PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BROCKVILLE PRESBYTERY

Rev. Wm. Merrilees of Iroquois acted as clerk at the May meeting of the Presbytery of Brockville of the Presbyterian Church of Canada held recently in St. Paul's church, Kemptville. The moderator, Rev. N. A. Macleod, presided. There was a good attendance in both the forenoon and afternoon sessions and a large docket of business was transacted.

The reports of the various standing committees were most encouraging. A long and animated discussion took place on the report of the budget committee and a special committee was appointed to make arrangements to bring the requirement of the budget more prominently before the congregations. Permission was given to apply for a pension for the widow of the late Rev. A. M. Little B.A., lately of Westport and Newboro. The Sabbath School committee was given instructions to arrange for a picnic to be held on the grounds of the Kemptville Agricultural College.

An interesting discussion took place on the consideration of the applications of ministers from other churches to be received into the Presbyterian church, but no action was taken. The presbytery agreed to add the names of the Rev. T. Miller and Rev. George Extence, B.A., of South Mountain and Chesterville, respectively to the roll.

The next regular meeting was appointed to be held at Mountain on the second Tuesday in September next and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a special service to be held in the evening to commemorate the founding of Presbyterianism in that district.

Feed Cattle at Profit

There is still a wide margin of profit for the farmer who is willing to nish his cattle suitable for export requirements. A farmer in Manitoba recently sold a load of steers at a net profit of $1,147.65. He paid $3.55 per 100 pounds for the steers delivered at his home on November 10, 1936, and sold them the other day at $9 per 100 pounds. He estimated the feed costs at $580; the cost of the cattle was $793, a total outlay of $1,373, and the sale amounted to $2,520.65. The original weight of the cattle averaged 855 pounds, and they were fed oats and barley chop, minerals, one ton of oil cake, prairie hay, and finally three tons of alfalfa. With the exception of 200 bushels of his own raising, all the grain used was purchased at threshing time.

Starters for the Chicks

The feed firms manufacture chick starters and growing feeds which remove the guesswork in feeding. They embody in the feeds all that is required to grow and develop the chicks to a certain age. They have a line of feed for baby chicks through to the laying hens and also for fattening off the cockerels. This facilitates the work for the poultryman.

However, there are some who prefer to mix their own feeds, and as the O.A.C. cafeteria chick ration has been requested several times lately we are giving it herewith, but advise that thoroughness in mixing the different ingredients is important. Mechanical mixers in the large feed plants do a better job than is possible with the shovel.

Following is a baby chick cafeteria ration:

Rolled wheat, 320 lbs.; wheat bran, 60 lbs.; wheat germ, 100 lbs. white hominy, 330 lbs.; ground yellow corn, 340 lbs.; rolled barley, 100 lbs.; rolled oat groats, 300 lbs.; ground oats 100 lbs.; ground peas, 60 lbs.; soybean oil meal, 40 lbs.; powdered milk, 140 lbs.; meat meal 80 lbs.; fish meal, 20 lbs.; cod liver meal, 10 lbs.; 1 pint cod-liver oil to each 100 lbs. mixture.

Poultry Breeders' Meet

Poultry enthusiasts to the number of about sixty, recently attended a special gathering at the O.A.C. Guelph, sponsored by the Ontario Poultry Confederation. There were visitors present from Stratford, Kitchener, Hamilton, Galt and Elora as well as from Guelph and vicinity. The visitors were welcomed by Matt Doran, president of the confederation who presided. The meeting was held in the main building of the poultry department and Prof. W. R. Graham, head of the department at the O.A.C. was the principal speaker.

In the address Prof. Graham dealt with poultry beeding of the present day and the difficulty of raising suitable types for the modern market. He said the chief requirements seemed to be a small bird that produced a large egg.

"Canada raises enough fowl for her own market," said Professor Graham, "and the hesult is that the housewife, purchasing fowl for the table, can afford to be particular about what she buys. "For that reason," said the speaker, "it is advisable that the man or woman raising fowl for the market should endeavor to grow birds that will sell for less than one dollar each."

Cutworm Control

Cutworms are usually active and feeding before most crops are even in the ground. Hence it is most important to be prepared for the attack at the very first of the season. Bran bait has given the most effective control for many years, and is made up with the following ingredients—bran, 20 pounds; molasses, one quart; Paris Green, one-half lb. and water, about two and a half gallons.

In making the bait the dry ingredients should first be thoroughly mixed. The molasses is then stirred into the water and added to the bran and Paris Green. In mixing the bait, only enough water should be added to make the material the consistency of wet sawdust. It must not be made sloppy but should be in the condition of crumbling in the hands and slipping easily through the fingers.

Land that was heavily infested the year before should be treated prior to the plants being set out. This is done by broadcasting the bait at the rate of 15-20 pounds per acre a few nights before transplanting. One application should be sufficient but, the cutworms are numerous, a second should be made two or three days after the first. The bait should always be spread in the evening just before dusk, and, if possible, a warm still night should be chosen for the work.

Corn Borer Control

During the past season, the European corn borer was injuriously abundant in the Ottawa district, and in an effort to prevent a repetition of this outbreak in 1937, every grower raising either sweet or fodder corn ndgou tbF should make a determined effort to put the recommended control methods into practice.

The remedy in this case is cheap and simple. The corn borer passes the winter in corn refuse lying in the field or stored in buildings. In late June and July of the following year the moths emerge and lay their eggs on the lower surfaces of the new corn leaves. These eggs hatch in a few days when the young borers bore their way into the plant and feed within both stalk and cob.

