Last Monday the Diamond Creamery at Massena began filling a contract for 100,000 pounds of butter for the United States Navy, to be packed in five-pound tins. The butter will be manufactured from cream shipped from this side of the river.

The Conservatives of Glengarry held their annual meeting at Alexandria on Tuesday morning. In the afternoon a public meeting was held, at which addresses were delivered by Senator Rutus Pope, A. Sevigny, M.P., and other speakers.

Boxes and hanging baskets can be filled at A. J. Harrison's.

Among holiday visitors in town were the following:—Messrs Ernest Moore, Harry Heiney, Ernest Dillen, John Lahue, John Gordier, Ralph Chrysler and friend, of Montreal; Harry Garlough, Allen Lapierre, Robert Buchan, of Ottawa and Archie Jamieson, Toronto.

A young man and woman from Louisville Landing, N.Y., arrived in Aultsville last Friday, desiring to be married. They went to a local minister, but were somewhat taken aback when informed that they could not get married. The new act requires non-residents to give notice of an intended marriage by publishing the same in the local newspapers once a week for three weeks and to present affidavits and copies of the notices. The couple had to return home sadder but wiser. This is the first time that the new provincial law has been put in force in this district so far as is known.

Miss Sadie Anderson spent a couple of days in Brockville this week.

In a single order from the steamer Yorkton, Mr W. A. Gogo, of the Model Dairy, sold fifty pounds of butter on Saturday.

Mr Irwin Cramer returned to New York on Friday, after spending two weeks with his mother, Mrs I. Cramer, and brother, Niles.

Mr Herbert Robinson, of Toronto and Mr George Barkley, of Winchester, were the guests of their aunt, Mrs Henry Clark, on Saturday.

At a meeting of the Cornwall High School Board last week, the staff of teachers was re-engaged. Increases in salaries, ranging from $50 to $100 were made.

Vegetable plants of every kind at A. J. Harrison's.

Mr and Mrs Charles Empey and children, of Montreal, arrived on Friday to spend the holidays here. They returned home Monday afternoon.

The Maypole Dance and Four-Act Play, "Esmeralda," will be given in the Music Hall, Monday, June 23rd, under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Remember the date.

Mr Chas. Russell and little daughter, Margaret, of Brockville, were holiday visitors at the residence of Mr Cyrus Casselman.

Services in St. James' church on Sunday next will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday School at 10 a.m. during June, July and August. Services in Trinity church at 2.45 p.m.

Wanted—Five strong boys to feed tack machines; must be over 15 years of age; steady employment. Apply at office, Morrisburg Tack Manufacturing Co.

The Dundas Agricultural Society will run its annual excursion to Macdonald College and Farm, Ste Anne de Belleville, Que., per G.T.R., on Friday, June 13th. Look for advertisement giving full particulars.

There is an epidemic of blackleg among cattle in the Kingston district. The disease attacks young cattle particularly, although adult ones are liable to infection, and when stricken are much more difficult to handle.

His Grace Archbishop Hamilton, Metropolitan of Canada, will, it is said, ask the authorities of the Anglican church to allow him to retire from the Archbishopric of Ottawa, owing to his advanced age. Archbishop Hamilton is in his eightieth year.

Dixon Bros' pump factory at Winchester narrowly escaped destruction by fire last week. The prompt use of the firm's own line of hose held the flames in check until the arrival of the fire engine, when the blaze was extinguished.

Yesterday's Ogdensburg News says that Captain James Logan was to undergo an operation in the hospital there for the removal of gall stones. No word has reached here to-day of the Captain's condition and his numerous friends hope that the operation may prove successful.

W. Marsh & Son's Furniture Emporium is complete in every detail with the newest and most up-to-date assortment of all kinds of Furniture, consisting of Dining room, Bedroom and Parlor furniture. Largest stock in Eastern Ontario. A special cash discount of 10 per cent during the next 30 days.

A head-on collision occurred on the C.P.R. at Chesterville last Thursday afternoon. A westbound freight train had pulled into the yard and was standing in front of the station. A despatch came in stating that the special with the "Overseas" mail and baggage had the right-of-way. Just then the crash was heard and the special dashed into the freight. The engineer, firemen and conductor of the special jumped and escaped with slight injuries. A brakeman by the name of McDonald was on the rear of the special and knew nothing of the danger. He was pitched off the car into the ditch and when picked up was unconscious. The fast train to Toronto conveyed him to Smith's Falls. The engines were locked together but did not leave the track. Four or five of the freight cars were badly smashed up, one being driven right into the air and tumbled over on the platform two rods from the station.

Dr. W. E. Crain, of Chrysler, has been elected a member of the council of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, representing the members of the profession in the counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry and Leeds and Grenville.

In the calendar of the Roman Catholic Church last Sunday was the festival of St. Gregory VII, one of the greatest of the Popes. This year's observance was of more than usual interest, as it marks the ninth centenary of the pontiff who first imposed a vow of celibacy on the Catholic clergy.

If you are looking for Oilcloth, Linoleums, Rugs and Art Squares, look up W. Marsh & Son, Furniture Dealers, Lock St. They have the largest stock in Eastern Ontario. Oilcloths in 1-yard and 2 yd widths, 30c a sq. yard. Linoleums in 2 and 4 yard widths at 45c a sq. yard. Ask to see our Money-Back Seamless Rugs, only $13.50.

Not one woman customs detective, but three of them, will be operating along the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence this season. Shopping in Ogdensburg by Canadian women will be marked by greater risks than ever. Yes, but then there is so much satisfaction in it in addition to the excitement of the chase that many will take a chance just the same.—Ogdensburg News.

The curate of a large and fashionable church was endeavoring to teach the significance of white to a Sunday School class. "Why," said he, "does a bride invariably desire to be clothed in white at her marriage?" As no one answered, he explained: "White," said he, "stands for joy and the wedding day is the most joyous occasion of a woman's life." A small boy queried: "Why do the men all wear black?"

Next Sunday, June 1st, will be "Mothers Day" in the Methodist church, Morrisburg. The choir, some 35 or 40 voices—a ladies' choir—will render music suitable for the day. The church will be artistically decorated with white flowers and the suggested bouquet for each one to wear will be a white flower in memory of mother. Come and enjoy these services. The evening service will be a song service. All will be made welcome.

Unless local investors take up $25,000 or the greater portion of it in the Dundas Lumber Mills, Limited, there is a possibility of this valuable industry pulling out of Iroquois in the near future; in fact the company is already in communication with Pembroke Town Council with a view to removing the plant to that town on certain conditions, including the local flotation of $25,000 of stock in the company to add looms and otherwise increase the earning capacity of the plant.—St. Lawrence News.

The Late Colborne Casselman

Word was received here of the death on Wednesday in Saskatchewan of Colborne Casselman, son of Samuel Casselman, of Nudell Bush. The deceased gentleman was principal of the high school in a town near Regina, his death following a ten-days illness from pleuropneumonia.

The late Mr Casselman was in his 32nd year and was well known here, having been a student at the Collegiate Institute, afterwards taking his B.A. degree at Queen's.

The body arrived at Aultsville on the afternoon train, Sunday, and the funeral was held at the Lutheran church, Riverside, on Tuesday, his remains being interred in the Willard cemetery beside those of his mother, who died some twenty years ago.

Besides his wife, who was Miss Pauline Bush, of Aultsville, there remain his father and two brothers, Lorne, of Ottawa and Roy, of Nudell Bush. Mr Sidney Rook, of this town, is an uncle.

Big Paper Mill Deal

One of the biggest paper mill deals in recent years has taken place in Toronto. The Provincial Paper Mills Company, in which Canadian and American interests are concerned, has been incorporated with a capital of $5,000,000. The new company will control the mill of the St. Lawrence Paper Co. at Mille Roches, the Montrose Paper Co. at Thorold, the Barber Paper and Coated Mills, and the Canada Coating Mills at Georgetown.

New Railway for the West

Bill Approved by Railway Committee to Incorporate New Company

Ottawa, May 27.—The Railway Committee this morning approved a bill to incorporate a new Western railway to be known as the Canadian North-western Railway Company. There is a formidable array of directors, consisting of three English Lords. They are Lord Howard De Walden, Lord Clinton and Lord Montague of Beaulieu. Mr W. F. Morgan, Jr., of Paris and New York is another director. Mr Frederick W. Baker and Henry E. Brittain of London, both described as directors of companies are also named as directors. The capitalization of the company is $15,000,000.

The road proposes to run from Winnipeg to Manitou, thence through Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan to Lethbridge. The road then strikes northwest to North Battleford, across to Prince Albert to Le Pas, then south through Dauphin to Brandon across again to Manitou and to Dominion City. The line proposed thence goes northwesterly to Glenora and Altona and back to Winnipeg.

Rural Mail Delivery

Although Rural Mail Delivery has been in operation since 1908, it has not until recently been taken advantage of to the extent its benefits warrant. Since April 1912, however, when a separate Rural Mail Delivery Branch under Superintendent Boldue, formerly Inspector at Ottawa, was created by the Post Office Department, the system has been improved and expanded, and consequently, more widely adopted by the Rural Regulation. The recent regulations provide for the sale of stamps by the mail courier, the prompt delivery of registered matter, the registration of letters for despatch, and the taking of applications for Postal Notes and Money Orders.

These increased facilities, carrying as they do, the advantage of the Money Order System to a farmer's gate, have been appreciated to a large extent in the Ottawa Valley and the St. Lawrence Valley districts, as will be seen from the following list of routes affecting this district now in operation or reported upon. Each route is from twenty to twenty-five miles in length, and is designed to serve one hundred families, more or less.

Importing Pure Bred Percheron Fillies

We have been urged to purchase some good pure bred Percheron fillies for friends, therefore sent a man to France to ship us thirty-six of the best bred mares that could be found in that country. Fourteen of them have been sold and we only need eight more for ourselves.

Progressive farmers who are in favor of increasing and improving their horses, can secure some of the above fillies at cost, on arrival. A good pair of imported brood mares will replace your present team and earn from $400 to $800 every year.

Think the matter over and let us know if you are interested, as we would like to place ten or twelve in this vicinity.

New Senators Appointed

The four Ontario vacancies in the Senate have been filled and the new members were sworn in on Tuesday. The new Senators are Mr E. D. Smith, Col. Mason, Mr Archie McCall, and Mr J. J. Donnelley. The election in South Bruce, made necessary by the elevation of Mr Donnelley to the Senate, will be held shortly.

Henry Love Hanged

Owen Sound, May 27.—Charles Henry Love was hanged at 7.52 this morning for the murder of his wife at Flesherton Station south of here, on December 9th last. He went to the gallows quietly and firmly professing repentance for a wasted life.

FRIEDMANN TREATMENT UNDER BAN

New York Health Commission Claims that it Accelerates, Rather Than Retards, Progress of Disease

New York, May 26.—Dr. Joseph J. O'Connell, health officer of the port of New York, sent a letter today to Health Commissioner Ledlie requesting him to submit to the Board of Health at its next meeting a resolution prohibiting the administration of the Friedmann treatment for tuberculosis in New York "until such time as those interested affirmatively in its administration shall satisfy the health department of its innocuous character."

"The reports of the investigator of your department," reads the letter "whose peculiar experience with tuberculosis gives such reports a rare compelling force, are all to the effect that the dangers which might be apprehended in such a form of treatment are actually present therein. He finds that the patients subjected to this treatment have not improved, but have lost ground to an extent greater than might have been expected from the natural ravages of the disease."

