., and Mrs. Casselman, Prescott; Mr. Levi Casselman, Williamsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Empey, Williamsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Keyes, and Rev. Dr. Maurer and Mrs. Maurer, of Kitchener; Mrs. Clara Casselman, Ottawa; Mr. Aden Casselman and family, of Berwick; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Casselman, Winchester Springs and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Deeks, Farrans Point.

Messages of sympathy included many letters and telegrams from all parts of Canada.

The floral tributes included: Pall of Roses from the family; Mr. Aden Casselman and family, spray; Conservative Members of Parliament, Basket; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Casselman, Winchester Springs, spray; R. L. Baker, M. P., spray; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tobin, Prescott, spray; Mrs. D. P. Horan, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W. Mossman Dubrule, Prescott, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Dubrule, Prescott, spray; the Caldwell family, Iroquois, cross; Mr. H. R. Hamilton, M.P., basket; Mr. and Mrs. Christenson, cut flowers; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dubrule, Prescott, spray, Excelsior Lodge No. 142, cut flowers; Zeta Lodge No. 311, wreath; the Mundle family, Prescott, basket of Spring flowers; Miss Moray, Prescott, cut flowers

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. Roy Schell was fittingly observed in their home, Williamsburg Township, Wednesday, April 29th. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Schell was united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Carrie Brown of Aultsville. The ceremony was performed in the Lutheran Parsonage, Morrisburg, by the Rev. L. M. McCreery.

The guests arrived about 6 p.m. and were received at the door by Mrs. M. E. Schwerdtfeger. A little later the bride and groom of twenty-five years entered the room to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal March, and were preceded by two little flower girls, the Misses Shirley and Esterel Schwerdtfeger. The music was played by Miss Flossie Schell, all three girls were charmingly dressed in white.

A bountiful and delicious dinner was then served. The table was prettily arranged, the centre decoration being a three-tier wedding cake. Lighted candles and pink and white carnations also graced the table. The guests included Mrs. Robt. Brown of Aultsville, mother of the bride, Mrs. P. D. Schell, mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Vane Schell and little daughter Shirley, of Williamsburg, Mr. Fraser Schell, Rev. W. A. and Mrs. Mehlenbacher of Morrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Forward, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Schell of Williamsburg, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Birtch of Mallorytown, Mrs. Alice Tupper of Morrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown and Mr. R. A. Brown of Aultsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells of Williamsburg Township.

Following the dinner Pastor Mehlenbacher gave a brief humorous address concluding with sincere wishes on behalf of the group for many more years of happy wedded life for Mr. and Mrs. Schell. He proposed the toast to the bride and groom and all sang "For they are jolly good fellows." Mr. Schell, on behalf of himself and wife responded with a few fitting remarks.

Those who assisted at the table, were Mrs. George A. Casselman, Mrs. Samuel Schwerdtfeger, Mrs. Garnet Prunner and Mrs. Clare Gallinger, of Cornwall.

The remainder of the evening was spent very happily, other well-wishers arriving to extend congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Schell were the recipients of many beautiful gifts and the entire community joins in wishing them many more years of blessed wedlock.

ALBERT HOWITH DIES AT EDMONTON, ALBERTA

For many years a resident of Ottawa and for the past 24 years residing in Edmonton, Alberta, Mr. Albert Howith died suddenly at his home Tuesday evening, April 28th, in his 70th year. He enjoyed good health until the time of his sudden death.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, Mr. Geo. D. Howith of Ottawa and Morrisburg and Mr. S. S. Howith of Los Angeles, California; one daughter, Mrs. Eliot Wershof of Edmonton, and six grand-children, including Harry Gilbert Howith, son of the late Harry H. Howith who died 18 months ago.

The funeral was held from his late residence in Edmonton, Alta., on Thursday, April 30th, at 2 p.m. Burial in Edmonton cemetery.

ADDRESS and PRESENTATION

On the eve of their departure to reside in Cornwall, a number of the friends of the Misses Marjorie and Irene Warring, met at the home of their mother, Mrs. Greta Warring, on Tuesday, where an enjoyable evening was spent. During the even-, on behalf of those present, Miss Blanche Weston presented the Misses Warring with bedroom lamps, and the following address was read by Mr. Gordon Foulds

"Dear Marjorie and Irene,

It was with a sense of deep regret that we learned of your approaching departure from our midst. You will be sorely missed, as will the other members of your family, for during the years you have been among us we have found you true friends and charming companions.

However, our regret is somewhat lessened when we think that only thirty miles separate your new home from this, the old. Let us hope that we may meet occasionally, and that the bonds of our friendship will not weaken.

And now as a parting gift—a gift though small it is, expresses our feelings—we ask you to accept this token.

Each time its mellow light floods your room let your thoughts turn westward to us, your friends. And may good luck, health, and happiness be yours in your new home.

Blanche Weston.

DIPHTHERIA IN TORONTO

In Toronto, diphtheria's ravages were reduced from 1,022 cases and no deaths at all in 1934. This was a record which, under present circumstances, the city could not expect to duplicate, and in 1935 there were 46 cases and 8 deaths, an insignificant number when compared with the record of 1929 and earlier years, before toxoiding of the city's children was undertaken.

It is the toxoiding of children which has wrought the change. Since 1929, 125,000 have been given this diphtheria-preventing treatment. It is not absolutely certain in every case, but results seem to indicate that the claim made for it — 95 per cent. efficiency — is more than justified. Its success is such that no parents can afford to leave their children unprotected when such a simple treatment is available.

The regrettable fact is that many parents have neglected this simple precaution. Of 100,000 Toronto children between 6 and 14, about 35,000 were said recently to be without immunization. And of 50,000 preschool children 30,000 had not been treated. These 65,000 little folk are the nucleus of a possibly serious epidemic.—Toronto Star.

TEN GALLON A SUMMER

Invention never stops and the latest promises great things for every man who drives a car. To tell any motorist that he may yet be able to do a whole Summer's driving on 10 or 12 gallons of gas would be to be met with a quizzincal stare; its absurdity seems altogether too obvious. But Winnipeg replies that this situation is already here and is ready to bring forward proof.

For 16 years C. N. Pogue of that city has been working on a new type of carburetor which can be affixed to an ordinary car, and at long last claims to have met with success. With the temperature 10 below zero and a stiff wind blowing, an 8 cylinder coupe travelled 26.2 miles with this attachment on one pint of gasoline. This would represent 209.2 miles to the gallon. At the same rate the ordinary man would be able to drive all Summer on 10 or 12 gallons.

It seems altogether too good to be true, but a syndicate is preparing to market the new device and we will see what we will see. —Halifax Chronicle.

THE DOG PAYS HIS SHARE

These are the dog days in taxation. Alberta dogs are to pay $1 a year each for the privilege of living. If they happen to be purebred it's going to cost them $10 annually.

This is a tax, not a levy. Just a plain, common garden variety of tax.

In order that the way may be opened for more and better taxes when the Legislature meets next Winter for its second session, let us propose a few which should receive prayerful consideration in the interim:

A tax on cats.
A tax on political clubs.
A tax on members of political clubs.
A tax on waking, and another on going to sleep.
A tax on getting up in the morning.
A tax on Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter.
A tax on the weatherman.
A tax on weather forecasters.
A tax on political forecasters.
And a special tax on the taxers.

These are just by way of a little variety. If the taxing experts at Edmonton want a few more ideas to work on we can supply them without working overtime.

In the meantime, Alberta dogs are going to help carry the load.—Lethbridge Herald.

MACHINES AND LABOR

Machines kill employment?

In some cases, perhaps. But last year one motor car manufacturing company in the United States alone paid out to its workers $323,000,000, this not including wages to thousands of workers producing materials of which automobiles are made.

Talk of going back to the horse-and-buggy days is easy, sometimes sounds convincing. But how many days would the manufacturers of buggies have to work or produce before paying workers $328,000,000? And what would they be doing who are now working on materials with which automobiles are made, or working on machines that make automobiles?

Isn't the answer to much of this objection to machines this: That machines create new consumption (such as automobiles) and that consumption creates work and wages?

It is worth thinking about.—Ottawa Journal

TOO MUCH SPEED

"The cars crashed with such force that a steel roof on the American car was buckled almost to a sharp peak," reads the despatch telling of the death of four and injury to two near London last week. And it is pertinent to ask what ever justifies such speed on the highway, speed which eliminates the slightest vestige of car control. — St. Catharines Standard.

