Campbell—Carlyle.

A quiet wedding took place on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Tennanf 54 Riverside road, Lachine, when Mrs. Tennant's sister Miss Jessie Elizabeth Carlyle, daughter of the late Mr. Matthew Carlyle, ot Calgary, was married to A. D. Campbell, of Calgary. The Rev. J. T. Gordon, of Valleyfield cousin of the bride, preformed the cermony, assisted by the Rev. A. Geoge McKinnon of Lachine, and the wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Casselman of Finch, Ont. Mr. Tennant gave away the bride, who wore a gown of crepe de chine, with picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her two little nieces, the Misses Marjorie and Agnes Tennant, flower girls, wearing dainty white lingerie frocks made over silk and Mrs. W. J. Galbraith sang "Because" during the signing of the register. After an informal reception held for the relatives and friends who were guests at the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left by boat for Quebec and will spend their honeymoon in and around the Ancient Capital, before leaving to reside in Calgary.

Ploughing Match.

Arrangements are well under way for the holding of a big ploughing match on a farm adjacent to Chesterville along the latter end of the present month. There will be several classes including the class for young men and the free-for-all class. The prizes will be substantial and worth competing for, and it is hoped that a large number of farmers will comp ete in this event.

There was a time in Ontario and Quebec when the ploughing match was an event of importance in many localities. Later, interest in the matches decreased greatly, especially among the younger men. As a result, good ploughing and good soil cultivation have fallen back some points since the old days, except in the few districts where the matches have been continued. As the first-class ploughman is likely to be a good cultivator of the soil, agriculture, in general, has suffered. On the other hand, the farmer who regards ploughing merely as a process of turning over land, the sooner done the better, will not, and can not, be a good cultivator of the soil. Unless the soil is well ploughed, it is impossible to give the land the best of preparation for the seed.

It is encouraging to note, however, that the ploughing match is being revived, and that the Prairie Provinces also are taking a keen interest in competitions of this kind. If they are beneficial as an aid to better farming on the virgin prairie they are of even greater value in the older parts of the country, where the land needs more careful working to maintain soil fertility and increase crop production. Good ploughing is a matter of good ploughmen as well as of good ploughs and as these matches encourage good workmanship, they are worthy of support by all interested in better farming. As they have an educational value and often give the boys the needed encouragement to remain on the farm, ploughing matches might well form one feature of the work of the Farmers' Club. Farmers' Institute, or Agricultural Society.

The Late William Servage

Once again death claims an old and respected resident of Connaught in the person of Wm Servage aged 80 years. Mr. Servage had been in very good health until an attack of bronchitis proved fatal and on Sept. 30th he died at his own old home in Connaught, where he spent his entire life.

It is needless to speak of the character of the deceased, as the community at large found in him a fine charitable neighbor, always ready to lend a helping and obliging hand.

For 38 years he was Secretary of the School Board, and during his office the 2 school houses were built, the old and the new and his broad-minded views in dealing with questions of importance in the section are well remembered and appreciated by all.

He was one of the first men to deal in cattle and bought and sold for many years for Montreal firms.

In the affairs of Winchester Township he was Councillor for years, and always led the poll with the largest vote.

His death is regretted by all classes. He was a devout member of the Anglican Church and was a staunch Conservative in politics. His funeral was well attended on Monday last, to the English Church where service was held and the body was interred in Maple Ridge Cemetery. His wife predeceased him 28 years ago.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Ed. Gillard, H. Johnson, T. Hamilton, C. Chambers, J. Cain and J. Masterson.

He leaves to mourn 3 sons Robt. and Thos. on the homestead. Grant who is now in France in the Engineering Corps of a Western Battalion and who has been wounded twice, 3 daughters, Miss Ethel who attended him, Mrs. Fadden of Detriot and Mrs. Griffiths of Calgary to whom we extend our sincerest sympathy.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the neighbors and friends for their acts of kindness and sympathy shown us during the recent bereavement of our Father.

ETHEL SERVAGE & BROTHERS

Presentation and Address

Mrs. Law and family of Oxford Township, near Kemptville were very much surprised on Wednesday Oct. 3rd when over thirty of their relatives from Dundas motored to their home and presented them with a parlor suite, dining table and leather rocker. After all enjoying a dainty luncheon, the following address was read and all joined in singing "Blest be the tie that binds."

Mrs. Law and family.

