Here & There

Ever have your TV jump all over the place and feel like giving it a kick? Seems a childish way to solving the picture trouble but we read about a fellow who goes out every hour or so and whacks a light pole in front of his house to 'straighten' the picture. With the cement poles we have in Iroquois, a sound whack would be felt right from the fingers to the jaw-bone or thereabouts.

The most simple solution is to kick the set!

We were going to tell you of a trip to the Bahamas but so much news came pouring in we have to hold it off till next week.

By the way there's only 200-odd days until Christmas. Just thought you'd like to know!

Hockey Reunion Progresses

Interest is increasing at a rapid pace in the old time hockey night slated for Iroquois on Saturday, February 10th. Starting with a dinner at 6.30 and followed by hockey and broomball games at 8 p.m. at the outdoor arena in the park, the evening will end with a reception at the Legion Hall on Dundas Street, where the former players, referees and coaches can talk over old times.

Frank Sisty has been rounding up teams for the hockey games, calling on former Iroquois and district players to take to the ice once more, although it isn't expected the game will get as rough as hockey games used to be in the old St. Lawrence League.

The night is being planned through the co-operation of Iroquois Lions Club, Branch 370 Royal Canadian Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Legion. Entrants in the broomball game are expected to be Capital Concrete Products Ltd., Iroquois Lions Club, Iroquois Fire Department and Branch 370 Legion, along with a team which Frank Sisty says his home area will provide.

Organizing chairman on behalf of the Lions Club is K. Kirkby, from whom dinner tickets may be purchased; Frank Sisty is in charge of the broomball games; Reeve Lloyd C. Davis, chairman of the dinner; and Keith Beaupre in charge of the reception.

The first letter requesting tickets came from Donald "Joe" Coleman, Brockville, a former "old pro" in the St. Lawrence League, who along with Mrs. Coleman are planning to attend. Chesterville, Cardinal, Prescott, Winchester, Morrisburg and other centres are expected to be represented at the event, the first of its kind ever held in the district.

Humour in Hospital

Even when ill in the Winchester District Memorial Hospital, many patients can see the humour in their own situations. Below is a poem written by F. Erle Helmer, concerning the experiences of his room mate, Jim Milligan, of Brinston, and others who shared Jim's room.

JIM MILLIGAN AND ME

Jim Milligan lies in his bed all day
Chomping on pills like his horses eat hay
He sings a song about "Old Uncle Nort"
That makes his room mate chuckle and snort.
He has such a good disposition that he
Can't have any sugar with porridge or tea.
He flirts with the nurses and nurses aids,
The dietician and cleaning maids.
His room mate is Helmer, a first war sweat,
Who is badly faded, but may make it yet.
Helmer can't sing, on account of his chest
He sounds like a crow, when talking his best.
Helmer don't flirt with nurses or aid
Because he's married and too much afraid
He has to depend on blarney and charm
That he's used all his life with out any harm.
We've told some tall stories and maybe some lies
But when you're 'Yarning' how the time flies.
Jim never got married, he's good looking and slim
So stick around girls, "he's available Jim"
This hospital gives the best patient care
An ill person could hope for anywhere.
And though it's a great place to be when you're sick
We hope to get out of here pretty darn quick.
And when we do we'll go on a real eating spree,
With Rector W. L.Thomas, and Sherman Ball,
Jim Milligan and me.

District G-3 Zone Commander Alex Bullock, Kemptville, presided as installing officer, assisted by Acting Sgt.-at-Arms Hugh Margette, of Kemptville. Mr. Margette is Kemptville Branch and Zone Secretary.

In his remarks following the installation the Zone Commander expressed his desire to see the local branch prosper during the coming term and pointed out the need for stressing more emphasis on comradeship among the members of the Zone.

Inducted were President Len H. Roberts (now serving his third term); 1st vice-president, Kenneth Thompson; 2nd vice-president, Wayne Moore; secretary, Sam Leckie; treasurer Gerald Cornell; Sgt.-at-Arms, Dominic Sisty; and executive officers, Rev. Grand Master Visits Pleasant Valley Lodge

Pleasant Valley Loyal Orange Lodge was honoured with a visit from R. W. Bor. W. A. Milligan of Cornwall, the Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, at its regular January meeting.

