Kemptville Loses Business Block In A Disastrous Blaze

A very destructive fire occurred at Kemptville early on Sunday, when the Mundle and Percival store, better known as the "Commercial Centre," was to totally ruined. Only the brick and stone walls are standing. The extent of the loss is not yet definitely known but is very heavy.

The new post office building which has not been taken over from the contractors yet, and which is situated immediately south of the store, sustained between one and two thousand dollars damage.

From The Deep.

The following is taken from the Bridlington Free Press of Jan. 15th, 1915:

"Miss Agnes Jordan, Edencliffe, Marine drive Bridlington, has received a letter through the Canadian Post Office, which was posted to her on May 26th, 1914. Across the envelope are stamped the words, 'Recovered by divers from the wreck of s. s. Empress of Ireland.' The letter had been written in pencil at Chesterville, Ontario, and was easily decipherable."

The above letter was written by Mr. John Wardell of this place.

The Distinguished Musicians will appear in the Music Hall, on Saturday night, Feb. 13th, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of Trinity Methodist Church The musical treat of the season. General admission 35c. Children 25c.

Women's Institute "At Home."

On Friday evening, Feb. 3rd, this function, considered by many of our citizens as the chief social event of the year, took place in the Town Hall.

The members of the Institute and their guests assembled by nine o'clock to the capacity of the hall which was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. The tables were bright with red and white carnations, and the electric lights prettily shaded, which added much to the general appearance of the scene. The Vice-president, Mrs. Lawson, presided, and discharged the difficult position of chairman with her usual tact and grace. She gave a concise but comprehensive resume of the workings of the Institute from its inception to the present time, in well-chosen sentences, fully justifying the existence of the organization, not only for past achievements, but for present activities. She then called on Mrs. Howard, the recently arrived organist of Trinity Methodist Church, for a piano solo. Mrs. Howard is a specialist on pipe organ and a highly qualified teacher of the instrument, as well as of piano, and will be a distinct acquisition to our musical circles.

Miss Ricardi of Ottawa, was then called on for a song, and gave "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark" by Bishop. This composition gave Miss Ricardi ample scope to show what the human voice is capable of when properly trained. She delighted every lover of music with her artistic interpretation of this delightful song. During the evening Miss Ricardi sang three times, graciously responding each time to enthusiastic encores.

Chesterville is highly favored in having such an artiste giving instructions in vocal music in our Public School once a week and all parents should avail themselves of this opportunity of giving their children the advantage of this instruction at the very nominal cost of ten cents per lesson.

Miss Amy Beattie delighted all present with a violin solo and responded to a persistent encore. Miss Hazel Saucier accompanied her with piano.

A few others took part in the programme of the evening, after which the ladies served a dainty lunch, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The Women's Institute of Chesterville are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts in many directions, but in none more than in entertaining their guests. The various committees in charge of the arrangements must have been chosen with great discrimination for they certainly left nothing undone to make the affair a success.—Com.

Brakesman Killed.

Wm. Sandercook, a brakeman on the G. T. R., and residing at Brockville, was killed Saturday night at Coteau Junction by falling from his train. No person witnessed the accident, but it is supposed that he slipped on the top of a snowclad car and tumbled down under the wheels. Sandercook, who was upwards of 50 years of age, leaves a widow and two sons. The remains were brought to Brockville for interment.

Reports were current a few days ago that Grand Opera, the celebrated pacer, now owned by T. J. Daley, of Peterboro, has passed into the hands of Mr. T. N. Brownlee, of Ottawa. Last night Mr. Brownlee said that negotiations had been in progress, but added that the deal was finally off. Grand Opera still belongs to Mr. Daley, who will take him back to Peterboro and prepare him for the next summer's events on the Grand Circuit and Western tracks.

Truancy in Rural Schools.

Since September 1914 the Rural Teachers have been reporting to the Public School Inspector, at the end of each month, the names of all pupils of ages 8 to 14 who have been absent from school more than two days in the month. If the reason for absence is considered insufficient a letter is sent by the Inspector to the parent directing attention to the provisions of the Truancy Act and asking for an explanation of the pupil's absence.

To make this truancy measure more effective the Winchester Township Council has appointed Mr. J. W. Bogart of Morewood to act as Truant Officer for the Township. Where parents give no attention to the Inspector's letters, Mr. Bogart will take charge of the matter and enforce strictly the Truancy Act.

A Visit From Her Brother.

Mrs. S. W. Smith has been enjoying a short visit from her brother, Dr. Morton J. Keys.