"He finds that the alleged cure apparently has a tendency to accelerate rather than retard the progress of the disease."

"It seems to me that it would be culpable for us to longer hesitate, and that our duty now is to insist upon such a regulation and supervision of this alleged cure. We cannot overlook the fact that this treatment has been exploited much after the manner of the exploitation of certain so-called mining securities and other financial schemes from which the credulous public has suffered."

Inducted at Williamsburg

An adjourned meeting of the Presbytery of Brockville was held at Williamsburg on Tuesday, 27th inst., at 1.30 p. m., with Rev. D. O. McArthur as moderator and Rev. H. Cameron clerk. Mr D. A. Ferguson, licentiate, under call to Williamsburg and Winchester Springs, was examined by the committee appointed by the Presbytery and this being most satisfactory the Presbytery decided to proceed with the ordination and induction as arranged for.

Rev. Mr Cliff preached a most excellent and appropriate sermon, after which Mr Cameron narrated the steps leading up to the call. Mr Ferguson was then solemnly ordained to the holy ministry by prayer by the moderator and the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery.

The newly inducted minister was then suitably addressed as to his duties by Rev. Mr St. Aubin and the people were given necessary counsel by Rev. Mr Cameron. After the service, in which all present were deeply interested, refreshments were served in the Sunday-school room and Mr Ferguson was introduced to many of his new parishioners.

Mr Ferguson, who is a young man of most excellent qualities, enters on his work with the brightest prospects and the heartiest good wishes of the Presbytery and his congregations.

MILLER WILL KEEP SILENT

Canada's State Prisoner Will Appeal to Supreme Court

Montreal, May 26.—Mr A. E. Harvey, K.C., lawyer for R. C. Miller, Canada's State prisoner, deposited funds to-day which will ensure an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Mr Harvey visited his client in Carleton county jail at the end of last week and found Miller just as determined as ever to fight the case, and to remain silent on the subject of the $41,000. Apparently Miller's long sojourn in Carleton county jail has not broken his spirit in any way. In any event he is brightening up with the prospects of an early adjournment of the House, which will mean his immediate release. The appeal from the judgment of the Court of Appeal last week will be on the ground that Miller had already accounted to his directors for the $41,000, and that it is particularly difficult to account for it now, as the period for which Miller is called upon to give an account extends over four years.

BASEBALL

Gananoque 4, Morrisburg 5

The weather on Saturday was ideal for the baseball match between Gananoque and the home team, on the M.C.I. Athletic grounds. The diamond was in good shape, the game was fast, and the only drawback was the smallness of the crowd, which made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The attendance would no doubt have been larger could the game have been arranged for Monday, when Morrisburg took its holiday.

The Gananoque nine, who came down on the afternoon train, proved to be a fast bunch, and until Morrisburg took the bat in the second half of the 4th inning, things looked as if they were going the visitors' way. Mallen pitched a strong game, while Strike, on first, was also a strength to Morrisburg. The home team also showed better field work, having but three left on bases to Gananoque's seven. The visitors changed pitchers in the fourth and catchers in the sixth innings.

Following is the official score:

To the Electors of Winchester Township, Dundas County, Osgoode Township, Carleton County, Russell Township, Russell County, Williamsburg Township, Dundas County:

In order to avoid misunderstanding, the Morrisburg & Ottawa Electric Railway Company begs to notify the Electors in the above townships that they have no interest either directly or indirectly in any bylaws that it is proposed to submit in any of the above townships, relating to the construction or operation of an electric railway. At a later date the Morrisburg & Ottawa Electric Railway Company proposes to submit certain bylaws in connection with its line of railway. At present the Company has entered into a contract providing for construction work being commenced, and until such work is actually commenced, no bylaws will be laid before the electorate.

Dated at Ottawa, May 28th, 1913.

By order of the Board of Directors,

R. A. BISHOP,
Secretary,
The Morrisburg & Ottawa Electric
Railway Company.

But it proved to be ordained that instead of my saying the word, it should come from the general himself. It was a day about the end of September, was comin' out o' the stable, after givin' its oats to the horse, when I seed a great muckle loon come hoppin' on an leg up the drive, mair like a big, ill-favored crow than a man. When I claps my e'en on him I thoct that maybe this was one o' the rascals that the maister had been speakin' about, so without mair ado I fetched out my bit stick with the intention o' tryin' it upon the limber's head. He seed me comin' toward him, and readin' my intention frae my look maybe, or frae the stick in my hand, he p'ud out a lang knife frae his pocket and swore wi' the most awfu' oaths that if I didna stan' back he'd be the death o' me. Ma' instance, the words the chief used was enough ta' mak' the hair stan' straight on your head! I wonder he wasn't struck dead where he stood. We were still standin' opposite each other—he wi' his knife and me wi' the stick—when the general he cam up the drive and found us. Tae my surprise he began ta' talk ta' the stranger as if he'd kenned him a' his days.

"Put your knife in your pocket, corporal," says he. "Your fears have turned your brain."

"Blood and wounds!" says the other. "He'd ha' turned my brain ta' some purpose wi' that muckle stick o' his if I hadn't drawn my stickersnee. You shouldna' keep siccan an auld savage on your premises."

The maister he frowned and looked black at him as though he didna' relish advice comin' frae such a source. Then turnin' ta' me, "You won't be wanted after to-day, Israel," he says; "you have been a guid servant and I ha' been a guid maister. Wi' that he went intae the house, followed by the man that he ca'd the corporal, and frae that day ta' this I have never clapped e'en either on the one or the other. My money was sent out ta' me in an envelope, and havin' said a few pairin' words ta' the cook and the wench wi' reference ta' the wrath ta' come and the treasure that is richer than rubies, I shook the dust o' Cloomber frae my feet for ever.

Maister Pothergill West says I maunna' express an opinion as ta' what cum aboot afterwar, but maun confine mysel' ta' what I saw mysel'. Nae doubt he has his reasons for this—and far be it frae me ta' say that he is no guid an' aye, but I maun say this, that what happened didna' surprise me. It was just as I expected, and so I said ta' Maister Donald McSaw. I've tauld ye a' aboot it noo and I havena' a word ta' add or ta' withdraw. I'm mair obliged ta' Maister Mathew Clark for puttin' it a' doon in writin' for me, and if there's a'ny o' my wish ta' speer anything mair o' me I'm well kenned and respectit in Ecclefechan, and Maister McNeill, the factor o' Wigtown, can aye tell where I am ta' be found.

CHAPTER IX.
(Narrative of John Easterling, F.R.C.P., Edin.)

Having given the statement of Israel Stakes in extensor, I shall now append a short memorandum from Dr. Easterling now practising at Stranraer. It is true that the doctor was only once within the walls of Cloomber during its tenancy by General Heatherstone, but there were some circumstances connected with this visit which made it valuable, especially when considered as a supplement to the experiences which I have just submitted to the reader. The doctor has found time amid the calls of a busy country practice to jot down his recollections, and I feel that I cannot do better than subjoin them exactly as they stand.

I have very much pleasure in furnishing Mr. Pothergill West with an account of my solitary visit to Cloomber Hall, not only on account of the esteem which I have formed for that gentleman ever since his residence at Branksome, but also because it is my conviction that the facts in the case of General Heatherstone are of such a singular nature that it is of the highest importance that they should be placed before the public in a trustworthy manner.

It was about the beginning of September of the year before last that I received a note from Mrs. Heatherstone, of Cloomber Hall, desiring me to make a professional call upon her husband, whose health, she said, had been for some time in a very unsatisfactory state. I had heard something of the Heatherstones and of the strange seclusion in which they lived, so that I was very much pleased at this opportunity of making their closer acquaintance, and lost no time in complying with her request. I had known the Hall in the old days of Mr. McVittie, the original proprietor, and I was astonished on arriving at the avenue gate to observe the changes which had taken place. The gate itself, which used to yawn so hospitably upon the road, was now barred and locked, and a high wooden fence with nails upon the top encircled the whole grounds. The drive itself was leaf-strewn and uncared for, and the whole place had a depressing air of neglect and decay.

I had to knock twice before a servant maid opened the door and showed me through a dingy hall into a small room, where sat an elderly, careworn lady, who introduced herself as Mrs. Heatherstone. With her pale face, her gray hair, her sad, colorless eyes and her faded silk dress, she was in perfect keeping with her melancholy surroundings.

"You find us in much trouble, doctor," she said in a quiet, refined voice. "My poor husband has had a great deal to worry him, and his nervous system for a long time has been in a very weak state. We came to this part of the country in the hope that the bracing air and the quiet would have a good effect upon him. Instead of improving, however, he has seemed to grow weaker, and this morning he is in a high fever and a little inclined to be delirious. The children and I were so frightened that we sent for you at once. If you will follow me I will take you to the general's bedroom."

She led the way down a series of corridors to the chamber of the sick man, which was situated in the extreme wing of the building. It was a carpetless, bleak-looking room, scantily furnished with a small bedstead, a campaigning chair, and a plain deal table, on which were scattered numerous papers and books. In the center of this table there stood a large object irregular outline which was covered over with a sheet of linen. All round the walls and in the corners were arranged a very choice and varied collection of arms, principally swords, some of which were of the straight pattern in common use in the British army, while among the others were scimitars, tulwars, eucharries, and a score of other specimens of Oriental workmanship. Many of these were richly mounted with inlaid scabbards and hilts sparkling with precious stones, so that there was a piquant contrast between the simplicity of the apartment and the wealth which glittered on the walls. I had little time, however, to observe the general's collection, since the general himself lay upon his couch and was evidently in sore need of my services.

He was lying with his head turned half away from us, breathing heavily, and apparently unconscious of our presence. His flush, staring eyes and the deep hectic light upon his cheek showed that his fever was at its height. I advanced to the bedside, and, stooping over him, I placed my fingers upon his pulse, when immediately he sprang up into the sitting position and struck at me frenziedly with his clenched hands. I have never seen such intensity of fear and horror stamped upon a human face as appeared upon that which was now glaring up at me.

"Bloodhound!" he yelled; "let me go—let me go, say! Keep your hands off me! It is not enough that my life has been ruined? When is it all to end? How long am I to endure it?"

"Hush, dear, hush!" said his wife in a soothing voice, passing her cool hand over his heated forehead. "This is Doctor Easterling, from Stranraer. He has not come to harm you, but to do you good."

The general dropped wearily back upon his pillow, and I could see by the changed expression of his face that the doctor's reassurance had been effective.

"No danger, eh?" he said. "There never is any danger for me. I am as hard to kill as the Wandering Jew. I am quite clear in the head now, Mary; so you may leave me with the doctor."

Mrs. Heatherstone left the room—rather unwillingly, as I thought—and I sat down by the bedside to listen to anything which my patient might have to communicate.

"I want you to examine my liver," he said, when the door was closed. "I used to have an abscess there, and Brodie, the staff surgeon, said that it was ten to one that it would carry me off. I have not felt much of it since I left the East. This is where it used to be, just under the angle of the ribs."

"I can find the place," said I, after making a careful examination; "but I am happy to tell you that the abscess has either been entirely absorbed, or has turned calcareous, as these solitary abscesses will. There is no fear of its doing you any harm now."

He seemed to be by no means overjoyed at the intelligence. "Things always happen so with me," he said moodily. "Now, another fellow was feverish and delirious he would surely be in some danger; and yet you tell me that I am in none. Look at this, now."

