

Tragedy Strikes Morrisburg Family

Tragedy struck Morrisburg with the unexpected and sudden death of five-year-old John Thomas Coligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coligan of Mariatown.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at 10 a.m. from Fairbairn Funeral Home to St. Mary's Church with Rev. D.W. MacDonald officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. Pallbearers were Ralph O'Brien, Roger Bouchard, Donald Barkley and Dale Crowder.

John, who had completed kindergarten, was born at Winchester Memorial Hospital December 29th, 1963. Friday afternoon, July 24, while playing in his yard at home, he complained of a sore throat and despite medical attention was dead by morning.

He is survived by his parents, Thomas and Ingrid Coligan, a brother, Stephen, and a sister, Sonya, as well as his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. John Molzahn of Williamsburg, and Mrs. Ray Coligan (Miriam) of Morrisburg. He also leaves a great-grandmother Mrs.

JOHNNY COLIGAN

H.S. West (Blanche) at Moose Jaw Sask.

Strader McIntosh Passes Suddenly

Many friends throughout the area will learn with genuine regret of the sudden death of a widely known and highly respected resident, in the person of William Harold Strader McIntosh, who passed away at the Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, July 29th, after suffering a severe coronary attack. Mr. McIntosh, who had spent his entire life in the area, was a successful farmer at Williamsburg, and latterly a security guard at the Seaway Chemicals plant at Morrisburg.

Born at Williamsburg, November 12th, 1902, he was a son of the late Edgar and Jessie McIntosh of that area. He attended the local schools and followed his father in farming at the family home "Sunnybrook Farm". He was a member of the Williamsburg United Church.

He was first married to Leda Amelia Menkley, and four children of this marriage survive. They are: Mrs. Kenneth J. Marcus (Betty) of Toronto; Mrs. Arthur Mizener (Diana) of Foster, Que.; Donald S. McIntosh of Toronto and Richard E. McIntosh (Dick) of Williamsburg. His first wife predeceased him.

On Sept. 12, 1958, he was married at Montreal to the former Alice Kathryn Mizener, who also survives, as well as one sister, Mrs. Clinton (Florence) Petherly of Oshawa. There are also eleven grandchildren: Susan, Tom, Jennifer and Peter Marcus; James, Christopher, Cathy, Andrew, Brian, David and Peter McIntosh.

He was predeceased by a brother Dr. John E. McIntosh, of Chateaugay, New York, and Mrs. Fred J. Donevan (Amber) of Oshawa.

A kindly, thoughtful man, Mr. McIntosh was beloved by his family and a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who sincerely regret his sudden death. Just prior to his illness, he had, with his wife enjoyed a trip to western Ontario, where he had visited with members of his family.

The remains are resting at his home, "Sunnybrook Farm" until Friday, August 1st when funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. in Williamsburg United Church, with interment to follow at Sprucehaven Cemetery, Brinston.

Honorary pall bearers are Donald Dix and Roy White. Active pall bearers are: Sutherland Dickey, Wilfred McIntosh, Aden McIntosh, Floyd Simpson, Dale MacMillan and Burrill Beckstead.

Mrs. J. L. Belway Died in Hospital

Funeral services were held on July 19th for Mrs. J. L. Belway (formerly Mrs. Earl O'Shaughnessy) 70, of Morrisburg, who died suddenly at Winchester Hospital.

Rev. Le Roy of Wesleyan Methodist Church, Winchester and Rev. Howard of Lutheran Church, Morrisburg, officiated. A favourite song "There's no Disappointment in Heaven" was sung by Sheldon and Margaret Robinson of Winchester.

She is survived by her husband Mr. J. L. Belway. Two sons Harold O'Shaughnessy of Morrisburg, Ronald O'Shaughnessy of Mattland. A third son Donald O'Shaughnessy predeceased her one year ago.

Surviving daughters are — Mrs. Henry Rohrig (Norma) of New York City, Mrs. George Barker (Mona) of Ottawa, Mrs. Garnet Rombough (Lera) of Ingleside, Mrs. Roger Stimpson (Glenna) of Ottawa. A stepson, Mr. Hugh Bellway of Sudbury, Ont. also survives.

The body rested at Fairbairn Funeral home, Morrisburg. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Morrisburg.

Mets Split Points Aim for Playoffs

Morrisburg Mets split the score in their last two contests, dropping a close 9-8 decision to the Glens from Alexandria, but bouncing back to smear their arch-rivals the Cornwall Celtics by 15-3. They are slated to meet the Celtics in the first playoff round. Both of these games were played away from home.

On Friday night, the Mets were short-handed at Alexandria, and did not show too much anyway, as they only tied the Glens for two periods, and then stood quietly by as the home team came on to win by the odd goal in the last frame. Brian McNair led the attack in the losing cause with 3 goals Brian has been playing some excellent games recently, and is hoping for a good playoff series.

