Business Change

During the past week Mr. W. O. Dixon, furniture dealer and undertaker, is reported to have sold his property and business in Chesterville to Mr. R. S. Johnston, who will shortly take it over. Mr. Dixon is not leaving town as he has purchased from Miss Edith Allison her residence on the west side of King street.

Parking Area Secured

So much have our streets become conjested on Saturday evenings with autos left standing almost any old place, blocking the ordinary traffic, that arrangements have been made to secure the corner lot opposite Trinity Methodist Church for the purpose of parking cars. Hereafter don't leave your car on the street or it may get you into trouble.

Public Library

All persons having books in their home belonging to the Chesterville Public Library are requested to return them. The management of the Library has been given to the Women's Institute, new books are being added and it is expected the Library will be reopened in a short time. Having had to vacate the premises formerly occupied the books have been placed in the Town Hall, until permanent quarters can be secured. Books may be left with the Secretary or President of the Women's Institute.

Farmer Dropped Dead While at Work

Calvin Merkley, aged 60, a highly respected farmer of Nation Valley, passed away suddenly Monday afternoon while at work in the fields. Attention was drawn by the fact that his team had not moved for some time, when a boy was sent to investigate, finding him dead where he had dropped. During the forenoon he had been in Chesterville on business apparently in his usual health. Mrs. Merkley passed away several months ago two daughters being the only members of the family surviving.

Big Day Planned

A big day is being planned by the Nestles Food Company for the patrons of the Maple Leaf Condensed Milk Co., to take place in Chesterville or some other central point, if desired by the patrons, at some date in July, when a monster picnic will be given by the company with many special features which will be appreciated by both young and old. As there will be games, athletic sports, horse races and bands arranged for the event will likely be held on the Driving Park, when as many features as a three-ring circus can be carried on at one time. It is understood that the whole thing is to be entirely complimentary.

Nation River Will be Stocked With Pickerel

The Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries this week notified W. H. Casselman, M. L. A. that the Department will plant 25,000 pickerel fry in the waters of the Nation this season. This pleasing announcement in the direct result of a little effort by the Chesterville Fishing Club the leading spirit of which is Mr. Leo Kearns and who conceived the idea of re-stocking the waters of the Nation in that portion of the river in Dundas and West Stormont. His efforts were ably seconded by Mr. W. H. Casselman with the above result. The placing of fry in the river does not necessarily mean that henceforth there will be good fishing hereabouts. To reaeh that desired end each dweller along the river should take it upon himself to see that no illegal means are used in taking fish out before they become large enough to be of some use, and also to report any attempts at illegal fishing. The placing of 25,000 fry this year is expected to be only the start of this work which will be continued from year to year until the natural increase is sufficient to take care of itself.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Your Child's Future

WHAT ?

Educational endowment policies. The main object of these policies is to provide a fund for the Education of children on arriving at adult ages.

The usual form of children's Endowment has been found to possess one great disadvantage, namely, that in the event of the parent, or it is often impossible to continne the payment of premiums, and the policy is thus allowed to lapse.

The present plan completely overcomes this objectlon by providing that in the event of the death of the parent or guardian before the policy matures, no further premiums will be required, but the policy will become automatically paid up, and the sum assured will nevertheless be payable in full if the child survives the Endowment term.

Should the child die during the Endowment period, all premiums will be returned.

Further particulars will be furnished on request. Mail a card to-day.

Dodge Bros.' Motor Cars

Touring and Roadster $2050 F.O.B. Brockville

As long as they build motor cars they will be the best motor cars Dodge Brothers can build.

As long as the name is attached to their motor car, Dodge Brothers may be depended upon to safeguard and protect it.

The name has come to suggest integrity—integrity in the car, and integrity in manufacturing and business methods of the men who buiid it.

The first thought that follows, wherever it is seen, is the thought of a car that is reliable.

They call up a picture of a particular kind of a motor car.

Or, to be exact, a particular kind of motor car workmanship, which people have come to associate with the name Dodge Brothers.

It has grown because the users of these cars have given Dodge Brothers a good name as careful, conscientious manufacturers.

The result is that wherever these two words—Dodge Brothers—are seen, they stand as a symbol of exceptional motor car value.