We, your relatives having gathered at your home to-day, take this opportunity of extending to you, that deep love and respect which we have for you, and congratulate you on your beautiful new home into which you are about to move. We sincerely wish you, all joy and happiness. We have seen enough of the different conditions of life, to know that it is neither wealth nor splendour, nor beautiful surroundings, but tranquillity and occupation, and congenial companionship which constitutes a happy home, and we know that yours has hitherto been such, and we hope you may all be spared for many years to enjoy the comfort which your new home affords, and it is our earnest prayer that God will shower abundant blessings upon you.

It has been said that the sweetest words in our language are "Mother Home and Heaven," and one might almost say the word home included them all: for who can think of home, without remembering the gentle mother who sanctified it by her presence? And is not home the dearest name for heaven? Oh, then may our homes on earth be the centre of all our joys: may they be as green spots in the desert, to which we can retire when weary of the cares and perplexities of life, and drink the clear waters of a love which we know to be unfailing, and now we ask you to accept these gifts, as a slight but tangible memorial of the esteem in which you are held. May you long live to enjoy them, and we pray that a kind Providence will so guide your future that happiness and prosperity will abide with you always.

Service

In the present time, when every industry is pushed to the limit of its capacity, SERVICE counts for more than ever before.

It is a great satisfaction to know that you are dealing with a dependable, straight forward company, who, through years of experience, are able to take care of your needs adequately.

You can bank on the Condensery, with its progressive organization and thoroughly equipped plant, to win your approval of its service in handling your milk.

A man who had been summoned for examination for the National Army pleaded deafness as an excuse for not serving.

"I really am deaf," he said to the examining physican.

"Prove it," said the doctor.

The man hesitated, then his face brightened as an organ commenced to play in the street outside.

"Can you hear that organ?" he said.

"Yes," replied the doctor.

"Well, I can't" replied the man triumphantly.

CAN YOU FEED MORE LIVE STOCK?

If so you will be interested in conditions under which freight charges will be paid for you on car lots.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture is anxious that the splendid crops harvested this fall should be used to best advantage. In many cases this can be done by feeding a few more head of cattle or sheep for breeding purposes. The Department therefore calls attention to the announcement of the Federal Minister of Agriculture offering to pay freight charges on car lots from Eastern Stock Yards to country points.

Please Note These Facts

Indivipually or in co-operafion with your neighbors you can purchase a carload of heifers or ewes or both combined and have them shipped from any eastern Stock Yard to your station without any cost for freight charges. You will be required to make a declaration that the stock is for feeding purposes only.

Auy farmer or drover can purchase a carload of cattle for feeding purposes on the Winnipeg market and have them shipped to any country point in Ontario upon payment of only one half the usual freight charges.

Feeding at the Toronto Yards available at Reduced Rates and expert assistance is at disposal of farmers.

"Every effort should be made to bring the surplus stock of some sections to the surplus feed of others. All indications point to a steady demand for meat supplies of this country for some time to come."—Sir William Hearst, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The District Representative will assist you in organizing a co-operative car for your district if desired or in giving any other information.

E. P. BRADT, District Representative for Dundas.

"What became of your chauffeur?"

"Oh' he was with the regiment down in Texas and crawled under an army mule to see why it wouldn't go.

Sweater Coats

The season has certainly got around again to Sweater Coat time, even if an odd day is pretty warm.
They are fine for mornings and evenings, before you get into the swing of the day's work or when it's over.
Boys at school will wear them when they would pitch a coat aside—and catch cold.
We have all sizes and many different prices.

Underwear

Fleece Lined Underwear is the best to wear until about the New Year.
It is fine and comfortable but has not that clinging feeling like all-wool before the real cold.
A couple suits of Fleece Lined and your old woollens would put you pretty near over the winter.
We have many other lines to interest you.

The work of the school is again being seriously interfered with by irregular attendance. To this were due some of the failures on the promotion examinations of last June. A day lost can never be satisfactorily made up, no matter how trifling the loss at the time may appear. The staff cannot reasonably assume responsibility for the success of any student who is irregular in attendance.

The boys have been faithfuliy practising football lately, having accepted a challenge from Kemptville High School. However, as no word in regard to the final arrangements has been received, it would look as if Chesterville had won by default. The team is now ready to play any team that may be organized in Chesterville, time and place to be agreed upon. Communicate with Jack McGee.

