70 hopefuls apply for 10 village jobs

CHESTERVILLE — Applications for summer positions with the village are an indication of just how competitive the student job market is this year. Seventy people, from a 12-year-old to a fourth-year university student, applied for 10 positions. Recreation director Robin Langille and a hiring committee interviewed 17 hopefuls and presented the selected names to council last Wednesday. The positions include playcamp supervisor, lifeguards, pool co-ordinator and swimming instructors. Wages range from $6.35 to $8 an hour.

Alarming bylaw

CHESTERVILLE — Village residents are now required to have a smoke detector on every floor of their homes, according to a bylaw passed last Wednesday. Although the intent of the bylaw is to encourage people to install the alarms, said Reeve Jim Cook, it gives the village the authority to take action if people do not comply. If, during routine inspections, firefighters find people have not complied, they have the authority to instruct residents to install smoke detectors. Under the bylaw, building owners must ensure that the detectors are installed, and residents must keep them in proper working order.

Church marks 35th

INGLESIDE — Trinity United Church in Ingleside is celebrating its 35th anniversary this weekend with worship services, a lunch and a look at the church's history. On Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m., there will be a display of photos and memorabilia in the church parlor. Sunday services start at 11 a.m. with guest speaker Rev. John Moor, president of the Montreal and Ottawa conference. A pot luck will follow.

In case of fire

CHESTERVILLE — Village residents will receive a sticker with the emergency fire phone number with their hydro bills this month. The sticker should be placed on or near a phone, said village clerk Howard Smith. The phone number to call in case of a fire emergency is 448-3333.

Dundas group ready for CHEO telethon

CHESTERVILLE — The newly formed Dundas County Friends of CHEO, a group working to raise money for the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario, is getting ready for the hospital's annual televised telethon. The volunteers, from Chesterville, Winchester, Dunbar and South Mountain, will set up pledge tables in local liquor stores, banks, grocery stores and pharmacies on June 4. The telethon will be aired on CJOH-TV June 5 and 6. The committee has also sold almost 400 T-shirts for CHEO.

Four-wheeler stolen

Crime Stoppers this week is asking for the public's assistance in solving the theft of an all-terrain vehicle that was stored in a shed at 666 St. Lawrence St. in Winchester between 8 and 10 p.m. May 2. The vehicle is a yellow 1985 Suzuki four-wheeler, bearing the serial number JSAAJ11A3F2110885. Possibly involved in the theft is a black and white Ford Bronco in mint condition. If you have any information on this or any crime, call Crime Stoppers at 534-TIPS (534-8477) or toll-free at 1-800-265-TIPS. If your tip leads to an arrest, you may qualify for a cash reward of up to $1,000. You do not have to reveal your identity to help solve a crime.

BERWICK — It's described as the most significant economic development project in eastern Ontario in the last 10 years.

And the five counties recreational trail project got a boost Thursday as SD&G Warden Jim Cook and Prescott-Russell Warden Michel Lalonde accepted positions as co-chairs of the project's steering committee.

The proposed trail project is a joint venture between the South Nation River Conservation Authority, Counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and Prescott-Russell, Parks of the St. Lawrence and provincial Culture, Tourism and Recreation Ministry (MCTR).

It is intended to serve as a "best-of-its-kind" drawing card for tourists from as far away as the U.S. and Europe.

The trail, if built, will focus on the South Nation River and make use of some existing roads, rights-of-way for old railway lines, and could be linked to other trails in Ontario and Quebec. Other stages will be implemented over the next five or six years.

It will serve several recreational groups, including hikers, joggers, snowmobilers, horse riders, cross-country skiiers and cyclists. A $74,000 feasibility study of the project, being done by consultant firms Rheal Leroux and McNeely-Tunnock, is expected to be completed by mid-August.

"I'm quite excited about this because if it comes to fruition it will be the most significant thing in eastern Ontario since the Seaway was built," Cook said at a press conference Friday.

"The only place to jog here now is along the (highway) shoulder and shin splints are not enjoyable," he added.

Cook also noted the input already received from the community, the involvement and co-operation and sharing of expenses of different levels of government.

Parks budget cut $1M

Staff to be trimmed, but layoffs not likely

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

MORRISBURG — The St. Lawrence Parks Commission will cut both staff and programs to chop $1 million from its $14.6 million budget. But staff reductions are unlikely to mean many layoffs, since most will be through retirements and attrition.

The commission, which runs Upper Canada Village, Fort Henry in Kingston and several parks and campsites, was told in April it had to reduce its budget by $1 million or about seven per cent.

The reduction was part of $4 billion worth of spending cuts to virtually every Ontario government department.

Parks marketing and communications manager Joan Culliton said there was not much time to make decisions about reducing the budget.

"Certainly they are very difficult decisions," she said. "The commission met on several occasions and looked at the options. These are the ones we feel will minimize workforce reductions and still have the attractions running at full tilt."

Full-time, or year-round staff will be reduced from 90 to 75 positions. Contract positions, which previously ran to a maximum of 47 weeks, will be limited to a maximum of 35 weeks. No contracts will be extended from November 15 to March 11, the off-season for most of the Parks' attractions. The average contract employee works from 18 to 20 weeks during the year.

About 45 employees will be affected through shortened contracts and seven seasonal positions will be eliminated. But Culliton said those seven will likely be placed elsewhere in the commission.

"It is our hope to place all of those people within jobs in the commission," she said.

Culliton said the parks commission will concentrate on the peak season, from mid-May to mid-October. There will be no off-season activities previously offered, such as winter sleigh rides.

At Upper Canada Village, some buildings will be closed on certain days, Culliton said.

Crysler Park activities will be reduced, and the Battlefield Visitor Centre will be closed in 1993.

The commission will also transfer some of its operations to the private sector and local municipalities. It will accept proposals to operate retail stores at Upper Canada Village and Fort Henry, similar to the deals the commission has with concessionaires that run food outlets.

Parks at Raisin River and Adolphustown will be closed until the commission can work out lease agreements with either municipalities or community groups to operate the parks.

Culliton said visitors to the commission's attractions shouldn't notice program reductions. In fact, some new programs have been introduced both at Upper Canada Village and Fort Henry, she added.

The 1993 season at Upper Canada Village gets underway this weekend with Queen Victoria's birthday celebrations.

Wise trial underway in provincial court

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

OTTAWA — The second trial of a Morewood man charged in connection with the August 1987 downing of a Bell communications tower near Williamsburg is underway in Ottawa.

James Wise, 50, of Morewood, appeared again in provincial court Monday. The trial is expected to last three weeks.

Wise, a former Chesterville resident, was originally charged with mischief in November 1987 after five of the $4-million, 100-metre tower's 32 guy wires were cut with an oxy-acetylene torch.

Wise was acquitted of the charge in 1988 after the court ruled that the use of a locating device secretly implanted in his car by police violated his rights under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

The locating device indicated that Wise's car had been in the area of the tower when it was toppled.

But despite ruling that police cannot use radio transmitter locating devices without proper jurisdictional authorization, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled 4-3 in March 1992 under appeal from the Crown that using the evidence gained with the device "would not bring the administration of justice into disrepute."

Supreme Court Justice Peter Cory at the time cited a "real threat of urgency" for police to solve a series of eastern Ontario murders that occurred between 1975 and 1987, in which Wise was identified as a suspect. No one was ever charged with the killings.

Wise's lawyer, Bruce Carr-Harris, has been unavailable for comment due to the trial proceedings.

Municipalities await bad news in Laughren's budget

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Just days after learning how much their provincial grants will be cut, local municipalities are bracing for more bad news in the Ontario government's next budget.

Area reeves expect the budget, to be delivered by Finance Minister Floyd Laughren in Queen's Park late Wednesday afternoon, will bring even deeper cuts.

The province announced $111 million worth of reductions to municipal unconditional grants last month. Exact amounts were released by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs last week. Locally, the cuts range from just over 6 per cent for Finch Township to 11.59 per cent for Chesterville.

"This has certainly been the worst year I've seen since I've been on council."

-Finch Twp. Reeve Floyd Dingwall

"It will certainly hurt," said Finch Township Reeve Floyd Dingwall. "We're trying to aim for zero-per-cent (tax increase) but it looks tough out there....I don't know what we'll have to cut."

The township expected to receive $152,000 and will instead receive $143,000.

Municipalities can spend unconditional grant money on anything they choose. They worry that conditional grants — money for specific projects — will also be reduced or, in some cases, eliminated altogether.

Dingwall said the township has historically received a $6,000 annual grant for recreation. And while word of the money usually reaches the township office by March, Dingwall said he has heard nothing as yet. Township council met Monday night for a lengthy budget meeting.

Reeves also worry that there will be no supplementary funds for their roads budgets — a significant part of the overall budgets of rural municipalities.

Osnabruck Township, for example, has received upwards of $150,000 in supplementary road funding in some years.

"But we understand there won't be any supplementary at all, or if there is, very little," said Osnabruck Township Reeve Gordon Ross.

Ross said if the township does have to start cutting costs, the burden will have to be shared by all departments.

"I think it's going to have to be right across the board. I don't think you can take it all from one area," he said.

Most local municipalities usually have their budgets just about finalized by this time of year. But because of uncertainty surrounding provincial funding, some don't expect to be done before June.

Their final tax levies also depend on the Trail project should boost tourism

SD&G director of economic development Terry O'Reilly said that apart from Upper Canada Village, there are no important tourist destinations in the area.

He said building an attraction that uses the natural infrastructure of the area is compatible with the character of eastern Ontario.

"There is no Disney Land here, and there is not likely to be one," O'Reilly said. "Glitzy glitter we don't want."

O'Reilly also noted that the trail will draw tourists into the heart of eastern Ontario, not just along the St. Lawrence River.

"We need to bring people into the interior so they can experience the richness in culture we have here."

The trail project is expected to both benefit and generate new enterprise in the region. O'Reilly noted that the Bruce Trail in central Ontario adds an estimated $80-million annually to that region's economy.

SNRCA chairman Albert McKeown noted the importance of the Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Recreation's financial input into the early stages of the project.

"It's difficult to do a great thing without Ontario's help," he said. "We need the Ontario government to be there for us."

MCTR spokesman Guy Madore noted a trend toward the development of "family facilities," as opposed to arenas, for example, that are restricted in purpose to only a certain amount of residents.

Reeves fear budget will bring more bad news

United Counties, which approved its budget in March, and the school boards, which have yet to fix mill rates. In 1992 the SD&G Public School Board delivered its budget on April 14.

"We're kind of in a bind," said Ross. "We don't know what the schools are going to do."

Chesterville council will meet tonight (Wednesday) to review its operating budgets. The village's unconditional grants, expected to be $126,000, have been reduced by $15,000.

"That's not the frightening thing," said Reeve Jim Cook. "It's what we don't know."

The province's budget will determine what the village will have to do with its own budget, Cook said.

"We could be looking at an appreciable amount of money that they could be transferring to the municipal level."

He said the $15,000 grant reduction is "a lot of money but there are ways we can make it up, so that we could absorb it and not have any tax increase."

But the unconditional grant reductions have put the United Counties in a bind. The 37-member council approved a $30-million budget — with the smallest tax increase in nine years — in March. But while council expected to receive $1.074 million from the province, that amount has been reduced by $139,000 or 12.9 per cent.

