Bits & Pieces

Honoured on 40th

On the occasion of their 40th Wedding Anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh A. Shaver, of Finch, were honoured by their family at a dinner in the Torch Room, Cornwall. Those present included, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Shaver and family; Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Shaver and family of Finch, Mrs. Ada Zeron and Mrs. Dorothy Smith of Chesterville; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey MacRae and Mr. and Mrs. Russell McMillan of Finch.

Issue 7 . . . We Blew It

Last week's paper carried issue Number of 7 and turned out to be disaster. We mulled the situation over on how to handle the postal strike, and the strike was just getting settled in, and decided to still use the mail truck to get delivery. This was the mistake, the truck was pulled off the run at midnight on Wednesday and we're still not sure where many of the papers are held up. The 'Record' truck has made the rounds this week which should aid local delivery. We're as perturbed as you are over the lost Number 7 issues. Bear with us, the inside postal workers will have to reach settlement eventually.

Hallowe'en 1975

We have been advised by the OPP Detachment at Winchester that the officers will be on hand, in the Village of Chesterville, to give similar law enforcement that they provided last Hallowe'en. The former office of Chesterville Chief Shane, will be pressed into service for this evening only. In the office there will be a direct link with cars patrolling the area. By dialing the number 448-2342 on the evening of October 31, you should get satisfactory response. The OPP emphasized that the number listed above will only be activated for this one evening. Have a fun Hallowe'en . . . a mix-up with the long arm of the law, really won't prove any fun in the end.

Raspberries at Hallowe'en . . . Really

One afternoon last week Bob Stewart of R.R. 3, Chesterville, came into the shop carrying a raspberry branch which supported several luscious ripe raspberries. Mr. Stewart related that the bush had produced many more of the berries, but the birds were also aware of the situation and were grabbing the fruit off as soon as they ripened. The latter part of October is traditional Hallowe'en pumpkin time, maybe the raspberries being ripe at this time of year was the 'treat' for October 31.

Annual Meeting . . .

Stormont farmers alarmed at increased costs

The Stormont Federation of Agriculture held their Annual Dinner Meeting, Friday, October 24. At least 200 friends, politicians and members enjoyed a full course turkey dinner served by the U.C.W. of Trinity United Church, Ingleside.

President Peter Mesman requested Rev. Allan to say Grace, followed by a Toast to the Queen.

The evening program commenced with the introduction of the Headtable guests by Stuart Clark, Past President.

The President in his brief remarks outlined the past achievements of the Federation. He introduced the Township Co-ordinators and also asked for a motion to adopt the reports financial, auditors and minutes of the last annual meeting as presented.

One of the highlights of the evenings activities was the election of officers of the Federation. Peter Mesman of Finch was re-elected as president of Stormont Federation of Agriculture. Alfred Beaudette of St. Andrews was re-elected to serve another term as Vice-president. Co-ordinators for the varous Townships were as follows: Osnabruck Township; John Countrymen, Heinz Mulilze; Finch Township, Ewart Neville, Barry Armstrong; Roxborough Township, Andre Cuerrier, Elwyn Bender; Cornwall Township, Arnold Alguire, Hugh Esdale.

At this point in the meeting the President asked for resolutions from the floor. Delegates to the Annual Convention will be taking a resolution which they hope to have discussed further by all members of the federation. The high cost of Hydro Electric power to farmers came under considerable discusson. The present rates may be increased considerably and this has made farmers ask the question, "Is this rate an absolute necessity?" At the meeting in Ingleside last week it was felt that cost of electrical power was just another factor the farmer had to accept in his fight against rising costs of production.

Floyd Bradford explained the function of the The Farm Labour Pool, a new service introduced to the area farmers. The service costs the farmer nothing as it is a nonprofit organization. Operation costs are funded by the government to help the farmer obtain labour at a reasonable costs.

Mr. Bradford said he hoped to be of assistance to all the farmers in the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

Brian Wilson thanked everyone for their active participation and congratulated the local co-ordinators for their effort in promoting our activities. He introduced Miss Karen Campbell the Stormont Dairy Princess who very capably spoke about her activities during the past few weeks. She thanked the federation for their monetary support of 4-H work. She also stated she was honoured to represent the dairy farmers of Stormont.

Ralph Barrie, Vice-president of Ontario Federation of Agriculture, told those present he was quite surprised at the strength of the Stormont organization. "I've attended many meetings during the past year and most of them would boast an attendance of about fifty. But tonight it is my pleasure to see over 200 area farmers take an active part in their Federation". "There are many problems confronting the farmers today but among them the worst one is probably the rising prices of today's commodities. We were glad to see the government move with its Wage and Price controls scheme. With some of the price increases over the past few years such as fertilizer and baler twine, we feel

On Sunday, October 26th, the Congregation of Morewood United Church, held a tree planting ceremony at the close of the morning service. During the singing of the last hymn, the minister led the congregation to the East side of the church lawn, where they were met by the Sunday School class. The Minister, Rev. L. Ferguson made a brief address and dedicated the trees to the Glory of God and in the honour of the church's 50th anniversary. Representatives of the Sunday School Class and members of the Anniversary Committee with the assistance of James Angus Carruthers, (4-months old), the youngest person in attendance at the service that day, planted the two maple trees. Above, Mrs. Carl Crump, Chairman of the 50th Anniversary Committee and Miss Stacey Donaldson, representing the Sunday School Class, assist Rev. Ferguson in the ceremony. — Staff Photo.

Last Sunday afternoon, Newington United Church Minister, Cliff Allan, baptized three baby girls. This is not an unusual task for Rev. Allan to perform, but what was unusual was the fact that the babies' mothers were all sisters. Making the situation more unusual, two of the babies were born in Winchester District Memorial Hospital on May 8, 1975, and the third at Trenton Memorial Hospital on May 9, one day later. The girls are the daughters of Mrs. Verla Parenteau of Newington. Pictured above from the left are, Mrs. Karen Ducolon and Katherine Beth; Mrs. Jean Rutley and Laura Jean; Mrs. Linda Smith, Rev. C-E Canada President promises citizens growing employment for Cornwall and area

C-E Canada (Combustion Engineering Superheater Ltd.) a leading producer of steam generating equipment and allied products for Canadian and overseas markets officially opened it's Cornwall plant last week.

C-E Canada, local citizens, were assured, intends to remain a good citizen of Cornwall area and to "Keep employment not only constant but at a healthy growning rate".

" . . .We envisage considerable expansion of the existing bay in the late seventies and early eighties." said Dr. Rom Vuia, company president.

Speaking at a luncheon at the Parkway Inn after the opening the president said, "As long ago as 1966 I searched along the seaway looking for a site for a new plant location."

After a study of the available land in the Cornwall area we decided upon the location which you have just visited. "I feel it is an excellent location for a plant for large steam supply components for conventional fossil fired or for the candu type reactor, since it permits water transportation of heavy and bulky equipment to power plant sites which, in the case of Ontario Hydro, Hydro Quebec and the Maritime utilities are predicted to be around the great lakes or along the St. Lawrence River and the Atlantic Coast. In other words, the Cornwall plant, besides having the advantage of being situated on a navigable waterway, is also near to the majority of future thermal power plant sites."

Combustion Engineering-Superheater Ltd., dates back in Canada to 1920 when it was founded and was known as the Superheater Co. as the name involved in the fabrication of superheaters, mainly for steam locomotives. The first plant was located in Sherbrooke on Galt Street. In the thirties the stationary thermal power plant market grew, initially stoker-fired boilers and then later the pulverized coal-fired steam generator, which incidentally is a combustion Engineering Development and a contribution to conventional fossil-fired power generation. The pulverized coal inovation permitted the building of larger steam generators and, as the hydro power sites became scarce and expensive, utilities such as Ontario Hydro moved into thermal power generation. Growing with the utilities and industrial power generation, Combustion Engineering Superheater Ltd. decided in the fifties to build a new plant at Sherbrooke capable of producing most of the components required for a modern steam generator. This new plant started operation in 1954 and was expanded on several occasions to its size today of almost 240,000 square feet of manufacturing area having a capacity of approximately 2,500 megawatts of steam generation equipment yearly. In addition to its facilities at Sherbrooke and Cornwall, Combustion Engineering-Superheater Ltd. has another manufacturing facility at Mississauga, Ontario, called Upper Canada Manufacturing Ltd. This shop is a precision type of machine centre able to produce special types of tooling for industrial purposes as well as precision components for Nuclear Power Industry.

