In the May Civil Service examinations, Willis College, of Ottawa, literally swept the field. In all twenty-five Willis candidates passed. In the Stenographers' Examination Willis candidates took first and second place. In the Third Division Clerkship Examination a Willis student was second, while in another examination a Willis student was first. Of the first twenty-four successful in the Stenographers' Examination eleven were Willis students, while all Canada contributed the remaining thirteen. In other words, Willis College passed nearly as many as all other colleges combined. All of which is additional evidence of the high standard of instruction in this famous College.

A Sad Death At Portland.

The outiug of Mr. and Mrs. W. Austin and three children, of Ottawa, came to a sad end at Portland on Tuesday, when Mr. Austin died after a few days illness. On Saturday Mr. Austin was taken ill with kidney trouble which he was subject and on Sunday he was taken to the home of his uncle in Portland and medical aid summoned. He grew steadily worse and on Tuesday he died. He was a Mason and an Oddfellow and members of the latter order made arrangements for the funeral. The body was brought down on the Victoria last evening, accompanied by the stricken family who were met here by a score of Oddfellows and attended to the depot—Smith's Falls Record.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

Insect Sits on Its Eggs.

Family matters in the case of insects usually mean only the depositing of eggs in suitable situations for the independent development of the offspring, the parent insects often dying before the young appear. The earwig, however, provides a remarkable exception to the general rule, for it sits upon its fifty or more eggs until they are hatched, just as a bird would do, and, moreover, if the eggs get scattered it carefully collects them together again. In the early months of the year, when digging the soil, female earwigs may frequently be found together with their batch of eggs. At the slightest sign of danger the young ones huddle close to their mother, hiding beneath her body so far as it will cover so large a family.—Strand Magazine.

Social Distinctions.

Are we born snobs, do we achieve snobbishness, or do we have snobbishness thrust upon us? If we achieve it we sometimes do it early. The other day I heard Beatrice, a little nine-year-old, expounding to a visitor of about her own age.

"No," said Beatrice impressively, "we don't play with Sarah any more. We found out that her father has only a first name job. Our papa, you know, holds a mister position."—Woman's Home Companion.

An Effective Threat.

A certain Missouri editor is ready to take a flier in high finance. He got his schooling by threatening to publish the name of the young man seen with his sweetheart's head on his shoulder if he didn't come across with a dollar on subscription. Fifty-seven young fellows slipped in and paid a dollar. The editor says he has letters from several others informing him they will hand him a dollar the next time they are in town.—Kansas City Star.

Losing Their Charm.

Vicar's Daughter—I suppose the rain kept you from the funeral last Tuesday, Mrs. Blogg? Mrs. Blogg—Well, partly, miss; but, to speak true, wot with the rheumatiz and doin' away with the 'am and the cake afterwards, funerals ain't the jaunts they used to be for me!—London Opinion.

The change of fashions is the tax that the industry of the poor levies on the vanity of the rich.—Chamfort.

Handel as a Child.

George Frederick Handel, the son of a Saxon barber and valet, was only five years old when his "fingers wooed divine melodies" from the spinet, which a good natured aunt had smuggled for him into an attic, so that no sound of it might reach the ears of his father. At eight his playing so astonished the elector of Saxony that his father was compelled to withdraw his opposition and allow the genius of the boy to have fair play. And before he had reached his twelfth birthday young Handel was known throughout Germany as a brilliant composer and virtuoso at the court of the emperor.

A Pleasant Outlook.

"I wonder why the bride is crying," remarked one of the guests at the wedding. "Can it be because she is leaving home?"

"No, it ain't that," answered the bride's small brother. "She's in love with the fellow she married, and I think she's crying 'cause she feels sorry for him."

I was stiff and sore and the dull, burning pains kept me in constant misery. Spells of dizziness became frequent and often I would be unable to see with the spots that would be dazzling before my eyes. My back was sore and weak and a dull bearing down pain settled across the small of it. Booth's Kidney Pills being advertised at Mr. Bolster's Pharmacy I concluded I would try them I had used but very few when I found relief for the trouble. HELPED BY HUMIDITY.

Many Materials and Products Which Require Moist Air.