Control is brought about in the autumn and early spring by completely destroying all corn refuse, and contained borers, lying in the field or stored in buildings. The following clean up suggestions should be carried out:

(1) Cut all corn as low as possible in order to remove bulk of the borers with the stalk:

(2) Feed completely, or burn, all stalks before June 1st—of the following years.

(3) Uproot and burn all sweet corn stalks which cannot be conveniently ploughed under, as soon as they have dried out.

ble and corn refuse in the garden and field before June 1st so carefully that it is all completely covered.

(5) Burn all corn refuse remaining about the farm before June 1st.

As corn borer moths readily fly from one farm to the next, community action in control is most important. Make every effort to induce neighboring growers to put control practices into operation and clean up all corn refuse this autumn or next spring, before June 1st.

Barley Competitors in Live Stock Feeds

The greater part of the Canadian barley crop which enters commerce is used as live stock feed. It is believed, however, that a better quality of finish of meat animals, particularly hogs, would result from its greater use. As a feed, barley has several competitors. Many poultrymen and poultry nutritionists are not satisfied that barley may completely replace corn in poultry rations, but the necessity for economy during the past few years has convinced many farmers and poultry extension workers of the merits of barley and that corn is not essential in poultry rations where vitamins are supplied in green feed or in vitamin carrying oils. Imported corn, however, will continue to be fed to several classes of live stock in ocean coastal sections under present trade conditions.

Oats are more generally grown throughout Canada than barley. Practically all farmers raise a supply of oats to use as feed. Too frequently this is used as hog feed without a proper proportion of barley, and such practice is evinced in the resulting bacon quality. Sentiment is support of greater self-sufficiency in several provinces would indicate that efforts will be directed toward securing better balance in acreage as between these two crops.

Feed grade wheat and wheat screenings will continue to compare with barley as feed. Recleaned wheat screenings have been found satisfactory for many live stock feeding purposes. The volume of feed grade wheat varies from year to year and feeders cannot be sure of securing requirements annually.

The greatest source of competition for barley comes from bran, shorts, middlings, and other mill product feeds. These feeds are supported by market organizations, salesmanship, and service such as is not accorded barley and on this account are used out of proportion to their merit as compared to barley.

Minister Speaks

Speaking before the Rotary Club of Owen Sound recently Hon. Duncan Marshall, Provincial Minister of Agriculture discussed farming problems and advised the farmer guests of the evening to "stay out of debt."

Youth, he told them, is being given the chance today that it deserves on the farm. The Ontario Agricultural College, which is for the benefit of the farmers' son, has reduced costs of tuition, board, etc. It has become a college strictly for farmers' sons and its courses are short and practical. "To keep the young men and boys on the farm you have to make farming profitable," he said, "and that is what this Department is trying to do. Keep them proud of their heritage of the farm, make them realize that it is the greatest industry in the world—which it certainly is— and you will have solved your problem. Farming can be made profitable."

Agriculture is emerging slowly from the conditions of the past few years, but, while grain is high in price it is something of a hardship to Ontario farmers. "But it is well worth while to feed your cattle and pigs on high priced grain, much more so than feeding them on poor grain. The greatest profit comes in feeding stock real grain." He urged the farmers to follow this plan and they would find good beef and hog prices in the spring.

To keep the boys on the farm the business must be profitable. And so he must be the sharpest, shrewdest and smartest man in the land. "Farming is a gamble for you must fight the hardest, meanest, toughest foe in the world—the weather."

CORNWALL BRIDGE TRAFFIC INCREASED

According to figures released by customs authorities in Cornwall, traffic over the Roosevelt International Bridge route during the fiscal year 1936-37, ending March 31, increased by 19 per cent over that of the previous year. Actual receipts of the Cornwall-Northern New York International Bridge Corporation showed a much higher percentage increase, due to the fact that a large proportion of last year's traffic was made up of tourists travelling on one-way tolls.

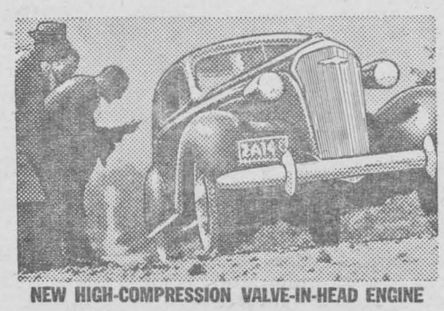

The bridge route crosses Cornwall Island Indian Reservation, immediately south of Cornwall Island and connects Provincial Highway No. 2 with New York State Highway No. 37. Cornwall is by far the most important Canadian port of entry between Niagara Falls and Lacolle, Que., with the heaviest volume of traffic in both directions over the international border. The total number of vehicles crossing the bridge in 1936-37 was 81,967, as compared to 68,368 the previous year, an increase of 13,599.

The records revealed that 19,613 United States automobiles entered Canada at this port, along with 19,493 Canadian cars and 1,320 other vehicles. Outbound traffic checked by the Canadian customs staff included 20,603 United States automobiles, 19,618 Canadian cars and 1,320 other vehicles. Total inward traffic was 40,426; outward 41,541.

CANADIANS AND THEIR INDUSTRIES.... AND THEIR BANK

CANADA'S TRADE WITH THE WORLD

In the last calendar year Canada had a foreign trade amounting to $1,663,093,000, an increase of 19.7%, as compared with an average of 8.1% for 24 leading countries. In this exchange the Dominion had a favourable balance (including exportation of gold as a commodity) of $393,000,000.

Another feature of international trade was the tourist business, incoming and outgoing, totalling $355,568,000, the balance in Canada's favour being $155,958,000.