Combustion Engineering Superheater Ltd., known also by its Logotype 1, C-E Canada, is part of the large combustion engineering family which had sales of over $1.4 Billion last year. Combustion Engineering comprises four groups of activities, among which is the power systems group, to which C-E Canada belongs. Another group which has a strong representation in Canada is the Engineering Group, part of which is the C-E Lummus Canada Company involved mainly in the engineering and construction of heavy water plants. To give you an idea of the size of the C-E organizations operating, there are 131 C-E plants on this continent, there are C-E licenses in 27 countries around the world, and C-E representatives in over 63 countries. It is estimated that about 40 percent of the free world's fossil system generating capacity is of C-E supply or design.

Cumbustion-Engineering officially opened their new plant in Cornwall last week. After the ribbon cutting ceremony a tour of the plant was conducted. The plant which employs approximately 100 employees, produces components for huge boilers. C.-E. President, Dr. Rom Vuia announced at the opening that the present facilities were phase one of a four phase project. Upon completion of the projected plans, the plant could employ up to 1,000 employees. — Staff Photo.

Hallowe'en . . .

Should be fun for all . . . OPP

The evening of October 31st, should be one of fun for all citizens.

In the past however in many instances it has been a fun night for a mere few, while others were heartbroken to see their property being stolen or damaged. Children donning costumes representing anything from goblins to witches visit neighbours in the traditional quest of "trick or treat." As children are innately honest, they do not expect that harm might befall them on such a fun night.

However, again under the umbrella that all is fair on Hallowe'en night, some have died poisoned, some have been crippled and some have been hurt. It is ironic to note that those who have caused suffering and injury to children are usually adults, in other words, people who should set an example for children to follow.

The O.P.P. would like children to remember and to obey these simple rules.

Costumes should be of a bright color or reflective material should be either painted on or attached to them so motorists can see you readily.

If you wear a mask, make sure the holes for the eyes are large enough so you can see on both sides.

Never, never use plastic bags as masks.

Don't go out alone, but ask your parents to accompany you.

Don't go to places where you do not know the people.

Ask your parents to check your "treats" before you eat them.

The O.P.P. would also like to remind adults that when driving on Hallowe'en night, being extra careful would be a sound investment as many children will be out and some might forget the safety rules.

It might be noted also that there is one common factor between tricks played by adults and those by children; they should be "funny" for all concerned.

One of first groups . . .

Cdn. Federation of Agriculture to meet with Anti-Inflation Board

One of the first groups to meet with Jean-Luc Pepin, chairman of the new Anti-Inflation Board is expected to be the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, Gordon Hill, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, announced in Hamilton today.

Action by the CFA was prompted by telephone calls this morning from OFA members protesting Pepin's "hunch there's something wrong with marketing boards."

OFA representatives will accompany the CFA group who are anxious to visit the new chairman as quickly as possible to offer him basic information on how farmers' marketing boards operate.

"It's a shame Pepin has gotten off on the wrong foot, Hill commented at a luncheon with media representatives in Hamilton.

"His reference to government-established marketing boards makes clear he lacks knowledge of the historical development of farmers' marketing boards and their operations."

He appears to reflect an Ottawa myopia, aware only of the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency (in effect a national marketing board) and referring to milk (no national marketing board but a Dairy Commission with headquarters in Ottawa) and wheat.

The price of wheat is very much controlled by international trade and by the fact that there is a price ceiling on wheat for domestic use.

Farmers support the domestic ceiling on wheat, Hill pointed out.

"It is unfair and uninformed to suggest that a marketing board sets the price which then becomes the only price at which the product is sold."

Since farmers receive only 12.25 per cent of the consumer price of bread, it seems to us that Pepin should look elsewhere for culprits suspected of causing inflation.

Of 20 marketing boards in Ontario covering 40 products only seven have the power to set prices: apples, chickens, eggs, fresh fruits, turkeys, fresh grapes and greenhouse vegetables.

Only two are allowed to set production quotas: eggs and flue-cured tobacco.

Three only set marketing quotas: burley tobacco, chicken and turkey marketing boards.

The remaining boards which handle the greater number of farm products have power only to negotiate prices, Hill pointed out.

"Even then prices are really determined by supply and demand. And in Canada, to a large extent, prices are determined by international trade and by going prices in the United States."

Federation of Agriculture . . .

Statement misleading

Beryl Plumptre's statement recently that farm gate prices account for 65 per cent of the cost of food to the consumer is misleading, Gordon Hill, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said in Toronto today.

"That is the sort of headline-grabbing generalization that sets consumers against farmers and contributes to today's widespread misunderstanding of the farmer's economic situation," Hill says.

"Figures from our research department show that, on average, farmers got about 40 cents of the consumer's dollar on a wide variety of products during 1974," Hill says.

In 1975 consumers are paying, on average, 84 cents a pound for cottage cheese. Of this, the farmer gets 10 cents for the milk or 12 per cent.

Consumers are paying 54 cents a quart for fluid milk. The farmer gets 30 cents or 55 per cent.

The farmer's share of the cost of processed vegetables, peas, tomatoes, corn and carrots varies between 3.2 per cent and 12 per cent.

The farmer's share of the cost of processed fruit, pears, peaches, red pitted cherries and prunes varies between 8.3 per cent and 12 per cent.

The farmer receives 12.25 per cent of the retail price of bread.

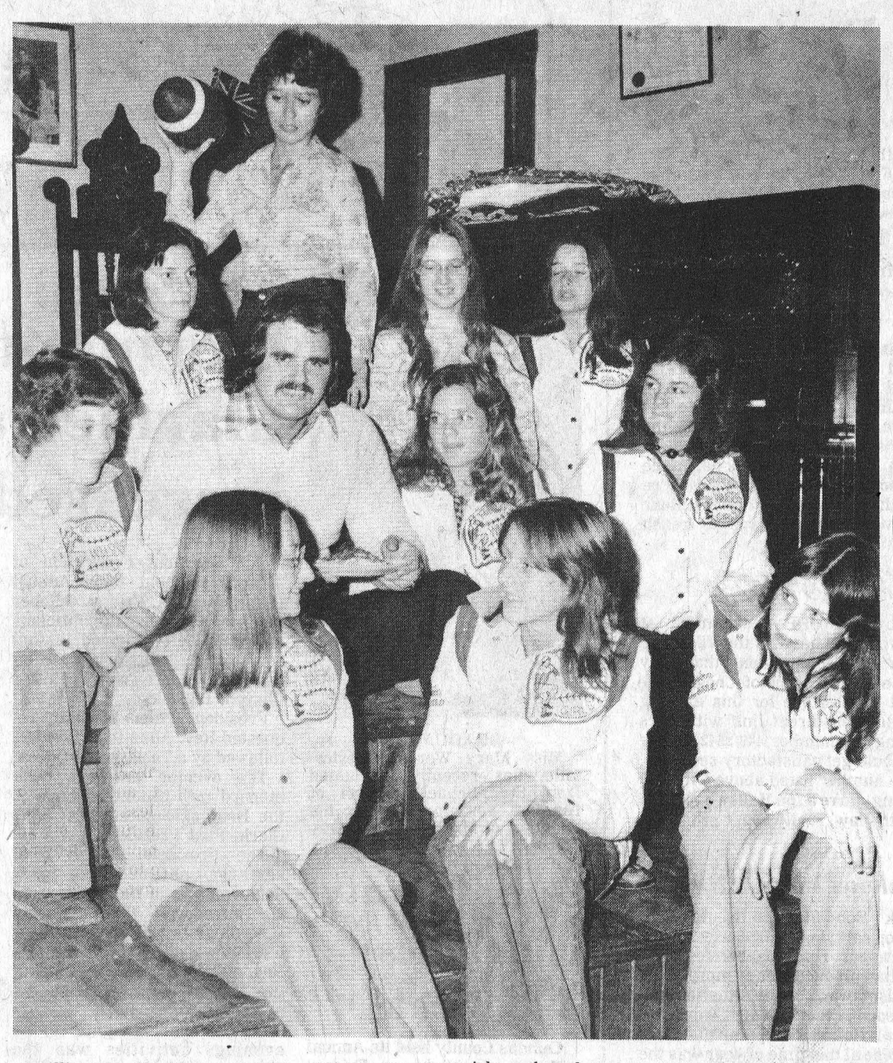
In January, 1975, farmer was receiving about 74 per cent of the retail price of eggs.

The higher percentage farmers receive for a few products does not bring the average up to 65 per cent, Hill pointed out.

