Mr. and Mrs. R. Rennick Celebrate Fifty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rennick, at Piety Hill, was the scene of a happy event Tuesday, when members of their family returned home to celebrate with them, the 55th anniversary of their marriage.

It was on October 4th, 1883, that Miss Cynthia Christie, daughter of the late William Christie and Harriet Farrell, of Chesterville, was united in marriage to Robert Rennick, son of the late James Rennick and Margaret Locklin, of Inkerman. The ceremony was performed by the late Rev. Mr. Kearns at the Methodist Parsonage, Morrisburg. The bridal attendants were Edward Suffel, who resides in Calgary, Alta., and the late Miss Katie Hogaboam.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Rennick took up residence on a farm near Inkerman, were they remained until the year 1899, when they moved to Winchester.

During the 39 years spent in Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Rennick have been prominent in the social life of the community and have taken an active part in all worthwhile projects. They are held in high esteem by their many friends, both here and in Inkerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Rennick are devoted members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church and take an active part in all branches of its work. Although both have passed the 70-year mark in their ages, they are enjoying excellent health.

At their anniversary celebration on Monday they were the recipients of many messages of congratulations, as well as numerous gifts from local and distant friends. Among the messages received by wire was a telegram from their son, Erle Rennick, of Calgary, Alta., the only member of the family unable to attend the function.

Children of the honoured couple, who were present on Monday, were: four daughters, Mrs. E. G. Marshall of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. G. D. Preston, of Merrickville; Mrs. Hart Melvin and Miss Bessie Rennick, of Winchester; two sons, William Rennick, of New Liskeard, and Orla Rennick, of Flin Flon, Man., who was paying his first visit home in 25 years.

In addition to members of their children's families, who were present on their occasion, personal messages of congratulations were conveyed to Mr. and Mrs. Rennick by the following out-of-town friends: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beach, Cornwall; Mr. Eardley Coones and daughter, Mrs. R. Gordon, Mich., and Mrs. Hector Monroe, of Winchester Springs. They also received a salute from their son-in-law, Mr. Dick Preston, who, while unable to be present, circled the home in an aeroplane during the afternoon and dropped a message of good wishes from the air.

Wets Score Victory In Edwardsburg Tp.

The Township of Edwardsburg yesterday voted in favour of the sale of beer and wine in that municipality by a substantial majority. The result was as follows:

Wet 826
Dry 739

The result was a definite reversal for the temperance forces over the 1935 vote on the question, when 804 voted against the sale and 521 favoured it.

During recent weeks there was keen activity shown by workers on both sides and as the result was expected to be close, those who were familiar with the attitude of the people throughout the municipality differed in their opinions as to the outcome.

Voting was held in nine polls as follows: Cardinal, Brouseville, Wolford, Spencerville, Ventnor, Glen Smail, Shanly, Groveton and Hyndman.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Charged With Theft Of $1,000 Bond

Pleading guilty to a charge of stealing a $1,000 Government bond, belonging to Alex Mellon, Matilda township, John Packman, 24, of Brinston, was remanded to Cornwall jail until October 7th for sentence by Magistrate John McCormick when he appeared in local police court last Wednesday afternoon.

At the time of his arrest, Packman was under suspended sentence given him in Ottawa police court where he was found guilty of forging Mr. Mellon's name to a cheque for $21.50 a month ago. His sentence was suspended when character references were furnished by a Brinston minister and other prominent citizens of the district.

It was stated that Packman purchased clothing in Ottawa with the cheque and produced the $1.000 bond when asked by the merchant to identify himself. Later, Packman used the bond to purchase stock from an Ottawa brokerage firm.

At the time of his arrest on the forgery charge, Packman had been employed on the farm of Wm. Flegg, near Brinston, and after receiving the suspended sentence, returned. Packman later admitted to Mr. Mellon that he had taken the bond and exchanged it for stocks. Details were forwarded to the brokers, resulting in the stocks being returned, the current price of which was $200 less than was paid for the securities.

Not wishing to see Packman make a second appearance in court, friends and neighbours collected $200 and gave to Mr. Mellon, with the request that a further charge not be laid against Packman under the circumstances. However, Packman was placed under arrest by Provincial Officer Frank Rose later and brought to Winchester where he pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing the bond. He will appear before Magistrate McCormick in police court at Morrisburg tomorrow, when his case will be disposed of.

Township Council Awards Contract For Crushing 2000 Cubic Yards of Stone

Tenders for the crushing and placing of 2000 cubic yards of stone on roads in the south-east section of the township, were opened at the regular meeting of Winchester Township Council held in the local town hall yesterday afternoon. After considering several applications, the Board awarded the contract to John Dillabough, of Morewood, with instructions to proceed with the work at once.

Dr. A. B. Clayton of Chesterville, was appointed to act as Medical Health Officer in the absence of Dr. Peter McLaughlin, of Winchester, who is at present a patient in the Ottawa Civic Hospital. In this connection, Reeve W. J. McConnell, of Morewood, expressed the appreciation of the Council to Dr. McLaughlin for the efficient manner in which he had performed the duties of Medical Officer of Health in the township during the past 25 years, and hoped that he would have a speedy and complete recovery from his present illness. He also extended the Council's sympathy to Haldane Cummings, township Road Superintendent, whose wife passed away recently.

Among the accounts passed by Council was the sum of $15.00.00 as the initial payment on one of the new bridges built to replace a structure destroyed in the spring floods.

The new tax collector, William Carkner, reported that the first instalment of the 1938 taxes was being paid as promptly as other years, and that several taxpayers had cleaned up their arrears.

According to the treasurer's report, presented by Jacob Steen, the clerk, the township's finances were in a good sound condition. It was not necessary to borrow any money from the banks, so far, he stated.

The meeting was presided over by Reeve W. J. McConnell, of Morewood, with the following members present: Deputy Reeve Thos. J. Ralph, of Winchester; Councillors James C. McGregor, of Ormond, and Ernest B. McMillan and William McCloskey, of Chesterville.

The next meeting will be held in Morewood on the first Monday in November.

United Church Holds Anniversary Services

The beautiful October sunshine was all that could be desired on Sunday morning to contribute to the large attendance at the morning service. The front of the church was artistically decorated with Autumn flowers and foliage. A choir of nineteen voices under the leadership of the organist, Mr. Fred Johnson, contributed two anthems at this service. "Fear Not O Land," by Simper, with solos by Mr. E. Shaver, Mrs. E. Steele and Mrs. Durant, and "Forward Be Our Watchword," by Wagner, with duets by Mrs. Durant and Mrs. Steele.

Clear, forceful messages were brought by the guest speaker, Rev. R. R. Nicholson, of Kemptville. His text for the Juniors was "Be ye kind, one to another.' and for the senior congregation, John 6:68, from which he spoke on the Supremacy of Christ. From this utterance of Peter he believed that only Jesus Christ is adequate for all the needs of humanity. He gave four bases for this supremacy as follows: "His doctrine is God; His value of men; His solution of sin, and His interpretation of death and assurance of eternal life. Christ rose from the dead. He is living. He transcends all others. He is supreme.

The large evening congregation listened attentively to the message on "First Things First," from the Sermon on the Mount, Matt. 6:33. The things Jesus considered of supreme importance were enumerated and illustrated from his life and teachings, among them being to sit at His feet and learn of Him, rather than to be preoccupied with business, pleasure, and the pursuit of wealth to the exclusion of important things. Jesus calls us to a life surrendered fully to Him.