Dr. Keys graduated from McGill in 1904 and, like most of our young men, immediately went West, where he has been quite successful. For the last year he has been taking special work in Europe, having studied in Vienna, Berlin and London. This enabled him to see conditions in the war zone at close range. Consequently his views and conclusions are very interesting.

Due to exigencies of the war he was for a time House Surgeon in Royal Westminster Hospital, London, Eng., which is now devoted to the care of wounded soldiers.

The doctor left Montreal this week for the West again.

Miss Lizzie Barry Dead

The remains were brought home on Monday evening, the funeral taking place on Wednesday morning to St Daniel's R. C. church, the service being conducted by Rev. Father Keeley the remains being interred in the church cemetery.

Deceased leaves to mourn her loss a loving mother, two brothers and four sisters, viz: Ben, Harry, Annie, Margaret, Mary and Maud.

The Herald extends its sincere sympathy to the bereaved in their sorrow.—Mountain Herald.

After a careful study of local conditions the Village Council has decided to take up the inside wiring and installation work in the Village of Chesterville. This, it is hoped, will be to the best interests of the village and consumers.

All material will be purchased through the purchasing department of the H. E. P. C., thus assuring the use of only such material as has been approved by the Board of Underwriters.

All work will be executed according to the plans and under the supervision of the superintendent and in strict compliance with the rules of the H. E. P. C. The charges will be as near actual cost as practicable and still protect the municipality against loss.

As the supervision of this work is being taken up by the superintendent of the Northern Branch of Eastern Lines along with his other duties throughout the district, it is not possible to fix more than two days of each week for him to be in Chesterville, but his services will be available upon shortest notice at any time.

Tonsilitis, Sore Throat, Chest Colds, Can Be Cured Over Night

They Vanish Quickly if Nerviline is Well Rubbed in.

When the throat tickles, when it hurts to draw a long breath, when you feel as if a knife were stuck in your side, it's to draw out the congestion that will soon become pneumonia.

An ordinary cough syrup has no chance at all—you require a powerful penetrating liniment.

Nothing is known that possesses more merit in such a case than Nerviline.

Rub it liberally over the sides and chest—rub it in hard.

The warm, soothing effect of Nerviline will be apparent in five minutes.

Nothing like it for quick relief—takes soreness out of the throat in one rubbing—breaks up the chest cold, draws out the inflammation, stops the cough quickly.

Rub it on for rheumatism—it destroys the pain—drives it right away, Try it for stiff muscles—it works miracles in just such cases.

Give Nerviline a chance on your neuralgia, prove it out for lumbago, see what it can do for sciatica.

No pain-reliving remedy compares in power to cure with Nerviline. Largest sale in Canada of any liniment for nearly forty years. The reason is plain. It satifies every time.

The large 50 cent family size bottle is more economical than the 25 cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Morrisburg Obtains Judgment For Forfeiture Of Sharkey Lease

Before Falconbridge, C. J.

Village of Morrisburg v. Sharkey—W. B. Lawson, K. C., for plaintiff, I. Hilliard, K. C., for defendant. Action for declaration that defendant, etc, have committed a breach of his convenants to pay rent, taxes and debenture of village, etc., in respect of power plant.

Judgment: (1) "I find that defendant and his assigns have neglected and refused to furnish the security required under the agreement. (2) I find that defendant Sharkey was not entitled to assign or sublet the power plant and Government lease of water power with the premises, etc., to the Rapid Power Company, and that, by reason of his assignment to them, defendant Sharkey has foreited his rights under plaintiff's by-law 554, and lease or agreement made pursuant thereto. (3) Judgement for plaintiff for possession of water power plant and premises, etc. (4) Plaintiff to have costs of action. The counterclaim succeeds only as to the paragraph 17a mentioned, and there will be no costs of counter-claim. I allow defendant to amend by adding paragraph 17a to his statement of defence. All the accounts between plaintiff and defendants for rent and otherwise will have to be the subject of a reference to the Master at Cornwall. I give plaintiff leave to amend, if so advised, by claiming alternatively for damages instead of rent. Further directions and subsequent costs reserved. Fifteen days stay."

The above judgment apparently means that the town will get back the power plant, and the government lease and the costs of their suit and will have accounts taken before Judge O'Reilly, Local Master of the High Court, to see how much money is due to the town. It is not clear from the above whether the judgment for whatever money is due will be against Sharkey or the Rapids Power Company but even if the judgment should be against Sharkey alone the Rapids Power Company will no doubt be bound by it, for they entered into an agreement with Sharkey by which they undertook to fulfill all the obligations which Sharkey himself had undertaken to fulfill under by-law 354.