From the spring of 1972 to the fall of 1974 farm costs rose at a staggering rate. For example, baler twine increased by over 400 per cent.

The bulk price for ammonium nitrate, a common fertilizer, rose from February, 1973 to February 1975 by 152 per cent.

"These are samples of the kinds of increases that farmers have faced in their costs of production. These increases are making the farmers' position precarious," Hill concluded.



Williamsburg Midget Girls sponsored a Spahetti Supper last week, to raise funds for uniforms for the team next season. Thanks to Lou Pitts the supper was a tremendous success. Frank Mullen, team coach invited Jeff Turcotte, Ottawa Rough Riders, to the event which was held in Williamsburg I.O.O.F. Hall last Saturday. What more could a guy ask for? Surrounded by pretty girls and a plate full of hot spaghetti made an enjoyable evening for the Rough Rider football player. Front row from the left, Susan Wells, Laurie Harper, Marion McIntosh. Midget Flyers outskate Russell

Chesterville's Midget Flyers scored an easy 5-0 exhibition-game win over Russell last Wednesday night at the Chesterville arena.

Kevin Blair was the workhorse for Chesterville, as he notched four goals and assisted on the other. Dave Phifer notched the other marker, as well as assisting on two of Blair's goals.

Bob Walker showed his form of last year, as he and Bill Matson shared the goaltending duties, earning the shutout.

The Chesterville Flyers will be playing in the Carleton-Dundas League this year with Russell, Greeley, Metcalfe, Morrisburg and Winchester.

Coach Peter DeRooy believes his team has a good chance of bringing home the silverware, as the team continues to improve every time they take to the ice.

Scoring — 1st period — 8:15. K. Blair from Phifer and Reid 11:30, K. Blair from M. Cook. 2nd Period — 2:15, D. Phifer from P. Imrie and K. Blair. 3rd period — 4:35, K. Blair from P. Imrie and 10:51, K. Blair from D. Phifer.

Twelve penalties were called in the game with each team taking six.

C-E Canada officially opens Cornwall plant

As I mentioned previously, the president continued, in the last 20 years C-E Canada has become one of the major Canadian suppliers of conventional steam generating equipment; however, times are changing and since we got the message that our major customer, Ontario Hydro, is going Nuclear we concluded that based on our corporate experience we would be the natural company to provide some of the components for the Candu type steam supply system. For this reason, decided to build the Cornwall plant and we envisage considerable expansion of the excisting bay, late in the seventies and early in the eighties, if economic expansion resumes in Canada.

There is no question that our major task will be the training of skilled personnel necessary to produce such high quality and sophisticated equipment. However, we are convinced that with the help of the three levels of Government we will succeed in the training and attracting the manpower required for such an industry.

A few words about the history and construction of the first manufacturing bay at Cornwall, which has 41,000 square feet of production area. After a few years of study and investigation, on March 28, 1974, C-E Canada received the approval of its board of directors to proceed with this project. The first sod was turned June 24, 1974 and the first five employees were hired April 7, 1975. The first shipment took place June 17, 1975. In other words it took only 9 months to build the plant and get into production, and less than a year elasped from the turning of the sod and first shipment leaving the plant. I have to congratulate the C-E people involved, as well as the consulting engineers, and contractors for this outstanding achievement. Obviously this could not have been realized without the excellent cooperation of the city of Cornwall.

I would like to take this opportunity also to assure the local citizens that C-E Canada is now, and intends to remain a good citizen of Cornwall area and to provide stable employment to the degree possible, since the power industry is considered to be one of the most predictable and stable in our economy. We trust that the Canadian economy will overcome the existing slowdown and resume a conservative growth rate in GNP, and that the resulting power demand will create a considerable market for thermal powerplant equipment suppliers, since the available economical hydro power sites are getting scarcer. In the past we have succeeded through our export drive to fill the gaps and valleys in our manufacturing shop loads created by fluctuating of the domestic market and to keep employment not only constant but growing at a healthy rate. In future this will depend upon Canada's competitiveness in the world markets, and so our hope is the Government's scheme to control inflation will succeed, otherwise our export sales will be eroded.

Furthermore, because of our type of manufacturing we can assure everyone that practically no pollution will come from our plant, and we will ensure that the environment will be disturbed to a minimum. We are proud of our new plant location and we will do our utmost to keep it as neat and as esthetic as possible.

In closing, Mr. Vuia stated, I would like to thank all three levels of Government for their outstanding cooperation and assistance in making this project possible. Especially I would like to thank Messrs. Lucien Lamoureux, Fernand Guindon and Ed Lumley for their personal dedication and enthusiasm in promoting this project. My thanks would not be complete without mentioning the Departmental of Regional Economic Expansion, represented by Mr. James Williams, and the Ministry of Industry and Tourism of the Province of Ontario — Organizations which have contributed towards the realization of this project. I am convinced it was a good decision for all parties involved and it will contribute significantly in the long run towards the economic development and prosperity of the Cornwall area."

CORNWALL WILL GAIN WORLD WIDE RECOGNITION SAYS ED LUMLEY, MP

Mr. Lumley, who represented Marcel Lessard, Minister responsible for the Department of Regional Economic Expansion, at the luncheon said: "With the addition of this new facility, Cornwall will gain world-wide recognition as a producer of nuclear energy components.

The Department of Regional Economic Expansion is proud to have been associated with both the province and Municipality in this project. The installation of the infrastructure was an important element enabling this plant to become a reality. Combustion Engineering will be producing components and equipment for nuclear power generators as well as components for the industry and petrochemical field.

The engineering and design expertise of this company coupled with the capable skills of Cornwall people employed on the project will greatly enhance the image of the city and aid in attracting other major industries to the area.

The General Development Agreement signed in February 1974 with the Provincial Government providing the framework through which the two governments initiated action resulting in new jobs and opportunities for the Cornwall Community.

Mr. Lumley indicated that the Department of Regional Economic Expansion was pleased to have been of assistance to the City of Cornwall in developing industrial lands to enable it to accommodate additional new industries. Covered under the same sub-agreement, provision was made for the City of Cornwall to construct a new Civic Complex, to develop a new Tourist and Recreation area and a fully serviced industrial park.

The cost to the two levels of government will be an estimated $16,330,000.

Ont. Hydro Visitors Centre changes hours

The Visitors' Information Centre at the Robert H. Saunders Generating Station will begin its winter operating schedule on Monday, October 20, 1975. The new hours will be 9:00 am to 4:00 pm Monday through Friday. The Centre will be closed on weekends.

Group tours of the Information Centre can be made during the week by writing to Chief Guide, Robert H. Saunders Generating Station, Box 999, Cornwall, Ontario K6H 5V1. Small groups or individuals can be accommodated at any time.

Every year over 100,000 people visit the power plant to see how man has harnessed the St. Lawrence River to produce electricity for the people of Ontario. A film and working model of the station help explain the construction and operation of the generating station.

Informative publications are available and competent guides are on duty to explain the entire operation.

Chesterville Legion, Branch 434, marked the 50th Anniversary of the Royal Canadian Legion by selling hundreds of tulip bulbs, which will bloom everywhere next spring. One of the biggest supporters of their project was the Township of Winchester. The Township purchased one hundred of the bulbs to help the Legion and, at the same time to beautify their grounds. Above, Cecil McNabb, Reeve, left, and Lorne Lasalle of Chesterville Legion plant the last bulb. In actuality the other 99 bulbs and the well kept shrubs at the Township building are the efforts of Glen MacGregor, Township clerk. Glenn claims he enjoys the work and can't wait to see the tulips bloom next spring. — Staff Photo.

As I See It

By Mike Rowden

Ignorance is bliss

Of all the places I have hunted and fished in Canada, one of my best-known and favorite places is in the Georgian Bay area. A person can hunt and fish there, and if he is careful to watch the seasons, can come home with a mixed bag of fish, ducks and partridge, all at the same time. During the summer months, at the heighth of the fishing season, it is not unusual to catch bass, pike, muski, perch, channel catfish, rainbow trout . . . even the odd Sturgeon, big ones at that.

One week-end, my youngest son and I took off for a couple of days fishing, after having loaded a picnic cooler with some food and a five pound roast of beef. Impatient to get away, we didn't realize until we got there, we had forgotten to take knives, forks or a spoon with us. All we had to do any cutting with was a small hand axe.