Stinging from that unexpected defeat, the Mets went to Cornwall Sunday night with 'blood in their eye' and came back home with a 15-13 win. To gain the win, however they had to come from behind a 3-0 deficit in the first period. Mets were led in this encounter by Gary Hess with five goals, which also saw a rock-hard defence batter incoming forwards, to give good protection to Delbert (Doc) Jones, the youthful goalie who is capturing plaudits from the fans all around the circuit.

Although Hess and Jones seemed to be standouts, this game was a concentrated team effort, and if the whole team continues at this gait, and avoids the foolish penalties to which they have been too prone throughout the season, then the other teams in the league may be in for more competition than they are prepared to handle.

Of one thing you can be sure. — Still the proud holders of the O'Keefe Trophy, and with playoffs drawing ever closer, there is not a man on the team who will not do his utmost to see that this trophy stays right here in Morrisburg.

Mets wind up their regular season on this week end with two games, both at home, so that fans can come and assess their playoff possibilities. On Friday night, they are hosts to the Glens at 8:30; and on Sunday night, they will be at home to Ottawa Vikings at 8:00 p.m. The Sunday night game is a replay of the one which was halted a few weeks ago, with the Mets far out in front, when a Cornwall official instructed the referees to stop the game. This arbitrary decision by Mr. Harrington "did not set too well" with either the Mets or their followers and a large crowd is expected to attend the replay.

On Wednesday night at the Community Centre, two touring minor teams from Elora, Ontario, a real hotbed of lacrosse, had to be satisfied with a split, as their Mites shellacked their Morrisburg counterparts by 19-1; while the Morrisburg Pee Wee team downed the visiting Elora Pee Wees 6-4.

The editor has been asked to submit to the lacrosse league officials, our nominations for first and second all-star teams. The same request has been made to other sports writers where the teams are located.

It is perhaps difficult to be objective about a task like that, when you have been very close to one of the teams since its inception. However, here are our choices for what they are worth:

In the nets on the first team, we can see nobody else except Delbert (Doc) Jones of the M e t s. This youngster has been playing a faultless game all year, sometimes with very little defence in front of him, due to illness, injuries and suspensions. Had he enjoyed adequate protection, we are sure that he would be so far in front of the other goalies, it would be strictly no contest.

Our first choice for defence is Wayne (Moose) MacDonald of the Celtics. A powerful two-way player and team leader, his value to the team is tremendous. Paired with him, we put the Mets heady captain, Mick Mabo. Always dependable, always to be counted on in the tight going, Mick has been a tower of strength to his team for several years.

On the forward line, we didn't pick players for right or left sides, since these young fellows often interchange. At Centre, we put Donnie Mabo, one of our favourite players since he started. This little fellow, we are convinced, is pound for pound, one of the toughest competitors in this or any other league. Flanking him, we put the high-scoring pair, Rick Minneault of the Ottawa Vikings, and John MacDonald of the Celtics.

On our second all-star squad we would want young McIntyre, the stellar goalie for the Alexandria Glens for much of the season. In front of him we would place Glen McPherson of the Alexandria team, and Glen McDonnell of the Mets, a couple of toughies, who could give incoming forwards all kinds of trouble.

At centre on this team one could not overlook Gary Hess of the Mets, a multiple scorer in many games, and by his sides, we placed Danny O'Brien of the Glens and C. Minneault of the Vikings.

There will probably be many who will disagree with our choices, but we would be glad to take either of these teams and challenge the rest of the league to do their worst (or best).

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. Howard Smith announces the engagement of his youngest daughter, Patsy Elaine, to Mr. Dennis Roger Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold O. Fisher. The marriage will take place on Saturday, September 6th, 1969, at 2 p.m. in Lakeshore Drive United Church, Morrisburg.

Old Country Craftsman at Upper Can. Village

For six years, Robert LeCorre admits he had always talked from the head.

"Now," he says proudly, "I talk from the heart."

All his life Robert LeCorre has worked with wood. He is a craftsman.

He sees in wood, and what he produces from it, many qualities of deeply human proportions.

And now, at 61, he describes those qualities to the hundreds of people who visit him daily at his workshop in Upper Canada Village, near Morrisburg, Ontario.

Mr. LeCorre came to the village in 1958 as cabinet maker.

He, like his father and his grand father before him, learned his trade in a town famous for its onions, St. Eustache, in Brittany, France.

When he was 12 Robert LeCorre made his first handsaw. He still uses it today but only the blade is original.

The first task his father gave him was to build a table.

LeCorre worked hard for days and then proudly showed his father the result.

"My father he said to me, boy, you did not take long enough. You need patience to work with wood."

And as LeCorre painfully recalls his father put that first table into the fire to, as the craftsman gently explained, "warm the glue."

Robert LeCorre learned his lessons well however.

With great care and patience he finished his apprenticeship and joined the family business in St. Eustache.

By 1929, he had decided to leave and enlisted in the French Air Force serving in Africa "as a cabinet maker.

"You will remember," he explains, "that in those days most of the planes were made of wood."

At the end of his tour of duty he was married. He and his wife have two daughters, one living in Prescott, Ontario; the other in Montreal.

