Village reflects on wartime sacrifices

by Matthew Uhrig

WINCHESTER — The sun was beaming down and the sky was a bright blue as the Royal Canadian Legion Winchester Branch 108 honoured veterans during the village's Remembrance Day ceremonies on Sun., Nov. 8.

As is tradition — year after year — a parade starting at the Legion on Main Street began at 12:15 pm. Legion members, local politicians, and war veterans were led down St. Lawrence Street by two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Ottawa Police Service Pipe Band.

The parade ended in the yard at Winchester Public School (WPS), where members of the pipe band lined each side of the pathway and played on as parade participants entered the school's gymnasium.

Winchester Wesleyan Church Rev. Thurland Brown officiated the Remembrance Day service.

"Canadians have long remembered their fallen," said Brown. "From village to village, and city to city."

Winchester was not alone in honouring First and Second World War veterans on Nov. 8, as many other communities throughout Canada and Europe marked the occasion before Remembrance Day on Wed., Nov. 11.

"We owe a great debt of gratitude to these men and women," said Brown.

Following the service at WPS, the crowd left the gymnasium and gathered once again at the cenotaph in front of Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

"The war for these people remains as close as a nightmare," said Brown. "For their efforts, we say thank you."

At the conclusion of Brown's speech at the cenotaph, one by one 26 wreaths joined the four others already placed on the ground in front of the war memorial. Those four honoured the fallen Cpl. Harold Beck, Dwight Hutt, Lt. E. Annable, and Leroy Strader.

Many communities in the local area observe Remembrance Day on Nov. 11. For more coverage, check out next week's edition of the Winchester Press.

Flu clinics continuing

by Matthew Uhrig
Press staff

WINCHESTER — It's now been three weeks since the H1N1 vaccine was rolled out in Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry (SD&G).

Throughout the remainder of November, the Eastern Ontario Health Unit (EOHU) will continue to hold clinics throughout SD&G. The local clinic will remain operational at North Dundas District High School (NDDHS).

Priority groups qualify for H1N1 vaccine

"We are still targeting the people on the priority list," said Dr. Paul Roumeliotis, chief medical officer of health at the EOHU. "In particular, we [continue] to stress the importance of immunizing healthy children six months to under five years of age and all children 18 and under."

Also included on the priority list are people 65 and under with chronic medical conditions, health care workers, caregivers of persons at high risk, and pregnant women.

The second round of H1N1 clinics took place at NDDHS on Thurs., Nov. 5 and Fri., Nov. 6. Approximately 1,100 local residents received vaccinations during the two days, bringing the total number of immunizations to more than 33,000 in SD&G.

During the first week of clinics (Fri., Oct. 31 to Sun., Nov. 1), some 2,200 doses of the vaccine were administered at NDDHS alone.

Now that vaccinations are being offered more steadily, Roumeliotis is asking residents of SD&G to not get complacent about the H1N1 virus.

"I think we're peaking right now," said Roumeliotis. "We're still close to 60 per cent of all schools in outbreak, which means each has more than 10 per cent absenteeism for flu-like illness, many of which have been confirmed as H1N1."

Roumeliotis disagreed with some comments recently made by Dr. Anne Carter, medical officer of health for Leeds, Grenville, and Lanark, and Dr. Richard Schabas, medical officer of health for Hastings and Prince Edward Counties, who last week said that the H1N1 virus had moved past its peak.

No verdict in teen trial

CORNWALL — One of the teenage brothers charged with assault causing bodily harm during a hockey game in 2008 admitted to punching linesman Kyle Dearing in the face.

However, the player said he only committed the act because he was trying to protect his brother.

That admission came during testimony on Thurs., Nov. 5 at the trial last week of two major midget players, both with the North Glengarry-Stormont Braves.

The on-ice incident took place at the Winchester Arena on Jan. 14, 2008 during a game between the North Dundas Demons and the North Glengarry-Stormont team.

Charges were laid following an OPP investigation.

A verdict regarding all charges in expected to be delivered on Tues., Jan. 12.

Up in smoke

Mary Duperron's home at 10456 Clark Road in Mountain went up in flames during a late-morning fire on Tues., Nov. 10. No one was home at the time of the blaze and neighbours called 911. OPP officers on scene said the fire didn't appear suspicious, but a thorough investigation will be required to determine the exact cause. Members of the North Dundas Fire Department battled the flames. Press Photo — Uhrig

Vaccine clinics

However, Roumeliotis said any change is indicative of a lack of pattern revolving around the virus. He said H1N1 seems to be affecting areas of the province differently.

"There is a variability across health units," said Roumeliotis. "We can't extrapolate why, but the numbers don't lie."

The latest EOHU pandemic report, issued on Fri., Nov. 6, shows that influenza activity is rated at four — the highest possible rating — which also indicates it is widespread.

Eight schools in Dundas County are currently dealing with suspected cases of H1N1, but there is only one confirmed case of the virus in county schools, according to the EOHU's report. For now, Roumeliotis is encouraging vigilance while the H1N1 virus runs its course.

"We're already in this, and people should not become complacent about getting the vaccine," he said. "It has been shown this type of pandemic virus tends to come back for a third wave."

Roumeliotis and staff at the EOHU are also awaiting word from the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care as to when they can begin vaccinating the remaining population.

Roumeliotis said he is hopeful that vaccination clinics will expand in the next week or two.

H1N1 immunization clinics resume Friday (Nov. 13) at 2 pm or Sat., Nov. 14 from 9:30 am to 3:30 pm, both at NDDHS.

The original boardwalk plan for Chesterville, pictured below, has been changed in order to avoid paperwork and delay to get a federal environmental assessment completed. According to Calvin Pol, the Township of North Dundas' planning and enforcement director, option two (pictured at left) is the best of three new designs for the boardwalk project.

Chesterville boardwalk gets new look to meet deadlines

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

CHESTERVILLE — The Chesterville waterfront redevelopment project is still going ahead — but it will probably look different than originally planned.

Community members were invited to a last-minute meeting on Wed., Nov. 4 to check out three newly proposed options for a $1.6-million plan to build a boardwalk leading down to the South Nation River.

About 15 people dropped by the Nelson LaPrade Centre to check out the preliminary sketches and hear a talk delivered by representatives from the engineering firm Stantec and the Township of North Dundas.

According to Calvin Pol, the township's planning and enforcement director, initial government paperwork didn't specify that a federal environmental assessment will be needed before funding and construction can start. Now, the engineering consultant is scrambling to complete the assessment.

New two-tier structure suggested

The federal government has promised to contribute roughly $1.5 million in stimulus funding to the waterfront redevelopment. However, there's a catch: The project needs to be wrapped up by Wed., March 31, or the township might be on the hook for any remaining costs.

"Basically, my understanding is that we are on our own for whatever is left incomplete," said Pol.

The main problem, he explained, is the original boardwalk was supposed to jut out four metres into the water. If the structure stretches out more than one metre, bureaucratic paperwork will likely tie the project up past March 31, he said.

As a result, Stantec revamped the original plan so the boardwalk's top level is directly overtop of the bottom one. This will allow people to walk directly underneath.

"That allows us to pull closer to shore, by having the top extend over the underside," said Pol.

At the community meeting, nobody voiced opposition to the project. In fact, some people thought the redesign was a positive turn of events.

"I think this is an improvement over what we had originally," said audience member Robert Lafontaine.

Some people also nodded their heads in approval when Stantec representatives explained that the walkway had been moved closer to an existing intersection to promote safety. (Boardwalk users will likely be less tempted to cross in the middle of the road and will instead use the crosswalk with timed lights.)

Pol acknowledged that some materials for the project can be purchased and billed in advance. For example, the government can hardly expect trees to be planted in March; therefore, the township can buy the plants early and submit their bills by the deadline.

"But the main part of the project has to be complete," Pol said.

Council was expected to choose a design at its next regular council meeting after press time on Tues., Nov. 10.

Pol said he hopes township council will approve version two.

"It's the most similar to the original design — that's why we've recommended it," said Pol. "They're all very similar in characteristics — they've just altered it slightly here and slightly there."

