Winchester Township passes $2.4 million budget

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - Township council approved its annual budget here last week totalling almost $2.5 million dollars, over $150,000 more than last years budget.

The 5.9 per cent increase over last year's budget means the average ratepayer with a $3,000 assessment will face a $35 or 5.5 per cent tax increase this year.

The major portion of the 1987 budget dollars will be going toward education and the United Counties levy. This year's education levy is $932,916, up eight per cent from last year, or $69,952.

The United Counties levy is up nine per cent or $14,582 dollars from last year. The levy jumped from $160,915 to $175,497.

Major expenditures in the budget include $543,400 for township roadways, $327,888 for tile drainage and $165,000 for administration. While the expenditures for roadways and tile drainage were slightly lower in this year's budget the money allocated for administration was up considerably.

Township council allotted $165,000 for administration this year, up $35,000 or 26.9 per cent from last year's amount. Reeve Gerald Holmes atrributed the increase to the normal inflation increase and renovations done to the office in March.

Clerk-treasurer Nancy Krisjanis said about $7,500 in renovations were done to the office in March of this year. Other costs included under administration are staff salaries, office equipment and supplies, advertising and other miscellaneous expenses.

While the South Nation River Conservation Authority levy jumped almost 30 per cent this year, it was not a budgeting problem for the township because of the small amount it pays, Holmes said. The increase means township will pay an additional $3,165 to the authority this year.

Township council also allocated almost $38,000 to its reserve fund, which will bring it's total to almost $180,000. The reserve fund currently stands at $140,000. Money was also budgeted for a new Morewood Community Centre septic system with hopes that a government grant will also be received. Holmes said $25,000 was budgeted last year for the centre, but because it didn't receive a grant, the township didn't go ahead with the project. The township is budgeting $25,000 for the project again this year.

Big hit

Robert Meulenbroek, of St. Mary's School, tries to take a pitch downtown, with a determined home run swing. Meulenbroek and a bunch of other students showed their stuff Tuesday in a friendly but competitive game of softball in the St. Mary's school yard. Meulenbroek did manage to get a single, but it wasn't for lack of determination.

St. Mary's doubles size with $852,000 addition

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - St. Mary's School here will be getting a $852,000 facelift next year to make room for its increasing enrolment.

The project is one of seven recently approved by the Ontario Ministry of Education for Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry's two school boards.

The expansion of St. Mary's, which is to take place next year will almost double the size of the school. The school now has six classrooms and two portables.

The expansion will add six more classrooms as well as some furniture, equipment and other minor alterations, said Gilles Metivier, separate board director of education.

There's no date set for the beginning of the project as yet, Metivier said, but added the board will be getting "its wheels in motion" as soon as possible.

There is still planning to do for the project and when that's completed, construction will probably continue for four or five months, he said.

The project has been on the board's priority list for a few years and was just recently moved to top priority because of the increasing number of students attending the school. An influx of Ottawa parents to the Winchester and Chesterville areas has swelled St. Mary's student population, he said.

The expansion will see a second storey built on top of the school building, Metivier said. This was the only feasible way to add onto the school because of its limited school yard space, he explained.

Loss from geese estimated in thousands

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - "I think for the geese next year, they better not land," says local farmer Gerry Brugmans.

Brugmans estimated his loss to be somewhere in the thousands of dollars after having alfalfa sprouts dug out of the ground and eaten by geese this spring.

He appreciates the concern shown by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and by Stormont-Dundas MP Norm Warner, but the problem is still there, he said.

The MNR gave Brugmans a permit to scare the geese with a rifle or shotgun earlier this spring but Brugmans says that isn't enough.

"If the government is not going to control the geese better...all we can do is send them to the neighbors," he said. "We are helpless."

The government has to realize this is serious, he said. The geese previously caused problems in the Brinston area, but they've shifted to the Chesterville area this spring, he said.

The geese always invade his cornfields during the fall, but they can't do much harm, he added.

Brugmans suggested the government keep the geese at Upper Canada Village or designate other land for them to feed. "But don't send them to Gerry Brugmans' farm."

As a result of the damage done to his alfalfa crop, Brugmans said he may have to buy hay this year to supplement the loss. He estimated the crop loss cost him $2,000 and he may have to pay up to $2,000 for more hay.

"Who's got the answer (to the problem)? I don't know," he said.

"I don't know," was also the response by MP Norm Warner when asked Friday what could be done about the problem. "I'm not sure. I'm not really helpful on this," he said.

But he did know what Brugmans couldn't do. "You just can't shoot them," he said. Geese are out of season at this time of the year, he explained.

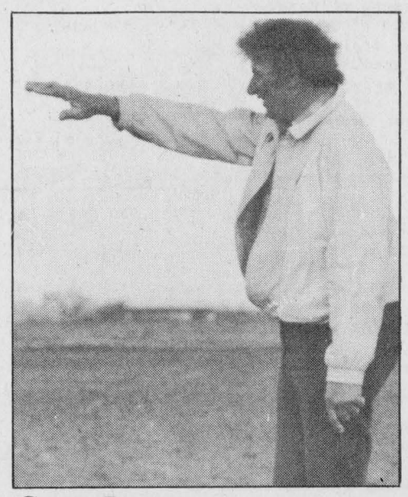
The geese do have a place, he said, but they obviously like Gerry Brugmans' farm better. Warner said he's hoping the geese can somehow be moved and kept at Upper Canada Village, he said.

He also suggested Brugmans use scarecrows to keep away the feathered foragers. He didn't know what power the federal government has to resolve the problem but said he'd be looking into it.

Joe Carreiro, of the Canadian Wildlife Service, shot down the idea of using a scarecrow. Scarecrows will not work for geese he said.

A farmer can scare off the geese with a firearm or shoot one or two and leave them in the field to scare the others away, he said. But it's against the law to hunt geese in the spring, he said. The birds are protected under the migratory bird act, he said.

It's been an unusual spring, the geese staying south for a longer period of time than usual. Because the birds stayed south for longer, they caused more damage this spring, he said.



Gerry Brugmans

Carreiro said the service doesn't have any formal program to deal with the geese problem.

Dundas OMAF representative Bob Humphries said it's "most unusual" for farmers around Chesterville to have this type of problem. Since the geese yank plants right out of the ground there's no chance for the plant to recover, he said.

"Unfortunately the farmer has to suffer a complete loss," he said.

Wording more than rates of concern: twp. councillor

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - Representatives of Chesterville and Winchester Township councils hope a disagreement over the wording of a resolution on fire protection won't affect the municipalities' relationship.

At a village council meeting Thursday night, Chesterville Reeve Carl Ward asked Jack Durant, a Winchester Township councillor attending the meeting for a matter not related to the township, about reports the township was upset with the village's new fire rates.

Durant said township council was concerned more with the wording of the village's resolution than the new rates. He said council wondered how it would explain to its taxpayers why it was paying an annual standby fee of $1,500 into another municipality's reserve fund.

Had the resolution said only a standby fee would be charged, Durant said it would be politically easier to explain.

Village clerk-treasurer Bob Casselman said a reconsideration of the resolution's wording would probably be on the agenda for the next council meeting.

Last month, Chesterville approved a new fire protection schedule for Williamsburg and Winchester townships to replace rates that hadn't been updated in 16 years.

The charges for use of the van and pumper increased to $225 for the first hour and to $200 for each additional hour, up from a flat hourly rate of $100.

The village also introduced an annual standby fee of $1,500, to be invested into a reserve fund.

Durant said he didn't question the need for a fund to replace fire equipment. "I think that's a very reasonable alternative," he said.