A large number of members turned out to receive the Grand Master, as well as Members from L.O.L. No. 1054, Lord's Mills and L.O.L No. 143 in Grenville County and from L.O.L. No. 2278, Long Sault and L.O.L. No. 880, Cornwall in Stormont County. Also in attendance was Wor. Bro. Esbon Rice, Dundas County Master and a number of members from the Winchester Lodge No. 862.

The Grand Master was introduced by Wor. Bro. Herbert Wallace. He addressed the meeting touching on many interesting items in connection with the order, which was well received by all present.

The County Master and other visiting members spoke briefly.

Following the meeting all assembled in the lower hall where lunch was enjoyed and a social hour spent.

St. John's W.A. First Meeting

The first meeting of St. John's W.A. in the new year was held in the parish rooms with a good attendance. The rector opened the meeting with missionary prayer. The president, Mrs. Playfair, welcomed the members and thanked them for their help in making 1961 such a successful year. The roll was called and the minutes of the November meeting read and approved.

Mrs. Chas. Fisher reported the sale of 125 calendars. She also read a very interesting letter from our prayer partner, Rev. and Mrs. David Hawkins, Birch Falls, Alberta. Mrs. Weegar gave a report of the "Educational Conference" held in Ottawa, attended by Mrs. Greaves and herself. She also gave a synopsis of part of the study book, "Jesus Christ, the Light of the World." Mrs. Moore re-

Year of Progress

Membership Increases, Givings Up At Knox Presbyterian Church

Following the fellowship of a pot-luck supper, the showing of colored slides of the construction of Knox Presbyterian Church and an inspirational film strip titled "Faith For The Space Age", the congregation of Knox met in the Church Hall for the annual business meeting Monday night. Undoubtedly the past year has been one of marked progress in the life and witness of Knox.

* * *

The congregation is most gratified with an increased membership, a much improved attendance at Sunday Worship, and a new vision of the total programme of the Church at home and abroad. This evidence of new spiritual interest is felt to be the most rewarding part of what has been a successful year.

* * *

There were eighteen reports submitted from the various departments and organizations of the Church. All of these were heard with interest and gave the congregation a new challenge for the year ahead. The financial reports were particularly gratifying and indicate that Knox Church is in a most sound financial position. The people of Knox have been generous in their contributions to the work of the Lord within this Church. But more important still is the fact that gifts to the mission endeavour of the Presbyterian Church were greater in 1961 than in any year of the history of Knox.

Retires As Treasurer

Mr. Milburn Hyslop has been Treasurer of this Budget Fund for over 20 years and requested the meeting to relieve him of this office. His resignation as Budget Treasurer was accepted with regrets and he was given an ovation of applause for his faithful work through these many years. Mr. Hyslop concludes this long term of office at the close of a year that has given him much personal satisfaction in seeing a tremendous increase in contributions to the mission work of the Church in which he has taken such interest. Knox Church is grateful for such loyal service.

Election of Officers

The election of officers followed the business reports. There were four new members elected to the Board of Managers for a three-year term: Messrs. M. Hyslop, Knox Thompson, A. Hartogh and Garnet Gibson. The Board consists of a total of 12 Managers. The Board of Trustees were all re-elected to office: Messrs. G. McCaslin, G. A. Bouck, J. Seely, M. Hyslop, C. N. Murphy, S. W. Perry and G. Davies.

In addition to the regular Ushers: Messrs. Harold Miller, Hugh

80th Birthday

Friday, Jan. 26th, was a very special day in the life of Mrs. Jas. Graham, (the former Adelaide Durant) of Hulbert, Ont., when she was "At Home" to all her friends and neighbours on the occasion of her 80 birthday.

The home was attractively decorated with cut flowers and plants which were given to her by several of her friends. Mrs. Graham wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

Lunch was served to approximately 80 guests. A lovely birthday cake and white candles provided a decorative centre for the tea table. Mrs. Arthur Graham and Mrs. Elmer Sullivan poured tea in the afternoon and Mrs. Nelson Scarfe and Mrs. Donald Sullivan in the evening.

Mrs. Graham received several cards, gifts, and telephone calls. Telegrams were received from her brother, Elzie Durant in Florida, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Graham in Moose Jaw.