The evening anthems were well rendered and greatly enjoyed. They were "Fear Not O Land," and "How Amiable are Thy Dwellings." by Pears.

Monday Evening.

The Anniversary Dinner, served by the Women's Association on Monday evening, was fully up to the standard of previous years. The tables looked very pretty with their decorations of yellow flowers and candles.

More than 300 were served, after which an interesting programme of music and speeches, was enjoyed. During the interval a number of organ solos given by Mr. Johnson were greatly appreciated. A violin solo that was executed with marked ability, was contributed by Miss Sybil Empey, with Mr.

Peanuts Successfully Grown In Public School Garden As Experiment

Miss Emma Gardner presented the Press with a stock of peanuts, grown by her pupils in the local school garden this year. The nuts are well formed although somewhat smaller than those found in Southern States. The students took a keen interest in the garden this year and were proud possessors of a crop of popcorn until Tuesday night last when somebody visited the garden and cut the corn down. Stocks and ears had disappeared on the disappointed pupils, when they arrived at school the next day.

MOVING TO OSGOODE

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hutt will move to Osgoode Station shortly, where Mr. Hutt will become manager of a mercantile business in that village. Mr. Hutt's many friends in Winchester will wish him the best of luck in his new venture. Billie has, for many years, been an efficient member of the staff at Mr. T. O. Keyes' Store.

MRS. JOSEPH WESLEY JOHNSTON

Another of the pioneers of Winchester Township passed away last Sunday in the person of Mary Smith, widow of the late Mr. J. Wesley Johnston, of Chesterville. Born near Chesterville 84 years ago, she had spent her long life in that vicinity. She has for some years made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Parnham Allison, near Chesterville, where the end came, and from where the funeral was held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. to Chestervile United Church, where Rev. R. C. Tait brought a message of comfort from the passage: "We all do fade as a leaf." A duet, "Looking this way," was sung by two members of the choir with Mr. Hewitt at the organ. Interment was made in the family plot at Maple Ridge cemetery.

Three sons also survive, George, Ward and Hudson, all of Chesterville district. Mrs. Johnston was the last surviving member of the Smith family.

CORRECTION!

In the report of the Council Meeting in last week's Press, it was stated that ratepayers would be asked to vote on the question of whether or not they are in favour of debentures being issued for the sum of $25,000.00 for remodelling and the enlarging of the local High School. This should have read $9,000 instead of $25,000. As we have learned since, the local council does not have to issue debentures for the entire cost of the project, which it is estimated will be about $17,000.00. The $25,000.00 figure was first estimated cost, but this has been chnaged. Of the $17,000, Winchester will only have to pay $9,000 and this is what the council will ask the ratepayers to voice their opinion on at the forthcoming municipal election.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S TRIUMPH

Amid the rush of feverish preparations for war in the European capitols last Thursday came the glorious news to an anxious world that an agreement had been reached with Chancellor Hitler of Germany over the Czechoslovak question, and the war had been averted by the narrowest of margins. A tremendous sigh of relief rose from grim peoples who had lived in an atmosphere of suspense for days. There would be no war, and that, in itself, was something for which to give heartfelt thanks.

Following the first great relief, however, people everywhere began to give serious thought to the terms of the agreement. In brief it was this: Herr Hitler gained his objective—Sudeten Czechoslovakia, and practically at his own terms. His troops were granted permission to take possession of certain areas in the little Republic within forty-eight hours; plebiscites are to be held in all districts with large German populations at an early date; other minorities were to be granted the same privilege. and finally, the German Chancellor pledged himself to respect and protect the new boundaries of Czechosvlakia henceforth. Thus it is that a small Republic of 12 million inhabitants was sacrificed on the altar of peace, in order that the great nations of the world might avoid a terrible conflict that would have meant the disintegration of civilization.

Out of the crisis rose the figure of one man—Neville Chamberlain of England, who worked tirelessly throughout the darkest hours in the interests of peace. He approached the question of conciliation with mature judgment; he continued his efforts with exceeding patience; he achieved success, and brought home to England from the historic city of Munich a document that may change the future course of history in Europe.

Only time will tell if Adolph Hitler was sincere as he placed his signature on that bit of paper. The world has every reason to question his sincerity in such matters, for, in the past, his failure to fulfil obligations has been one of his chief characteristics. The sacrifices made by Czechoslovakia demand that this German dictator be made to live up to the full letter of the agreement regardless of consequences in the future, and it is to be hoped that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain did not leave Munich without firmly impressing that fact on Hitler's mind. Only on such grounds can the concessions to the German Fuehrer be justified by England and France. Prime Minister Chamberlain will go down in history as the man who brought about the agreement between Germany and Czechoslovakia over the Sudeten areas—England must now stand solidly behind the Czechs in seeing that the full terms of the agreement are kept.

There are those factions that bitterly criticize the agreement and maintain that the German dictator succeeded in bluffing his way through to a signal triumph. His prestige has no doubt received tremendous impetus among his own people, but only Hitler knows how closely the same German people came to a catastrophe in which they must ultimately have been the losers. Critics should also keep constantly in mind the responsibility that rested upon Mr. Chamberlain's frail shoulders as he entered the city of Munich last Thursday morning. Would Hitler remain adamant? Would it be necessary to check his mad desire by force? Would England call upon the flower of her manhood once more to check militarism? These and many other grave questions had to be answered by the British Prime Minister. He arrived at a decision that meant peace for the world. Call it sacrifice if you will; call it a triumph for Nazism if you must, but the world is today at peace and it might very easily have been war—to the death!

If, at some later date, Great Britain and the world must again take up arms in defence of freedom and justice, against Adolph Hitler and his forces of Nazism, it will be with the resoluteness of spirit, the unswerving determination of a people who have sacrificed much in order that peace might prevail. And when that day comes there will be no talk of conciliation, there will be no granting of concessions, for the same dauntless spirit that has made the British Empire great, will prevail—and will continue to prevail until freedom and justice are restored and Nazism and all it stands for are no longer to be feared.

MENTAL CASES INCREASING

In view of the enquiry being conducted into one of Ontario's mental hospitals, special interest attaches to the Dominion Government's fifth annual report of mental institutions. This report just recently issued covers the calendar year 1936 and the figures show the importance of public attention to the problems involved .

The total number of patients under care in 1936 was 53,326, an increase over the previous year of 2,592 and over the number five years previously of 11,630. The report states that the increase should not be construed as a real increase in the extent of mental disorders among the general population. Mental disorders, it is pointed out are, in the main, disorders of adult life, the average insane first admission being 43 years. The increase in the mental population may be partly explained by the fact that among those who take an active interest in the care and treatment of persons suffering from mental sickness there is an increasing demand for early treatment of mental diseases.

Of a total of 57 mental institutions, 37 are provincial institutions, 14 are controlled and maintained by municipalities, two are maintained and controlled by the Dominion Government and four are under the control of private agencies. The personnel at December 31st, 1936, totalled 7,538—3,909 males and 3,269 females. The medical staff numbered 276 and graduate nurses 1,032. The net cost of maintenance to federal and provincial governments was $10,004,049.00.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

In Canada and the United States the week of October 9th to 15th is being observed as Fire Prevention Week. The Dominion Fire Prevention Association in co-operation with Provincial Fire Marshals, local Fire Chiefs and others are co-operating with civic organizations in the furtherance of the aims of Fire Prevention.

About 300 people are burned to death and a much larger number are injured by fire in Canada every year. The recorded loss of property by fire in Canada during the fifteen years, 1922 to 1937, exceeded $525,000,000. In other words, at our present burning rate, approximately one human life is sacrificed and $97,000 worth of property is destroyed every day in the year.