DISCOUNTS "EXAMS"

Dr. L. J. Austin, professor of surgery at Queen's University, is of the opinion that scholastic examinations are over-stressed on this continent. He recalled the frequency with which suicide was the answer made by disappointed pupils at United States schools who had failed to obtain the requisite marks. In Canada many people were inclined to regard examination failures as a disgrace to the family. This was a wrong attitude and the tendency to exaggerate the importance of being successful at examinations was causing much unhappiness. Professor Austin, who voiced these sentiments regarding examinations, was speaking to the Kent County branch of the Queen's Alumni Association and his words will probably have the effect of lessening the anxiety of many distressed pupils and parents concerning the outcome of approaching tests at schools and colleges. — Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

JUVENILE CRIME PREVENTION

More personal punishment and the taking of fingerprints are recommended for juvenile offenders by the Chief Constable of Manchester. Birching does not help. We commend to the Chief Constable the wise words of the Home Secretary to justices when the Children and Young Persons Act was passed in 1933. He declared that the experience regarding whipping in most juvenile courts over long years is such that they rarely or never need to exercise it. London Daily Herald.

"NO MORE WAR!"

There will be no war because, though the Germans have broken Locarno, the French will not treat the breach as an act of war. It would be an act of war if the Rhineland occupation was a mobilization for the purpose of attacking France, or if it was intended as the jumping-og stage for an invasion of the Powers allied with France. Plainly, the Rhineland occupation is neither of those. So settle down with your affairs and occupations and go about your business. At present, anyway, "There ain't goin' to be no more war" for anybody.—London Daily Express.

ENGLISH, BRITISH, OR WHAT

The average man, who, to be sure, takes a good deal for granted, commonly looks upon himself (with some complacency) as belonging to one race or another. Our newspapers no longer dare to speak of the English race for fear of offending the Scot, so they freely substitute the British race, although the ethnologist might object that the British were the race, or races which inhabited these islands before the English came. Dare we speak of the Scottish race when it is obvious that the native, say, of the Lothians is nearer akin to the Yorkshireman than he is to the denizen of Argyll or Sutherland, and that there is more difference between the East and West of Scotland than between the North and South of Great Britain? Then can we say that there is a British race, or, when we look at the Norwegian, the Dane, or the native of Normandy, must we admit that the difference between them and the British is only a language and nationality? — London Morning Post.

Woman Farmer Banks a Profit In Two Years

Works and Worries Over Her 250 Acres But Makes Them Pay

GRENVILLE, Ga.—"A lot of hard work, planning and much worrying." That's how Edna Peavy, in two years, as "head man" on a 250-acre farm, says she has managed to pay off a stack of bills and put money in the bank.

Without any training for farm work, Miss Peavy took charge of the farm in 1934, after her father's death. She lives there with her mother, and a hired man assists in the work.

Arising at dawn, she milks six cows before breakfast — then jumps into her automobile and is off to town to dispose of a load of milk, vegetables, butter and eggs to regular customers. Then she hurries home to take up the managerial reins.

Miss Peavy is a believer in diversified farming and last year had 60 acres in cultivation—40 in corn, 10 in peas, nine in cotton and one in sweet potatoes. She keeps between 50 and 75 hens and says her eggs and surplus chickens usually bring good prices.

"In summer the gardens and the peach, apple and figtrees add to my income," she continued. "Some of the fruit and vegetables are sold to my milk and butter customers."

In support of her theories the "lady farmer" points to a bank account sufficient to finance her business through the harvest season.

He Serves "In" a Ship

Speaking of his new charge, the Queen Mary, Captain Sir Edgar Britten, says she is "the easiest ship to handle I have ever served in."

There speaks the sailor when he says he serves "in" a ship and not "on." All landsmen refer to being "on" a ship. They sail "on" the So-and-So from Montreal, or they arrived "on" the Such-and-Such.

You sail "in' a ship; not "on" it. If you wear nautical togs and talk big about being "on" a ship you give yourself away at once to a real sailor.

Man supposes that he directs his life and governs his actions, when his existence is irretrievably under the control of destiny.—Goethe.

Editor Recounts Horrors of Floods

Thousands Hunger.—Huddled Together Without Blankets Or Covers of Any Kind.

ELMIRA, N. Y. — Fred Newell, editor of the Canton, Pa., Sentinel, gave the Elmira Advertiser a graphic description of flood conditions at Williamsport, Pa.

Refugees Are Fed

Newell, a Red Cross worker, was one of five persons who formed the first relief unit to get into Williamsport. He reported 2,500 refugees were fed in one school building by the Red Cross.

"Many people were marooned and without food," he said. "I talked with a man who had not eaten for over three days. He had just been rescued from a downtown apartment."

Newell continued:

"These marooned people fashioned hooks and grappled for floating bananas, oranges and any other food floating with debris and trash.

A severe fire added to the terror. It was believed to have consumed to the water line the block between Pine and Samuel streets on the south side of West Second street.

Can't Be Reached

"The extent of the fire's damage could not be learned, because boats could not reach the burned section.

"Fire broke out in the transformer plant of the Pennsylvania Power & Light Company. What damage it did I don't know.

"People slept on beds, coats, floors, tables, anywhere they could find a place to lie. Some of them were without blankets or covers of any kind.

"Some refugees did not even have clothes. The river rose so suddenly they had to flee in their night clothing.

"The office of the Williamsport Sun was flooded, and the newspaper opened an emergency office four blocks away and just beyond the flood waters. They didn't publish a paper; the newspaper men acted as a rescue crew, bringing marooned people to safety.

"The Canton Red Cross sent 200 folding cots and several thousand blankets, 50 mattresses, and a lot of clothing into Williamsport by motor.

"I talked to George Lamede, chairman of the Williamsport Red Cross, and he asked for blankets, bedding and underwear. The people needed thousands and thousands of blankets immediately, if sickness was to be prevented," he said.

Water Mains Broken

"I was not sure about the drinking water. As I went along streets on high ground, I noticed that manhole covers had been blown off and water was spurting up in a small geysers. I think the water mains must have been broken, since the water would not have been coming from broken sewers on high ground.

"Nobody knows how many persons were cut off in flooded apartments and houses. Nobody knows how many have been drowned. Nobody knows how many died in their beds as the water suddenly rose and trapped them like rats.

"Three bodies that I know of were picked up and I know that an entire family of four were lost.

"Hands Off" Is The Wrong Touch

Children Are Admonished Too Much About a Natural Instinct

Mrs. Jones went into a store that looked suspiciously like an art museum.

In glass cases lay exhibits of such merchandise as was permitted to be profaned by public gaze. The rest was reverently hidden in black compartments that slid into the wall like coffins in a mausoleum.

She wanted to spend ten dollars, on exactly what she wanted. But she wasn't sure just what — she needed so many things.

Drawing up to a counter eventually she asked for stockings. But would she please tell the color and kind, also size, and about what price?

"Goodness," gasped Mrs. Jones, helplessly. "I want to see some stockings —, a lot of them. I like things to be out on the counter so I can lay a hand on them."

Revels in Handling Goods

At the third counter she got tired of this pig-in-the-poke business — and said so. "Why don't you try the basement?" suggested the clerk.

Mrs. Jones smiled happily as she stepped out of the elevator. All the marts of the world seemed to have emptied themselves here, and were either hung, stacked or spread before her gaze. Here she could dig under mountains of curtains and yank out what she liked. Here she could get hold of the end of a remnant and pull. She was blissfully happy, because she shopped by touch as well as by sight.

Next day she took Peggy to the store.

Peggy's nose just reached the counters. Only the edges of bright merchandise appeared to tantalize her.

Up went her hands to touch little boxes, and ribbons and dishes within reach. Once she lifted a dolly and proceeded on her way.

"Peggy Jane, I told you not to touch anything. You have the busiest hands I've ever seen." Her mother took the doll back and apologized.

Sauce for the Goose

But Peggy Jane continued to "touch." And at last got her hands slapped.

At home her mother said, "I'm not going to take you to a store again. You won't let things alone."

Isn't the urge to "touch" strong in most of us? Isn't the instinct to lay hands on something we admire often stronger than mere vision?

Why blame children too much for an impulse that is after all so natural and human.

Not only in stores, but everywhere else in the world they face the warning signs "Do not touch". They must learn to respect property, and learn to keep themselves sare; but this world-for-grownups must often seem as hampering to them as the rarified store-air was to Mrs. Jones.

Poor youngsters. It is a Hands-off World at best—for them.

Radio as Creator Of Musical Taste

Comments the Montreal Star, "The different broadcasting systems throughout would probably like to put more good music on the air but they are handicapped by public taste. The poor music often heard must be a concession to numerous ignorant listeners. The trained musicians may be in despair at some of the programs especially from the United States. But the well-known English musician and composer, Sir Walford Davies, is able to extract rays of hope from even the worst.