Those attending were from Ottawa, Smith's Falls, Kemptville, Chesterville, Riverside Heights, South Mountain, Brinston, Mountain, Iroquois and local areas.

Mountain Township Agricultural Society Shows $1700 Balance Despite Meagre Crowd At Fair

The Mountain Township Agricultural Society's annual meeting was held in the I.O.O.F. Hall at South Mountain, with the President, Harry Williams, presiding. The meeting opened at 10.30 a.m. the financial statements showing that the Society had built Centennial Gates during the past year and also made a considerable improvement to the grounds.

* * *

Despite the meagre crowd on fair day, the Society has a bank balance of $1700.00.

Members of the Women's Institute served lunch to the officers and members attending.

The business period carried on and plans are being formulated to improve the inside appearance of the Agricultural Buildings and also to provide bleachers to be used at the ball tournament at the Dominion Day celebration and around the show ring on fair day.

The 1962 dates for the fair are still not definite, depending on the availability of a midway.

It was moved and carried that two men directors and two lady directors attend the annual Fair Convention held in Toronto on February 21st and 22nd.

Following the custom of past years an advanced prize list for the fancy work section will be mailed out to all members in the very near future.

Where Are The Skaters?

The outdoor skating rink at Iroquois seemingly isn't doing the full job it was intended for. Just what the reason that the rink is not being used to full advantage is not clear but needs examining.

The rink's use for hockey is coming along fairly well; teams have been organized and are meeting regularly. A game or two with other towns have been played and the coaches are doing a fine job.

As for the skating population, Iroquois has a good supply but where they are during skating hours is the question. Whether the rate structure being charged needs overhauling; whether the youngsters have lost interest in skating or just where the trouble lies is not too clear. The only thing absolutely clear is that there are very few, other than the very young, using the rink for skating purposes.

The cost of operating an outdoor rink is considerable and a schedule of rates was adopted to help alleviate the cost. This is in effect in most communities, whether the rink be covered or not. The rates are no higher than in neighbouring communities, yet with the community using the rink last year without cost, it may take a little "education" before it is realized that these facilities must be maintained by the people wishing to use them.

There may, too, be cases where the fees are a hardship but we feel certain that in those cases, no youngster is being refused the opportunity to skate.

Let's take another look at skating —we address this not only to teenagers but to young adults—the recreation of skating is fine exercise. Let's put the rink facilities to much better use.

Tourism and Your Dollars

A new group which was formed last Fall in Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and Grenville is the Regional Tourist Council of the Seaway Valley. At first glance it may well appear as just another group; another night out for a few more people; another organization requiring funds to operate.

Canada's economic position in relation to tourism is one which all of us might well study. It is now the second-largest industry in Canada, bringing in millions of dollars annually into the economy of the country; yet few people on the local level, fully realize its importance.

If an industry employing 200 local residents were to establish in Seaway Valley, we could see the direct results. Let 50,000 people visit our area during the tourist season and we fail to see the impact on our economy right here at home.

This Regional Council has been established to serve a four-County area; it is recognized by the Department of Travel and Publicity to the extent that the Department will match dollar-for-dollar up to $5,000 what the Regional Council can raise in its jurisdiction. The money will be spent on promoting tourism in our own four-County area. One of the project already undertaken by the Council is to have signs located at the entrances to this area, noting that the traveller is now entering Seaway Valley. A small step, perhaps, but a definite indication that the Council already has shown signs of activity, even before it is fully organized.

The support of all persons and organizations in the counties involved who derive financial support from the tourist industry, either directly or indirectly, will be called on to aid in developing the tourist industry in this region.

Among the tourist-conscious businesses at present are, of course, motels, restaurants and service stations. The next group, and among the largest part of our businesses, are the retail merchants. Secondary businesses, such as dairies, take the tourist dollar right back to the farmer. The cycle takes a portion of the tourist dollar to almost every door in the country.

It is going to be no easy task for the Regional Tourist Council to gain the financial support of the entire district it covers, but by showing progress in projects it undertakes, this support will be forthcoming. The organization — working directly on behalf of the four counties mentioned, certainly is going to merit consideration.