Fire is no respector of persons. Every man has a responsibility towards his neighbours and that responsibility should cause every right-thinking person to pause and consider what he owes the community in which he lives. We owe it to ourselves but in a greater degree to our fellow-citizens to permit no condition to exist upon our premises that will invite a visitation of fire. A great majority of fires are so easy to prevent that it is certainly a moral crime to tolerate the things which bring them about.

Cities and towns, like individuals, reap what they sow. To permit the erection of fire-traps, to fail to provide an abundant and reliable water supply and means of using it or to fail to apply the everyday rules of fire prevention, is to constantly face a menace of heavy fires and sweeping conflagrations.

Why tolerate a condition which not only levies tribute upon life and property but in effect imposes an added cost to the conduct of every feature of business activity and increases the burden of the people in providing the necessities of life.

We cannot afford to go on and be indifferent to it all. Fire Prevention Week is a particular week set aside to call attention to the menace of fire. Are you doing your part?

These simple suggestions. if followed by everyone in the family, will make your home safe from fire:

Put lighted matches and smokes out before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children cannot reach them. Never smoke in the garage, barn, or attic, nor in bed.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and all unnecessary combustible materials. Provide metal ash and trash cans. Burn rubbish only in a safely covered brick or metal incinerator. Watch the fire.

Examine all stoves, furnaces, and smoke pipes to make sure they are safe and well away from woodwork or other burnable materials. Have needed repairs made at once.

Value the advice of your fire chief who says that many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have the chimney cleaned regularly, and have all defects repaired.

Escape the danger of inflammable liquid fires and explosions by keeping no gasoline in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaner. Never start fires with kerosene.

Notify the electric company of electrical trouble. Replace "blown" fuses with new ones—not pennies. Avoid home-made wiring jobs.

Teach everyone in the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fireplaces, electric irons and all other possible fire causes, and every day to remove old rags. papers and other rubbish.

Fireproof your home as far as possible by fire-safe roofing, fire stopping in hollow walls and partitions to stop the spread of flame, and a non-combustible basement ceiling.

Explain to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket, what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen.

Save life and property from needless destruction by fire by keeping the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never taking a chance with fire.

THIS TAX BUSINESS

Conversation with a friend of ours the other day on the subject of indirect taxes brought from him an interesting statement, says the Hespeler Herald. He said: "if manufacturers of articles we use daily would imprint on each package the percentgae of the cost of that article that went toward government taxation, Canadians as a people would rise up in protest against excessive taxation.

The amount of money that is raised through indirect taxation each year is fabulously large. Take for instance your cigarettes—do you know that the government collects twelve cents of twenty-five spent for smokes? Sales tax of eight per cent. applies on most of your purchases and an extra three per cent. is added on the cost of your toiletries and cosmetics. It would be interesting to figure out what the average individual pays the government each year through indirect taxation. If the amount were known to every voter in the country there would be a wave of protest that would gradually assume tidal proportions.

Canada's railway problem—now costing the taxpayers in excess of ninety million dollars a year—would come rapidly to a head, inefficiency and duplication would be wiped out when Canada's taxpayers realized exactly how much of their incomes went toward governmental expenses. It would be a nice scheme for some manufacturer to tell the public about the indirect taxes on his product.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now that threshing and corn-cutting are finished, the farmers of the district can direct their attention to such matters as repairing the harness; roofing the barn; listening to Charlie McCarthy and the all-important question at the moment—the World Series between the Yankees and the Cubs.

A staff writer recently stated in The Globe and Mail that there are 3,229 teachers in Ontario being paid less than the minimum wage set for girls in factory work. In other words, there are plenty of shoe shiners, ushers, candy pullers, nut turners and the like, whose wages are far in excess of those of rural teachers who are entrusted with the task of shaping the lives of the growing generation. The article points out the fact that one-quarter of the rural schools in Ontario failed to take advantage of the Provincial Legislative grants for last year.—Tweed News.

Monday next, October 10th, is Thanksgiving Day, and surely the citizens of this Dominion have good reason to be thankful in 1938. War has been averted within the past week by the narrowest of margins, which alone is just cause for thanksgiving. If any further reason is needed, stop and look around you—the bountiful harvest, the peaceful community in which we live, the spirit of neighbourliness that prevails. Let us all give thanks for the small blessings that are ours. Only by such means can happiness and contentment exist.

NEWSY ITEMS OF FORMER YEARS

TAKEN FROM OLD FILES OF THE WINCHESTER PRESS.

Once again we lift our files of the year 1918 from their dusty "bed," and set out in search of interesting happenings of twenty years ago. Our Scrapbook opens with the issue of Feb. 14th, 1918, where we found the following:

A Fast Game

One of the fastest hockey games ever played on Winchester rink was the game played last Friday, under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, between Morrisburg and the home team. The locals, who were so brilliantly dressed and so gentlemanly at Morrisburg a week ago when they were defeated by a score of 6-3, displayed some brilliant hockey here and in a closely played game put it over the boys from the front by the tune of 2-1. The game was rather rough throughout, the home team handing out a little "hot stuff" once in a while to even up for a few handed out to them in the game at Morrisburg. In the first period neither side scored. In the second period, Utman of the home team scored once and in the last period Winchester made it 2-0, but about 5 minutes before time was called the Morrisburg team came to life and hit the Winchester net on a well placed shot from the stick of Graham Casselman from the side.

McCormick played a hard game and Crowder played unusual combination scoring the second goal. "Sifty" Utman was in the game all the time and Bill Scott and Walter Cheney did good work. John Fader, who is a new member of the senior aggregation. made several good plays, but had a leaning for the man and not the rubber. Phil Fader in the nets blocked the puck in his usual manner and was the only man of the locals to carry a souvenir of the game, receiving a slash on the chin.

Bell and Glascott, subs., put up a good game and added greatly to the success of the score.

Referee, J. H. Larue; umpires, L. Dixon and Frank Hogaboam.

Do you remember this one?—

When his leave is up he will return to a convalescent home at Kingston.

The issue of Feb. 28th contained this interesting item:—

Markell-Gordon

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon of Clarence St., was the scene of an interesting wedding on Monday, the 25th, at 12.30 p.m. when Lillian Mae, their eldest daughter, was united in marriage to Herbert Markell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Markell of Northfield.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Claxton. The bride, who was given away by her father, was daintily gowned in white crepe de chene. She received numerous pretty and useful gifts. The wedding dinner was nicely served to about fifty or sixty guests by girl friends of the bride. The happy couple left on the afternoon train.

"The Voice of the Press"

PASTEURIZING MILK

(Stirling News Argus)

The compulsory pasteurization of milk which comes into effect in the larger towns and cities on October 1st, and in the smaller villages by January 1st next, is liable to mean the extinction of many of the small producers since their volume of business will not warrant an expenditure for the necessary equipment. There are a number of such dealers in Stirling, but no announcement has been made as yet concerning what action will be taken, and no one appears to be worrying anything over it. The situation is much different in the town of Deseronto where there appears to be much opposition to the new law. According to the "Post" the Town Council has served notice that it will take no part in passing regulations to enforce or control it, and the circulation of a petition asking for special exemption under the new law is suggested. We doubt if their objections will get very far with the Department of Health. However, it will be interesting to watch the result of their efforts.