South Dundas to reorganize fire services

WILLIAMSBURG — The Township of South Dundas council has approved the amalgamation of its fire services throughout the township.

The change was discussed during an in-camera council meeting (meaning it was not open to the public) on Tues., Nov. 3, while a final decision was made during a special in-camera meeting on Mon., Nov. 9.

"Our existing fire departments and firefighters have done an excellent job for South Dundas, and I know that this will continue," said Mayor Robert "Rowdy" Gillard. "We are well aware that things have changed over the last number of years and the demands on our fire services have increased."

The Williamsburg Fire Station, Morrisburg Fire Station, and Iroquois Fire Station will now be operated as a single department under the direction of one full-time fire chief.

In 2008, South Dundas council requested assistance from the Office of the Fire Marshall (OFM) to conduct an administrative review of its fire services.

Full-time chief to be hired

As part of that process, OFM staff met with each member of council, township CAO Stephen McDonald, and members of the individual fire departments. This meeting was deemed necessary by the OFM in order to obtain input and views on the local fire service.

The overall objective of the review was to provide councillors with an independent analysis of the current delivery of fire protection services.

The review included evaluation of economic circumstances impacting the fire department, departmental organization, administration, apparatus, equipment, fire stations, operations, communications, training and education, fire prevention, and public fire safety education.

In 1998, when the former individual townships amalgamated to create South Dundas, the fire departments were not consolidated as one. They continued to operate at pre-amalgamation status.

This decision was made to preserve the history and tradition of the individual services, and the councillors felt it should be recognized and acknowledged.

However, it was determined in the Fire Marshal review that when the township employs three separate fire chiefs, it loses the ability to direct council's wishes to a single responsible person.

During the past decade, numerous matters have increased the demand on time for fire chiefs throughout Ontario, including changing technologies of firefighting apparatus, changing social climate with respect to public safety, legal requirements, the need for specialized management techniques, and the knowledge of necessary research, development, and planning of new specialized equipment and associated training.

Under the new organizational structure, the South Dundas Fire Department will consist of three stations, staffed by one District Chief, three captains, and firefighters. All fire stations, apparatus, and uniforms will now be emblazoned with the new name, with the old names appearing in small print.

The recruitment process for a full-time chief has begun.

Plans for Y moving ahead

by Matthew Uhrig
Press staff

WILLIAMSBURG — At the regular Township of South Dundas council meeting on Tues., Nov. 2, Sheila McDonald outlined her plan for a YMCA in Dundas County.

McDonald is spearheading a project to construct a YMCA facility, potentially using the current Maple Ridge Senior Public School building, which is scheduled to close forever in 2011. However, a to-be-completed feasibility study will determine whether the region can support a YMCA, and where the facility could go.

During the council meeting, McDonald said she and her fellow volunteers initially thought Winchester Springs would be the best spot. However, through consultation with representatives from the Ontario Early Years Centre, Eastern Ontario Health Unit (EOHU), Upper Canada District School Board (UCDSB), municipal politicians, and YMCA reps, the Maple Ridge site was targeted as a more desirable location.

McDonald told the South Dundas politicians that a similar project in Rockland, where a YMCA facility was built onto Rockland District High School, has proved to be successful for that area.

For the proposed Dundas County project, McDonald is focusing her attention on the population between County Roads 1, 2, and 8, as well as residents within parts of Osgoode Ward in the City of Ottawa. (McDonald demonstrated her point by laying a road map, with her target area boxed in, on the table for the councillors to look at.)

McDonald said the area is currently not touched by any YMCA-run facilities due to the distance to and from centres currently operated in Cornwall, Brockville, Rockland, and Ottawa.

"This could be good for all [local] communities," she said.

Throughout her presentation, McDonald maintained that the project is "very preliminary," but it has been receiving support.

Councillor Delbert Jones said he was concerned that the target location for the facility would cause "geographical challenges" for certain residents of the township.

In particular, said Jones, residents in Iroquois are more likely to go to the recreational facility in Brockville, while residents in Morrisburg and Riverside Heights would go to Cornwall.

"But, if it works, that's great," said Jones.

Deputy-Mayor Steven Byvelds said he understood the concerns expressed by Jones, but remained steadfast in his support for the project thus far.

"You have to do a business study," Byvelds told McDonald. "This project has a good basis."

McDonald then informed the councillors that the EOHU is going to be covering the cost of a demographic study of the area.

"You've taken on a pretty ambitious project," said Mayor Robert "Rowdy" Gillard, noting that many people must buy YMCA memberships in order for the venture to be successful. "Building rural is not all it's cracked up to be."

Gillard said he wanted to know exactly what McDonald expected from the township.

"I came here tonight to put you in the know," said McDonald. "That way it's right from the horse's mouth."

She said in the future, South Dundas may be asked to contribute money to the project, but it's too early in the process for that right now.

McDonald assured the politicians that she would appear again before council if there are significant updates.

In an effort to raise funds for the YMCA project, McDonald is working on organizing a world-class rodeo to take place at the Chesterville fairgrounds in June 2010.

Hosaic Creek study complete

WILLIAMSBURG — At the regular Township of South Dundas council meeting on Tues., Nov. 3, manager of planning and enforcement Donald J.W. Lewis informed the politicians that a final report regarding the Hosaic Creek drainage issues was complete.

At a February 2007 council meeting, township resident Trevor Tolley spoke to the councillors and asked for help to alleviate flooding on properties along Hosaic Creek.

At that time, the late Mayor Charles Barkley and the other politicians directed township staff to request permission from the Ministry of Natural Resources to "explore the condition of the Hosaic Creek to determine the problem of flooding and if it is beavers causing the problem."

The final report indicates that land drainage patterns show that beavers and beaver dam blockages are problematic and require development of short and long-term management programs.

"This is something to think about in the 2010 budget," said Lewis.

Council notes from South Dundas

Info being compiled on municipal buildings

Correspondence has been forwarded to all users of the parks building in Morrisburg (home of South Dundas' branch of the Dundas County Food Bank) and the Stampville Centre, requesting information on their use and needs.

Township CAO Stephen McDonald said staff will compile all information received as part of a future report to council.

Correspondence has also been sent to recreational groups in Dunbar, South and North Williamsburg, and Iroquois, said McDonald.

This issue was first discussed during the current council's first term in 2007.

This year, it was brought back to the table, and on Tues., Oct. 13, the politicians met for a special meeting where they decided to thoroughly review the need to keep either of those buildings.

In total, building assessments are scheduled to be administered on 15 publicly owned structures in order to determine which ones should be repaired or sold.

Morrisburg High School renovations?

Township CAO Stephen McDonald informed the politicians that asset management company True North Group has been retained to complete a feasibility study on the former Morrisburg High School.

"The study will determine whether renovation of the existing structure for future use is feasible," said McDonald.

Morrisburg sewage plant open house

Now that electrical issues have been resolved at the new multimillion-dollar Morrisburg Wastewater Treatment Plant, township residents can expect a grand opening sometime in the near future.

CAO Stephen McDonald told the councillors three possible dates have been submitted to staff at the Canada-Ontario Municipal Rural Infrastructure Fund (COMRIF).

"We will advise as soon as a date in confirmed," said McDonald.

Meanwhile, McDonald also informed the politicians that the first phase of development for the new Iroquois Wastewater Treatment Plant is moving ahead on schedule.

"We are continuing to dialogue with our federal and provincial partners and providing them with the information they require," said McDonald.

In June, the township received $18 million in joint funding from the federal and provincial governments — a total that is expected to pay for 100 per cent of the Iroquois project.

Local Hwy. 401 service centres get facelifts, ready by July 2010

MORRISBURG — The province of Ontario has announced it has begun construction of service centres for travellers along Highway 401 in Stormont, Dundas, and South Glengarry (SD&SG).

The Morrisburg and Bainsville service centres will provide travellers with eco and family-friendly facilities by September 2010. They will include quick-service dining, coffee, convenience retail, enhanced truck facilities, tourism information, and modern washrooms.