There are many materials, operations and products which require special atmospheric conditions for advantageous or profitable maintenance. Principal among such operations is the manufacture of textiles, perhaps the largest single industry carried on in factories. In the favored climate of the Lancashire district of England the natural climate affords working conditions equaled in America only on occasional days in certain localities. Even in England, however, there are many days in which the atmosphere is too dry for the best work.

Since textile fibers are increased in strength and elasticity by high humidity and moderately high temperature, breakages are less frequent under proper conditions, and the output is increased. But even before the fiber reaches the manufacturing plant atmospheric humidity plays an important part. Cotton loses weight as it dries out, but, more than that, the fibers bristle and appear shorter and of lower grade than when slightly moistened. Leather, feathers and many other porous substances lose a considerable percentage of weight in drying out, so that the maintenance of average and uniform humidity in the storage rooms has a direct advantage to the owner in maintaining the value of his goods as they lie in the warehouse. Cigars and tobacco lose flavor in dry air and regain it to some extent, after loss, by storage in proper humidified rooms. Wooden furniture and musical instruments are sometimes cracked or the finish injured by the dry air of steam heated rooms. All these and other similar goods are advantageously worked or stored in rooms in which the atmospheric humidity is artificially controlled and kept at the most desirable point.—Engineering.

A PIG'S SQUEAL.

It Played a Momentous Part In American History.

The war between this country and England in 1812 was caused by one vote, and, stranger still, the small margin came from a pig getting its head stuck in a rail fence. It was a Rhode Island fence at that, but built much like a Virginia worm fence.

They were having an election of members of the legislature in Rhode Island. One Federalist put off going to the election and left himself just time enough to get there before the polls closed. Just as he got on his horse and started for town he heard a pig squeal. He looked around and saw that the pig had its head jammed into that old rail fence, and anybody who knows anything about hogs knows that the hogs would have eaten that pig up if it hadn't been rescued. The farmer stopped long enough to liberate the pig, and when he got to the polls they were closed. He was too late.

The result was that a Democratic member of the legislature was elected from that district by one vote, and he would not have been elected if that Federal had got there on time. In the legislature a Democratic United States senator was elected by one vote, and that Democratic legislator who had been elected by one vote voted for him.

In the United States senate they voted for the war of 1812 by one vote, and that Rhode Island Democratic senator who had been elected because that pig was caught in the fence voted for the war of 1812.—Popular Magazine.

Not a Waxwork.

The opening of the courts in an assize town in England is always a great day for the residents. The procession to the church, where the judge says his prayers and listens to a homily, the march to the court, with the attendant javelin men and the braying of trumpets—the men in wigs and gowns—fill the rustic mind with the sense of awe and the majesty of justice. It is related in Mr. Thomas Edward Crispe's book, "Reminiscences of a K. C.," that a farmer once took his son into the crown court.

On the bench was the Baron Cleasby, gorgeous in scarlet and ermine, statuesque and motionless. The yokel gazed with open mouth at the resplendent figure on the raised dais. Suddenly the baron moved his hand from right to left and left to right.

"Why, feyther," said the boy, "it's aloive!"

Fred—I am helping you, old chap. I argued with her for two hours yesterday trying to convince her that you weren't as big a fool as you look.—Chicago News.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

TO BEAT THEIR GAME.

Do not worry over gossip
Or what people say of you.
Though you may feel very certain
Not one-half of it is true.
Be so busy with your labors
You will not have time to fret
Over idle tales of women
In the sewing circle met.

They don't mean to hurt your feelings.
They don't mean to do you wrong.
When they get their tongues unlimbered
They must put things rather strong.
They must have their relaxation
In their own and special field.
If you furnish them a subject
Some one else that much you shield.

Keep on sticking at your knitting,
Making good the best you can.
Be too busy to be bothered
By the clacking of the clan.
When a work you have accomplished
That makes something of a show
They will be the first and foremost
To declare they told you so.

Only those whose minds are idle
Have the time your ways to knock.
They, not you, it is that suffers.
You will never feel the shock.
As you leave them in the distance,
Going forward while they fail,
You may know that their opinion
Isn't worth a puppy's tail.

Fagged.