THOSE WHO SEE US

(Leamington Post and News)

We walk through life thinking that few know us. Few do. But there are those who see us better than others. Some who see us as we do not see ourselves, says George Mathew Adams, the well-known writer. Take the artist who paints your portrait. If he is a true artist, he will see things in you that others know nothing about. To that one you confide and open your heart—and in so doing you place before that one a line of faults as well as virtues. That friend will admire the virtues and say little about the faults. for in enlarging your virtues to you the faults fall into shadow. As they should. Those who see us clearest are those who understand us best. We can overlook so much in one whom we understand—even though that understanding may be all too scant. The crude, unlettered talker may have a heart that is lined with gold—perhaps it may be solid gold! It doesn't pay to judge. We are forever presenting ourselves in fragments. If we write, people see something in us because of our thoughts—for "as a man thinketh, so he is." But chance meetings, and conversations only give glimpses of us—and they have to fill in what they think must be our real picture. But when all is said and done, our sincerity of thought and purpose must be the focal point by which we must be known and loved.

SCHOOL BOOKS TOO EXPENSIVE

(Bowmanville Statesman)

A parent, in a letter to the St. Marys Journal-Argus, expresses bewilderment at the ever increasing cost of school books in elementary and high schools. "Just how a man with five or six of a family and a $20-a-week job can buy all the copy, text, exercise and other books demanded by the present Public and High School curriculums is a little bewildering," the writer says.

Not a few Bowmanville parents are experiencing the same trouble. This year in particular school books are higher in price, and the average child at public school today requires close to $2.50 in books when school opens. A new high school student is expected to lay out between five and six dollars for their equipment before studies start, and then there is the constant replacement costs in addition.

It is doubtless true, as the writer of the letter points out, that the Department officials, living on respectable saaries perhaps are not aware of the difficulty the small salaried man experiences in providing the necessary books for school work. One of the dangers, as we see it, is the provision that teachers may select from a number of books for teaching purposes, and too many are ready and willing to select the expensive book every time.

In Bowmanville there are plenty of men earning less than $20 per week, and they want their children to be as well educated as other children, but it is becoming increasingly difficult for them to give their children the opportunity of a high school education when the costs are so high.

"In Lighter Vein"

"You've been watching me for three hours. Why don't you try fishing yourself?"

Onlooker: "I haven't got the patience."

* * * *

"Where has the summer gone?
She was here just a moment ago,
With roses and daisies
To whisper her praises,
And everyone loved her so."

* * * *

Sonny sat on the lower steps his face resting in his two chubby hands.

"What's the matter, Sonny?"

"Nothin'—just thinking."

"What about?"

"Thinkin' how dumb trees are to take off their clothes in winter and put 'em on summer."

* * * *

Two travellers returning home late at night lost their way. One said: "We're in a cemetery; here's a gravestone."

"Whose is it?" asked the other.

Striking a match the more sober one replied: "I don't know, but he died at a good age—175."

"See who it is," said the other.

"Another match was struck. I don't know him; some fellow called Miles from London."

The Poet's Corner

THE HIGH CALL

'Tis said, "The pen is mightier than the sword";
It shouts above the roar of cannon's din;
So you who yield the pen, take heart again,
Heed the high call, and you will surely win.
Poets and dreamers on the dawn lit hill
Should smite the powers of ills until they fall,
And rouse the soul from its inglorious sleep,
To break the bonds that bind men to hate's thrall.

—Dorothy Sproule.

THE OLD COAT

I have come to the conclusion,
After much thought in seclusion,
That a coat that hangs upon our kitchen door,
Has for twenty years been serving
Me much more than I'm deserving.
But I'm going to wear that coat a whole lot more.

While the lining's torn and tattered.
And the sleeves are both much battered,
There is comfort in that dear old coat for me;
Though in spots it's ragged, ravelled,
(For it certainly has travelled),
I still wear it when we don't have compan-ee.

There are holes in all the pockets,
And it's ripped in both arm sockets,
But the buttons still stick to it like a friend;
Wifey threatens she will burn it,
Or to garbage she will turn it,
But no sir! That coat will come to no such end.

I can dig the garden in it,
Happy as a singing linnet,
But there's one thing that does always get my goat;
When there's comp-ny comes a-calling,
Say, you ought to hear the bawling
That I get from wife who yells;
"Take off that coat."

So I sneak into the kitchen,
It is then my wife does pitch in,
And says: "Wearing that you look like some old bloat,
I'm ashamed those folk'll see you,
So you answer me, now be you
Going 'tshed those rags and don your other coat?"

So then I, in quickest measure,
Slip out of that ancient treasure,
And I climb into my Sunday coat once more;
But there is no pleasure in it,
No, not for half a minute,
Like in that old coat upon the kitchen door.

—Ralph Gordon.

September had no butterflies, and so she told Jack Frost
To paint a million right away,—no matter what it cost!
So Jack Frost painted all the leaves a lovely red and brown,
And then he shook the branches hard, to make them flutter down.

WHICH MAN ARE YOU?

There are men in whose presence your cares disappear,
In the light of whose smile there is joy;
There are others you meet take the sun from the day
All the cheer in your heart they destroy,
And all of you know them—they're part of your life,
You meet them wherever you go—
The man you delight to accept as a friend,
And the man you would rather not know.

One thinks about others, and one of himself;
One interests, while one is a bore;
To one you will give all the best in your house,
The other won't get past the door.
And one makes you feel you're a prince of a chap,
And one sets your worth very low—
The man you delight to accept as a friend,
And the man you would rather not know.

While one's easy manner is balm to your soul,
While he puts you at ease with the world,
The other leaves nerves that are jagged and frayed.
In perpetual discord they're whirled.
One has something of God, one is wholly of Man,
One is simple, one bursts with Ego—
The man you delight to accept as a friend,
And the man you would rather not know.

Which person you are is revealed in your acts,
For these you can have no defense;
From your thoughts spring the deeds that betrays the real you,
Whatever your sham and pretense.
And it's worth while to know that the earth can be yours,
For the best things in life we bestow
On the man we delight to accept as a friend,
And the man you would rather not know.

JUST A MAN

This is how we felt about him;
If he said it, we believed it,
He gave no one cause to doubt him;
Paid the bill as he received it.

Gave and never mentioned giving;
Helped and never talked of aiding;
Held all joy a part of living,
Just as much as sin-evading.

Had a certain sense of beauty
And the niceness of creation;
Held the man who did his duty
Earned and merited salvation.

Without any fuss or bother
He assumed his share of labor;
Loved as a devoted father;
Workman true and cheerful neighbor.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of James O. Stewart who died October 6th, 1937.
What peaceful hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still;
But there is left an aching void
This world can never fill.

Baker of Crysler, Mrs. William Alexander of Berwick, and Mrs. Henry Taylor of North Gower; three sons, Thos., of Kemptville; William of Toronto, and George of Ottawa. There are also two sisters, Mrs. A. Limin of Hamilton, and Mrs. Nelson Eastman, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and two brothers, William of Metcalfe and David of Tecumseh, Mich.

Will Celebrate Golden Anniversary

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. William Coombs of this village, who are quietly celebrating their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Monday, October 10.

Married in St. James Anglican Church Manotick, by Rev. J. F. Gorman, October 10, 1888, Mr. and Mrs. Coombs spent first three years of their married life in Manotick, then moving to Osgood Township, they have resided here ever since. In 1916 having sold their farm south of the village, they moved to their present residence in Metcalfe.

Formerly Miss Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Coombs was a daughter of Robert Brown and his wife, Louisa Griffiths, pioneers of North Gower township. Mr. David Brown, R. R. 2, Kars, now residing on the homestead, is a brother.

