C. A. Graham Opens Campaign With Radio Talks

In a series of radio talks beginning last Tuesday at noon, the Liberal candidate for the riding of Grenville-Dundas, C. Allison Graham, opened his campaign. Introduced by the president of the Liberal Association of Grenville-Dundas, Mr. J. Frank Casselman, Mr. Graham outlined his plans for this Eastern Ontario riding in relation to agriculture, highway development, Nation River development and conservation and Hydro.

In his radio talk Thursday, Mr. Graham enlarged on the part that agriculture plays in the communities to-day. He pointed out and commended the valuable work done by the many organized farm groups in the counties. They have helped to make the farmer's lot happier and more liveable ,and the speaker liked to think that his small efforts were bearing fruit in this respect. In stressing the need for a better and more up-to-date agricultural education for the farmers, Mr. Graham said, ' 'A government farm policy should lead the farmers, not trail behind. The farm groups of Grenville-Dundas have been dissapointed many times in the past by Mr. Challies."

An outline of the policies of the Liberal party under Mr. Farquhar Oliver relating to agriculture followed. In the course of the outline, Mr. Graham declared that the present subsidy on cheese and hogs was initiated by a former Liberal government.

"The very foundation of Grenville-Dundas prosperity is in agriculture. Farmers to-day provide the markets for modern farm machinery, necessities and luxuries," the speaker concluded.

Council Meets In Special Session

At a special meeting of the village council last night a motion was passed asking the correspondent of one of the city dailies for this area to have a correction made in the newspaper report as to the percentage of ratepayers voting "no" on the cards sent out asking their wishes regarding a grant to the Winchester and District Memorial Hospital. Councilman Turner is the correspondent in question.

Of 220 cards sent to the ratepayers asking their opinion, 125 have been returned to the, clerk's office. Of these 82% have marked "No" to the question of a grant to the hospital.

Members of council decided to purchase enough 8-inch tile to lay the Albert Street sewer this summer. It was also decided to build two units on the town lot opposite the Anglican church that will house a municipal workshop, a hydro supply depot and a garage for a light truck that is to be purchased for the Hydro Commission service department.

YOUNG FISHERMEN KEEP WARM, FARMERS LOSE FENCE POSTS

It has been drawn to the attention of the Chesterville Fish and Game Association that some of the fishermen on the river are not being fair to the farmers on whose properties they are enjoying their sport. When night falls, and a fire is called for, the careless ones lately have been in the habit of going to the nearest fence and helping themselves to the fence posts for firewood.

The Association decries such activities as most unsportsmanlike. If the owner of the land is good enough to allow people to enjoy the fishing from his property, proper respect for that property is one way that the sportsman can show his appreciation.

M. H. Officer Dr. Peat Speaks At Rotary

Addressing the Chesterville Rotary club last Monday night at the regular meeting, Dr. R. S. Peat, Medical Officer of the three United Counties, gave a short outline of the work of the local health unit that operates out of Cornwall.

In opening the business part of the meeting, President L. H. Doering announced the decision of the new directors that Herbert Brown had been chosen to be the Vice-president of the club for the new year, and would automatically become the president at the end of his term as vice-president. He then called upon Dr. G. H. Barton to introduce the guest speaker.

After reviewing the work of the Public Health officers of 20 years ago Dr. Peat began a broad outline of the work of the Public Health units of today. He said the fundamental work was a problem of co-ordination between the various service units of the communities, and the education in health, nutrition, etc. that was necessary in all sections. Breaking down further the unit's work, the speaker outlined four steps necessary for the proper operation of an efficient unit. The first on the list is that of maternal, infant and child care. Dr. Peat stressed very strongly the need for proper care for children, beginning in the pre-natal period, up until school age and adolegence is reached. He pointed out the teeth are beginning to form in the third month of pregnancy and that if the proper care is not taken then, tooth trouble is bound to follow as the child grows and developes.

The second general work of the unit is that of communicable diseases. This included control of tuberculosis venereal disease, etc.