In 1940, Mr. LeCorre again joined the Air Force serving in Belgium and Spain as his unit's postmaster.

He spent the occupation in "his home town working with the family firm."

By 1951, he felt it was time for a new life for his family and he came to Canada.

He lived for six years in Quebec and moved to Ontario when he was asked to become Cabinet maker for Upper Canada Village.

Mainly, he restores the antique furniture which is kept in the period houses at the Village.

"Naturally, it is very important to show the people what the houses and life were like 100 years ago," he says.

But Mr. LeCorre, using the ancient planes, chisels, saws, and foot-powered lathe, also makes ingeniously crafted examples of modern furniture.

All of his work is quickly bought by visitors to Upper Canada Village.

"Most visitors are very interested in the wood," he says.

"The young people, the old people, even the boys and the girls always ask me many questions."

"I first used to talk to them from the head; but now, I talk from the heart about the wood and they understand."

Wood, says Robert LeCorre, is very intelligent.

"The wood he says to me, 'why do you put so much oil on. I don't want that much'."

"And the wood he always picks up just what oil he wants," LeCorre adds.

Like most craftsmen, it is difficult to get Mr. LeCorre to explain precisely what method he uses to stain his wood.

But the results show unmistakably that his technique is greatly superior to today's mass production methods.

According to him, his staining process allows the wood to breathe thus maintaining its finish from 80 to 100 years.

His favourite wood is black cherry though he works generally with more available species.

And in his work and his inter-standing Robert LeCorre has become something of a philosopher.

"It is like the old man and the young boy. It is difficult to join the old wood with the young wood."

"I always try to use pieces from the same parts of the same tree. This way things are more natural. The result is always better."

When visitors ask what piece of equipment he best likes to work with, Robert LeCorre proudly shows the handsaw he made when he was a boy in France.

"I say to them, my saw he has much time left. But me, I don't know."

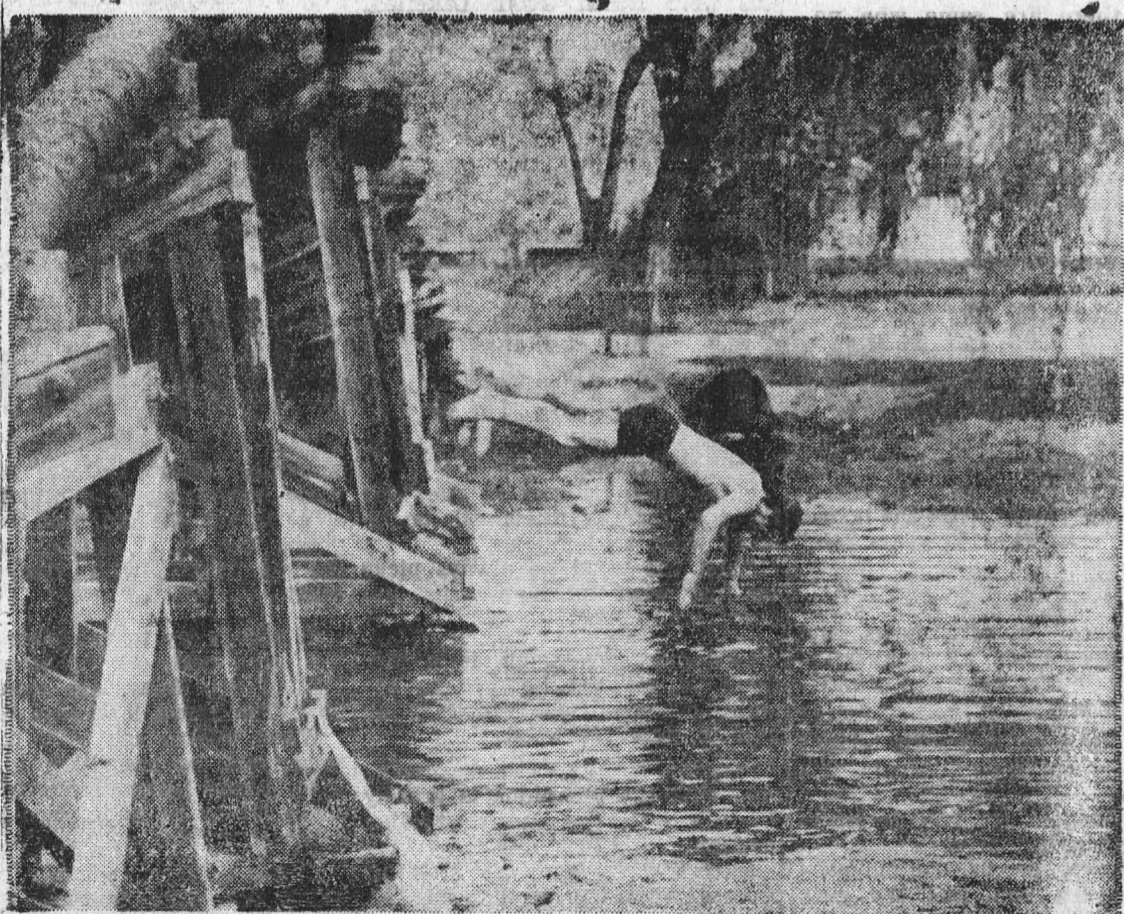

It is the hope of Robert LeCorre's friends and admirers that he, and his saw, will continue to produce finely crafted furniture for many years to come.