This judgment should be highly satisfactory to the citizens of Morrisburg as it also apparently has the effect of destroying By-law 354 and turning back to the voters the control of the power plant.

TO THE TEA TRADE OF CANADA

The year 1914 has passed, and during it we have sold the largest quantity of "SALADA" that we have in any year since it was first introduced to the public in 1892.

We have prepared a chart (printed below), which shows at a glance the vast business that has been built up on "QUALITY FOREMOST." In drawing your attention to this, we respectfully ask you to specially note the record of 1914. Notwithstanding great obstacles, our output last year was above the previous year's record—and this in spite of the raise in price, and the fact that part of the time we were without stock, and therefore unable to fill orders. The difficulties of the tea trade in 1914 were so unique that a brief survey of the facts may prove interesting.

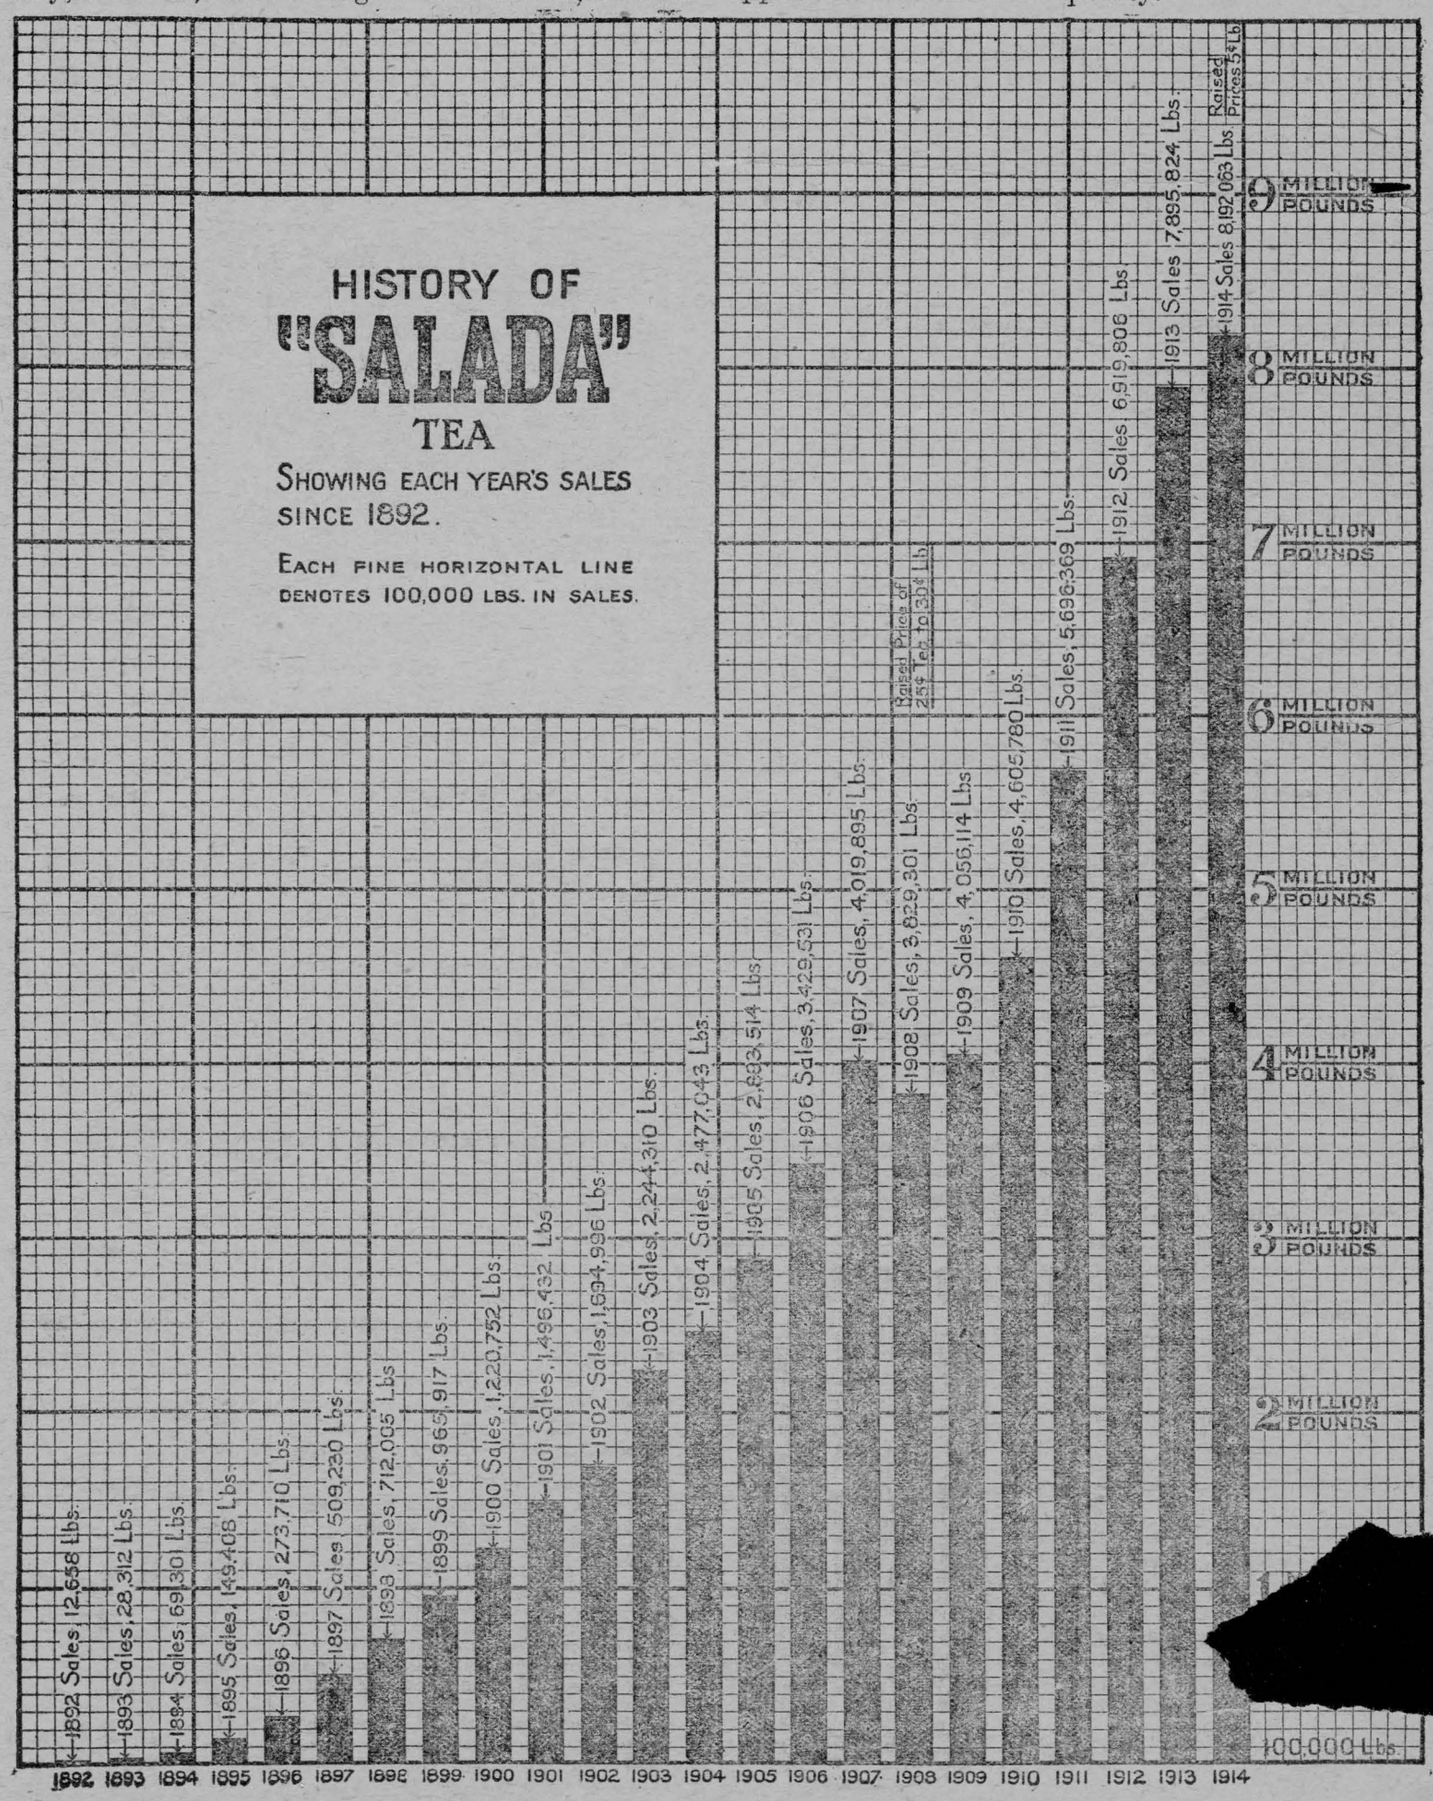

When the year was little more than half spent war broke out in Europe. Our first misfortune was the seizure at Gibraltar of the German steamship "Schneefels," which sailed from Colombo at the end of July with a large consignment of tea for us. Our next blow was the imposition of an embargo on tea in Great Britain, which prevented all tea from leaving that country. At that time we had in London 9,600 chests, bought at auction, paid for and ready to ship, and we could neither get our tea nor our money. A few days later word was received of the sinking of the steamships "Diplomat" and "City of Winchester" by the German cruiser "Emden." These two steamers had nine million pounds of tea on board. As a result, further sailings from Ceylon and India were prohibited by the Admiralty.