The third area for unit work was in mental hygiene. The final item that was mentioned by Dr. Peat was sanitation. This covered the field of water, food, sewage disposal and allied subjects.

In closing Dr. Peat made it quite clear that an efficient and active health unit will leave an enduring and good monument to its work in the increased health and living standards of the community.

F. M. Cass thanked the speaker on behalf of the club.

SMALL POND IN KING STREET BECOMING MENACE TO TIRES

Directly in front of the Record Office, there was dug a hole last fall. In the spring thaw, the hole filled with water and in spite of abortive efforts to fill it since, the water remains to a depth of about 12 inches. Cars that park on the east side of the street invariably dive into the hole with a noble splash with no good done to the tires or the temper of the driver. It is about time something was done about it.

J. G. Harkness Dies Taught School In Chesterville

Former Crown Attorney for the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, John Graham Harkness, KC, died Monday noon in hospital in Cornwall after a long illness. He was in his 84th year.

Mr. Harkness resigned as Crown Attorney last December 31 after filling the office for 31 years. He also served many years as solicitor for the City of Cornwall. He was one of the best-known men in the United Counties and won a reputation as a local historian. Two years ago he completed and had published his history of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Born in Matilda Township, he was a son of the late Adam Harkness and the former Louisa Graham. His father was a former warden of the counties.

Mr. Harkness was a public school teacher having been principal of Chesterville Public Schol before entering Osgoode Hall at Toronto. He was called to the Bar in 1891.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Helen Rombough, Cornwall, and Mrs. Marjorie Pewtress, Cobourg.

Also surviving are a brother, Edmond Harkness, Toronto; and a sister, Mrs. James W. McCollough, Calgary. His wife, the former Laura Feader, of Iroquois died in 1936.

Funeral service was held at two o'clock Wednesday with interment in the Harkness Cemetery at Iroquois.

Honourable John Bracken Addresses Annual Dinner of Local Chamber of Commerce

The annual Ladies' night of the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce was held in the dining hall of Trinity United church last Thursday night and was addressed by the Honourable John Bracken, leader in the Dominion Huse of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition. President W. O. Dixon was in the chair.

Among those at the head table were Mr. and Mrs. Bracken, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carr, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Graham, Mr. E. B. Lynch and Miss Charlotte Lynch, Mr. A. C. Casselman of Prescott, Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Wright, Dr. and Mrs. Justus and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dillabough.

Mr. A. C. Casselman, Federal Member of Parliament for Grenville-Dundas spoke a few words of greeting to the gathering.

Mr. Walter Carr proposed the toast to the Ladies which was graciously answered by Mrs. W. E. Wright. A quartette consisting of Mrs. George Merkley, Mrs. C. A. Graham, Mr. O. L. King and Dr. G. H. Barton with Mrs. P. J. Gilroy at the piano, rendered several delightful numbers, as did the orchestra made up of Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Merkley and Mrs. Gilroy.

In the president's remarks, Mr. Dixon outlined the work that has been accomplished during the year by the local Chamber. Mentioned were the efforts on behalf of better street safety, the project of advertising Chesterville and her products by means of a map printed on the business stationary of the merchants and the endeavor to get something done about a new bridge for Highway 43.

Introduced by R. C. Dillabough, Mr. John Bracken, the speaker of the evening, chose as the subject for his address. "To-day's Challenge to the Women of Canada."

"Canada is a favoured land," said Mr. Bracken, "but we live in challenging days. We are in the midst of two idealogies, those of Communism and Christian Democracy. A choice must be made." The speaker showed that the most important subject of to-day was that of preventing a third world war. The last war destroyed the accumulated wealth of a hundred years in Europe and at the same time destroyed many of the markets for the products of the New World.

Mr. Bracken showed that we need an economic creed that everyone has faith in, and political creeds that inspire confidence. "Constant friction between working groups should be resolved," he said, "and the able-bodied men and women of the land assume responsibility for the proper functioning of our economy." "No government can give its people more than the people can produce."