He bared his chest and showed me a puckered wound over the region of the heart. "That's where the Jemal bullet of a hill man went in. You would think that was in the right spot to settle a man; and yet what does it do but glance upon a rib, and go clean round and out at the back, without so much as penetrating what you medics call the pleura. Did ever you hear of such a thing?"

"You were certainly born under a lucky star," I observed, with a smile.

"That's a matter of opinion," he answered, shaking his head. "Death has no terrors for me, if it will but come in some familiar form; but I confess that the anticipation of some strange, some preternatural form of death is very terrible and unnerving."

"You mean," said I, rather puzzled at his remark, "that you would prefer a natural death to a death by violence?"

"No, I don't mean that exactly," he answered. "I am too familiar with cold steel and lead to be afraid of either. Do you know anything about odyle force, doctor?"

"No, I do not," I replied, glancing sharply at him to see if there were any signs of his delirium returning. His expression was intelligent, however, and the feverish flush had faded from his cheeks.

"Ah, you western scientific men are very much behind the day in some things," he remarked. "In all that is material and conducive to the comfort of the body you are preeminent, but in what concerns the subtle force of nature and the latent powers of the human spirit your best men are centuries behind the humblest coolies of India. Countless generations of beef-eating, comfort-loving ancestors have given our animal instincts the command over our spiritual ones. The body, which should have been a mere tool for the use of the soul, has now become a degrading prison in which it is confined. The Oriental soul and body are not so wedded together as ours are, and there is far less wretchedness when they part in death."

"They do not appear to derive much benefit from this peculiarity in their organization," I remarked, incredulously.

"Merely the benefit of superior knowledge," the general answered. "If you were to go to India, probably the very first thing you would see in the way of amusement would be a native doing what is called the mango trick. Of course you have heard or read of it. The fellow plants a mango seed, and makes passes over it until it sprouts and bears leaves and fruit—all in the space of half an hour. It is not really a trick—it is a power. These men know more than your Pythias or Huxleys do about nature's processes, and they can accelerate or retard her workings by subtle means of which we have no conception. These low-caste conjurers—as they are called—are mere vulgar dabblers, but the men who have trod the higher path, the brethren of the Ragi-zog, are far more our superiors in knowledge than we are of the Hottentots or Patagonians."

"You speak as if you were well acquainted with them," I remarked.

"To my cost, I do," he answered. "I have been brought in contact with them in a way in which I trust no other poor devil ever will be. But, really, as regards odyle force you ought to know something of it, for it has a great future before it in your profession. You should read Reichenbach's 'Researches on Magnetism and Vital Force,' and Gregory's 'Letters on Animal Magnetism.' These, supplemented by the twenty-seven Aphorisms of Mesmer, and the works of Dr. Justus Kerner, of Weinsberg, would enlarge your ideas."

I did not particularly relish having a course of reading prescribed for me on a subject connected with my own profession, so I made no comment, but rose to take my departure. Before doing so I felt his pulse once more, and found that the fever had entirely left him, in the sudden unaccountable fashion which is peculiar to these malarious types of disease. I turned my face toward him to congratulate him upon his improvement, and stretched out my hand at the same time to pick my gloves from the table, with the result that I raised not only my own property, but also the linen cloth which was arranged over some object in the center. I might not have noticed what I had done had I not seen an angry look upon the invalid's face and heard him utter an impatient exclamation. I at once turned, and replaced the cloth so promptly that I should have been unable to say what was underneath it, beyond having a general impression that it looked like a bride cake.

"All right, doctor," the general said good humoredly, perceiving how entirely accidental the incident was. "There is no reason why you should not see it, and stretching out my hand I pulled away the linen covering for the second time. I then perceived that what I had taken for a bride cake was really an admirably executed model of a lofty range of mountains, whose snow-clad peaks were not unlike the familiar sugar pinnacles and minarets.

"These are the Himalayas, or at least the Surinam branch of them," he remarked, "showing the principal passes between India and Afghanistan. It is an excellent model. This ground has a special interest for me, because it is the scene of my first campaign. There is the pass opposite Kalabagh and the Thul Valley, where I was engaged during the summer of 1841 in protecting the convoys and keeping the Afride in order. It wasn't a sinicure I promise you."

"And this," said I, indicating a blood-red spot which had been marked on one side of the pass which he had pointed out—"this is the scene of some fight in which you were engaged."

"Yes, we had a skirmish there," he answered, leaning forward and looking at the red mark. "We were attacked by—"

"At this moment he fell back upon his pillow, as if he had been shot, while the same look of horror came over his face which I had observed when I first entered the room. At the same instant there came, apparently from the air immediately above his head, a sharp, ringing, tinkling sound, which I can only compare to the noise made by a bicycle alarm, though it differed from this in having a distinctly throbbing character. I have never, before or since, heard any sound which could be confounded with it. I stared round in astonishment, wondering where it could have come from, but without perceiving anything to which it could be ascribed.

"It's all right, doctor," the general said with a forced smile. "It's only my private gong, which perhaps you had better step downstairs and write my prescription in the dining-room."

He was evidently anxious to get rid of me; so I was forced to take my departure, though I would gladly have stayed a little longer, in the hope of learning something as to the origin of the mysterious sound. I drove away from the house with the full determination of calling again upon my interesting patient, and endeavoring to elicit some further particulars as to his past life and his present circumstances. I was destined, however, to be disappointed; for I received that very evening a note from the general himself, inclosing a handsome fee for my single visit, and informing me that my treatment had done him so much good that he considered himself to be convalescent, and would not trouble me to see him again. This was the last and the only communication which I ever received from the tenant of Cloomber.

I have been frequently asked by neighbors and others who were interested in the matter, whether he gave me the impression of insanity. To this I must hesitatingly answer in the negative. On the contrary, his remarks gave me the idea of a man who had both read and thought deeply. I observed, however, during our single interview, that his reflexes were feeble, his arcus senilis well marked, and his arteries atheromatous. All signs that his constitution was in an unsatisfactory condition, and that a sudden crisis might be apprehended.

THE CANDID CRITIC.

The most candid critic of the present British Government is undoubtedly Mr. Tim Healy, whose wit becomes more caustic as he gets older. Mr. Healy's natural disposition is to be "agin" measures and men, but his opposition usually takes such a refreshing and stimulating form that he never becomes a bore.

Mr. Healy owes his present position entirely to his own efforts. He began to earn his living when he was thirteen, and was for several years a clerk in the service of the North-Eastern Railway Company at Newcastle. Turning his attention to journalism he joined the staff of the "Nation," and occupied his spare time by reading for the Bar. His abilities attracted the attention of Mr. Parnell, who made him his private secretary, and then secured his election as member for Waterford.

Mr. Healy's vitrolic methods soon attracted attention in Parliament. He has probably said more witty things than any of his contemporaries in the House of Commons. On one occasion he described a bill as "the offspring of a headache at the Irish Office," whilst he declared that the appointment of the late Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman as Chief Secretary was an attempt to govern Ireland with Scotch jokes. One day he convulsed the House by declaring: "There are two united parties in this House; I'm one of them," and there was a bit of personal feeling in his plaint that the Speaker "sat on the pounce to catch errant Irishmen."

Though Mr. Healy often displays great bitterness, he is a very emotional man, who takes a delight in the society of children, and the story is told of a ten-year-old girl who said to a gentleman who failed to attract her attention: "To tell you the truth, Mr. Healy has spoiled me for all other men!"

Reason Enough.
"But, Peter, you should be grateful that you were saved from drowning, and not cry like that."
"Yes, but there come my aunts, and now I'll be kissed all the afternoon."

Treat people kindly and you will find them easier to work.
In times of peace a lot of otherwise sensible people prepare to get married.

A traveller in the west came across two men having a heated argument. The traveller drew nearer and heard: "What do you know about the Lord's Prayer? I'll bet you $10 you can't repeat the first line." "I'll take the bet," said the other man, and, turning to the stranger, asked him to hold the money. "Now what is the first line?" asked the first one. "Now I lay me down to sleep." "You win," said the first man. "I didn't think you knew it."

How Concrete Work Was Made Easy For You

UNTIL a few years ago farmers considered concrete a rather mysterious material, that could be used successfully only by experts. They knew that upon the quality of the cement depended much of the success of concrete work. They had no means of testing cement, such as big contractors employ, and so could not be sure of its quality. Yet the farmer needed concrete. He was kept from using this best and most economical of materials by 1. Lack of knowledge of how to mix and place concrete. 2. Lack of a brand of cement upon the quality of which he could absolutely rely.

Canada Cement
has supplied both these requirements. We employed men to make a thorough investigation of the farmer's requirements; to find out where and how he could use concrete with profit to himself; to discover all problems he might come across and to solve them. This investigation was expensive. But when it was completed we had the material for our campaign to show the farmer how and where to use concrete, and we printed a book, "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete," for free distribution. That book makes every farmer who reads it a concrete expert, as far as his needs are concerned. He finds that there is nothing mysterious about concrete—that a few simple rules supply all the knowledge required. At the same time we met the farmers' second objection—inability to test the quality of cement—by producing cement of a quality that does not need to be tested. The Canada Cement that you buy by the bag is the same Canada Cement that is sold by the train-load for great elevators, buildings and bridges. There is a Canada Cement Dealer in Your Neighborhood. If you have not already done so, write for the book "What the Farmer can do with Concrete." It is Free.

This Label is your assurance of satisfactory concrete work

STRENGTH FOR WEAK STOMACH Can Only Be Had Through Rich Red Blood

When the blood is poor and thin and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with oxidized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentations of the food goes on, with the formation of gas and certain acids. The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved, the sour risings in the throat, and the burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acid fermentations. There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or to "sweeten the stomach," as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure, rich blood which will tone up the stomach and enable it to do the work nature intended it to do, is the only road to a cure. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood—that is why they cure even the most obstinate cases of indigestion. The following is a bit of proof. Miss Minnie Greene, of Hall's Bridge, Ont., says: "About a year ago I was greatly troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress. I would feel as though I was starved, but when meal time came the sight of food caused a feeling of loathing. There were days when I could not even hold milk on my stomach, and my head would ache so that I could hardly keep from screaming. Only those who have suffered from stomach trouble know the torture I suffered. I tried almost every remedy recommended, but found not the least benefit until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These I used for a couple of months and they worked a perfect cure and I am enjoying good health and able to eat freely all kinds of food."

If you are suffering from indigestion or any other trouble due to poor watery blood, begin to cure yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WAITED FOR LOVER 40 YEARS. A Berlin Character Dies in Charity Hospital.

Linden Julie, who took her name from the Unter den Linden thoroughfare, Berlin, Germany, on which she kept a vain watch daily for 42 years for the return of her soldier lover, is dead.

A mild insanity seized Julie when her sweetheart failed to return from the Franco-German War in 1871. She never lost faith that he would some day turn up, and, rain or shine, huddled up in a shawl, she kept watch in the streets, each year growing more ragged and white-haired. The police made an exception of her case in the rule which does not allow loiterers on the street, as they had compassion upon the faithful Julie.

WHEN BABY CRIES.