Under these circumstances Canada would have been without tea in less than two months. Fortunately, later on, the embargo was removed, and we were able to get our stock in London, and after five weeks, the Emden having left the Bay of Bengal, the Admiralty permitted the resumption of sailings from India and Ceylon. Thus we were relieved of our most apparent difficulties.

However, in the trade, it is a well-known fact that Canadians have been served for years with a quality of tea at prices unequalled in the world, and the wholesale tea business in Canada has proved disastrous to many and unprofitable to all. During the past five years the market has been working steadily upwards, until just before the war we had to pay the highest prices in twenty-five years. Having in addition, extra freights, war risks and still higher prices for our quality, we had only three options—lower our quality, go out of business or advance prices. We chose the latter. In spite of this, and our inability at times, to fill orders through shortness of stock, you will note by the chart that our increase in sales in 1914 over 1913 was 296,239 pounds, an increase in consumption of more than 1,000 pounds for every working day of the year.

Last year there was imported into the Dominion 37 million pounds of all kinds of tea. We sold in "SALADA" packets nearly one-quarter of this total, viz., 8,192,063 pounds.

We look forward to a still larger trade this year, and solicit your valued co-operation in our mutual interests. We readily acknowledge that other teas show you a greater profit than SALADA, but you must admit that no other tea gives anything like the satisfaction to your customers. We are giving a character of tea the consumer cannot get elsewhere than in "SALADA" packets, and the twenty-three years it has been on sale proves that consumers appreciate "SALADA" quality.

ANOTHER RECORD

The sales of "SALADA" for the first fortnight of 1915 have been greater than the sales for any previous fortnight in our 23 years' history.

Should Newspapers Print Govt. Advertising D. H. ?

(Journal of Commerce.)

If one is to judge from the amount of literature sent out by the Government for publication free of charge, a natural conclusion would be that the papers of the country were philanthropic institutions. The Government seems to labor under the impression that the press of the country should publish any and everything which they may send along, forgetting that newspaper space costs money, and readers are only interested to a very small extent in Government reports and publications.

It would be just as reasonable for the Government to ask the banks to make their returns and collect for the Government free of charge, as it is for them to ask the newspapers to publish whatever they send out free of charge. The banks and other parties who do busines with the government take good care to charge for any services rendered, and the press of the country should act in exactly the same way. There is not a single good newspaper in the country but what has to leave out every day a great deal of interesting matter, and why they should do this and fill their paper with Government departmemtal "dope" passes comprehension.

Concerted action should be taken by the Canadian Press Association, and an agreement reached by which all papers should refuse to publish Government pamphlets and reports The newspapers of the country are just as loyal and probably more anxious than are the Government officials to assist in the betterment of social and economic conditions. Under even the most favorable circumstances they give a great deal of valuable space to the activities carried on by the various departments of the Government. There are limits, however, to what a paper can do and the proper and just thing would be for the Government to put their departmental business upon an advertising basis, and pay for it just the same as a departmental store, a bank or a trust company pays for its advertising. It can be argued by a bank or departmental store that the business they transact has to do with the welfare of the people, and they have just much reason to make an appeal to the press as have the Government. The papers of the country are not philanthropic institutions, but exist primarily as business propositions. The sooner the Government treats them as such the better it will be for all the parties concerned.

Claims That Are Justified

(Brockville Recorder.)

About a year ago, the treasurer of the General Hospital sent a bill to the towuship of Elizabeth for the maintenance of several months of an indigent patient from that township. The council failed to provide the amount claimed, the members of the council disputing the municipality's liability, thinking they did not have to pay the amount. As a test case the matter was brought before His Honor Judge Reynolds. After carefully considering the case judgement was rendered in favor of the Hospital for the full amount together with all costs.

There are still a number of such [cl]ims on the books of the [H]ospital on a recent visit by [Mr.] Smith, Provincial [Inspector]s and Public [Health] that these [claims] collected as the [Hospitals] entitled to the [amounts] and similar claims are being promptly honored in all of the Hospitals over which he has jurisdiction.