In conclusion the speaker described for his audience some of the scenes at the United Nation's Conference last year at Lake Success where he was a delegate from Canada.

Mr. E. B. Lynch thanked the speaker on behalf of the President and the guests of the evening for his inspiring address.

SO WHY SAVE?

Winnipeg Free Press

The manager of a British company received an income of $51,212 last year. When he had paid his income tax he had $13,336 left for himself. In other words, the state had taken three-quarters of all his earnings. Of every four business days he was working three, without pay, for the government.

But, as this businessman explains in a letter to the London Economist, the state was not satisfied with these exactions. Sir Stafford Cripps appeared a few days ago with a brand new form of taxation on higher incomes. By the time this man has paid the new Cripps tax he will have left precisely $2,900 out of his total income of $51,212. In other words, the maker of the business which provides a living for his employes will receive less than he is paying "a comparatively junior clerk."

The man in question had saved some money and received $29,876 last year from dividends on his investments. But he will not receive anything from these dividends. The government not only will expropriate all the dividends but make him pay in taxes $2,300 more than he received from this source. His savings, in fact, have become a heavy liability. An odd method to promote saving.

ORDEAL BY STEAM

Janet Graham, a young artist from Australia, who is now painting in Britain, told in the BBC's Pacific Service of her recent trip to Northern Europe. She and two companions hitch-hiked across Norway and Sweden until they reached the Baltic coast and then decided to have a look at Finland. They found the country interesting but the thing that impressed them most was the Finnish mode of bathing. The Finns, the three Australians agreed, were certainly a cleanly people; it was their method of attaining that cleanliness which shook Janet Graham and her companions.

"The Sauna or steam-bath is an amazing experience," said Miss Graham. "It's a national institution, as well as being very much of a social function. The men told me that beer was served to them in their section, but I'm afraid the women weren't so enlightened. Baths are scattered throughout the city, two or three to a block. They consist of three rooms. The first is filled with lockers of the bathing shed type; the second is where the fun starts. This room is arranged with benches round the walls rising to the ceiling like a miniature amphitheatre, and in one corner a huge pile of stones heated from beneath by a raging fire. Nearby stand dippers and buckets of cold water, and every now and then some maniac throws more water on the stones, and blasts of suffocating steam rise to settle in hot clouds over the bodies on the benches, the hardy souls on the highest benches taking the brunt of it, of course. The Finns have enough energy left, in spite of this procedure, to beat themselves vigorously with birch twigs. For my part, I was beginning to feel like something in a cannibal's cauldron when the grinning attendant (she thought me a huge joke) rescued me and hustled me into the next room to be scrubbed down, literally, with a great scrubbing brush and masses of soap: hair and all! I was finally released to come very much alive under an ice-cold shower. It was a shattering experience, but I certainly felt marvellous after it was all over."

Our Simple Planners

By R. J. Deachman

E. B. Jolliffe, Leader of the C.C.F. in the Province of Ontario, pulled a smart one a few days ago. Here's what he said:

"Free enterprise having passed away long ago, the choice today is between piecemeal planning in the interests of the few by monopoly capitalism on the one hand, and, on the other hand, social and economic planning in the interests of the whole community by an agency of your government which in turn is responsible and accountable, in a democratic way, to all the people."

Where has Mr. Jolliffe been living all these years? In Cuckoo Land, no doubt. We had a war. The democracies put up a pretty good fight and those that came out of it the best happen to be the United States and Canada, probably less Socialistic and positively less Communistic than any of the others.

And who is going to the help of Europe at the present moment—none other than the United States and Canada? These two will do more to supply commodities to a needy world than all the rest of them put together.

Where are standards of living the highest and where is the best prospect for still higher standards? Certainly in the United States and Canada, those down-trodden capitalist countries, suffering from the devastating evils of "monopoly capitalism" —that mouth filling phrase of our socialist friends who think that all problems can be settled by a blue print —drawn by one of their own committees.