With the figures for tourist trade added to those for ordinary commerce, our international trade rose to $2,018,661,000, with a total balance in Canada's favour of more than half a billion dollars.

Banking plays a vital part in the upbuilding of the foreign trade of Canada, and foreign trade is the backbone of the native industries which are the foundation of Canada's economic structure.

In providing financial service for this enormous trade a leading part is played by the Bank of Montreal, which, with its 500 branches throughout Canada, its own offices in financial centres abroad, and its own banking correspondents throughout the world, carries through promptly and smoothly the task of financing the movements of an infinite variety of commodities.

The Bank's services include: Loans to importers and exporters; purchases of bills of exchange representing exports; providing commercial credits for purchases abroad; purchase and sale of exchange "futures" for protection against price fluctuation in foreign currencies; special wire facilities with the important exchange markets to speed transactions; reports of character and standing of foreign firms; commercial accounts; foreign currency accounts; safekeeping of securities.

CERTIFIED TRUE AND CORRECT

Provincial Auditor

In pursuance of a promise made during the Third Session of the Nineteenth Legislature of the Province of Ontario, I take this opportunity of publishing, for the information of the citizens of Ontario, the above financial report, together with this announcement as to the plans of the Government for passing on to the people certain benefits made available by reason of the surplus of $9,313,938.54, realized last year;—

MUNICIPAL DRAINAGE AID AND TILE DRAINAGE DEBENTURES

A reduction in interest on Municipal Drainage Debentures and Tile Drainage Debentures effective April 1, 1937, from 5 per centum to 4 per centum.

PASSENGER MOTOR CAR LICENSE FEES

A substantial reduction in passenger motor car license fees will be announced before October 15 next.

LICENSE FEES ON COMMERCIAL VEHICLES

Effective on November 1, 1937, when the 1938 permits will be available, there will be a reduction of 25 per cent. in the fees to be charged for the registration of all farm trucks and all other commercial motor vehicles and commercial trailers.

The approximate annual saving will be $1,000,000.00 to the operators of commercial vehicles.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDY

The Provincial Government will pay, by way of a grant, to every city, town, village and township of the Province a sum representing the equivalent of one mill on the dollar of their respective assessments for general municipal purposes. This grant is made unconditionally but in the expectation and with the intent that the amount shall be passed on to the taxpayers of every community by a reduction of one mill in the general municipal tax rate. This subsidy will amount, in the aggregate, to the sum of approximately $3,000,000.00.

ROAD SUBSIDIES TO TOWNSHIPS

The 313 Townships which have in the past received subsidies of less than 50 per cent. will enjoy an increase to 50 per cent.

The annual benefit to the 313 Townships will be approximately—$300,000.00.

OLD AGE PENSIONS AND MOTHERS' ALLOWANCES

To further take the burden off real estate, the Provincial Government will assume the municipalities' share of Old Age Pensions and Mothers' Allowances.

This will enable the municipal councils to reduce their taxation by approximately $3,500,000.00 per annum.

PENSIONS FOR THE BLIND

The Province will assume the municipalities' share of the cost of this social legislation. It is estimated that the municipalities will therefore save approximately $100,000.00 per annum.

AMUSEMENTS TAX

Effective June 1, 1937, the Amusements Tax will be totally abolished. As over 80 per cent. of the amusements tax is collected from admissions of 25 cents or under, the benefit, largely to citizens of lesser means, will amount to $1,500,000.00 for the year 1937.

Prime Minister and Provincial Treasurer.

Plowing Match Dates

The 25th annual International Plowing match and Farm Machinery Demonstration will be held at Fergus next October 12, 13, 14 and 15, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, under whose auspices the meet is held each year.

Big Picnics in June

The County Council of the County of Norfolk are inviting the councils of all Southwestern Ontario counties to visit Norfolk County on the 9th of June, inspect the County's forest plantations and then pay a visit to the Provincial Forestry Station at St. Williams. Norfolk County has 1,000 acres of various ages and will be planting more this spring. The Forestry Station at St. Williams is one of the beauty spots of the Province. The councillors who attend this picnic will see much of interest to themselves and to the people they represent.

It is undrstood that Simcoe County is contemplating a similar picnic and will invite councillors from the North-western section of the Province and from east of Toronto. Simcoe has around 4,500 acres of reforested land and the Provincial Forestry Station at Midhurst is a very attractive spo.

Zone Conservation Meet

Representatives of the eleven eastern counties in Ontario met at th Kemptville Agricultural School early in April to consider the program of conservation and reforestation that now extends from one end of Ontario to the other. With the excepion of Lanark and Renfrew, all he counties were represented by duly-elected county officials in addition to the agricultural representatives. Representing the Departments of Agriculture and Forestry were: Messrs. R. S. Duncan, M. C. MacPhail, E. J. Zavitz, Arthur R. Richardson and Geo. Linton. James C. Shearer, principal of the School, provided all the necessary accommodation. Conservation committees have already been established in most of the eleven eastern counties and they welcomed the opportunity of getting together, securing information from forestry experts and discussing conservation plans suited to the district. A zone committee was named to organize and guide the movement in that area from Frontenac east, as follows: W. H. Casselman, reeve of Chesterville, as chairman; Marshall Rathwell, Navan, Reeve of Cumberland township, vice-chairman; and A. M. Barr Kemptville, Agricultural Representative for Grenville County, secretary.