Executive committee members met Monday afternoon to discuss whether any more could be trimmed to make up the difference. Cook, also warden of SD&G, said he doesn't know whether the counties could re-open its budget to adjust mill rates. He said the $139,000 would translate into a 1.4-per-cent tax increase for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry municipalities.

"We're looking to see if there are other ways to find the money," Cook said.

Municipal Affairs Minister Ed Philip said no Ontario municipality would have to raise taxes more than three per cent because of the grant reductions. The overall reduction is 11.4 per cent, with a maximum of 12.9 per cent for most cities and regions, including the United Counties.

The cuts have left some area politicians wondering whether an economic recovery is on the horizon.

"This has certainly been the worst year I've seen since I've been on council," said Dingwall, a 14-year municipal government veteran.

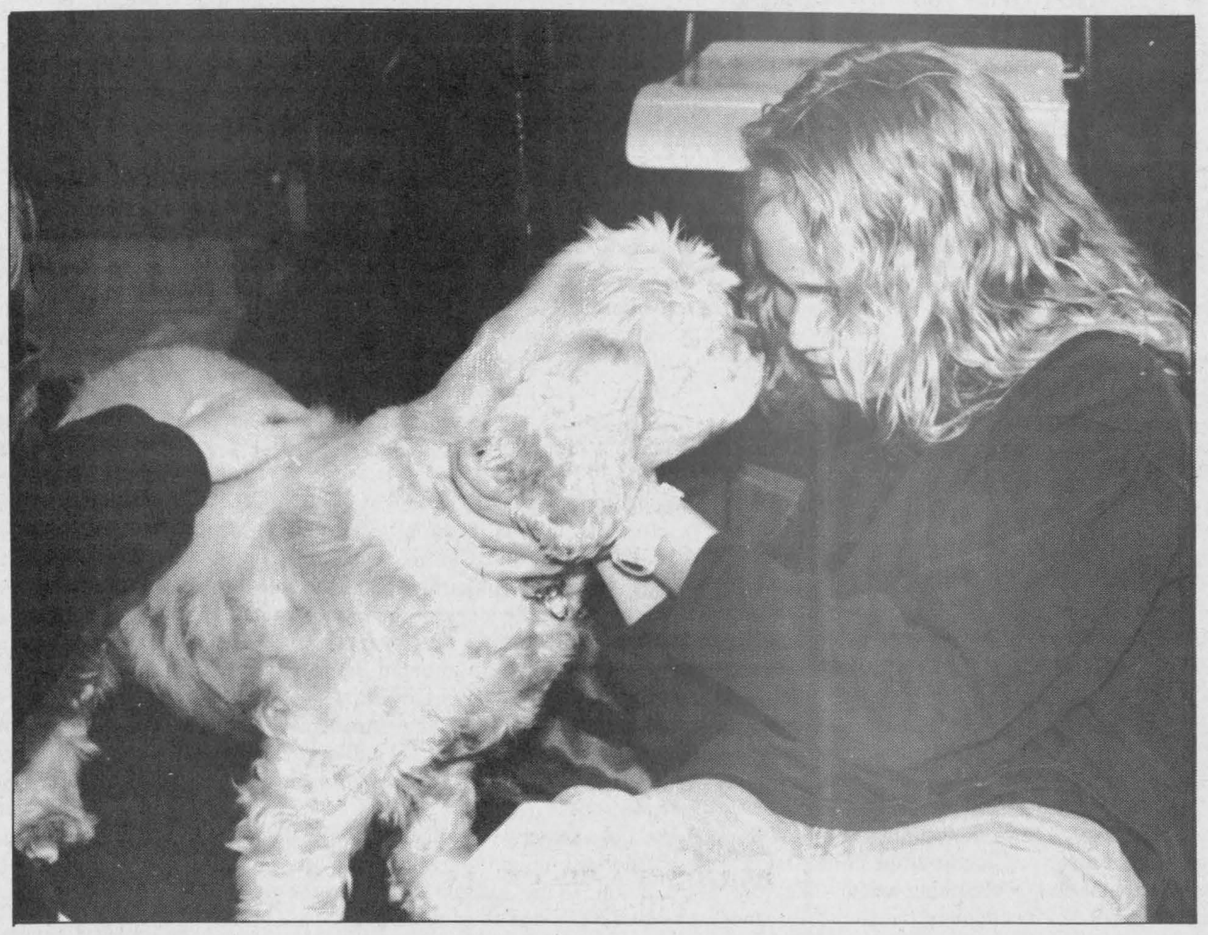
Chesterville fund raiser will help give unwanted animals second chance at life

Elizabeth Moreau
Record Staff



Amanda Whitteker, a member of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church youth group in Chesterville, gets to know Willow, a cocker spaniel from the Ontario Humane Society in Cornwall. The youth group will be raising money for the shelter at a walkathon next Saturday.

A Chesterville fund raiser could help some dogs and cats get a second chance at a happy life. The annual dog walkathon, held by the Lions Club, is raising money for the Cornwall branch of the Ontario Humane Society, which takes in thousands of unwanted animals each year.

The fund raiser, now in its fourth year, has raised money for Boy Scouts and Chesterville fire fighters. But this year, with the involvement of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church youth group, the event will benefit animals.

It's the first community fund raiser ever for the shelter, which opened in 1989.

"We're certainly going to approach other communities about doing this," said shelter president Bonnie Bishop.

"It made sense that the walkathon should help animals," said event organizer Nancy McMahon.

Bishop and shelter supervisor Debbie Boulerice spoke to about 15 children in the youth group Thursday about the work they do caring for animals at the shelter and investigating cruelty complaints in Cornwall and across Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

The shelter, which had to cover a $44,000 deficit last year, receives no money for government sources and relies solely on donations and adoption fees. And the fees — $70 for a dog and $50 for a cat — don't cover the expense involved in caring for the animals.

"We lose money on every pet that comes through the shelter," said Bishop.

Each animal adopted from the shelter is vaccinated, dewormed and injected with a microchip that will allow it to be identified should it be lost or stolen. Those services alone cost about $50. The shelter refunds $25 to new owners who have their animals spayed or neutered.

But most of the animals don't make it out of the shelter. The shelter receives about 200 cats a month, and about 10 eventually find homes.

"If an animal is adoptable, we do what we can for them," said Boulerice. "But unfortunately sometimes we just have to make a decision."

Boulerice said animals brought to the shelter by their former owners have a better chance of being adopted. But very few strays find homes, she said. Some, including litters of puppies and kittens, are left at the shelter's door.

"We're all there because we love animals but the biggest part of the job is killing animals," Boulerice said.

Boulerice brought two dogs to St. Andrew's to show the children who will benefit from their fund raiser. Oakie, an eight-year-old collie, was found in February, 1991, caught in a leg-hold trap. She had been left alone by her owners, outside with no food or water. After surgery and much recuperation, Boulerice adopted her.

The walkathon will be held May 29, starting at Chesterville Public School and continuing along Forward Road.

Everyone is invited to walk their dogs, and people who don't have dogs can still solicit pledges and take turns walking someone else's animal. Water for the dogs and refreshments for the walkers will be available along the route.

Pledge forms are available at Chesterville Public School, St. Mary's School, the post office, Seaway Valley Pharmacy, the Chesterville Record, and Lorilea's Clip Salon and Kennels.

Boulerice said the fund raiser will be a great help to the Boundary Road shelter.

"This is the first community that's ever taken a step," she said.

Winchester Springs group asks township council to contribute toward revitalization of rec facilities

Greg Hewitt
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE — A group trying to breathe new life into the Winchester Springs recreation scene is likely to get help from Winchester Township council.

Linda Steele, of the Winchester Springs Recreation Association approached Winchester Township council Monday along with South Dundas recreation co-ordinator Paul McAllister and unveiled a two-year plan for revitalizing the community hall and other facilities.

"We basically have no running water in the building, no (working) toilet, the building is run down and windows are broken," Steele told council.

The delegation was asking council for a third of the $7,500 cost of the first phase of their plan, which includes vinyl siding on the 1800s building, new windows, ground work and other improvements.

A second phase of the revitalization, which could take place in 1994, will include new bathrooms, windows and water system. The cost of the second phase has not yet been estimated.

The Hamlet of Winchester Springs lies on the border of Williamsburg and Winchester Township. Although the building itself is in Williamsburg, the facilities are open to residents of both municipalities.

Rotting rink boards were taken down earlier this year and will not be replaced because there is little demand for skating in the hamlet.

But Steele told of a 'baby boom' in the area that will create a need for recreational facilities in the future. And a refurbished hall, she said could host euchre parties, bridal and baby showers and meetings.

"We just want to open it up to the community for their own use," Steele said.

Williamsburg Township has conditionally agreed to pay a third of the cost, pending support from Winchester Township. The Winchester Springs Recreation Association, which will hold a fundraising yard sale and barbecue this summer, will pay the remainder.

Steele noted community interest in having a revitalized recreation scene in the hamlet when about 30 people turned up to lend a hand cleaning the site May 1.

McAllister told council that the facility must be attractive in order to generate revenue.

Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau told the delegation that their interest in sprucing up the facilities was appreciated.

Council later agreed in principle to look at methods of finding the $2,500 for the project. Cousineau suggested borrowing from the township's recreation fund and replacing it when the newly-instituted development charges fund grows.

"I think that if we look hard enough, we can find it," Cousineau said.

Tenants? Not in their backyards

The proposed rezoning of a piece of Chesterville land has pitted two groups with sincere intentions against one another. Both the group of village residents trying to stop the rezoning and council members who hope the change will encourage growth have valid concerns. And reconciling the two seems to be an elusive task.

Developer Peter Van Kessel, also a municipal councillor, wants to rezone a piece of land he owns. The problem is that the land — bordered by College, Main, Mary and South streets — is smack in the middle of about 30 houses, and the residents don't want development in their backyards.

Village council is in a difficult position — the sheer number of ratepayers opposed to the rezoning have a loud collective voice impossible to ignore. Council cannot push through the zoning bylaw amendment with so many objections. But the rezoning would also allow for growth in Chesterville, something that has been stalled for many years.

The residents are concerned that the homes Van Kessel wants to build will be rented, but some of their main concerns are centered around misconceptions about people who don't own their own homes.

The residents maintain that tenants have less respect for their homes, will create a loss of pride in the neighborhood, will not properly maintain the area, and somehow will make homeowners feel less secure in times of emergency and disaster.

The simple fact is that many people rent homes because they cannot afford to buy them. Why should small-town, rural living be restricted to people who have enough money to invest in a home. In tough economic times, times of job insecurity, many young couples cannot think about buying their own homes, at least in the short term.

The assumption that people who rent are somehow less respectful and less committed to a neighborhood is false and, indeed, bordering on elitist. Not all tenants are transients who spend a month here and a month there. People who rent a home or apartment often live there for years, and become as attached and concerned about a community as their neighbors who own their own homes.

What's more, the village needs affordable housing. There is a shortage of rental units, and an even greater shortage of ones that are reasonably priced. Affordable housing does not mean ghettos, slums or tenaments. It just means housing that people — be they seniors, single parents, a couple or a person living alone — can afford.

The residents argue that the Van Kessel's land was zoned for single-dwelling homes when they bought their properties, and that it should stay that way. But the bylaw amendment will not cause a drastic change in the permitted land-use, such as from residential to industrial or commercial.

Homeowners — especially those in smaller communities — have a right to help determine and shape the character of their neighborhood. But that right should not extend to halting all development because they are afraid of the unknown.