Speaking before the Royal Society of Arts in London he said that long-distance listening was bound to speed up musical interest and discernment beyond all previous experience. Within 10 years things might become clear which otherwise would have taken a century to dawn on the mind of man. For they could now scan by means of a good wireless set the whole musical firmament, evening by evening, provided they had learnt how to focus this new kind of telescope to their ears, as they focused the other kind to their eyes; and provided also that the B.B.C.'s choice of music and listeners' powers of discrimination were adequate.

Comparing the situation today with that of a decade ago, Sir Walford admitted that there was prevalent at this moment much depressing broadcast evidence of a debased taste for senseless music sensationally rendered; there was also a strikingly healthy and rising tide of musical understanding and taste for the art itself, as apart from its associated uses. They might safely imagine millions listening nightly; among them tens of thousands were doubtless listening with ever-increasing critical discernment; and among them, again, hundreds of young people of outstanding musical sensitivity (including perhaps a genius or two) were listening creatively, feasting on good things, but mentally vowing never, when their chance came, to afflict the world with the banalities that were still so frequently heard."

"Children are really having an awful time with parents these days". — Adela Rogers St. Johns.

A Dressy Pyjama Set

1791-B

This is an exceedingly well designed garment, plenty of fulness is included for active arms and legs. The yoke, sleeve and front panel are all one piece cleverly combined to minimize your sewing time and eliminate complicating tricks. Six little buttons down the center front panel, a demure Peter Pan collar, plus a wide self-fabric belt and what is the result? A dressy pajama waist that can be duplicated in another fabric and worn over a skirt. The blouse is gathered to the yoke in front and back giving a flattering fulness and smooth appearance. Make this lovely tailored model in polka-dotted silk, printed crepe, cotton, or light flannel.

This BARBARA BELL PATTERN No. 1791-B is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. The corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4⅞ yards of 39-inch material.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS

Write your name and address of pattern wanted. Enclose 20c in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully and address your order to Barbara Bell, Room 230, 73 Adelaide W., Toronto.

Air Traffic Of Canada Lifted

Doubled in Year. — Leads World in Freight; Second In Mail.

OTTAWA—Canada's airways almost doubled their freight and mail traffic in 1935 and carried mail tonnage second only to that of the U. States, according to a statement issued recently by Defence Minister Mackenzie.

The minister, congratulating Canadian aviation operators and their personnel "on their magnificent showing in 1935," said:

"Their success is wholly due to the courage, initiative and tireless energy which they have given to the development of unsubsidized air services throughout Northern Canada and without which many thriving mining camps could not exist."

Commenting on the freight traffic handled, he said: "No other country approaches these figures." He added that in a airmail tonnage Canada now carried "about twice the weight of mail per head of population as the United States."

Figures contained in the statement tell this story:

Freight and express matter carried by air last year amounted to 26,439,224 pounds, compared with 14,441,179 in 1934 and 4,205,901 in 1933.

Aviation companies carried 117,472 passengers last year compared with 105,306 in 1934 and 85,000 in 1933. The number of "passenger miles" increased correspondingly.

Vital statistics show four opilts were killed in 1935, the same number as in 1934. In 1933 eight were killed. Six flying men were injured last year against seven in 1934 and seven in 1933.

Seven passengers were injured last year, three in 1934 and six in 1933. Last year's accidents totaled 15, an increase of one over 1934, but a decrease of four from 1933.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people 'round 40 think they're "growing old." They feel tired a lot . . . "weak." Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

What this Doctor did for Humanity

As a young man the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and near for his great success in alleviating disease. Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and put up in ready-to-use form his Golden Medical Discovery, the well known tonic. This strength builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective when in private practice. It's an alterative extract from native roots.

It helps to cleanse the system, and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear, aids digestion, acts as a tonic.

SCOUTING
Here There Everywhere

A brother to every other Scout, without regard to race or creed

His Majesty King Edward the VIII has graciously consented to become Patron of the Boy Scouts' Association in succession to his father, the Late King George V.

The first annual meeting of the South Waterloo Association, held in Knox Church, Galt, was attended by upwards of 600 Scouts and visitors. There are now eight troops in the district, with a membership of 451, an increase over 1934 of 120.

Thirteen Scouts of the 9th Winnipeg Troop completed the Junior St. John Ambulance tests with an average mark of 87 per cent.

A regular good turn being carried out by the 125th Toronto Rover Crew is the weekly visiting of the Home for Incurables.

Boy Scout radio amateurs interested in the formation of a Scout radio amateur network are invited to communicate with Scouter H. W. Northover, 97 Marion Street, Toronto. Particulars should be given regarding the type and power of radio transmitter and receiver, and whether in possession of a radio license. It is hoped to develop a chain of Scout radio stations such as that operating in United States, which has proved a useful means of communication during the storm emergencies.

Scouts and Cubs of Upper Canada College gave their annual entertainment at the Little Theatre, Toronto, presenting 'The Coming of the Romans" and an amusing pirate play "Under the Skull and Bones." During the play "Captain Cutlass" acted as auctioneer for the sale of birdhouses and book-ends made by the boys of the troop.

The 6th North Bay Scouts hiked on Saturday to Trout Mills, where they were the guests of the City Pumping Engineer in a tour of the city's water supply system.

A fine new stand of colours was formally presented to the 7th Peterborough Scout Troop (St. Paul's Presbyterian), by R. Thomson-Currie, following dedication by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.

An impressive Wolf Cub 'going up" ceremony was a feature of the birthday banquet and parents' night of the 3rd Guelph Group It opened with the pack giving the "Grand Howl," after which the four Cubs concerned their left hands on the pack totem pole, repeated the Cub promise. They shook hands around the pack circle, then Akela Griggs led them from the circle to the troop horseshoe, where Scouter Wallberg and their future patrol leaders were awaiting them. Forming a line, the group took ten steps in front of the horseshoe, at each step repeating one of the ten Scout Laws. At the conclusion they were welcomed to the troop by a yell.

Farm Problems

Conducted by PROFESSOR HENRY G. BELL
with the co-operation of the various departments of Ontario Agricultural College.

The business of farming is yearly becoming more and more dependent upon facts that have been gathered regarding livestock and livestock management, crop production, soil management, disease and insect control and business organization of the farming industry. Individual problems involving one or more of these, and many other phases of agriculture, engage the attention of Ontario farmers from day to day.

Through this column farmers may secure the latest information pertaining to their difficulties. To introduce this service Professor Bell has prepared the following typical problems to indicate the information which should be given in order that a satisfactory answer can be made.

If answer is desired by letter enclose stamped and addressed envelope for reply. Address all inquiries to Professor Henry G. Bell, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. W., Toronto, Ont.

Question — Do you recommend the use of Aluminum Sulphate or Iron Sulphate in our spray mixtures?

Answer — We have tested both these substances for several years. There are objections to both which cause us to prefer the mixtures recommended in our spray calendar. This is not only my view, but also that of the other three men who helped to draw up the spray calendar.

P. R., Oxford Co.

Question (A) — I would like to know what analysis of fertilizer to use on spring grain (Barley and Oats) mixture. Soil is clay loam, one year old sod. (Alfalfa, Sweet Clover and Timothy). This field was ploughed in September and had considerable fall cultivation.

Answer — I believe that you cannot do better than to sow two bags per acre of 0-12-6 or 2-12-6 fertilizer on this soil. This will give the young crop a start and supply it with sufficient readily available plantfood to give it good growth through to maturity.

Question (B) — Does spring grain grown with the aid of fertilizer have a higher feeding value than grain grown on the same land without fertilizer. (1) mixed fertilizer? (2) acid phosphates? (3) How does fertilizer affect the feeding value of the straw?

Answer — Grain grown with the aid of fertilizer shows a material increase in phosphate. Actual tests conducted by this department on phosphate deficient soils have shown increases of over 72 per cent in phosphoric acid in fertilized grain over the same grain that was grown on the same land without fertilizer. This increase, of course, would result from mixed fertilizer carrying phosphoric acid or from acid phosphate. This is of material importance to stock men who find their cattle chewing the bones and sticks. When the cattle perform this way, it is clear evidence of lack of phosphoric acid. Feeding the higher phosphate grain to the stock will undoubtedly furnish them with the elements which they are lacking so severely.

The improvement in phosphate noted in the grain is also found partially in the straw, where the phosphorus is deficient in the soil.