FINAL STAGE OF AMATEUR PLAY

The third and final stage of the amateur play presented in the Township of Williamsburg by the Morrisburg, Williamsburg and Dunbar Luther Leagues, was presented in St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, Friday night and proved very successful. A capacity audience witnessed the presentation of the three one-act plays in the contest. The presentations were cleverly directed and presented and the scenery simple but effective. At the close of the presentation of the plays St. Paul's Luther League, Morrisburg, received the greatest number of votes, although St. Peter's Luther League, Williamsburg, received the greatest amount of money Therefore St. Paul's Luther League, Morrisburg, is the winner and are to be entertained by the two losing troupes in the near future. Several musical items by local talent were presented between the acts. The plays of one act each were the following: "The Whirlwind," a tense drama of hospital life presented by St. Luke's Luther League of Dunbar; "The Chinese Waterwheel" a story of a sea-faring girl who just missed a life among farm people unappreciative of the beauty of the land and nature, and "In Doubt About Daisy," presented by St. Paul's Luther League, Morrisburg, telling the story of how the old folks on the farm brought together the young people from the city by merely going on their second honeymoon and leaving the youngsters to run the farm.

The players included: St. Luke's Luther League, Dunbar—Wilfred McMillan, Emma Merkley, Madge Barkley and Emerson Barkley; St. Peter's Luther League, Williamsburg—Ruth Barkley, Arthur Loucks Mrs. G. Barkley, Keith Schell and George Barkley; St. Pauls Luther League, Morrisburg—Dorothy Barkley, Charles Hummell, Jeanette Brodbeck, Henry Rohrig, Hazel Barkley and Floyd Fetterly.

BROOKS—CONLIN

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brooks, Hallville, on Saturday, May 8th, when their youngest daughter, Hilda Gwendolyn, became the bride of George Ronald Conlin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Conlin of Jasper. Rev. Donald Morrison of St. Andrews United church performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a brown redingote ensemble with matching accessories. Attended by Miss Norma Hodge of Smiths Falls, the bride entered the room, which was tastefully decorated with ferns and flowers, and took her place beneath a large white wedding bell, which centered the bridal arch of pink and white streamers. The groom was attended by Mr. Charles Brooks, brother of the bride.

SAD TALE

There was a man in our town, the chump thought he was wise.
He swore (it was his policy) he'd never advertse;
But one day, he advertised, and thereby hangs a tale—
His ad was set in six-point and headed: "Sheriff's Sale."

POSTPONED HEARING OF ACCUSED TRUCK DRIVER

Preliminary hearing of Joseph St. Amour, Clarkstown, on a charge of criminal negligence arising from a fatal collision between a Shell Oil truck he was driving, and a funeral procession at Winchester on April 1st last has been postponed for a week by agreement of counsel.

St. Amour was charged with criminal negligence following a coroner's inquest at Winchester last week into the death of Glenn Summers. He is free on bail of $1,000. Magistrate P. C. Bergeron of Cornwall was to have heard the evidence at Morrisburg according to announcement by Crown Attorney J. G. EXPECT COMPLETION OF SANATORIUM IN MONTH

Completion of the new tubercular sanatorium, three miles east of Cornwall, is expected in at least one month's time, when the contractor, H. Dagenais, Ottawa, will turn the building over to the sanatorium committee. The hospital, which is to be known as the St. Lawrence Sanatorium, is being constructed by the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry at a cost of $225.000. The institution will primarily serve the three counties, but accommodation will be available for others when the hospital is not filled to capacity.

Plastering, the final major job, is being rapidly completed and then the finishing of the interior woodwork will be done. About 50 men are at present employed on the construction and levelling the spacious grounds in front of the institution, which is located on a hill overlooking the St. Lawrence river.

An extensive program is being prepared for the official opening of the hospital.

You'll be surprised at the number of people who really want you to have a telephone. Many of them don't even know you but they're interested nevertheless because of what your telephone means to their service. Too few telephones curtails service and the value of each individual instrument as well. The more telephones in service, the greater the value to each user. From the viewpoints of both service cost and service scope, every farmer is interested in seeing that every other farmer has a telephone.

NEW LOW RATES
for farm telephone service are now in effect!

"Dear Alice,

For some time we have known of your plans to leave us. It is only natural that after receiving your preliminary and secondary education in our midst, that you should have a desire to reach a higher goal. The devotion of yourself to the welfare of the sick is surely a noble profession. You may be dispirited, but we hope most of the time incited to reach the heights to which you have aimed. You have grown up among us and by your genial and benevolent disposition have won for yourself many ardent friends.

You have come to our Young Peoples' meetings, and, although a member of another religious denomination, you have entered willingly and wholeheartedly into any phase of our young peoples' work to which you were called. You have not only proved yourself talented in many lines, but also dependable. All these things were greatly appreciated.

We ask you to accept this small gift, not for its intrinsic value, but as a reminder of that period of your life spent among us. May good luck go with you and remain with you during your training and practice.

Signed on behalf of the Hanesville Y. P. U.

Alice made a very fitting reply and all joined in singing "For She's A Jolly, Good Fellow.

Love Huntress

By H. GLYNN-WARD

Claudia Townsend meets Dick Whalen at a hockey game in Seattle one night. Her interest in Dick infudiates Wallace Bornell, rich young lumberman, who wants her to marry him. To get Dick out of the way, Wallace offers him a job in one of his lumber camps in British Columbia. At the camp, Dick accidently discovers that Bornell's men are working stolen timber lands. He asks for an explanation, but Braddock, the boss, puts him off and next day leaves for Seattle. The following day Claudia stops in at Bornell's office, and, by chance, overhears Bornell and Braddock plotting to do away with Dick. She decides to go to Burns Lake, herself, to warn Dick. Braddock recognizes her on the boat going north, however, and he manages to reach the camp the day before she arrives.