OFF THE RECORD

Breaking faith with Upper Canada

By Robin Morris
Curatorial Editor

The St. Lawrence Parks Commission has demonstrated once again that its commitment to the preservation of Eastern Ontario's past is predicated on the principles of the philistine. So forgive me, gentle reader, if I'm a mite splenetic this week, abandoning the scalpel of humor to make my point in favor of the sledgehammer of outrage.

And I'm some ticked at the commssion's announcement this week that it is closing the Battlefield Visitor Centre at Crysler Battlefield Park, adjacent to Upper Canada Village, as part of the cutbacks forced on it by Bob and the Bolshies in their province-wide refrain of "we keep our pants held up with a piece of twine".

Comrade Bob and Pink Slip Floyd have slashed $1-million - which amounts to about seven per cent - from the commission's 1993 operating budget, acting as if the commission were just another government agency like, say, the Ministry of Revenue, or the Liquor Licence Board (an agency whose abolition is more than justified given the atavism of its regulations and the savagery with which they are enforced) which cannot be justified to the taxpayer in terms of cost effectiveness.

But the commission is different. It is an income-generating body and if you doubt my word, then just go buy a bag of frites at one of the concession stands at the Village. You'll gag on the product and blanch at the price.

Unfortunately, its income is just dumped into the province's general slush fund and its operating budget is dictated by the twinkies in the Mowat Block.

As a result, commission members and senior staff are forced to dwell on the revenue side of all of the commission's enterprises and history be damned in the process, although there is a vague resemblance to something historical at Fort Henry, even if its world famous Guard seems more interested in endless re-enactments of Michael Caine and Stanley Baker in Zulu than in accurately depicting the British army of 1867.

And so we come, in our typically circumlocutional fashion, to the closure of the Battlefield Visitor Centre, which depicts and honors with its huge mural and stirring slide presentation the story of the battle fought on John Crysler's farm on November 11, 1813 in which a vastly outnumbered British and Canadian force, relying on superior discipline and command, defeated an American army bent on the capture of Montreal and sent it with its tail between its legs back south of the St. Lawrence.

The memorial sits at the base of the battlefield mound, surmounted by its cairn and cannon, in the style so favored in the early 60s when UCV and its surroundings were saved from Lake St. Lawrence and other such depredations of Ontario Hydro.

I never managed to leave that building without having to contend with a lump in my throat. The slide show and sound and light presentation, with its blinking lights depicting the American advance and the solid line of British and Canadian infantry that stood between it and the fall of Montreal, including the brilliantly executed backwards wheel that refused the American cavalry and ultimately won the day, left me with an unfamiliar feeling. A feeling of burning pride in being a Canadian, of paying tribute to those who fell on that sleet-swept farm 180 years ago, of gladly parting with that mean-spirited admission charge so that my sons could visit this shrine.

After all, if there hadn't been a Battle of Crysler's Farm, there wouldn't be an Upper Canada Village. There wouldn't even have been an Upper Canada.

It was the same feeling I got when I followed my father across northern Europe 33 years ago as we re-traced his own Victory Campaign from the Aldershot Barracks to the beaches of Normandy, to Caen, Falaise, Rouen, Belgium, Nijmegen, the Polders and ultimately the Rhine. And the vast cemeteries, where young Canadians are eternally held in the very soil they had come to liberate. Of never knowing exactly what it was like but at least of being empathetic to one who witnessed and was willing to make the sacrifices that were required to make this the greatest country on earth.

(Sorry. Serious interlude.)

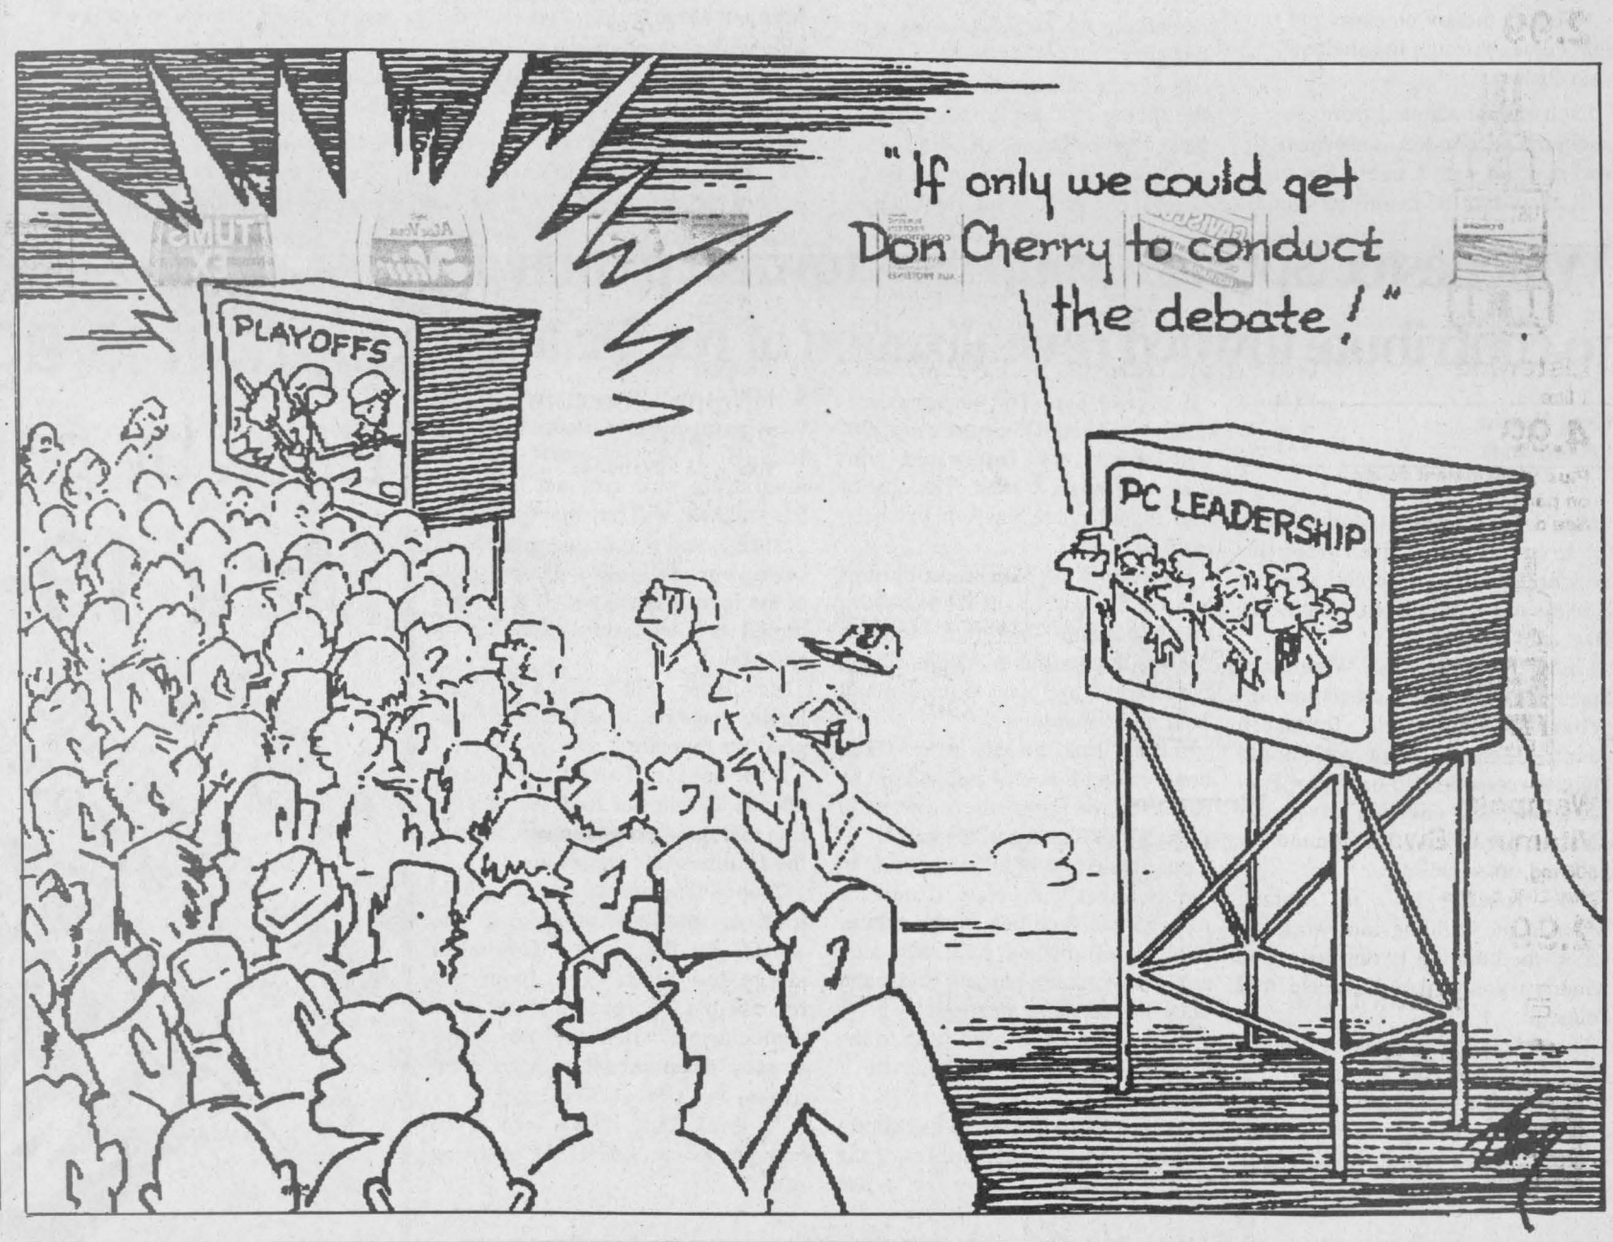
The Visitor Centre itself is a testament to Ontario's care for its heritage.

It looks like a public loo.

Impressive it is not. And out of the way, it certainly is, tucked away from the main attractions like your drunken brother-in-law at a family dinner. Admission to the memorial building had always been free, until last year, that is, when a $1 fee was instituted, as if the price of admission to Six Flags Over Hosaic Creek wasn't enough.

But it couldn't turn a buck and now they've axed it.

And so on November 11th this year, when I have my head bowed in front of the cenotaph here for the two-minute silence, I'll remember the men of the Voltigeurs, the Fencibles, the 49th and the 89th who fell among the frozen furrows in the Battle of John Crysler's Farm and apologize to them, for indeed, we have broken faith with thee.



THE FARMER'S WIFE

By Wyn Thompson

May has been called the "moon of new leaves" and it certainly is. How lovely and green and fresh they are!

May winds down with Canada Day on the 24th, now celebrated, of course, on the closest Monday. Except for flying flags and going to a parade, if one happens to be handy, it stands mainly for a nice, long, holiday weekend. A time to do yard and garden work, open the cottage, barbecue almost every meal, in fact, a time to really celebrate spring, regardless of what you are doing.

In the new, warm spring Lady has taken to laying in front of the garage on a mat. The neighbor's cat comes to call as usual, and Lady rises and begins to bark until I thought she'd bark her fool head off. She advances toward the cat in as tormenting a stance as a 17-year old Spoodle can muster. The cat's patience is about at an end.

I thought they were friends, obviously so did the cat. The cat is less than half Lady's size. His age is unknown, but he must be old. He is orange without a pick of extra fat on his bones, and one- eared. I guess he is bred to travel light and care for himself.