Import Broom Corn Supplies

Entire 1935 Canadian Crop Is Disposed of at Chatham

CHATHAM — With the entire 1935 Canadian broom corn crop disposed of, the Canadian Broom Corn Supply Company is beginning to import carloads of broom corn brush from the United States to fill the orders it has received.

Several score of carloads will be imported from the States to supply Canadian manufacturers between now and next fall, when Canadian broom corn can be again supplied, C. D. Bruner, manager of the company declared.

About 1,200 acres of broom corn were grown in Essex and Kent last year, and this year over 4,000 acres are being contracted for. The crop yields from 800 to 1,200 pounds of brush to the acre, and brings an average price of eight cents for the best grade.

Last year was the first season any quantity of broom corn was grown commercially in this district.

"Vanity, vanity, all is vanity," the good King Solomon wrote, who if alive today, would probably revise it to read: "Hooey, hooey, all is hooey!"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Wheat Storage Plan Advanced

SASKATOON—A saving to Saskatchewan farmers of from $20,000 to $40,000 monthly would be made if wheat purchased by the Canadian Grain Board was stored in government-owned elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon instead of in line elevators of private companies, George A. Forrester, local grain merchant, stated here.

Appearing before the agricultural committee of the Saskatoon Board of Trade, he claimed government elevators at Moose Jaw and Saskatoon were almost empty, while country elevators were bulging with 46,000,000 bushels of wheat, 70 per cent. of which was property of the Grain Storage charges were being paid on these holdings.

The two government-owned elevators had a combined capacity of 10,000,000 bushels, he added, and estimated at present not more than 32,000 bushels of wheat were stored in both elevators.

HAVE YOU HEARD

The trouble with most folks, is that while they are worrying over the government's financial condition, they should be giving a little thought to their own.

The white man is funny. He feels superior to the brown skinned and he lies on a Winter resort beach trying to develop the same color.

Most men really prefer comfortable, old-fashioned, over-stuffed furniture, and women — to the glittering, hard, modernistic sort.

"If I had my life to live over again I would" — is what they say, but they keep right on living the same old schedule.

A man on trial for his life was being examined by a group of alienists. Suddenly one doctor jumped up and shouted to him:

Doctor — "Quick, how many feet has a centipede?"

The Man (very dryly) — "Gad," is that all you have to worry about?"

Children and dogs may not like you and still there may be nothing wrong with the children and dogs.

Friend — "I once read where a man committed suicide because of a constantly nagging wife. I despise such men.

Man — "Yes, I have no use either for men who take the easiest way out.

When they say a man of forty is too old for the job, they simply mean a young man of twenty will take it for considerable less money.

There has been a lot of talk about shorter hours, but Bert says he hasn't seen any yet that didn't have sixty minutes in them.

Life is full of troubles, nine-tenths of which you could end by not giving a darn.

Catty Guest — "Pardon me, but I noticed at the dinner table that your husband smacks his lips quite loudly when he eats. Believe me, that is one thing my husband does not do."

Catty Hostess — "No, I suppose not. I've tasted your cooking.

We never expect divorces by mutual consent. The lawyers wouldn't stand for such nonsense.

Neighbor — "Well, Mrs. Joyner, so your poor husband has joined the great majority?"

Mrs. Joyner — "Oh, don't say that sir! I'm sure he was not as bad as all that.

Correct this sentence: "You are falsely accused," said the judge, "so the state will give you just compensation for the time and money you lost."

After listening to a divorce case being tried in court, a man remarked that the couple resembled a team of horses, separated by a tongue.

Funny man! When he must keep awake, he drinks a lot of coffee. At other times he drinks coffee and wonders why he can't sleep.

Strange people! We groan about the wrongs we suffer. Then we keep ourselves in poor health for want of free sunshine.

Anyway the recent depression has taught us that a business could get along with only two or three vice presidents.

Some women permit their husbands to select their own clothes, being content to just pick the pockets.

Nothing worries a woman more than just having nothing to worry about.

Life Becomes More Gay in Russia

Soviet "Czarina" of Cosmetics Trust Studies Beauty-Culture in New York.

NEW YORK, — Madame Olga Karpovskaya, the dark-haired "Czarina" of beauty culture in Soviet Russia, sailed for her home recently after an exhaustive study of American methods.

Madame Karpovskaya slipped into the United States two months ago vitrually unnoticed. She was merely head of the Moscow cosmetic trust.

Not until she visited President and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House, some days after her arrival, did she become known also as the wife of V. M. Molotoff, president of the Soviet council of commissars, one of Josef Stalin's more powerful aides.

For ten years she has had the job of making beautiful Soviet women more beautiful, and the not-so-beautiful women more attractive.

When she started the Bolshevik "shock troops" were still the vogue. Soviet women were giving their time to the first five-year plan. But steadily, the emphasis on life has changed. It was only a few weeks ago that Stalin, himself, set the new motif.

"Life has become more gay," the Communist leader said.

"Ten years ago," Madame Karpovskaya said, "we had only seven cosmetic factories. Today we have sixteen large ones and we open more shops every day.

"At the cafes there are orchestras and happy throngs, women beautifully-gowned and well groomed. It is the same as in Paris, London, New York or Washington."

Farm for Epileptics Considered by Quebec

QUEBEC.—Establishment of a farm colony for epileptics in this province is under study by the Provincial Government, Hon. Athanase David, provincial secretary, stated today in commenting upon a suggestion by Dr. A. G. Morphy, founder of the Montreal Industrial Institute.

Dr. Morphy and Dr. Wilder Penfield, neurologist, urged such a farm be established when addressing the industrial institute's annual meeting at Montreal. Ontario has such a farm at Woodstock, Dr. Penfield told the Montreal meeting.

Thoughts on Human Intercourse

I am so bored I moan and wince
On hearing of the Dionne Quints;
My ears go dull, my eyeballs glassy,
At mention of Haile Selassie;
I'm sick of converse pleased or bitter
On Mrs. Roosevelt's public twitter . . .
Oh, let us cease this newsreel noise,
And, like the elevator boys,
Just make remarks about the weather
Whenever humans get together.

News And Information For The Busy Farmer

Furnished by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Plans for Cheese Storage

The drastic changes which the Ontario Cheese Factory Patrons' Association are planning for the handling of cheese in Eastern Ontario this season were outlined at a meeting held recently at Winchester. At the meeting of the Dundas County Patrons' Association, W. J. Stewart, Morewood, the chairman, outlined the proposed action, which was being taken under the provisions of the Natural Products Marketing Act.

All cheese produced in Ontario, east of Toronto, must now be sold through some recognized Board, and buyers have to have a license. Under an agreement with the railroads all cheese will be gathered once a week within a radius of 30 miles of Winchester, and will be delivered there to a cool storage, where it will be held until graded, after which it will be warehoused in Montreal, at a cost of 25c per cwt. The Winchester storage plant will receive 3½ cents per box, which will be absorbed by the buyer.

Buy Feeds on Guarantee

Do not find yourself with a "gold brick" feed money spent and no value in return. Oat feeds analysed in the laboratories of the Dominion Experimental Farms have had a range from 4 to 14 per cent of protein and from 10 to 30 per cent. of fibre, meat meals of from 40 to 65 per cent. protein and phosphoric acid from 10 to 20 per cent. Therefore do not buy your feeds blindly but study the guaranteed analysis, as printed on bags or other containers so that you know of what value the feeds are for your specific purpose, and also as compared with other feeds of the same class.

Starters for the Chicks

The feed firms manufacture chick starters and growing feeds which remove the guesswork in feeding. They embody in the feeds all that is required to grow and develop the chicks to a certain age. They have a line of feed for baby chicks through to the laying hens and also for fattening off the cockerels. This facilitates the work for the poultryman.

However, there are some who prefer to mix their own feeds, and as the O.A.C. cafeteria chick ration has been requested several times lately we are giving it therewith, but advise that thoroughness in mixing the different ingredients is important. Mechanical mixers in the large feed plants do a better job than is possible with the shovel.

Following is a baby chick cafeteria ration:

Rolled wheat, 320 lbs.; wheat bran, 60 lbs.; wheat germ, 100 lbs.; white hominy, 330 lbs.; ground yellow corn 340 lbs.; rolled barley, 100 lbs.; rolled oat groats, 300 lbs.; ground oats 100 lbs.; ground peas, 60 lbs.; soybean oil meal, 40 lbs.; powdered milk, 140 lbs.; meat meal 80 lbs.; fish meal, 20 lbs.; cod liver meal, 10 lbs.; one pint cod-liver oil to each 100 lbs. mixture.