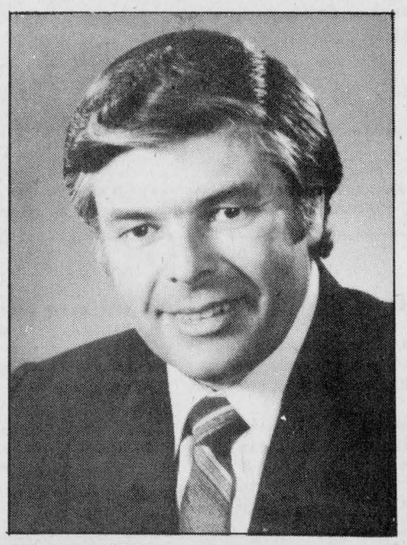
Ward explained the village wanted to establish the fund to prepare for the eventual purchase of a new pumper, the cost of which is estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000.

Village Councillor Mike McMahon, also deputy fire chief, said he understood the township's position of not wanting to spend its taxpayers' money on a reserve fund in another municipality.

But he emphasized he'd always supported the need for a reserve fund, approaching council last year to open such a fund for a new pumper.

Durant said the fund could help cushion the blow of having to suddenly purchase a pumper. Township council, he said, could be stuck with the purchase of a large, expensive piece of machinery itself the same year a pumper is needed.

Villeneuve acclaimed as provincial PC candidate



Noble Villeneuve

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - There were no surprises at the SD&G Tory nomination meeting last week which returned incumbent MPP Noble Villeneuve by acclamation.

Before a crowd of about 350 that filled the North Dundas District High School auditorium Wednesday night, Villeneuve said the local team was ready for the provincial election which has yet to be called.

In an interview the following day from his Moose Creek constituency office, Villeneuve said there's "a very, very strong possibility" the party will form the next provincial government.

"I see a minority either way, to be honest with you," he said.

Villeneuve was first elected to the legislature in a Dec. 15, 1983 byelection following the death of the riding's incumbent Tory representative, Osie Villeneuve. In the general election two years ago that saw the Tories cumble to a minority government, he won the riding by the biggest margin in its ten-year history. He served briefly as minister without portfolio until a Liberal-NDP coalition assumed power.

Villeneuve said he was losing no sleep over polls conducted by the local Liberal riding association that have put the Liberals ahead in voter preference.

The PC riding association has no plans for polls of its own, he said. "We don't have that kind of money," the MPP said, adding his job is to serve the riding which was recently expanded to include the eastern portion of Grenville County.

Fred Cass, the Chesterville lawyer who represented the former riding of Grenville-Dundas in the provincial legislature for some 14 years, predicted a Liberal majority to be gained at the expense of the New Democrats. He said the Tories could also gain some seats from the NDP.

While there's "no question" the party would hold the local riding, he said the provincial party is still in shock from the loss of the government after four decades of power.

Part of the party's problem, Cass said, stems from the image of leader Larry Grossman. "He hasn't got the 'hail fellow well met,' " Cass explained, noting that Villeneuve, former Tory premiers Leslie Frost and Bill Davis and current Liberal premier David Peterson are masters of it.

"If you have that, you've got half the battle won."

As for election predictions, he added with a laugh, "Time will tell...It'll be a lot of fun."

In his speech to party members, Villeneuve said job creation must be a priority. He said some 2,500 people applied recently for several hundred part-time jobs with the St. Lawrence Parks Commission. More than 4,000 aplications were received for 175 new jobs created by the expansion of the Kraft plant in Ingleside, he said.

Villeneuve has been lobbying for the addition of distilling facilities at the Prescott grain elevator to manufacture enthanol, a clean fuel additive for gasoline.

The ethanol manufacturing project, he said would serve a dual prupose: job creation and consumption of surplus corn.

He commented on the federal trade talks with the U.S., saying Ontario will benefit "in the long run" from a freer trade arrangement.

But he added that some segments of agriculture, particularly those that have "done it on their own", must be protected.

He repeated his opposition to Bill 7, which amended Ontario human rights legislation to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. He said last week the government shouldn't give homosexuals special status or recognition. The legislation, he said, could give young people the message the homosexual liftstyle is sanctioned by the government.

He said the question of controls on the insurance industry, which is emerging as an election issue, is "a tough one".

Some "belt tightening" is in order, he said, when the first question asked by a garage owner of someone seeking repairs is whether the work is covered by insurance.

But "heaven forbid" that a state-run insurance program similar to that in Quebec be implemented in Ontario, he said.

The government currently monitors the insurance industry, he said. And regardless of the system, he said, "the piper must be paid"; either through premiums or taxes.

Chesterville renews its snow removal agreement with Durant Farm Services

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The village has renewed its snow removal agreement with Jack Durant Farm Services for next year with a 4.5 per cent hourly increase.

Last year was the first the village had contracted out the work to a single operator and at a village council meeting last week, village foreman Jack Smith said the arrangement had worked well.

At a meeting last week, village reeve Carl Ward said some hydro poles had been gouged by Durant's equipment and asked whether they should be protected by steel bands.

"I don't think it's necessary," Durant said. He said the tires could be placed so the wheel axels won't hit the poles for next year's service.

He said he had only heard of damage to a canopy owned by a village resident and assured council "it'll be looked after."

When Durant was awarded the contract last fall, Ward had stressed the operation was to be under Durant's control. Ward said Thursday night the Ministry of Transportation and Communications had instructed the village snow removal must be supervised by a village employee and documents signed.

Last year, Durant proposed a standby fee of $1,200. Hourly rates for the use of a five-ton truck plus plow and wing, a 70 hp tractor and blower, a pay loader, a dozer and backhoe equipped with a front end loader totalled $243.30.With the 4.5 per cent increase, the hourly rate will be $254.25.

The village received good news last week when it learned the province had approved a $40,000 grant for construction on Victoria Street under the Ontario Municipal Improvement Fund (OMIF).

It had originally applied for about $347,200 through OMIF and regular supplementary funds. It has not yet learned the fate of its application for supplementary funding.

The village approved a recommendation by Recreation Director Tom Lee that a second student be hired to help with the summer daycamp program.

"We cannot run that program with one person. There is no way," Lee said.

He told council the village had received an Experience '87 grant covering 75 per cent of one student's salary and benefits after applying for three students.

Lee estimated the cost of the village of an additional student under the age of 18 working 35 hours a week at $900.

He said last year's program attracted 20 students for both July and August at a cost of $5 pr

He said last year's program attracted 20 students for both July and August at a cost of $5 per student per month-long session. He said the fees this year would be increased.

After some discussion, council decided to remove the driveway culverts of Riverside Drive residents Stan Woods and Don Dillabough.

Smith noted the residents had requested that the village do something about the culverts, which had been installed some time ago and had been pushed up by frost, last fall prior to the approval of a culvert installation and maintenance policy.

Ward said council should remove the old tile, replace it with gravel "and amen, that's it".

He said he didn't think it was the village's policy that it "go around fixing these things".

"Eventually we're going to have to make a stand some place," said Councillor Mike McMahon.

A motion to replace the two culverts was defeated but a second motion to remove them was approved. It was noted the new culvert policy would cover any future complaint.

Council approved an offer from the Rebekah Lodge to donate benches for the park.

Smith told council the lodge had offered $75 for each of four benches but Ward said the cost of a bench the Rotary Club had erected near the post office was closer to $90.

He suggested the village build as many benches as it could with the Rebekahs' donation.

Smith said the lodge had also asked for input on the benches' placement and Ward said the village would try to accommodate them.