Mr. Coombs, now the last surviving member of his family was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coombs, also of North Gower.

They have one son, J. Alfred Coombs, of Metcalfe, and two grandsons, William and J. D.

During their many years' residence here, Mr. and Mrs. Coombs have always taken an interest in village and community affairs, especially in the work of the parish of Holy Trinity church, where Mr. Coombs filled the offices of Sunday School Superintendent for 22 years; church warden and treasurer for 11 years, and leading member of the choir for over 30 years.

Mrs. Coombs has always been a devoted member of the Ladies' Guild and Women's Auxiliary, taking an active part in the work of each as long as health would permit. She will celebrate her 84th birthday anniversary on Monday also, and except for impaired eyesight, still enjoys fairly good health, being able to go about the house with only slight assistance.

An ardent supporter of Orangism, Mr. Coombs is a past master of the local lodge and was also Master of Russell district for two years. During the past five years he has been president of the Metcalfe Rural Telephone Company.

Holy Communion will be dispensed at their home on Monday morning by the rector. Rev. H. A. Irwin, and the remainder of the day will be spent quietly at home to their friends.

TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

WHEN the chill, shivery days come, how pleasant for the tired home-comers to be greeted by the welcoming savory aroma of hot comforting stew. For when a stew is well and carefully made it's a right royal winter dish. And when feathery light dumplings are in the stew this good old-fashioned dish becomes something to dream about. But the dumplings must be as light as light can be!

Feather-light Dumplings

1 cup sifted flour; 1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon melted butter; ½ cup milk.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add butter to milk; add to flour and stir carefully until all flour is dampened and soft dough is formed. Drop from teaspoon on boiling stew; cover very tightly and cook, without removing cover, 5 to 7 minutes according to size of dumplings. Serves 6 to 8.

HOW TO GET ON

'Tell me how to get on in life,' said the kettle.

"Take pains," said the window.

'Never be led,' said the pencil.

'Do a driving business,' said the hammer.

'Aspire to great things,' said the nutmeg grater.

"Make light of everything," said the fire.

'Make much of small things,' said the microscope.

'Never do anything offhand,' said the glove.

'Reflect,' said the mirror.

'Do the work you are suited for,' said the chimney.

'Be sharp,' said the knife.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the glue.

'Try and make a good impression,' said the sealing wax.

HINTS FOR THE FARMER

SUGAR BEET CROP

Present indications are that the sugar beet crop will yield well above average this year, and have a high sugar content. Preliminary tests showed an average sugar content of nearly 15 per cent. on September 1st, which is higher at this date than for several years. Root development was particularly good during August and estimates now place production in excess of 10 tons per acre. With the high temperatures and humidity which prevailed during the first week of August in Southwestern Ontario, Leaf Spot began to appear on early planted fields. Fortunately, for the beet crop, the weather became cooler and less humid, so that Leaf Blight did not progress rapidly. In general the crop has been free from disease and the beets show healthy green tops.

THE VEGETABLE CROP

In Western Ontario weather and moisture conditions during the past month have been generally favourable for good growth, with the exception of some frost damage to vine crops in the Bradford and South Simcoe districts. Heavy rains and humid weather earlier in the season in Essex, Kent, and Lambton Counties caused considerable damage to the onion crop, resulting in heavy loss by skin and heart rot which may materially affect the storing quality. The late potato crop is comparatively free from blight and quality very good. However, the tuber set is below normal and production will be below average. Tomatoes have improved considerably in quality.

In Eastern Ontario districts tomatoes have yielded an average crop but quality has been slightly below normal due chiefly to destruction of foliage by tomato worms, and too much wet weather causing cracks. Yellow ends have been very general also. Potatoes are expected to yield above average with quality good, but late cauliflower are below average.

PLOWING MATCH NEXT

Every farmer has an eye for a nice plow team and a good piece of plowing. He will have all this to his heart's content at the great International Plowing Match to be held at Minesing, near Barrie, October 11, 12, 13 and 14. Here he will see the champion plowmen of Canada with their sleek and steady plow teams. He will see the greatest collection of up-to-date farm machinery ever housed under canvas—almost a mile of "tented city." He will see demonstrations that will prove invaluable to him in his every day life on the farm. These are just a few of the reasons why every Ontario farmer should make a special effort to attend the one and only International Plowing Match. the greatest event of its kind not only in the British Empire, but the entire world. Every farmer should bring his wife and family too. There will be educational and practical exhibits that every farm woman will appreciate.

A popular feature of former plowing matches will be maintained in the plowing by oxen, a link with the historic past of Ontario. At 11 a.m., and 2.30 p.m., each day, experienced drivers will demonstrate how plowing was done in earlier years with oxen hitched by yokes.

Farm drainage talks and demonstrations by machinery and hand will be given each day at 10 a.m. and 2.15 p.m., by representatives of the Agricultural engineering Department, O. A. C., Guelph. Cultural implements of various sizes and modern design will be demonstrated every day by manufacturing companies on land near the parking area.

Plow setting will be discussed by experts who show how different types of plows should be prepared for work. There will be also demonstrations to show the power required to haul different implements at various depths by the Field Husbandry Division, C.E.F., Ottawa

Another interesting feature each day will be an address by Dr. C. D. McGillvary, Principal of the Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, on "Anatomy and Care of Horses' Legs and Feet."

Horseshoeing competitions will be a new and popular feature. Demonstrations will be held at 2 p.m. on Tuesday and Wednesday and young farmers may learn how to do "cold shoeing," welding and other simple iron working practises. Competitive competitions for blacksmiths will be held on Thursday and Friday. An eye-filling spectacle that will bring joy to every farmer's heart will be the multiple hitch, with three to five horses working in one team and driven by representatives of the O.A.C. Guelph.

Seed cleaning and soil testing demonstrations will draw large crowds as will the display of hydro-electric equipment of farm and home conveniences. Other educational exhibits and demonstrations will be put on by the Ontario Department of Health, Ontario Forestry Department, and Animal Pest Control by the Provincial Zoologist.

PLOW WEEDY PASTURES THIS FALL

"There are many old unprofitable pastures to be seen in the countryside heavily infested with weeds—goldenrod, Canadian thistle, wild carrot, etc." says Dr. O. McConkey of the Ontario Agricultural College, and he continues:—"These can be improved 200 to 300 per cent. by (1) fall plowing. (2) cropping for one or two years to clean off weeds, (3) raising the soil fertility level, (4) seeding to a well balanced pasture mixture of legumes and grasses.

If you have a weedy pasture of this kind, plan to plow it this fall and start the improvement plan as outlined above, and it will return you many dollars of profit over the present low producing pasture.

Old pastures infested with weeds like Canadian thistles, wild carrot, etc., are a weed menace to the community. Plowing and clean cropping, and in some cases summer fallowing, are the best methods of getting rid of the weeds and preparing suitable soil conditions for seeding down to a profitable pasture mixture.

Mowing pastures should be more widely practised in Ontario. When the new pasture is established and weeds begin to show, mow early every season when the weeds are in the first stages of bloom. Most weeds are readily killed at this period of growth. The mower bar should be fitted with adjustable skids which raise the mower bar about 6 inches depending on the roughness of the pasture. These skids can be easily made by the local blacksmith and are inexpensive.