Another Week Before Legislature Finishes Business

Hopes of bringing the session to a close this week, voiced some days ago by members of the Cabinet, seem doomed to disappointment and the best that can now be looked for is a wind-up a fortnight hence. Nor is it likely that morning sessions will be resorted to. The various committes of the House have received authority to sit while the House is in session, but this procedure, while not open to serious objection where the committee is a small one with but one or two meetings to hold, has decided disadvantages when applied to big committees like those on Private Bills and Municipal Law, both of which have numerous bills to dispose of. The Public Accounts Committee is also coming to life again, several meetings being promised this week. An effort will be made, however, to dispose of commitee work this week in order to have everything clear for driving through remaining business in the House. But even by getting through by the 21st the House will have chalked against it probably the longest session on record.

Passenger Trains Collide at Siding

Two C.P.R. passenger trains, Montreal to Toronto and Toronto to Montreal expresses, respectively, collided head-on shortly before four o'clock Saturday afternoon at a siding three and a half miles east of Cobourg. Fortunately both were travelling slowly at the time, as the siding where the accident happened is the place where the two trains customarily pass. It is surmised that the mishap was due to the failure of the air-brakes on one of the expresses. Two or three passengers received slight cuts, while all were more or less shaken up. All were able to continue on their journeys, however. There was no serious damage to the rolling stock, although damage to the roadbed tied up the line until evening. Neither of the locomotives nor any of the cars left the rails.

The strength which developed in the market for cheese a week ago has been more pronounced since and prices at the boards throughout the last week scored further good advances, which is attributed to the continued keen competition between exporters for the offering on account of the fact that they opened orders from British importers to complete. The record prices paid so far this season and in fact in the history of the trade were 33⅛c and 33 7-16c per lb. f. o. b. A Revolution That Didn't Come Off

(Toronto Saturday Night)

May day failed to develop any very serious disturbances in Canada or any other land. We had in this country a few strikes (in some instances involving breach of faith) and a number of street parades, but labor did not rise and wipe out the capitalistic system as the international anarchist group had hoped.

That anarchists were at work right here in Canada to promote the "Social Revolution" by means of a general strike accompanied by violence SATURDAY NIGHT has proof in Vol. 1, No. 1, of a sheet named "The Awakener," which was distributed in labor circles in this and other cities during the last week of April. It announces that it is "Issued unperiodically by the Anarchist Groups of Canada," and has two mottoes, "The Destructive Spirit is the Creative Spirit," and "From each according to his ability; to each according to his needs." But it is clear that destruction preceeds the latter millennial condition in the anarchist plan.

To the general reader the most interesting portion of "The Awakener's" contents is an article which explains why May Day is the alloted festival of labor troubles. This has been an obscure point to many readers and the dictionaries trace the origin of its riotous significance to May laws adopted by the Russian Government in 1882 for the oppression of the Jews.

The custom of rioting on May Day spread from Russia to Germany, and "The Awakener" tells us that it first became established as day of revolt for the wage-earner (or wage slave, to use the jargon of the cult) by the International Anarchist group in 1886, seeking to operate through the then powerful militant organization known as the Knights of Labor. From the United States the idea of making the first of May a day of anarchist revolt spread throughout the world The charge is made by "The Awakener" that the movement was strangled within the ranks of labor by moderate socialists and trades union leaders who pinned their faith to constitutional methods. The plea the workers of Canada failed to heed last week was for the renewal of the true anarchistic significance of May Day.

"Begin by refusing to listen to or obey your officials or leaders' orders. Start again the old spirit of the First of May, as it used to be. A day of fear to our rulers and exploiters, and a day of hope and revolution to us workers.

"Instead of participating in elections, start general strikes, uprisings and revolutions."

The scope of the proposed revolution was fairly wide as indicated by the following sentences printed in black type:

"Capitalism and business stand for the workers' exploitation. Governments, church and press help to unfold and continue its existence.

"We are out to destroy them all."

The rewards that were to follow revolt were indicated by the statement:

"If we wish it, we can get busy at once and begin on this First of May. With our own might we can break open every jail door, take possession of every factory, farm, mine, warehouse and store in the country, for they and all the riches they contain belong to us workers, who have produced them."

For the most part these appeals fell on deaf ears. Canadian labor did not rise, but it is just as well that everyone should know that the anarchist propaganda once entirely unknown in Canada, is now established on our soil, with its definite programme of a May Day revolution, if not this year, then in some ensuing year.