A FINE MAN LEAVES US

George Patrick, the blind Field Secretary of the CNIB in this area, has been transferred to the Ottawa district. Perhaps not too many people in the area got to know "George", except those with whom he worked and the blind or nearly blind with whom he became associated, but "George" is a man to be looked up to.

For ten years he served this district and despite his handicap, carried out his work with seeming ease, yet with a skill that few sighted people possess. He is a mild man, a friendly man and above all, a gentle man—in every sense.

We hated to see George leave the area but in feeling proud to have become associated with him, wish him every success in his promotion to the Ottawa district.

His successor, Ivan Hunter, comes exceptionally well recommended, and when he becomes as well known as George Patrick and as well liked, will also leave his mark on the area. These are truly dedicated men and deserve our every support.

TODAY!

The Reverend P. O. Mydske, Secretary for the Bible Societies in the area in South America which includes Paraguay, reports that the country is going through a hard time of increasing unemployment and decreasing income, but that the Bible distribution does not seem to have suffered. He expects to report a new record for Scripture sales this year.

The Bible Society will give to the Guarani speaking people, numbering 500,000, a copy of the Gospel of Mark recently translated into their tongue. This Gospel will soon be printed. The translators will continue with further work until at least the New Testament is translated.

The Swedish Pentecostal group has a systematic colportage work going on, in addition to their evangelistic work.

A Consultative Committee has been established for the first time in Paraguay to help the Bible Society in reaching the whole country with "The Word for the World." A campaign is under way in the churches to encourage their members each to donate or sell one Bible a year to their relatives and neighbours.

SUGAR and SPICE

By Bill Smiley

Sometimes I wonder whether I'll ever reach that high plateau of peace and quiet and gracious living that beckons from afar. Or is it only a mirage?

When the kids were little, I used to console myself, as I staggered around in a welter of bottles and diapers, illnesses and acidents, that everything would sort itself out when they got a little older. I could picture a pleasant sort of life when the youngsters ceased being so dependent.

It was the same with my job. As a weekly editor, I was convinced that no other occupation was so devouring of one's time and strength, so intrusive into one's private life. I could think of 44 other jobs that would be easier, more remunerative, and more productive of leisure for peace and contemplation.

And it was the same with the Old Girl. As she harried me from pillar to post, from basement to bathroom, as she tried to improve my character , as she flew into rages, I comforted myself, "She'll simmer down after a few years. She'll stop shoving me, her temper will improve, and she'll realize that you can't make a perfect husband out of a pig's foot."

What I had in mind was a gracious and dignified middle age. The kids would be well-mannered, unobtrusive, brilliant and obedient. The job would be interesting but easy, and would include long holidays and big money. The Old Lady would be quiet, respectful, and appreciative of the privilege of sharing my life.

Well, the kids are bigger and older, I got one of those soft jobs, and the passing years have passed. And the only appreciable difference is that, despite my failing faculties, I'm running faster than ever, and that calm, peaceful existence seems farther away than ever.

Oh, I know what you're thinking. You're thinking, "He's just saying that. I'll bet his kids are polite and nice, and everbody knows teaching school is a snap, and I've heard his wife is a lovely girl in every way.

Well, let me tell you something. My kids are more trouble now than they were when they sat in highchairs, hurling pablum all over the kitchen, and filling their diapers every time you turned your back. Coping with 170 odd lively teen-agers every day is a short cut to the cemetery. And my wife has just finished bawling the daylights out of me for the same old reasons.

Let me give you a rundown on the serene, sedentary life of a middle-aged school teacher. Just a sample. A typical week. Monday, I worked all day, came home and did my lesson plans, wrote my column and let Piper the cat out, about 2 a.m.

She didn't come back, though I went four times to the back door, the last twice in my pyjamas, and hollered into the snowy wastes. Kim, who had brought her home as a tray kitten a year ago, wept bitterly all next day, and blamed the whole thing on me.

Tuesday, I came home from work, shovelled snow for an hour, did the shopping, ran Kim over for her music lessons, shovelled more snow, picked up Kim, looked for a darn cat, prepared lessons and went curling. My wife gave me a horrendous blast for loitering a couple of hours at the curling club.