However, the weather was nice, the fishing good, so it wasn't until we got hungry and went to make a meal, that we found out what had been left behind. We could have gone back to the camp, some two or three miles away . . . but instead decided to camp on a nearby island and make the best of it.

By the time we had gathered enough firewood and set up a rough Campsite, it was getting late and we were hungry enough to eat a horse, as the saying goes.

Finding a flat slab of rock, I cut the roast of beef into rough chunks, and using a couple of sticks we barbecued the meat and washed it down with some strong coffee. I don't know when anything tasted as good as that roasted meat, with nothing but ravenous appetites for sauce.

Then I made sure the boat was pulled up far enough from the water to be safe and we rolled up in our sleeping bags and were soon fast asleep.

Next morning we were up at daybreak, heated a couple of cans of beans for breakfast and were soon out on the bay, fishing again.

As is often the case, the day before the fish were literally jumping to take our hooks, but on this day, no matter what we did, we got nothing. Feeling a bit discouraged, my son was all for packing up and going home.

"What for," I asked, "It's only Saturday, we might do alright this evening and then there's always tomorrow." You young guys sure get discouraged easily. We still have lots of grub, we can sleep on the island again and then fish on Sunday. If we haven't got anything by noon, we'll go home. "O.K., agreed Allan," but let's set up our camp for the night first and get something to eat, it's way past lunch time and I'm starved. Then we can fish for a while until it gets dark and we won't have to mess around cooking after we get back in."

So that's what we did — I ran the boat over to the far side of the bay, we had a bite ot eat and started in fishing. It was as if the bass were just sitting around waiting for us. By the time it was dark, we were only one or two short of our limit. I lit up a smoke and said to Allan "Looks like they have gone to bed — if we don't get anymore by the time I've finished my smoke, head back and get to bed, after we've had a cup of coffee."

By this time it was too dark to see the shoreline, about a hundred feet away, so naturally we didn't notice a large cruiser, without any lights, quietly coast to within perhaps forty yards from us. In fact, the first indication we had it was there, was when our boat, and us, were lit up by a pair of powerful searchlights and a voice that bellowed at us "keep your hands where they can be seen."

Thinking it was somebody fooling around and being a little surprised and annoyed, I hollered "put out that darned light, we can't see a thing." "That's the general idea" came the voice from the cruiser. "Stay where you are, we're coming over."

A few minutes later they pulled alongside and then we saw there were several men on board, some holding shotguns, pointed in our general direction.

"Police" warned the loud hailer again. "Who are you and what are you doing here?"

"I'm Mike Rowden and this is my son. We're fishing. What's the trouble, I asked them." Then added "we're staying at Ben's Duck Bay Camp over the weekend."

"They're O.K., I know them" remarked another voice, I recognized as belonging to the local game warden. "We're looking for a couple of men who escaped from a prison up north and we got word they stole a boat and are out here somewhere. Have you seen anybody around here you don't know, Mike?"

No I told him, I haven't, but if we see anything unusual, I'll let you know. "O.K. said one of the policemen", just watch yourselves, they have a rifle and are dangerous.

"Thanks for the warning" I told them. "We'll try to stay out of their way."

They put out the searchlights, turned on their running lights and slipped away to continue to search, while Allan and I pulled up our anchor and headed for the island and our camp.

I didn't want to leave our camp stuff on the island so I figured we would slip in and get it and head back to Ben's place. The island we had camped on was a fair size, so I didn't think there was much chance of us running across the two convicts, even if they were on it.

But by the time we had found the island and located our campsite, I said to heck with it and we pulled up the boat, then crawled into our sleeping bags. Nothing disturbed our sleep that night and the next morning at daybreak we piled all the stuff into the boat and left the island and scooted back to Ben's place.

We had just pulled into the dock and had unloaded most of our gear when upon looking up towards the main house, I saw the game warden's truck pull into the yard. We wandered up to where he and Ben stood talking and he turned to me and said "We meet again, eh Mike."

"Yeah," I answered, kind of sour like. "Where are all your friends with the shotguns that scared the daylights out of us last night?"

"Oh, they're gone" he answered. "They caught the guys they were looking for, early this morning at the far end of the island with the cabin on it. They didn't put up any fight at all. Guess they were more scared than dangerous, even with a rifle."

"Sure glad to hear that" I told him with relief. "We spent the night on the same island, camped not too far from the old cabin."

I guess the old saying about God protecting drunks and fools, is probably right.

RECREATION IN CHESTERVILLE

by Doug Moses

Last Sunday, October 26th, at 9:00 p.m., the Chesterville Juveniles tied the Junior C's 3-3. It was all Junior 'C' in the first period, but the Juveniles came back in the third period to tie the game. Looks like the Juveniles will do all right in their league this year. The next game will be against the Midget team on Sunday, November 2nd, at the same time. Hope to see you there.

The compressor at the arena is really having to work to keep ice in. The system has had its share of bad luck this season too. Last week it sprang an ammonia leak in the back plant area. Reliable Joe Baker and Orland Moses (who drove all the way from Almonte) came to look at the problem. Both of them diagnosed it and immediately went to work. Joe had to make a new piece for the system and within 3 hours both of them had it running again. The people using the ice didn't even notice what was going on. While Joe was there he gave the machinery a once over and noticed the large generator was having more vibrations than usual. The next day he brought a specialist in to look at it. It looks like it's going to need an overhaul in '76 some time.

Public skating is going quite well this year with the new PA system. The rate is the same as last year, which is a pretty good bargain.

Keep Saturday November 15th, in mind — Chicago Black Hawks will be at the Forum in Montreal and once again this year there will be a bus going down from Chesterville. Tickets are already on sale and are available from Bill Giles and Doug Moses. Tickets are going well and the bus only holds 48, so call soon.

The Chesterville Minor Hockey Booster Club had their first dance at the Community Hall on Saturday, October 25th, featuring 'Statsis'. There was a fair turnout and it looks as though we might make some money. Other groups that are coming are Claude Cousineau, Kenny Wise and Glen Cochran, promising lots of variety. To all those who came out thanks, and to those that didn't — maybe next time. One nice thing to see that night was all the volunteer help — at one point there were more people behind the bar serving than in front of the bar buying drinks. Hope the good spirit stays with the group.

The Level 2 Referee's Clinic was held on Saturday. Again there was a good turnout — a total of 68 people attended the clinic — 18 of them from Chesterville. There was a really keen group of coaches and referees absorbing all they could about the rules of the game. Dick Cordick, the O.D.H.A. Supervisor, was quite pleased with the high marks and the overall attitude of the clinic. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Lois Bailey for getting up two Saturday mornings in a row to open up the school and help make the coffee to waken up everyone attending. Hopefully now the two clinics will help out the Minor Hockey System by cutting down some of the cost of refereeing.

Goalie equipment is always in need in our Minor Hockey system. Mrs. Ross Casselman, having two sons in the system, knew this and called up with an inside tip on where Recreation could get some good equipment at a good price. Recreation came up with a few dollars and bought goalie pads to donate to the Minor Hockey system. Co-operation like that sure makes things much easier.

Councillor Nelson LaPrade did a bit of house cleaning for Minor Hockey on the weekend sorting out the good equipment from the bad. Now all we need is someone to repair the torn stuff. If you know of anyone — please call the arena.

Gerald H. Howes

Other surviving relatives besides his wife include two daughters Mrs. Lee Barns (Joyce) of Willowdale, Ontario, Mrs. Jack Kroch (Jean) of Lucerne, Quebec; two grandchildren, Heather and Sherri Barns.

Funeral services were held at Vice and Craig Ltd., Winchester, at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, October 29. Rev. M. Maxted officiated. Interment was made in Maple Ridge Cemetery.

S.D. & G. County Board of Education meets . . .

Community Education Co-ordinator appointed

During a recent meeting of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education Mr. Ian J. Miller was engaged as Community Education Co-Ordinator, effective October 27, 1975. This appointment brings to fruition a major thrust in the field of community education. Mr. Miller will be available to assist in all projects involving community-school involvement and will be pleased to meet with school committees concerning their function within this area.

In reponse to queries and requests received from the Township of Roxborough a committee of two trustees of the board were appointed to meet with representatives of the Township of Roxborough Council. The Township of Roxborough has agreed to contact all the neighbouring municipalities with a view to having a general meeting to outline the proposals for a swimming pool at Tagwi Secondary School and to seek the co-operation of these municipalities. Upon receiving commitment in principle from the municipalities it will be presented to the board of Education for their commitment in principle. The committee was congratulated for their efforts to enhance their community's recreational facilities.