But the reeve said the municipality would be responsible for their maintenance and should therefore decide where the benches will be located.

Council also approved a hike in the mileage expenses incurred on village business from 22 to 24 cents per kilometre.

Council also approved the construction of a wheel chair ramp for the Nelson LaPrade Centre following a request from a resident.

Villeneuve says PCs have 'vision of future'

MAPLE RIDGE (Staff) - In a speech resembling a campaign kickoff, a vice-president of the provincial Conservative party said electoral success depends on grassroots support.

"Ridings and governments are not won or lost on what the Toronto Star has to say on a particular day," Tony Clement, sixth vice-president of the Ontario PC Association, told a crowd attending the SD&G riding's nomination meeting last Wednesday night.

What matters, the 26-year-old son of a former Niagara area cabinet minister, said an election's outcome depends on the work of local candidates and their election teams.

The period between the election call and polling day is crucial, he said, referring to the experience of federal Liberals. Prior to the announcement of an election date, he said the party led by John Turner was high in the polls. But its popularity plummeted during the campaign which ended with the election of a PC majority.

He said voter loyalty is becoming less of a factor; voters today, he said, consider what the individual candidate and the party have to offer and not just who the press thinks is great.

"This scene here this evening is being repeated in riding after riding," said Clement, glancing around the North Dundas District High School auditorium filled with about 350 people.

He said the party is attracting new support; in the Algoma-Manitoulin riding, currently held by PC John Lane, he said many candidates are seeking the party nomination.

He suggested the Liberal recognition of such support is responsible for their delay in calling an election.

He said the PCs stand for a program of tax cuts. After Grossman and the PC caucus toured "the streets and the rural routes," Clement said they learned taxpayers believe they can spend that money as well as the provincial government.

He criticized the Liberals for throwing money at problems: "If there's a problem, any problem, at all, money will solve it. Taxpayers' money," he said.

He said the April 28 throne speech was the first time the Liberals had to think beyond the two-pact with the NDP and described it as "the same old tired grab-bag of Liberal bankrupt ideas".

The PC party, he said, has "a vision for the future and a way to solve the problems that Ontario faces".

Area schools take part in bilingual exchange

Elma and Morrisburg students learning from French

ELMA (Staff) - The ghetto blasters were silenced when the bus came into sight at about 5:30 p.m. in Elma.

"They're here, they're here," shouted some 25 Elma Public School students as they waited for the busload of Quebec students, to be billeted at their homes for the next three days, to pull into the schoolyard.

Elma and Morrisburg Public schools are participating in a two-week exchange with two Chicoutimi schools through SEVEC -- the Society for Educational Visits and Exchanges in Canada, which has been arranging bilingual exchanges between schools and individuals for 50 years.

For her students, Elma French teacher Gisele Poirier hoped the exchange would "show that French Canadians are just like English Canadians".

"I hope they learn a lot of French," she added with a laugh.

Her comments were echoed by Elma students, although some admitted to being a little worried about whether they would be able to communicate with their partners.

Previous experience convinced parent and teacher Janice Gillard, whose son is partnered with a Chicoutimi student, the exchange will succeed; her daughter, now 17, participated in an individual bilingual exchange years ago.

"I think it's a good idea, so they'll get to know each other's culture, she said, surveying the crowded gymnasium that already buzzed with conversation in both languages.

"I'm just hoping he speaks some English. My daughter speaks French quite well so I don't think it'll be any problem."

Poirier said the project began last September, when Therese Chaput, the board's French-as-a-second-language consultant, asked if any of the board's French teachers would be interested in organizing an exchange.

Poirier and Andre Charlebois in Morrisburg volunteered and their schools were matched with Ecole St. Denis and Ecole St. Georges in Chicoutimi, a city of about 35,000 on the Sageunay River.

Students were paired by hobbies and interests early in the exchange's organization. "I think we had three or four letters sent back and forth," Poirier said.

As the Chicoutimi students descended from the bus, some recognized their partners immediately thanks to videotapes the classes exchanged earlier this year.

While Elma students have a daily 40-minute French class, the Chicoutimi students study English for two hours a week, explained Marie-Paul Laberge, one of two teachers accompanying the francophone group.

Laberge and Monique Tremblay hoped their students would gain an understanding of the other's culture and said the exchange offered a chance to live in another milieu.

Over the next three days, the students were scheduled to visit the Robert Saunders Power Dam near Cornwall and the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa and tour some local industries.

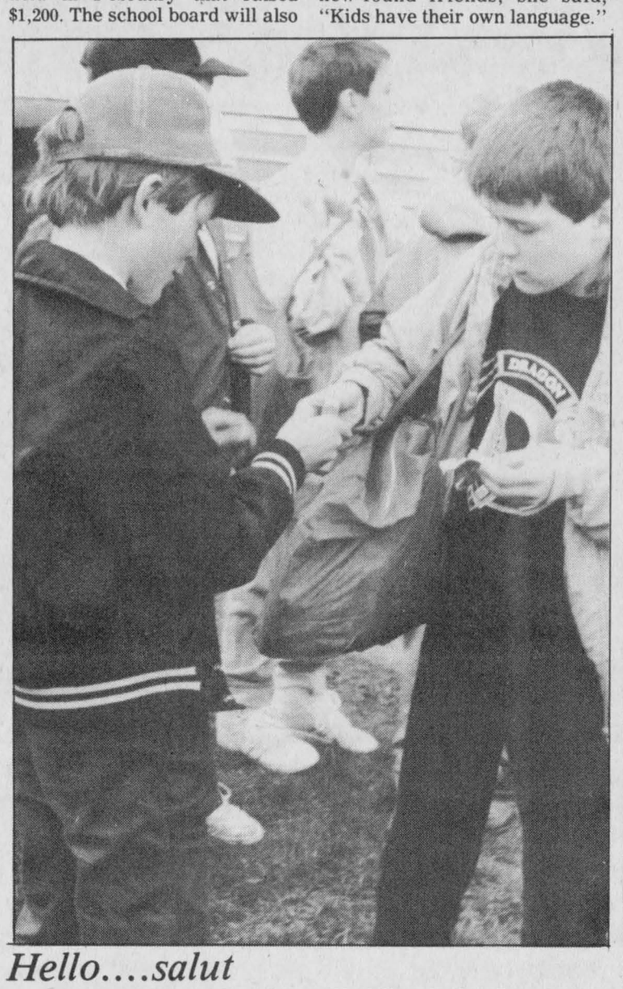
On June 1, the Elma students leave on an eight-hour bus trip to Chicoutimi where they will tour a child-sized village and visit Al-Can and Bagotville, an army training post.

"One of the kids' parents is a big wheel there, I guess, and he's going to have the kids get on the F-18," Poirier said.

The cost per student participating in a SEVEC exchange is usually $50, Poirier explained. But Elma students reduced the cost to $20 each, as well as providing funds for bus expenses, with the proceeds of a rock-a-thon held in February that raised $1,200. The school board will also help with transportation costs.

Although this is the first exchange she's organized, she said she wasn't apprehensive about its success. Nor was she worried the students wouldn't be able to talk to each other.

Glancing about the room, where students were already posing for photographs with new-found friends, she said, "Kids have their own language."



Hello....salut

The friendship of Elma Public School student Matthew Robinson, left, and Jimmy Cote from Chicoutimi was cemented with a shared package of gum. An Elma class and its Quebec counterpart kicked off a two-week exchange Monday afternoon.

Decision postponed on request for hall use

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The Charity Players will have to wait a while before learning if they'll have free use of the community hall next year.