Help to Make Canada More Beautiful

The unlovely things and unattractive places in Canada that displease the eye are made by man. It is time he set out to undo some of the damage that has been done. There are primrose paths for all to tread who care to make them. An amazing amount of worry can be spaded under along those paths in a bright spring afternoon. Since Adam tilled the first garden many pastimes have come to claim their thousands but have passed out of the picture while gardening has stood through the centuries. There must be something in it. Buy some flower seeds, plant some flowers or shrubs this spring. Help to make Canada more beautiful.

Don't Forget the Corn Borer This Spring

Speaking to a large gathering of farmers at the O.A.C. in January, the Provincial Entomologist reminded his hearers that the corn borer last year came back with a vengeance and increased on an average nearly three-fold. This increase he attributed largely to the moist warm weather last June and July—the critical months for the insect. The increase, however, was much greater in counties not under the Act than those under it. In many counties there is now much fear that the borer will again increase this year. The entomologist says there is little doubt that it will do so if we get nice moist growing weather again in June and July. And meteorologists seem to think that we are entering upon a series of wetter seasons.

To guard against such increase and the damage it would bring to the corn industry, it is necessary to remind growers that the Corn Borer Act will be enforced this year in all counties where it was enforced last year, and that the inspectors, owing to the serious situation, will be instructed to be stricter and firmer in seeing that it is complied with by all.

In counties where there is no Act the growers are urged to plow under all corn stubble carefully and to gather and burn or plow down any corn stalk or pieces of corn left unconsumed anywhere. This is because almost all the borers are in the stubble and other corn remnants until June and can be destroyed by burning or plowing these under, and not dragging them up again.

Planting in the Woodlot

Planting is necessary if it is desired to increase the area in woodland.

Trees require light for growth. Many owners who have planted trees in shade habe been disappointed because the trees have not done well. Different species differ in the shade that they will grow under. Some species such as Scotch pine, European larch, red oak and paper birch require full sunlight. White ash and red pine require plenty of light. White pine will grow in half shade. White spruce, hemlock, sugar maple and beech will grow in denser shade than other species. White and red pine, white spruce and sugar maple may be planted in the shade of poplar.

There will be natural reproduction starting in the woods and on this account the six foot spacing that is recommended in plantations is not necessary. The same is true in underplanting poplar and paper birch.

Spot planting is the best method to follow in woodlot planting. Remove the sod from a 1½-2 square and plant the tree in the centre of the spot. The sods should not be placed back around the planted trees as the grass competes with the tree for moisture. It is better to leave a slight depression in order that much needed moisture will not run off. Keep the roots of the trees moist until they are planted and the easiest and most sure method is to carry the trees in a pail of water. Labor may be reduced in an open woods and plantations by plowing shallow furrows. The trees are planted in the bottom of the furrow.

Residents of Ontario may secure trees for planting in the woodlot. Application forms and descriptive literature may be obtained from the Forestry Branch, Parliament Buildings, Government tree nurseries or the county Agricultural Representative.

PLOWING MATCH DATES ANNOUNCED

An executive meeting of the Eastern Ontario Plowmen's Association was held in Chesterville Thursday afternoon with the president, J. W. McRae, of Lochiel, in the chair, while Fred Forsythe of Alexandria was elected chairman of the association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. Hume Grisdale, of Iroquois.

The meeting was called to allot the dates of the local plowing matches for the district and to appoint directors who will have charge of the different classes at the Eastern Ontario plowing match, which will be held in conjunction with the international match to take place at Cornwall, October 6, 7, 8 and 9.

Local executives of the various districts must select the place for their own matches and the dates set at the meeting are as follows: Sept. 29, Alfred; Sept. 30, Plantagenet; NorthGower-Marlborough, Oct. 1 West Stormont, Clarence; October 2 West Dundas, Cumberland; October 3, Russell and Grenville counties.

Directors who will have charge of the different classes of the eastern match are as follows: Class 1, high cut sod, C. F. McArthur and James Goodfellow; class 2, plain plowing, Alfred James and L. B. Murray; class 3, jointer plows, T. Wade, Thos. Harkness; class 4 boys, under 21, Bower Moore and J. S. PREDICTS SEAWAY TREATY WIL BE SIGNED SOON

The State of New York power authority this week called upon Governor Herbert Lehman and the New York legislature to extend the state's power development program to include the vast undeveloped power of the Niagara River and curb further developments by private utilities, both on the Niagara and the St. Lawrence Rivers.

The power authority, in its annual report, declared the state's program is jeopardized by plans of Niagara Hudson Power Corporation for additional developments on the stated, is intended to offset the proposed St. Larwrence power project and would "completely nullify the purposes of the sound public policy adopted by this state."

The authority recommended no further grants be made from private developments on either the Niagara or the St. Lawrence.

Private Developments

Stating that the proposed private developments on the Niagara had been studied at the request of President Roosevelt, the power authority of New York State said:

"The St. Lawrence and Niagara rivers comprise parts of the same watershed bordering the state of New York on the north and west They are the greatest natural resources in possession of the state, capable of yielding millions of dollars annually in savings to consumers of electricity.

"If privately exploited they would furnish the basis for an inflated capitalization of several hundred million dollars, from which the promoters alone would reap the benefit.

"Taken together, the power from the St. Lawrence and the additional power from Niagara, publicly developed and co-ordinated, could provide the people and industries of the state with the cheapest current available anywhere in the world."

Predicts Treaty Signing

The power authority predicted the St. Lawrence treaty between the United States and Canada would be signed shortly, opening the way for the start of construction work on the St. Lawrence project in 1937. In this connection, it reiterated its belief that the development of the St. Lawrence must include the seaway project as well as the power project.

"To seek any other means for the development of the St. Lawrence is not to the interest of the state of New York and could not be reconsiled with public policy," the report stated.

The power authority promised to continue to aid municipalities in their efforts to obtain reductions in electric rates "as a means of broadening the potential market for St. Lawrence power."

CALL HOME
on those Sundays away from Home!

Jim Howard looks forward to the week-ends. He likes to spend them at home in the bosom of his family. So, when a prolonged business trip found him at loose ends in a strange town that sunny Sunday morning, his cup of sorrow and discontent was overflowing — until he suddenly thought of Long Distance and the new Low Sunday Rates. "It will be almost as good as being with them" thought Jim as he briskly stepped to the telephone.

EAST WILLIAMSBURG

About ninety friends and neighbors gathered at the new home of Mr. Arnold Stoddart, Weaver Road, for a house warming in honor of his recent marriage and to welcome his bride (nee Olive Bowman) to the community.

The evening was spent in music and dancing. The music was supplied by Messrs. Herbert Sarginson, Harry Casselman, Denzil Hart, John Hart, Milton Casselman and John Summers, taking turns in a four piece orchestra.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and useful presents.

The following address was read to which Mr. Stoddart replied in a few well chosen words:

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stoddart,

We have gathered here this evening on the occasion of your recent marriage to express to you our good wishes and congratulations.

We wish to take this opportunity of welcoming your bride to our community. You are to be congratulated on taking the matrimonial plunge. but this being leap year, evidently you were unable to leap far and fast enough. You have no need to worry. They say misery likes company and you have lots of company.

We hope the path of your lives may be long and smooth and that you may enjoy the richness and blessings of Matrimonial bliss.

To further substantiate these remarks we ask you to accept these presents displayed here this evening as a further appreciation of your esteem.

We wish to thank you for the hospitality of your home for this social evening in order to permit us to become better acquainted.

Signed on behalf of those present,
Herbert Sarginson,
Lloyd Wells.

Delicious Home Made Candy

Here's a batch of homemade candy with a truly professional air. See how the contrast in colour and shape and the dainty wrappings add to the attractiveness of the box filled with chocolate caramels and bonbons; and how the little paper cups set off the sugared pecans; how rich dark chocolate nut fudge, lustrous, thin cream wafers and coconut cherry divinity all enhance one another.

Home-made candies are a real treat particularly when they turn out perfectly. You know, the fudge, the just melt-in-your-mouth kind, and then, nippy mints.

It really isn't difficult to make real good candy, but the recipes must be reliable and ingredients of the finest quality. The recipes given here have been carefully tested and will give perfect candy, if they are followed accurately.

Chocolate Nut Fudge

2 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces, 2-3 cup milk; 2 cups of sugar; dash of salt; 2 tablespoons of butter; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 cup of broken nut meats.

Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt, and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils. Continue cooking, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F.). Remove from fire. Add butter and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees F.); then beat till mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Add 1 cup broken walnut meats. And pour at once into greased pan 8x4. When cold cut in squares. Makes 18 large pieces.

Coconut Cherry Divinity is a new and delicious candy with its fine combination of fruit flavours.