The Murphy is Now King

Murphy is king! Who would ever have thought that the lowly potato would ever reach a pre-eminence where they would be reckoned at so much each? Even in the State of Maine, the home of the famous Aroostook potato, they are being sold at approximately three cents each, while by the time these tubers get to Boston, with the freight and handling profits added they will sell at four or five cents each.

One of the alarming features of the situation is that owners of potatoes are selling out lock, stock and barrel, and there is danger that not sufficient will survive to provide the necessary seed for this year's crop.

It is the old story of under-production all over again. We may holler "profiteer" until we are black in the face, but that is not going to bring up cheap potatoes. Taken as a whole last year's potato crop on this continent was a partial failure, and the weather last winter also conspired against the tuber to the extent of ruining a good part of the Florida winter crop through frosts. Canadian newspapers are trying to start something of a sensation by calling attention to the number of cars of potatoes that are leaving this country for the United States. Of course they are, as the American, being even more careless with his money than are we, is willing to pay more than the Canadian market price.

Overland

A Triumph for Canadian Industry

WHETHER the road is rough or smooth matters little to the owner of the new Overland.

Protected by Triplex Springs, he goes ahead with the assurance that all ordinary road bumps will be smoothed from his path.

He is no longer chained to the pavement by the fear of jolts from rough roads.

Owners find the new Overland easy to handle and unusually economical because of its light weight and 100-inch wheelbase.

The ability to cling to the road and ride with the ease of a heavy car of long wheelbase is also preserved by its 130-inch Springbase.

Made in one of the largest automobile factories in Canada, this new Overland represents a triumph for Canadian manufacture.

Presentation and Address at North Winchester

To Miss Addie Gardiner:

On the eve of your departure from this community, in which you were born and spent your life, we, a few of your well wishers, have thought it fitting to pay you a friendly visit and to express to you our thought concerning yourself and our regrets that you are not to remain longer with us. From your childhood your life has been fashioned after the ideals of a Christian home and the teaching of Christian parents. You have set an example worthy of imitation and that has no doubt been an inspiration to others. Quietly industrious you have attended to home duties with faithfulness and you have been discreet in your associations, wise and considerate in your conversation and consistent in your whole life and we have greatly admired your loving care of your parents until they entered into their rest and you have been regularly, as circumstances would permit in the house of prayer and we shall miss you very much when you have found a home elsewhere, but shall not forget you. As a slight token of our high regard, which you will value not for its intrinsic worth, but because of the esteem for you which prompted the giving, we ask you to accept of this purse and we unanimously hope that flowers may bestrew your pathway and the birds sing sweetly by the wayside until life's journey ends.

Signed on behalf of the Morewood and North Winchester community.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

May 16 - I Samuel 7:2-12

Golden Text—Prepare your hearts unto the Lord and serve Him only. 1 Sam. 7:3

Topic;—Victory through prayer.

This lesson suggests in a most striking manner conditions which existed during the great war. Admiral Beatty's message to Great Britain that the nation could not win until the hearts of the people turned to God was perhaps an unconscious repetition of the charge of Samuel to the Israelites: "If ye do return unto the Lord with all your hearts and serve Him only He will deliver you out of the hand of the Philistines".

In one case the message was from a prophet, in the other from a sailor, the Commander of the Grand Fleet, but in each case it was prompted by the same firm conviction that God's mercy and favor depended upon the nation's attitude toward Jehovah. God's blessings are ever ready like the rays of the sun to fall upon those who turn towards Him. There is no limit to His power to bless; it is we who set the limitation by refusing to surrender wholly to Him. Is not this the secret of the failure of so many Christians to reflect His glory? We surrender only a part of our being, perhaps the intellect or the emotions but God wants all our being, "all the heart, mind, soul and strength", "Not all His ocean of love, can enter a closed reservoir".

With such wonderful promises as that contained in James 1:5, and so many evidences of answered prayer as we find in the Holy Scripture, in the pages of history, and in the lives of many missionaries and other Christians, and with our own experience added to these how strange that we do not ask greater blessings! Our prayers are restricted by our faith. For this reason the prayer most often upon our lips and in our hearts should be.

"Increase our faith, Almighty Lord!
For Thou alone canst give
The faith that takes Thee at Thy word
The faith by which we live.