Free enterprise is not dead. If it were, a fine regard for a decent memory would add a touch of reverence to the cultured mind of Mr. Jolliffe. It was free enterprise which made this country and the United States. Our forefathers started with the sickle and the axe. They brought us to the combine, the power saw, the motor car and the aeroplane. Where in all the world has there been a more magnificent development in so short a time? Free enterprise, at least, deserves a monument, but it doesn't need it. Our contribution to a better world must consist primarily of helping others to help themselves—let this be its monument, it is the essence of free enterprise.

Mr. Jolliffe proposes to improve it by planning—in a responsible and democratic way, of course. Our planners want planning because they think that planning will be done by them or for them. Mr. Mosher wants higher freight rates for the railway workers—Mr. Coldwell, wiser in his way, or more discreet wants lower freight rates for the farmers. There in a basic conflict within the citadel of the planners. How can it be resolved.

If Mr. Mosher gets his way and a slump comes and the C.C.F. is always looking out of an East window expecting to see it, then Mr. Mosher will find that he has shoved up wage costs when the bottom has fallen out of his market. The result? Workers will lose their jobs. In 1928 there were 187,000 employed by the railways—122,000 in 1933. Mr. Coldwell will have to bonus the railways—that seems to be his only way out and let the farmers pay, in their taxes, the bill for Mr. Mosher's planning. This is the economics of evasion, not a solution.

These are but simple examples. There are differences in vital interests within the nation. Mr. Jolliffe offers social and economic planning and expects that everyone will rush to it like school children to a free show. These are vital conflicts, they will not be solved by the C.C.F. In power the C.C.F. would become highly alive to its own importance. It would walk the tight rope as cautiously as the best of them. Many of our problems can be solved only by the erosion of time. An iconoclast mellows rapidly in power. In office the heavy boot would be out of place, it would give way to the carpet-slipper.

In England the Labor Government, wants to end wage rate increases at least for a time. The answer of labor is in effect: "What we have, we hold, what we haven't we are after." The government wants to end make-work practices which have long been a policy of British workers. The leaders of the Labor Party recognize the existence of this evil—the planners plan but the game is played under old rules. There are in England, those who believe that if the government is on their side the laws of economics matter little—they are a dead letter.

JUST SAW WOOD

By Barton Reese Pogue

DON'T blow your horn, or advertise
Your virtues to the world;
Don't put your talents on parade
With banners all unfurled;
If the folks you know don't seem to see
That you are mighty good,
Don't sell 'em "specs" to help their eyes—
Keep mum and just saw wood.

While men a hundred miles from here
Are talking of your worth,
The folks at home may hardly know
That you are on the earth.
But don't enlighten them, my friend,
The way you feel you should.
Although you'd like to prophesy—
Keep mum and just saw wood.

For he who saws is sure to sit
By fires that never dim—
The work he did in those dull years
Will all come back to him.
And when the home-folks join the rest,
To praise him for his good,
He'll thank the Lord he kept his peace,
And silently sawed wood.

A Changed Woman

At a revival meeting a lowly, earnest sister was given the story of her conversion. "Friends," she said, "before this great change came over me, I felt so mean and hateful towards my uncle that, if he had died, I wouldn't have attended his funeral. But now that I am so greatly changed, I am willing to attend his funeral at any time."

To The Electors of Grenville-Dundas

The Grenville-Dundas Liberal Association has chosen C. Allison Graham to represent their constituency in the coming Provincial Election.

Allison Graham would be a very active member of the Ontario Legislatire for Grenville-Dundas if elected. Through his efforts he has contributed much to the formation and progress of many farm organizations in Eastern Ontario. He has taken an active part in cattle breeding associations, milk producer associations, the Federation of Agriculture and many other groups working for the betterment of the farmer and farm conditions.

Believing that the prosperity of both town and country depends on the prosperity of the farmer, Allison Graham has done a great deal on the farmer's behalf.

Our candidate is 37 years of age and has always been a resident of this constituency. He is a graduate of McGill University, is married and has a family of one boy and one girl. He is a member and active worker of the Chesterville United Church.

We believe we have chosen the best man possible for this position and solicit the support of the electors of Grenville-Dundas on June 7.