Thanksgiving Festival

The congregation of Trinity Methodist Church, Chesterville, celebrated the Thanksgiving Festival by appropriate services on Sunday with special music by the choir assisted by Mrs. Beach. On Monday evening the unpropitious weather of the day released large numbers of the farmers now so busy with the corn harvest to join the company which sat down at the tables. The Ladies Aid deserve the credit of the success of the tea. So far as possible all had the abundance consistent with the "clean plate."

The pastor presided at the programme in the Sunday School Hall, which was filled. Mrs. Beach opened with a fine patriotic rendering, and accompanied during the evening Miss Casselman in violin solos, Miss Ruth Simser in a vocal solo, and the little Martin Sisters of Morewood, Miss Lera Fetterly sang playing her own accompanient on the autoharp. Mr. Morley Becker sang two numbers, assisted on the piano by Miss Marion Sullivan, Mrs. Warren contributed a reading. The glad season brought many visitors to Chesterville, several of whom were noticed in the audience. The committee of management consisted of Mrs Melvin Durant, the President, Mrs. Chester Casselman, the Secretary, Mrs. Albert Forbes, Mrs. Ingram Smith, Mrs. W. O. Dixon, Mrs. H. E. Warren, and Miss Bertha Merkley.

A Chance for Profitable Patriotism

Mr. E. P. Bradt local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, is cooperating with the Honorable Martin Burrell in carrying out the plan recently announced, by which important freight concessions apply on carload shipments of female cattle and sheep and also on stockers and feeder cattle to country points.

Ontario breeders will be particularly interested in the Free Freight Policy included in the Minister's announcement. Under this policy female cattle under two years of age and ewes three years or younger may be shipped from any Canadian Stock Yards to local points without the payment by the purchaser of freight charges on same. By arrangement with the Railway Companies twenty-five percent of these charges will be rebated by the railroads and the remaining seventy-five percent will be collected by the Railway Companies direct from the Dominon Live Stock Branch. The shipper will be required to make a declaration that he is a bone fide farmer and that the stock so returned is for his own use or that of his neighbour, and is for breeding purposes only. Representatives of the Dominion Live Stock Branch, who are now emdloyed in connection with other work at the different Stock Yards will be prepared to render assistance to shippers in assembling their consignments if so desired.

Farmers who are in a position to handle additional cattle for feeding purposes this winter or for finishing on grass next summer will receive a rebate of twenty-five percent of freight charges paid on any carload shipment which they may purchose on Eastern Stock Yards. This rebate is being granted by the Railroad Companies following regulations made by Mr. Burrell regarding the need of making the fullest use of Ontario's abundant supplies of feed in increasing the beef supply of the country.

Owing to the scarcity of feed in many parts of Western Canada this Fall there has been a heavy run of stocker and feeder cattle in the Winnipeg Yards during the past few weeks. In view of the fact that feed conditions in Eastern Canada are so satisfactory and the demand for feeding is so general the Dominion Department of Agriculture has agreed to pay 50% of the freight rate paid on carload shipments of feeding cattle from the Winnipeg Stock Yards consigned to country points in Eastern Canada. This concession will be applicable to both drovers and farmers alike. Shippers consigning to Eastern Stock Yards from the Winnipeg Yards will not be entitled to this reduction, however.

The District Representative will be glad to furnish any further information desired and assist farmers in arranging for cooperative shipments if desired.

The Price

In a confidential talk to a group of medical students; an eminent physician took up the extremely important matter of the maximum fee.

"The best rewards," he declared, according to the Post Magazine, "come of course to the established specialist. For instance, I charge twenty-five dollars for a call at the residence, ten dollars for an office consultation, and five dollars for a telephone conversation."

There was an appreciative and perhaps an envious silence, and then a voice from the back of the amphitheatre spoke.

"Doctor," it asked, "how much do you charge a fellow for passing you on the street."

"The unlucky in love are said to be lucky at cards, you know."

"What good does it do 'em. The unlucky in love can't get out to play cards."

EXCELLENT BIT OF WORK DONE BY THE CANADIAN RED CROSS

Canadian Headquarters, Oct. 4.—The coming National Red Cross subscription campaign in Canada has aroused great interest here, where the benefits of Red Cross work can be seen at close range during every spell of active fighting, and all the time in the casualty clearing stations and hospitals. Red Cross supplies are not intended to take the place of army medical issues, but to supplement them in such a way as to give the surgeons the best possible facilities for their work and the wounded a better chance of recovery.