"Increase our faith, that we may claim
Each starry promise sure;
And always triumph in Thy name,
And to the end endure.

"Increase our faith, that never dim
On faltering it may be;
Crowned with the perfect peace of him
Whose mind is stayed on Thee".

Hymn 432—Methodist Hymn Book.

We would sooner learn the value of prayer if we were careful, like the Israelites, to raise an "Eben-ezer" in memory of every deliverance, every answered prayer. These would not only remind us of past blessings but constantly assure us of future help and thus prayer would become "the Christian's vital breath, the Christian's native air."

Someone has said that when we look over our lives we can see that according to our faith so has it been unto us. Had we had greater faith and asked for more of His Spirit it would have been given. "The arrow of prayer that would hit the mark must be drawn with full strength. He that in prayer for grace will not be denied, shall not be denied".—Swinnock.

"O Thou by whom we come to God
The Life, the Truth, the Way,
The path of prayer Thyself hast trod,
Lord, teach us how to pray.

In His Name.

Shortage of Sugar Affects Condensed Milk Output

Many condensed milk factories in the United States have been forced to suspend operations owing to the shortage of sugar, though in some cases the sugar shortage is taken as an excuse for curtailing milk receipts, the real reason being a decided falling off of demand for this line of dairy products. The price of the manufactured article, remains high, and manufacturers are making every effort to keep the producers of the raw material in line so that they can increase production in the event of an increased demand.

Half of Britain's Cheese Supply Already Assured

The Food Controller in Great Britain states that he has 42,000 tons of cheese (equal to 1,133,494 boxes of 83 pounds) yet to arrive under old contracts. It is estimated that this quantity, together with stocks on hand, will enable a monthly distribution to traders of 50 per cent. of application until the end of next January.

HIGH STANDARD saves money now and next time.

It saves money "now" because a gallon covers more surface than a gallon of cheaper paint. You will need fewer gallons of HIGH STANDARD. It spreads easier enabling your painter to do a better job in less time.

It saves money "next time" because HIGH STANDARD is a long-wearing paint. You don't need to paint so often. And when after years of service it has gradually worn away, it leaves a good surface for repainting. This means saving of time and material.

Finds Pocketbook after Nearly a Year in Hay Mow

At the beginning of the haying season of 1919, Robert Hamilton, Philipsville, wishing to settle an account at the gate of his house, called to Mrs. Hamilton to bring him his pocketbook. When the transaction was completed Mr. Hamilton had some $80 in bills left. A day or so later he wished to use the money, but although hours were spent in search, the pocket-book could not be located It was finally mourned as lost. A few days ago, while he was lowering hay for his stock, the missing pocket-book came to light in the hay. Mice had been busy but all the bills were intact.

While Arnold Pitt, of Pittson, who runs an automobile repair shop, was vulcanizing a tire the machine in some manner blew up, setting the building on fire. A large drive shed in connection was also burned, together with an automobile, binder, mowing machine and other machinery which was in the building. Mr. Pitt also had a miraculous escape as part of his clothing was burned off. The house and barns close by were saved.

BIBLE SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday May 9th—1 Samuel 4:5-18

Golden Text;—The wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.—Rom. 6:23

Topic—Eli and his sons on The Harvest of Sin.

In the last lesson we read of a good son of a good father, in this one we read of bad sons of a good but weak father. Eli would have been incapable of the sins of greed, extortion, irreverence and lust which caused the downfall of his two sons, but having been warned of their wickedness "he restrained them not" and weakly allowed them to retain their positions as priests knowing them to be utterly unfit. The last warning from God was sent to Eli through the pure lips of the child Samuel which should have been extremely humiliating to the high priest but his age and partial blindness, added to his characteristic weakness in opposing wrong rendered him still incapable of dealing effectually with his wicked sons.

"When barren Hannah, prostrate on the floor,
In heat of zeal and passion did implore
Redress from Heaven, censorious Eli thought
She had been drunk and checked her for her fault;
Rough was his censure and his check austere.
Where mildness should be used, we're oft severe.

"But when his lustful sons, that could abuse
The House of God and ill God's offerings use,
Appeared before him, his indulgent tongue.
Compounded rather than rebuke the wrong
He dare not shoot for fear he wound his child
Where we should be severe we're oft too mild".

Francis Quarles.