Throughout the winter there seemed to be enough country for both of them. Now winter is over and spring has come. The cat sits on the cement under a blue sky. Early insects buzz by through the warm air, and Lady snaps at them.

Flowers, buds and soft new leaves drip from the trees. Why, having gotten along well enough all winter long, do the dog and cat now aggravate each other at every turn?

Lady advances and retreats and barks and barks and barks...The cat sits and looks at Lady with an incurious gaze, no silly dog is going to run this cat off. Could the cat be deaf as Lady is? Well, I'm not, and I'm getting plenty sick of this barking while I'm planting seeds close by.

The cat gathers his hind quarters under him as Lady advances. The cat flicks out his right paw and hits Lady on the nose. Yowling dog, hissing cat.

The Farmer arrives and Lady sees the softest touch in the world and moves whining and crying to the Farmer as fast as her old arthritic legs would carry her. She was not disappointed, she was petted and soothed and sympathized with, ad nauseum.

"They get through the winter at last, and when spring comes, they start to disagree. In fact, Lady was the perpetrator and doesn't deserve so much sympathy," I scolded.

This served to only bring on another attack of whining and crying and petting and soothing and sympathizing. I went indoors to make supper, among them let it be.

The radio reminded me that this is a time of anxieties, scary headlines, turmoil. For some people the days and nights are very difficult. Neighbor Amanda and I were discussing this topic recently and she said tranquility is "something we must reach for in ourselves."

"It helps me when I feel heavy-laden to stop whatever I am doing and take a breather," she said, "even going to the window and looking out at the sky a few minutes may help ease the tension."

"I take five or ten minutes to dip into a book that has nothing to do with business or my job," I replied, "even going outdoors and pulling some weeds for half an hour may make me feel cross about how fast they are growing, but I come in relaxed."

I have another friend who says when she gets too bothered she does laundry and irons. Ironing would never make me feel tranquil, but she says for her it is very calming.

Most of us have, I think, some refuge from this very disturbing era in history, but it is an individual matter. I find, for myself, walking is also good medicine!

Amanda came over this afternoon with a feed of snow peas. I simply washed and cooked them whole for our supper. They are the Farmer's favorite vegetable.

I cook them a very short time. In fact, the Farmer says I barely cook them at all, I pass the pan over the stove, but that is not really true. I cook them briefly in a small amount of salted boiling water, add butter, milk or a bit of light cream (if not dieting). We often make them our main supper dish, served in warm bowls and dusted with freshly ground pepper.

In May, the house is cool and quiet. When the day is hot, the house never gives in to it, unlike July and August. A rose in a glass bowl looks spring like. I change to soft green candles, and this is about as far as I go for spring.

I am still striving to get the place all together again after my painting binge. Actually, Hill House is too full of a number of things, like Stevenson's world. The painters suggested that I have a garage sale. It probably would be a good idea.

The truth is, life has a way of accumulating treasures which you cannot part with and really have insufficient room for. This is also true of memories, I decide. There are some you cannot part with but really have no place in your present life, so they float in and out, which is usually rather nice.

But, if truth be told, I am a bit of a pack rat, the Farmer also. A friend suggests this comes from being a product of the depression. We are reluctant to throw anything out in case, it might come in handy some day. I suspect there is some truth in this but, there does come a time...

To ponder: "He who sleeps all the morning may go abegging all the day after." - Italian Proberb.

Addresses cause problems for Williamsburg road crew

WILLIAMSBURG — The ground may be ripe for planting sign posts, but some Williamsburg Township residents are not.

Less than 24 hours after work crews began installing posts with the new civic address numbers, several residents removed the signs and put them somewhere else, roads superintendent Hugh Garlough told council Tuesday night.

"We're running into all sorts of peculiarities," said Garlough, who is supervising the job. "Some people have already moved them."

"Those are township property and they (residents) are not supposed to touch them," Reeve Johnny Whitteker said.

A work crew, subsidized by a federal government grant, began installing the signs Monday along Grantly Road. The entire township should be completed by the end of the summer.

But a bylaw passed at Tuesday's council meeting places strict regulations on where the signs can be posted.

According to the bylaw, the post must not be more than one metre from the property line of the street and must be within a one metre distance from the driveway or entrance to the property. The civic number must be between five and six feet high and perpendicular to the road.

Despite the clear definitions, Garlough expects to face more problems when the crew starts working in the municipality's hamlets and villages like Williamsburg, Elma and Dunbar.

"We're going to have a lot more problems when we get to putting the numbers on people's houses," he predicted.

According to the bylaw, ratepayers in residential hamlets may have the sign put on their house rather than a post in the front yard. But the sign must be perpendicular to the street so that it is visible to traffic travelling in either direction.

"This is crazy," Councillor Robert Gillard said. "We spent $30,000 for those signs."

"They're our signs," Councillor Trevor Tolley said. "It's like a stop sign, the township owns the sign."

Council did not specify what, if any, action it would take if residents continued to move the posts. However, it did not rule out charging residents for the signs.

Most rural municipalities in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry are installing addresses this year. The signs are supposed to help emergency vehicles, such as ambulances and fire trucks, find rural homes.

New Osnabruck clerk named

OSNABRUCK CENTRE — Osnabruck's new clerk-treasurer is no stranger to the township's business.

Council last week named former treasurer Betty de Haan to fill the clerk's position, vacant since former clerk Bonnie Dingwall left for a similar job in southeastern Ontario.

De Haan, a Winchester native, has been with the municipality since November 1981, when she signed on as an accounts clerk.

She assumed the duties of treasurer and deputy clerk in 1989.

"It is a new thing for me, but I'm up to the challenge. I'm honored," says de Haan, who lives in Wales village.

Because de Haan is both clerk and treasurer, some duties previously handled by the clerk have been handed to other staffers.

Building official Hilton Cryderman will look after zoning and water and sewer superintendent Bart Whitton will handle economic development.

De Haan says she is confident in the staff she will be working with in the township.

Former tax clerk Kandie Buchan, who has worked at the municipal office since March 1990, has stepped up to take on deputy clerk duties.

Osnabruck Deputy Reeve Doug Leighton said de Haan, being a township employee for a number of years, is well qualified to move up to the clerk's position.

"Council has every confidence in her abilities to do the job," he said.

Eagle Farm Equipment closes doors May 10

WINCHESTER — The future of a local farm equipment dealership is uncertain following the recent death of the company's president.

Eagle Farm Equipment, on Hwy. 43 east of Winchester, closed its doors last week after president Bert Blom died suddenly April 17.

Blom was described as an "enthusiastic and well- respected member of the community." He died in Kemptville at age 52. He had been president of Eagle Equipment, a Case IH dealership, since May 1983.

Eagle closed its doors May 10 and people associated with the Case IH dealership have not provided details about its immediate future and the status of the 15 employees.

Equipment on the site, most of which was on consignment, has been moved to J.R. Brisson Equipment in Casselman.

J.R. Brisson sales manager Doug Goodfellow said the company will honor warranties on all new equipment in eastern Ontario, but cannot honor verbal agreements on used equipment bought at Eagle.

And Goodfellow said the J.R. Brisson dealership has hired some former Eagle mechanics to work at stores in Casselman, Montreal and Ottawa.

Case spokesman Mike Foster said in a telephone interview from Burlington that it is too early to tell what will become of the Eagle dealership.

But he said the company doesn't intend to abandon the Winchester area.

"We believe the Winchester area is a very good area and we certainly intend to find a replacement dealer in the future."

RN appointed head of health council

Liz Edwards
Special to The Record

CORNWALL — Marie Dolan, a registered nurse, says she could have either dealt with health care changes as they happened or help make some of those changes herself.

She decided to do the latter, joining the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario three years ago. Last month she was appointed as chairman of the agency, which acts as an adviser to the Health Ministry on issues in SD&G, Prescott and Russell. Dolan served as the group's treasurer in 1992.

Marie Dolan, a registered nurse and new chairman of the District Health Council of Eastern Ontario, says one of her concerns is gaps in services for seniors, especially those in rural areas who lack transportation.

"It is easier for me to be proactive and part of the planning process rather than be reactive and grumbling later about what maybe I could have had input into," says Dolan, who has spent 12 years with the Victorian Order of Nurses in Russell County and is currently a supervisor for Prescott-Russell and Glengarry counties.

"I consider myself beyond a nurse manager, more into planning globally and not just for nurses, (but) for institutions, hospitals for community nurses, community health...."

Dolan is one of the providers involved with the council, someone who makes a living in a health service industry. Ministry guidelines say 40 per cent of the council must be providers, 40 per cent consumers and 20 per cent representatives from the municipal government.

The positions are volunteer, except for a small administration staff funded by the ministry. Potential members are interviewed by a council selection committee but all final decisions are made by the ministry. When all seats are filled, the eastern Ontario group has 17 members from the community.

"DHC really is of the belief that people who live and work in their own communities are better able to assess their health care needs," says Dolan.

As part of her VON duties, Dolan has been the co-ordinator of 15 foot care clinics in the five counties. She is also a member of the pastoral care outreach team of the Russell United Church.

Her concern about services for the elderly was one of the reasons she became interested in the council's activities.

"I guess one of my main interests was seniors and some of the gaps I discovered when I was doing community nursing in the rural areas such as the lack of transportation," she says.

The group has a number of committees to deal with specific health issues such as long term care, mental health, hospital restructuring and substance abuse. The council members help government identify local health needs as well as develop, assess and implement new policies for its community.

"The Larose Community Health Centre feasibility study was under one of our advisory committees," says Dolan. "We worked with a group of consumers, and with their input and some funding of the government, to help us with that feasibility study, we put forth a proposal for a need for a community health centre in Russell County."

In 1989, the role of district health councils expanded and now the 32 groups across Ontario also work together under the District Health Councils of Ontario.

"It gives us the broader view for instance in a hospital restructuring, we have to look at what will happen for example if Ottawa-Carleton would close a number of surgical beds and how would that affect us," Dolan said.

IN BRIEF

Sites approved for pesticide disposal

GUELPH — After a pilot program last year, Ontario farmers can again dispose of empty agricultural and commercial pesticide containers at any of 51 sites across the province. In 1992 about 30,000 containers were collected. Plastic or metal containers, up to 23 litres in capacity, will be inspected to ensure they are properly cleaned, and processed for recycling. Locally, containers can be dropped off from June 21 to 25, at the Harvex Agromarts in Crysler and Kemptville. For more information, contact any Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office.

Tulip festival begins

OTTAWA — Mad about tulips? Whether you want to look at them, order them, or learn more about the country they come from, Ottawa is the place to be this weekend. The 42nd annual Canadian Tulip Festival runs from May 20 to 24, and is expected to showcase three million of the flowers. The festival includes 38 concerts and many new activities, from cultural events to a Dutch cafe. Recent colder, rainy weather is supposed to make late May an optimum viewing time for blooming tulips. For information, call the tulip hotline at 1-567-4447.

Chesterville challenged to shape up

Elizabeth Moreau

CHESTERVILLE — What started out last year as a fitness challenge between Chesterville and Winchester has grown into a day-long slate of events designed to promote healthy lifestyles for people of all ages.

And organizers of the village's second annual fitness day, held during Canada's Fitweek, hope the event will continue to grow.

"We want to encourage people to become more physically active," said Jane Sachs, a public health nurse with the Eastern Ontario Health Unit. "A lot of medical problems are caused by physical inactivity. We have to be responsible for our own health."