"We want to ensure that we provide state-of-the-art facilities and to project a positive image of Ontario to all travellers in this province," said SD&SG MPP Jim Brownell.

Initial services, including fuel, washrooms, parking, and a convenience store are scheduled to be available by July 2010.

Until then, the Morrisburg centre will provide travellers with interim services including parking, washrooms, water, telephones, and limited food services. Signs will also inform area travellers at other exits where they can access parking, fuel, and food services.

According to the government, about 50 local construction jobs will be created through these projects, and a total of 350 jobs across the province will materialize in the first phase of the revitalization of the service centres.

Service centres across Ontario are being updated as their leases expire.

In Ontario's 2009 Budget, the provincial Liberal government committed $32.5 billion to infrastructure improvements, including $5.6 billion for highways. These investments are expected to generate 50,000 jobs over the course of two years.

Parade takes on charitable mission

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Organizers of the North Dundas Country Christmas Parade of Lights are making charity their mission this year.

Spectators are encouraged to donate not only money during the Sat., Dec. 5 parade in Winchester, but also food and gifts to the North Dundas Christmas Fund.

The annual yuletide drive is organized by various community members and supported by local organizations. It aims to provide snowsuits to children 13 and under, as well as food baskets for township residents in need. Those baskets go not only to families, but single people and seniors, too. The fund also collects gifts for people in need.

Fund spokesperson Bob Weagant explained that if people want food baskets or snowsuits, they should call either the Dundas County Food Bank at 613-774-0188 or House of Lazarus at 613-989-3830. The entire process is anonymous and open to anyone in need who lives in North Dundas.

"There is no means test for a basket," said Weagant.

He explained that everyone who applies for either a snowsuit or gift basket is assigned a number. Those individuals typically come on an assigned day to a drop-off centre in either Winchester, Chesterville, or South Mountain and pick up their requests. The actual applicant doesn't have to show up either — they can send a loved one or friend so the process remains entirely anonymous.

During the pickup, fund beneficiaries are free to collect donated gifts.

Weagant added that typically, there are more donations for young children and infants than teens.

"The need is [for] all ages," he said.

Weagant explained that there's a special drive for snowsuits because it's crucial during cold Canadian winters. Every year, growing children typically need a suit that's at least one — or maybe two or three — sizes larger.

"It's a necessity item," he said.

Donors can drop off food, gifts, or money at either the House of Lazarus outreach mission in Mountain or the Winchester branch of the Dundas County Food Bank. Many other groups, churches, or organizations run their own charity drives to support the North Dundas Christmas Fund.

There are also "angel trees" set up at banks and other locations, where people can leave gifts.

Weagant said that if there are any leftover donations, the food bank and the House of Lazarus share the remaining proceeds.

During the parade this year, donors can drop off new, unwrapped gifts and food items at a number of places, including "drop bins" at the Winchester Arena and the corner of Main and St. Lawrence streets. Other drop-off locations on parade day will include the vendor fair at the Winchester Arena and the Old Town Hall.

Sheila McDonald, one of the parade's volunteer organizers, explained that spectators will be able to contribute toys, clothes, and food items, in addition to money along the parade route. She added that it will be a good opportunity to teach youth about charity during the holidays.

"This year, kids can actually hand a gift to someone during the parade, and that moment will mean something for those kids," said McDonald.

The deadline to order a basket or snowsuits is Mon., Dec. 7.

Any volunteers wanting to help out with the North Dundas Christmas Fund can call 613-989-2823.

Do stimulus funding regulations defy everyday common sense?

The Township of North Dundas staff and council members should be commended for bringing stimulus funding to our municipality this year. While the public might not have seen the effort that went into preparing lengthy and complicated grant applications, our local public servants sacrificed late nights and family time to make the deadlines.

As a result, North Dundas reaped the benefits. The provincial and federal governments pledged to pay for two-thirds of the cost to restructure Boyne and Belmeade roads. The Winchester water transmission main project also received two-thirds funding.

A project to develop the Chesterville waterfront and create a boardwalk was turned down. However, in early September, the township announced that the project would get support from the Community Adjustment Fund, an infrastructure program specifically designed for communities that — like Chesterville and its now-closed Nestlé plant — have lost their main industry.

The federal government has committed about $1.5 million to the project. The rest will come from North Dundas, the United Counties of SD&G, and community groups.

Chesterville's waterfront plan has been re-designed, just to avoid paperwork and meet a deadline. Is this right?

It all seems great — until you consider the deadlines.

If you believe stimulus funding will help cure recessions, then you think it's important to start approved projects immediately and create jobs, thereby resuscitating a struggling economy. However, there are at least two major flaws with that theory. For one, it's fair to argue there's a bias in favour of construction and engineering jobs. While it's all good and well to build bridges and pave roads, numerous sectors are left out of the stimulus master plan, so infrastructure projects don't necessarily promote broad-based job creation. More importantly, if senior levels of government set outrageous deadlines, we could waste money and make mistakes as we struggle get things done immediately.

That's exactly what's happening with Chesterville's waterfront development project. Last week, concerned community members met at the Nelson LaPrade Centre to provide feedback regarding three hastily redesigned drafts of the boardwalk plan. Why? According to township staff, the appropriate bureaucrats failed to mention in their initial paperwork that a federal environmental assessment was needed in order to proceed with construction work. (Already, a mistake was made because things were being pushed through too quickly.) Calvin Pol, the township's director of planning and enforcement, said that if the boardwalk juts out into the water more than one metre, it'll take forever to wade through the necessary bureaucracy to pass that federal environmental assessment in time. And if the township misses the March 31 deadline, local taxpayers may have to cover the rest of the project.

As a result, the original four-metre-wide boardwalk for Chesterville was redesigned.

Now that the boardwalk is smaller, does that mean the township will save money? Not likely. Winter construction is expensive. Plus, the new design calls for more poured concrete. Worse still, it's too early in the game to know exactly how much all these changes will affect the township financially.

North Dundas can't possibly be the only township in this situation. With such stringent deadlines, mistakes are bound to happen. Does the government honestly expect to fund rush projects throughout Canada and watch them all be finished properly? Be realistic.

It's better to do something properly than quickly. Perhaps the provincial and federal governments should consider granting more time for certain stimulus projects — that is, if it's not too late to create a bureaucracy that could handle extension requests.

Time is ticking.

Nationview Public School quarterback Andrew Roach (centre) had to make all the right moves during play action in the school's 13-0 consolation round victory over the St. Cecilia Saints. Chesterville Public School went undefeated in the tournament and went on to win the 1989 Dundas Public School junior flag football championship.

Remember when...

The Winchester Press quipped, "don't get into a rut. Ruts often deepen into graves. Be a live one."

1939

The Press published an editorial this week condemning pacifist church ministers who were holding a conference to discuss their attitudes toward the war. The writer said that if there was some kind of campaign to stamp out beer, the ministers were be front and centre in opposition. But, a war to save democracy and to preserve the Christian church itself from infidels like Hitler and Stalin did not interest them, the Press editorial argued.

1949

Rumours were confirmed this week in 1949 that the Ontario Hydro Commission had purchased the C.E. Richardson and Co. Property on St. Lawrence Street in Winchester. The property had been purchased several weeks earlier to be occupied by the local hydro rural office staff and linesmen.

1959

There was a close call at the Press office this week. Around 9:30 am, employees had just started arriving when there was a "swoosh and loud crash," as a sizeable stone shot like a bullet through the front window. It turned out that the stone was not intended as a complaint from a concerned reader, but was thrown up by the tires of a truck hauling a load of caustic soda.

1969

Residents of Kenmore unveiled a new war memorial this week to replace an old one. Many years before, Kenmore had erected a stone cairn in front of the public school in memory of those who died in the world wars. However, changes in education forced the closing of the school, and it soon became a private residence. The new owner kept the monument neat and clean, but time wreaked havoc on the structure due to crumbling mortar.