When the baby cries continually do not put it down for pure ugliness—that is not the baby's nature—it is to be happy and laughing. Every baby should cry on an average of fifteen or twenty minutes a day—that is how he strengthens his lungs. But mothers if your baby gives sharp piercing cries or low sobbing wails, he is in pain and needs attention. Nothing will relieve the little one so quickly as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels, expel worms, break up cold, and will make baby healthy and happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

great merchant. Mr. Stewart hoped to make it a centre for religiously inclined persons. To that end the first building erected was a great cathedral.
"Then," said Mr. Page's friend, "Mr. Stewart had built twelve big, hip-roofed, high ceilinged, wide-floored, ugly, old-fashioned houses. No houses could be more comfortable, provided their occupants do not unduly worship beauty. Garden City promptly named these the Twelve Apostles. Then Mr. Stewart built twelve other houses on a lesser plan. They are known as the Minor Prophets."
Mr. Page lives in one of the Twelve Apostles.
"His friends used to know it as St. James," said the informer. "But last winter the furnace blew out, the pipes were frozen, and the roof sprung a leak. Whereupon it was rechristened Judas Iscariot."

Musical.
"I don't believe the story, do you?" "What story?" "About Mrs. Youngbride. They say she went into a butcher's shop the other day, and seeing a side of spareribs on the counter, she remarked: 'Why, I didn't know you kept xylophones here.'"

"OLD ST. PAUL'S."

Present Cathedral Was Begun in Charles II.'s Reign.

The history of "Old St. Paul's" is probably the most remarkable in the history of the churches of London. It was the church of Whittington, Sir Thomas Moore and Erasmus, while Colet was one of its famous deans. There was the noted "St. Paul's Walk," and the crypt used after 1256 as the parish church of St. Furths, was the scene of the tragedy of Ainsworth's novel. The present building is the third, possibly the fourth, church that has occupied the present site, and by some it is thought probable that a temple to Diana preceded the church.

It is said that Ethelbert, King of Kent, built the first St. Paul's in 610, which was endowed with the manor of Tillingham in Essex, an endowment retained to-day by the Dean and Chapter.

The church in which Kings Edmund and Canute were crowned was destroyed by fire, but the date of this fire is uncertain. It was entirely rebuilt in 962, but was again burnt down in 1087.

The same year was begun by Bishop Maritus the church that is known to history as "Old St. Paul's."

It was in the Gothic style in the form of a Latin cross, 960 feet long, 130 feet broad, with a lead-covered wooden spire rising to the height of 520 feet. Old St. Paul's was much damaged by fire again in 1137, by lightning in 1444, and again by fire in 1561, and was totally destroyed by the great fire of 1666.
To those who love their London—and where is the Englishman that does not?—the great fire of London was a blessing. When one comes to consider how miserably out of place to-day would be "Old St. Paul's," Plans for the present building were taken in hand by the Government of Charles II. With the completion of the dome in 1710 the work was done at a cost of $7,556,010. The beautiful building, which has so lately been menaced by suffragettes, is also built in the form of a cross. Its length is 510 feet and general height 100 feet, and one of the chief features is the stately portico with its slender Corinthian columns.

All the Tired Nervous Women CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Madame Perreault Tells How She Cured Her Kidneys With Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Found Health and Contentment.

Verner, Ont., May 19 (Special)—"I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well." Those are the words of Madame Eugene Perreault, a highly-respected lady of this place and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.
"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perreault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, rundown, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perreault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

PAINT PRISON CELLS VIOLET

Russian Form of Punishment Stupifies Prisoners' Brains.

Have you ever stopped to think of the important part that color plays in your life? Possibly not, but psychologists and some medical specialists—and they are subject—say that some colors have all sorts of curious effects to answer for.

After a revolutionary outbreak some years ago in Russia, the fact came out that the punishment meted out to several of the leaders of the rising was confinement in cells whose walls were painted violet. A few weeks spent in these cells turned keen-witted restless men into dull, stupid fellows, who moved and spoke as dying men do after they have lost the power over brain and body.

The effect of red is even more striking. Red is said to produce restlessness and excitability, and no specialists will allow a highly nervous patient to remain long in a room that is either papered or furnished in that shade. And dress-makers complain that to work for any length of time upon a garment that is tinted red will cause the seamstress to become tired, have a headache, and feel nauseated. Perhaps that is why blue, brown and white have their turns as the "most popular color," while red is always a matter of individual taste, except in the matter of occasional trimming.

HER "BEST FRIEND."

A Woman Thus Speaks of Postum.

We usually consider our best friends those who treat us best. Some persons think tea and coffee are real friends, but watch them carefully awhile and observe that they are two of the meanest of all enemies for they stab one while professing friendship.

Tea and coffee contain a poisonous drug—caffeine—which injures the delicate nervous system and frequently sets up disease in one or more organs of the body, if its use is persisted in.

"I had heart palpitation and nervousness for four years and the doctor told me the trouble was caused by coffee. He advised me to leave it off, but I thought I could not," writes a Western lady.
"On the advice of a friend I tried Postum and it so satisfied me I did not care for coffee after a few days' trial of Postum."

"As weeks went by and I continued to use Postum my weight increased from 98 to 118 pounds, and the heart trouble left me. I have used it a year now and am stronger than I ever was. I can hustle up stairs without any heart palpitation, and I am free from nervousness."

"My children are very fond of Postum and it agrees with them. My sister liked it when she drank it at my house; now she has Postum at home and has become very fond of it. You may use my name if you wish as I am not ashamed of praising my best friend—Postum." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Postum now comes in new concentrated form called Instant Postum. It is regular Postum, so processed at the factory that only the soluble portions are retained.
A spoonful of Instant Postum with hot water, and sugar and cream to taste, produce instantly a delicious beverage.

Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

TREACHERY IN TREASON.

Informers of Secrets Are Sure to Meet Violent Death.

Because he was a traitor to the traitors with whom he was leagued, an Indian Anarchist was recently shot dead by two of his comrades in Calcutta.

His fate is a common one with informers. Not all the power and money behind the British Government was able to secure immunity for Carey, the Irish "Invincible," who turned approver in connection with the Phoenix Park murders.

Father Gapon is now known to have been hanged as a traitor by the Russian Terrorists. He was lured to a house in a suburb of St. Petersburg, subjected to a mock trial, sentenced, and executed. In the same way Dr. Cronin was put to death at Chicago, in 1889. He was a member of an American-Irish society of dynamiters known as the Chan-na-Gael, and he was also a British Secret Service agent.

How were these men betrayed? No one knows exactly. An incautious look! A carelessly-uttered word! Sir Robert Anderson has left it on record how one of his secret agents in Dublin, a supposed Fenian, lost his life because of a chance remark uttered over the dinner-table by a highly-placed official who ought to have known better.—London Answers.

MOVING DAY FOR MRS. LYNX.

How She Coaxed Her Young Ones to Follow Her.

The domestic life of the American lynx is not often exposed to the observation of a sympathetic human being. All the more interesting is this little incident, of which a contributor to the Outing Magazine was a witness:

I watched a lynx family moving out one day. It was an interesting sight. I was cruising up a mountain road to a clump of cedar timber, and had no weapon except my ax. While I was creeping silently through the timber, I heard a cat mewing. I seated myself on a fallen log just at the edge of the dense timber, and waited. Presently I decided that the sound came from a fallen hollow cedar, a few rods from where I sat.

A lynx appeared at the opening, looked back into the hollow, and mewed encouragingly. She was joined by two half-grown kittens that stood blinking at the bright sunlight. The old one moved forward a few feet and called to her brood. They toddled out, and joined her. She played with them, cuffed them about, and bit at them, mewing and purring the while, exactly as a tabby does with her family.

In a short time she moved on again, stopped, and coaxed them to follow. It took her half an hour to lead them into the protection of the forest. My ax was not an effective weapon, but had I been otherwise armed, I could not have brought myself to molest the mother and her young.

Do Your Looks Quite Satisfy You?

If Your Color is Bad, if You Suffer From Pimples, Here is Good Advice.

Fine Results in Two Weeks.

Miss Nettie E. Callaghan, a well-known young lady in Middleton, writes as follows: "I was affected for two years with a rash, and ugly looking pimples that spread over my face. My color was poor, and my blood evidently completely out of order. Certainly it was a most despairing sort of a case, because various treatments did but little to help me. A friend of mine in Toronto, Ont., advised me to get Dr. Hamilton's Pills, so I sent at once for five boxes. In two weeks I felt like new—looks improved, spirits rose, and I felt I was getting well. I have used this remedy for a long time, and now wouldn't be without it."

Italy's War Strength.

The figures for the year 1911 give Italy a peace strength of 225,000; a war strength of 525,000, and "available for duty unorganized," 1,200,000. The latter figures are, of course, based on the estimated male population of military age, and are probably correct. Figures for the same year give Italy 7 modern battleships, 5 other battleships, 7 first-class cruisers, 3 second-class cruisers, 13 third-class cruisers, 3 gunboats, 33 destroyers, 75 torpedo boats and 19 submarines. Personnel of navy, officers and men, 29,941.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him severely. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

The Leader
ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY FROM ITS OFFICE ON MAIN STREET,
MORRISBURG, BY
The Leader Publishing Co.
THURSDAY, MAY 29th, 1913.

Acting for the Liberal minority in the Commons, the Liberal majority in the Senate yesterday indicated that they would endeavor to kill the Naval Aid Bill which aims to grant assistance to the defenses of the Empire by furnishing three Dreadnoughts. The majority leader, Sir George Ross, moved an amendment to the Bill, "That this House is not justified in giving its assent to this Bill until it is submitted to the judgment of the country." In substance, this is the same amendment as that moved by Senator Lougheed when the Laurier Naval Service bill was before the Senate in 1910. The Liberal majority rejected the amendment then, yet now they are applying it to kill the present naval bill. In moving the amendment, Sir George Ross said he was a good Imperialist. It is difficult to see how he reconciles his action to his words.

The Young Men's Christian Association Extending Its Activities

It is interesting to note that the Young Men's Christian Association is advancing another step in their great work of assisting young men. They are constantly reaching out far beyond the bounds of their immediate membership, and are now doing a work which encircles the world in its effort to give the helping hand to any young men needing assistance. A new department of the work recently organized in the Toronto Central Branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is one which should be known to every one. It is a co-operative effort between the christian churches and the Young Men's Christian Association in which they unitedly undertake to look after all young men coming to Toronto as strangers, putting them in touch with employment, good rooming and boarding houses, proper companions and with prominent young men of the church, etc. "Key-men" are being appointed in every church of Toronto, men who assume the responsibility of looking up young men whose names may be sent to them by the Secretary of the work. "Key-men" are also being appointed in outlying municipalities whose duty it is to notify the Secretary of the Inter-Community work of any young man leaving his home town and for whom he is to work, etc. Information is also being sent in from many other sources in Canada, United States and the British Isles as to young men coming to Toronto, and hundreds are already being looked after. Parents and friends of young men going to Toronto will be glad to know of this important move on the part of the Y.M.C.A. and the churches, and will, no doubt, take the opportunity of notifying the Secretary of the Inter-Community work, Mr E. F. Trimble, at the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, of any friends going to Toronto to live. We understand that, without any properly organized effort, the Central Branch of the Toronto Young Men's Christian Association has assisted in different ways more than 5,000 men during the year ending May 1st last, fully 1,000 of these being assisted in securing employment. That being the case, the possibilities for good in this new department, with the churches assisting in every way, are beyond calculation. We are pleased to give this information to the public through the columns of our paper, knowing that by doing so we are assisting in one of the greatest movements the Young Men's Christian Association has ever undertaken.

Prominent People Proud To Testify For "Fruit-a-tives"

MR. TIMOTHY McGRATH
130 ATLANTIC AVE., MONTREAL,
MARCH 1st, 1912.