At a meeting Thursday night, village council postponed a decision on donating the use of the hall to the drama club, which re-formed last fall and plans to give profits from its productions to local charities.

"Every cause is noble and every cause is just and every cause is good," Reeve Carl Ward said. But he wondered whether charities within the municipality would benefit from the drama club's work.

Dennis Molloy, the club member approached council, said the proceeds would be donated to organizations within Chesterville, such as Scouts and Guides. He said the club would also like to contribute to Winchester District Memorial Hospital "from time to time." "Is that a problem," he asked.

He noted that all but one member of the club come from Chesterville and the immediate area.

Profits from the club's production last March totalling $105 have been earmarked for the new community hall building fund.

Eventually, he said, the club would want to pay rent. "We don't see that probably happening for a year at least," he said.

He said the club would need the hall one night a week from September to November, when it would present a children's Christmas show, and from January to April, to rehearse for an adult production. More rehearsals would have to be scheduled as the performance dates neared, he said.

Councillor Roger Cole said more frequent rehearsals could mean council has commitments to both the drama club and a paying customer that has booked a certain evening.

Molloy said the club wouldn't expect the village to lose revenue because of it. Rehearsals would have to be scheduled around previous bookings, he said.

Ward asked if the group had approached North Dundas District High School for use of a room designed for drama classes. Molloy said the club had not contacted the school.

The village gave the group free use of the Nelson LaPrade Centre to prepare for its March production. Molloy said the club appreciated the help but added the centre was really too small for the practices, when groups of actors scatter about the room to rehearse different scenes.

Council approved donating the hall to the group tonight (Wednesday) for its final meeting this year.

New camp offered at Rideau Hill

OSGOODE (Special) - Rideau Hill Camp, though a United Church Camp owned and operated by Seaway Valley Presbytery welcomes campers of all denominations. This facility is located by the Rideau River on the River Road (Regional Road 19) near Osgoode.

Intermediate, Junior and Youth camps are scheduled as well as family camp for a weekend in mid July.

An innovation for 1987 is the "come and see" camp. These camps are for the youngster who wants to ease into camping. Pee Wees (six-to-eight-year-olds) may stay one or two nights. This seems a gentle way of introducing these young people to the joys of camp life.

Swim camp is an unqualified success as an alternative to the daily trip to a public pool for lessons. Our instructors teach skills required to earn Red Cross swim badges including water safety and resuscitation. This year an eight-day canoe camp will coincide with swim camp. If learning canoeing and outtripping skills appeals to you, register early as only 16 people can be accommodate.

Moms and Tots Camp was so appealing in 1986 we have extended the possibility for a larger number of campers. The setting is ideal to supply relaxation for mothers and fun and social interaction for children. There are also times planned for mothers and children to play, learn and grow together. The fact that someone else does all the cooking is undoubtedly a plus.

Family camp is a weekend designed for families, grandparents, aunts and uncles are welcome to enjoy swimming, canoeing, campfire and of course fellowship.

Again this year, a free open house will be held at the camp on July 18 between 2 and 5 p.m. All camp facilities will be available and a dedication service will be scheduled. The day will conclude with a barbecue prepared by the camp board and staff.

For further information or any inquiries please call Joyce Ritchie at 989-2852 (evenings) or George Suffel at 989-5295 or contact your local United Church.

89th birthday

Muriel Hamilton, a former resident of Chesterville now living at Newington Lodge Retirement Home, celebrated her 89th birthday April 30 and May 2 with friends from Newington and Chesterville. She was born May 1, 1898 in Springhill, moving to Chesterville in 1930 when she married her late husband, William B. Hamilton.

Sunday nomination dropped by Liberals

MORRISBURG (Staff) - The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Provincial Liberal Riding Association has decided religion and politics is a bad combination, moving its nomination meeting from a Sunday to a Wednesday.

The association requested a date change at its annual meeting in Chesterville two weeks ago, after a majority voted against the Sunday meeting. Numerous members had complained about the June 7 meeting saying religion and politics don't mix.

It was confirmed Monday by the central riding association office the new meeting date is Wed., June 3. The meeting date was moved ahead in order to be 10 days away from the Cornwall nomination meeting, said Bill Dillabough, SD&G riding association president.

Osnabruck Township Reeve Stewart Hart, who vocally opposed the Sunday nomination date at the annual meeting, said Monday he was pleased the association changed the date. "I just didn't think that was the proper day to have it (the nomination meeting)," he said.

Roxborough Township Reeve John McIntyre said at the annual meeting that Sunday's the Lord's day and people should be able to do what they want.

"Religion and politics are different. I don't think we should mix the two."

Rosenquist said at the meeting that Sunday afternoon meetings wouldn't interfere with church-goers and if people felt Sundays were sacred they shouldn't go to any other events on that day.

Hart said he didn't mind softball and other events being held on Sunday but felt government leaders shouldn't be elected on that day.

"Not too well done Harry."

A small leak can cause a major explosion.

Gas barbecues are a convenient and economical way to enjoy outdoor cooking, but they must be used carefully and kept in good condition.

Every summer, backyard chefs are injured and property is damaged in gas barbecue fires. Here are a few safety tips to ensure your barbecue parties don't go up in smoke.

1. There's only one way to connect a propane cylinder to a barbecue – the right way. Follow the manufacturer's instructions closely and keep the fuel hose away from any metal parts which may become hot.
2. Check for leaks regularly. Brush a soap and water solution over hoses and connectors and open the cylinder valve. If there's a leak, bubbles will form in the soap film.
3. Keep your barbecue at least 10 feet from buildings, overhangs and combustible structures.
4. Don't try to light a barbecue with the lid closed. If it fails to light or goes out, turn the gas off and wait five minutes before relighting.
5. When finished, close all valves.
6. Never bring propane cylinders indoors.
7. If you suspect your barbecue isn't working properly, have it checked by a qualified serviceman.

Make sure you don't have to invite the fire department to your next barbecue. For a free copy of the brochure "Living Safely with Propane", contact the Consumer Information Centre at 555 Yonge St., Toronto, Ontario M7A 2H6 – (416) 963-1111 or toll free at 1-800-268-1142. Parklands to open May 15

MORRISBURG (Special) - Over 6,000 acres of parklands and recreational facilities operated by the St. Lawrence Parks Commission are ready for their visitors on May 15. The Commission operates 15 provincial parks, two scenic parkways, a marina, 18-hole golf course, horticultural gardens, a wildlife sanctuary and a sugar bush.

The Crysler Park Marina and the Upper Canada Golf Course, both located east of Morrisburg, already have opened to the public.

The Queen Elizabeth Gardens, adjacent to Upper Canada Village in Crysler Farm Battlefield Park, features displays of spring flowers and newly planted rose bushes and shrubs. Admission is free.

The commission's 15 provincial parks, located on Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence River from the Bay of Quinte to the Ontario-Quebec border, will be open to the public on May 15. The exception is Lakeview, a day-use park near Cornwall, which will open in late June when demand for its services traditionally peaks.

Parks east of Morrisburg will enforce a ban on alcohol from May 15 to May 25. These include Riverside-Cedar, Morrison and Nairne Islands, Farran, McLaren, Woodlands, Mille Roches, Charlottenburgh, Glengarry and Raisin River.

Parks west of Morrisburg will not enforce a ban on alcohol. These include Grenville, Brown's Bay, Ivy Lea and Adolphustown.

Five campsite areas, including those along the Long Sault Parkway, Ivy Lea Park, Glengarry Park, Raisin River Park and Riverside-Cedar Park, have shower facilities available for campers.