Bank Attaches The Prize Money

Whose is the $200 prize that Golden Rex won for his owner in a classified race at the Hull Driving club meet last week? The horse is said to have been entered by Mr. Thomas H. Brownlee, but Mr. Brownlee says the horse belongs to his wife. The Bank of Ottawa is trying to get the prize money as part payment of a judgment of $1,172, the bank obtained against Mr. Brownlee last October, but Mr. Brownlee claims the prize money is not attachable.

James Wright, secretary of the driving club, Mr. A. C. Hill, representing the Bank of Ottawa, and Mr. G. D. Kelley, representing Mr. Brownlee. appeared before Judge Gunn this morning to put the facts before him, but the judge would'nt render no decision until more information was obtained.

"I have not the slightest knowledge of the rules and practice of the driving club," admitted the judge. If it is that the rules say that the man who enters the horse is to get the prize money, what is to be done when, before the handling over of the money, somebody else comes along and claims to be the owner of the horse?

"We must have Mrs. Brownlee's evidence. I will adjourn the hearing in order that this may be obtained."

Mr. Wright said that he remembered seeing Golden Rex entered at previous race meetings of the Hull Driving Club. It was entered then by "Brownlee and Co." Mr. Brownlee said he sometimes entered the horse as the property of the Electric Transfer Company. Mr. Brownlee failed in business about five years ago, and he has since carried on business under a power of attorney from his wife.

Mr. Kelley, counsel for Mr. Brownlee, said he saw in the case an attempt to introduce the thin edge of a wedge, and to run Mrs. Brownlee into heavy liabilities.

"We'll wait, and get more information," said his honor. "There's no hurry. The race isn't always to the swift."

Old-Fashioned Highland Wedding.

The highland traditions as to weddings and hospitality were thoroughly maintained on Monday, when Robert J. Barker of Avonmore was united for life to Miss Mary Loretta Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cameron, South Branch.

The young couple met at St. Andrews church St. Andrews, at 9 a. m., where the nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. McRae, in the presence of quite a few friends. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Susie McDonald of the Glen, and Miss May McDonald, Ninth Concession, Cornwall, while Duncan Chisholm and Samuel Cameron, the bride's brother, supported the groom.

The service over, the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's parent's, where upwards of 200 guests from far and near assembled. The house was beautifully decorated, as was also the spacious ball room, and so large was the house that there was plenty of room room for everybody. A sumptuous breakfast was served, and dancing began soon after to the music supplied by the veteran artist, George McDougall, assisted by Ronald McDonald of Martintown, Mr. Chisholm, Mr. Delaney and not a few volunteers.

A feature of the celebration much enjoyed not only by the participants, but the onlookers, was a real old Scotch reel danced by a number of ladies, who would confess to 70 years, but acted more like 17. This provoked hearty applause and many reminiscences.

Dancing was continued almost incessantly with intervals for refreshments; highland songs were sung and stories told ti l an ear y hour in the morning, when Mr. and Mrs. Barker were escorted to Cornwall, where they took the morning express for Montreal and other eastern points, bearing with them heaps of good wishes.

The groom's gift to the bride a gold wrist watch and to the bridesmaids gold neck chains with cross pendants. To the groomsmen the groom gave gold cuff links.

On their return from their honeymoon on Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Barker were given a reception at Mr. Barker's former home in Avonmore. They will reside in Prescott.

When Costomers Wear Out Your Door Hinge

Do you figure it as expense or profit?

Wouldn't you be glad to buy a new hinge every day?

When you put money into properly prepared newspaper advertising you are adding to the strain on the door hinge.

But you are also increasing your business. Your sales total amounts up.

Your net income increases because the percentage of fixed charges like rent are reduced.

Newspaper advertising benefits both storekeeper and customer because it makes for increased efficiency in distribution.

Red Cross Tea.

There has been no more enjoyable social affair in town this winter than was the Red Cross tea which was held in the Town Hall on Wednesday afternoon, the hostesses of the occasion were Miss Shirkey, the Misses Saucier, Miss Beattie, Miss McGee and Miss Thompson, and right graciously did they discharge their duties. The hall, which lends itself well to decoration, was gay with crimson bunting. The lights were prettily shaded in the same color, chairs were cosily grouped, and growing flowers, the fragrant hyacinthe and gay daffodil added greatly to the beauty of the scene. The tea-table very inviting with its dainty china and crimson candles, was presided over by Mrs. D. Allison and Mrs. Houlehan, and the serving was deftly and quickly done, boy scouts assisting with great readiness.