"For years, I suffered from Rheumatism, being unable to work for weeks at a time and spent hundreds of dollars on doctor's medicines, besides receiving treatment at Notre Dame Hospital where I was informed that I was incurable. I was discouraged when a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. After using three packages, I felt relieved and continued until I had used five packages when a complete cure was the result after years of doctoring failed. I consider 'Fruit-a-tives' a wonderful remedy. You are at liberty to use this testimonial to prove to others the good that 'Fruit-a-tives' has done me!"

St. Lawrence Water Tested

Over Two Thousand Samples Tested and Reported Upon (Brockville Times)

F. A. Dallyn, B.A., S.C. provincial sanitary engineer, and his staff, have completed the tests made of the water in this district and the reports have been sent on to headquarters.

These are the tests which have been conducted under the joint management of the United States and Ontario authorities on the recommendation of the International waterways.

The staff left on Thursday night for Niagara-on-the-Lake, where the test will go on with the work there at once.

The tests were made all the way from Ogdensburg, N.Y., to Kingston, and it is stated that over two thousand samples of water were secured.

Dr. W. R. Jaffray and C. A. Avery, B.A., S.C., assisted in the work. Dr. Jaffray made all the tests of water from Gananoque to Ogdensburg.

Most favorable weather was encountered for the tests. The men had a laboratory and boats to make all the trips.

This inspection is being made to have some definite report concerning the pollution of the waters.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by all druggists, 75c. Paracelsus (Contributed)
On Friday evening last Dean Goodwin, D. Sc., of the School of Mining, Queen's University, Kingston, delivered an interesting and instructive lecture to a large and representative audience in St. James' Hall. The subject was "Paracelsus" or Philippus Aureolus Theophrastus Bombastus von Hohenheim, a Swiss Physician and Naturalist who lived about the beginning of the sixteenth century. The lecture was illustrated with lantern views, and the learned professor drew some very practical lessons from the life of a man who died young, and whose life was not altogether what might be called a success. Before introducing the speaker the chairman called upon the Misses Summers, Miss G. Sherman and Miss Waddleigh, who rendered an instrumental duet, a vocal solo, and one of Dr. Drummond's readings, respectively, and were heartily applauded by the audience. At the close of the lecture the Rev. Mr Cameron moved that the thanks of the audience be tendered Dr. Goodwin for coming to Morrisburg and delivering such an interesting lecture, and he also expressed the opinion that should the Doctor come to Morrisburg again on a similar visit there would be a much larger audience. The Rev. Mr Cameron's resolution was seconded by Mr Wm Eager. In replying to the vote of thanks Dr Goodwin expressed his pleasure at being in Morrisburg and said he would be pleased to come again. The audience then joined in singing the National Anthem.

OUR LETTER FROM TORONTO

WHAT IS BEING DISCUSSED IN THE CITY AT THE PRESENT TIME.

Outside and Inside Legislative Halls—Danger of High Water—Enormous Figures—Millions for Schools.

As this is written the tulip beds surrounding the Parliament Buildings in Queen's Park are a blaze of glory, the verdure of the grass and trees has reached a mid-June maturity and the idyllic scene breathes no suspicion of the stirring events within the brown stone walls that marked the closing days of the session of 1913. Somewhat the tranquility and beauty of May in Queen's Park do not fit in with violent partisan disputes. A wintry scene is not inappropriate. After one has braved the stinging west wind which in February or March sweeps across the long paved path from College street to the buildings and swirls and eddies around the entrance with particular viciousness, it seems to be in accord with the fitness of things that the warring of the elements outside should be matched with political turbulence inside.

A May prorogation of the Legislature is unusual. Needless to say, it is not popular with the members, and when the Lieutenant Governor (garbed this time in plain black trousers, not the gay white satin which earlier in the year added to the splendor of the occasion) attended to despatch the final formalities, there was a bare quorum of members in attendance. The Proudfoot charges, which were the chief cause of the late prorogation prevented the annual disbanding being characterized by that feeling of goodfellowship among the members which is generally observable. The British House of Commons has been described as the first club in the world, and the spirit of the club is noticeable also in the Legislature. In ordinary times members of the opposing parties mix on terms of the utmost friendliness, and one who pictures them as mortal enemies, hardly speaking to one another, is badly mistaken. But an incident such as the Proudfoot attack, rousing partisan feelings and resulting in charges of unfairness on both sides, does much to bury inter-party friendliness. On such occasions the good fellows retire to the background and the fighters come to the front.

Lake Ontario on Rampage.
Some apprehension is felt on account of the unusually high level of the water in Lake Ontario during the present year. It is now almost three feet higher than the average, and as it generally continues rising until early in June, it is possible that all records, which have been kept for 50 years back, will be broken.

No one understands what causes the fluctuation of the water level in the Great Lakes. At Toronto fluctuations have been observed covering a range of six feet. The lowest ever recorded was when the level sank to 242.92 feet above the mean sea level at New York. This was on May 18th, 1870. The highest reached was on May 6th, 1870, when the level was 248.96 feet above the mean level at New York. For a few weeks past the level has been hovering around 248 feet, or, as it is technically described, 26 inches above zero. Zero being a point

BRITONS' WINTER PARADISE

THE BEAUTIFUL FRENCH TOWN OF CANNES.

Its Hotels Are Generally Run By Germans and Are Very Expensive.

Cannes is the winter paradise of the Englishman. Just west of the town are splendid golf links. Hereabouts is the most famous polo playing on the Riviera, and here, both on shore and back in the hills, are most wonderful villas, mostly inhabited by English. At a central point of the town and coast is a statue of the late English king, Edward VII., in the square-cut short coat and cap of a yachtman. Three-quarters of a century ago Lord Brougham rode on donkey-back, as one may ride to-day, over the mountain, and discovered Cannes and the Bay of Napoule, on which it is situated. Therefore, his name is here perpetuated in park, statue, etc.

There had, though, been a town here before the famous English lawyer arrived. In fact, a Roman consul destroyed one town that stood here as early as 55 B.C.

The new glory of the place is entirely due to the beauty of its surroundings and the "salubrity of its climate, also to the initiative of two Englishmen, the famous Lord Brougham and Sir Robinson Woolfield."

French Sky—English Streets.

The guide-book says: "Cannes is very French and very Provencale as regards its sun, its blue sky, and its southern flora, but the town has become Anglicized by the regularity and cleanliness of its new streets, lined with buildings resembling palaces and luxurious hotels, which leave nothing to be desired as regards comfort and sanitary arrangements."

These hotels seem to be neither French nor English. They are mostly run by Germans. It is expensive living at the hotels, but if you should choose to hire a furnished house, there is no place in the world where you could live much more cheaply than at Cannes, and, delightfully, especially if you could live on air, oranges, salad greens, and oil, with fish, those that swim and those in shells. If one is to judge by the hundreds of feet of fish net beach or esplanade in the west, a great deal of fishing must be done.

The market is but mildly interesting. The confectionery shops, like many of the shops along the shopping street, are most of them fine, and contain quantities of candied fruits. But this whole coast, even to Genoa, Italy, is famous for this business. Whole melons, whole oranges, peaches, etc., are treated by a long process.

A specialty of this neighborhood is a small mandarin. A great many of these little fruits are candied. In one of the shops there is a fancy basket which must hold a bushel, and this is packed with these fruits

In the Most Beautiful Variety.

One can buy ripe olives in the market here, and olive oil as well as orange flower water are both manufactured in the town. Both are as good as any that one can get anywhere in the world, and one can have for 6 cents a bottle of either, containing as much as we should pay about 75 cents or a $1 for at home.

Of course, the natives cook with oil. A native cook would not make English toasted bread unless she was taught to do so, but instead, if she wanted something of this sort, would fry her bread in oil until it was quite hard.

On the boulevard that runs along the shore, like a sort of embankment, there are various places where sewage water comes down from the hills back. At these places the gulls gather, and near the casino, where there is a great viaduct, people stand and feed these birds, which the French call "les mouettes."

A bread merchant stands near, and from him people purchase what they throw to the hundreds of gulls, which catch great pieces that are tossed in the air, make a circle, and are back again for another piece.

The pieces of bread that fall into the water are never lost, for the younger and less courageous birds hover, ready to jump in after any crumbs that fall. When by themselves they make no great noise, but, when being fed in this way, they scream constantly.

The casino dining-room, a few steps lower than the tea-room, looks like an ideal place to eat in, with the blue Mediterranean stretching away from its great plate glass windows.

Cause of Poverty.

Some men are poor because they have smoked up their cake and guzzled their mess of portage.

A man may think he has extraordinary business ability if he succeeds in acquiring a rich son-in-law.

The Countess of Crewe,

Who entertained the King and Queen on the occasion of their visit to Crewe Railway Works. She was Lady Margaret Primrose, daughter of Lord Rosebery.

A GREAT COMET.

Travels One Thousand Five Hundred Miles a Day.

We think we are doing something quite wonderful when we take a train weighing a few thousand tons and bring it through from Vancouver to Montreal on time to the second, says an exchange. And it is wonderful, when the fact is considered that less than half a century ago the trip required nearer three months than three days, and such a thing as completing the journey at an appointed minute was out of the question.

This great feat, however, looks a good deal like a child hauling its tin train of cars around the kitchen when one considers the speed of one of the big comets.

There is a comet that comes within sight of the earth every 575 years. Its tail is millions of miles in thickness and many more millions of miles in length. It was first seen, so far as history records, 1769 years before the coming of Christ. In a few weeks it faded from the sky, only to return in 1194 and 619 B.C. The year 44 B.C. it came again, returning in 531 and 1106 A.D. The last time it was seen was in 1681, when Sir Isaac Newton beheld it, and discovered that comets are kept in their orbits by the sun, the same as the earth and the other planets.

Two hundred years have now passed since the comet disappeared. Even if it has been travelling no more rapidly than the earth goes around the sun, its enormous bulk has been shooting through space at the rate of about 1,500,000 miles a day. Yet in 343 years from now—in 2256—this same old comet that was already a well-known visitor when it looked down upon Julius Caesar, will again come within sight of those human beings who will then inhabit the earth.

Talk about a railroad train going half way across a continent in three days and reaching its destination on time, what is such a performance as compared with that of a comet that makes a trip of 310,000,000,000 miles in 575 years and keeps so closely to its schedule that it always bursts from the darkness at the moment when the astronomers expect it.

NOT INTELLECT BUT TONGUE.

Is Reason for Parrots Being Able to Articulate Better.

A German scientist has gathered some curious data, concerning the tongues of birds. As he points out, many persons suppose that woodpeckers use their sharp-pointed tongues as darts with which to transfix their prey.

It is true, says Harper's Weekly, that the Woodpecker, like the humming-bird, can dart out its tongue with extraordinary rapidity and that its mouth is furnished with an elaborate mechanism for this purpose, yet investigation shows that the object of their swift motion is only to catch the prey, not to pierce it. For the purpose of holding the captured victim the woodpecker's tongue is furnished with a sticky secretion.

Inasmuch as it possesses the power of imitating speech, it is not surprising to learn that the parrot's tongue resembles that of man more closely than any other bird's tongue does.

It is not because the parrot is more intelligent than many other birds, but because its tongue is better suited for articulation than theirs that it is able to amuse us with its mimicry.

In some respects the humming-bird's tongue is the most remarkable of all. It is double nearly from end to end, so that the little creature is able to grasp its insect prey very much as if its mouth were furnished with a pair of fingers.

Bix—I believe every man should own his own home, don't you? Dix Sure! And as many other people's as he can.