When seeding down be sure that the fertility level of the soil is high, especially in the materials such as lime, phosphorus, and potash The best plan is to send a composite sample of the soil, taken at ten different places across the field, to the Soils Department, Ontario Agricultural College, for analysis. The report and suggestions from that department will enable you to fertilize wisely and economicaly according to the fertility requirements of your soil type. Minerals increase the chances of securing a good catch of seeds, lower the percentage of winter killing of the legumes, and, what is most important, increases the protein and material content of the feed.

For further information regarding mixtures for pastures and hay, write to the Ontario Agricultural College. at Guelph, for Circular No. 28, "Pasture is Paramount for Milk and Meat Production in Ontario."

COAL FROM THE SOUTH POLE

British flyers envision a not too distant day when coal will be mined near the South Pole and shipped to Britain and other countries by huge transport planes.

Most recent forecaster of such a day was Harold I. June, pilot to Admiral Byrd on two Antarctic expeditions, whom London newspapers interviewed on the eve of his departure from Southampton for South Africa, where he is to join Admiral Byrd once more, and expect to pilot a 1940 Byrd expedition to the South Pole.

Mr. June said that on the last Byrd expedition they discovered, 30 miles from the South Pole,a range of mountains in which could clearly be discerned huge veins of coal running into the sandstone. He estimated that the amount of coal in that one range alone would be sufficient to maintain most of England's homes and factories for years.

When transportation improves, said Mr. June, and doubted whether that would be very long hence, he expected that huge machines would be developed. Miners would probably be sent down from the coal mines of Western England and from Wales and coal would be "trucked" to the world markets by giant air freighters.

Asked about working conditions he doubted whether miners would find it harder working coal in the South Pole regions than they do in the mines of Siberia. In Siberia, too, the cold is intense.

TEN OBJECTIVES

Don't you believe Adolph Hitler when he says in his Nuremburg speech that Germany doesn't want to take Alsace-Lorraine.

Upon the wall of the Feldherrnhalle in Munich, which has been made into a Nazi shrine, is a great school bearing the words, "God Make Us Free," and on either side five wreaths, with flowers renewed every day. Every wreath carries the color of a lost province and not a day passes without tens of thousands of Germans coming there and mourning their loss. Ten names are inscribed on the scroll, the names of the "lost provinces": Alsace-Lorraine; the Palatinate; Schleswig-Holstein; East Prussia; Memel and Dansiz; Sudeten Deutschland; South Tyrol and South Styria, Posen, Silesia: the Colonies.

TUBERCULOSIS

This Dread Disease Costs Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties At Least $100,000 Annually; Claimed 41 Lives In 1936

A Series of Special Articles by GEORGE W. CRAGG, M.D.
Superintendent, St. Lawrence Sanatorium

ARTICLE NO. 3

In the second article of this series it was explained that Tuberculosis could not be contracted unless the germ was taken into the body. However, there are certain factors which have an influence in determining whether or not a person will develop tuberculosis if he has been exposed to the infection.

(1) The degree of infection.

A healthy person, under ordinary circumstances, is usually able to overcome infection by only a few germs if they were taken into the body at long intervals, but if a person has been infected by a great number of germs or is continuously taking in a few germs for some time, the body is very frequently unable to overcome the germs and tuberculosis develops.

(2) Age.

Tuberculosis attacks people of all ages, but there are certain periods in life when tuberculosis occurs more frequently than others. Young babies take the disease very easily if they have been exposed. Between the ages of 5 and 15 tuberculosis has a comparatively low rate, when compared with later age groups. After 15 years of age the number of people with tuberculosis suddenly rises six to ten times that of the previous decade. It is between the ages of 15 and 45 that the greater number of deaths from tuberculosis occur. Of this group more deaths occur between the ages of 20 and 30 than during other years. After the age of 45 there is a marked fall in the number of deaths from this disease.

(3) Sex.

More men than women have tuberculosis, and over the whole life span a slightly greater number of men die from tuberculosis, but between the ages of 15 and 30 deaths from uberculosis in women are far in excess of those occurring in men.

Approximately three young women die from tuberculosis for every two deaths occurring from this disease in young men. It has been said by some authority that this disproportion of deaths between young men and young women can be laid to the desire for slender figures among young women, which calls for self-induced undernourishment and the desire to be in fashion leading to undue exposure brought about by insufficient clothing during inclement weather. The slightly higher morbidity among men can probably be explained by greater hardships encountered by men in their attempt to earn a living.

(4) Environment.

Tuberculosis is more prevalent in cities and towns than among the rural population. This is due to the crowding together of people in cities and towns, where the chances for contact with tuberculosis are much greater, and particularly so where groups of people work together in a confined space, as in factories and large commercial houses. In surveys made, over thousands of young people coming directly from urban or rural centres. it was found that the number of persons infected with the tuberculosis germ was three or four times as great in those living in cities and towns than those living in rural centres.

(5) Living conditions.

Economic distress plays a great part in predisposing to this disease. Tuberculosis is much more common among those where there is undernourishment and poor housing conditions brought about by an inability of the wage earner to supply adequately the necessities of life. Where large families live together in close contact with each other under unsatisfactory conditions, we find that if one person in that family contracts tuberculosis, several other members of the family are almost certain to develop the disease.

(6) Industry.

In all industries where many people are working day by day in close contact with each other, we find that more cases of tuberculosis develop than where working conditions are such that the workers are in less intimate contact. Certain industries are more conducive to the development of tuberculosis. These industries are those which have to do with materials which contain a high percentage of quartz and where dust arises from this material. This quartz dust, breathed in the lungs, sets up a condition known as silicosis, which in turn provides a weakened lung for the onset of the tuberculosis germ. Such occupations as moulders, metal grinders, gold and silver miners, come under this classification. Coal or other miners working where there is no quart, do not develop silicosis infrequently develop tuberculosis.

SEMPER DIEM

Into the strange, grave symphony of life,
Lending a deeper meaning to the strain,
A magic chord is sometimes softly struck
Adding a warming glow to its refrain.
And so I sing this song to thee my "Friend,"
To thou who canst translate that tender name.

That chord, once struck, can never die away;
Eternal it vibrates from hour to hour
Across the years—across the span of miles,
Time cannot chill the memory of its power
Nor distance dim the beauty of its notes
That in my heart will ever beauteous flower.

Faith, the first note—a Friend is always near—
Readiness—to help through each grievous care—
Impetuosity—to share the load—
Endurance—in a loyalty so fair—
Nobility—there's 'nought too hard to do—
Devotion—of a depth that's truly rare.

So sing I of that wondrous chord called "Friend"
That echoes through the music's melody,
That softens all the harsher, bitter notes
And soothes the tones of ruffled rhapsody.
I call thee "Friend,' for ever in my mind
Such hast thou been—wilt ever be to me. —Catharine Esther Kearns.

Instead of being the "day of rest and gladness" pictured by the hymn writer, Sunday is becoming more "a day of rush and madness" and too often, sadness, says the Owen Sound Sun-Times. It quotes an American insurance company as saying: "More automobile accidents resulting in both deaths and injuries happen on Sunday than any other day, in spite of the fact that upon the Sabbath there is less traffic congestion in towns and cities and fewer pedestrians abroad than any other day of the week." —Walkerton Herald-Times.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

A label will stick fast to tin if it is first brushed over lightly with either a cut onion or melted paraffin. A little brown sugar added to paste has the same effect. Gummed adhesive tape also makes a good label for tin.

Cleaning Draperies

Epsom salts, instead of soap suds, is easier on washable drapery fabrics. Wash in the Epsom salts and then rinse in clear water.

Sincerity.

An inward sincerity will of course influence the outward deportment; but where the one is wanting, there is great reason to suspect the absence of the other.—Sterne.