Old friends are best

It's nice to make a new friend, but most members of our species, the naked ape, agree that old friends are the best friends.

Last week, I had the best of these two situations, and I am not only delighted but astonished to be alive to report it. The only thing that doesn't seem to be functioning is my liver. Must be in better shape than I thought.

It began with a three-day visit from our old friends, the Traps. We have one of these reunions once a year, and it usually takes a week to get over them. Trap and I joined the air force together. Peggy and Suse have always got along well because they have the same interests.

They can talk for 20 hours at a stretch. On Tuesday night they went to bed at 8.15. That's a.m. Know what they were doing? The university acceptance tests. They scored very high. But they were a little dashed when I told them that high school kids get 50 minutes to do these. It had taken them seven hours.

And you should hear them playing duets on the piano at 4 a.m. One playing Galway Bay and the other Tales From the Vienna Woods. It sounds pretty good until they begin to sing.

Well, the Traps left, and I settled down for a quiet day of reading and recuperation. Knock at the door. Another old friend, Bill Hanna, all set to go sailing. Apparently, though I'll swear it never happened, we'd had a long and involved telephone talk setting the time and the day.

No way out, without being a stinker. So I tottered off sailing. A peculiar sport. It takes an hour to get ready. This is hard on a man who is dying on his feet. Then you float around for a couple of hours while the skipper desperately tries to catch a breeze no bigger than a belch.

Then, suddenly, there's what we old sailors call a spanking breeze, and the skipper is hollering at you to "cleat your jib" and "luff your lee" and all sorts of nasty things, and the dam' boat is hurtling along with one side almost under water and your beer has tumbled into the bilge and you are wondering whether you can still swim two miles.

Back home, safe, late and burned to a cinder. Nodding over a late dinner and the 11 p.m. news. Door-bell rings. Cheery young voice, "Anybody home?" And you go downstairs and there's another old friend, petite Jeanne Sauve, and she's brought you a beautiful rose from her own garden. And yes, she'll have a gin and a look at the new bathroom and a two-hour talk with Suse.

There was only one way out, and I took it. I plunged off in the car next morning for Uxbridge and the Ontario Weekly Editors' annual golf tournament.

Host Pete Hvidsten, a Norwegian who didn't know enough to go home after the war. But by the acme of acumen managed to marry off both his kids within two weeks.

Gene Macdonald, the man from Glengarry, who won the prize for the longest drive of the day—he'd driven 280 miles to get there. He also insisted I buy him a double every time I had a double bogey. A stiff proposition for both of us.

Johnny James of Bowmanville with two strapping sons who hit a golf ball a quarter of a mile. Weeklies' dean, Wenden Leavens of Bolton, who played four holes, counting the 19th. Charlie Nolan of Stouffville, game as always, getting through nine holes despite the pain. Eloquent Harry Stemp, who ran the show, which is rather like trying to get 40 rhinoceros to sit up at table and put on their napkins. Jim Dills of Acton-Milton, genial and easy-going as always. And a dozen others.

That's why it was equally pleasant to meet new friends. Dave Scott of Fort Erie, the only man I've ever seen whiff four times straight while trying to strike a golf ball. And "Ting", the amiable troll who cartoons brilliantly, and the only man alive who can skate in his bare feet on a coffee table, with coasters as skates. And a dozen others.

There's nothing like friends, old or new, if you want to beat Gabriel's trumpet and die a couple of decades before your time.

Fire - Servant or Slayer

The Dundas Farm Safety Council prize winning essay written by Bert Cunningham, Riverside Heights, Public School.

Men, Machinery and Fire, Servant or Slayer

During the ages man has conquered his work with New Machines and Nature's own fire. We must learn to make machines and fire work for us, to the best of our advantage.

By the habits of careless people many lives have been lost or bodies maimed, not only their own but others. One of the main hazards is fire. This deadly weapon can wipe out acres of valuable forest, crops and parks. Cigars and cigarettes are fuses to let loose the most terrifying part of nature. Thousands of game birds and animals are killed by one match. Lightning in dry areas is most dangerous. Gasoline spilt over a warm motor can damage tractors, kill people or start grass fires. Grass fires must be closely watched. Wet hay put in a barn will catch fire and burn buildings and cattle. Fire is a great threat to the whole world.

Although fire is a great slayer, it is also a practical servant for our needs. It eats rubbish that gathers around many of the farms in this area. It can burn off old meadows so new and better crops can be grown. We use fire in our homes. It cooks meat, vegetables and many other foods that we require. Still many people burn coal in stoves or oil in furnaces for heating. Fire will forever be used in this area and the rest of the world.