A group of interested citizens within the Cornwall area have formed a Committee with a view to investigating the possibility of installing a set of tennis courts on the grounds of St. Lawrence High School. These courts would be used by both the school community and also by the community at large on a shared basis. The installation of the Community Tennis Facilities at St. Lawrence High School was approved in principle, and the Administration was asked to investigate the feasibility of a legal agreement with such a committee and all the ramifications therein, and report on these findings.

On March 11, 1975 the question of the disposal of North Stormont District High School was considered. A report outling administrative procedures being followed toward the disposal of the school was presented. It was recommended that disposal of North Stormont District High School take place in the following manner, first, consideration tbe given to the Village of Finch; second, sale by tender.

On September 9, 1975, it was requested that a report be submitted to the Board on an Education Centre. Approval was given to appoint a committee of trustees to work with Administration on the preparation of a report which will be discussed at the Priorities Exercise to be held in February 1976.

The November 12, meeting of the board will be held in St. Lawrence High School to commemorate the 25th Anniversary of that school.

St. Lawrence High School Social Committee have initiated plans to have a S. D. and G. Gala Night on December 6, 1975.

Commencement Exercises for C.C.V.S. will be held at the Capitol Theatre, November 7, at 8:00 p.m.

The following teachers were welcomed to the system Mrs. J. Majerrison, Glengarry District High School; George Lecuyer, General Vanier Secondary School; Mrs. Carole Rumble, Seaway Valley School for Trainable Retarded; Mrs. E. Casselman, Seaway Valley School for Trainable Retarded.

Finch Seniors host 'Scotch Nite'

It was a "Braw Bright Night" at the Finch Community Hall on Tuesday evening, October 21st. When the "Friendly Circle" (Finch Seniors) hosted a "Scotch Nite" program which attracted 140 people ranging in age from eight to eighty plus. The volunteer entertainers were drawn largely from The Cornwall Senior Citizens Club assisted by some of their younger friends, also talent from Moose Creek and Alexandria. Finch was represented by the two Pipers and the Choral Group.

Following the singing of O Canada the tone of the evening was set when the Pipers counter marched playing two rousing scottish tunes, followed by two hours and fifteen minutes of good solid entertainment under the very capable direction of Ken McKinnon.

The program was a blend of nostalgia, Highland Dancing, Fiddling, Tap Dancing, Square Dancing, with a modern touch being supplied by four talented young Ladies, and to keep things honest there was an Irish Jig.

It would be unfair to try and name anyone person or act contributing to this very successful evening, it is sufficient to say that collectively they provided us with one of those down to earth, wholesome "Old School House Type" concerts devoid of all modern electronic trappings, fancy lights, etc.

Miss Vonnie McMartin when thanking the visitors said it all very nicely with these words:— There is nothing like the skirl of the pipes, the jibbing of the fiddles and the lilt of scottish tunes to warm the heart and set the toes a-tapping.

Two door prizes donated by Mrs. V. Valley and Elsa Workman were won by Mrs. K. Hummel of Colquhoun and Mrs. E. Miller of Berwick.

Prior to closing with the singing of God Save The Queen, the president noted that the soft drinks had been supplied courtesy of Davids Store, Finch and L. Nephew, he also thanked Mr. Nephew who had arranged this very pleasant evening. A delicious lunch was then served by The Finch Ladies under the direction of Mrs. H. C. Nugent.

Finch and area Senior Citizens were entertained last week at a Gala evening of fun. One of the highlights of the festivities was some highland music played on the bag pipes by two members of the Glengarry Pipe Band. Above Mrs. Georgina MacLean gets a lesson on how to play the pipes from Kevin Hough of Finch, Bill Workman, President of the Senior Citizens and fellow piper Donn MacMillan look on. — Staff Photo.

IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM
FROATS — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Russell Froats, who passed away October 30th, 1969.
He lived for helping others,
As friends can all acclaim,
May we from his example,
Learn to do the same.
We don't know why he suffered,
Why God called him above,
But he left behind Dear ones,
A legacy of love.
Sadly missed by wife

Introducing the Colts

Chesterville's representative Bantam Team in the Upper St. Lawrence League is sponsored jointly by James Moran Insurance and the Winchester Sports Shop. On the basis of two exhibition games, spectators at Chesterville Arena this year will enjoy seeing a hard-skating, explosive gang of thirteen and fourteen-year old athletes.

Only five members of last year's League Champion Legion Peewees were able to crack the lineup. These players are: Goalie Eddie Witteveen, Defence Tandem Duke Servage and Glendon Shay, and wingers Don Richards and Curtis McMillan. Returning from last season's Colts squad are: Pat Kelly, Mark Moran, Ron Richards, Rob Wood, Rudy Grisel, Gerry Witteveen, and goalie Jeff Phifer. Founding out the team are; Glen Mackler who toiled last year for Winchester, and Jeff LeClair, a product of last year's Bantam Upper Canada Team.

Their first exhibition match of the young season was a trip to Russell's beautiful new arena to tangle with Ottawa South Warriors, a city "A" team composed of elite 13-year-olds, playing their fourteenth game of the season. The purpose of exhibition games is to iron out wrinkles in a team's system. The speedy Warriors jumped off to an early 1-0 lead, as a result of poor backchecking by the Colts. With 6:50 gone in the first period Curtis McMillan tied the score from Jeff LeClair. Colts, with a bad case of first game jitters, coughed up the puck in their end and it was suddenly 2-1 for Ottawa. Bad positional play in Colts end allowed Ottawa to jump into a 3-1 lead early in the second. Colts then started to get it together and roared back in the second frame to tie the score, on goals by Mark Moran from Don Richards and Jeff LeClair, and Robert Wood from Pat Kelly. Disaster struck in the third period when Rudy Grisel took a high-sticking major and Ottawa salted the game away with two goals, to win 5-3. Considering the calibre of the opposition, Colts management was tickled pink with the performance of the youngsters.

Remember Alexandria? Remember how, two years ago, Chesterville Legion Peewees were trampled 8-0 and 6-0 in separate tournaments by the Glens? These same teams, two years older, met Saturday at Chesterville Arena, in what proved to be a strange game indeed. Buffalo Memorial Auditorium has nothing on Chesterville Arena when it comes to fog. Yes, the players skated around several times to dissipate a very heavy fog which hovered over the ice. Officials Dale Reid and Lorne Cook suspended the game ten minutes early for safety reasons. Up to that time, it had been a heck of a hockey game, featuring rink-long rushes and sparkling saves by Alexandria's Giroux, and Colts' Phifer and Witterveen. The game ended in a scoreless tie, featuring Colts playing two men short for 4 minutes against the powerful Glens.

"Colt Power" is reflected in the strength of Adrien Laflamme's Super Bees, who dropped a close 1-0 decision to Winchester's representative team, in what proved to be a most exciting game.

Bantam action at Chesterville this week saw Super Bees host Russell last night. Colts will host Brockville Warriors tonight at 8 p.m. Winchester comes to play Super Bees at 3 p.m. Saturday, while Colts will host South Ottawa Saturday at five.

Is it good hockey, you ask? You bet it is!! (And it's free.)

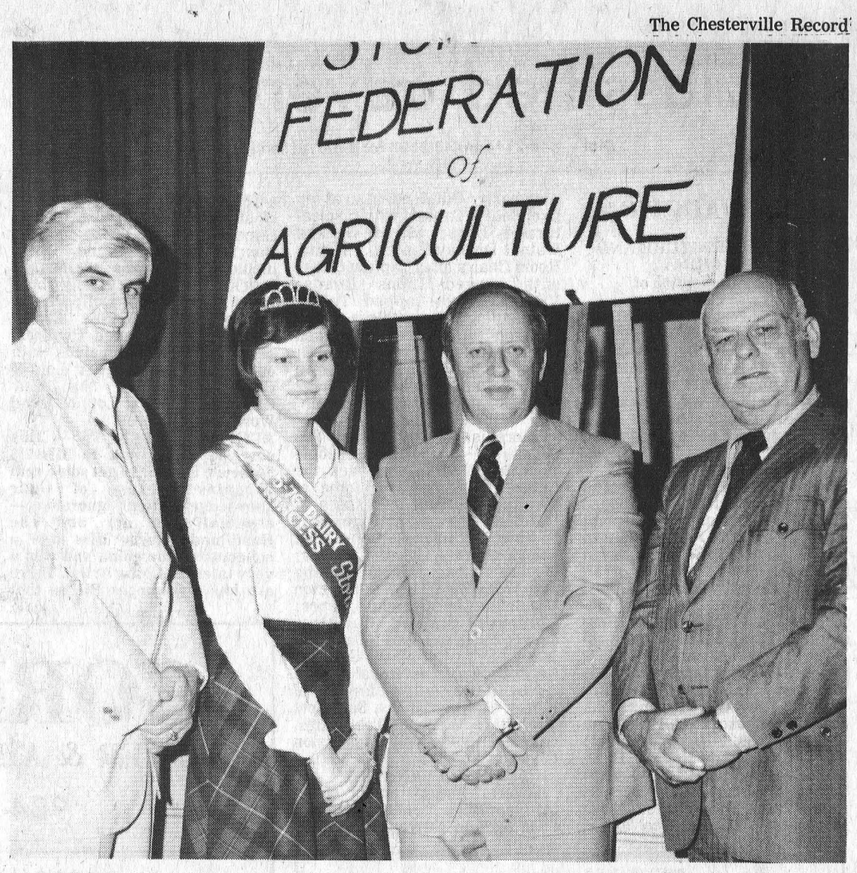
Chesterville Senior Citizens enjoy bus trip