The EOHU has spearheaded the Family Fit Day, to be held May 29 in Chesterville and May 30 in Winchester, but a group of volunteers has organized the activities.

"Last year the health unit took a lead role, but this year we have a lot more volunteers," said Chesterville recreation director Robin Langille.

Volunteer committee chairwoman Fay Gallinger said more activities will be available for children this year.

At 9 p.m. a five-kilometre fun run for both villages will start at North Dundas District High School. At 10:30, Power by Jennifer on Industrial Drive will offer free aerobics.

All other events will be held at the Chesterville fairgrounds near the arena, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Demonstrations by various groups will be held on a stage, and include gymnastics, jujitsu, aerobics, line dancing, thi chi, and boxing.

At the same time, village residents can take part in horseback riding, horseshoes, parachute games, an obstacle course, biking and walking. A blood pressure clinic and wellness check will also be offered. Face painting for children will be available from 1 to 3 p.m.

At 4 p.m. on May 30, fire fighters from Chesterville and Winchester will square off in a baseball game at the Winchester Arena.

Anyone who takes part in 20 minutes of exercise of any kind on May 29 can fill out a ballot at the fairground and will be eligible for prizes. If you can't make it to the fairgrounds, but still exercise, you can call 448-3285 fom 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SD&G board saves summer school

Developmentally challenged kids will attend Stampville

Michelle Valiquet
Special to The Record

CORNWALL — Parents of developmentally challenged children in Dundas County are singing the praises of public board trustees and staff who managed to partially resurrect a summer school program that had been lost to budget cuts.

Two weeks ago both local school boards as well as the majority across the province cancelled summer school programs when the Ontario government slashed education spending as part of $4 billion worth of cuts.

The government cut $635 million from education and training. The definition of full-time students was tightened, meaning boards got fewer grant dollars for high school students. Funding for technology and computers has been cut in half. And funding for elementary summer school has been eliminated.

But when the SD&G Public Board, faced with a $10,000 deficit if it proceeded with the developmentally challenged program, voted out summer school for its elementary students, Mountain Township parent Bill Lyon wasn't prepared to accept the pronouncement.

"I got on the phone to Cornwall and sought the help of Bill Roddy (superintendent of school services) and David Hill (co-ordinator of special services)," says Lyon, whose 13-year-old son Mike will attend the summer school with a dozen or so other developmentally challenged elementary students.

"It is so key that these kids get the repetition, the reinforcement...and don't lose the skills they have been building all year at school," says Lyon.

With the help of the board staff, Lyon learned the Ministry of Education will provide $4,780 to transport pupils from their homes to Stampville Public School, site of the developmentally challenged summer school program. With a large portion of the program's cost now being covered by the ministry, the parents and board administration prepared a presentation for the trustees.

Lyon and parent Gayla Postma led a delegation that went before the school board last Tuesday. The board then was presented with a clarification of the program's financing and the proposal of proceeding with the summer school program for the dozen or so developmentally challenged students at Stampville Public School near Iroquois.

It voted overwhelmingly to continue the program.

"We had tremendous support around the table, the board was certainly out to help us in every way," notes Lyon.

"It's time they got some credit for all the hard work they do, not just for the developmentally challenged kids but for all the kids," says Lyon. "They really agonize over every cut they have to make."

Lyon is not ready to rest on his victory laurels. He is also hoping to collect $5,000 in donations to help restart the therapeutic riding program lost to board budget cuts last year, previously offered to developmentally challenged students.

IN BRIEF

Municipalities reject cost transfer deal

TORONTO — An association representing 700 Ontario municipalities has rejected a deal which would see the province pay the full costs of welfare in exchange for other services like roads and property assessment.

The Association of Municipalities of Ontario, which negotiated a draft agreement on disentanglement with the province in January, passed a resolution last week citing recent cutbacks to municipalities and the government's proposed social contract as some of the reasons for rejecting the agreement, which is to take effect in January, 1994.

Smaller municipalities like Chesterville would not be affected by the deal, but the United Counties would assume responsibility for 70 kilometres on Hwy. 2 and the property assessment office. In March counties council went on record as opposing the agreement.

IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORIAM

McMILLAN - In loving memory of a dear father Charles and dear mother Theresa who passed away June 21, 1986 and May 23, 1990.

Do not stand at my grave and weep,
I am not there, I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow,
I am the diamond glints on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,
I am the gentle autumn's rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush,
I am the swift uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in circled flight;
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry,
I am not there, I did not die.

Sadly missed and always loved
by their family

40

IN MEMORIAM

JOHNSTONE - In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Lillian E., who passed away May 22, 1990.

There will come a day
When God will make us understand
Why Lillian was called away.
We miss her because we loved her
She was dearer than silver and gold.
No treasure can ever replace her
Remembrance will never grow old.

Sadly missed by mother Verna Johnston
and sisters Pearl Hanna,
Jean Heatherington and Ina
Prodonick

40

IN MEMORIAM

BECKSTEAD - In loving memory of our mother and grandmother Hazel A. who passed away May 21, 1986.

Beside your grave we often stand,
And try so hard to understand.
The tears in our eyes, we wipe away,
But the pain in our heart is there to stay.
They say memories are golden,
Well, maybe, that is true,
But we never wanted memories,
We only wanted you.
But now we cherish the memories.

We miss you Mom!
Your family,
Marlene,
Francis and Marlene,
Mervyn and Edie
and Families

40

IN MEMORIAM

MONTGOMERY - In loving memory of a dear husband, dad and grandpa, Edwin who died one year ago, May 24, 1992.

Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And silent tears still flow.
For what it meant to lose you, Dad
No one will ever know.

Sadly missed and loved always wife Doris,
son Colonel,
daughters Carol, Sharon, Janie,
Gloria and their families

Best Wishes from your family

HAPPY BIRTHDAY BEV.

Love from your family & friends

CARD OF THANKS

CARD OF THANKS

While I was a patient in the Ottawa Civic Hospital I was the recipient of many visits, get well wishes, flowers, treats and the sincere prayers of many people. The many visits and prayers of various clergymen are also very much appreciated. For these acts of kindness I wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives. Thankyou, also, for the excellent medical care I received her at home and in Ottawa. On behalf of myself and my family, please accept my sincere thanks.

Barry Armstrong

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to our children for all the work and devotion they put into our 60th wedding anniversary to make it such a memorable and happy occasion. Special thanks to St. James U.C.W. for catering to the afternoon tea. Thanks again for the gifts, cards and our friends and relatives for making our 60th anniversary such a great celebration.

Clarence and Betty Boyd

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Michael Larose wishes to express their sincere thanks to their relatives, friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness at the time of the death of our dear son, brother and grandson. Special thanks to Wallace and Eunice Carruthers, John and Marguerite Van Bruinessen and Rev. Bert DeBruijn for their support and words of comfort. Your generosity and thoughtfulness were deeply appreciated in our time of sorrow and will always be remembered.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to extend a heartfelt thank you to my friends and family for helping celebrate my 40th birthday. Also for all the good wishes, cards and gifts, but most of all for just being there. Special thank you to all those who helped in any way to organize and decorate and make everything just right.

TOWNSHIP OF OSNABRUCK

NOTICE OF FILING

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDY REPORT
UPGRADING OF THE SEWAGE SYSTEM
FOR THE COMMUNITY OF INGLESIDE
TOWNSHIP OF OSNABRUCK

NOTIFICATION DATE:

THURSDAY, THIS 20TH DAY OF MAY, 1993

As a requirement under Ontario's Environmental Assessment Act, the Corporation of the Township of Osnabruck hereby notifies all interested individuals and parties that the Environmental Study Report (ESR) for the above-mentioned project has been completed. Subject to the comments received as a result of this Notice and the receipt of other approvals as necessary, the Corporation of the Township of Osnabruck intends to proceed with the construction of the above-mentioned project.

The purpose of the sewage works project for the community of Ingleside is to carry out improvements on the trunk sewer, pumping station and sewage treatment facilities. All existing development and eventually all lands within the proposed boundaries of the community of Ingleside will benefit from this undertaking.

The estimated cost of the project is $12,303,600 with the Province of Ontario through the Ministry of the Environment and Energy (MOEE) contributing approximately 48 percent of the funds for the project. The balance of the funds will be provided through a joint arrangement between Kraft General Foods Canada Ltd. (KGFC) and the Township of Osnabruck through a formal cost sharing agreement. The Township share of the costs for the project are to be recovered from the land owners in the community by applying a cost recovery rate based on those land owners who will derive a direct benefit from the project and those land owners who will obtain a deferred (future) benefit.

To date, planning for the project has included the identification of the problem, the identification of alternatives the evaluation of alternatives, the selection of the preferred alternatives, public participation meetings and mandatory contacts all of which are summarized in the Environmental Study Report. Since environmental consideration and public and mandatory contacts have revealed no negative impacts, and if an Environmental Assessment Hearing is not required, it is projected that construction will proceed in the fall of 1993.

The planning item which remains to be carried out is an application to the MOEE for a Certificate of Approval to authorize the undertaking. Detailed design of the sewage works system will follow the approval by the MOEE.

The ESR will be filed for review and public comment at the following location and times:

The Corporation of the Township of Osnabruck
County Road No. 14
North of Ingleside
Ingleside, Ontario
9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.
Tel. No. (613) 537-2362

To see a copy of the Class Environmental Assessment, or for further information, contact either the Corporation or the Consulting Engineers at the address below.

Interested individuals and parties have 30 calendar days from the date of this Notice to comment on the proposal. Comments must be made in writing and must be received at the Municipal Office of the Township of Osnabruck by 4:00 p.m. on Friday the 18th day of June, 1993.

If concerns regarding this project cannot be resolved, a person/party may request that the Minister of the Environment and Energy "bump-up" this project to an environmental assessment.

"Bump-up" requests must be submitted to the address below:

The Honourable Bud Wildman
Minister of the Environment and Energy
135 St. Clair Avenue West
15th Floor
Toronto, Ontario
M4V 1P5

If there are no concerns expressed by the above date, the provision of the sewage works system for the Village of Ingleside will proceed with construction as presented in the ESR.

Dated at the Township of Osnabruck, this 20th day of May, 1993. The last date for filing of objections is the 18th day of June, 1993.

LETTERS

Light of the past

To the editor:

I am more than pleased to again receive the "home town paper, a gift from a friend(s). Many of the people I grew up with have passed away or have long since left the village. But there are families who have lived and grown up in Chesterville whom I only know through the columns of your paper. Yet, I have followed the lives of these people and I seem to know them intimately. These lines by James Graham seem to be apt:

What strange and mysterious links enchain the heart, to regions where the morn of life was spent.

Will you thank the donor(s) for so kindly remembering me and filling my life with the light of the past

Stuart T. MacMillan, F.S.C.
Scarborough, Ont.

OBITUARY

Keith Summers

Keith Woodrow Summers of Western Ave. in Ottawa died May 15, 1993 at the Elizabeth Bruyere Centre in Ottawa. He was 80.

MacDonald Feed Mill has been in business since September 1977, and for the first eight years was located in South Mountain. In December 1985, we purchased the former H.E. Saunders & Sons mill at Inkerman and in 1986 the South Mountain mill was closed and all of the company's operations moved to Inkerman.

Since 1977 we have been associated with New Life Mills Limited, a feed company with three major mills in Western Ontario and another in Nova Scotia. This association provides us with nutritional services and enables us to keep abreast of new developments in feeds and feeding.