* * *

Wednesday was much the same, alternating snow shovelling with looking for cat. We discovered that the tom from next door had also vanished. I consoled Kim with the suggestion that they'd eloped. Bed at 1 a.m.

Thursday night was Parents' Night at the school. Oy! "I simply can't understand John's English mark. He works so hard, every night. And he's such a good boy!" A little questioning reveals that John hasn't missed a television program in four months, except for the three nights a week he plays hockey.

Friday morning, the cat turned up looking ashamed. After school on Friday, we took two busloads of kids to the city to see a play. On the way home, the bus broke down and we sat on highway in a blizzard for two hours. I delivered the last student to her home at 3.30 a.m.

* * *

Four hours later, the alarm called me to greet the same day, get Hugh's breakfast and drive him to the bus stop, where he embarks for his music lesson in the city. Sunday was pretty quiet. Just a communion breakfast at 9 a.m., a trip to the ski club with Hugh, dinner to prepare while the organist took off for a special service, and lesson plans into the wee small. Only break was a half hour telephone conversation with a mother, who thought the teachers were picking on poor Sandra, because poor Sandra's best mark was 19.

Thirty years from now, if you happen to see a wizened up little old man going to beat heck in five directions at once, you'll know it's Bill Smiley, running his grandchildren all over the place, pursued by the admonitions of his wife, and still dreaming of the day when life will be calm, gracious and dignified.

Mrs. Jean Casselman Reports

Outlines Common Market Talk on 'Hill'

The end of each week poses the problem of choosing outstanding features to report. It is natural that a country as widespread geographically as Canada, a Federal Government with so many departments, and 265 varied individuals give unlimited scope for comment.

This is even more pronounced when sensitivities are exaggerated in a pre-election session.

As always, there are good speeches and poor cpeeches in the House of Commons. Several Cabinet Ministers have been particularly outstanding and have enhanced their reputations as our best speakers. The Hon. Donald Fleming, Minister of Finance, dealt thoroughly with the Common Market. The Hon. Davey Fulton, Minister of Justice, gave a broad resume of Government accomplishment, complimenting his fellow Ministers on their efforts and results. Then Hon. Gordon Churchill, Minister of Veteran's Affairs, made a rousing impromptu speech in defence of Canada's position in World Affairs. This excellent speech was sparked by completely irresponsible statements by the previous speaker, a C.C.F. Member.

Much of the Common Market talks has been premature and accordingly confused and ill-founded. It was timely that Mr. Fleming, early in the session, should speak on this. Everyone recognizes that Canada's economy will be affected by the steps taken by Great Britain and the United States, but the fact remains that these steps have not been taken and it is useless to insist on Cannadian Government decisions, before the facts are known, but before there are any facts. So far the Government has been doing all it can do in assessing the various alternatives.

Mr. Fleming spoke forcefully on this point:

"The Leader of the Opposition and some newspapers were saying long ago that the United Kingdom was going into the common market. They were saying this even before the U.K. had decided to negotiate. Their statement has been contradicted by the United Kingdom government itself, and I think they know their own business better than the Leader of the Opposition knows it for them. We are, of course, fully aware of the possibilty of the United Kinkdom joining the common market and our planning takes this possibility into acount. In the present stage, current interest is concentrated on the terms which are under negotiation."

The Minister further expressed his faith in the United Kingdom:

"If the United Kingdom were to enter the common market without taking steps to protect commonwealth, including Canadian, interests the results could be very grave for Canada and for the commonwealth. Our trade, both in agriculture and industry, could suffer enormous losses and dislocation.

In the course of our discussions with the United Kingdom we have received assurances that they will safeguard the vital interests of the commonwealth or they will not go into the common market. We value those assurances and we appreciate them. We recognize the difficulties which confront the United Kingdom and the heavy responsibilities which Mr. Heath, in particular, bears in these negotiations. We have sought to help him in these tasks."

Mr. Fleming's comments on the Accra meeting were from very personal experience:

"The concern that we have expressed is shared by all of the commonwealth countries, and all of the commonwealth countries spoke unanimously on this subject at Accra and elsewhere. Th misrepresentation of what happened at Accra has been enormous. It has been said that Canada led a ganging up on the United Kingdom. Nothing could be farther from the truth."