"You look all tired out."

"I am."

"What have you been doing?"

"Dressing."

"Dressing?"

"Yes, if you were to try to keep up with the styles and dress according to the weather I think the lively hustling to keep one or the other of them from winging on a lightning change on you would make you weary too."

Has to Be.

"What is an optimist?"

"An optimist?"

"Yes."

"A man who is engaged to be married."

The Eternal Feminine.

"Are you fond of duck, Jack?"

"Duck?"

"Yes."

"Well, I don't care whether she is a duck or a peach, but I am fond of her just the same."

Same Thing.

"He cheated me out of my eyeteeth."

"Why don't you see a lawyer?"

"I haven't time."

"Then throw $100 in the well. That will do as well."

Happiness.

"What's your idea of a good time?"

"My idea?"

"Yes."

"Something to eat, something doing and the other fellow paying all the bills."

Optimistic.

"You seem so satisfied with yourself."

"Why shouldn't I?"

"Why should you?"

"To set the rest of you an example."

Paradoxical.

"He is such a blunt fellow."

"How can that be?"

"Why do you ask?"

"You said yourself that he is always making cutting remarks."

Foiled.

So mad he cannot see—

There seems to be a sort of genius in the way some men are always making mistakes—and collecting on them every time.

If the fool killer had the mean men added to his list he would soon be killed himself by overwork.

Trouble is always waiting for you around the corner, and the man who is afraid is conquered already.

Being good to your friends ought not to be synonymous with taking care of yourself, but is it?

Shoots Wife, Then Suicides.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 18.—John O'Keefe murdered his wife and then committed suicide early this morning, at 1330 Logan Street, where the couple resided with another family. O'Keefe is said to have been angered by the attentions paid his wife by a neighbor. There was however, no evidence of a quarrel between the couple prior to the shooting. When neighbors arrived on the scene they found the woman dead in bed and O'Keefe's body near at hand.

A coroner's jury found a verdict of murder and suicide upon evidence given by children of O'Keefe. The eldest, a girl of 15 years of age testified that she was awakened by a revolver shot and running to her father's room, saw him standing with a revolver in his hand. "I have killed your mother," he exclaimed "They will hang me now." He then ran out of the bedroom and placed the revolver to his own head.

Six children are left, the eldest a girl of 15 years, and the youngest 2 years of age. O'Keefe was 47 years of age, and his wife was 33.

Murder Likely To Be Solved.

Morrisburg, Ont., August 22—Although they refuse to make any definite statement, the authorities of Dundas practically confirm a report current that they are in a position to lay their hands on the murderer of James Laushway, of Mountain, who was shot while in bed during the night of June 1st, 1910. His murder aroused the whole country and some of the most astute detectives worked on the case, but no clue to the identity of murderer was found. After a time the case was placed on the list of unsolved crimes.

Little Girl Drowned.

Almonte, Aug. 18.—A drowning accident took place here yesterday afternoon when little Gladys Dean, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. Thomas Dean met her death in the Mississippi River.

The little girl together with her younger sister, Connie, was playing along the river bank near the electric power house when she fell into the water which is about four feet deep at that spot. Seized with fright her sister Connie ran home to tell her mother of the accident instead of spreading the alarm in the vicinity where there were many persons within a few yards of the power house.

Mrs. Dean who lives some blocks away hurried to the scene of the accident and soon recovered the body and a determined effort was made at resuscitation but to no avail as the little girl had been in the water nearly twenty minutes.

"I HONESTLY BELIEVE 'FRUIT-A-TIVES'

The Greatest Cure For Rheumatism In The World"

KNOWLTON, QUE., Oct. 12th. 1909.

"For many years, I suffered from severe Rheumatism, and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work. I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments, but nothing seemed to do me much good, and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from the disease.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me and I honestly believe it is the greatest Rheumatism cure in the world."

E. E. MILLS.

Such a statement could not be bought from a man like Mr. Mills. He thinks too much of his good name, to sell it or sign it to an untruth. Mr. Mills tried "Fruit-a-tives" after all other treatment failed—and "Fruit-a-tives" cured him of Rheumatism. In the goodness of his heart, he wrote the above letter in order that sufferers in all parts of Canada would know that there is one remedy that actually does cure Rheumatism. This testimonial was entirely unsolicited on our part. We did not know that Mr Mills was taking "Fruit-a-tives" until we received the above letter.