MacDonald Feed Mill offers a complete line of feeds to Eastern Ontario dairy, poultry and hog producers. These feeds are available both in bags and in bulk. We also offer forage analysis and dairy ration balancing services.

If you purchase feed for livestock and/or poultry in large or small amounts, we are anxious to serve you. Come in to the office in Inkerman or call us at 989-2003.

Looking for a unique experience? Why not stop in Iroquois and check out Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe and Nostalgia Museum? Tucked in among the business section along Dundas Street this rare treasure trove of antiques and collectables is owned and operated by Dorothy-Jean Touchette. Open every day except Monday and Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. or by appointment, this is a unique experience for sure. Closed during December and part of January, the lighter collection alone is a wonderful way to wander down memory lane. Salt and Pepper sets abound and the other interesting items that line the display cupboards, the walls and showcases create an atmosphere of charm and fascination that entertain, and intrigue all who enter Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe. Drop by, Dorothy-Jean's only too happy to give everyone the opportunity to check out her treasures. Her friendly smile and down-home character make this a marvellous way to spend some time.

Many have come by to check out the numerous antiques and collectables since the Shoppe opened officially on July 2, 1990, why not be among the inquisitive who stop to enjoy the special appeal?

There's a welcome for one and all at Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe in Iroquois.

Prehistoric World is a tourist attraction whose concept is to build full-size reproductions of prehistoric animals and display them in a realistic natural setting. Visitors can stroll at their own pace along a 1 kilometre nature trail and examine the sculptures arranged to represent various stages of evolution ranging from the small primitive reptiles of the Paleozoic, to the gigantic dinosaurs of the Jurassic and Cretaceous and including a section for the primitive mammals of the Cenozoic and Quaternary. Over 40 exhibits have been completed and the project is continually expanding, providing an added interest to visitors as they can witness the various construction phases of the latest additions. Prehistoric World is as educational as it is awesome! It's a favourite for school trips and a perfect outing for the whole family.

Located on Upper Canada Road just a minute north of highway two and a minute south of highway 401 (exit 758), Prehistoric World is one of the most fascinating attractions in the area. Great for kids of all ages! If you have not yet visited, make sure you don't miss this place. It's an experience you'll never forget.

Fulfilling all your new house needs, D.L. Shaver, Equipment Rental of R.R. 2, Iroquois is owned and operated by David L. Shaver.

Dealing in heavy equipment rentals and aggregates, David grew up in the family business, which for the past 45 years has maintained a reputation for fair business practices in the Iroquois area. Four years ago he took over the reins from his father Lee and added a hy-hoe to the list of equipment he has available to work. Brother Mark is on hand to assist in the business as well as Lee who likes to keep his finger on the gearshift as well.

Selling top soil, sand, stone & gravel; all aggregate material; and offering backhoe, hy-hoe, dozers and various sizes of dump trucks and trailers (single axle and tandems), David offers Class 1 & 2 Complete Septic System installations as well. Licensed under the Ministry of Environment all work is "satisfaction guaranteed."

Digging basements, backfilling them and landscaping, D.L. Shaver Equipment is ready to fulfill all your new house needs as well as those renovations to older homes, driveways, yards, fencerows, farms etc.

"Free Estimates" allow you to compare as you choose a contractor.

Trust a name well known in the Iroquois area for workmanship, solid business practices and jobs well done - give Dave a call at 652-2051 or 652-4207.

Lynn's Crafty Corner first opened its doors on November 1, 1989 in Crysler's former Post Office. Very soon this location was too small. In September 1991 she relocated to Crysler's former Presbyterian Church where she now has a full line of crafts and craft supplies for everyone's needs.

She also holds many classes for people who wish to make their own. Children and Adult classes are available. Just recently with help from her husband, she expanded and opened a second location, located in Finch, Ontario on 20 Main St. This location has a wide variety of antiques, crafts, craft supplies and collectibles. Feel free to drop into either location and browse through these very unique stores.

Look how they've grown

Mary Derue and daughter-in-law Cindy started Derue's Catering five years ago. But what started out simply as a whim has grown steadily over the years to a small catering business to one that supplies even the largest weddings.

Mary, a mother of three and Cindy, a mother of four, developed the business from a small cottage industry to a full-fledged catering service.

Their services range from the small, intimate occasions to large gatherings. The Derues offer home-cooked dinners and fine desserts for weddings, banquets, anniversaries, and parties. They have also catered for local service groups such as the Lion's Club and Rotary Club.

When looking for a caterer, from casual to formal, why not call:

Moose Creek Mall

Celebrates Its 14th Anniversary

After many years of dreaming of having her own clothing store, Thérèse Théoret began her ladies clothing boutique from her home and began building a solid reputation throughout eastern Ontario.

In 1977 the local elementary school closed and within 2 years the renovated school building became home to Chez Thérèse and several other stores. The 9,000 sq. ft. building that once housed school children is now the Moose Creek Mall at 5,000 sq. ft. employing 27 people.

Daughter Ginette Lemieux has worked with her mother for eighteen years and now co-manages the ladies' boutique. She also opened Salon Alliance Bridal Boutique in the fall of 1991.

Gerry Théoret, Thérèse's husband, manages the Mall and the Blue Lantern Restaurant which offers full-course meals and a well-known Sunday Brunch!!

Son Michel runs Vimi Shoes, which carries hard-to-find sizes for ladies' (4 to 12) and men (7 to 15).

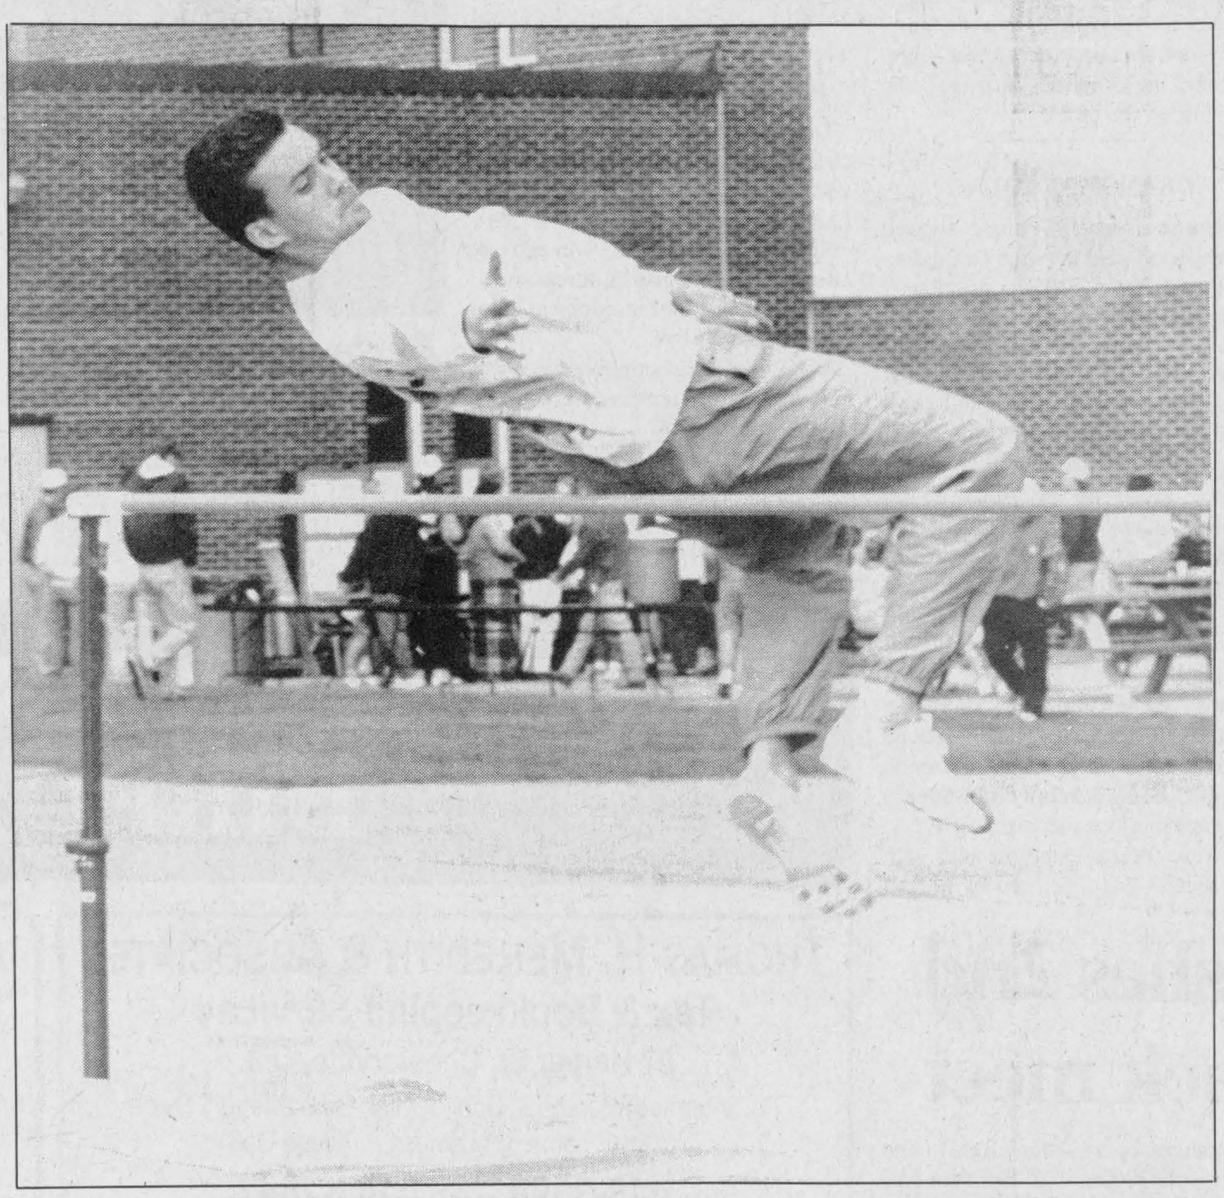
Son Richard operates Richard's Men's Wear, clothing for men and young men. Sizes 36 to 54.

Even the Théoret's grandchildren help keep the Moose Creek Mall successful, working after school and Saturdays.

The Moose Creek Mall has become a "Place of Fashion" in eastern Ontario. The assortment and sizes of quality merchandise goes far beyond ordinary stores. You can even shop at this Mall and purchase complete wedding attire. Bridal gowns, bridesmaid, mother's and flower girl dresses, men's formal wear, and satin shoes and handbags expertly dyed to match your wedding outfit.