In dealing with children parents and teachers require much of that wisdom and patience which only the Holy Spirit can supply. Love and mercy without a proper sense of justice is enervating.

This failing of Eli's, weakness in expostulating against wrong, is a common fault to-day, many parents see their children passing steadily to lower standards of living without protest. Possibly they shake their heads and say: "It was not so in our day" and weakly resign themselves to the standards set by the children instead of firmly but kindly insisting on the children accepting their staud and moving on to higher.

This passage also contains a warning against formality in worship. When the Israelites were being defeated by the Philistines they sent for the Ark of the Covenant, taking it into the battlefied and trusting in the symbol rather than in the actual presence and power of Jehovah. If we open our hearts to the Divine Presence He will abide with us, will be our strength and shield, and no good thing shall He withhold from them that walk uprightly.

Keeping Clean

A plainly dressed but neat old lady was sweeping the dust and litter from the sidewalk opposite her house to the kerb, so that the street cleaner would be sure to take it up. A gentleman passing by said to her, "I wish everyone in the city were as careful as you are, to try to keep the city clean." She answered smilingly, "The Lord made me clean inside when I was young, and I have ever since tried to keep everything about me clean."

It was a fine illustration of the old saw, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness"; and an illustration also of real social service, which at the roots of it, is an effort for the general welfare.

If all the men and women of a city or a community were of this sort, the problems of public cleanliness and public health and public morals would solve themselves.

And why not? This good Christian and good citizen was mereley putting into practice the second of the two Great Commandments, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Some fellows marry poor girls to settle down. Others marry rich girls to settle up.

Mothers' Day Gems

"Sweet sleep and pleasant dreams!" The words carry me back to the old home. The best of mothers long gone to her heavenly rest—is leading me up the stairway with a candle in her hand. She kneels beside me, and I am saying again "the bairnies' prayer", the prayer that many remember in its old Scotch version;

"When I lie doon this nitcht to sleep,
I gie my soul to Christ to keep;
I wake a noo, I wake a never,
I gie my soul to Christ forever".

The dear hands have tucked me in. The loving voice has said "good-night and pleasant dreams". Now she is gone and the candle has gone with her. It is dark and everybody knows how children are afraid of the dark: but this is the chamber called Peace, with its windows open toward the break of day.

Christian Herald.

In the Afterglow

Mother o'mine, in the afterglow
Of the mothering years, I love you so;
For loving me e'er life I knew,
When next your heart a new life grew;
Loving me on into fair childhood,
When I so little understood
The long, hard way we each must go,
Mother o'mine, I love you so.

Loving me too when life so sweet
Tempted my wayward, girlish feet
Away from paths of truth and right
To paths that lead to sin's dark night;
Winning me back with loving tone
To ways that you had made your own
By struggle and stress and pain and prayer
By love's own cords you held me there.

Mother o'mine, 'tis mine to take
The burdensome load, the stress, the ache,
That come in motherhood's fair years,
The joy, the pain, the love, the tears,
'Tis mine to give what you gave me.
Mother o'mine, I would faithful be
To the highest note in the song you taught

My girlish lips, the music fraught
With all the mother hopes and fears
That fill to the brim the mothering years.

Mother o'mine, in the afterglow
Of motherhood's years, I thank you so
For gifts to me from out your heart,
At thoughts that rise my hot tears start;
God give me ways to make you know
How great is my love before you go
Away to rest from your mothering,
I would remove life's every sting,
And give you rest in the afterglow,
For, mother o'mine, I love you so.

Flora S. Rivola.

Mother and I

O Mother-My-Love, if you'll give me your hand,
And go where I ask you to wander.
I will lead you away to a beautiful land—
The Dreamland that's waiting out yonder.
We'll walk in a sweet-posy garden out there
Where moonlight and starlight are streaming,
And the flowers and the birds are filling the air
With the fragrance and music of dreaming.

There'll be no little tired-out boy to undress,
No questions or cares to perplex you;
There'll be no little bruises or bumps to caress,
Nor patching of stockings to vex you.
For I'll rock you away on a silver-dew stream,
And sing you asleep when you're weary
And no one shall know of our beautiful dream
For you and your own little dearie.

And when I am tired I'll nestle my head
In the bosom that's sooth'd me so often
And the wide-awake stars shall sing in my stead
A song which our dreaming will soften
So Mother My-Love, let me take your dear hand,
And away through the starlight we'll wander--
Away through the mist to the beautiful land—
The Dreamland that's waiting out yonder!