"When Hon. Gentlemen opposite take the position that was taken, they are attacking the position of the whole commonwealth, because it was an unanimous expression of concern"

"I do not accept the statements of the Leader of the Opposition in this matter. He was not at Accra, and no newspaper was inside that conference. But I will accept the statements made by British ministers since the Accra meeting."

Mr. Fleming went on to quote Lord Amory, the British High Commissioner to Canada, who stated that "Canada was fully justified in putting any reservations she had fully before the Government of the United Kingdom." He also referred to Mr. Reginald Maudling, President of the British Board of Trade, and a veteran of all the Commonwealth Conference, who said it was the best discussion ever held. Although he had not agreed with all that was said, he had considered everything said as reasonable.

St. John's

Annual Vestry Meeting Shows Many Increases

The annual Vestry meeting of St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Iroquois, was held in the Parish Hall, Monday evening, January 29th. The Reverend D. F. Weegar conducted the meeting. Mrs. Russell Langford was the Vestry Clerk and representatives of all organizations were present.

The members of the congregation had cause for thankfulness as the reports revealed God's blessing to them.

The general account presented by Mr. E. Casentree, showed growth in all departments.

The report of St. John's Guild, presented by Mrs. W. E. Fitzsimmons, was most encouraging; the result of hard work and loyalty.

The members of the congregtaion have given devoted service to the care of the cemetery, resulting in a favorable report at the end of the year. Continued effort and planning will be necessary for the future.

The missionary work of the Church in its branches among adults and children, led by Mrs. R. Playfair, Mrs. R. Langford and Mrs. E. Casentree was evidence of faithful effort and growth.

The good Sunday School report presented by Mr. Carl Banford was the result of quiet regular attention to this important work of the Church.

Mrs. C. Greaves, in her report as President of the Altar Guild, revealed the devoted service of its members given unobtrusively and lovingly week by week.

The A.Y.P.A. is taking its place in the life of the parish by the witness of service to Mother Church. The executive committee was re-elected with the following additional members: Mrs. W. E. Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Kent Knechtel, Messrs. J. Drennan, J. Styles, E. Millard and Allan Armstrong.

The members of the various committees were elected:

The Cemetery Committee: — Messrs. E. Casentree, C. Greaves, J. Drennan and A. Banford.

The Rectory Committee: — Messrs. J. Drennan, E. Millard and C. Banford.

The Stewardship Chairman: — Mr. R. Playfair.

A motion of thanks was passed unanimously to those who have given special service—the organist and choir, the envelope secretary, the Sunday School teachers, and all who have contributed to the life of the parish.

The meeting came to a close with a memorial prayer on behalf of those members who have departed this life during 1961. And all joined in the General Thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings bestowed during the past year.

HOW TO BOWL 5-PINS

How To Roll A Hook Ball

The "hook" ball is the type of delivery rolled by more bowlers than all other types of ball combined. Most people find it the most natural ball to throw.

The "hook" is similar to the curve ball in that it veers from right to left across the lane. The curve, however, moves in a long, smooth arc all the way down the lane. The hook ball travels most of the way in a straight line, breaking off sharply to the left just ahead of the headpin.

The hook is so widely used because it is both an effective ball —with lots of mixing action to take down pins—and it is also an accurate ball. It is far easier to control than a curve.

When throwing a curve ball, you roll your hand upwards toward the top of the ball, in a counter-clockwise rotation, during your forward swing. To throw a hook, you allow your wrist to twist only half way around as you are delivering it.

Close Breaks Work Better

The closer to the headpin a hook "breaks", the better it works. If it breaks to the left when it is just about one foot away from the headpin, the ball still has most of its spinning motion when it hits the pins, mixing them thoroughly. On the other hand, if it breaks more than six feet in front of the headpin, it has lost most of its spin by the time it strikes.

The amount of "break" you get on a hook ball depends on many factors, including particularly the floor finish on the lane.

Generally, the slower you roll the ball, the more "break" you get on it. Roll it faster, and you get less "break".

For most bowlers, it's not wise to try controlling the amount of break by changing your delivery speed. If you want more break, give the ball more spin by gripping with your thumb lower down. This way, your hand can twist more during delivery.