Just In Case

The old lady passing the insane asylum stopped an approaching inmate and said: "Can you tell me the time?"

The cloistered brother took out a foot rule, then got out a slide rule and a compass and a T-square. After fiddling with them for about five minutes he said, "It's just four o'clock."

"Wonderful," says the nice old lady, "but what do you do if it's raining, and you can't measure the shadow "

"Oh," shrugged the inmate, "in that case, I have to look at my watch."

Women's Missionary Society St. Andrew's Presby.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Chesterville, held a meeting in the Community Hall Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Anderson, missionary from British Guiana. The Senior Auxiliaries from Morrisburg, Morewood, Dunbar, Winchester Springs and Winchester were invited with the Auxiliaries from the United Church and Anglican Church as guests.

The St. Andrew's president was in the chair. Miss Jamieson opened the meeting with a call to worship and the Apostles' Creed in unison. The opening hymn was psalm 93.

Mrs. D. A. Dillabough of Dunbar took the devotions, reading Isaiah 40th chapter and prayer.

A duet from Winchester entitled "There is glorious work for you" was sung by Mrs. R. J. Empey and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, accompanied at the piano by Miss Sybel Empey.

The Chesterville president gave a fine reading on "Mission of Motherhood" and closed with a poem by Edgar Guest.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons, Presbyterial President of Cardinal, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Anderson. Miss Anderson is a very pleasing speaker. She told us what we really wanted to know about the work done in British Guiana. She gave us a word picture of the country, the people and their religions and schools and churches and the success of the spreading of the gospel in that far away field in the Master's vineyard. Miss Anderson stressed especially more prayer from the homeland, more money was needed for food and equipment, more money for native workers to help them go about their Father's business and emphasized strongly that at least one more missionary was needed to carry on the work satisfactorily on both sides of the river. Miss Anderson was a missionary in Japan until war broke out.

Thanks and appreciation were voiced by the Section President, Mrs. Maitland of Morrisburg.

Mrs. Fitzsimmons brought greetings from the Brockville Presbyterial and the Ottawa-Montreal Synodical.

A solo "Labour where the Master needs you" was rendered by Mrs. Jones of Morrisburg

The offering was presented by the President and Treasurer of Morewood Auxiliaries and dedicated by Mrs. Earl Munro of the Springs Auxiliary.

Hymn 540 "Lead on O King Eternal' then the National Anthem, prayer and benediction by Rev. H. Huestin.

Refreshments were served and a social hour was spent, during which time Greetings were brought from the Trinity United Church Auxiliaries by Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Sutherland brought greeting from the Holy Trinity Anglican Guild; Mrs. Larson from South Mountain Auxiliary; Mrs. Harold Graham, Mountain Auxiliary; Mrs. Fitzsimmons from Cardinal Auxiliary; Mrs. A. G. Suffel, Winchester; Mrs. I. P. McIntosh, Winchester Springs; Mrs. Myles Marcellus, Dunbar; Mrs. Jones, Morrisburg; Miss Lillian Feeley, Morewood; Mrs. Huestin from McKay-Douglas Girls' Group; Rev. Mr. Maitland from Knox Church, Morrisburg; Rev. Mr. Huestin from St. Andrew's Church, and the thanks to those who assisted and otherwise helped to make this afternoon a success was given by the Section President, Mrs. Maitland, after which Miss Jamieson sincerely thanked the St. Andrew's Committee, Mrs. S. Fyke, Mrs. T. McIntosh, Mrs. Geo. Crawford and Mrs. Wm. Perkins also the McKay-Douglas Girls and the Senior Auxiliary who assisted in serving. A very profitable and enjoyable meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the Doxology. Mrs. J. A. Munro presided at the piano.

Mrs. Lorne Feeley, Mrs. Robert Barrie and Miss Jamieson received at the street door.