On Saturday, October 25th, Chesterville and area Senior Citizens enjoyed a bus trip to Ottawa.

About 50 of the members boarded the bus at 9 a.m. and travelled to the Museum of Science and Technology. Here they viewed many antiquated inventions, as well as those of modern technology. Many were intrigued by the Apollo Capsule, which was on display.

After having a delicious steak dinner at the Ponderosa, each person was free to visit the St. Laurent Shopping Centre.

The group arrived home about 3:30 p.m., tired but happy with the feeling their horizons had been enlarged by this educational trip.



Over two hundred attended the Stormont Federation of Agriculture, Annual Meeting and Dinner held in the United Church Hall, Ingleside, last weekend. Serving his second term as President of the Federation is Peter Mesman of Finch. Attending the annual function are from the left, Ed Lumley, M.P., Stormont-Dundas, Karen Campbell, Stormont Dairy Princess; Peter Mesman, Osie Villeneuve, M.L.A., Stormont-Dundas. — Staff Photo.

Dress Up And Live

Parents, you can help your child have a safer Hallowe'en this year by following some advice on seeing and being seen from the President of the Ontario Association of Optometrists.

"Decorate costumes with retro-reflective tape or iron-on material which "lights up" when illuminated by auto headlights. Avoid masks that fit poorly, have small eye holes, or avoid masks altogether by creating disguises with makeup instead of masks" says Dr. Lidkea. Ghosts and goblins should carry a working flashlight for a safer, happier Hallowe'en night.

He states that "Retro-reflective materials are available in tape, iron-on and sew-on form. It may be purchased in most hardware stores and notions departments of department stores."

There are no actual guidelines for decorating with retro-reflective materials. However, trick-or-treaters should be urged to remember to decorate front, sides and back of costumes with as much retro-reflective material as possible. "Studies in motorcycle safety indicate that open designs, such as triangles, the "bones" of a Hallowe'en skeleton or the face of retro-reflective tape are most visible", according to the President of the Ontario Association of Optometrists.

Solar Energy And The Man On The Moon

Scientists are predicting that by the end of this century as much as 20 percent of Canada's power needs will be produced by solar energy from the vast sources available from the sun.

At first glance this sounds like the best news we've had in our energy-depleted planet since the Arab countries started asking a fair price for their oil. Only recently Canadians were told that declining natural gas and oil reserves in Canada, combined with the burgeoning demands of our technological society would face us with serious shortages by 1980 if alternate supplies were not found. Conservation of energy is more than just good stewardship of resources it is now a serious practical necessity.

Solar energy, then, would be of enormous value if the world is to find viable alternatives to oil, natural gas, hydro and coal. At the moment, however, its costs are unbelievable. Energy from this source today costs in excess of $20.00 a watt and scientists predict that it will be nearly the year 2,000 before it can be produced at the economically feasible rate of 25 cents a watt.

Government agencies, private industry and university laboratories are now engaged in a major push to exploit solar power cheaply within a decade for major production by the year 2,000.

It is like the major push back in the early 1960's to put a man on the moon. The analogy is apt, because while man had the ability to reach the moon years before 1961 it required vast expenditures of government money — billions of dollars — to come up with a feasible scheme.

The same dedication and expenditures must be forthcoming if solar energy is to be viable. Governments must be urged to spend this money so that pressure on our frontiers for petroleum can be eased, pollution lessened and stewardship of resources practised for the right reasons.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: After reading that sad episode about the young wife whose husband chose his dog over her, I decided to write my first letter to Ann Landers.

While the young wife's letter may have sounded peculiar to many people, let me assure you it's not as far-out as one might think. I'll bet plenty of marriages have been broken up because of dogs. My own was, for sure.

After several months, I realized by husband was using his dog as an excuse to avoid closeness to me. Henry talked to the dog as if it were a person, all the while ignoring my questions as if he were stone deaf.

Henry insisted that the dog sleep in our bed — often between us. I can tell you it did very little for our sex life. I won't attempt to describe what the dog's claws did to my fine bedsheets and blankets, or how his snoring annoyed me.

The final straw was when Henry insisted that the dog be allowed to share his pillow. That was quite a sight to wake up to.

Our divorce will be final next month and I hope my husband and his hound will be very happy together. — Sandra.

Dear Sandra: Your assumption that dogs can break up marriages is correct. I received a surprising number of letters citing chapter and verse. Please read on.

Dear Ann Landers: When I married my wife she had a miniature poodle named Fifi. I grew up with golden retrievers and always felt that miniature poodles were poor excuses for real dogs. I developed an early and intense dislike for Fifi. The feeling was mutual.

The trouble started on our honeymoon. I wanted to go to Honolulu but my wife refused to put Fifi in a travel cage so I settled for a trip to the coast — by car, with me driving my fool head off eight hours a day. That crazy dog sat between us the entire trip. Fifi slept at the foot of our bed all through the honeymoon. She growled and barked whenever I showed any sign of affection for my bride. You can imagine what a beautiful time I had.

Our marriage lasted exactly one year. The blow-up came when I was instructed to buy Fifi a mink coat for Christmas — or else. I chose the "or else" and am now happily married to a lovely woman who also was raised with retrievers. They sleep in their own quarters off the kitchen and life is beautiful. — From The Ridiculous To The Sublime.

Dear Sub: I'm happy for you — and now here's another one.

Dear Ann Landers: That unfortunate bride whose marriage was ruined by her husband's dog struck a sympathetic note. I, too, have a serious problem because of a pooch.

Ralph and I married nine years ago. For seven of those nine years, I've played second fiddle to Spot. When we have meat for supper, Ralph always reminds me to "save some for Spot." If I refuse he gets mad and refuses to speak to me for the remainder of the evening.

When Ralph is in another room and I hear his voice I'll ask, "What is it, dear?" He usually replies, "I wasn't talking to you. I was talking to the dog." You can't imagine how put-down I feel. Sometimes I just bawl.

So what's the answer, Ann? — Need Help.

Dear Need: What's the question? Should you dump Ralph? Only you know if there are enough pluses to balance the minuses. So do some arithmetic, woman, and base your decision on the bottom line.

Are you, or is someone you care about messing around with drugs — or considering it? Are all drugs bad? What about pot — in moderation? Ann Landers's new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs," separates the facts from the fiction. For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (20 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

PREVENTATIVE LAW

These questions and answers, based on Ontario law, are intended to inform and not to advise. No one should try to apply or interpret the law without the aid or advice of a trained expert who knows the facts, since the facts of each case may change the application of the law.

Q. I work in a small non-union plant. I've been working here for more than 15 years. I'm a little worried, though, about the state of the economy recently. Could you advise me as to what are my seniority rights in the event of a layoff here?

A. Basically unless there is a union, you have no seniority rights. Seniority in this case would be the right to be laid off last, or at least after more recent employees are laid off. Such rights are usually negotiated by the union where there is a collective agreement with management.

But these rights do not exist unless you have a personal agreement with management, of unless they are specified in a collective agreement.

Q. Why does it make a difference whether an M.P. makes a statement inside or outside the House of Commons?

A. It makes a big difference if what the M.P. says is defamatory, If he says it outside the House, he runs a risk of being sued for slander. But if he says the same thing in the House, the statement is "priviliged", and he cannot be sued upon it, no matter how damaging it is to someone's reputation.