Machines have been a great benefit to the whole world. Slowly machines are taking over many of the chores on the farm. Milking machines are used on the huge dairy herds in Eastern Ontario. They not only do it better but faster, and this allows the farmer to do other jobs in the stable. Tractors are very common these days. They help cultivate, plant and harvest the crops. Other machinery such as corn pickers, balers, rakes, mowers, combines and many others do their large part of work in minutes which would take a man days. Still many people do not have all these machines, but times are changing quickly. Soon farmers will have all the devices to fully do all the daily jobs on the farm. Stable cleaners carry the manure out of the stable. Then it is dropped into manure spreaders where it can be spread over the fields as fertilizer by the power-take-off of the tractor. Machines are making farming a desk job.

Machines are also one of the main destroyers of human lives. Many tractors have turned over and crushed men. Corn pickers are also deadly killers. Many arms and legs have been amputated because the operator did not turn off the machine while working at it. Many accidents have been caused by young or less experienced drivers. Tractors with power-take-offs are another killer. People's clothes catch and wind on the shaft and this strangles the person almost immediately. Refuelling has to be done carefully. If gasoline is spread over a hot motor, it will catch fire and explode.

These facts which I have written begin to show that more safety should be practised around our district farms.

This is some democracy!

The eight-foot high wire fence surrounding the convention site was topped by barbed wire. Riot police shot tear gas canisters from the ground and a helicopter dropped tear gas from above as a crowd of demonstrators set fire to a wooden gate and a telephone pole.

A two-hour squirmish between riot-equipped police and 3,000 rock-throwing demonstrators injured three policemen.

No, this wasn't Chicago last August where similar events led to charges of police brutality and world-wide exposure for the anti-war faction in the United States.

The above events took place in Quebec City 10 days ago when Union Nationale party delegates kept Jean-Jacques Bertrand in power.

Unlike Chicago, the fact that barbed wire placed atop the Coliseum fence, the fact that 1,000 provincial police patrolled with riot equipment, the fact that demonstrators clashed with police, drew little press comment.

It is a sad commentary on our time that a political convention requires a police-state setting in order to conduct business without interruptions.

The scene in Quebec, if it had taken place in the United States, would have brought forth untold columns pointing out how the "sick" society south of the border has led to the necessity of a police state atmosphere.

Take for example this comment by Douglas Fisher on the Chicago riots:

"It always seemed to be a very young person who got caught. In one film sequence, on five occasions the police began cracking the skull of the youngster after the arrest had been made.

"Was it America or was it a totalitarian country? One could not tell until Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, and a former Kennedy Cabinet member, jolted viewers to some perspective by pointing an accusing finger at Mayor Daley in the convention amphitheatre and demanded an end to the "Gestapo tactics" and the "reign of terror" by the Chicago police. It was America after all."

Certainly, the violence in Chicago was much more severe than in Quebec City. For one thing, the Quebec militia had the good sense — or orders — to leave the press alone. Nothing motivates the press to action like a police attack on one of their members. Cracking skulls of demonstrators is one thing — clubbing a working newsmen is another.

But the similarity between the Quebec police precautions and those in Chicago are remarkable. Obviously, the Quebec police benefitted from the Chicago experience. They had a job to do — namely keep the mob out of the Coliseum — and they did it remarkably well.

A similar first-rate police exercise at McGill University a few months earlier resulted in few serious problems. Certainly the ingredients were there for a scene much uglier than Chicago. Unlike the U.S. police, the Canadian forces acted quickly and in small groups, thus avoiding large scale attacks.

When the protest demonstration was over, police finally revealed the master plan that prevented serious trouble. They had the streets carefully blocked off, reserves hidden inside and more only a phone call away. The same precautions were taken in Quebec City but for various reasons, it is doubtful if the real story ever will be told since it involved possible use of federal forces.

The demonstrators in Quebec City were primarily unionists, out to show that the Union Nationale party has conducted an anti-labor campaign, with its own civil service. Naturally, the opportunity was too great for the unionists and separatists to pass up.

Unlike Chicago, both serious leadership candidates declined to criticize the police precautions.

Apparently, it is now a fact of life that a few malcontents, be they separatists, anti-war protestors or labor leaders, can force the political leaders of this country to take steps to turn a convention into a police-state exercise.

And threats from separatists can force a city to withdraw its invitation to the country's Prime Minister.

Diegal-Gale Vows At St. Mary's

Baskets of flowers decorated the altar of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Morrisburg for the wedding on Saturday, July 19th of Miss Sandra Ann Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gale of Augusta St., Morrisburg to Fred J. Diegal, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Diegal of 39 Park St., Kitchener, Ont. Rev. Fr. D.W. MacDonald performed the 3 p.m. ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a street length dress of peau de soie with a chantilly lace coat. Her chapel veil was held in place with a crown of seed pearls. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white mums.