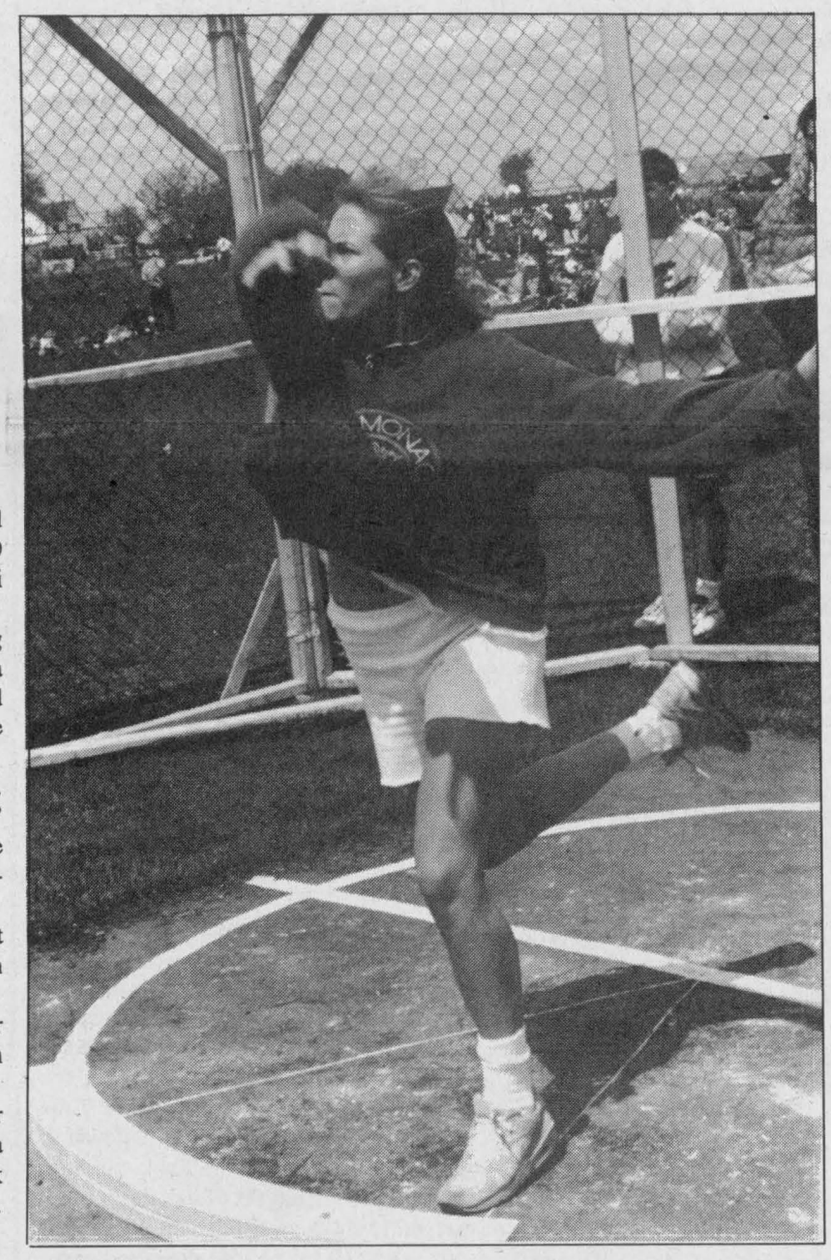
All under one roof!! It's worth the short drive for great service, savings and quality merchandise.

The Record Sports



The SD&G track meet at Tagwi Secondary Thursday drew the top secondary school athletes from around the district. Tanya Foley, far left, competed for NDDHS in the 300 m hurdles. Tagwi's Rod McKillican, left, took first place in the senior boys' high jump. Rothwell-Osnabruck's Heidi Vanderglind, below, finished third in both senior girls' discus and shot put.

Tagwi hosts SD&G track and field meet



Quality, not quantity puts R-O on top

Chris Thatcher
Record Staff

Rothwell-Osnabruck may have a small track and field team, but that didn't mean very much at the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry meet Thursday at Tagwi.

Multiple winners were the norm for the Ingleside high school.

Of the 32 athletes entered, 13 qualified —in 21 events —for the Eastern Ontario Secondary School Athletic Association (EOSSAA) championships at Grenville Christian next week. Six more placed in the top six.

Senior Christine Bancroft qualified for the East Regional in four events, long jump, javelin, 100 metres and the 4x100 metre relay. The multi-talented athlete took gold in the long jump with a jump of 4.40 metres and placed fourth —the EOSSAA cut off —in the 100 metres with a 14.42 clocking. Seaway's Rhonda Beckstead won the event in 13.65 seconds.

Bancroft placed second in the javelin and, with Heidi Vanderglind, Kelly Rombough and Christine Salzer, took the silver medal in the 4x100 relay with a time of 59.32. St. Lawrence won the event in 57.09 seconds.

Vanderglind also landed two third-place showings in the senior discus and shot put competitions. Kathleen Getchell finished second in the shot put and fourth in the discus event.

Rombough collected her second medal with a bronze in junior discus.

Teammate Valerie Robinson won the event with a throw of 28.55 metres. Robinson also won gold in the shot put (9.58 metres) and placed second in the javelin competition.

In the boys' division, R-O walked away with four medals in the midget category.

Steve Iwachniuk won the high jump and shot put events. He cleared the bar at 1.58 for the high jump gold and tossed a 12.75-metre throw in the shot. Iwachniuk also finished fourth in the discus.

Shane Costick won the triple jump, landing a jump of 10.51 metres.

Ryan Schmitz and Ben Walker will represent the junior division. Schmitz placed fourth in the 110-metre hurdles and Walker finished second in the shot put.

Ken McLeod won the senior boys' triple jump with a 11.65-metre jump. Shawn Peever earned a silver medal in the discus with a throw of 34.50 metres and Brent Starzacher placed fourth in the 200 metre sprint.

R-O dominance in the field events did not come as a surprise to track coach Bob Thompson. The athletes, he said, don't have much choice.

"Our track isn't very good so we've concentrated on the discus, shot put and so on."

Thompson has been helped over the last few years by several former students, including Nancy Simpson (nee Shaver) who still holds the EOSSAA record for junior girls' discus (40.08 metres).

MCKILLICAN GOLDEN

Rod McKillican won two gold medals and finished fourth in the 100 metre sprint, leading a small Tagwi team.

McKillican won the gruelling senior 110-metre sprint hurdles in a time of 17.56 seconds, and claimed gold in the high jump, clearing the bar at 1.85 metres.

"We've got a small team, 30 in all, and we're not that strong in track," admitted coach Sean Lee. "But we had a good day and we'll be represented at EOSSAA."

Joining McKillican at the East Regional are Connie Frei, John Paupst and Dave Beaudette.

Frei placed fourth in the junior girls' 100-metre hurdle competition with a time of 16.67 seconds.

Paupst finished third in the junior boys' 1,500-metre event with a 4:55.62 clocking and Beaudette took fourth in the 200-metre sprint. Beaudette's time was 24.90 seconds

Casselman leads Tagwi Warriors to first place soccer tie

Chris Thatcher
Record Staff

Tagwi's Jennifer Casselman, right, helped her team into a tie for first place last week with a goal in a 2-1 win over Rothwell-Osnabruck and three more in a 3-1 win over Seaway.

Jennifer Casselman scored four goals, helping the Tagwi Secondary School senior girls' soccer team into a tie for first place.

The striker struck once in a 2-1 win over Rothwell-Osnabruck and buried all three in a 3-1 decision over Seaway District at the first of two one-day SD&G "A" tournaments.

The Warriors also lost a 2-0 contest with Char-Lan but ended up in a tie for the top spot after R-O downed the Crusaders 2-0 in the final game of the day in Iroquois. Both Tagwi and Char-Lan sport 2-1 records while the Lancers and the Spartans are 1-2. All four teams will face each other again today (Wednesday) at Tagwi to decide final rankings for the playoffs.

Tagwi keeper Sherri McIntosh held R-O to one goal, midway through the second half, on a shot by Christine Bancroft. Warriors' left winger Colleen Murray scored the winner.

Tagwi struggled in its second contest with Char-Lan but rebounded in its final match, easily handling Seaway on the strength of Casselman's three markers.

"All the teams are pretty close," Warriors' coach Keith Daniels said. "It should be a good finish."

LANCERS CRAMPED

Cramped field conditions and lack of scoring proved to be the major obstacles for the Rothwell-Osnabruck senior team.

The Lancers played all three of their matches on a small elementary school field and, with 22 players on the pitch, there was little room to manoeuvre. The restricted field effectively shut down any passing game.

After the opening loss to Tagwi, R-O dropped a 2-0 decision to Seaway. Both Spartan goals came off strange plays around the Lancer net.

Keeper Valerie Robinson prevented a three-game sweep, shutting out the Char-Lan Crusaders in the second half of the final match.

Robinson stopped four difficult shots under pressure as the Lancers posted a 3-1 win over the only undefeated team.

Gail Garlough, Bancroft and Nancy Dunbar did the scoring.

JUNIOR LANCERS

The Rothwell-Osnabruck junior girl's team, also restricted by the extremely small field, slipped to 1-2 following losses to Tagwi and Char-Lan.

Kelly Rombough buried two markers, striking once in a 3-1 loss to the Warriors and again in 2-1 victory over Seaway.

Laurie Gillard provided the second marker in the win over the Spartans.

"We only had 11 players for the second game and we're missing two of our better players," coach Al Merrizzi said. "They should be there next week."

The Lancers lost Theresa Walls for the remainder of the season after the fullback broke her collarbone during a collision in the first game.

Char-Lan was the only junior side to remain undefeated.

Ladies' ball hockey

Deep Purple earns first point of season

CHESTERVILLE—Angie Ganter and her linemates, Leslie McMillan and Kim Merkley, combined to give Deep Purple their first point of the three week-old Chesterville/Winchester Ladies Ball Hockey League season.

The trio gave Deep Purple a dramatic 2-2 come-from-behind tie with the Green Machine in the opener of last Thursday's triple header.

Green Machine churned out a 2-0 lead in the opening period. Jennifer Preston slapped in a relay from Kathryn Houze and Lori Cook at 14:30 and Houze made it two zip with help from Sharron Saunders with 3:17 left in the frame.

Period two was scoreless as goalies Laura Sherrer (Green) and Nancy Vanderveen (Purple) played flawlessly in the nets.

It looked as if Deep Purple would go through their third consecutive game without a point or even a goal. Time had ticked into the final minute. They still trailed 2-0 and had not scored their first goal of the season.

But a lucky bounce got things turned in Purple's direction.

Kim Merkley and Leslie McMillan had worked the ball to Ganter, who was out in front of Sherrer's net. Ganter turned and shot the ball. It struck a Green defender and bounced into the net with 0:45 left in the game.

The same trio worked their magic for the 2-2 tie with Ganter slapping a 25 foot shot into the lower right corner of the Green net with just 0:02 showing on the clock.

ORANGE 3 - AQUA 2

Deanna Corbett-White's second third-period goal gave the Orange-A-Tangs a 3-2 win over the previously undefeated Aqua Aces.

Orange broke up a scoreless encounter at 4:10 of the second period when Andrea Acheson scored from Deanna Corbett-White and Catie Clapp. It was the first goal of the season given up by Aqua goalie Jackie Boulanger.

Deanna Corbett-White then jumped into action and opened up a 2-0 lead scoring from Acheson and Monique Rutley at 6:26 of period three.

The Aces ruined Roxanne McLaren's shut-out bid one second later (6:25) when Linda Hamelin snapped home a relay from Sandra Brunner to close the gap to 2-1.

Corbett-White came through with her second goal, assisted by Megan Filion, and the Orange-A-Tangs had a 3-1 edge.

Jackie Morris scored on a feed from Rhonda Boulanger and Connie Bryan with 0:15 left in the game but 3-2 was as close as the Aces could come.

LADIES 1 - OLD YELLER 0

Diane Shane scored from Heather Graham at 12:42 of the first period and that was all it took for the Pink Ladies to nip winless Old Yeller 1-0.

Sherry Stewart got the win and has allowed just one goal in three starts. Elaine Teplate took the loss in spite of some hard work.