It is a case like Mr. Mills' that proves the marvellous powers of "Fruit-a-tives" in arresting and curing disease. It may be stated, without fear of contradiction, that "Fruit-a-tives" will positively cure Rheumatism when properly used.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices and is the greatest Rheumatism cure known to modern science.

Vars Physician Shot By Patient

Dr. Empey Dies From Wound Received During Visit.

Ottawa Aug. 18.—Dr. Wm. Empey a physican of Vars village a short distance from Ottawa at noon on Thursday last was summoned to the home of Alfred Blondin a French laborer and veteran of the Franco-Prussian war. Blondin had been slightly indisposed for a few days and sent his eleven-year-old daughter for the doctor. Just previous to the doctor's arrival he had sent his son-in-law the only other person in the house to the kitchen for some hot water. As the medical man was ascending the stairs a charge of shot from a gun in the hands of Blondin pierced his body. The doctor died four hours later and before expiring declared Blondin had fired at him deliberately. Blondin declares the shooting was accidental.

The case is an extraordinary one. The men were friends. Blondin was a man of good habits and respected in the village No motive for the act can be discovered. After being shot Dr. Empey staggered from the house leaving Blondin alone. He remained there and neighbors believing the man had gone insane did not dare enter. Blondin's wife was absent but his daughter wanted to go in and get the weapon. Her husband however would not allow her to do so. At 4 o'clock Blondin came out unarmed went to the pump to wash his hands and was told by the village constable that he was wanted. He said he would willingly go that he was sorry the accident had occurred and hoped Dr. Empey was not dangerously hurt. When the constable offered to handcuff him he said he would prefer to go without them and was allowed to do so. On the way to the lockup they met Mrs. Blondin returning home and she told her husband Dr. Empey was dead. He expressed great grief declaring the doctor had always been his friend and that the shooting was entirely accidental. Blondin was sane and sober. The community is greatly puzzled by the shooting in view of the previous good relations of the men the good character Blondine had borne, the absence of a motive the victim's dying declaration that Blondine deliberately fired at him and Mr. Blondin's declaration that the shooting was accidental.

The doctors statement was as follows;—"Blondine sent for me as a medical man When I got there Blondin's son-in-law told me to go upstairs. As I approached the top of the stairs Blondin raised a gun and fired. He shot me without any provocation, cause or appearance of accident.

The dying man was asked:"Did Blondin know the gun was loaded?"

"I don't know,"was the reply, and these were the doctor's last words.

After he had been arrested Blondin said:—The shooting was accidental. I was cleaning the gun and it went off. I am sorry the doctor is dead."

Mrs. Blondin made the following statement:—"My husband had been a little ill with a lame back and a cold, I had been away from home all day, and when I saw my husband he said the shooting was an accident. I cannot understand the reason because he and the doctor were friends."

The victim though able to walk down the stairs and a hundred yards from Blondin's house was horribly wounded. The abdominal wall was torn so that the bowels protruded. Though he suffered great agony, Dr. Empey preserved his consciousness and a clear mind to the last. In the morning a few hours before the shooting the victim had hired Blondin to clean out his well.

Dr. Empey was forty-seven years of age and unmarried. He was a native of Williamsburg, Dundas county, Ontario, and a graduate of Queen's University. He practised at Vars for fifteen years.

Vars, Ont. Aug. 20.—Alfred Blondin was charged last night with the murder of Dr. Empey and was sent down for trial at the next assizes.

After five hours' deliberation the coroner's jury yesterday afternoon returned the following verdict:

"That Dr. William E. Empey came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by the hands of Albert Blondin. We cannot say whether it was caused through carelessness or accident."

At the preliminary hearing before the police magistrate the prisoner was charged with murder and late last night sent down for trial on this charge. The assizes will be held about November at L'Original.

AN ENTIRE BARN BUILT OF CONCRETE

Ridding the Farm of Rats

IT comes as a surprise that any one should ask where the "rat" came from.