This might be awkward, but Claudia had come too far to worry about conventional difficulties. She went to bed and slept like a log, waking in the morning at the tattoo of the inn-keeper on the door to tell her the sleigh would be there in half an hour.

As Whalen had done, Claudia left her grips at the inn and took with her only her mountaineering haversack with night-things, a small silver flask of brandy, and a sturdy clasp-knife that she carried with her always on outdoor expeditions. Taking up her skis, she climbed into the front seat of the sleigh.

The driver looked at her with interest. Her brown felt hat fitted close to her head and turned back over the ears in two wings that gave her the look of a Mercury. She wore a red scarf, a short blown beaver coat, dark corduroy knickers and boots up to her knees.

Her dark eyes were alight with interest as she took in the vast immensity of the country and asked all manner of questions of the driver. The sun rose, turning all the snows about them to a rosy pink, and Claudia exclaimed at the beauty of it all.

"Pretty enough, pretty enough to look at," agreed the driver, "so long's a person don't have to be out in it."

They heard the jarring screech of the saw-mill long before they reached the camp. When the sleigh pulled up near the office-cabin Claudia was chilled through. The men about camp glanced at her curiously. Whom should she ask about Dick?

But Braddock was waiting for her. He came out of the offijce, gave hed a smiling good-morning and asked what he could do for her.

"I want to speak to Mr. Whalen. Is he here?"

Whalen's out at work. He'll be back along about tea-time."

Claudia got down out of the sleigh and followed Braddock inside. There was a roaring fire in the closed stove and she held out her hands to the warmth.

"Is there no way I could reach Mr. Whalen now?" she asked.

"Say," said Braddock with easy familiarity, "it sure must be important to bring you all this way to see him!"

Claudia knew Braddock had recognized her on the boat. Did he suspect her of having overheard his talk with Bornell. If so, he was double-crossing her. She must find out where Dick was from someone else—and find out at once.

"Young Mr. Bornell a friend o' yours too?" Braddock was saying. "That's like a pretty girl, to have two strings to her bow!"

Claudia regarded him icily. "If you won't tell me how to reach Mr. Whalen then I must go and find someone who will."

"Just a moment," said Braddock. "I'll be right back." He went out.

"I don't understand why you should take it upon yourself to dismiss my driver," she said as Braddock came up.

He feigned surprise.

"Poor chap couldn't wait here all day. You said you wanted to wait for Whalen so I paid the driver and told him he could go. When Whalen gets back, you can go in with one of our teams. . . . Looka here. I'll go over to the cook-house and tell the Chink to fix you something to eat. He'll bring it over."

She followed him out.

"I'll come over to the cookhouse and get it."

Anything to escape from this man and get a chance to speak to someone who might give her some information about Dick.

"Ho, Ching!" she heard Braddock shout. "Ho there, Ching!"

The Chinese came running from the kitchen door.

"Get this lady a cup o' hot coffee and something to eat. I got to go across to the mill, but I'll be back in a minute."

Claudia watched him make his way across the snow to the mill. If she went outside to speak to any body now he would see and intercept her at once.

"One velly cold day, yes? Missee dlink up coffee, be hot!"

The cook's kindly invitation recalled her to the fact that he had set food and drink on the table for her.

She thanked him and began to pour out a cup of coffee. Suddenly it struck her that he might know where Whalen was.

"You know every man in this place, Ching?"

"Sure, I know all. Missee look for someone?"

"Yes," she said impulsively, "I'm looking for Mr. Whalen, do you know where he is?"

"Oh, Missa Whalen. He one velly good man! He savee my life one time!"

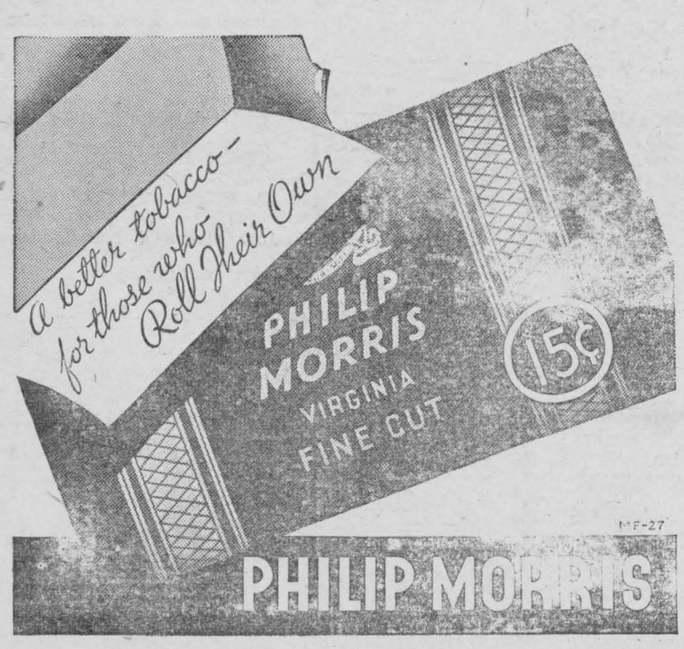

"Yes, he's nice. I know, but can you tell me where he is?"

'He go out in woods today, velly early in morning. Go 'long with Moliarty, they come get lunches to take, so maybe far 'way they go. Moliarty, he one velly bad man!"

Claudia was horrified by what Ching told her. Somehow she trusted Ching. He had said that Dick was "one velly good man" so he was probably correct about the other man—Moriarty. And Dick had been sent out alone with him!"