If you want less break, grip with your thumb held high on the ball. This way you won't have your hand so much underneath the ball when you start the swing, so you won't be able to twist your wrist as much during your delivery.

For a hook ball, line yourself up on the left side of the lane. Just how far left of centre you stand depends on the amount of break you have on your ball.

Lining Yourself Up

If you are aiming by using different darts in front of the foul line for sighting, start off by positioning your right foot over the first dot to the left of centre in the lane floor where you start your approach.

The Hook Ball

Roll your ball over the centre dart. Suppose you hit the dart, but miss the headpin on the left side. Shift your body a little to the left, and roll again over the centre dart. Once you've found the proper place to stand to hit the head-left corner pins by rolling over pin, you can aim for the right and the first dart to the right or left respectively; you hit the 3-pins by rolling between the darts.

To hit the 3-pins, just move half the distance you go when trying for the corner pins.

If you find these precise spot positions aren't exactly right for the particular hook ball you throw, adjust your position slightly. Remember, however, always adjust in the same direction in which your ball is missing—if you missed the pin on the left side, shift your start position a trifle left.

IROQUOIS LIBRARY NEWS

Variety New Books

(Mrs. O. Pigeon)

Many readers will be interested in this week's issue of Illustrated London News. It shows the plans for a completely covered town for the North containing a shopping centre, recreation centre, theatre, hotel, and apartments to house five thousands inhabitants. When outside temperatures are 40 degrees below zero, the temperature in the shopping centre would be 20 degrees above and in the apartments a comfortable 70. Other things to look for are pictures of the conquest of Goa, some of the paintings shown at the Royal Art Exhibt in London, Theatre and Book Reviews etc.

The December, January, and February isues of the National Geographic arrived last week. The one featuring Canada is particularly beautiful.

New books include four exceptionally good books of non-fiction and four novels.

"A Ring of Bright Water" by Gavin Maxwell, was the Book Society's non-fiction choice. Mr. Maxwell tells of the lonely roadless site of the cottage on the West Highland Seaboard which for ten years has been the background to his foreign travels.

"But Not In Shame" is the dramatic story of the coming of the war to the Pacific after Pearl Harbor. Included are personal narratives by such men as Yates McDaniel, the last correspondent out of Singapore and Navy Lieutenant Champlin, who on his own initiative destroyed the great oil reserves at Manila.

In "Black Like Me" John Howard Griffin, a white man, tells his experiences when he had himself made up to look like a negro and found out the hard way what it is like to be a negro in Southern United States.

"Rocket Richard" Andy O'Brien's story of one of hockey's greatest stars, explains the pressures which led to Richard's explosions and reveals the playing secrets that made 'The Rocket' supreme.

"West With the Vikings" is a historical novel by Edison Marshall, an adventurous story about the rugged Norsemen and their trips to North America five centuries before Columbus.

Vienna is the setting for Hans Habe's "Ilona" a richly romantic novel of three generations of magnetic women which spans eight dramatic stormy decades.

"Service With a Smile" by P. G. Wodehouse, has an English setting. It is a humorous tale of efforts to make the course of young love run smoothly despite many bumps in the path.

"The Evening of the Good Samaritan" by Dorothy Salisbury is a novel about Americans at home and abroad during the last twenty-five years. A wide-ranging book it has for its chief setting a great mid-west city and the story turns to New York, Germany during the war, Naples, and an Irish Village.

THE CHILDREN'S CORNER

Can you name the trees that belong to these six leaves?

Is it a rose on the neighbor's land,
Or is it a thistle to scratch your hand?
A dandelion it couldn't be
As it is here for you to see.
The pods should give you a little hint,
It certainly doesn't look like mint.

Answer: Milkweed Plant.

HYDRO PLANT HOST TO MANY VISITORS, CORNWALL

A total of 120,871 persons toured the Robert H. Saunders-St. Lawrence generating station at Cornwall during 1961. The number represented a slight decrease in the number of visitors from the previous calendar year when 126,986 persons inspected the giant hydro-electric station.

Weekends continued to be the busiest period for visitors throughout the year with Sunday attracting the greatest number on a daily basis. Saturdays were second busiest while Wednesdays were in third place. Busiest month of the year was August with Sunday, August 20, the most popular day when 2,032 persons toured the station.