A reservation service of the parks is available by calling 543-2911 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Campers are asked not to exceed a 23-day stay so that others can also enjoy the facilities of the individual parks. Although the beaches are not supervised by lifeguards, beach patrol personnel monitor safety procedures in the parks. However, they do not provide continuous supervision of swimmers.

The St. Lawrence Parks Commission's parks offer spectacular scenery, sandy beaches, excellent swimming, boating and fishing opportunities, as well as modern campground facilities and trailer hook-ups, refreshment stands and group camping areas.

IN MEMORIAM
PRESLEY — In loving memory of a dear mother Maggie, who passed away May 13, 1981.
Time passes on, months have passed
Since death its gloomy shadow cast
Upon our home, when all was bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will;
Her vacant place there's none to fill
Down here, we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we'll meet again.
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed
Junior and Sheila

Fashion show raises $700

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Versatile, comfortable clothing for spring and summer and a dose of nostalgia were the hallmarks of this year's Windows of Fashion held on May 7. The show, which benefitted the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, accented clothes for day and evening wear from Julie's Ladies' Wear.

With the organ accompaniment of Arlene Nesbitt, the show began with clothing for day and office wear. Spotlighting cool pastels and classic brights, blouse and skirt sets, dresses, jumpsuits and even flirty bermuda shorts came down the runway.

Clara Edwardson's piano rendition of 'Memories' brought back images of more than a century of fashion. Bill and Ada McRoberts strolled down the runway in ensembles representing the 1880s, followed by Debbie Annable in a crisp and business-like black skirt and white blouse, and Natalie Burns in the Gibson girl style of the turn of the century.

Jazzy in their roaring 20s outfits were the flamboyant flappers Marcie McClatchie and Leslie Ault and their escort J.D. Van Noy in his grandfather's tuxedo.

Next came Alexandra Goodall in a demure brown satin and cream lace creation harkening back to the 1930's.

A trip of brides, Kim Skuce, Allison Gibson and Kim Barkley wore bridal creations representing 1881, 1903 and 1945. The dress worn by Allison Gibson was her great-grandmother's wedding dress from 1903.

Cries of delight greeted the entrance of the next trio, Cathy Holmes, Natalie Burns and Sunny Boyd decked out as the well-dressed and well-covered bathing beauties of the earlier part of the century.

After the intermission, models Diane Crummy, Christine Enright, Mary Fawcett, Doreen Acres, Lilias Lancaster, Sharon Van Bridger, Brenda Hogoboam, Mary Spratt and Pam Sherrer modelled evening wear. Included in this sampling were classic dresses in bright prints and solids accented with white and black.

The benefit made about $700 for the hospital fund.

Auxiliary holds card party

CHESTERVILLE (Special) - The Chesterville Unit of the Winchester District Memorial Hospital Auxiliary held a very successful card party and tea in the Nelson LaPrade Centre on May 5.

Members and guests were welcomed by the new director, Mrs. Lynn Cummings, and invited to join in the bridge and euchre games. Amid a setting of spring flowers delicious refreshments were later served by the executive and committee.

Admission ticket numbers were drawn for various prizes and the following were the winners: Sadie Droppo, Mildred Higgs, Eileen MacMillan, Winnie Jeffery, Gladys Marcellus, Vivian Blaine, Gertrude Willard and Sadie James.

The highlight of the afternoon was the drawing of the winning ticket by Gladys Marcellus for the Log Cabin Quilt. She explained that this very beautiful quilt had been made by her friend, Mrs. Phyllis Macfarlane of Vancouver, B.C. and donated to the Chesterville Unit for the purpose of raising funds for the W.D.M.H. Auxiliary. Mrs. Marion Droppo was the lucky winner.

New co-op technical program hailed as major step forward

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Starting in January of next year, Rothwell-Osnabruck basic-and general-level students will reap the benefits of a new co-op technical program unique to this part of the province.

Developed by the Alternative School and R-O, the program will be available to 35 students for the January 1988 semester.

The new program differs from normal co-op education in a number of ways and blends academics and technical work better than the original program, said R-O principal Doug Murray.

"We think this is a major step forward," he said.

Instead of offering two credits, the program gives four credits for a full semester's work, Murray said. This enables a student to get eight creditis a year. Students graduating in 1988 will need 30 credits for their diplomas instead of the previously required 27.

Murray said he feels the program to be offered in the schools second semester, will be a big help in reducing the school drop-out rate. It has already drawn one drop-out back to schooi, he said.

The student already has a full-time job, acquired through R-O's co-op program, Murray said, but has enrolled in the new program to complete the credits needed for a diploma. The student will still work part-time while attending the one-semester program, he said.

Another advantage of the co-op technical program is that students will lose no in-class time, he said. The new co-op is a complete package where students work at work stations for three eight-hour days each week and have two days of in-class study.

In the first semester participating students will complete three or four compulsory courses such as Math, English and Senior Social Studies. There'll be no out-of-school work in the first semester.

New courses will also be offered in the co-op program: technical match, including problem solving, measurement, modelling and application; retailing, which stresses key concepts related to sales, bookkeeping, display of merchandise, purchasing and public relations; and a career exploration course and an entrepreneurship course.

Murray estimated there will be room for 35 students in the program next year, but expected 40 or more applicants. Seats will be allocated first to Grade 12 basic and general level students, second to Grade 11 basic level students and lastly to Grade 11 general level students.

Students entering the program must choose the entire four-credit package and can't study any other R-O course during the semester.

"It's a fact of life" that some students don't like the regular school routine, Murray said, and as educators, they have to accept that.

"The kids we talked to so far are very enthusiastic, (about the program)," he added.

Students spending full days at the work place will have "a more realistic feeling" of what the working world's like, he said. They will also be able to work at two job stations instead of just one, he explained.

Citing the positive aspects of the program, he said, "If that's not meeting the needs of people, I don't know what is."

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Aitken are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol to Mr. Carey Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Thomson of Ottawa. The wedding will take place July 25, 1987 in Long Sault.

THE CHESTERVILLE Record Editorial / Opinion

Taxing exercise

The next few months will be filled with talk of tax reform. It's as inevitable as the dreaded annual filing of income taxes following federal finance minister Michael Wilson's promise to review the national tax structure in an attempt to find a more equitable split of the country's expenses.

Already his suggestions are drawing criticism.

Farm groups are becoming nervous about a proposed value added tax and small business fears it could drown them in a flood of paperwork.

Provincial opposition, based on fears a federal tax scheme could interfere with their ability to promote certain sectors of their economy, is already being anticipated.

Social welfare advocates are protesting a rumored tax on food, which the prime minister hasn't confirmed or denied will be imposed.

It's certain that anyone who currently enjoys a perk under the existing system -- and these may be the loopholes targeted by Wilson for plugging -- will be upset if it's even suggested it will be lost.

The government faces the impossible task: it wants to cut personal income tax, which made up an estimated 56 per cent of the 58.3 billion dollars the government collected in taxes last year. But at the same time the government wants to reduce its deficit.

Corporate taxpayers appear ripe for increased taxes; last year, it's estimated they paid about 28 per cent of the total federal tax bill. But increased taxes -- or even the loss of tax breaks -- could discourage investment and expansion.

The government is left with sales and excise taxes, which account for the remaining 15 per cent.

But in its quest for a fairer tax system, the government should tread carefully in any area that could hit all Canadians -- middle and low income earners -- alike.