The problem of light in the advanced dressing stations, for example, was a serious one. Most of these dressing stations are underground, or in locations where at night candles or lamps give poor illumination for the performing of operations on which hang the life or death. The Red Cross is installing, in all the Canadians advanced dressing stations, portable electric plants with a capacity of fifty thirty-candle power lights. Hand lamp will be available, and by their use wounds can be explored and treated much more quickly than heretofore.

Another excellent bit of work done by the Canadian Red Cross Society has been in connection with poison gas treatment. It was discovered that a certain treatment involving the use of a special kind of baths and clothing, was the best remedy. Within four hours after it had been determined by the medical officials of the Canadian Corps to apply this remedy a large number of baths and an ample supply of necessary chemicals and clothing were enroute from the Red Cross base to the advanced dressing stations. These supplies were used to treat gas casualties, and they reduced the number of serious cases to a remarkable degree.

Still another thoughtful bit of Red Cross work is the provision of extras for the battalion medical officers during their period in the front line. With every surgeon a package goes in containing drugs to lessen the pain when the men are hard hit; tablets from which coffee or cocoa can be made quickly, and for the wounded insect powder, and many other essentials for trench efficiency. These comfort packages have saved many lives and much suffering.

The Canadian Red Cross not only ministers to the needs of the men at the front and in hospitals, but devotes special attention to the rest camps, and provides comforts there that make the lot of the men easier and hastens the time of their recovery. French wounded are also cared for by the Canadian Red Cross, which is at present spending $200,000 on a model hospital in the rear, where a unit of the Canadian Army Medical Corps will be stationed. A branch storehouse assists in providing Canadian supplies to the French military hospitals all along the front.

The Canadian people cannot find a better outlet for their sympathy and their voluntary contributions than to aid the Red Cross work under the flags of the allied nations.

Wintering Bees Outside.

Experiments in wintering bees outside, placing four colonies together in a case, were started at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in the winter of 1912—13, and have been continued every year since. Compared with bees wintered in the cellar, the outdoor-wintered bees have, on the average, come out in spring in better condition, judged by the proportion of colonies found to be living in the spring and the number of combs in each hive found to be covered by bees at the first examination, made towards the end of April.

The wintering cases employed were large enough to take four 10-frame Langstroth hives with a space for the inches of planer shavings at the sides between the hives and the walls of the case, and also three inches under the hives, and ten or twelve inches on top. The top packing was placed in bran sacks for easy removal.

The outside entrance to the hives, cut in the case as far apart as practicable, measured about 8 inches long by 1½ inches high. A piece of wood revolving on a screw reduced each entrance to ⅜ of an inch wide by 1½ inches high during the cold weather.

Sheltering the apiary during winter from wind was found to be very important At Ottawa, the wintering apiary is thus protected by a close board fence 6 feet high, 8 feet high would be better for an apiary of fifty or one hundred colonies—and Norway spruce trees have been planted close to the fence to take its place in years to come.

An important advantage of outside wintering over cellar wintering was found in the protection afford by the wintering case and packing during the spring. The colonies thus protected always built up much faster in the spring than those that were brought out of cellar and given little or no protection. The hives were left in the wintering cases until June, the cases being deep enough to take one super.

There was a somewhat greater consumption of stores during the winter in the colonies left outside than in those wintered in the cellar, and breeding commenced earlier in the outside wintered colonies. Young bees were usually emerging at the date (April 11th) that the cellar wintered colonies were brought out, these latter colonies having eggs only at that time.

The bees got their first good cleansing flight about the middle of March, three or four weeks earlier than the date the cellar wintered bees were brought out. From the date of this flight onwards they did exceedingly well.

The arrangement of four colonies together in each case is a particulary good one, because they kept one another warm. They are placed backto back with the entrances on the two opposite sides.

Bees have also been successfully wintered out-of-doors at the Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man., where the cold is still greater and steadier than at Ottawa.

HEALTHIEST ONE IN THE FAMILY

No Sign Of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

HATTIE WARREN

Port Robinson, Ont., July 8th, 1915.

"We have used "Fruit-a-tives" in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The Doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try "Fruit-a-tives". She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for "Fruit-a-tives" and would never be without them".

Reginald was dining out. It was a great event in his young life, and under the watchful eyes of his father and mother he was behaving really well.