To most of us the rat has been familiar from our boyhood. The destructive little brute caused us no small excitement in our early days on the farm. He was always nosing around among the oat or the wheat bins, and eating holes in the bags of grain In fact, nothing was sacred to him.

We early learned that he was an exceedingly intelligent animal. After we had caught a certain number of his family in the trap, we could catch no more, although from the damage caused by his tribe we well knew that he was just about as numerous as before those erring sons of his wandered into our trap after the enticing piece of cheese.

That he was a valorous animal and a great fighter, was demonstrated every time we emptied the trap in front of the dog. Towser made a jump for him, but unless the old dog was pretty smart the rat would send him yelping down the field. Also, when we cornered a few of the rat family in a bin and went after them with the pitchfork, we, ourselves, sometimes were made to beat a hasty retreat.

If the rat were as big in stature as we are, it is doubtful if we would have the snap we have controlling the animal kingdom. Mr. Rat would dispute the possession of our own homes with us. Small as he is, he disputes it with us now. We have been trying to squelch him for many years past, and he has been defeating us at every turn. He is more numerous than ever before, and is doing more damage than we ever supposed.

A recent estimate of the damage he does in Canada each year was placed at a fabulous amount. It was more millions per year than most farmers have dollars in their pockets when they go to market.

It has now come to this, that the scientists all over the world are discussing means to get rid of the rat. In Paris a campaign has begun, but has not met with much success. In London something of the same nature is going on.

The rat is said to have come over in a ship from China. All we can say is that we heartily wish he had taken the next ship back. Unfortunately, he obtained a foothold in England, and multiplied at such a rate that he is now found all over the world. It is a strange explanation of the coming of the rat, but that is how we are told he came to be here.

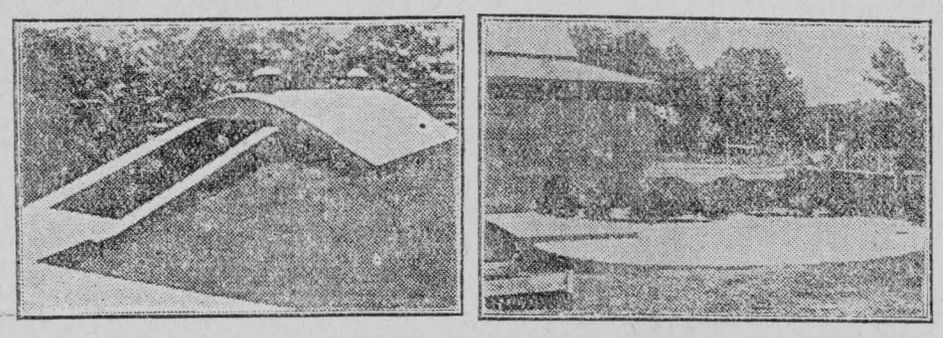

Fortunately for the farmer, the rat seems to be originally a town animal. Apparently he is not a suburbanite, save by education. He prefers to inhabit underground passages and sewers and pick up a living wherever he can find it. Yet he is now spreading out into the country more and more, and unless the farmers do something to combat his advance he will be a serious menace to their prosperity, before many years have passed Around farm buildings is constantly to be had a surplus supply of food. The rat can find more to eat in a well-stocked barn than he could possibly know what to do with. There are eggs to be broken open and sucked, and young chickens to be eaten. There are loads of flour bags, and, in fact, the farmer leaves no stone unturned to make things really comfortable and enticing for the town-starved rat. The rat appreciates this, and takes up his quarters on the farms, bringing with him, very often, the germs of disease from his dirty city haunts.

The question is, What is the farmer going to do to combat the advance of the rat? What is mankind, as a whole, going to do about it? It is a serious question, and we know of but one answer. It is this: Make buildings that he cannot enter. Construct buildings of concrete, a material which will not rot and through which it is absolutely impossible for the rat to eat his way.