1979

Winchester Reeve Larry Gray promised immediate action regarding complaints about rescheduling ice time at the arena. Mountain and Winchester Township residents were upset when their respective Tuesday and Thursday evening ice times were shifted to Saturday. An increase in private figure skating lessons was blamed as the cause of the problem.

1989

South Mountain resident Stacey Kerr learned this week that she would have a part in the third instalment of the Prom Night horror movie series being filmed in Toronto. Kerr was a student at Canterbury High School in Ottawa, where she was studying both acting and dance.

She admitted that it had never been an ambition of hers to act in a horror movie, but was enthusiastic about getting an acting job so early in her career.

A mural depicting life in Mountain at the turn of the century was unveiled this week in 1999.

The artwork was added to the side of the Mountain Community Hall. Winchester-based artist Anita Schoch was commissioned by seniors groups and the Mountain Lions Club to do the work.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Editor:
When I read about the 19-year-old girl from Toronto who, while hiking on Cape Breton Island, was attacked by coyotes and later died, I thought it was wise that Gypsy Lane did not become a trail.

With all the woods along the lane, many hungry coyotes could be lying in wait of some travellers.

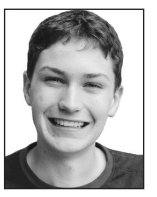
Pizza party for NDDHS' top Christmas collectors



NDDHS Notes
by James Casselman

MAPLE RIDGE — This past Monday (Nov. 9) the Operation Christmas Child campaign came to an end at North Dundas District High School (NDDHS). Teacher Aaron Banford's students collected the most boxes per student.

His class will receive a pizza party prize.

The school is still bustling with activities; for example, sports, Envirothon, drama club, band, and more are in full gear.

Despite the high percentage of absent students due to the H1N1 flu, extra-curricular activities are still happening.

Coming up next week, the student council is planning to run an open mic night event. Students are encouraged to come up with entertainment that they can show at the open mic night.

Today (Wed., Nov. 11), a Remembrance Day ceremony is scheduled to take place at NDDHS.

The event is open to members of the community, as well as students.

Time to celebrate

A small gala was held at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Thurs., Nov. 5 to thank the walking team the Winchester Hospital Heelers for bringing back $116,110 from the Weekend to End Breast Cancer, which will help pay for a digital mammography machine. Hospital representatives, as well as friends, family members, and the walkers themselves gathered in the cafeteria for a special cheque presentation that night. Front row (kneeling): Erin Wheeler (left); Jamie Quinton. Second row (crouching): Kim Wheeler; Christina Enright; Libby Pelkey; Jane Patterson; Diane Crummy, Vice-Chair, WDMH Foundation. Third row (seated): Trudy Reid (left), CEO of WDMH; Sue Keeler; Linda Johnson, registered nurse and breast nurse navigator; Marlene Pyper, Judy Simser, and Trish Boje. Back row (standing): Dawn Cooper, WDMH Foundation managing director; Jan Clapp; Linda Eagen, CEO of the Ottawa Regional Cancer Foundation; Marlene Quinton; Dr. Mark Schweitzer, chief of radiology at WDMH; Joanne Sidorchuk, manager of diagnostic imaging at WDMH; Dr. Jim Blakslee, chief of surgery at WDMH; Shirley Rose, team leader/Picture Archiving and Communication Systems (PACS) administration at WDMH; Barb Filion, registered nurse; Amy Lynch; Jenna Boje; Cheryl Lynch; and Ken Boje.

A walk to remember

Heelers thanked at get-together for help in purchasing digital mammography machine

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Hospital Heelers were thanked multiple times during a ceremony last week on Thurs., Nov. 5 — but perhaps the most gratifying moment came in the form of a $116,110 cheque to support cancer care in Winchester.

The walking team, accompanied by friends and loved ones, gathered in the cafeteria of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH) for speeches and a cheque presentation.

Back in June, the Heelers participated in the Weekend to End Breast Cancer, a 60-kilometre walk that typically supports the Ottawa Regional Cancer Centre. However, WDMH has a special deal with the walk, and as a result, 75 per cent of funds the Heelers raised comes back to support cancer programming at WDMH.

In June, the Heelers finished as the top fundraising team in the Ottawa region, collecting roughly $154,000. The grand total for the Ottawa walk was $2.1 million.

WDMH staff say the money raised will go toward paying for the hospital's digital mammography machine, which can take electronic images of a breast and immediately allow medical experts to zoom in on details, potentially catching cancer at an earlier stage.

While the machine has already been purchased, WDMH is still paying it off. It doesn't come cheap — Winchester's machine cost about $500,000, and the hospital has paid off about $200,000, according to WDMH staff.

CEO Trudy Reid thanked the group personally and encouraged the ladies to give themselves "a really wild round of applause."

She explained that a plaque honouring the Heelers' contributions will be placed on a wall in the hospital, and the mammography room will be named in their honour.

Dr. Mark Schweitzer, chief of radiology at WDMH, said he believes that digital mammography will make a difference for local breast cancer patients.

"It's a very expensive piece of equipment that will save lives," he said.

Dr. Jim Blakslee, the chief of surgery at WDMH, joked that the Heelers walked awfully far and tolerated burnt noses, blisters, and bunions just to support mammograms, "which from what I hear is not very pleasant, actually."

Christina Enright, captain of the Winchester Hospital Heelers, thanked the community that supported the group's fundraising efforts. She was also sure to thank the walkers' families, who helped out considerably during the rigorous fundraising process. (In order to participate in the Weekend to End Breast Cancer, all walkers must raise at least $2,000.)

"They're really great to put up with us," said Enright.

After the presentation, visitors were free to join a tour of the hospital and check out some of the new technology, including the digital mammography machine.

Enright said the Heelers raised roughly $53,000 in 2007 and $64,000 in 2008. Through their efforts, about $200,000 has been returned to WDMH through the walk.

The fourth annual Weekend to End Breast Cancer is scheduled to take place on Sat., June 5 and Sun., June 6, 2010.

Giving to the hospital

Local resident Margaret Johnstone recently celebrated her 90th birthday, and at the same time began a new trend at Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH). In lieu of gifts, Johnstone's family donated money to the WDMH Auxiliary. The total donation handed over was $500. Brian Telford (left), Aldo Pugliese, Lynn Telford, Johnstone, Danny Johnstone, Norma Pugliese, and Susan Johnstone joined Auxiliary first vice-president Kim Link for the cheque presentation.

Public WDMH meeting Thursday

WINCHESTER — A town hall meeting has been scheduled for Thurs., Nov. 12 at 7 pm to discuss future changes at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH).

The public is invited to drop by the Nor-Dun Seniors' Support Centre on Albert Street to hear hospital officials discuss plans for WDMH. Dr. Brian Devin, the hospital's chief of staff, is scheduled to be on hand to answer questions about new technology and equipment in the hospital. Project manager Gillian Price will talk about a home-grown WDMH electronic health record system.

Refreshments will be served.

‘Let loose and show us what you’ve got!’

GREELY — Potential cast and crew members for the Greely Players’ spring production of Rodgers and Hammerstein’s Cinderella gathered at the Greely Community Centre on Sun., Nov. 8 for an information meeting about upcoming auditions.

“It’s magic,” said artistic director Peter Cleland about the story of a young woman who dreams the impossible. “It’s that fairytale story of not finding anyone until magic plays its card. It’s a joyful, magical, well-paced play.”

Cleland went on to say that he’s hoping for a little magic from everyone throughout the audition process, which for the first time will involve only group auditions — the production team is hoping to see lots of interaction between those auditioning.

“We’ll all have to work together,” he said. “I’m looking forward to this. It’s my first time directing… and we’re hoping to see a lot of energy from everyone.”

Holly Villeneuve, in her second consecutive year as vocal director, agreed.

“My vision is the same as Peter’s,” she said. “This show is going to be awesome, and I want everyone who comes to audition to let it loose and show us what you’ve got. Pretend you’re in the shower if you have to… but just don’t be shy.”

The classic fairytale will involve some classic dancing, according to choreographer Brooke Dennis-Bowser.