The matron of honour was Mrs. Keith Mabo, cousin of the bride and Miss Sharon Gale was bridesmaid for her sister. They wore identical mint green satin dresses fashioned with a train, mint green accessories and carried bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Boy Scouts Enjoy Camp In Calabogie Area

Leaving Morrisburg July 11th, about 25 Boy Scouts and leaders enjoyed a four-day camp at Joe's Lake in the Calabogie area.

The whole gang got off to a fine start and everything was going wonderfully until they had all their gear and supplies unloaded from cars and trucks, when one of the worst cloudbursts of the year descended on them. In spite of the dampness (!!!) the Senior Patrol succeeded in setting up one tent.

Later, one of the big bell tents was set up and proved somewhat less wet. But at 6 p.m., when the rain had not let up, the whole camp sought shelter in the Willis hunting camp about three quarters of a mile distant. Here Scouter Van Hoof cooked up a big mess of hot dogs for everyone; and for dessert, Alfred Hill took some of the older boys out to catch about a dozen bullfrogs. There were some green faces in evidence, as for most it was their first sample of frogs legs but most enjoyed them, and thereafter for the remaining four days, a lot of the boys were down at the swamp catching frogs.

Following "the night of the big rain" the boys and Scouters, on arising enjoyed a big meal of bacon and eggs. The weather, during the remainder of the camp, remained beautiful, and the boys enjoyed swimming and fishing, hunting frogs with bows and arrows, and also washed more dirty pots and pans than they would care to be reminded of. For most of them, it was their first such outing, and they were surprised at the amount of hard work involved. However, once the initial shock of this wore off, they seemed to enjoy the rigors and blessings of camp life.

The boys had the experience of cooking individual meals in aluminum foil. Some were burned, some were raw; and all contained ashes, but all the boys enjoyed it. None of the dishes were the same, with the bill of fare running the gamut from steakettes to sloppy joes.

Scouters Van Hoof and Jeffrey would like to thank all of the following: Wilmer and Dave Willis of Iroquois, Bernard Brunt of Williamsburg for transportation; Harry Van Moorsel for the use of his truck and gas; Jack Tyo, our Food Committee chairman; all the boys and their parents; our own wives for letting us go. And last, but not least, Alfred (Alfie) Hill, Mr. Hill, who has no boys of his own, and has never participated in Scouting, gave up four days of his own time to come out and help run the camp. All the boys will agree that without him things would just not have been the same.

The camp broke up on Monday morning, and the boys arrived home with many tales to tell, about 6:00 p.m.

He asks for too much

DEAR DORIS My grade teacher has asked me if I will lend my bicycle to a boy from England during August, when I will be away. The boy is staying in the country, and would like something to ride back and forth to town.

I don't like the idea. Dad says the tires will wear down fast on the gravel roads; maybe if the boy pays rent (which he says he would) he would expect me to replace the tires with it.

Yet I hate to refuse. I like my teacher, and much as I prize my bicycle I'm afraid that my refusal might make bad relations with her.

Not Wanting To Be Unkind

DEAR NOT WANTING Lending a bike, from where you sit, would be about like your father lending his car for several weeks, if he went away somewhere. Both represent a lot of hard-earned money.

There could be scratches on it, maybe dints and worse, when it returns. If you are willing to pay for repairs, o.k. But boys I know pamper their bikes; polish them, oil them. Pretty personal possessions, aren't they?

You have a right to refuse. Offer an alternative: he can rent a bicycle, or buy one, by advertising in the want ads. When he is through with it he can sell it again, same way.

DEAR DORIS:—When I first met Dick he would come out of his way to say hi and talk with me. On Valentine's Day he signed his card with "Love". We see each other, with others, at coffee breaks, at our office. He looks at me quite often.

Lately, he owed me a quarter and told me he would pay it at a certain time. I was to meet him, but he didn't show up. But he did pay the money that afternoon with 25 pennies. There might have been an excuse for the delay in paying. I don't know and I didn't ask, but he did seem uncomfortable.

He is a very nice guy and I am sure he likes me, but he has not phoned me or taken me out.

What Next? DEAR WHAT If a guy is reduced to pennies to pay a debt, he might well feel uncomfortable. Do you suppose he emptied his penny bank?

Give him the benefit of any doubts about that missed meeting, and play it cool. Maybe a convenient staff picnic will warm him up enough to ask for a date. It is still his move.

DEAR DORIS My husband and I are organizing a 50th wedding anniversary for his mother and father. This is the first time in my life we are celebrating an occasion like this.

I wonder if you have examples to give for addresses to be read by the oldest son and one by grandson or granddaughter and hints for proper things to do — to say — to sing.

Haven't A Clue DEAR HAVEN'T My leaflet supplying ideas about decor, food, speeches, invitations and arrangements is on its way to you.

If you are thinking of a dinner, there might well be a master of ceremonies chosen for his ease on his feet. The son's remarks deal with those 50 wonderful years and what his parents have meant to him and the rest of you.

In one successful party the grandchildren supplied all the entertainment: sang, danced, played piano, guitar and accordion. Have you got any talented reciters who could entertain with a reading or two?