How $5,000 Will Earn a Dollar a Day

Maximum of safety, combined with high interest yield, is the desire of all investors. The following suggestion for the investment of $5,000 seems to meet both these conditions:

Security	Int. Rate.	Price.	Par Value.	Cost.	Yield.
Toronto Paper Bonds . 6%	$100	$1,000	$1,000	Int. $ 60
12 Tooke Bros. Pref. . 7%	89	1,200	1,063	84
Ontario Pulp Bonds . 6%	96	1,000	960	Int. 60
18 Macdonald Common 5%	55	1,800	990	90
Can. Machinery Bonds 6%	98	1,000	980	Int. 60
		$6,000	$4,998	$354

Bonds and stocks of a par value of $6,000 would thus be purchased for $4,998, and accrued interest on the bonds, yielding $354 per annum, equal to 7.08%. We believe the above prices will appreciate considerably from the present low level.

Favorite Recipes.

Date Cake.—One cup sugar, one large teaspoon butter. Cream sugar and butter, then sift two cups flour, one teaspoon baking soda, one teaspoon cloves, and one teaspoon cinnamon together three times, and add to sugar and butter with one cup sour milk. Then add twenty walnuts and one-half pound dates chopped fine to the above mixture and beat for about one minute and bake in loaf pan in slow oven for about forty minutes. This cake is better when it is three days old.

Beef Loaf.—Take two pounds chopped beef, add a small piece of suet and small onions chopped, one tablespoon flour, and one pint tomatoes. Mix all together well and form into loaf, leaving out juice of tomatoes to pour over top. Season with pepper and salt and add a touch of red pepper. Bake or steam. It is delicious.

Nut Loaf.—One and one-half cups flour, one-half cup brown sugar, three cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, three-quarters teaspoon salt, one-half cup chopped walnut meats. Bake in medium oven three-quarters of an hour and let stand, after mixing, one-half hour before baking.

Mock Mayonnaise Salad Dressing.—Two teaspoons salt, one-half tablespoon mustard, three tablespoons sugar, two teaspoons flour, four egg yolks or two whole eggs, five tablespoons butter, three-quarters cup thin cream, one-quarter cup vinegar. Mix dry ingredients thoroughly, add eggs, well beaten. Heat cream and butter and add to egg mixture slowly. Cook over hot water (double boiler preferred) until thick, stirring constantly. Add vinegar slowly. Strain and let cool.

Parker House Rolls.—Scald one pint of sweet milk and water together, add quarter cup of butter and lard mixed to scalded milk. When cool enough add one yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup of water, two tablespoons sugar, beaten white of one egg, flour enough to mix soft sponge. Let rise, then mix in hard loaf as for bread. When light put on kneading board, roll out to about one-half inch thick, cut with biscuit cutter. Spread each biscuit with melted butter, fold over half, and place in pan close together. Let rise to twice their thickness. Heat oven five minutes before baking.

Dumplings.—Two eggs well beaten, add one-half pint of milk, one tablespoonful melted butter, two cupfuls flour, two teaspoonfuls baking powder, and a pinch of salt. These should be about as stiff as biscuits and sometimes require more than two cupfuls of flour. Do not roll them, but pat them down and cut them the same as small baking powder biscuits. Steam twenty to thirty minutes, having the water boiling hard. These are delicious served with stewed chicken and plenty gravy.

Snow Pudding.—White part—One pint of water, one-half cup of sugar, three tablespoons of cornstarch, a pinch of salt, one-half teaspoon of vanilla. Stir cornstarch and sugar out in a little cold water then add the rest of the water. Cook. When done add the well-beaten whites of three eggs and put into molds to cool. Yellow part—Cook together one pint of milk, one-half cup of sugar, and the yolks of three eggs. Beat together until it boils. When done, remove from the stove and add a few drops of vanilla. When wanted pour this custard over the white part. This will serve six persons.

Cheesecloth in the Kitchen.

Small cheesecloth bags are frequently the means of saving much time in the kitchen and may be kept on hand in different sizes for different uses.

Made five or six inches square, with stout tapes run in the tops, they are useful for holding tomatoes when they are plunged for a moment into boiling water to loosen the skin. Scalded fingers and tomatoes bruised from contact with fork or spoon while they are in the water are thus avoided.

In a smaller size cheesecloth bags can be used to cover the heads of asparagus while they are cooking. Protected in this way the heads are not easily crushed or broken.

Large cheesecloth bags can be kept on hand for jelly making in the summer. Jelly bags can be used more than once if they are boiled in water to which soda or borax is added until they are clean. They can be bleached almost white again if they are boiled with washing soda, but if they are clean the color of the jelly which they strained will in no wise lessen their usefulness.

Soup vegetables can be put in cheesecloth bags and when the soup is done the vegetables can be lifted from it and chopped to serve in the stock as vegetable soup. If they are cooked loose with the soup meat and bones they are generally so cooked to pieces and so hidden among the bones that it is impossible to get them out in presentable shape.

Very small bags can be filled with seasoning mixture of herbs—parsley, thyme, bay and other kitchen savories—and used to season-oth, soup and other meat and vegetable dishes.

Wide mouthed bags with long tapes, which can be tied about the outer edge of bowls or saucepans, are useful for straining custards, jellies made with gelatine, sauces and other liquids which must be strained to make them smooth. These bags should be made of coarse, wide meshed cheesecloth.

Cheesecloth bags in the laundry can be used for holding doilies, small pieces of neckwear and other small articles which are easily lost when they are hung separately on the line.

FARMERS MUST TILL LAND.

One of the Questions of the Near Future in Ireland.

Compulsory tillage will be one of the questions in the near future in Ireland. In most foreign countries those who are entrusted with the care of the land are compelled to till a certain portion of it. But, in Ireland, although there have been several land acts, no such condition of proprietorship has yet been introduced. The result is that in every locality large farmers, graziers and storekeepers have purchased large tracts of land and are keeping them as grazing farms and, as a consequence, are employing only one herd, where twenty or thirty farm laborers could be profitably employed. This is nothing more or less than perpetuating grazierdom in its worst form, and those who live by the land, as well as those who have no direct interest in it, are going to set steadily to work to alter this state of things directly Home Rule is given to Ireland. James Haverly, of Galway, a prominent agitator on this topic, says:

"At the present time we have to import such classes of agricultural produce as hay, straw, oats and meat, while our land is allowed to grow furze and moss for want of being acquainted with the plow. There is also another very important thing to be considered in connection with this subject of compulsory tillage. The chief topic for discussion for Irishmen at present is to change our system of exporting store cattle and substituting a dead meat trade. Does anyone ever consider where we are going to get our fodder from to fatten our cattle unless we compel those who have land to cultivate it?"

"If we must import our fodder, it would not pay to fatten our cattle, and all our talk about bringing about a change in our cattle trade is useless unless we first take up the question of compulsory tillage. An Irish farmer with ten or twenty acres should be made to till one acre out of four. Farmers with from twenty to fifty acres should till one acre in five and so on, in proportion to the size of the farm."

PAMPERED POLICEMEN.

Warm Food and Tea Are Provided Glasgow Bobbies.

The London Daily Mirror says: "The policeman's lot in Glasgow should certainly not be an unhappy one. He is, in fact, almost pampered. For Glasgow has just begun to provide her policemen with warm food and tea while they are on night duty by means of electric heaters, or 'hot plates.' These heaters are placed in a number of telephone and signalling boxes at various points in the city, generally at the junction of several beats, for policemen."

"The 'hot plate' meets with the approval of the constables, for by the former supper system men had to walk considerable distances to obtain hot food and drinks. Now policemen will be able to make their tea for themselves. Twenty minutes is allowed for supper."

"Each box is fitted up with a telephone in direct communication with the nearest police office. A red light can also be made to glow over the box when switched on from the Superintendent's signalling office. This red light means that telephone communication is required with the first constable who sees the signal. The hot plate on which the food is electrically warmed cannot be left in circuit even if the policeman omits to turn off the switch. The total number of signalling boxes to be employed in the Glasgow area is sixty-nine."

"Another luxury for the Glasgow police is an electric lantern instead of the hot old bull's-eye."

In the United Kingdom, where there are no fewer than 616,000 women dressmakers, there are more women workers in proportion to population than in any other country in the world.

Next to Yorkshire, Lincolnshire is the largest county in England; whilst Lancashire can claim a bigger population than any other county.

THE NEW PEACE PALACE AT THE HAGUE.

This building at The Hague, under construction since 1907, will be opened this year. All future international peace conferences will be held there.

THE KAISER IS TREMBLING

OLD PROPHECIES MAKE THE EMPEROR UNEASY.

Soothsayers Say 1913 Will See Germany's Downfall, and Rise of France.

It has long been known that the present year has been regarded by astrologers and mystics of various kinds as one in which events of supreme importance to the world are to take place. The Throne, under the heading "The Astral Year, 1913," prints an interesting article on this superstition. It says that March 21, the Vernal Equinox, according to the Astral Soothsayers, saw "the birth of a New World."

Some remarkable predictions have been made in regard to this year from March 21 to the same period in 1914. Mme. de Thebes, the French soothsayer, declared some time ago by her reading of the stars that this was the year when France would rise supreme. "France," she said, "is marked out for a glorious role. Once more the tri-color will float over victory on victory. From March 21, 1913, to March 20, 1914, the true Astral year, France will have entered into a new era, and will enjoy great hours of feverish enthusiasm and joy—no more disappointments, no more pessimism, and anaemia. Mars, the war god, will act upon us, together with the moon; 1913 that is the end of the tunnel, from which we can see the new sun-bathed landscape, the year of the resurrection of French energy."

Mme. de Thebes predicted disaster to Germany. "Germany," she said, "has terror of the year 1913."

She Must Stake Her All.

"The war will be fatal to her. She knows it. She fears it." She went on to say that after the war neither Hohenzollern nor Prussia would rule—"The days of the Emperor are numbered, and after him all will be changed in Germany. I said the days of his reign. I did not say the days of his life."

Mme. de Thebes does not stand alone. Zadiel, who claims to base his predictions on correct astrological readings, has declared that before the year has far advanced a sensation will be created in the world because of some astounding reverses suffered by German arms.

Another famous French soothsayer, Mlle. Conesdon, of the Rue de Paradis, who foretold with extraordinary precision the dreadful fire at the Charite Bazaar and the Martinique earthquake, has clothed a similar prediction in rhymed verse: Translated roughly, this reads:—

I see on the other side
A nation armed
Which is ready to come
But which cannot enter.
It would like to settle here;
I see the spreading eagles;
The arms are shining;
I see this nation moving
And war declared.
England is forced
Into the war you behold,
The fleet is well armed,
The sea will be troubled,
Ships will be sunk.
England to Proveke War.

The French papers, curiously enough, interpret the verse of this pythonesque as meaning that the expected war will be provoked by England. But England is hardly a nation armed, nor is it within the realms of possibility that it is going to try and improve itself on the soil of France. The words "aigles deploees" may be a double allusion to aeroplanes, but it suggests rather the German eagles.

The same prophetess declared that "the Turks will be chased out of Europe and Constantinople will become Christian."

It is said that the Kaiser is not by any means disposed to scepticism in regard to astrological predictions. A German paper admits that the Emperor is superstitious, and refers to a prediction which dates from the thirteenth century.

It was uttered by Herman the Monk, and deals almost exclusively with the Hohenzollern family in these words: "He shall have a prosperous life and enjoy more than he ever dared to hope: for wonderful things are about to be accomplished and the Prince himself will not be able to divine the astonishing growth of the new power."