Greely Players looking for magical moments in upcoming auditions

“Be prepared to move,” she told the group, noting that the waltz at the prince’s ball will be a pivotal part of the show, and that she’s hoping the dancing in this year’s production will be simple but lovely.

John Batson, who has been on stage with the Greely Players for the past seven shows, is taking on the role of producer this year.

“I see the role of producer as helping all of you have a lot of fun,” he said, agreeing with Villeneuve’s tips for auditions. “If you’re shy at all, get over it. Auditions are hard, but they’re a lot of fun, too.”

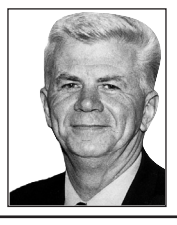
All members of the production team said they are looking forward to the group audition process, to see the chemistry between the potential players and the synergy needed to fuel the show.

“We’d like as many people to audition as possible,” Batson said to the 40 or so people in attendance, urging them to tell their friends and family members to sign up for an audition as well.

Auditions take place Sat., Nov. 14 and Sun., Nov. 15, by appointment only. Visit www.greelyplayers.ca for more information about auditions, call 613-228-7771 or 613-821-4107, or e-mail auditions @greelyplayers.ca.

The Greely Players is a not-for-profit, community-based musical theatre group that was established in 1990. The group mounts one main production every year, as well as a cabaret evening. It relies on volunteers to produce the show and operates on a cost-recovery basis only.

Biosolids being spread near Vernon



In and around Osgoode Ward
by councillor Doug Thompson

METCALFE — As a result of discussions at our Osgoode Ward council meeting in Vernon, some changes were made to the original Biosolid Spreading Plan. While these minor changes were welcome, I am disappointed that the Ministry of the Environment allowed any spreading to take place. I applaud the efforts of those who worked so hard to stop the spreading of these biosolids. Your dedication was appreciated by many people.

H1N1 clinic

The next clinic for the H1N1 vaccination will take place at the Osgoode Community Centre on Mon., Nov. 23 from 2:30 to 8:30 pm.

New charges proposed

A large number of residents has contacted our office in regards to a budget proposal from the Planning and Environment Committee (PEC) to change the way of paying for recycling services. The proposed changes would see a service fee for the green bin, blue box, and black box listed on the property tax bill. Currently, only the blue box and black box costs are part of the property tax bill.

The budget proposal from PEC would see the charges for garbage, blue box, black box, and green bin collection listed independently as service fees on your tax bill. This would allow the businesses that currently pay for recycling collection — but don’t receive this service — have that cost taken off their taxes. As well, rural residents who are not part of the green bin collection would not have to pay for that part of the recycling program.

Volunteers needed

The Greely Winter Carnival committee would like to invite volunteers to help organize and run the next winter carnival. It will run the weekend Thurs., Jan. 28 to Sun., Jan. 31. For more information, contact Bruce at wealth@brucebrayman.com.

Osgoode Night at the Races

All residents of Osgoode Ward are invited to attend the Osgoode Night at the Races at the Rideau Carleton Raceway on Sun., Nov. 22 at 6 pm. I encourage as many residents as possible to join us for fun, entertainment, and delicious food.

Christmas at the Farmers’ Market

On Sat., Nov. 21 and Sat., Dec. 12, the Metcalfe Farmers’ Market will hold its Country Christmas Market at the Royal Canadian Legion Greely Branch 627. This market will run from 9 am to 2 pm on both days.

Breakfast with Santa

On Sat., Dec. 5 from 7 to 11 am, enjoy a full breakfast at the Osgoode Community Centre. Have your picture taken with Santa, bid on some great items at the silent auction, and take home tasty treats from the bake sale. Tickets are available at the door. For more information, call 613-826-2528. This event is a fundraiser for the Osgoode Co-operative Nursery School.

Santa Claus is coming

On Sun., Dec. 13, starting at 2 pm, the Metcalfe Santa Claus Parade will make its way down Victoria Street en route to the Metcalfe Community Centre. After the parade, children and their parents are asked to come to the community centre for a free picture with Santa and a hot bowl of mushroom soup donated by A.J’s Catering and Continental Mushrooms.

Nursery school spots open

The Osgoode Co-operative Nursery School is still accepting registrations for the Monday-Wednesday-Friday and Tuesday-Thursday programs. This is a great way to prepare your child for Kindergarten. For more information, e-mail ocns@live.ca or call 613-826-2528.

The Metcalfe Co-operative Nursery School is also accepting registrations in the preschool program. For more information, visit www.mcns.kids.org.

Local food options take centre stage

by Amanda Smith-Millar
Press staff

WINCHESTER — Your next meal could be growing in your back yard — but make sure you know exactly what you're eating, or face the consequences, warns one wild food expert.

Peggi Calder was on hand at the Old Town Hall on the evening of Fri., Nov. 6 to talk about how to find, prepare, and consume local wild edibles. Using a slide machine, Calder showed photos of various plants and told the audience how to identify each one — which is crucial when harvesting and preparing wild food.

"Be sure of your identification," said Calder.

Eating the wrong plant, or wrong part of the plant, might make you sick, Calder cautioned. She also urged the audience to use good guide books, pick in a pollution-free area that hasn't been sprayed with pesticides or herbicides, and try eating new wild edibles one at a time so that if you get ill, you'll know which plant did the damage.

However, said Calder, wild food can be safe and nutritious. For example, you can make raspberry vinegar, rhubarb nectar, and fiddlehead salad with plants found in the local area. Parts of the dandelion can be used in salads or to make jam or tea.

Many people are justifiably wary of stinging nettles. However, you can simmer three cups of young stinging nettle leaves for about two minutes and use them to make a delicious quiche.

"These are — besides being a very annoying plant — extremely healthy," said Calder of stinging nettles. "They're very, very good for you."

The talk concluded with a cooking demonstration by local chef Heather Parent, who taught the crowd how to make polenta with tomato and white kidney beans. During both the intermission and after the cooking demonstration, guests could sample some local food offered in the Old Town Hall's lobby.

"We were pleased with the enthusiastic group attending," said Jo Saunders, one of the event's organizers. "They eagerly gobbled up dandelion flower jam with crackers and sloshed it all down with wild hemlock tree tea. Although we had regular tea on offer, many preferred, several times, to top up their English bone China tea cup and saucer with hemlock tea... I think we shall see more people out wandering in the wilderness searching for wild edibles, thus improving their fitness and health."

Calder was the second guest presenter in the speakers' series launched this fall called Interactive Talks with Interesting People. The series kicked off in October, when life coach Betty Healey delivered a presentation about taking note of hints, or "road signs," as your life continues onward.

The talks typically take place on the first Friday of every month. (However, there will be no December event, due to planning for the North Dundas Country Christmas Parade of Lights.) The next talk is scheduled for Fri., Jan. 8 due to New Year's Day on Fri. Jan. 1. It will be called "Let's Get Physical" and will be a workshop on yoga and belly-dancing.

All proceeds from admission fees for Interactive Talks with Interesting People go to the Stephen Lewis Foundation. The proceeds from last Friday's event amounted to $150.

Spring quiche with stinging nettle leaves

- In boiling water, simmer 3 cups of young stinging nettle leaves for about 2 minutes; drain well. Chop and saute a handful of wild leeks (about 10) briefly in butter, margarine, or olive oil.
- Beat 3 eggs with 1 1/4 cups of milk or cream, 1 tablespoon salt, and 1 1/2 to 2 cups of shredded mild cheese.
- Add nettles and leeks to the milk/egg mixture and divide between two uncooked pie shells.
- Bake at 425F for 15 minutes and then turn the oven to 350F, and bake another 15 minutes, or until the centre is well set.

Dandelion flower jam

- Pick a collander of flower heads, then cut off back green parts with scissors, measuring out 2 cups of the yellow flower parts.
- Add 1 1/2 cups water, 1/4 cup lemon juice, and one package of pectin crystals.
- Mix well and bring to a boil.
- Add 3 to 3 3/4 cups of sugar.
- Boil for one minute, stirring all the time.
- Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Conservation awards given to numerous local winners

ALMONTE — Nominees from the South Nation Conservation (SNC) watershed finished in many of the top categories at the second annual Tri-Valley Conservation Awards.