Love expressed, good fun, care in seeing that the honored couple don't get too tired; these are the keynotes of a golden wedding.

DEAR DORIS If a girl goes away — say to school — is it improper to write to a boy she likes?

Miss M. he has asked her to. If they haven't talked about it, she could venture a picture post card saying what she is doing and making sure her address is readable.

If he answers, they are pen pals! Confidential to Curves and Corpulence — There's a happy medium between that stuffed look and the skin-and-bones silhouette of the pal you envy. I have leaflets for both of you: (1) Simple Reducing Diet; and (2) Chart for Curves. Send in 10 cents for each one you want, and a stamped envelope.

SUCCESS IN SIGHT FOR HOSP. DRIVE AT OTTAWA

Less than three quarters of a million dollars remains to be raised to make the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario a reality.

Campaign General Chairman Mervin Mirsky announced today that $3,297,807 had been raised. The goal of the public campaign is $4,000,000 with governments contributing another $170,000. The major portion of this will come from the Government of Ontario.

Mr. Mirsky said he is gratified with public response to the campaign, but hoped it would not lag "in the stretch".

"We are going all out to reach the objective by the end of this year," he said. "We ask that any person or business not yet canvassed get in touch with campaign headquarters in the Centennial Centre."

Mr. Mirsky said the fund is looking especially to employee groups, personal gifts and smaller local industries and businesses to achieve the goal.

Provided the $4,000,000 objective is reached, the 320-bed Hospital is scheduled 1971 and be complete.

HIGHWAY LITTER

CAN BE CAUSE OF ACCIDENTS

Litter can create potentially dangerous situations for motorists.

Broken glass on the pavement can cause a blow-out. Flying paper can obscure a driver's view at a crucial moment. Obstructions on the road can cause a driver to swerve.

At the current allowable speeds on our highways, any of these situations could result — directly or indirectly — in a serious accident.

Drive Safely and deposit any litter in an appropriate container — never on the highway.

Progress Report St. Josephs Villa

"We are presently waiting for an inspection from the Department of Family and Social Services, and also an inspection from the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office," Sister E. Quinn, Administrator of the McDonnell Memorial Hospital and St. Joseph's Villa, said today. "Until these inspections are made, and the building approved, we are not able to even accept an application for the Villa."

The application forms, and the policies for the Villa, have been submitted to the Department for final approval, and permission to accept and process applications is expected shortly.

"Our Lien period ended on July 6th, and prior to that date, we did not have legal title to the building," Sister Quinn continued, "at present, we have a number of minor adjustments, these small problems are being rectified. One item which is causing some delay, is with the interior decorators, in completing the contract for the fire-resistant drapes and bedspreads. A strike in the furniture industry also caused some delays in delivery."

The Department of Family and Social Services does not allow us, to admit more than a minimum of residents per week. This is a very firm Departmental policy, and we must adhere to it. Elderly people find moving in new surroundings very difficult, in order to make this adjustment as easy as possible, we will only admit a few residents per week.

During our financial campaign, it was expected that the per-diem rate would not be less than $7.00. However, on a review of our costs, it will be necessary to establish a per diem rate of $8.00 to defray costs. It must be realized that St. Joseph's Villa is a charitable institution and therefore is only able to recover costs. There will be a higher rate, than the per-diem in the Special care unit in the new wing.

There has been much misunderstanding on the financial arrangements to be made by residents, who are able to pay their own way. It is not required that applicants turn over their assets to St. Joseph's Villa. They will be required however, to make a declaration of their assets, and to pay for their maintenance, out of their capital, as required. At no time, will these assets be controlled by St. Joseph's Villa. In the event, they are unable to handle their assets, due to physical or mental incapability (senility), a relative could obtain power of attorney on their behalf.

Another policy, required by the Charitable Institutions Act, governing Homes for the Aged, is that applicants must have a medical examination by his or her own physician, and a chest x-ray. They may also require a medical by the Home Physician at the Villa, prior to admittance. The same policy applies to those members of the staff employed at the Villa.

"In the new wing, we will be admitting patients from those requiring normal care to a special care unit," continued Sister Quinn, "on the first floor, we will have residents, that require only normal care. On the second floor, we will have our infirmary, and on the third floor, will be our special care unit. It will not be possible for residents to choose the floor, they wish to be on, as this will be determined by the Home Physician, who makes his decision based on the patient's physical condition."

St. Joseph's Villa was built at a total cost of $2,136,800. Sources of revenue included, Provincial grants 25 percent; Municipal and United Counties grants, 14 per cent; Diocese of Alexandria 9 per cent; proceeds from the McMartin's Estate 8 per cent; Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph 6 per cent; and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation 29 per cent. This leaves a balance of 9 per cent or $200,000, of which approximately $160,000 has been raised through a financial campaign. The balance of $40,000 will be collected in the next two years of the Campaign.

St. Joseph's Villa will be operated by the Religious Hospitaliers of St. Joseph, and replaces St. Paul's Home, which was demolished in 1963.