Ancient Oracles Foretold It.
This ancient oracle paints, however, a sinister picture in regard to the thirteenth generation. The present Emperor represents that number, and here is the Latin verse, which, it is said, gives the Emperor spasms of anxiety.

Tandem sceptris erit
Qui stemmatis ultimus erit.
"At length the sceptre is in the hand of him who will be the last of the royal line."

This is, curiously enough, corroborated by another German prediction, known as that of Mayence, in which the war of 1870 was foretold, as well as the cession to Germany of Alsace-Lorraine. But there is one prediction referred to again in both German and French newspapers more astonishing than these. It is that of the famous sorcerer whom William I. consulted in the little village of Fienberg. It was she who foretold correctly the events of his life and ended by prophesying the end of the German Empire in 1913.

A HINT ABOUT SUGAR.

Should Be Used By All in Need of Nourishment.

The late Sir Henry Thompson, one of the greatest authorities on diet, wrote:—"It is scarcely sufficiently known that sugar is a very valuable food where much muscular exercise is taken and much bodily labor performed. Especially in adults who are becoming exhausted with labor sugar may be taken largely, with the effect of rapidly affording a fresh supply of power." By far the best sugar in the world is grape-sugar. That is the kind which nourishes and sustains the body; is easily digested, and in every way beneficial. This invaluable substance is found in the currant. In fact, currants are nearly all grape-sugar, and that is why they are so good for the health. Those who lead an open-air life should make a point of eating plenty of currants. Whether raw or cooked is immaterial, but, as Sir Henry Thompson unmistakably indicated, sugar is a provider of power, and should be used by all in need of nourishment. Common sense dictates the use of the best and most palatable forms of sugar, which is undoubtedly the currant. The Christmas pudding, mince pie, Eccles cake and many other delicacies owe their perfect flavor to the presence of currants.

Grains of Gold.

Courage is one of the world's great words. It has moulded the past with its deed, and it carries the future in its dream.—Edwin Markham.

If our plans are not for time, but for eternity, our knowledge, and therefore our love of God—to each other—will progress forever.—Charles Kingsley.

It is curious to note the old seamargins of human thought! Each subsiding century reveals some new mystery; we build where monsters used to hide themselves.—Longfellow.

There are words and looks and little observances, thoughtfulness, watchful little attentions, which speak of love, which make it manifest, and there is scarce a family that might not be richer in heart-wealth for more of them.—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The common idea is, the more labor the less genius; in other words, the greater the labor the worse the art. The truth is exactly the opposite. Genius alone is capable of that ideal of perfection which causes the intense toil of the true artist.—F. B. Money-Coutts.

EMPIRE'S RICHEST FARMERS THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

WHEAT GROWN WITHOUT RAIN IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Expert Tells How the Insect Pest Is Dealt With in Novel Manner.

And the desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose. . . . In the wilderness shall water break out, and streams in the desert. And the parched ground shall become a pool and the thirsty lands springs of water. —Isaiah, chapter 35.

Isaiah's many prophecies concerning the fertility of the desert places of the earth are having some measure of fulfillment in South Africa, according to Dr. Macdonald, of the Union Department of Agriculture, who is best known as the enthusiastic exponent and pioneer of the dry-farming movement, which has revolutionized agriculture in that country.

In a recent interview, Dr. Macdonald said:

"Before the Government started experimental dry land stations it was widely believed that farming was only possible beside the water-furrow. This meant a few irrigated patches of land and the rest of the country a desert. But we have changed all that. In each of the four provinces and in Rhodesia thousands of acres of dry land, once considered valueless, are now being ploughed up and planted and are yielding excellent crops."

Grow Rainless Wheat.

"America has grown wheat on an 8-inch rainfall, Australia has grown wheat on a 5-inch rainfall, but we in South Africa have grown a rainless wheat. That is to say that during the past season at Lichtenburg, which is in the dry zone of the Transvaal, we have grown a wheat without a single drop of rain falling upon it from seed time until harvest. This is the Durum wheat, Apulia, which we originally introduced from the dry belt of Italy. Our success has been due to the use of what we term 'moisture-saving fallows.' The great problem of South African agriculture is not the problem of fertility. It is the problem of the conservation of moisture. We have now solved that problem, and made possible the immediate settlement of our dry or arid lands."

"Again, by systematic dipping and fencing, cattle disease is now well under control."

Poison for Locusts.

"But, perhaps the most dramatic success in the campaign against insect pests is to be seen in the conquest of the locust by means of arsenical sprays. The flight of every swarm of locusts is registered and telegraphed to the headquarters of the Union Department of Agriculture at Pretoria, and when the young locusts emerge, the veldt is ringed by poisoned grass, over which they cannot pass. A short time ago the Government of Peru sent an expert to the Transvaal to study our methods of locust destruction, but the only locust which the entomologist could show him was to be found in the museum."

Empire's Richest Farmers.

"Few people seem to be aware of the fact that the richest farmers in the British Empire are the ostrich farmers of Cape Colony. Or, take the province of Natal. It has developed large and profitable industries in sugar cane, wattles, and tea. But these are small in comparison to its future as a dairying country, where milch cows can remain outside all the year round, being grazed on the rich natural pastures of a well-watered region, supplemented by fields of maize, sugar cane and lucerne. With the rise of fruit farming and dairying we may look for the coming of the small holder."

LONDON TO BE WELL LIGHTED

World's Metropolis Will Save 30 Per Cent on the Bill.

London, England, is soon to rank as one of the best lighted cities in the world. An English exchange says: "Some streets will be lighted by gas and others by electricity. The electric lights which have been in use during the experimental work in Cheapside are each of 3,000 candle-power, while in Cannon street the high-pressure gas lamps have each 2,000 candle power."

When the whole scheme is complete and the lamps on the sidewalks have given way to centrally-hung lamps, the inhabitants of London may congratulate themselves on the fact that theirs is one of the best lighted cities in the world, and the cost will represent a saving of nearly 30 per cent. on the lighting bill.

The difference between an art, a profession and a trade is that a man is nearly always able to make a living at a trade.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON, JUNE 1.

Lesson IX. Joseph Tests His Brethren. Gen., Chap. 44. Golden Text, James 5, 16.

Joseph's brethren upon leaving Egypt the second time have their money again returned to them, Joseph's cup being at the same time placed in Benjamin's sack. Thus does Joseph plan a final test of the sincerity of his brothers. This test constitutes the subject of our present lesson passage.

Verse 4. Were gone out of the city—Taking Benjamin with them.

Rewarded evil for good—Attempted to steal when you had received the most liberal of treatment.

5. Whereby he indeed divineth—There were many methods of divination among the ancients, such as watching the flight of birds, examining the entrails and vital organs of animals slain for sacrifice, and the method of hydromancy, here alluded to. This latter method consisted of pouring water into a goblet or other vessel and of then throwing into the vessel pieces of gold or precious stones. During the process the movements of the water and the figures which these movements caused to appear therein were carefully studied and permitted to suggest the unknown and the future. Similar means of divination are still practiced in Egypt and elsewhere.

8. How then should we steal?—Their reasoning in itself is convincing. Their faith in their ability to demonstrate their innocence leads them to a rash unconscious pronouncement of the judgment of death upon Benjamin, whose life they were most anxious to protect.

9. Let him die—Their willingness to stake their lives on their integrity was the strongest evidence in its favor.

Bondmen—Slaves.
10. He with whom it is found shall be my bondman—The steward accepts less than they offer, asking only that the one found guilty be surrendered, not to suffer the penalty of death, but to remain in servitude in Joseph's house. In fixing these terms the steward was obviously under instructions from his master.

11. Hasted—Made haste.
Took down—From the backs of the pack-animals to the ground.

12. And he searched—The steward who had overtaken them and challenged their honesty.

The eldest—Reuben.
The youngest—Benjamin.

13. Rent their clothes—But said nothing. Their silence and their actions were more eloquent than words.

Returned to the city—From whence they had just come, and where they immediately afterward find Joseph still at home.

14. Fell before him on the ground—Still mute with disappointment and humiliation.

15. What deed is this?—Joseph addresses them with affected indignation. He reproaches them, however, not for their dishonesty and ingratitude, but for their folly in imagining they could escape detection.

Such a man as I—A man of my rank and power, and initiated in all the wisdom of Egypt, including its mystical and sacerdotal rites. The implication is that it was utter folly on their part to attempt to rob or receive such a one as he.

16. What shall we say?—The facts in the case seem to allow no ground or excuse.

The iniquity of thy servants—The iniquity which the speaker had in mind was not that of the discovered theft, as Joseph might be expected to infer, but the greater wrong done to Joseph and their father years before, and which had rested heavily upon their consciences all the years.

We are my lord's bondmen—Servitude seemed more preferable to them than the necessity of facing their aged father without Benjamin, for whose safety they had become surety.

17. Get you up in peace unto your father—Joseph presses home his advantage, and in order to bring them to a full realization of their position, insists that he will retain only Benjamin.

In the succeeding verses there follows Judah's speech of intercession, as remarkable for its pathos, beauty, and persuasive eloquence as for its frankness and generosity. The remaining verses of the chapter are part of the assigned lesson.

Probably the hardest thing for a girl to do when she is being kissed by a young man is to make him believe that it is her first experience.

Last year 872,800 births and 456,982 deaths were registered in England and Wales; but, although the natural increase of population was therefore 415,818, the birth rate was the lowest ever yet recorded.

BYLAW No. 360 OF THE VILLAGE OF MORRISBURG

A Bylaw of the Village of Morrisburg to Aid the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Electric Railway Company by Granting a Right of Way along and upon certain streets in the municipality for the construction and operation of a railway.

WHEREAS the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Electric Railway Company has made application to the Council of the Village of Morrisburg for the right to use the highways or parts of highway hereinafter set out for the purpose of constructing and operating a railway thereon, that is to say, upon, across and along:—

(a) The given road running from north to south through that part of Lot number Thirty in the First Concession of the Township of Williamsburg included in the said Village of Morrisburg, and being north of the Grand Trunk Railway Right of Way, from the northerly limit of the Village of Morrisburg to the said Grand Trunk Railway Right of Way;

(b) Victoria Street from the northern boundary to Main Street, designated "Queen's Highway" on registered plan of said Village;

(c) Main Street from the easterly limit of the Village of Morrisburg to the westerly limit thereof;

(d) Isabella Street;

(e) Canal Street from a point three hundred feet west of the westerly limit of Isabella Street easterly to Main Street.

AND WHEREAS the said Council of the Village of Morrisburg deems it advisable to grant a right of way over aforesaid specified given road, streets and part of streets to the said Ottawa and St. Lawrence Electric Railway Company upon conditions hereinafter set forth.

THEREFORE, the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Village of Morrisburg enacts as follows:—

1. The Ottawa and St. Lawrence Electric Railway Company shall have the right to survey, lay out, construct, equip, maintain and operate a railway for the transportation of passengers, freight, or merchandise upon, along and across the given road, streets and parts of streets, in the said Village of Morrisburg, hereinafter set out, that is to say:—

(a) The given road running from north to south through that part of Lot number Thirty in the First Concession of the Township of Williamsburg included in the said Village of Morrisburg and being north of the Grand Trunk Railway right of way from the northerly limit of the Village of Morrisburg to the said Grand Trunk Railway right of way;

(b) Victoria Street, from the northern limit thereof to Main Street, otherwise designated as "Queen's Highway";

(c) Main Street from the easterly limit of the Village of Morrisburg to the westerly limit thereof;

(d) Isabella Street;

(e) Canal Street from a point three hundred feet west of the westerly limit of Isabella Street easterly to its conjunction with Main Street;

subject to the restrictions imposed by this bylaw and the Ontario Railway Act 1906 and amendments thereto.