There are seven categories, including primary school, intermediate/high school, agriculture, community groups, individuals, businesses, and municipalities. Two awards were given out in each category — a commemorative paddle for first place and a framed certificate for second place.

Staff and students at Russell's St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic High School came in second in their category for their green initiatives. In the agricultural division, Jim and Nancy Wert of Avonmore received the paddle, and Oak Valley Pioneer Park volunteers of the Winchester area claimed the certificate.

In the division for individuals, Tom Van Dusen and Lindley McPhail — both of Russell — came in first and second, respectively. Meanwhile, in the business division, Lafleche Environmental of Moose Creek earned the second-place certificate.

"We're certainly proud of the result," said SNC chairman Ken Hill, who is also mayor of Russell Township.

The awards are sponsored by South Nation, Rideau Valley, and Mississippi conservation authorities.

Harvest festival raises $16,000

KEMPTVILLE — In celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Kemptville College Foundation (KCF), this year's Harvest Fest, held on the Kemptville Campus of the University of Guelph, collected $9,500 to support the Dairy Education and Demonstration Facility.

"Despite the economic downturn and competition from other popular events, Harvest Fest shows no signs of losing popularity," said foundation president Colin Carson. "It was great to see those in attendance enjoy the evening and feel they're contributing to a worthwhile cause."

Adding to the total this year were proceeds ($6,500) from the raffle of a refurbished 1953 Allis-Chalmers Model G tractor. Drawn by senior student Jessie Hubbs, who helped restore the tractor in the campus maintenance and repair shop, the lucky ticket holder was Robin Wright of Napanee.

"The Wright family has graciously decided to donate the tractor back to the foundation in memory of Rick Brooks, who passed away in March 2008," said Carson. "The board will decide shortly how to deal with this generous regifting."

Proceeds from the latest Harvest Fest — which consists of a reception, dinner, live and silent auctions, and live music — and the raffle bring KCF's fundraising total to $570,000 over the past decade.

SNC receives $5,000 donation

ST. ALBERT — St. Albert Cheese president Denis Latour has decided to contribute $5,000 to the South Nation Conservation Clean Water Program.

"St. Albert has repeatedly shown its dedication to water quality enhancement in this area, not only through cash contributions, but in many other ways," said Denis Perrault, chair of the SNC Clean Water Committee.

The St. Albert Cheese Co-operative's total investment in the clean water program has reached $36,000 since 2004.

The Clean Water Committee's main function is to administer water quality programs. This includes the Clean Water Program, a grant initiative that helps landowners protect surface and ground water quality. The 15-year-old program has awarded $1.9 million in grants, helping to complete more than 589 projects across the watershed.

A hefty donation

The Mountain and District Lions Club made a donation of $5,800 to three community organizations at its annual fall dinner on Sat., Nov. 7 at the Mountain Community Hall. The Winchester District Memorial Hospital (WDMH) Foundation ($2,500), the Dundas County Food Bank ($2,000), and the Mountain Township Agricultural Society (MTAS) ($1,300) will all benefit from the money presented. From left: Dermid O'Farrell, president of the Mountain and District Lions Club; Diane Crummy, member of the WDMH Foundation; Donna Quesnel, administrator for the Dundas County Food Bank; and Gerry Boyce, president of the MTAS.

Ryan's Well partners with World of Children

KEMPTVILLE — The Ryan's Well Foundation has announced it will provide support for a clean water source and hygiene education activities for the Kavule Parents School for the Deaf. This partnership brings together two World of Children Honourees — Sam Kateu, founder of the school and recipient of the 2009 World of Children Humanitarian Award, and Kemptville resident Ryan Hreljac, the 2003 Founder's Youth Award.

Located in Eastern Uganda, the school has 65 hearing impaired students between the ages of seven and 15 years old. Students have to walk daily to the spring in the nearest village, and they must then carry water back to school in heavy jerry cans. When water is needed, teaching at the school stops for one to two hours so water can be collected by the students.

The World of Children Awards program was created to recognize selfless individuals who make a difference in the lives of children across the globe.

To date, the foundation has financed 518 water projects in 16 countries serving more than 640,000 people.

The Ryan's Well Foundation aims to build water and sanitation projects in developing countries; educate students about the need for clean water and the possibility of making a difference in their world; and motivate people — especially youth — to take action and make a positive change in our world.

Never forget

With the sun shining brightly, community residents lined the streets in Winchester on Sun., Nov. 8 to mark the village's annual Remembrance Day ceremony. Royal Canadian Legion Winchester Branch 108 members, political dignitaries, and veterans were led down St. Lawrence Street by the Ottawa Police Pipe Band and two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the parade, followed by a service in the gymnasium at Winchester Public School. Wreaths were then laid at the foot of the war memorial cenotaph at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

At left:

Bugler Shawn Steele played Reveille during the service at Winchester Public School.

Members of the Winchester Otters joined the adults for the parade.

Sgt. Brent Mattice laid a wreath at the foot of the war memorial cenotaph on behalf of the OPP.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police members Const. Jason Vedder (left) and Cpl. Jeremy Dawson, riding horses Ike and Piper, respectively, led the group back to the Legion following the laying of the wreaths.

Can you help solve a military mystery?

WINCHESTER — A certain pin has been in Lorna Dixon's possession for about 50 years, and she has always wanted to know the story behind it.

Awarded to her late husband's uncle, Nelson Dixon, after the First World War (1914 to 1918), the military honour was presented from the village of Winchester to honour his efforts. Dixon was born in 1884 and died in 1957.

The gold-coloured medal is in great condition, as is its accompanying black ribbon, which is in such good shape, it seems like it could have been made yesterday.

The engraved letters bear the years of the "European War," as well as the following words: "Presented to Nelson Dixon for overseas service by Winchester ON."

Remembrance Day has just taken place, and as always, Dixon is wondering if there's anyone else in the village who knows anything about the award, the presentation itself, or who else received it.

"That's why I'm so curious about it," said Dixon. "I'd like to know a little something about it — maybe who made the presentation."

If you have any information, please drop off a letter to the Winchester Press either in person, by mail (545 St. Lawrence Street, Box 399, Winchester ON, K0C 2K0), or by e-mail at news@winchesterpress.on.ca.

Artist Barb Buchanan has made two TV appearances lately to talk about her leather bags. The South Mountain resident strives to create individualized purses based on photos of animals she typically finds on the Internet. Press Photo – Smith-Millar

Double exposure (on TV) for artist Barb Buchanan

by Amanda Smith-Millar

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Barb Buchanan has spent a good deal of time in front of the camera recently, as she has appeared twice on local TV shows to talk about her handcrafted leather animal bags.

The South Mountain resident has been making bags for about a year and a half — typically cutting, sewing, and either dying or painting the leather to create likenesses of fish, turtles, chickens, and other creatures.

CTV's Regional Contact came by to record her creative process for a show that aired on Halloween, and which can still be viewed online. Meanwhile, the CBC's Creative Block aired its own show about Buchanan in October.

"It was pretty exciting," said Buchanan with a laugh. "It was very surreal, for sure."

Buchanan — who is involved with the historical re-enactment group the Society of Creative Anachronism — initially started her latest hobby by making pouches and leather water bottles for her fellow history enthusiasts.

Dare prompts artist to create

Later, her husband, Bob, suggested she try something different.

"He sort of dared me — 'Why don't you make one shaped like an animal bag'?" recalled Buchanan.

Her first bag was a turtle, and while the creation process was labour-intensive, Buchanan decided to try making bags in the shapes of other animals.

"Everything's hand-sewn," she said. "I can't do a bag in under three weeks."

Sometimes, the leather is tricky to work with.

"I'm really picky about my leathers," she said. "I love the feel of it and the smell of it."

While the bags are for sale, usually they're on display with other work by local artists at the Homestead Gallery in Kemptville.