Mr. and Mrs. Huestin, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Jay Bailey received at the head of the stairs and Mrs Harold Greer and Mrs. Leonard Moran were ushers.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services at the Morewood United Church were conducted on Sunday by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey. The scripture reading at the morning service was the story of the Descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost taken from Acts 2:1-13. The sermon explained that the Christian Pentecost was the Birthday of the Church, the day on which the Christian fathers received the Holy Ghost, by whose power they founded the Church in many lands, through the preaching of the Gospel. The same Holy Spirit is in the Christian church to day. By His power the church goes forward conquering and to conquer. The anthem rendered by the choir was by Benson, "Look to the Lighthouse", the solo part being taken by Mr. James Shaw. Miss Ellice Smith was at the organ.

The theme of the evening service was "Our Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Righteous," taken from 1 John chapter 2. It pictured a grand old man writing a message to his little children that they might not sin; and perchance they did they had an Advocate with God to plead their cause, and bring about reconciliation.

The anthem was "The Old Rugged Cross." Mrs. Sam Barrington was at the organ. At a board meeting at the organ.

We like the comment the farmer made who got a book on "How to Grow Tomatoes." He wrote the publisher: "The man who writ the ad shoulda writ the book."

GARDEN CHATS:

By Lillian Allison

Hello Neighbour: I suppose you've been wondering what happened to me last week. Well, I had a cold and my head was so thick I couldn't write a thing. I doubt if I'll do very well this week either—I still have the cold. Isn't there a lot of sickness? Let's blame it on the weather. It usually has to shoulder all our grievances anyway.

If it hadn't been for the weather my geraniums would be nice by now. If you remember I told you last year about getting the geranium seed. I had six plants to move into the house last fall. Of course, as I always say, I can grow leaves but not a flower, so the plants were more or less a liability all winter. Windows of leaves aren't too attractive, but I cared for them faithfully anticipating the day they would bloom out of doors.

One nice day near the end of April I got too ambitious. I broke my six big plants into slips and set them all around the verandah. Then came the frosts—one after another. What happened to my slips is quite evident. I do believe, though, that I can spot a bit of growth in the main roots that I set out. I do hope they live as I'm anxious to see what colour the flowers are.

Are you lucky in having a flowering almond? I've seen several beauties around town. We have an old one. It is at least eight feet high, I think, and a perfect riot of colour. Those little pink "roses" are such delicate things and so perfect in form. I could just stand there and gaze at them. This is the first year it has really bloomed since the ice storm several winters ago when it was completely broken down. Perhaps that is the reason I appreciate it so much.

I'm sure you'll be glad to know that Mrs. Albino Robin is "Mama" again. She has three fuzzy wee babies—but none of them is white. She built a new nest this spring in the hedge right by the house. She's quite friendly except if you go to look at her family. I was so close to her this morning I'm sure I could have touched her, but when she saw me she flew away and scolded me till I left her.

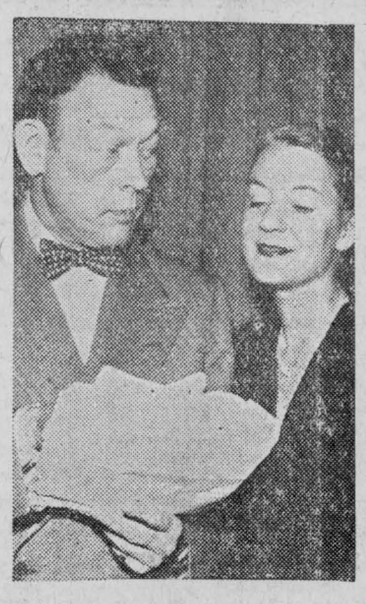

We've heard the oriole recently too. She has just arrived. I hope she stays. She's so bright and gay with such a cheery song. All the martens returned sometime ago to their apartment house. What a noisy clan they are! Of course the starlings are here too. They insist on building a nest in the water pipes. The old shot gun has halted several of them but there always seems to be more.

This cold wind and damp weather doesn't feel much like the season for gardening. Our garden is nearly all up but the tomatoes, cabbages and pepper plants are still waiting to be transplanted. I'm afraid you gardeners who are very ambitious and have vours in the open ground will find this wind and rain have lashed them to pieces. I saw a garden the other night with three or four old shingles around each plant. A berry box is good for protection too if your plants aren't too large.