When Baking.

Both time and money can be saved if one fills the oven to capacity at baking time. For example, a roast may be baked simultaneously with a loaf cake, nut bread, fruit pudding, or an escalloped mixture.

History of Meikle Cup.

In the days during the Great War and the years immediately following it, athletes of the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute used to compete with other district high schools and collegiate institutes for a trophy known as The Broder Cup, a memorial cup to the late Hon. Andrew Broder, M.P., and was eagerly sought by the students of the competing track and field teams.

But as the years wore on and the silver cup was won again and again by various schools, the names inscribed on it as winnings schools, soon became crowded and space on the cup was completely used up. The necessity for a new cup was quite evident.

That became evident in 1920. Gerald Meikle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Meikle, of Morrisburg, and prominent in many Broder Cup track and field meets, had been killed in action in August, 1918, while fighting overseas with the 15th Canadian 48th Highlanders, and Morrisburg, with the M.C.I., was mourning the loss of such a fine young man.

So his father, George Meikle, and his two uncles, John H. Meikle and Fred H. Meikle, of Morrisburg, all ardent supporters and boosters of education and sport there, came together and suggested a memorial cup be put up to replace the Broder Cup. Hence the Gerald Meikle Memorial Cup, known generally today as The Meikle Cup, came into being as a trophy to be competed for on track and field by schools from the three counties.

In 1920 the cup was first put up for competition, and the team from the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute proudly won it. They won it again in 1921, but lost it to a strong Winchester team in 1922. Taking a formidable crew to Winchester the next year, the M. C. I. runners and jumpers bid high for the cup. The day was cold, and the events were long, with many entries. So long did the meet extend that the headlights of automobiles were turned on the track and pits so the runners and jumpers could see. The meet was finished after dark, and the efforts of the M. C. I. students met with success, the coveted trophy being brought back to Morrisburg that same night in 1923.

But the Meikle Cup was destined to leave its home grounds the next year and stay away for a long time, for 15 years, to be exact! The high school at Avonmore sent out a team that took points enough in 1924 to take the Meikle Cup away from Morrisburg, and away from all the other schools competing that year.

Since then it has bounced around between Winchester and Cornwall, with Finch taking it one year, until last Friday afternoon, September 30, 1938. That afternoon the ambitious, energetic students of the Morrisburg Collegiate Institute made their annual pilgrimage to Cornwall, the town holding the Cup. The strong student body from Cornwall, the unusual record of the Winchester High School on track and field, all combined to drain the hopes from the people of Morrisburg who had followed the exploits of the M. C. I. athletes at home. But the boys and girls themselves had a good idea as to their strength, and they put that strength to good use on the track last Friday, with the result that, after a 15-year absence, the handsome Meikle Cup is back home again. It is on display in the windows of the store of W. & J. Meikle, Morrisburg.

This is where it has been: Morrisburg, 1920, 1921; Winchester, 1922; Morrisburg, 1923; Avonmore, 1924; Winchester, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928; Cornwall, 1929, 1930; Winchester, 1931, 1932, 1933, 1934; Finch, 1935; Winchester, 1936; Cornwall, 1937; Morrisburg, 1938.

'THE GOLD OF DAWN,' A NEW BOOK BY DOROTHY SPROULE

Dorothy Sproule, author of a recently released book of poems, "The Gold of Dawn," has been the recipient of several beautiful poems dedicated to her. These have all been by writers of note, among whom are Madame Renee Vautelet, a distinguished writer (wife of an Aide to His Excellency, the Governor-General). Amy Bissett England (Musician and Poetess), Mabel Black Myers (Poetess of the Maritimes), Ralph Cusack, B. A. (Editor of Poetry Page, The Standard), Gordon LeClaire, B.A., (Author of "Star Haunted," literary critic, and Editor of International fame), and Richard F. Callan, B.A., from whose poetic pen comes the beautiful tribute that follows.

As an authoritative exponent of History in the Montreal High School, and an Alderman of the City of St. Lambert, Mr. Callan's admiration of idealistic poetry has an added value. We quote in part from the an explanatory letter to the author: "I enclose this poem in appreciation of your wonderful poems. In the present state of the world, they are a great inspiration, and you could not have given me your book at a more appropriate time"......"Asking your forgiveness, for stating what I feel, in a somewhat clumsy way, I am sending you the enclosed poem":

A Flowering Wilderness

(Dedicated to Dorothy Sproule)

"The Gold of Dawn" you gave to me,
When hatred reigned, and wordy strife,
Dark clouds of apprehension lowered,
Dimming all worth-while things of life.
Each glaring head-line in the Press
Presaged disaster, drawing near;
And Governments, with frenzied haste,
Death-dealing weapons massed in fear.
Inevitably, war must come,
Although all peoples cried for peace,
And many a pastor offered prayers
To Him, whose power makes wars to cease.

'Though groping on with little faith
I see God's hand.....

O words of life, from gifted pen!
The struggle then is not in vain;
From cynicism, cant and hate,
Your poems raised my thoughts again
To realms of beauty, faith-inspired.
A shrine I'll build on some high hill,
Far from the pathway of despair,
And in it may your genius dwell,
How often I shall worship there.

—Richard F. Callan.

UNITED CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Johnson accompanying on the organ.

The programme opened with the singing of Faith of our Fathers, followed with prayer by Rev. W. McKay, former Baptist minister of Ottawa. The Junior choir of 27 voices sang in splendid style, "O Canada," and "Marching On," with Mr. Johnson at the organ.

Greetings from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church were brought by Rev. W. D. Turner, in his usual pleasing manner.

Rev. Mr. McKay spoke on behalf of the Baptist churches in general and wished Godspeed to the church here.

Rev. W. S. Atchison, as chairman, made reference to the fact that exactly fifty-two years ago this church was dedicated to the service of God.

"Soldiers of the King are We," was given by the Junior Choir.

Rev. John McKay, of Ottawa, a former pastor, was heartily welcomed when he brought greetings and spoke on the Ministry—An Inside Story, in whicr he said he had been 17 years in the ministry and gave some of his own happy experiences. He had formed many invaluable friendships, and has had many opportunities of studying human nature. He thanked God that he had an opportunity to serve the people and to minister to the sick. The minister's special privilege is to introduce people to God and to keep them in close touch with God.

A vote of thanks, moved by Mr. W. J. Stewart, and seconded by Mr. J. L. Mill, was tendered to Rev. Mr. McKay for his great message, and to others who helped in the program. Messrs. N. W. Beach and Leroy Boyd proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies, after which the singing of God Save the King closed a successful anniversary.

High School Literary Notes

Prior to the Four Power Peace Conference at Munich, Germany, last Thursday, when war threatened to break out in Europe at any moment, Fifth Form Students at the local High School were asked to give their opinions regarding the crisis. The students responded with the following briefs which we give to our readers as an example of what the youth of the present generation are thinking.

Evelyn Holmes

My opinion is that the world will not prosper completely until all present disturbances are cleared. If war is declared there will be many millions of dollars wasted for arms and ammunition besides what will be used for other war expenses. Thousands of our Canadian youths will be slaughtered as they were during the Great War. If it were not for such curses there would be fewer crippled and dependent men drawing war disability pensions in our towns today. Although farmers will receive a better price for their crops if the present difficulties develop into war, every farmer prefers losing a great deal of money to being deprived of his son.

Francis Hutt

For my part, I do not think I would be willing to fight for G. Britain if she should declare war on Germany unless she had some real cause for declaring war on them, such as, if the Germans should bomb London or kill the King, or if she should attack some of the British colonies. I would go if I was conscripted for that is better than jail.