2 cups sugar; 2-3 cup water; ½ cup light corn syrup; 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten; Dash of salt; ½ can coconut southern style shred, toasted and crumbled. 1 teaspoon vanilla; 3-4 cup candied cherries, thinly sliced.

Cook ½ cup sugar and 1-3 cup of water together until a small amount of syrup forms a slightly firm ball in cold water (240 degrees F.). Cook remaining sugar, water and syrup together until a small amount of syrup forms a hard ball in cold water (250 degrees F.). Remove first sydup from fire, cool slightly, and pour slowly over egg whites, beating constantly until mixture loses its gloss (1½ minutes). Then add second syrup slowly as before. Fold in coconut, vanilla, cherries and salt, and turn immediately into buttered pan 8x8 inches. Cool until firm. Cut into pieces 1x'½ inches. Roll in additional toasted coconut if desired. Makes 3½ dozen pieces.

This Week's Winners

Combination Meat Dish — 1½ sliced round steak, 5 slices cooked ham; 1 lb. veal minced, 2 eggs, hard boiled, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, 2 cups of tomato soup. Wipe round steak, cover with slices of ham, mix minced veal with onion, sauce, salt and pepper. Spread evenly over ham. Along one edge lay slices of egg. Roll as for jelly roll. Tie securely. Place in greased pan. Pour over tomato soup or 1 cup tomato and 1 cup of mushroom soup. Cover and simmer for two hours until tender. If served hot use remaining liquid as sauce. Is quite delicious and very attractive sliced cold. — Mrs. S. G. Spray, Parkhill, Ontario.

Lima Beans and Cheese Roast — 1½ cups of cooked lima beans,, 1 cup grated cheese, 1 cup soft bread crumbs ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon chopped green pepper, salt and pepper, 3 strips of bacon. Put in a layer of beans in buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with the cheese, a layer of bread crumbs, a few pieces of pepper. Continue this until all is used. Pour over this the milk and lay on strips of bacon. Bake in moderate oven. — Mrs. Harry Matthew, care of Mr. Charles Leach, R.R. No. 4, Blenheim, Ontario.

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST

Plainly write or print out the ingredients and method of your favorite main-course dish and send it together with name and address to Household Science, Room 421, 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

"I have no definite policy for the settlement of diplomatic affairs other than the use of common sense."—Premier Koki Herota.

Not Brilliant At Arithmetic

Lady Tweedsmuir Makes Confession About Childhood

OTTAWA—Lady Tweedsmuir spoke recently at the opening ceremonies of National Education Week and admitted that as a child she was poor at arithmetic, a "difficult and distressful science."

Cites Advantages

"In the modern world where conditions are changing with such lightning rapidity," she said, "it is vital that we all set our minds to devising a system of education at once elastic enough to meet our needs and strong enough to stand the strain of the ever-changing conditions of the 1930's."

After outlining her idea of education which included the three R's and a G., geography, Lady Tweedsmuir mentioned mechanical advantages accorded the modern child over those of his predecessors but added:

"To stare stupidly at the movies and listen unintelligently to the radio is not going to help people to have minds that work for themselves. One of the curses of modern life is a tendency to smatter and never go deeply into anything. The mind may become boneless and flabby because it has never used its mental muscles and its sinews."

Bane of Childhood

The governor-general's wife admitted that arithmetic was the bane of her childhood, but added: "None of us can survive without this difficult and distressful science in a world where problems are becoming more those of economics every day that we live."

Of geography, Lady Tweedsmuir said: "A comic poet has written: 'Geography is about maps, biography about chaps.' And an enlightened understanding of maps and chaps should be the slogan of the worthy citizen."

"There is a grotesque contrast betweeen the capabilities and achievements that people have ascribed to me and what I really am and can do."—Albert Einstein.

"Men do not resent the intrusion of women in government affairs, but they do resent hysterical women who have obsessions and lack an open mind."—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A New Version

Here is something just a little different from your newest shirtmaker dress with flattery and soft detail.

There's femininity and charm in the shirt collar with bow posed at one side. The wide shoulderline, gives emphasis to a slim young waist.

It's tremendously smart in rough-finished cottons, linens and tub silks. The bow will fall more softly if picot edged or rolled by hand.

Style No. 2923 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15 and 17 years. Size 15 requires 3⅜ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide Street, Toronto.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON V. — May 3

JESUS TEACHES FORGIVENESS, HUMILITY, AND GRATITUDE. — Luke 17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you.

—Ephesians 4 : 32.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

Time—The teaching in verses 1-10 occurred in January, A.D. 30; that recorded in the rest of the chapter occurred in February and March of the same year, not many weeks before Jesus' passion.

Place — The teaching throughout this chapter was given in Peraea; the miracle of healing the ten lepers (vs. 11-19) took place on the border of Samaria.

"And he said unto his disciples, It is impossible but that occasions of stumbling." From this it is made to indicate any person or thing by which one is made to stumble, or is drawn into error or sin. "Should come." While the world remains what it is, some will always set snares and stumbling-blocks in the path of their brethren, and some will always fall over them, and some will make them for. themselves (1 Cor. 11 : 19; 1 Peter 2 : 8). "But woe unto him, through whom they come!" Christ has often pronounced woe before this for various reasons in the Gospel we are studying (6 : 24-26; 10 : 13; 11 : 42-47, 52).

"It were well for him if a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were thrown into the sea, rather than that he should cause one of these little ones to stumble." (See for a similar teaching, Matt. 18 : 6; Mark 9 : 42).

"Take heed to yourselves: if thy brother sin, rebuke him." Apparently, from the next verse, we are to judge that the particular sin here for which we are to rebuke another is a sin which the other one has committed against us. "And if he repent, forgive him."

"And if he sin agains' thee seven times in the day, and seven times turn again to thee, saying, I repent; thou shalt forgive him." (Cf. Matt. 18 : 22.) Seven is simply a number indicating completeness.

"And the apostles said unto the Lord, Increase our faith." The faith which they ask for here is, of course, faith in the Lord Jesus and in his promises.

"And the Lord said, If ye had faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye would say unto this sycamine tree, Be thou rooted up, and be thou planted in the sea; and it would obey you." (Cf. Matt. 17 : 20; Mark 11 : 23.) The sycamine seems to be a generic name for various kinds of mulberries which were freely cultivated in the Eeast.

"But who is there of you ,having a servant plowing or keeping sheep, that will say unto him, when he is come in from the field, Come straightway and sit down to meat; and will not rather say unto him. Make ready wherewith I may sup and gird thyself, and serve me, till I have eaten and drunken; and afterward thou shalt eat and drink?" This parable, as far as we can see, has absolutely no connection with the preceding words. There is no evidence that this parable was spoken especially to the apostles; the words almost might imply that they were addressed to a mixed audience of well-to-do person.

"Doth he thank the servant because he did the things that were commanded?" This does not, of course, represent the actual attitude of God towards his creatures; but it does represent the claim of the creature upon the Creator's rewarding gratitude.

"Even so ye also, when ye shall have done all the things that are commanded you." We have never met the man who could truly say that he had done everything that God had commanded him to do. "Say, We are unprofitable servants." The word here translated unprofitable occurs in only one other place in the New Testament (Matt. 25 : 30). Literally, the original word means without use, useless, good for nothing. "We have done that which it was our duty to do." Even when I have done my very best, I am to feel that I might have done more. I am to remember that I have served him so poorly, at the very time that I gratefully acknowledge his own sustaining grace, without which I could not have done even that.

"And it came to pass, as they were on the way to Jerusalem, that he was passing along the borders of Samaria and Galilee." Samaria is mentioned first here because it was on the right as he was going eastward along the border between Samaria and Galilee.

"And as he entered into a certain village." The entire narrative of the healing of the lepers is original with Luke, who also recorded the miracle of healing a leper early in Jesus' ministry (5 : 12-14). The geographical and chronological details are meagre and weak. "There met him ten men that were lepers." For details of the disease of leprosy, see the treatment of the lsson for Fbruary 2. "Who stood afar off." (For the law compelling lepers to keep at a certain distance from all men, see Lev. 13 : 45, 46; Num. 5 : 2.) The distance was not fixed by law, but by tradition; by some it was set to be one hundred paces.

"And they lifted up their voices, Jesus, Master." The word here translated Master is the one which, elsewhere, St. Luke puts into the mouths of the intimate disciples (8 : 24), especially Peter (5 : 5; 9 : 33) and John (9 : 49). "Have mercy on us." Their very prayer would surely indicate some faith on their part in Christ and his power to heal.