Eugene Field.

Johnny—These pants that you bought for me are too tight.

Mother—Oh, no, they aren't.

Mother—Now, Johnny, you know that isn't so.

Johnny—It is, too. I can sit down in my skin, but I can't sit down in my pants.

Last Week's Cheese Market

The feature of the dairy industry last week was the announcement made by the British Ministry of Food that they would not purchase this season's make of cheese and that the maximum importers' selling price (32c), now in force, would be removed at an early date. As soon as this became known to the trade English importers cabled a number of open orders to Canadian exporters, consequently the competition between buyers at the various boards that were open throughout the country was very keen and quite a little excitement developed in the market and prices were boomed up 4c to 5c per lb., the highest figure paid during the week being 30⅞c per lb. for the offerings on the Napanee board, while from that down to 29c per lb. was paid at the boards in other sections of the country, which prices in some cases were from 5½c to 7⅛c per lb. higher than the opening figures of the season 1919, which will no doubt be a very encouraging factor to producers and farmers and will naturally tend to increase the make as at the above prices factorymen who are in a position will make cheese in preference to butter.

Perferred First Class Car at Second Class Fare

Charged with travelling in a first class railway coach with a second class ticket and with refusing to comply with the order of the conductor when requested to move to the second class coach, Mrs. Amelie Vincent appeared before Judge Cusson at Montreal Wednesday and was sentenced to serve two hours in jail, the time during which she had been detained while waiting for her trial. Mrs. Vincent boarded G. T. R. train No. 18 at Trenton a few nights ago and when informed by the conductor that she had no right in the first class coach claimed not to understand English. The request was repeated by a trainman who spoke French fluently, but was refused, and finally the Brockville police were called and moved the woman to the second class car. Later, she returned to the first class, claiming that there was a man under the influence of liquor in the other car. The conductor had the woman arrested in Montreal, after she had slapped his face during the effort to move her to the second class car. Judge Cussen said the woman was certainly guilty, but as the G. T. R. did not press the charge, she received the nominal sentence of two hours.

Deposited a Million Dollars Then Disappeared

In connection with the bill introduced in the legislature, providing for the administration of the estates of the missing, it is stated that the investigation carried on in connection with the disappearance of A. J. Small, the millionaire theatrical man who until recently was the proprietor of the Grand Opera house, at Toronto, brought to light that the million dollar check received by Mr. Small on the day of his disappearance had been deposited by him with the Dominion bank there and nothing had been drawn against it. Besides this sum and $100,000 of Victory bonds bought in the last campaign, the missing man had about $600,000 on deposit in Toronto, this amount being divided between three banks. His secretary, John Doughty, disappeared just as completely a month after Mr. Small's disappearance.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother Mrs. Calvin Merkley, who departed this life Nov. 5th, 1919.

Six months have gone but none can tell,
The loss of one we loved so well,
The summer time comes and the summer time goes
And never a blossom in all of the land
As white as the gleam of her beckoning hand,
And never a glimmer of sun in the skies
As bright as the light of her glorious eyes.

Dreams only are true, but they fade and are gone,
For her face is not here when I waken at dawn;
Mine only, her's only the dream and repose,
I am weary of waiting and weary of tears,
And my heart wearies to all those lonely days,
Weeping over one that was the light of the home.

Dear mother we all wait to meet you in Heaven.

Inserted by her daughter Mrs. Andrew Droppo.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Lizzie McMahon who died May 8th 1919.

Lizzie dear, thou hast gone and left us
To that bright and golden shore;
Death's messenger has now bereft us,
Thou art gone forever more.

Our home is now both lone and dreary
No more your smiling face we'll see
Oh! how disconsolate, sad and weary,
Lizzie dear, we mourn for thee.

Dark sorrow there can never come,
From pain you will be free
And with our Blessed Saviour,
Spend a long eternity.

Mother, Father and Family.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear father, Edward MacLean, who departed this life May 10th, 1917.

"We shall all go home to our Father's house,
To our Father's house in the skies.
Where the hope of our souls shall have no blight,
And our love no broken ties.
We shall roam on the banks of the River of Peace,
And bathe in its blissful tide;
And one of the joys of our heaven shall be,
To meet with him who died".