Don't forget to use your Atox or derris dust on all your plants as soon as you set them out. If you don't you'll find something has made holes in the leaves and they will die. I always use it too on the beans, radishes, cucumbers and turnips as soon as they are up. Sometimes you notice little holes in their first leaves too.

Well, so long for now and may all your bugs and beetles die.

Guest artist on the May 23 broadcast will be the groaner himself, Bing Crosby. THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! The asparagus shoots springing from the earth look so good we wish we could eat them raw. It has been a long time since we tossed our own garden greens together into a salad bowl. However, one thing we can do is cook and chill the asparagus tips to serve marinated, with potato salad or jellied vegetables. To "marinate" leave the cooked vegetable (in this case) for an hour in French dressing or seasoned vinegar and salad oil.

JELLIED ASPARAGUS SALAD

2 tbsps. gelatine, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup vinegar, 2 cups boiling water, 1|3 cup sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1 pound fresh cooked asparagus, ½ cup sliced olives, lettuce, celery curls.

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Add vinegar, boiling water, sugar and salt and dissolve. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour a small amount into moistened or oiled mould or individual moulds. Chill until firm. Arrange asparagus tips in the mould attractively with sliced olives. Pour in remaining gelatine mixture and chill thoroughly until firm. Unmould to serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with watercress and celery curls. Serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 6 servings.

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

2 bunches fresh green asparagus or 2 cups canned asparagus, ¼ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped celery, ½ cup cream, 6 cups chicken stock, 3 tbsps. butter, 3 tbsps. flour, salt, pepper, paprika.

If fresh asparagus is used, wash cook standing upright in a deep saucepan or bottom of a double boiler, covered with upper part or deep saucepan, so that stalks of asparagus are thoroughly cooked while tips are steamed until tender. Remove tips and reserve them. Place asparagus stalks, onion and celery in chicken stock and simmer for ½ hour. Rub through a sieve. Combine butter, flour, seasonings and cream as in Basic Recipe for Making Cream Soups. Add asparagus stock. Heat in a double boiler. When hot add the asparagus tips. Yield: 6 servings.

CHEESE ASPARAGUS

Dip asparagus tips or stalks in Thick White Sauce, then in grated cheese, roll in bread crumbs, dip in beaten egg and then in bread crumbs. Bake in electric oven at 375 degrees until golden brown.

TAKE A TIP

1. Add asparagus to cream sauce rather than sauce to asparagus to prevent curdling.
2. To prevent lumps forming in a cream sauce mix the flour with enough cold milk to make a smooth paste and stir hot milk constantly while you add the thin paste slowly.
3. Crisp the crackers for soup. Place them on a baking sheet and heat until lightly browned.
4. Croutons are favourite accompaniments for soup. Cut stale bread in half-inch slices, then cube. Place in a baking pan and brown in a hot electric oven.

THE SUGGESTION BOX

Mrs. B. J. W. suggests: (1) Keep a pair of nutcrackers in the kitchen drawer to unscrew bottle caps.

(2) Flour pieces of meat lightly before you put them into food chopper. This prevents the grinder from clogging.

(3) Use a thick paste of cornstarch and water to remove grease spots from wallpaper. Brush it off gently when dry.

Mrs. T. M. suggests: (1) To clean nickel scrub with soapy water then apply whiting with a cloth dampened with ammonia water. Let dry and rub.

(2) Wash a floor mop in warm water with a little turpentine. This will cut the wax.

Mrs. J. K. suggests: (1) To stiffen organdy curtains, veils and scrim doilies use gum arabic. Pour 1 quart of boiling water over ¼ lb. gum arabic and let stand until dissolved. Strain through a cheesecloth and pour into a bottle. Use from 1 to 3 tablespoons to 1 cup of water. NOTE: When buying gum arabic from the drug store ask for white crystals as yellow ones tend to stain.