Sister Quinn, continued, "no one is more anxious than the Sisters to open the Villa, but we want to be properly prepared, and if necessary we will wait a little longer, to ensure that our residents, can have a happy life with all the dignity they are entitled, and the comfort that we can give them."

"St. Paul's was closed in 1963, and this did not create the crises, that was anticipated in the Community, and we would ask that all those waiting for admittance to the Villa, be patient with us, for a short while longer."

KEMPTVILLE NOZZLE CREW COMPETITION

For the third consecutive year the Department of Lands and Forests in the Kemptville District is carrying out a nozzle crew competition. The purpose of the competition is to improve the speed and efficiency of a selected number of men in fire fighting with a power pump and the techniques of hose handling. These trained units are familiar with all aspects of a nozzle crew and could be used on fires not only in the Kemptville District but also in other areas of the Province.

A five man nozzle crew is selected from each of the seven equipped units in the District and under the direction of the crew boss have practice sessions in the preparation of equipment, pump set-ups and hose laying. The crew works together as one unit; each member is responsible for his own duties and at the same time works together with all other members of the crew in order to have a co-operative effort.

The competition takes place at the edge of a "make believe" fire. Upon arrival at the site, the crew must demonstrate their readiness and organization. The portable fire pump is set up and 400 feet of lined hose is laid to the fire line. Lined hose which is linen hose with a reinforced lining on the inside is used between the pump and the fire's edge. From this point, 800 feet of unlined hose in 100 foot lengths is laid with each 100 foot length having the nozzle put on and targets representing the fire knocked down. The lapse time to go over the course plus time penalties assessed for improper pump set-up and errors in hose laying and fire fighting techniques determines the winning District crew.

Fire fighting crews for power pumps and hand tools must be organized, prepared and trained to cope with the occurrence of fire.

Early detection and immediate action by trained personnel are essential elements in good fire fighting. Still the best way of fighting fires is not to let them start. Remember eighty percent of all forest fires are caused by humans, usually carelessly. When using the forests this summer whether it be for picnicking, camping, hunting and driving, please be careful with fire.

ONTARIO RURAL LAND OWNER SURVEY

Over 1000 rural landowners in eastern Ontario are presently receiving a green questionnaire booklet in the mail.

The survey undertaken by the Department of Lands and Forests includes five percent of the land owners who have 50 acres or more.

A total of 8,500 landowners in southern Ontario will receive the questionnaire. Landowners receiving the survey are encouraged to complete and return the questionnaire as soon as possible, so compilation of statistics can commence.

The survey is attempting to gather information about several of the landowners socio-economic characteristics and learn his attitudes toward land management.

Whoever you are...

Frances likes to travel. She'll be protected by OHSIP against the cost of health care she may need outside Ontario, at OHSIP rates. If she decides to reside in another province, her OHSIP coverage will be "portable". She'll remain insured for up to 4 months.

Bill is employed by a big company. After October 1st, his employer—and every employer of 15 or more employees—must join OHSIP, and every employee must belong. Bill's employer will collect and remit the premiums. Apart from this Mandatory Group requirement, OHSIP is voluntary.

Sally and John are expecting another baby in February. Sally will be able to choose her own doctor, and he'll be free to accept her as his patient. He will advise John in advance if he intends to charge more than OHSIP coverage provides. OHSIP will pay at the rate of 90 percent of Ontario Medical Association Schedule of Fees (1969)—most doctors accept this as full payment. The cost of Sally's hospital room will be paid for by their Ontario Hospital Insurance.

Albert is still working but he's not sure for how much longer. Unemployment, illness, or financial difficulties won't prevent him from having OHSIP protection—he can apply for temporary premium assistance. Full or partial premium assistance will also be available to him, determined by his annual taxable income.

Pete is receiving Old Age Assistance from the Province of Ontario. After October 1st, his present coverage from OHSIP will simply continue from OHSIP, automatically. All he has to do is wait. He knows OHSIP will be the health insurance he can count on.

Mario works for a small firm, but he'll be covered by OHSIP just like Bill. Any employer who employs more than 5 but fewer than 15 people may apply for Group coverage for his employees. Mario's boss plans to form such a Group.

as of Oct. 1st.

OHSIP

ONTARIO HEALTH SERVICES INSURANCE PLAN

can take care of you

OHSIP is the new, standard, comprehensive plan of health insurance protection and benefits in which every resident of Ontario is entitled to participate—regardless of age, state of health or financial means—through the Government or a designated agent.

After October 1st, many private insurers will become "designated agents". Each will provide the standard OHSIP contract on a non-profit basis, at the premium rates set by the Ontario Government for OHSIP services. If you wish other services from your agent, you can arrange for them through a separate contract.

Meanwhile, if you are now enrolled in OHSIP—the existing Government plan—or in a private plan, your coverage will continue without interruption provided you continue your enrollment.

OHSIP will be the health care you can count on—from the Ontario Department of Health.

If you haven't any health insurance, you may enroll now for October 1st coverage by writing to OHSIP, 2195 Yonge Street, Toronto 7.