The mother of two has a variety of hobbies and activities that she works on at her South Mountain farm. Besides her bags, Buchanan also enjoys belly dancing, pottery, painting, and participating in events run by the Society for Creative Anachronism, just to name a few examples.

Buchanan acknowledged that after working on her bags so hard, it's tough sometimes to let go when a sale comes along. The bags, she said, sort of become "pets."

"They're not just leather anymore," she said.

Power play goal gives Midget 'B' Demons 4-4 tie with Alexandria

WINCHESTER — Peter Klein-Swormink's third-period, power play goal enabled the North Dundas Midget "B" Demons to stretch their undefeated string to eight games.

Klein-Swormink finished a power play started by linemates Josh Stubbings and Dustin Tinkler with 8:20 left in Monday night's (Nov. 9) match to give North Dundas a 4-4 tie with the visiting Alexandria Glens.

Monday's (Nov. 9) draw improved the Demons' Upper Canada Minor Hockey League record to 6-0-2.

Alexandria jumped into a 2-0 lead on goals by Vincent Blondin (11:35) and Nathaniel McMillan (7:39) but the Demons were able to respond and tie it up 2-2 before the end of the period. Captain Alex Hendsbee struck first finishing a play created by Brandan Oosterhof and Will Fawcett at the 5:08 mark. Dustin Tinkler evened the count at 2-2 drilling in a rebound created by Klein-Swormink and Stubbings with 2:37 left in the session.

Jonathan Corkery gave the Demons a 3-2 edge after he had taken a feed from Stubbings and Hendsbee with 6:48 left in the second stanza. The Glens answered that play with another marker by McMillan at 2:38 of the same frame.

Hawks defence collapses, manage to post 10th win

WINCHESTER — Once touted as the strong point of their game, the Winchester Jr. "B" Hawks defence is in tatters.

After goaltenders Ryan Hay and Michael Hitesman and their blueline corps had posted three shutouts while registering five consecutive wins, the St. Lawrence Division opposition has victimized Winchester's last line of defence for 25 goals in three games.

The bleeding started with a 9-1 loss to the Char-Lan Rebels in Williamstown on Halloween (Sat., Oct. 31). The next thumping was administered by the visiting Casselman Vikings (10-3-1-1) who hammered the Hawks 10-1 in their own barn on Friday night (Nov. 6).

Winchester managed to put the brakes on their two-game losing skid, but still coughed up six goals beating the Morrisburg Lions (5-10-0-0) 10-6 in their den on Sunday afternoon (Nov. 8). The win was the 10th for the second-place Hawks (10-6-0-0) and left them two points behind top-ranked Casselman and tied with the Alexandria Glens (8-3-4-0) with 20 points.

This week

The Hawks will host the Akwesasne Wolves (0-14-1-0) Friday night (Nov. 13) at 8:15 pm. Saturday night (Nov. 14) they travel to Alexandria to meet the Glens at 8 pm, and next Thursday (Nov. 19) move on to Casselman to tangle with the Vikings at 7:30 pm.

Vikings 10 - Hawks 1

Michael Dempsey scored his fourth goal of the season completing a play started by Taylor Davies and Ryan Workman 51 seconds into the second period of Friday's tilt.

Casselman had taken a 1-0 lead when Sebastien Brochu beat Hawks starter Michael Hitesman 17 second after the opening face off.

The Vikings led 3-0 after 20 minutes and 6-1 after two periods. They converted 14 Hawks penalties into four PPGs.

Derek Widenmaier (2), Brochu (2), Adam Wensink (2), Trevor Doucette, Maxime Beland, Marc-Andre Quann, and Marcel Groulx were the Casselman marksmen. Luc Servais posted the win.

Burying the biscuit

The North Dundas Atom "B" Demons took part in a team penalty-shot contest between the first and second periods of Friday night's (Nov. 6) Winchester Jr. "B' Hawks game against the Casselman Vikings. Five Demons took two shots each on their goaltender, Aaron Turcotte, during the shootout. Five more shooters will do the same during this week's (Fri., Nov. 13) Hawks game against the visiting Akwesasne Wolves. Jack van Kessel made the right move on this opportunity against Turcotte.

Tinkler scores two goals

Bantam House 'C' Demons earn three of four points

BROCKVILLE — Dylan Tinkler cracked in a pair of third period goals and lifted the visiting North Dundas Bantam House "C" Demons to a 3-1 victory over the Brockville Braves.

North Dundas held a 1-0 lead on the Braves after a period of play in Saturday's (Nov. 7) Upper Canada Minor Hockey League game. The score was tied 1-1 after two periods.

Marc Thurler used a relay from Beau Baldwin to hand the Demons a 1-0 lead with 3:32 left in period one. Brockville tied it up with 37.1 seconds remaining in the second stanza and set the stage for the third-period rally by North Dundas.

Tinkler fired home an unassisted shot with 4:32 on the clock and tied the score at 1-1. He then came through with the winning goal finishing a play started by Thurler and Jesse Winter 1:15 before the final buzzer.

Ryan Embury was the winning 'tender. North Dundas played a penalty-free game.

The Demons victory gave them three of a possible four points after they had battled the Smiths Falls Bears to a 5-5 draw in Chesterville last week (Thurs., Nov. 5).

Tinkler ties it

Dylan Tinkler came through with the tying goal against Smiths Falls scoring from Baldwin with 4:23 left in the game.

The score was tied 1-1 after a period and equal (3-3) after two sessions. Smiths Falls used a pair of goals by Trent Sheridan to jump into a 5-4 lead with 8:44 left to play.

Spencer Corkery netted a pass from Thurler five seconds before the end of period one. He found twine again at 10:58 of the second period after taking a feed from Brittany Cooper. Cooper and Winter combined to engineer a Brandon Dudley marker at 2:39 of same stanza.

Thurler connected from Spencer Carruthers at 9:10 of the final frame and Tinkler followed up with the tying tally 4:23 before the final buzzer.

Novice Demons defeat Lions, Stars

WESTPORT — Emily Eikelboom scored three times and goaltender Toby Byrne gave up just one goal in the North Dundas Novice House "C2" Demons' 6-1 victory over the host North Leeds Stars.

Curtis Bell, Chase Holmes, and Xavier Leclerc snapped in the single shots in Saturday's (Nov. 7) Upper Canada Minor Hockey League game in Westport.

Leclerc picked up the Demons' only assist.

Last week (Thurs., Nov. 5) the Demons were in Morrisburg for a game against the South Dundas Lions and left town with a 2-1 victory.

Kurtis Markell scored at 6:46 of the first period to give the home-town Lions a 1-0 lead, but North Dundas answered quickly with a goal by Leclerc who scored unassisted at 6:27 of the same frame. An unassisted shot fired by Holmes with 6:17 left in the second period held up as the winning tally. Byrne worked the North Dundas nets and posted the win.

The North Dundas Atom House "B" Demons edged the Ottawa Centre Hurricanes 6-5 in OT and won the "B" championship at the 2009 South Stormont Atom House Tournament on Sat., Nov. 7. The Demons are: front (left) - Brandon VanBruinessen, Mitchell VanBruinessen, Kyle Findlay, Bayden Carr, Adam Geertsma, Justin Shay; middle (left) - Avery Holmes, Curtis Barkley, Brayden Roberts, Jessi Zandbelt, Lindsay Cummins; back (left) Todd Findlay - coach, Jeff Holmes - ass't coach and Gary Geertsma - trainer.

Shay nets winning goal in tourney overtime period

LONG SAULT — Justin Shay cashed in a pass provided by Brayden Roberts with 1:06 left in overtime and his goal lifted the North Dundas Atom House "B" Demons to a 6-5 victory over the Ottawa Centre Hurricanes.

North Dundas led the Hurricanes 3-1 after a period of Saturday's (Nov. 7) South Stormont Atom House Tournament "B" final. They went into the final frame protecting a 4-2 lead but were forced into overtime after Ottawa cranked in three unanswered third period goals.

The Demons netted three markers in the final 3:52 of the opening stanza. Shay scored at 3:52 after taking feed from Brandon VanBruinessen. Avery Holmes connected with a relay from Kyle Findlay at 2:32 and Findlay cashed in a pass from Curtis Barkley 32 seconds later.