Ontario Hydro's St. Lawrence development has proven an attraction for visitors from all corners of the world. Free visitor facilities were begun at Cornwall in 1955 at the start of construction, and now continue in the new powerhouse each day of the week. During the summer months of July and August, guides are on duty until 8:30 each evening.

MERKLEY—In memory of a beloved father and grandfather, Walter E. Merkley who passed away February 3rd, 1961.
His life was unselfish, for others He lived,
Some may have forgotten now that He's gone,

Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed unseen tears,
God only knows how much we miss him
At the end of one long year.
Always remembered by Leo, Barbara and family.

Barn Meets Popular

The annual barn meetings of the Dundas Holstein Breeders' Club were held this year in Matilda and Williamsburg Townships.

The first was held at the farm of Mahlon Zeron and Carl Empey, Iroquois, on January 11th and the second at the farm of Bernard Brunt, Williamsburg, on January 25th.

Large crowds attended both meetings and took part in the classification competitions.

Speaker at the Matilda meeting was Dr. E. B. Meads of the Regional Veterinary Laboratory at Kemptville. Dr. Meads dealt with many phases of herd health and conducted an interesting question and answer period.

In the judging competition the winners were: L. Spearman, Inkerman; Merle Graham, Brinston; Arthur Milne, Mountain; Keith Fawcett, Inkerman; Hugh Coons, Inkerman; Floyd Pemberton, Williamsburg; Gordon Fawcett, Inkerman.

At the Williamsburg meeting the leading speaker was Norm Sinclair, Engineering Fieldman for Kemptville Agricultural School. Mr. Sinclair spoke briefly on the service offered by his Division, including drainage surveys, ventilation advice and assistance in planning farm buildings.

The competition again consisted of classifying eight cows according to selective registration. The winners were: Ralph Fawcett, Winchester; Allan McRoberts, Winchester; Arthur Milne, Mountain; Bert Link, Winchester; Harold Pemberton, Williamsburg; George Nicholson, Navan.

The barn meetings were conducted by the directors of the respective Townships with the assistance of Grant Smith, Holstein-Friesian Fieldman and E. K. Pearson, Agricultural Representative.

SOUTH MOUNTAIN CURLERS WIN AT INTERNATIONAL BONSPIEL

Last weekend proved to be an exciting week end for the teenager curlers of Mountain District High School. Attending the Seventh Annual Teen-Age Bonspeil at Utica, New York, a young mixed team skipped by Dave Harris pulled the big upset of the Bonspeil by overpowering a strong boy's team from St. Lawrence High School of Cornwall in the finals by a 15 to 4 score to win the coveted Baird Shield. Dave and his team of Donald Levere, lead; Eileen Waddell, second; and Willa Ellis, vice skip; had previously won a position in the semi-finals on Saturday by downing a mixed team from Norfolk on a 4 o'clock draw by a score of 10 to 4. They defeated Schenectady in the semi-finals 8 to 3 and after a 40 minute rest met the Cornwall Team in the finals. South Mountain lost the first game of the Bonspeil to Schenectady Team No. 2 on the first draw.

The South Mountain's team No. 2 came close to bringing home the Brunner Trophy in the third event with a 9 to4 victory over Utica giving them 9 points. Kingston, however, with a 9 to 8 victory over Smith Falls won more ends and took the trophy with 11 points. The South Mountain's Team No. 2, skipped by Dale Hess, and consisting of Sherman Crowder, Donna Marriner and Kathie Beamish downed Norfolk 12 to 7 in the first draw but lost a 10 to 4 decision to the Schenectady Rink No. 1 in the second draw.

This is the second consecutive year that two mixed teams from South Mountain have entered the International Teen-ager Bonspeil at Utica and after winning only one of seven games last year came through with five wins this year. The South Mountain curlers, who do not have a curling rink in their home town, use the facilities of the Winchester Curling Rink each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

Other winners at the International Teen-Ager Bonspeil were Perth, winners of the Davies Shield and Kingston who won the Brunner Award in the third event. Thirteen Canadian and seven American teams from Kingston, Perth, Brockville, Smith Falls, Morrisburg, Cornwall, South Mountain, Utica, Schenectady, and Norfolk were entered in the bonspeil.