A continuous musical programme was furnished by the young ladies. Vocal numbers were contributed by Miss McCorkindale and Miss Violet Saucier, a violin solo by Mr. Ernest McMillan, and piano selections by Misses Hazel Saucier and Arlie Durant, little Eileen Flynn, Ruth Simser and Evelyn Merkley.

There was a very gratifying attendance, gentlemen being very much in evidence. The young ladies are greatly pleased with this effort to aid in the noble Red Cross work, and feel that it was a success in every way. The sum of $18.75 was netted. Another of these very enjoyable affairs will be given by Mrs. Parnham Allison and Mrs. Creighton Johnston at the home of the latter on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 16th.

Mr. Henderson, Mr. McCloskey, Mr. Powell, Mr. McAvoy and Mr. W. H. Casselman have very generously offered to convey all who wish to go. These teams will leave the postoffice promptly at 2 o'clock.

A HUMANE TRAP.

Canadian Woodman Has Invented a Device to Prevent Suffering.

North of Sioux Look-Out about 200 miles, which is to say in the district of Patricia, formerly called Keewatin, Land of the North Wind, lives Mr. Allen McMullen, some time of the Peace, Athabasca, and Mackenzie River country, originally of British Columbia, and, during the gold excitement an active Klondyker.

Mr. McMullen has been trapping and prospecting in the far Northwest all his life, that is since at the age of fifteen he joined forces with his father in the Rocky Mountains of B.C. He came down into the James Bay country a few years ago, and finding that there were few white men in the region of Patricia, he settled down there for a while, with two or three pals of his. Allen McMullen has done what nobody else in all the years that trapping has been a feature of industry in this country has had the heart or the brains to do. He has invented a humane trap, a trap that catches the little furry animal and kills it instantly. It has been endorsed by the Humane Society.

For centuries men in the pursuit of fur have considered it quite legitimate to snare, or dead fall, or spring trap, irrespective of the fiendish cruelty involved. Animals are caught without compunction or protest in any convenient manner, so long as the method employed does not injure the fur. The common spring trap catches the animal by the leg and breaks it. Then the little animal must bear the pain for days until the trapper returns, or must die slowly of pain and cold.

Mr. McMullen has thought of these things in the course of his thirty years of trapping. He has seen animal suffering enough in that time, God knows. At any rate he has thought out a humane trap. The idea is a combination of the old-fashioned snare noose and a strong steel spring. A little box is used instead of the little Indian house of driven stakes. In the box is a hole about the size of a mink's body, and the bait is hung on a hook inside the box, at the back. The hook is a hair trigger, releasing the spring at the slightest touch. The spring draws up the noose of fine wire cable, which hangs around the edge of the circular doorway, and does so with such strength and force that the little animal's neck is broken instantaneously.

"My trap is rabbit-proof," said Mr. McMullen. "No rabbit is going into a place like that to eat fish and meat. A rabbit don't live on that kind of food. The trap is safe from the Whiskey Jack, too. No Whiskey Jack can get his head in far enough to set it off. Every trapper in the North knows what a cursed nuisance the Whiskey Jack is. He sets off about one trap out of every four. He goes pecking at the bait, and if he don't get caught himself, with his interfering with what don't concern him, he spoils the trap for any fur that might have got caught if he had let it alone. The fur is not injured by this trap. And an animal can't escape by eating his foot off, like they do sometimes in the steel traps."

Mr. McMullen is a big, fine-looking Scotch-Canadian bushman, with long, dark, wavy hair. He speaks English, Ojibway, Cree, and Siwash. He has lived so much with the Indians that he talks like them in short, jerky, low-voiced sentences, often without bothering to use the articles, auxiliary verbs, and other unessential parts of speech. This is not because he does not know how, for he has a wider knowledge and education than many a man who has spent all his life within reach of schools, libraries, and newspapers. It's because he thinks by short-cuts, and talks the same way. To the bush wise, much talk is foolishness, and a grunt expresses a whole lot to those with understanding.

Increase In Lesser Crimes.

An increase of petty crimes is noted in the annual report of Provincial Police Inspector Rogers, which appeared recently. In all 1,599 cases were handled, and this shows an increase of 343 on the previous record. Convictions were secured in 1,172 cases, the percentage being slightly greater than before. Fines came from 754 people, 244 went to prison, and 174 were released on suspended sentence. Total fines imposed amounted to $54,571, as compared with $17,-109.50 of last year, but much of this is uncollected pending a Privy Council judgment on the Hudson Bay Co. in the matter of selling furs.

The Liquor License Department was assisted by the arrest of 232 persons. Two hundred were fined and 32 imprisoned. Large seizures of liquor were made.