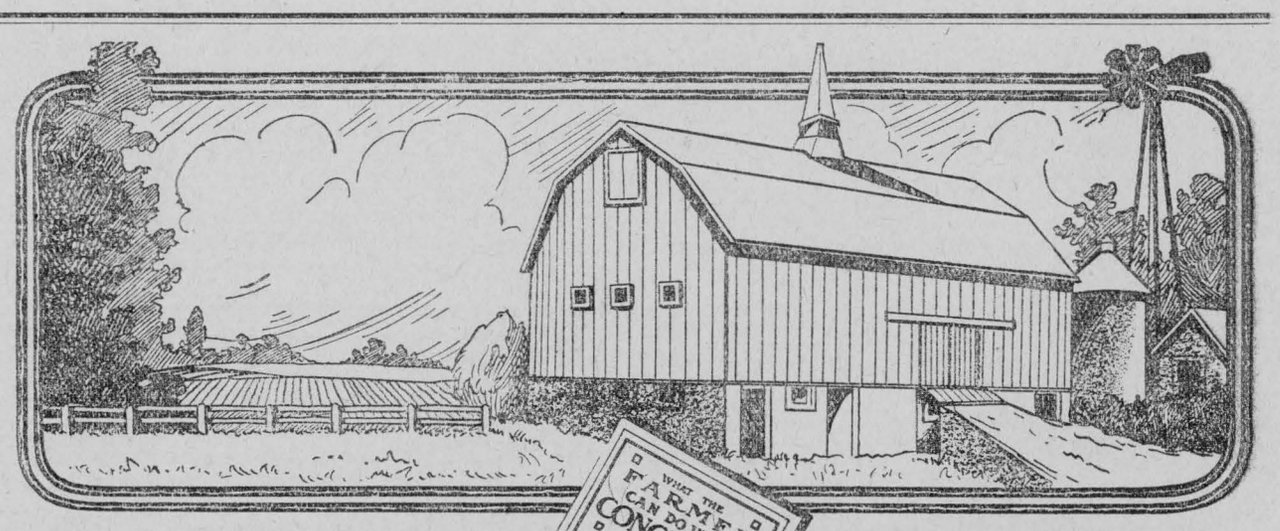

In a cold country like Canada, it ought to be possible to starve the rat to death during the winter. Certainly it is possible to starve him on the farm. In summer he may forage in the fields, and it is complained that he is now numerous enough to be a serious menace to the crops. But if the farmers will employ concrete in the construction of their buildings they ought to be able to make it exceedingly difficult for the rat to take shelter in their barns Keep the rat out of the barn and he will try to get into the house. Keep him out of the house and he will be decimated by starvation during the winter, when there is nothing for him to eat outside.

Fortunately, a liberal use of concrete in the construction of buildings will not cost the farmer anything. In fact, after he has found out the advantages of using concrete, he will feel rather grateful than otherwise to the rat for having been the cause of his education in the matter. When it is remembered that barn floors or feeding floors constructed of concrete will never wear out, that they will keep out mud and dirt, that they may be washed down and kept clean, that by a proper juncture between floors and walls, all apertures through which rats may enter may be done away with, one begins to appreciate some of the advantages of the use of concrete.

A ROOT CELLAR AND A FEEDING FLOOR—BOTH OF CONCRETE, THE MODERN BUILDING MATERIAL

One has only to let his mind rest a short time on the subject and use a little ingenuity to be convinced that there is absolutely no excuse any longer for many of the disadvantages attending life on the farm, now that a material which is cheap and which may be moulded into almost any form, by any reasonably intelligent person, is available. In this one matter of defence against rats, there is not a progressive farmer in the country who could not surround with an indestructible covering his granaries and root houses and other places where he stores his flour or other articles of which rats are so fond, and of which they make such havoc. Just figure up what that would mean, not only in the matter of appearance, but in an actual saving of money, and see if you do not think it is worth trying. Don't go in too heavily at first. Make a test case on some of your grain bins, or on some of the smaller places where grain or flour is stored. Don't make it an expensive operation. No doubt you will go further as soon as you have found out the advantages.

Do You Realize the Advantages of Concrete?

THE rising price of lumber has compelled the farmer to look for a suitable substitute.

Concrete, because of its cheapness, durability and the readiness with which it can be used for every farm purpose, has proven itself to be cheaper than lumber and far more durable. Our Free Book—shows the farmer how he can do his own work without the aid of skilled mechanics. It demonstrates the economy of Concrete construction as compared with lumber, brick or stone.