Low income earners suffer the most from taxes charged indiscriminately, such as provincial sales tax. An additional 7 per cent on the cost of a new jacket doesn't hit someone with a salary of $40,000 a year as hard as someone struggling below the poverty line.

A sales tax credit at the end of the year would be small comfort to someone who finds the weekly grocery bill has increased a few percentage points.

Chesterville's Past

07 From the Record Thurs., May 16, 1907

By the burning of the Methodist Church in Friday on Monday, it places the congregation in a very bad state. There is no insurance on the church and we are informed that there is a debt of five hundred dollars on the parsonage. This event should appeal very strongly to Matilda district, and we believe, if action be taken at once, money could be raised for the construction of a new church suitable for that congregation.

After May 1st, CPR track foreman will receive $2.45 a day, an advance of 20 cents from the former wages, and the men will receive $1.65 per day, which is an advance of 15 cents.

Miss M. Huxtable, daughter of Rev. G.G. Huxtable, of Montreal, and sister of Reeve Huxtable, of this place, won the Chapman Gold Medal and obtained first rank honors in classics in McGill, at the recent examinations.

A birthday party in honor of Eileen, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. White, was celebrated at the resident of Mr. and Mrs. S. Bogart on Monday.

27 From the Record Thurs., May 19, 1927

Monday night of last week, chicken thieves who have been very active throughout this district for many months, made a good haul at the home of Mr. Ernest Grey at Nation Valley, when they carried away over sixty fowl.

Saturday morning last, shortly after eight, our citizens had an anxious few minutes after the sounding of the fire alarm before it was learned the call was simply for testing the efficiency of Chesterville's Boy Scout fire fighters.

Last Tuesday evening, the afternoon and evening Bible study groups of Chesterville United Church, to the number of twenty-five persons, enjoyed the gracious hospitality of Mrs. Jas. Smith. An hour and a half was spent in the analysis of Biblical passages which throw light upon the Christian conception of salvation.

47 From the Record Thurs., May 15, 1947

This area is suffering from too much moisture. Seeding operations are very much behind other years at this date. Farmers here and there have made a start at seeding their fields but as a general condition the inability to get on the land is becoming, in fact, a very serious condition.

As we ambled down the Finch road the other night, it fell to our lot to see one of those freaks of Nature that we read about but seldom see. In a fence corner, busily tugging at a worm, was a white or albino robin. The bird was normal in every way, to all appearances, except for its color.

An audience that could have been larger, in the Community Hall, Monday evening, has very happy recollection of the programme presented by the Temple Choir, of Ottawa. It stands as one of the most outstanding events of many months and it is to be regretted that every seat was not occupied.

Mr. and Mrs. George Edgerton, son Stewart, and Miss Mary Edgerton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L.A. Mackie, of Crysler. Mr. and Mrs. P.H. Baker of Kingston were the week-end guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. H.G. Barton.

67 From the Record Thurs., May 25, 1967

Danny Dundas caused some sudden yelps as he greeted people going into the technical department of NDDHS. The tin man was wired for sound and sight and the electronic device caused a lot of amusement.

Chesterville councillor and Recreation Committee chairman Hulbert Henderson along with Community Centre chairman Harold Sharkey considered tenders for the village swimming pool Thursday evening accepting a $2, 950 bid from Wemerman Construction.

A recent meeting of Chesterville Recreation Committee found more willing hands to do the summer chores. New faces included those of Richard Hutt, Jimmy Allan, Adrian Laflamme and Paul Monast. Chairman Hulbert Henderson was assisted by secretary Edythe Cameron.

Since 1941 the number of horses on Canadian farms has declined from 2,789,000 to 475,000.

Ladies from Avonmore, North Valley and Newington joined with the ladies of Newington United Church Women at their meeting held in the Church Hall.

77 From the Record Wed., May 18, 1977

Osie Villeneuve is putting his political career on the line once again as he attempts to better his record as the longest sitting member of the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Villeneuve, a MLA since 1948, was acclaimed as the Progressive Conservative candidate in SD&G at the party's nominating convention in the arena here last Wednesday night.

Tentative approval has been given by the Ministry of Natural Resource for the new dam at Chesterville. Announcement that the project had cleared the ministry's board of management was made last Wednesday night by MLA Osie Villeneuve at the SD&G PC nomination meeting.

Finch Township ratepayers will be faced with an average increase of only 3.2 mills on their 1977 tax bills.

Linda and Laura Holmes were two of the several students of the level five French class at NDDHS who turned out Saturday morning in the bank parking lot here to wash cars to raise money for their trip to Quebec City this weekend.

The Life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

This Friday I will meet with my brother on the eve of his wedding and assure him that nothing can go wrong on his well-planned and well-orchestrated Big Day.

I feel it is my brotherly duty to lie.

Weddings, of course, are Murphy's Law in action. Anything that can go wrong, will. If it isn't the groom stepping on the bride's dress while they are leaving the church, it is the bride poking someone in the eye with her bouquet.

It's the reason why weddings, like Grand Prix races, are so popular. It's the element of danger.

My brother has already had a taste of Murphy's Law with his scheduled wedding photographer cancelling out due to bankruptcy. That he has chosen me as the professional's replacement only confirms the law.

A friend of mine once told me she thought she and her husband could thwart the law by keeping things simple. The bride wore a plain white dress without a train that could snag on something. The groom wore a suit that didn't have to be returned. They were married in a small church in front of a small gathering of family and friends.

The wedding meal was the simplest item of all. The couple had ordered Kentucky Fried Chicken. Unfortunately, as the groom was taking the chicken out of the car,he dropped it on the gravel parking lot.

Unable to afford more, and unseen by anyone else, the panicking groom brushed the chicken off and put it back in its containers.

To this day, the couple cannot reminisce about their wedding without becoming red-faced about the meal several of their invited guests had remarked was "good but kind of gritty."

I recall my own wedding with similar embarrassment.

It should be mandatory that anyone getting married should first have to attend someone else's wedding to get an idea of what goes on. I went to my first wedding as the groom.

That may explain why I asked no one to be an usher, forcing people to mill around the front of the church in confusion until one of my brother's finally came to the rescue.

It may also explain why in every one of our wedding pictures, my right arm is crooked while my left arm, which my new wife is holding, is straight at my side.

I belive if I had been to another wedding I would have realized that a panicking bride-to-be is not the person to place all your faith in as the central organizer of the Big Day. It would not have come as a surprise, then, that envelopes I had been given by my wife for the minister, organist and the church caretaker contained no money. I would have also realized before the first dance, that I could not dance at all.

But then again, we might have rehearsed the day one hundred times and still not foreseen everything.

How, for example, could we had predicted the rain that turned the tissue flowers into spitballs and made our wedding car look like it had a bad case of acne?

How could we have known that the disc jockey would demand his money up front at the reception and that he would have to be paid with the first wedding present of money we received?

How could we have known that my mother-in-law, who spent four days making sandwiches, would insist that we take the left-overs (three and a half days worth) with us on our honeymoon?

We couldn't.

So this Friday I will meet with my brother and slap him on the back and tell him everything is going to go as smooth as silk.

And then on Saturday, I will take a front row seat to watch wedding memories be made.

Jr. C Flyers unfairly rapped

To the Editor:

Now that Jr. B and Jr. C hockey have finished, in Winchester and Chesterville respectively, it is time to put one final issue to rest. The issue concerns itself with the critics who like to stand back and cut up a team of players who play to have fun. The critics I am talking about are the ones who sneered at, looked down on, and spread misconceptions about the Chesterville Jr. C. Flyers. I know I'm not alone when I say I've heard many people (most of whom are from Winchester) degrade the Flyers when compared to "their" Hawks. To these people, the players from Chesterville are "just glory-seekers," "just goons," and "just partiers."