Under game and fishery regulations, 147 persons were prosecuted and 120 convictions were made. Considerable trouble was experienced during the year with vagrants at the border line and many of them were deported.

Home Use of Pulp.

Sixty-four pulp mills in Canada report a total consumption, in 1913, of 1,109,034 cords of pulpwood. Nearly an equal amount was exported to the United States in an unmanufactured condition. Thus, for the first time in the history of the industry, more than half of the pulpwood produced in Canada was manufactured into pulp in Canadian pulp-mills.

Quebec leads in the consumption of pulpwood, followed, in the order named, by Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. As the pulp industry on the Pacific coast is still in its infancy, steady increase in British Columbia may be expected. Over two-thirds of the wood used for pulp was spruce, and one-fourth balsam fir. The percentage of fir used has increased steadily, as the prejudice against this wood has been overcome. Jack-pine is also beginning to be a factor, though still a small one, less than 20,000 cords being reported as manufactured in 1913.

Saw Him.

Ebenezer Holcombe had a 1,200 pound hog which he had exhibited in a tent at the fairs for three years, charging 10 cents admission.

One day a traveling man who was passing through the town in which Mr. Holcombe lived called at the house and asked if he might see the hog of which he had heard so much. Ebenezer proudly led the way to the hog house, but at the door he turned. "Cost you 10 cents," he drawled.

The visitor took a dime from his pocket, passed it to the farmer and turned back.

"Why, you ain't seen the prize hog!" called Ebenezer.

"Yes, I have," retorted the traveling man. "I've seen him," and continued his walk back to the country store.

Reply to German Savants.

British men of science and professors in all branches of learning at the universities have combined to frame a reply to the German professors who recently denounced Great Britain as the instigator of war.

Among the more striking passages are the following:

"One point we freely admit. Germany very likely would have preferred not to fight Great Britain at this moment. She would have preferred to weaken and humiliate Russia, to make Servia a dependent of Austria, to render France innocuous, and Belgium subservient, and then, having established an overwhelming advantage, to settle accounts with Great Britain. Her grievance against us is that we did not allow her to do this."

No Danger.

The Lady—I'd buy you a nice pearl handled knife for your birthday, but I'm superstitious. I'm afraid it would cut our friendship.

The Man—Cheer up! No knife a woman buys could ever cut anything.

IMPERIALIST KNIGHTED.

Sir Clive Phillips-Wolley Is a Big Empire Man.

The knighthood bestowed upon Capt. Clive Phillips-Wolley, of Victoria, B.C., is a reward of articulate and active Imperialism. Sir Clive was born in England in 1854. For some years he was British consul at Kertch. Afterwards he practiced law in London, moving to Victoria when he retired from practice. He belongs to a very old Shropshire family, the Wolleys of Woodhall, whose name and arms he assumed on succeeding to their estates thirty years ago, his own name being Phillips. He was at one time a captain in the 4th battalion S.W.B., and he married in 1879 a daughter of Rear-Admiral Fenwick.

Before moving to Canada Sir Clive did a great deal of big-game hunting all over the world, and the late R. D. Blackmore, author of "Lorna Doone," thought his book, "Sport in the Crimea and Caucasus," the only living picture of life in those romantic lands. His "Big Game," in two volumes, in the Badminton Library, also form one of the sportsmen's classics.

As a sportsman Sir Clive has done more than anyone else to make British Columbia known as a big-game paradise, and he has been very active in public affairs in the coast province. For example, he was appointed in 1896 to enforce the Health Act in the mining districts of British Columbia, and succeeded conspicuously in this arduous undertaking.

Sir Clive Phillips-Wolley ranks high among Canadian authors. He has written a great deal of stirring patriotic poetry, and his ballad of England's sea power, "The Sea Queen," is often referred to as a fine expression in verse of imperialistic sentiment. In his three novels, "Snap," "Gold, Gold in Cariboo," and "The Remittance Man," he has given us excellent pictures of the making of the far Canadian West. He has been a very strong advocate of Canadian support for the British navy, and his addresses on "The Canadian Naval Question" were published in book form in 1911 at his own expense. His arguments were summed up as follows in one of these addresses: "The supremacy of the seas is vital to Britain; the continued existence of Britain is vital to her daughter nations; therefore Britain's supremacy at sea is vital to Canada."

Sir Clive Phillips-Wolley has also been very active in the affairs of the Canadian Navy Leagues. He was recently appointed by the Dominion Government a censor and special Government officer on the Pacific coast. His son was naval commander of the Hogue, one of the British cruisers torpedoed in the North Sea last September by a German submarine.