"Will you have a little of the ice-pudding, Reggie?" asked the hostess kindly, as she served the sweets.

"No, thank you!" replied Reggie.

Mother nearly gasped. Never before had her little darling refused pudding.

"Oh, come, dear!" she said, afraid he must be sickening for something.

"Do have a little!"

"No, thank you!" said Reggie quietly.

"Then what will you have?" asked the hostess.

"A lot, please!" replied Reggie firmly.

The new contingent had just arrived in camp, and the men were exchanging notes with the old hands.

"Do they feed you well out here?" asked one of the new-comers.

"Oh, not at all bad," replied the campaigner: "not at all bad: good breakfast and good dinner and always pudding after dinner."

"Pudding, eh? What kind of pudding to-day?"

"Oh, the usual kind—windmill pudding."

"Windmill! What sort of pudding is that?"

"If it goes round you get some."

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

On Farmers

(Nina Moore Jamieson, in The Mail and Empire.)

Of all classes of men, I believe farmers are most misunderstood. This is greatly our own fault, as it is most exceptional for one of us to rise in self-defence. We do not explain or advertise ourselves—when attention is drawn to us and our affairs it is done by some outsider who has a reason for exploiting us. Now, agricultural is the parent industry; from it grow, through long or briefer pedigrees the various other occupations. Therefore, we are taken for granted, by ourselves as well as by other people. About election time, of course, we become very large beans in the national soup. Starched and shampooed gentlemen shake us cordially by the hand, and give the baby a copper. They enquire with flattering unction about our health, the health of our inevitable ancestry and immediate posterity more particularly such as have a ballot-box cast of countenance. They discuss the questions of the day learnedly with the man of the house, showing a pleasing deference to his point of view; they quote authority and retail ancient and often irrelevant anecdotes with a geniality which not only makes us feel comfortably important, but inclines us to appreciate the privilege of using our vote and influence for the worthy candidate.

Although so large a proportion of Canada's population is fast-rooted in the fruitful soil, not many truly rural aspirants have struggled into the white light that beats upon a member of Parliament. The farmer is a very difficent man with regard to public life, and, moreover, he has such a horror of being talked about that he could never live through the investigation and consequent advertisment of his private affairs which follow his entrance into the arena. Thus we, a farming nation, in our blindness bow down to laws arranged by doctors, lawyers and gentlemen of leisure, although you do not find school teachers or ministers of the Gospel with a pencil in hand making motions and amendments on the "floor of the House"—the quaint but customary scene of such activities, if one may believe the newspapers.

We farm-folk do not clearly understand the routine of business by which the governing is done. When we go to Toronto it is either to the Exhibition—a favourite honeymoon trip—or to the stock yards with a bunch of cattle, or to the Repository with some balker or kicker that none of the neighbours will buy, knowing his character! But to go to Toronto simply to view the proceedings of the member our vote helped to send there—well, we have no time to waste upon that sort of nonsense. He does not come to watch us at our business—why should we prowl around watching him at his?

Most of us are limited very strictly in another way. I refer to our education. A boy at twelve years of age seems too valuable a piece of machinery to be left rusting at a school desk. He can hoe and scuffle with the horse. (Oh, don't imagine this is a jiu-jitsu; a horse scuffler is merely a glorified hoe!) or drive the team on the hay rake or harrows. He can pick up potatoes as well as help in the planting thereof, in their season. And he is usually ready to leave school at about that age, for he begins to hate going with the little codgers, and having a bit of a girl, not much bigger than himself, hit him on the hand with a strap for putting blots in his copy book. So he packs up the slates, pencils, tattered readers and grammars with their oilcloth covers, and all the other broken relics of the three R's, and puts them behind him forever. From that time on his "schooling" slides further and further into the background, until the day when he and his "girl" are separated, and he is under the necessity of writing to her. I have it on good authority that this correspondence is a more arduous task than the stumping of a field.

The girls usually fare better and sometimes slip away to town and blossom out into trained nurses or something equally delightful. But they have no ambition to be taken for country girls—they most emphatically wish to be identified with town girls. This is a little disappointing when we reflect that the city girl in the country does not wish anyone to imagine she belongs there!