Ruth McIntosh

Almost every person has a different attitude toward the possibility of a war in Europe. My attitude is "Let the Europeans fight their own battles and settle their own disputes and let Canada keep out of them." I'm sure this rule would not do for all times because any true Canadian would fight for Britain when she needs help but not until that time comes. I would not go under any condition.

Doris Kirkwood

If I was a trained nurse when war spread over European lands, I certainly would travel abroad to serve the soldiers. I could not bear to remain at home knowing that the sick, wounded and dying needed me, when I was not present. Perhaps some of my acquaintances, friends, cousins, or uncles, lying in dark, unsanitary hospitals, would die because I had shirked my duty. While over there I would see the conditions and have an insight into the doings of the forces—thus educating myself. So you can see if I was a war nurse, I would be ever present among the helpless.

Wm. Spinks

It is only the fact that we have served our own selfish desires too much and we have let our communications become blocked. Then communications must be cleaned out by much prayer and self-sacrifice on our part for, how otherwise can we build a hate-free nation under Him? If you question these things, don't consult me, consult our local ministers. I am no authority but, when I quote the following saying of a well-known Doctor of Divinity I believe that therein lies the answer. "The only sane people in an unsane world are those who live under the Guidance of God. Therefore, we must start with ourselves, and when we have cleaned out our own minds and lives completely we may help other people clean out theirs to thereby create a pure, God-directed world—the only answer for chaos.

Bessie McCaul

After thinking about the subject, I decided that Britain should do all she can to prevent war. Mr. Chamberlain has tried to settle it peacefully. Time will tell the outcome.

If the Czechs go to war, France and Russia has promised to help her. Britain has agreed to help France if she is invaded. If Hitler can get the Sudeten area he will try to get the rest of Czechoslovakia, then Rumania and Hungary.

If war broke out I would not go unless I was forced, because it is not a woman's place to fight in war. If there is war I will do my part by keeping the home fires burning.

Lillian Bruce

My dictionary says that War is 'a contest between two states carried on by force; armed conflict; state of hostility; enmity.'

If war is declared I will go as a nurse or general cheerer or do anything that I possibly can because I would not be able to stay at home while my cousins, uncles and my friends might be wounded and very much in need, perhaps I might be able to help them.

Gerald McKendry

As far as I can see, we are doomed to war in the near future. I believe that if Germany got Czechoslovakia it would be useless to her compared with Roumania, the greatest oil resource in the world. Oil is the only thing that Germany lacks at the present time and if she gets that, war is inevitable. But as for my going to the threatened countries' aid, I consider it a poor investment until some move is taken on Germany's part to overwhelm Roumania.

Germany is not enlarging her navy, army and air force for nothing. She won't be satisfied until she has used them to win her some dividends.

I would go of my own accord if Britain was in anyway endangered.

Wendell Atchison

Why this war disaster? Mussolini answered this question when he said, "All Europe is going to set itself on fire to cook a rotten egg."

Why should I, in my prime, having spent eighteen peaceful years under the broad fold of the Union Jack, strut off to war, rifle in hand, because of the monstrosity of one fearless 'scapegoat?' But should volunteers be called, I will go.

Lorna Workman

My personal attitude toward another world war is as follows: I think that Germany in her loss of colonies during the war feels that she was struck very hard. In the possible chance of war, I would not like to be a living martyr even for a Victoria Cross.

Because, after all, the chief inhabitants of Czechoslovakia are mainly Germans themselves and under the rule of Hitler, would not suffer greatly. The Germans are a prosperous nation, and therefore there is a reason for them wanting to extend their territory, even if they have to resort to war. After all, this is the one and only way there is to acquire land. I don't feel that I would care to go to the war to be a nurse as I think it could be avoided if Germany were given more land.

Ormond McConnell

I think if the Germans were allowed to capture Czechoslovakia that they would have that much more power and territory and before long would be trying to take some other country.

I think the Germans are greedy people and possibly wouldn't stop till they had conquered the whole world.

I think if Britain and all the other countries would join together and wipe Germany off the map, we wouldn't have any trouble keeping peace. It would be worth losing one's life towards that cause.

Under these circumstances I would volunteer to go, otherwise I would not.

Gerald Erratt

I think that, while Germany is scheming and working trying to get small countries. Britain and France should get prepared and have everything ready to put the Germans out should they attack the British Empire. If they did attack it they would meet a force stronger than their own and so be defeated. Then Britain and France should not stop there like the last time but keep right after them until they are thoroughly beaten. And get that Hitler under British rule which would end all war-scares.

If this should ever come to happen, I would gladly give my right arm to see all the nations living in peace and comfort.

LANGTON CARR HONORED ON DEPARTURE FOR GUELPH

On Friday evening last, about 25 friends gathered at the Ship's Mate, home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Carr, in a surprise party in honor of their son, Langton, Carr, who left on Sunday to attend O. A. C., Guelph. After the party had attended the picture. "Flight into Nowhere," at the Cameo Theatre, they returned to the Ship's Mate where some time was spent in dancing. Refreshments were then served and while at the table, Langton was presented with a Ronson cigarette lighter and case by Arthur Laurin, on behalf of those present, and Miss Ruth Locke read an address. Langton replied fittingly, thanking his friends for the sentiment and for the gift, and assured them that he would renew all his friendships at Christmas time. The party dispersed after another interval of dancing.—Morrisburg Leader.

LATE MRS. ALEX McELHERN

The Thanksgiving Leaflet entitled "Thanksgiving Day," was read by Mrs. Fetterly. Hymn 15 was sung and the service was closed with a prayer led by Mrs. Lindsay.

A committee, including Misses Laura Dukelow, Ethel Annable and Mrs. A. Duncan, was appointed to take charge of the November meeting.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

LATE DAVID M. MONTGOMERY

Attended by a large company of relatives and friends, the funeral was held on Wednesday, Sept. 28, of David Munro Montgomery, aged resident of Gravel Hill, at his late home. The service was conducted by Rev. Donald Morrison, B. A., B. D., of Avonmore. Burial was made in the Gravel Hill cemetery.

TEMPERANCE RALLY IN SPENCERVILLE

At the final Temperance Rally held in the Town Hall, Spencerville, on Monday, October 3rd, preceding the Local Option Contest held in Edwardsburg Township yesterday, the speakers were Mrs. John D. Stewart, B. Sc., M. A., of Winchester, and Mr. J. F. Lewis, of Toronto, representing the Ontario Temperance Federation. A very large and keeply interested audience from all sections of Edwardsburg Township was in attendance. A fine musical programme was a feature of the evening.

Refreshments were served in the parlors of Spencerville United Church by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, under the leadership of the President, Mrs. Alexander. Those on the platform were the Rev. Mr. Horlan of Spencerville United church; Rev. Mr. Mackenzie of Spencerville Presbyterian church; Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Seaton, Mr. Elisha Adams, Mr. J. F. Lewis and the Rev. Mr. Seaton of Shanly United church.

The attention of the whole Province of Ontario was concentrated on this dry-wet battle held in Spencerville, the township seat for Edwardsburg, which was always dry until 1934 when the Liquor Control Board of Ontario granted authority to the Hotel at Spencerville to sell beer and wine. The temperance forces required 60 per cent. of the total number of votes registered on October 5th in order to discontinue the sale of beer and wine in the township. The results of the voting yesterday were 826 in favour of retaining the beverage room and 739 against.