The Pink Ladies improved to 3-0-0 and took sole possession of first place with the win.

Orange-A-Tangs and Aqua Aces are tied with four points. Green Machine has three, Deep Purple one and Old Yeller no points.

NDDHS finishes 2nd at SD&G track meet

AVONMORE—Lauren Clobridge and Murray Link combined for six first place medals here at Tagwi High School last Thursday.

The fleet-footed runners earned Top Athlete honors with Clobridge picking up the "Best Midget Girl" trophy and Link carrying off the "Best Junior Boy" award.

The North Dundas Devils also fielded the "Top Junior Girls'" team and earned enough points for a second place total of 351 points. The Glengarry Gaels finished a very close third with 350. La Citadelle successfully defended their SD&G "AA" track and field championship earning 501 points.

"Overall we (NDDHS) did very well," reported North Dundas Devils' coach Hugh Conlin.

"We had a small team this year and were a little weak at the Senior level. I believe we had just four athletes in that bracket and our Midget team was also small."

Conlin, NDDHS physical education department director, said the 1993 SD&G Meet (co-hosted by NDDHS and Tagwi) certainly had some special moments.

"Our highlights had to include the effort of Lauren Clobridge who was Top Midget Girl and Murray Link who was the Top Junior Boy," he said.

"The effort of people like Tamara Bond, Sean Salter, Corey Dignard and Doug O'Connor at the Senior level was great. They went out and got a lot of points for us (Devils)."

It is the second year in a row that North Dundas has fielded a team of 35 for the SD&G Meet and the second year they have finished second to the powerful team from La Citadelle.

"We will work at rebuilding the numbers. They are down now but the students have changing interests and drop off the team. But it was still a very good effort," Conlin explained.

Devils' coach Patti Hall backed up Conlin's assessment noting," we have a small team this year. People didn't train so they aren't here. You can't compete if you aren't prepared."

She added, "we concentrated more on individual performances. It is hard to put together a big (point total) team effort."

BIG EFFORT

What they lacked in numbers and total points the Devils made up for in individual determination and effort.

Murray Link, competing in his second year at the high school level, managed to reset one record on a bitterly cold and windy day.

He won all three events he entered....the 800m, 1500m and 3000m, but only with some extraordinary drive.

Link set the new Junior 1500m mark at 4:13.64 and waited for the afternoon to resume his work.

A tight schedule had him run the 800m and five minutes later the gruelling 3000m.

He crossed the finish line winning the 800m in 2:02.1 (record 2:01.6) and ran back across the infield to line up for the 3000m with less than five minutes rest.

Following the near miss of the 800m record Link explained, "That wind killed me. It really hits you over there (pointing to the east side of the track) but pushes you a bit coming home. And it's cold."

Just before the 800m Link noted that he didn't think he could get all three records a second year in a row because of the cold and he had no one to really push him.

With little recovery time for the 3000m, Link looked dazed and actually ran second for the first two laps before finally rallying and winning with his famous final lap kick.

He clocked a 9:34.3 for the win, well off the record of 9:26.8.

Between gasps for air Link said it really was a terrible way to schedule the two races...."I almost passed out over there (near the start line)."

"If I had had another 10 minutes break I would have done better....but oh well...I guess that's just the way it goes. I still have another year to try for the record."

20 QUALIFY

The North Dundas Devils collected 16 gold medals and qualified 20 athletes and two relay teams for this week's EOSSAA championship meet at Grenville Christian School near Brockville.

Tamara Bond, one of the few Senior Devils competing, enjoyed a successful day on the track winning the 1500m in 6:00.61 and the 3000m in 12:54.0 and finishing second in the 800m in 2:49.99 she noted prior to the 800m, "I have had two good races (3000m and 1500m) but I don't think I can make it three (800m)"....she was second.

Senior Sean Salter, SD&G's Top Junior Boy last year, said he didn't have a lot of time to train this year but won the javelin (46.62m) and was second in the shot put (10.92m).

Salter won the javelin on his last throw of the day, "I had to win it on my last throw. The guy that was ahead of me really put on a show with his last toss and took the lead. I didn't like the way he did it so I thought I could pull one out of the hat too."

Tonia Foley, two firsts in the sprint hurdles (13:06) and 300m hurdles (52:84) and a second in the 200m (30:00), said following her win in the 300m hurdles, "it was just too cold to do really well today."

Senior Devil runner Doug O'Connor and Seaway's Robert Farlinger put on a crowd pleasing two-man race in the 400m hurdles which O'Connor won (1:04.69) in a sprint over the last 30m.

O'Connor said, while trying to recover, "that was really close. I was just happy to finish. I do this (track) just for fun now."

O'Connor couldn't recover sufficently enough to run his final event, the 200m sprint. He had earlier recorded a close second-place finish in the 100m clocking a 11.70 to the winning time of 11.60 by La Citadelle's Marc Leclair.

Men's ball hockey

McGill hockey experience benefits red-hot Marcellus

Brian Helmer handed the Top Valu Jokers their first loss of the Chesterville/Winchester Ball Hockey League season Wednesday night.

Helmer scored all five goals, leading the Winchester Legion Blues to a 5-3 victory over the Jokers at the Chesterville Arena.

Meanwhile, Jumpin' Jack's Flashes, with re- enforcements in the lineup, shellacked the previously undefeated Cooperators 13-2 on a five-goal effort from Mike Desormeaux, and the DPT Red Wing netted their first win doubling the Sierra Grande Green Machine 6-3.

With their third straight win, the Blues improved to 3-1-0, tied with the Jokers for first.

Top Valu struck first when Dennis Ouellette capped a Will O'Conner and Jerrold Boulanger passing play at 14:36 of the first period. But the lead fell apart less than three minutes later.

Helmer scored twice in a two minute span, with Derek Brannen assisting on both. Matt Vermilyea and Dolton Henry also drew helpers.

Ouellette picked up his second marker early in the second to even the count, but the Blues were back in the lead by the 13-minute mark. Helmer beat goalie Paul Bjergso twice in the second and slipped in his fifth midway through the third.

Scott Barkley (2), Steve Johnston, Duane Burd, Henry and Brannen provided the help.

O'Conner scored the Joker's third goal on a late rush with Boulanger and Glen Mackie assisting.

FLASHES 13, COOP 2

Don and Todd Marcellus will be having a talk this week, something along the lines of not embarrassing your older brother.

Todd, in his first game since returning from McGill University, scored four goals and assisted on seven more, setting a record for most points in a game.

Don, backstopping the Cooperators, looked like a target in a shooting gallery, and was left with the dubious record of most goals allowed in a game.

Chris Berkers and Jeff Holmes also scored two goals apiece while Chris Van Bridger, Chris Hart and Tony Holmes drew three assists each.

Jamie Kennedy and Ben Henry scored for the Cooperators, who are now 2-1-1 on the season.

WINGS 6, SIERRA 3

Ray Sherrer scored a pair of goals, lifting the Red Wings to their first win of the season.

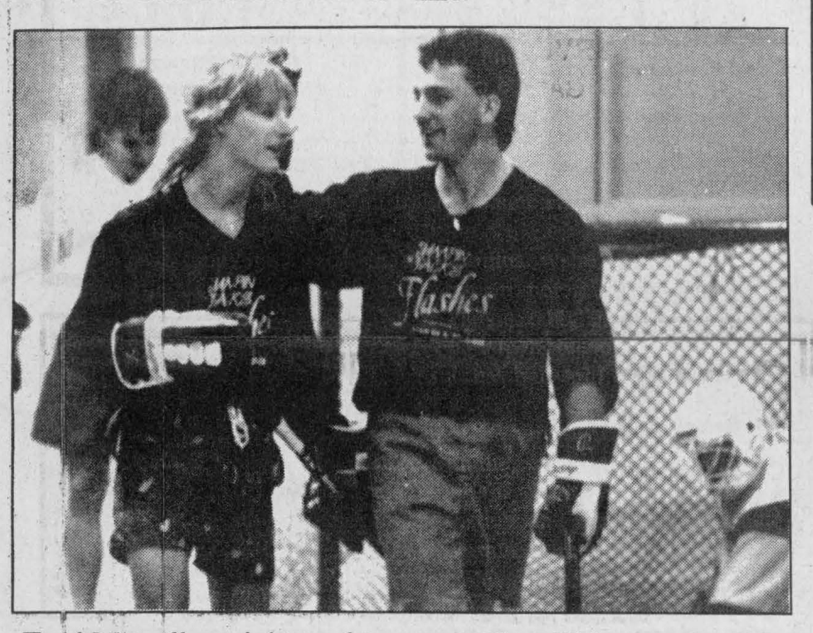
Sherrer scored in the second and again late in the third.

The Green Machine held the upper hand through the first period, taking a 2-0 lead on goals by Rob Gourgon and Gary Bieshiem.

But the Wings, backed by goalie Dennis Desormeaux, struck for four unanswered goals in the second. Sherrer sparked the rally at 11:45 and Kevin Byers, Paul Melenhorst and Dave Appelby added the others.

Sherrer and Jason McIntosh sealed the game with markers in the third. Gary Geertsma collected three helpers.

Beishiem picked up his second goal with the clock winding down in the third.



Todd Marcellus, right, and teammate Tony Holmes enjoyed the Flashes 13-2 victory. Marcellus earned 11 points in the game.

FITNESS FORUM

Balance your exercise

Jennifer Gregoire, Reg. N. N.D., B. Sc. Nu.

Depending on your lifestyle, you may benefit from giving special emphasis to one of the three S's of essential exercise: Suppleness (flexibility), strength, and stamina. But no exercise program is complete without a BALANCE of these exercises, just as no total fitness regimen is complete without a balance of good nutrition and regular exercise.

Flexibility (the range of motion of our joints), is in many ways the foundation of essential exercise, yet many exercise fans neglect it. How often do you engage in an activity or sport without including a warm up that includes a complete set of stretches? And does your morning ritual include five to ten (at least) minutes of stretching before breakfast? If not, you may be neglecting an important basic exercise skill.

One of the main benefits of flexibility exercises is to lengthen muscles that are short and therefore weak. There are four basic ways that muscles become too short: from chronic muscle tension due to stress; from too much unbalanced exercise; from disuse and aging; from injury or spasm. Short muscles can be restored through specific stretching routines that lengthen the weakened muscles. Stretching exercises also help lubricate our joints and promote blood flow to essential organs.

Exercises for strength complement flexibility exercises by working to shorten muscles that are too long (and therefore weak). If you've been pregnant, you know what long, weak muscles feel (and look) like. If you have lower back problems, it's often because your stomach and other trunk muscles are long and weak.

The third S, stamina (aerobic or cardiovascular endurance), balances the first two S's. To increase our stamina, we need to choose an activity that raises our heart rate into our training range and keeps it there for twenty to thirty minutes.

If we have suppleness, strength, and stamina, we're physically fit in the specific ways that good exercise can promote. But the potential return on our exercise investment is considerably greater than any narrow measurement of our fitness level. The more we make exercise a part of life, the more our exercise success will spill over into other parts of our existence.

My Silent Achievers this week are all of the hard- working volunteers who are getting ready to provide you with the best Chesterville Family Fit Day yet! Actually, events are ongoing the whole weekend of May 29 and 30. Make sure you check the schedule and join in at least one activity that weekend. Why not try everything? Remember, Chesterville won the fitness challenge last year, let's make THAT an annual event as well! (I'll keep reminding you!).

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.