The words she had overheard in the Bornell office came back to her clearly. "Get rid of him somehow and quick," Wallace had said. "Easy enough, there's aplenty up there with a grudge against Whalen. Specially one fellow, and as it happens I've got something on him . . ." This Moriarty must be the man Braddock had meant!

Design for Living Should Be Goal Of All Education

Ever-Increasing Need to Direct Life Along Lines of Fitness and Influence

TULSA, Okla. — Education for the task of modern living was held up today as a goal of thought and action for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"There seems to be," said Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, national president, in her presidential address prepared for delivery to the yearly council meeting, "an ever-increasing need for education in living.

"It is a need for the sort of education that will direct our living into the realm of calm and quiet self-analysis of our personal fitness and a checkup on the influence we radiate to those about us."

The national president used that theme to direct the delegates' attention to the foremost matter before the federation, a resolution taking a stand on President Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of the United States Supreme Court.

"Education for living would be a sham without real knowledge of the framework of our government," he said.

Spring Fever

I am yearning now for a summer day
And a lonely woodland trail
That leads me to a hallowed spot
In a cool, sequestered dale
Where the whisp'ring of a lazy stream
Befits my wanton mood
And bids me shed my worldly cares
Ere I enter Nature's quietude.

I love this enchanted valley,
For 'tis a mystic, magic place
Where bird-songs and echoes mingle
And zephyrs and pines embrace.
And blossoms of exquisite beauty
Perfume the very sod,
And I linger with deepest reverence,
For I know that I'm near to God.

"Don't Eat With Knife" - 1837

Part of Deportment For Fair Sex of Century Ago

LONDON, Eng., — Have customs and manners changed considerably since the Coronation of Queen Victoria in 1837?

A deportment handbook of that date, "Dedicated to The Fair Sex of Great Britain," makes amusing reading nearly 100 years after its publication.

Miss 1837 had to remember that the good table manners were essential to social success. She was implored by the author never to "convey food to your mouth with your knife — it is only to be used as a divider."

The art of being a good listener was also included in a young lady's social education. Evidently there was nothing "so brutally shocking, nor so little forgiven, as a seeming inattention to the person that is speaking to you."

A debutante of 1837 was not encouraged to make casual friends. "Ladies usually have a proper sense of their own importance," one chapter states, "and therefore it is hardly necessary to say that if a gentleman presumed to recognize you in the street, from the circumstances of his having danced with you at a public ball, you will not return his salute, but will cleverly avert your head, so that he will receive due cognizance of your rebuke."

Why Do Teeth Decay?

Why teeth decay is still an unsolved problem to dentists. The search is being constantly carried to find some factor that may be held responsible but without any definite success. The most recent test is that made at Harvard Dental School where Dr. Paul K. Lorsch, instructor in operative dentistry, and Dr. Fred W. Morse, assistant professor of oral medicine, made a detailed study of 110 cases of children who came under their observation for caries or tooth decay. These investigators found statistical evidence that boys suffer more than girls from tooth decay. Examination of ninety-eight cases showed that fifty-one girls, with an average age of 7.8 years, had an average of 8.1 cavities an individual, while forty-seven boys, with an average of 6.0 years, had an average of 13.7 cavities an individual. Twenty cases including the five best and five worst among boys and girls showed that the high caries among boys average 32.2 and among girls 16.8, and in the low caries group the boys averaged 2.6 while the girls had no cavities. Heredity, diet and a large number of other factors were studied without finding any positive correlation with tooth decay. The only item that seemed to have any connection, as causes, were childhood diseases involving prolonged fever, the presence of eciduric bacilli in the mouth, and to a slighter extent rickets in early childhood.

Tobacco Men Get More Pay

New Agreement in Quebec Also Cuts Work Week To 48 Hours

MONTREAL, — Chairman Gustave Francq of the Quebec Minimum Wage Board announced last week a conference of workers and employers in the province's tobacco, cigar and cigaret manufacturing industry approved new wage rates ranging from one to four cents an hour higher.

The new agreement, effective August 1, cuts two hours from the industry's 50-hour week and provides that at least two-thirds of all employees, instead of only 50 per cent, as at the present, must receive a $12.50 a week wage, paid workers with two years' experience.

Beginners' wage will be $7 a week. Wage scale are slightly lower outside Montreal district.

About 4,000 women workers are affected by the new schedule.

Queer World!

Putting Back the Clock: Every German university man must henceforth defend his honour by sabre duels. 'An affair of honour," it is officially stated, "may deal with love, money, and reputation of self, family, or Fatherland." The sabre is 3 ft. long with a quarter-inch rounded tip, razor-sharp.

Aftermath: It is nearly twenty-three years since the war started and yet last year fourteen new cases were admitted to St. Dunstan's—all those of men who have now gone blind as a result of having been gassed. During the last five years nearly two hundred new cases have been admitted.

Expensive Buttonhole: An English carnation valued at £1,000 caused great interest at a display in New York. The high price is due to the fact that only the first plant of the new variety can be used, as the seeds seldom breed true. It takes about five years to develop.

Don't Want Money: Nearly 80,000 unclaimed accounts exist in the Post Office Savings Bank. They range from a few shillings to hundreds of pounds the average working out at about £16.

Chill thoroughly. Roll ¼ inch thick on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cooky cutter into 3-inch circles. Place far apart on ungreased baking sheet and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Makes 30 cookies. (One cup sweet cream may be substituted for sour cream and soda in this recipe.)