The critics who have cast these aspersions have unjustly labelled a good bunch of guys with undeserved names.

Let's set of the record straight.

The "title" of "glory-seeker" has been attached to any player who has come to Chesterville from the Hawks, for whatever reason. The fact of the matter is, the only glory to be found in Chesterville is at the team level. The Flyers have played as a team and won as a team, and I feel that the last three years (one final and two championships) are indicative of the teamwork and not just one or two "glory-seeking" individuals.

If you are one of those people who said that the Flyers play "goon" hockey, well...you can plead ignorance. Sometime next winter, you should actually get out and watch a Jr. C game, and then a Jr. B game. When you've seen both, we'll let you be the judge as to which is dirtier. I am just one of several players who has played both, and we all agree that...you can plead ignorance.

As far as "just partiers" is concerned, all I can say is that you'd better think again. The Flyers have a successful, winning hockey club that knows hockey comes first and other things are secondary. The only difference between our club and any other area Junior club is that when we do go out and have a good time (after hockey hours), we do it together. Our players are from the area and no less than 16 out of 17 of them have gone to school with each other at one point over the last three years. The Flyers come to the rink with winning in mind. Winning breeds fun. If the Hawks were to secure a team of 17 "area" players who already knew each other, I'm sure that they would have fun together as well.

After all, isn't that what hockey is all about?

Wyn Thompson

The lovely surprise of a handful of May flowers brought to the door is a country pleasure that delights the recipient. I received just such a surprise from my favorite farmer today.

May is such a gentle month, such a time of beautiful greens and vivid colors that receiving a handful of May flowers is like capturing the universe in miniature.

The merry month of May is a time for going and doing and enjoying. April showers do bring May flowers, and the sunlit days of May simply beckon one to walk country roads or village streets to see and smell the wonder that is spring.

High spirits are the order of the day under the influence of May. For proof, take note of any group of two or more children. It has not been called the "merrie month" for hundreds of years without good reason.

May has never failed to live up to its praise. When May comes skipping up the garden path, it seems natural to feel the rush of the seasons and a sense of promise and hope.

There is so much to do in May that is gay, it seems difficult to deal with the realities of life. Office work. Housecleaning. And so on. I note that historical societies, IODE and other preservation groups always sponsor tours in the spring, mostly in May.

And it is so pleasant to wander along village streets and see the exteriors and interiors of both homes and public buildings so beautifully tended.

Last May three friends and I took the Ottawa home and garden tour sponsored by the IODE. There is, to me, such an unmistakable aura about old houses. It was a fine tour.

Before heading home, we had just enough time to savor for an hour the Byward Market, lovely at any time of year, but never lovelier than in springtime. We each bought ourselves a bouquet of flowers. Such a delight to carry a bright bouquet home, a memorial to a special day, a special month. What the heck! In May, when the days are so fair and the flowers are blooming, it is a time to enjoy a bouquet.

This May, we are trying out a new experiment in living. The Farmer and I are sharing our home with two veterinary students working in the area. They are a husband and wife team and, hopefully, all four of us will be enriched by the experience.

For pets, they have two Zebra finches, which are a delight. So now, our household boasts two dogs, an aged cat, and two lively, merry songbirds. I was very concerned as to what Scamp's response might be, but was mightily relieved to find that he ignored them completely. Old age has really caught up with him.

Field work goes on a-pace and it will soon be time to plant the corn. The other day I took the Farmer a mid-afternoon snack by way of my favorite swamp. It was full of flowers and bees. Violets were everywhere, especially on the moist margins. Dog-tooth violets, those lovely yellow, star-shaped lilies are in my swamp but not as plentiful as in a friend's twenty-miles from here.

Wild forget-me-nots do bloom in abundance here, on leggy stems, their roots in the edge of the water. I am always surprised to see how many bees patronize those tiny, sky-blue blossoms, which would seem too small to merit such attention. And before May is out, I will find the blue flag, a wild iris, which appears to like muck and water over its roots.

If you are out driving, keep an eye out for a stand of tamaracks.

There is a large stand of these conifers, that shed all their needles in the fall, near me. They are beautiful trees, tall and tapering, and in the spring their dress of brand new needles are of a delicate light green, almost misty in effect.

The color deepens into summer, and by late September it begins to deepen to tan, a lovely golden tan that has a special glow. A grove of tamaracks in full fall color is like a cluster of giant candle flames without the red of fire, only that warm-golden color. Then the needles fall and the trees stand stark and majestic all winter.,

I look out my window onto a green world punctuated with yellow dandelions. The birds are at their busiest, and once again, the purple martens were not enthused over my apartment house and have moved on.

Groundhogs are plentiful now, and squirrels, and porcupine, from which I crossly call Irish from a close encounter almost every afternoon now. It seems that dumb dog will never learn, I inform the Farmer who once too often has had to extract quills from Irish's red nose.

The first turtles appear, looking sluggish. Toads sing the shrill, high-pitched mating trill, while the peepers have finished their nightly choruses, except a few loners who always are late waking up from the Winter sleep.

Fishing is good on lake and river and worms are plentiful. It's still too early to finish planting the garden. It is time to pack a basket, any Sunday will do, with a loaf of fresh bread, a little jar of butter, a wedge of Canadian cheddar, a few apples, a sharp knife for cutting, a thermos of coffee, and drive a few miles to a fast-running stream or a piny woods and eat in the warm sun.

There is peace in the stream, in the green of the woods, in the cloudless May sky. And in the fact that we do not have to do anything at the moment.

Operation Eyesight a gift to mothers

To the Editor:

"A Mother's love is special for we have only one Mother".

As Mother's Day is celebrated on May 10th I have the privilege of asking you to share with me a way of honoring and remembering our Mothers.

As a youngster and on into my own mother and grandmotherhood I wore the customary red carnation signifying my mother was still alive. Now that she is gone I still like to remember her in a practical way...by restoring someone to sight who is blind.

Do you realize what a chain reaction is set off when sight is restored?

There is a truism which says: Give man a fish and he can eat for a day, but teach him how to fish and he can feed his family.

In a similar fashion a $25 gift can restore eyesight to a cataract blind person, enabling that person to work and thus be able to feed and support a family. There are many people in the developing countries who are curably blind. Can we in Canada comprehend 40 million blind people, almost twice our population, half of which are curable if funds were available. It's hard to imagine that many blind people but we can do something about it.

For a $25 (tax deductible) donation the Canadian charity Operation Eyesight Universal will pay for sight restoring cataract surgery, drugs, hospitalization, special glasses and follow-up care for the patient.

A patient identification card signed by the attending surgeon will be sent to you,

Send to Operation Eyesight Universal, Box 123, Stn. "M", Calgary, Alberta. T2P 2H6.

In care and concern.

Thirty-five qualify for EOSSA

ALEXANDRIA (Staff) - Thirty-five area athletes qualified for the EOSSA track and field meet tomorrow after a meet here last Thursday.

North Dundas had 21 athletes qualify with strong showings in the SD&G meet held at Glengarry District High School here May 7. Tagwi had 14 athletes qualify in the same meet.

Bernie Julien, head of the physical education department at Tagwi, said he is not sure how the team will do at the EOSSA, being held at Thousand Islands in Brockville.

"As a general rule, to do well in the EOSSA, you have to finish first in the SD&G."

Although Tagwi had some second place finishers, they didn't get any first place medals.