"And when he saw them, he said unto them. Go and show yourselves unto the priests." For the law requiring a leper to go to the priest, not for cleansing, but for determining whether the leper had been healed of his disease, see the thirteenth and fourteenth chapters of Leviticus. "And it came to pass, as they went, they were cleansed." In the previous account of healing a leper, Christ first cleansed the leper of his foul priest. Here he commands him to go to the priest, and heals him afterward.

"And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, turned back." The original text here would indicate that he had not yet seen the priest, but he had a deep conviction that he was disease and then sent him to the healed. "With a loud voice glorifying God." The loud voice may mean that he still stood afar off, as having not yet acquired the right to mix with others.

"And he fell upon his face at his feet, giving him thanks." The nine had thought only of his wonderful power. The poor, despised Samaritan thought also of his deep compassionating love, a love that pitied and healed even him, and it is love alone that ever leads to thankfulness. "And he was a Samaritan." For the meaning of Samaritan, see the exposition of Luke 9 : 52 and Luke 10 : 33.

"And Jesus answering said, Were not the ten cleansed? but where are the nine? Were there none found that returned to give glory to God?" Christ was actually hurt by the ingratitude of these other nine. "Save this stranger." This man was a stranger to the covenants and promises that belonged to the Jews. A limestone block has recently been found belonging to the ancient temple in Jerusalem in which this very word here translated stranger is used, an inscription which may have been read by Christ himself—Let no foreigner enter within the screen surrounding the sanctuary.

"And he said unto him, Arise, and go thy way: thy faith hath made thee whole." Undoubtedly, the Lord is here bestowing upon the healed Samaritan an added blessing.

The GREEN GHOST

by Stuart Martin

SYNOPSIS

In the West Indies, Maud Barron awakes with a premonition of disaster. Rushing into her father's study she finds him dead. Dr. Sidney Foster, a friend, is joined by Detective "One Eye" Uttock, a mulatto. Hughes, a member of the household is antagonistic toward all investigation. He accompanies Maud back to England. Foster follows and Maud informs him "The Ghost" has appeared in England the same as at the time of her father's death.

Maud employs Elsie Monteith as a companion. Elsie admits to Foster that she has fallen in love with him. Foster leaves for London and is murderously attacked on the way. On examination, the neck wound proves to be a bite from a poisonous snake.

Maud meets her brother in London—Dr. Foster following her finds him dead

The apparition they had glimpsed on that memorable night in Jamaica was gazing into the room.

Though they were prepared for it, the appearance of that frightful countenance took both of them, in a sense, unawares. It was Foster who uttered the cry of horror that rang out. His lips could not remain closed under the strain.

"Shoot, doc!"

Firt One-eye's gun, then that of Foster crashed out.

Bang! Bang!

The noise filled the apartment, bursting on their ears with the reverberations of thunder. Then, in the midst of the din, One-eye leaped up and thrust his arm forward, gun swinging down as he fired again, and the spectre was blotted out.

This time a cry rang out from the lawn, shrill and sharp; it was a cry of pain.

"Doc! Come!"

The blotting out of the ghostly face had been so swift as to make Foster wonder if he had really seen it. One moment it was within six yards of them; the next it had gone, wiped out as swiftly as a camera shutter descends.

One-eye was already at the door and Foster followed on his heels. They rushed down the stairs, hearing, as they sped, the occupants of the house arousing themselves; but no explanations could be given them. One-eye was like a black vengeance in pursuit of its victim. At the foot of the stairs the dog was tied by a slip knot to the pillar. Foster had the leash in his hand and felt the dog leap up all bristling with rage and excitement.

"Let de dawg go, doc! No leash, suh!"

Away sped the animal across the lawn, roaring his heart out. The two men rushed in pursuit, One-eye first as if he saw in the dark.

"Hold up, doc!"

The sharp snarl of the dog ahead was followed by a fierce growl. Foster felt, rather than saw, the dog leap forward; and then One-eye's voice rang out in warning.

"Mind yo' feet, doc! Watch out fo' de trip-wires!"

As he spoke the mulatto switched on a flash-lamp and its beams spread across the lawn towards the wall.

"Up wit' de wires, doc! Dey ain't use now!"

Foster saw a cord stretched across the lawn about nine inches from the turf. He bent down and tugged at it with all his strength, One-eye helping and holding the electric torch. The cord came away in their hands.

They raced forward and were halfway across the lawn when a shot rang out. Foster heard the bullet sing past his ear. Out went One-eye's torch, but his arm went up and his gun flashed.

"Down! On yo' face!"

They dropped together in time — only just. Another flash stabbed the darkness ahead and another bullet soared over their bodies. But almost simultaneously with the flash of the enemy gun was the roar of One-eye's weapon, and Foster's spoke a moment later.

"Separate a yard, doc! Den fire again. Same target, suh!"

They rolled apart, and fired again, aiming as near as possible at the place where they had seen the flash. This time there was no reply. A sudden silence fell on the night.

But the silence did not last. It was the dog's snarl that came to them—a snarl and then a sound of worrying, terrible, savage worrying.

"The dog! One-eye, the dog!"

They ran forward, One-eye lighting up the ground with his torch.

"Look, One-eye! Good Lord! Call him off! Down, there!"

Foster rushed in and seized the leash of the dog, hauling at him for dear life. He grabbed the collar of the animal and tried to pacify him, but the dog leaped and struggled and could be held only with difficulty.

On the ground lay a huddled figure. A pair of arms were waving in the light of One-eye's torch, striking out spasmodically at the dog, while a voice hurled curses at all and sundry.

One-eye stepped up and seized the arms while he poured the beams of his torch on the frantic figure.

"Doc!"

"Who is it, One-eye? Hughes?"

"Naw. But he's a goner, doc. All shot up. Keep clear!"

"Yo' swine!"

One-eye leaped back quickly as a stick shot out stabbing at him viciously.

"Pisen stick, doc! Same's we found in his room."

With an adroit swing of his club, One-eye knocked the stick from the man's grasp and shot his light on his again.

"Doc, look dere!"

The mulatto pointed to the man's feet. Strapped to the individual's feet and reaching up above the knees were the tops of long tubes of black metal. One-eye bent down and unbuckled the straps.

"Stilts, doc. Made ob hollow tubin'. An' collapsible too, so's dey could be size ob a walkin' stick. Bettah get him indoors, doc."

The wounded man stirred, his eyes blazing with fury at the mulatto and Foster.

"It was your cursed trap lines that brought me down," he growled. "I give you credit for that. I'm hit — your damn guns got me—curse you!"

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

Favors Hiring By Psychology

Western Teacher. — Pretty Girls are Declared Exception to Rule.

LONDON, Ont. — Because the breadth of eyebrows will not reveal what mental wheels are turning behind them, Dr. D. J. Wilson, psychologist on the staff of the University of Western Ontario recently offered business men a scientific substitute for their old fashioned eyebrows, to test the worth of their prospective employes.

It is psychological gold bricks the gullible business men are buying when they think they can judge the character and the ability of their prospective employes by the color of their hair, or the slant of their noses, said Dr. Wilson.

He offered them, instead, psychology—at a price. He told the students that business men must see to it that research in psychology is made possible, just as is research in other sciences.

The only exception he made was in the hiring of beautiful girls. It didn't need a psychologist, he conceded, to give advice on that question. It is obviously good practice, he agreed, to hire beautiful girls for the ranks of the employes who must meet the public.

He even offered them psychology to advise them how to pay their employes. It make a difference whether a man gets his money once a week or once a month. Some like it monthly, others weekly. The psychologist can advise on the subject, especially if his research opportunities are improved.

Insects Will Never Rule Mankind

Which is fittest to survive, insects or man? "Insects," say the misanthropes, "Man," said Barton Eddy, naturalist, at a recent meeting of the Executives' Club at the Sherman hotel in Chicago.

With all the advantages insects have over man, physiologically speaking, they will never be able to gain supremacy upon this earth, he assured those who have nightmares of insect hordes winning in the titanic struggle some see going on between man and insects for the possession of the earth.

Among the advantages insects have over man, Mr. Eddy mentioned were "no lungs with which to get T.B., no arteries to harden, no appendix to rupture, no teeth to decay. They can digest more rapidly than man, some of them digesting four times their own weight in a single day. Their smelling organs are keener than a setter's and their nervous system is less capable of being out of order."

"Insects have an outside skeleton, which acts as a coat of mail to protect the vital organs," he said. "Man has most of his organs unprotected. They have a tremendous power to multiply. Some of them lay but one egg, from which sixty-five result.