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

THE R. C. PIC-NIC

Held Yesterday Was One of the Best in the History of the Congregation.

The picnic held in Chesterville yesterday under the auspices of St. Mary's congregation proved to be one of the best ever held by the congregation, and if not financially it was as to sport and entertainment given to the public generally.

During the morning the Morewood Brass Band, under the tuition of Mr. John Fulton, told the public that something was doing on the driving park, and people wended their way there to witness a game of ball, and when ended, the ladies of the congregation had everything in waiting at the dining hall to satisfy the inner man, and we must say that the large staff of attendants were kept busy till far in the afternoon before all their wants were satisfied.

There being quite a long list of sports it was necessary to start in this part of the program, and about 1.30 the management called them on. During the procedure of them a game of ball was played between Brinston's Corners and Inkerman, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 14—2.

The following is the result of the events:—

One Mile Race—Joe Dwyer 1st, Harvey Servage 2nd. Time 5 min. 35½ sec.

Half Mile Race—J. Swartfiger 1st, F. Barkley 2nd, Clair Casselman 3rd. Time 2.24¾.

220 Yards Race—J Swartfiger 1st, D. Dillabough 2nd, F. Barkley 3rd. Time 25¾ sec.

Quarter Mile—Joe Dwyer 1st, J. Swartfiger 2nd. Time 1.04.

100 Yards Race—D. Dillabough 1st, J. Swartfiger 2nd, Alex. Grant 3rd. Time 11½.

Fat Man's Race—A. K. McDonald 1st, Patrick McKee 2nd.

2.40 Class Horse Race.

Wallace Doran (R J Dillon)	3	1	1	1
Edith M. (J McAvoy	1	3	3	3
Prince Arthur (Jack Cameron)	2	2	2	2

The principal event of the day was the 10 mile marathon race between Tom Longboat of Canada and Johnny Hayes of Madison Square, New York. Shortly after three o'clock this event was called, At the start Hayes took the lead and kept it for four laps, when Longboat went to the front and was never in danger, winning by a lap in 55 minutes and 53¼ seconds, covering the distance in less than the specified time limit.

We all like to witness horse races and this was the next event on the card and proved to be a very exciting race, Wallace Doran had the goods, and of course he won the race. Three cheers for Walla.

The ladies again had everything ready at the dining hall for tea and many availed themselves of the good things provided on the well-ladened tables.

In the evening every preparation was made for the grand concert in Hamilton's music hall, and when the chairman, Mr. J. A. Chisholm, barrister, of Cornwall, appeared on the platform, the hall was nicely filled, and continued arriving until nearly every available seat was taken. Mr. Chisholm addressed the gathering briefly in a neat and spicey speech, and he makes a capital chairman, after which he called forth the numbers on the program. Miss Grace Merry of Toronto, elocutionist, is an artist in the A 1 class and kept the audience delighted. She was down on the program for several appearances, and responded to many encores. Miss Babin vocalist of Ottawa, is a very pleasing singer and captivated the audience with her selections, and had to respond to many encores. Mr. H Pilgrim, tenor soloist of Brockville gave several selections to good effect and Mr. G. M. Whitney, violinist with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Whitney, were loudly encored after their selection, to which they kindly responded.

Before dispersing the chairman called on Rev. J. P. Fleming, who came forward, and in a few brief words heartily thanked the people of Chestervllle and vicinity for their co-operation in making the day the success it proved to be.

Not content with all this the young people had secured Valentine's Orchestra of Ottawa, and at the close of the concert preparations were soon made and they enjoyed themselves with dancing.

Ottawa Archbishopric.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 22.—It is stated in Roman Catholic circles that archbishop Gauthier is likely to be transferred to Ottawa to fill the vacant archbishopric. Recent Roman regulations are to the effect that the position of archbishop must be filled from prelacy and not from the priesthood and outside of Mgr. Bruchesi, Montreal, Archbishop Gauthier is alone available. The Kingston prelate is not desirous of leaving but he is needed at Ottawa Should a transfer occur. Bishop MacDonell of Alexandria would likely succeed to Kingston See.