Hugh Conlin, team coach of North Dundas, said, "This is the most we've had going in a few years, we should do pretty well."

North Dundas had several first place finishers among its team.

The top four finishers in the field events, the top three in the track events and the top two in the relays advance to the EOSSA meet.

In the midget girls division, Stacey Berry, of North Dundas, had two first place finishes and one second in the track events. Berry ran the 100 metres in 13.69 seconds and the 200 metre in 28.39 seconds to give her first place. Tagwi had their meet April 27. Julien said there was good participation and 94 students qualified for the SD&G meet.

North Dundas held their meet in bad weather on April 30. Sixty students qualified for the Alexandria meet.

Conlin said the team should do well at the EOSSA and the regionals.

Julien said, "Competition is pretty keen at the regional."

Village to field extra ball team

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The village will have one extra team in the Osnabruck and District Softball League this year.

Along with a bantam girls team that was entered in the league last year, Chesterville will also send a mixed squirt team.

"We didn't have enough boys or girls so we had to go to a mixed team. It shouldn't make much of a difference anyhow," said recreation director Tom Lee on Monday.

Lee said he was happy about the turnout. "There was good registration overall."

Along with the 15 bantam girls and 14 squirts, there were also 28 that registered for T-Ball, something that there wasn't last year.

Lee said if a few more sign up, three teams could play in the T-Ball league.

He also said, "If we can keep kids interested they will go into other divisions a few years down the road."

The ODSL has one division confirmed, the bantam boys. Their season begins May 18.

Local runner runs marathon in less than four hours

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - A celebration dinner took the form of a pizza for one area athlete.

Jevon Groves, 17, ran his first National Capital Marathon Sunday and completed the 26 miles and 385 yards in under four hours -- three hours 52 minutes to be more precise.

After the run Groves said he "felt good he could it and tired and hungry." He and friends celebrated the event with dinner at Fat Albert's.

Groves, a Grade 11 student at North Dundas, also took part in the SD&G track and field meet three days earlier. He finished first in the 1,500 metres and second in the 3,000 metres. These were used to help warm up for the marathon, he said.

"I wanted to see if I could run a quick 3,000, to see if I was worn out."

Groves had been given a training schedule by his brother, Grant, who had himself run in a few marathons.

Monday was his rest day he said. The week before the marathon, Groves said he had run 64 miles. This was cut down to 12 miles the week of the marathon so as to not get too tired.

Groves said he had little problem running 20 miles but the "real race begins" at that mark.

"I just went out as if I were running 2 miles. At the 20-mile mark my legs were hurting a bit but I felt I could still do another six."

He also said he didn't want to give up after putting effort and time into the training for it.

He said he had been interested in running the marathon "to see if I had the endurance to finish. It also helps keep you in shape."

Groves will be participating in the EOSSA meet in Brockville tomorrow.

He said his legs feel a bit sore but he is not tired and should be able to do well at the meet.

Hugh Conlin, track and field coach at North Dundas, said, "It'll take him a while to run after the marathon, but he should be ready after four day's rest to run Thursday."

Groves plans to run a few more marathons but not this year since he says he will not have enough time to train for them.

Mystery Ride successful

CORNWALL (Staff) - Ten people showed up for a ride into the unknown May 10.

Christine Ractliffe, secretary of the Gartree Motorcycle Riders Club, said there was a really good turnout for the Mystery Ride over the weekend.

Eight motorcycles and 10 people showed up for it (two people rode as passengers).

Ractliffe said people in the group were not told where they were headed until they left. The trek began at the Fifth Wheel Restaurant in Cornwall at 10 a.m., making its way to Sarana Lake in upper New York State before turning back. The trip took six hours.

She said the participants "really enjoyed it."

The riders were given maps so they could stop along the way instead of keeping up with the pack.

The club offered prizes for the cleanest bike and best dressed bike. John Deronde, of St. Andrews, won the best-dressed bike award. Ractliffe said the winner of the cleanest bike award didn't leave his name but is known to live around the area and rides a Yamaha 400.

Rain ruins bike-a-thon

INGLESIDE (Staff) - The weather spoiled some of the success of the Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotary Bike-A-Thon held last weekend, said chairman Roger Crites.

He said few showed up Saturday because of the rain. The bike-a-thon was rescheduled for Sunday but it didn't get many more people, he said.

"It's one of those things you can't say how many will turn out," he said.

Fifty-three participants have turned in their sheets so far, said Crites. He added he will not know how much was raised for about a month. This year's donations are going to the Boy Scouts and for a bike path from the Long Sault Parkway to Cornwall township. Last year, 95 riders raised $3,500 for Camp Kagama and other local community projects.

their way up and down the parkway to complete the 40-kilometre distance.

SNRCA's Big Splash lined up for May 17

BERWICK (Staff) - The South Nation River Conservation Authority is celebrating its 40th anniversary with a splash -- a Big Splash.

The Big Splash is a fishing derby, sponsored in conjunction with the South Nation Anglers Club, which will be held this Sunday (May 17) along the South Nation River and its tributaries.

The derby is open to all Ontario licensed fishermen and will have three divisons: men, women and children (under 12).

Prizes will be awarded for the first and second places in each category per division plus one grand prize (for the largest catch of the day).

Suzanne DeRochie, information and education coordinator, said, "Because there are so many categories and divisions, we are hoping to make it a fun event rather than a serious one."

There will be five categories in the derby: A -- pickeral, walleye, golden eye or dore; B -- northern pike, jackfish, pike or grass pike; C -- yellow perch or perch; D -- rock bass; E -- sunfish or pumpkinseed; and F -- barbotte, catfish or mudpout.

All weigh-ins (total weight and length of fish) must be done before 4 p.m. Sunday at the Crysler Community Centre. Prizes will be given shortly thereafter.

Registration will be taken up until 9 a.m. Sunday at the community centre. The fee is $5 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

Derochie added, "There will also be a miniature sport show for those that aren't interested in fishing."

The show feature displays from the ministries of environment, and natural resources, the SNRCA and other local businesses.

The authority is hoping for a crowd of 150, she said. The event will be held rain or shine.

Contest begins for new name

CHESTERVILLE (Staff) - The new minor hockey association formed through the amalgamation of the Winchester and Chesterville minor hockey associations is still without a name.

To help remedy this, they are holding a contest which will be open to all youths between the age of 4 and 17 who are involved in minor hockey.

The association is requesting a short letter and-or picture with the name, logo and colors of the new association. The name and phone number of the participant must accompany the entry.

The deadline for the contest is May 25 and entries should be addressed to Kevin Mackler, RR4 Winchester, K0C 2K0.

Prizes will be awarded if the entry is chosen. If more than one is chosen, the winner will be selected with a draw from a hat.

Lob Ball begins season

WINCHESTER (Staff) - Chesterville got off on a winning note in the Winchester Men's Lob Ball League with a win in their first game May 6.

Morewood took a 4-0 lead after three-and-a-half innings. It was to be the only scoring for them. Chesterville got three in their half of the fourth and added four more in the fifth to win the game 7-4.

Other scores in the league were: May 4 -- Shoneroy over Top Valu Hansma, 11-5; Blue Jays outscored Vice, 27-11; Cubs roared past the Mountain Lions, 17-3; May 5 -- Stage West defeated Country Boy, 17-10; May 6 -- Vice over the 40 lbers., 10-2; Shoneroy winning over the Mountain Lions, 19-2; Blue Jays shut out Country Boys, 28-0; and May 7 -- Chesterville downed the 40 lbers., 9-5.

All games scheduled for May 11 were postponed due to rain.