"The common plant louse, if it were allowed to live and breed throughout a single season, and if its young were to do the same, would have at the close of the season, if all were to survive, over 560 quadrillion descendants. Prof. Glen Herrick of Cornell university claims that the combined weight of these plant lice would be greater than the combined weight of all the people upon the earth."

Among the disadvantages of the insects which give man supremacy is the fact that the outside skeleton, or coat of mail, is dead and incapable of expansion as the creature grows. While shedding its skeleton it is absolutely at the mercy of its foes. While their digestion is better than man's, insects are specialists and if their diet specially is not available they starve.

Man also can invent machines which excel the smelling organs of the insects, and has a more sensitive if less stable nervous system. Besides insects are cold-blooded, and become unvoluntarily inactive at temperatures of forty degrees Fahrenheit or less, and are at the mercy of their enemies.

There is also marked dissention within the ranks of the insects. They are their own worst enemies. By presenting a united front against the insects man will retain his supremacy.—The Chicago Daily News.

Publicity "Out"

NICE.—One of the cases when it does not pay to advertise is when publicity concerns a reigning monarch.

Hotel keepers, restaurant owners, and casino managements on the Riveria are having this fact brought home to them by the authorities.

Two Kings are regular patrons of the Riveria—King Gustav of Sweden and King Christian of Denmark. Other royalties pay frequent visits to the Cote d'Azur also. Their presence swells the revenue of the various resorts by millions of francs.

Recently it was made known that King Gustav was annoyed by the fact that his presence at a private dinner was advertised in advance. The King asked his host to change the venue of the entertainment. He is said to have threatened to leave the Riveria if this sort of publicity is resorted to again.

There will be considerable restriction on advertising the presence of Royalty after the event, such announcements as "King —— dined at the —— Restaurant" being frowned on. This will be a blow, but a far bigger blow would be the departure of Royalty.

Manitoba Basin Expand Operations

Manitoba Basin Mining Company Limited has acquired a group of ten claims in the Florence-Wedding River Area, Northwestern Quebec. The new property is favourably located in the sector where Florence River Gold Mines Ltd. (Coniagas), Hollinger Cons., Wedding River Gold Mines, Gilbec Mines and numerous other mining organizations are carrying out intensive exploratory and development operations. Working plans as projected by the Directors of Manitoba Basin Mining Co. Ltd. will, in addition to proceeding with the development of the Florence-Wedding River group, include the opening up of the Company's property at Hutchison Lake. This property is located northeast of Hutchison Lake Gold Mines Limited which is being explored by the Errington interests. A strong vein structure has been disclosed for a considerable distance over widths ranging from three to ten feet. Manitoba Basin Mining Company Limited is capitalized at 3,000,000 shares of which approximately 1,500,000 shares remain available for treasury purposes. The Company has nearly 5,000 registered shareholders and has been active in exploration throughout Canada.

Officials of Locketon Lodge, Williamsburg hotel, must have thought Wednesday that they had the cow that jumped over the moon when it is alleged they discover a cow tententedly occupying an upstairs parlour. It seems that Stanley Casselman bought a couple of cows at Clarence Deeks' auction sale, west of the village and was driving them to his home when one of the animals disappeared. The bovine is said to have entered the front door of the hotel, ascended the flight of stairs to the second storey and entered the sitting room. A hotel guest who witnessed the episode must have thought she was seeing things when bossy leaped over a Chesterfield and stood surveying the strange surroundings. The runaway was escorted downstairs and out of doors with no damage reported except to the nerve of the attendants.—Chesterville Record.

Joseph St. Denis, ex-M.L.A., for Prescott county, was taken to the hospital yesterday in an unconscious condition after a fall while helping to remove double windows from the top storey of the Windsor hotel Vankleek Hill, which is owned by his son. Mr. St. Denis was at the top of a twenty-foot ladder at the entrance side of the building when a truck owned by Ernest Allen entered the yard and struck the ladder causing him to fall head first onto the front of the truck. He received a severe cut above the eye and severe bruises about the face. He is still in a semi-conciosus state and no one but the immediate relatives are allowed to see him.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Alleged to have choked and beaten John Dougall Cameron into unconsciousness last Sunday night, after they had forced an entrance to his home on the outskirts of Finch Village, Thomas Alfred Carr, 24 and Calvin Carr 21, of Grantley, are in jail in Cornwall, awaiting trial on a charge of housebreaking and assault with intent to rob.

The two brothers were arrested on Friday near Williamsburg by Provincial Constables Robert Hawkshaw and W. J. Franks, who had conducted a vigorous search for Cameron's assailants since Sunday.

IROQUOIS CHEESE BOARD ELECT OFFICERS

The organization meeting of the Iroquois Cheese Board was held on Saturday in the Town Hall with many patrons, salesmen and buyers present. Eli Merkley, president, occupied the chair until the election of officers was announced.

The meeting elected the following officers for 1936: President, Harry L. Foster, Iroquois; first vice-president, Eli Merkley, Iroquois; second vice-president, Edmund Thompson, Brinston; secretary-treasurer, Arnold Johnston, Brinston; board of arbitrators, Arthur Thompson, Brinston; Edmund Thompson, Brinston; Alex. E. McGruer, Williamsburg; Eli Merkley, Iroquois; Thomas Johnston, Brinston; W. J. Lennox; Ray Johnston, Brinston, and James W. Tindale, Iroquois.

The membership fees for members including buyers and salesmen, were fixed at 50 cents per year.

The meetings of the board will be held each Saturday throughout the season at 4 p.m. in the Town Hall, Iroquois.

The meeting adopted the regulation of the Ontario Cheese Patrons' Association with regard to the selling of cheese, which must be sold through an organized cheese board.

Regret was expressed on the recent death of Joseph J. Payne, secretary of the board for more than 20 years and who had been a member of the board since it was first organized 40 years ago. A resolution of sympathy was passed and a copy to be sent to his son in Ottawa.

A strong resolution was passed asking the Dominion Department of Agriculture to continue the bonus to milk producers, and a copy to be sent to the Minister.

The factories boarded 188 cheese for sale, and lively bidding followed and they were finally disposed to Thomas Johnston, buyer for Lovell and Christmas, Montreal, at 10 cents

MRS. F. HURLBURT

The funeral of Mr. Freeman Hurlbert, who passed away at her residence, Merrickville, Tuesday morning was held from her home to the United church on Thursday afternoon at 1.30 p.m. when a large number of relatives and friends gathered to pay their last respects. Rev. R. W. Armstrong had charge of the service. Interment was in the family plot. Merrickville.

A daughter of the late Alexander and Eleanor Ross, the late Mrs. Hurlburt was born in Matilda township in 1866. After her marriage to Freeman Hurlburt, they lived at Easton's Corners until 30 years ago when they retired to Merrickville where her husband predeceased her on May 25th, 1932. Surviving are two brothers, Robert J. of Mannsville, Alta., and Henry, Matilda; two nieces, Mrs. Morley Sullivan and Mrs. J. A. Millar, Matilda; and two nephews, Arthur Ross, Matilda, and Alex Ross, Mannsville, Alta.

MUST CARRY LIGHTS

In view of recent numerous accidents involving bicycle riders, it is pointed out by the police that under the regulations of the Department of Public Highways "Whenever on a highway after dark and before dawn every bicycle or tricycle shall carry on the front thereof a white or amber lighted lamp, or reflector, and on the back thereof a red lighted lamp, or reflector, as well as a white surface not less than 10 inches in length and two inches in width, all of which shall be so placed as to be clearly visible to the drivers of other vehicles."

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

The Trail Ranger and Tuxis Boys' Groups are holding a Father and Son Banquet in the Church on Tuesday evening at 6.30 o'clock. Dr. Grose of Winchester is to be the speaker and several of the boys are to give short speeches. Mr. Herbert Coons President of the Tuxis Square will be the Toastmaster. About sixty are expected to sit down to supper. The girls of the C.G.I.T. are serving the supper.

Last Monday night about eighty Young People gathered together to enjoy a program of musical numbers and games. The guests of the evening were the Young People from Colquhoun and Williamsburg Young Peoples' League. Miss Helen Froats was in the Chair. All enjoyed the evening.

Morning devotions from Prescott next Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock will be conducted by Rev. R. D. Smith and a Quartette from the United Church.

Because of the meeting of the Canadian Club next Wednesday the Mid Week meeting will commence at 8 o'clock instead of at 7.30.

The Eusebia Class held a work meeting in the Church on Thursday afternoon. The Ladies painted some of the chairs and brightened the small chairs of the Primary Department with red paint. They remained for supper in the Church and held their regular monthly meeting in the evening.