Swedish Cookies

Four cups sifted cake flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 cups butter, 1 egg — well beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, and sift again. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, a small amount at a time, mixing thoroughly after each addition. Add vanilla and blend. Shape into 2 rolls, 1½ ins. in diameter, chill overnight, or until firm enough to slice, and cut in thin slices. Or press dough through cooky press. Bake on ungreased cooky sheet in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 4 to 5 minutes, or until done. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

These rich cookies are especially dainty for refreshments. When sliced, they may be decorated attractively with bits of candied cherry, angelica or citron, chopped nuts, colored sugar, or decorettes.

KEPT IN BED BY BACKACHE

Now — Thanks to Kruschen — Not a Trace of Pain

This woman's life was made a misery by the pains of backache. Then her father, who had proved the value of Kruschen himself, advised her to try it. She did, and here is her grateful letter:—

"For years I have been suffering with pains in the back. At times I had to stay in bed for days. I could not walk, or even stand. My father was using Kruschen Salts for the same thing. He, too, used to suffer badly, and Kruschen relieved him. He advised me to try it. I did so, and did not get a pain for three years. I then neglected my daily dose for about six months, and two months ago the pain returned. I tried another remedy—it failed, so I again started Kruschen. Now I have not a trace of pain, thanks to Kruschen."—(Mrs.) H.R.

Pains in the back are usually due to impurities in the blood — waste products which the internal organs are failing to expel from the system. The numerous salts in Kruschen assist in stimulating these organs to healthy, normal activity, and so help them to keep the system free from harmful waste matter.

GARDENING

By GORDON L. SMITH

During the early part of the season, a little cultivation every week will help plants along wonderfully. The purpose is two-fold. Unsightly weeds are killed and valuable moisture is conserved. Growth is hurried along. Later on as the flowers or vegetables develop it will not be necessary to cultivate so often. Sometimes a mulch of short straw or grass clippings is used to retain moisture during the Summer. It keeps the underlying soil moist, open and free from weeds.

Seed as a Foundation

The importance of good seed is impossible to over-emphasize. Other factors may be beyond control, but the gardener has absolute check over this foundation. Weather, soil and location may be ideal, but without good seed, especially selected to suit Canadian conditions, the garden is going to be a failure. There is no guarantee that a flower which has given wonderful results in Great Britain or the Southern States will do equally well in this country, and because of this the average gardener is well advised to secure his seed and nursery stock from a reliable Canadian source.

Flower Points

Many fine points can be considered when laying out a flower garden. Certain shades blend well together and often a whole bed will be selected with this blending in mind. Of course, for this sort of thing all the plants must bloom during the same period. Fragrance should be taken into account as there are some spicy things like Evening Scented Stock, Nicotine, Mignonette, Sweet Sultan and Verbena which, while rather plain as plants, fill the whole garden with a delightful incense, more especially in the evening. In shaded quarters, Tuberous rooted Begonias, Pansies and wild flowers will do well. In fact they prefer this location to any other. In partial shade nearly every annual can be grown. On poor soil Portulaca is a favorite, as well as Alyssum, Sweet-scented Stocks, Linum, Calendulas, Calliopis, Sunflowers, Schizanthus, Salpiglossis, Marigolds, Petunias, and many others. These will also successfully resist dry weather.

There were two bidders for the dog offered by a New York youngster. One, a visiting English lad, offered $5. The other, a boy from Philadelphia, offered only $3, but his offer was accepted.

English lad (afterwards)—I say, old ahing, who did you sell the dog to that other chappie for less money?

New York Youngster (grinning eagerly)—The dog can walk back from Philadelphia, but he would have a heck of a time swimming the Atlantic ocean.

Young man—Do you like cheese?

Young lady—No, I despise it.

Young man—Does your brother like cheese?

Young Lady—I have no brother.

Young Man—If you had a brother would he like cheese?

History does not record the lady's answer.

Trial Tests Of Root And Vegetable Seeds

A comprehensive scheme for an extension of trial tests of field root and garden vegetable seeds is to be put in operation at Macdonald College, Quebec, Manitoba Agricultural College, Winnipeg, the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, B.C. and Vineland Station, Ontario. Horticulturists at these stations have now agreed to co-operate in the tests, setting aside for this purpose at least 1½ acres of land. They have also agreed to supervise the necessary work of preparation, the sowing and the cultivation. An undergraduate or graduate will be appointed by each station for a period of at least six months to take direct charge of the trials.

The Seed Branch and the Experimental Farms Branch, Dominion Department of 9griculture and the Canadian Seed Growers' Association are co-operating with these stations in the tests. This extension of tests is partially the outcome of the discussion and resolution by the Horticultural Plant Breeders Committee of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association the idea of the Committee being that, if all parties interested in this work were to co-operate and the trials extended to stations nearest the wholesale see dcentres, information of inestimable value to all would be secured.