The theory behind this is that it is even more important that those who govern may speak candidly, than that citizens should be protected from slander.

Avonmore W.I. to sponsor Nearly-New Sale

The Avonmore W. I. met recently in the firehall with 12 members present. Mrs. Oran Kyle, president and Mrs. James Tinkess, sec-treasurer, presided over the meeting which opened with the Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect. Members answered the roll call by relating some kind incident they had seen since the previous meeting.

A letter, read by Mrs. Diamond invited members to attend a Workshop at the Blessed Sacrament Cornwall Centre Branch on October 24.

Mrs. Alex Armour was asked to inquire about recycling glass.

The treasurer was authorized to send the requested $2.50 for the District Area Bazaar.

The W. I. will sponsor a 'Nearly-New Sale' early in November. Anyone wishing to donate articles may leave them in Mrs. Clifford McElheran's porch at any time before the sale.

Mrs. Oran Kyle gave an interesting report from the district Annual which she attended.

Mrs. Clifford McElheran read an article on Nutrition, which she had brought from the Area Convention.

A thank-you letter was read from Wendy Lang, 4-H member.

Miss Mary Michels, Home economist for Dundas, Glengarry and Stormont, gave an interesting, educational, illustrated talk on the Metric System. She stated that when this system is in general use it will be much easier to figure than the decimal or fraction systems, in length, area, volumes, width, speed and temperature.

Miss Michels related that a six pound baby will weigh 3000 grams, a child 150 centimetres and a six foot man, 220 centimetres.

The Canadian Government is loosing thousands of dollars annually because it does not use the Metric system, which is used in most European Countries.

Mrs. James Tinkess conducted a contest. Mrs. Jennie Findlayson won the prize with the greatest number of articles in her purse.

The meeting closed with the Lord's prayer followed by refreshments and a fellowship hour.

KITCHEN CORNER

FREEZE PUMPKIN, BUT COOK FIRST

Most winter squash, including pumpkin, keep well if stored in a cool, dry, dark spot. But squash can be frozen with little effort for use in late winter.

Select well-matured squash. Wash, cut in half and remove seeds and connective tissue. Then either bake halves at 350 degrees for 40 to 60 minutes, and remove flesh or peel; dice and boil 15 to 20 minutes or steam for 30 to 60 minutes. Cool in refrigerate before packaging in freezer containers. Allow ½-inch headspace for expansion in the container during freezer.

Pumpkin pie filling without eggs may be prepared and frozen. Add extra spice, as strength is lost during storage.

To use frozen winter squash, thaw completely in the unopened package in the refrigerator. Use immediately for pies or as a vegetable.

Acorn Squash a la George

- 1 small acorn or pepper squash, halved (remove seeds and stringy fibers)
- 2 tbsp. melted butter
- 2 tsp. brown sugar
- ⅛ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- 2-3 cup cooked peas (use frozen peas)
- 2 tbsp. sour cream
- 1 tsp. dried dill
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- ¼ tsp. salt
- pinch pepper

Place squash in baking pan. Combine melted butter, brown sugar, salt and pepper. Brush mixture over flesh of squash. Bake in 350 degrees oven, brushing occasionally with butter mixture until it is tender (50-60 minutes).

Meanwhile, mix together peas, sour cream, dried dill, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Remove squash from oven, and divide pea mixture into each squash cavity. Return squash to oven for 10 to 15 minutes, then with a fork gently incorporate the flesh of the squash with the peas and sour cream. Serves 2.

Frosty Pumpkin Squares

- 1¼ cups graham crackers crumbs
- ¼ cup butter or margarine melted
- 1 cup mashed cooked pumpkin
- ½ cup brown sugar (packed)
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. ginger
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- 1 quart vanilla ice cream

Mix cracker crumbs and butter. Reserve 2-3 tablespoons crumb mixture; press remaining mixture firmly and evenly in bottom of ungreased square 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan.

Beat pumpkin, sugar and spices, until well blended. Stir in ice cream. Pour into pan; sprinkle reserved crumb mixture over top. Freeze until firm, about 4 hours. Remove from freezer 10 to 15 minutes before serving to make cutting easier.

N. D. D. H. S. NEWS

It's time once again for the weekly rundown of events at North Dundas. This week sports have been in the spotlight.

Last Friday our Cross Country team shone at the meet at Tagwi. Fifteen students from North Dundas competed at this event. In the senior boys' division Brian Paul placed first and Dave McIntosh third. Our junior boys' team placed second with Dwight Symonds and Ron Billings achieving honours as top juniors. The midget boys' team placed third, with Mike Hoogeveen placing third and Roger Rolland seventh in personal efforts.

Saturday the Cross Country team will travel to Brockville to compete in the Eastern Ontario Championships.

Monday was a short day so that students could watch the soccer game between North Dundas and C.C.V.S. Our competent juniors overcame their enemy with a 2-0 victory.

Wednesday the juniors soccer team travelled to St. Lawrence where they battled to a 1-1 tie.

Our girls' basketball teams were in action again this week. Tuesday Osnabruck paid us a visit. The well matched junior teams played until a 21-20 victory for the visitors was reached. Victory for our juniors is not far away.

Our senior girls' team decided to show the spectators and Osnabruck how basketball should be played. They blitzed the opponent by a score of 70-9. Congratulations girls!

Now that we have adopted a mascot, a school wide search is being held to find him a name. Suggestions are open to everyone, the winner will collect points for their house.

Thursday, after school, the Christain Fellowship members played host to a guest speaker, Lorna Raper. A social time followed.

Although sports hold the spotlight, behind the scenes many clubs are working hard to make school life interesting.

That sums up the events for this week. Next week will bring more sports, activities and maybe a few surprises.

Leukaemia can be treated

In the old days there was no treatment for acute cases of Leukaemia and radiation was the only palliative for chronic cases. However, since 1947, a number of chemicals have been discovered which stay and reverse the disease, putting it 'in remission'.

Leukeamia is a disease which may begin in the bone marrow or in the lymph glands, but which ultimately affects all parts of the body. There are two kinds of leukaemia. The rapid growing is called acute. The slow growing is called chronic. Sometimes the chronic kind changes to acute, and about sixty percent of cases are acute.

In treatment one drug may lose its effectiveness in time, so recently doctors have been working with combination treatment, using more than one drug. The've improved their results of treatment in many cases.

Another frequently used method of assisting the patient with leukaemia is the use of blood transfusions. The new blood temporarily restores the red cells which the patient has lost through bleeding or failing production in his own body.

Not Contagious

Leukaemia, like any other form of cancer, is not contagious. Mothers with leukaemia have healthy babies and leukaemic blood can be given to healthy humans without harm. No one knows exactly what causes the disease but excessive radiation is sometimes blamed and exposure to some chemicals can also be a prime cause.

Who Gets The Disease?

In every hundred cases, sixty will be men. Acute leukaemia affects every age group, especially children under ten. Chronic leukaemia more often affects older people especially those over fifty.

Symptoms

A person may feel fine in the early stages of the disease, but later on the symptoms include tiredness, weight loss, weakness, night sweating, nose bleeds, bleeding and swelling of the gums and bone pain.

Cancer Society Fights On

As this is being read the search continues for better chemicals to treat the dreaded malady and each year thousands of drugs are tested on experimental animals.

The Canadian Cancer Society provides more than half a million dollars each year to its scientific partner, the National Cancer Institute, for research related to leukaemia.

Bible studies were given on "Aetiology", and "Christ as Intercessor". Seminars were led by Mr. Campbell, and by the Reverends William Duffy of Ottawa, Malcolm Caldwell of Vernon and J.P. Schissler of Kemptville, on such subjects as "The Assurance of Life". "How to do Personal Evangelism", "The Jews as God's Chosen People", and "Christianity and the Cults".

Song-fests, discussions and dining were included in the week-end program, with the celebration of Holy Communion on Thanksgiving morning.

The annual business meeting was opened and closed with prayer offered by the Reverend E. Earle Eaton of Chesterville, director of youth work for Brockville Presbytery.

The Brockville delegation was represented officially by Harry Spuy, president of the Youth Council, and by Anita Smith, in charge of promotion and transportation. The Glengarry leaders were Shirley Donnelly of Ingleside and Pamela Smith of Cornwall.

SEAWAY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

This year at Seaway, many student interest clubs are active. Some of these groups are — the school band, cross country team, science club, public relations club, Christian fellowship, drivers' education classes, library club and a cheerleading team. The school makes an effort to have clubs to meet the interests of many. The students hope to begin organizing more clubs and groups in the very near future.