Add to this the obvious and outstanding feature of farming—work—and you perceive why nobody loves a farmer. By limiting the education of our children we cut off the avenues of self-expression through which we might show the world what we are—not simply drudges or misers, not ignorant of everything even if we do not know G. B. S. from H. C. L. There is not much difference really, is there? Of course. we have to work hard, for there is much to do, and there are few to do it. There is a popular superstition that the farmer has nothing to do in winter, but it is about as true as that the mother of twins has nothing to do when the babies are asleep. Our busy season dies down fairly well at the close of the fall ploughing and opens up when the snow goes away and the plough comes out again. But what is in between? On second thoughts I don't believe I'll tell you now—there is too much! However, if you will reflect that the average stable holds four or more horses to be fed, watered, cleaned and otherwise spruced up two or three times a day; ten or more head of cattle for the same programme; as many cows as our pocketbook, our cream separator and our conscience will accommodate; that there are pigs, hens and probably sheep about the premises as well, you will see that the days are fairly well filled, with nothing more than the ubiquitous chores.

"Let Me Help You Carry the Burden, Mother"

"If Canada fails us in October, we must cartail many of our activities."
Sir ARTHUR STANLEY, Chairman, Executive Committee, British Red Cross.

It now costs $300,000.00 a week to carry on the work of the British Red Cross, or $16,000,000.00 a year.

Every minute of the day and night it costs $30 to minister to the sick and wounded and dying.

Last year Ontario's magnificent contribution paid for the entire work of the British Red Cross for nearly six weeks.

This year, in view of the greater need, it is earnestly and confidently hoped that Ontario's contributions will be as great proportionately as the magnificent offering of last year.

Our trust is, that the Citizens of Ontario will give generously to this noble cause on—

Will Vote for New Bishop of Holiness Movement Church.

A bishop to head the Holiness Movement Church in Canada is to be elected by members of the general conference, by a vote to be taken under the direction of the Local Master at Ottawa. This arrangement received the assent of Mr. Justice Clute in an interim judgment handed down in the action brought against Rev. A. T. Warren and others to compel him to vacate his See as bishop of the church.

The action was not proceeded with as Mr. Justice Clute permitted the principals to withdraw in order to arrive at some mutual understanding. After conferring all morning and part of the afternoon, an agreement was drawn up, and on this the judge based his decision. Exception was taken to the legality of the vote of eight ministers who were listed on the conference roll, and after listening to arguments. His Lordship decided to award the privilege of voting to three of the ministers objected to—Revs. Burns, Ketcheson, and Ralph.

Members of the general conference will cast their ballots for either Mr. Horner or Mr. Warren. The elections will take place as soon as the different conferences throughout the country are notified of the decision arrived at in court. This may take several weeks. Only those ministers who were on the roll at the conference held at Carleton Place, in 1916, and the three granted ballots yesterday, will vote. Ministers ordained since December 22, 1916, will not not have a voice in the selection of a bishop.

Mr. Justice Clute ordered that any question arising during the balloting shall be informally referred to him, and that no new minister shall be ordained pending the counting of the ballots.

The parties agreed that each faction should pay its own costs, and that no part of the costs should be chargeable to the church.

While both sides are confident of electing their own champion, it is generally considered that the contest will be very close. It is felt that the majority for the successful clergyman will not be more than four or five at the most.

Taking Time to Think It Over.

A Tragedy in Real Life

A Mutual Life insurance agent urged a certain man to sign an application for $5000 Insurance protection. The man replied—"Give me Sunday to think it over." Instead of thinking it over on Sunday, the young man went away on a motorcycle trip and, meeting with an accident, lost his life.

Leaving the signing of the application 48 hours cost his dependent relatives $5000, a sum which would have been a wonderful blessing to them.

Life is just as uncertain during the days of procrastination as later. Insure now, and do not make your family take chances for another day.

Mutual Life Policies afford protection at minimum cost. Nearly fifty thousand Canadian homes are protected by means of Mutual Policies.

Don't put off until to-morrow what should have been done the day before yesterday.

Just a few lines in which I take the greatest pleasure in writing, although you may be a little surprised. In making a trade with a brother Sergt. of mine of a pair of socks got a pair from you, and in them I found your address, so took the liberty to drop you a few lines. My home is in Saskatchewan. My mother sent me a pair but were lighter so we made a trade and I am not sorry and don't regret it in any way. The weather is good now but when it does rain believe me, it don't know when to stop. It leaves lots of mud, so heavy socks come in very good. Thanking you again for the socks. I remain yours truly. Sergt. W, J, Mead.