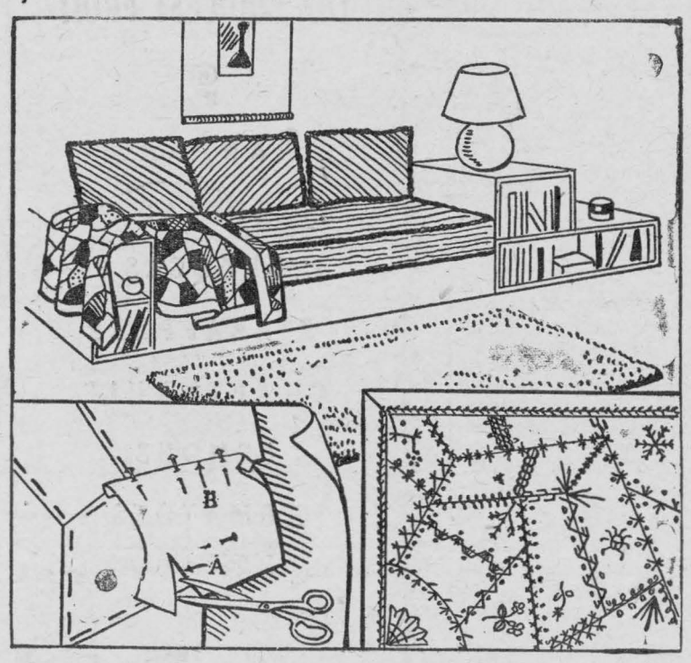

The extending of the purity of variety tests is also intended as an alternative to the licensing of new varieties of field roots and garden vegetable seeds being omitted when the Seeds Act comes up for revision in Parliament during, it is hoped, the present session of Parliament. The working out of the details of the program have been tentatively agreed upon, the Horticultural Division of the Experimental Farms Branch being delegated to collect approximately 50 samples of new recommended varieties for merit tests, and the Canadian Seed Growers' Association having about 100 samples of Canadian-grown registered seed stocks for verification tests. These samples will be forwarded to the office of the chief of the Seed Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, for entry and transmission to the trial grounds.

After allowing for these tests, also there will be more room at each of the trial grounds for about 150 samples of garden vegetables taken by the Seed Branch from the trade for purity of variety, tests to check the truth in advertising under Section 10 of the Seeds Act.

HOW TO SEW

Crazy Patchwork at Home in a Modedn Setting

The crazy patch is the oldest of quilt patterns yet there is something amazingly modern in its angular lines. So whether your living-room is traditional in style or newer than tomorrow you will be interested in the revival of crazy patch work for what our grandmothers and great grandmothers called a "slumber throw".

A corner of one of these old silk crazy quilts is shown here at the lower right. The pieces were small—many not more than 1½ inches wide or long. A variety of embroidery stitches join the pieces. Both plain and figured silks were used, the plain patches often being embroidered with flowers, fans and other amusing motifs—not the beetle embroidered on one patch. Several colors of silk embroidery thread were generally used but in the most artistic of these quilts one color predominated in the embroidery.

Larger patches with simple feather stitch and herring-bone stitch at the joinings also give a good effect. The pieces are sewed to a foundation of some firm soft material. Outing flannel or an old wool blanket are good. Pin a piece in place over the space to be filled, trim the edges to the right shape, as at A, allowing enough to turn under, as at B, where the patch laps over the one next to it. Baste the turned edges down, as shown. When a number of patches have been basted in place, sew them down to the foundation with the embroidery stitches and then remove the bastings. The backing is tied to the front with silk embroidery thread as comforters are tied. Little or no padding may be used and a plain band around the edge is effective.

Thinks Children Like Discipline

BOSTON, — Dr. W. Linwood Chase well-konwn educationist, lecturer and author, thinks children like discipline. They like the security that comes from parents who take responsibility and make demands upon them. They may object vigorously at the time, and vociferously, but they like parents who take decided stands on all things," he said.

Dr. Chase has little patience with the kind of schooling that sugar-coats or the kind of discipline that countenances unwise freedom, for he thinks that the boy must then suffer the inevitable consequences of such treatment.

If a child's behavior irritates an adult, it may only be the symptom of a real conflict that the child himself is engaged in when he tries to do what is expected of him. Until this conflict is understood, little can be accomplished in settling the child on the path of adjustment to things all about him.

Dr. Chase also believes a happy atmosphere at school is essential.

40 Carpenters Build A House In One Way

PORT ARTHUR, Texas.—Speaking of speed: As a courtesy to Mrs. Ivan Vick, widow of a fellow union member, the Carpenters' Union built her a four-room house in a day's time. Construction was begun at 8 a.m., and finished by nightfall. Forty carpenters did the work.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

New Drug Eases Faster Walking

Scientists Hear of Hormone Which Aids Physical Exertion

MEMPHIS, Tenn., — A drug which increases the ease of fast walking by about 14 per cent and which upsets theories that in the human body normal perfection cannot be improved upon was reported to the Federation of American Societies for experimental biology.

This scientific surprise was furnished by cortin, a hormone produced by the adrenal glands, two small cap-shaped bodies above the kidneys. Some of this hormone, obtained from the glands of beef, was given to eight men and three women by Fred A. Hitchcock and R. C. Grubbs of the department of physiciology, Ohio State University.

The effects were measured in the changes in their breathing while lying down, standing and walking rapidly. In all cases their bodies required less oxgen and breathing was easier. This was noticeable when they walked at a speed of nearly four miles an hour. In that case there was an average decrease of oxygen that was breathed of about 14 per cent.

While those in charge of the Coronation celebration in Morrisburg on Wednesday deserve much credit for their attempt to put on something in keeping with the occasion, they would be well advised to take the old colored rags displayed in streamers across the Main street and place them somewhere, never to be seen on Main street again. The affair, on the whole, might well be termed a "poorly organized popular move." Those who shouted the loudest and those who draped themselves most elaborately in Union Jacks, in what seemed like an effort to proclaim themselves more loyal than the King, looked more "Camou-flagged" than "flagged." In all such undertakings, patriotic or otherwise, common sense appeals to the Canadian people more than an outburst of cheap loyalty. The Ottawa Boys' Band rendered a splendid program, and their brilliant red and white uniforms were a marked contrast with some of the local decorations.