On Thursday evening, stuffed to the gills after a weiner roast, 22 Seawaylites left the safety and smell of the Steven's barnyard to try their skill at orienteering in the backwoods. Swamp, bush, thorns and mud were no deterrent . . . or were they? The team of Chris Barkley and Wayne Dickenson won first prize, while John Tooners and David Van Moorsel placed second. Larry Beckstead and Brian Denis were congratulated for finding none of the eight points. We look forward to another night orienteering event in the near future.

The Theatre Arts Class, headed by Miss Gibb, recently produced a play entitled "An Afternoon With . . ." The purpose of this play was to show the good side of poetry. Even though some said "It couldn't Be Done", it was a success. This fact is mostly due to the performance of Heather Huchison, Debbie Bilmer, Donna Armstrong, Rosey Caselman, Barb Moran, Laurie Cruikshank, Jim Davies, Randy Gates, Randy Veinotte, Bob McNairn, Perry Morrell, Caroline Rooney, Roxanne McLean, Margie Phillips, Retha Beckstead, Carol Myers, Linda Van Allan, Judy Stephenson and Neil Cameron. We congratulate Miss Gibb and her Theatre Arts Class for this fine performance.

On Thursday afternoon the Senior English Students heard Mr. Gerald Lampert, Canadian writer and novelist, speak on Canadian Literature. After a reading of some of the novel he is presently working on, Mr. Lampert discussed with the Students the problems of being a Canadian writer. This interesting presentation was enjoyed by one and all.

"See I told you it was big", says Jeffrey Ward to his brother Christopher, left. In fact the carrot which the boys planted and mom harvested last week, measures ten and a half inches long and had a circumference of two and a quarter inches. It may not be a record but the Ward boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ward, Chesterville, are proud of it. When Mom suggested using it for the supper vegetable, she got a big 'no'. The boys want to show their talents to a few of their friends, before eating the specimen. — Staff Photo.

Bus drivers complain vehicles not stopping

At recent School Bus Seminars held at various High Schools in Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry, bus drivers continued to complain that vehicles were not stopping for school buses with flashing red lights.

In legislation which came into effect September 1, 1975, Section 120 (2) states: Where a school bus is stopped on a highway the driver of a vehicle,

(a) when overtaking a school bus on which the words "do not pass when signals flashing" are marked and two red signal lights are illuminated by intermittent flashes; and

(b) when meeting on such a highway, other than a highway with a median strip, a school bus on the front of which two red signal-lights are illuminated with intermittent flashes, shall stop the vehicle before reaching the school bus and shall not proceed until the school bus resumes motion or the signal lights are no longer operating.

A vehicle passing a stopped school bus with flashing lights, could quite easily be involved in an accident with a child crossing the road in front of the school bus.

Remember, unless on a highway divided by a median strip, when meeting or overtaking a yellow school bus with flashing lights, you must stop.

E.O.T.A. Marketing Ass't. reviews Morrisburg 'Old Home Week'

During the week of June 25 to July 1, it was my pleasure to be a guest of the Morrisburg Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Brian Crook, E.O.T.A. photographer, and myself, E.O.T.A. marketing assistant, came to Morrisburg to cover the Old Home Week Celebrations, however, we also took the opportunity to familarize ourselves with the village and its surroundings.

Morrisburg lies in a relatively serene section of the St. Lawrence River Valley and is characterized by pastoral countryside. Approximately twothirds of old Morrisburg was destroyed or relocated in the late 1950's in order to allow flooding of the river for the St. Lawrence Seaway. It is a credit to the provincial government and the community that this relocation was done in a tasteful manner. The business section was entirely moved to a new and efficient shopping mall where adequate parking was provided. Housed on the old riverfront were moved back sufficiently to allow a large common park area to be freed.

In short, the relocation of Morrisburg enabled the municipality to alter its character for the better. Rezoning and relocation allowed the community to separate residential, commercial and industrial areas in a manner that larger communities are still striving to achieve.

The Old Home Week Celebration

In the postwar period Morrisburg, like most rural-based communities, has experienced a substantial loss of the younger populace as they move to the larger cities. To some degree, the Morrisburg Old Home Week Celebration is an attempt to draw these folks back in order to maintain family relationships and old friendships. The events and attractions presented during the week are particularly suited to accomplish just this. The numerous barbeques, beer gardens, the community breakfasts, Donkey baseball, square dancing, and horseshoe tournaments were an excellent background for promoting the renewal of past ties.

It would be wrong, however, to assume that the events were aimed specifically at past residents. A broad variety of attractions was also presented for the stranger or newcomer. Horse pulling contests, band and rock concerts, a midway, helicopter rides, a fabulous high-wire act, a parade, drum competitions, fireworks and wrestling were also presented. I came to Morrisburg knowing no one and yet felt completely at home with my time well-occupied.

Analysis

It became evident to myself that the greatest strength and greatest benefit engendered by Old Home Week was the widespread participation from the community as a whole. Numerous organizations and individuals donated considerable time and effort to ensure that the celebration was a complete success. This certainly speaks well of Morrisburg and alone is one good reason for continuing this on an annual basis.

An additional benefit of this wek of celebration is the ultimate destination of the preceeds. The Chamber of Commerce channels the excess money back into the community. I am told that previous Old Home Weeks contributed to the purchase of the arena's new ice-cleaner.

In terms of content I would like to start from a positive note. This year's Old Home Week was efficiently and professionally run. Its purpose and benefits generated are well-worth the time and effort invested in it. As with any event, however, strengths and weaknesses exist. I can only comment on what I thought was particularly successful and appealling:

1. The Antique Car Parade and Display. 2. The Barbeques. 3. The Canada North Museumobile. 4. The Beer Gardens. 5. The High Wire Act. 6. Donkey Baseball.

The only improvements I would suggest here would be more tables made available for the barbeque and a location closer to the river for the beer gardens. If the beer gardens were operated at a more pleasant location and during the evening hours, I think it would generate considerable income. It is possible that an Om-pah-pah band would be quite appealing at the beer gardens. I also thought that the high wire act could have been held in the seating area under paid admission. If this were undertaken, the fences would have to be moved back to encourage onlookers to pay to get in.

On the negative side, I believe that the Horse Pulling Contest was somewhat slower than necessary. I think that it could be shortened in duration and the extra time used for horse jumping contests, and certain horse-oriented displays. I think that this would appeal to a broader range of the public.

I also think that a central and visible Old Home Week office should be established in order that newcomers can orient themselves and get a feeling for the celebration.

Conclusion

In summary I would like to emphasize the multi-faceted nature of the Morrisburg Old Home Week. It fulfills a variety of needs and generates numerous benefits. It is without a doubt, a valuable asset in Morrisburg and area. Such an event is always difficult to evaluate. Success could be measured by attendance, receipts, or the enjoyment generated. I would say, however, that as long as the Old Home Week Celebration attracts the community support and spirit that it is presently receiving, it is sewing an invaluable function.

Addendum

During my stay in Morrisburg, I was pleasantly surprised by the tourist potential of the area. At the present, Morrisburg is generally passed through by the tourist who spends only alittle time in the region. I feel that this situation could be reversed if the community were to set this as a goal.

The most obvious and yet least known attraction here, is the relocation of Morrisburg in the late 1950's. This is a fascinating subject to outsiders and deserves more recognition. I feel quite strongly that the memory of "old" Morrisburg and its relocation should be preserved in a museum setting. The agencies originally responsible for the relocation have some underlying obligations and I think that they could be solicited for contributions. At the very least, the Historcial and Museums Branch of the Ministry of Culture and Recreation should erect a historcial plaque at the river's edge.

Other tourist-oriented attractions which should be summarized in some form of brochure include:

a. scenic drives (river and country).

b. hotels, motels, campgrounds, cabins, tourist homes.

c. restaurants.

d. Dr. Mahan W. Locke's home.

e. John McIntosh's famous farm.

f. The Old Author's Farm.

Annually, the James Harper Memorial Trophy is put up for grabs in House League play, of the Bantam Division, at Chesterville arena. The games were played last week, and the competition was keen in a bid for the handsome trophy. When the final whistle was blown, Dale McMillan's White Team had won the game and were eligible for the trophy presentation. From the left, Dale McMillan, who coached the Whites, Rudy Grisel, Team Captain and Wendall, Jame's father, who presented the prize. — Staff Photo.