2. All rights, powers, and privileges hereby granted to the Company under and by virtue of this bylaw shall cease, determine, and become forfeited, firstly, at the expiration of one year from the first day of October, A.D. 1913, unless sixty per cent. in value of the work of construction in the Village of Morrisburg be completed on or before the first day of October, A.D. 1914, and secondly, at the expiration of two years from the first day of October, A.D. 1913, unless the railroad be fully constructed in and from the Village of Morrisburg to the City of Ottawa on or before the first day of October, A.D. 1915.

3. There shall only be a single track laid down by the said Ottawa and St. Lawrence Electric Railway Company hereinafter termed the "Company," which track shall be laid upon the side of the highway, except where it is necessary to lay the track nearer the centre of the highway in order to make practical and convenient curves or except where the said Village of Morrisburg hereinafter termed the "Corporation" require and direct the location to the centre or opposite side.

4. All works necessary for construction and laying down the said railway track shall be made in a substantial manner, according to the best modern practice and to the satisfaction of the Council of the Corporation.

5. The roadway between and within at least one foot six inches from and outside of each rail shall be macadamized or of the same material as the roadway adjoining and kept constantly in good repair by the said Company, which Company shall also be bound to construct and keep in good repair crossings of a similar character to those adopted by the Corporation within the limits aforesaid at the intersection of such railway track and cross streets.

6. The track shall conform to the grade of the various highways as now established or hereafter to be established through which it will run and shall not in any way change or alter the same without the consent of the Corporation. In constructing the road bed and track of said railway and during the operation thereof the Company shall fully protect from injury or obstruction all underground drains, water pipes or other pipes, whether public or private, and if any drain, water pipe, or other pipe be taken up it shall be replaced by material as permanent as the material used in the original construction and in a proper and workmanlike manner and to the satisfaction of the Council of the Corporation.

7. The Corporation authorities shall have the right to take up the streets traversed by the rails either for the purpose of altering the grades thereof, constructing or repairing drains or sewers or for laying down or repairing water, or other pipes, and for all other purposes within the province and privileges of the Corporation without being liable for any compensation or damage that may be occasioned to the working of the railway, or to the works connected therewith.

8. The railway shall not be opened to the public nor put in operation within the limits of the Corporation until the construction of the road has been approved of by the chief engineer of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

9. The speed of the cars shall never exceed ten miles an hour within that part of the said Village Corporation lying south of the Grand Trunk Railway Right of Way.

10. The Company shall be liable for all damages whatsoever arising out of the construction or operation of the railway and shall indemnify and save harmless the Corporation from all costs, loss or damage by reason thereof.

11. Should the Company neglect to keep the track, or roadway, or crossings, between and for eighteen inches outside the rails in good condition, or to have the necessary repairs made therein the Corporation's Reeve, Engineer, or other proper officer shall give notice thereof by registered letter addressed to the president of the Company at its Head Office requiring such repairs to be made forthwith and if not made within ten days of the time of giving such notice the Corporation shall cause the repairs to be made and the amount so expended may be recovered against the said Company, together with a penalty of Ten Dollars a day for every day after the lapse of three days from the giving of the notice aforesaid during which the non-repair continues in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

12. During the construction of the said railway due and proper care shall be taken to leave sufficient space and crossing so that traffic and travel on the said streets and other streets running at right angles thereto shall not be unnecessarily impeded and the water courses of the said streets shall be left free and unobstructed, and lights, barriers, or watchmen provided and kept by the said Company when and where required to prevent accidents or injuries to the public.

13. The Company shall have the privileges of using the said streets or parts of streets as herein mentioned for the purposes of said railway for a period of twenty-five years from the final passing of this bylaw and of placing poles at such places as the town engineer directs with brackets thereon necessary to support cables and wires along said highways at such distances and of such heights as may be necessary for the proper conducting of electricity to be used in the lighting, heating and operation of the cars to be used on the railway but subject to the restrictions and conditions herein contained and to the restrictions and conditions contained in The Ontario Railway Act of 1906, which is hereby incorporated in and made a part of this Bylaw. One month before the work of actual construction shall commence the Company shall submit a plan showing the position of all poles, wires and brackets for the approval of the Council of the Corporation.

14. In case the Company at any time ceases to regularly use the whole or any part of its railway within the Municipality for a period of one year it shall forfeit the right to use the railway or the part unused, together with the rails, poles and wires thereof, and the Company shall in addition indemnify the Corporation in respect of all costs incurred in taking up the rails and putting the highways in proper repair and the Corporation shall have a lien upon the rails, poles, wires, rolling stock and other property of the Company for said costs.

15. Before the Company shall commence construction of said railway within the limits of the municipality it shall execute and deliver a bond binding upon itself, its successors and assigns to observe, agree to and be bound by provisions and conditions of this bylaw.

The expenses in connection with this bylaw, including the submission thereof to the ratepayers of the Corporation, shall be paid to the treasurer of the Corporation before the Bylaw is placed for printing, but if the railway be fully completed from Morrisburg to Ottawa within one year from October first, 1913, then the said expenses paid the treasurer shall be refunded to the Company.

This Bylaw shall take effect and come into operation immediately upon the passing thereof.

AND WHEREAS this bylaw requires the consent of the electors of the Village of Morrisburg aforesaid before the final passing thereof pursuant to the Municipal Franchises Act, 2 Geo. V., Chap. 42, Section 3;

AND WHEREAS it is necessary to fix the time and place for taking the votes of the electors aforesaid and also the day for finally passing the said bylaw by the said Council;

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED that the votes of the electors of the Village of Morrisburg shall be taken on this bylaw on and at the following times and places, that is to say, on Monday, the Sixteenth day of June, A.D. 1913, commencing at the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon and continuing until five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day by the following deputy returning officers:—

Polling Subdivision Number One by Alfred E. Clement, Deputy Returning Officer, at the Town Hall in the said Village;

Polling Subdivision Number Two by James Eastman, Deputy Returning Officer, at the School House on the north side of Colin Street in said Village;

Polling Subdivision Number Three by William W. Flynn, Deputy Returning Officer, at Mrs. Henderson's Coach House on the north side of Second Street in the said Village;

THAT the Reeve of the said Village shall attend at the Council Chamber in the Town Hall in the said Village on Thursday, the 12th day of June, A.D. 1913, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon for the purpose of appointing persons to attend at the different polling places on and desirous of promoting or opposing the passing of this bylaw respectively and also persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk of the said Village of Morrisburg;

THAT the Clerk of the said Village sum up the number of votes given for and against this Bylaw on the Seventeenth day of June, A.D. 1913, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon at the Town Hall in the said Village of Morrisburg.

THAT this Bylaw shall be finally considered by the Council and if the same shall have been assented to by the electors shall then be passed.

Read a first time in open Council this Ninth day of May, A.D. 1913.

NOTICE

Take notice that the above is a true copy of a proposed Bylaw which has been taken into consideration and which will be finally passed by the Council of the Municipality of the Village of Morrisburg in the event of the assent of the electors being obtained thereon on Monday, the Sixteenth day of June, A.D. 1913, being after one month from the first publication thereof in the newspaper called "The Morrisburg Herald," published at the Village of Morrisburg, in the County of Dundas, the date of which first publication being the Sixteenth day of May, A.D. 1913, and the votes of the electors of the said Municipality will be taken thereon on the day and at the hours and at the places therein fixed.

Dated the tenth day of May, A.D. 1913.
F. R. CHALMERS, Clerk.

Matilda District Meeting

All of the Nineteen Circuits in the District Were Represented at the Meeting Here Last Week.

The annual District meeting of the Matilda District, Montreal Conference, was held in the Methodist Church, Morrisburg, on Thursday, May 22nd. The morning session opened at 9 o'clock and the afternoon session at 1.30. Rev. W. H. Philp, B. A., B. D., presiding. Nineteen circuits are included in this district and all were represented. The work done during the year was very encouraging. A goodly number have entered into the church during the year and the connexional funds are in advance of any previous year, the missionary givings of Morrisburg and Ottawa taking the lead. Morrisburg contributed $720 to the general fund of the Missionary Society and the W. M. Society gave $511.00; Winchester contributed $723 to the general fund and $455 to the W. M. Society. A number of the circuits have increased the minister's salary—some of the country circuits, such as South Mountain, Brinston, Winchester, Chesterville Finch, are paying $1100 to $1300 per annum. Methodism is numerically very strong throughout this entire district. Winchester reports 544 members, Matilda South 500, Chesterville some 400, South Mountain 350.

Some very important questions were discussed during the sessions. We mention two, (1) What more can we do than we have done in helping men to surrender their lives to Jesus Christ. This is the all-important work of the church, and the ministers have gone to their various fields to do their parts, for said the Saviour, "And I if I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me."

The second question of vital importance before the meeting was "The Church's relationship to recreation and amusements." After a very helpful discussion the following resolution was unanimously carried:

Believing that healthful recreation is necessary to the development of human life and in no wise inconsistent with the profession of the faith of a Christian, and that it is the duty of Christian men and women to cordially welcome and support every legitimate measure adapted to develop complex human life, this District meeting reaffirms its belief that our churches should take advantage of all existing legislation recommendations of the General Conference in connection with Sunday-schools, young people's and young men's organizations looking to the establishment of clubs and societies which will provide healthful exercise and social enjoyment for young and old. We also desire to place on record our belief that certain social pleasures are questionable, leading often to gambling and sometimes to forgery and suicide.

We would most earnestly recommend to our people that the Methodist Church, in conjunction with other Christian bodies, specifically admonishes that her members guard with great care their reputations as servants of Christ, and in case those amusements and practices which are of a hurtful or of a questionable tendency, that they engage in none injurious to their spiritual life or incompatible with their allegiance to Jesus Christ their Master.

Mrs I. Hilliard addressed the meeting in the afternoon re the W. M. Society and its workings throughout the district. The Matilda District is second in the Montreal Conference. The Morrisburg W. M. Society's contribution is next to Douglass church, Montreal. The speaker urged the ministers to do their best to have a society at every appointment. Her address was well received and a unanimous vote of thanks was tendered Mrs Hilliard for her timely and earnest appeal.

Rev. Mr Mick was elected to the stationing committee.

The Montreal Conference will meet at Sherbrooke the first week in June. Mr I. Hilliard, K. C., and Mr F. H. Broder, B. A., are members of the Conference.

R. & O. After Buffalo Elevator

Montreal, Que., May 23.—The difficulty being experienced by the big R. & O. consolidation to get anything near as much grain out by the Canadian route as they want has resulted in negotiations being opened to secure a site for the erection of elevators at Buffalo.

The main trouble seems to be that there are not enough steamers coming to Montreal to get the grain out of the country fast enough.

By shipping to Buffalo and thence to American ports the freight department of the R. & O. will be in direct touch with a number of tramp steamers which will make it possible to handle twice as much grain in far shorter time than has been possible in the past.

FINE

Well, I should say so! "John" doesn't have to wait till the clothes are blue, as "J-R BLUE" Doesn't Settle, you can attend to other things, and blue the clothes when you get a chance. Your Grocer keeps it, or if he has run out he can get it for you at once.