Lindsay Cummins gave the Demons a 4-1 lead finishing a play started by Brandon VanBruinessen and Shay at 8:33 of period two and Holmes opened up a 5-2 lead scoring unassisted with 7:43 showing on the clock.

Ottawa forced OT ringing up three goals in the final 5:35 of the game.

North Dundas split their first two games losing 5-2 to Kingston and waxing Ottawa Southend 3-0.

Bayden Carr posted the shutout against the Southenders. Holmes popped in a pair of goals and Shay shot in the game winner after picking up a pass from Adam Geertsma with 8:17 left in period two. Findlay collected the other helper point on the second Holmes marker in period three.

Perfect game

Heuff's Howlers blank Flyers 7-0

WINCHESTER — Veteran 'tender Terry Barkley proved to be the right man to replace Jesse Whyte.

Barkley strapped on the pads and filled in for the Heuff's Howlers regular netminder (Whyte) and registered a perfect result — a 7-0 victory over the McLean's Flyers.

The Howlers-Flyers tilt opened the Winchester Town Hockey League's Tuesday night (Nov. 3) twin bill and the outcome improved the Howlers record to 2-3-1 and moved them into a share of second place with the Flyers (2-3-1).

The late game on the double dip saw the number-one ranked Morozuk's Maulers (5-1-0) edge the fourth-place Sherrer's Rockets (1-3-2) 5-4 on Wayne Smirle's buzzer-beating marker.

Howlers 7 - Flyers 0

The Howlers rode Robyn Sadler's three-goal effort to their second victory. Sadler's first goal, scored unassisted at 19:35 of the first half, stood up as the winner.

Sadler (2), Ryan Thompson and Barrett Brundige netted first-half markers. Al Christophersen, Sadler and Chris "Edgar" Hart struck string in the second session. Brundige (2), Christophersen (2), Thompson, Sadler, Jordan Barkley and Travis Rowe all collected helper points.

Maulers 5 - Rockets 4

The Maulers trailed the Rockets 2-1 at the half. They ripped open a 4-1 lead early in the second frame but needed a goal by Wayne Smirle (assisted by Phil Duncan and Trevor Morozuk) with four seconds left on the clock to pull off a slim 5-4 win.

Dean Byvelds, Chad Valcour, Duncan and Scott Baldwin sniped the other tallies. Duncan (2), Mitch Scott, Valcour and Morozuk drew assists. Chad Kennedy posted the win.

The Rockets rallied in the second half and tied the game 4-4 on late goals by Jeff Wilson, who scored from Aron Sherrer and Justin Morozuk at 7:23 and Sherrer, who finished a play started by Morozuk with 3:12 on the clock. Unfortunately for the Rockets they weren't able to hold on for the tie.

Morozuk and Darrel Moore cashed in the first two Rocket markers. Assists went to Morozuk (3), Thurler, Sherrer and Jamie McIntosh. Colin Ion took the loss.

In Memoriam

HARPER – In loving memory of my sister Freeda V., who left us November 12, 2008.
Ever loved, ever missed.
– Love Elva

35

HUMMEL – In memory of a dear father, grandfather and great-grandfather, Lee, who passed away November 10, 2003.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
– Always remembered and loved by your family

35

GIBSON – In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Robert (Bob), who passed away November 14, 2008.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who have loved can tell
The grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.

Winter Overnight Parking Regulations – November 15 to April 1

Winter overnight parking regulations are in effect throughout the city from November 15 until April 1. As a result, there is no parking allowed on city streets between 1 a.m. and 7 a.m. when a snowfall of 7 cm or more is forecast by Environment Canada in the Ottawa area. This includes any forecast of a range of snow more than 7 cm, for example 5 to 10 cm. On-street parking permit holders are exempt from winter overnight parking restrictions.

The fine for vehicles parked during this restricted period is $70.00.

To be in the know about snow and find out if an overnight parking restriction is in effect:

- Sign up to receive e-mail or Twitter notifications of overnight parking restrictions at ottawa.ca/winterparking. This service is free and you can unsubscribe anytime.
- Call 3-1-1 (TTY: 613-580-2401).
- Listen to local media for special advisories about on-street parking.

Planned Snow Removal

Do not park where you see temporary "no parking" snow removal signs posted or your vehicle will be ticketed with fines of $90.00, and towed to a nearby street. These signs are posted ahead of time alerting motorists when daytime or nighttime snow removal is planned and when on-street parking is not permitted. This restriction applies to all vehicles, including those with on-street parking permits.

For more information on winter parking, visit ottawa.ca/winterparking or call 3-1-1 (TTY: 613-580-2401).

Yes, Christmas is coming

Heather McMahon, owner of Belle Flower Gifts north of Winchester, hosted an open house on Thurs., Nov. 5 to launch the yuletide season with a "sneak peek" at her Christmas items. It was a healthy reminder to some that it's time to start holiday shopping — and not leave it to the last minute this year! Press Photo — Smith-Millar

Sea of red support at special service

WINCHESTER — Members of the public were welcomed to St. Paul's Presbyterian Church's 7 pm service on Sun., Nov. 1. Everyone attending was given bulletins designed by Kathy Spruit along with a Support Our Troops ribbon and poppy.

Pews were full as piper Jack Yourt led the processional. An ecumenical choir with Arlene Nesbitt at the organ led the singing of well-known songs such as "Something to Sing About" and "This Land Is Your Land."

Following a warm welcome by Rev. Dr. Floyd McPhee, Libby Pelkey delivered a sensitive and thought-provoking reading about a soldier. Following the singing of "O Canada" and a silent tribute, the bagpipes were played, and people were invited to place a poppy at the front in honour of troops, both past and present.

Molly McKibbon from Winchester Baptist Church read scriptures, and Tim Edwards from Discovery Bible Fellowship offered a sensitive and inclusive prayer.

Rev. McPhee, a minister at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, introduced Brigadier General Rev. Dr. David C. Kettle, chaplain general of the Canadian Armed Forces, who gave a message with the theme "For all the saints." Kettle joined the forces in 1981 and has ministered to troops in crises at Oka, Bosnia, Croatia, and Rwanda.

The choir then sang an anthem: "Soldier, you're never alone."

Following the conclusion, Yourt led the recessional.

Afterward, a time of fellowship was enjoyed by all. Stormont, Dundas, and South Glengarry MP Guy Lauzon had a supply of Support Our Troops signs, which people were able to take with them.

Why wear a poppy?

by Jan Clapp

WINCHESTER — Kathy Spruit welcomed the St. Paul's Ladies Aid members during a Mon., Nov. 2 meeting.

In Libby Pelkey's absence, Spruit began the meeting with the poem, "Why Wear a Poppy?" Following this, everyone recited "In Flanders Fields" in unison, followed by a moment of silence in remembrance of those who sacrificed their lives. The group then sang, "Let There Be Peace."

Devotions followed, with Psalm 122 and John 14:27 and the theme "continuing on peace."

The singing of "Lead On O King Eternal" concluded devotions.

The roll call was answered with stories about Remembrance Day observances. Minutes were read and approved.

Spruit extended thanks to all those who contributed to lunch following the Support Our Troops service on Sun., Nov. 1.

Several boxes have been prepared for Operation Christmas Child.

Sharon Stewart reported that the group will likely purchase coffee pots and water jugs. Reports were received from the various commissions. Carol Zubakuk read the treasurer's report.

Members were reminded of the group's Christmas dinner, potluck and worship service scheduled for Mon., Dec. 7 at 6 pm. The theme will be "angels," and everyone is encouraged to bring a friend. Other discussions followed, and it was a unanimous decision to forward the Christmas meeting offering to the Dundas County Food Bank. The board of managers is proposing upgrades to the kitchen, and Stewart and Heather Pemberton will provide some input about colours.

"Happy Birthday" was sung to several people celebrating November birthdays.

Lunch was served by Iva Stewart and Norma Duncan.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer and the singing of "A Blessing for My Friends."
